

MEASURE UUT – YOUR CITY, YOUR CHOICE

On April 8, Sierra Madre will vote on Measure UUT, which is asking you to decide whether or not to cap and extend the current 10% Utility Users Tax rate. Measure UUT is not raising your utility tax rate. You're paying 10% today, and if you vote yes on Measure UUT, you'll continue to pay the same 10%. If Measure UUT fails, the tax rate will sunset to 6% by June 30, 2016, resulting in a loss of approximately $1,000,000 annual revenue. I'm voting in favor of Measure UUT, and I'll explain why in a three part series. I hope you'll agree with me and vote Yes on Measure UUT.

Measure UUT gives Sierra Madre a choice – Do you want to continue to provide the means for our town to prosper as it has, or shall we force revenue reductions that could have far-reaching and unpredictable effects?

My wife Marta and I moved to Sierra Madre thirty one years ago. We came here because of Sierra Madre's small town atmosphere, low crime rate, eclectic neighborhoods, central downtown, and its proximity to the beautiful San Gabriels. Sierra Madre had a great reputation as a place to raise a family. I can attest to that, our three children thrived growing up in this wonderful town. Thirty one years that it is before you vote.

You'll recall that when I ran to serve you on our City Council two years ago, Í was against Measure 12-1, which was similar to what's before you in Measure In 2008, Measure U was placed on the U, but different in significant ways. I ballot to raise the UUT from six percent was against Measure 12-1 because:

It would have automatically 1. raised your utility tax to 12% on June 30, 2013 without a council vote (I didn't think a 12% tax was necessary and I still don't)

2. It was premature. The current 10% tax rate is scheduled to sunset starting July 1, 2015. There was no need to make a decision three years early while still sorting out the effects of the dissolution of the Redevelopment Agency and the recession, and before giving the new council a chance to assess Sierra Madre's finances

3. Public Safety was fully funded in the then-current budget. I did not believe that public safety would have been in jeopardy had Measure 12-1 failed, and thus far there have been no harmful effects

Two years have elapsed, and your City Council and staff has continued to exercise prudent expense management. Allowing the UUT to sunset will be detrimental to keeping Sierra Madre the terrific place as we know it.

First, some background. We've had a Utility Users Tax since 1993. The original UUT was implemented to mitigate the effects of Proposition 13, which limited property taxation below the rate of inflation. Property Taxes are the main source of revenue to fund municipal operations for most, if not all cities. Sierra Madre was forced to find new sources of revenue or cut services below a level that its citizens would tolerate. Sierra Madre was also > to twelve percent, and it expanded the categories of utilities to be taxed. There were two reasons for the tax increase. One was to give our Police Department a raise in pay, as their compensation fell significantly behind their peers in the San Gabriel Valley. The other reason was to provide continuing funding for our newly formed Paramedic program, which was implemented the year before using start-up money from the sale of the canyon fire station. A citizen's committee recommended the utility tax increase that was placed on the ballot.

> It's interesting to note that at the time Measure U was placed on the ballot, Sierra Madre had received four years of healthy property tax revenue increases as a result of the huge runup in residential property values. Even with the revenue surge, the citizen's committee recommended the UUT increase. Sierra Madre's voters agreed with the recommendation, approving Measure U by 62%. I'm sure it helped that the Council Members Kurt Zimmerman, John Buchanan, Don Watts, Joe Mosca, and Enid Joffe unanimously supported the tax and were signatories to the "Argument in Favor" that appeared on the ballot.

> Our Police officers were given raises in three consecutive years of 9%, 8% and 7%, which merely served to bring them from far below their peers in the San Gabriel Valley, to where they are now, which is at or very near the bottom.

SMPD ARREST SUSPECT IN KERSTING COURT BURGLARY Stolen Vehicle Recovered

Sierra Madre, CA On Wednesday afternoon Sierra Madre Police Department received multiple calls of a person that was being very aggressive in soliciting for money in the Kersting Court area. The individual, later identified as 33 yr. old Ismael Villarreal of Pasadena, was also seen going in and out of several businesses in the area as well as looking into parked vehicles. Officers arrived on scene within minutes of the call and when Villarreal saw the first police unit arrive in the area he took off running. He was later located in the Buccaneer Bar and taken into custody without incident. The investigation revealed that Villarreal was taking money from the tip jars at several of the local business and had driven to the area in a vehicle that was stolen out of Fontana.

Villarreal was booked at the Los Angeles County Jail for Commercial Burglary and Grand Theft Auto and is being held on $20,000 bail.

WISTARIA FESTIVAL SHUTTLE TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE!

Shuttle tickets to ride up to view the Wistaria Vine at the annual Wistaria Festival are still available for purchase! The 2014 Wistaria Festival will take place on March 16th, 2014.

The Festival features tours of the world's largest blossoming plant, certified by the Guinness Book of World Records. Each year, the property owners upon whose land the vine sits open their homes to allow thousands to view the vine. Dozens of Sierra Madre residents volunteer to act as docents at the property, telling the story of the vine, which was originally planted from a 1-gallon pot that was purchased for $0.75 in 1894. In addition to the tours of the vine, the two main downtown streets of Sierra Madre are closed to traffic so that crafters and artists can set up booths to display and sell their arts/crafts. Downtown village shops are open, and musical acts perform at multiple outdoor venues. Memorial Park is transformed into a combination Kids/Food zone and a hub of information about local non profits.

The shuttle to the vine from downtown avoids a long uphill walk from downtown to the neighborhood in which the vine sits. Tickets for the shuttle are $15 for adults. Seniors (over 65) and children (6 to 16) receive a discounted rate of $7. Children under five ride for free. Families of 6 or more can ride the shuttle of $30. (No more than 2 adults).

You can purchase tickets on the chambers website, www.sierramadrechamber. com or by stopping by Savor The Flavor, Beantown or The Bottle Shop. Additional information on the festival can be found in Section B of this paper.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE.....THE SOCIAL SIDE

Had an amazing time Monday, touring the Creative Arts Group. You know, that nice building on North Baldwin with the big suns out in front. If you haven't been there, you need to check it out. Executive Director, Kristin Naran, graciously took me all over their facility and I saw so many exciting, beautiful and affordable things. There is currently a new show going on at the ČAG Gallery: the "Faculty Show" which will continue through March 28th where the teachers are exhibiting their own work in ceramics, glass fusing, painting, enameling and more. If you recall last Friday night, even though it was pouring on a Noah's Ark scale, Kristin was happy to report that they had an excellent showing of guests for the Faculty Show opening.!

Creative Arts has been in Sierra Madre since 1960 and in their current location since the '70's. They own their entire property and have added a building with spacious classrooms behind the gallery. Here's something I bet you didn't know, Creative Arts Group does wonderful things with our local schools to introduce young students to the joys of art.

Soozee VanDyke Woods, who specializes in ceramic tile, each piece of which can be an art statement on its own or part of a fireplace or backsplash, but so vivid and unique, teaches a class for 5-8 year olds on Mondays called "Mid-Day Mud!" where these little people are introduced to the joys of clay. Soozee is also part of the ImaginArt Program in our local elementary school. First through fifth graders walk over from Sierra Madre School and have the opportunity to work with clay on projects connected to their curriculum. During my tour with Kristin, I got to see some of the projects the kids have been working on, for instance, tradition has it that third graders get to work on witches and they can't wait to get to third grade to create their own Halloweenish witch. I saw a bird (or guinea fowl) which will eventually be fired in one of the three kilns (two gas, one electric) which will have small holes for each young potter to insert feathers into his or her bird's back. There were threedimensional fish with open mouths, and each piece was so very different, so very singular...just like the kids who are making them Kristin also told me that all the projects for the ImaginArt Program are supported by Civic Club, Rotary, Sierra Madre tom Wall hanging by Debbie Schweiner Community Foundation, Kiwanis and the Creative Arts Group Alliance. Soozee VanDyke Woods and her partner, Tracy Chamberlin, are also the force behind Ramona-Paloma Tile Studios right here in Sierra Madre. Soozee is passionate about exposing young people and adults, too, to art. Here's a calendar item for you, Mid-Day Mud will be happening again this spring.

Also met Debbie Schweiner, who teaches ceramics/wheel-throwing/sculpture. She got her start at Creative Arts Group taking classes as a child and has been teaching for the last twenty years. Her favorites are the kids, nine+, as these are the ones who really have an interest in ceramics. Debbie says the children are so creative and innovative and they continually surprise her with their take on each project. Debbie is also on the Creative Arts Group Guild Board and is Vice-President this year. Her very first ceramics class teacher, Jean Taylor, is still teaching in La Canada as she approaches her 90th birthday. Apparently, Art can keep you young!

Walking through the Creative Arts Gallery, I saw of the Nazarene so many things that I wanted to take home with me right that minute! Glassware that would make Next time you need to gift shop, go to Creative Arts! I certainly intend to. In fact, there will be a special sale of student work in the front patio during the Wistaria Festival, which is coming up the weekend of March 16th. And my birthday is very soon... think I'll suggest that the adorable John stop in at Creative Arts Group!

The results were announced Wednesday by the California Department of Public Health in conjunction with city health department officials from Berkeley, Long Beach and Pasadena.

"We've made a lot of strides in recent years but this survey shows that tobacco and other companies offering unhealthy products continue to find new ways and new products to entice our youth, many times in stores just a few blocks from schools," said Dr. Eric Walsh, the City's Public Health Officer and Director of the Pasadena Health Department. The survey then looked at the product marketing and the availability of healthy and unhealthy options offered for sale such as alcohol, junk foods, sugary beverages, sodas, fresh fruit, vegetables and milk.

The survey showed that many of the stores sell tobacco within 1,000 feet of schools. In Los Angeles County, nearly 40 percent of the businesses were within the 1,000-foot radius while statewide the percentage was about 27.5 percent and 32 percent in Pasadena. In Los Angeles County, less than half of those businesses surveyed sold any fresh fruits and vegetables. Statewide, the number was about 42 percent and about 38 percent for the Pasadena-based businesses surveyed.

Fossil fuel combustion and other human activities are now emitting more than 35 billion tons of carbon dioxide (CO2) into the atmosphere each year. The ocean and plants on land emit more than 20 times as much CO2 into the http://www.jpl.nasa.gov/events/ atmosphere as humans do, but they reabsorb almost as much, along with about half of human-produced emissions. Ground-based measurements accurately record the global impact of these processes on Earth's atmospheric CO2 budget and its trends. However, their resolution and coverage is not adequate to identify the "sources" emitting CO2, or the natural "sinks" absorbing this gas. The Orbiting Carbon Observatory - 2 (OCO-2) is NASA's first satellite designed to measure atmospheric CO2 with the accuracy needed to identify these sources and sinks. After its launch in July 2014, its spectrometer instruments will record more than 100,000 CO2 measurements each day. Officers will be looking for signs of alcohol and/or drug impairment with officers checking drivers for proper licensing delaying motorists only momentarily. When possible, specially trained officers will be available to evaluate those suspected of drug-impaired driving. Recent statistics reveal that 30 percent of drivers in fatal crashes had one or more drugs in their systems. A study of active drivers showed more tested positive for drugs that may impair driving (14 percent) than did for alcohol (7.3 percent). Of the drugs, marijuana was most prevalent, at 7.4 percent, slightly more than alcohol.

Drivers caught driving impaired can expect the impact of a DUI arrest to include jail time, fines, fees, DÚI classes, other expenses that can exceed $10,000 not to mention the embarrassment when friends and family find out.

"What's Going On?" News and Views from Joan Schmidt

READ ACROSS AMERICA:

Monrovia's Alex Zucco at Options

Most Monrovians know Alexandra Zucco as the President of the School Board who recently was voted back into office because of her skills, commitment and fine work.

This past Monday, Alex put on her other hat, Field Representative for Assemblyman Chris Holden, 41st District. Monrovia's Assemblyman was hard at work in Sacramento, so in conjunction with Read Across America, Ms. Zucco came to Options and delighted the children with a book she had since childhood, Fletcher and Zenobia. After that great story, the youngsters were treated to a Dr. Seuss book about feet; Alex then had all the children stand up and form a circle. All the feet were counted; then if you had various color shoes, shoe laces or Velcro, you had to put your foot forward at different times! Great fun!

In Monrovia, adjacent to the "Y" is a bungalow that houses the "Options Head start" and "Options Preschool" programs. Because there is SO MUCH MORE than preschool and daycare to Options, I'd like to share a little background and acquaint readers with Options many great available programs!

In 1981, Options began as a single school age program. Today it is a highly recognized nonprofit child development, family resource and provider support agency that serves approximately 10,000 children and families annually with 750+ professional staff. Options operates 100+ after school programs and licensed child care centers on more than 60 school campuses and community facilities throughout the San Gabriel Valley.

Options' programs cover every aspect of child development from birth through 12 years old. Birth Through Two Years includes prenatal and parenting training, education and support; infant and child care, referral and support services, daily nutrition and child care financial assistance programs to low income parents.

Preschool: 3 to 5 Years provides enriched high-quality half-day and full-day preschool education, parenting workshops and trainings, resource, referral and support services for parents seeking child care, daily nutrition, including healthy meals and snacks, and child care financial assistance to low-income parents.

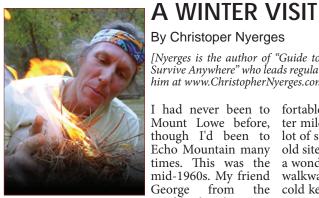

School Age: 5 to 12 Years offers After-school enrichment programs, Before and after school child care programs, Child care referral and support workshops, Parenting workshops and trainings, Daily nutrition, including healthy meals and snacks, and Child care financial assistance programs to low-parents.

Child Care Providers have access to Pre-licensing assessments and business support services, Childhood development resources and support, On-going child care provider training and education, workforce development and opportunities, childhood nutrition training and reimbursement to providers who serve healthy meals.

the Boy Scouts and he'd been up there with his years that followed. troop. So one winter day he offered to lead the way to the old Mount Lowe Camp.

We hiked to Echo Mountain from the top of Lake Avenue, and then hiked into Castle Canyon. I realized I was unprepared for snow when we were about halfway to Inspiration Point and my feet were already wet and cold. I was wearing some old suede shoes, which were not waterproof. My friend assured me that we were "almost there," but every step was getting more and more diffi-cult, and my feet were cold. I also saw the value in snowshoes during that hike, since my feet kept sinking into the holes in the snow that I made with every step. I was working hard step by step. Since then, I have worn cramp-ons on my boots, as well as primitive snowshoes that I have fabricated from willow branches. The primitive snowshoes take about an hour or so to make, and you need some long flexible branches (I used willow), a knife or clippers to cut the branches, and some sort of cordage.

I did not have snowshoes on that first cold day to Inspiration Point and Mount Lowe Tavern. Occasionally, where we could not readily see the trail due to the thick drifts of snow, we would step out too far and our foot would go right into the ground and we'd have to jump back to keep from falling off the cliffs.

My friend began to tell me about the "tavern" ---I had not heard of it before. He was explaining and for some reason, he did all his explaining in the present tense. I had pictures of a modern ski change in my pocket and wondering if I'd have enough for a hot chocolate and maybe, just maybe, I'd have enough money so I could buy some chicken noodle soup.

I was looking in the direction of where my friend said it was, figuring I'd be the first one to see the smoke coming from the chimney. Imagine my great shock when we hiked up to the little saddle of Inspiration Point and he said, "We're here." 'We're where?" I exclaimed.

"Inspiration Point. This is where it was. And the old tavern is actually down where the camp is now." His use of tense seemed more accurate now, and after a few questions, I realized to my chagrin that I would be having no soup or chocolate that afternoon.

My feet were completely wet, and cold, and only moving around kept me feeling somewhat com-

There was a though I'd been to lot of snow, and there was much more left of the Echo Mountain many old site back then than you will find today. It was times. This was the a wonderful and mysterious place with the stone mid-1960s. My friend walkways, and walls, and little trails. Only the George from the cold kept me from exploring even more, though neighborhood was in I returned many times to the tavern site in the

> On that day, we struggled to make a small fire, using up our matches. We had a tiny fire, which we fed pine needles, and we managed to get it bigger but we didn't get any warmer. I think that all the fire we generated was merely steaming off the water in the wood, and we felt very little heat. George had some dried soup which we tried to cook, and I recall having a "lunch" of lukewarm soup" with crunchy needles. But I was cold and hungry and even crunchy not-hot soup was better than nothing.

> Occasionally a wind would pass through the area and we'd hear the loud wind in the treetops and lots of icicles and snow would drop from the trees. It was very much a Christmas scene. After a while of not-getting warm by the not-warm fire, we kicked some snow over it, and ran most of the way back down to the city.

> On a more recent visit to Echo Mountain just a few years ago, I was hiking around with my hiking class from Pasadena City College. It had been a drizzly and cold day, and after we explored the ruins, we went over by the large fireplace area to have our lunch. We were surprised that a man in a t-shirt was sitting nearby, and he'd cleaned out the fireplace for his shelter. We started talking, and we were admiring all the arrowheads he'd just made from the bits of glass he'd collected from around Echo Mountain.

the people who went there, and what they did, He said he was very skilled in wilderness survival, and he made some sort of a bet with a friend about whether or not he could spend 10 days in lodge up there, and I was mentally counting the these mountains with nothing but the clothes he was wearing. That was apparently his second day there. He knew about some edible plants, though there wasn't much to collect. He had the tools for making fire with a bow and drill, and he'd made a quickie bow and some arrows, and had nearly finished making a batch of arrowheads.

> He said he was going to catch squirrels to eat, and maybe other animals. We were all mighty impressed and asked him lots of questions. I gave him my magnesium fire starter, and then we departed. I told him I wanted to hear how he did in those 10 days, and gave him my address and phone number. I never did hear from him again, though I assume that if things got really tough, all he had to do was walk a few miles down to the city. It was winter, and some snow had actually fallen close to Echo Mountain, so it would have been a cold 10 days.

Arcadia Police Blotter

For the period of Sunday, February 23rd, through Saturday, March 1st, the Police Department responded to 1,103 calls for service of which 113 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, February 23:

1. Around 1:10 a.m., an officer was dispatched to Station Bar, 1218 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a physical fight in progress. The unknown suspects fled the location prior to the officer's arrival. During contact with two of the victims, a 23-year-old Hispanic male and a 25-year-old Hispanic male, the officer discovered one was under the influence of a controlled substance and the other had an outstanding misdemeanor warrant. Both subjects were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

2. At approximately 10:25 p.m., officers conducted an enforcement stop on a vehicle for numerous traffic violations in the area of First Avenue and California Street. The officer observed the 23-year-old Chinese male driver run several stop signs and drive backwards with no headlights on. He was arrested for Reckless Driving. The passenger, a 24-year-old Hispanic male, was also arrested for an outstanding misdemeanor warrant. Both subjects were transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Monday, February24:

3. Just after 4:00 a.m., an officer was dispatched to a residence in the 000 block of West Longden Avenue regarding a domestic dispute. A verbal argument between two male subjects resulted in a physical altercation. The officer determined the 23-year-old Chinese male was the primary aggressor as he punched his boyfriend in the face, causing visible injury. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

4. At about 3:30 p.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a vehicle in the area of the 210 freeway onramp and Michillinda Avenue after noticing the front passenger was not wearing a seatbelt. A records check revealed the driver, a 71-year-old White female, had a suspended license. The officer discovered the vehicle belonged to the passenger, a 54-year-old Hispanic female, who had no insurance, expired registration, and was displaying a fraudulent registration sticker. Both subjects were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Tuesday, February 25:

5. Just after 1:00 p.m., an officer responded to Arcadia Skate Park, 100 South Second Avenue, regarding two subjects smoking marijuana at the location. The officer discovered one of the subjects, a 16-year-old White female, was in possession of marijuana. She was cited in the field and released to her father.

6. Around 4:58 p.m., an officer was dispatched to the Arcadia Police Department front counter regarding a fraud report. The victim discovered unknown suspect(s) opened a Nordstrom credit account in her name and charged approximately $8,000 without her consent. She believed her personal information was compromised through a recent incident of mail theft.

Wednesday, February 26:

7. At approximately 1:10 p.m., an officer responded to the 100 block of South Santa Anita Avenue regarding a transient check. The male subject was loitering in the area earlier in the day and was now sitting on a bus bench drinking a can of beer. The 45-year-old White male was cited in the field without incident.

8. Around 11:23 p.m., an officer was dispatched to an apartment complex in the 000 block of South Old Ranch Road regarding a burglary report. The victim discovered someone had forced entry through the kitchen window and stole various electronics and jewelry. Several pieces of evidence led the victim to believe a family member was responsible. Further investigation is being conducted by the Detective Bureau.

Thursday, February 27:

9. At about 6:15 a.m., an officer responded to Unocal 76 gas station, 701 West Huntington Drive, regarding a theft report. Upon opening for business, the manager discovered unknown suspect(s) removed the credit card reader from one of the gas pumps. No evidence or witnesses were located.

10. Shortly after 2:20 p.m., officers responded to a suspicious occupied vehicle parked in front of a residence in the 1000 block of South Tenth Avenue. Upon contact with the driver, the officer detected a strong odor of marijuana emitting from inside the vehicle and observed an open container of alcohol sitting in the center console. The 28-year-old Hispanic female was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Friday, February 28:

11. At approximately 7:02 a.m., an officer was dispatched to the area of Huntington Drive and Santa Clara Street regarding a stalled vehicle. Tip of the Week

Don't Depend on the Luck of the Irish to Get You Home Safely - Stay Safe and "Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over."

On Saint Patrick's Day, March 17, the Monrovia Police Department will be participating in the regional "AVOID the 100"

Anti-DUI Campaign. Officers will be deployed to provide DUI enforcement to stop and arrest alcohol and drug-impaired drivers in the Department's ongoing traffic safety campaign.

DUI saturation patrols will deploy on March 17, 2014, between the hours of 7 p.m. to 3 a.m. in areas with high frequencies of DUI collisions and/or arrests.

If you are hosting a St. Patrick's Day party:

Remember, you can be held liable and prosecuted if someone you serve is involved in an impaired driving crash.

Make sure all your guests designate a sober driver in advance or help arrange ride-sharing with other sober drivers.

Serve lots of food and include lots of non-alcoholic beverages at the party.

Keep the phone numbers for local cab companies handy and take the keys away from anyone who is thinking of driving impaired.

Also, if you are attending a St. Patrick's Day Party:

Designate a sober driver before the party begins and give that person your car kevs.

If you do not have a designated driver, call a cab, sober friend, or family member to pick you up.

Never let a friend leave your sight if you think they are about to drive drunk.

Always buckle up.

Alcohol, not only dangerously impairs your driving skills, it impairs your judgment. If you see a friend under the influence of alcohol – don't let them get behind the wheel.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show POMPEII

With trailers making this movie seem as if it does not have a story, I had extremely low expectations for 'Pompeii'. I thought it would just be an hour and a half of the volcano exploding and people dying in the fire. However, when I sat down and watched this film, I found myself pleasantly surprised.

After his entire tribe is wiped out by Roman Senator Corvius (Kiefer Sutherland) and his general, Proculus (Sasha Roiz), the young Milo (Kit Harington) becomes a slave and eventually becomes a gladiator. He travels to Pompeii, where his hopes turn to earning his freedom, when he discovers Cassia (Emily Browning) and his entire world is turned upside down.

'Pompeii' surprised me with its interesting plot, well written script, intelligent dialogue, and gorgeous visuals; this is not the watch-the-CGI-volcano-explode movie I thought it would be. What really fueled the fires of 'Pompeii' was the time that was taken to make sure this would be a good movie.

COPPOLA

Francis Ford Coppola's love for wine didn't just didn't happen overnight. His grandfather, Agostino Coppola, had a passion for wine back in the 1920s, when he used to make wine in the basement of his New York apartment. Francis purchased his own vineyard in Rutherford, California in 1975 using the proceeds from his movie "The Godfather". This plot was a part of the historic Inglenook Winery. After tireless effort by the whole family, the winery produced its first vintage in 1977 under the Niebaum-Coppola label. After many years of success, the family purchased the Inglenook Winery in its entirety in 1995. Almost twenty years later Coppola is producing more than 1,000,000 cases a year.

I first discovered the Director's Cut Pinot Noir at a wine tasting at Pavilions Market in Newport Beach, and recently caught up with a glass at Cameron's Seafood Restaurant in my hometown of Pasadena. It made sense - the Director's Cut Pinot Noir goes perfectly with a large prawn shrimp cocktail or a hearty bowl of clam chowder in a sourdough bread bowl.

The grapes are sourced from a select few wineries near the Russian River Valley. The winemaker, Corey Beck, mentioned a hint of seaweed taste. While that's a good thing when discussing Pinots, I felt that it was more of a cherry aftertaste. Either way you will be pleased with the quality and the price.

INGREDIENTS

- 2 quarts water
- 1 cup kosher salt
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons saltpeter
- 1 cinnamon stick, broken into several pieces
- 1 teaspoon mustard seeds
- 1 teaspoon black peppercorns
- 8 whole cloves
- 8 whole allspice berries
- 12 whole juniper berries
- 2 bay leaves, crumbled
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 2 pounds ice
- 1 (4 to 5 pound) beef brisket, trimmed
- 1 small onion, quartered
- 1 large carrot, coarsely chopped
- 1 stalk celery, coarsely chopped

DIRECTIONS

Place the water into a large 6 to 8 quart stockpot along with salt, sugar, saltpeter, cinnamon stick, mustard seeds, peppercorns, cloves, allspice, juniper berries, bay leaves and ginger. Cook over high heat until the salt and sugar have dissolved. Remove from the heat and add the ice. Stir until the ice has melted. If necessary, place the brine into the refrigerator until it reaches a temperature of 45 degrees F. Once it has cooled, place the brisket in a 2-gallon zip top bag and add the brine. Seal and lay flat inside a container, cover and place in the refrigerator for 10 days. Check daily to make sure the beef is completely submerged and stir the brine.

After 10 days, remove from the brine and rinse well under cool water. Place the brisket into a pot just large enough to hold the meat, add the onion, carrot and celery and cover with water by 1-inch. Set over high heat and bring to a boil. Reduce the heat to low, cover and gently simmer for 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until the meat is fork tender. Remove from the pot and thinly slice across the grain.

SAVING THE BRICK AND MORTARS OUR NATION IS BUILT ON

Think about which three independently owned businesses you'd miss most if they were gone. Stop in and say hello. Pick up a little something that will make someone smile. Your contribution is what keeps those businesses around.

If just half the employed U.S. population spent $50 each month in independently owned businesses, their purchases would generate more than $42.6 billion in revenue.* Imagine the positive impact if 3/4 of the employed population did that.

For every $100 spent in independently owned stores, $68 returns to the community through taxes, payroll, and other expenditures. If you spend that in a national chain, only $43 stays here. Spend it online and nothing comes home.

The number of people it takes to start the trend ... you.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

LEX WOOFER:

by Chris Leclerc

It is no secret to the citizens of Sierra Madre that our village is blessed with a plethora of treasures, some more hidden than others. If you happen to be a resident who spends time walking around town, it is likely that you've brushed elbows with a furry, four-legged friendly fellow named Lex Woofer who, as it turns out, is one of Sierra Madre's most precious hidden treasures. And, if you did happen to come across this cute, kind canine, there is no doubt that he most definitely caught your eye.

Happy Tails

My first encounter with Lex Woofer (Lex, for short) was on a warm summer evening while he was out walking with Karol Ballard, one of his beloved owners, and I was walking one of my canine clients on the same street. I couldn't resist initiating a chat with Karol, mainly to get a closer look at that beautiful babe she had on leash. Lex is a gorgeous black and white border collie, and I mean it when I say I could see him smiling at us from across the street! Karol took the time to let us meet and greet, and even invited us to come into their backyard where the two dogs enjoyed a play date. Let me just say that Lex turned out to be the host with the most, and Karol and Lex's other owner, Kathy Mickaliger were both equally inviting and charming.

I later connected with Lex Woofer through his Facebook page (yes, he has his own page, thank you very much!), at which time I learned that he is a renowned model and actor! Who knew we had a famous fourlegged film star living among us, right here in our hillside village? When I told Karol I had questions about how Lex broke into his acting career, much to my delight she was kind enough to accommodate my curiosity.

Q: So, Karol, Lex is an amazing dog. He is ever so smart, oh so sweet and absolutely gorgeous. Where did you find such a gem of a pup?

A: Kathy and I had lost our two elderly dogs, Kody and Sedona in quick succession, and the heartbreak was enough for us to vow never to get another dog. A couple of months later, we were enjoying a barbecue at the home of our best friends John and Karen "KK" Suarez in Monrovia, and they asked us how we were handling our loss. We admitted we felt a void and were thinking maybe, at some point, we might consider opening our hearts and door to a cat-friendly dog that needed to be rescued. Well, without skipping a beat, they jumped on the chance to tell us about how their neighbor who had a dog that needed a loving home right away.

Their neighbor had a year-old border collie they had gotten from a family who'd moved into an apartment and could no longer provide for him. They thought Lex might make a good companion for their 80-pound, domineering German shepherd, but beloved dogs we'd just lost. Kody had 2 blue eyes, and Sedona had 2 brown eyes. The sign was undeniable - they had sent us an angel! We decided if Lex was cat-friendly, he was in. When he walked into our kitchen where our cat Buddha lay in his chair, the look on Buddha's face was pure joy. He missed his dogs! They had a smooch-fest right then and there, and we had a dog that would change our lives!

Q: How old was Lex when you got him? And, how long have you had him?

A: He was 1 ½ years old, all ganglylegs, gawky and wiggly when we adopted him, and we have had him ever since. We have to be coy about sharing his age, after all he is an actor! Let's just say he's over 21 in dog years.

Q: How did Lex Woofer get his name?

A: It's a spoof on Lex Luthor, legendary villain and enemynumber-one of Superman. However, as Lex himself told animal communicator, Lydia Hiby, "My name is Lex WOOfer. Our names may sound the same, but unlike Lex Luthor, I am a good guy!" That's when I first realized that Lex "gets" everything!

Q: What prompted you to introduce Lex into the wonderful world of entertainment?

A: I was producing a short film, and Lex accompanied me to the set. He loves going places and being around people. The lead actress, Concetta Tomei is an animal lover and she immediately fell in love with Lex. It was her idea to add him to her character's side in the film. Lex nailed the part like a pro! A friend had given me several books about border collies and they all said the same thing; border collies need to be given a job to do, or it is just plain cruel. They tend to get frustrated without a purpose to serve. So, I decided if Lex was going to have a job, it should be one that pays!

Q: What was Lex's first acting part? À: Lex's first part came when he was just a puppy. I got in touch with his breeder, after he'd started modeling and acting, and she recalled that Lex was one of a litter that had been used in a Target print ad depicting an adult border collie with a shoe, and border collie puppies shown with baby shoes. Sarah Clifford was the trainer for that shoot, and she confirmed the story. Interestingly enough, Lex told Lydia, the communicator that he had been on that shoot. At first I assumed Lex was relating a story he'd heard Sarah tell, but Lydia said to me, "Absolutely not, Lex WAS there." And indeed it was true; Lex was on that shoot. Mind blown!

Lex's first big-time gig came in 2009 when Sarah sent us to Newport photo they took for the ad. The crew asked me how long Lex had been modeling, and I said it was his first time. They told me he was definitely in the top one percent of dog models, and they had worked with many. I credit his godmother "KK" who is a photographer and loved to take pictures of Lex along with her own dog (Lex's BFF) whenever she could. She is the one who taught him to really hold a pose.

Q: Does Lex have his own personal chef on set, like a lot of other famous actors do?

A: As a matter of fact, he does have his own personal chef - me! But he also loves the craft service table, especially the little carrots. There's always some sort of chicken morsels on set too, so I try to put together something special for him, for which he is always very appreciative. Oh, by the way I am also Lex's hair & makeup artist, chauffeur and masseuse!

Q: How do production companies go about finding Lex for projects? A: Studio trainer Sarah Clifford's company, AnimalSavvy.net has Lex listed on her website for hire. She and I both submit him for calls. We also get referrals from people who've worked with him on past projects. Sarah trained Uggie for "The Artist" and the original French bulldog in "Modern Family". Some of her projects have won Academy Awards and Emmys! She's been a great teacher to both of us, and an avid supporter of Lex's career.

Q: From my experience visiting your home, Lex seems like a real down-toearth kind of guy. He doesn't seem to have let his fame and fortune go to his head, wouldn't you agree? A: The best part of being an animal actor/model is that you get to be around so many other dogs and people. He has a vast capacity for warmth and love; no room for snobbery in his heart!

I had so many more questions for Karol, about Lex and his glamorous career, but due to space and time limitations, I'm afraid I have to end it here. I feel honored to know this fabulous, famous four-legged furry treasure of Sierra Madre, and I hope you get to meet him too! LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND, ,,

.....And loyal companion???

So is Rupert! This is not a dog that will be happy simply lying around your living room or locked out in the backyard. Rupert is a handsome German Shepherd Dog, approximately 6 years old. He is a very active boy who likes people and will be a loving and loyal family companion. Also known as an American White Shepherd, the breed is consistently one of the smartest, most trainable and most popular dogs in the US. They love strenuous activity and love to play ball or Frisbee. They need to be taken on a daily, brisk, long walk, jog or run alongside you when you bicycle. Ten to fifteen minutes of fetching along with daily walks will tire Rupert out quite nicely and give him a sense of purpose.

Please come in to meet Rupert who will happily sit for a treat! He currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel. We are located off San Gabriel Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las Tunas.

PET OF THE WEEK

MORENA: ANIMAL ID #A4678061

Morena (A4678061) is the type of deserving creature that you just want to love! Morena (also known as Onyx) is a stunning one-yearold black and white female Short Haired Chihuahua mix puppy who was left at the gate of the Baldwin Park Animal Care Center on February 20th. Weighing 7 1/2 pounds, Morena sports a shiny blue-black coat and struts like a diva on a leash. She is a little shy at first, but quickly warms up to people and loves to be petted and pampered as she cuddles on a soft lap. Morena seems to be housebroken and she gets along fine with other dogs. THE JOY OF YOGA

HOW DOES YOGA HELP WITH STRESS?

We've all heard it, maybe your doctor told you. You don't need all this stress. But shy of crawling into a cave, the stress will still be there. The yogis have a unique perspective on this. Just sitting down to try to meditate when your head is full of all kinds of thoughts and worries, is impossible, so we give you something to do. First yoga asana (postures) that work with specific breathing. Calming the breath calms the mind.

So increasing the challenging poses and still calming the breath teaches you to breathe in challenging situations. We also focus on back strength. To meditate – you must have a strong spine that can sit straight for a while, but also a strong healthy spine helps handle stress.

In addition to getting some of the nervous energy under control, strengthening and loosening the joints and muscles, yoga balances your prana. Prana is that wonderful life force energy inherent in everything. We can't see it, but we certainly know when our energy is low. Yoga teaches us to work with it and balance it. It then teaches us to cultivate it and direct it. This is done through breath and concentration exercises. The gathering of energy and the focused direction of it are what make yoga so unique and wonderful. You can give less energy to the things you don't want in your life and direct more energy to the things you do want. Sure that can sound simple, but practice makes.....it easier. If nothing else, you can come to a yoga class and just move and chill. The best and most important part of class is the relaxation.

Take the time to get into class and learn to stress less. Everything will get better.

Next to smoking, proper rest for your eyes is very paramount. This is especially true if you work at a computer. It is important to take even a small break every half hour or so to give your eyes a rest.

Eating your greens, not just your carrots is very important to eye health. Green leafy vegetables are the best like kale and spinach, which contain the phytochemical lutein. Lutein is a naturally occurring carotenoid that studies show, may reduce the risk of cataracts and macular degeneration. Try to include a serving of at least one of these in your diet daily.

Lastly, vitamins such as Vitamin C, Vitamin E, beta carotene, Zinc and copper are essential for eye health. Of course the best way to get these vitamins is from whole foods or whole food supplements. Lowering your insulin levels is also very important. This can be done by avoiding sugar and processed foods such as pastas, breads and cereals.

Following a healthy lifestyle will go a long way toward protecting your vision. By improving your diet, you not only get the benefits of stronger, healthier eyes, you also get an overall healthier body.

THE GOOD LIFE

AUTOMOBILE AIDS THAT CAN HELP ELDERLY DRIVERS

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you recommend any products that can help older drivers with their vehicles? My 84-year-old mother is still a pretty good driver, but she has arthritis, which limits her range of motion and hinders her driving. Searching Son

Dear Searching:

To help keep older drivers safe and extend their driving years, there are a number of affordable products you can purchase today that can easily be added to your mom's vehicle to help with many different needs. Here are several to consider.

Entry and Exit

If your mom's limited range of motion is hampering her ability to get into and out of her vehicle, consider these products:

Standers Metro Car Handle: This is a small portable support handle that inserts into the U-shaped striker plate on the doorframe that frame for entry and exiting help.Swivel Seat Cushion: A round portable cushion that turns 360 degrees to help drivers and passengers rotate their body into and out of their vehicle.

Vision Helpers

If your mom has a difficult time looking over Seat Belt Aids her shoulder to back-up or merge into traffic, or struggles with sensitivity to glare, these products can help.

AllView Mirror: This is an oversized rear view mirror that attaches to the existing rear view mirror to widen her rear visibility and eliminate blind spots so your mom can see traffic without significant neck or body rotation. It also helps during parking.

Blind Spot Mirrors: These are small convex mirrors that stick to the corner of the side view mirrors to improve side and rear vision.

Backup Camera: To eliminate blind spots and avoid turning around when backing up, this device (which costs around $100) comes with a wireless night vision camera that attaches to the license plate and a small monitor that mounts to the dash or windshield.

Sun Zapper Glare Shield: This plastic tinted visor clips on to the existing sun visor to remove sun glare without obstructing vision. It also has a special sliding shield that lets you block extra-bright glare spots.

Arthritic Hands

If your mom's arthritis makes turning the ignition key, twisting open the gas cap, or gripping the steering wheel difficult and painful, consider these devices:

Key Turner: This is a small plastic handle that attaches to the car keys to provide additional leverage making it easier to turn the key in the ignition or door.

Gas Cap Removal Tool: To help at the pump this long handled device works like a wrench to make loosening and tightening the gas cap much easier and it fits most gas caps.Steering Wheel Cover: It fits over the steering wheel to make it larger in size and easier to grip.

Short Drivers

helps with getting out of a car.
CarCaddie: This is a nylon strap handle that hooks around the top of the door window
If your mom has shrunk a little over the years to the point she needs help seeing over the steering wheel or reaching the pedals, consider a "wedge" seat cushion" which is an orthopedic cushion that supports the back and elevates her a few inches. Or, "foot pedal extensions," (see pedalextenders. net, drive-master.com or summiteasy.com) that allow her to reach the pedals while keeping her 10-to-12-inches from the steering wheel.

The "Easy Reach Seat Belt Handle" is a six-inch rubber extension handle that attaches to the seat belt strap to make it easier to reach for seniors with mobility loss. And a "seat belt shoulder pad" that fits around the shoulder strap protects the neck and shoulder from rubbing and chafing.

Where to Buy

All of these items (except the pedal extensions and backup camera) cost under $50, and can be found online at amazon.com. Type the product name in the search bar to get a variety of options.

LINGUISTIC SHRINKAGE FOR OUR TIMES

If you like classical piano music, are a closet old person

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

FYI: TIPS FOR STAYING HEALTHY IN YOUR 70S, 80S, 90S...

Aging can be defined as: "progressive changes related to the passing of time." While physiological changes that occur with age may prevent life in your 70s, 80s and beyond from being what it was in your younger years, there's a lot you can do to improve your health and longevity and reduce your risk for physical and mental disability as you get older.

Research shows that you're likely to live an average of about 10 years longer than your parentsand not only that, but you're likely to live healthier longer too. According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 40.4 million Americans (about 13 percent) were 65 years of age or older in 2010 and by the year 2030, almost 20 percent of the total U.S. population will be 65+.

So how do you give yourself the best possible chance for a long, healthy life? Although you aren't able to control every factor that affects health as you age, many are in your hands. Some keys to living a long, healthy life include:

Make healthful lifestyle choices—don't smoke, eat right, practice good hygiene, and reduce stress in your life

- Have a positive outlook
- Stay as active as possible—mentally and physically
- Take safety precautions

See your health care provider regularly and follow his or her recommendations for screening and preventative measures

One of the most important things you can do to stay healthy in your golden years is to maintain your sense of purpose by staying connected to people and things that matter to you. However, this isn't always easy—especially in a society that all-too-often views older people as a burden.

Visit your local senior center. Spend time with at least one person-a family member, friend or neighbór—every day. Volunteer in your community, attend a local event, join a club or take up a new hobby.

HELPFUL HINT: Natural Insect Repellent - Mix 2 drops of oil of peppermint or lavender with 2 teaspoons of almond or sweet oil and dab on the skin

FOR YOUR FUNNY BONE - There was a farmer who planted apples. He was disturbed by some local kids who would sneak into his farm at night and eat the apples. He came up with a clever idea that he thought would scare the kids away for sure. He made up a sign and posted it in the field. The next day the kids showed up and they saw a sign hanging that read, "Warning!! One of the apples on these trees has been injected with cyanide." So the kids ran off, made up their own sign and posted it next to the sign that the farmer made. The farmer showed up the following week. He looked over the field and he noticed that no apples were missing, but a new sign hung next to his. He drove up to the sign and read: "Now there are two".

FAMILY MATTERS

By Marc Garlett

CONGRATULATIONS, IT'S AN ESTATE PLAN! HOW TO PROTECT YOUR NEWBORN FROM BIRTH

During the process of becoming new parents, most couples also become experts at planning – scheduling birthing classes, designing the new nursery, coordinating childcare ... and that's just the proverbial tip of the iceberg.

But unfortunately, one of the most important things you can do to protect your child is often overlooked: an estate plan. Here are five important considerations you need to discuss with your personal family attorney when setting up an estate plan once your new baby is born:

Guardians and trustees. Parents who delay choosing a guardian for their children often do so because they cannot agree on the "perfect" choice. Guess what? There is no perfect choice – and if you don't make a choice, the courts will choose for you. You can always amend your decision later if you change your mind. When choosing a guardian or trustee, you need to think about is the planning, call our office today to schedule who shares your beliefs and who will naturally be a part of your child's life. And you need to make sure whomever you choose is willing to take on the responsibility of raising your child if you are unable to do so.

Education. The cost of college is already sky-high; can you imagine what it will be like in another 18 years? You probably want to start saving right away, either through a 529 plan or an educational trust so you can realize some tax benefits while you save.

Passing on your assets. Assets cannot pass directly to children under the age of 18, so you will need to think about setting up a trust and naming a trustee to manage the assets you would leave your children. You also need to examine your beneficiary forms for retirement accounts and insurance policies to be sure your trust is named as a beneficiary.

Avoiding probate. Probate is one of the worst things your loved ones can be forced into just after you've passed. Talk to your attorney about setting up a living trust so your heirs can avoid probate and your assets can pass directly to them.

Asset protection. If you are married and have an estate of more than $10.5 million, you will want to discuss asset protection strategies that will help you minimize estate taxes and protect assets for vour heirs.

estate planning, call our office today to schedule a time for us to sit down and talk. Because this planning is so important, I've made space for the next two people who mention this article to have a complete planning session at no charge. Call 626.355.4000 today and mention this article.

When you think of 100 do you think of the number as a lot? I guess it's all relative isn't it?

If you make $100 off the sale of your house, it definitely is not a lot. If you find a hundred krugerrands (South African gold coins worth approximately $1400 apiece) buried in your back yard that would be a lot. 100 parking tickets on your car is a lot. 100 pennies in your Christmas bonus envelope is not a lot.

Why my fixation on the number 100? Well, since you ask, this week the Barry Rich and Lisa radio show recorded our 100th program.

100 must seem like a gigantic number to my partners Barry and Lisa, when one considers they have had to sit and listen (and look) at me 100 times. I am so thankful to my partners for letting me play with them on the radio. I am thankful for Jim Moran for creating Radio Fishbowl/Village Vine which gave Barry, Lisa and me a reason to turn on the record button. I'm thankful to James Faulkner, Jeff Rudisill, Gene Goss, Tina Salvatore, Susan Henderson, Carol Canterbury, Catherine Adde, Dean, and Andrea for all helping to create and sustain the local internet station. I'm also thankful to Chuck (Lisa's ball and chain), and Lydia (Barry's unbelievably gracious, beautiful and talented wife) for letting me play with their significant others every week.

Now, as of the writing of this column I am still unaware if I have advanced to the finals in the Next KABC Talk Star Contest. Thank you to those who helped me by voting for me. And thank you to those who thought about voting for me. Special thanks to Ms. Jane Fuller who kicked me (metaphorically) in the you-know-where with her you-know-what, to get me to enter the contest.

And thank you mostly to Barry and Lisa for fulfilling the Herculean task of making me better than I am (on the air at least).

I'd also like to thank the Academy...oh, sorry. Finally, I'd like to thank fellow Columnist/ Attorney Stuart Tolchin. I'm not sure why I'm thanking him, other than he's my friend and I think it will make him happy. And a happy lawyer is a severely compromised lawyer and we could sure use a lot more of those kinds of lawyers (just doing my part). Have a great week.

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

DON'T TRY THIS AT HOME

When you hear that someone managed to sell a home without representation, it's likely that the sale was to a family member, close friend, or a tenant who was already renting and living there. These exceptional cases are not the norm, and there are powerful reasons why it is so difficult to make a sale "by owner."

The biggest roadblock is that For Sale By Owners (FSBOs) aren't included in the Multiple Listing Service (MLS) that licensed agents and organizations use. A sign in the yard and an ad in the newspaper are no match for the widespread exposure gained from a listing visible on the MLS.

Since the FSBO has no listing agreement providing for a sales commission, many agents won't show these homes with no promise of compensation. Again, this greatly reduces the number of potential buyers exposed to the offering, not to mention the fact that buyers who do express interest will not have been screened by a professional to determine their qualifications.

Perhaps the most hazardous aspect of selling "by owner" is the potential for legal oversights and complications. Real estate transactions are loaded with potential liability for unrepresented and unwitting sellers. One overlooked form or improper disclosure could generate an expensive lawsuit. Just as you wouldn't enter the courtroom without an attorney, you shouldn't sell your home without professional representation.

LOOKII

DIAMONDS IN THE TAIL OF THE SCORPION

A new image from the European Southern Observatory's La Silla telescope in Chile shows the bright star cluster Messier 7. Easily spotted with the naked eye close to the tail of the constellation of Scorpius, it is one of the most prominent open clusters of stars in the sky-making it an important astronomical research target.

Messier 7, also known as NGC 6475, is a brilliant cluster of about 100 stars located some 800 light-years from Earth. In this new picture from the Wide Field Imager on the MPG/ESO 2.2-meter telescope, it stands out against a very rich background of hundreds of thousands of fainter stars, in the direction of the center of the Milky Way.

At about 200 million years old, Messier 7 is a typical middle-aged open cluster, spanning a region of space about 25 light-years across. As they age, the brightest stars in the picture—a population of up to a tenth of the total stars in the cluster—will violently explode as supernovae. Looking further into the future, the remaining faint stars, which are much more numerous, will slowly drift apart until they become no longer recognizable as a cluster.

Open star clusters like Messier 7 are groups of stars born at almost the same time and place, from large cosmic clouds of gas and dust in their host galaxy. These groups of stars are of great interest to scientists, because the stars in them have about the same age and chemical composition. This makes them invaluable for studying stellar structure and evolution.

An interesting feature in this image is that, although densely populated with stars, the background is not uniform and is noticeably streaked with dust. This is most likely to be just a chance alignment of the cluster and the dust clouds. Although it is tempting to speculate that these dark shreds are the remnants of the cloud from which the cluster formed, the Milky Way will have made nearly one full rotation during the life of this star cluster, with a lot of reorganization of the stars and dust as a result. So the dust and gas from which Messier 7 formed, and the star cluster itself, will have gone their separate ways long ago.

The first to mention this star cluster was the mathematician and astronomer Claudius Ptolemy, as early as 130 A.D., who described it as a "nebula following the sting of Scorpius"—an accurate description, given that, to the naked eye, it appears as a diffuse luminous patch against the bright background of the Milky Way. In his honor, Messier 7 is sometimes called Ptolemy's Cluster.

It derives its present name from the French astronomer Charles Messier (1730-1817). Messier is most notable for publishing an astronomical catalog consisting of nebulae and star clusters that came to be known as the 110 "Messier objects." The purpose of the catalogue was to help astronomical observers, in particular comet hunters such as himself, distinguish between permanent and transient visually diffuse objects in the sky.

The star cluster Messier 7 In 1764 Messier included it as the seventh entry in his Messier catalogue (http://messier.seds.org/xtra/history/m-cat.html). Later, in the 19th century, John Herschel (son of Planet Uranus discoverer William Herschel) described the appearance of this object as seen through a telescope as a "coarsely scattered cluster of stars"—which sums it up perfectly.

our usual comfort zone. Our friends had never been to a horse race and so, about a week ago, I got up at sunrise and drove over to Santa Anita to see what time races began. What I discovered at sunrise was a whole unknown world. As the sun rose the mountains glowed pink and gold and I found myself among hundreds of people completely engrossed in what they were doing. Horses were being exercised as people with stop watches monitored their movements. Other people were studying their crumpled newspapers as intensely as potential lawyers preparing to take the Bar Examination. Some never study that hard again.

track were ordinary people; but they didn't seem to be ordinary that morning. Everyone around had that look of what I think of as a hard-working dreamer. Today was the day they were going to get rich or, to put it another way, today was the day they were going to discover some secret that would change their lives At least that's how I thought they all looked. A few hours later when my wife and our friends went to the track to view the races and bet things seemed very different. Because it was a Thursday, I guess, we were all allowed to enter for free because we were senior citizens. We arrived in time for the second race and looked at the horses and watched the post-parade and found our way to the betting windows and placed our bets. Our friends won forty dollars on their first bets while my wife and I lost ten dollars.

It's funny how elated our friends were by winning those few dollars. Getting in for free had excited them but now winning their first bet had reached into their souls. I could see them imagining that they would win forever and that there was something special about them. As they collected and counted their winnings I saw many other people throwing their losing tickets to the ground. The look of these disappointed people was a very different look than the look of the dreamers I had seen in the morning. Reality had already struck these disappointed bettors, reminding them that they were just ordinary people, and it was only a little after noon.

We were born in the right place at the right time with great opportunities to imagine ourselves achieving all kinds of things. Most of us did not take full advantage of these opportunities and, like me, wonder about what more can be done. Certainly there's more to life than golf, watching television, and finding low price early restaurant dinners. No matter one's age there is still time to imagine, to create, remember how old I am. Knowing how old I am does not have any appeal to me.

I rather like going to church. I do not go to church because I have to. I go to church because it is a wonderful place and it is filled with wonderful people. Are there hypocrites in the church? Yes, a whole lot more.

You would be surprised at the people that go to church. No matter how crazy you might be, I am sure there will be somebody to relate to in any church you go to. Church is not for the perfect, just for those who love the Lord. I think I could make myself comfortable in any from a snakebite might bring into question the validity of what they believe. Go ahead; play with a poisonous snake in church if you want to. Me, I let those things alone and I pray they let me alone.

I would not feel comfortable in that church I am sure.

Then I learned of some other church. I guess in America, there are all kinds of churches for all kinds of people. And in America sanity is not a prerequisite of anything, just look at our politicians. I guess the only thing more insane today than politicians are some preachers, and I happen to be a preacher, hopefully not of the insanity kind.

One of my goals is to keep my insanity at a low level every day that I live so nobody really sees it.

Then I learned of a church in Virginia. I have often had a lot of respect for Virginia and visited quite a few times. Some great men and even presidents have come from the state of Virginia. You can imagine how alarmed I was to hear about this new church.

When somebody told me about it, I thought

He finally convinced me that this was a real news story of a real nudist church in Virginia. Fortunately, the people who produced this video for the news strategically blurred out certain parts of the video of which I am everlastingly thankful.

It is a legitimate church and the motto, according to the pastor, is that they do not want to judge people by the clothing they are wearing. Really! How about judging people by the clothing they are not wearing?

I have a hard time seeing through that kind of theology. I like to get down to the bare facts, but this is absolutely incredulous.

Of course, it does save a lot of time in the morning trying to figure out what you are going to wear to church. You do not have to look at several neckties to see which one fits with this suit

Apart from the sheer ridiculousness of this sort of matter, one matter truly annoys me. Where do they keep their offering? On second thought, I do not want to know.

Then a brilliant idea sloshed its way through the corridors of my mind. What if these two congregations had a convention together? The snake handler's and the nudist churches get together for an annual convention. Can you imagine the craziness of such a thing as that?

Then I got to thinking about it again. That would be grossly unfair to the snakes. Who in the world would they bite first? On the other hand, would they grow legs and run for the nearest door?

I remembered what Jesus said to Peter referring to the church. "And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" (Matthew 16:18).

The church does not belong to men or any one man. It belongs exclusively to God. The more churches look like the world around it the less pleasing it is to Jesus, the head of the church.

Mission Statement The traditions of community newsand papers the concerns of our readers are this newspaper's top priorities. We support a prosperous community of wellcitizens. informed hold in high We regard the values exceptional the quality of life in our community, including the magnificence of our natural resources. Integrity will be our guide.

- former Mississippi Sen. Theodore Bilbo, 1946 Bilbo shared the prevailing religious conviction of his time, condemning any "re-defining" of marriage that would permit interracial couples. Using the Bible as cover for bigotry is nothing new.

Greg Welborn wrote last week that the veto by Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) of the bill allowing businesses to discriminate against gays (based on "religious conviction", of course) was in response to "a small minority of activists".

Those "activists" included the Arizona and Greater Phoenix Chambers of Commerce, who in a letter expressed "a fervent desire for Arizona to be a welcoming, attractive destination for the top talent that will be the cornerstone of our continued economic growth", along with top employers like Apple, Marriott, Delta and American Airlines, J.P. Morgan Chase and American Express. They, and most Arizonans, have had it with inmates taking over the asylum at their statehouse.

The bill's purpose wasn't to address any expressed need, but to divide people. Over a decade ago, Karl Rove put anti-gay marriage initiatives on state ballots - not because of any expressed need, but to divisively energize and draw to the polls the voters he wanted; bigots fearing the "others" responsible for their problems and not bright enough to realize their state likely had an anti-gay marriage law on the books already.

Pitting one group against another is nothing new, here or abroad. In a former Soviet Republic, stories spread of persecution of the ethnic Russian minority, tensions were stoked, and Vladimir Putin sent forces south to "protect" the ethnic brethren.

This happened in Georgia in 2008. Sort of like today in Ukraine, except then nobody was accusing the president of being "weak and indecisive"; Sen. John McCain (R-AZ) wasn't on talk shows blaming events on the president's "feckless" foreign policy (George W. Bush, presumably, had plenty of "feck".) Putin made that move despite a U.S. administration with a record of seven years demonstrating a disturbingly casual, alarmingly eager attitude towards committing our forces overseas.

Commentators on Fox News simply acknowledged what was happening in Georgia, that there was not much we could do about it and that it really didn't affect us, President Bush and Secretary of anyway. State Condoleezza Rice ultimately did go public in condemning the incursion into Georgia, according to NBC News, "after five days of fierce fighting that may have killed 2,000 people"

Critics today are those who derided the air strikes under President Clinton which ended the slaughter in the Balkans, and Obama's support missions over Libya which helped bring an end to Kaddafi (both of which achieved their goals without any American casualties), because they didn't entail massive commitment of ground forces – depriving war profiteers of opportunities for multi-billions in "support" contracts.

Their goal is not to address any expressed need, but to divisively energize those believing racial purity, it can never though. Rep. Paul Ryan (R-WI) suggests our response should be to approve construction of the Keystone XL pipeline; the prospect of Canadian tar sands oil flowing through our heartland on its way to China some years from now would no doubt cause Putin to rethink his options. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) asserts it all goes back to Benghazi.

The first meaningful outside engagement in this conflict, it appears, was launched by German Chancellor Angela Merkel, who tried to make clear to Putin what was at stake. Europe may rely on Russia for a third of its natural gas (the major pipeline running through Ukraine), but more than half of Russia's revenues comes from energy exports. The message was that Europe could more easily make do without its imports from Russia than Russia could do without its export revenue.

Putin himself might be "living in another world", as the Chancellor put it, but the oligarchs he relies on are presumably more grounded in reality. Almost Immediately, Russia's major state-controlled oil and gas producer took a $12 billion hit in value. The ruble plummeted against other currencies, with a consequent leap in the cost of imports. From Germany, these imports include not only the Beemers and Benzes oligarchs have become accustomed to, but the hightechnology expertise upon which Russian industries rely.

Kremlin strategy is to inflame divisions among Ukrainians; Europe-leaning nationalists in the west, ethnic Russians in the east and Muslim Tatars in Crimea. The Obama Administration, meanwhile, is forging a unified response among our allies. In his first public remarks after the incursion, Putin mocked our "you're either with us or against us" posture. He seemed unaware that was the proclaimed stance of the previous administration; that under our current leadership, the goal is one of unified, international resolve.

In Ukraine, leaders realize their future depends on their ability to achieve "one nation, indivisible".

In Arizona and elsewhere, they've followed the Kremlin strategy; focusing on how to exploit divisions between us to advance political goals.

Bill Clinton put it best in his first Inaugural Address; "There is no 'us' and 'them'. There is only 'us".

From the time of our Revolution, we've been the land of E Pluribus Unum ("Out of Many, One"). In1956, though, at the height of the "Red Scare", our official motto became "In God We Trust"; the words "under God" having been added to our Pledge of Allegiance two years earlier.

The message there could be interpreted as being, although we generally share the Founding Fathers' commitment to an indivisible "We the People", "with liberty and justice for all", we're willing to give you an "out" if you want to claim such a commitment would be contrary to your "religious conviction".

And finally - didn't singer Julie London have a hit some decades past with "Crimea River"?

without a terrorist incident, but mostly for Vladimir Putin. Putin desperately needed to put forth an image of a modern, sleek, "member of the international community". President Obama also needed the imagery to be successful to camouflage his feckless, lead from behind foreign policy. Recent events in Ukraine have now revealed the lie behind both these fantasies. Eventually, the truth always presents itself. Vladimir cares not a whit about the international community, and Obama's foreign policy is a disaster.

Unbelievably, there are those who don't think these revelations matter. Ukraine is a far-off, insignificant land, they argue, and who controls it will simply be an historical footnote. In fact, it does matter; it matters a great deal to Eastern Europe, Western Europe and to and the civil war has been escalated. the United States.

Russia has sought to expand, conquer and control from the days of Peter The Great forward. The communist revolution hinted that the truth was that the communists simply redefined the goals of imperialism: they still sought to conquer their neighbors. They just did so in the name of an ideology. The result was the same. The iron curtain was not constructed to keep us out of Eastern Europe, but to keep Eastern Europe captive to Moscow.

Weakness, indecision and appeasement in the west only exacerbated the problem. Russia engaged in proxy wars across the globe. They sought to throw democracy on the trash heap of history. It was only Reagan's policy of strength and confrontation that ended the cold war and freed millions. Western Europeans and Eastern Europeans celebrated one of the great political, humanitarian and moral victories in modern history.

Vladimir Putin called it "the greatest geopolitical catastrophe of the 20th century". He has sought to reverse it ever since. Those are his words. As with the pronouncement from so many politicians, we have been tempted to dismiss them as simply propaganda for his political base. Putin's physical seizure of Crimea and political seizure of Eastern Ukraine demonstrate the truth and intentionality of his words.

Putin is seeking to restore the old Soviet Union. Without the Ukraine, that goal is impossible. With the Ukraine, the goal is not just possible, but probable. Events in the Ukraine, if left unchecked, will hurl the world will be lost and the United States directly threatened.

There has been no time in history when appeasement worked, when it achieved the peace it sought to secure. All it has ever done is delay the inevitable - war! World War II is the best historical reference, but too many in America consider it ancient history. So, if we must relearn the lesson with examples from the modern era, consider İraq, Iran and Syria. We've abandoned Iraq, and Al Qaeda is on the ascension. We failed to confront Iran's nuclear ambitions, and they continue to develop the bomb they will export when given the chance. We blinked when Syria crossed the red line,

But more importantly, Putin has gained confirmation of the weakness in President Obama's character, of his incapability to meaningfully defend U.S. interests or democratic principles "imperialistic" goals and policies of the anywhere in the world. With the issue Czars would come to an end, but the of west's resolve settled, Putin simply took over what he wanted. What possible hope is there that he won't continue to seek hegemony over every other country once controlled by the Soviet Union? He said he would, and he just took the first step.

> Meanwhile, almost as a dark comedic aside, China just announced another (this ain't the first) 10%+ increase in military spending. The signs are absolutely unmistakable. When a political and/or leadership vacuum is created, someone always rushes to fill it. We lie to ourselves if we think the new leader is always the good guy and further deceive ourselves if we believe the transition will always be peaceful. They rarely are.

> Hitler's actions were "peaceful" except to those who were enslaved and murdered in occupied lands or to those who finally had to pay the ultimate price to liberate a continent. Winston Churchill decried World War II as the most unnecessary war because decisive action could have prevented it. The Ukraine matters because it is a critical opportunity to prevent greater tragedy and greater loss of life later.

The International Justice Mission states that very figure on their For local film fans and a few lucky ones in the bleachers, the web site as the number of victims of human trafficking worldwide

by Catherine Adde

Last Sunday my Niece Addi and I were among 700 fortunate people sitting along the red carpet to watch the luminous Oscar nominees, while they greeted the press, each other and then strolled in to Hollywood's Dolby Theatre for the 86th Annual Academy Awards. We 'Fans' in the bleachers would cheer when an A list star would walk by. Meryl Streep, Will Smith, Brad Pitt, Angelina Jolie, Julia Roberts, Bruce and Laura Dern, Bono, Bette Midler, Harrison Ford to name a few, were very gracious. They, like Julia, actually saluted us, bowed, or mouthed 'thank you'. Others whom I won't name, did not wave or turn around. Matthew McConaughay came over to chat and Leonardo di Caprio pulled out his camera/phone and took a picture of all of US, giving us the thumbs up and a big smile. One of our fellow bleacher creatures commented:"Yep, that's right, because after all, it IS all about us." We all agreed, I chimed in with something like: "If we didn't purchase tickets to see their movies, they wouldn't have jobs, there'd be no award ceremonies, no big Hollywood business." Leonardo and the others get this. It is all about the fans who are ultimately the customers. On that carpet (which incidentally is actually Raspberry in color), those stars were acknowledging their customers. And we were appreciative.

Though I was pleased to be there, I couldn't help but think about the culture of 'Celebrity Worship' which has often struck me as shallow, over the top and excessive in the grand scheme of things. I admit I was excited to see some of my favorite film stars in person but had mixed emotions about the whole thing. That gown that just sashayed by, didn't it cost more than I make in a year, and the salaries of some, more than I might make in a lifetime?

I reminded myself however of the many different causes spotlighted by those with celebrity status, the Princess Diana's and Angelina Jolie's of the world, for example. Perhaps this was my 'ah ha' moment, that through all the glitz and bling, the sweet acceptance speech of Lupita Nyong'o and the heartfelt one from Jared Leto, that I decided to ignore the cynic whispering in my ear, and instead focus on the bounty that this film industry has brought:

-Jobs, worldwide to thousands of those in ancillary services-everything from tourism to the entertainment industry

-Awards to behind the scenes professionals making movie magic, like Sierra Madre's own Ron Henderson and his Academy Award

and personal: THE major event in our own back yard

After the red carpet event, we were escorted from the bleachers to the El Capitan Theatre to watch the Oscars telecast on the big screen complete with catered dinner. Most memorable of all was anyone, I'm glad that Twelve Years a Slave won Best Picture. Steve McQueen's acceptance speech for the best picture of the year: Twelve Years a Slave. Much of the world's attention, thanks to mass media, was on this man and his final words of the evening: "I dedicate this award to all the people who have endured slavery. And the 21 million people who still suffer slavery today.

Let it sink in - the number of victims is TWENTY ONE MILLION!

anyone, I'm glad that Twelve Years a Slave won Best Picture. Because with the gigantic spotlight shining on Hollywood's movie industry last Sunday night, I'm hopeful this will make millions of people aware and moved to act, knowing that it's time to end the horrid, disgraceful human trafficking and slavery for good.

THE ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS:

By Sean Kayden

She Sir started playing together nearly a decade ago. After a series of EP's along the way, the band has lastly released their full-length debut record, "Go Guitars" this past February. I just discovered this unique and disparate band. She Sir's finesse is demonstrated in their music style. They quoted as Fleetwood Mac being their biggest influence, but lesser known bands such as My Bloody Valentine, Slowdive, and a cluster of other early 90s bands specializing in reverb would be better examples of being influential. I've always had a penchant for this dreamy sort of pop music. It's absolutely calming and sometimes transcendent. While She Sir is perhaps not breaking any new ground, their music is a fine example of nostalgia. I'm in love with their shoegaze tendencies. Bright melodies, tight arrangements, subtle rhythms make up most of "Go Guitars." She Sir's debut dream pop album hits all the right melancholic chords.

"Go Guitars" is a thirty-two minute dream from beginning to end. Each track effortlessly transitions into the next. The richly textured melodic sound alongside Russell's Karloff soft and compelling vocals is indeed a marvelous conjunction. "Bitter Bazaar" is the arguably the best track on the record, but a difficult decision to be made given the caliber of songs. It starts Grade: 9 out of 10 off slow and then there's a rush of blood straight Best Tracks: "Bitter Bazzar," "Warmwimming," to the head. Vivid guitars create a reverie "He's Not A Lawyer, It's Not A Company," soundscape that allows the listener to be taken "Condensedindents" away to another place and time. However, this could also be said for "Warmwimming." The low tempo "He's Not A Lawyer, It's Not A Company" is exquisitely divine. It's a heavenly treat. Majority of "Go Guitars" is simply just that. The shortlived experience is worth every bit of the journey.

SHE SIR The Austin, Texas quartet While other bands seem to be heading down a road, not sure where it is taking them, She Sir is headed down a path. They know where they want to go and following them may be just be the resolution after all. Artist: She Sir Album: Go Guitars Label: Shelf Life Release Date: February 25th, 2014

While the genre She Sir occupies in isn't commercially popular, it's still a delight for those with a proclivity for 90s reverb, shoegaze and dream pop. The band has ten iridescent tracks that could have been something you'd hear twenty years ago. However, She Sir allows for each track to be amazingly up to date. After what appeared to be a laborious effort to get where they are, all I can say that the results are incredible. Tuneful, meditative, and graceful are just few of the things to describe the record. If you want to get lost for a few hours, take "Go Guitars" for a few spins. You never know what you'll discover on each go around and that's the true beauty of this album for each individual.

After John Wilkes Booth assassinates President Lincoln, Edwin is forced off the stage for a year. Will he ever be able to return to the stage? During this enforced hiatus, Edwin has time to explore the question "What does it mean to be an actor/"

"The Player King" depicts Edwin Booth not as a wax historical figure, but as a fully dimensional human being: Not just an actor, but an attentive son, loving husband and devoted father. He will be

Jeff's Book Picks By Jeff Brown

PRESENCE: THE ART OF PEACE AND HAPPINESS - VOLUME 1 BY RUPERT SPIRA

Your self, aware presence, knows no resistance to any appearance and, as such, is happiness itself; like the empty space of a room it cannot be disturbed and is, therefore, peace itself; like this page, it is intimately one with whatever appears on it and is thus love itself; and like water that is not affected by the shape of a wave, it is pure freedom. Causeless joy, imperturbable peace, love that knows no opposite and freedom at the heart of all experience...this is your ever-present nature under all circumstances.

PRESENCE: THE INTIMACY OF ALL EXPERIENCE - VOLUME 2 BY RUPERT SPIRA

All that is known is experiencing and experiencing is not divided into one part (an inside self) that experiences and another part (an outside object, other or world) that is experienced. Experiencing is seamless and intimate, made of 'knowing' or Awareness alone. This intimacy, in which there is no room for selves, objects or others, is love itself. It lies at its heart of all experience, completely available under all circumstances.

THE TRANSPARENCY OF THINGS PAPERBACK BY RUPERT SPIRA

The purpose of Rupert's book is to look clearly and simply at the nature of experience, without any attempt to change it. A series of contemplations lead us gently but directly to see that our essential nature is neither a body nor a mind. It is the conscious Presence that is aware of this current experience. As such it is nothing that can be experienced as an object and yet it is undeniably present. As we take our stand knowingly as this conscious Presence that we always already are, and reconsider the objects of the body, mind and world, we find that they do not simply appear to this Presence, they appear within it. We are led to see that it is in fact this very Presence itself that takes the shape of our experience from moment to moment while always remaining only itself. We see that our experience is and has only ever been one seamless totality with no separate entities or objects anywhere to be found.Rupert also has many YouTube videos and a website.

called upon to rise from the depths of tragedy to pursue a great destiny.

Darin Dahms is highly regarded for his many stage roles in shows including "A House With No Walls," "A Tale Told by an Idiot," and "Someone Who'll Watch Over Me." He is also a director, producer and writer, winning awards for "Butterflies of Uganda," which he co-wrote with friend Sonke Weiss. Dahms received an MFA from the University of South Carolina and is a lifetime member of the Actors Studio.

The Player King" will be enjoyed by anyone fascinated by the history of the theatre, the history of America, or the art of performance. See what the early audiences of "The Player King" already know: It's an extraordinary entertainment.

WHAT'S ON 98

March 10 - March 16, 2014

King Kelly of the USA Sunday at 7:00 p.m. Released on September 15, 1934: A crooner falls in love with the Princess of a small European Kingdom.

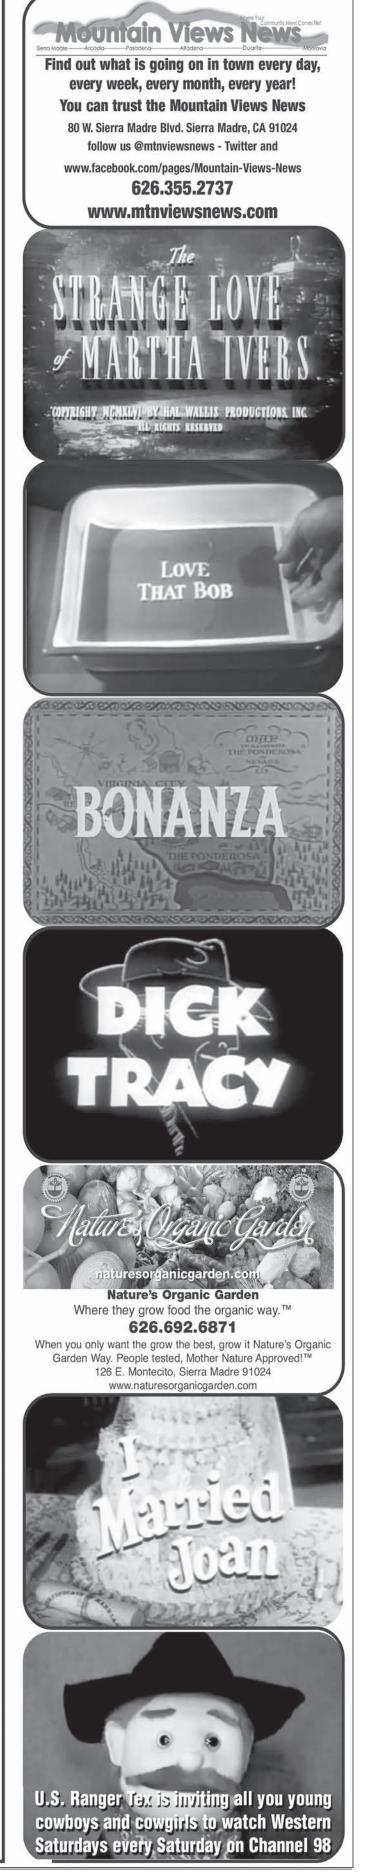

Legendary motion picture comedian Edgar Kennedy appeared in his first movie in 1911, when motion pictures were still and experimental toy. With almost 500 motion picture appearances before his death in 1948, he must surely be counted as one of the most famous comedy personalities of all time.

In this story he is the side-kick of the crooner romantic male lead, and it is his wit and facial comedy, along with the sour-pus face of Franklin Pangborn, that provide many of the belly-laughs that this movie provides.

The year is 1934 . . . America, and indeed most of the civilized world is in the deepest part of a global Depression . . . Money is rare, jobs are non-existent, and there is little reason to laugh. Fortunately, those who could afford ten cents in September of that year could spend an hour away from the grinding reality of daily life and enjoy a marvelous combination of slapstick comedy, including a box full of exploding cigars and button-hole flowers squirting water, mixed with a love story between a penniless showbusiness singer and the Princess daughter of a tiny European Kingdom.

Show business promoter Kelly (Guy Robertson) is on board a ship headed to the European Kingdom of Belgardia with a bevy of young beauties and a contract to perform for the King. When he meets the Princess of Belgardia aboard ship, who is pretending to be commoner Catherine Bell, he immediately falls in love, and although the Princess loves him, she must not tell him who she really is, and they part when the ship docks.

There are plenty of mixed-up circumstances and complications that evolve for them both, as you can imagine. Their road to 'happily ever after' will be filled with mix-ups and complications . . . and exploding cigars. Pop a big bowl of white kernel popcorn with warm melted butter on it and enjoy the show . . . today it won't even cost you the dime that it took to see it way back then.

Vote for Gene Goss April 8th Sierra Madre City Council

I am running because so much needs to be done to preserve our beloved Sierra Madre. If you elect me as your Council Member, my priorities will be:

nsist on strict fiscal discipline. Innovations to reduce costs in all City Departments must be a top priority.

Fight to maintain our own police department. I do not support contracting out to the Sheriff's Department. Our police, fire and paramedics must be a top priority.

Lead the effort to begin upgrading the city's infrastructure that suffers from years of deferred maintenance.

- Develop a plan to place the miles of leaking 90 year old water mains on a schedule for replacement.
- Create a multi-year plan to schedule the paving of streets and repair of sidewalks.
- Insist on substantial yearly progress in addressing the backlog of trees that need trimming.

Propose new water conservation ordinances to encourage water conservation efforts and streamline and simplify the permit process for such projects.

Fight to protect the field at the Monastery from irresponsible development.
