SIERRA MADRE ELECTION COVERAGE

On April 10, 2012, voters in Sierra Madre will go to the polls and select three people from a field of seven to sit on the City Council and elect a new City Treasurer and City Clerk. They will also vote on a local ballot measure on whether or not to extend the User Utility

Tax and a related advisory measure.

The city council race will fill two seats for new four year terms and one seat for the unexpired two year term vacated by former Mayor Joe Mosca.

The Mountain Views News will provide our readers with comprehensive coverage of this election. Each week, as we have done in the past, we will profile the candidates and give each of the candidates the opportunity to introduce themselves to our readers by answering the following questions: (All candidates are being asked to answer the same questions)

Why are you running for Office?
 What are your plans if elected?

The revised schedule:

THIS WEEK: Camdidate Bill Tice for City Council - 4 year term

It is our sincere hope that each candidate will submit their answers so that we can share them with our readers. A separate letter has been sent to each candidate asking them to participate.

In addition to the candidate spotlights, we will attempt to cover the various forums sponsored by local organizations. Where possible, the unedited video of these forums will be broadcast on the paper's website. Our reporting on this election will be as fair and objective as possible. However, please keep in mind that our columnists are always free to share their opinions. Their opinions are their opinions and may or may not reflect the position of the paper. This is true in all things, not just this election

We will also provide for you the calendar of important dates regarding the election. It is our goal to do whatever we can to help you make an informed decision on April 10, 2012.

Candidate Eagle Bill Tice

From the Editor: Bill Tice, a longtime Sierra Madre resident, has once again thrown his hat into the ring as a candidate for Sierra Madre City Council. However, Tice has been unable to attend any of the forums this year. Below you will find his thoughts on running for council as discussed with this writer in a previous interview. A summary of Tice's remarks is below, and as he stated earlier this year, "nothing has changed" in terms of why he is running for council and what he hopes to accomplish if elected.

"I Am Running Because It Is Fun and Because People Listen To Me"

people Many Madre who Sierra Tice Bill know often underestimate him. A former Tree Commissioner who has been a resident of Sierra Madre for most of his adult life, Eagle Bill has decided for the fifth time to run for a City Council seat. "I love this city. I would be a dedicated councilman", Tice in an interview Eagle Bill Tice the last campaign.

A man of strong convictions, he does not espouse a platform steeped in the usual Sierra Madre controversies. On development his response is simple, "I like the town the way it is". He does feel strongly, however, that some things, like the old youth center which sits abandoned, can be put to better use. "If I am elected, I would like to see that turned into an orphanage for Haitian children.'

Tice also feels, like several of the other candidates, that changes must be made in the way the council operates. Once a frequent visitor to the microphone at council meetings, wants more civility among the council members and the audience.

Tice takes any criticism of him in stride. "When I am away, they miss me." He credits himself with being one of the residents who started the campaign against 1 Carter. In fact, it was that protest that earned him the nickname of "Eagle" Bill. During the protest he gave other like minded citizens an Eagle pin, a symbol to remind people of the wildlife habitat that would be

Although he does not like raising taxes, he supported the User Utility Tax. A very spiritual man, Tice and his wife Yoko have resided in the city since 1979. They raised two sons in Sierra Madre. He says marriage and family make you pause for reflection. While speaking of his religious beliefs he added, "I'd like to see prayer at the council meetings.

Tice very much wants the public to know that he is a devout Christian and that his religion comes before anything else. 'Eagle' Bill Tice is running his own campaign without any frills. For additional information contact him at 626-355-4678. S. Henderson/MVNews

SO WHAT'S A LITTLE RAIN AMONG FRIENDS?

Despite afternoon rain, the 2012 Wistaria Festival Brought Out The Crowds

For the second consecutive year, Mother Nature has put a 'damper' on the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce's Annual Wistaria Festival. However, this year, without the severe winds and torrential rains of 2011, the Festival got off to a very good start. Hundreds were able to view the Vine from both properties, the homes of Solz's and Tony Heald as well as take an historic tour of the Pinney House, formerly the Hotel Sierra Madre at the turn of the century. More than 150 food vendors, crafters, artists and musicians participated in the event until late afternoon when heavier rains moved into town. BUDGET WOES, REORGANIZATION DOMINATE COUNCIL AGENDA - Tuesday's Council Meeting Discussed Revenue Generating Ideas

Both council meetings in March reviewed possible cuts/reorganization of city staff and operations in an effective staff and operations in the st fort to recover from the dismantling of the city's Community Redevelopment Agency. That action, initiated statewide by Governor Jerry Brown, has left an $800,000 hole in the city's budget and left this council, and the next looking for ways to best deal with the situation.

COUNCIL DELÄYS CUTS By Bill Coburn

After hearing numerous impassioned pleas by City staff, including at least two that would find themselves out of work, and from resident proponents of the library and the Community Services Dept., the City Council decided to place on hold consideration of a proposed reorganization of the City Departments that would ultimately have saved about $260,000. Among many changes, the plan called for moving the Human Resources aspect of the Community and Personnel Services Dept. into the Administrative Dept., making the Community Services Dept. more of a Recreation Dept. that also oversees Transit.

The move would have eliminated the Community and Personnel Services Director and Deputy Director positions. An Assistant City Manager position would be employees (a full time adminisintern positions would be removed from that department). Still, there is expected to be an increase in the time applicants would have to wait for projects to be approved and building inspections to take place. In addition, it would take longer for minutes from Planning Commission and General Plan Update Steering Committee meetings to be prepared, and the idea of cutting Planning Commission and GPU meetings to once a month would be considered.

The Library would eliminate a Library Tech II position (putting a 17-year employee out of work), and add a technology position. Additional staff hours would be cut at the Library, meaning library hours would be reduced by six hours a week.

> Despite assertions by candidates at the two City Council Can-didate forums that have been held so far that Public Safety services are a top priority and will continue to be fully funded, the reorganization calls for $130,000 in cuts to the Police Department. A part time deputy position would be eliminated, meaning longer times for investigations, due to an increased case load for the single police officer assigned to detectives. There would be a reduction in part time cadet hours, with onduty officers picking up some of the cadets' duties. The full-time Code Enforcement officer position would be eliminated, and a part time Code Enforcement officer would replace it, with funding coming (cont. page from Development Services, rather than the PD. ST. RITA TO HOST "JOURNEY TO THE CROSS" APRIL 1 AT 7 P.M. AN EVENING OF PRAYER, REFLECTION AND MUSIC

St. Rita Church will host a special ecumenical event on Palm Sunday evening at 7 p.m. on April 1. Palm Sunday marks the beginning of Holy Week's traditional commemoration of the series of events that define Christian faith: Jesus' triumphal entrance into Jerusalem, when palm branches were placed in His path, the time before His arrest on Holy Thursday and His Crucifixion on Good Friday.

Choir members from churches in Pasadena, South Pasadena, Walnut and Glendale, plus vocalists from three colleges, USC, CSULA and PCC will join the St. Rita choir. The event will debut poignant new music and script written as a collaborative effort by Sierra Madreans, Mimi Mycroft and Paul Puccinelli, interspersed with traditional reflective Lenten prayer and music.

Puccinelli, Director of Liturgy and Music at St. Rita, said the evening will present a fresh perspective, as seen through the eyes of passersby on the "Journey to the Cross" with an overarching theme of forgiveness.

Said Mycroft, an experienced playwright and pageant producer, "We wanted to make the week of the Passion a special spiritual experience for the parish and community." She has worked on "connecting the dots with narrations, and viewing the same situation through different eyes."

The duo's goal is to offer a full fledged experience from different perspectives. A young girl will reflect the joy of Jesus the King coming to Jerusalem. Another vignette will follow two apostles as they prepare for the fest in the upper

A miffed Judas will speak in soliloquy after being dismissed by Jesus from the supper table. At the Crucifixion, Mary Magdalene will reflect on Mother Mary at the foot of the cross. Later, the Centurion who won Jesus' cloak in a roll of the dice, will share Mycroft and Pucinelli hope to spark renewed reflection and prayer, engendered by "What if I were there?" "What would I have said?" and "What would I have done?"

All are welcome at this ecumenically appropriate evening. Donations will be gratefully accepted.

St. Rita Catholic Church is located at 318 N. Baldwin Avenue, Sierra Madre. For more information, please call 626-355-1292 or visit the parish website, www.St-Rita.org.

CALIFORNIA WOMEN WIN THE VOTE! IT'S THE 1912 ELECTION!

One hundred years ago, California was only the sixth state to grant women equal suffrage. California women campaigned in 1911 to get the vote, were successful in their struggles, and voted in the 1912 Presidential election for the first time. This historical event took place before women in the East were voting at all and before the Nineteenth Amendment giving voting rights to all U. S. citizens was ratified in 1920.

Jane Guthrie and Martha Wheelock, co-producers of Wild West Women Films, will present their film "California Women Win the Vote" on Monday, April 9, at the meeting of the Arcadia Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW). The group meets at the Church of the Good Shepherd's Jordan Hall, 400 W. Duarte Rd., Arcadia (SW corner of Duarte Rd. and Holly Ave.). Socializing begins at 6:30 pm with the program to follow at 7:00 pm.

The free meeting is open to the public. History buffs and students in social studies classes are sure to appreciate the documentary film's depiction of California women's suffrage victory. For more information about the program or about AAUW membership, please call Tamara Kato at (626) 375-6756 or Patricia Dietrich at (626) 446-8437.

Longtime Sierra Madre resident Gary Skousen, age 67 years, died peacefully on February 19, 2012 at Hoag Hospital in Newport Beach, California. He suffered from lung problems for several years. He was surrounded by his family at the time of his death.

Gary is survived by his wife, Sharon Teague Skousen and a son, Timothy Skousen and a daughter, Susan Skousen from Oregon and a daughter, Mary Skousen-Radford from Sierra Madre. He had four grandchildren.

Skousen attended Sierra Madre School, John Marshall Junior High School, Pasadena High School and Pasadena City College.

Overnight Parking Permits Now Available Online

Beginning April 1, 2012, overnight parking permits will be available for purchase online.

Overnight parking permits can be purchased online through the city's website at: www.cityofsierramadre.com

Parking permits are required to park vehicles on city streets between 2:00AM and 5:00AM. Annual and temporary permits will be available online. The cost for an annual overnight parking permit is $80.00 per vehicle per year. Temporary overnight parking permits are also available for $1.00 per vehicle per day.

The new online service will accept payment by credit card or check. This service was created to make the purchase of overnight parking permits more convenient for the community and eliminate the requirement to visit the Police Department in person. All that is required is internet access and the ability to print the permit.

Residents and guests that do not have internet access can obtain permits at either City Hall or the Library during normal business hours. Off-hour requests must be processed online.

Overnight parking permits only allow vehicles to park on city streets overnight and do not exempt the vehicle owner from any other city municipal code or state vehicle code. For more information please contact the Sierra Madre Police Department at 626-355-1414.

Women's Safety and Empowerment Night

Sierra Madre, CA – The month of April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month. To spread awareness and educate women, Alverno High School is hosting a Women's Safety and Empowerment Night on Tuesday, April 3, 2012. The event will take place from 7:00pm – 9:00pm on Alverno's campus. The workshop is open to families at Alverno as well as the local surrounding communities. All are encouraged to attend the event that will focus on the realities of sexual violence, prevention strategies, and self defense skills.

"It is important to educate women on prevention and self defense," said Cam Gonzales, Director of Activities/ Dean of Students. "We are happy that we can offer this program and we encourage everyone to attend." Please wear comfortable exercise attire. If you have any questions about the program, please contact Cam Gonzales, Director of Activities at (626) 355-3463 ext. 222

COUNCIL (from page 1) frozen at the last round of budget cuts, which resulted in a $900,000 savings Citywide, prior to approval of the 2011-2013 budget. Those two positions would remain, but in their frozen state, unfunded.

While the administrative services department would actually see some increases in staffing, that would be because of The Council decided to delay any decision on the reorganithe shifting of Human Resources into the department. Administration would also see the loss of the Administrative Services Director.

Several people spoke to the Council urging them to take a closer look at finding ways to increase revenue, or at least wait and see how some of the areas where things are in flux end up, before laying long time employees off. One speaker bemoaned the potential loss of a longtime library employee to create a position that would update the website and post City documents online and asked the Council to put humans ahead of technology. One staff member reminded the Council that while it was true that some full-time positions were becoming part-time positions, effectively allowing the report to imply that there will be minimal loss of employees, that full-time worker might need to look elsewhere for fulltime work in order to feed a family or maintain health benefits, meaning the loss of another experienced staff member by the City. David Crochetiere, chair of the Community Services Commission spoke eloquently and with passion about the Community Services department, noting that he feels he has been handed down a trust from generations of volunteers before him on the Commission to act as a steward, and that he felt that by eliminating the director positions for the department, the City was, in effect, rendering the department voiceless in future policy decisions that would affect the department. He also referred to an earlier report presented to Council which discussed the cost of recruiting and hiring personnel, and urged council to consider that when deciding whether or not to eliminate experienced staff to bring in new, lower paid, or part-time staff to replace them.

The Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce would like to say thank you for supporting the 2012 Wistaria Festival!!

It's probably a mistake to try to thank everyone, as an event like this requires the time and affort of dozens of people, and when I'm done, I'm sure someone will be left out. But if doesn't seem right to let this opportunity go by without saying a few words of thanks to the many people in this community that make this event happen

Our greatest thanks go to the vine owners, Tony Held and Claire and Bob and Nel Solt, ng kind enough to allow the curious to view the vine. There's a lot more to it than just the one day for these folks, we have media day, docent training, set up and tear down, and more, so we are very grateful for their willingness to open their homes and their yards to us and the thousands of people who come to see the vine.

Thanks also to Greg and Judy Asbury for opening up the Pinney House this year, which was a tremendous hit with everyone who saw it.

Thanks to Wistaria Chair Susan Henderson for all her efforts to make this festival a

Thanks to Rosemary Burnett and Lynette Heydorff for chairing the Wataria Docents, and to all the men and women who stand up at the vine year after year, particularly those who were there in cold rainy weather when they would, I'm sure, much rather have been at home. Your commitment to serve is very much appreciated.

While some of the folks listed below ended up not having to serve as the rain led to early closure before their shifts, we thank them for their willingness to do so. And to those of you that did serve, particularly between 12noon and 3pm, when the rain was coming down our sincere thanks and gratitude!

Special tranks to the members of CERT, the Volunteer Traffic Control officers, and all the other SMPD and Fire Department volunteers who helped out even after the weather turned uply to keep things going Thank you to the Sierra Madre Emergency Communications Team, the ham radio operators that coordinated logistics with buses and with keeping everyone in touch with each other that needed to be kept in touch to handle situations as they arose.

Thanks to City Staff for coordinating with the Chamber to epare and process the TUP, preparing work orders, etc. Thanks to Public Works for their assistance.

These are some of the more visible efforts that people are aware of, but we want to also thank some people for doing some of the less obvious things that get done. things that have to be done year after year but because they people may not even recognize that thanks are in order. So thanks to Mark van Cleave and his crew from Gem Plumbing, who gut up and tear down all the no parking signs up at the vine end of town. They also store, drop off and pick up the steps that are used to help people off the bus, a very necessary piece of the puzzle that probably very few people. would ever think of as having to be done, but it does have to, and it done each year, thanks to Gem Plumbing.

Thanks to Allyn Colbert of Colbert Hair Studios. Allyn, for the third year in a row, was downtown at 5am, standing at the corner of Baldwin Ave. and Sierra Madre Blvd. directing at the vendors on where to go to set up. It can be hectic and confusing, but Allyn does a great job, and we very much appreciate it.

Thanks to Nicole Whiting and Patricia Carpenter, two people who were not previously associated with the Chamber, but who, after hearing we could use some volunteer help in the office prior to the festival, came down and volunteered a few hours each to help out.

Thanks to Village Auto and to Independent Honda, and Mike Eling for letting us use their lot for handicapped parking. Thanks to Don Murphy, Architect, who allowed us to use his parking lot for the Sierra Madre Arts Alley.

Thanks to all the vendors who provided goods for the shappers, and all the downlown merchants for their extra efforts to make this a special day for all those who are new to Sierra Madre, and giving them good reason to return. And to businesses that were inconvenienced by the street closures, such as pizza delivery places, etc., thank you for your

Thank you to Matt Krantz, who helped in so many ways, providing coffee and pastries for media day, hanging no parking signs throughout the downtown, helping with set up and tear down, even in the pouring rain, while his business carried or in his absence, often communicating by phone to deal with situations that could have been handled much better if he were there, but he chose to give his time and effort and we are very much indebted to him.

Thanks to all the residents and to churchgoers that were inconvenienced by the street closures, your patience as we present Sierra Madre's signature event each year is greatly appreciated.

As said at the beginning, we've probably forgotten someone or some organization that really deserved to be thanked, and If so we applicable and we hope you recognize that despite our failure as we were writing this to include you, that doesn't mean that your efforts are any less appreciated. The Chamber is grateful to all who helped with the Festival, and proud of

Public Safety Bill Passes Key Committee

AB 1527 Bans "Open Carry" of Long Guns

Assemblymember Anthony Portantino's public safety measure to expand on last year's ban on openly carried handguns, has passed the Assembly Public Safety Committee on a vote of 4 to 2. AB 1527 would outlaw the "open carry" of unloaded long guns – such as rifles or shotguns – on Main Street, California.

Portantino (D-La Cañada Flintridge) introduced the legislation at the urging of law enforcement as a follow up to last year's successful AB 144, which banned openly carrying an unloaded handgun in public places.

"Last year, we tried to craft a narrow bill to close a loophole in the hopes that gun enthusiasts would see this as a reasonable public safety measure," commented Portantino. "Unfortunately, the Open Carry folks began to carry rifles and other long guns posing a threat to public safety on Main Street -even taking their rifles to a police fundraiser. These actions call out for further legislative controls to protect law enforcement families before someone is harmed by these unnecessary displays of weapon."

AB 1527 expands on the earlier bill and would authorize similar penalties a misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in county jail and a fine of up to $1000 – for individuals who openly carry unloaded long guns in public. In addition, AB 1527 provides a similar list of exemptions included in AB 144 to enable safe transportation, hunting, and use by law enforcement officials.

"When law enforcement professionals ask the legislature to solve a problem, it's incumbent on us to act. No one wants to read about the unintended consequence of gun proliferation on Main Štreet – it's a tragedy that happens far too often. If it means I've got to do it again to make our streets safer for everyday Californians, I'm honored to do so," concluded Portantino.

Nursing Home Woman Rescued After Rating System Reports 99 Percent Compliance

The Department of Public Health report on the County's nursing home grading system initiated by Supervisor Michael Antonovich, revealed that 99 percent of nursing home providers were in full compliance with the law in its first vear of implementation. In effect since January 1, 2011, the law requires nursing homes to publically post these ratings for; Preventable events such as bed sores and falls, Quality Measures, Facility conditions, Staffing, Health Inspections, Dietary and Fire Safety Inspections.

In addition to posting ratings, each nursing home must make records available including inspections, licensing complaint reports performance evaluations. "These high compliance numbers indicate that this law is effectively providing vital information for families confronting difficult choices when making decisions on nursing home care," said Antonovich, who also fathered the County's restaurant grading system.

The 5-star rating is issued by the Federal Government's Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. To ensure compliance, the County has established a hotline at 1-800-228-1019.

211 AND MORE

Recently a special Los Angeles County Resource Workshop was held at Pamela Park Gymnasium for all who serve the greater Monrovia-Duarte area. Eddie Cordero from LA County Probation Department, who has worked tirelessly with the Sheriff's Department and LA County Parks and Recreation Department, orchestrated this great event and invited me to attend. There was so much information given and so many resources made available that I don't know where to begin. Around the room were many display tables and pamphlets that gave info and numbers to call. Throughout the day we heard speakers and there were several break sessions to browse around.

The opening speaker was Father Greg Boyle (right) who founded Homeboy Industries. He had been in this area once or twice before but I missed the opportunity to hear him, so this was a real thrill for me. This awesome man was born right here in Los Angeles and was one of eight children. His dad was a third generation Irish-American who worked in the familyowned dairy. Mom's job was caring for all eight kids and keeping track of them. Father Greg and his siblings worked with their dad in the dairy and I believe this helped mold him in the hard worker he is. After Father Greg graduated from high school, he became a Jesuit priest. He spent time in Bolivia and when he returned stateside, he was appointed Pastor of St. Dolores Mission in Boyle Heights. In between his tenure at St. Dolores Mission, Father Boyle was Chaplain of the Islas Maria Penal Colony in Mexico and Folsom Prison. He has been a priest for 27 years.

Back in 1988, there were escalating gang problems and a solution was needed. Father Boyle pointed out that often problems can be traced to the family situation. These gang members have many needs and Father Boyle began positive alternatives such as establishing an elementary school, a day care program and finding legitimate employment for youths. His "Jobs for a Future" (JFF) was successful because many gang members wanted to leave the dangerous and destructive life on the streets. JFF paved the way for the establishment of Homeboy Bakery in 1992 and expanded to Homeboy Industries which now includes Homeboy Silkscreen, Homeboy/Homegirl Merchandise and Homegirl Café.

Father Boyle is an acknowledged expert on gangs and intervention and is a much sought after speaker for many venues from commencement exercises to conferences for teachers, social workers and criminal justice workers! Please go on line to find out more about this awesome

For me, finding out about 211 Info Line was amazing. Mary Sanders said it was the best kept secret. When you need ANY information, 2-1-2 is the number to call. They have a data base of 5000! You may call 2-1-1 ANYTIME, they're available 24/7. They provide assessment. You ask a question and you will be referred to the agency that can assist you. Here are a few examples: Do I qualify for Med-Cal? Am I in need of social services? Do I need help with landlord/tenant issues? Am I homeless or in crisis? Do I qualify for food stamps? Is there violence in my home? Do I need health insurance for my kids? Do I need help with substance abuse?

There also was a flyer that said "Call 2-1-1 to get resources for children birth to five years old". Do you realize that low cost subsidized child care, free health screenings, preschool programs, and infant/toddler In-Home Programs are available?

PET OF THE WEEK: Carmel: Animal ID #A4406472

Meet a girl that will sweep your heart away, Carmel (A4406472). Carmel is a magnificent three-year-old black and tan spayed female Rottweiler/Flat Coat Retriever mix who was found in La Puente on March 16th and brought to the Baldwin Park Animal Care Center. Weighing fifty-seven pounds, Carmel walks beautifully on leash, sits and shakes hands on command, and rolls over for belly rubs. She simply stole everyone's heart during our photo shoot. Perfect in every way, she is good with other dogs and didn't seem to mind the cats she encountered on the way to have her photo taken. Carmel is an exceptionally great dog who is the ideal dog for an individual or family living in a private home, and we think she would love having children to play with. To watch a video of Carmel please visit: www.youtube.com/ watch?v=kw2MuVBcUKg

To meet Carmel in person, please see her at the Baldwin Park Shelter, located at 4275 N. Elton, Baldwin Park, CA 91706 (Phone: 626-430-2378 or 626-962-3577). She is currently available now. For any inquiries about Carmel, please reference her animal ID number: A4406472. The shelter is open seven days a week, 12 pm-7 pm Monday-Thursday and 10am-5pm Friday-Sunday. This is a high-intake shelter with a great need for adoptions. For more information about Carmel or the adoption process, contact United Hope for Animals Volunteer Adoption Coordinator Samantha at samanthasayon@gmail.com or 661-309-2674. To learn more about United Hope for Animals' partnership with the Baldwin Park Shelter through its Shelter Support Program, as well as the many dogs of all breeds, ages, and sizes available for adoption in local shelters, visit http://www.unitedhope4animals.org/about-us/shelter-support-program/.

OCCUPY LIVES ON!

League of Women Voters Pasadena Forum Thursday, April 5, 2012

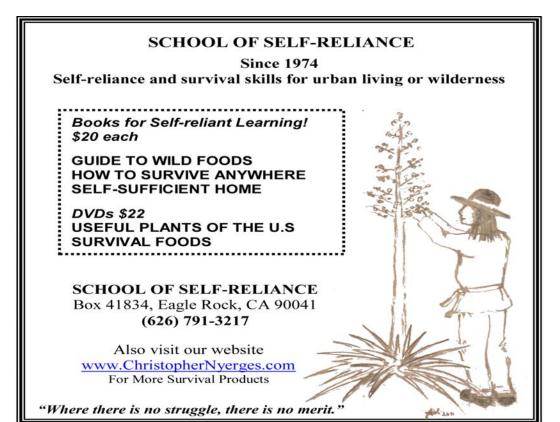

Mario Brito, a leader of Occupy LA, will talk about what's next on the Occupy front at a noon-time forum at Lunch with the League of Women Voters Pasadena Area, Thursday, April 5, at the Women's City Club, 160 N. Oakland Ave., Pasadena.

Born in East Los Angeles, Brito at 15 began organizing English classes and civic participation to address the injustices his immigrant neighbors faced. At 17 he joined César Chávez and the United Farm Workers. He went on to become the youngest director of organizing for the construction union, Laborer's International Union of North America. Today he is working with a broad base of unions, churches and immigrant rights groups to address the inequities between the richest 1% of the population and the rest of the population, particularly those on the bottom rung.

Registration for the event is 11:15 a.m., lunch at 11:30 a.m. and the program at noon. Lunch is $20, including tax, tip and parking. Lunch reservations and information are available by calling 626-798-0965. Walk-ins for the free program are welcome.

Arcadia Police Blotter

For the period of Sunday, March 18th through Saturday, March 24th, the Police Department responded to 947 calls for service of which 105 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, March 18:

1. Around 3:07 p.m., an officer responded to Baldwin Avenue at La Vida Lane regarding a traffic accident. The driver of a white Lexus was distracted by his daughter in the backseat and struck two parked vehicles on Baldwin Avenue. No major injuries were reported.

2. At approximately 6:02 p.m., officers were dispatched to Sephora at the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, in reference to a theft report. Two female juveniles concealed merchandise inside their purses and exited the store without making payment. An investigation revealed one suspect also stole from Forever 21. The 17-year-old Asian female and 17-year-old White female were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Monday, March 19:

- 3. At about 6:19 a.m., officers responded to Lynol Cooling Systems, 12318 Lower Azusa Road, in regards to an activated alarm. The officer discovered unknown suspect(s) forced entry through the front door and stole two laptops. No one saw or heard anything suspicious.
- 4. Shortly after 1:00 p.m., an officer responded to Holy Angels School, 360 Campus Drive, in reference to a medical assist. A fifth grader accidently ran into a tether ball pole and suffered a large contusion above his right eye. The child was treated by the Arcadia Fire Department and transported to the Arcadia Methodist Hospital. He was later released to his mother.

Tuesday, March 20:

- 5. At about 2:09 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a blue Toyota Camry for impeding traffic on Foothill Boulevard at Rancho Road. The driver explained he was driving unusually slow because he was low on gas. A vehicle search revealed he was in possession of drug paraphernalia. The 27-year-old Hispanic male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.
- 6. At approximately 12:41 p.m., an officer responded to 1121 Altern Street regarding a residential burglary report. The victim returned home and found her front door open. The officer determined unknown suspect(s) gained access by breaking the glass pane of a rear door. Numerous items were reported stolen and no one saw or heard anything suspicious.

Wednesday, March 21:

- 7. Around 2:25 p.m., officers responded to the Wells Fargo parking lot, 1200 South Baldwin Avenue, in regards to a battery investigation. The driver of a black BMW became enraged after a parking attendant tapped the rear of his vehicle to alert him that he was exiting through an entrance only driveway. An investigation revealed the 31-year-old Chinese male exited his vehicle and kicked the parking attendant in his arm. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.
- 8. At approximately 8:30 p.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a black pick-up truck for expired registration at Colorado Boulevard and Fifth Avenue. An investigation revealed the driver also had a suspended license and an outstanding misdemeanor warrant. The 48-year-old Black male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Thursday, March 22:

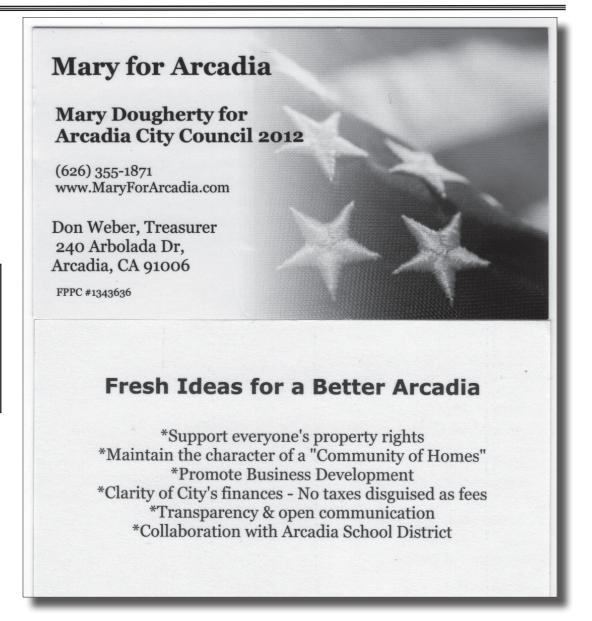

- 9. Shortly after 4:10 p.m., an officer was dispatched to the Arcadia Police Department front counter regarding a fraud report. The victim explained she discovered unknown suspect(s) opened a Victoria's Secret credit account in her name and also made fraudulent charges on her Old Navy credit card. She has no idea how her information was compromised and is desirous of prosecution.
- 10. At about 5:18 p.m., an officer responded to Victoria's Secret at the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, in reference to two adult females in custody for theft. The suspects entered separate fitting rooms and concealed merchandise inside their purses. A search of their purses revealed they were in possession of burglary tools. The 19-year-old and 20-year-old Asian females were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Friday, March 23:

- 11. Around 7:36 p.m., officers responded to the Sunglass Hut at the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, in reference to a theft that had just occurred. A male juvenile concealed a pair of Versace sunglasses inside his pants and exited the store without making payment. He was observed leaving the location with two Hispanic or Armenian adult males in a white BMW. The juvenile is described as Hispanic or Armenian, 10 to 12-years-old, wearing a white t-shirt and dark colored pants.
- 12. At approximately 5:37 a.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a silver Intrepid for suspended registration at Second Avenue and Haven Avenue. The driver explained to the officer that his license was suspended. A records check revealed the subject also had an outstanding misdemeanor warrant. The 41-year-old Hispanic male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Saturday, March 24:

- 13. At roughly 2:03 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a silver Ford Mustang for speeding on Foothill Boulevard, near Second Avenue. Upon contact with the driver, the officer noticed an odor of alcohol emitting from inside the vehicle. An investigation revealed the 34-year-old Hispanic male was driving under the influence. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.
- 14. Shortly after 1:20 p.m., an officer was dispatched to the 000 block of West Longden Avenue regarding a residential burglary report. Unknown suspect(s) entered the house through a rear sliding glass door and ransacked the entire residence. The loss was unknown at the time of the report and no one saw or heard anything suspicious.

ARCADIANS: Don't forget to vote For Measure D By Joan Schmidt

Last week I wrote a brief summary about each of the five candidates running for City Council in Arcadia. Everyone must choose TWO candidates. Unfortunately, there was a mishap and on the ballots sent out, voters were told to vote for three in the Chinese translation. That situation has been rectified and notices are being sent out to vote for only TWO candidates.

There also is MEASURE D on the ballot and voters need to understand that this measure will benefit their city and most residents will NOT be affected by it.

Measure D is the City Of Arcadia Hotel Tax. At present, there is a hotel tax to travelers who stay in hotels, motels, and other forms of transient lodging in Arcadia for up to 30 days. If Measure D passes, the transient lodging tax will be charged to travelers who stay in transient lodging for up to 90 days. Additionally if Measure D passes, the hotel tax will be applied "to all rent charged by hotel operators, including online travel companies".

The revenue generated if Measure D passes, will go to the City's "General Fund" and be used for city services. I was very impressed that Arcadia was able to "cleanup" after the windstorm and had funds available to do so.

This Measure D seems like a good idea. Often people won't read the fine print and just vote "No" on Measures because they think it is going to affect them and they don't want higher taxes or assessments. Here is Measure D:

MEASURE D: "Shall an ordinance amending the Arcadia Municipal Code to extend the period of occupancy subject to the Transient Occupancy (Hotel) Tax from 30 days to 90 days, and to apply the Tax to all rent charged by hotel operators, including online travel companies, for the transient occupation of any hotel room, be adopted to help preserve general City services such as police and fire protection, street operations and maintenance, and library, parks and recreation services."

Don't Forget to Vote!

This Week In Monrovia

READY, SET, GO! A NEW NATION-WIDE PROGRAM FOR WILDFIRE HOME PROTECTION

Saving lives and property during a wildfire.

The Monrovia Fire Department has become one of the latest departments to join the Ready, Set, Go! Program. The new program is designed to teach individuals who live in high risk wildfire areas how to best prepare themselves and their properties against wildfire threats. Ready, Set Go! works collaboratively with our existing brush clearance outreach and provides the tools for our firefighters to educate individuals on preparedness, situational awareness when a fire starts, and evacuating early for the safety of your family and responding firefighters.

The simple steps of the program are:

Ready – Take personal responsibility and prepare long before the threat of a wildfire so your home is ready in case of a fire. Create defensible space by clearing brush away from your home. Use fire-resistant landscaping and harden your home with fire-safe construction measures. Assemble emergency supplies and belongings in a safe spot. Make sure all residents residing within the home are on the same page. Plan escape routes.

Set – Act immediately. Pack your vehicle with your emergency items. Stay abreast of the latest news, both reported on news crews and your local fire department for updated information on the fire.

Go – Leave early! Following your Action Plan makes you prepared at this step of the process. Firefighters are now able to best maneuver the wildfire ensuring you and your family's safety.

The Ready, Set, Go! Program is the result of a nation-wide discussion on how to protect homes and lives in what the fire service calls the Wildland-Urban-Interface – where development meets natural vegetation – and the Ember Zone, an area where the wind driven embers fall-out from a wildfire that threaten property and lives. It is a three step process that teaches homeowners to create their own Action Plan of getting their property wildfire prepped and ready long before a fire is upon them. This process significantly increases the safety of the homeowner and family and allows the firefighters to best do their job of extinguishing the fire, thus increasing the chance of saving homes and loved ones.

By joining the program, the Fire Department has become one of approximately 40 fire departments in California registered as and "RSG" department. The benefits of membership include full access to outreach tools, information resources, discussion forums and interaction with fellow departments that will assist in getting the message out to our residents.

Over the coming months, we will be rolling out the Ready, Set, Go! Program. Don't let the first time you educate yourself on wildfire be in the aftermath. Join with us and be a part of the wildfire solution today.

Planning Commission Recommendations to Go to Council Next Week

The Planning Commission had its regularly scheduled meeting on March 14, 2012 and forwarded the request for a four-unit planned development at 547 West El Norte Avenue to the City Council for approval.

The Commission also forwarded a request with a recommendation of approval to build a new three unit development, along with the restoration of a house built in 1921. This development will be at 212-216 West Olive Avenue.

The City Council will hear these requests at their meeting on April 3, 2012.

The Transit Update

Ridership for Monrovia Transit (Dial-a-Ride) remained the same in year-over-year comparison for the month of February. The City's transit provider, Keolis Transit America (formerly named Tectrans), provided over 4,300 trips this past February.

Monrovia Transit has provided more than 35,500 trips in fiscal year 2011-12, which is an 8% increase over the prior fiscal year to date. Ridership complaints are minimal, and on-time performance is around 98%. Great job Monrovia Transit!

Tip of the Week

Theft Prevention from Vehicles

Always lock your doors and roll up all windows when you leave your car. Car thieves regularly patrol parking lots and try door handles to see if they will open. They will even try door handles on cars parked in driveways late at night when you are sleeping. They are hoping for an unlocked vehicle that they can get into quickly and they will take anything left inside. You should always store valuable items in the trunk, so that a criminal does not see them and become tempted to break into your vehicle.

STOP GRAFFITI BOUNTY PROGRAM

One of the methods the Monrovia Police Department is using to combat graffiti in the community of Monrovia is the Stop Graffiti Bounty Program. If a citizen reports an incident of graffiti in the City of Monrovia that leads to the arrest of the suspect, the citizen will receive a $100 bill. Help keep Monrovia looking great!

ALVERNO HIGH SCHOOL ENJOYS "AN EVENING ON THE EMERALD ISLE"

Alverno celebrates fourteenth annual gala on St. Patrick's Day

On Saturday, March 17, 2012 more than 280 members of the Alverno community gathered at the Pasadena Hilton dressed in their St. Patrick's Day finest to celebrate Alverno High School's Annual Gala. The theme for this year's event was "An Evening on the Emerald Isle" and guests were treated to an authentic Irish experience.

The evening began with a Silent Auction that included more than 320 items donated by Alverno families and local businesses including: Burger Continental, Casa del Rey, Green Street, In-N-Out Burger, Krikorian Pacific Theatres, Matt Denny's Ale House and Restaurant, Pasadena Playhouse, and many others. National companies and organizations that made donations included Applebee's, Dooney & Bourke, Estee Lauder, Fisher Price, and the

During dinner, guests enjoyed live music by the Moreton Bay String Band as well as an Irish step dancing performance by members of the Cleary School of Irish Dance. A Live Auction was conducted following dinner that included getaways to Cabo San Lucas, Hawaii, and Paso Robles. Additionally, Alverno parents had the opportunity to bid on some highly coveted Alverno prizes for their daughters including special parking, front row tickets to graduation, and the opportunity to be Dean of Students for a day.

A very special part of the Live Auction included the opportunity to become one of the first sponsors of Alverno's "Adopt-a-Pillar" campaign, which will support the installation of pillars and wrought iron fencing along the Michillinda Avenue side of campus. This campaign is the first step towards the completion of Alverno's Master Plan.

"The Annual Gala is always such a feel-good event for our entire school community! Our alumnae and past parents return to Alverno, along with our current parents, Board Members, and faculty and staff to provide much-needed support to our school and most importantly, our students," said Wendy-Finch-Burk, Director of Development and Alumnae Relations at Alverno. "Past funds raised from the Annual Gala have allowed Alverno to purchase air conditioning units for all classrooms, new desks for the entire school, and two 15-passenger vans for school

Overall proceeds from this year's Gala will assist Alverno in repairing the damage done to the campus by the December 2011 windstorms, including damage to the Villa del Sol d'Oro. In addition to the repair projects, the funds will also be used to replace the downed trees and beautify the areas of our campus that were hardest hit by the windstorms.

"Alverno has a tremendous community of parents, alumnae, Board Members, and faculty and staff who provide unwavering support to our school and current students," said Ann Gillick, Head of School. "In addition to helping to make campus improvements and repair damage caused by the windstorms, funds raised at "An Evening on the Emerald Isle" will help Alverno to continue our mission of empowering each young woman to be exactly the person she wants to be."

About Alverno High School

Alverno High School is a Catholic, private, college preparatory school for young women dedicated to preparing them to function in a society as informed, knowledgeable persons, who have the requisite skills to make and implement mature decisions about complex problems. Enlivened by the spirit of its Immaculate Heart Community sponsors, and mindful of the Franciscan roots of its founders, Alverno's program—academic, spiritual, aesthetic, social, and physical—is shaped by the staff, trustees, and students in light of the world for which the students are being educated. Alverno's mission is to empower each young woman to be exactly the person she wants to be and since 1960, Alverno has empowered more than 4,100 women to meet that goal. For more information about Alverno High School, please call 626-355-3463 or visit www.alverno-hs.org

THE GAMES: PART 2

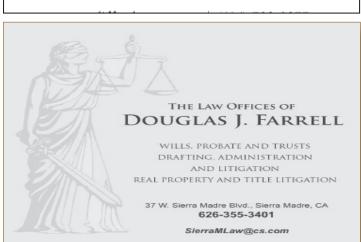

It was pitch black. The theater was silent; you could feel, almost taste the excitement that hummed around the theater. The anticipation, the waiting. The moment had

We had arrived at the mall seven hours earlier expecting a never-ending line filled with obnoxious teenagers. Instead, we were greeted by a short line (we were tenth) and only slightly obnoxious teens who had their noses shoved in one of the three parts of the trilogy. We set up camp, a small blanket and some tunes, and started our waiting, first with some boba, then Panda, and finally some monster and Pocky. At eight-thirty they ushered us into the theater. We claimed nine spots in the middle row, although we were still waiting on our counterparts. We waited.

During the eternal previews we whispered about the movie, unable to grasp that it was finally here.

Two and a half hours later we emerged, wide eyed and amazed. IT WAS SO GOOD! More than I expected, Jennifer Lawrence was phenomenal - who knew someone's eyes could convey so much? This was equivalent to Harry Potter, although they can't really be compared, rather, Harry Potter is just plain awesome and Hunger Games is badass. I cannot wait until November 2013 to see the next film, but at least I have this in the meantime.

Sushi On Green.

MATSURI

Sushi honorable enough for a samurai warrior to defend.

If you are familiar with a corner restaurant on Green and Wilson, you know that Matsuri is the Emperor of Sushi. When you walk through their doors you are stepping off a train in the heart of Tokyo. Imagine the energy of a great city where the places of dining are venerated as shrines and not an indifferent meal sitting. The playful name of Matsuri means, Japanese Festival, and the conscious hope of the name speaks to the good-natured belief that all great parties include dazzling food and trusted friends.

I brought along a trusted friend on this trip to Matsuri, Sean Lorenzini. He hunts sushi the way Melville's Ahab hounded the depths for whales, Sean being much in the same mold as myself, perennially found about the world and appearing fated to wander from one dining table to the next. Besides, if I was to play the part of Starbuck I need a strong captain for this voyage.

Once seated we started with the Red Snapper Carpaccio ($14.50). It is an item that you may not find that frequently. We shared the dish, he on one side and I on the other, and we both agreed it was a savory sendoff. More of an appetizer than a meal, so we both yearned for our next plate and before I could say

superfrignexbealladosciuos, the next dish magically appeared. "She's Spicy Hot," yes you read it right, this spicy tuna appetizer laid out on a shisho leaf is scintillating. Actually it's Shiso Hot, but a little writer's exaggeration never hurt.

There is one inescapable thing that all great sushi must possess, freshness. That is the fundamental element in any great Sushi restaurant and they ensure it at Matsuri. Papa San motors to the LA Fish Market at least five times a week to buy fish for the restaurant. Improbable, impossible, unimaginable you say, not to be found in this day and age! Pride drives that man to honor his guests. The delivery truck may sling fish at other restaurants but the emperor of sushi walks the docks as the fish is delivered and turns his keen eye to the best catch of the day. The gas is on me Papa San, put the pedal to the metal. I didn't get the names, as I was offered only, Momma San, Papa San and Son of San. But I did meet John Hunter, recently retired from JPL, and the "Official Mayor" of Matsuri. John visits the sushi bar at least three times a week and loves the daily specials. He is soft for an old reliable, the Live Scallops and Sea Urchin, and orders them whenever available.

The entrees were fantastic, I always order a Spicy Tuna Hand Roll. I even convinced Ahab; of course he ordered the rice paper, while I got the traditional seaweed wrap.

Sake and Beer are available, I do recommend sitting at the Sushi Bar if seats are available. It appears in this story that Ahab survives with a smile.

- 1 shoulder of young lamb
- 4 carrots
- 2 stalks of celery
- 4 red onions
- 4 splashes olive oil
- 3 squashed garlic cloves 12 sage leaves
- 8 peppercorns
- 1 1/4 cups red wine
- 1 1/4 cups chicken stock 3/4 cup of pearl barley
- 12 fresh almonds freshly ground black pepper

DIRECTIONS

Trim the fat from 1 shoulder of young lamb. Peel, wash, and thinly slice 4 carrots and 2 stalks of celery. Peel 4 red onions and cut into small wedges.

Cook the shoulder of lamb Preheat the oven to 300°F. Heat a flameproof casserole dish with a splash of olive oil and brown the shoulder on all sides. Take it out, throw away the cooking fat, wipe the casserole dish clean, and put it back on the heat with an additional splash of olive oil.

Put in half the vegetables and sweat for 2 to 3 minutes, stirring. Add 3 squashed garlic cloves, 12 sage leaves, and 8 peppercorns, mix well, and return the shoulder of lamb to the casserole dish.

Pour in 1 1/4 cups of red wine and reduce by half. Then add 1 1/4 cups of chicken stock, cover the casserole dish with a lid, and put in the oven for 2 1/2 hours, basting the shoulder from time to time.

Take out the casserole dish. Remove the shoulder, wrap it in aluminium foil, and keep warm. Keep the casserole dish on hand.

Prepare the pearl barley Shortly before the end of cooking the lamb, put 3/4 cup of pearl barley to soak for 10 minutes.

Heat another casserole dish with a splash of olive oil, put in the rest of the vegetables, and cook for 2 minutes, stirring. Drain the pearl barley and add to the vegetables. Stir, season with salt, and cook for 1 to 2

Take a ladleful of the cooking liquid from the lamb casserole dish and pour it into the barley casserole dish. Let it swell with the liquid and cook for 15 to 18 minutes, adding more of the liquid as and when it is

Peel 12 fresh almonds and add them at the end of cooking with a splash of olive oil. Stir and check the

To finish your dish

Cut the shoulder into large pieces and return them to their casserole dish. Add the contents of the other casserole dish and a generous twist of freshly ground black pepper and serve in the casserole dish.

ROCK 'N ROLL, VEGAS, AND ... THE JETS

As my friends know, I go to Las Vegas a lot because the radio station that carries my show is located there. But I went there last weekend, not on business but just to relax, with my wife Linda and our adult daughters. We had a fantastic time. Food, sports, shows and conversation. I recommend spending this kind of extended family time for at least a couple of days. Doesn't have to be Las Vegas or any fancy spot. Sharing conversations and activities like 'grown ups' is a good thing for everybody.

Las Vegas is for more than just gambling. We caught Rod Stewart at Caesars - I enjoyed it so much I stood for most of the show. He's a great performer. Songs everyone wants to sing with him (and did.) If you are a steak eater, here's a review for you. I had the best steak I ever had in Vegas at the Old Homestead Steakhouse at Caesars Palace. I had the second best at Cut at the Venetian.

Of course we got into some great sports TV with the really competitive college basketball games as the Final Four teams were determined.

Las Vegas also has its share of information on sports. I learned that the Green Bay Packers are the early 6-1 favorites to win the Super Bowl. New England is next at 7-1, followed by the Saints and Texans at 10-1, and the Broncos and 49ers at 12-1.

If you are a Colt, Viking or Buccaneer fan, your team is at the other end of the spectrum at 135-1.

This brings me to the football topic for this week's column - the New York Jets, who are 28-1 to win the Super Bowl.

I wouldn't bet the Jets, (I rarely bet my money) even at those odds. And wouldn't bet them even with your money. I really wonder what the Jets were thinking when they traded for Tim Tebow. Their coach, Rex Ryan, may think it was a great move. But I don't.

In press conferences and releases, the Jets are still saying Sanchez is the starter. But I wonder. How many second-string quarterbacks have been flown into town on a private jet?

What the Jets have done is divide their team into two offenses -- the standard pro offense with starter Mark Sanchez and the Wildcat with Tebow.

This is an interesting set up. Who runs the pro offense if Sanchez gets hurt? And who runs the Wildcat if Tebow gets hurt? Maybe the Jets need four quarterbacks.

And then there is this: What about when fans start chanting "Tebow, Tebow, Tebow" after Sanchez throws a couple of interceptions? How does that make your starter feel?

Ryan says his team will prepare two different offenses. Okay, but can you imagine how tough it will be to run two different offenses at the NFL level?

Also, the Jets are giving the defenses they face an advantage. The defenses won't have to guess what offense the Jets will be using. When Sanchez is behind center, it is one, and with Tebow it is the other.

If you are a Jet fan, at least you won't have to worry about spending big money to procure any Super Bowl tickets. I think it will be a crazy year for them.

As for the Denver Broncos, they made a smart move in trading Tebow because, in Peyton Manning, they now have the quarterback with the skills and mind set they wanted. How many Denver fans have you heard say that the Broncos made a mistake by trading Tebow to the Jets?

Look for Denver to run the same offense that Peyton ran at Indianapolis. Why change anything? He's the best at what he does and a true future Hall of Famer. Biggest challenge: Keep him healthy! Do you think the Jets got any Hall of Famers in the deal?

Harvey Hyde can be heard on Las Vegas station KSHP1400 am via the Internet and also at USCTrojans.com.

PERFECT GOLF SWING DRILLS

I have a couple of drills that are perfect golf swing drills-just for your game. Let's start with my favorite full swing drill of all time. The main reason this game is so tough is because we have to stand to the side of the golf ball to hit it. If you are going to play this game you have to understand that the golf club has to swing around your body not above it.

Any time the hands and arms separate from the upper body and swing away from you-you are in trouble. This is why my favorite golf swing drill is-ball above your feet. The great thing about this drill is you don't have to hit golf balls. When you find a lie where the ground is higher than your feet, you can just swing away. Of course I have to share a couple of things with you about this drill.

Most amateur golfers swing the club too much up and down. It is almost impossible to change the shape of a swing that is too much up and down without using some sort of aid. The reason it is hard to change is because you can't see what's going on behind you in the backswing. That is why this drill is awesome. You stand on the side of hill and you swing away. With the club above your feet the has to swing around you. It is next Club above the ball to impossible to swing the club up too much.

If you have the luxury to hit balls from this type of lie the better off you are. I have to warn you about one thing, if you hit some shots fat it is because your old swing keeps creeping in. Because the ball is closer to you the club will smack the ground if you don't swing it around you.

I want to share one more drill with you that will give you the feeling of turning through in the follow through. The next time you are at the practice facility and after you are wamed up, I want you to try this drill. Hit a short pitch shot and after you have finished the swing, lift your right foot off of the ground and tap your toe three times. The first time you try it you might fall over. It is the best drill to teach yourself to turn through and stay in balance.

Once you have perfected the short shot then move on to a full wedge shot. Same thing, hit a shot and tap your toe. Now I have just give you a Right heel pointing to the sky couple of perfect golf swing drills for your game.

ISLAND OF VICE: THEODORE ROOSEVELT'S DOOMED QUEST TO CLEAN UP SIN-LOVING NEW YORK by Richard Zacks

When young T. Roosevelt was appointed police commissioner of New York City, he had the astounding gall to try to shut down the brothels, gambling joints, and after-hours saloons. This is the story of how TR took on Manhattan vice, and vice won. In the 1890s, New York City was America's financial, manufacturing, and entertainment capital, and also its preferred destination for sin, teeming with forty thousand prostitutes, glittery casinos, and all-night dives. Police captains took bribes to see nothing while reformers writhed in frustration. Zacks paints a vivid portrait of the lewd underbelly of 1890s New York, and of Roosevelt, the puritanical, cocksure police commissioner resolved to clean it up. He explores how Roosevelt goes head to head with Tammany Hall, takes midnight rambles with muckraker Jacob Riis, and tries to convince New Yorkers to enjoy wholesome family fun. When Roosevelt's crackdown succeeds too well, even his supporters turn on him and TR discovers that New York loves its sin more than its salvation. With cameos by Stephen Crane, Mark Twain, and a horde of very angry cops, Island of Vice is an unforgettable snapshot of 1890's New York in all its seedy glory and a look at one of our most colorful presidents!!

THE BLOOD SUGAR SOLUTION: THE ULTRA HEALTHY PROGRAM FOR LOSING WEIGHT, PREVENTING DISEASE, AND FEELING GREAT NOW!

by Mark Hyman

Dr. Mark Hyman reveals that the secret solution to losing weight and preventing not just diabetes but also heart disease, stroke, dementia, and cancer is balanced insulin levels. Dr. Hyman describes the seven keys to achieving wellness-nutrition, hormones, inflammation, digestion, detoxification, energy metabolism, and a calm mind and explains his revolutionary six week healthy living program. With advice on diet, green living, supplements and medication, exercise, and personalizing the plan for optimal results, the book also teaches how to maintain lifelong health.

MYCOPHILIA: REVELATIONS FROM THE WEIRD WORLD OF MUSHROOMS by Eugenia Bone

An incredibly versatile cooking ingredient containing an abundance of vitamins, minerals, and possibly cancer fighting properties, mushrooms are among the most expensive and sought after foods on the planet. Yet when it comes to fungi, culinary uses are only the tip of the iceberg. Throughout history fungus has been prized for its diverse properties, medicinal, ecological, even recreational, and has spawned its own quirky subculture dedicated to exploring the weird biology and celebrating the unique role it plays on earth. Bone examines the role of fungi as exotic delicacy, curative, poison, and hallucinogen, and ultimately discovers that a greater understanding of fungi is key to facing many challenges of the 21st century. Mycophilia is for foodies, science buffs, environmental advocates, and anyone interested in learning a lot about one of the least understood and most curious organisms in nature.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS:

Review By Sean Kayden

The San Diego natives are under the impression they've found their calling with the release of their eponymous third record. Delta Spirit never wanted their style to be regarded as a folk rock or alt-country. In spite of their earlier sound wandering around in the confines of those genres, the band always believed they were simply crafting modern rock songs. For the group to release their third album as self-titled, the band is certainly trying to inveigle fans and newcomers alike to finally see what they are truly all about. Is it worth your time? With some hesitation, it's apparent that Delta Spirit has indeed generated a decent record. However, I must confess, this is now coming from someone who was never truly impressed with the band's first two records.

the record is fully energetic. It's my favorite song off the album, but those who've previously found spiritual enlightenment through the music of Delta Spirit may be disappointed. The abovementioned song sounds nothing like they've ever written before and maybe that's the reason I thoroughly enjoyed it. The simple lyrics masked behind infectious guitar riffs are what make "Tear It Up" what it is. Some may call it fluff, but I call it pure addictiveness. "Time Bomb" is a beautiful, spiritually driven track that exemplifies the notion of a looming future. The morbidly induced "Into The Darkness" comes off rather haunting. This is the sound Delta Spirit should have gone for with the other songs. At any rate, "Time Bomb" and "Into The Darkness" demonstrates how Delta Spirit really try to become more than just a band simply described as one or two

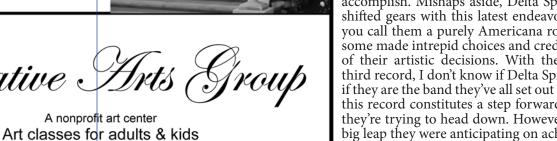

The group stumbles with songs like "Idaho," "Otherside," and the god-awful "Tellin' The Mind". They feel nothing more than plain filler and suffer from being both unappealing and painfully generic. The trio of songs is a poor representation of what the band wants to now accomplish. Mishaps aside, Delta Spirit has definitely shifted gears with this latest endeavor. No longer can you call them a purely Americana rock band. They've some made intrepid choices and credit is due for most of their artistic decisions. With the release of their third record, I don't know if Delta Spirit is exactly sure if they are the band they've all set out to be. If anything, this record constitutes a step forward in the direction they're trying to head down. However, it's just not the big leap they were anticipating on achieving.

One Of A Kind: Featuring unique homes and gardens and the people whoe create them Story By Chris Bertrand

TIM GREGORY, THE BUILDING BIOGRAPHER

Does your century old home have a pedigree? A storied past? Tim Gregory, the Building Biographer can research it and tell you all about it!

One of only a few acknowledged house historians in the country, Gregory faced a bit of a midlife crisis some years back. After twenty years as a librarian in public libraries, Gregory decided he wanted to do something different with his life.

He went back to school and got a second master's degree in Public History and Historic Preservation from Cal State Dominguez Hills, and took a part time job as an archivist at the Pasadena Historical Society (now known as the Pasadena Museum of Gregory got quite a few calls from both homeowners as well as Realtors, asking about what was available about area homes in the museum's collections. He already knew the Society had quite a bit of information on local homes, their architecture and histories.

He reflects that he saw a turning point in local sentiment switch from tearing down older homes, to increased interest, particularly in Pasadena which is rich in century old homes, in preserving the architectural history of individual homes, neighborhoods and cities.

As a founder of the Altadena Heritage group as well as an active member of the Pasadena Heritage group, he decided to try out whether people would pay for the type of research he loved to do about topics near and dear to his heart. An invitation to speak in front of the Pasadena Board of Realtors about his capabilities bolstered his resolve to create this niche career for himself.

Over 2500 research projects later, the answer is a resounding yes. As Gregory's reputation grew, his work has branched out from Pasadena, and only about a third of his history requests come from the San Gabriel Valley these days. Most of the balance comes from the greater Los Ángeles County. He got to know the ins and out of other places in the county to get the type of information people wanted to know about their homes. He regularly descends into the map room in the downtown LA, County Recorder's office to review old records. As a preserver of this precious history, He learned that many old homes are identified in the building department by the name of the original owner, rather than the address.

The first step is to establish when the first improvement shows up on the property. He finds the census information from "the old days" very detailed and fascinating, with number of children and servants, what occupations they held, and more.

With an owner name he starts his research online, with "who's Who", and various other indexes at the Los Angeles Public Library. Even the old card file is now available online, and cardholders can use this database for free.

Owners of old homes seem to particularly love to see newspaper advertisements from a century ago, describing their homes. Often, the architect is listed, especially on the larger homes, and this provides another area to research.

A publication called Southwest Builder and Contractor was a homes. Like the house in the Hollywood Hills with phone lines owner got up during the night and saw an apparition of a woman owner got up during the night and saw and a woman owner got up during the night and saw and a wow to his sales price, as Gregory's research validated the home's design "pedigree" by a famous architect.

The LA County Assessor's district offices are another source of data back to the 1920's, though this may required a drive to Sylmar, South El Monte, etc. depending on the location of the home in question. Assessors used to sketch a footprint of the home, and draw in alterations, a nice added touch, according to Gregory. This allows him to "carbon date" some of the changes in a home. This information isn't open public record, however, and the current owner's authorization is required.

owners or the Realtors. Often homes touted as "star-owned" are not. Gregory chuckled, "A lot of properties listed say 'Mae West lived here' but that's rarely the case. West owned a lot of property slept here."

His sleuthing activities have turned up the storied past of some just waiting to be mine by the savvy researcher for interested galore in the basement. Surprise surprise... Turns out a former with her hair tied up in a bun, and a dog on a leash. The other owner was a bookie, and ran his operation from the basement.

One delighted customer thanked Gregory for adding about $30k Gregory's favorite home designer? "It has to be Anna Latham. She designed and built her own houses. She did some of the finest designs I have ever seen. No one really knew about her." Gregory has uncovered a surprising number of women in what was considered a man's field of home design and construction. "Often they used only initials instead of full names, or a company name. For instance, Dulux Building Company was owned by a

When researching a home in San Marino, documentation indicated the property had a train shed on the homesite. Gregory looked up the history of local train lines, and no answer Sometimes his research turns up data that doesn't please the to this mystery came to mind. Turns out he was completely on the wrong track, pun intended. A previous owner collected miniature trains, and built a shed to display his hobby.

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed

by Luther Tsinoglou

HOW TO BUY LIKE A SELLER

If you're in the market to buy a home, take a counter-intuitive tip and imagine the day you'll be selling it. That's right - whether you're a first time buyer, or relocating, this home probably won't be your last, so look for features that will pay off when the day comes to move again.

North, south, east or west, the biggest amenity the next buyer will look for is central air conditioning. In the Deep South, over 90% of buyers rank central air as critically important, and three-quarters of buyers everywhere else put it high on the list.

Another often-overlooked feature is storage. Over half of buyers desire a two-car garage and a walk-in closet for the master bedroom. Ample closets and storage space just can't be stressed enough.

If at all possible, avoid costly upgrades and offer incentive down the road by purchasing an energy efficient home with newer windows, pervasive insulation, and Energy Star appliances. If the home is already wired for cable, satellite, and high-speed Internet, so much the better.

Finally, it's still all about location, location. It's the one thing you can't change about the home you buy, so look for good schools (even if you don't have children) and proximity to shopping and recreation. Just ask your agent about the most popular features in your area and take heed!

WHAT'S IN A SIGN?

Not knowing any of the candidates for the Sierra Madre City Council, I began scrutinizing all the campaign signs on my regular walks around town. I began pondering if the characteristics of a sign could reflect the characteristics of a candidate. If "what's in a name" could have significance, could "what's in a sign" have significance, too?

For example, is there any significance that two of the signs give first names top billing, with surnames as a subtitle? The "Return Mary Ann McGillivray" sign might suggest she knows everyone in town, and the bright red and gold colors may denote she's full of surprises. Colin Braudrick may just be a friendly, informal guy. (Incidentally, he is not competing with Mary Ann, an incumbent seeking another four-year term. Braudrick is running for the two-year, unexpired term of Joe Mosca, who moved to London with his family.)

Braudrick, like Gene Goss (equal weight to first and last name), incorporates a symbol of Sierra Madre into his sign, with a silhouette of the mountains. Goss's sign has a tree with a deer underneath. This would suggest natural aspects of the town are a priority. Both designs have a calming effect. The dignified John Cappocia sign in red, white and blue could denote a solid, serious citizen, while the Chris Koerber sign with the last name in bright red on white suggests someone lively and the Facebook logo indicates he wants connection. (Koerber is running against Braudrick for Mosca's vacated seat.)

The John Harbedian, barebones sign with stylized lettering in bright chartreuse suggests someone who is straight to the point and possibly a showman. Because the sign is about half the depth of the others, could he have an economic streak? On second look, Mary Ann McGillivray's sign also is a bit smaller than most, but makes up for it in big colors. Bill Tice, the town's perennial candidate, does not have campaign signs nor does he appear at candidate forums. He relies strictly on his reputation. While judging candidates by their campaign signs may be akin to judging a book by its cover, I felt my analyses were somewhat validated after watching the KGEM replay of the candidate forum sponsored by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce and the League of Women Voters Pasadena Area. Maybe there is something to subliminal messages after all. There's still time to check out the candidate forum. The election isn't until April 10.

WHY I'M NOT VOTING FOR CHRIS KOERBER

(The Condensed Version)

Years ago I was a member of the Residents for the Preservation of Sierra Madre (RPSM). We were a grass-roots organization of roughly 1400 like-minded, but distinctly unique individuals, one of whom was Chris Koerber. We united to prevent a 650-student high school from being built in the hillsides of One Carter. Our reasons ran the gamut from A-Z. The school was Maranatha, the developer and our opposition, was Greg Galletly of the Glendale firm Dorn-Platz. He was aided in his chicanery by, what I referred to as his "all-girl band." The band members were; Kathy Teegarden, also of Dorn-Platz; attorney Elizabeth Watson, whose firm served several lawsuits against our city; and real estate agent

Armed with exhaustive research by our members we attended Tree Commission meetings, Cultural Heritage meetings, Planning Commission meetings and City Council meetings. With hard work and overall tenacity, we were successful in our quest. David brought Goliath down!

Fast forward to the present...I got a call from a reliable and trusted source who shared two things about council candidate Chris Koerber. First, she said he was a member of the Tea Party. The thought that he could be a member of such a bigoted organization really surprised me however, that news totally paled in comparison to what she told me next. She said that Koerber's campaign manager was none other than Sandy Saraganian! I couldn't imagine anyone in the RPSM group aligning themselves with anyone even remotely connected to Greg Galletly and Dorn-Platz.

I sent Chris an email saying, "Say it ain't so..." and promptly received a phone call from him. I asked him why, in spite of RPSM's history with her, he could choose Sandy Saraganian as his campaign manager. He said that he needed her to help him understand the Skilled Nursing Facility paperwork. (Geppetto, tell Pinocchio to move over because company is coming!) His answer, in addition to failing the litmus test, shows that Koerber is capable of using extremely poor judgment. Do we want someone like that representing the citizens of Sierra Madre? I certainly don't...

MARY ANN MACGILLIVRAY... SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT... AGAIN!

Mary Ann MacGillivray proudly proclaims her allegiance to the Tea Party principles of "fiscal responsibility, limited government, and free market." She also proclaims she's for a balanced city budget, lower taxes, personal responsibility, and against unnecessary spending. Sounds too good to be true -- especially from a politician.

Unfortunately, truth is not one of Mary Ann's strengths. She has been a 'revisionist' since the day she took office two years ago. She has in the past been among those eyeing cuts in Library Services and Community Services. In this campaign she claims to support them.

She opposes the UUT which is NOT a tax increase, but an extension of the existing tax to insure our fire, police and paramedic services. After the unexpected costs of the Windstorm, the shut down of the Community Redevelopment Agencies and the continued collapse of the California economy, who knows what the city will be faced with in the future. Her contention that it can wait and that there is no urgency, is irresponsible, for if it is not done now, the city will miss a full year of tax income by the time it can go back before the voters and

During the Water Rate fiasco, she was opposed to the increase and then changed her position to say that she was opposed to the 'process' of the proposed increase. After the opposing side failed to get enough votes to stop the increase, Mary Ann fought tooth and nail to keep the council from implementing the full rate increase which ultimately caused Sierra Madre to have its' credit rating drop.

As a result, Sierra Madre is now in a compromised position should we need to rely on our credit for anything. It means that if we have to negotiate or renegotiate anything financial, we will have to do so at a higher interest rate which will cost the city thousands, and possibly millions of dollars depending on the transaction. For instance, if we have to renegotiate existing bonds, that would cost us hundreds of thousands of dollars more. An unfortunate position that we find ourselves in, thanks mostly to Mary Ann MacGillivray.

During the 2010 Campaign for City Council, she sent a personal citywide mailer, without identifying it as a campaign piece or even identifying it on the envelope (it simply had the return address of Duncan and Mary Ann MacGillivray) supporting her 'slate' of candidates, Don Watts, Pat Alcorn and John Crawford. It was totally inappropriate, misleading and perhaps illegal.

In 2005-2006 Mary Ann was a member of the Hillside Management Zone (HMZ) Committee, which ostensibly was intended to protect our Hillsides from overdevelopment. the process, she, along with other committee members and hillside property owners defined "Hillside" in such a manner that their hillside properties would be exempt and later included in the "Residential Canyon Zone."

OPINION

And, lest we forget, it was Mary Ann who made herself Council liaison to the Community Services Commission before she was elected. As a council member she has also appointed obstructionists to committees such as The General Plan Update Steering Committee and the Community Services Committee. While she says she is for community services, parks and recreation, she has attempted to put a halt to almost all recreation related issues that have come before her at the Commission or Council level. Here are just a few examples:

•In 2011 she protested the waiver of a permit fee for the Little League Parade. She stated that if they couldn't afford to pay for the permit, erhaps they should cancel the parade. Her sons didn't have a parade when they were little so why should today's children have a parade?

•Mary Ann opposed new toilets in Memorial Park. Despite a Public Works report that stated that the old existing toilets were too old to be repaired, certain Commission members and MA didn't want the new toilets. The majority of the Council voted for the new toilets and they are located behind City hall north of the tennis

• Community Services staff presented a creative idea for raising revenues for the pool. The plan allowed a family to pay for private lessons at the pool before other classes began. Private lessons would be offered at a private lesson rate thereby raising revenues for the pool. Mary Ann opposed it. The majority supported the plan, and it was a real money maker last year.

• At one Council meeting where the chamber was filled with Sierra Madre School parents, she suggested that public school students pay $1,000 year tuition. Apparently, she thinks the kids that are bussed in from Northeast Pasadena should have to pay for the privilege to attend school here.

•Mary Ann is the one who distributed to the City Council members a little over a year ago, an unsolicited book on Sharia law, presumably as a result of her paranoia about the infiltration the city government by Islamic Jihadists.

Mary Ann carries this whole Tea Party mantra of cutting spending and no new taxes with complete disregard for the people of this town. The quality of life in this town is what is on the ballot this year, and unfortunately, in my opinion, Mary Ann, who is trying to promote her Tea Party profile, is not what this town needs.

It's time for a change. This Tuesday let's show Mary Ann the door -- to a future of well-earned obscurity!

A GRANDPARENT'S DAY AT THE PARK

Fun is a relative quantity. One person's fun may be somebody else's drudgery and pain. I know someone, and her name shall remain anonymous, whose idea of fun is rooting through thrift stores all day long. That concept of fun has never darkened the shadowy corridors of my mind.

The idea of spending time in the park has to be amended to include one very important ingredient. On my own, I probably would not even think of going to the park. Not that I do not like the park, I just would not come up with the idea all by myself. Then, the important equation of fun is a little granddaughter.

A day at the park by myself does not equal to very much fun. After all, I have talked to myself and I am rather boring. I have heard all my stories before and by the time, I tell myself the story for the 19th time it is no longer funny.

A day at the park with the granddaughter does equal fun.

I think grandchildren are God's way of reminding grandfathers how much energy we do not have and, for that matter, never had.

The date was set and my wife and I set off to take our little granddaughter to the park. On the main features of this park was a merry-go-round. I am rather certain they had merry-go-round when I was a child but for the life of me, I cannot remember the last time I took a spin.

As we set out for our destination in the park, I nonchalantly told the little granddaughter that there was a merry-go-round in the park. That was the end of my talk for the trip. The whole way there, all she could talk about was the merry-go-round and how fast it went and how many ponies there were. By the time we got to the merry-go-round I had learned about all there is to know about a merry-go-round from a six-year-old's viewpoint.

According to her, the merry-go-round is about the most fun you could ever have in the whole wide world. And, she emphasized, "I'm serious."

We rounded the corner, before us was the park and in the middle of the park was this mysterious, mystical merry-go-round. It elicited a deep heartfelt "Wow," from the younger

She immediately began running and pulling me along to the point where I had to walk a little faster than I normally walk. I mean, at my age running is completely out of the question. And so, she ran, I shuffled enthusiastically and before long we were in front of the merry-go-round. "Isn't it beautiful, grandpa," she almost whispered.

We did not stand long admiring the merry-go-round. She let out a squeal and said, "Come on, grandpa. Let's go ride the merry-go-round.' My plans were very simple. I would let her get on the merry-go-round, pay for the ticket, sit down on the bench and watch her go round and round and round. Well, that was my plan. She, on the other hand, had other plans.

With almost superhuman force she drug me pass the admission gate, I hardly had enough time to pay for the ride and get to the pony she was going to ride.

This is my pony, grandpa. Where's yours?

I quickly searched my plans and could nowhere find any notation about riding a pony on a merry-go-round on this particular day. Instead, I helped her up on her pony and I stood by her and said, "We'll do this one together." She was too excited about riding the merry-go-round that she did not respond.

I grabbed hold of one part of the pony, right next to us was another pony and I held onto that. "Āre we ready to go, grandpa?"

No sooner had she said that until the bell rang and the merry-go-round began going round. And round. And round.

Not only that, the pony she was on, went up and down and the pony next to her that I was hanging onto went down and up. It was as if I was in perpetual motion. It seemed as if that merry-go-round ride lasted 17 hours. Eventually, with my head spinning and my stomach doing whatever stomachs do, we came to the end of our merry-go-round.

Being grateful that we have finished our ride, I proceeded to disengage her from the pony.

However, that was not her plan. "Oh, grandpa, just one more time."

The problem with grandfathers is that nowhere in their vocabulary lurks in any fashion any sound resembling "no." Consequently, we went round on the merry-go-round "just one more

I learned a deep lesson that afternoon. When a little granddaughter says "just one more time," it is not in any literal sense of the word that they say it. I'm not prepared to say how many times we went on that merry-go-round, needless to say, by the end of the afternoon I was in a complete whirl not knowing whither I was coming or whither I was going.

As we walked over to get our ice cream treat, I remembered what the apostle Paul said about Timothy. "And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus" (2 Timothy 3:15(KJV).

BEWARE THE BRIEF CASE CARRIERS

Yesterday I spent a whole lot of time talking to people about the Trayvon Martin calamity in Florida. I spent some time in Court, at a Doctor's office, in a restaurant, and on the golf course and spoke with people of different ages, races, and economic classes. Everyone had an opinion and, after saying they were hesitant to engage in this kind of conversation, proceeded to say that racism and "profiling" still existed but that things were better than they were.

As I struggled to take advantage of the extra daylight afforded by Daylight Savings Time I made my way to the golf course and was paired up with some 60 year-old Black guy who was trying to do the same thing. We got to talking and Trayvon Martin came up and almost the first thing he said was, "Look, if that vigilante patrol guy who shot the kid had been Black he would be in jail right now. None of this, "let's try and find out what happened before we arrest anybody." Of course he emphasized Black People are still treated unfairly but he emphasized something else that I had not thought much about. He explained to me that when he was growing up his role-model had been his father. His father was a tough World War II Veteran who clearly knew that there was a lot wrong in the world but who emphasized that part of the challenge of life was to control one's emotions without losing one's soul. The importance of recognizing right from wrong and to not be defined by the expectations of other people was a part of growing up. A big part of maturity is controlling your emotions and picking your battles and avoiding wars that do not need to be fought right then.

My playing partner had to race off at the eighth hole but before he left he tried to explain to me how difficult it was today to raise kids. In his day the message of the world was that Black people had little worth and little future. A man's task was to transcend this negative view and believe in his own worth and still believe in your own worth and enjoy the life you had and commit yourself to something. He mentioned the James Brown song, I'm Black and I'm Proud, as penetrating the fog around him and giving inspiration. He contrasted this awareness with the awareness of today in which young people growing up are surrounded by messages of violence, drugs, ostentatious wealth, and spaceships.

Before he left he made one final comment, "You're Jewish, aren't

"Yes", I replied. "It probably doesn't take a detective to notice.

Why?' Well, you Jews are still getting rich peddling these crazy ideas to our kids." And with that he was off.

Now I was alone and while waiting to hit my next drive I thought about what he had said. Yes there is still Anti-Semitism in the world and there is still racial profiling, notwithstanding the existence of our African-American President and our Latino Mayor who will become even more visible at the coming Democratic convention. Also there is a gigantic proliferation of media-garbage displaying violence, explosions, gore, and overall disrespect for human life. Somebody must be profiting from all

Who are the actual evil people in this society profiting from the struggles of the rest of us? No, I don't think it's poor misguided George Zimmerman, the Latino vigilante who shot Trayvon Martin.. Demonstrators across America are demanding the arrest of this man who probably thought he was doing the world a favor by acting on his unwarranted belief that young hoodie wearing Mr. Martin was a threat to "the good people" living within the locked doors of their gated-housing complex. Mr. Zimmerman is not alone in his misperception. There is a threat to the values inherent within our society; but that threat does not come from hoodie wearing teenagers, or from Latino gangs, or from welfarequeens, or even from greedy over-extended home-buyers. The threat comes from our own most educated and able students who have become convinced that their own comfort and their need to accumulate ever-expanding wealth is the most important thing in the world and is therefore worth sacrificing every other principle.

Some of these people may even be Jewish and many of these people were involved in creating and profiting from the nefarious financial shenanigans which created the derivatives and the defaulted loans. These people are still around in governmental positions or being granted bonuses within the private sector. These guys are bright, able, and evil. So too are there kids being educated to carry on these traditions, eager to repay huge student loans and become independent of mommy and daddy.

This whole bunch should be "profiled" as a potential and present threat to basic American values. BEWARE of the young and privileged! Perhaps some of them are not-yet-evil people. Perhaps they can be reached because really we need their help and they need ours.

RICH Johnson MORE REPARTEE

I suspect all of us many times over our lives remember occasions when someone said something to us that invited a clever comeback or a witty retort. Unfortunately, as Mark Twain once observed, "Repartee is something we think of twenty-four hours too late." There are those times when all cylinders are firing and our response is, what the Aussies call "Spot on." Here is a smattering of those times:

Nikita Khrushchev, the Soviet Premier 50 years ago, was known for taking off his shoe at meetings and pounding it on the table when he was dissatisfied with the speaker. One such occasion was September 29, 1960 when British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was speaking at the United Nations. The shoe pounding commenced and rather than be flustered at the interruption the Prime Minister calmly looked down at the interpreter and said, "Could I have that translated,

In 1981, recuperating in his hospital bed after the assassination attempt, President Ronald Reagan was reassured by an aide to not worry in that the government was functioning normally. Reagan quipped to the aide, "What makes you think I'd be happy about that?"

In 2004, once Senator John Kerry had wrapped up the Democrat nomination for president a rumor surfaced that he was considering Republican Senator John McCain as his running mate. Though on different sides of the aisle they were friends and both decorated Vietnam War veterans. When asked about whether or not he wanted to become Vice President, John McCain responded, "I spent several years in a North Vietnamese POW camp, kept in the dark, fed with scraps. Do you think I want to do that all over again?'

In the 1992 presidential primaries there were seven democrats vying for the nomination. Bill Clinton was one of those. Now a shining star in the Democratic Party, the former Rhodes scholar was introduced as the most intelligent of the presidential candidates. He responded with a smile, "Isn't that like calling Moe the most intelligent of the Three Stooges?"

I enjoy the interchange between Lloyd Bentsen and Dan Quayle during their vice presidential debate in 1988. But I enjoy it for a different reason than most. Considering his age, maturity and intelligence Dan Quayle, was asked what he would do if he was called to succeed to the presidency. The 41-year-old Quayle responded by saying, "I have as much experience in the Congress as Jack Kennedy did when he sought the presidency." To which the much older Senator Bentsen moved in for the kill: "Senator, I served with Jack Kennedy. I knew Jack Kennedy. Jack Kennedy was a friend of mine. Senator, you are no Jack Kennedy.

What I liked about that interchange was Bentsen, clever as his repartee was, appeared to me and others as verbally beating up his opponent. It actually garnered sympathy for Senator Quayle. And I guess the final proof was in the pudding. Senator Bentsen had to live with only being Senator Bentsen. Senator Quayle wore the title Vice President for Four years later, when Bill Clinton ran against George H. W. Bush, someone compared Governor Clinton to Thomas Jefferson. Mimicking Bentsen, Ronald Reagan got up at the Republican Convention and said, "This fellow they've nominated claims he's the new Thomas Jefferson. Well, let me tell you something. I knew Thomas Jefferson. He was a friend of mine. And governor, you're no Thomas Jefferson."

Much of these examples of repartee I've pulled from a wonderful book entitle "Viva la repartee" by Dr. Mardy Grothe. It's worth adding to your

EARTH'S OTHER MOONS

Earth usually has more than one natural moon, according to a team of astronomers from the University of Helsinki, the Paris Observatory and the University of Hawaii at Manoa.

Our 2,000-mile-diameter Moon, so beloved by poets, artists and romantics, has been orbiting Earth for over 4 billion years. Its much smaller cousins, dubbed "minimoons," are thought to be only a few feet across and to usually orbit our planet for less than a year before resuming their previous lives as asteroids orbiting the Sun.

Mikael Granvik (formerly at UH Manoa and now at Helsinki), Jeremie Vaubaillon (Paris Observatory) and Robert Jedicke (UH Manoa) calculated the probability that at any given time Earth has more than one moon. They used a supercomputer to simulate the passage of 10 million asteroids past Earth. They then tracked the trajectories of the 18,000 objects that were captured by Earth's gravity.

They concluded that at any given time there should be at least one asteroid with a diameter of at least one meter orbiting Earth. Of course, there may also be many smaller objects orbiting Earth, too.

According to the simulation, most asteroids that are captured by Earth's gravity would not orbit Earth in neat circles. Instead, they would follow complicated, twisting paths. This is because a minimoon would not be tightly held by Earth's gravity, so it would be tugged into a crazy path by the combined gravity of Earth, the Moon and the Sun. A minimoon would remain captured by Earth until one of those tugs breaks the pull of Earth's gravity, and the Sun once again takes control of the object's trajectory. While the typical minimoon would orbit Earth for about nine months, some of them could orbit our planet for decades.

"This was one of the largest and longest computations I've ever done," said Vaubaillon. "If you were to try to do this on your home computer, it would take about six years."

In 2006, the University of Arizona's Catalina Sky Survey discovered a minimoon about the size of a car. Known by the unimaginative designation 2006 RH120, it orbited Earth for less than a year after its discovery, then resumed its orbit around the Sun.

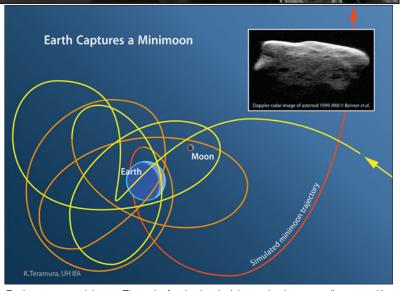

"Minimoons are scientifically extremely interesting," said Jedicke. "A minimoon could someday be brought back to Earth, giving us a low-cost way to examine a sample of material that has not changed much since the beginning of our solar system over 4.6 billion years ago."

The team's paper, "The population of natural Earth satellites," appears in the March issue of the journal Icarus.

The team used the Jade supercomputer at the National Computer Center for Higher Education (Centre Informatique National de l'Enseignement Supérieur, or CINES) at Montpelier, France.

Founded in 1967, the Institute for Astronomy at the University of Hawaii at Manoa conducts research into galaxies, cosmology, stars, planets, and the Sun. Its faculty and staff are also involved in astronomy education, deep space missions, and in the development and management of the observatories on Haleakala and Mauna Kea.

You can contact Bob Eklund at: b.eklund@MtnViewsNews. com.

Earth captures a minimoon. The path of a simulated minimoon that is temporarily captured by Earth. The object approaches Earth from the right along the yellow line and continues on its trajectory along the orange path and finally escapes capture along the red path to the upper right. The size of Earth and the Moon are not to scale but the size of the minimoon's path is to scale in the Earth-Moon system.

Minimoons are captured from the much larger population of near-Earth asteroids that pass close to Earth. This two-mile-diameter asteroid is more than a thousand times larger than the biggest minimoons, but it shows the irregular shape and pockmarked surface expected on the much smaller minimoons.

RED SNOW REMORSE & RAGE Will Canada's Senseless Seal Slaughtering Ever End?

When I first started this column over a year ago, my intention was

I first this over a o, my

N was but they can't seem to get it together with regard to protecting defenseless, helpless seals, either for humane or ecological reasons. Apparently it's money over matter to them when it comes to seal slaughtering.

to focus on happy, uplifting true-life stories that folks in my community could relate to and find interesting or, at least entertaining. As a dog owner, and pet walker/ sitter in Sierra Madre, I spend lots of time walking and playing with animals, as well as observing and photographing local wildlife when the opportunity presents itself. I'd be lost without animals in my life. They give so much, and ask for so little in return. Fortunately, most of my articles have indeed been happy tales, mainly because my four-legged furry friends inspire me to write joyful accounts of our fun times together, but there are times when I must forego the fun and fanfare, to speak out about controversial issues that need to be addressed. That's when I end up writing tales that are not so happy, but are nonetheless equally true and must be told. Please bear with me through this week's article, as I feel a strong need to express my thoughts on this subject, in hopes of helping educate my readers, inspire them to investigate

All too often, I am forced to analyze my personal perspective as to what is going on in today's society, regarding the human's exploitation of animals, and all too often I am forced to face the fact that people are capable of some pretty horrendous acts toward other beings, for their own financial or personal gain. At times I think, "Am I the crazy one? Am I the only one so saddened by what I just heard on the news?" There are even times when I get so overwhelmed that I am rendered too paralyzed to say or do anything about it. That's when I retreat into my cerebral cave, where I cry it out until I am exhausted. Then, when I'm finally able to stop the tears and restore my composure, the sadness turns to anger, and I am driven to find ways to make a change for the better. Still, even after the storm of emotions has passed and compassionate rage has set in, I'm left with a dark cloud of disdain and disgust over my fellow man's absence of conscience in being capable of such dreadful behavior. So hideous and presumptuous are their actions, and so painful are the results. I know in my heart that this is not what God, our Creator had in mind when He gave mankind dominion over the other living beings He created.

This week I received a few e-mails from various animal rights activists and groups, including links to some very graphic videos & written reports about the senseless slaughtering of harp seals currently underway in Canada. I know this has been going on for decades, but I was caught off guard because I assumed that by now, with so much new legislation against animal cruelty and exploitation, this barbaric practice would be a thing of the past. Well, I was wrong. In spite of numerous efforts that have been made, and political victories won, thanks to those who've fought for the cause, and in spite of the fact that humans no LONGER HAVE A NEED for seal products, the bashing & blood baths continue to occur, unabated. Canada has been so good about changing their laws to protect domestic pets in recent

According to Mike Hammill, a scientist at Canada's Dept. of Fish & Oceans (DFO), the harp seal population in Canada is declining rapidly, due to increasingly sparse ice floes, and increasingly high mortality rates at a very young age. When there is an intensely demanding market for 2-week old pup pelts, and plenty of killers (oops, I meant to say sealers) who are willing to bludgeon pup seals to death, how can you expect the species to thrive and survive? The game is not at all fair, and there is no natural balance there. If the killing continues as it is now, the harp seal will end up on the endangered species list within a few short years. Marketable seal products include hide skins, oil and meat. Historically, the most demanding markets for seal products were Russia, Norway, a few Asian countries, and the United States. The good news is that Russia has decided to ban seal products as of this year, and for that I am grateful. The bad news is that China is now on the band wagon as a major seal product consumer, and who doesn't know what that can mean in today's global market? Then there is Norway, the good ole USA, So. Korea & Japan, all of which continue to create a demand strong enough to keep the death toll of slaughtered seals at an all-time high. Norway buys most of the hide, the Asian countries purchase most of the meat, and shockingly enough, the United States purchases approximately 75% of the oil. I have never bought seal oil myself, so I had no idea what it was even used for. Apparently it is a good source of omega-3 fatty acids, used in the form of a nutritional supplement. More importantly, there are several other alternative sources for omega-3 fatty acids that are way richer, per calorie than seal oil. The best source of omega-3 fatty acids is flax seed oil. The second is walnuts, and the third best source is salmon. Imagine that! Three extremely rich sources of omega-3 fatty acids, immediately available at just about any grocery store in America, and yet folks still continue to support the horrific practice of bludgeoning baby seals in cold blood in the most inhumane way imaginable.

I realize we Americans don't have control over what other countries choose to sustain in the global trade market, but we do have the power to decide what we as individual consumers will buy and thereby promote. Seals have families, just like you and me, the only difference is they don't they "get" the concept of divorce, and they don't abort. They just do what God created them to do; pro-create and survive. The bottom line is, if you purchase and use seal products, you are promoting the cold-blooded killing of countless innocent helpless seals (mostly infants) every year. Some people don't care about whether other beings besides humans suffer or die, but I have faith in my local readers, and I believe that they understand that we humans need to tend to the creatures God put in our care. It was difficult to get through this article, but I really needed to share my thoughts about seal slaughtering. Thanks for your patience and understanding, and for making the right choice. May peace abide in your home...love and let live!

THE MISSION This week, "This & That" will abandon its customary light-hearted banter to deliberate upon national politics and global affairs. Ha ha! April Fools! But in all seriousness, this article will undoubtedly strike a chord in every Southern Californian elementary school students' heart. I speak of the fourth grade rite of passage --the "Mission Project," the crowning jewel of Open

Yes, it's that time of year again. Time when schools across country are feeling the mounting pressure of Open House Night. If it weren't for my friends and relatives in education, Open House Night would have long ago joined my other dust bunny memories along with math tutoring and shopping for school uniforms.

As a student, all I cared about Open House was its (hopeful) brevity and the possibility of refreshments. I had little idea of the strain my teachers went through to pull it off. My sources tell me that Open House is comparable to Back-to-School-Night, except the stress is different. At Back-to-School-Night, the teacher nervously tries to stretch out a monologue about the curriculum and classroom procedures over an hour allotted to "teacher presentations." During this 60 minutes of sweaty gabbling, the teacher might notice that a third of the parents are either juvenile or geriatric, another third are preoccupied with their mobile devices, and the rest are former students.

So, if Back-to-School-Night is a trial of the unknown, Open House is an obstacle course against the confirmed crazies. By crazies I mean the parents who the teachers have by now identified as overprotective, paranoid, or just plain deranged. Since no formal presentation is necessary at Open House, the teachers' best strategy for avoiding interaction with the crazies is immersing themselves in discussions about students' work, namely the "Mission Project."

Ah, the "Mission Project;" staple of fourth grade classes across the state. Public and private school students alike must create "The Mission." Maybe it's because many cities, such as San Gabriel and San Diego, bear the historic mark of Father Junipero Serra, or maybe it's just tradition. "The Mi-ssion! The Mission!" (sung to Fiddler on the Roof's "Tradition"). When I was a fourth grader, I recall being assigned to visit a mission (San Gabriel of course, unless your family was planning a vacation). Having arrived, you needed to retrieve something peculiar to that mission (e.g., a map of the grounds) to prove you'd actually been there. What do kids in Porterville and Delano do? Visit Santa Bakersfield? Maybe their teachers make an exception.

In the end, no matter what logistical obstacles lie ahead, a student's grade can be saved by a good mission model. By this I mean the constructing of a mission (somewhat to scale and historically accurate). There has never been a fourth grade student who actually completed this project by him or herself. It is always the work of the family, whether the student wants it or not. Unless you're an orphan, your dad, uncle, or older brother took charge of building your mission model. In the good old days, kids (or families) had to come up with creative ideas. Back then you'd see structures built of pink colored sugar cubes with neatly trimmed Astroturf walkways. It was in that era that my dad, an artisan gifted in sculpture and replica design, pounced upon the project like a starved panther. Almost instantaneously, he had little blueprints, and was cutting out poster board walls with an exacto knife. He allowed me to work on a stone well near the tannery (consisting of little rolled brown clay balls stuck together in a circle). I felt privileged.

When the night of Open House arrived, the missions were unveiled. I felt a slight twinge as my classmates vehemently hissed "Your dad did that for you, didn't he?" I felt like answering, "Yeah, and your dad did that (sloppy, disproportionate) thing for you, didn't he?" I shamelessly admit that my dad did the whole project for me. But I'm still proud that he beat out all the other dads - I mean students, in the mission project. No sugar cubes for me, baby!

Demonstrators across America are demanding the arrest of this man who probably thought he was doing the world a favor by acting on his unwarranted belief that young hoodie wearing Mr. Martin was a threat to "the good people" living within the locked doors of their gated-housing complex. Mr. Zimmerman is not alone in his misperception. There is a threat to the values inherent within our society; but that threat does not come from hoodie wearing teenagers, or from Latino gangs, or from welfare-queens, or even from greedy over-extended home-buyers. The threat comes from our own most educated and able students who have become convinced that their own comfort and their need to accumulate ever-expanding wealth is the most important thing in the world and is therefore worth sacrificing every other principle.

Some of these people may even be Jewish and many of these people were involved in creating and profiting from the nefarious financial shenanigans which created the derivatives and the defaulted loans. These people are still around in governmental positions or being granted bonuses within the private sector. These guys are bright, able, and evil. So too are there kids being educated to carry on these traditions, eager to repay huge student loans and become independent of mommy and daddy.

This whole bunch should be "profiled" as a potential and present threat to basic American values. BEWARE of the young and privileged! Perhaps some of them are not-yet-evil people. Perhaps they can be reached because really we need their help and they need ours.

SOLIDARITY WITH BLACKS (The Trayvon Martin Tragedy)

As the father of three, my heart aches for the anguish The Martin family is experiencing now. Of course any death of an innocent is sad, but the premature death of a child is the unspoken fear that haunts all parents. Sadly, that fear is being born disproportionately by black Americans. What's happening in the black community is a national disgrace, but the solutions being pursued only guarantee that that the lives of future Trayvon Martins will be wasted.

Stoked by the words and appearances of Jesse Jackson, Al Sharpton and other self-proclaimed black leaders, Trayvon's death is being framed as a racial issue because visually it fits the preconceived story line of white-on-black violence. Here again, we're told, another black is killed with impunity by a white. Unfortunately for that story line, Mr. Zimmerman, the shooter, is Hispanic. Despite a white-sounding name and Caucasian appearance, his ethnicity is Hispanic. But whether Mr. Zimmerman is innocent or guilty (and that hasn't been proved yet) or whether he is white or Hispanic is not the problem deserving national attention.

The real problem is that too many blacks are dying and the causes are being totally ignored. If any good can come from Trayvon Martin's death it will be in focusing our attention on the real reasons young blacks are being cut down in the prime of their lives, and then dealing with those issues. Here are the statistics that should prompt outrage.

According to the last comprehensive study of crime by the Justice Department, one half of the nation's murder victims are black, but blacks only account for 13% of the total population in the U.S. That glaring disproportionality should disturb every reader. It is a disgrace. The reason it doesn't get the attention it commands is because 93% of those black murder victims were killed by other blacks.

So you can see why I write that Mr. Zimmerman's ethnicity is not an issue. Again, the man may not be guilty, but the moral outrage this story is generating is misplaced. Why are Americans marching in sympathy because of Trayvon's death, but not even asking questions about the other murders? Why haven't there been hundreds – even thousands – of other marches?

In 2010, 14,748 people were murdered in the U.S. Approximately 7,374 of those were black, and 6,875 of them were committed by other blacks. Only 7% were committed by someone who was white, Hispanic, Asian or "other". We do not have a problem in the U.S. of whites killing blacks. We don't have a problem of Hispanics killing blacks, or Asians or "others". We have a huge problem of blacks killing blacks.

We have some other problems which are decimating the black population, and they are being similarly ignored. Less than half of black students graduate from high school. 22% of blacks are suspended at least once from school – vs. 5% of whites. 72% of black babies are born to unwed mothers. Unemployment for blacks stands at 13% - vs. 8% for the overall population. 22% of blacks live below the poverty line.

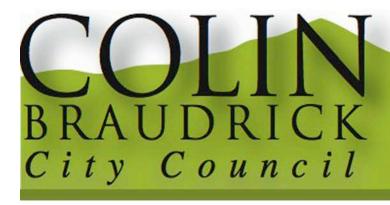

The statistics I'm citing are startling, yet readily accessible. A simple google search pulls them up. And they aren't new. Perhaps if they were new, we would be shocked by them. Because we should be shocked. If anything deserves a march, a sit-in, an occupy event, it is the pain, suffering and wasted lives which are an everyday reality in black America.

These are problems which are not being foisted on the black community by those outside the black community. The solution will not be found in the old white-vs.-black stereotypes of a previous century. The solutions are there. We all have to be concerned enough and honest enough to find them and right them, but Mr. Zimmerman's guilt or innocence is not the issue.

THE GOOD LIFE

YOGA IS JUST STRETCHING.

Influence Your Own Destiny

By Rene Quenell, Founder/Owner Yoga Madre - Sierra Madre

One of my favorite sayings from Gandhi: "Keep your words positive, because your words become your behavior.

Keep your behavior positive, because your behavior becomes your

Keep your habits positive, because your habits become your values.

Keep your values positive, because your values become your

Don't we all wish that we had started out in the world with this very philosophy?

But, alas, we have created values and destiny that we are not even aware of. Sometimes these values can make great decisions. Sometimes the values get us into trouble. The point is to become aware of what values we have created and see if they are serving us. How can a yoga asana practice help us do this?

1st - Consistency. We need a discipline to move around in - a wall to bump up against, a consistent practice to see change.

2nd - Study of the self. Learning our tendencies on the mat can help us see them off the mat. We can notice our ego, our fears, our neuroses.

3rd - Heat it up! Give it the juice it needs to change - if it needs changing - or give the good habits more juice to turn them into values.

4th - Surrender it all up. And trust that if we are doing the work - it will become our destiny to be great beings.

If you end up with a great body on your way to your new destiny - all the better!

RECOMMENDED VACCINATIONS FOR SENIORS

Dear Savvy Senior:

What types of vaccinations are recommended for seniors? I know about flu shots, but what else is recommended and what's covered by Medicare? Cheap Shot Sally

Most people think that vaccinations are just for kids, but adults, especially seniors, need their shots too. Here's a breakdown of what vaccines the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends for adults age 50 and older, and how they're covered by Medicare.

Influenza (flu): While you already know that seasonal flu shots are recommended to everyone age 50 and older, you may not know that seniors over 65 now have the option of getting a new high-potency flu vaccine instead of a regular flu shot. This vaccine - known as the Fluzone High-Dose – creates a stronger immune response for better protection. All annual flu shots are covered under Medicare Part B.

Pneumococcal: Pneumonia causes more than 40,000 deaths in the U.S. each year, many of which could be prevented by the pneumococcal polysaccharide vaccine. Everyone age 65 or older needs to get this one-time vaccination, as well as those under 65 who smoke or have chronic health conditions like asthma, lung and heart disease, diabetes, or a weakened immune system. This vaccination is also covered under Medicare Part B.

Zoster (shingles): Recommended for everyone age 60 and older, shingles is a painful, blistering skin rash that affects more than 1 million Americans each year. All Medicare Part D prescription drug plans cover this one-time vaccination, but coverage amounts and reimbursement rules vary depending on where the shot is given. Be sure you check your plan. If you aren't covered you can expect to pay between $150 and $250.

Tdap (tetanus-diphtheria-pertussis): A one-time dose of the Tdap vaccine which covers tetanus, diphtheria and pertussis (whooping cough) is now recommended to all adults. If you've already had a Tdap shot, you should return to getting a tetanus-diphtheria (Td) booster shot every 10 years. Most private health and Medicare Part D plans cover these vaccinations, but if you have to pay, they cost between $20 and $100.

MMR (measles, mumps and rubella): Anyone born during or after 1957 that is unsure about their immunization history should receive the MMR shot. A blood test can tell whether someone has had any of these diseases or has received the MMR vaccine, but a test costs approximately $100. If you're unsure about your immunity, getting a booster shot is more cost-effective (around $50 and is usually covered by insurance) and isn't harmful, even if you're already immune.

Hepatitis A: This is a two-dose series of shots recommended to adults age 50 and older that have chronic liver disease, a clotting-factor disorder, have same-sex male partners, illicit injectable drug use, or who have close contact with a hepatitis A-infected individual or who travel to areas with a high incidence of hepatitis A. These shots cost anywhere from $60 to $300, but are covered by most health and Medicare prescription drug plans.

Hepatitis B: This three-dose series is recommended to adults 50 and older who are on dialysis, have renal disease or liver disease, are sexually active with more than one partner, have a sexually transmitted disease or HIV. These vaccinations are covered under Medicare Part B.

Meningitis: Adults 55 and younger who have never been vaccinated, have had their spleen removed, have certain blood deficiencies or plan to travel to parts of the world where meningitis is common, should receive the meningococcal conjugate vaccine. Adults 56 and older should receive the polysaccharide vaccine. Covered by most health and Medicare Part D plans, this shot will cost around $100 to $150 if you have to pay out-of-pocket.

To help you get a handle on which vaccines are appropriate for you, take the CDC "What Vaccines Do You Need?" quiz at www2.cdc.gov/nip/adultimmsched. Also, talk to your doctor during your next visit about what vaccinations you should get.
