Rose Bowl Considers Holding Music Festival

By Dean Lee

In an open letter to the community Thursday, City officials announced that the Rose Bowl Operating Company is exploring the idea of an annual music festival at the stadiumsimilar to the annual two-weekend, three-day Coachella music and arts festival held in the city of Indio California.

"While still in the conceptual phase, the vision for the festival includes musicians top-quality performing on multiple stages located inside the Rose Bowl Stadium and a portion of the Brookside Golf Course," read the letter signed by both Pasadena Mayor Bill Bogaard and Councilmember and ROBC President Victor Gordo. "The festival may include food, art and cultural programming. Similar events have grown in popularity in recent years; each with their own unique elements and vibes."

ROBC officials will bring the issue to the city council next month as an alternative to hosting an NFL team at the stadium.

A new music festival at the Rose Bowl could begin as soon as June 2015 according to the letter.

The city has had a similar event in June, Make Music Pasadena, since 2008. The free all-day, all-ages music celebration spans more than 20 city blocks and includes over 150 free concerts.

This year, Make Music Pasadena will be held Saturday, June 7, 11am-11pm.

Pet of the Week

Smokey is a one-year-old Dogo Argentino mix. He's a very playful puppy and enjoys toys. He's been out on our Mobile Outreach Unit to community events and got along well with other dogs and people. He has a lot of energy so an active home would be a great match for him.

Smokey's adoption fee is $125, 'which' includes his neuter surgery, a microchip, the first set of vaccinations, as well as a free follow-up health check at a participating vet. New adopters will receive complimentary health and wellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information on how to care for your pet. Ask an adoptions counselor for more information during your visit.

Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at 626.792.7151 to ask about A352279, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11-4 Sunday, 9-5 Tuesday -Friday, 9-4 Saturday. Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters from phone calls or email. Directions and photos of all pets can be found at www. pasadenahumane.org.

"What's Going On?"

News and Views from Joan Schmidt

A little more than thirty years ago "Lenny" (Ellen Griffin Dunne) made a phone call to Marcella Nicholas Leach, "You don't know me, but we have something terrible in common."

A terrible injustice had happened to the Dunne family. Their daughter Dominque, a beautiful young actress was brutally murdered by her former boyfriend, John Sweeney. On two prior occasions, he tried to strangle her, so she broke up with him. Ultimately, he succeeded and November 4, 1982, Dominique died. The District Attorney tried Sweeney for 2nd Degree murder. The jury was not permitted to hear testimony of physical abuse from Sweeney's previous girlfriend, so he was convicted of manslaughter and served three years in prison!

A year later, Marcella Nicholas Leach experienced the same tragedy. On November 30, 1983, her daughter, Marsalee Ann Nicholas was murdered by her ex-boyfriend who was stalking her. Marcella suffered the trauma of violent victimization by the criminal justice system. A week after the funeral, Marcella met the murderer coming out of the market. He had been released on $50,000 bond and lived only two blocks from her. It would be almost two years before he went

This is why Justice for Homicide Victims Foundation (JHV) began. On April 6, JHV marked its 30th Anniversary by honoring its founders, Ellen Griffin Dunne ("Lenny") and Marcella Nicholas Leach, recalling early days and paying tribute to the many victims whose posters were on display at Rose Hills Memorial Park in Whittier. The day was inspiring and brought hope to victims' families, but at times heartwrenching. Marcella was able to attend and welcomed attendees; Lenny passed away in 1997, but her two sons, Griffin and Alex were present.

Jane (whose parents had been murdered) and Bill Bouffard, current JHV Presidents traced the early history and read names of JHV members who had passed away.

Speaker LeeBertha Pickett-Allen spoke of her late son Ernie. Although there were many witnesses to his murder, no one would come forward. "When I met Marcella, I was grieving and crying. Then I met Lenny and we talked. We went to police and became involved. It took 14 years to bring justice for my son."

LeeBertha mentioned other early JHV members Jack and Genelle Reilly, whose daughter Robin had been murdered and Doris Tate, mother of actress Sharon Tate, and their involvement. LeeBertha recalled that Lenny had several justiceforhomicidevictims.com fundraisers at her home and attendees included Jimmy and Gloria Stewart, Roddy Mc Dowell and Robert Wagner. Dennis and Donna Brown's son Chris had been murdered and they felt great relief after his conviction. However in 10 years, there has been 11 appeals and the Browns are not on the notification list.

LeeBertha also told of Marcella's son Dr. Henry T. Nicholas and his important role in the cause. He was the key backer and proponent of Marsy's Law, California's Victims' Bill of Rights.

Keynote speaker, Griffin Dunne, son of Lenny and brother of slain Dominique gave an account of his sister's horrendous death. At the time, his mom had MS, and great stress can escalate the illness. "But her spirit became stronger because of rage and love. The trial and justice system failed her; they made a mockery of Dominique's death. .. This terrible injustice to my family... we reached out to Marcella Leach. My incredible mom went in her wheelchair. She was shy, but would go out and speak for any interview, to anyone who would listen."

San Bernardino District Attorney Mike Ramos is also a great supporter of JHV. He feels "The Lady of Justice Scale has been tilted towards murders' rights. Needs to be tilted more on victims' side, needs to support victims. We get there by organizations such as JHV. Marsy's Law has helped...sets the precedent for the entire Deputy D.A. Kathy Cady, an Honorary Board Member spoke of the fine work of JHV, who hold crime clinics for victims' rights, restitution and unsolved murders. JHV collaborates, meets legislators and law enforcement members and recently received a Commendation from the L.A. County Board of Supervisors.

Jeannette Chavez, mother of slain Samantha Salas have become very involved and addressed the group. Her younger daughter Brittney read her poem, "Family Chains"

During the program, guitarist/singer Kevin Rose performed "Stairway to Heaven" and "Tears in Heaven". Crystal hearts presented to Marcella Leach, and Lenny's sons, Griffin and Alex. A most appreciative Marcella told us "JHV is the most outstanding non-profit group". Tearyeyed she looked at board members with love and gratitude, "This would not be possible without you". Chrystal gavels were presented to L.A. County Deputy D.A. Kathy Cady, Frank Girardot and San Bernardino County District Attorney Mike Ramos.

After the speakers, people sang, "We are the Survivors". Doves and balloons were released, followed by the lighting of a candle in a beloved one's memory. Please go on line and find out how you can help. We can never rest till justice is done for all slain victims: www.

IN SEARCH OF REAL SURVIVAL

By Christoper Nyerges

Some are "acts of God," and many are acts of man.

The practical skills of survival are direly needed by all of us. And yet, the media continues to serve up "reality" shows that provide little or no practical skills in our day to day living.

hurricanes, earthquakes, economic collapses, etc.

Shows like Survivor, Man vs. Wild, Survivorman, and their feral offspring can be amusing, but are designed more for entertainment value rather than providing anything of real value. These shows which often depict buff individuals in a wilderness setting often showcase the worst of human nature in order to keep us glued to our

Though it amusing, and often nauseating, to see hungry men and women eating snakes, rats, and grubs, there seems to be little relevance to the millions of modern urban dwellers.

What then is real survival all about?

Our food-related survival skills necessitate our knowledge of urban food production, such as growing fruit trees, raising vegetables in limited space, raising chickens, making compost.

We need to educate ourselves to what foods have great nutritional value, and which do not. If we cannot grow at least some of our own food, we should support those farmers at local farmers markets who are providing local quality food.

Real survival in the modern world includes practical knowledge of economics. How can you get more for less money by spending less and earning more? You begin by separating need from want, and then you re-evaluate everything in your life that is touched by money. Ask yourself, How can I obtain this thing, or service, or skill, without money?" Is it possible to trade or barter?

And then there is the ages-old good advice for how to soundly deal with material things: why buy new, if used will do? Don't discard if it can be made into something else, etc.

Economic collapse of a country's currency has happened many times, usually due to the over-extension of the leaders who controlled the purse strings, and who considered themselves more deserving than the general populace. A collapse of a country's currency forces the people to deal with stark, basic, everyday needs and concerns in a harsh manner until something new is developed.

While it is true that learning how to trap and eat a rat means you don't have to worry about food from the store in the event of an economic collapse, it is far better to involve yourself in the practical and philosophical underpinnings of the society so that such a collapse doesn't happen in

As our material abundance and technological advances continue, we become more and more dependent upon things which we cannot control. We're fast on the path to a "Blade Runner" or 'THX1138" world.

If you're worried about our future, the answer does not lie with a loin-clothed man with a spear, since a thriving meaningful culture requires vastly more than that. Real survival must encompass a working knowledge of politics, economics, ecology, health, and so much more.

Our answers lie in making the time to educate ourselves to the things that really matter in life. For that matter, in today's informationglutted world, it's a real challenge to discern between useful and useless information, between entertainment and education, between that which leads us to freedom and that which merely

If we desire to be a part of the solution to the ails of modern civilization, then we must choose to not live our lives driven by fear and greed. Yes, real survival means that we must change ourselves first.

Sometimes, we have to realize that we've been hypnotized, and that we must fight our own ignorances. Real survival means that we must become like children again, and realize that there is no dishonor in going back to Square One. By reassessing everything that we think we know, and by asking questions anew, we may discover a new found joy in our very existence.

The pursuit of material survival is too often compassionless. We need compassion for each other if we want to have a society that is worth living in.

William Blake once summed up the essence of Real Survival when he stated, "I sought my soul, but my soul I could not see. I sought my God, but my God eluded me. I sought my brother, and I found all three.

REGISTRATION OPENS APRIL 16! SOUTHLAND RESIDENTS CAN SAVE SOME CASH WITH ANNUAL LAWN MOWER EXCHANGE PROGRAM

SCAQMD Expects to Exchange 4,000 Lawn Mowers This Spring

Southland residents can register starting on Wed., April 16 to get up to 75 percent in savings on a new electric lawn mower with the South Coast AQMD's popular Lawn Mower Exchange Program.

Now in its 12th year, the program helps the wallet and air quality by trading residents' used, highly polluting gas-powered lawn mowers for environmentally friendly, cordless battery-electric models.

This year's program offers 4,000 mowers for trade-in. SCAQMD encourages residents to act fast once registration opens and secure a spot at one of four events being held this year in Long Beach, Pasadena, Riverside and Anaheim.

"By participating in the Lawn Mower Exchange Program, residents will get a brand new mower that is easier to operate and quieter than a gas model for just a fraction of the retail price," said William A. Burke, Ed.D., SCAQMD's Governing Board Chairman. "In addition to taking advantage of this great offer, residents will also help better their community by eliminating air pollution from old gas

In fact, an older gas-powered lawn mower can spew more pollution into the air in a single year than a car driven more than 22,000 miles.

Residents have the opportunity to register and choose from one of five Black & Decker and Greenstation battery electric models ranging from $100 to $250:

- -- Black & Decker 18" 36 volt, $100 (Retail price: $379) (75 percent savings!) -- Black & Decker 19" 36 volt, $180 (Retail price: $429)
- -- Black & Decker 19" 36 volt self-propelled, $250 (Retail price: $479)
- -- Greenstation 20" 24 volt, $160 (Retail price: $430)
 -- Greenstation 19" 24 volt self-propelled, $230 (Retail price: $470)

To take advantage of this great offer, residents must pre-register at www.aqmd.gov by clicking on the Lawn Mower Exchange banner, or calling 1-888-425-6247. Registration opens April 16 at 8 a.m. and is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Exchanging a mower is easy and convenient – only a 10- to 15-minute process – and participants never have to leave their car. Upon arrival, workers will remove the old gas mower from the vehicle and drain it of hazardous fluids prior to its destruction at a metal recycling facility. After payment is made, attendants will place the new, boxed mower in the customer's vehicle. To view a video on the exchange process, visit www.aqmd.gov.

Residents must be at least 18 years old to participate in the program. Gas-powered mowers must be in working order and only one mower per household can be exchanged. Cash, check or major credit cards are accepted for payment.

Exchange events will take place as follows. All events will take place on Saturdays from 8 a.m.

- -- May 3 in Long Beach
- -- May 17 in Pasadena -- June 14 in Riverside
- -- June 28 in Anaheim

When the program ends this summer, SCAQMD will have scrapped more than 55,000 highly polluting gasoline mowers, removing almost 114 tons of smog-forming pollutants from the Southland's air.

This year's program is sponsored by the SCAQMD, in cooperation with the California Air Resources Board, Southern California Edison, Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, City of Anaheim, City of Pasadena, Long Beach City College, Bourns, Inc., UC Riverside, and Anaheim Public Utilities. The program is funded through SCAQMD's Air Quality Investment Program (AQIP), which is financed by Southland companies that pay a fee in lieu of offering rideshare incentives as required by SCAQMD's Rule 2202.

The Lawn Mower Exchange Program will offset more emissions than would be achieved by an employer rideshare program. SCAQMD is the air pollution control agency for Orange County and major portions of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

BECK, CHANDLER, TAY WIN ELECTION

after four previous unsuccessful lack of familiarity among voters

first-time City Council Members starting new four-year terms on Tuesday, April 15 — Tom Beck and Sho Tay. Joining them to make up the trio of candidates elected Tuesday night is longtime Council Member and former Mayor Roger Chandler who returns after a mandatory two-year hiatus. The two losing candidates were Burton Brink with 46% of the vote (2,807 votes), and Paul Van Fleet with 463 votes (less than 8%).

Recently retired lawyer Beck, in his first campaign for any public office, was widely expected to win one of the three seats and probably one of the first two, but he surprised many by dominating every voting precinct in the city in Tuesday night's election results, accumulating nearly 64% (3,871) of the votes on the 6,085 ballots submitted. At his election night party at his large home in northern Arcadia, Beck attributed his victory to his wife's support and her involvement in Assistance League of Arcadia and other local organizations, and to Mayor Mickey Segal's decision not to run for re-election. Segal, who declared Beck a victor very early on when results showed Beck with more than 2,000 votes after only three of seven blocks of precincts reporting, steps down next Tuesday along with termed-out Council Member Bob Harbicht. Segal and Harbicht were at Beck's house Tuesday night along with the only two current mid-term Council

The lowest turnout in recent years was just 16% in 2008, an election that also involved Chandler when he and Kovacic were essentially the only two candidates running in a two-seat election that should not have been required except that a first-timer turned in an application minutes before the deadline and then never participated in the campaign.

At his election night party hosted by Kin Hui's Singpoli of-fices in Arcadia, Tay told media and supporters that he intends to follow through on his campaign pledges to work to unify the various cultures in town, to support and promote local businesses, and to find financial savings for the city and residents. He also thanked his wife Sherry Tay for her support over the many challenging campaigns. With a potential total of 18,255 (up to three votes per ballot), the total number of votes cast, 13,694, would seem to indicate that almost all voters cast only two votes each, or that as many as more than a third of all voters, or more than 2,000, Members who remain on the strategy of voting for only one or any charges should be filed, candidate while the other 3,500-Mayor Pro Tem John Wuo.

Yet there was only couple meet-the-candidates forums when there are usually five or six. The only time the campaign registered a blip on the radar screen was when Tay's campaign raised the eyebrows of some residents and the Arcadia police when several Tay supporters — male and female from student teens to retirement age Caucasian and Chinese-American volunteers went door-to-door offering to provide free stamps to voters to encourage them to mail their sealed ballots. A handful of ballots were handed to campaign workers of all ages, genders, and race who offered to put them in a mailbox for the residents. When a few residents in northern Arcadia called police about the young male Chinese-American volunteers coming to their door, Arcadia police initiated citywide robo calls and text alerts and then conducted interviews with Tay and his campaign supporters. NASA'S DR. WONG RECOGNIZED AT ARCADIA

CITY COUNCIL MEETING AND MORE By Joan Schmidt

Dr. Wong and ACA Members

At a recent Arcadia City Council Meetings, Arcadia's Dr. Edward Wong was presented the Mayor's Certificate of Commendation for his work with NASA and Mars Rover Curiosity. Dr. Wong had received high honors from NASA and Space Flight Mechanics for his critical work on the guidance system that guided the Mars Rover Curiosity to its highly successful rendezvous with Mars. His awards had been presented during the 24th AAS/AAA Space Flight Mechanics Meeting in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Dr. Wong, a humble man, acknowledged this project was "a big team effort-many talented engineers and scientists from JPL/NASA and CAL TECH assisted in the project." Dr. Wong also said it was so gratifying to work on a project for six years that is millions of miles away and be successful.

After Dr. Wong's presentation, Mayor Segal announced that a Duarte Councilmember came to Arcadia's Council Meeting to make a presentation also.

Councilmember Margaret Finlay came to the podium and spoke of Arcadia Council Member Bob Harbicht's role in the City of Duarte before relocating to Arcadia. Bob had served on the Planning Commission and one term on the Duarte City Council. The Finlays friendship with the Harbichts goes back many years. Margaret's parents, Ed and Helen Ferguson also attended the meeting to see their dear friend honored. I knew Bob Harbicht and his wife Patsy have done so much for the City of Arcadia, but I never realized he also did great things in Duarte.

Congratulations to both fine men on the well-deserved recognition they received.

THE TEARDROP PROJECT: IN SUPPORT OF RICHARD PECK

LOS ANGELES—On April 19, the community will gather for a tri-tip BBQ in support of a Monrovia man, Richard Peck, who has been diagnosed with cancer on his lungs, brain, back and esophagus.

Richard has one goal and that is to leave a legacy for his son, Nick. Richard has designed a teardrop style trailer that converts to a standing area and sleeping quarters similar to many from the early 40s and 50s. Designed from the ground up, he has built most of it and only needs a few supplies and about two months of limited time to finish the prototype. He would like to take his son camping in it if he can and hopefully leave the finished trailer and the ability to rebuild and sell it as a legacy for Nick. In order to make this goal a reality, members of the community have come together in support of Nick

"A nightmare for most of us is to be faced with a terminal disease and limited time, not knowing what the future of our family will be. This is the situation that Richard has found himself in. There is not always a lot we can do, but as a community coming together, we can share the opportunity to help and promote hope. I am proud to know Richard and look forward to this event and the legacy we can create together," said Mike Comer, friend of Richard Peck and founder of The Teardrop Project.

The Teardrop Project: In Support of Richard Peck will be held at Santa Anita Park on Saturday, April 19 at 11 a.m. In addition to the races, the event will include a tri-tip BBQ, teardrop and vintage trailer displays, live entertainment and raffles. ANTONOVICH PUSHES FOR COUNTY SUPPORT OF FEDERAL LEGISLATION TO STEM HUMAN TRAFFICKING

LOS ANGELES COUNTY — Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich has introduced a motion to add Los Angeles County to the list of those supporting H.R. 3344 (Royce R-CA), the Fraudulent Overseas Recruitment and Trafficking Elimination (FORTE) Act of 2013.

"Los Angeles County is facing a growing epidemic in human trafficking - we must work with Federal and State leaders to address these issues and stem the widespread devastation it creates," said Supervisor Antonovich. "This vital legislation ensures that the provision of foreign assistance does not contribute to human trafficking and will help combat the issue by requiring greater transparency in the recruitment of foreign workers."

The requirements for foreign labor workers under the FORTE Act will help eliminate corrupt overseas recruitment and sex trafficking in foreign nations. In addition, the U.S. Department of State can utilize Certificates of Registration to maintain and make public any information regarding the identities of foreign labor contractors and their employers.

Antonovich's motion, which will be voted on during the Board's next meeting, directs the County's federal advocates to support H.R. 3344 and send a letter signed by all five Supervisors expressing their support to the Los Angeles County congressional delegation.

ST. RITA STUDENT ATHLETES DOMINATE AT HOST EVENT

Sierra Madre, CA – Strong athletic performances, and hard work by the more than 50 volunteers who staffed it, made for an exciting day last Sunday at the Raider Relays Track Meet held for the 13th year in a row at Bishop Amat. Nineteen schools and more than 700 athletes competed in the event which is hosted by St. Rita as a fundraiser for their Athletic Dept.

St. Rita's students showed up in full force with the Varsity Girls, B Girls and B Boys all placing first in their respective divisions. The Varsity Boys took second, the Novice Girls were third and the Novice Boys were fourth at the Meet.

Every year the parents of St Rita athletes get together and man the events, time the races, tally the points, post the results, work admission and count the money for the 6-hour track meet. Bishop Amat not only provides the location but supplies a good deal of student labor to assist the St. Rita volunteer force, which this year also included graduated athletes.

"It was an outstanding track meet," said Coach Randy Davies. "Our parent volunteers were beyond compare and our athletes competed with pride and determination."

St. Rita School, located at 322 N. Baldwin Ave. in Sierra Madre, is a top-ranked Catholic parish school with an award-winning, championship CYO sports program.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show

CAPTAIN AMERICA: THE WINTER SOLDIER

Having seen all of the Marvel movies leading up to this (Iron Man, Thor, Avengers, the first Captain America), I had very high expectations for 'The Winter Soldier'. Occurring after the events of 'The Avengers', this movie brings old secrets of the Marvel universe to light. After Captain America (Chris Evans), Black Widow (Scarlett Johansson), and an elite team of SHIELD agents retake a ship that had been overtaken by terrorists, they discover that Nick Fury (Samuel L. Jackson) has not told them the entire truth about their mission. When SHIELD comes under attack by unknown forces, Cap and Black Widow are forced to take things into their own hands in order to save Nick, SHIELD, and the world.

The Winter Soldier' is one of the best Marvel movies so far. The directing, screenplay, and acting are all amazing and, even though the movie runs for about two and a half hours, there is not a boring moment. This is a great movie for people who have not seen any of the Marvel movies or anyone who is a huge fan of

VILLA SORRISO

Ensconced on the outskirts of Old Town Pasadena, a magnificent experiment is being orchestrated. Conducted with equal parts theater and fine dining, Villa Sorriso is successfully doing what so many others have experienced as drinking a cup of hemlock. For here is a restaurant provocatively practicing the art of elegant cuisine, while doubling as a dance club among the caverns of the night. It's like being a teenage star that time wishes to force from the stage. If you close your eyes, you might summon the memory of a restaurant that used to be on the corner of Pasadena and Colorado which also professed to be a kingdom filled with the charms of food and dance, Clearwater Café, but as so many others of that type, they danced their way into the darkness of the night.

Jack Wong burst on the Pasadena restaurant scene with the Wok N' Roll Sushi, on the north side of Colorado. It was instantly trendy, exciting, risk-taking and rewarding, exposing the palate, eyes and mind to an aesthetic and culinary adventure. That same formula has added some muscle and donned an Italian sign, Villa Sorriso. Just as the crowds that come here, I too have fallen under the night spell as their club emerges as a butterfly in the secret heart of the night as it bristles with an attractive energy that is sure to force a discovery of the newest dance step.

The pre-dance scene is a menu brimming with Italian classics, but creatively executed with a unique California twist. Chef Raul Mercado's menu showcases a field of land and ocean dishes: pizza, pasta, steaks, fish, and a vast expression of salads. The prices for lunch seemed very reasonable, all in the ($12 to $15) range. Our friendly server, Kelsea, greeted us with homemade bread and cecca, which is a tomato, basil, garlic and olive oil mixture. I began my meal with the appetizer Crab Cakes ($9), leading me to sense that I was in great hands. . The crab cakes were not big enough for an entrée, but perfect for nibbling and chatting. As I raised the menu again, I overheard the couple next to me discussing their drive from Newport for the Cioppino. I was tempted to try it, but my stomach had other ideas, leading me to summon the Spicy Shrimp Linguini ($15). Enough shrimp to start a small sea. My partner for this lunch was torn between a salad or a full Fish Salmon Lunch. Kelsea, quickly made this a win, win, suggesting we get both. "You can make salad with the grilled Salmon," she genially offered. Out of the mouths of babes comes the greatest wisdom. The plate leveled on our table with three nice portions of salmon and minutes later a disappearing act occurred as both our dishes were forked clean. In any restaurant business you often hear the expression location, location, location. But I say, food, food, food and - unbelievably - dance!! My compliments to Chef Raul, well crafted!!! Let's hope that this is one dance that never ends.

SAVOR THE FLAVOR!

ALL ABOUT BEANS, A MIRACLE FOOD

Beans contain a wider variety of nutrients than most foods. They provide complete proteins, a rarity in plants. In fact, 1/4 cup of beans, peas or lentils contains an equivalent amount of protein as one ounce of meat, or about 15 grams per cup. However, beans provide these healthy proteins with non of the animal fat of meat.

Beans are high in good carbs. Complex carbohydrates can help curb hunger and boost energy levels, resulting in weight loss.

Beans have the unique ability to release energy into the blood stream over a sustained period of time. This gives them a low glycemic index, making them an excellent food source for diabetics, as well as protection against obesity.

Beans are loaded with soluble fiber, proven to help lower cholesterol levels. Fiber is a critical nutrient especially as people age. In a 2001 study, people who ate beans four times a week instead of once, showed a 22 per cent reduction in heart disease.

Beans contain antioxidants that reduce the risk of some cancers, particularly colorectal, according to studies. Of the top 20 antioxidants on the USDA's list of antioxidant food sources, beans come in at spots 1,3,4 and 7 with small red beans, red kidney, pinto and black beans. Antioxidants protect against damage by free radicals and keep us looking younger.

Beans offer calcium, potassium, vitamin B6, magnesium, folate, and alpha-linolenic acid-nutrients that work together to promote overall health. Beans have a unique compound that has been shown to keep normal cells from becoming cancerous and to slow their growth.

Beans are a relatively inexpensive way to include protein in your diet. Savor the Flavor has carried award-winning mixes from Frontier Soups from our opening day. Stop in and discover what our customers have been enjoying for years. Excerpt from Frontier Soups.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

When I was 4 ½ years old, I lived in Huntsville, Alabama with my 6 older siblings and my parents, who'd just experienced a spiritual epiphany that prompted them to make a major change in their lifestyle. My dad, who'd been working for Pratt & Whitney Aircraft as a tool & die maker for several years, suddenly decided to quit his job and go full time into a Christian children's outreach ministry. I have a handful of memories about what life was like in Florida, prior to that change, but my clearest memories of childhood

I was born in Florida in 1963, a year remembered by most Americans as the year President Kennedy was assassinated. Of course, I was not aware of what was going on at the time in our country, or anywhere else for that matter, but later in life it somehow became significant to me, to include as part of my "story", the fact that I was born the same year President Kennedy was assassinated.

are focused on what happened

Regardless of the political or social status that prevailed when I was a small child, one thing I can are for thing I can say for sure is that my family was poor in dollars, but incredibly rich in blessings. We were blessed with an enormous amount of love and spiritual nourishment on the home front. Kindness to others took top priority in any lecture that I may have had to endure from my parents. "What we have, is to be shared.", still comes to mind as part of what they endeavored to teach me, and for that I am very grateful to this day.

My mom and dad also taught me how to get by with very little. Not to say that we suffered or went without, because amazingly enough, the miracles of provision that I witnessed through the faith of my parents is what has kept me believing in God after all these years. They were excellent examples of how one should live their life in faith; working hard and knowing that God will provide. Without their example, I often wonder if I would even be a believer today.

So, with all that "down home" childhood drama spilled like beans on the table, I am finally getting to the main point of this happy tale. In 1968 we were living in a duplex, located in a rural part of Huntsville, Alabama (Toll Gate Road, on Monte Sano Mountain, to be specific) that belonged to a family at our church. The center wall had been demolished, turning it into a single-family dwelling with space enough to accommodate leaving the largest room in the house.

PEASANTRY AND PETS

Now, I regress just to give you a little history about my folks. My mom and dad grew up in Worcester, Massachusetts during the depression. My dad left photography school to serve in the Navy on the USS Missouri during WWII. Meanwhile, my mother worked at her parents' restaurant while honing her skills singing and dancing on stage. Shortly after my dad returned home from the war, they met, married and stayed that way for 60+ years until they both passed away. Because of their own upbringing and life experiences, they had lots of valuable life lessons to share with us kids about gardening, building a home and practical ways to save money and feed a family while paying the bills. After all, God helps the man who helps himself,

So, in 1968, while we were living in that reformed duplex on the mountain, another church family offered us a couple of rabbits, one male and one female as a gift to our family. Knowing it would be an awesome experience for us kids to have the responsibility and benefits of owning pets, as well as a little extra cash we would gain from selling some of the rabbits, and the supplemental food they would eventually provide, my dad accepted their kind offer. He immediately went about building an enormous above-ground hutch for them to snuggle and nest in. As you can imagine, we kids were very excited when the rabbits arrived.

It didn't take long before we had our first brood of bunnies, and each of us got to pick one to be our very own pet. I remember selecting the runt of the litter for myself. He had a silky brown coat, so I named him Cocoa. As the momma and poppa rabbits continued to proliferate, we were able to sell several of the bunnies to our friends in the neighborhood at Easter time. I also remember my dad helping me tote a few of them to my second-grade classroom for show and tell. What a wonderful memory that is for me now!

Then, one day my dad came to us "little kids", as they used to call me and my sister, 2 ½ years my senior, and explained that some of the rabbits might have to give up their lives in order to provide food for the table. At first I didn't understand what he meant. I knew the chickens we kept in a coop in a separate area of the need, and giving back what you back yard were there to give us eggs, but the idea of a rabbit providing food made no sense to

My father was very careful center kitchen as the to perform the necessary task of slaughtering selected rabbits early in the morning, while everyone was sleeping, to prevent us from seeing what was going on. He knew we would notice some of them missing the next day, and would have to address the issue in another conversation to clarify why he had to do what he did to feed the family, but he didn't want us witnessing the act at such a young age. I remember asking my dad where the missing rabbits had gone, and that was the first time I finally understood that we needed to eat some of the rabbits as part of our means of survival. I cried hard for a long time when it hit me that the rabbit had to die for my sake. As grew older, it became easier to accept the fact that some of those sweet bunny rabbits would have to sacrifice their lives to feed me and the rest of my family.

> Although I don't eat rabbits today, I believe that my dad taught me a very valuable lesson by explaining how our food made its way to the table. Some kids are never told what goes on behind the grocery store counter... how some animals are sacrificed for human consumption. These days it is so easy to forget that nature and its creatures are indeed what feeds us. We go to the store and choose from an enormous selection of foods that have been prepared by other hands, and often don't give it a second thought.

> After all, it is hard to think about how a steak is actually taken from a cow, or a pork loin is obtained from a pig. But I believe that carnivorous humans should have to witness the process at least once in their life, to earn the right to consume the meat they eat. The same goes for the vegetables we are blessed with. We should all have to experience the hard work that goes into planting and harvesting a garden that puts food on the table. It's a basic part of our survival, and until we appreciate it, we are missing out on a very important basic precept of life.

I hope we can all learn to value the foods we eat, particularly those who eat meat. Although I would like to see our society move away from eating animals, and having so much go to waste, I realize it is a very deeply rooted culturally accepted practice in our society. But, it is so very important for us to remember the sacrifices being made on our behalf. Show respect to all animals. Be humane in your life can. Be grateful for what feeds you, and above all don't forget to love and let live!

PET OF THE WEEK

BALON: ANIMAL ID #A4688104

Like a thief in the night, Baloo will steal your heart the second you meet him! That's a good thing, considering he will do nothing with your heart other than fill it with joy. Baloo (A4688104) is a submissive seven-month-old gray and white male pitbull puppy who was forsaken at the Downey Shelter on March 22nd because his former owners moved and couldn't be bothered to make arrangements for him. He seems confused as to why he is at a scary shelter instead of at a quiet home with loved ones. Weighing thirty-four pounds, Baloo is still working on his leash skills and will benefit from formal training. He has a medium energy level, gets along fine with other dogs and cats and volunteers think he will do great with children. He received an "A" on his shelter-given temperament test, and is just an awesome little guy with a lot of potential. If you are looking for a pet to give you true loyalty and devotion then this is the puppy for you! Baloo is a spectacular indoor pet for an individual or family living in a private home, and especially someone with a lot of love to give to show this shy, sweet boy how to enjoy life freely. Please think about adopting baby Baloo! To watch a video of Baloo please visit this link: www.youtube.com/watch?v=-FxDJGutl7c

To meet Baloo in person, please see him at the Downey Animal Shelter, located at 11258 S Garfield Ave., Downey, CA 90242 (Phone: (562) 940-6898). He is currently available now. For any inquiries about Baloo, please reference his animal ID number: A4688104. The shelter is open seven days a week, 12 pm-7 pm Monday-Thursday and 10am-5pm Friday-Sunday. This is a high-intake shelter with a great need for adoptions. For more information about Baloo or the adoption process, contact United Hope for Animals Volunteer Adoption Coordinator Samantha at Samantha@hope4animals.org. MEDICAL ALERT DEVICES THAT CAN HELP KEEP SENIORS SAFE

Dear Savvy Senior:

I'm interested in getting my mother, who lives alone, a medical alert device with a wearable SOS button that she can push in case she falls or needs help. What kinds of devices can you recommend and how much do they cost? Searching

Dear Searching:

There's a wide variety of medical alert systems on the market today that can help keep elderly seniors safe, while living in their own home. Here's a breakdown of some different styles and prices to help you choose. Monitored Alerts

The most popular medical alert systems available today are the ones that will connect your mom to a 24-hour emergency monitoring service when she needs help. These units come with waterproof "SOS" buttons – typically in the form of a necklace pendent or bracelet – and a base station that connects to her home phone line.

At the press of a button, your mom could call and talk to a trained operator through the system's base station receiver which works like a powerful speaker phone. The operator will find out what's wrong, and will notify family members, a neighbor, friend or emergency services as

If you're interested in this type of alert, there are literally dozens of services to choose from. One of the most widely used is the Philips Lifeline Medical Alert Service (lifelinesys.com, 800-380-3111) which costs $35 per month, plus an $82 start-up fee. Phillips also offers a new Auto Alert option (for $48 per month) that has fall detection sensors in the SOS button that can automatically summon help without your mom ever having to press a button.

Some other major players in the industry that are a little less expensive (under $30 per month) include: LifeFone (lifefone.com, 877-849-8942), LifeStation (lifestation.com, 877-478-3390), Bay Alarm Medical (bayalarmmedical.com, 877-722-9633), Alert1 (alert-1.com, 888-919-3692), LifeGuardian (lifeguardianmedicalalarms.com, 800-378-2957) and Medical Alert (medicalalert.com, 800-800-2537).

One other unique product worth consideration is the MediPendant (getmedipendant.com, 888-216-0039) which runs under $35 a month. This system allows your mom to speak and listen to the operator directly through the SOS pendant, versus the base station speaker phone, which often makes for easier communication.

No-Fee Alerts

If you're looking for a cheaper option, consider a no-fee medical alert device that doesn't have professional monitoring services. These products, which also come with an "SOS" button and a home base station, are pre-programmed to dial personal contacts (relatives, friends, caregivers or 911) if the SOS button is pushed. Most devices store about four phone numbers, and the system dials each number, one-by-one until a connection is made.

If you like this style, the Freedom Alert made by LogicMark (logicmark.com, 800-519-2419) is a good product that allows you to speak through the pendent. The purchase price: $300, with no ongoing monthly fees. Also check out Telemergency (telemergencysystems.com, 888-558-7420), which offers a variety on no-fee medical alert devices that cost under $190.

Mobile Alerts

If your mom is interested in a device that works outside the home too, there are several mobile products that will let her call for help anywhere. These pendent-style devices, which fit in the palm of your hand, work like little cell phones with GPS tracking capabilities.

To call for help, your mom would simply push one button, and an operator from the device's emergency monitoring service would be on the line to assist her. And because of the GPS technology they would know her exact location, which is critical in emergency situations.

Top products to check out in this category include the new 5Star Urgent Response sold by GreatCall (greatcall.com, 800-733-6632) for $50 plus a $35 activation fee and $15 monthly service fees, and MobileHelp (mobilehelpnow.com, 800-800-1710) which runs between $37

You also need to know that Medicare and most other insurance plans don't cover medical alert systems, although in some states Medicaid will if your mom receives Medicaid-funded homecare services.

KATIE TseThis and That

I'M STILL SO GLAD I'M NOT YOUNG ANYMORE! This article originally appeared in the Mountain Views New several years ago.

But after reading a Yahoo story regarding the difficulty "plus-size" girls have finding prom dresses, I was reminded of how glad that I'm not young anymore!

Youth is a wonderful thing. The young are mostly healthy, beautiful, and, in middle and upper class America, blissfully unacquainted with the harsh realities of financial self-reliance and a diminishing metabolism. Youth involves rites of passage. Kids learn to drive. Girls get training bras; boys' voices go through a crackling journey to manly tones. Everyone needs to use deodorant, contrary to the belief that "some people don't sweat." And usually somewhere in there is a "formal dance."

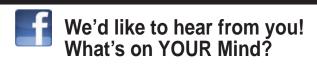

Stopped in traffic by the Arboretum one spring day, I noticed a fashion shoot taking place on a grassy knoll. Five women, in thigh-high halter-top dresses, posed as the photographer fired off rapid shots. After they were finished, the group headed toward some young men in suits and tuxedos. As the women awkwardly stepped into a stretch Hummer it dawned on me. "Holy rhinestones, Batman!" That's not a fashion a shoot –that's someone's prom!

It goes without saying that proms have changed over the years. My mom enjoys telling how she fooled her date (a well known prankster) by opening the front door in a very dated, dumpy dark turquoise taffeta dress and her Stouffer's waitress shoes (think the Queen Mum). She and her dad got a big laugh after he snapped a picture of the boy's horrified face. She then changed in to her real dress. Yes, things are different these days...

I have a few regrets about my youth. I wish I had put more effort into my second language courses (although I doubt it would've helped), and I suppose it might've been good to attempt a sport. But one thing I sure don't regret is not going to the prom! I know that sounds bitter and antisocial, but even more than 10 years later I can still say I don't think I missed a thing!

In the same vein as class elections, proms seemed to be another means of social exclusion. Every detail of the night involved decisions about who was "in" and who was "out." Who's house do we meet up at? Who's riding in the [fill in the ostentatious vehicle of choice]? Who's sitting at our table? There's only room for eight, so that eliminates [fill in the least-liked classmate]. It gave me a nervous ulcer just listening to it. To drive home the point that prom was overrated, my boyfriend-less friends all complained about their dates' behavior the next day at school. Heck, even some of the girls who had boyfriends complained!

Of course, another reason I nixed the prom was because I'm cheap. I just couldn't rationalize the cost of the tickets, dress, etc. Even as an unemployed teenager, I had some concept of the value of money. On top of everything else, prom tends to bring out the worst in people -administrators as well as students. There's always a few Yahoo headlines about some poor kid getting kicked out of prom for a dumb reason. Back when I first submitted this article, a boy in the Midwest asked his crush to the prom by writing "Will you go to the prom with me?" on a large poster. And she said "Yes!" Aww! But there was trouble in paradise when the villainous principal banned the boy from the prom because his placement of the sign was against school rules. In response to the national outcry against her decision, the principal finally reneged and allowed the young lovers to attend the prom. It would be one thing if this were an isolated incident, but it seems that every year there's some news story about powercrazed administrators concocting frivolous reasons for excluding students from the prom. One girl was denied admission because she came without a date. It's bad enough if you can't get a date, let alone the school broadcasting it! Like Maurice Chevalier crooned, "I'm SO glad I'm not young anymore!"

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

FYI -TIPS FOR SENIORS TO STAY SAFER ONLINE

Never trust a link sent to you by someone you don't know. By clicking the link you may be taken to a site that may look like your bank or credit card company, but isn't. One thing a criminal can't fake is the actual Web site address of a company or bank. Instead of clicking a link in an e-mail, search for the Web address using a search engine to find the real one. Use that to ask the company about the message you received, or call using the number listed on your statements. Mark the real site as a favorite in your browser so that one click brings you there safely every time.

Never trust an e-mail that asks for your personal or account information (called a phishing scam). These usually seem convincing (the shabby ones have spelling errors, but the high quality scams look impeccable). No bank or reputable company is going to send you an e-mail asking you to correct your information, validate your identity, re-enter your password, and so on.

The smarter scams often contain text warning you against fraud. They do this because many people believe that an e-mail that warns them to be careful must be legitimate. That is not always true. This also extends to sites that claim they have protections in place for your privacy and security. Anybody can make these claims, but only certain sites protect you.

Never respond – or even open an e-mail with a deal that is too good to be true unless it is from a company that you know well and expect to get these kinds of offers from them. Scammers want you to react without taking time to think things through, so their e-mails frequently sound urgent, such as:

... "if we don't hear by tomorrow your account will be closed" (and you'll notice that the date of "tomorrow" never is listed).

.."this offer won't last, order now to ensure"...

Never believe that someone you don't know is going to give you money. Do not believe a person from another country who just needs you to "help transfer funds" and they need your bank account number to do so. Such scammers promise to give you a huge amount of money for helping them out. The result is an empty bank account.

If you never entered a lottery, you did not win the lottery. Such scams ask you to provide your information and bank account number so they can transfer your prize money. Don't. The result is an empty bank account. Don't believe a really rich, famous person just wants to help you out... and that the celebrity also mysteriously needs your address, phone number, bank account information to do so. The result is an empty bank account. Guard your information well. It is better to be rude than to be ripped off, so demand validation, verification, and authentication before giving your information to anyone. If you still feel uneasy, say no or check further.

FOR YOUR FUNNY BONE

An elderly man was having hearing problems and went to see a specialist. The doctor fitted him with some hearing aids that brought his hearing back to full strength. After a few weeks the man came back to make sure the new equipment was working properly, which it was. The hearing specialist said, "It all seems perfect. Your family should be delighted you can hear everything now."
"Oh no," the man responded. "I haven't told any of them. I just sit quietly, listening carefully. I've

FRIENDS OF THE SIERRA MADRE LIBRARY ART FAIR

The 52nd annual Friends of the Sierra Madre Library's art fair will be held in Memorial Park, 222 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. in the city of Sierra Madre on Saturday, May 3, 2014 from 9:30AM to 6:00PM and Sunday, May 4, 2014 from 9:30AM to 5:00PM. More than 95 artists will be displaying and selling their fine art during the weekend, including our featured artist, Beverly Jones, whose wowinspiring designs, meticulous craftsmanship and attention to detail made her the obvious choice as the first jeweler to be given this honor. Make sure to stop by her booth to admire her lovely creations and to purchase a unique piece of jewelry.

At this time, many of the artists have donated lovely one-of-a-kind pieces to be auctioned off in a Silent Auction which means that you'll have a chance to bid on some really beautiful artwork. The auction will begin on Saturday and end at 4:30 Sunday when the winners will be announced.

Food trucks will offer a variety of food and drinks that will be sure to please even the most picky eaters. You'll be able to purchase everything from Mexican tortas to German brats as well as good old-fashioned burgers, chili, and New York deli. And of course, the Friends will be selling their famous homemade quick or sweet breads. New this year is a wine and beer garden that will be open both afternoons.

Live music will be featured throughout the weekend. Chair of music for the Art Fair, Jean Sudbury, has a wonderful line-up of music planned for both days. In the band shell on Saturday from 11:00AM-1:00PM you'll be treated to world class guitarists Steve Trovato and Tim Kobza playing a fusion of country, rock, jazz, and blues. Accordionist and composer Nick Ariondo will be playing world music at its finest from 2:00-4:00PM on Saturday. Larry Tuttle and Novi Novog known as String Planet will be in the band shell on Sunday from 11:00AM-1:00PM offering Library. For more information, call 626 355-7186 their cunningly creative classical rock fusion. or visit our website at sierramadrelibraryfriends.

Cow Bop, Bruce Forman and Pamela Forman, the hottest Western bebop band on earth will be playing for your listening pleasure. At other times during the day a bit of strolling music will undoubtedly occur. Each day on the south lawn at 1:00 Jean has an exciting new happening planned, the Green Room. She will be there with her variety of stringed instruments to share some of her favorite music and inviting guests to join in. The guest list will include some of the performing artists, local musicians and friends who have performed at other art fairs, some performers from the Renaissance Fair, and other surprise guests. She will have music for some to read if they choose or play by ear, somewhat old-time string band style with a European twist. To add to the creative display and give a real community arts festival flair Jean plans to have tables lined with paper, colored pencils, crayons, chalk, etc. set up for instant inspiration and art in the making.

So plan to spend a day with us, strolling through the park admiring and purchasing unique artwork done in a wide variety of mediums, listening to lovely music, and feasting on scrumptious lunches or snacks. Proceeds from the Art Fair benefit the resources and programs of the Sierra Madre

WALKING SIERRA MADRE.....THE SOCIAL SIDE

By Deanne Davis

"Jenny kissed me when we met, jumping from the chair she sat in; Time, you thief, who love to get sweets into your list, put that in! Say I'm weary, say I'm sad, say that health and wealth have missed me, Say I'm growing old, but add.... Jenny kissed me." James Henry Leigh Hunt

In addition to all the glorious roses popping up all over town, I've been observing a nice thing lately, walking through Sierra Madre. It's people kissing. Couples sharing a quick kiss as they're heading off to work, jumping into separate cars with a cup of coffee; friends giving a goodbye smooch after class in front of Sierra Fit Pilates as they scatter to start their day; a kiss on top of the head for a dog who has sat patiently in front of Starbucks waiting for his/her owner to return; and best of all, parents kissing their little ones goodbye before they race off to school. That morning scramble is a very hectic time, an hour packed with trying to get little people dressed, teeth brushed, something nutritious in their tummies, organizing the backpack, getting the hair combed, finding the permission slip and the lunch, and not losing the parental temper because wee ones have a tendency to move at snail speed in the morning. I shudder to think how many times I did not kiss my little ones goodbye before they left for school. I think parents are doing it better these days.

My walking partner, the athletic hiker-up-to-First- Water-on-the-Mt.-Wilson-Trail, John, and I make it to the gym about once a week. Our goal is twice a week but it's a good week if we make it once. After sign in, he heads for the weight room and I take my book to the treadmills where I read and walk two miles, while people run marathons on either side of me. Currently, it's "Spend

All Your Kisses, Mr. Smith" by Jack Smith, a columnist for the Los Angeles Times that I read faithfully for years and years. Jack Smith was acerbic, opinionated, and funny. He held very little back regarding his personal life and family. Personal stuff is the most interesting thing anyone can write about as we are all consumed with curiosity about how those around us live.

Jack came across the quote, "Spend All Your Kisses," in a book which he put down and was never able to locate again among his stacks and stacks of books. He attributed it to a Roman Philosopher, but wasn't sure

Jack Smith went on to conjecture about the fact that "there is no point in taking any of one's wealth into the next world. Why keep a kiss, a gesture, a word that might give a moment's pleasure or reassurance to someone else." He finished, "there is little chance, that I will get out of this world with money...and now, thanks to my wife, to an ancient poet and my ability to read backwards – I am not likely to get out with any unspent kisses, either."

Maybe the reason I've been noticing kiss giving and receiving a lot lately is that we've just celebrated a very special kiss occasion. Our 47th anniversary. As we spent all our spare time together, and worked together, too, before we were married, I figure I've been kissing this same nifty guy for 49 years. That's a lot of kisses! But, just like Jack Smith, I want to spend all my kisses

"Just Today...Spend All Your Kisses!"

If each of us had time, and time, And time enough to spare, There still would not be time enough, To turn away from love.

But each of us has just today, held tightly in our hands. So what's the perfect thing that I can do with my today? Let go of anger, bitterness, and, poor put-upon little me! I'll let God touch me deep inside and heal me where I hurt.

I'll spend all my kisses, and squander my smiles! I'll hug everyone that I see. I'll find something wonderful in everything, And folks will see something wonderful in me.

I'll delight in my dinner, and eat dessert first! Complaining? That's just not my style. I'll live out this day and make it my best, A day filled with joy, fun and zest!

For none of us has time, and time, And time enough to spare.
We've just this day, so bright, fresh and sunny, To make a difference, a ripple in our pond.

So let's plant a flower, and pull out a thistle! Hug a friend, care if somebody cries. And notice! Oh notice! If God has put a rainbow in our sky.

We've time, and time, And time enough for this, Just time enough for this. Why not spend all your kisses today!

OCEAN FOUND INSIDE SATURN MOON

NASA's Cassini spacecraft and the Deep Space Network have uncovered evidence that Saturn's moon Enceladus harbors a large underground ocean of liquid water, furthering scientific interest in that moon as a potential home to extraterrestrial microbes.

Researchers theorized the presence of an interior reservoir of water in 2005 when Cassini discovered water vapor and ice spewing from vents near the moon's south pole. The new data provide the first geophysical measurements of the internal structure of Enceladus, consistent with the existence of a hidden ocean.

"The way we deduce gravity variations is a concept in physics called the Doppler effect, the same principle used with a speed-measuring radar gun," said Sami Asmar of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., a coauthor of the paper. "As the spacecraft flies by Enceladus, its velocity is perturbed by an amount that depends on variations in the gravity field that we're trying to measure. We see the change in velocity as a change in radio frequency, received at our ground stations here all the way across the solar system."

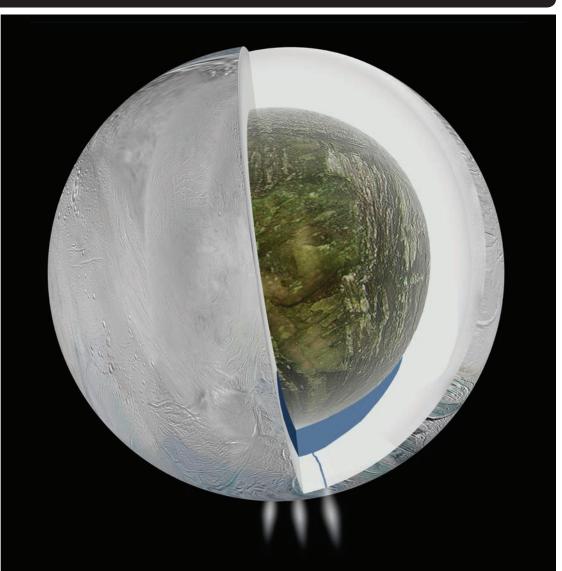

The gravity measurements suggest a large, possibly regional, ocean about 6 miles deep, beneath an ice shell about 19 to 25 miles thick. The subsurface ocean evidence points to Enceladus as one of the most likely places in our solar system to host microbial life.

"Material from Enceladus' south polar jets contains salty water and organic molecules, the basic chemical ingredients for life," said Linda Spilker, Cassini's project scientist at JPL. "Their discovery expanded our view of the 'habitable zone' within our solar system and in planetary systems of other stars. This new validation that an ocean of water underlies the jets furthers understanding about this intriguing environment."

LUNAR ECLIPSE AND MARS CLOSEST APPROACH APRIL 14

On the night of April 14th, two significant and spectacular events will take place simultaneously, as Mars reaches its closest point to Earth while the Moon will be totally eclipsed. This particular lunar eclipse is expected to draw unusual interest because it will be visible from the entire United States, and also because the reddish eclipsed Moon will float very near the striking blue star Spica, as well as hovering to the left of orange Mars. Altogether, the eclipse will be part of a dramatic sky-spectacle.

To viewers in Los Angeles, the eclipse will begin at 9:53 p.m., when the left-hand side of the Moon begins to enter the penumbra, or partial shadow, of the Earth. At 10:58 p.m., it will start to enter the umbra, or full shadow. At 12:06 a.m., it will be fully covered by the umbra. 12:45 a.m. is the time of greatest eclipse, and by 1:24 a.m. the Moon will have moved completely out of the umbra on its way to being completely free from shadow by 3:37 a.m. All times are in Pacific Daylight Time.

This diagram illustrates the possible interior of Saturn's moon Enceladus based on a gravity investigation by NASA's Cassini spacecraft and NASA's Deep Space Network, reported in April 2014. The gravity measurements suggest an ice outer shell and a low density, rocky core with a regional water ocean sandwiched in between at high southern latitudes.

By coincidence, during the eclipse Mars will be making its closest approach to Earth in over four years. Mars orbits the Sun at a speed of 15 miles per second—very similar to Earth's 18.5 miles per second. The similarity means that after the two orbits align, it takes fully 26 months for them to meet again.

For those wishing to watch these events online, the Slooh Observatory will present them in real time starting with coverage of Mars at 7 pm PDT from Slooh's telescopes off the west coast of Africa in the Canary Islands and transitioning to coverage of the total lunar eclipse starting at 11 pm PDT. Viewers can watch on Slooh.com or by downloading the Slooh iPad app. Viewers can ask questions during the show by using hashtag #Slooh.

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

A "203" FOR TLC

You find a neat "fixer-upper," then learn that banks won't lend until the repairs are done, but the repairs can't be completed until the house is purchased! This Catch-22 scenario can be solved by HUD's FHA-backed 203(k) "rehab loan," growing in popularity because so many foreclosure purchases are in dire need of repairs.

This loan covers the cost of the home, plus money for repairs up to a maximum of $35,000! To get the ball rolling, you'll need funds for the 3.5% required downpayment, and then to find a suitable property. Your real estate representative will prepare your offer, stating that you'll be seeking 203(k) financing.

Next you'll apply to an FHA-approved lender, including a sheet listing each repair and its cost. Finally, an appraisal is performed to determine the value of the home once the proposed repairs are complete.

Upon approval, you'll have financed the home purchase plus all your proposed repairs (there's even a 10%-20% "contingency reserve" included to cover any unforeseen improvements). At closing, the seller receives the purchase price, and the remaining funds go into escrow, to be disbursed to the contractor as work is completed (within six months).

Real estate agents support this loan program because it expands homeownership and revitalizes neighborhoods, but all you need to know is that it will get you into a very affordable home right now.

LAW AND DISORDER: THE JERRY ORBACH ESTATE BATTLE

Jerry Orbach, who starred as Detective Lennie Briscoe in the popular "Law and Order" television series, died a decade ago, but a battle is brewing over his Chase bank account.

The Chase bank account in dispute belongs to Orbach's Mingoya Productions company, and is currently under the control of the actor's former accountant, Patricia M. Black. Orbach added Black as a signatory to the company's account a year before he died in 2004.

Black also served as executor of the estate of Orbach's wife Elaine, who inherited his entire estate and who died in 2009. After Elaine died, her sister, Rita Hubbard, replaced Black as executor. Hubbard contacted Chase to inform them of the change in executor and request that Black be cut off from access to the account.

Chase says that Black has not responded to its many phone calls and letters, and is unwilling to turn the account over to Hubbard because it is unsure who the rightful owner of the account is since it has no proof that Elaine was ever a co-owner of Mingoya Productions.

Hubbard's attorney says that Elaine's estate is the sole owner of Mingoya Productions, and is therefore the rightful owner of the account.

A lawsuit has been filed in Manhattan to resolve the dispute.

This is the unfortunate effect of not having your estate planning set up properly. Many, many years after your death, your loved ones could still be dealing with the fall out.

Think about which three independently owned businesses you'd miss most if they were gone. Stop in and say hello. Pick up a little something that will make someone smile. Your contribution is what keeps those businesses around.

If just half the employed U.S. population spent $50 each month in independently owned businesses, their purchases would generate more than $42.6 billion in revenue.*

Imagine the positive impact if 3/4 of the employed population did that.

For every $100 spent in independently owned stores, $68 returns to the community through taxes, payroll, and other expenditures. If you spend that in a national chain, only $43 stays here. Spend it online and nothing comes home.

Maybe your timing is off. After all, you can't squeeze blood from a turnip. Perhaps there are too many things on your plate at the moment. Instead of insisting, relax. Flow with what's before you and trust when the time is right, you'll find the room in your schedule and the desire to commit.

Or, if the desire and time don't show up, maybe it just isn't something you really want to do. You may want it to get done, but you don't want to do it. Why force it? Instead, hire someone who's passionate about social media. Someone who knows what they're doing and can do it efficiently. When you allow yourself to take off some of the hats you wear, you make more room for the work you love -- your genius work! You'll be happier, healthier and more successful!

HOW TO GET AHEAD: PAY YOURSELF FIRST

By Gregory J. Welborn

The first quarter has ended and "tax freedom day" is just weeks ahead. On April 21st, we stop working for Uncle Sam and focus on our own financial future. So how do you get ahead? How do you actually make a dent on all those financial goals? Fortunately, there is a simple little technique that can really help.

Most people follow the same monthly process of paying their bills and then, if there's anything left, they think about putting something in savings. For too many Americans that doesn't work very well. So, let's reverse the order. Make savings. For too many Americans that doesn't work very well. So, let's reverse the order. Make the first payment of each month into your own savings account.

Prioritize and Discipline

This is simple, but it does involve discipline. There always seems to be an endless stream of bills. The truth is most people let their expenses – and thus their bills – increase to consume their available cash. The genius of paying yourself first is reducing the amount of cash available to spend. For most people in most situations, expenses settle down to a lower level.

Starting out, you may only be able to pay yourself a small amount. But it will become a habit, which over time becomes easier the more you do it. Start with $200/month, or $100/month, or $50/month, etc. Just start somewhere and then gradually increase it. You'll be surprised how quickly you fall into the new habit. Now Make Your Savings Work For You

Now that you're saving, you need your money to work for you. You can't just "save"; you have to actually "invest" in something. Don't gamble with it, but don't be afraid of taking calculated risks. Investing in well-diversified, low-cost mutual funds is a calculated risk – and a small one at that. Stock market swings won't hurt you over the long term. In fact, if you're contributing into an investment account on a regular basis, the downs can be a very profitable time for you. When you buy low, you make a huge profit when prices come back up. You're In Control

The bottom line is that most people can substantially improve their financial future with just a few slight changes in their behavior. You are in control. Pay yourself first, be disciplined and make your money work for you. You'll wake up one day and be amazed at how wealthy you've become and how much better retirement looks.

election cycle, and while all of the candidates acted with grace and dignity, many along the sidelines did not. In fact, I thought things could not get any worse than they did in 2008 during the Campaign for Measure V. I was wrong.

During this election cycle we had the unprecedented exploiting of personal photos taken by one candidate's wife while they were on vacation; we had mean spirited, anonymous letters prior to the start of the campaign mailed out to discourage people from running; we had a daily barage of childish name calling on the blog against anyone who wasn't of the same political persuasion; we also had non stop character assassination of anyone who dared to express their positions that John Crawford did not agree with on his blog; we no doubt had trolling on the blog that incites nothing but anger and hatred; and, we had the outrageous anonymous postcard defaming Gene Goss and Noah Green.

On the latter, I cannot get over the blatantly calling Gene Goss a liar regarding campaign contributions when it was a well known public fact that Gene never solicited a contribution from the Teachers Union and when they sent him one, he returned it and stated that fact over and over again in public. What does Criss Jami say, " one who speaks mere portions of truth in order to internet or in the media. deceive is a craftsman of destruction."

We are not facing a freedom of speech issue, we are facing a growing societal problem that has and will continue to seriously impair our ability to encourage people to participate in public service. Then what will happen?

Sierra Madre now has a new council who deserve our support. We can disagree with civility. We can speak our minds via whatever method we choose, however, we have to reject those platforms that are just a cesspool of hatred.

Sierra Madre has a lot of challenges to deal with. Should the UUT remain defeated, we Had enough yet or shall we wait until that have to figure out how to keep our town the kind of cancerous behavior completely pristine village that it is. We can't do that if destroys our town?

HAD ENOUGH YET?

"Just because we have councilmembers who refrain from doing the right thing for fear of being on 'the blog' or dressed down in council meeting. We need our representatives to stand up for mean that what is right, and we need to support them and do the same.

Several years ago, Joe Mosca was elected to the council along with Kurt Zimmerman liar, but one and Don Watts. At the time, the feeling was that there was a majority voting block that would take care of the business of the city. One of the first votes that came up however, caused Joe to break ranks with Sierra Madre is almost done with another his other newly elected associates. The issue was whether or not to accept the Metropolitan Water District's offer to install an emergency water connection while MWD was working on their pipeline that runs under Grandview Avenue. To accept the offer meant that in an emergency, the Sierra Madre would be able to connect to the MWD pipeline immediately without the time consuming process and expense of building a connector. Joe voted along with John Buchanan and Enid Joffe to accept the offer from MWD and from that point on, Joe became the permanent object of a vocal minority's mean spirited, hateful attacks.

Fast forward to recent months. Because of Joe's vote, when our wells went dry and we had to start importing water, we didn't have to go into reserves to build a new connection. It was already in place. We also had immediate access to that water (albeit yellow), and Joe is still the subject of unjust

The point is, that demonstrates how our city council and government should work. Their focus has got to be to find what's in the best interest of the entire community. Not just a particular segment of the community, and not out of fear of being attacked on the

In order for that to happen, as citizens, we need to stand up to the bullying. Don't be a passive supporter of hatred, be an active supporter of working together as a community with diverse ideas, respectfully.

Given the underhanded tactics in this election residents should be ready to shout from the rooftops, "Im as mad as hell and I'm are elected to represent ALL of the residents in Sierra Madre. It is not an easy task but those who have stepped up to the plate the state of the residents in the movie Network, 1976. As Finch said at the beginning of his tirade, "I don't have to tell you things are bad, everybody knows things are bad". And so it is in Sierra Madre today. A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

WHY I AM HAPPY TO PAY MY TAXES AND OTHER MENDACITIES

Last week I was year. getting along just fine. Things were being accomplished and I was rather enjoying myself. Dutifully, I was checking off item after item on my "to-do-list." I love it when a plan comes together. However, at the top of my exuberance, the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage stopped me dead in my tracks with a query.

She is quite famous, or is it infamous, for pulling these kinds of things on Yours Truly. She has a question for just about every event. Most of her questions are beyond answering, at least for me.

For instance, when we are traveling, she will wait for the right moment and then put to me this query. "Do you know where you're going?'

A variety of ways to answer that question immediately suggests itself, not all of which would endear me to her. However, to be honest, and who doesn't want to be honest these days, the answer to that question is usually a mumbled "No."

Just as we get into the car and get ready to go, she asks another question. "Do you have everything you need?'

Invariably, I do not, and have to go back into the house and pick up what I left behind. I could do my own Left Behind

Then there is the all time favorite question. "Does this dress make me look fat?

Just between you and me, one of these times, I am going to answer, "No, Honey, it's not the dress making you look fat." I am saving that one for a deathbed confession.

However, this past week when I was flying high, she dropped me dead in my tracks with another question. "Have you filed our income tax yet?'

It was at that moment my whole world came crashing down. I had not even given it a first thought, let alone a second thought. Why is it, although income tax filing day comes every year on the same day I always forget? I am getting either senile or moving towards going into politics. I am hoping for the former.

Of all the things I love doing in this world, and there are plenty, paying my income tax each year does not rate number one. Do not get me wrong, I really enjoy shelling out my hard-earned money and sending it to politicians to invest in one of their pork

Every time I have a little extra cash in my pocket, I always wonder what that happy crowd in Washington DC could do with it. Usually I am tempted to send it to them along with a little note that says, "Spend it with my compliments."

To be quite honest, there are few things I enjoy more than filing my income tax each

One would be calling the telephone company to straighten out my telephone bill. This is good for an entire day of delightful conversation with idiots. Every time I think my life cannot get any lower and drabber than it is, I simply pick up the telephone and call customer service at my friendly telephone company. Within three minutes, (after I had been put on hold for 27 minutes) I recognize exactly how wonderful my life truly is.

Probably the most magnificent thing about calling customer service is that you know somebody's going to get it all screwed up and you will have the pleasure of doing it all over again next week. A wonderful ongoing relationship that is priceless.

Another activity I enjoyed doing more than filing my income tax is spending five whole days in bed with the flu. Nothing could be more delightfully entertaining.

Just think of it, five whole days to luxuriate in your bed and not have to get up and do a thing. Talk about a vacation! What with the sneezing and coughing, and your nose running like the mighty Mississippi, and your head thumping like an African bongo drum, what more could a person ask for?

If somebody calls for you during that time all your wife has to say is, "He's in bed with the flu." Everybody understands that. Of course, if she said you are just in bed, people would not accept that and think a little poorly of you.

But if you have diarrhea along with the flu, that is spectacular. Not only do you get to lie in bed, but also you get a little exercise, jumping up and running to the bathroom every 3 1/2 seconds. The side benefit of this is you lose some weight during that week.

One more thing slightly more exciting than filing your income taxes, is poking yourselves in the eye. I must confess this a favorite of mine because every time I do it, I learn new dance steps. Alas, when the swelling dies down I cannot remember those dance steps.

Therefore, paying my income tax each year is included in some of my favorite activities.

Even Jesus got into the discussion of paying taxes. When queried on this subject he replied, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's" (Mark 12:17).

When I think of all the money wasted in our country, especially by our government, grieve. Someone once said, "Money in the hands of a fool always goes for foolish

How a person spends his or her money reveals a lot about that person.

military...clearly we haven't eliminated the problem." -

The concern Greg Welborn expressed in his column last week is one shared by me and millions of other dads - the condition of the job market as our sons head off into it. Greg offered a few reasons why he thinks it's

One he missed is that while we were losing and then struggling to regain private-sector jobs, state and local governments, especially those under Republican control, were massively laying off public employees. That only makes a recession worse, and sabotages a recovery.

As of last month, we've regained all the privatesector jobs lost during the Great Recession, while adding an extra hundred thousand. But we're still short by 550,000 jobs lost in the public sector - and there are 2.8 million more Americans in the job market now than there were in January 2008. This means three jobseekers for every opening.

In an economy that's 70% consumer-driven, if companies don't have customers with spending money, they won't be hiring at any wage or salary; no matter the training, skills, work ethic or fathers-with-connections-topublishers-of-local-newspapers the job-seeker might have.

An experience I've never had (I don't know about Greg) is that of a father with a daughter entering the job market. Recent events relating to past, present and future brought the subject of women in the workforce to mind.

I was reminded of the past with the release of a new documentary on Anita Hill, the law professor whom her former employer, Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas, referred to as his "most traitorous adversary".

"Can you believe it was just 22 years ago? It's like 'Mad Men'!" Hill said in a recent interview. The problem was not men committing sexual harassment in the workplace, but women who wouldn't stay silent about it.

Hill says many of her students at Brandeis University don't know who she is, and a lot of us have forgotten the basics; about how what she'd thought to be a confidential statement to investigators vetting the nomination of Thomas was leaked, followed by women in Congress urging her to publicly testify, and then how she, not Thomas, became the one vilified. I remember Sen. Alan Simpson (R-WY) up on the panel ridiculing "this sexual harassment crap", patting the sides of his suit jacket claiming his pockets were full of notes saying, Watch out for this woman!". I remember hearing of the women waiting outside to corroborate Hill's testimony and offer their own accounts of Thomas' behavior – but how there wasn't time; they had to get Thomas' confirmation over and done with.

Hill says testifying was bad enough, but not as much as dealing with those trying to get her fired, getting her friends fired, and the death threats after returning to her job at the University of Oklahoma.

It was only two years ago that House

"Here we are twenty years Republicans refused to allow Sandra Fluke, later and the issues are still then a Georgetown Law student (now active supporting victims of domestic abuse and child in universities and in the trafficking), from testifying against allowing employers to dictate preventive healthcare options to the women who work for them.

She spoke out anyway, so Rush Limbaugh went nation-wide declaring, "She's having so much sex she can't afford the contraception. She wants you and me and the taxpayers to pay her to have sex."

The first bill signed into law by President Obama was the Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act. Ledbetter had filed a pay discrimination complaint, but court rulings were mixed. The 5-4 conservative majority on the Supreme Court decided the issue: though Ledbetter had just become aware of the gender discrimination by comparing paychecks, the pay rates had been set some time before. Ledbetter had a six-month window to file her lawsuit from the time the pay policy was established, not when she became aware of it - and she missed the deadline. The new law fixed that. Now, it's six months to file from the time the discrimination is discovered - regardless of how long it'd been going on. Republicans complained it was all about more opportunities for "frivolous lawsuits". Today, women still make on average 77% of what a man makes. According to the American Association of University Women, for women fresh out of college, with background, skills, education level all being equal, there's still an 8-9% gender gap - and it widens during the course of a career.

This past week, President Obama signed an executive order instructing the Labor Department to draft rules requiring federal contractors to report wage data tied to gender and race. Another, following up on the Ledbetter Act, prohibits them from retaliating against employees who share pay information with each other.

There was a move to expand this protection nation-wide with the Paycheck Fairness Act. Senate Republicans blocked it from even coming to the floor for debate.

Looking to the future, I was heartened to read about Olivia McConnell, an eight-year-old in South Carolina who was intrigued by the fact that one of the earliest fossil discoveries in North America was woolly mammoth teeth dug up by slaves on a South Carolina plantation in 1725. She learned hers was one of seven states without an official state fossil (ours is the saber-tooth cat), and wrote to state legislatures proposing the honor go to the Columbian Mammoth, "because fossils tell us about our

She made progress, until a Republican state legislator objected for "religious reasons", one proposed adding passages from Genesis on "Biblical creation", and the Republican lieutenant governor proposed language explaining the mammoth was "created on the Sixth Day with the beasts of the field." That pretty much killed it. predict a great future for third-grader Olivia

The scurrilous libel, accepted as common wisdom, is that conservatives are the intolerant ones, the fascists, the ones who threaten the existence of the republic. Nothing could be further from the truth. Conservatives believe in freedom: freedom of speech, belief, the press and assembly. We also believe that products, services and companies should be judged on the basis of their consumer benefits, not on the personal, religious or political views of management or the owners. I would imagine that most leaders of Silicon Valley tech companies are liberal, yet I buy and use without reservation many software and cloud solutions they offer because they're good products and services. Steve Jobs was a genius; so is Steven Spielberg. Both are liberal, but I use Apple products and certainly enjoy Spielberg's movies.

This is what makes me, and other conservatives, different than liberals, who are indistinguishable today from leftists. Liberals don't just want to win the arguments on political and social issues. They make it personal and want to destroy the individuals and/or companies that dared to disagree with them in the first place.

As most readers know, Mozilla, the provider of the web browser, Firefox, forced the resignation of its CEO because he had contributed $1,000 to the campaign for California's Proposition 8 which would have defined marriage as the union of one man and one woman. Mind you, this is a position which has been held by every major world religion over the last 2,000 years. It is a mainstream position – or at least it was.

The Left has decided that the stance on gay marriage is a litmus test, not just for determining political support which I wholeheartedly believe they have a right to do - but for determining whether someone can hold any public office or even earn a living. Several their affiliation with the Boy Scouts. Boy Scout troops (which ban gay leaders) can't use public facilities, while Muslim groups (which tolerate honor killings) have never to my knowledge been denied use of a public meeting

The hypocrisy is the most blatant I've ever seen. The Left preaches tolerance not be an exaggeration. and of course claims for itself the

"Tolerance" campuses demanded, matters of sex, race, and economic status. But there is no tolerance of diversity of opinion. If you are woman, black or Hispanic who espouses conservative values, you are inauthentic (or a bitch, Uncle Tom, or a host of other words I shouldn't write). If you are a college student professing Christian faith, you're subject to discrimination and sometimes expulsion (please see the list of such occurrences at the end of the movie "God's Not Dead"). And now, if you are an employee who participates on the wrong side in elections, you can be deprived of a job.

The reality of this last statement may take many of you by surprise, but it is the most significant aspect of last week's events. Because Brendan Eich was an executive and probably is a member of the 1%, people forget he was also an employee. The Board of Directors employed him. He was their employee, whom they forced out for his political stance. That is the principle and the most important issue; the Left's hypocrisy is just theatre.

If an employee can be fired for supporting traditional marriage, then an employee can be fired for supporting anything: pro-life positions, gun ownership, or eventually for supporting any major religion which claims that only its adherents will enter Heaven. The principle is the important thing, not the specific circumstances.

The Left's tactics are destroying this country in two primary ways. First, they are eliminating our political freedoms. If you aren't allowed to earn a living because of your political beliefs, then you really have no political freedom. Second, they are pushing the country toward civil unrest. Our founders anticipated sharp divisions on important issues. In their wisdom, they provided a mechanism to resolve them politically – through open debate so nobody would feel the need to judges have been forced to renounce reach for a gun. The process failed once, and we had a civil war. Since then, we've worked it out, but Leftism threatens the social contract. If debate is outlawed because holding the wrong position deprives you of a livelihood, we'll have less debate, but we'll have more civil unrest and perhaps eventually reach a breaking point. At that point, agree-with-me-or-die may

April 14 - April 20, 2014

The Skin Game shows Monday at 3 p.m. The movie was released June 20, 1931: Two wealthy British neighbors feud with each other, and the rules of decency are out the window. Written by John Galsworthy, Alfred Hitchcock and Alma Reville and Directed by Alfred Hitchcock.

It is rare that we find an exciting struggle between two wealthy families from the early 1930's, and even more rare to find Edmund Gwenn, famous for playing Santa Claus in the Christmas classic. And you would like this movie to be even more unusual? It was written and directed by the master of suspense, Alfred Hitchcock. Make a bowl of hot, buttered white kernel popcorn and get ready for an adventure from England that may knock your socks off.

Edmund Gwenn is Mr. Hornblower, a genial businessman who comes to a small village and sets up a factory to produce clay pots. He becomes terribly wealthy, and is a bit upset that the local wealthy family, the Hillcrists, treat them like commoners. The Hillcrists snub the new money Hornblowers, and have no time for them. Mr. Hornblower needs more land for more factories, so he begins buying all of the land around the village, and soon will have the Hillcrist estate ringed with Hornblower land, and Hornblower factories. The Hillcrists have the reputation and history of leadership in the town, but Hornblower has the money that the Hillcrists only dream about from days past. But the Hillcrists find an ace that will help them tear the Hornblower family apart.

After Hornblower succeeds in buying an estate next to the Hillcrist's, the Hillcrists are crestfallen and about to admit defeat, when a stranger in town brings them news that may destroy Hornblower's son and his lovely wife. She is pregnant with a new Hornblower, and news reaches the Hillcrists that before she married Hornblower's son, she was employed in a way that will tear the Hornblower family apart. It seems that to get a divorce in England the court needed to have evidence of a 'correspondent'. If a man wanted a divorce, he needed to establish that he had spent time with another woman, and the Hornblower daughter earned a living by posing as 'the other woman' in several men's divorce cases. This is such a scandalous thing that even the high-flying new-money Hornblower cannot abide the fact.

Mrs. Hillcrist blackmails Hornblower with this news to stop him from building more factories and get back the land surrounding their estate. Mrs. Hillcrist promises that if Hornblower leaves them alone in the future, they will not reveal the awful secret about the Hornblower daughter-in-law. And it looks like this will work, and the terrible secret will be hidden from the Hornblower son and the rest of the town. Of course, a wise old man once said that a secret could only be kept between two people if one of them was dead. And this secret, known by so many now, will certainly find it's way to everyone involved, regardless of promises made. There will be death, revenge, hatred and sadness before these two families finish tearing each other apart. You will be hard pressed to find a more intriguing and exciting story of the lives and loves of small town England in 1931.
