HOUSING ELEMENT WORKSHOP

The City of Sierra Madre has initiated the process to update the Housing Element of the General Plan for the 2014-2021 period as required by State law. The workshop will be held on Thursday, November 7 at 7:00 pm in the City Council Chambers, 232 W. Sierra Madre Boulevard. At the meeting, an informational presentation will be provided to address: an overview of the process, accomplishments of the most recent housing element cycle, proposed programs and the City's RHNA (regional housing needs) requirements. We encourage you to attend the meeting if you are interested in contributing to Sierra Madre's 8-year Housing Plan. If you have any questions, or if you cannot attend but wish to submit comments, please contact Danny Castro, Director of Development Services at 626.355.7138 or by e-mail at dcastro@cityofsierramadre.com.

CITY ADDRESSES FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS ON WATER

Sierra Madre City Manager Elaine Aguilar recently reached out to residents via social media, to answer some of the questions that have been asked about our water issues. On the Sierra Madre Facebook page, she has posted the "Water Questions of the Week". This is being done in an effort to keep the public well informed and to minimize the impact of misinformation that is being circulated. Below you will find this week's questions and answers. You can also go to the city's Facebook page at: https://www.facebook.com/ cityofsierramadre.

"Water Questions Of The Week"

"We are taking notice of the questions submitted regarding the current water and sewer rate study. The questions are selected from the questions we have received at the various community meetings, at City Council meetings, and from your phone calls. These questions and answers are also posted to the City's Facebook page and website. This week's questions are:

Has the City Council actually approved increased water and sewer rates? What is the timing of the Council's consideration of this matter?

The City Council has not taken action to increase water or sewer rates. The Council will receive the draft water and sewer rate study at their November 12th City Council meeting. The draft study will be available on the City's website at least 72 hours before the City Council meeting.

be taking action on November 12th to increase water or sewer rates. Before action can be taken to increase rates, a Proposition 218 written protest process must be conducted. At their November 12th Council meeting, the City Council may decide to initiate the Proposition 218 process. If the Proposition 218 process is initiated, the City will mail notices to all water customers within the City's service area, at least 45 days before the City Council can consider implementing new water and/or sewer rates. The Proposition 218 ballot will be mailed in an envelope that states, "OFFICIAL BALLOT ENCLOSED." Please look at your water bill to make sure the "name and mailing address" on your water account is accurate. If it is not accurate, please contact the City's Water Billing staff, so that the information can be corrected.

After the 45 days has lapsed, the City will unseal and tabulate the ballots in public view. The Council will hold a public hearing to receive testimony on the proposed rate increases. Additionally, the results of the Proposition 218 process will determine if the Council can consider the rate increases. If a majority protest has occurred, the City Council cannot approve a rate increase; if a majority protest does not occur, the Council may approve the rate increase.

At the October 22nd City Council meeting, there was a staff report entitled "Proposition 218 Process for Proposed Water and Sewer Rate Increase" that further explains the process.

If the City Council authorizes the initiation of the Proposition 218 process, the City's water and sewer customers will receive instructions, a ballot, a fact sheet, and other information. Please take a moment to make sure the City's water billing information is accurate by looking at your water bill to make sure it is mailed in the name of the property owner, or the tenant responsible for actually paying the water bill.

Are City water and sewer rates being increased so that City employees can get raises or increased benefits, such as increased pensions?

No, City water and sewer rates are not being increased so that employee salaries can be increased to "market" rates. Nor are the rates being increased to enhance employee benefits. Funding has not been included in the draft water and sewer rate study for any additional, new staffing. Additionally, water revenues cannot be used to pay for the salaries of non-water related staffing, and sewer revenues cannot be used to pay for the salaries of non-sewer related staffing.

It is important to note that the City Council will not How can I find out how much my water bill would increase, if new water rates are proposed?

> First, general information will be included in the Proposition 218 ballot information that will be mailed to all Sierra Madre water customers. Secondly, a calculation tool will be available on the City's website that will allow you to input your water usage, so you can determine what the proposed increase would do to your bill. This calculation tool will be on the City's website if the City Council decides to initiate the Proposition 218 process, which will not occur before the November 12th City Council meeting.

For additional information about the current Water and Sewer Fee Study, please go to the City's website.

HALLOWEEN WINDOW PAINTING CONTEST WINNERS

The annual Sierra Madre tradition of painting the downtown merchants' windows for Halloween continued in fine fashion this year. Last week-end, over 160 students from local schools participated in painting over 50 windows in our downtown area. This was an overwhelming response by local students, and wonderful support from our local merchants.

This year, the Halloween Window Painting event was sponsored the Sierra Madre Civic Club and was free to all participants. Marcia Bent chaired the committee of 8 Civic Club members. Local students from the ages of 9-17 were eligible to enter. Painting began on Friday afternoon, October 25th and concluded by 11am on Saturday, October 26th. Judging followed and awards were presented at Kersting Court in the early afternoon. Judges were Civic Club President, Jean Coleman, Cathy Imhoff representing the Creative Arts Group, and Sierra Madre School art teacher, Barbara Wamboldt.

Winners in the four age categories and location of their windows were: 9-10 year olds: Katherine Gjerde & Jolie Podrebarac at Podley Real Estate 11-12 year olds: Lila Fontenot, Sidra Gibeault, and Alana Meyers at Mill. Pension 13-14 year olds: Hannah Blank, Emma Blank, and Julia Goff at Haynes Oakley Architects 15-17 year olds: Ellis Eckes, Emily Pachini, and Arene Eian at Wild Flour Bakery The Sierra Madre Civic Club thanks all who participated in this community event. This is another fine example of the small town spirit we enjoy in Sierra Madre.

On the right is the window at Millineum Pensions which won 1st Place in the 11-12 year old bracket. Above are winners Lila Fontenot, Sidra Gibeault and Alana Meyers. Photos and story courtesy of the SM Civic Club

JOIN THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE'S ANNUAL BLOOD DRIVE!

Save the date! Friday, November 8th the Sierra Madre Community Services Department and American Red Cross are hosting a Community Blood Drive from 10:00am to 4:00 pm. This life saving event takes place at the Sierra Madre Community Recreation Center, 611 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., and is open to the public. Individuals who are 17 years of age or older, 110 pounds or more and are in generally good health are eligible to donate blood. If you have recently donated blood, you must wait 56 days before your next donation.

Donating blood is a simple and short process. Blood donation is a four step process: registration, medical history and mini-physical, donation and refreshments. The actual blood donation only takes 10-12 minutes of your time! One donation can help save the lives of up to three people! This is a great way to help others and contribute to the American Red Cross. To schedule an appointment, please visit www.redcrossblood.org or contact the Community Services Department at (626) 355-7394. Walk-ins are welcome but appointments are encouraged.

SIERRA MADRE POLICE BLOTTER

For the period October 20-27, 2013

Thursday October 24, 2013

At approximately noon, an unknown suspect removed gardening equipment from a truck parked in 600 block of West Alegria Avenue. The bed of the truck was completely enclosed and secured at the rear with a wire mesh door. The suspect(s) cut off the padlock, opened the door and removed two lawn mowers and a hedge trimmer. No witnesses were located.

Friday October 25, 2013

At 11:30am, a resident left property on a picnic table in Bailey Canyon Park and went on walk with her children. When she returned 30 minutes later, she observed that her stroller, car keys and a cell phone had been taken. No witnesses were located.

Sunday October 27, 2013
At 11pm, an officer travelling south on Michillinda Avenue stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation. During the stop, the officer observed several plastic baggies containing a white substance protruding from the driver's purse. It was determined the baggies contained Methamphetamine. The also driver admitted that she had ingested some the drug prior to driving her vehicle. The driver (female 42 years of age) was arrested for possession of a controlled substance.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE.....THE SOCIAL SIDE

By Deanne Davis

We've gotten through it once again, The ghouliest, ghostiest time of year. When creatures large, and creatures small, Prowl the highways, infest the byways, And give us plenty of reason, in this fear-filled season, To quiver and shiver and shake in our shoes!!

Walking Sierra Madre this past week has brought us, the brave and daring John and I, to the conclusion, that this is one creepy town! There are 9, 742 huge black spiders clinging to gates, houses, fences and webs. There are 31,417 skeletons hanging from various pillars, posts and trees. And graveyards! Boy! Do we have graveyards. Here's my favorite headstone:

"Johnny Yeast Forgive Me If I Don't Rise."

The best thing we've seen all week, though, are the window paintings downtown. Now that is Art! Some really splendid work and I'm thrilled that prizes were awarded and that some of our wonderful Sierra Madre ladies did a little underwriting so kids could still afford to enter the annual Window Painting Contest. Kids painting windows for Halloween is one of those neat things that's been going on for years and years here in our town that should not be tampered with in any way! Kind of like Neil The Pig. We took pictures of our favorites and we just have to say this was an over-the-top terrific window painting year and we don't want anything ever to change this Sierra Madre tradition.

Charlie Brown's buddy, Linus, would be proud. All of Sierra Madre was the sincerest pumpkin patch anywhere. We'll be picking up candy wrappers for weeks to come, but seeing all the little princesses, Screams, Harry Potters, gypsies, hobos and hippies (which always makes us laugh as we really WERE hippies, back in the day!) is worth it. We gave out tons of Tootsie Rolls and tiny Snickers bars and I'm somewhat chagrined to admit I kept back several little boxes of Dots for future secret consumption. We miss having our kids here. We would send them out Trick 'r Treating then tell them those big Hershey bars really weren't very good and we'd help them out and eat them ourselves. They each bought it... once. The shameful things parents do! We'd put it all in the freezer in a day or two, they'd forget about it, and eventually out it would go. It's been a fun Halloween season and we've seen so many clever things in people's yards.

"An' all us other children, when the supper things is done, We set around the kitchen fire an' has the mostest fun A-list'nin' to the witch-tales at Annie tells about, An the Gobble-uns 'at gits you, Ef you don't watch out!" Little Orphant Annie (1883)

City of Sierra Madre ORDINANCE NO. 1344

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE AMENDING THE SIERRA MADRE MUNICIPAL CODE BY ADDING A NEW CHAPTER 15.58 ("LOW IMPACT DEVELOPMENT PLAN") TO TITLE 15 ("BUILDINGS AND CONSTRUCTION")

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE FINDS AS FOLLOWS: WHEREAS, the City of Sierra Madre is authorized by Article XI, §5 and §7 of the State Constitution to exercise the police power of the State by adopting regulations to promote public health, public safety and general prosperity; and WHEREAS, the City of Sierra Madre has authority under the California Water Code to adopt and enforce ordinances imposing conditions, restrictions and limitations with respect to any activity which might degrade the quality of waters of the State; and WHEREAS, the city is a permittee under the "Waste Discharge Requirements for Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System (MS4) Discharges within the Coastal Watersheds of Los Angeles County, Except those Discharges Originating from the City of Long Beach MS4," issued by the California Regional Water Quality Control Board—Los Angeles Region," (Order No. R4-2012-0175) which also serves as an NPDES Permit under the Federal Clean Water Act (NPDES No. CASO04001), as well as Waste Discharge Requirements law (the "Municipal NPDES permit"). In order to participate in a Watershed Management Program and/or Enhanced Watershed Management Program, the Municipal NPDES permit requires to develop and implement a "Low Impact Development" (LID) Ordinance; and WHEREAS, the City of Sierra Madre to a storm water management program that protects water quality; and water supply by employing watershed-based approaches that balance environmental and economic considerations; and WHEREAS, urbanization has led to increased impervious surface areas resulting in increased water runoff and less percolation to groundwater aquirers causing the transport of pollutants to downstream receiving waters, and WHEREAS, The City of Sierra Madre seeks to update its approach to managing the quantity and quality of storm water runoff by setting standards and practices to maintain or restore the natural hydrologic character of a development site, reduce off-site runoff, improve water quality, and provide groundwater reclarge;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre as follows:

SECTION 1: Municipal Code Amendment. Chapter 15.58 ("Low Impact Development Plan") is added to the Sierra Madre Municipal Code to read as follows: "15.58.010 Purpose. The provisions of this chapter contain requirements for construction activities and facility operations of Development and Redevelopment projects to comply with the current "Municipal NPDES permit," lessen the water quality impacts of development, and integrate LID design principles to mimic predevelopment hydrology through infiltration, evapotranspiration and rainfall harvest and use. LID shall be inclusive of SUSMP requirements. "15.58.020 Definitions. Except as specifically provided herein, any term used in this section 15.58.020 shall be defined as that term in the current Municipal NPDES permit, or if it is not specifically defined in either the Municipal NPDES permit, then as such term is defined in the Federal Clean Water Act, as amended, and/or the regulations promulgated thereunder. If the definition of any term contained in this chapter conflicts with the definition of the same term in the current Municipal NPDES permit, then the definition contained in the Municipal NPDES permit shall govern. The following words and phrases shall have the following meanings when used in this chapter: "Automotive Service Facility" means a facility that is categorized in any one of the following Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) and North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) codes. For inspection purposes, Permittees need not inspect facilities with SIC codes 5013, 5014, 5541, 5511, provided that these facilities have no outside activities or materials that may be exposed to storm water (Source: Order No. R4-2012-0175). "Best Management Practice" or "BMP" means practices or physical devices or systems designed to prevent or reduce pollutant loading from storm water or non-storm water discharges to receiving waters, or designed to reduce the volume of storm water or non-storm water discharges to receiving waters, or designed to reduce the includes a minimum 2-foot top layer of a specified soil and compost mixture underlain by a gravel-filled temporary storage pit dug into the in-situ soil. As defined in the Municipal NPDES permit, a bioretention BMP is designed or constructed with an underdrain it is regulated by the Municipal NPDES permit as biofiltration (Modified from: Order No. R4-2012-0175). "Bioswale" means a LID BMP consisting of a shallow channel lined with grass or other dense, low-growing vegetation. Bioswales are designed collect storm water runoff and to achieve a uniform sheet flow through the dense vegetation for a period of several minutes (Source: Order No. R4-2012-0175). "Clean Water Act" or "CWA" means the Federal Water Pollution Control Act enacted in 1972, by Public Law 92-500, and amended by the Water Quality Act of 1987. The Clean Water Act prohibits the discharge of pollutants to Waters of the United States unless the discharge is in accordance with an NPDES permit. "Commercial malls" means any development on private land comprised of one or more buildings forming a complex of stores which sells various merchandise, with interconnecting walkways enabling visitors to easily walk from store to store, along with parking area(s). A commercial mall includes, but is not limited to: mini-malls, strip malls, other retail complexes, and enclosed shopping malls or shopping centers (Source: Order No. R4-2012-0175). "Site" means land or water area where any "facility or activity" is physically located or conducted, including adjacent land used in connection with the facility or activity (Source: Order No. R4-2012-0175). "Storm drain system" means any facilities or any part of those facilities, including streets, gutters, conduits, natural or artificial drains, channels, and watercourses that are used for the purpose of collecting, storing, transporting or disposing of storm water and are located within the City of Sierra Madre. "Storm water" or "storm water" means water that originates from atmospheric moisture (rain or snow) and that falls onto land, water, or other surfaces. Without any change in its meaning, this term may be spelled or written as one word or two separate words. "Stormwater runoff" means that part of precipitation (rainfall or snowmelt) which travels across a surface to the storm drain system or receiving waters. "SUSMP" means the Los Angeles Countywide Standard Urban Stormwater Mitigation Plan. The SUSMP was required as part of the previous Municipal NPDES Permit (Order No. 01-182, NPDES No. CAS004001) and required plans that designate best management practices (BMPs) that must be used in specified categories of development projects. "Urban runoff" means surface water flow produced by storm and non-storm events. Non-storm events include flow from residential, commercial, or industrial activities involving the use of potable and non-potable water. 15.58,040

b. Redevelopment does not include routine maintenance activities that are conducted to maintain original line and grade, hydraulic capacity, original purpose of facility or emergency redevelopment activity required to protect public health and safety. Impervious surface replacement, such as the reconstruction of parking lots and roadways which does not disturb additional area and maintains the original grade and alignment, is considered a routine maintenance activity. Redevelopment does not include the repaving of existing roads to maintain original line and grade.

Existing single-family dwelling and accessory structures are exempt from the Redevelopment requirements unless such projects create or add 500 square feet of impervious surface area, or the provisions of 15.48.040 (C)10 apply.

15.58.040 Stormwater pollution control requirements—generally. The site for every Planning Priority Project shall be designed to control pollutant, pollutant loads, and runoff volume to the maximum extent feasible by minimizing impervious surface area and controlling runoff from impervious surfaces through biofiltration, biorsetention, bioswale(s), green roof(s), infiltration, rainfall harvest and use, and/or any other appropriate LID BMPs. 15.58.050 Stormwater pollution mitigation for hillside development. A new single-family hillside home development shall include mitigation measures to:

Street and road construction of 10.000 square feet or more of impervious surface shall follow USEPA guidance regarding Managing Wet Weather with Green Infrastructure: Green Streets (December 2008 EPA-833-F-08-009) and/or any local Green Street policies that may apply, to the maximum extent practicable. 15.58.070 LID plan requirement. Except as provided under sections 15.58.050 and 15.58.060, all Planning Priority Projects shall prepare a LID Plan to comply with the following:
a. Retain storm water runoff onsite for the Stormwater Quality Design Volume (SWQDv) defined as the runoff from:
i. The 58th percentile 24-hour runoff event as determined from the Los Angeles County 85th percentile precipitation isohyetal map; or incomplete the stormwater of the stormwater runoff on the following of the stormwater of the stormwater of the stormwater retention of the SWQDv is technically infeasible, partially or fully, the infeasibility shall be demonstrated in the submitted LID Plan. The technical infeasibility may result from conditions that may include, but are not limited to:
i. The infiltration rate of saturated in-situ soils is less than 0.3 inch per hour and it is not technically feasible to amend the in-situ soils to attain an infiltration rate necessary to achieve reliable performance of infiltration or bioretention BMPs in retaining the SWQDv onsite.
ii. Locations where seasonal high groundwater vell used for drinking water;
iv. Brownfield development sites or other locations where pollutant mobilization is a docum

v. Locations with potential georecimical nazards;
c. If partial or complete onsite retention is technically infeasible, the project Site may biofiltrate 1.5 times the portion of the remaining SWQDv that is not reliably retained onsite. Biofiltration BMPs must adhere to the design specifications provided in the Municipal NPDES Permit.
i. Additional alternative compliance options such as offsite infiltration may be available to the project Site. The project Site should contact the City Engineer to

d. The remaining SWQDv that cannot be retained or biofiltered onsite must be treated onsite to reduce pollutant loading. BMPs must be selected and designed to meet pollutant-specific benchmarks as required per the Municipal NPDES Permit. Flow-through BMPs may be used to treat the remaining SWQDv and must be sized based on a rainfall intensity of: 0.2 inches per hour, or

i. 0.2 inches per hour, or
ii. The one year, one-hour rainfall intensity as determined from the most recent Los Angeles County isohyetal map, whichever is greater.
e.. A Multi-Phased Project may comply with the standards and requirements of this section for all of its phases by: (a) designing a system acceptable to the City Engineer to satisfy these standards and requirements for the entire Site during the first phase, and (b) implementing these standards and requirements for each phase of Development or Redevelopment of the Site during the first phase or prior to commencement of construction of a later phase. For purposes of this section, "Multi-Phased Project" shall mean any Planning Priority Project implemented over more than one phase and the Site of a Multi-Phased Project shall include any land and water area designed and used to store, treat or manage storm water runoff in connection with the Development or Redevelopment, including any tracts, lots, or parcels of real property, whether Developed or not, associated with, functionally connected to, or under common ownership or control with such Development or Redevelopment.

SECTION 2. Severability: If any selection, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional or otherwise invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The City Council hereby declares that it would have passed this Ordinance and each section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, clause and phrase hereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases

O.J. Simpson a Rose Bowl All-Century Class Nominee By Dean Lee

Controversial former football star O.J. Simpson was announced Sunday as a nominee by the Football Association Writers America (FWAA) for the Rose Bowl's All-Century Class representing player's from the

If selected, this would be the first honor given to Simpson following his legal troubles that started in 1995 when he went on trial for the double murder of his ex-wife, Nicole Simpson and Ron Goldman. He was ultimately acquitted in the case.

Simpson is currently serving time in a Nevada prison for kidnapping and armed robbery during a 2007 heist at a Las Vegas hotel.

John McKay and Ron Vander Kelen have also been nominated as finalists for the 1960s All-Century Class.

According to a statement released from the Tournament of Roses O.J. Simpson led the University of Southern California to a 19-2-1 record during his two-year college career, including appearances in the 1968 and 1969 Rose Bowl Games. In the 1968 Simpson ran USC past the Indiana Hoosiers, 14-3, earning Player of the Game honors by rushing for 128 yards on 25 carries, and scoring the game's only two touchdowns. Simpson bettered his '68 performance claiming the Heisman Trophy and leading the Trojans to the 1969 game. He rushed for 171 yards and a touchdown, while adding 8 receptions for 85 yards, albeit in a losing effort. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1985, the College Football Hall of Fame in 1983 and was a 1993 Rose Bowl Hall of Fame inductee.

President of the Tournament of Roses Association, Scott Jenkins, said the FWAA must have focused on Simpson's on field performance.

Improvements Central Park Completed

Mayor Bill Bogaard along with Tournament of Roses officials and Miracle-Gro representatives held a brief ribbon cutting ceremony Tuesday as the final endeavor of the "White Suits Green Thumbs" project to enhance Pasadena's Central Park.

"Miracle-Gro is excited to finally dedicate this park and welcome the community of Pasadena in to enjoy a beautiful green space refurbished by their own friends and neighbors," said John Sass Vice President of Miracle-Gro. "We hope projects like this encourage consumers to continue to volunteer within the community and bring that enthusiasm and inspiration home into their own greenspace," In addition to the labor provided by the Tournament and the products from Miracle-Gro, the two entities made a combined cash contribution of $37,000 to fund the efforts. Dignitaries Call for Helicopter Noise Report

Representative Adam Schiff, along with, Henry Waxman, Brad Sherman, Karen Bass, Janice Hahn, Tony Cardenas and Alan Lowenthal, and Senators Dianne Feinstein and Barbara Boxer sent a letter Tuesday to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Administrator Michael Huerta, to request that the agency release its schedule for completing the next steps identified in the FAA's Report on the Los Angeles Helicopter Noise Initiative.

In the letter, the Members and Senators write: "Although nearly five months have passed since the FAA made these commitments, we are concerned that we have not yet seen measurable implementing progress the steps specified in the report. We understand FAA officials recently attended a collaborative meeting in Los Angeles between community representatives and helicopter operators, and have upcoming meetings planned. We are pleased to see this ongoing dialogue. However, moving forward, we believe that it is critical for the FAA to develop and release to all stakeholders a schedule to complete the six steps outlined in the Report on the Los Angeles Helicopter Noise Initiative. Having a clear process for how and when the FAA will complete the report's next steps will greatly benefit the efforts to develop safe guidelines that reduce helicopter noise."

"Residents across the Los Angeles area are affected by intrusive, disruptive and often non-emergency related helicopter traffic above their neighborhoods and homes," said Rep. Schiff. "It's my hope that the FAA will complete the actions they promised at our field hearing in June in a timely manner. Angelinos deserve peace and quiet, and if the FAA won't act to regulate disruptive and preventable helicopter traffic noise, Congress must pass legislation to give residents the relief they deserve."

PCC Holds Winter Coat Drive

The Association of Latino Employees (ALE) of Pasadena City College is hosting a winter coat drive for day laborers in the Pasadena and Cypress and Highland Park communities. The drive is ongoing until December 2, 2013.

The ALE is collecting clean and gently used coats and jackets to help keep male and female day laborers warm during the cooler months. Donated items can be dropped off in D114, IT224 or the bin located on the PCC quad.

The Association of Latino Employees was established in April 2012 to develop, advocate, and respond to the academic, social, political and economic needs of the Pasadena community. For additional information, contact gxsantiago@pasadena. edu or call 626-585-3342.

A Noise Within Performs Samuel Beckett's Endgame

A Noise Within (ANW), the company, led by Producing Artistic Directors Geoff Elliott and Julia Rodriguez-Elliott, continues its 22nd season with Endgame by Samuel Beckett. The play runs through Nov. 23. Endgame is performed in repertory with Pericles, Prince of Tyre by William Shakespeare, Sept. 14 through Nov. 24, and The Guardsman by Ferenc Molnár, Oct. 5 through Nov.

Endgame mixes beauty, vitality, and wry humor in a devastating distillation of the human condition. The title of the play is taken from the 1957. It was mounted at the game of chess and is a term used for the end portion of the game where very few chess pieces are left; Beckett was an avid chess player.

TEMPLE STATION COMPLETES C.O.P. SURVEY and lasd awarded $1.1 million for traffic

On July 23 of this year, I attended a Town Hall Meeting hosted at Pamela Park by Temple Sheriff's Station, which serves the unincorporated Monrovia, Arcadia and Duarte areas. Captain Nee, Station Commander explained the "Public Trust Policing Policy" which is utilized by the Community Policing Bureau and its C.O.P.S. Program.

"Public Trust policing is the use of police resources to include the public's participation in the mission of public safety...to provide a higher level of public safety... Law enforcement must recognize that without the full faith and cooperation of the public, this mission is severely impaired. This process utilizes an inclusive and open system of public participation in the public safety system."

How does the public participate? Captain Nee told us that deputies from Temple Station and the C.O.P.S. Bureau walked throughout the county areas and gave out surveys which asked the following questions:

- How safe is it for you to walk in your neighborhood?
- Please identify your primary concerns regarding CRIMINAL activity in your immediate area or neighborhood.
- Please identify your primary concerns regarding NUISSANCE activity in your immediate neighborhood/street.
- What problem would you want solved FIRST in your neighborhood?

The number one complaint was TRAFFIC and TRAFFIC SAFETY!

This past Saturday morning, after a quick briefing, Temple Station Commander Captain Nee, and his crew which included Sheriff's personal, volunteers and explorers walked the area and took the "Post

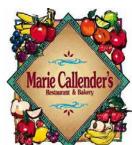

The "Post Surveys" mark the culmination of a 90 day program. The purpose of the Post Surveys is to find out how the residents feel. Captain Nee said the Community tells us, "Did we address the issues?"

The Captain also told me that no matter where you go in Los Angeles County the biggest concern is traffic. The good news is that recently the Sheriff's Department Risk Management Bureau was awarded a $1.1 million grant for its Selective Traffic Enforcement Program.

The main purpose and goals of the Selective Traffic Enforcement Program are to reduce the number of persons killed and injured in alcohol-involved and drug-involved traffic collisions, and reduce the number of hit and run fatality and injury collisions. The Program will involve Driving Under the Influence (DUI) saturation patrols, distracted driving, traffic enforcement, motorcycle safety, red light enforcement, and speed enforcement operations. Law enforcement personnel working under the grant will participate in the National Distracted Driving Awareness Month in April 2014, the Statewide "Click It or Ticket" mobilization period of May 2014, and the Mothers Against Drunk Driving /Avoid DUI Seminars as well as collaborate with the County's "Avoid Coalition" to participate in the planning and scheduling of all meetings related to the grant.

This $1.1 million grant to be utilized for traffic safety should hopefully prevent future traffic-related injuries and deaths.

CAL FIRE Urges Californians to Check Their Smoke Alarms

Keep Your Family Safe and Make Sure Your Alarm Works

Sacramento - To help reduce the number of home fire fatalities, CAL FIRE is reminding all Californians to make sure they have working smoke alarms in their homes. Nearly two-thirds of home fire deaths result from fires in homes with no working smoke alarms. A little attention to these important life saving devices can go a long way in increasing your chance of surviving a devastating fire.

"Smoke alarms give you and your family an early warning when there is a fire so you can quickly escape to safety," stated California State Fire Marshal Tonya Hoover. "Making sure you have a working smoke alarms in your home will help keep you, your family and guests safe."

Smoke alarm safety tips:

Place properly installed and maintained smoke alarms both inside and outside of sleeping areas and on every level of your home.

Interconnected smoke alarms are best, because if one sounds, they all sound.

Get smoke alarms that can sound fast to all types of fires. CAL FIRE recommends that every residence and place where people sleep be equipped with ionization and photoelectric smoke alarms or dual sensor smoke alarms, which contain both ionization and photoelectric smoke sensors.

• Inspect, test and clean smoke alarms and change alkaline batteries at least once every year, or when the alarm signals ("chirps") the end of the battery life. You can use a date you already know, like your birthday or when you change your clocks as a reminder.

Follow manufacturer's instructions if you have a 10-year smoke alarm which uses a long-life lithium battery. Never paint over a smoke alarm.

Replace your smoke alarm at least every ten years.

• Practice exit drills so everyone understands what to do when they hear a smoke alarm. Keep your smoke alarm working, NEVER REMOVE BATTERIES FROM YOUR ALARM.

For more information on smoke alarms, please visit the CAL FIRE's website at http://www.fire.ca.gov/ communications/communications_firesafety_smokealarms.php.

ARCADIA

ONE COMMUNITY~ONE BOOK

More Visions of Arcadia: A Great Book about Arcadia by Arcadians & Neighbors

By Joan Schmidt

Ten years ago, Arcadia Council Member Gary Kovacic edited an awesome book, Visions of Arcadia: A Centennial Anthology marking the City's Centennial. The book was so well received and there were so many requests for a sequel that Gary undertook this great project with the hope of publication in 2013, and he has succeeded! The result is More Visions of Arcadia, a 576-page anthology of 145 essays and over 390 photographs, celebrating the community of Arcadia!

The City of Arcadia has planned a great program, sponsored by Arcadia's Best Foundation to honor the book's release on Sunday, November 17, 2013, from 1:00 - 3:00 p.m. at the Church of the Good Shepherd's Jordan Hall. Featured authors include Gary Kovacic, (Visions of Arcadia and More Visions of Arcadia), Carol Libby, (Chronicles of Arcadia and Images of Arcadia, co-author), and Elizabeth Pomeroy, (Images of America, Pasadena; Lost and Found: Historic Landmarks of the San Gabriel Valley; and John Muir: A Naturalist in Southern California).

Council Member Gary & Barbara Kovacic, Council Member Peter Amundsen

You will hear Arcadia anecdotes from the authors as they explain their background research process before they couldwrite and edit their books. A question and answer session follows the talks, after which there will be an opportunity to have your book signed by the author and many of the contributing essays' authors. The stories and photographs will bring back memories for some while others learn about the people, events and traditions that helped maintain Arcadia not only as a "Community of Homes", but also a community of great people, family and friends. More Visions of Arcadia is $25; cash or check only.

When I was at the Arcadia's Mayor's Breakfast earlier this year, there was mention of More Visions of Arcadia and "If anyone had any interesting story/anecdote to write, please contact City Hall for more info". Prior to purchasing our Monrovia home in June, 1987, we rented at 401 West Walnut Avenue, Arcadia. Our next door neighbor, Edie Amundson, was a delightful "Senior citizen" of Norwegian heritage who came from Menominee, Wisconsin, and always had great stories of her life on the farm. Her college-age grandson was "Peter", currently a City Council Member! Around the corner, a HUGE home was being built, and "a movie star was going to move in". Everyone was excited!

Seeing Council Members Amundson and Kovacic sitting together at the Mayor's Breakfast jarred my memory of a special Christmas card and gift from a movie star! That is my contribution to More Visions of Arcadia! Whether you live in Arcadia or not, everything shops at its mall, eats at the great restaurants and many enjoy Santa Anita Park. Please come to this great event on November 17th at the Church of the Good Shephard's Jordan Hall, 400 W. Suarte between 1 & 3 pm! You won't be disappointed!

CALIFORNIA STATE SENATOR ED HERNANDEZ TO SPEAK AT ARCADIA CHAMBER

Senator Ed Hernandez, representing the 24th Senate District, is the guest speaker at 8am Thursday, November 7, at the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce Government Affairs Forum, 388 W. Huntington Drive. Senator Hernandez will give a presentation on health care reform, along with legislative updates.

A discussion of pending legislation and other updates will be provided by representatives from City, County, and State government offices, the Metro Gold Line Foothill Extension and the Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte Town Council.

The public is invited on the first Thursday of each month to hear informative presentations at the monthly Government Affairs Forums led by Chairman Jack Orswell from Orswell & Kasman, Inc. Environmental Assessments & Consulting and co-chairs Pete Ulrich, former Arcadia City Councilman, and Mary Dougherty, former President of the Arcadia School District Board of Education. Arcadia Police Blotter

For the period of Sunday, October 20th, through Saturday, October 26th, the Police Department responded to 870 calls for service of which 131 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, October 20:

1. Around 1:11 a.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle in the area of Live Oak Avenue and Second Avenue for tinted windows and lane swerving. An investigation revealed the driver had a blood alcohol content greater than 0.08 percent. The 20-year-old Hispanic male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Iail for booking.

arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

2. At about 7:37 p.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 500 block of Gloria Road regarding a theft investigation. After holding an "open house" for nineteen prospective buyers, the victim discovered three watches were missing from her bedroom. The victim suspected one of the parties stole her property, but did not have any suspect information other than the sign-in sheet.

Monday, October 21:

3. Shortly after 1:00 a.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle for a broken tail light on Live Oak Avenue at Longden Avenue. The officer discovered the driver, a 27-year-old White female, was in possession of drug paraphernalia, burglary tools, and stolen property. A records check revealed the 30-year-old Hispanic male passenger had three outstanding misdemeanor warrants. Both subjects were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

4. Just before 2:00 p.m., an officer responded to Pok-a-Dots Costume Store, 115 East Huntington Drive, in regards to a theft report. A Hispanic female suspect selected a handful of costumes and exited the store without making payment. The suspect is described as 20 to 30-years-old, 5'3" tall, medium build, brown hair worn in a ponytail, wearing a white t-shirt and blue jeans. She fled the location in a red minivan that was parked in front of the location.

Tuesday, October 22:

5. Shortly after midnight, an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a vehicle in the area of Live Oak Avenue and Peck Road for having no license plates. An investigation revealed the driver had a suspended license, was in possession of a controlled substance, and had a misdemeanor warrant for driving without a license. The 39-year-old Hispanic male was arrested, transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking, and his vehicle was impounded for thirty days.

6. At approximately 3:20 p.m., officers were dispatched to a residence in the 1000 block of Mayflower Avenue regarding a burglary in progress. Upon arrival, officers detained three subjects that were inside a vehicle parked in the driveway of the residence. An investigation revealed the suspects forced entry through a rear window and stole several electronics items, which were found inside the suspect vehicle along with burglary tools. A 23-year-old Black male and two 20-year-old Black females were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Wednesday, October 23:

7. Around 12:26 p.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle for speeding in the 100 block of West Duarte Road. The officer discovered the driver, a 32-year-old male of unknown race, was never issued a license. He was cited without incident for both violations and his vehicle was left legally parked.

8. At approximately 2:03 p.m., an officer was dispatched to the Arcadia Police Department front counter regarding a fraud report. While checking his bank account online, the victim discovered two fraudulent checks had been cashed using his bank account number. One check was paid to the order of Costco for approximately $800. He had no idea how his personal information was compromised.

Thursday, October 24:

At about 1:05 a.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle in the area of Peck Road and Live Oak Avenue for displaying an expired registration sticker. A records check confirmed the vehicle did have expired registration. The officer discovered the 22-year-old Hispanic female driver was in possession of cocaine. She was arrested, transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking, and her vehicle was impounded.

9. Around 11:02 p.m., an officer made consensual contact with two subjects in the area of Second Avenue and La Porte Street. An investigation revealed the 24-year-old White male and 28-year-old Black male were under the influence of methamphetamine. Both suspects were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Friday, October 25:

10. Just after 4:20 a.m., an officer conducted a security check of the Extended Stay parking lot, 401 East Santa Clara Street, and made consensual contact with a male subject. An investigation revealed the 37-year-old White male was in violation of his active parole as he was in possession of a firearm, multiple controlled substances, and stolen license plates. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

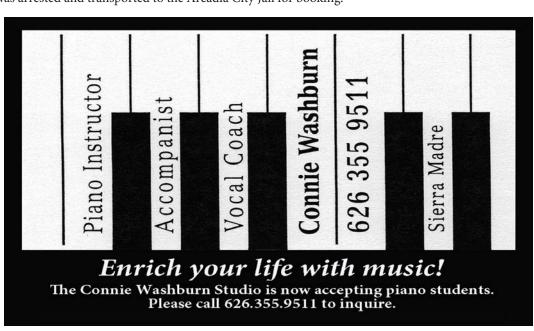

the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

11. At about 1:40 p.m., an officer was dispatched to 99 Ranch Market, 1300 South Golden West Avenue, in reference to an auto versus pedestrian accident. Two unknown male subjects stole the victim's bicycle and attempted to flee in a beige colored van. As the victim attempted to chase the van, the driver accelerated towards him and struck him in the face with the side mirror, causing a 1.5 inch laceration. The suspects fled eastbound on Naomi Avenue. Arcadia Fire responded to the scene to treat the victim's wound, but he refused.

Saturday, October 26:

12. Around 1:27 a.m., an officer responded to the Par 3 Golf Course in the 600 block of East Live Oak Avenue regarding a subject screaming for help. The subject was found hanging upside down from a fence with his calf impaled on a metal spike. Los Angeles County Fire Department responded to the scene and transported him to Huntington Memorial Hospital for treatment. An investigation revealed the subject fell while attempting to hop the fence. The metal spike was removed from the victim's leg and he was expected to make a full recovery.

13. At approximately 3:42 p.m., an officer responded to Sephora at the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, in regards to a theft report. An adult subject concealed two colognes inside a used shopping bag and exited the store without making payment. The 35-year-old Hispanic male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Possession of a Controlled Substance / Possession of Drug Paraphernalia – Suspect Arrested October 29 at 3:04 p.m., officers responded to a park in the 400 block of South California on the report of several male subjects in the park involved in drug activity. After investigation, officers arrested one male suspect who was found to be in possession of a glass pipe and methamphetamine.

Hot Prowl Residential Burglary

October 30 at 11:45 p.m., officers were dispatched to a residence in the 500 block of North Alta Vista regarding a hot prowl burglary that just occurred. The owners of the residence were away from the location at the time of the burglary and a housekeeper was home, asleep inside one of the bedrooms. She was awakened by two male Black suspects that came into the room. When the suspects saw her, they ran out the backdoor of the residence. The housekeeper called the homeowners, and there was an approximate twenty minute delay until the owners arrived home and called the police. Officers responded and the area was searched, but no suspects were located. A rock had been thrown through the backdoor window to gain entry to the home. The investigation is continuing.

LA SALLE STUDENT WINS BEST FILM AT MAJOR NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVALS

Pasadena, CA - Pasadena teenager, Stephen Boyer, took the inaugural All-American High School Film Festival by storm, winning two top awards, including the festival's Best Overall Film award and Best Comedy, during an awards ceremony in New York City.

He has also won Best Teen Film for his short film, "Paradigm," at the Youngcuts Film Festival in Montreal, Canada, and the film has been accepted as an official selection at the First International Children's Film Festival in Dubai, according to Jude Lucas, the chairperson of the La Salle High School Visual and Performing Arts Department and one of Boyer's film instructors.

"Who knows where this will go," said Ms. Lucas of her prize-winning student, "but it's fun watching the action."

The La Salle High School senior won Best Overall Film at the All-American High School Film Festival on October 5 for his drama "Paradigm," which he wrote, filmed, scored and

GOODEN OPEN HOUSE TO FEATURE STUDENT MUSICIANS, ART & SCIENCE

Exhibitions, Panel Discussion and Tours of the Campus on Nov. 16 -A Classical Education for the 21st Century

The public is invited to attend The Gooden School's Open House on Saturday, November 16 from 10 am -12 noon, with an orientation program from 10 - 10-30 am, on the campus at 192 N. Baldwin Avenue, Sierra Madre. The orientation program will include chamber music by Gooden students, a student art and science exhibition, and a panel discussion on "A Classical Education for the 21st Century" featuring parents, faculty and students, moderated by Head of School Patty Patano. Afterward, tours of the campus will be led by students, parents and faculty. Refreshments will be served.

Perspectives on The Gooden School include:

The Gooden School is quite simply heaven on earth. ~ Edward R. Bosley James N. Gamble Director, The Gamble House University of Southern California, School of Architecture

We have seen the power of music throughout history, including Albert Einstein who used his violin to work on challenging formulas. We believe whole heartedly that music nourishes the mind, body and spirit of an individual and enriches the community, so we are extremely pleased to be partnering with The Gooden School who believes in the same power of the arts. ~ Paul Jan Zdunek, CEO, Pasadena Symphony and Pops

The Gooden School equips students with the capacity – heart, mind and courage – to go out and change the world for the better. Each time I come to the campus, I am impressed by the high caliber of young students I encounter. ~ J. Jon Bruno Episcopal Bishop of Los Angeles

Founded in 1975, The Gooden School is an independent Episcopal School, K - 8, where academics and the arts come together. Gooden students of all grade levels learn to play musical instruments. The string program begins in third grade, and Middle School students perform in the Gooden orchestra or band. All students learn Spanish, and Latin is also taught in grades 4 – 8. Reflecting Gooden's high academic standards, and reputation for the arts and service-learning, graduates are accepted by many of the finest high schools in the area including Campbell Hall, Flintridge Prep, La Salle, Loyola, St. Francis, Mayfield Sr. and Westridge.

At the university level, alumni from The Gooden School have gone on to Claremont McKenna, Georgetown, Johns Hopkins, Notre Dame, NYU, Oxford, Princeton, UC Berkeley, UCLA, UPenn, USC and Vassar, among others.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show BAD GRANDPA

From the time I saw the first preview for this movie, I thought it was completely hilarious. Some people, however, found it to be completely offensive and disgusting. That was when I realized what kind of reactions it would get: people would either love it or hate it.

When Billy's (Jackson Nicoll) mother is sent back to jail, he is forced to go with his grandpa (Johnny Knoxville). His grandpa is supposed to take Billy across the country to his abusive father until his mom gets out of prison. Along the way to his dad, Billy and his grandpa get in and out of crazy situations, from robbing grocery stores for food to entering in a beauty pageant for money.

This was the funniest movie of the year for me. I was laughing from the moment the movie started right to the end. The humor was very raunchy and was along the line of 'Family Guy' jokes. I would recommend this movie to anyone who is a fan of Seth MacFarlane or anyone who has seen any of the 'Jackass'

Welcome to the Foothills of the San Gabriel Mountains and the palace where Champions are crowned. The prince and pauper share the equal chance of treasures on this day if only luck will reign. Outside the activity of the Equine Olympics in those quiet moments of ticket shuffling you may hear the engraved words of a distant legends who answer by the names of Seabiscuit, Sulky Sullivan and John Henry, as the ghosts of four-legged giants never die.

I will confess that I have a proclivity of sponsoring horse that detest the spotlight of the camera. But I've ridden enough benches, chairs and stools from an apprentice to a journeyman to offer tips of a different kind. So come celebrate or drown a sorrow or two at some of my favorite restaurants.

INGREDIENTS

6 white corn tortillas (6-inch), halved, cut into 1/2-inch

2 tablespoons olive oil

1 cup chopped onion 1 tablespoon McCormick® Gourmet Collection Chile Pepper, Ancho

1 teaspoon McCormick® Gourmet Collection Cumin,

Ground

1 teaspoon McCormick® Gourmet Collection Garlic Powder 2 McCormick® Gourmet Collection Bay Leaves, Turkish

4 cups chicken broth

1 can (14 1/2 ounces) diced tomatoes, undrained

1/2 pound boneless chicken breasts, cooked and shredded or 1 1/2 cups finely chopped cooked turkey

Assorted toppings, such as chopped avocado, shredded Monterey Jack cheese and chopped fresh cilantro (optional)

DIRECTIONS

1. Preheat oven to 400°F. Spread tortilla strips on baking sheet coated with no stick cooking spray. Bake 8 to 10 minutes or until crisp and golden, stirring after 5 minutes. Set aside.

2. Meanwhile, heat oil in large saucepan on medium heat. Add onion; cook and stir 2 to 3 minutes. Add ancho chile pepper, garlic, cumin and bay leaves; cook and stir 2 to 3 minutes. Add broth and tomatoes. Reduce heat to low; simmer, uncovered, 30 minutes. Discard bay leaves. Thicken soup, if desired.

3. To serve, place a few tortilla strips and a small amount of chicken in each serving bowl; add soup. Top with assorted toppings, if desired.

RAIDER VARSITY FOOTBALL WINS LEAGUE

In a heart-stopping match-up against Holy Family on Tuesday, St. Rita's Raiders claimed the conference title with a 28-26 victory over the fellow unbeaten team. The victory earns the Raiders a high seed in the 60-team CYO

The excitement in "Raiderland" is tangible as their varsity football team went 9-0 to claim the East Foothill Conference Championship. Along the way, they played some thrilling games, like the 44-30 decision over Assumption and the 54-40 win against St. Elizabeth. None were as exciting as this final game.

Holy Family, like St Rita, was undefeated in the league. The game began as a seesaw battle as St Rita drove inside the ten but failed to score. Holy Family then scored in three plays, but failed on their conversion. From there, a series of great runs by Howard, Anthony Camacho and Luca Farroni, with Gardner, propelled them to a 22-20 lead at the half. The Knights took over after a Raider punt with a little over a minute in the game. Fortunately for St Rita, the game ended with the Holy Family star player making a catch where he landed inches short of the goalie.

St. Rita School, located at 322 N. Baldwin Ave. in Sierra Madre, is a top-ranked Catholic parish school with a CYO-championship sports program.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

WHO DO YOU LOVE?

Lessons Learned From Unlikely Animal Affection

In a world where human beings often have a hard time getting along, mainly due to differences such as color, culture, language, political preferences, religion or race, it is encouraging to know that some beings are making paramount and unprecedented progress when it comes to bonding with creatures very different from themselves. In fact, many non-human animals are now breaking down major barriers by forming friendships with members of species historically considered to be their enemy or

I recently viewed a PBS Nature documentary entitled Animal Odd Couples, and I liked it so much I watched it several times over. It is an awe-inspiring, well-put-together program that tells a tale about animals of different species who came together for various reasons and chose to be friends rather than enemies, as our understanding of nature might have had it. The unlikely cross-species relationships that can develop between animals has always fascinated me, and the particular pairs highlighted in this program are mind-boggling. In the past, scientists have refrained from using the term "friendship" when referring to social bonds between non-humans, but as this documentary points out based on recent findings, the scientific terminology used to refer to animal relationships

One odd couple featured in the PBS program consists of a stunning cheetah named Kasi and an adorable Labrador retriever named Mtani, both of whom were rescued at a very young age and given refuge at Busch Gardens in Tampa, Fla. Kasi was born a healthy cub in captivity at a nearby zoo. Her two siblings died at birth and her mother was unable to care for her, leaving her in need of human intervention. Mtani was rescued from a local shelter and brought to the park just in time to avoid being euthanized. The staff at Busch Gardens embarked on a pioneer project when they intentionally put Kasi and Mtani together as babes, and as it turned out the two bonded immediately. Today they are about 4 years old and have grown to be best friends forever.

According to the trainer who works with Kasi and Mtani on a daily basis, it was a choice they both had to make; to accept each other as friends, regardless of their differences. The interesting thing is, although they come from an entirely different place in the line of species, those two aren't really all that different. When they play and chase together in the enormous space they live in, it becomes clear that the size and shape of their bodies are indeed very much alike, and while dogs bark and cheetahs chirp, they both growl in a similar manner, and in this case they seem to have formed a language all their own, just between the two of them.

My favorite story in the program is that of a remarkable union between two unlikely four-legged friends; a senior blind horse named Charlie and an elderly goat named Jack. The two met after having been rescued and brought to Wild Heart Ranch outside of Claremore, Oklahoma, by its founder, Annette King Tucker. Annette shares the story in an interview with the production crew, about how Jack the goat took it upon himself to befriend the blind horse, apparently realizing Charlie needed a friend to help guide him through the property to find the best grazing spots.

Anyone with a heart who watches this part of the program is bound to shed a few tears. Watching the film footage of that old goat leading the blind horse through the woods to his favorite grassy spot, then waiting patiently for him to finish grazing at which time he guides him back to the safety of barnyard. What goat makes it his mission to assign himself official field guide to a horse? It is so heartwarming to know Jack had that kind of affection for his elderly equine friend. When Charlie passed away, Jack was a bit beside himself, but at the same time he seemed to understand it was meant to be for his good friend to move on. Not long after Charlie's passing, Jack followed his footsteps, where one might imagine he is probably in a better place, serving another being in a loving way, just Meanwhile, back at Keepers of the Wild, a rescue ranch in Valentine, Arizona, Anthony the lion and Riley the coyote are setting yet another unprecedented example of what can happen when one chooses to befriend a creature far removed from itself in terms of species classification. Jonathan Kraft, founder of Keepers of the Wild introduced Anthony and Riley when they were a month old and he has observed their atypically friendly bonding behavior ever since. Riley and Anthony are adults now, still getting along famously and, even after having worked with wild exotic animals all his life, Kraft admits he has learned epic lessons watching those two interact. He finds it amazing how much nature can teach us through unlikely relationships that can form between animals of separate species. It is clear to Kraft that forming friendships and showing affection to others, regardless of species, plays a big part in maintaining one's physical, mental and emotional health. He sees this in full color by observing Anthony and Riley rousting about, playing and resting together on the ranch.

Then there is the Great Dane who formed an unlikely friendship with a deer that was found in the woods near its home in B.C., Canada. The owners heard a distressed cry coming from the wooded area nearby and at first they thought it might be a human child, as a young doe sounds very much like a baby when calling out in distress. They ventured into the forest and discovered a very young baby doe in the brush, alone and afraid. In spite of their typical standard of leaving nature to fend for itself, they simply could not leave that little deer on its own, knowing it would most likely die without

They brought the doe home where she met their Great Dane, who immediately allowed her to snuggle and even try to suckle her. The Great Dane was consistently accommodating, letting the growing doe do whatever it took to help keep her comforted and feeling safe. When the doe grew into an adult, she went back to the forest and was accepted by her pack of peers, but to this day she continues to return to the farm on a regular basis where her soul mate, the Great Dane lies waiting to greet her. We humans would have expected a bloody confrontation between a large dog and a deer, but here again we are given the opportunity to learn from nature in a way that we are not accustomed to. These two mismatched mammals were apparently more than willing to fore-go their physical differences in exchange for a meaningful relationship.

As Temple Grandin so aptly states in one part of the documentary, "Some people just can't accept the fact that non-human animals have emotions." She doesn't buy into that theory, and neither do I! Contemporary observational studies of animals crossing the boundaries to form unlikely friendships rather blows the conventional scientific theory that animals are incapable of having emotions and feelings similar to that of humans. It goes against the grain of how we have historically understood nature and animal behavior. To me, it is a refreshing concept and I relish in the idea that animals can open the minds of human beings and teach us lessons we are way over due to learn and apply to our own lives. My hope is that we will all allow ourselves to learn from the animals, and as always love

SPARKY: ANIMAL ID #A3627054

It takes time for a soul to become this sweet, meet Sparky (A3627054)! Sparky is an eleven year old black and brown spayed female Shetland Sheepdog mix. Her previous owners could not appreciate the gentle spirit and love Sparky still has to share with the world and she was left at the Baldwin Park Animal Care Center on October 24th. Weighing thirty-five pounds, Sparky walks well on leash and gets along well with other dogs. She is alert and full of life, and she is a sweet and gentle snuggler. Sparky will be a wonderful companion in a calm household with an attentive individual or family who can provide her with the "golden years" she deserves.

To watch a video of Sparky please click here: www.youtube.com/watch?v=bmfhkFLR8KI

To meet Sparky in person, please see her at the Baldwin Park Shelter, located at 4275 N. Elton, Baldwin Park, CA 91706 (Phone: 626-430-2378 or 626-962-3577). She is currently available now. For any inquiries about Sparky, please reference her animal ID number: A3627054. The shelter is open seven days a week, 12 pm-7 pm Monday-Thursday and 10am-5pm Friday-Sunday. This is a high-intake shelter with a great need for adoptions. For more information about Sparky or the adoption process, contact United Hope for Animals Volunteer Adoption Coordinator Samantha at Samantha@hope4animals.org. To learn more about United Hope for Animals' partnership with the Baldwin Park Shelter through its Shelter Support Program, as well as the many dogs of all breeds, ages, and sizes available for adoption in local shelters, visit http://www.unitedhope4animals.org/about-us/shelter-support-program/.

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND??

So is this dynamic duo!! Peter and Parker were abandoned along with another brother and a sister who have been adopted. They are estimated to be a year old; Peter weighs 8.5 pounds and Parker 7.4 pounds. Each has his own unique characteristics. Peter has short legs and big ears like a Dachshund and Parker is tall and lean, like a Whippet. Parker has pointed ears that flop over and he sports a Mohawk down the back of his neck - which he likes to have rubbed ... while his little eyes close. They both like people and attention and gobble up sausage treats with great gusto! They would love to be adopted together and if you are looking for canine friends, please consider these two.

They are neutered, up to date with all routine shots and ready to move in. Please stop by the shelter and consider making Peter and Parker part of your family! They currently reside at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel where they are roomies. We are located off San Gabriel Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las Tunas.

To arrange a 'Meet and Greet' with Peter and Parker, please stop by any time from 10:00am to 4:30pm Tuesday thru Sunday. Their adoption fee is $120 each which includes neuter surgery, a microchip, first vaccinations and a free wellness checkup at a participating veterinarian. Feel free to call us at (626) 286-1159 for more information on Peter and Parker.

See our website at www.sgvhumane.org for information and photos of all our available pets.

HOW DIVORCE CAN AFFECT YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

Dear Savvy Senior:

Am I entitled to my former husband's Social Security benefits? I was married for 12 unpleasant years and would like to know what I may be eligible for. Ex-spouse

Dear Ex-spouse:

You'll be happy to know that for the most part, Social Security provides divorced spouses benefits husband (or ex-wife) if they are at least age 62, were married for at least 10 years, are unmarried now, and are not eligible for a higher benefit based on their own work record.

In order to collect, however, your former spouse must also be at least 62 and eligible for Social Security benefits, and you must have been divorced for at least two years. But, he doesn't have to be receiving them in order for you to collect divorced spouse's benefits.

Even if your ex is remarried, it won't affect your right to divorcee benefits, nor will it affect your ex's retirement benefits or his current spouse's benefits.

Benefit Amount

A divorced spouse can receive up to 50 percent of their ex's full Social Security benefit, or less if they take benefits before their full-retirement age – which is 66 if you were born between 1943 and 1954. To find out your full-retirement age and see how much your benefits will be reduced by taking them early see ssa.gov/retire2/agereduction.htm.

Keep in mind though, that if you qualify for benefits based on your own work history, you'll receive the larger of the two benefits. You cannot receive benefits on both your own record, and your ex's work record too.

To find out your retirement benefits based on your own earnings history, see your Social Security statement at ssa.gov/myaccount. And to get an estimate of your divorced spouse benefit, call Social Security at 800-772-1213. You'll need you're ex's Social Security Number to get it.

Since three-quarters of U.S. divorcees get married again, it's also important to understand that remarrying makes you ineligible for divorced spouse's benefits unless the later marriage ends. And, for those who have been married and divorced twice, with both marriages lasting more than 10 years, you can collect using the ex-spouse with the larger Social Security benefit.

You also need to know that if your ex-spouse dies, and you were married for 10 or more years, you become eligible for divorced "survivor benefits," which is worth up to 100 percent of what your exspouse was due.

Survivor's benefits are available to divorced spouses as early as age 60 (50 if you're disabled). But, if you remarry before 60 you become ineligible unless the marriage ends. Remarrying after age 60 will not affect your eligibility.

Also note that if you are receiving divorced spouses benefits when you ex-spouse dies, you will automatically be switched over to the higher paying survivor benefit.

Switching Strategies

Being divorced also offers some switching strategies that can help boost your benefits. For working divorced spouses, there's an option that lets you file a "restricted" application with Social Security (at full retirement age) to collect a divorced spousal benefit, which is half of what your ex gets. Then, once you reach 70, you stop receiving the ex-spousal benefit and switch to your own benefit, which will be 32 percent higher than it would have been at your full retirement age.

Divorced widows (and widowers) have even more options. If, for example, you are currently collecting Social Security retirement benefits on your own record, and your ex-spouse dies, you can switch to survivor's benefits if the payment is larger. Or, if you're collecting survivor's benefits, you can switch to your own retirement benefits – between 62 and 70 – if it offers a larger payment.

KATIE Tse.....This and That MEMORABLE LESSONS (FROM UNMEMORABLE TEACHERS)

My Mom is a retired third grade public school teacher. Besides her, I have many friends and relatives in education. Every so often (usually on "professional development" days) the presenter asks all the teachers to reach far back in their memories and answer the question, "Why did I become an educator?" (They can't answer, "For the pension," "Job stability," or "The summer off!") They have to come up with something touching like, "Mrs. Gibbon, my fifth grade teacher, made me want to become a teacher!" or "Mr. Thompson from my freshman year changed my life!"

Sure, having a life-changing teacher in your past is great. But sometimes it's not the personalities we remember. Sometimes it's the odd lesson that captivates us, searing its details into our memory for years to come. Such was the case with my Mom's high school biology teacher.

Mrs. Dempster, my Mom recalls, was a nondescript, middleaged woman who didn't tend toward excitement, anger, or any other emotional outbursts. However, one day Mrs. Dempster gave a lesson on trichinosis. Trichinosis, if you are unfamiliar, is a disease caused by parasites typically contracted from undercooked pork. But that's not all...

First, the unknowing host ingests encapsulated larvae cysts (bug eggs, sort of). In Mrs. Dempster's account, the victim was dining on ground pork, something like "pork tartar." Once consumed, the larvae are released when the cysts hit our stomach acid. From there, they burrow into the intestines, molt a few times, and mate.

Succeeding generations are eventually forced to migrate farther down the intestinal tract as the host (us!) develops immunities. But the fun doesn't stop there! The immature worms are equipped with a "sword like" oral apparatus that allows them to cut entryways into the blood stream. They can then circulate throughout the body and infest muscle, organs, and other vital body parts.

Nowadays, trichinosis is relatively rare in the U.S. There are several medications available to apprehend the infection and stave off further damage. But such medical advances weren't widely available in the 1960's, when my Mom was in high school. No, Mrs. Dempster's case study victim succumbed to his parasites after they swarmed his brain and wrecked havoc in the rest of his central nervous system. Tragic yes, but memorable.

Modern medical advice indicates against eating opossums, bears, wild hogs (Neil is safe, he's a parasite-free pig), and polar bears (Ha! Have a panda while you're at it --eating endangered species!). If you choose to hunt, please hunt responsibly, and thoroughly cook any game your hunting buddies

While I don't really expect my little article to save anyone from trichinosis (because, hopefully, you'd never be in danger of getting it anyway), I hope this meander down medical memory lane has brought to mind forgotten lectures you heard as a student, so many years ago. And if I've failed at any of these objectives, I suppose I at least gave you a little Halloween fright! (Go vegan!)

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

By Pat Birdsall

FYI: THIS AND THAT

A "little birdie" told me that the person who brought a large bag of aluminum pop tops to the Senior Center was Mark K. Very kind of you Mark! The Senior Club thanks you and the kids at the Ronald McDonald House thank you! We have almost 10 pounds now. It doesn't sound like much, but when you consider how small they are, it's a lot. Everyone, please keep them coming!

Some important additions to the schedule at the Sierra Madre Senior Center: The telephone number for all reservations is: (626) 355-7394

Tech Talk- Monday, November 25th 2:00-3:00 pm. Teens from the YMCA Teen Leadership Club will be providing instructions on cell phones, tablets, computers, etc. Reserve space in this free class. Two computers are available, but bring the other devices to class. Free "Hear" Screening- Tuesday, November 5th and Tuesday, December 3rd from 10:00 am to Noon. The Hear Center will provide free hearing tests. The appointments are 20 minutes and advance sign-up is required. Free Memory Screening-Thursday, November 7th and Friday, November 8th from 11:00 am-Noon. Confidential Memory Screenings are available at the Senior Center given by Family Peace. Appointment is required. Free CPR & AED Training Session- Thursday, November 14th from 12:00- 1:00 pm. Save a life when you learn Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) and the Automated External Defibrillator (AED) Class by the Sierra Madre Fire Department.

HELPFUL HINT: To deodorize your plastic food containers- After washing with soap and water, fill your sink with warm water and baking soda and soak the containers overnight. The next morning, rinse your containers well and the odors will be gone...She says confidentially.

FOR YOUR FUNNY BONE - After a high school basketball game, the coach spotted a cell phone lying on the floor. "Here," he said to the ref, "I think this is yours." "What makes you think it's my phone?" asked the ref. "Easy," the coach said, "it says you have ten missed calls."

The Scariest Contest was won by Jay Walters, above, was awarded a special gift from Vroman's and an additional prize of performing at The Sierra Madre Playhouse's Zombie production which was performed throughout the night.

THE WINNERS!

Sierra Madre's spookiest night of the year, Halloween, was once again full of fun for young and old. Thousands of goblins, witches, superheroes, ghosts, fairies and other creatures, some adorable, others scary, roamed the streets knocking on doors with the mantra, "Trick or Treat". For many, the treat was not only the goodies, but the Halloween decorations on homes throughout the town. Thousands lined Alegria street just to view the most enchanting block of homes that have become a legend in the San Gabriel Valley.

The festivities began with Trick or Treating at downtown businesses and a Costume Parade down Sierra Madre Boulevard to Memorial Park. More than 177 children registered for the parade and contest. The group, which included many costumed parents was lead by the Sierra Madre Fire Department.

Once there, the costume contest was held with the top three winners in each category being awarded prizes appropriate for their age group. The youngest group, 0-2 years received gifts from Carter's Babies and Kids; the 3-4 year olds received gifts from the Lakeshore Learning Center. All other winners were awarded gift certificates from Vromans. M.C. for the contest was Lisa Spagai, who was just as entertaining as the children and their costumes.

The Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce coordinated the downtown Trick or Treating and the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club sponsored the Costume Contest. Judges for the event were:

Joe and Jacqui Pergola, Shirley Anhalt, Mayor Nancy Walsh, Kiwanis President Susan Henderson, Judy Webb-Martin, and Kiwanis High School Key Club member Michael Lee. Membes of the Kiwanis Builders Service Club from Sierra Madre Middle School assisted with the registration and other Key Club members assisted city staff with the staging of the contest.

MUTUAL BENEFIT

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS:

Mutual Benefit is the experimental baroque folk project of Jordan Lee. He's been releasing music for several years, but "Love's Crushing Diamond" marks his first proper LP release. Already a buzz artist for a few years now, this debut record may launch the man from obscurity to indie folk stardom. "Love's Crushing Diamond" may only be seven tracks in length, but these ardent tunes are entirely heartfelt. The arrangements consisting of guitar, violin, banjo, percussion and other interesting sounds are always graceful and heavenly. However, what really pulls you in is Lee's fragile and elegant voice that sends chills down your spine. His ability to create these atmospheric sounds is relatively stunning. There is optimism and a yearning latched onto the record even Label: when the songs appear to be downbeat and somber. "Love's Crushing Diamond" is romantic at heart but the Release Date: record runs deep creating an emotional landscape filled with beautiful experimental sounds, emotive vocals, along with celestial arrangements. "Love's Crushing Diamond" is filled with hope when all hope seems gone

these days. Lee's whispery vocals occupy the record and the results are rather lovely. On "Golden Wake," Lee boldly states, "we weren't made to be afraid." This sentiment is kind of a theme for the record. A collection of songs to get yourself back up from the ground, stand tall, and take care of those you love. The record glides as much as it moves you in ways you could only wish for in a record. The music seems more like art than anything else. It's a canvas with panorama of meanings. Each listen may give you another interpretation. "Advanced Falconry" is the most expansive track and undoubtedly the best one. The romanticism on display is divine. It's a sweet, gorgeously crafted song that would have one becoming lost within their personal daydream. Lee isn't heavy handed with his lyrics. The harmonies found on "Let's Play/Statue of a Man," are exquisite. Lee sings, "There's always love/when you think there's none to give," which stays true to the idea that "Love's Crushing Diamond" is idealistic even in a world

The debut record from Jordan Lee is truly an accomplishment. I believe that the album is quite effective, as all the songs feel super connected. "Love's Crushing Diamond" is an album you'd have to listen in the comfort of isolation. If you allow it to sink in, you'll be quite stirred by the experience. It's one of the better folk type records to come around this year. Lee has constructed a small album with a big impact on the human spirit. Just like with love, if you let this album get inside, you'll be amazed at what it can do. And if love is truly the answer, then this album is the medicine for an ailing heart.

HEALTHY LIFESTYLES

THE JOY OF YOGA CREATING SPACE

Fall is here and as nature begins to make space with the falling of the leaves, so should we. Keep in mind what the ancient yogis say:

'Leave a little space'. This space is so important because if we are overfull, then nothing new can come in and we get stuck in our patterns and beliefs. When we are over cluttered, then we can't find things. This is true for our minds as well. The yogis love routine for this reason; because it can open up space for us to dream and create.

Leave a little space when you eat, a little space in your schedule, a little space in your heart and your mind. If we have some space and we can be quiet, then the true messages of our hearts can shine through. Being thankful for what we have and adding only good stuff (like inspirational texts, good company, yoga and meditation) can change our lives.

So this Fall, avoid clutter, leave a little room and only put in good things. Good food and good thoughts. Surround yourself with those that support and nourish your spirit. In this you will be able to better attract the things that are so essential to creating the life you want. Even leave a little space when you breathe. And be sure to listen to even the space in the silence – you may be surprised at what you hear!

Vibrant Living Wellness Center Heathcare the Way Nature Intended

Dr. Tina is a traditional naturopath and nutritionist at Vibrant Living Wellness Center

A Plate of White....No Color but Mighty Healthy! Eating a broad variety of colorful foods is the best way to get the nutrient dense foods we need. Those colorful nutrient dense foods being...fruits and vegetables. It is always important not to miss the "winter whites", especially this time of the year since this is the peak of their season. So who are some of the winter whites I am talking about? They are vegetables like cauliflower, garlic, parsnips, and celery root to name a few. These veggies are full of antioxidants which help ward off diseases such as cancer, heart disease, and others. They are anti-inflammatory so they so they aid with inflammatory disease such as arthritis. Some of them are even antifungal and anti-viral. The best fact about eating these white veggies this time of the year is that they taste great because their flavor is at its peak. arlic is a wonderfully pungent vegetable that in my mind makes almost anything taste better. Garlic counts among its many benefits that it helps regulate the body's blood pressure. Whether you have problems with low or high blood pressure, garlic can help equalize it.

Garlic when chopped produces allicin. Allicin is quite powerful as an antibiotic. It helps the body to inhibit the ability for germs to grow and reproduce. Garlic helps loosen plaque from artery walls; helps strengthen your body's defenses against allergies; and helps regulate your blood sugar levels. When it comes to taste and health benefits, garlic is well worth eating even if we have a little bad breath.

Celery root is just what it says it is. It is the root of the celery plant. It is starchy, sort of like a potato. It looks to me like a white beet. It needs to be peeled and is a good source of vitamin K. It is a great addition to soups and stews.

Cauliflower is low in calories, high in fiber and full of vitamin C. The white florets contain choline, which is needed by the brain and is thought to help ward off memory loss. Cauliflower is also high in B vitamins, potassium and phosphorous, which support muscles, bones, and the nervous system. Parsnips are also high in vitamin C. Vitamin C helps the body maintain healthy connective tissue, teeth, and gums. Its anti-oxidant property helps protect us from diseases and cancers by destroying free radicals. Like most root vegetables, parsnips are high in minerals like iron, calcium, copper, potassium, manganese, and phosphorus. Potassium is an important part of cell and body fluids that aids in controlling heart rate and blood pressure by countering the effects of sodium.

My advice is to include as many of these delicious, heath promoting whites as you can in your diet this fall and winter!

WHY ARE CHIROPRACTORS SO HAPPY?

by Dennis R. Buckley, D.C.

I had a new patient who had just moved from New York to LA and she was a marathon runner. I treat lots of runners so through referral she found me. After we first met she said, "In the 4 cities I've lived, I have had to find a chiropractor and every one I found was so happy. Why are you guys (and gals) so happy?"

It was simple, I love what I do. This is not "work" to me but a passion and a career to help people with solutions. I love coming to the office and helping people.

I think that is the number one reason chiropractors are so happy. They are involved with meaningful work, helping people and making a difference.

I would say also that a vast majority of chiropractors came to this profession through personal experience of receiving chiropractic

I never chose to be become a chiropractor, it chose me. I know it might sound religious but my experience as a patient first, coupled with challenges and achievements set the ground work for a question that was asked of me on November 24th 1986. My chiropractor, Dr. Scott McCall in Costa Mesa asked me what I was going to school for. I did not know yet and he suggested I look into the chiropractic profession. That day I called the two local chiropractic colleges and visited one that afternoon and after I saw and heard I knew this was what I wanted to do and now 27 years later, 20 in practice, I have never looked back except to say thank

I truly love my profession and what I get to do each and every day. My patients, my staff and my community all are important to me and that is why every day I cannot wait to get to the office, or go to the football game to be team doctor, or go to the company to do a health talk, or just to mentor another student looking to find their way.

Can your doctor, mechanic, CPA, gardener, attorney, etc...say the same. You know which ones love what they do by their attitude in

Astronomers Discover Universe's Most Distant Galaxy

Researchers from Texas A&M University and the University of Texas at Austin teamed up to detect the most distant galaxy ever found—one created only 700 million years after the Big Bang. Their research is published in the Oct. 24 edition of the journal Nature.

The galaxy, known by its catalog name z8_GND_5296, was observed as it was 13 billion years ago. That's the time it took for the galaxy's light to travel to Earth. Because the universe has been expanding all that time, the researchers estimate the galaxy's present distance to be roughly 30 billion light-years from Earth.

"Because of its distance, we get a glimpse of conditions when the universe was only about 700 million years old—only 5 percent of its current age of 13.8 billion years," said Texas A&M astrophysicist Casey Papovich, who is second author of the paper.

He explains that researchers are able to accurately gauge the distances of galaxies by measuring a feature from the ubiquitous element hydrogen called the Lyman alpha transition, which emits brightly in distant galaxies. It's detected in nearly all galaxies that are seen from a time more than one billion years from the Big Bang, but getting closer than that, the hydrogen emission line, for some reason, becomes increasingly difficult to see.

"We were thrilled to see this galaxy," said lead author is Steven Finkelstein, an assistant professor at the University of Texas at Austin "And then our next thought was, 'Why did we not see anything else? We're using the best instrument on the best telescope with the best galaxy sample. We had the best weather—it was gorgeous. And still, we only saw this emission line from one of our sample of 43 observed galaxies, when we expected to see around six. What's going on?"

THE FARTHEST PLACE:

The researchers suspect they may have zeroed in on the era when the universe made its transition from an opaque state in which most of the hydrogen is neutral to a translucent state in which most of the hydrogen is ionized. So it's not necessarily that the distant galaxies aren't there—it could be that they're hidden from detection behind a wall of neutral hydrogen fog, which blocks the hydrogen emission signal.

The Nature paper grew out of raw data gleaned from a powerful Hubble Space Telescope imaging survey of the distant universe Using that data, the team was armed with 43 potential distant galaxies and set out to confirm their distances.

On a crisp, clear April night, team members sat behind a panel of computers in the control room of the W. M. Keck Observatory, which is perched atop the 14,000-foot summit of Hawaii's dormant Mauna Kea volcano and houses the two largest optical and infrared telescopes in the world, each standing eight stories tall, weighing 300 tons and equipped with 10-meter-wide mirrors.

They detected only one galaxy during their two nights of observation at Keck, but it turned out to be the most distant ever confirmed. It had a redshift of 7.51—indicating that it was created about 13 billion years ago. Because the universe is expanding, the space between galaxies also is increasing. And as objects move away from an observer, their light becomes redder. In essence, the higher the "redshift," the farther away the object. Only five other galaxies have ever been confirmed to have a redshift greater than 7, with the previous high being 7.215.

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

CREATE A COMFORT ZONE

While experts may debate the value of holding an open house, your home may be a good candidate for this marketing tool. If your agent offers to show off your home on a Sunday afternoon, apply some elbow grease and take advantage of the opportunity.

Obviously, get things tidy inside and out. Give all of your countertops a spacious feel by hiding your toiletries under the sink in the bathroom, and by stashing your kitchen appliances in the cabinets. Clean and clear make a great impression.

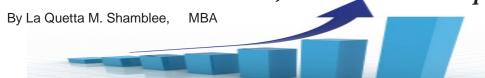

Also remove photographs, appointment cards, school artwork, etc. from the refrigerator and other areas of the house. Yes, it's your home, but you want buyers to picture it as their home, so don't intrude on the fantasy!

You can encourage buyers to linger by simply putting out refreshments, like fresh baked cookies (the aroma can be a powerful intoxicant!), and a pitcher of iced tea or minis of bottled water - anything to make them pause and take a closer look around.

The one thing that shouldn't be in the home during an open house is... you. No offense meant, but buyers are there to see the home, not the owner, and they may feel uncomfortable asking probing questions if you are within earshot. Make your visitors feel at ease, and trust your agent to take care of the rest!

Taking an assessment of your line of products and services will lay the groundwork for greater business success and increased profits. A series of simple questions can help any entrepreneur determine if the current inventory of offerings is a good fit. It is imperative for a business to offer the mix of inventory or services that actually sells. After all, you're in business to make a profit and as the saying goes, "If I don't make money, it don't make sense!"

Actual sales data must be used to answer the first two questions below. Each question is followed by recommendations that may be applied:

Question #1: What are my best sellers and why? If you have evidence to indicate that sales of certain items will continue, obviously you will continue to carry these items. Next, determine if there are related items that present an opportunity to increase sales. For example, if you're selling potted plants it may be feasible to offer garden tools or a special set of seed packets as a limited-time promotion or as something available on an ongoing basis. A follow-up question is "What new items should I add and why?" When you update your line of products and services, it gives customers a reason for repeat visits and increases the likelihood they will eventually make a purchase of something from you. After all, they have some interest in what you offer, which is why they're browsing in the first place, so be sure to keep your inventory "fresh" to give them reason to return.

Question #2: What has sold the least and why? Items displayed in your store, on your website or languishing in your stock room that haven't sold within a reasonable amount of time, are taking up space that needs to be cleared for things that can generate profits. First you may want to try alternative displays or pricing of the items and if the items still don't sell, it's time to have a special promotion, clearance sale or to donate them to a local charitable organization to make room for things that will sell. You also have online options like Ebay and Craigs List where you can post your clearance items.

Question #3: How does the presentation of my products and service rank?

Whether your business is primarily a physical location, an online store or a combination, neatness and cleanliness is of utmost importance.

The first recommendation is to take interior and exterior photos of your business location. Then, ask a trusted friend or colleague to look at each photo and rate it on a scale of 1 to 10 (1 being Unacceptable and 10 being Outstanding) in the following areas:

1. Cleanliness (does business appear well-maintained),
2. Organized (is layout of store/website organized and appealing?),
3. Attractive Displays (is merchandise easy to see or cluttered?),
4. Attractive and informative marketing materials (if applicable) and
5. Signage (are exterior and interior signs of professional quality, legible and easy to understand?). Be open to making changes based on the feedback from someone who actually cares enough about you to tell you what they really think. Consider that you may never hear what you really need to know from potential customers who have been turned off by something that they will never share with you.

It may also be helpful to invest time visiting locations of your most successful competitors. The purpose is to pay attention to how they display merchandise, signage used on the exterior and interior of the store, availability and quality of marketing materials and anything else readily visible to a consumer.

Finally, being attentive to what is selling and what is not, then applying an objective assessment process will ensure that consumers will recognize your business as one that is worth visiting and patronizing. They will be assured that you will always have something new to offer, and very likely something they will need to purchase.

Pinterest is one of the more popular photo sharing sites on the web and it is the fastest growing social media platform. The value of Pinterest to a business is that it creates backlinks to your web site. Backlinks are outside links that lead people to your web site: they are important because search engines base their page rankings on how many of these links there are for your web site.

The easiest way to make sure that you are pinning images with a backlink is to use the Pint It Button when you are sharing images from your web site on Pinterest. Follow these steps to install the Pin It Button to your browser:

- Go to http://about.pinterest.com/
- Select "Goodies" in the navigation menu on top right
- Find the "The Pin It Button"
 Select "Download Now"
- Select "Download Now"Drag it to your into your browser

Once you have the Pin It Button installed on your browser, go to a page on your web site that has images you want to share on Pinterest. Select the Pin It button and it will pull up all the images you can add to your Pinterest account and automatically provide the back link to your site.

STUART Tolchin......On LIFE ARE WE OUR OWN WORST ENEMY?

This morning I woke up a bit early and spent about half an hour lazing in my recliner and thinking how pleasant life seemed so far today. I read the Sports Section of the L.A. Times and delighted in the article written by the catcher for the L.A. Dodgers who is writing articles focusing on the World Series. The wonderfully literate article described how, win or lose, at the conclusion of the season ballplayers returned to their regular lives as family members. Generally the players are not treated as heroes in their own homes. Their young children are often not impressed or even interested in their fathers' performance on the field. Really the kids are just interested in having their Dads back at home, and it takes a little while for the kids to accept this man who has been away for so much of the year.

A. J. Elli, the Dodger catcher, describes the pleasure he obtains from just fitting back into the household and participating in the shuttling of kids back and forth and helping his wife with all the tasks associated with being part of a family. The article, for me at least, was very inspiring. It made the point that underneath we are all human beings doing the best we can to fit into this complex society. The fact that some of us are big stars or celebrities doesn't really change anything. This realization gave me great satisfaction. As A.J. explains, "The day after the season ended, my 5-year old daughter asked whether I had to go to the baseball field. My answer of, 'No, honey, the season's over, was met with a simple enthusiastic 'Yes!' from her." A. J. concludes the first section of his article with the wonderful sentence "Baseball is important and provides for our families and loved ones, but being a parent is the most important job we will ever have."

What a wonderful truth. There aren't many of us who have the skills or talent to make the "A" list of celebrity successes, but most of us have the opportunity to be parents and can make use of that opportunity to be good parents. It's so nice to realize that it isn't necessary to see our name in lights in order to accept ourselves. Speaking of self-acceptance, another guy who has made me feel better about the state of the world is the new Pope, who is reminding the world that the basis of religion is to treat other people with dignity and acceptance. The basis of his message is that other people are around so that we can bestow upon them acceptance and love in the same way we can bestow that same gift upon ourselves.

I was still thinking about the Pope and A.J. Ellis when I happened to glance at my recently arrived copy of PARABOLA magazine. I glanced at the table of contents and noticed an article by the famous psychologist William James entitled WHAT MAKES LIFE SIGNIFICANT?, written in 1892. I began reading the article, assuming it would fit into my pleasant positive feelings about the true values in life.

The article begins pleasantly enough, with Professor James describing an idyllic conference at lakeside in the woods. He planned to stay only a day but remained a week because the surroundings and the company were so satisfying. So far so good! Then came the surprise. Upon leaving Professor James caught himself saying, "Ouf! What a relief." He longed for "something primordial and savage, even though it were as bad as an Armenian massacre, to set the balance straight again. James writes that "he cannot abide the atrocious harmlessness of the tepid lakeside sun and chooses to take his chances in the big outside worldly wilderness with all its sins and sufferings." He wants challenges.

If one looks at history, it is pretty clear that mankind has some sort of basic need for conflict and what I call needless destruction. If this is part of our individual DNA, maybe it is time to stop complaining about man's inhuman behavior and to attempt to meet these needs in the most minimally destructive manner. Maybe horrifying Video Games are an outlet for an unfortunate, but nevertheless omnipresent, need to destroy. Maybe drug addiction really is self-medication. Maybe the truer view is not the senselessness of war but, instead, is the miracle of mankind's survival. I hope not.

I was so pleased this morning as I thought about the catcher and the Pope. Well, my advice is still to be the best person you can be and try and do the best job of parenting that you can; but if your children seem at times to be little monsters, don't be shocked. After all being a responsible and effective parent wouldn't be so important if it was not one of the ultimate challenges. I wonder what kind of parent William James was? I guess I shouldn't ask about the Pope.

LITTLE MR. PIGGY

"Better to be silent and be thought a fool than to open your mouth and remove all doubt" — Abraham Lincoln

Oops! Too late. Darn! I'm back. Actually we're back!

Yes I have returned. And with two co-conspirators...Lisa and Barry. (Hee hee, Lisa here, aka one of the co-conspirators. Yes, we've infiltrated Rich's column. He was helpless against our hypnotic superpowers. Don't snap your fingers. He may come out of it.)

As many of you may know I am involved in a radio show called "The Barry, Rich and Lisa Show.' It, coincidentally stars my friends Barry and Lisa hence the use of the names "Barry and Lisa". And rounding out the trio is me, often referred to as Rich...or worse. (Yeah, we'd be dangerous if we had the imagination to come up with a clever name).

You can hear our show, com.

(iThink therefore iAm on iHeart, iThink?)

Our show is a comedic talk show. Occasionally we get an opportunity to help save the day. This week we helped save a pig. You may have seen, or even been a part of the viral "Save Neil the Pig" campaign here in Sierra Madre. Our radio show joined the rest of you who were dedicated to saving the bacon of our town's porcine legacy: a Vietnamese pot-bellied pig named Neil. Neil, at 17, is a senior citizen member of our community (normal life span for pigs is 12 – 14 years). (Next week, we save the ants of Sierra Madre. Bring a picnic lunch to the rally with enough food for 6,000. By the way, obviously Rich and Barry are hams. But Neil the Pig a ham? Never.)

Neil's real heroes are his big sister, Kate, and the Sierra Madre Chief of Police, Larry Giannone. (We love our SMPD.) The other heroes are the citizens of Sierra Madre who expressed support for Neil's continued and permanent residence. (As Neil would say, "Anks-thay, olks-fay." And I say thanks as well for letting us butt in on Rich's columns.)

Well, to really class up this column, I bring to your attention observations about pigs made by really smart people.

"I have myself a poetical enthusiasm for pigs, and the paradise of my fancy is one where pigs have wings. But it is only men, especially wise men, who discuss whether pigs can fly; we have no particular proof that pigs ever discuss it." — G.K. Chesterton

...therefore would I rather be a swineherd on Amager, and be understood by the swine than a poet, and misunderstood by men." — Søren Kierkegaard_ "Never try to teach a pig to sing — it wastes your time and annoys the pig."

— Robert A. Heinlein (and maybe Mark Twain)

Glad to be back. Please listen to our radio insanity on iHeart.com and villagevine.org. It's the Barry, Rich and Lisa show.

JOE Gandelman......An Independent's Eye

AMERICA'S POLITICAL CENTER FIGHTS BACK

Is America's center rising again? It certainly seems that way.

After months of looking as if it was being prepared for embalming by a political mortician, several things have happened. American voters, the Republican establishment and Wall Street got a harrowing glimpse of how the Republican far right was ready to willingly shove the United States over political and fiscal cliffs in the government shutdown and debt default crisis. So now America's mainstream has started to make known its ire and willingness to inflict consequences on ideologists. Meanwhile, a certain New Jersey Governor who refuses to march lockstep with the Tea Party and their enablers made a shift that confirms the center's influence.

Whether it's called the "might middle" (by centrists, moderates and independents) or the "mushy middle" (by Republican conservatives and by Democratic liberals who now call themselves "progressives," which is like "used cars" being called "pre-owned cars"), a new NBC News/ Esquire poll found 51 percent of Americans in the middle. NBC News notes it's a 21st century work in progress: "Yes, the center is mostly white (78 percent) but so is most of the American voting public (72 percent) — and the center is changing. Already it contains a fifth of African-American voters, one in two Latino voters, and half the women in America. The center is roomy, or in other words, welcoming."

Far-right conservatives seem to be actively working to alienate these groups. More NBC: "Among the middle groups, 64 percent are in favor of same-sex marriage and 67 percent want to see a federal minimum wage hike. Sixty three percent believe women in their first trimester should have the right to an abortion and 52 percent believe marijuana should be legalized. Of those responding, 54 percent of the middle say the government needs to maintain public assistance programs." In other words, the opposite of what Tea Partiers

Poll after poll shows Republicans reaping political sewage from the shutdown. A CNN/ ORC International poll found that more than half of Americans now feel Republican control of the House is bad. A new ABC/Washington Post poll finds that only 20 percent think Republicans are interested in doing what's best for the country. While experts such as The National Journal's Charlie Cook still say Democrats retaking the House in 2014 is "a long shot," the unimaginable is now imaginable.

The Tea Party's poster boy is shutdown fiasco architect Texas Sen. Ted Cruz, the embodiment of Rush Limbaugh's ideological dreams, a kind of Sarah Palin 2.0, a first-termer threatening to politically take out fellow Republican Senators who don't agree with him. Humorist Andy Borowitz's tweet underscores how Cruz and the Tea Party are outside America's mainstream: "BREAKING: Bipartisan Effort in Senate to Avoid Making Eye Contact with Ted Cruz.'

Meanwhile, an open Republican civil war has begun as traditional conservatives vow to remain silent no more. As Tea Partiers have announced that they'll work to defeat GOPers who voted to lift the shutdown, such as Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell, Republican donors unhappy with Tea Partiers are withholding checks -- and some Wall Street linked groups will reportedly work to defeat Tea Partiers.

Meanwhile, in New Jersey, Governor Chris Christie, who is heading to a landslide re-election, outraged social conservatives by dropping the state's opposition to same sex marriage. It was an acknowledgement of the reality where the country is on the issue -- and Christie does reality-based politics.

Christie is loathed by Tea Partiers, many Internet conservatives and the conservative talkers, but is he a GOP nominee in waiting? The Week's Marc Ambinder calls Christie " the leading edge of politics, the most broadly acceptable captain of a change movement that the Republican Party can embrace. That makes him the de facto leader of red state America, even if it's not willing to accept him just yet."

The old saying "all good things come to those who wait" may not be accurate. All signs now point to America's political center not waiting to give a thumbs down on Tea Party Republicanism. The question is whether the Republican Party can halt the Tea Partiers' crusade to weed out non-Tea Partiers and take the party over before America's voters and The Might Middle give a thumbs down to the GOP.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

THUMBS UP, THUMBS DOWN, NOW EV-ERYBODY TURN AROUND

Flying in an airplane is not my preferred style of transportation. However, flying without an airplane is quite disastrous, if you know wnat I mean!

I am not quite sure the Wright brothers would be too happy with some of the things passing as an airplane these days. It seems to me that psychotic midgets have designed modern day airplanes. Nothing in an airplane is designed for the normal person, and I might as well say it, I consider myself normal. I may be a shade taller than normal but I am normal in every other respect.

The one plane I took from Detroit to Dayton Ohio was about as small as I have ever been on. Walking down the aisle, I could not even stand up but had to bend over in order to walk down the aisle. I heard a noise behind me that startled me and I stood up only to dash my head against the ceiling. That was not the worst headache of my flight.

One of these days, I would like to meet the person who designed the seats in those planes. I will admit to being a little post thin, but after all shouldn't you be able to sit down in a seat when you are flying?

I truly do not understand what a seatbelt is for with individuals like me. I can barely squeeze myself into that seat and then it takes me about 15 minutes to extract myself from the seat. I suppose a seatbelt is for the comfort of the pilot who believes that somehow I will not bounce out of my seat while he is flying. I could not bounce out if my life depended upon it.

My seat was so tight and I fit so snugly in it that when I sneezed it felt like I did some damage to my inner organs. Somewhere in the Constitution there has to be something to the effect that an individual has the right to sneeze without hurting himself.

What I want to know is why do I always have to sneeze when I am in certain situations

Then, comes the time when you need to go to the bathroom. The flight attendant will bring you all the free beverages you can consume. They know, and I guess they are snickering behind our back, that everybody is going to have to go to the bathroom at the same

Coordinating the bathroom run is one of the trying exploits of flying the friendly skies. For one, by the time I realize I have to go to the bathroom there is a line for the bathroom. Fortunately, but the time I extradite myself from my seat the line has dwindled dramatically. Then again, I have to go to the bathroom so bad I am dancing up the aisle to the bathroom to the great applause of the people sitting there. Once I fasten myself into the seat, I try to get comfortable enough to do a little reading. Since I am sitting in the aisle seat, everybody is bumping into me as they go up and down

Now that I am situated so that I cannot move, they come again with beverages. Why is it I forget there is a link between drinking a beverage and going to the bathroom? I know there is a link but when I am up in the air so high my tiny little grey cells are working in slow motion. So why take a free beverage? Well, it is free!

I am at the age in my development where going to the bathroom is a frequent activity, even when not drinking any beverages. When consuming a beverage, this activity kicks into high gear. Once again, I need to extricate myself from my seat and find my way to the bathroom.

I am not quite sure about this, but I believe in mid air the airplane pilot switches the bathroom from the front to the rear. I am dancing up the aisle, which I believe is in the direction of the bathroom, only to discover I am going in the wrong direction.

A few of the people in the seats are smiling at me and one person gives me a thumbs-up as I turn around and dance in the direction of the actual bathroom facility. With a forced grin, I give a thumbs-up back at him and proceed in the direction of the bathroom.

It is at this point that I run into a line. Wouldn't you know it; the line is for the bathroom? This is a real thumbs-down for me. It is at this point that I really wish I was not a gentleman. After all, a gentleman has to let the ladies go first. I think if some of these ladies would know the actual situation, they would insist I go first and I certainly would give them a wonderful thumbs-up.

As I was standing in line, a verse of Scripture popped into my head.

"And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left" (Isaiah 30:21 KJV).

Many things in life have us going in circles to which there is no end. God, however, puts us on the straight and narrow path that ends with Jesus Christ.

The best comedy movies makes you laugh out loud and so hard your

The best comedy movies bring to life the whimsical nature of the human experience. Even shortly after birth the focus is making the child smile. Everyone, young and old enjoy laughing at the oddity of life in it's many forms.

More than half of the people on the face of this Earth are ardent moviegoers; though the choice of genre may be different for different people. But, one genre everybody loves is the comedy. But is it just the talkies that we are interested in? Let's take a little peek into the history of the best comedy movies.

One of the oldest genres in films, some of the very first silent movies were comedies, as slapstick comedy often relies on visual depictions. Comic films began to appear during the era of silent films (1895-1930) and though the first name that strikes us is of Charlie Chaplin, the very early comedy was Watering the Gardener (1895) by Lumière brothers.

The best Comedy movies, unlike other film genres, puts much more focus on individual stars, with many former stand-up comedians transitioning to film industry due to their popularity. After 1920s was the era of cartoon characters, remember Mickey Mouse.

Though the list is endless, here's a short list of the best comedy movies of that era- Second Honeymoon and The Medicine Man (1930), Three Broadway Girls (1932), My Man Godfrey (1936), His Girl Friday (1940), The Smallest Show on Earth (1957), Utopia (1954), etc.

With time and our culture, our best comedy movies also have evolved. The slapstick humor and skit-type movie was acceptable during those good, old days but as we went farther up the road, people really wanted to see something different and with a story. That was the birth of a variety of comedies- romantic comedy, animated comedy, family comedy, musical comedy, sex comedy and so on.

Gradually, our focus shifted from a comedy star to other characters and story. Some viewers even started taking offense in comedies, made only to amuse. Sects were made concluding that these movies have magnified crime rate because they are obscene and immoral. Since these allegations and protests were unfitting, people continued to watch and enjoy some of the best comedies like Lay That Rifle Down, The Runaway Bus, Love Island, etc.

For more than a century, the movie industry has been nation's most important purveyor of culture and entertainment to the masses, playing a critical role in the shift from Victorian to distinctively modern values, from silent visual to audiovisual.

In case you have not relished our true classic comedies and you think you won't either, think again. Check out these classics and laugh your heart out- All the Charlie Chaplin movies, Lonely Wives, The Front Page, Goodbye Love, The Flying Deuces, Dreaming Out Loud, etc. You just don't know what you are missing!

No apparent problems with attendance or job performance, but she hasn't gotten a raise in those ten years, and now and the costs of subsistence." Data show that a makes $8.25 an hour. The problem is that the company she works for is McDonald's.

Seeking advice on how to make ends meet, she called an employee help line ("McResources" - really). The rep on the other end was helpful; offering access information and phone numbers to help Nancy enroll in Medicaid, home heating a share of GDP has been the highest on record. assistance, food stamps - government programs where taxpayers "pick up the slack" for employers who keep full-time workers in poverty.

hits in just a few days on YouTube – check out "McResources 'Help' Line".)

the line we heard was that if they were paid a livable wage, we'd be paying an extra buck for our Big Macs. A research report that came out of UC Berkeley a couple weeks ago, however, shows that whether we luncheon at Zugo's or In-N-Out, as taxpayers we're all paying now for those low wages - $7 billion a year to subsidize fast-food workers' wages; enabling employers to keep them from rising above poverty level.

The study shows that while 25% of our nation's workforce is on some form of public assistance, in the fast-food industry it's 52% - including a majority of those working 40 or more hours a week, many as primary income-earners for their families. A rough breakdown of that $7 billion we spend annually to pick up the slack is $4 billion for Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program, $2 billion for the Earned Income Tax Credit, and a billion for food stamps.

Fast-food corporations profit nicely off taxpayersubsidized wages. The biggest beneficiary in 2012 was McDonald's, whose 707,800 workers relied on $1.2 billion in government benefits to survive. Meanwhile, its $5.5 billion profit (on $27.6 billion revenue) went for shareholder dividends and stock buybacks. While workers got $8.00 an hour, its CEO took in $1.14 million – per month. (That's $7,135 an hour – or the combined pay of 900 of his workers.)

McDonald's is out in front, but not alone in relying on taxpayer subsidies to boost profits. Yum! Brands (Taco Bell, Pizza Hut, KFC) cost

"Most fast-food workers taxpayers $648 million in wage subsidies while (whose average age, by the way, reporting a profit of $1.6 billion - and paying now is 29 - I'm not talking about its CEO more than McDonald's, at $14 million kids) are on some form of public a year. Domino's availing itself of $126 million assistance . . . This is the welfare in taxpayers' wage subsidies allowed it to spend that conservatives hate, but they on overseas expansion and technological never stop to think: if we raise improvements, rather than on its workers.

Of course, this goes beyond fast-food. McDonald's and Wal-Mart to pay their employees Whenever there's talk of a Wal-Mart coming to enough to eat, we the taxpayers wouldn't have to a community, there's talk of it bringing jobs. As community leaders become savvy to the track record, however, they realize what it really brings then Uncle Sam has to. And I, for one, am getting is a minimum-wage workforce dependent on a little tired of helping highly profitable companies taxpayer subsidies and community charities to stay on its feet.

Last spring, Democratic staffers on the House Committee on Education and the Workforce issued a report on the effect of Wal-Mart's low wages - not just on its workers, but on the entire economy. As stated in the Executive Summary, Taxpayer funded public benefit programs make up the difference between Wal-Mart's low wages 300-employee Wal-Mart in Wisconsin could cost taxpayers up to $1.7 million a year to subsidize low wages - around $5,800 per employee.

The result of such policies is that 93% of income gains during the recovery have gone to the top 1%. For third quarter 2012, corporate profit as Workers' wages during that period comprised their smallest share of GDP ever.

A study a year ago from Demos found that (A video on the call got over a half-million bringing annual incomes of retail workers to $25,000 a year would lift 734,000 people out of poverty, increase GDP between $12 billion and When fast-food workers protested last summer, $15 billion and create up to 130,000 new jobs over a year's time.

> While Wal-Mart pays its employees a rough average of $9.00 an hour, at Costco it's $22.00 with benefits. Despite this disparity in pay, in 2012 each Costco employee produced $10,700 net profit for the company; at Wal-Mart it was $7,800. Costco profits rose 19% the first quarter of this year; Wal-Mart struggled, and ended up at the bottom of the American Customer Satisfaction Index.

> At $90 billion, the six Wal-Mart heirs share more wealth than the bottom 49 million American families combined. Meanwhile, Wal-Mart employees comprise the largest single source of food stamp and Medicaid recipients in most states, requiring $2.66 billion yearly from taxpayers to subsidize their low wages.

> The irony pointed out by Bill Maher is that while Republicans are most disdainful of those who turn to government programs to help support their families, they are most adamantly opposed to anything that would enable workers to turn away from them. This would include long-overdue raises in the minimum wage, and enforcing the right of workers to collective bargaining. If all they can do is spend time trying to keep these workers from obtaining affordable healthcare and threatening another shutdown, then it's time to send others to Washington to pick up the slack.

Obamacare "Mistakes" Part Of The Plan GREG WELBORN

Kathleen Sebelius is not at fault for the apparent "failure" of Obamacare, nor is some Americans; 2) the poor programmer - or team of programmers. government therefore Yes, the website has issues, but they will be fixed, and it will eventually work. The real problem here is that Obamacare is actually accomplishing exactly what it was intended to

Too much attention is being paid to a website crash. These come and go, and we'll eventually laugh at the stories of people who spent days or weeks trying to log-in. What's not so funny is the fact that millions of Americans will lose their health insurance because of Obamacare. And it's not a problem the administration intends to fix. With the mainstream media finally arriving to the party and doing some serious investigative reporting, we now have heard directly from President Obama's spokesperson, from Kathleen Sebelius and from the IRS, that the forced termination of millions of insurance plans was recognized early on - despite the President's repeated promises to the contrary – and was planned.

NBC News, of all places, reported that the administration knew early on that millions would lose their health insurance under Obamacare. Three days before the law was signed, the Congressional Budget Office estimated the terminations would total 8 to 9 million. After passage, the CBO reaffirmed these estimates in now-public letters to Nancy Pelosi and Harry Reid. The Department Medicare and Medicaid Services estimated 14 million Americans would lose their employer-provided health insurance, and other reports added 15 million more terminations among Americans who purchase their health insurance individually. That's a bare minimum of 30 million Americans just from "official" administration estimates.

The fact that the President lied is obvious at this point. Why he lied is much more important. Notice that he's not saying they'll fix it. If it was truly an unknown (ie: nobody told The President) or if it was a known problem, but they didn't have time to fix it before the carefully orchestrated vote on the bill, then you'd clearly expect the administration to be offering solutions now. But they're not.

Instead, they're justifying it and offering explanations about why it's OK that millions of Americans will lose their health insurance. The White House's Jay Carney explained, "there are going to be changes brought about by [Obamacare] to create minimum standards. "Policies that don't meet those standards About the author: Gregory J. Welborn is a therefore do not qualify." Similar words were freelance writer and has spoken to several civic offered by Kathleen Sebelius. They're not disputing this reality now, nor are they willing moral issues. He lives in the Los Angeles area to change it because it is exactly what was with his wife and 3 children and is active in the intended.

The heart of Obamacare contains three core components: 1) the government has established a high level of minimum benefits making the government mandated policy too expensive for many offers subsidies people who would otherwise balk purchasing insurance, and 3) to finance the subsidies and the rich benefits which will be paid overwhelmingly older Americans, the government has to force people, especially the young and healthy, into buying the coverage. Just like any insurance plan, its success depends on having enough people covered so that premiums from healthy people cover benefit payments made to sick people.

If too many Americans abstain from buying the government insurance, then the whole house of cards comes tumbling down. President Obama, in order to get the law passed, promised people they would be grandfathered in and could keep the policies they had, but the law's actual rules and interpretive regulations eliminated this protection if somebody changed any aspect of their insurance. They literally forced insurance companies to dump their customers. Almost any change in an old policy makes it a new policy, which has to conform to the law or be terminated. So... millions of terminations. To survive, Obamacare needs millions of of Health and Human Services Centers for Americans to be forced into the government program rather than stay on private policies.

This is liberalism's naked arrogance finally exposed for all to see. Liberals reserve the right to determine what we should have even if we don't want it. They know best, and we're just a bunch of ignorant peons who should respect the judgment of our enlightened rulers. But just in case we don't want to respect those lofty decisions, Liberals make it the law of the land and empower the IRS to come after us.

I wrote last month about the President's qualities as a leader. I reiterate those observations again. The President seems to be leading just fine. He knows where he wants to take the country, whether we want to go there or not. So far, he's got most of the Democrats and, until this last week, most of the mainstream media following him. That's leadership. It's not in a very good direction, but it is leadership. The most objectionable parts of Obamacare are not mistakes. They are exactly what President Obama wanted. I think we need a new leader.
