HAVE YOU SEEN THIS MAN?

He is wanted in connection with the shooting death of an Arcadia husband and father during a home

The suspect is described as male Hispanic, light complexion, 5'7", 150 lbs., thin build, black hair, brown eyes, wearing dark clothing, a black hoodie sweatshirt and a bandaid under his eye. Full story on page 7.

SIERRA MADRE CRIME PREVENTION WARNING

The SMPD reminds residents to be cautious about door to door solicitors, some of whom may be burglars using solicitation as a ruse. The night following the wind-driven power outage, police responded to night-time solicitor calls when the City was pitch black. No legitimate solicitor would seek business from residents at nighttime in a city experiencing a complete power outage and wind devastation. Two days later an alert resident on Carter called police after seeing two possible solicitors putting flyers on neighbors' property.

Police stopped the two men, both of whom were on parole---one for carjacking, and the other for residential burglary. Officers arrested one of the men for a L.A. Sheriff's Department's no-bail residential burglary warrant. Last week another resident used his home video surveillance system to capture images of a probable burglar on his property and shared it with police and the public.

Burglars often knock on front doors to see if someone is home. If you are home and choose not to answer your door, be aware of the person(s) and their subsequent actions. Call the Police Department whenever you see a person or car you do not recognize involved in suspicious activity. Your Neighborhood Watch is an excellent crime prevention resource. Call 355-

Residents should also be careful in dealing with the many home repair services in abundance after the windstorm. Unlicensed contractors solicit work door to door.

There are multiple ways for home repair fraud to occur. Some of them

o The suspect may take a large deposit and never return to do the work.

o The suspect may actually do the work but the victim finds out later that it is so shoddy and inferior that it must be torn out and replaced at the victim's expense.

o The suspect may also change the agreed upon price after the work is performed and intimidate a vulnerable victim into paying the higher

o Some suspects target victims who have impair vision, mental states, or physical abilities, and charge repeatedly for work that has already been performed or is never actually

Residents should review the State of California's Department of Consumer Affairs' Contractors State Licensing Board website before hiring contractors: http://www.cslb.ca.gov/

REPORTS ON THE ARREST OF CHILD PORNOGRAPHER FAIL TO FOCUS ON VICTIMS

Parents reminded to be cautious as predators mix and mingle among the unsuspecting.

By Susan Henderson

On Tuesday of this week, word of the arrest and conviction of Sierra Madrean Robert Matheson sent shockwaves throughout the community. Matheson, 66, pleaded guilty to possessing and smuggling child pornography in the Dartmouth Provinicial Court in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada. He was arrested on October 17th of this year at the Halifax Stanfield International Airport. The sentence imposed was 120 days with 12 days credit for time served. He was detained in Canada under house arrest from the time be posted bail until sentencing. Prior to bis arrest he posted bail until sentencing. Prior to his arrest he owned a home in Pictou, Nova Scotia, a small, close knit town, much like Sierra Madre. According to Canadian news reports, that home was sold to cover legal expenses and bail. There is a great deal of concern that after his release he will be deported back to the United States and return to Sierra Madre.

Much of the shock and disgust was based upon the fact that Matheson was a well known figure in the community, often seen at events sponsored by a variety of organizations. He was easily recognizable at most affairs because he often wore traditional Scottish attire, including kilt. He was known to contribute to charitable and political efforts and to the person interviewed for this story, no one suspected that he was capable of indulging in such horrendous acts as possessing child pornography. He is a principal of Millmath Properties, LLC., which lists its operations out of his home on Lilliano Drive in Sierra Madre.

Who the children were in the photos, and how the pictures came into being has not been disclosed. According to Canadian court reporter for the Chronicle Herald, Steve Bruce, "A search of the laptop turned up 2,500 photographs and 280 video clips of teenage boys either naked or engaged in sex acts with other boys. The computer also contained 10 written stories about sexual activities between a 10-year-old boy and his uncles, grandfather and father, and between the boy and other men such as priests and schoolteacher.'

But local news reports and blogs have been focusing of innocent children. If anyone suspects that a child has been victimized, past or present, please contact the police immediately.

This is not the first time a predator has been discovered in the midst of Sierra Madre social and/or political life. Approximately five years ago, Andrew West Reid, Jr., known as AWest (his professional name), was arrested by the FBI after seizing pornographic images of children and digital cameras from his Sierra Madre home. He was later arrested by the FBI in conjunction with the Pasadena Police and charged with child molestation. According to published reports, West worked in the Record Industry and served as "the city's film coordinator" from 2000-2004. Last year, West, who is currently serving an eight year sentence in federal prison, was ordered to pay his victim, who was 6 years old at the time, $5.4 million dollars in damages.

we don't know how the photos and videos came meganslaw.ca.gov. about that were in Matheson's possession, AWest, on political associations rather than the exploitation according to court records, took advantage of the child who was a friend of AWest's daughter.

> While AWest is safely behind bars for now, the fate of Bob Matheson remains to be seen. Earlier this week, Sierra Madre Police Chief Marilyn Diaz stated she had ordered an investigation into the Matheson situation, including whether or not he would be required to register as a sex offender when he returns

> Law enforcement encourages parents and concerned citizens to check the Megan's Law database for information on sex offenders in your area. There are currently 2 registered sex offenders listed as living in Sierra Madre although both are also listed as being in violation of their reporting requirements. Pasadena has 107 registered offenders, Altadena 31 and Arcadia 20.

In both instances, the predators were able to hide For more information on the identities of these their depraved behavior from the public's eye. While offenders and the offenses, go to: http://www.

PUBLIC FORUM LOOKS AT RESPONSE TO THE RECENT WINDSTORM City estimates wind related costs at over $6 Million

SIERRA MADRE KIWANIS CLUB

Ronald Garcia, So. California Edison

City officials mixed personal stories and public information Wednesday during an open forum to discuss the emergency response to the windstorm two weeks ago to the day. The forum was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Sierra Madre.

Bruce Inman, Public Works Director, gave the latest statistics saying as of Wednesday the city had moved 89 dumpster - "roll out bins," full of debris, and had 35 more bins waiting in the city yard.

"As of today we have moved 730 tons of debris out of Sierra Madre," he said. But Inman said the true heroes were the guys from Public Works, "Thank someone in an orange shirt," he said.

Inman said 34 homes had structural damage; eight were red tagged with major damage, seven residents and one commercial property were reported with moderate damage and seven by falling trees. He also estimated the cost of damage to private residences at $4.8 million and businesses, due to loss of power, at $20,000. He said a preliminary cost of city property damaged was $50,000 and cleanup of debris at $700,000. He also said $200,000 was needed for protective services and $50,000 for replacement of emergency generators.

City Manager Elaine Aguilar said this was the most difficult disaster she had ever dealt with. "At 10:30 I got my first phone call [from police] saying Elaine the wind is really picking up and this is not the typical palm fronds on the ground, its starting to get a little scary out

Aguilar said she was told at 12:30 a.m. Dec. 1 they needed to open the city Emergency Operation Center. "Thankfully I have a big truck because I would not have made it," she said. "I was literally driving over trees and who knows what." "It was Mister Toads' Wild Ride," she added. From the city 's standpoint, "a lesson learned" would be to improve communications. "The power was out, it was dark, we could not reach all of our staff, so there phones weren't working or there cell phones were somewhere they couldn't be heard." She also said they could have called in outside help sooner to clear streets.

Hank Landsberg, who developed and oversees the city Emergency Radio Station 1630AM, also spoke of the need to improve communications. He said the radio station was down that emergency power in the city's maintenance yard was not constant. "So what we are going to do in the next few weeks is to make an improvement to the radio station hardware, so that we will have the option of the station turning itself off during overnight periods," he said. Other than that, he said, the station worked exactly as designed.

Police Chief Marilyn Diaz said at the beginning they were getting 70 calls an hour plus constant 9-1-1 calls with one dispatch person at the phones.

She said they immediately called in officers on overtime for several days. Diaz said they divided the city up into quadrants and assigned an officer to each one along with a sergeant.

"There job was to stay out in the field their entire shift," she said. "I am pleased to say, unlike other cities around us, we did not have a single burglary during this time."

Diaz did say they had several reports of solicitors showing up, in pitched black, to peoples' doors selling magazine subscriptions. "In fact, we had a slight increase in solicitors, even in daylight," she explained.

She said they also found several parolees out in the neighborhoods including one that was arrested for an outstanding warrant for carjacking.

Fire Chief Stephen Heydorff said they responded to about 76 wind related calls over 36 hours. Eight of those were medical he said. "The first call came in about 8:20 p.m. for wires down," he vehicles were also reported damaged more than he liked saying they found servicing 11 cities. He said they had 205 utility poles in the region go down, all of which he said were caused by trees. He said their electrical grid stayed in tacked. "Everywhere we went we found wires and lines in tree branches and trees down."

> Sierra Madre Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) volunteer Caroline Brown also helped in the city's EOC. "Everybody sitting here could if fact be a member of Sierra Madre's CERT team, Brown said "However it does require serious training," "You will feel confident in what you can do to take care of yourself."

2012 Madre's 'One Book One City"

The Sierra Madre Public Library is pleased to announce The Adventure's of Sherlock Holmes, by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, as the City's 2012 One Book One City selection.

Sherlock Holmes—the world's most famous "consulting detective," who first appeared in publication in 1887—was featured in four novels and fifty-six short stories. The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes contains the first twelve short stories, originally published in London's Strand Magazinefrom July 1891 to June 1892. Events will take place during February 2012 to celebrate the Scottish author and his famous detective, one of the best-known and most popular characters in English literature. Copies of the book are available at the Sierra Madre Public Library. A "Mystery Contest" drawing will be the first event in the program. Every-one who answers three questions about the selected stories will be entered in the "Kick-Off" drawing to be held at the Library on Wednesday, February 1. The winner will receive the elegant two-volume set of The New Annotated Sherlock Holmes: The Complete Short Stories, edited by Leslie S. Klinger, who will speak at the Library on Thursday, February 2 at 7:30 p.m. Additional events will be announced.

One Book One City annually engages the community in reading the same notable book at the same time and encourages everyone to come together to explore the literature and its cultural perspective. Doyle's tales, along with stage, screen, radio, and television adaptations, have made Sherlock Holmes a permanent part of our culture, appealing to readers and audiences of all

Portantino Calls for Public Utilities Oversight

Assemblymember Anthony proposed Portantino ' legislation Monday to improve emergency and disaster preparedness by California's public utilities. The proposed bill calls on each utility to report with every county in its service area every two years for the purpose of reviewing, updating and improving their emergency disaster and preparedness plans.

"We just saw firsthand that our public utilities can do a better job. Clearly, they were not prepared for a disaster of this magnitude. We need to use the recent wind disaster to improve our readiness and better prepare for future disasters such as a large earthquake. Having a review every two years will force better coordination, better service and better public safety." commented Portantino.

The proposed bill asks counties to inform cities within their jurisdiction about each meeting so that cities and the public can provide input into emergency planning. The legislation also calls on the California Public Utilities Commission to use its regulatory authority to set preparedness standards; for example, the use of weather reports to pre-position manpower and equipment before a storm and methods of improving communication between government agencies and the public.

"We learned some things from this calamity that will forever change the way we look at these disasters," added Portantino. "Like most ratepayers, I know that a portion of my bill is intended to pay for emergency preparedness and response; let's make sure it does. A review every two years will hold utilities accountable, increase coordination, public awareness and scrutiny It's a practical and prudent course of action."

The bill is being written as an "urgency measure" and would go into effect once it's signed by the Governor. It would require that California public utilities conduct these disaster preparedness meetings within 3 months of the legislation

City OKs $1.9 Million to Fire Station By Dean Lee our firefighters and fire tucks Beck said.

The city council took the first steeps Monday night to retrofitting and rehabilitating fire station 39 near Ave 64 after being closed earlier in the year over building safety concerns.

The council unanimously approved allocating $1.9 million to the project. City Manager Michael Beck said of the necessary funds, $1,656,599 would come from the city's Charter Capital Fund. The council also approved transferring another $243,401 to the project Beck said.

The motion was moved by Councilmember Steve Madison. Station 39 lies in District 6 which Madison represents.

The Sierra madre rose float association and rose princesses prepare for the 2012

THE BIG DAY APPROACHES

Tournament of Roses Parade

The day that the volunteers and members of the Sierra Madre Rose Float Association have been anticipating is almost here. On Monday, January 2nd they will join the Tournament of Roses Parade showing off their latest masterpiece, The theme of the 2012 Tournament of Roses Parade is "Just Imagine . . ." Sierra Madre's entry will be titled "Colorful Imagination," This float celebrates children's play and their unique ability to use their imaginations to create magical new worlds from ordinary, everyday objects. As these children play they envision colorful butterflies soaring from the swirling paint.

There is still time for you to help! The Float Barn will be open everyday except Christmas for visitors as well as volunteers. Barn hours will be Sundays from 10:00am until 6:00 pm; Mondays -Thursdays from 10:00 am until 6:00 pm and Saturdays from 10:00 am until 6:00 pm. Other days and times may be scheduled.

The barn is located at 587 E. Sierra Madre Bl. Sierra Madre, CA 91024 and the telephone number is 626-355-7005.

Those interested in volunteering should stop by the barn or go the the website: www. smrosefloat. org to review the volunteer guidelines and fill out the release forms. All workers must sign a release prior to working.

The association encourages visitors to see the float decorating progress including the judging events, dedication and the brief Kersting Court stop over on the evening of January 1st at 5:30pm. The float will also be on display at Kersting Court after the parade starting 7:30pm on Tuesday January 3rd and again at 8 AM Wednesday, Jan. 4th.

SMRFA is also holding their annual raffle for 2 Parade Grand Stand seats at 150 S. Orange Grove Blvd. (Row 4) including parking. Raffle tickets are $1.00 each or 6/$5.00. Raffle tickets are available at Mary's Market or the Rose Float Barn. The raffle drawing will take place at the Barn on Thursday, December 29th at 5 PM.

CANDLELIGHT WALK SET OF DECEMBER 18th by Craig Hakola

As the sun surrenders us to winter, and the weather further dashes us toward that icy chill, the season of Christmas stands ready to remind us of the glorious birth of Christ. On the night of December 18, the City of Sierra Madre will lift its voice in celebration with Christmas song and filling the evening with heavenly stars of candlelight.

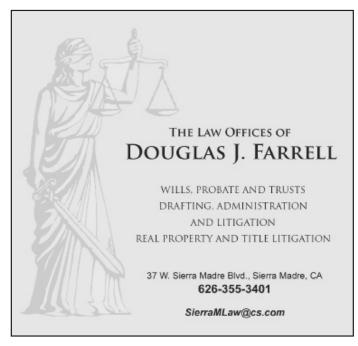

Every generation has symbols, seasons and occurrences that must be cultivated - immortal windows of time that are deserving of reverence. It is during those starry moments of inspiration that the world becomes enchanted. The "Candlelight Walk" in Sierra Madre is a holiday island within a Season of Celebration. Whether one is in the spring of life, or in the winter of reflection, every year, this special candlelight procession awakens a wondrous spirit of heart-changing emotion, uniting the beautiful community of Sierra Madre.

We salute the heavenly duo Pastor Bob VanderZaag and Pastor Richard Anderson as the founders of this iconic tradition. Each of these men helped to bring a community together, enlightening it with small-town sensibility, and highlighting the deeper meaning of the Christmas Season.

The Candlelight Walk is held each Christmas season to celebrate the journey Joseph and Mary made to Bethlehem where Jesus was born over 2,000 years ago. With "Mary and Joseph" leading the way, the procession will begin at St. Rita's Catholic Church in Sierra Madre, accompanied by participants holding candles and singing traditional Christmas carols. The procession will end at Kersting Court in the center of town where the Christmas story will be read from the Scriptures.

The event begins at St. Rita traveling down Baldwin to Kersting Court. It is recommended to arrive at 6:45p.m., as the walk will begin promptly at 7:00 p.m.

"What's Going On?"

News and Views from Joan Schmidt

It has been ten years since I became acquainted with Assemblyman Mike Eng and his wife Congress Member Judy Chu. (They are a remarkable couple, but that's another story.) When I met them both, I was writing for the Sheriff's Department begidner may are and attended sides my area and attended the KNOW GANGS, NO GANGS, PART II Asian Gang Intervention Conference. This past Friday, my husband and I had the privilege of attending the third annual "Day of Inclusion". Why would this take place? Back in 2009, the "Day of Inclusion" was authored by Assemblyman Mike Eng and designated by means of the California State Assembly Concurrent Resolution (ACR) 76 to be December 17th.

On December 17, 1943, the Magnuson Act repealed the Chinese Exclusion Act of 1881, and marked a turning point regarding our society's harsh attitudes towards immigration and immigrants. With this repeal of "Chinese Exclusion" prohibitions, the United States embarked on a commitment to break down cultural barriers, appreciate differences, enrich cultural diversity, and further racial religious and cultural tolerance. The hope and aspiration of America's future lie in embracing our shared differences. December 17th is set aside as the "Day of Inclusion" so we can remember and learn about the sacrifices and contributions immigrants have made in becoming American by embracing our shared differences and common goals.

Friday's event at San Gabriel's Hilton began with a buffet/reception. This was followed by the Halau Hula Moani'a'ala Anukea ensemble, which treated us to Hawaiian song and dancequite impressive.

We were welcomed by San Gabriel Mayor David Gutierrez. Assemblyman Eng then thanked everyone for coming and gave a history of the event. He also said there are more than 230 different Asian ethnic groups throughout the world! (I didn't realize the extent and diversity of the groups.)

Peter Hidalgo, (from Ecuador), Director of Government Relations for Time Warner Cable, the event's sponsor, spoke also of the important contributions of so many varied Ethnic groups in our

Their mission is to provide dignified human services to the Tongan community and empower them to engage and resolve issues of poverty, education, immigration, health and violence.

After the Awards presentation, the sponsors, Time Warner Cable, SEIU 721 API Caucus, Chinatown Service Center, and APLsCAN were acknowledged and volunteers Anna Jung, Thomas Wong, Teresa Tran, Matthew Wong, Diane Ujiye, and OC Lee were thanked. Assemblyman Eng had the ENTIRE room in unison thanking each group in their native language. Dancers then came out and people joined in. It was an interesting informative meeting. ### Arcadia Police Blotter

For the period of Sunday, December 4, through Saturday, December 10, the Police Department responded to 967 calls for service of which 117 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, December 4:

At about 6:59 a.m., an officer was dispatched to the 200 block of West Foothill Boulevard in regards to a female victim in distress. While walking through her residence, the victim noticed the front door was open and attempted to close it when an unknown suspect walked up behind her and pushed the door closed. The suspect, described as a male adult with light or medium complexion, short dark hair, wearing a black long sleeve shirt and black bandana over his face, took money from the victim's wallet and bedroom. The suspect pushed the victim into a bedroom closet and eventually fled undetected. Through investigation, the officer determined the suspect forced entry into the home by breaking a glass window pane.

At approximately 4:57 p.m., an officer responded to H&M at the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, in reference to a juvenile detained for theft. The suspect was observed damaging a pair of jeans by attempting to remove the security sensor. The suspect then removed the security sensor from a sweater, put it on, and left the store without making payment. The 16-year-old Hispanic male was cited and released to his mother.

Monday, December 5:

Shortly after 8:15 a.m., an officer was dispatched to the 1900 block of South Seventh Avenue, in regards to a vehicle burglary report. The victim discovered the rear passenger side window of his car had been smashed, which he left parked in his driveway overnight. Numerous items were reported stolen.

Around 12:34 p.m., an officer responded to Express at the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, in reference to a grand theft report. The store manager explained that on December  $4^{th}$ , between 5:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m., unknown suspect(s) stole sixty-one men's shirts from the front display inside the store. The store was overcrowded and no one saw the theft.

Tuesday, December 6:

At about 10:47 a.m., an officer responded to the 1200 block of South Golden West Avenue regarding a fire assist. Dispatch advised a large amount of smoke was seen coming from an apartment building. Arcadia Fire Department Engine 105 responded to the scene and made forced entry into an apartment filled with smoke. An investigation revealed the smoke was caused by burnt food. The tenants forgot they were cooking and left the location.

At some point in time between December 2nd and December 5th, unknown suspect(s) stole a laptop computer from a home in the 100 block of East La Porte Street while the resident was away. Through investigation, the officer determined the point of entry was through an unlocked bedroom window. A dust for latent prints proved negative and no other property was reported missing.

Wednesday, December 7:

At about 5:26 p.m., an officer responded to Arcadia Method Hospital, 300 West Huntington Drive, regarding a hit and run. While the victim was stopped in the parking lot, a vehicle reversed into her front driver side door causing minor damage. The victim explained to the driver that she needed to get to the emergency room. The driver told the victim that she was a nurse at the hospital and would wait for her in the emergency room to exchange information; however the driver never showed up. AMH checked the hospital directory and was unable to locate a nurse matching the name provided by the driver. The victim recorded the vehicle's license plate at the time of the incident and provided it to the officer. A follow-up investigation is being conducted on the registered owner of the vehicle.

Around 7:54 p.m., an officer responded to the Arcadia Police Department front counter in regards to an identity theft report. The victim explained that his wife attempted to use their credit card at a gas station but the transaction was denied. The victim called his credit union and discovered their shared checking account was overdrawn due to several unauthorized charges. Both victims were in possession of their credit cards at the time of the report and have no idea how their information was compromised.

Thursday, December 8:

Shortly after 8:00 p.m., an officer responded to Sephora at the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding two juveniles detained for theft. The loss prevention officer advised he saw the juveniles each conceal a men's fragrance inside their purse, and walk out of the store without making payment. Both juveniles, a16-year-old White female and 17-year-old Asian female, were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking. They were later released to their parents.

At approximately 2:34 p.m., an officer responded to Murietta Drive and Volante Road regarding a suspicious parked vehicle. The officer approached the vehicle and discovered three occupants inside smoking marijuana. Through investigation, the officer determined the 19-year White male driver was in possession of a medical marijuana license and furnished marijuana to his friends, of which one was a juvenile. The driver was arrested for Furnishing Marijuana to a Minor and Contributing to the Delinquency of a Minor.

Friday, December 9:

At about 6:17 a.m., officers responded to the area of Tyler Avenue and Live Oak Avenue regarding a traffic collision. The reporting party explained to officers that she saw a male adult flee from his vehicle carrying a 12-pack of beer after he drove it into the west curb of Tyler Avenue. Officers located the suspect nearby on Freer Street and determined he was under the influence. The 28-year-old Hispanic male was arrested for Hit and Run, DUI, BAL greater than 0.08%, and Unlicensed Driver.

Around 2:30 p.m., an officer was traveling along Huntington Drive at Baldwin Avenue and conducted a traffic stop for expired registration. Through investigation, the officer learned the driver was operating the vehicle with a suspended license. The 27-year-old Black male was arrested for the listed charges and an outstanding misdemeanor warrant.

Saturday, December 10:

Shortly after 3:20 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a vehicle for lane swerving on Huntington Drive at Colorado Place. Upon contact, the officer noticed an odor of alcohol emitting from the driver's breath. Through investigation, the officer determined the 30-year-old Hispanic female was driving under the influence, and placed her under arrest for DUI and BAL greater than 0.08%. The passenger, a 33-year-old Hispanic female, was also arrested for a valid misdemeanor

At approximately 7:45 p.m., an officer responded to the Santa Anita Mall security office, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, in regards to a theft report. While the victim was eating in the food court, she placed her child's diaper bag on top of her stroller, and noticed it missing a short time later. The diaper bag contained the victim's wallet and she did not see anyone suspicious near her seating area.

tackled in the program this year relate to logic and understanding of outstanding school districts in areas that defy excellence in education, how Hip Hop has entered mainstream society and why it is here to stay, and the diminishing water resources in California.

The Coro Southern California Executive Fellows Program (EFP) is a part-time leadership program that enhances the skills of public officials to effect change in the communities they serve. Coro's Executive Fellows Program is not academic in the usual sense of the word. There are no lectures. A rigorous curriculum, interviews, and regional site visits are coupled with ample opportunity for self- governance. This process transforms assumptions about the dilemmas faced by civic leaders and allows them to better understand how to create strong relationships to get things done.

The program is also an experience in individual growth and group dynamics. Coro's goal is to help translate what the participants learn into effective action for improving their organization's goals and outcomes, and to revitalize their leadership

WREAK WINDSTORMS HAVOC

It began late at night on Wednesday, Nothrough trees and down streets. The power in our area went out about 1 a.m. Within a couple of hours, City of Monrovia personnel were mobilizing for the aftermath of a wild windstorm.

Public Works Director Ron Bow was called If you have any questions about the incident out in the wee hours of Thursday morning, December 1. Tasked with being the Incident Commander, Ron performed an initial assessment with on-duty police and fire personnel. He then called me and I reported to the Emergency Operations Center (EOC) at City Council Recap

Over the ensuing 12 hours, Monrovia personnel from all departments - from public safety and Public Works to Administrative Services and Community Services - swung into their respective roles as first-responders. Some staff were called out early to begin working on damage assessments, public outreach and communications/IT infrastructure. Others, who reported to work at their normal time, were put to work in the EOC or in the field. Still others were sent home and directed to return at a later time to take a shift in the EOC, as we were operating 24/7.

I have to say, all of our people performed in exemplary fashion - their training, their resourcefulness and flexibility, and their endurance were on full display. I do believe that Monrovia responded faster and with more the windstorms. We kept field crews working a tie vote (because there is currently only all night, staffed the main City Hall switchboard so that folks could actually have a live person to talk to, and constantly updated all of our various media. > please contact Public Works Director Ron Bow. If you have any questions about disaster preparedness for your home or business, please contact Fire Chief Chris Donovan.

Tuesday's meeting was interesting mostly for the discussion that was had by the Council regarding Councilman Clarence Shaw's seat. As you may know, Councilman Shaw is currently serving on active duty in the US Army until the summer of 2012. A longtime reservist, Mr. Shaw was activated this past summer and sent to Washington State. Under existing law, absences by Councilmembers serving in the armed forces receive special consideration. Specifically, the Councilmember in question does not have to relinquish his seat during his tour of duty. That is, the council seat remains his, subject only to the outcome of an election. That said, the law does allow the remaining Councilmembers to appoint a temporary "caretaker" to the seat until the original Councilmember returns. Until now, the Monrovia City Council has not wanted to fill the seat in honor of Mr. Shaw's service and because Mr. Shaw had asked that resources than any other agency affected by the seat be left open. Recently, however, an even-number of Councilmembers) led Councilmember Tom Adams to ask that this matter be reconsidered.

> City Attorney and I consult with Councilman Shaw to determine definitively whether he can participate in Council deliberations during his tour of active duty. If he is precluded from participation, then the Council may reconsider the temporary appointment.

THE GAYLE BLUEMEL AUDITORIUM

Former Sierra Madre School Principal Gayle Bluemel was honored Wednesday with a festive evening celebrating her 38 years as an educator in the Pasadena Unified School District. Since 2006, she has been Principal of Sierra Madre School, both campuses, and under her leadership, the school was ranked as one of the top schools academically, statewide. The Performing Arts were also an important part of Bluemel's legacy at the school and as a fitting tribute to her, the Lower Campus school auditorium was renamed in her honor. As part of the celebration, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grade students presented a Holiday Spotlight focusing on the Arts and History around the world.

BENEFITS OF TEA

As the year comes to a close, so does the semester which means, of course, finals - cramming late into the night, study sessions that aren't too successful with friends, and lots of caffeine. Usually, this means the coffee pot is running nonstop with strong, dark coffee that resembles oil more than the widely consumed drink. This year, however, I have decided to continue my methods of exploration and opt for tea, English Breakfast the caffeine Although content is significantly less, there is something more sophisticated and relaxing about tea. It also lacks the negative effects of late nights even though you're tired because of the caffeine buzz or increased heart rate combined with your already tense nerves. Not to mention there are so many varieties of tea: Candycane Lane, Green, Sleepytime, and so many more! So this year, as you study for finals, grab a cup o' tea instead of coffee. to be exact, instead of coffee. sit back, and relax.

SHOGUN

Where can you romance a first date or frolic with good friends, Shogun Restaurant. It blends a circus of excitement that yields the mind to the samurai carrying John Belushi and a Hollywood director with a healthy pyrotechnic budget.

The restaurant is a Japanese Teppanyaki-style operation. Teppanyaki being a combination of two words: Teppan meaning iron plate and Yaki meaning grill. Hibachi is likely the word that is most common to the ear of Americans and is closely tied to Teppanyaki.

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

Do you want to impress, appear hip and be entertaining? Then Shogun is the bevy of complimentary entertainment that you seek. The atmosphere is island like as the rectangular grill flames in the anticipation of eight different meals, as your food and others is artfully prepared before you. Some of the chefs are uniquely funny and can make your time with them most memorable. From the seafood to meat lovers, Shogun Japanese Restaurant offers everything to maximize your experience.

The seating at Shogun is distinctive as you seat at a horseshoe shape pattern that seats 8 with the centerpiece being a large grill. Behind the grill is the chef conducting a comedy routine and a food preparation clinic, cooking class and fire-show that keeps you, or someone in your party looking for a fire extinguisher at all times. The chefs wear skyscraper hats that fetch flying objects when a chef's spatula flips an item toward the sky. And the knives swirl about like a warrior conducting a mission. The chefs here are not just moving your food around, they are performing acrobatic tricks with your meal. I do not want to spoil this for first timers (ask for the volcano) but let me warn you, I have lost a few eyebrow hairs when I was peeking a little too closely. Mix in the sounds that complete this performance and you have one of the most unique beginnings to any meal in town. It is the closest thing to dinner theatre that I am aware of without being at one. If you bring your kids, they will be talking about this for days or weeks after. Be sure to keep matches away from them so little Einstein does not conduct experiments.

If you do not bring a group, you will be seated with others. It's almost like speed dating, in that one moment you are waiting to be seated and the next moment you are paired with strangers. Sometime it works great and you meet some very nice people, other times? Oh well. You are stuck.

The menu offers shrimp, New York Steak, Chicken, Lobster and, my buddy Laffit Pincay's favorite is the Lobster Tail at ($42.50). Shogun isn't cheap. Heck, with all the lights, grills and chefs, the overhead must be enormous. Prices range from ($16.75) to ($42.50). My favorite is the Mikado, Filet Mignon and Lobster ($39.95) and The Fuji with steak, shrimp and diver scallop ($36.95). There is a child's menu in the ($9) range to help keep this affordable for the whole family.

The lunch menu is slightly less pricey with virtually the same menu. There is a small Sushi Bar with adjacent seating for those who want a quiet evening. Call me crazy, but how could anyone ever get tired of this show? For me, it is all about the main dining room and all the action!

Suggestions: A great place for a party. If it's your birthday, you get a hat, dessert and all the servers sing to you as they clap with a tambourine (reminds me of the Partridge family). Birthdays are very popular, and people return year after year for their special day. They probably just really love those hats – what do you think?

Reservations: Reservations essential for weekends. Unfortunately, even if you have found a favorite chef or server, you can't "reserve" a table with them. In my humble opinion, the Mai Tai's need some improvement, but they have a full bar and Sake selection, so there are options.

Maybe it is the kid in me, but I never seem to tire of this place. If you want to be the Father or Mother of the month, bring them here because they will remember it.

This is Peter Dills heading out the door for next week's article. I only hope I have half the fun that I did researching Shogun. OW - I think I burnt myself.

Shogun is located at 470 Halstead Pasadena, Full Bar (626) 351-8945. Lunch and Dinner. Please go to their website www.restaurantshogun.com for updated prices and menu.

INGREDIENTS

18 OREO Cookies, finely crushed (about 1-1/2 cups)

2 Tbsp. butter, melted

4 pkg. (8 oz. each) PHILADELPHIA Cream Cheese, softened

1-1/2 cups sugar, divided

1 tsp.vanilla

6 squaresBAKER'S Semi-Sweet Chocolate, melted, cooled slightly

2 tsp. cornstarch

1/2 cupwater

2 cups pitted frozen cherries 1 tsp.Mexican cinnamon (canela)

DIRECTIONS

HEAT oven to 325°F.

MIX cookie crumbs and butter; press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan.

BEAT cream cheese, 1 cup sugar and vanilla in large bowl with mixer until well blended. Add eggs, 1 at a time, beating on low speed after each just until blended. Reserve 3 cups batter. Add melted chocolate to remaining batter; mix well. Pour over crust. Carefully spoon reserved batter over chocolate batter.

BAKE 1 hour 5 min. or until center is almost set. Run knife around rim of pan to loosen cake; cool before removing rim. Refrigerate 4 hours.

MEANWHILE, mix cornstarch and water in medium saucepan. Stir in remaining sugar. Add cherries; stir. Bring to boil on medium-high heat, stirring constantly; cook and stir on medium heat 2 min. or until sugar is dissolved and sauce is thickened. Stir in cinnamon. Cool completely. Refrigerate until ready to spoon over cheesecake just before serving.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS:

"OSCAR" CONTENDERS & "SUNDANCE" MOVIES WORTH SKIPPING

In "Rampart," Woody Harrelson portrays Dave "Date Rape" Brown, a dirty cop under investigation for his crimes during the LAPD's Rampart scandal. While being hailed as a "masterful" performance by Harrelson, I really can't say the same about the movie. The storytelling is distorted and the viewer is never truly immersed into what's being presented to them on screen. "Rampart" feels like a series of scenes barely connected together with an ambiguous ending (if you can call that a true ending) that ultimately leads to an entirely unsatisfying viewing experience. You can't really knock the dynamite performance by Harrelson, but despite the deep character study, the supporting players (which includes some famous names) feel non-genuine, one-dimensional, and flat. When all is said and done (which feels like little was both said or done), you're left wondering what the point of the entire film was. Director Owen Moverman directed the fantastic 2009 film, "The Messenger", but with "Rampart," he's definitely taken a step in the wrong direction. Profoundly disappointing and lacking a cohesive plot, "Rampart" is a slowly paced, uninspiring slog of a film.

"The Descendants" puts George Clooney on the radar for next year's Academy Awards. However, it'll be an obligatory nomination because it's Clooney we're talking about. His performance, while satisfactory, is by no means "Oscar" worthy. Clooney stars as Matt King, an indifferent husband and father of two girls, whose wife is involved in a potentially tragic boating accident. Unequipped to handle the responsibility of raising two girls (ages ten and seventeen), Clooney finds himself in limbo and somewhat lost. To add to the stress, he's in the middle of negotiating a deal to sell his family's land handed down from Hawaiian royalty and missionaries. "The Descendants" isn't a horrible film, but it's noting spectacular either. At least not in the way it could have been, especially coming from renowned "Sideways" writer and director, Alexander Payne. Easily the best parts of the movie involve Clooney and his ten-year-old daughter (Amara Miller). Additionally, the older sister (Shailene Woodley) often upstages Clooney. I was hoping "The Descendants" was going to be moving, inspirational, and tug at the strings of my heart. In the end, it barely reaches any of those heights. I'm only left with idea of what it could have truly accomplished. Looks like I'll have to invest those eminent expectations in another film.

2011 Sundance flick, "I Melt With You," stars Thomas Jane, Rob Lowe, Jeremy Piven, and Christian McKay as four old college buddies getting together for a drug induced week getaway. The first 45 minutes is awash with heavy drug use, music video type cinematography and a loud, semi-aggressive soundtrack. After the barrage of drugs and partying with both younger men and women, the film takes a very expected dark turn. It takes a lengthy time getting there and even a longer time coming to a resolution. "I Melt With You" will definitely split audiences as it remains largely convoluted, controversial, and rather depressing. I'm not entirely sure what kind of audience this movie was intended for, but I know I was left out in the cold. Four middle age men at crossroads, all of which bear a haunted past or present life isn't all that enticing to moviegoers. None of the guys are in any way much likable with the slight exception of Christian McKay's character. However, you really don't know anything about these buddies. Their demons are scattered throughout the movie, but you find no sympathy or connection to these self-absorbed men. A letter at the end of the movie shows up that practically tries to sum up the last two hours, but it's way too late for any last minute pleads. The filmmaker's intentions remain clearly unknown (possibly to even themselves?) because this film means absolutely nothing. A bloated (122 minutes), toxic, miserable movie trying to be different, artsy and meaningful comes together poorly, misguided, and ornate.

Jeff's Pics The Book Report by Jeff Brown

THE HOUR I FIRST BELIEVED: A NOVEL BY WALLY LAMB

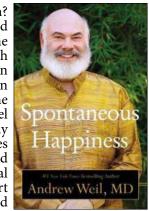

In this book, Lamb embodies in his fiction myth, psychology, family history stretching back many generations, and the questions of faith that lie at the heart of everyday life. The result is an extraordinary tale, at once a meditation on the human condition and an unflinching yet compassionate evocation of character. When high school teacher Caelum Quirk and his younger wife, Maureen, a school nurse, move to Colorado, they both get jobs at Columbine High School. In April 1999, Caelum returns home to Three Rivers, Connecticut, to be with his aunt who has just had a stroke. But Maureen finds herself in the school library at Columbine, cowering in a cabinet and expecting to be killed, as two vengeful students go on a premeditated, murderous rampage. Miraculously she survives, but at a cost: she is unable to recover from the trauma. Caelum and Maureen flee Colorado and return to an illusion of safety at the Quirk family farm in Three Rivers. But the effects of chaos are not so easily put right, and further tragedy ensues. While Maureen fights to regain her sanity, Caelum discovers a cache of old diaries, letters, and newspaper clippings in an upstairs bedroom of his family's house. The colorful and intriguing story they recount spans five generations of Quirk family ancestors, from the Civil War era to Caelum's own troubled childhood. As Caelum grapples with unexpected and confounding revelations from the past, he also struggles to fashion a future out of the ashes of tragedy. His personal quest for meaning and faith becomes a mythic journey that is both contemporary and American. Recommended by Alison Snow Wesley from Friends of the Library.

SPONTANEOUS HAPPINESS BY DR. ANDREW WEIL

Everyone wants to be happy. But what does that really mean? Increasingly, scientific evidence shows us that true satisfaction and well being come only from within. Dr. Weil has proven that the best way to maintain optimum physical health is to draw on both conventional and alternative medicine. He gives us the foundation for attaining and sustaining optimum emotional health. Rooted in integrative medicine, the book suggests a reinterpretation of the notion of happiness, discusses the limitations of the biomedical model in treating depression, and elaborates on the inseparability of body and mind. Dr. Weil offers an array of scientifically proven strategies from Eastern and Western psychology to counteract low mood and enhance contentment, comfort, resilience, serenity, and emotional balance. These strategies include body oriented therapies to support emotional wellness, techniques for managing stress and anxiety and changing mental habits that keep us stuck in negative patterns, and advice on developing a spiritual dimension in our lives. Whether you are struggling with depression or simply want to feel happier, his revolutionary approach will shift the paradigm of emotional health and help you achieve greater contentment in your life.

HOWARD Hays As I See It

and forwardly, what everyone, of the United States Supreme Court, seems to understand, and that is, corporations are not people. Bank of America is not a person. Exxon Mobil is not a person."

Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-VT) President Obama paid tribute to Teddy Roosevelt recently, reminding us of parallels to the "trust buster" president who a century ago took on the Gilded Age robber barons lording over our nation's economy. They also held ownership over our Congress and statehouses, and in his speech on the Senate floor, Sen. Sanders evoked that history by reminding that since Roosevelt's time corporate money has been banned from politics - until the Citizens United Supreme Court decision of two years

The proposed amendment would overturn that decision by declaring a) corporations are not people with constitutional rights enjoyed by people, b) corporations are subject to regulations by people, c) corporations can't make campaign contributions, and d) Congress and states can regulate campaign finances.

Sen. Sanders explained, "At a time when corporations have more than $2 trillion in cash in their bank accounts and are making recordbreaking profits, the American people should be concerned when the Supreme Court says that these corporations have a constitutionallyprotected right to spend shareholders' money to dominate an election as if they were real, live

In addition, he decried prohibitions against states and localities attempting on their own to keep money out of politics, and in the court's inventing a "right" to secrecy among donors. This disallowing of disclosure requirements renders meaningless the laws against infusion of foreign money, or money from foreigncontrolled corporations, into our electoral

Sen. Sanders cited a recent Politico report that the industrialist Koch brothers are planning to inject $200 million into the 2012 campaigns. In an open secret, he stated the obvious by explaining, "Whatever powerful and wealthy special interests members of Congress are prepared to take on -- on behalf of the interest of the middle class and working families of this country -- they will know in the back of their mind that there may be a flood of money coming in to their state. They're going to think twice about how to cast that vote.

"When the Supreme Court says that for purposes of the First Amendment, corporations are people, that writing checks from the company's bank account is constitutionallyprotected speech and that attempts by the their children will inherit. Our country belongs federal government and states to impose to We the People. Corporations do not have a reasonable restrictions on campaign ads family member at Arlington or Westwood that are unconstitutional, when that occurs, our gave their life to ensure it stays that way. democracy is in grave danger."

"We have got to send a Another proposed amendment was constitutional amendment introduced early last month by Sen. Tom Udall to the states that says, (D-NM), which specifically addressed the issue straight- of allowing Congress and states to regulate campaign spending. In addition to Citizens except for five members United, which equated corporations with people, it would also overturn Buckley vs. Valeo (1976), which equated money with speech.

"Campaigns should be about the best ideas, not the biggest checkbooks.", explained Sen. Udall. Another backer, Sen. Sheldon Whitehouse (D-RI) added, "It is something we have to do something about if we are going to reclaim American democracy as the shining light to other countries that it has always been.

A corresponding version of Sen. Udall's amendment was introduced in the House by Rep. Betty Sutton (D-OH), with the House version of Sen. Sanders' proposal introduced by Rep. Ted Deutch D-FL).

Rep. Deutch named his amendment after the movement that spread across the country, and the world, over the past few months: "No matter how long protesters camp out across America, big banks will continue to pour money into hadow groups promoting candidates more likely to slash Medicaid for poor children than help families facing foreclosure . . . No matter how strongly Ohio families fight for basic fairness for workers, the Koch Brothers will continue to pour millions into campaigns aimed at protecting the wealthiest 1%. No matter how fed up seniors in South Florida are with an agenda that puts oil subsidies ahead of Social Security and Medicare, corporations will continue to fund massive publicity campaigns and malicious attack ads against the public interest. Americans of all stripes agree that for far too long, corporations have occupied Washington and drowned out the voices of the people. I introduced the OCCUPIED Amendment because the days of corporate control of our democracy must end. It is time to return the nation's capital and our democracy to the people."

Today, Republicans hold unemployment insurance and extension of the payroll tax cut hostage, and once again threaten to shut down our government, over demands to gut environmental protection. The president's nominee to head the new Consumer Financial Protection Bureau can't get a hearing not because of doubts over his qualifications, but in order to kill the CFPB before it can get started. These are not actions taken for the good of the country, but at the behest of corporate sponsors.

It's a major task obtaining two-thirds approval in both houses of Congress, and the endorsement of 38 of 50 states, but, as Sen. Sanders pointed out, constitutional struggles establishing racial and gender equality were generational causes.

A much-noted sign at an "Occupy" protest read, "I'll believe a corporation's a person when Texas executes one." Corporations are not people. Corporations do not love their country. Corporations do not worry about the future former Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich, These "job creators" are taking advantage specifically, concern themselves with their fickle "job creators" and not the staple of the American economy: job workers.

The overpaid, overfed, and over-hyped Gingrich said to an audience at a Nationwide Insurance luncheon earlier this month, want to go after Welfare Queens and those "Really poor children in really poor neighborhoods have no habits of working and have nobody around them who works, so they literally have no habit of showing up on Monday."

Gingrich is willfully ignorant of the fact you can work and still be "really poor" in this country. You can show up every Monday and do your job faithfully and STILL not make a living. If you work full-time at the federal minimum wage you'll pull in $15,000 a year before taxes (and yes, they do take social security, state and federal taxes out of those paychecks). Add children to the equation and it's worse than the working poor - it's the least powerful (and some imaginary) working impoverished.

Now 49 million Americans live in poverty - with 2.6 million falling into the category last year. That's 16 percent of Americans. There are more Americans living in poverty than there are Canadians on the planet.

Gingrich is trying to equate poverty with a moral shortcoming. It's a warped offshoot of the prosperity gospel - riches are a com. sign of god's love - poverty is a sign of his indifference.

But also in Gingrich's richer-and-thereforeholier-than-thou diatribe is an attempt to

Will Newt take them on? No, Gingrich is showing his courage as a K Street custodian by kicking the little guys. Because really, it's not that poor children need jobs to make them better workers – it's that jobs need to be better to adult workers.

Corporate Welfare

Most of the time when media pundits compare connected enough to the Tea Party with the Occupy-Whatever-Town-They-Happen-To-Be-In crown, the comparison is wishful thinking on the part of the media elites who are hoping to transfer some of the Tea Party's hard-won credibility to the occupy rowd. So it's truly a newsworthy event when is seeking to pass hat comparison is legitimate, as is the case with legislation which would grant to corporate welfare.

Corporate welfare, as most readers know, is a Mercantile Board an crowd. So it's truly a newsworthy event when that comparison is legitimate, as is the case with regard to corporate welfare.

system of government handouts or tax credits awarded to the politically connected corporate classes. This is money taken from the pockets of the 99% and given – via the local or national politician – to some corporation. The great irony of the most recent example of this is the fact that it is Obama's home state, Illinois, which is all too willing to engage in this unseemly process.

Some of you readers may know that Illinois recently decided to impose a 67% increase in state income taxes and to then increase corporate income taxes further. It seems as though this increased tax burden has prompted two of the state's most significant employers to consider moving their operations elsewhere. Mind you, these companies are not talking about just opening new facilities in some other state. No, Sears and The Chicago Mercantile Board of Trade are actually considering shuttering their existing facilities in Illinois and opening them in a more tax-realistic state.

Indiana has been fairly responsive to the perverse incentives created by Illinois politicians. Indiana's governor, Mitch Daniels, has already persuaded more than a dozen Illinois companies to relocate to the Hoosier State simply by pointing out that tax rates are more reasonable there. Given the ludicrousy which passes for fiscal wisdom in Illinois, it's miraculous that more of the state's industry and commerce hasn't uprooted.

That's where corporate welfare comes into play. Rather than admit that their tax structure is excessively burdensome and is driving away employers (hence jobs), Illinois politicians would rather maintain their triple-A rated liberal credentials by raising taxes on "the rich" and then granting waivers to those members of the rich which are smart enough and politically obtain relief from those taxes - hence corporate welfare.

As of this writing, the Illinois legislature estimated $85 million tax exemption and grant Sears a $15 million exemption. In a state the size of Illinois, it defies logic to think that there are only two corporations in the state. This means that two out of however many are the only ones to receive special dispensation from the state's tax burden. Every other corporation in the state, and all the individual tax payers – the 99% - are left to foot the bill for the Merc and Sears.

You have to give the Occupy crowd credit for righteous anger at this one - of course the Tea Party crowd is equally upset about this, but they don't threaten to burn down the whole state

The point is that humans and corporations (which are really only collections of humans, after all) are for the most part rational. If you raise their taxes beyond a certain level, they will react by either decreasing their economic activity or by moving their economic activity to another location with lower, more reasonable, taxes. The lesson is that tax rates do affect incentives.

Perhaps this will be an occasion when citizens of all political persuasions can unite to bring about some manner of fiscal discipline. Tax burdens are too high. If we want the economy and employment to improve, we have to insist on spending restraint and reasonable tax rates.

Christmas 2011 -- Birth of a New Tradition

are kicking into high gear to provide Americans with monstrous piles of cheaply produced goods -merchandise that has been produced at the expense of American labor.

This year will be different. This year Americans will give the gift of genuine concern for other Americans There is no longer an excuse that, at gift giving time, nothing can be found that is produced by American hands.

Yes there is! It's time to think outside the box, people. Who says a gift needs to fit in a shirt box, wrapped in Chinese produced wrapping paper?

Everyone -- yes EVERYONE gets their hair cut. How about gift certificates from your local American hair salon or barber? Gym membership? It's appropriate for all ages who are thinking about some health improvement.

Who wouldn't appreciate getting their car detailed? Small, American owned detail shops and car washes would love to sell you a gift certificate or a book of gift certificates.

Are you one of those extravagant givers who think nothing of plonking down the Benjamin's on a Chinese made flat-screen? Perhaps that grateful gift receiver would like his driveway sealed, or lawn mowed for the summer, or driveway plowed all winter, or games at the local golf course.

There are a bazillion owner-run restaurants -all offering gift certificates. And, if your intended isn't the fancy eatery sort, what about a half dozen breakfasts at the local breakfast joint. Remember, folks this isn't about big National chains -- this is about supporting your home town-Americans

As the holidays approach, the giant Asian factories with their financial lives on the line to keep their doors open.

How many people couldn't use an oil change for their car, truck or motorcycle, done at a shop run by the American working guy?

Thinking about a heartfelt gift for mom? Mom would LOVE the services of a local cleaning lady for a day.

My computer could use a tune-up, and I KNOW I can find some young guy who is struggling to get his repair business up and running.

OK, you were looking for something more personal. Local crafts people spin their own wool and knit them into scarves. They make jewelry, and pottery and beautiful wooden boxes.

Plan your holiday outings at local, owner operated restaurants and leave your server a nice tip. And, how about going out to see a play or ballet at your hometown theatre.

Musicians need love too, so find avenue showcasing local bands. Honestly, people, do you REALLY need to buy another ten thousand Chinese lights for the house? When you buy a five dollar string of light, about fifty cents stays in the community. If you have those kinds of bucks to burn, leave the mailman, trash guy or babysitter

You see, Christmas is no longer about draining American pockets so that China can build another glittering city. Christmas is now about caring about US, encouraging American small businesses to keep plugging away to follow their dreams. And, when we care about other Americans, we care about our communities, and the benefits come back to us in ways we couldn't

THIS is the new American Christmas tradition.

DO YOU BEIEVE IN THE GOD PARTICLE?

Tomorrow, Tuesday December 13, 2011 is potentially a very big day in the history of Science. Perhaps you have found the time to educate yourself about the big search. Remember the book and movie the da Vinci

Code that talked about CERN and the Large Hadron Collider (LHC)? If you're anything like me you were probably more interested in the story than in the Science, so to refresh your memory, the LHC is a gigantic scientific instrument buried under Switzerland about 100m underground (about 110 yards I think). As you can already tell, I'm not really a science-guy but, as I understand it, what has been created is a gigantic 17 mile giant doughnut which is called a particle accelerator. The Scientist who lives around the corner tells me that he used to work at the location and has actually ridden his bicycle around inside of this circular construction This particle accelerator is used by physicists to study the smallest known particles - building blocks of all things. Supposedly it will revolutionize scientific understanding, from the miniscule world of atoms to the vastness of the Universe. Everything about the present state of scientific understanding of the Universe is about to change and frankly I am almost completely in the dark about the whole

My understanding of the significance of the importance of the

Did you get up to watch the eclipse? Just before dawn on Saturday my wife and I sat on our deck, kind of freezing, but entranced by the vision of the moon entering and emerging from the Earth's shadow. What are the words? Experiencing the cold, the night

Tomorrow the announcement about the reality of the Higgs Boson will be made. If the particle is observed as predicted, Mankind will have confidence that today's Standard Model explains the process whereby pure energy can acquire mass and become matter. If the particle is not observed then Science will have to create new theories in an attempt to understand. My overriding concern, and perhaps yours, is that we human inhabitants of this already existing perfection use whatever knowledge is obtained wisely and that we ot be overwhelmed by the distractions and complexity of our daily the Higgs Bison may have been glimpsed, or maybe not. It will probably take another six months to be sure. Right now though there is enough evidence to really excite the physics community and to be of great interest to lay people like you and me. There is time to educate yourself and share in the excitement if you want to. Really, this time, like all other times, is a great time to experience the daily miracle of awareness. Let's all use that gift well.

verification of the existence of this particle comes directly from the lecture which was presented by the Skeptic Society at Cal Tech on Saturday. I regularly attend these lectures with my disabled son, who has not mastered reading or writing, but who understands this stuff about as well as I do. Perhaps this is a convenient way of saying that if you want to try and understand this stuff, your best bet is to look it all up on the Internet rather than attempt to gain any insight from my limited understanding. My purpose here is not to be a disseminator of scientific knowledge - which is well beyond my capability; rather I am trying to alert you to the fact that some really exciting things are going on all around us. Unfortunately most of us are distracted by whatever else we are doing or by what is being done to us.

sky from our perch on the hill brings to mind a link to the previous generations of Native Americans that have watched the night sky from this very spot. Sure, like our conjectures about the Higgs Boson and the creation of the Universe, it all remains mysterious and unfathomable. How do you get something from nothing? Yet somehow there is, at least for me, a kind of satisfaction and completion when experiencing the alignment of the sun, moon, and Earth in such a dramatic way. At least for this moment it all seemed to be a Goldilocks world where everything lined up perfectly in a way that included even me. My wife and I wordlessly experienced a kind of joy at being together and just living in this perfect, at least for the moment, world.

lives. We all await the news of tomorrow. Now tomorrow has come and it has been announced that

CHRISTMAS FRUITCAKE ALWAYS GETS A BAD RAP

\Rev. James L. Snyder why a person should take no notice to them at all. The thing that keeps buffoons energized his attention paid to them. If they were really serious about their so-called beliefs, they would leave the country during the Christmas season and go somewhere where it is not celebrated.

My recommendation is the bottom of the Ignoring the holiday buffoons, I snuggle down and enjoy the Christmas festivities. So much about the season to savor and enjoy.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage has our home all decorated for the Christmas season. In the evening, we sit down in the living room among all of the decorations, sip our hot cocoa and have a healthy slice of Christmas fruitcake.

When it comes to decorating things, I don't even have a thumb. During this time, I envy those who are all thumbs. My decorating expertise is simply to enjoy the work done. And that I do.

I love everything about the Christmas season, except maybe shopping in the mall. I think there in the mall. It is not that I hate going to the mall... well, I guess if I am truthful, I really do hate going to the mall. If they had a nice good used bookstore, I might see my way to the mall more often and deliberately.

Apart from the mall, the Christmas season is a terrific time to be alive.

I love the Christmas trees. Go ahead and call it a "Holiday Tree" if you do not mind letting other people know how stupid you really sound. Solomon, in the Old Testament, had some of these people in mind when he wrote, "Even a fool, when he holdeth his peace, is counted wise: and he that shutteth his lips is esteemed a man of understanding." (Proverbs 17:28 KJV). If it is a "Holiday Tree," which holiday does it represent?

I love all the decorations associated with this time of year. Throughout the year, everything seems to be rather drab, but when Christmas comes along things begin to brighten up.

I love all the stories associated with Christmas. Yes, I know some of them are just stories made up; but every once in a while it is good to listen to a story. The fact that somebody has accused Santa's reindeer's of bullying poor little Rudolph only indicate that some people do not know the difference between fact and fiction.

Do not let this get out, but, Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer does not even exist. He is just a made-up character in a Christmas story. I know is www.whatafellowship.com.

that will come as a shock to many people, but the Many reasons exist truth is the truth no matter whom it hurts.

I love the music of Christmas. Particularly, love and embrace the because 90% of the Christmas music is religious. Christmas season. I hear Go figure? Nothing is more inspiring than of those who attack the listening to a choir sing Handel's Messiah. Of Christmas season and I course, there is a danger that the wrong people will get a hold of this great piece of music and want to change the title. I am looking for someone to protest this and insist we call it, "Handel's

> The music of Christmas is uplifting and inspiring despite all the naysayers that seem to come out of the ground during this time of the year. I wish they would stay underground and celebrate whatever they celebrate with Punxsutawney Phil.

> Dare I mention the food of Christmas? I'm going to anyway. The best thing about the food at Christmas time is that nobody, and when I am talking about nobody, I am referring of course to my wife, says, "You shouldn't be eating that." The beauty of Christmas food is that you can eat it whenever and as much as you like.

> When I come back for my second slice of fruitcake and somebody looks at me I always say, "I'm starting my diet next month." And I get away with it.

Speaking of fruitcake, it is the best part of the should be some kind of a law restricting shopping Christmas food frenzy. My biggest concern in this area is that the fruitcake has gotten a very bad rap by people who do not understand this delicacy. It is a very wonderful way for a person to get their daily portion of fruit. How nice of it to be mixed in with cake. After all, if the word "fruit," is associated with it, it must be good, right? Everybody knows fruit is good for a person.

I take my portion of vegetables in carrot cake and my portion of fruit in fruitcake. This is the cuisine of the gods.

There is a very practical side to this fruitcake business. As I am picking up my fifth slice of fruitcake, I begin thinking about the New Year and how I need to add more fruit to my diet. As I slowly chew on the fruitcake, every aspect of my being is energized with glorious delight and goodwill toward men. After a few slices of fruitcake, I am in such a good mood that even the "Holiday Tree" people do not bother me so much. Nothing comes between my fruitcake and me.

Christmas is the season to rejoice in God's love for the world so much that he sent his only son, Jesus Christ.

Happy Holiday season to you all. Christmas

seems to be coming with increased regularity the older I age. Quite a switch from the Christmas season of my youth. When you are young the longest night of the year is Christmas Eve night. That is, if your family is in the open gifts Christmas morning camp. My parents insisted we open presents on Christmas morning. What does your family do? We all had friends who were lucky enough to be in the open gifts Christmas Eve camp. They got to open their gifts the night before Christmas. I guess Santa used UPS to pre-deliver gifts to those families. My brother and sisters and I finally wore down my Mom and she agreed we could open one gift on Christmas Eve. But she had a trick up her sleeve: She got to pick the gift. So what did I get to open on Christmas Eve? Socks, a bathrobe, or Claus. 3. You become Santa Claus.

it's slippers. Not exactly what I had in mind. Yes, you may ask, I am still a open gifts on Christmas morning person. But pay close attention to me parents. If your kids get up at 5:30 am on Christmas morning shaking you awake, and start badgering you to roll out of bed I have a suggestion for you. A suggestion that will permit you to sleep in...guaranteed. Here it is: Let your kids open a cool gift on Christmas Eve. And let them stay up and play with whatever they open. Pretend to tell them to go to sleep knowing full well they will play with their new toy under the blankets with a flashlight. They will finally fall asleep (possibly passed out on their bedroom floor). My wife and I made a practice of this technique with young Alex and Olivia. The net result? We had to shake them awake at 8:30 Christmas morning to open presents. This reminds me of the three stages of man (or woman): 1. You believe in Santa Claus. 2. You don't believe in Santa know, I like to give you little bits of trivia and such that you can pass on amazing and delighting your Christmas guests. The following is a funny recitation (which means it is funny IF you read it out loud word for word and exactly as it is written):

Grandpa's Christmas Fruitcake Recipe You'll need the following: a cup of water, a cup of sugar, four large brown eggs, two cups of dried fruit, a teaspoon of salt, a cup of brown sugar, lemon juice, nuts, and a bottle of whiskey.

Sample the whiskey to check for

Take a large bowl. Check the whiskey again. To be sure it's the highest quality, pour one level cup and drink. Repeat. Turn on the electric mixer, beat one cup of butter in a large fluffy bowl. Add one teaspoon of sugar and beat again.

Make sure the whiskey is still okay. Cry another tup. Turn off the mixer. Beat two leggs and add to the bowl and chuck

As regular readers of my column in the cup of dried fruit. Mix on the tuner. If the fired druit gets stuck in the beaterers, pry it loose with a drewscriver.

Sample the whiskey to check for tonsisticity. Next, sift two cups of salt. Or something. Who cares? Check the whiskey. Now sift the lemon juice and strain your nuts. Add one table. Spoon. Of sugar or something. Whatever you Grease the oven. Turn the cake tin to 350 degrees. Don't forget to beat off the turner. Throw the bowl out the window. Check the whiskey again and go to bed.

Finally, as I do every year, I have asked the Lord to bless me with a Christmas morning reminiscent of the Christmas mornings I used to experience when I was a young child growing up in Minnesota. If I get my wish, you will wake up Christmas morning and discover Sierra Madre blanketed with a foot of snow. It's my fault. I'll be selling snow shovels in Kersting Court. MERRY CHRISTMAS!!

HOMES AND PROPERTY

One Of A Kind: Featuring unique homes and gardens and the people who create them. Story by Chris Bertrand, Photos by Suzanne Hayek.

2011 HOLIDAY DECORATING AWARD WINNERS!

Thanks to our readers and other volunteers, we at Mountain Views News received many nominations for our 2011 Holiday Decorating Awards! We welcomed submissions from our service area including Altadena, Pasadena, Arcadia, Sierra Madre, Monrovia and Duarte, though not all communities received nominations.

Special recognition and thanks go out to our two "anchor" holiday spirit leaders in Sierra Madre. Year after year, Tim Osti on N. Auburn, and Ralph Ter Horst on N. Grove go all out to bring us into the holiday spirit. Osti lights nearly every inch of his home, roof and all; plays music and personally welcomes visitors to his Christmas display. Ter Horst lights the "North Star" of Sierra Madre in the northwest quadrant of the city. Ter Horst told Mountain Views News he personally climbs the tree, using a ladder as a launching point. He uses a rope to help place the lights. The recent horrendous windstorm didn't bring down the star, much to his surprise, and the tree remains lit on December evenings to welcome in the season.

We hope you'll enjoy touring our award winners' decorations as much as we enjoyed choosing them! Though our awards are totally subjective, what's not to like???? If you're feeling Scrooge-like, here's the perfect cure! Take a tour!

- Best "over the top" decorations: 27 N. Auburn, Sierra Madre
- Best Sierra Madre Decorations TIE: 38 W. Grandview and 60 E. GrandView watching out for you. (Including Me!). Yesterday my son seemed much happier with himself, and I think he felt the walk was a big part of that.

This morning before his physical therapy session he asked when he got home if we could walk again. I welcomed it with an open heart and arms. While he was in getting ready, I sat down and pulled up my emails (I honestly don't read them daily so yours might have come a week ago). So when I read your article in the Mountain Views about letting go of the negatives in our lives while walking, I was

I believe that God does speak to us, but not in the way you might think. I could clearly hear him

As he started to leave I asked if I could read him something. I read your article on forgiveness and walking to him. All I can say is Wow.....I believe he is starting to see his connection.

My purpose in this life is more clear every day.

Thank You for sharing. May God Bless you always and keep you safe.

I extend my grateful thanks to this generous patient in my life, and to each of you.

Let's keep on walking, talking, and healing.

NEED TO RETIRE?

Dear Savvy Senior:

Is there an easy way to figure out how much savings a person needs to retire? I'm 52 years old - about 10 years from when I would like to retire - and I want to see where I stand. Planning Ahead

Dear Planning:

How much money you need to retire comfortably is a great question that all working adults should ask themselves. Unfortunately, far too few ever bother thinking about it.

But calculating an approximate number of how much you'll need to have saved for retirement is actually pretty easy and doesn't take long to do. Here's a quick, simple threestep approach that can help you find your magic retirement number.

Estimate Expenses

The first step is the trickiest - estimating your future retirement expenses. If you want a quick ballpark estimate, figure around 75 to 85 percent of your current gross income. That's what most people find they need to maintain their current lifestyle in

If you want a more precise estimate, track your current expenses on a worksheet and deduct any costs you expect to go away or decline when you retire, and add whatever new ones you anticipate.

Costs you can scratch off your list include work related expenses like commuting or lunches out, as well as the amount you're socking away for retirement. You may also be able to deduct your mortgage if you expect to have it paid off by retirement, and your kid's college expenses. Your income taxes should also be less.

On the other hand, some costs will probably go up when you retire, like health care, and depending on your interests you may spend a lot more on travel, golf or other hobbies. And, if you're going to be retired for 20 or 30 years you also need to factor in the occasional big budget items like a new roof, furnace or car.

Tally Income

Step two is to calculate your retirement income. If you contribute to Social Security, estimate how much your monthly benefit will be at the age you want to retire. You can get a personalized estimate at www.ssa.gov/ estimator. If you're married, remember to

I've been in my business a very long time now. As Christmas approaches, I take extra time to consider my life and its blessings, its "half-full glass" aspects. Some days these grateful moments are really easy. I received this email last week, and it has made my season. You just never know what joys may come:

Ha ha ha....I always wanted to write that to someone, but I never dated a guy named John. Anyway, here's my story.....

One of my children has recently had a bad experience on his journey through life, as we all do, so I encouraged him to walk with me a couple of days ago and just share conversation. Get out of the house, just be. A lot of the conversation on the walk had to do with being your own worst critic and learning how to forgive oneself. Rather than being a victim, view the experience as a wake up call. God and his angels are speaking to you, we just need to listen. Trust that someone is through you. You are my angels and I am blessed you are in my life.

Dr. John

John M. Talevich, D.C.

HOW MUCH DO YOU

count your spouse's benefits too.

In addition to Social Security, if you have a traditional pension plan from an employer, find out from the plan administrator how much you are likely to get when you retire. And, figure in any other income from other sources you expect to have, such as rental properties, part-time work, etc.

Calculate the Difference

The final step is to do the math. Subtract your annual expenses from your annual income. If your income alone can cover your bills, you're all set. If not, you'll need to tap your savings, including your 401(k) plans, IRAs, or other investments to make up the difference.

So, let's say for example you need around $45,000 a year for retirement and you expect to receive $25,000 a year from Social Security and other income. That leaves a $20,000 shortfall that you'll need to pull from your nest egg each year ($45,000 - $25,000 = $20,000). Multiply your shortfall by 25, and that's how much you'll need to have saved.

In the case above, you would multiply $20,000 by 25 and come up with $500,000.

Why 25? Because that would allow you to pull 4 percent a year from your savings, which is a safe withdrawal strategy that in most cases will let your money last as long as you do – at least 30 years.

If you find that your savings are lacking, you might want to go back to your worksheet and cut some costs. Or, you may need to consider part-time work during retirement or postponing retirement so you can boost your savings.

Savvy Tip: If you need help figuring out how much you'll need to retire, there's a variety of free online calculators that can assist you. Some top tools are offered by Analyze Now (analyzenow.com), T. Rowe Price (www3.troweprice.com/ ric/ricweb/public/ric.do) and (aarp.org/work/retirement-planning/ retirement_calculator).

"I Miss Napster Already"

For those of you not familiar with the long and storied history of the online music service known as "Napster", you may have missed out on one of the great ones. Today iTunes rules as the online music provider of choice, but in the mid-to-late 90's when the whole concept of getting digital music online was just beginning to gain a foothold in the marketplace, Napster was my favorite. Of all the computer ventures started in a college dorm room by an uber-geek, this one was my favorite. Napster made waves when it first hit the scene because it allowed its users to search for and download music online for free. Later (and probably even at the time) this was ruled to be the very definition of illegal, much to the relief of the RIAA (Recording Industry Association of America), who fought long and was out of the bottle, there was no way to put it back in again.

Napster had shown that the peer-to-peer computing model could be adapted for widespread commercial use quite nicely. Other similar networks popped up all over the place to try and find their own niche on the Internet, and this was before the widespread use of residential high-speed internet connections.

Fast-forward to 2003 and, after a series of legal ups-and-downs and a few changes in ownership, Napster re-emerged as a paid-subscription service that offered online music for paying customers. The company had made the transition from the underground to the mainstream and beyond. As a result of being in the game for so long before emerging as a legitimate online music service, Napster rums and reading the postings of other disgruntled Napster cushad assembled a huge library of content.

Fast-forward to December 1, 2011. The online music provider Rhapsody has acquired Napster for an undisclosed sum and merged Napster's existing customer base with its own and here's where the trouble began. The following day millions of Napster users found hard to shut down the freeloading upstart. But once the genie themselves unable to access their accounts online while the conversion took place. Other users found that content downloaded to mp3 players and other portable devices suddenly wouldn't play and, in some cases, the devices displayed cryptic messages about expired licenses. My personal nightmare consisted of not being able to transfer songs from my music library to my mp3 player and then not being able to play content in any of the media players on my system.

> Later I found that I was not able to play a full 70% of my legally purchased Napster content with the Rhapsody media player. I'd been a paying Napster subscriber for more than five years and my music library consisted of more than 2,000 songs. I soon found that I was not alone in this situation after visiting Rhapsody's online fotomers who were forcibly, and stealthily, converted to a service that they neither wanted nor asked for. Rhapsody has been around for a while and there was a reason I wasn't a user of their service; it's because I (and millions of others) chose Napster.

Rhapsody sucks. Thanks for nothing, Rhapsody.

Numerous accounts of physical and mental health benefits resulting from canine interaction have been documented throughout history. It pleases me to know that I am not alone in my recognition and appreciation of the physical, psychological and even spiritual benefits of spending time with a cuddly canine. Loving and being loved by a dog is not only a heart-warming, comforting experience, but the fact is that dogs can play a part in prolonging and enhancing the quality of life for the human being. I would be hard-pressed to understand and try to explain just exactly how it works, but I believe in my heart that dogs are God's gift to mankind, and I take it for face value based on my own experiences and those of many others.

One example of how a canine can positively impact the health and well-being of the human, is clearly shown by the work of a certified health-care therapy dog. The first documented therapy dog was a Yorkshire Terrier named "Smoky". Smoky had been abandoned on the battlefield in New Guinea during WWII, when Corporal William Wynne took him in, cared for him and gave him his name. Smoky proved to be a major asset to Wynne's military outfit, lending comfort to the troops and playing a part in saving their lives by running a telegraph cable through an underground pipe, completing in minutes what would have been a 3-day, very dangerous operation for the soldiers responsible for the project.

Dr. Charles Mayo (of the famed Mayo Clinic) was Corporal Wynne's commanding officer who allowed Smoky to go with him on hospital rounds, to visit injured troops. The little pup's popularity grew so strong, that he became the troop's mascot, eventually continuing his work for 12 years, even after WWII had ended. Who knew that Smoky, a would-be abandoned mutt, would become a a major positive impact on the lives of so many people

Last weekend, I had the privilege of participating in the American Cancer Society Bark for Life of Arcadia event where I met Marianne Cortland, who greeted me with warm smile at the "Lending a Paw Therapy Dogs" information booth. Marianne and several other volunteers, as well as a group of therapy dogs accompanied by their Paw Therapy Dogs. God bless you. owner/handlers, were there as a team to help support the event. The fact that dogs are often used as health-care therapists has been common knowledge to me for years, but this was the first time I had the chance to meet reallife therapy dogs in person, and I have to say it was the highlight of my day! Marianne is absolutely delightful, and she was kind enough to share the details about how their program works. I thought it would be an excellent topic to share with my readers.

Lending A Paw Therapy Dog's objective is to form a network of caring individuals who are willing to share their animals in order to bring happiness to all whom they serve. They are responsible for training and certifying the dogs that make their mission possible. Their therapy dogs must be at least 1 year old, and must meet the criteria of the required obedience training and be capable of consistent harmonious interaction with humans and other dogs. Their volunteer animal assistance activities include, but are not limited to hospital visit, special needs centers for seniors and Children visits, nursing home visits and school visits. Requests for dog therapy services can come from patients, family members or facility staff members. Often times, a dog therapy team will even go from room to room, to see who is up for a visit. Interestingly enough, there are times when the therapy dog will let the handler know who needs their brand of therapy by pulling toward the door of their room! Group sessions are the typical scenario at retirement homes, where patients or residents gather together in one room to enjoy the presence of the therapy dogs. Whatever the circumstances may be, therapy dogs always bring big smiles and renewed hope to those whom they visit. One stroke victim patient, named Dorothy, had not spoken for a year, but after a therapy visit from Maggie and Marianne, she somehow found the energy and desire enough to speak. When she did finally speak, amazingly enough, it was to say the name of the therapy, "Maggie"! That is what a caring canine can do for a stroke patient who may have never otherwise spoken again.

In addition to the American Cancer Society Relay for Life events, Lending a Paw Therapy Dogs also participates in other community activities with the local fire departments and libraries. For more information about Lending a Paw Therapy Dogs, and to participate in their famous fore-runner for a prolific program that makes activities or events, please contact Marianne Cortland via e-mail at: HYPERLINK "mailto:twokuute@gmail. com"twokuute@gmail.com. I personally benefit in many ways from my dog's company each day, but I also think there may be a time when I will be the one in need of a therapy dog, and it comforts me to know that organizations such as Lending a Paw will be there for me. Thank you for all your efforts in bringing life and hope to those in need, Marianne and the other volunteers at Lending a

I have a truly riveting topic for you this week, though I can't take full credit for it. On route to Christmas that he had an idea for my next article. "Great! What is it?" "I don't remember," he said, "We were talking about it at work. It had something to do with the holidays... or food... or shopping... I know! Vacuum cleaners!" I wondered what that had to do with any of those subjects, but waited for his spin on it. "Why do people buy bagged vacuum cleaners, now that there are bag-less ones?" The first thought that sprang to my impractical mind was crime investigation. (Joe murders Bob and leaves behind hair and fibers. Bob's cleaning lady vacuums it up before discovering the body. Joe's hair and distinctive tweed threads prove that he was there the night before!)

"If you buy a bagged vacuum," my hubby explained, "you have to keep buying replacement bags." consideration, I said, "But If you already have one that's bagged, that'd be a reason to keep buying bags." I'm using my grandmother's upright bagged vacuum from the 60's. Old bugger's held together with duct tape, but still sucks mightily. "Yeah," my husband replied, "but they're still making bagged ones. Who would want to buy a new bagged vacuum?" We turned into the mall parking lot. "It's all marketing," I said, "The vacuum makers probably just want people to keep buying bags, and the be illegal! Whoever devised this insane public hasn't caught on yet. It's like how American car manufacturers used to make iron mufflers that quickly rusted and needed to be replaced. When the Japanese cars came out with stainless steel mufflers, Detroit knew their game was up." We arrived at Macy's, postponing our vacuum debate.

Later at home I resumed the search for vindication of bagged vacuums. The bagless ones boast multi-cyclonic systems and HEPA (High Efficiency Particulate Air) filters. Okay, so bagless vacuums have the advantage of supposedly giving you really clean IT'S IN THE replacements equal or exceed the cost of replacement bags. But does the of replacement bags. But does the multi-cyclonic system of particulate removal result in cleaner air than that achieved by the bagged version? Well, that depends on the quality of bags. In olden days, bags used to be more porous, leaving a layer of fine dust to collect on the inside of the canister. Now there are 3 ply paper bags, and even fabric bags, which capture microscopic dust particles.

> The biggest drawback I found regarding bagless vacuums was their tendency to expel a cloud of dust when emptying the canister into a waste basket. A maid posted an interesting review, complaining that the bagless vacuum she uses is cumbersome and heavy, especially when she cleans stairs. (I think carpeted stairs should

A frequent complaint is the awkwardness of dragging or pushing vacuums from room to room; which led to my husband's epiphany! The blowing action of "leaf-blowers" could be reversed into suction, making them wearable vacuums! Perhaps shoulder air and the luxury of not buying straps could accessorize current replacement bags. But, you still have vacuum models. If you're interested, to buy replacement filters for bagless we're still looking for a financial vacuums! #### 'HIRE' STANDARDS IMPORTANT FOR MORA talking about UCLA and its new coach, Jim should be pretty motivating for all concerned. Mora Jr. His staff and player selections will be critical for UCLA success.

I want to start things off by specifically

Mora, a defensive back at Washington in football pride back. the early 1980s, has spent almost his entire coaching career in the NFL. He was the head coach in Atlanta for three seasons and head coach in Seattle for one. He does have a tie to Southern California. His father, Jim Sr., played coach at UCLA under Pepper Rodgers for one season in 1973.

For the record, the new UCLA coach is Jim L. Mora and his father is Jim E. Mora, but they are commonly referred to as junior and senior.

"I try to treat each race individually and although I want to be sure and let our fans know what's going on with the betting favorite, I also try to let the race develop and I just try to describe what I'm see-ing," said Denman. "I guess you could say that I've been blessed to have grown up with racing and I'm able to spot horses who are full of run and conversely, I can spot a horse who's for all intents and purposes, spent."

After calling the first five weeks of Santa Anita's Autumn Meet, Denman flew to Churchill Downs, where he called the two-day Breeders' Cup on Nov. 5 & 6. Since then, he and his wife, Robin, have been at their farm in Minnesota.

"We have about 110 acres here," he said by telephone. "I've found that this is a great place for me to stay fresh and to re-charge my batteries, so to speak. I think everyone needs a break and for Robin and me, this works beautifully."

Denman added that even though he's approaching
