COLBY FIRE - SIERRA MADRE AVENUE NOT SIERRA MADRE

When Sierra Madre residents awakened on Thursday morning, the smell, sights and sounds of a rapidly moving brush fire filled Dave Felt at 6 am from his backyard, shows the intensity of the smoke on what would otherwise have been a clear day,

Once residents realized, however, that the event was not in Sierra Madre, there was some relief, however those who have lived through California wildfires, realized how quickly they can spread, especially with Santa Ana winds and high temperatures.

As if the proximity of the Colby Fire was sonnel, including mutual aid from Sierra not enough to concern residents, early broadcast news reports created additional the air. COUNCILMAN KOERBER APPEALS TO RESIDENTS TO SUPPORT WATER RATE INCREASE

At Tuesday's city council meeting, Councilman Chris Koerber, a renowned fiscal conservative, made a public appeal to residents to support the proposed Water Rate Increase. Koerber informed those who may have already submitted their Prop 218 ballot to reconsider and go to city hall and request the appropriate form to withdraw their ballot.

Earlier the same day, Mayor Walsh, in her State of the City address before the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club, also encouraged residents to support the increase. "Don't believe some dude on a robo call", said Walsh, referring to the recent rash of automated calls asking Sierra Madreans to reject the increase. To date, no one has been able to identify who is the sponsor of these calls which contain "misleading and inaccurate information" said the city manager Elaine Aguilar in an earlier conversation.

One local resident and owner of multiple rental units in the city, Earl Ritchie, posted a banner opposing the increase in front of one of his apartment buildings during the holidays. Earlier in the week, Channel 4 news spoke was in town to talk about our current water situation and one couple stood before the camera and articulated their support of the increase to save our water system.

On January 28th, the council will address the proposed increase.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE.....THE SOCIAL SIDE

By Deanne Davis

Spent an hour with Kathy at Starbucks and it was probably the person, Kathy Bray, for some years washing dishes, serving, cleaning now but hadn't really gotten to the bathroom and cooking some know her till the Memorial Day more! These young guys were ceremonies in Pioneer Cemetery so grateful to get a taste of home a year or so ago when John, my staunchly patriotic husband, and I sat next to her in a shady spot and we were all filled with pride seeing our guys, the veterans of VFW Post 3208. We had a few minutes to chat before the program and Kathy confided she had wanted to join the Marine Corps right out of high school but her mom just wasn't going to let that happen so she has given a great deal of her life and many of her resources to the USO (United Service Organizations Inc., which is a nonprofit organization that provides programs, services and live entertainment to United States troops and their families), specifically at the Bob Hope Hollywood USO at LAX.

best one I'll have all week. People are amazing when you get to know a little bit about them and there's quite a lot to know about Kathy Bray! She moved into our neighborhood in 2004 after spending the previous 20 years in Idyllwild as owner of From Tips To Toes Salon-Spa, where Dolly Parton and her family were frequent guests, along with David Horowitz and a number of other celebs. It was magnificent, but fires, shoveling snow and the long drives to town eventually sent her to Sierra Madre's simpler climate.

Kathy's grandfather, a Marine in WWII, who served again in the Navy during the Korean War, was her early inspiration. While in high school in Santa Ana, her family owned an old yellow school bus and they would arrange with Camp Pendleton to bring a large group of young out-of-state Marines home for Thanksgiving; sleeping bags all over the place and ravenous young guys longing for a home cooked

We've been saying, "Hey! How meal. Kathy said those weekends ya doing!" to Sierra Madre good were marathons of cooking, and Kathy's heart for the military continued to grow.

> After moving to Sierra Madre, Kathy had more time to spend at the Bob Hope Hollywood USO where she was known as "the Pie Lady" as she would bake and bring 10 pies at a time for the kids who came to the USO, along with vats of potato salad. She was the Pie Lady for four years, four days a week, serving the young men and women of all branches of our Armed Forces. These kids wanted her recipes to send home and Kathy has received thank you notes and letters from all over the world. The USO at LAX, by the way, is one of the few USO facilities where service personnel can sleep overnight, which is a huge help to these kids on their way to and from far-flung bases. Probably not many of us have had the friends with one of the original Tuskegee Airmen, a group of African-American pilots who fought in World War II, but Kathy ran into

Clarence (Buddy) a Crew Huntley, a Crew Chief of the Tuskegee Airmen, on a cruise to Hawaii. Discovering that Clarence worked right there at LAX, Kathy wanted to take him to lunch at the USO. When he arrived, the person at the door was giving him a bad time, not letting him in as he did not have his military credentials with him. Kathy expressed her unhappiness and General Tielmann, who runs B.H.H.USO, overheard it all from his adjacent office, came out and said no Tuskegee Airman needed credentials to get in there ever! Now that's taking care of business!

Kathy is a jewelry maker extraordinaire, creating lovely things since she was eight! Her exquisite earrings, bracelets, necklaces and pins are available here in town at Arnold's Gift Shop, The Yellow Bus and Capelli Court; also Magnolia on Foothill in Arcadia, and Fasching's Car Wash. She knits the softest and most beautiful scarves and headbands and you can find her behind a table at most of our fun town events, i.e., the Wistaria Festival, Dickens Village, the Art Walks and, friends, her creations are fabulous. I, personally, own a whole bunch of opportunity to become I asked Kathy what she wished she could have done and it didn't take her a second to say she wanted to be part of the staff of the USO at Bagram Air Base in Afghanistan but it just didn't come together. Then I asked her what she'd do if she won the Lotto. "Oh, that's easy," she said, "I'd buy the biggest ranch in Montana and save all the horses who needed a break and then I'd hire those guys who use horse therapy to help our veterans who are having a tough time and help them get past it!'

> Start looking for Kathy Bray while you're out there walking Sierra Madre and say hi! She and her little Schnauzer, Gertie, are a familiar couple around town. Oh! As we were parting, she said, "Did I tell you how I delivered my baby sister? Í was a midwife at 9!" Now that's an interesting person!

> "...Isn't it splendid to think of all the things there are to find out about? It just makes me feel glad to be alive--it's such an interesting world. It wouldn't be half so interesting if we knew all about everything, would it? There'd be no scope for imagination then, would there?" L.M. Montgomery, Anne of Green

Suspects Plead Not Guilty in Pipe Bombing By Dean Lee

Two men arrested last week, during an intense pleaded investigation, not guilty Wednesday in connecting with a New Year's eve arson fire, in a vacant home, caused by an exploding a pipe bomb. Hosea Daniel Dileoreto, 18 and Steven James Rymer, 28 were both charged with arson of an inhabited structure and use of an explosive device. Police said Rymer was one of a number of transients living in the vacant house in the 800 block of North Oakland Ave., where the fire broke out. Dileoreto was said to live, next to the home, on the same block.

Pasadena Fire Spokeswoman Derderian said damages to the home and contents were estimated at $450,000. The home was considered a total loss.

The fire was first reported to officials shortly before 7 p.m. Dec. 31.

Police took Rymer and Dileoreto into custody Jan 10, at about 6:45 p.m. after conducting an investigation. The area was blocked off for a short time as a multi-agency task force including a S.W.A.T. team and bomb squad. No other explosives were discovered officials said.

Derderian also said investigators determined the motive was thrill and not part of any larger group of individuals.

Both men are being held on $750,000 bond and expected back in court Feb. 6. Both men face up to eight years in prison.

Officials also said it was not clear how long the home was being used by transients. It became vacant in April after the death of the owner.

DUARTE HONORS CITY EMPLOYEES AND NEWEST RESIDENT INTRODUCED

This past Tuesday the City of Duarte held its 2013 Annual Awards. Prior to the Council Meeting, there was a "homey" reception with lots of food, a cake and just a lot of camaraderie. Maybe it's because their Community Center is so large, that one can easily walk around, visit friends and congratulate the awardees that it seems more like a family gathering!

City Manager Daryl George with Jack Russell

Duarte's newest resident, Jack Russell Caracci, made his appearance to the delight of everyone present. The ten-day old baby's proud parents are Mayor Pro tem Tzeitel Paras-Caracci and K.C. Caracci. All cameras clicked and City Manager Daryl George held the little one wearing his special shirt with the Andres Duarte "D" brand printed on it!

Honored for five years of service were Pattie Dalessandro, Commissioner, Public Works Commission; Frank Haynes, Commissioner, Public Works Commission; Craig Hensley, Director of Community Development, Community Development Commission; Ana Lisa Hernandez, Commissioner, Public Safety and Planning Commssions; and Tony Molina, Commissioner, Economic Development Commission.

Recognized for ten years of service were Larry Breceda, Public Safety Manager, Code Compliance/Animal Control Officer and Part-Time Community Services Officer, Public Safety Department and Part-Time Recreation Leader and Part-Time Student Intern, Parks and Recreation Department; George Dang, Recreation Supervisor and Recreation Coordinator, Parks and Recreation Department; and Aida Torres, Crime Prevention Specialist, Public Safety Coordinator and Part-Time Community Services Officer/Probation Intern, Public Safety Department.

All of the above-mentioned are hardworking dedicated individuals and are an asset to Duarte. Since I began writing for this publication over two years ago, Ms. Torres has been OUTSTANDING in her job. She NEVER fails to email me updates on robberies/any crimes that occur. And she ALWAYS includes safety tips on preventing crime. No matter where you live-Duarte, Monrovia, Arcadia, Sierra Madre, Ms. Torres' crime prevention tips are quite pertinent.

I have saved the best for last! Duarte resident Jim Kirchner was honored for TWENTY-FIVE years of service. This past year, Jim has been a Commissioner on the Cable Communication Commission. For two years, Jim served on the Planning Commission, the Duarte City Council for twelve years and the Traffic Safety Commission for ten years. Jim and his wife Kathy have been very involved with many nonprofit groups and worked on many projects to benefit others. Congratulations,

"We can't make it rain, but we can be much better prepared for the terrible consequences that California's drought now threatens, including dramatically less water for our farms and communities and increased fires in both urban and rural areas," said Governor Brown. "I've declared this emergency and I'm calling all Californians to conserve water in every way possible."

In the State of Emergency declaration, Governor Brown directed state officials to assist farmers and communities that are economically impacted by dry conditions and to ensure the state can respond if Californians face drinking water shortages. In May 2013, Governor Brown issued an Executive Order to direct state water officials to expedite the review and processing of voluntary transfers of water and water rights. SEGAL NOT RUNNING: FOUR NEW CANDIDATES

On the heels of spearheading an unprecedented long-term contract renewal negotiation with all five City unions simultaneously and in record time, Arcadia Mayor Mickey Segal has opted not to run for re-election on

His decision opens the door for at least two first-time new members on the Council, and cent completion of new four-year contracts potentially a majority of the five-member Council.

For the first time in recent memory, there is no incumbent candidate, though Roger Chandler hopes to return to the Council where he has served multiple Mayoral stints. And Sho Tay, who is very familiar to voters, hopes to make this his first successful run. Other newcomers to the process who filed by the 5:30 p.m. deadline today and are awaiting validation of their applications from the City are Tom Beck, Burton Brink and Paul

Only one of the five potential candidates thus far is Chinese-American in a City that is nearly two-thirds Chinese; none are female; and all five are AARP-eligible.

Segal's decision triggered a seldom-exercised City election rule that allows for a 48-hour extension of the filing deadline if no incumbent is running, according to Lisa Mussenden, Chief Deputy City Clerk/Records Manager. That means others could have rushed to apply on Tuesday and Wednesday this week, though the challenge for them would have been considerable (see requirements below). But no additional candidates filed to run for the City Council during the extension time. Meanwhile, Segal, a CPA, financial advisor and managing partner of his own firm in Century City representing many major star athletes and celebrities, told ArcadiasBest. com tonight that while he has mixed emotions — he only made his decision final a few days ago - his business is growing so fast that he cannot in good conscience commit to another four years on the Arcadia City Council knowing he would not be able to attend the appropriate number of events. Noting that his 265-employee firm Nigro Carlin and have each been Mayor multiple times are Segal Feldstein & Bolno has doubled in size in the past five years and is expanding with a John Wuo. In recent years these four along new office soon in San Francisco and perhaps another East Coast office, Segal said his travel and the demand on his time is increasing.

odist Hospital Foundation board of directors, he came off that board this year after being termed out. Segal has provided a wealth of financial acumen to the City that will be hard to replace.

"I'm not disappearning and my wife and I are not moving from Arcadia," he said, "but I've committed my fair share of time."

Segal will leave on a high note. The hallmark of his time on the Council and in his final stint as Mayor has been spearheading the rewith all five bargaining units (unions), an effort that has been in the works in Arcadia for six years and which Segal made the goal of his one-year term as Mayor at his swearingin last April in coordination with City Manager Dominic Lazzaretto and others.

There were multiple firsts achieved in the Only eight weeks spent negotiating and reaching agreements with all five unions — each unit agreed to come to the table in the spirit of trying to complete the process quickly without the usual strategies of opening offers that were intentionally far apart and un-workable.

1. No attorneys came to the bargaining table for the unions or the City, saving the City $75,000 – $100,000 in legal fees.

2. Reached agreement with every bargaining unit.

3. A four-year deal instead of going through the process every year or two. Although the agreements resulted in a higher-than-usual 10% increase overall as compared to the typical annual 1.5% – 2% boost, the higher payments will largely be offset by the savings in manpower and resources associated with each negotiation process, as well as the legal costs.

4. Resolution months in advance of annual budget process, allowing the City to more accurately prepare and implement a budget, knowing exactly what its union expenses will be.

The two other Council seats being vacated in April are those of former Mayors Bob Harbicht and Peter Amundson, who are both termed out. The other two current long-serving Council members who are in mid-term Gary Kovacic and current Mayor Pro Tem with Segal and Chandler have been rotating on and off the Council.

Roger Chandler, a former multi-term Council "I don't want to be part-time Councilman member who last served as Mayor in 2007-08, moved to Arcadia in 1982 and raised two Segal's decision has been the subject of sons here with his wife Jane. He was with the County Sheriff's Department 24 years before retiring and becoming Chief of Police of the Los Angeles City Housing Authority. Roger and his wife Jane, have lived in Arcadia for over 36 years and they have two sons.

> Sho Tay has lived in Arcadia about 30 years where he and his wife Sherry have raised their two children. He is a retired businessman and continues to be a business entrepreneur and serve on the boards of many local community organizations. He finished fourth of six candidates in an election for the same three seats in 2010 when three incumbents and/or previous Mayors were all re-elected.

> All candidates will be offered their own free blog here on ArcadiasBest.com to post whatever they want as often as they want, once the City declares them eligible later this month. The three first-time campaigners:

Thomas Patrick Beck is a founding partner of Thon, Beck, Vanni, Callahan & Powell, a Pasadena law firm from which he recently retired. He earned a BA from Loyola Marymount in 1973, graduated Loyola Law School in 1977, moved to Arcadia in 1985, and has four children who attended Highland Oaks Elementary and Foothill Middle School.

Paul E. Van Fleet is an Insurance Claims Representative who moved to Arcadia in 1998 after living in multiple other cities in the U.S. and spending a year teaching English in Taiwan. He earned a BA in Geography in 1980 and an Economics degree in 1983 from Rutgers University, and has studied Chinese cultural and language classes at PCC. (No photo available yet.)

Burton L. Brink is a native of Arcadia who graduated AHS in 1982 and his family has lived here 46 years. He is a Sergeant with the L.A. County Sheriff's Department where he has worked since 1989.

Each person who filed must have at least 20 signatures on their petitions validated as registered Arcadia voters by the City Clerk's office, a process most likely to be complete by this Friday, Jan. 17. Each candidate was required to pick up the required application paperwork at the City Clerk's office at City Hall, get 20 valid signatures on a petition (30 are recommended), and file everything, including a $2,500 fee, by the deadline.

Election Day is April 8 but that serves more as a deadline this time with ballots only accepted this time by mail. Nonetheless, the election is expected to cost the City somewhere between $90,000 - $120,000.

ALBERTSON'S CLOSING

We just got the news that Albertson's Monrovia on Huntington Drive will be closing in February. We've been following the news, so its not a complete surprise, but still we're sorry to see them leave Monrovia.

But, this isn't the first time that this shopping center lost it's major tenant. Back in the last millennium, longtime Monrovia business Kmart closed, that was around 1996 or so. Check out this old Polaroid.

It brings back memories of Blue Light Specials and those amazing deep fried burritos at the cafeteria. That was way before the term "chimichanga" came into vogue. We'd better bid adieu before we get too nostalgic.

When officers arrived, they detained both subjects. The two had been in a relationship for 15 years and it was determined they had been fighting each other equally. A computer check revealed the female also had a no-bail warrant for her arrest. Both suspects were arrested and held for court.

January 14 at 11:00 p.m., a subject staying at a local hotel in the 700 block of West Huntington went to their locked truck and discovered the left rear window shattered. The doors were still locked, but the victim's black leather briefcase had been taken from the rear floorboard. The victim had parked his truck earlier that night and went into the hotel. The investigation is continuing. An officer checked the hotel parking lot discovered a second vehicle with a shattered rear window and the doors still locked. Officers attempted to contact the owner, but were not successful. At 12:31 a.m., the owner contacted the police to report the vehicle burglary. The victims said they parked their vehicle at 8:15 p.m. and then went shopping. Three men's suits were taken from the rear hatch area of the vehicle, below the shattered window.

Outstanding Warrant / Under the Influence of Narcotics - Suspects Arrested

January 15 at 8:08 p.m., officers were dispatched on the report of subjects trespassing inside a vacant house in the 100 block of East Cypress. When they arrived, they located a male and female subject. The female was found to have an outstanding warrant for her arrest and the male was determined to be under the influence of a controlled substance. Both subjects were arrested and taken into custody.

Violation of Domestic Violence Restraining Order - Suspect Arrested

January 15 at 10:23 p.m., an officer stopped a vehicle at Peck and Camino Real. A computer check of the male driver had a domestic violence restraining order to stay away from the female who was sitting in the passenger seat. The male was arrested for violation of the restraining order and taken into custody, where he was held until court the next morning.

No-Bail Felony Burglary Warrant – Suspect Arrested January 16 at 1:53 a.m., an officer observed a male subject he recognized walking into a convenience store at Huntington and Mountain. He knew a nobail warrant had been issued for the subject for felony burglary. The officer confirmed the outstanding

MONROVIA SCHOOL DISTRICT HONORS GREAT FOOTBALL COACH MADDOX, WILDCAT TEAM AND EIGHTY-EIGHT AWESOME TUTORS By Joan Schmidt

This past Wednesday evening made me VERY raffle and prizes. Thank you, EIGHTY-EIGHT PROUD to be a resident of Monrovia. Because outstanding, caring youths! Monrovia Football Coach Maddox Rvan Maddox was stepping down to go into Administration, he was honored for his outstanding record as Head Football Coach; his teams were CIF Champions for three years and this year, Rio Hondo League Champions. The team itself also was introduced and recognized as the 2013 Rio Hondo League Champions.

When I arrived, I had NO idea that they were going to be two special groups honored. The Board acknowledged and commended the "Project PASS" Tutors who participated in the award-winning Pro-Active Tutoring (PAT) Program under the direction of Harold "Duke" Freyermuth. Eighty-eight outstanding youths from Monrovia High School and Clifton and Santa Fe Middle Schools spent Tuesdays and Thursdays helping their peers. Mr. Freyermuth commended the students and acknowledged groups such as Monrovia Reads who donated funding and the Boys and Girls Club which provided the buses for the tutors to travel to the

After the tutors left, the Wildcat Football Team was brought in. Coach Maddox introduced all the players and they also shook hands with the School Board. Mr. Kirk McGinnis, Monrovia High School Principal came to the podium and gave a glowing account of Coach Maddox: He spoke of Maddox as "a mentor, a role model...He looked at every game like a classroom lesson-that to me speaks volumes...he always took the high road...he took time to talk to kids-he brought them close, looked them in the eye, praised them for what they were doing right, redirected them to what they should be doing, and praised them again. That is what we should see in sports, on fields, in gyms, pools and in classrooms

Mr. McGinnis finished his praise f Coach Maddox: "We will miss you. We wish you the best of luck in all you do... you will be a great

Mr. McGinnis' words of praise for Coach Maddox were very well stated. Monrovians, we have a lot to be thankful for. I am thrilled the Wildcat Football Team excelled these past years. But I am TOTALLY blown away by eightyeighty outstanding selfless youths who gave two

BOSCO TECH HOSTS MATH COMPETITION FOR MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS & PROBLEM-SOLV-ING WORKSHOP FOR TEACHERS ON FEBRUARY 1

ROSEMEAD, CA. - January 14, 2014 - Don Bosco Technical Institute (Bosco Tech) will host a mathematics competition for seventh and eighth grade students from both public and private schools on Saturday, February 1. The 42nd annual event will offer prizes for highest individual and school team scores.

During the competition, a workshop will be provided for middle school teachers, examining problems used on the test, to facilitate classroom discussion of the concepts. The workshop will be led by instructional expert and textbook author Michael Hattar, a longtime Bosco Tech math teacher and professor at Rio Hondo Community College and Mount San Antonio College.

"The competition is a fun opportunity for middle-school students to test their computational and critical thinking skills," said James Shafiyoon, Bosco Tech math teacher and competition coordinator. "As a STEM-based high school, Bosco Tech offers advanced instruction in mathematics, science and engineering. The competition will promote and encourage the development of math skills among younger students."

Check in begins at 7:30 a.m. and the one-hour test starts at 9 a.m. Free fun activities will be offered, and food will be available for purchase. An award ceremony will be held immediately following the competition. The cost is $3 per student. THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show THE LEGEND OF HERCULES

The only thing that I knew about this movie before I saw it was that it was a rebelling of the Greek myth. I did not know who was cast in what role or even seen a preview for the film. And, now that I have seen it, I am happy to say that my not knowing much about the film was a very, very good thing.

Amphitryon (Scott Adkins) has just conquered Greece. With his older son, Iphicles (Liam Garrigan), about to be married, the new King exiles his younger son, Hercules (Kellan Lutz), who is then sold into slavery. He must fight his way out of a dark fight club and get back to Greece in time to marry his true love, Hebe (Gaia Weiss).

The story is extremely cliché and I was bored for the entire hour and a half. All I can say about this movie is DO NOT GO SEE IT. The Legend of Hercules is one of the worst movies I have ever seen and no one should ever see this shipwreck of a film.

UNCLE SAM STEPS IN FOR YOUR TIPS

My dearly departed pappy Elmer Dills would tell me, don't argue sex, politics and or religion, I must add tipping to the list. I have used this topic many times on my radio show, Dining with Dills on KABC Radio to get the phones buzzing.

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

There is a new law on the books, actually an old law that is now being enforced. Starting January 1, the IRS will classify automatic gratuities as service charges that are taxable as regular wages and subject to payroll tax withholding. That might sound like a bunch of tax law mumbo jumbo, but what it means is that restaurants have to treat those tips like regular wages. Typically, the IRS left it up to the waiter or tipped employees to declare that money. But with this new change the waiter won't see those "tips" until payday—instead of the end of the shift. And restaurants will have to withhold federal income, Social Security and Medicare taxes on that money, too. What it means for the diner is that those automatic 18% gratuity charges on tables of 6 or more may well be a thing of the past. The addition has been added onto large parties to ensure that servers are paid for catering to a large group.

That doesn't mean you should use this an excuse to start people. stiffing Remember, the minimum wage laws here in the States for tipped workers is still at a shocking $2.13 an hour. (California thankfully all of it's workers, tipped or untapped, a minimum of $8/hour.) And, as evidenced by this video, a few extra bucks means a lot to the service workers of America. The new rule actually went into effect in June of 2012, however the IRS postponed enforcement until January 2014 to give restaurateurs enough time to adjust and properly comply.

While it might seem great to have some freedom as a customer, the service industry isn't so excited about the idea.

Tips... To insure proper service. Here is my rundown and no it hasn't changed in twenty years of Anyone in any country that provides a service should be rewarded.

10% buffet plus $2 directly to busboy that brought you water and had to clean up after the kids through Jell-O on the ground.

$1 for each drink at the bar

$2 for a to go order, as long as they got it right

12% fair service, means they brought you the food and came back with your check

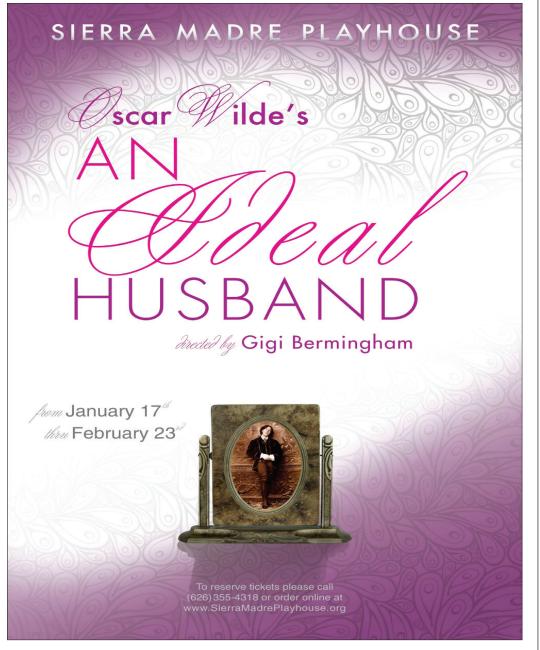

15% Good service brought you your food and drinks and refilled drinks and asked how was it

18% Very Good service all of the above plus asked you if your meal was prepared to your liking

20-25% All of the above, brought items in proper order, waited for you to ask for check, asked if there is a validation needed and please ask for me next time.

One more note... I subtract 5% when the server blames the kitchen for a mistake, got it !!

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS:

Review By Sean Kayden

TRUE DETECTIVE

The long awaited new series from HBO called "True Detective" debuted this past Sunday night. With expectations through the roof, did the show live up to all its potential? Matthew McConaughey and Woody Harrelson both star in this dark police drama that takes place in South Louisiana. The two men are two Louisiana State Police homicide detectives who hunt a serial killer in 1995. The show spans across seventeen years, showing flashbacks of the investigation leading into 2012 where both men are interviewed separately by current detectives about their relationship as well as the murder that occurred during their time as partners. "True Detective" is a slow burn miniseries that's intense, morbid, and richly textured. The dialogue is provocative and lively that brings an ominous tone to the show. With two solid performances by lead actors who have come into their own as of late, "True Detective's" pilot episode pulls you into its world. This is not a happy place to be, but one that's too damn gripping to turn away from.

"The Long Bright Dark" Nic Pizzolatto Pilot: Created by: Written by: Nic Pizzolatto (All 8 Episodes) Directed by: Cary Joji Fukunaga (All 8 Episodes) Premiered on HBO on January 12, 2014

Matthew McConaughey stars Det. Rust Cohle. He's mysterious and haunted. He's battling an alcohol addiction, coping with a deceased daughter and a philosophical pessimist. He doesn't have any furniture in his apartment and there are several crime novels stacked against a wall. With seemingly no friends or family, Cohle seems to just live for his job. The first episode was mostly about revealing who these characters are and the way they perceive one another. Woody Harrelson stars Det. Martin Hart who is the opposite of Cohle. He has a beautiful family and doesn't believe in the same ideologies about life as his distressed partner. However, their scenes together are the most powerful in the episode. The relationship is dynamic and multifaceted. These two actors really switched it up these past few years with more dramatic roles. McConaughey, once a guy who did silly rom-com and action pictures is now one of the most dramatic actors on screen. His presence is dominating, convincing, and down right alluring. In "True Detective," Harrelson keeps up though with each step and each punch thrown at him. At the very least, "True Detective" already has some of the best acting to be found on television.

In the pilot episode, it seems very few things actually happen. We have the investigation of a murdered girl found by a tree in the cane fields. She was naked, tied to the tree, and had antlers coming out of her head. Cohle believes this isn't the murder's first time, but Hart is skeptical. A missing girl from several years ago is brought to attention and the two men pay a visit to the girl's uncle. This all leads up to an ending with a picture being shown to Cohle, seventeen years later (no longer belonging to the police department) that will have you craving the next episode, if not all of the remaining seven. It may be too early to predict, but "True Detective" appears to have best new series written all over it well-deserved Another congratulations to this multitalented author, speaker and founder of an international event production company. Her colleagues caught her off guard earlier this month with a wonderful accolade.

Andrea Michaels had the surprise of her life at the "The Special Event" 2014 Annual Gala Awards in Nashville, TN on Friday, January 20th when she was presented with the prestigious "Pillar of the Industry" Gala Award for her contribution to professionalism in the events industry. Recognized as one of the top International

Still delightfully stunned, Andrea shares, "It was such an unbelievable honor. No one has ever surprised me like this, ever!" She expressed, "I am humbled to be so acknowledged by my peers and those I hold in such high esteem. This is an honor that exceeds my reality." Andrea has a reputation for excellence with her clients, is respected as a generous mentor to colleagues and says, "I learn as much from them as they do from me and try to give back to the industry that has so enhanced my life in every way possible, bringing me new life experiences every day, every minute and every second."

THE JOY OF YOGA

APPRECIATING WHERE YOU ARE

What a gift the present moment is. All things possible. Everything is in perfect order. It's only when we drift into yesterday or tomorrow that trouble creeps in. You all know those people who live in the past, held back by past experiences or accounts of yesterday. Or those who live in tomorrow-constantly moving, planning, doing. Never moments rest to enjoy a job well done.

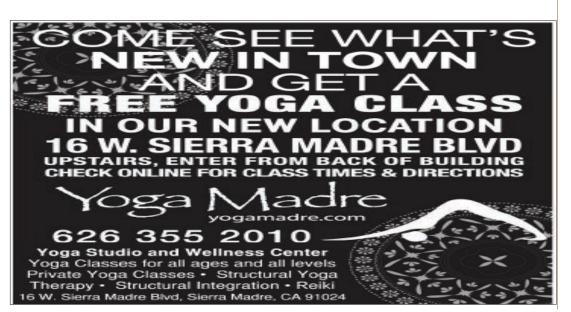

Our yoga practice provides the ideal venue for practicing being in the present moment. Time almost stops during class sometimes. Breath, movement, focus, it's the perfect recipe. I think this is one of the reasons people feel great after yoga. We get a break from having to accomplish, having to plan, or even a break from our negative emotions. The "All is Well" feeling has a chance to enter our mind and body. It's attitude changing.

You cannot help but notice how comfortable that present moment felt. It feels right! And OK. Would it be nice to live this way all the time? Not worrying or about yesterday or tomorrow? Enjoying right where you are at any given point in time? There are many ways to begin practicing this. Of course, on the mat is a great place to start. We continue flower in this acceptance throughout our times in class. Yoga is known for its ability to increase acceptance and compassion. Yes, for others, but first for ourselves.

See you in class.

Can something that is sweet and gooey be a health food? If we are talking about dates, it can be. Dates are the fruit of the palm tree. They are nutrient dense, which means they contain many beneficial nutrients. Dates are rich in several vitamins, minerals, and fiber. I think my daughter has a love affair with dates. She consumes dates instead of reaching for a sugary desserts, candy or chocolate. I use dates as a sweetener to make healthy dessert

Here are some of the reasons to consider dates as a healthy food tionist at Vibrant Living

We all know that vitamins are needed for the body to function properly. Dates are rich in B vitamins and B vitamins are necessary for energy production.

Consider dates a healthy food choice because they are high in fiber. Dates help move food through the intestinal track. Dates can be eaten as an aid for constipation. Our bowels take care of waste so it is important to keep them moving. The best method for this ailment is to soak the dates overnight and then eat the dates in the morning, doing this will give you an energy boost as well.

Dates are packed with several essential minerals that play a role in boosting our immune system, transport oxygen through our blood, produce energy, and help maintain bone health. These fruits contain calcium, sulfur, manganese, copper, iron, potassium, phosphorous and magnesium. All of which are necessary for good health.

Lastly, dates are a good source of antioxidants. Antioxidants help to remove free radical toxins from the body. Eating these antioxidant rich fruits may help to reduce the risk of

If you have never tried dates before, give them a try. They are a great alternative to many processed sugary treats. Just make sure you wash them well. Due to their sticky surface, dates can attract dirt and impurities.

"To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under Heaven."

~ Ecclesiastes 3:1

Every now and then I am met with the challenge of writing an article for this column that doesn't quite fit the category of a "Happy Tail". You see, I find it almost impossible to come up with an uplifting story when I am dealing with sadness. I am typically inspired to write by my reality, and unfortunately reality comes with a mixed bag of experiences that can bring anything imaginable to life, good bad or ugly. One day I might be on top of the world with everything moving in the right direction and the next day I am rendered nearly paralyzed by the news of a tragic event that feels so heavy I can hardly

Last week I received shocking news from a close friend that absolutely blind-sided me and left me feeling so helpless and sad that I am still trying to work through it and get back to the top of my game. I must confess that I am rather weak when it comes to handling emotional trauma. In the midst of turmoil, it is sometimes hard for me to see the light at the end of the tunnel, and whatever I am inspired to write about will most likely be steeped in the same emotional state that my mind is in at the time. Please forgive me, my dear readers, but I have decided to just let it be as I write this article, and let my true feelings emerge, as I believe that therein lies the beginning of healing in my heart.

On the evening of Friday, January 10th a torrential rain storm was working it's way through the Tennessee Valley, and by the early morning hours of the following day it had taken

HOMES & PROPERTY

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed

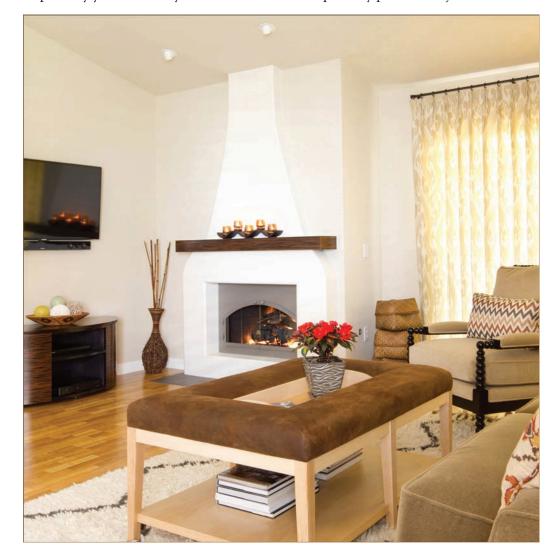

by Luther Tsinoglou

PET PROPOSALS

Did you realize that 6 out of 10 U.S. households have pets? That means that those without critter companions are in the minority, but if you're a pet owner selling your home, you shouldn't ignore the perceptions of those families that don't include cats or dogs.

Odors are the biggest issue. This isn't to say that your housekeeping is remiss, but remember that some buyers who visit your home may experience allergies or be particularly sensitive to pet dander or odors. Just vacuum the floors and furniture frequently and use an air sanitizer. During the early stages of your listing, you'll likely experience more frequent showings and visits by buyers. This is a particularly good time to make arrangements to board your pet, or seek out a good "doggie day care" center for quick visits during showings. This may be safer and less stressful for your pet than a constant parade of strangers in your home, and may put buyers more at ease as well.

In any case, be sure to pick up toys, bowls, and bedding in advance of a showing, just as you would tidy up the children's things and other rooms throughout the house before buyers visit. A particularly attractive gesture would be to offer a cleaning allowance, no matter how scrupulously you maintain your home. This should quiet any potential objections.

3 TASKS TO DO BEFORE STARTING A REMODEL

By Debbie L. Talianko, Allied ASID, Certified Interior Designer #6393

Beginning a remodel on your home is a very exciting prospect. However, there are some important steps you should take before you spend any money. Here are 3 tasks to do as you begin to plan.

1) Speak to a Realtor in your area. Tell them what you are planning to do. Give them a budget number that you are comfortable spending. Let them know how long you plan to live in your home after the remodel. An established realtor will be familiar with comparable properties in your neighborhood and they are experts in what types of remodeling will add to the resale value of your home. The last thing you want to do is "overbuild the neighborhood."

- 2) Form your team of experts. This list will include an Interior Designer, a General Contractor and yourself. If you are planning an extensive project with a good amount of structural and exterior work, an Architect and/or a Structural Engineer may be needed on your team as well. Make sure to hire only qualified, educated and if applicable, licensed and insured professionals. You will want to interview at least 2 or 3 of each and make sure there is a good "fit" or "mix" of personalities. You need to feel comfortable with these team members from the start. It might be wise to ask your Designer for recommendations of contractors that they have worked with and with whom they are comfortable working.
- 3) Start a Preliminary Budget. Before spending a dime, try to calculate some round numbers. Include everything on your wish list and allow about 20% more for the "unknown". This way, you will not be disappointed when the project gets underway and something unexpected such as faulty wiring or plumbing are discovered.

THE WORLD AROUND US LOOKING With Bob Eklund

HUBBLE PEEKS THROUGH A GRAVITATIONAL LENS

This image of Abell 2744 is the first to come from Hubble's Frontier Fields observing program, which is using the magnifying power of enormous galaxy clusters to peer deep into the distant Universe. Abell 2744, nicknamed Pandora's Cluster, is thought to have a very violent history, having formed from a cosmic pile-up of multiple galaxy clusters.

Astronomers previously observed Abell 2744 with the NASA/ESA Hubble Space Telescope back in 2011, exploring the cluster's history. They found that at least four galaxy clusters had crashed into one another to form Abell 2744, causing some weird and wonderful effects. This mix of cosmic phenomena, some of which had never been seen before, led to the nickname of Pandora's Cluster (http://www.spacetelescope.org/news/heic1111).

A mix of hazy elliptical galaxies and colorful spirals can be seen clumping together in the center of this image. The effects of the cluster's gravity can be seen in the blue arcs and distorted shapes that are scattered across the frame, including galaxies that seem to be bleeding into the surrounding space. The arcs are actually the distorted images of galaxies far in the distance.

Abell 2744 is the first of six targets for an observing program known as Frontier Fields. This three-year, 840-orbit program will yield our deepest views of the universe to date, using the power of Hubble to explore more distant regions of space than could otherwise be seen, by observing gravitational lensing effects around six different galaxy clusters.

Gravitational lensing is a phenomenon caused by an object's influence on the space-time around it. All objects that have mass affect the space around them in this way, but huge clumps of mass like galaxy clusters do so more strongly. This causes light from more distant objects hidden behind this makeshift "lens" to be deflected and bent, leading to a bizarre array of optical effects—for example, by creating mirror images of one galaxy, as well as smearing galaxies out into arcs, and creating multiple images of individual objects. This effect is one of the predictions of Albert Einstein's general theory of relativity.

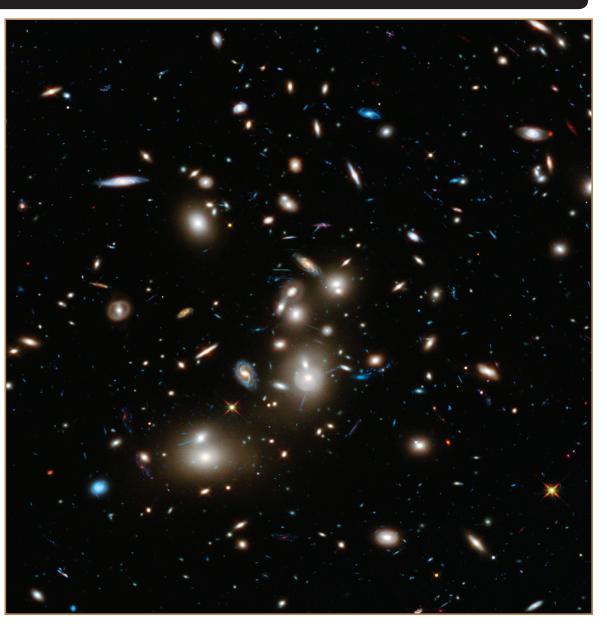

Although Orest Chwolson (1924) and Frantisek Klin (1936) are sometimes credited as being the first ones to discuss this effect in print, it is more commonly associated with Einstein, who published a famous article on the subject in 1936. Swiss astronomer Fritz Zwicky, who worked at Mount Wilson Observatory, followed this up by suggesting in 1937 that the effect could allow galaxy clusters to act as gravitational lenses. It was not until 1979 that this effect was actually confirmed by observation.

As well as creating weird shapes, gravitational lensing also magnifies the images so that astronomers can see more detail. This means that distant objects that otherwise would be too distant and faint to be seen become visible—something that the Frontier Fields program aims to exploit over the coming years.

Some results from this program are already starting to emerge, with Abell 2744 as the first target. In a paper submitted to The Astrophysical Journal last November, a group of astronomers detected a large number of distant, gravitationally lensed galaxy candidates—all viewed through Abell 2744. These deep surveys using massive galaxy clusters show that looking through cosmic lenses can be an effective and useful way to study the distant Universe.

For more information on gravitational lensing, see Hubblecast 70: "Peering around cosmic corners" (http://www.spacetelescope.org/videos/hubblecast70a).

THE GOOD LIFE

TIPS AND TOOLS TO HELP SENIORS REGAIN THEIR FLEXIBILITY

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you offer some good stretching tips and resources for seniors? I've gotten so inflexible in recent years I can hardly bend over to tie my shoes anymore. Stiff Senior

Of all possible exercises, stretching tends to be the most overlooked and neglected among seniors, yet nothing is more vital to keeping an aging body limber and injury free. Here's what you should know along with some tip and resources to help you regain some flexibility.

As we age, our muscles naturally lose their elasticity if you're not active, which can make common day-to-day activities like reaching down to tie your shoes, or looking over your shoulder to back your car out of the driveway difficult.

But the good news is, by incorporating some simple stretching exercises into your routine (at least three times a week) you can greatly improve your flexibility, as well as enhance your balance, posture and circulation, relieve pain and stress, and prevent injuries. In addition, stretching is also important as a warm-up and cool-down for more vigorous activities, and leg stretching is an excellent way to prevent nighttime leg cramps too.

Stretching Basics

Stretching exercises should focus on the muscles in your calves, front and back thighs, hips, lower and upper back, chest, shoulders and neck. If you've had hip or back surgery, you should talk to your doctor before doing lower-back flexibility exercises.

If you don't have any experience with stretching, there are books like "Stretching for Dummies" and "Stretching for 50+" that you can purchase at your local bookstore or amazon.com that provides instructions and illustrations of proper techniques.

There are also a number of DVDs and videos you can buy to guide you through a series of stretching exercises you can do at home. Collage Video (collagevideo.com, 800-819-7111) sells several at prices ranging between $10 and $20, as does iefit.com and amazon.com.

Also see go4life.nia.nih.gov, a resource created by the National Institute on Aging that offers a free exercise DVD and booklet that provide illustrated examples of stretching exercises. You can order your free copies online or by calling 800-222-2225.

While stretching, it's very important to listen to your body. You want to stretch each muscle group to the point where the muscle feels tight. If it hurts, you've gone too far. Back off to the point where you don't feel any pain, then hold the stretch for 10 to 20 seconds. Relax, then repeat it three to five times, trying to stretch a little farther, but don't bounce. Bouncing greatly increases your chance of injury.

It's also a good idea to warm up a little before you start stretching by walking in place and pumping your arms. And remember to breathe when you stretch. Also keep in mind that muscles that have not been stretched in a while take time to regain their flexibility. So be patient and go slow.

Another popular way to improve your flexibility is through gentle yoga or chair yoga. In chair yoga you replace the yoga mat with a chair where most poses can be duplicated. This is much easier on tight, inflexible muscles.

To get started, there are DVDs and videos that offer yoga instructions and routines for seniors that you can do at home. Some good resources for finding them are peggycappy.net and yogaheart.com, or check with your local public library.

Tai chi is another good exercise option for improving flexibility and balance. To learn it, it's best to work with an instructor who can teach you the correct movements and breathing techniques. To locate a class in your area, call your local senior center, health club or wellness center or check your yellow pages. If nothing's available, tai chi DVDs for seniors (see amazon.com, collagevideo.com and iefit.com) is a good alternative.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior. org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

RICH Johnson JANUARY 18 COMES ONCE A YEAR

ONE WEEK FROM TODAY (Saturday, January 25) Make plans to come to Corfu Restaurant at 48 W. Sierra Madre Blvd in Sierra Madre on Saturday, January 25 at 6:30. Buy dinner and become a judge in the great tiramisu throwdown. Tiramisu is a wonderful Italian dessert and Corfu proprietress Amy is convinced she makes the best tiramisu. Another baker has thrown down the challenge claiming a better tiramisu. You will decide. Call for more information (626)

Well, let's get back to January 18th. If you are looking at this column on the day of its first exposure, it must be January 18th. That means, of course, there are a scant 347 days left in 2014 (you probably knew that). My, 2014 has already gone by fast. Interesting events, births and even a few deaths took place on this heralded day. Let's take a look at some of these memorable bits of trivia.

Leo II took over the Byzantine Empire as Emperor on this day in 474 A.D. Unfortunately his reign was only 10 months long. It may have had something to do with the fact he was 7 years old. Some think he was poisoned by his mother (what mother hasn't entertained that thought once or twice?)

On this date in 1778 James Cook became the first known European to discover the Hawaiian Islands and its friendly natives. He named Hawaii the "Sandwich Islands" after the Earl of Sandwich. He was later killed by the friendly natives who held Mr. Cook in such high regard they buried him with the same pomp and ceremony meant for chiefs. They did de-bone the body (that's right) to preserve the bones as religious icons. They might be available on Ebay.

Sailing straight past the good ole USA, in 1788 the British fleet made its way to Botany Bay in Australia to drop off 736 convicts. The Brits used to drop convicts off here. Well, not here meaning Sierra Madre, but rather here in the U.S. You probably knew what I meant. For some reason they stopped unloading the boats after the Revolutionary War.

My son will love this bit of trivia: January 18, 1886 saw the genesis of Modern hockey as the Hockey Association was formed in England.

This date in 1944 witnessed the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City host its first jazz concert. Performing were Louis Armstrong, Benny Goodman, Lionel Hampton, Artie Shaw and Jim Thorpe's Olympic medals were restored to his family on this date in 1983 by the International Olympic Committee. Mr. Thorpe, a native American athlete, won Olympic gold in the 1912 Olympics for the pentathlon and decathlon events.

Famous people born on this date: Daniel Webster (1782); Thomas Watson (Alexander Graham Bell's assistant, 1854); Winnie the Pooh author A.A. Milne (1882); Cary Grant (born Archie Leach 1904); Danny Kaye born David Daniel Kaminsky 1913); Kevin Costner (born Kevin Costner 1955).

Famous people who breathed their last on January 18^{th} include: Emperor Go-Nanazono of Japan in 1471 (seems like just yesterday); 10^{th} President of the USA, John Tyler in 1862; Rudyard Kipling, English author and poet gasped last in 1936. And finally, two giants in the cinema: Sydney Greenstreet died in 1954 (You may remember Sydney as the corpulent bad guy, Kasper Gutman, in "The Maltese Falcon" and the other nightclub owner, Signor Ferrari, in "Casablanca".) And Curly Howard left this life in 1952. You may remember Curly as one of the three stooges. I often use one of his most famous quotes: "I'm trying to think but nothing happens." I also have been known to say, "nyuk-nyuk". By the way, Curly died right near here in San Gabriel, California.

Have a good week. BALANCE FLEXIBILITY TONING STRESS RELIEF (626) 358-3800

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

FYI: SCAMS ARE ALWAYS IN SEASON PART II

Last week we touched on how a natural disaster can bring out two types of people; the wellintentioned who want to donate and the scammers who want to intercept those donations. Here are a few more tips on how to thwart the scammers. * Don't be enticed by photos in emails or on sketchy websites that promise you links to photos or videos of disaster areas. Never click on them...a Malware virus could be the result. If you do entertain requests for money, do so smartly. * Don't ever give your credit card information to a caller even if your caller ID indicates it's a legitimate organization. (Scammers have ways to make whatever number they want to appear on the screen.) Say no to an offer of a courier coming to your home to pick up your donation. (They can be so obliging.) *Mailed material is no guarantee of legitimate organizations. Again, do your due diligence. * Just say no to door-to-door solicitations. They should leave printed material with you which will allow you to properly vet them. Never give them cash! *Be wary of any group who claims that 100% of the donations assist victims. All legitimate organizations typically spend up to 35% of donations on fundraising and administrative costs. (Ideally, it should be 25 %.) Don't let all of this frightening information prevent you from giving to those in dire straits, just be careful. In this high-technology world it gets harder and harder to do, doesn't it?

STUART Tolchin......On LIFE THINK AGAIN

This morning, as I headed out to meet my friend Charles for breakfast, I ran into a typical Sierra Madre problem. At the bottom of the hill there is a four-way Stop Sign and the car going south and the car going west were both completely stopped waiting for the other car to proceed. This is a typical Sierra Madre problem as it remains a place where people are invariably polite, sometimes to a fault, to one another. We still wave and smile at one another whether or not we have been previously introduced.

Can you imagine what a four-way stop sign is like in West LA.? Do they even have such things out there? If they do, do all cars at the stop signs race ahead trying to be the first one into the intersection. I remember once going to a Dodger Game with a lawyer friend from West L.A. He parked close to the stadium in what was clearly marked as a No Parking Zone. I pointed this out to him and he told me not to worry about it reminding me that he could afford any parking ticket. I tried to explain my perspective to him and he explained to me that life was a race to see who could gather up the most toys and privileges and that there was no time to worry about the losers.

This was an LA lawyer talking. Can you imagine a San Francisco lawyer? Do they even have four-way Stop Signs in San Francisco? If they do I bet San Franciscans all try and proceed diagonally and probably come from all directions to crash in the center of the intersection. Can you imagine 4 way stop-signs in Chicago or New York. If these signs do exist there they are probably called attractive nuisances which give people one more reason to confront one another.

Anyhow, these descriptions of various kinds of geographically-specific traffic habits are relevant to the substance of my morning conversation with Charles. We talked about the Golden Globe Presentations on Sunday and I asked him if he had any reaction to the Amy Poehler comment that after seeing 12 Years a Slave she had a whole new take on Slavery. Remember Tina Fey jumped in and said "What are you talking about?" Amy did not respond and went off on a whole new tangent. I told Charles that I understood what Amy was talking about and reminded him of our argument of about 5 years ago when we visited Monticello.

I wrote about the argument in one of my articles just after it happened but on the off-chance that you have not been diligently reading my articles for the past 5 or six years I will review the argument for you. Remember Charles and I are both attorneys. He is African-American and strong and powerful. I am none of these things and am 25 years older. As we, accompanied by our wives, walked through Thomas Jefferson's Library I excitedly pointed out inventions like the automatic letter writer and the swivel chair to Charles. As I said this Charles' whole powerful body seemed to expand and he said in a menacing voiced, "What is wrong with you? Don't you realize that Slaves, Human Beings, were kept imprisoned right below this room. Are you more interested in furniture than people?"

I am embarrassed to admit that, at the time, I was more interested in Jefferson's books and inventions than I was in the fact that he was a slave-owner. As I tried, unsuccessfully, to explain to Charles, slave owning was just one aspect of this conflicted man, while the inventions and books were evidence of his interests and abilities. Slave owning was just what future Presidents like Washington, Madison, and Monroe, all of whom had Plantations fairly near Jefferson's, did as a part of their business life. They are remembered for and their greatness lies in the other things they did.

Charles thought my comments made no sensel and I have come to agree with him. It is so easy to talk about something small like traffic patterns and not think of the larger significance of different behaviors. Yes, I think the goals and mode of lfe in our little town are substantially different from the ways of living in other places and this is worth thinking about and appreciating. More importantly knowing about the existence of slavery and not thinking much more about it is worlds away from experiencing the horror of the institution as presented in films like 12 Years A Slave and last year's Django Unchained.

I think you know what I mean but I hope both you and I can feel it. While we're at it maybe we can think and feel more about the horrors of war and poverty and continuing planetary destruction. Do we really need more movies to help us experience anything?

HOWARD Hays As I See It

Thear some of the mantra in the Legislature from time to time that government needs to get out of the way, and too much regulation and that kind of stuff. But boy, I bet you there are 300,000 people in the state who wish we had more regulation of the industry."

- West Virginia State

- West Vit Senate Pres. Jeff Kessler (D)

We're all familiar with how certain words are used simply to get people buzzed about something-or-other. Or, they could be numbers - as with then-Sen. Joe Biden (D-DE) pointing out how former NYC Mayor Rudy Giuliani's sentences inevitably consist of "a noun, a verb, and 9/11".

Unrelated words or names are thrown in not because of any connection to the subject at hand, but to grab the attention of the presumed audience - or to change the subject entirely. It's remarkable how many times the word "Benghazi" popped up in Fox News coverage of N.J. Gov. Chris Christie's bridge scandal. In his comments on the subject, Charles Krauthammer threw in "Obama" and "Hillary" – names sure to rile the Fox audience more than "Christie"

"Obama" entered into it as the question was raised whether Gov. Christie was as oblivious to the scandal within his own administration as President Obama was to the White House scandals made up by Fox News. As for Clinton, to Krauthammer the worst thing about the New Jersey scandal was how it overshadowed news of allegations made in Robert Gates' new book concerning the former Secretary of State.

Sometimes words with useful sinister connotations soften over time, and there are those determined not to let this happen.

Right-wingers have relied on the word "Obamacare" to frighten their followers, and they're not about to give it up. Now that millions of Americans have been insured, with no prospect of turning back the clock, there's concern over how to keep citizens ignorant of its benefits and fearful of its threat to society.

At first, certain red states thought it would be enough to refuse participation in the program's Medicaid expansion; assuring less well-off constituents that while it meant they'd remain without affordable coverage, at least they'd be protected from "Obamacare".

Then, federally-trained "navigators" came to explain options available through the ACA and help people enroll. Facing this threat, nineteen states have enacted restrictions on these navigators; imposing fees, "licensing" requirements, restrictions on where they can operate, what they can say and ask, etc. The point is to keep people uninformed, scared, and uninsured.

A U.S. Health and Human Services Dept. spokesman called laws in Texas "a blatant attempt to add cumbersome requirements to the navigator program and deter groups working to inform Americans about their new health insurance options and help them enroll in coverage."

Don McBride of AČCESS Family Care in Missouri observes, "They call it 'Obamacare',

"I hear some of the and it's like the atom bomb. . . It is definitely mantra in the Legislature going to take some time to build trust."

Sometimes, names continue to be used for ominous effect, though long ago having lost any meaning. The short-term budget bill introduced last week by House Republicans contains no less than four provisions prohibiting funds from going to the community outreach group ACORN – though the group hasn't existed in any form for nearly four years.

Conversely, words meant to convey laudable characteristics are used to cover up just the opposite. If we see a sign for "Honest Al's Used Cars", we wouldn't expect honesty to be a defining characteristic.

Late last year I heard that KTALK 1150 AM, the local "progressive" talk station, would have a format change – re-branded "The Patriot" and promising "true American values". This could only mean one thing – Rush Limbaugh and Sean Hannity.

I thought of the Iran-Contra hearings of the late-1980s, and what "patriotism" and "American values" are all about. Lt. Col. Oliver North, insisting on appearing in uniform, defended the secret selling of missiles to the Iranians who'd held our personnel hostage less than a decade earlier, and the funneling of proceeds to paramilitary thugs in Nicaragua, all in violation of laws passed by Congress. North justified these actions as the "patriotic" thing to do.

In response, Sen. George Mitchell (D-ME) complimented North on his "obvious deep devotion to this country", but admonished him, "Please remember that others share that devotion and recognize that it is possible for an American to disagree with you . . . and still love God and still love this country just as much as you do. . . Debate this issue forcefully and vigorously, as you have and as you surely will, but please do it in a way that respects the patriotism and the motives of those who disagree with you, as you would have them respect yours."

That was then. Today, "patriotism" and "American values" are marketing identifiers for wing-nut talk radio.

The use of emotion-evoking words came to mind as I read about two guys who met while students at West Virginia Institute of Technology. They opened a couple restaurants together, then got into the chemical storage and distribution business. One of the partners was busted for cocaine possession and later pleaded guilty to felony tax evasion involving company funds, but got his sentence cut by agreeing to wear a wire on controlled cocaine buys.

Federal stimulus funds were wangled for the business, and they hit it big on a distribution deal with Georgia-Pacific, owned by the Koch Brothers – champions of preserving the sinister connotations of that ugly, anti-free-market word, "regulations".

The last time this company had its facilities inspected under current regulations was over twenty years ago. For over five days this month, 300,000 residents of the Charleston, WV area have been unable to use their water for anything other than flushing toilets – due to contamination from a leaked chemical known to cause severe nausea, vomiting and diarrhea.

The name of the company? Freedom ndustries. Perfect.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

OK, NOW I REMEMBER

Memory is a beautiful thing, that is, when it is working. I must confess there are many times in which my memory is on some kind of a vacation.

What I want to know is simply this, how do you know you have forgotten something if you have forgotten it?

I do many things I cannot remember exactly why I do them. Behind everything I do is a reason for why I do it or those things that I do not do. I must confess I am quite a reasonable person along this line.

Without memory, we can take many things for granted. We go through motions we do not know why we are going through them, we just go through them.

Everybody says that when you get older your memory rather takes a backseat. That may be the case with me, I am not quite sure. I cannot remember.

I must confess it is a great asset at times to have a memory failure.

For instance, when the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage accosts me and says, "Did you remember...?" She may have sent me to the grocery store to fetch something or she may have sent me, God forbid, to the mall to pick up something she ordered online.

When she asked this question, I always respond by saying, "I forgot, you know my memory is not what it used to be." It is an easy way to slither out of something I have forgotten to do. The older I get the more plausible this excuse is, I just cannot remember why.

However, on those occasions when she is a little more exasperated than others at me she will say, "Your memory never was what it used to be!"

What that means exactly I do not know. She probably told me sometime in the past, but right now, I simply cannot recall. I am perfectly happy just forgetting that for the time.

Why is it I can remember things I do not want to remember and I cannot remember the things that I need to remember? For instance, I can remember the year my wife was born, but I can never recall the month or the day. As a good husband, I should reverse that, not remember the year and positively remember the month and day.

Why is it when my wife is giving me a piece of her mind, all I can remember at the time is a funny incident that happened to me earlier that morning? Smiling at a time like that is not advantageous to a happy life of the husband. When she asks, "What is so funny?" I cannot tell her I was not listening to her but thinking about something else.

My memory was jogged earlier this week when a certain incident happened at the Post Office.

Anybody who knows me knows that I am not in any way shape or form a hugger. I am a firm believer in what the Bible says, "the right hands of fellowship" (Galatians 2:9). I am vigorous in this handshaking ceremony. That is about as far as it goes.

I had quite forgotten my position along this line, or rather; I should say why I came to this position.

Standing in a very long line at the post office at which time I was in somewhat of a hurry to get through a lady walked in. She looked at me and says, "Oh, it's so nice to see you. I haven't seen you for a long time." Then she caught me off guard and gave me a hug.

I did not know who this woman was; I could not remember ever seeing her before. With the way my memory is these days, I pretended as if she was a long-lost friend of mine. She chatted about stuff that really did not make any sense to me at the time. I smiled and nodded my head and chatted away to her about things I am sure did not mean anything to her.

I was not really paying attention and as the line moved forward, something dawned

You know how it is when all of a sudden something hits you. Your vacationing memory comes home and unpacks. Well, that happened to me standing there in line.

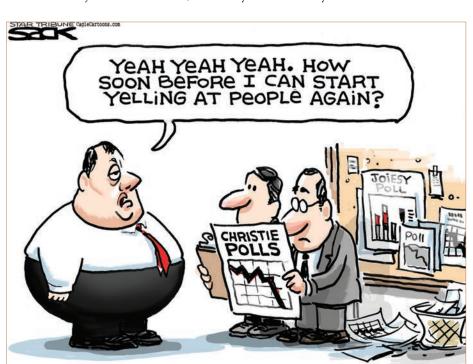

By the time I had figured out what had happened, it was too late to do anything about it. When she hugged me, she stepped in front of me and therefore was ahead of me in line.

I had one of those "aha" moments but there was nothing I could do about it at the time. I had to swallow my pride, display a contagious smile across my face and take it like a man. A man who has been outwitted by some lady he had no idea who she

I now remember why I do not do any hugging. I know all hugs are not equal but with the memory I have I do not remember the difference and I am not taking any more chances.

Driving home from the Post Office, I remembered the wise words of King Solomon. "The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun" (Ecclesiastes 1:9).

If I could just remember that, I certainly would be okay.

WHAT'S ON 98

January 20 - January 26, 2014

The Girl from Calgary was released on October 24, 1932: Fifi is a bronco bustin' French Canadian cowgirl that becomes a star on Broadway and discovers that it can be more dangerous than a rodeo.

Directed by Phil Whitman and written by Leon D'Usseau and Sid Schlager with screenplay by Lee Chadwick.

The Actors: Fifi D'Orsay (Fifi Follette), Paul Kelly (Larry Boyd), Robert Warwick (Bill Webster), Edwin Maxwell (Earl Darrell), Astrid Allwyn (Mazie Williams), Eddie Featherston (Monte Cooper), Harry Bowen (Harry Bowen), Adrienne Dore (Lulu, Darrell's secretary), Geraldine Dvorak (model in Darrell's office), Geneva Mitchell (Dolores Baker), Tiny Sandford (policeman), Rolfe Sedan (beauty contest judge).

Fifi D'Orsay was born 'Marie-Rose Angelina Yvonne Lussier' in 1904, and passed in 1983 at the age of 79. She was born in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. She was a bored typist in Montreal and wanted to become a star, and in pursuit of her passion left Montreal for New York City. After finding a small part in a Follies production in Greenwich Village, she lied to the director of the show that she was from Paris and had performed in the famous Folies Bergeres. Her dedication to her craft and her willingness to do any part offered kept her on stage or in front of a camera until at least age 67, when she appeared on a television game show. After touring with a vaudeville act for a couple of years, she went to Hollywood in search of movie parts. She changed her last name to match her favorite perfume.

In this movie tale, Fifi starts as a rodeo bronc-bustin' girl from Calgary. We see some great authentic scenes from the famous Calgary Rodeo, including a parade with authentic American Indians marching along. The first rodeo scenes are a wonderful peek at the untamed life of 1932 in North America. Fifi winds up on her butt after trying to tame a wild bronco, but later that night sings in the local saloon, and Larry, a fellow that knows a little about Broadway gets Fifi and her girlfriend to come to the States. They enter them in a beauty contest, and Fifi wins. Larry then tries to get her a part in a Broadway show, without much success. But finally Fifi is given her chance and becomes a star, and all looks good for Fifi and Larry. But there is a problem. Big Bill, the money man for the show, wants to woo and marry Fifi, but Larry thinks that Fifi belongs to him. Larry is sent to Chicago to get him out of the way and let Big Bill woo Fifi without any competition. Will Fifi wind up with Larry the not-wealthy huckster, or Big Bill, the wealthy Broadway producer? Will Larry stay out of sight - out of mind and let Big Bill have Fifi all to himself? Will this review end without a mention of hot buttered white kernel popcorn? ... hmmmm ... maybe . . . perhaps.
