THE CHANGING FACE OF SIERRA MADRE

ONE UP...ONE TO GO! Sierra Madre Schools construction projects a complicated game of PUSD loves me, PUSD loves me not. Photos and story By Fred Thomas

On Monday April 1, 2013, Sierra Madre School's lower campus added a new wing to its facilities. This state of the art structure houses two fourth grade classrooms, all four fifth grade classes and a spectacular pre-kinder dubbed "Upperclassman Hall" by the students, this structure is a testament to building capabilities of a much maligned district facilities department.

Monday was also April Fool's Day. There is no better example of the spirit of this day than the "Joke" the district has continuously played on Sierra Madre Middle School, or "Upper Campus" as it is known. (cont. on page 8)

SIERRA MADRE

ANNOUNCING THE SIERRA MADRE ROSE FLOAT ASSOCIATION'S ENTRY FOR THE 2014 TOURNAMENT OF ROSES PARADE:

The theme of the 2014 Rose Parade* is "Dreams Come True." Sierra Madre's fun-loving float entitled "Catching the Big One" comes under the heading 'be-careful-what-you-wish-for'!

This particular fishing trip proved a little TOO successful. The catch of the day is an enormous 26-foot tall fish that dwarfs the tiny skiff below. This whimsical, animated entry will feature tens of thousands of iris, carnations and roses as well as several types of citrus. The design of this float is once again thanks to Charles Meier, Creative Director of Paradiso Parade Floats. Sierra Madre Rose Float Association Scholarship Opportunity

The Sierra Madre Rose Float Association is proud to announce its annual scholarship competition. To qualify, applicants must actively participated in one or more Sierra Madre Rose Float activity (such as fundraising, design, construction, flowering or as a past or present float rider) and must currently be a student in their senior year of high school or be a college freshman with a minimum GPA of 3.0.

Sierra Madre Police Blotter

For the period March 24-31, 2013

Tuesday March 26, 2013

A resident in the 00 block of North Mountain Trail reported that her vehicle was stolen from her carport. The victim indicated that she had friends at her residence the night before and the keys to the vehicle were now missing. The victim was unable to recall when she last saw her vehicle parked in the car port.

Thursday March 28, 2013

A resident of the 300 block of Montecito Avenue filed a police report alleging that her ex-boyfriend called and threatened to kill her. The threat took place during an argument over child visitation. During the investigation, officers managed to contact the ex-boyfriend. He denied making the threat and stated the victim was making up the entire incident. The investigation is on-going.

At 8:30am, a solo vehicle traffic collision took place in the 400 block of Santa Anita Court. The vehicle was proceeding east on Santa Anita Court when it drifted to the right, travelled over the curb and collided with a tree. The momentum caused the vehicle to roll over onto its roof. The driver complained of pain caused by the deployment of the vehicle air bag and received medical treatment. The driver admitted that he became distracted when he was attempting to plug in his cell phone.

Friday March 29, 2013

At 8pm, a resident in the 100 block of North Lima Avenue parked his vehicle at the curb and went inside. Two hours later he returned to his vehicle and discovered that the left side of the car was damaged. The investigation revealed that an unknown vehicle side-swiped that parked car, leaving scape marks and destroying the side view mirror. The party at fault left the scene without making contact with the other party or leaving contact information on the damaged vehicle.

Saturday March 30, 2013

At 1:45pm, officers responded to a report of domestic violence in the 400 block of East Laurel Avenue. The person reporting stated that her husband of three years came home intoxicated and began an argument. During the argument, the husband allegedly slapped a cell phone out of her hand and then struck her with his shoulder. The husband (male 28 years of age) was arrested for Battery and booked at Pasadena PD Jail.

At 4:45pm, officers responded to a report of a vehicle being driven erratically on Sierra Madre Boulevard. The officers located the vehicle stopped for the stop sign at Sunnyside Avenue and Sierra Madre Boulevard and observed that the driver appeared to be unconscious. The officers detained the driver and determined he was under the influence of an unknown drug. The investigation revealed fresh traffic collision damage on the right side of the vehicle suggesting that the driver collided with an object prior to the reporting party calling in her observations. The driver (male 57 years of age) was arrested for DUI.

Five hikers Found Safe in Eaton Canyon

By Dean Lee

Search and rescue teams headed out Friday morning looking for five hikers reported missing in Eaton Canyon —the same location a 17-year-old girl was killed and two other rescued while hiking two weeks ago.

According to reports, The Los Angeles County Sheriff's and Altadena Search and Rescue started the search around 8 a.m. after the father of one of the hikers reported his daughter missing at 7 a.m.

Dense fog in the area hampered rescue efforts limiting the search by helicopter.

All five hikers were found safe. Deputies said search efforts on the ground focused on the areas around the two waterfalls in the canyon. The group was located around 11 a.m. at the second waterfall.

It was first thought the group, all in their 20's, set out Thursday morning for a day hike and repelling. The trip was planned overnight and a misunderstanding led one parent to become concerned when the group did not return according to deputies.

Rescue officials said the group had food and water with them. They were escorted out of the canyon.

Last week the Sheriff's Department Search and Rescue Team members circulated a video on YouTube of the danger in the area, "(The Dangers of the) Eaton Canyon Waterfall - Don't believe the false information --- There is no safe trail to the second

SENIORS BEWARE: GRANDPARENTS' SCAM STILL GOING STRONG

Last year, I read an article about a "Grandparents' Scam. What happened was grandparents would receive an urgent frantic call from a grandchild saying they were in a terrible bind and needed money immediately. It could be $1000 and even more! Sometimes the grandchild was away at college and therefore the call seemed believable, so the grandparent believed the story. I could imagine receiving a call like that and it would be terribly upsetting. Many people were duped by this.

I hadn't heard about this lately until I stopped to visit a friend after her daughter's untimely death. She told me about this terrible phone call she received. The caller pretended to be her granddaughter and said she was picked up for drunk driving and was going to be put into jail if she didn't wire money for the fine. The girl was so hysterical, my friend actually could NOT rule out it wasn't her granddaughter! Luckily her granddaughter lives in the front house, so a quick walk to the front ended her fears. Also my friend was told to mail the money to Mexico which didn't make sense as the caller was supposedly calling from New York City.

When I stopped to visit another elderly friend, I told her what happened. She said she received a similar call. What is so crazy is that my second friend doesn't even have grandchildren. Her only son was killed by a drunk driver probably 30+ years ago! The caller said, "Grandma, you know who this is." The caller was trying to get my friend to say the name of her grandchild, but she couldn't. She had no grandkids!

Please be leery of any phone calls like this. It's sad these people prey on unsuspecting folks' emotions.

THE ESBIT POCKET STOVE -Reincarnated!

By Christopher Nyerges

[Nyerges is the author of "How to Survive Anywhere," "Self-Sufficient Home," and other books. He leads self-sufficiency classes, and does a weekly podcast at Preparedness Radio Network. He can be reached at School of Self-reliance, Box 41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041 or www.ChristopherNyerges.com]

At least 40 years ago, we all had to get the little Esbit pocket stove for our camping trips. They were made in Germany, but you could obtain them at some of the various camping supply stores that were more common back then. The entire stove is just a little larger than a pack of cigarettes, and it folds open so that the two "doors" become "legs." You set the stove on the ground or a sturdy surface, and when open the bottom is just a little off the ground, so there's an air space underneath. You add a little fuel tab, and you rest your metal cook pot on the top. It was ingenious, small, lightweight. You hardly knew it was there.

When you purchased one of these little Esbit stoves, it came with little fuel tabs, probably trioxane. One tab was enough to bring a cup of water to a boil.

But as campers with no money, we never bought fuel. We'd just stuff some twigs into the Esbit cooker, light them, and cook some soup or tea in a metal Sierra cup. Sometimes we just cooked in an old soup can. I've used my Esbit stove in the desert, in the mountains, and even in the parking lots of rest areas in California and Arizona!

In the last four decades, we've seen some amazing high-tech gear for the campers and backpackers. At a recent self-reliance and survival shows in Utah, I've seen no less than six new high-tech cookers, all very useful and - very expensive. There are many variations of the original Esbit cooker, generally which go by the name of "tommy cookers."

Never being a fan of heavy, bulky, expensive gear, I've never bought into many of the new products that flood the marketplace. Of course I do have a few such stoves, and they are great to store in your garage in case I ever have to cook in my backyard after an emergency. I have used mine in the backyard many times.

Getting back to the Esbit. I didn't even know the company was still around, until I got one of the latest Esbit stoves to test. This time, it's not the tiny stick-in-your-pocket cooker. But it's the same stove on steroids.

The new Esbit stove is bigger, a bit too bulky for most backpackers, but ideal to stick in the car for camping, or to keep handy for home emergencies.

It measures 13 " deep, 10" wide, and 4 inches high. It weighs around five pounds. It won't fit into your pocket but it would fit into your trunk. I don't think anyone would backpack with it, though you might just carry the grill along.

We tried cooking on the large Esbit cooker during an expedition to the local mountains, and found it to be convenient to use and easy to pack back up.

I was with a group and Francisco Loaiza and his son Benjamin – mostly his son Benjamin (a recent Eagle Scout) – did most of the cooking.

While everyone agreed that they'd not carry this stove backpacking, it seemed ideal for the cookout for three to five people where a convenient stove in the trunk is just the thing.

According to Francisco Loaiza, "I like the fact that it is constructed of stainless steel, and would resist rusting and I like how it folds up to a nice compact size. Some other barbecues are oddly shaped" and would be more cumbersome to pack neatly. This is a basic box shape as opposed to the round mini barbecues I have used in the past."

We both liked the charcoal bag which allows you to neatly carry charcoal, and pack it within the stove.

Though this Esbit stove might be a bit small for a large group, it's fine for a small family barbeque, car-camping, and emergency backyard use. It's built of stainless steel, compact, and neatly fits into a convenient carrying case. Loaiza and I both noted that some stoves of this category have covers, which would allow one to use the stove as an oven. Though this new Esbit stove has no cover, one could easily be fabricated with aluminum foil.

Esbit stoves are exclusively distributed in the U.S. by Industrial Revolution, whose web site is http://www.industrialrev.com/esbit.

ASTEROID EXOPLORER HAYABUSA2 MESSAGE CAMPAIGN

You Can Send a Message to an Asteroid

The Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency (JAXA) is scheduled to launch the asteroid explorer "Hayabusa2" on the H-IIA Launch Vehicle in 2014. The spacecraft will arrive at an asteroid in 2018 to investigate it for one and a half years—and to leave there a collection of messages from the general public—before returning to Earth in 2020.

JAXA will record and load names, messages and illustrations, from those wishing to participate, on the craft's onboard devices—the target marker and the reentry capsule. The target marker is a marking device that will be dispatched from Hayabusa2 when the spacecraft lands on the asteroid. The marker will remain on the asteroid after the craft's re-entry capsule departs for its return to Earth.

The final stage of the Hayabusa2 mission will be a sample return. The craft will attempt to collect and bring back sand from the asteroid for study, with the goal of elucidating the origin and evolution of the solar system and learning more about the raw materials of life.

The re-entry capsule will be detached from the Hayabusa2 main body to return to Earth while protecting sample sands from the asteroid from high heat at the time of re-entry to Earth's atmosphere. The capsule plays the last important role for the Hayabusa2 mission by carrying sand back from the asteroid.

The asteroid probe "Hayabusa," launched by JAXA in 2003, was a project designed to demonstrate various exploration technologies, looking toward the beginning of the age of round-trip exploration in the solar system. The chosen destination was "Itokawa," an asteroid of only 500m diameter. Combining an Earth swingby and use of ion propulsion engines in a unique way for cruising, the probe reached this unexplored body and showed us a marvelous world beyond our imagination. Hayabusa provided the first close-up look at a Near Earth Object

An improved version of the original Hayabusa probe, Hayabusa2 will visit a small asteroid whose orbit is similar to that of Itokawa, but whose composition is quite different. The target body of Hayabusa2 will be a C-type asteroid, considered to contain more organic or hydrated materials than S-type asteroids like Itokawa. What types of organic materials exist in the solar system, and is there any relation to life on Earth? The mission will challenge these questions.

The following details are provided for those interested in sending a message to the asteroid:

Campaign name:

"Let's meet with Le Petit Prince! Million Campaign 2"

Campaign period: From April 10 through July 16, 2013.

Items you can send:

Names, messages, collection of messages, and illustrations, which will be recorded and loaded onto Hayabusa2. How you can apply: Please refer to the following JAXA website:

http://www.jspec.jaxa.jp/e/hottopics/20130329.html

Through this message campaign and Hayabusa2's six-year space mission, JAXA hopes to increase worldwide public understanding of Japan's space probe activities.

Hayabusa2 illustration? Akihiro Ikeshita

Incidentally, the phrase "Let's meet with Le Petit Prince!" in the campaign's name is derived from French author Antoine de Saint-Exupery's classic story, Le Petit Prince (The Little Prince), in which the Prince is depicted as living on an asteroid.

For the Hayabusa2 project outline and mission overview, please refer to the following site: http:// www.jaxa.jp/projects/sat/hayabusa2/index_e.html

SOBRIETY & DRIVER'S LICENSE CHECKPOINT

The Arcadia Police Department Traffic Bureau will staff a sobriety and driver's license checkpoint during the evening hours of Saturday, April 6th 2013.

The goal of our collective enforcement efforts this weekend is to promote public safety and increase awareness of the dangers associated with drinking and driving. This will be accomplished by providing a highly visible enforcement and publicity campaign, in order to deter intoxicated drivers from getting behind the wheel and driving. Through these efforts, we also seek to reduce the number of injuries and deaths associated with collisions involving intoxicated drivers.

We would like to remind the public of the dangers associated with drinking and driving. It simply is not worth it to drive while impaired. Be responsible and use a sober designated driver. Remember, "Friends don't let friend's drive while impaired."

Additionally, during the entire month of April officers nationwide will be on the lookout for distracted drivers. Studies show that texting while driving can delay a driver's reaction time just as severely as having a blood alcohol content of a legally drunk driver.

Studies also show that there is no difference in the risks between hands-free and hand-held cell phone conversations, both of which can result in "inattention blindness" which occurs when the brain isn't seeing what is clearly visible because the drivers' focus is on the phone conversation and not on the road. When over one third of your brain's functioning that should be on your driving moves over to cell phone talking, you can become a cell phone "zombie."

Jan's Towing provides a no cost "Don't Drive Drunk" detour program, 365 days a year, and will provide a free lift home for drivers and their vehicles up to 7 miles in their service area. Call (626) 334-1383 for more information. Don't forget to visit the Arcadia Police Department News & Information Blog or follow us on Facebook, Twitter or Nixle for other pertinent news and information. Remember, the solution begins with you!

HÔNG KONG SUPERMARKET

By Joan Schmidt

The Hong Kong Supermarket at Sixth and Duarte Roads is officially open. In fact they had a Grand Opening a while back.

One Sunday, after Mass, I decided to check the Market out and had a good time. They had all kinds of samples-such as dumplings, noodles, peanuts, coffee and more! I stopped a few customers, including Lei Zhang and her mom, Dong Hang Liu, to get their input. Everyone I spoke to seemed

The Market has ALL kinds of food. Obviously there are several varieties of Asian food from China, Japan, Korea, the Philippines and Thailand. There was quite a variety of fresh produce. I saw, "Asian pears" which always brings a smile to my face. We called them, "Korean pears" because we always bought them at the Bong Duct Dong Market in Taegu, Korea! There was a melon-type fruit called "Jack fruit" and it was from Thailand. But it was very interesting. In the "sweet aisle", they had "Black Slab" sugar besides our traditional cane sugar and brown sugar. I passed a display of French and Danish cookies- the tins everyone buys at Christmas. In the frozen food department, not only was there Dreyers Ice Cream, but also Green Tea and Red Bean flavored ice Cream. In Korea, beans were used as "fillers" I bought popsicles for my kids thinking it was chocolate on the inside, but it was red bean. They also had pastries with a bean-type filling. If you are looking for an interesting grocery experience, be sure to try the Hong Kong Supermarket at Sixth Avenue and Duarte Road in

On April 1 at 1:00 p.m., dispatch received a call regarding a theft that occurred in the 500 block of West Huntington. A male suspect entered the business and selected merchandise and walked into the dressing room. The suspect then cut security sensors off the merchandise and concealed them on his person. The suspect was seen exiting the business and getting into the driver's side of a vehicle. Further investigation led to a residence in Covina, where the vehicle was located and the stolen property was recovered. Suspect is still outstanding. Investigation continuing.

Vandalism -Suspect Arrested

On April 1 at 10:22 p.m., officers responded to the rear parking lot in the 100 block of South Myrtle regarding a male subject vandalizing a dumpster. Officers arrived and detained a subject that fit the description. The officer contacted the witness and conducted a field show up. The witness positively identified the subject and the subject was arrested for misdemeanor vandalism.

Mental Evaluation

On April 2 at 6:33 p.m., officers were dispatched to the 1800 block of South Peck Road regarding a male subject trying to hurt himself. The male subject was detained and taken to a hospital, where he was placed on a 72 hour hold for mental evaluation.

Trespass / Receiving Stolen Property - Suspect Arrested

On April 2 at 10:00 p.m., officers responded to the 300 block of West Huntington regarding subjects loitering near the front door of the business, possibly panhandling. They contacted a known subject that has a "No Trespass" authorization against him. A pat down search revealed he had a stolen GPS from a vehicle. The suspect was arrested for receiving stolen property and trespassing.

Detective Bureau Case Follow-up Murder - Suspect Sentenced

On August 29, 2004, a murder occurred in the South alley of the 200 block of West Olive at approximately 12:56 p.m. Two male gang members got into a verbal altercation with one gang member shooting the other and killing him.

This case went unsolved for many years and was assigned as a cold case to Detective Levin of the Monrovia Police Department. Detective Levin has been working with the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department Homicide Bureau on this case. Through hard work and investigation by Detective Levin and Sheriff's Department investigators a suspect was identified in this case.

Investigators identified witnesses to this crime and worked to build enough information and evidence to file the case with the District Attorney's Office. The District Attorney's Office filed charges against the Monrovia Nuevo Varrio gang member who committed this crime.

After years of investigative work and good work by the District Attorney prosecuting this case, on April 2, 2013, the suspect was found guilty of first-degree murder along with the firearms enhancement. The suspect is facing a minimum of 50 years to life in state prison.

This case is an example of a terrific collaborative effort between Monrovia Police investigators, Sheranother violent gang member who victimized our community.

Think Together and Imagination Now -Resources for our Schools

At a recent meeting, The Duarte Kiwanis Club hosted two women from remarkable organizations - Anne Turner, Executive Director of Think Together for Los Angeles County and Cheryl Russell Founder and Executive Director of Imagination Now. Both organizations provide needed resources to the children of Southern California. THINK Together's mission is to provide high-quality, academically oriented out-of-school programs for students regardless of race, creed, or socioeconomic status. Since its inception in 1994, THINK (Teaching, Helping, Inspiring and Nurturing Kids) Together has been committed to improving academic outcomes for children and youth living in under-resourced communities. THINK Together is already participating and partnering with the Duarte Unified School District with programs in a number of elementary schools. Anne Turner was able to share some of the remarkable successes that are happening in the THINK Together programs.

Imagination Now was established to fuel the future success of children with educational programs that encourage them to dream big, think outside the box and believe they can create positive experiences in their lives at school, at home and beyond. Programs target primary grade children in schools and other institutions at no cost to ignite imagination, inspire creative expression and increase empowered behavior. Imagination Now offers presentations in classrooms and other settings using books as a teaching tool. Cheryl Russell was able to share the successes Imagination Now has already seen in various elementary school classrooms as well. All in all, it was very inspirational and an opportunity for the Duarte Kiwanis Club to network resources within the Duarte Community. LOVE ME, LOVE ME NOT

Whereas the lower campus project is complete, the upper campus still sits in an ecosystem of weeds and brush. To add insult to injury, what was originally designed to be a shining beacon on the hill, will look more like faded remnants of broken promises. A sharp reminder that what is right is not necessarily politically expedient. And when the two are set to collide, politically expedient wins a majority of the time.

To offset declining state funds and the rise in construction costs, PUSD has put the campus design through a series of cuts. Most of the items being removed are cosmetic in design and function. No field upgrades, a significant change in the cooling system and changes in the rainwater runoff barriers. According to the project manager Frasier Thompson, the district is committed to building the upper campus in so far as the price tag does not exceed $27 million. The first round of construction bids came in at $29 million and were promptly rejected by PUSD, much to the bewilderment of the community. The objective of this current project overhaul is to remove uncertainty in the RFP, which leads to padding/overestimates by the contractors.

In short, the middle school continues to sit dormant, in a state of aesthetic and functional deficiency. The gorgeous façade of the new wing at the lower campus is in stark contrast to the construction fence-lined walkway students are forced to negotiate at the upper campus. As for now, all assurances from the project leaders point towards a bid process to begin over the next several weeks, with groundbreaking to occur sometime this summer. It's a recurring "April Fool's joke at which that no one is laughing.

SKILLZ SUMMER SCHOOL VALIDATES THE POWER OF RELATIONSHIPS!

"Love + support + high expectations + credits = a winning formula for teen success" is the recipe the SKILLZ Summer School planning partners believed in when developing a free, innovative summer school program in Pasadena three years ago to assist teens most at-risk of dropping out of school. By completing a mix of life skills workshops and academic classes, the students can earn up to ten school credits toward graduation. In addition to improving school success, SKILLZ helps increase the students' confidence, motivation and social skills. Spearheaded by Flintridge Center, in collaboration with Day One, Lake Avenue Community Foundation and the Pasadena Unified School District (PUSD), the five-week program has served more than 300 students to date.

Last year's SKILLZ program served over sixty 9th and 10th graders. From participating students, 41% reported having a GPA of less than 1.5 in the last semester. At the end of SKILLZ, 40% reported trying much harder than during the regular school year because they felt "cared for." 67% of students reported that quality of teaching in SKILLZ academic classes (Math and English) were very effective due to smaller classrooms and specialized attention. A student from Room 201 stated, "SKILLZ staff doesn't like us – they love us and believe in us!" As a result, one third of students reported realizing their potential and ability to do well in school if they tried.

"SKILLZ is a great example of how love, high expectations, and genuine relationships with students can make a difference. Each and every student goes through an interview process that allows us to better understand why they didn't pass the first time and how we can support their success. Students shared openly and honestly. The answers ranged from not having insurance to cover eye glasses, to not having time to do homework due to being responsible for younger siblings at home. It's amazing how just taking 5 minutes to understand what the kids were going through empowered us to better support their needs and agree on working as a team towards their success." shared Day One Executive Director, Christy Zamani.

Currently, SKILLZ 2013 is in the works! To find out more information about ways to get involved, starting date and offered classes, please visit Day One's website at www.dayonepasadena.org.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show

Movie Reviews Especially for Teens & 'Tweens G.I. JOE RETALIATION

G.I. Joe: Retaliation Review After seeing G.I. Joe: The Rise of Cobra, I was greatly looking forward to the sequel that I knew was coming and, I am pleased to say, that Retaliation is exactly what I was looking for.

The Joe's are sent off on a covert mission to rescue a nuke from Pakistan, but end up taking the blame for the assassination of the middle eastern country's leader. Their base is attacked, leaving only Roadblock (Dwayne Johnson), Flint (D.J. Cotrona), and Jaye (Adrianne Palicki) to lead a strike on the world's greatest terrorist group, Cobra.

While the dialogue is stilted at points and the acting is mediocre, the plot, story development, and action scenes remain this movie franchise's high points. Overall, this is an enjoyable and entertaining movie, but can be missed if one is not a big fan of the series.

Ever flaked out on an appointment, made a reservation and didn't show. I for one never write anything down and up until now it has done me just fine, you know the feeling -- sitting at a coffee shop waiting to catch up with a friend that you haven't seen for awhile, tick tock they are twenty minutes late so you text them, and they respond "oh, I forgot, how about a rain check?". Now you remember why it is that you don't make plans with that person.

The Hospitality Industry makes their plan how many people to hire and to have working a certain shift by history - you know, how busy we are usually on a certain date or with how many reservations. The issue of no-shows has plagued many different industries that rely on reservation or appointment-type processes. Everything from the restaurant to healthcare to commercial airline industry has had to come up with solutions to this problem in order to remain both profitable and customer-service oriented. A MOTHER AND DAUGHTER'S CULI-NARY JOURNEY THROUGH LIFE, LOVE, AND LASAGNA

Sierra Madre, CA — January 15, 2013 — When San Marino hairstylist Marinella Pollo entertained the idea of writing a cookbook of family recipes from her mother's kitchen, clients jumped on board and YOU NEVER GROW OLD AT THE DINNER TABLE took flight. This cookbook will not only teach you how to cook, but have you laughing and crying over stories of Italian tradition and a mother's devotion to her family. Selling out in only three weeks, a second printing of YOU NEVER GROW OLD AT THE DINNER TABLE is now available at Vroman's Bookstore, Claro's Italian Markets, and other retailers listed on the website www. spadabooks.com.

The most important message behind my book is how the power of a mother's love and the strength of family have been the constants in my life that have driven me to pursue new adventures with enthusiasm and no fear of failing. If I'm happy, my family is happy," said Pollo. "Another amazing aspect of this book project was the education on writing, self-publishing, and social media I received. It was minutes away from home at my local community college," Pollo said with enthusiasm, now adding author to her life as a hairstylist, student, teacher, and business owner.

"The way you have written your book has inspired me to be in the kitchen with confidence and enthusiasm. My husband is amazed by the transformation of my attitude about cooking! I feel like I have found a mentor in the kitchen and a friend of my heart." — Carrie George, author The Waiting Room

Marinella Pollo is currently scheduled for a local author book signing event at Vroman's Bookstore (695 East Colorado Boulevard, Pasadena) on Sunday, April 7, 2013, at 4:00 p.m. She also will be attending her hometown annual Wisteria Festival to promote her book on Sunday, March 17, 2013, at 10:00 a.m., at Savor the Flavor, Spe-

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

WHY DID THE CAT CROSS THE ROAD? Applying Hi-Technology To Track Your Kitty Cat

It never ceases to amaze me, how innovative and creative some people can be when it comes to finding the best ways to care for their pets. One caring and very curious cat owner in the United Kingdom really went all the way to make sure his four-legged friend was within his watchful eye, when he came up with a tracking device that can be attached to a kitty's collar to remotely monitor its activities. For good reason, he was determined to know exactly where his cat was spending its time when it wandered away from home.

Father of two, resident of Marlborough, Wiltshire in the UK, Dave Evans is a uniquely creative cat-loving inventor who was prompted to come up with a mobile electronic cat mapping device, when his own curiosity caused him to wonder where his cat was wandering when it virtually vanished for days at a time, returning home on each occasion with an evergrowing girth. He noticed that his furry feline friend was getting fatter following each long-term trip to who-knew-where for more than a few nights at a time, so he finally decided to apply his knowledge of basic GPS technology to creating an invention that would help him find out why his venturous cat was getting so darn fat. The cat tracking device Evans designed is small and light enough to be attached to a kitty's collar, and the minute electronics inside allow for remote tracking that can be viewed through Google maps. Apparently there is now even a new app design under way that can be downloaded to your smart phone to help you keep track of your cat while you, yourself are away from home! Imagine that!

Now, most of us are familiar with the term "cat-nap", right? But who knew the term "cat-map" could soon become a household word for a well-known means of tracking a kitty's activities during its nights out on the town? Our funny feline friends just love to wander about and explore the great outdoors, and most of us want to give them at least a little leeway to roam, but sometimes cats get a bit too curious about what might be going on down the road, and they just can't resist the urge to venture further than they should for their own good.

That's why the concept of Dave Evans' cat mapping device is sure to become popular among pet lovers, globally. How does it work? Well, the device is affixed to the cat's collar and records the various locations to which the little rascal wanders while away, night or day. When the cat returns home, the device is removed from its collar and plugged into the computer via a USB port connector. That's when the owner (aka, virtual voyeur) can view all the cat's previous comings and goings as they are depicted on Google Earth satellite images on-line. Kind of crazy, eh? But who isn't curious enough to want to know where their cat goes when it's not at home?

What Dave Evans found out about his whimsical, wonderful wandering feline friend was that it had been visiting their neighbors on a regular basis, and presumably being fed by all his other human friends who lived nearby. Basically, that cat was sneaking off to fatten itself up, slowly but surely. How funny is that cat? Evans gave his state-of-the-art cat-tracker the easy-to-remember moniker of "G-Paws", and says the device will be soon available for purchase by all other curious caring cat owners across the globe (CNN, London). Be sure to keep your eye out for release of this remarkable new pet pampering product. As residents of an area where we share our space with coyotes and other wildlife predators, it wouldn't surprise me if this product quickly becomes a new favorite on the list of pet accessories for our furry four-legged friends!

THE GOODLIFE HOW TO CHOOSE A MEDIGAP SUPPLEMENTAL POLICY

I'll be 65 in a few months – Medicare enrollment age and am thinking about getting a Medicare supplemental policy to help cover things outside of Medicare. Can you give me some advice on choosing a plan? Shopping Sam

Dear Sam:

If you're planning to choose original Medicare for your health coverage, getting a supplemental policy too (also known as Medigap insurance) is a good idea if you can afford it, because it will help pay for things that aren't covered by Medicare like copayments, coinsurance and deductibles. Here are some tips and tools to help you choose an appropriate plan for you.

Medigap Plans Medigap policies, which are sold by private health insurers, come in 10 standardized benefit packages labeled as the letters A, B, C, D, F, G, K, L, M and N.

Plan F is the most popular, followed by plan C because they provide the most comprehensive coverage. Plans M and N, the two newest options, are cost sharing plans that have cheaper premiums which make them appealing to healthier retirees who don't use as much health care.

If, however, you live in Massachusetts, Minnesota or Wisconsin you have different standardized Medigap plans that you can buy. For more information on the different types of plans, call Medicare at 800-633-4227 and ask them to mail you a free copy of the "Choosing a Medigap Policy" guide (publication 02110), or see medicare.gov/pubs/pdf/02110.pdf.

To choose a policy, consider your health status and family medical history. The differences among plans can be small and rather confusing so you'll need to do some homework to pick a plan that works best

To help you choose, use the Medigap online search tool at medicare.gov, and click on "Supplements & Other Insurance" at the top of the page, then on "How to Compare Medigap Policies." This tool will breakdown what each plan covers along with premium cost ranges, and lists the companies that offer

Since all Medigap policies with the same letter must cover the exact same benefits, you should shop for the cheapest policy.

You'll get the best price if you sign up within six months after enrolling in Medicare Part B. During this open-enrollment period, an insurer cannot refuse to sell you a policy or charge you more because of your health.

You also need to be aware of the three pricing methods which will affect your costs. Medigap policies are usually sold as either "attained-age" policies which are premiums that start low but increase as you get older. "Issue-age" policies that increase prices due to inflation, not age. These policies may start out a little more expensive than attained-age policies but generally have few rate increases over time. And "community-rate" policies, where everyone in an area is charged the same premium regardless of age. Issue-age and community-rated policies will usually save you money in the long-run.

No Drug Coverage

You also need to know that Medigap policies do not cover prescription drugs, so if you don't have drug coverage, you need to consider buying a separate Medicare Part D drug plan too. You can compare plans and cost at medicare.gov/find-a-plan. Also note that Medigap plans do not cover vision or dental care, hearing aids or long-term care, either.

Instead of getting original Medicare, plus a Medigap policy and a separate Part D drug plan, you could sign up for a Medicare Advantage plan that provides all-in-one coverage. These plans, which are sold by insurance companies, are generally available through HMOs and PPOs. To find and compare Advantage plans visit medicare.gov/find-a-plan.

If you need help, contact your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP), which provides free Medicare counseling. See shiptalk.org, or call 800-677-1116 to locate a counselor in your area.

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

By Pat Birdsall

Volunteering:

Seniors who volunteer not only help society, but themselves as well. Seniors have a great deal of knowledge and experience, and sharing that with younger people is traditional role for seniors in society. By volunteering, seniors become more engaged in their world and reap health benefits to boot. Until recently, those health benefits have been hard to define or list. Researchers with AARP's Experience Corps, an organization that trains people over 55 to tutor children, learned that seniors who volunteered were found to have better mental and physical functioning, along with better selfesteem and connectivity with other people. Add to those; a lower risk of depression, less decline in health due to aging, improvement in memory, and a feeling that overall, life is improving. To find out more about the Experience Corps go to: www.experience.com Experience Corps is an excellent program, but is by no means the only way to get those benefits. The key ingredients are engaging with other people, meeting new people, doing meaningful work and challenging yourself!

HELPFUL HINT: Can you reuse pickle juice? Absolutely! Slice some onions thinly, throw them in the jar and you'll love them on salads, sandwiches or hamburgers.

FOR YOUR FUNNY BONE

Enclosed is my 2005 tax return showing that I owe $3,407.00 in taxes. Please note the attached article from USA Today, wherein you see that the Pentagon is paying $171.50 for hammers...and NASA has paid $600.00 for a toilet seat. I am enclosing four toilet seats (value $2400.00) and six hammers (value $1.029.00), bringing my total remitted to $3,429.00. Please apply the overpayment of $22.00 to the "Presidential Election Fund," as noted on my return. You can do this inexpensively by sending them one 1.5" Phillips Head screw (article from USA Today detailing how HUD pays $22.00 for each 1.5" Philips Head screws is enclosed for your convenience.) It has been a pleasure to pay my tax bill this year, and I look forward to paying again next year. Sincerely, a Satisfied Tax Payer.

HEALTHY LIFESTYLES

HOW CAN YOGA HELD

PEACEFULNESS WITHIN

Have you ever have a thought that runs around in your head causing restlessness? Or an antsy feeling that you cannot shake? Maybe just a lack of focus that leaves you moving from one task to the next with out really getting anything done? The clear remedy is meditation. But how can you posssibly meditate at a time like that? You can't even sit still. Well, at least this is my problem. When I have something on my mind it is impossible to get settled and clear. In yoga the way we look at this is that our prana, or energy, is dispersed. We need to collect and direct the energy then focus.

Thank heaves there is a quick solution to this. First, notice how you feel then start in Tadasana (mountain pose), standing. Distribute the weight evenly through your feet side to side, front to back. Engage your front thighs and drop your tail bone toward the floor. Pull your belly in, draw your shoulders on to your back and feel the crown of your head move up to the sky. The whole body is active. The eyes stare at a spot. Smooth the breath. With the body still as a mountain, continue to smooth and refine your breath. See if you can now make the exhale longer than the inhale. Maybe count the inhale for 3 and exhale for 6. Do this for several rounds of breath. Now inhale your arms up to the sky and swan dive out over your legs, bending your knees until you touch the floor. Keep this same breath pattern, careful not to pull on your low back. Stay for 5 breaths, still with the exhale twice as long. Inhale all the way back rolling one bone at a time, knees bent. Stand in mountain pose again. Keep all of your attention on this breath. Do this whole thing 5 times. You could do it seated as well, folding at the hips. Just make sure there is no strain in your back. Keep the back straight and the shoulder blades together, knees bent. Then notice how you feel. You should have more peace with in. The energy should be a little better.

Imagine how it could be after a whole class. Pay attention and notice the differences. They are profound. These are the first steps to finding peace within. You have to master the energy. It's all up

See you in class. Namasté, René

HOWARD Hays As I See It

"Everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but not his own facts." Sen. Dániel Moynihan (D-NY)

When bumping into Stuart Tolchin at literary gatherings (get-togethers at Susan's place), I appreciate his compliments on my "research". Not to engage in false modesty, but googling on the internet is a far cry from school nights at the library, with notepad

It's so easy online, there's no excuse for not checking to verify "facts" behind opinion blogs. I employed that "raw data" approach in my column last week addressing the "defense of marriage"; finding that strong marriages are most prevalent in areas that embrace marriage equality, while the highest divorce rates are found in areas that don't.

The problem is that I often come across research I'm unable to apply to a particular column, but that I want to share anyway before it gets old – especially when it conflicts with popular talking points. Here are some examples:

With the Affordable Care Act due to kick in next year, there's worry about how it might affect costs - but a new report from the International Federation of Health Plans shows us what we're spending now. The average price of a routine doctor's visit in the U.S. is $95. In both France and Canada, it's

A hospital stay averages $4,287 a day in the U.S., while it's $853 in France and $731 in the Netherlands. The average coronary bypass surgery cost is $73,420 in the U.S. It's $17,729 in Switzerland and $14,117 in the U.K. The average cost for normal delivery of a baby (FedEx and UPS figures not available) is $9,775 in the U.S.; $3,541 in France, $2,641 in the U.K. and $2,669 in the Netherlands. Australia and the U.K. spend a little less than 10% of their GDP on healthcare. In Canada, Switzerland and France it's a little more than 11%. In the U.S. it's nearly 18%.

The research firm 24/7 Wall St. compared per capita healthcare spending among the highest spenders: France spends $3,798 per capita, Canada $4,478, the Netherlands, $4,914 and for the U.S. its $7,960. As to what that gets us, the U.S. has the worst life expectancy in the group – and is the only one without universal coverage.

Also in the news is the NRA's push to have armed guards in schools. A 2012 study by the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control shows that 98% of violent death among youth occurs outside of school; schools remain among the safest places for kids to be, and their safety record is improving. The National Center for Education Statistics reports that schools with armed personnel have higher rates of violent crime than similar schools that don't – and reminds us that armed guards at both Columbine and Virginia Tech did little to prevent those tragedies.

There's debate over what effect universal background checks would have on gun violence. In 2007, Missouri repealed their background check law (on the books since 1921). According to a recent Johns Hopkins Center study, from 2008 through 2012, gun homicides decreased by 10% nationwide and by 5% in other Midwest states. In Missouri, they increased by 25%, marked by a flood of newly-purchased guns.

As Congress returns, there'll be more scary talk of the impending debt crisis as baby-boomers retire. Economist Dean Baker crunched the numbers in an article for the Center for Economic and Policy Research. The situation is nothing new. The ratio of workers to retirees fell from 5 to 1 in the early 1960s to 3 to 1 thirty years later, but living standards for both workers and retirees increased nonetheless. The reason is that along with changing demographics came increased worker productivity. Now, with the ratio projected to drop from 3 to 1 to two workers for every retiree over the next 23 years, all it would take to make up for it is a worker productivity increase of 1% a year – a rate far lower than at any time in the post-war era.

Here's more research to befuddle the right: the International Monetary Fund reports that at the end of 2012 the austerity-driven European economies shrunk by 0.2%, while following the stimulus under President Obama, ours grew by 2.9%. A study by the Institute on Taxation and Economic Policy shows that states levying personal income taxes "including the states with the highest top tax rates, have seen more economic growth per capita and less decline in their median income level over the last ten years than the nine states that do not tax income."

There are talking points about what teens should and shouldn't be taught, and there are facts. The Guttmacher Institute released a study of sex education by state, which compares with their 2008 study on teen pregnancy rates. Nine of the ten states with the highest teen pregnancy rates mandate a focus on abstinence in sex education class. Only two of the ten states with the lowest teen pregnancy

Tragically, another trend was brought to light in a recent study by the Centers for Disease Control - that new instances of HIV infection are concentrated in the deep south, in particular those states where there's no requirement for education about HIV, and in some cases no requirement for sex education of any kind, in schools.

On a local level, a report from the NYC health commissioner showed teen pregnancy in the city dropping by 27% over the past decade, and he explains, "It shows that when you make condoms and contraception available to teens, they don't increase their likelihood of being sexually active. But they get the message that sex is risky."

One more finding: Articles in "liberal" sites ("Think Progress", "Media Matters") are filled with links encouraging you to check out original source material, studies, reports, etc. Articles in "conservative" sites ("Newsmax", "Daily Caller") don't have those links – hoping you'll just take their word for whatever. That's from my own research – you can draw your own conclusions.

THE PLOWHORSE STRUGGLES GREG Welborn ONWARD

You won't hear this announcement from the White House, but last week's unemployment claims shot up by 385,000 new claims - well beyond expectations. The statistic is just another in a growing sea of statistics evidencing the anemic rate of this recovery. Historically, there more severe the recession, the more pronounced and rapid the recovery. This one is not fitting the historical norm, and one of the reasons is Obamacare.

Obamacare is being rolled out in phases, but the affects of the rollout influence behavior in advance. Companies that know they're going to have to pay more start to make adjustments to raise the cash needed to meet the extra payments, or, as is often the case, they make adjustments in order to avoid the extra costs.

Hiring behavior is one such activity that can be adjusted, and we are seeing some significant and long-term negative affects of this ill-conceived law. Job-sharing used to be a relatively obscure occurrence, but it is growing in popularity because is allows employers to avoid some of the more burdensome costs that Obamacare would impose.

The Obamacare law states that employers that have fewer than 50 employees do not have to provide health insurance and will face any penalties. Traditionally, our restaurant industry has been a place where people could get a start in the work force, and it's been a place where minimum wage was paid and few benefits were offered. This suited many a first-timer since it allowed them to get that all-important first job. But if the restaurant owner exceeds the 50 employee threshold, he either has to provide health insurance to all his employees or he has to pay a fine on every uncovered employee beyond the first 30 employees. It's a little weird, I know, so here's the math.

The penalty is $2,000 per uncovered person. So if you have 49 employees, there's no fine. But if you hire that 50th worker, then you immediately are liable for a $2,000 penalty on 20 employees (50 employees minus the first 30 that are exempt). The total penalty would be $40,000 ($2,000 X 20). That's a pretty hefty penalty for hiring that extra person. Guess what? Many restaurants and other entry-level businesses aren't hiring those extra people. In fact, in order to make sure they have sufficient bench strength to cover absences and vacations, but also stay under the law's threshold, they're looking downstream into their labor ranks and moving lots of full time employees to half time. Because of the law, it's better to have 100 half-time employees than to have 50 dedicated full time employees.

This means that workers are often taking on two jobs - a part time job at one restaurant and another part time job at a second restaurant. The total affect has been to decrease jobs in the low labor rate industries. Hence, we're seeing unemployment tick up at a time when the economy is supposed to Add to this the other uncertainties of the law - the myriad pages of regulation that haven't been "interpreted" yet by the bureaucrats, and you create a fairly large number of employers who are afraid to make business investments and long-term hiring decisions.

The law, like most well-intended regulations, has more negative consequences than positive ones for the very people the regulation is meant to help. As difficult as it is in this environment for a freshly minted college grad to get a job, it is geometrically more difficult for someone with just a high school degree. Those that are least able to afford a stint of unemployment are the very people who are being terminated first, and they will be the last to be re-hired.

Obamacare implementation has just begun. Stay tuned for more unsettling and negative news. As bad as it's going to be, the one thing we won't be able to say is that it was a surprise. Conservatives of all stripes – from Tea Party members to the old Eastern-establishment types – warned of the dangers of this particularly stupid effort of the U.S. government to take over 1/6th of the economy. Sadly, greater unemployment may be the least of our worries. Just wait until bureaucrats start telling doctors how to practice medicine. Who knows, someday we may be able to go to one government office to get a medical check up AND a driver's license. Won't that be fun.

STUART Tolchin.....On LIFE

I WONDER ABOUT THE FUTURE

Tonight I keep hearing a lyric in my head. When they say repent I wonder what they

I'm pretty sure I heard the Leonard Cohen song that has this lyric in it over the weekend, as my family made a round-trip drive to visit my cousin in Phoenix. In fact, I'm sure I heard that song on one of the many albums we listened to during about 12 hours of driving. Still, I wonder why that song, really - that particular lyric - keeps playing in my head. I wonder, does the lyric have any particular meaning for me. Now that I think about it, I think I even attempted to explain the meaning of "repent" to my son. I told him it meant something about experiencing the errors one had made and in life and promising oneself to try and do better. My wife said that "repent" involved making a commitment to change and to

On the news tonight I heard that the President intends to devote a significant amount of money to do research upon the workings of the mind. The specific purpose discussed was to learn more about Alzheimer's disease and the deterioration of the mind that frequently accompanies ageing. Many older persons, and I certainly include myself, already experience a diminution of brain function. I have created the name nominal aphasia for my particular disturbance. I am increasingly unable to remember names and sometimes I can't remember specific nouns. I gather that this is a fairly common experience for older people. Some people call it a "senior moment" and I have seen attorneys and judges stop in the middle of speaking and display a bewildered look as they fight to find the right word or to reconnect with their lost ideas.

It is a devastating realization to become aware that our minds are not the trusted instrument we thought they were. Instead it becomes clear that, as individuals, we are instruments of our own minds - rather than the reverse. The question becomes who or what is really in control? This, to me at least, is one of the great dilemmas of life. How does one control the contents of one's own mind? I believe that our individual attitudes are what determine how much we enjoy our own lives. It is not what goes on outside that defines our day; it is what goes on inside our heads that creates our experience of life.

I know this is probably no great revelation to anyone, but happiness has little to do with wealth or achievement. I think health is important, but I have meet many people who are in the midst of fighting serious disease and still manage to maintain a positive attitude and to enjoy their life in the most difficult of circumstances. Similarly I have met people who seem to have great reason to enjoy their lifem but instead consistently seem unhappy with their lot. I once had a girl friend who was always complaining about something or other andm when we tried to talk about itm she would trace her problems way back to growing up in a family that had the smallest yacht in the yacht club. I'm not making this up.
I've taken all kinds of self-help classes and meditation classes and maybe it does help to try and stay in the present ands notice your breathing and the way your feet feel as you walk along. I have noticed that getting enough sleep has a great impact on how I feel but still I generally don't follow my own recommendations. I think that education should spend time helping people to enjoy their lives rather than doing whatever it is that generally goes on in School. I don't think that enjoying life requires one to feel more able than other people or to receive medals and awards. Life is not a race to the finish. It is not a competition; instead it is just about enjoying the journey and facing the fact that no one gets out alive.

It is my great hope that money spent on brain research will lead to understandingsm which will assist all of us in controlling our own attitudes and enjoying the lives we live no matter what those lives look like to outsiders. Maybe we all gain sufficient awareness to examine our own attitudes and understand the consequences of these attitudes and to make beneficial changes. In other words
