Sierra Madre Police Blotter

For The Period December 8-15, 2013

Tuesday December 10, 2013

At approximately 3pm, a white Nissan pickup truck was stolen from the 400 block of North Sunnyside Avenue. The truck, which contained several gardening tools, was seen being driven away from the location by an unknown male. Witnesses saw the vehicle being followed by a tan Ford Explorer. With the assistance of the police helicopter, a search of the area was conducted but neither vehicle was located. As of December 16, 2013, the vehicle still had not been found.

Thursday December 12, 2013

At 3:15pm, a traffic collision occurred on Highland Avenue just east of Michillinda Avenue. A vehicle travelling eastbound veered to the right and collided with a vehicle parked at the south curb. The force of the impact caused the eastbound vehicle to roll over onto the roof of the parked vehicle. The driver was unhurt and the passenger sustained only minor injury. The investigation revealed that the driver and passenger became distracted when they focused on their cell phones just prior to the collision. Additionally, the driver displayed objective symptoms of intoxication and open alcoholic beverage containers were found at the scene. The driver was arrested for DUI.

Friday December 13, 2013

At 2pm, a traffic collision took place in the intersection of Lima Avenue and Montecito Avenue. A westbound vehicle entered the intersection without yielding to the southbound vehicle which had the right of way. The force of the initial impact caused the southbound vehicle to collide with a third vehicle parked at the curb. Although major vehicle damage was evident, no serious injuries were reported.

Saturday December 14, 2013

At approximately 7:30pm a family visited the Yogurt and More Store in Kersting Court. When they left the location, they forgot their Apple IPAD and Mini IPAD. A few minutes later they returned to the location and determined the items had been removed from the table where they had left them. No witnesses were located. Detectives will be reviewing store video to determine if the theft was recorded.

THE COMMUNITY CHORUS OF REDLANDS RETURNS

The Community Chorus of Redlands returns to Sierra Madre for a wonderful holiday gift of "A Concert of Anthems, Readings, and Carols of the Season." Be prepared for a moving and unique presentation.

The event is on Saturday, December 21 at 8 pm at St. Rita Catholic Church, 318 N. Baldwin (corner of Grandview), Sierra Madre. Parking lot behind the church; enter from E. Grandview.

Dr. Jeffrey Rickard, Professor Emeritus of Sacred Music, directs a 70-voice choral ensemble with orchestral accompaniment. The festive evening features a wide variety of music. Also on hand is a special appearance by Ensemble XXI, a Redlands Camerata of over twenty voices. This is the fifth visit to St. Rita by this very gifted and special group. Dr. Rickard originally asked St. Rita to host this event because of the widely acclaimed acoustics of the church building. He is a native of Sierra Madre and thus presents this very special gift to his former hometown. This event has previously been held on a Sunday afternoon. We hope the

Sierra Madre-Pasadena-

CITY NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ROBO-PHONE CALLS

Sierra Madre, Calif. – Residents have reported receiving a "robo-call" from a group identifying itself as, "Water for You", no other identification or return number is provided for this group. A number of residents have reported the calls as "threatening" and the City felt it was important to clarify that the City is not responsible for the calls. The City of Sierra Madré does not know who has paid for these robo-phone calls, nor does the City have contact information for this group.

While the City is confident that our water customers will read the information that was included in the Proposition 218 mailing that was mailed to all water and sewer customers and will ultimately make their own decisions regarding the proposed water and sewer rate increase, the City felt it was important to correct misinformation provided in the robo-call.

First, the "water rate increase" is not a 69% rate increase, but a total revenue increase of 61% over five years. This does not translate into a direct 61% increase to every water customer's bill. (For the impact on individual customer bills please see the next paragraph.) The water fund needs to increase its total revenues in order to reverse the deteriorating financial condition of the fund. Currently, the water fund does not generate sufficient revenues to support its annual operational, capital and debt payments. Please refer to the "Fact sheet" that was included in the Proposition 218 mailing, and is also available on the City's website for a complete explanation of the difference between a "revenue" increase" and a "rate increase."

Secondly, under the proposed rate increase, the majority (more than 50%) of Sierra Madre water customers' bi-monthly water bills will increase less than 10% the first year of the proposed increase. A typical residential water customer, who uses 33 units of water is estimated to experience the following increases in their water bill:

- 10.3% ($12.70 bi-monthly, or $6.35 a month) increase the first year,
 - 14.3% ($19.40 bi-monthly or $9.70 per month) increase the second year,
- 12.7% ($19.71 bi-monthly, or $9.86 a month) increase the third year, 2.5% ($4.24 bi-monthly or $2.21 per month) increase the fourth year, and a
- 3.7% ($6.70 bi-monthly or $3.35 per month) increase the fifth year.

There is a Water Rate Calculator available on the City's website to assist customers in determining the estimated impact on their own water bill.

Lastly, the Sierra Madre City Council unanimously approved presenting the proposed rate structure to the City's water and sewer customers.

For information about the proposed water and sewer rate increase, please call City Hall at (626) 355-7135 from 11 am to 5:30 pm on Monday to Thursday. Or you can go to the City's website at www. cityofsierramadre.com.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE.....THE SOCIAL SIDE

By Deanne Davis

Dear Sierra Madreans! In a few days it will be Christmas! The actual day we've all been waiting for, planning for, shopping for (I love Amazon.com more than I can describe), cooking for, and if you're ten and under, being beyond excited about.

That First Noel's come 'round again, Just like it does each year! To tell us it's Christmas! Finally it's Christmas! Joyfully it's Christmas, The best time of the year!

Sunday the 15th, had a wonderful walk up through the canyon very early and saw our family of six deer, wandering casually down somebody's driveway, but stopping long enough to pose fetchingly, especially the antlered buck, who let all the girls go first while he kept a close eye on us, then bounded over a little rock wall and herded his group out of sight.

Oh! The tree is in the window,

A wreath is on the door! About a million ornaments are scattered on the floor!

Finally it's Christmas! Joyfully it's Christmas, A very Merry Christmas, the best time of the year!

Driving through town at night is delightful, observing all the splendid lights on the houses. Ours are up and look pretty splendid, too. Christmas trees are filling a whole lot of front windows and we realized we needed to quit procrastinating and get our own personal tree up and decorated.

Presents piled each place you look, Bikes and dolls and even books. Candles red and holly green, Warm and light this Christmas scene.

Sunday, the 15th, John, my handsome and amazingly patient husband, took me to Pepper's Mexican Restaurant for Huevos Rancheros and a glass of champagne before tackling Tree. Got it in the house, put it in the stand, gave it a healthy drink of water and tree food, brought up the boxes, put The Santa Clause in the DVD player, started stringing lights and feeling fairly jolly. A couple of hours later, Tree looked fantastic. We stood back and pronounced it Best Tree Ever.

Monday the 16th. Got ready for the walk, turned on the lights and discovered that Tree was lying on its side, surrounded by a whole lot of wet carpet.

But that's not the reason, We celebrate this Season!

When finally it's Christmas! Joyfully it's Christmas! A very Merry Christmas, the best time of the year!

Some Christmases are just a little more exciting than others. A number of years ago, one of our neighbors experienced a fire in their Christmas tree, which brought out the neighborhood, the fire department, and a lot more attention than they really wanted.

Peace on earth, good will to men,

We celebrate that night again.

Hope was born that Christmas, Joy was born that Christmas. Angels filled the sky with light, the first Silent Night, Holy Night.

I resisted the urge to throw myself on the floor (in a dry spot) and throw a tantrum and made coffee instead. We picked Tree up, did a whole lot of readjusting, got out the Shop Vac, sucked up as much water as possible and started over. Nothing broke, it all looks beautiful and, with any luck at all, it won't find it necessary to collapse again.

Hope your tree is gorgeous, all your lights twinkle merrily, and none of the Christmas cookies stick

CITY TO ALLOW NEW HOMELESS SHELTERS

By Dean Lee

The city council approved unanimously Monday night the adoption of an ordinance that will bring the city into state compliance for an unmet need for emergency shelters for persons who are homeless.

The city currently has an unmet need of 89 beds.

According to city staff, the proposed Zoning Code amendments would create a new land use called Emergency Shelter Limited. Emergency Shelter, Limited. The new specific land use standards, and would permit emergency shelters, up to 12 persons per shelter in two areas, south of Del Mar Blvd., east of Marengo Ave. in West Pasadena and south of Foothill Blvd., between Sierra Madre Blvd. and the 210 freeway, in East Pasadena.

City staff said in the west, there were 24 possible site locations for new shelters and 13 sites in the east study area.

The city would also set operational standards for any new shelter, "admission would be between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m." staff said during a November meeting when the issue was first heard. "lodging and meals would be for guests and staff only, at least one paid staff, guest storage space, parking would be one space for every four beds, no outdoor waiting areas and staff and counseling services provided to area residents?

Councilmember Victor Gordo also asked that they include cleanliness standards.

"I think we should mandate that the operators keep, not just the property but the space in front of their property to certain cleanliness standards,

Gordo also asked if they could mandate drug and alcohol testing something City Attorney Michele Beal Bagneris said was doubtful.

The ordinance will be reviewed every three years.

He also qualifies for our "Seniors for Seniors" program in which his adoption fee is waived for adopters 60 years old and older. New adopters will receive complimentary and wellness health exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information on how to care for your pet. Ask an adoptions counselor for more information during your visit.

Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at 626.792.7151 to ask about A340745, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11-4 Sunday, 9-5 Tuesday -Friday, 9-4 Saturday. Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters from phone calls or email. Directions and photos of all pets can be found at www. pasadenahumane.org.

ADAM MILLER, FOLKSINGER/STORYTELLER AND AUTOHARP VIRTUOSO EXTRAORDINAIRE COMES TO DUARTE

This past Monday, local residents were treated to two outstanding performances by Adam Miller, Folksinger/Storyteller/Autoharp Virtuoso as a gift to the Community from the Duarte Friends of the Library. I am embarrassed to admit I had never heard of him before, but after Monday's performances, I will be purchasing his materials and waiting for his return to southern California.

Not only one of the premier autoharpists in the world, Adam Miller also has fame as an American folksinger and naturalborn storyteller. During his performance, we learned about different folklore tales and actual history as he enthralled us with his rich baritone voice accompanied by lively finger-picking acoustic guitar and stunningly beautiful autoharp melodies.

Mr. Miller told us that Sam Hinton, a Marine biologist and American folksinger of six decades best known for his harmonica playing was his mentor.

Mr. Miller himself is a troubadour, traveling 70,000 miles a year performing in concert halls worldwide as well as teaching students-over 1,000,000 have attended his "singing Through History" school assembly programs.

Mr. Miller opened the program with a little history about the two beautiful harpsichords he brought with him. He then spoke of early Christmas traditions in England and people traveling from town to town. He introduced us to John Jacob Miles, an American composer, singer, and collector of traditional ballads. Soon we were joining in, singing the chorus to "Kentucky Wassail".

History time brought the explanation of "Boxing Day", December 26th in Canada and England. It had nothing to do with boxing, but a money gift was put into boxes and given to the servants/tradesmaen the day after Christmas. December 26 is also the feast day of St. Stephen, the first martyr who was stoned to death. Long ago, in Ireland, they blamed a wren for alerting the soldiers where Stephen was. They would beat a wren with a stick, put wren in a box and go door to door to collect money. (Fortunately that ended in the early 1900's.)

Mr. Miller explained how Christmas has been celebrated on December 25th as a religious holy day In America, ibut n Japan and Korea, it's a secular holiday with Christmas trees and presents. It was fascinating to learn that many songs are the merger of melodies and poems such as "Oh Holy

Mr. Miller told the background of Pete Seeger, son of Professor Charles Seeger who taught folklore at Berkeley and Constance de Clyver Edison, who was raised in Tunisia, trained in Paris, a concert violinist who taught at Juillard. They divorced when Pete was seven. His stepmother was Ruth Crawford, who wrote American folksongs for children. Pete was a member of the Weavers, wrote many songs, a Pacifist, and traveled across the county. (Back in the late 60's, I was in our student lounge and Pete, carrying his guitar, came in a fellow student, sat down and sang! There were less than 15 of us there!)

Please visit Adam Miller's website: www.Folksinging.org He has several special school programs for grades K-12. Some include: An Introduction to Folksongs and Ballads, Colonial Days, Going to the West, Folksongs Lincoln loved, The Gold Rush, Steamboatin Days, Cowboys Songs and Ballads, The Great American Railroad, Woody Guthrie: American Balladeer, Songs of the Labor Movement, and Wailing and Sailing Songs. Attention all music AND social studies teachers: this man is so lively and interesting- he will capture their attention.

some nomanys are commemoranve, some mark achievements, but the most necessary in the world are those dedicated to devotion.

The holidays, like the tenor of the seasons, reinvent our thinking. Labor Day is nothing more than a chance to flee the cage of the city. One could reasonably argue that a society, who is falling blind to the inspiration of its own past, should be conscripted to a day off on President's Day but that day is mostly given to banks and government employees.

Christmas is different though. There is an element of magic in Christmas, or more accurately; the Biblical account chronicles the greatest expression of love known to the world with the story of Jesus. To understand the miracle of Christmas, it must be agreed that all gifts are not equal in value: some are common, some are noble, but the most precious gift ever offered to a hostile world, entered in the form of a child.

Each Christmas, the reminder of God's gift revisits the world in the star-filled eyes of children; children bequeathed with a power beyond the measure of earthly kings. Absorbed in these tiny emperors of invention and rulers of expression, christen the finer proofs of heaven. As though a company of actors, children stage a play upon the world, and their dream-filled eyes form the whole of a heavenly theater, performing the delightful announcement of a baby on Christmas Day. If angels wander the world, then youth must hide their wings, for a child exalts the world in an empire beyond the reach of giants. The holy heartbeat of these tiny shepherds steer our mind across a field of thought, where the heavy burdens of this life float on the white wings of angels.

Some may challenge Christmas; some may celebrate the holiday absent the Christ child – Jesus. In every era known to the world, there have assembled lavish parties and expensive festivals to celebrate, celebrating. The remnants of such diaries are consistently frail in transcending the perishable good of a gathering, for nothing survives in a place of decency or presumes to endure the impulses of this world. Nothing elevates among the importance of the next, if neither a virtue is anointed, nor a thought made holy.

The holiday celebration may reign in a delightful style of tribute. It may mark a salute to family and an eloquent honor of friends, but if the Christmas celebration neglects the mission of making our hearts holy, and ignores the child called Christ, then the devotion to a miracle passively withers into an institutional of a day off.

A provocative breed of faith, and a cultural mode of persuasion, have prevailed upon this age. This self-regarded age has become convinced in the power of Santa Claus, and the general belief that the wonderful enchantment of children, alone, can make the season of Christmas great. Sure enough, there'd be a measure of magic in an experience absent Jesus, but the instant we discard the evidence of a miracle in the birth of Jesus is the moment a crowned lesson and royal illustration loses its power to renew us. If we forget the story of Christmas, and a tranquil night along the hills of Bethlehem, we live in as much a fairytale as ole Saint Nick. The day we close our eyes to the story of God, a Christmas Star, and the journey of Three Wise men who chased the prophets' promise of a heavenly king, is the moment we've grown blind to the "true meaning of Christmas."

The real story of Christmas will never be found in the material things that we give to family and friends. If Christmas is to reign within us and to have any meaningful expression to our own lives, then it must be discovered in what we give to God.

In all seasons and in all the places of your life may your path follow under the light of Christmas Star.

Merry Christmas!

The company also provided details Friday about the extent of the hack and the information that could have been compromised.

The nation's No. 2 general merchandise retailer said cards used at its brick-and-mortar stores between Nov. 27 and Dec. 15 of this year may have been impacted.

Target (TGT, Fortune 500) said there is no indication that any debit card PIN numbers were compromised. The retailer also claimed it doesn't appear that the three- or four-digit security code visible on the face of credits cards were breached. Target didn't specify how its systems were hacked. But judging by the scope of the breach and the kind of information that criminals obtained, security experts say hackers apparently targeted the retailer's pointof-sale system. Beware! Fraudsters are impersonating IRS agents are calling people across the country demanding they pay taxes that they don't

The IRS warned of this "pervasive" scam saying it has been identified in nearly every state, we had one confirmed incident in Duarte this week.

They target innocent taxpayers -often immigrants or people retired or close to retirement age -- victims are answering their phones only to be informed they owe money to the IRS and need to pay it immediately by either loading money on a prepaid card or sending it via a wire transfer. If they argue or refuse to pay, scammers will threaten to arrest or deport them, or even suspend their business or driver's license. "In many cases, the caller becomes hostile and insulting," the IRS said in a statement. Duarte resident reported they called many times and gave a 24 hour deadline to get the prepaid card and meet them at a local Duarte business. These calls may be convincing, because the scammers use caller ID spoofing to make sure the IRS's toll-free phone number or 911 shows up on the caller ID, they make up bogus badge numbers and may know the last four digits of a victim's Social Security number.

Sometimes victims will even hear background noise that sounds like a call center. And if the victim hangs up, they may get another call seconds later from the same scammer -- or another one -saying they are with the police or an agent at the DMV and someone will issue a warrant for their arrest if they do not pay.

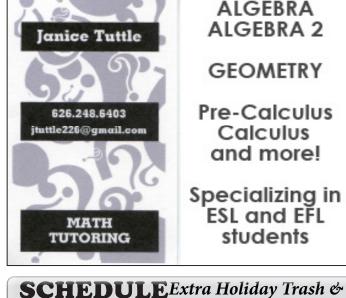

To avoid getting duped, don't believe anyone claiming to be the IRS who calls to ask for your credit card number or requests a prepaid debit card or wire transfer. The IRS said it will never ask for payments to be made by prepaid debit card or wire transfer, and it typically makes its first contact with taxpayers by mail. Nasty language and threats should also be a red flag. You should also be immediately suspicious of any caller demanding money, especially if you aren't aware that you owe anything.

"If someone unexpectedly calls claiming to be from the IRS and threatens police arrest, deportation or license revocation if you don't pay immediately, that is a sign that it really isn't the IRS calling," IRS Acting Commissioner Danny Werfel said in a statement.

To report any calls like this, contact the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration at 800-366-4484.

If you have been a victim please report it by calling Temple Sheriff's Station at (626) 448-9861 or (626) 285-7171.

PUENTE HILLS LANDFILL CLOSURE IMPACTS DISPOSAL RATES FOR DUARTE RESIDENTIAL AND COMMERCIAL CUSTOMERS BEGINNING JAN. 1, 2014

DUARTE, CA- Duarte residents can expect to begin paying an average of about $1.50 more a month on their trash bill beginning January 1, 2014. After a two-year reprieve from any residential increases, an 8% rate increase will go into effect for residential service following a review of the cost data submitted by Burrtec Waste Industries. Commercial customers will also realize a rate increase in the new year. The most commonly used commercial waste service will rise about $4.30 more per

Under the City's contract with Burrtec, annual rate adjustments for refuse collection and recycling are permitted based a specific formula that takes into account various cost factors including the annual percentage change in the Consumer Price Index, waste disposal tipping fees and fuel. The greatest cost increase this year was for green waste disposal. Puente Hills Landfill, which closed on Oct. 31, 2013, had previously used green waste as alternative daily cover. The Los Angeles Sanitation District's Puente Hills Material Recovery Facility and Transfer Station in Whittier (PHMRF) where the refuse of Duarte and other San Gabriel Valley cities is now transported, utilizes green waste as a compost/mulch material which requires more processing at a higher cost. Another factor impacting the cost of refuse disposal is a depressed recyclables market. Recyclable materials have lowered in value largely as a result of China's increased quality standards for mixed paper. Fuel costs also increased by 1.27%.

Duarte has historically maintained some of the lowest rates in Los Angeles County. Duarte's most commonly used residential rate is the second lowest of all the cities surveyed and the most commonly used commercial service rate continues to be lower than the average, compared to surrounding cities.

For residential customers who utilize 90 gallon trash container, 60 gallon recyclable container, and 60 gallon green waste container, the rate will increase from $19.57 to $21.16 a month. Customers with 60/60/60 service will pay $1.30 more per month. Seniors and/or handicapped customers will see a $1.20 increase per month.

The most commonly used Commercial Refuse Service reflects a 3% increase, Commercial Recycling Service rate, a 1% increase, and Commercial Green Service rate a 10% increase. As an example, the cost for commercial customers with a 3 yard bin picked up once a week will increase from $142.84

Burrtec Waste Services began providing franchised refuse collection and recycling services in the City of Duarte in 1996, with the most recent contract extension approved in 2009. In recent years, Burrtec completed the conversion of the diesel fleet to alternative fuel trucks, implemented a used oil curbside collection program, an e-waste collection at Community Cleanups, a construction and demolition processing option, and most recently a new multi-family recycling program.

Warrants - Suspect Arrested

December 16 at 8:20 p.m., an officer on patrol observed a male subject he recognized and knew had outstanding warrants for his arrest. The subject was walking through a rear alley behind a business in the 600 block of West Huntington. A computer check confirmed the male had three drug warrants for his arrest. The male was stopped and arrested for the warrants.

Warrant – Suspect Arrested

December 17 at 12:40 a.m., police dispatch received a call reporting a male subject chasing a female subject in the 700 block of West Foothill. Officers arrived and saw a male subject run north from Foothill to an alley. A resident advised officers of the apartment the subject went into. Officers knocked on the door and eventually located a 16-year-old male hiding inside. He said he ran because he had a warrant for his arrest.

A computer check revealed he did have a no-bail felony warrant for grand theft. While searching the area, officers located a stolen Honda Accord in a carport off the alley that had been stolen out of El Monte and had the ignition punched. The owner of the vehicle was notified and retrieved her vehicle. The male was arrested and taken to Eastlake Juvenile Detention Facility pending his court date.

Passing a Counterfeit Bill / Contributing to the Delinquency of a Minor – Suspects Arrested

December 17 at 11:40 a.m., a staff member from Monrovia High School called to report a student had passed a fictitious five-dollar bill. An officer arrived and interviewed several students, who admitted they had passed the five-dollar bill, and that they had passed a twenty-dollar bill the previous day. One of the students told the officer that the money was given to them by a parent.

Detectives responded to the School District Office and managed to retrieve the bill that was passed the previous day. The parent was called in and admitted she told her son the bill was fictitious and she said she wanted to teach him a lesson if he was caught with the bill. She also admitted that she had two additional bills at her residence and later retrieved the bills. The students and the parent were subsequently arrested and charged. They were later released on citations to appear in court.

Domestic Violence Arrest

December 17 at 9:36 p.m., dispatch received a call reporting a female subject running down the street in the 100 block of North Sunset, yelling for someone to call police. Officers responded and located the female subject. Upon investigation, they learned the female had been in an argument with her husband regarding the family business.

During the argument, the husband choked the female, causing an injury to her neck. He let her go and she ran out of the house in a panic. The husband was questioned and then arrested. The female was taken to a local hospital, where she was treated and an emergency protective order was obtained.

LA SALLE STUDENTS CREATE CARDS TO SEND TO JUVENILE HALL

Pasadena, CA - Under the direction of La Salle High School's Librarian, Delia Swanner, the December Café Bibliothèque, (student library social) in the Blakeslee Library, had students create Holiday cards for the young adults in Juvenile Hall.

For the past 25 years, Just People has visited kids in Sylmar Juvenile Hall on Christmas Day and passed-out over 2,000 handmade Holiday cards. "We appreciated La Salle's contribution since the giving of your time and spirit by making these cards helps the teens in invenile hall, some of whom never in juvenile hall, some of whom never get visitors except from our group on Christmas Day," said a Just People spokesperson. La Salle, a participant since 2005, contributed 70 cards made by over 55 students in December. Just People is a non-profit group that tries to offer some hope and encouragement to some of the many boys and girls currently detained in our area's juvenile detention centers.

Pasadena, CA --- Making the choice on where to send a child to school can be a daunting and stressful task for families. THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show A MADEA CHRISTMAS

While this was definitely not high on my to-see list of movies this holiday season, I'm glad that I saw it. Not all Madea movies do the best at delivering a strong, emotional point but this one does it very well.

When her daughter Lacey (Tika Sumpter) won't come home for Christmas, the overprotective mother Eileen (Anna Maria Horsford) enlists the help of Madea (Tyler Perry) to get her down to her country home. When she arrives unexpectedly, she adds stress to an already nerve racking situation that has been building in the town: their annual Christmas jubilee may not happen and the only was to get the money to save it, the local school, and the town is to get money from Lacey's old boyfriend.

This movie handles a very delicate topic (racism in the modern age) very well. It looks the practice right in the face and says 'This is not good. Stop it.' Madea's straightforward and brutally honest approach to situations not only progresses the plot at a good pace but also keeps annoying characters in line and the audience laughing. While it's not the best comedy ever, A Madea Christmas is a charming holiday movie that has a message of acceptance with a nice and warm Christmas theme at its heart.

BUBBLES FOR THE HOLIDAYS

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

When most of us think of Domestic Wines we tend to go to California first, and why not we have many wonderful regions of wine producing areas Temecula, Santa Barbara, Central Coast but for me it's the Napa Valley. First let me remind you that Champagne is a region in France and only those wine produced it that region can be called "Champagne". Though the wines of the Napa Valley can be produced with the same "Method" as our friends in France. I have one Sparkling wine worthy of starting of our Holiday Series. Mumm Napa Prestige.

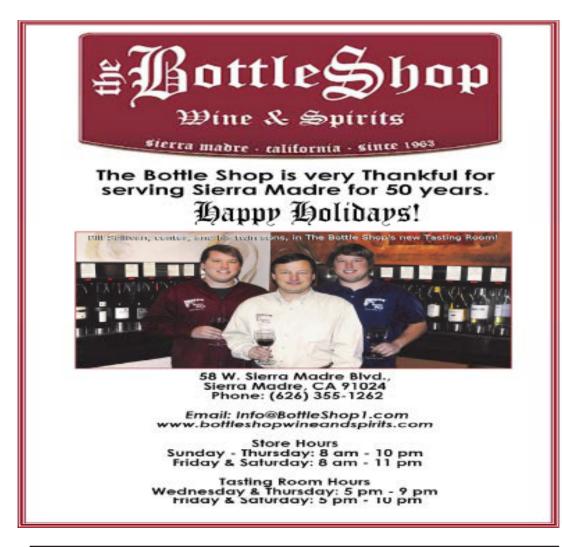

It's a blend of grapes including 45% Chardonnay, 45% Pinot Noir and a small amount of Gris and Meunier grapes, all sourced exclusively from Napa area Vineyards. Don't let that make you hesitant to try, most popular wines that you purchase out source some juice to ensure the right flavor. These grapes are blended during the winter. Sparkling Wines and Champagnes have long been a favorite in the Dills' household, many people believe that Bubbles are for a special occasion, my feeling is everyday is that occasion. Mumm Napa goes wonderful with Salmon, Oysters, BBQ'd or grilled chicken, and for this tasting I had fresh sourdough bread and butter!! Enjoy with a Champagne flute and watch the bubbles flow from bottom to top with light speed.

Dills Score

We start with a base of 50. I have added a 10 for color, 7 for the aroma or "nose" 10 for the taste and a 11 for my overall impression including value. With any Sparkling Wine or Champagne there isn't much time to swirl, but often when you are at a fine dining establishment they will let you taste before you proceed with the bottle. Dills' tip, if there is a pop, and life with plenty of bubbles and the cork expands, it is good to drink. Dills Score 88 Available at Vons, Pavilions and other fine retailers.

Listen to Dining w/Dills every Sunday Night at 5PM KABC and follow Peter Dills on Facebook. Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays

HEALTHY LIFESTYLES

THE JOY OF YOGA

THE FIRE PIT

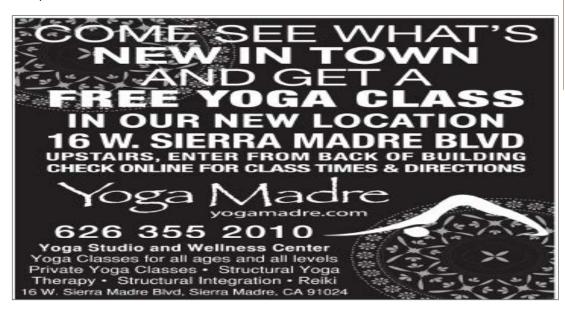

Fire is a central part of the practice of yoga. In traditional tantra -hatha yoga, there are 3 kinds of fire (agni), digestive fire, transformational fire and ceremonial fire. First there is jathara agni. This fire is one that we create in the belly in order to more easily digest. It is referred to as the inner sun. There are exercises and food that stoke this fire. Mantra is also used. Because we digest thought and feeling in addition to food, attention needs to be paid to cultivation of this fire to keep us happy. No one wants a sludge of food, feeling or thought hanging around. We want to effectively process what comes in and then get rid of what has become toxic. The belly is the center where joy and happiness come from. This is not just my idea, Western science is now seeing what the yogis have known all along - that serotonin is actually manufactured in the belly. It is the center of our inner universe really. It's just like the sun. It gives us warmth, and a powerful digestive process turns food into cells and energy. With a strong digestive system comes a strong metabolism. It's a fascinating process. Our asana practice can help us generate this heat in the belly. Ginger is a fabulous aid in digestion too. Our "gut" has it's own ability to guide us. That "gut feeling" is real. You can actually feel queasy when something is not right. This is one of the reasons we advocate a relaxing meal. No TV, computer or standing up while eating. The parasympathetic nervous system needs to kick in so you can digest

We all know that a deep belly laugh is the best kind. Joy comes from this center. Keeping it healthy

Over the next few weeks we will discuss the other two kinds of fire. But for now and during the Holidays especially, keep up that warm glow in your belly. Get into class and melt away the stress, burn up the calories, create some joy in your center and have a lovely Holiday.

See you in class. Namasté, René

This time of year, the herb Echinacea can be very helpful. Echinacea root is an immune stimulant, which means it helps the body to resist infections more efficiently. It is both antimicrobial and antiviral. Echinacea is a very pretty purple flowing plant that has been used to support the immune system for more than 1000 years. It is helping the body's natural defense mechanisms. When your immune system is up to par, you can be prepared for anything.

This time of year we are trying to squeeze more in to our free time than we would normally which adds stress to our body. Our immune systems are challenged and are not working up to par. Of course, I recommend rest and keeping properly hydrated but adding the support of Echinacea can be a real benefit.

Echinacea supports healthy upper respiratory tissue and throat tissue. This time of year most of us can benefit from taking a quality Echinacea supplements especially if you are traveling by plane. The air on a plane is recirculated so if you are traveling with someone who is already sick you will be exposed to their germs while on board the plane. Echinacea enhances your natural immune response by optimizing the function of white blood cells. White blood cells are responsible for getting rid of invaders that would challenge your immune system.

Not all Echinacea supplements are the same. A good way to know if you are taking a high quality Echinacea supplement is to chew it or open a capsule and mix it with a teaspoon of water and swish it in your mouth, you should experience a strong tingling sensation in your mouth. I would like to wish everyone a happy and healthy holiday!

If you are at all familiar no such thing on the market at the with that area, you know it is a very time, so I got creative. I purchased busy, 5-point intersection with lots a heavy duty harness and used a of fast-moving traffic coming from leash to loop through the top strap. all directions. It is most certainly I then wrapped the leash around home, outdoors and in the car.

It Lady, yelling for her to get works wonders! At first she was a became much more confident in the car with her "safety belt" on, in fact now she refuses to ride without it!

> A higher level of pet safety awareness and new legislation to regulate the safe transportation of animals in motor vehicles has apparently inspired pet supply manufacturers to come up with some excellent ideas for pet safety belts, leaving no excuse for a caring, conscientious pet owner to take their dog for a ride without a restraint. One pet supply company, "Pet Buckle" came up with an excellent product concept designed to connect to "Latch Bars" that are installed in the back seat of many vehicles.

> The primary purpose for latch bars, which have become somewhat standard in new vehicles, is for use in securing child and infant car seats, but the creative crew at "Pet Buckle" realized it was a perfect resolution to the problem of connecting a dog restraint in a way that would be both comfortable and secure. There are a number of other products available in today's market, offering something for everyone, regardless of weight, size or shape, so the next time you take your precious pup out for a cruise around town, make sure he/she is restrained safely and securely in a doggy seat belt. It could help save your pet's life, or even your own life in the case of an accident. Let's all try to be conscientious care-takers of our best friends by being responsible for their safety at

SIMPLE CHANGES FOR MAKING A HOME SENIOR-FRIENDLY

Dear Savvy Senior:

What tips or products can you recommend to help make a home safer and more convenient for aging in place? My husband and I are in our 70's and don't have the money for any big renovations, but we want to do what we can to stay in our house as long as possible. Homebodies

Dear Homebodies:

There are lots of small adjustments and simple modifications you can do to make your home safer and livable as you age that are very inexpensive or completely free. Here are several to consider.

Fall-Proofing

Since falls are the leading cause of home injury among seniors, a good place to start is by picking up any possible clutter that can cause you to trip like newspapers, books, shoes, clothes, electrical or phone cords. If you have throw rugs, remove them or use double-sided tape to secure them. And if you have stairs, consider putting handrails on both sides.

Good lighting is also very important, so add lamps or light fixtures where needed, and install brighter full-spectrum bulbs in existing fixtures to improve visibility. Also purchase some inexpensive plug-in nightlights for the bedroom, bathroom and hallways, and consider installing motion sensor lights outside the front and back doors and in the driveway.

In the bathroom get some non-skid bath rugs for the floors, put a non-slip rubber mat or self-stick strips on the floor of the tub/shower, and have a carpenter install grab bars inside the tub/shower.

And in the kitchen, organize your cabinets so the things you use most often are within easy reach without using a step stool.

Simple Modifications

Growing old can also bring about various physical limitations which can make your home more difficult to use. Some simple solutions, for example, that can help weak or arthritic hands is to replace round doorknobs with lever handles, or get some inexpensive doorknob lever adapters. The same goes for twist knob kitchen or bathroom faucets. You can easily replace them with lever faucet handles that you can purchase for a few dollars in most hardware stores, or get a single lever handle

In the kitchen, you can make your cabinets and pantry easier to access by installing pullout shelves or lazy susans. And D-shaped pull-handles for the cabinets and drawers are also recommended because they're more comfortable to grasp than knobs.

In the bathroom consider getting a hand-held adjustable showerhead installed, and purchasing a shower or bathtub seat, so you can shower from a safe seated position if need be. And for easier toilet access, purchase a toilet seat riser for a few dollars. This can make sitting down and standing up a little easier, especially if you're 6 foot or taller.

And, if you get to the point where you need to use a walker or wheelchair, you can adapt your house by installing ramps on entrance steps, and mini-ramps to go over high entrance thresholds. And, you can widen the doorways an additional two inches by installing "swing clear" offset door hinges.

For many more tips, visit The Fall Prevention Center of Excellence website at homemods.org, and see "The AARP Home Fit Guide" (publication D18959) which offers dozens of modification suggestions to make your home safe and livable as you age. You can access it at online at homefitguide.org, or if you're an AARP member, call 888-687-2277 and ask them to mail you a free copy.

Or, if you want personalized help, get an in-home assessment with an occupational therapist, or OT, who can evaluate your home, make modification recommendations and refer you to products and services to help you make improvements. Medicare will pay for a home assessment by an OT if prescribed by a doctor. Ask your physician for a referral.

KATIE Tse.....This and That "ALL I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS IS MY FINGERNAILS!"

There's less than a week before Christmas. And if you have kids on your gift list, good luck! Hopefully you made it through Black Friday, Small Business Monday, and Thirsty Thursday (wait, no --that's for happy hour), without any black eyes or police bookings. Kids these days expect the latest technological products with all their bells, whistles, and hi-def resolution. (One of our tech managers jokingly informed us of the "I-Potty," a toilet seat with an IPad installed in front. The current item is supposedly intended to lure toddlers into toilet training, but you know it's just a matter of time before they come out with the adult version, complete with cup holders.)

hhh... Remember the good old days when life was simpler, and kids just wanted their two front teeth? While I'm not lusting after a new pair of upper incisors, I do wish I had fingernails, if only for a day. I don't want "glamour nails" with rhinestones. Nor do I want nails that are long enough to fit an intricate reproduction of the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel. Just normal, run-of-the-mill, healthy-looking nails would be fine for me.

Since my early childhood, the ends of my nails have never extended beyond my fingertips. Of course this is entirely my fault, and I take full responsibility. You've heard of people who grind their teeth, pull out their hair, or engage in other compulsive behaviors. Well, I rip up my nails. I'm not proud of it, but it could be worse.

The only time I made a conscious effort to grow out my nails was for my wedding. And then, the only reason was because I knew our photographer would take pictures of our hands wearing our rings. I was able to leave my nails alone for two weeks. Then there was a stressful meeting at work close to the wedding date. I could feel my fingers drawing together into rip position beneath the table.

"Don't do it! You've worked so hard!" I told myself. And I did resist the urge to tear my newly grown nails --for about five minutes. Unable to stand it any longer, I yielded to the impulse and feverishly tore the tops off all 10 fingernails. Weeks of patience and restraint were undone in a matter of minutes. But oddly, I felt better.

At the wedding, our photographer did arrange our hands for a couple close-ups of our ringed fingers. I tried to curl my fingertips inward to avoid exposure of my miniscule nails. (As a wife, it's embarrassing if your husband has nicer nails than you do.) Somehow those photos never made it into our album...

I used to think nail-biting (or nail decimation of any sort) was a sign of some deep-seated personality imbalance. Children might bite their nails, but adults are supposed to be above such things. Those were my thoughts until I met a very smart, very "put-together" intern at our company. We'll call her Lois was in the midst of grad school, a scary shadow-land pitted with academic quick sand ready to swallow students whole. At least that's my memory of it.) Nevertheless, Lois was composed, confident, and cool as a cucumber. She also came to work every day with flawless makeup and not a single coiffed strand of hair out of place. Sigh... I supposed that's how the other confident half lived --until I saw her fingernails.

Looking past her perfect hair and makeup, Lois's fingernails (or lack thereof) betrayed the secret anxiety of all nail-biters. I never brought up nail biting as a commonality between Lois and myself. But at least I knew that I wasn't alone in the world; there were other normal, functioning people with naked fingertips. "They walk among us!"

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

By Pat Birdsall

FYI: ALL I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS.....

Unless you know a specific item that the senior on your Christmas list wants, please don't get them another scarf or another necktie. They will just go into the drawer along with the other scarves and neckties they have gotten in the past. Get them something they can really use; your time. Put IOU's in the form of Christmas themed tags or cards. Some ideas: Run errands, give rides, help make phone calls, write letters for them, read to them, and help with cleaning, changing bed linens or cooking. The list goes on if you give it time, which after all, is all they want in the first place. Merry Christmas!

HELPFUL HINT: Repurpose Paper Towel Rolls- Part II

Make party favors: Just fill with candy and wrap in suitable paper for the occasion tying both ends. As much as I hate the idea of plastic bags, the inevitable occasionally occurs: Use an empty paper towel rolls to store the excess bags. The Pollyanna in me says to eventually work your way down to a toilet paper sized roll. I can dream, can't?

FOR YOUR FUNNY BONE - One evening in a busy lounge in the Deep South, a reindeer walked in the door, bellied up to the bar and ordered a martini. Without batting an eye, the bartender mixed and poured the drink, set it in front of the reindeer and accepted a $20.00 bill from the reindeer's hoof. As he handed the reindeer some coins in change he said, "You know, I think you're the first reindeer I've ever seen in here." The reindeer looked hard at the hoof full of change and said, "Hmmmpf, let me tell you something buddy, at these prices, I'm the last reindeer you'll see in here."

Best Western Movies

The best western movies brings the adventure of the old west. The good guys wore white hats and the bad guys always wore black hats. Westerns brought to light how American was made.

The best western movies are mainly focused on telling stories of the American Old West during the second half of the 1800s. The Western film genre has several subgenres, including Classical Westerns, Northerns, Florida Westerns, Euro Westerns, Spaghetti Westerns, Meat Pie Westerns, Osterns, Revisionist Westerns, Acid Westerns, Contemporary Westerns/ Neo Westerns, Science Fiction Westerns, Space Westerns, Indo Westerns, Horror Westerns, Weird Westerns, and Western Satires.

Edwin S. Porter's The Great Train Robbery was the first Western film ever made, and its production marked the beginning of the Western film genre. The film was a twelve- minute silent short produced in 1903 about two bandits hijacking a locomotive train. This film set the stage for hundreds upon hundreds of Western films to be made. Some other early, notable Westerns from the genre's early years are The Covered Wagon, The Iron Horse, and Tumbleweeds.

The Western film genre grew and grew during the 20th century, producing some very popular hits. During the 1930s, the most popular Western films were Destry Rides Again, In Old Chicago, Drums along the Mohawk, and Belle of the Nineties. By the '40s, the most popular Western films were The Treasure of the Sierra Madre, Red River, and My Darling Clementine. By the 1950s, Western films were still being made and as popular as ever. Some of the most popular Western films from the '50s decade were The Searchers, Old Yeller, and Oklahoma!.

The best western movies greatly impacted the culture of many years ago, along with the culture of film making. Because of the Western genre, now more rugged, rough-looking actors were needed to play the parts of cowboys, ranchers, riders, robbers, etc. Some of the most famous actors that emerged from the Western genre included John Wayne, Clint Eastwood, Gary Cooper, and James Stewart.

Th best western movies are impacting our the culture as we view ourselves as part of American history. Western films and actors were watched with admiration. This admiration came from most of the films' audience, but especially from the young and teenage boys. Watching these heroic cowboys, sheriffs, riders, etc., made younger boys of the day want to be just like them. This cased many young boys to become ranchers, cowboys, join the Pony Express, join the California gold rush of '49, and sometimes even become robbers, hijackers, etc.

If you're looking to watch some of the best Western movies but don't know where to start, here is a list of the best, classic Western films from free movie websites: The Lone Ranger, The Good the Bad and the Ugly, Dances with Wolves, El Dorado, and True Grit.

In 1996 he was Sierra Madre Citizen of the Year and In 1999 he donated a granite sculpture to the City of Sierra Madre. This sculpture called "the weeping wall" is located in Memorial park.

And now Creative Arts Group is the fortunate recipient of this magnificent fountain. The name of the fountain is "Antiquity". Lew has donated it in honor of Jacki in honor of her 34 years at the art center. In addition to Lew's contribution, Norman's Nursery donated the plants Simons rentals donated the equipment that was necessary to transport and place the fountain. Bob Ériksson helped to coordinate the various parties who contributed to the installation. Robert McAlister who did his eagle scout project here in the Spring. He raised more money than was needed for his project and that money went into a building improvements reserve that we were able to use to help with the installation costs, and Arturo Garcia did a "masterful job" of installing the fountain and planting the area around it.

In the presence of a crowd of artists and community members, a farewell toast was made to Jacki. The placque honors Jacki for serving as Executive Director of Creative Arts Group from 1979 through 2013. Jacki Raymond thank you. We miss you already.

Book Reviews by Jasmine Kelsey Williams

CHANGE THE WAY YOU SEE EVERYTHING THROUGH ASSET-BASED THINKING

By Kathryn D. Cramer & Hank Wasiak

It's now the middle of December, and we are gradually drawing towards the end of another year, filled with wonderful books and stories that I've read, reviewed, and shared. And with the Christmas holiday fast approaching, as well as the New Year in January, the next upcoming selections will be sure to put you in a fresh and positive state of mind. To start off our uplifting picks, we come to this selection: "Change the Way You See Everything through Asset-Based Thinking" by Kathryn D. Cramer and Hank Wasiak. Although you may be familiar with longer titles by now, dear readers, this pick for the middle of December is sure to not just put you in a more positive frame of mind, but may also help to relax you while reading. If you are a first-timer to read this, then you shall find it both relaxing and beneficial in what this book tries to convey. Cramer and Wasiak introduce the crucial plot of Deficit-Based Thinking (DBT) versus Asset-Based Thinking (ABT), and how as individuals we can train our minds to slowly convert over to ABT. For first-timers, such as myself, to come across this book, the straightforward explanations, soothing visual pictures and individual stories from various examples and exercises help to fully explain that when readers attempt to apply this method to themselves, they are able to gradually make small improvements to their overall being and mentality. Do keep in mind that this book makes a good pick for young adults or first-timers even, but the familiar theme of changing your state of mind through positive thinking is one that is commonly used and may seem dull to anyone who has read something similar or already content with their own frame of mind. But this does not mean to overlook this book; readers can enjoy the simple lessons Cramer and Wasiak express and that just one slight change (without trying everything all at once) can have a major impact.

Receiving praise from critics, as well as a kind word from Publishers Weekly, "Change the Way You See Everything through Asset-Based Thinking" is a wonderful way to wind down the last of the holidays and prep for the start of a new, fresh, and much more positive new Writer/director Scott Cooper broke out onto the scene with his critically lauded film, "Crazy Heart" a few years ago. He's returned with his follow-up, "Out of the Furnace," that has one of the strongest acting ensembles of the year. With a cast of all-stars including, Christian Bale, Woody Harrelson and Casey Affleck with support from Willem Dafoe, Forest Whitaker, Sam Shepard and Zoe Saldana. Bale stars as Russell Baze, a mill worker in small town in Pennsylvania. Grueling hours and making ends meet, Baze hopes to start a family with his girlfriend played by Zoe Saldana. In the meantime, his brother, Rodney (Casey Affleck) returns home from the war looking for anyway to make a quick buck. In a cruel twist of fate, Russell lands himself in prison and Rodney gets involved with a brutal and sadistic crime ring up in the Northeast. Woody Harrelson plays a vicious villain who's pitiless toward anyone who crosses his path. While it's difficult to ignore the overwhelming talent on screen, it sort of baffles you how actors of this caliber are drawn to such an empty, hollow script. "Out of the Furnace" doesn't say a whole lot about really anything. It attempts to be contemporary with a jab to the US military by a disgruntled marine and how the choices you may certainly may have dire circumstances. "Out of the Furnace" simply doesn't have anything to offer other than feeling like a direct-to-DVD film that just happens to include an all-star cast attached to it.

Directed by: Scott Cooper Written by: Brad Ingelsby, Scott Cooper Rated R for strong violence, language and drug content Release Date: December 6th, 2013

I was really hoping and even expecting to see a dynamite film here. However, the film is utterly straightforward in such an old school, traditional way. Often times, the reasons made by characters didn't hold much merit. Not for a second did I believe Casey Affleck to be some tough guy marine who has served four tours of duty in Iraq. In addition, Bale's character reasoning behind being locked up (never knowing how long it was for) just seemed derivative. Sam Shepard had no point in the film while Forest Whitaker once again shows up as a cop or some authority figure with little to offer. The only two guys who had anything going for them were Bale and Harrelson, but even their characters were very one-note. Harrelson plays a badass guy better than anyone else, but there wasn't a whole lot of meat to his character for him to chew on. After Russell gets out of prison is when his brother, Rodney gets into deeper trouble than ever before. What doesn't make sense is Rodney doing what he said he would do, but paying a price for it. It's unclear why the fate of his character is met with unwarranted results. Then there's the ending, which is almost laughable of how it all unfolds. No twists or turns, just baffling uncomplicated.

Indeed Scott Cooper has suffered the sophomore slump with his second directorial effort. I almost can't believe this film was released by big names such as Ridley Scott and Leonardo DiCaprio's Appian Way company. It's not as if "Out of the Furnace" is complete garbage, but there's really nothing holding it together. No centerpiece, no message. It has a few good scenes amongst a plethora of scenes lacking any intrigue or interest. There are several faults and ill-conceived story decisions here that easily allow the viewer to pick it apart piece by piece. With a cast like this, a director coming off a big hit, you just have certain expectations that you hope are met. With "Out of the Furnace," you get almost nothing in return for the price of admission. Perhaps this script should have been sent to the furnace before anyone was dumb enough for giving it the green light.

HUBBLE DISCOVERS WATER VAPOR

Found Venting from Jupiter's Moon Europa

The NASA/ESA Hubble Space Telescope has discovered water vapor erupting from the frigid surface of Jupiter's moon Europa, in one or more localized plumes near its south pole.

Europa is already thought to harbor a liquid ocean beneath its icy crust, making the moon one of the main targets in the search for habitable worlds away from Earth. This new finding is the first observational evidence of water vapor being ejected off the moon's

"By far the simplest explanation for this water vapor is that it erupted from plumes on the surface of Europa," said lead author Lorenz Roth of Southwest Research Institute in San Antonio, Texas. "If those plumes are connected with the subsurface water ocean we are confident exists under Europa's crust, then this means that future investigations can directly investigate the chemical makeup of Europa's potentially habitable environment without drilling through layers of ice. And that is tremendously exciting."

We pushed Hubble to its limits to see this very faint emission," said co-lead author and principal investigator of the Hubble observing campaign Joachim Saur of the University of Cologne, Germany.

Hubble's spectroscopic observations provided the evidence for Europa plumes in December 2012. Time sampling of auroral emissions measured by Hubble's imaging spectrograph enabled the researchers to distinguish between features created by Jupiter's magnetospheric particles and local enhancements of gas, and to also rule out more exotic explanations such as serendipitously observing a rare meteorite impact. The imaging spectrograph detected faint ultraviolet light from an aurora, powered by Jupiter's intense magnetic field, near Europa's south pole.

It is unknown how deep inside Europa's crust the source of the water may be. Do the vents extend down to a subsurface ocean or are the ejecta simply from warmed ice caused by friction stresses near the surface?

THE HOLIDAYS have crept in on us, almost unnoticed (at least by this writer)—and just when we all needed a little cheering up. So let's all "deck the halls with boughs of holly," and not let gloom take over, even if the sky seems to be falling (it won't).

IN A DARK TIME All these tiny lights Linked up in a mesh of love

STAR OF WONDER. During the holiday season, public astronomy lecturers often focus their talks on the "Christmas Star," trying to find a logical, scientific explanation for it. Perhaps a comet, or an unusual grouping of planets, they suggest. I prefer to avoid such attempts to explain away what is, as a familiar carol says, a "star of wonder"—and let the poet in me prevail. As poet Rainer Maria Rilke put it in his book, Letters to a Young Poet, "Have patience with everything unresolved in your heart, and try to love the questions themselves."

Isn't it great that there is so much yet to be discovered, so many questions to be loved?

This graphic shows the location of water vapor detected over Europa's south pole that provides the first strong evidence of water plumes erupting off Europa's surface, in observations taken by NASA's Hubble Space Telescope in December 2012. Hubble didn't photograph plumes, but spectroscopically detected auroral emissions from oxygen and hydrogen. The aurora is powered by Jupiter's magnetic field. This is only the second moon in the solar system found ejecting water vapor from the frigid surface. The image of Europa is derived from a global surface map generated from combined NASA Voyager and Galileo space probe observations.

PRESENTS: How Do You Wrap An Artichoke?

of the year again. The Holiday Season when custom requires that we extend ourselves and exchange gifts with those who are in some way significant to us. Just from the way I form these first few sentences you perceptive readers can discern that I am not comfortable with the whole process. (By the way I hereby declare that those of you who regularly read my articles are perceptive, sensitive people who are of great benefit to man and woman kind and especially to me.)

Anyway, it's true – I am not comfortable with the whole gift-giving thing. When I think of gifts I remember that first Valentine's Day when I was going to elementary school in Chicago. The night before my grandmother, my mom, and I had carefully made Valentines for everyone in the class. I, of course, was afraid that I would miss someone but I was pretty sure I remembered everyone's name. We made out the Valentines the gifts. night before and I dutifully and proudly marched off to School.

It was Chicago and cold and windy and snowing. Of course I fell in the snow and lost the bag that held the Valentines and also lost the bag that carried my lunch. I looked around for awhile but it was cold and I was late and had to go to school without the Valentines and without my lunch. That whole school day was pretty horrible. At the lunch break the school provided us with little cartons of milk but on this particular day it was frozen solid and we couldn't drink it. So, no milk and no lunch for me and then in the afternoon it was time to distribute the Valentines.

I, like all the other kids in class received many Valentines but each Valentine made me feel more unworthy. I had not given Valentines to any of the other kids and was too embarrassed to tell anyone. I think I've been feeling guilty about it for over sixty years. I know some of you less compassionate readers will echo Cher in "Moonstruck" and yell "So, get over it!." I kind of agree with you but I seem to hold onto this feeling rather than to do something about it. Really though, it's not that easy to remember the names from 60 years ago and to now send Valentines with a little note that says Better Late Than Never seems ridiculous.

You know I meant that as an ironic joke to demonstrate how difficult it is HAVEN'T SENT ME A PRESENT. to affect deep-seated negative views of our individual selves. Maybe though, reading this whole article and being it would be an interesting project who you are. HAVE A GUILT FREE for retirement; googling names and POSITIVE MERRY CHRISTMAS!!!

Well, it's that time addresses then sending Valentines saying I failed to give one to you in 1949; SORRY! Maybe it would rekindle pleasant memories of childhood for the senior citizens still alive enough to remember. Unfortunately at this stage of my life I cannot remember anyone's name.

> Speaking of gifts, my wife just came downstairs and saw me writing on a yellow pad. "I can't make the computer work", I whined. She gave me that look that reminded me of how I felt when I lost the Valentines. The balky computer undoubtedly means that I have done something wrong and that I am going to have to ask her to type this article for me on another computer even though she is very busy. She is in the process of wrapping presents that say from Stuart and Irene. Of course this leads to more guilt as I did not participate in the gift selection or gift wrapping and of course I won't know what people are talking about when we receive thanks for the

> I have been complaining about these negative feelings for years. About thirty five years ago, my then girlfriend decided to cure me once and for all by decreeing that we needed to give each other gifts once a month and wrap them ourselves. I can still remember struggling to wrap an artichoke and further struggling with gifts received from her which were things like diagrams for gift wrapping and for creating a bed made with hospital corners. I'm beginning to realize I like feeling guilty – it suits me. Maybe that's why I still enjoy being a defense lawyer because as it happens, most of my clients are guilty.

> I still don't know how to wrap an artichoke but, rather than continuing to feel guilty, I realize that this Christmas Season can easily be turned into something positive. My wife just gave me a wonderful present. She asked me to take a moment and go out and look at the sunrise. I did and it was spectacular as always. What a great gift to still be alive on this beautiful morning in this strange year where the temperature each day is a surprise.

> We all live in a wonderful world that continually presents us with gifts that require nothing from us but the awareness necessary to enjoy our own lives and with the opportunity to try our best to reach out to others.

Amish/ Mennonite community. I looked forward to this very much because I grew up in Lancaster County Pennsylvania, which has many Amish/ Mennonite communities.

I was expecting quite a bit as I packed my bags to leave.

"Are you sure you got everything?" A phrase reiterated to me by the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage.

To which I responded by saying, "Yes, for the umpteenth time I got everything." This in and of itself was to guarantee me I would forget something, usually essential in my travel. Then when I get home, I will be reminded that I was reminded to make sure I got everything. Nothing, at this point, could deter my high-level expectation of going into an Amish/ Mennonite community. My great eagerness was looking forward to indulging in one of my favorite desserts: the shoofly pie. Nobody makes shoofly pie quite like those wonderful Amish people.

To make matters even more enticing, I would not have anybody sitting next to me reminding me I had enough shoofly pie. I fully intended to gorge myself on as much shoofly pie as my wallet could handle. In my book, there is no such thing as too much shoofly pie.

I drove 15 hours to get to this little town for my dessert delicacy awaiting me in some Amish restaurant.

I confess it has been a long time since I visited an Amish/ Mennonite community. Even though I grew up in such a community, some things a person tends to

The convention I was attending ended Sunday morning at lunch. I, being the grandiose Know-It-All, decided to skip the Sunday lunch and look for a restaurant to indulge in my delectable delicacy. The convention was wonderful and as I left the grounds, I did so with a lot of joy in each

The thing I forgot was it was Sunday in an Amish/ Mennonite community. If you have never been in such a community, let me inform you that on Sunday the only thing open are churches. I had forgotten this little tidbit.

During the week, I made a list of several Amish restaurants. I had plans of visiting each of them before I left and having shoofly pie, a whole pie, in each restaurant. When I got to the first restaurant, it finally hit me. This was Sunday and everything in an Amish/ Mennonite community was closed. I do not usually go to a restaurant on Sunday unless it is some me, but I have found in Jesus Christ no special occasion. I was a little chagrined to realize everything was closed. This only

Recently, it was heightened my anticipation of the shoofly pie delicacy awaiting me come tomorrow.

At times it feels like tomorrow will never come, but eventually tomorrow came and I awoke with a song on my lips, a pang of hunger in my stomach and a desire to indulge in a shoofly delicacy. I finally arrived at my first Amish restaurant and I was drooling so much I could hardly tell the hostess I was just a party of one. Boy, what a party it was going to be. Being a gentleman, I contained myself as best I could and ordered a very scrumptious repast. Nobody can cook like those Amish women. Oh, what a lunch I had. I think what made it so wonderful was the dessert expectation hovering over me like an angelic halo.

Just as I was finishing my lunch the lovely young waitress, all dressed in Amish attire, came by inquiring if I would like to see the dessert menu.

"No," I said with a delectable determination, "I know exactly what I want for dessert."

We exchanged smiles. I have no idea what she was smiling about; maybe the anticipatory tip. I knew what I was smiling about; the anticipatory dessert.

I tried to contain myself and carefully pace out my instructions.

Young lady," I said as calmly as possible, "I will have a piece of shoofly pie. In fact, why don't you bring me the whole pie." And with that, I smiled.

The waitress looked at me rather in Ohio. Every mile creating anticipation strangely and said, "What kind of pie do you want?"

Being the kind of person that enjoys a ood old-fashioned joke, I responded, "Ha ha ha. A shoofly pie, if you please." What's a shoofly pie?'

I can take a joke as well as anybody but there comes a time when all jokes need to be put aside and bring on the shoofly pie.

'This is an Amish restaurant, isn't it?" 'Yes it is," she smiled patiently. "You've heard of a shoofly pie, haven't

"No, I've never heard of such a pie." I cannot tell you the depth of disappointment this brought to me. For weeks, I have been looking forward to some good old-fashioned shoofly pie. As it turned out, only the Amish/ Mennonite in Lancaster County Pennsylvania, know anything about shoofly pies. Not all Amish are the same, even though they look alike. The apostle Paul understood this kind of disappointment.

HOWARD Hays As I See It

"To sustain a lifestyle which excludes others, or to sustain enthusiasm for that selfish ideal, a globalization of indifference has developed. Almost without being aware of it, we end up being incapable of feeling compassion at the outcry of the poor, weeping for other people's pain, and feeling a need to help them, as though all this were someone else's responsibility and not our own. The culture of prosperity deadens us; we are thrilled if the market offers us something new to purchase; and in the meantime all those lives stunted for lack of opportunity seem a mere spectacle; they fail to - Pope Francis, in "Evangelii Gadium" ("Joy of the Gospel")

"This is just pure Marxism coming out of the mouth of the Pope."

Rush Limbaugh

My wife and I got our first big jolt of Christmas forward to the business New Year's Day spirit last weekend, attending the "Holiday Spectacular" of the Gay Men's Chorus of Los Angeles at the Alex Theater in Glendale: 200 voices, classic choral arrangements, familiar carols and show-stopping production numbers. (Seeing "12 Days of Christmas" breathlessly performed by bounding lads in black leather pants, I feel I've experienced the

We were told that a dozen years ago, the GMCLA, on its second international tour, became the largest official gathering of gay men ever in Russia. With its performance of Tchaikovsky's "Nyet, Tol'ka Tot Kto Znal" ("None But the Lonely Heart") in Moscow (and St. Petersburg), "a stunned audience responded with tears and a deafening ovation." We were reminded that the situation in Russia has regressed dangerously since then. As often happens, when oligarchs privately consolidate wealth and power, they distract attention by publicly targeting a particular minority for persecution. Today in Russia, that minority is the LGBT community. Roving bands of thugs seek out gays to beat-up, hatred and bigotry are promoted by politicians and state media, arrests are increasing for the crime of disseminating "gay propaganda".

Last weekend, the GMCLA performed "Nyet, Tol'ka Tot Kto Znal" again; this time in honor of their gay brothers and sisters in Another highlight was a short set performed by the group Outside Voices – a product of the GMCLA's support of anti-bullying efforts in schools. They looked to be a diverse bunch of high-school kids; boys and girls, black and white, Asian and Hispanic. What they all had in common was being out and being proud of who they were.

The capacity audience was equally diverse and both gay and straight. What they all had in common was joining together as one to give these kids one of the biggest ovations of the evening.

Following the concert, my wife learned once again I'm incapable of passing up a shelf of used books for sale. I picked up a volume of American folklore - many identified as having African, European, Mexican or Native American origins, but all distinctly American.

One of the first I turned to concerned a Dutch baker by the name of Baas Volckert Jan Pietersen Van Amsterdam, and what happened at his Albany (N.Y.) shop on New Year's Eve, 1654.

This baker was quite successful; specialties included New Year's cakes and gingerbread Late this evening he was looking would bring, when a shrill-voiced, ugly old woman came and asked for a dozen New Year's cookies. He got them for her, but she demanded another, saying she'd only gotten twelve. He told her twelve was a dozen, she still demanded another to make the dozen, and finally he told her that if she needed another one, she could go to the Devil for it.

The story concerns whether that was, in A couple special segments stood out. fact, what she did. From then on, nothing the baker tried to bake turned out right. His wife went deaf. An "invisible hand" pelted him with bricks torn from his oven. His kids became "unkempt" as business went elsewhere.

> Three times the old woman returned with the same request, and three times she was told she'd have to go to the Devil for that extra cookie.

Finally, the baker had had enough, and called on the patron of Dutch feasts, Saint Nicholas, for help. Saint Nick appeared and gave him a lecture on generosity and charity. As Saint Nicholas vanished, the old woman appeared in his place and again asked for that extra cookie. This time, she got it. Announcing that the spell was broken, she took a gingerbread likeness of Saint Nicholas from the shelf, put the baker's hand on it, and had him promise to be more generous in the future. From then on, thirteen comprised a baker's dozen.

The story made no mention of Christmas or Santa Claus. Saint Nicholas was not bringing gifts himself, but instead came admonishing us to be more generous in giving to others.

A week after Time named Pope Francis Man of the Year, the same honor was bestowed on him by The Advocate, the longtime foremost publication for the LGBT community. There's no illusion of deviation from the church's stand on gay marriage, but recognition of progress: from a year ago with a Pope who'd declared homosexuality to be "intrinsically evil", to today when the Pope asks, "When God looks at a gay person, does he endorse the existence of this person with love, or reject and condemn this person?"

Last week, President Obama named tennis great Billie Jean King and Caitlin Cahow, star of the U.S. Women's Ice Hockey team, to the official U.S. delegation to the upcoming winter Olympics at Sochi, Russia. As to the president's pointedly sending two openly gay women to a country with a worsening record of persecution against gays, White House spokesman Shin Inouye says the delegation represents the diversity that is the United States", and the president "knows they will showcase to the world the best of America -diversity, determination and teamwork." Merry Christmas.

DUCK DYNASTY AND THE GREG Welborn CULTURE OF INTOLERANCE

Intolerance and hatred have again spilled beliefs – and coming out into the public square, and as is almost of the closet is only always the case, it's coming from the left, not something gays get to the right. As most readers know, A&E placed Duck Dynasty star and family patriarch, Phil Robertson, on indefinite suspension for comments he made about homosexuality the bible he references, in a recent GQ Magazine interview. The suspension was the least hurtful aspect of this situation. What's appalling and should have Americans of all political persuasions up in arms are the lies and character assassination directed at Mr. Robertson.

As the GQ interview was released, GLAAD issued a statement accusing Phil Robertson of making "some of the vilest and most extreme statements uttered against LGBT people in a mainstream publication". They called for A&E and its sponsors to disassociate with the family and Duck Dynasty. A&E was all too willing to accommodate. This was followed by a parade of gay activists making the rounds of the news shows to drive home the accusation of hatred, homophobia, and a general unworthiness to be seen in the that deserve some analysis. If Phil Robertson is such a man, he, his family and his show probably do deserve banishment. So what did he say exactly?

In the interview, Phil is quoted as saying, "you put in your article that the Robertson family really believes strongly that if the human race loved each other and they loved God, we would just be better off." The interviewer asked Phil what constituted sin. He replied, "start with homosexual behavior and just morph out from there. Bestiality, sleeping around with this woman and that woman and that woman and those men". He offered as support a paraphrased quote from Corinthians: "Don't be deceived. Neither the adulterers, the idolaters, the male prostitutes, the homosexual offenders, the greedy, the drunkards, the slanderers, the swindlers they won't inherit the kingdom of God."

Perhaps the interviewer appeared shocked at hearing such a thing. We'll never know, but Phil followed this by stating, "we never, ever judge someone on who's going to heaven, hell. That's the Almighty's job. We just love 'em, give 'em the good news about Jesus whether they're homosexuals, drunks, terrorists. We let God sort 'em out later".

Let's be perfectly clear here. Absent the slight technical differences from the exact Corinthians passage (it was paraphrased after all), there's nothing hateful about those statements. In fact, I see a whole lot of tolerance in them. There's also nothing erroneous about the statements. There's nothing worthy of punishment here other than the fact that Phil Robertson dared to reference the mainstream belief of every major world religion, and Christianity specifically. He came out of the closet, although I'm not sure he was really ever in one - he's never been that shy about his of sin. God speaks of his love for mankind (front end) and he commands us to love the sinner (the back end). But in between, God does speak of sin, labels it, condemns it, and directs us to correct it. In this, Christianity shares much with every other major religion: the practice of homosexuality is seen as a sin. So are the depravations to which heterosexuals are prone. Sleeping with many women, rather than just one's wife, is a sin. Bestiality is a sin. Idolatry is a sin, etc. These sins are note equated, and they are not all attributed to homosexuals or heterosexuals. There is no attempt here to accuse anyone of any sin other than the one in which they may be engaging.

company of polite society. Accusations like The point is, and always has been, that God prescribes certain behavior and lists other behavior as sin. He hates that sin (all of it), but he offers salvation from it. While each of us is working out our salvation and our repentance, all of us are called to treat one another in love. I find this beautiful. I love how God loves us through the sin even as He

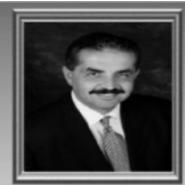

> The hatred and hypocrisy in this whole sorted affair belong to the activists and the A&E executives. A&E has known about Phil's beliefs for a very long time. They've been content to earn massive profits on a show about a bible thumping, gun toting, God fearing, and faithfully, heterosexually, and monogamously married band of "rednecks" for 5 seasons now. All of a sudden they're shocked to find that this family really believes the bible. And yet, not so shocked that they take the show off the air. No, they want the advertising money from the reruns AND they want to pretend to be in sympathy with the gay activists. As for those activists, if we really listen to what they're saying - to the words they're using – it's not too hard to see some real intolerance and hatred.

> In a way, we should give thanks that this skirmish is out in the open. There is a culture war in the land, and until we engage in this war, defend our beliefs and in our right to articulate them, we're going to be pushed around, and we're going to eventually lose many of those rights. That's something everyone should consider.

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

HARDER THAN IT LOOKS

With markets so rapidly changing, it's easy to imagine how property appraisers might sit in a darkened room, waving their hands over a crystal ball, and producing the mysterious and all-powerful document of a home's value. Let's dispel the notion of magical figures and look more carefully at the process.

When comparing against similar properties, it's not just the final price that counts. Appraisers also factor in any "incentives" offered, such as sellers who pay closing costs or remodeling allowances. Perhaps the most important factor that lenders review in an appraisal is the closing dates of the "comparables" (other homes by which yours is measured). Unfortunately, with today's stricter lending requirements, most "comps" must have sold within the last 60 or even 45 days to carry weight. Markets change so quickly that any sale price over two months old may be completely irrelevant.

Now a few words about how foreclosures in a neighborhood affect determination of value. Technically, appraisers shouldn't consider them, because they don't fit the Appraisal Institute's definition of "a property reasonably exposed in a competitive market." However, if several area homes have been abandoned, we know the negative effect that can have on a home's "perceived" value.

If you're planning to sell, express your concerns about the appraisal process to your representative, who will offer explanations and suggestions for improving your report's results.

POST-HOLIDAY DONATIONS

Everyone knows about the fantastic sales that commence on December 26th. If you are among those adventurous enough to brave the crowds to take advantage of deep discounts, consider picking up a few extra items to donate to a nonprofit, community group or school in your community.

Have you attended an event at one of these organizations and noticed they could really use a new and improved coffee machine or some carafes that you might find on sale? You may want to throw in a supply of disposable cups.

Most people don't realize how much teachers spend on schoolroom supplies out of their own pockets. Try to reflect on some of the displays on the bulletin boards and other decorations from your last visit to your child's school. Art supplies and writing instruments like markers, glitter glue and other specialty supplies will be a welcome addition to the arsenal of most grade school teachers.

Local nonprofit organizations are always in need of something, as many of them rely on donations to replace office furniture, filing cabinets and many other furnishings that can be costly. They would be elated to receive new seating to replace worn and dated chairs in their reception area, or a new office chair to make a worker's time more comfortable at a desk assisting clients.

We can all extend the spirit of the traditional holiday giving season to pass along a few additional blessings to support the organizations that extend a helping hand to some segments of our communities year-round.

Not certain of what to purchase as a donation? A gift card from a local store that may have something of use to one of these organizations will be certainly be appreciated and put to good use.

HOW DO PEOPLE FEEL ABOUT YOUR BRAND?

Part of a good marketing strategy is about finding the right people you can persuade that your product or service is worth spending their money on.

People buy a product or service for four reasons: they need it, have time for it, can afford it, they like it or they like the person providing the service.

Social media can only influence one of those four areas. You can't force someone to need your product if they don't, and you can't control how much money someone has. The only area you really can influence is whether they like you or not. And sometimes, that's hard to do too!

Maya Angelou said...

"I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel.'

Take a look at your social media presence and see if you are creating a brand that is likeable. Are you adding in human touches? Are you sharing interesting information? Are you listening and commenting on other people's social media posts?

Making your audience feel good is good for your business.

RICH Johnson QUESTIONING LIBRARIES

Ever been in a library? should take advantage of their many resources.

One of the services many libraries have been known to perform is telephone reference services. People call with often strange questions. Librarians have compiled 6 million of them. I'm short a little space to list them all. But I will offer up some highlights.

What is the most despised household task?
According to a Gallup poll in 1991, washing dishes is the least favorite. Followed by cleaning currency? Four. Martha Washington appeared the bathroom and ironing.

How long was the Berlin Wall? It was raised in 1961 and razed in 1989. And it was 26.5 miles long. That's approximately the distance from Los Angeles to Catalina Island (remember the song, "26 Miles Across the Seas"). The Great Wall of

WENDY JOSEPH

If you enjoy the intrigue of sword and sorcery, you'll want to stop and take notice of an author who has lived a more adventurous life that most of us would ever imagine.

Wendy Joseph vies with her characters for a life of romance and adventure. A deckhand on merchant ships, she has outrun pirates off of Somalia, steered ships large and small through typhoons and calms from the Bering Sea to Shanghai, and helped rescue seals on the Pacific coast.

Her passion is for works of the imagination, for telling a really good story, and for connecting with the minds and souls of readers and taking them to a magnificent and finer Researching her sword and sorcery novel The Witch's Hand in France, she traced the paths of her characters over the terrain they covered to get the description right, and dug up old documents for historical accuracy. She holds two Master's in English from UCLA and the University of Washington, and can splice a twelve strand line.

The Witch's Hand is the thinking person's sword and sorcery, and preview readers have given it a thumbs up. Malaxia, the most formidable witch in 13th century France, has chosen young Liana as her protégé and successor, but Liana isn't sure she wants to be the most powerful and destructive witch in the world, and doesn't want to cooperate. Hounded into the wild by the Church, she receives unexpected help from the vicomte Jettaret, a returned Crusader and lost soul with PTSD, and his rascally friend Alberge. Magic, swordplay, and medieval faith and superstition share the pages, as Liana tries to find her path and decide who and what is good or

The Witch's Hand has contemporary applications and resonance—an ex-soldier with PTSD, religion-fueled hysteria, and the use and misuse of power. It is not an otherworldly fantasy but is rooted in the real world.

DIMINISHING HOUSING AFFORDABILITY CONTINUES TO SLOW DOWN HOME SALES IN NOVEMBER, A.A.R. REPORTS

higher interest rates, put downward pressure on housing affordability and led to the fourth straight month of sales declines in November, the Arcadia Association of REALTORS® (A.A.R.) reported.

"Improving home prices are a double-edged sword for the housing market. While welcomed news for homeowners and prospective sellers, diminished affordability is squeezing out many buyers and dampening their enthusiasm for home purchasing," said 2013 A.A.R. President Andy Bencosme. "Buyers are playing the waiting game and putting their home search on hold until prices stabilize and more inventory becomes available in the market."

Closed escrow sales of existing, single-family detached homes in California totaled a seasonally adjusted annualized rate of 387,520 units in November, according to information collected by the California Association of REALTORS* (C.A.R.) from more than 90 local REALTOR® associations and MLSs statewide. Sales in November were down 3.4 percent from a revised 401,000 in October and down 12 percent from a revised 440,250 in November 2012. The November 2013 figure was the lowest since July 2010. The statewide sales figure represents what would be the total number of homes sold during 2013 if sales maintained the November pace throughout the year. It is adjusted to account for seasonal factors that typically influence

The statewide median price of an existing, single-family detached home slipped 1.2 percent from October's median price of $427,290 to $422,210 in November. November's price was 22.2 percent higher than the revised $345,560 recorded in November 2012, marking the 17th straight month of double-digit annual gains. The median sales price is the point at which half of homes sold for more and half sold for less; it is influenced by the types of homes selling as well as a general change in values.

ARCADIA- A run-up in home prices, coupled with "Sales reached their highest level in the fourth quarter of 2012, when mortgage rates bottomed out last November. While diminishing housing affordability played a big role in the larger than expected decrease n home sales this November, exceptionally strong sales last year was another factor for the double-digit year-to-year decline," said A.A.R. CEO, Andrew Cooper. "The demand for housing could remain soft in the upcoming months as buyers and sellers continue to search for a level playing field in the market."

> Other key facts of C.A.R.'s November 2013 resale housing report include:

> The available supply of existing, single-family detached homes for sale edged up in November to 3.6 months, up from October's Unsold Inventory Index of 3.4 months. The index was 3 months in November 2012. The index indicates the number of months needed to sell the supply of homes on the market at the current sales rate. A six- to seven-month supply is considered typical in a normal market.

> The median number of days it took to sell a single-family home also increased to 36.7 days in November, up from 33.1 days in October, but was down > from 37.5 days in November 2012. Mortgage rates rose in November, with the 30year, fixed-mortgage interest rate averaging 4.26 percent, up from 4.19 percent in October and up from 3.35 percent in November 2012, according to Freddie Mac. Adjustable-mortgage interest rates in November averaged 2.61 percent, down from 2.63 in October and up from 2.57 percent in November 2012.

> Representing local Realtors* in the San Gabriel Valley for 89 years, the ARCADIA ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS* (www. TheAAR.com) is one of the oldest trade organizations in CA. The AAR is dedicated to the advancement of professionalism in real estate and is an advocate for private property rights. A.A.R. is headquartered in Arcadia.
