Stephen Fry "I make sure I get a lot of vegetables, a lot of fruit. I am a big fruit man; I am a vegetable man, anyway." Magic Johnson

Just got back from visiting the Texas family and discovered that the Jacarandas are blooming! Purple clouds all over growing more beautiful and dense by the day. Look up! They are everywhere, peeking out from behind oaks and peppers, lifting the spirits and pleasing the eye just by being exquisitely and unashamedly...

We have an exciting new business! i-fruggie, right next door to the new Subway, is up and running. The ever inquisitive and ready to explore John and I stopped in the other day and met Jerrod, the owner, and discovered he has come up with a really neat new concept. You've got to go in there and check it out! Here's what it is: i-fruggi is short for individualized fruit and veggie. It's the first beverage company that puts you in charge of designing and creating your own personal individualized fruit or veggie beverage. You select the type of either fruit, veggie, or veggie/fruit combo along with other ingredients you're in the mood for and you select them yourself off a computer screen! There are four screens in i-fruggi for you to tap in your order. Jerrod, a registered dietitian, has always wanted to create a tool that not only educated consumers on making informed decisions, but was fun, cool, and totally interactive! This is the most unique touch screen fruit and veggie beverage software you can imagine. You just choose any ingredient by selecting the on-screen icon, and build your beverage by flavor, shape, color, texture, nutrition, or any way you want it! Jerrod offers 16 oz. cold fruit-veggie beverages for take-out only and here's another neat thing: As you customize your i-fruggi, you also create your personalized nutrition food label.

Just think! There you are dying for something good that you can customize to fit your mood and won't take forever to get, or you're trying to take hungry, cranky kids to soccer practice and they need something delicious and nutritious that's not loaded with sugar. i-fruggie! Yes, you CAN have it your way! Fresh fruits and veggies, no sugar, no corn syrup. Too good to be true? Nope! It's right there at 146 W. Sierra Madre. Just think of popping in to Subway for a Breakfast Bacon Egg & Cheese, or your Steak Egg & Cheese, or the Sunrise Subway Melt at 7:00 a.m. then go right next door and get an i-fruggie to go with it! Instead of a Diet Coke, treat yourself to an i-fruggie. The staff at i-fruggie are all Sierra Madre young people and you might recognize someone you know when you stop in to create the best drink you ever had!

"It is difficult to think anything but pleasant thoughts while eating a homegrown tomato."

Lewis Grizzard

Or maybe having a couple of them added to your i-fruggie! Ummmm... or a beet or two and possibly an orange for zest! Can't wait to have another one!

Chase knows that growing up in Sierra Madre has helped prepare him for his new adventure in Green Bay, Wisconsin. On Saturday night he was the star attraction at a local and impromptu celebration with family and friends at the Pepper Tree Grill. Chase insists he is going to a town just like Sierra Madre, except they have an NFL team, and it gets a little bit colder. Chase took to the microphone to thank all in attendance for their unwavering support, love and friendship over the years. He ended a brief speech by professing his love for the

Pit-bull Shot by Police

Police shot and killed a Pitbill Wednesday morning after officers say it charged them while searching a home in North West Pasadena.

Police officials said shortly before 11:00 a.m., uniform detective personnel were in the process of conducting a parole search at a residence in the 1700 block of El Sereno Avenue. A large adult male pit-bull charged the officers from the open front door. When the aggressive dog came within three feet of attacking the officers, police shot the dog. The dog died at the scene and was removed by Animal Control. No persons were injured. Detectives responded and conducted the investigation they said.

Officers stood in the driveway conversing with occupants and directing them to control their loose dogs before shooting.

Embattled Health Director Eric Walsh Resigns

By Dean Lee

Two weeks after city officials placed Public Health Director Dr. Eric Walsh on paid leave over controversial religious sermons, Walsh resigned Wednesday being offered a job in Georgia.

We appreciate Dr. Walsh's service to the City of Pasadena and wish him continued success," said Pasadena City Manager Michael Beck. "The City will now begin a nationwide search for a new director of the Public Health Department."

Walsh stepped down just days after reports, confirmed by this newspaper, that he was offered a job within the North Georgia Health District.

The study presents multiple lines of evidence, incorporating 40 years of observations that indicate the glaciers in the Amundsen Sea sector of West Antarctica "have passed the point of no return," according to glaciologist and lead author Eric Rignot, of UC Irvine the slope of theterrain they NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, below sea level. STATE JOB LOSSES A COMPLICATED ISSUE By: Cynthia Kurtz, President San Gabriel Valley Economic Partnership

By now everyone has heard the news - Toyota is moving 3,000 jobs out of Southern California to Texas. Is this just part of the normal evolution of a business or is it a sign that California has lost its competitive edge? The answer seems to depend on whom you ask.

The Los Angeles Times ran an article claiming Toyota's departure is simply a business decision to consolidate three corporate offices in a place closer to its manufacturing facilities. The article went even further saying that "taxes, regulations and business climate appear to have had nothing to do

The article cited statistics and experts. Based on a study conducted by the Public Policy Institute of California, companies leaving the state accounted for less than 2 percent of jobs losses in California. The study covered 1992 to 2006 but experts don't think the percentage has changed greatly since Good Jobs First, a national policy resource center also downplayed the idea that California is losing jobs because of its business environment. They contend that jobs are created by existing businesses not by companies moving from other states.

On the very same day and at the other end of the political spectrum, the Wall Street Journal proclaimed that the South is beating California when it comes to being a competitive locale for business. It quoted Jim Lentz, Toyota's chief executive for North American. He admitted that the $40 million in relocation benefits that Texas offered wasn't the deciding factor in the decision to move. Primarily, Toyota will be consolidating closer to its other operations in order to improve management efficiency. However, in comparing California to Texas, he did note the latter's business friendly environment, affordable housing and zero income tax.

The Journal article cited specific policies as contributing to California's overall job losses. Comparing California to Tennessee - where Nissan moved a few years ago - and Texas where more than two dozen California companies have moved since 2011, they found that right to work laws in those states keep labor costs lower, real estate is cheaper due to less restrictive zoning and environmental regulations, taxes are lower, energy costs are 33 percent lower and gasoline is 70 to 80 cents per gallon less expensive.

Who should we believe? Actually both perspectives hold some truth.

The Public Policy Institute's study show that a low percentage of job loss is due to companies leaving is true. Although one has to question the idea that the numbers haven't changed since 2006. Everything in business has changed since 2006. But even if the number has doubled or tripled, it is still a small percentage.

Good Jobs First is also right. More jobs are created by growing them at home than by attracting new companies into a state. But you also need to keep the companies you have the last the companies which have the companies you also need to keep the companies you have! A loss like Toyota does not total just the 3,000 Toyota jobs being lost. It must also count its vendors, the suppliers around Torrance, the entire supply chain of materials and services they use including the lunch places next door. These small and medium size businesses create a vast number of new jobs but they stop creating jobs when the corporations they support move away.

There are many factors that go into a company's decision to move. Consolidation to gain more efficiency is certainly one of them. But companies also look at the cost of labor, land, regulations, taxes, and energy. The list of reasons why CA is less competitive

The idea that our good weather, good colleges and universities, and an innovative spirit are going to carry us through no matter the consequences of our regulatory and tax policies is dangerously naive. Rather than explain Toyota's decision away, let's use it as an opportunity to make California better and attractive to homegrown as well as outside companies

FAMILY MATTERS

GO TO WALMART FOR BANANAS, NOT ESTATE PLANNING

Did you know that the best-selling item at Walmart is bananas? It's true, and has been for Even if you don't have minor or dependent several years. So the next time you need a great price on your favorite yellow fruit, go ahead and make a trip to Walmart.

But steer clear of the world's largest retailer when you need a will or other estate planning Laws vary by state, which is another good reason

While not available in the U.S. (yet), Walmart just started selling wills for $99 in several Canadian locations. You can also get powers of attorney at the boutique law shop called Axess Law, set up in Walmart. And in my opinion, that's not just bananas, it's nuts too.

Creating an estate plan is something you do to leave a legacy of care and love for the people who matter to you the most. Working with an attorney who understands your goals and wishes for your family, and can articulate those in a wellcrafted estate plan, is a much better alternative than relying on a one-stop shopping experience, If you would like more information about be it at Walmart or through online legal websites creating or updating your estate plan, call our with standard forms that can't begin to know what you truly want and deserve for your loved

Having the caring guidance of a personal family attorney will ensure your estate plan takes advantage of the ever-changing state and federal laws as well as reduces the potential for family

If you're the parent of minor children, your attorney should help you create a comprehensive Kids Protection Plan® that ensures the wellbeing and care of your children; without one, a judge will make guardianship and other critical decision for you (and your kids could even be taken from your home temporarily).

to have a personal relationship with a lawyer you trust. The probate process can be lengthy and arduous; your attorney can guide you around it and help your family stay out of Court, saving time, money and stress.

Finally, many life circumstances - remarriage, divorce, new children – impact your estate plan, so be sure you review it annually and keep it updated when things change. Having trusted lawyer who knows you and your family makes it much easier to keep your plan on track, so it will always be just what your family needs, when they need it.

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

PHOTOGRAPHY 101

They say a picture is worth a thousand words, but in real estate, a picture could be worth a thousand dollars (or more). Most agents aren't photography professionals, but there is an understanding that better photos get listings more attention, and ultimately, a higher selling price.

The absolutely best photos are taken not with "point and click" cameras, but with SLR (single-lens-reflex) cameras. Without getting too technical, just know that SLR cameras give the photographer more control and produce higher quality images.

While an SLR camera costs more than your average point-and-click shooter, consider that a recent study found that listings with high quality photos sold for anywhere between $934 and $116,076 more than their average listing photo counterparts. If your agent doesn't have an SLR camera, then you could easily recoup your investment by purchasing one yourself.

Even though better photos attract more online attention, only about 15% of listings make use of the superior technology. Obviously, high-end listings stand to reap the greatest benefits, so if you've got a million dollar home, why would you skimp on such an important facet of marketing it?

However, there is a caveat: the study found that homes listed under $300,000 didn't see any real difference in sales price with the finer photos, so realistic and competitive pricing is the most effective marketing tool in those cases.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club and the former Fire Safe Council "FSC" has taken a great interest in helping to provide our city with the very best in an emergency warning system, second to none.

Mike Kinney, president of the FSC approved a counter top collection design that Gary Hood and myself put out at over a dozen businesses in town. Hank Landsberg, former president of the Kiwanis Club designed and helped oversee the construction of the emergency radio station that is now on the air 24/7 at 1630 AM. The 'horn' at the corner of Montecito and Baldwin however sits idle. We are now somewhat frustrated in waiting to, what we feel, are the next steps to completion. Everyday of delay is one day closer to the time it will be needed.

A member of the Kiwanis was asked by the council to survey the business district to find out the best time for testing, either daily, as recommended, or weekly, or whatever. The survey was also to include the optimum time. As of now there has been no tests scheduled that is necessary to educate the public and to determine if an additional "horn" is needed. Some members of the Kiwanis Club, from Gem Plumbing, have offered to provide the work to install a second "horn" at the city yards, where a necessary air tank is located, if needed.

The Kiwanis Club and city hall have passed out brochures at every opportunity but a real regularly schedule sounding of the horn is really needed to test it's effectiveness. Broadcasting an audible signal are awaiting testing.

As you may have read, a city in Mexico has developed a 72 second warning system for earthquakes, with our local talent from CalTech and JPL available in this city, we should be tapping them for a comparable system.

Ladies and gentlemen, please, let's hear from you and let's move forward with a very important emergency warning system.

POLITICIANS

WHY MOTHERS WOULD MAKE GOOD

Mother's Day, I could not help but think about the mess our country is in right now. Not that messes remind me of mothers in particular, but honesty compels me to admit Politicians rarely expect answers to their they are good at cleaning up messes. And, questions. They are all rhetorical. They That is what makes it so great.

Anybody who steps outside their house Mothers expect an answer to their questions knows that the country is in a terrific mess these days. It would be impossible to blame but none has dirty hands from cleaning up you the runaround.

There are two kinds of politicians in our politicians is that they never stop until country. Those who make messes and the work is finished. Everybody has heard those who allow those messes to be made. the old saying, "A man works from sun up Wouldn't it be nice to find a politician who to sun down, but a woman's work is never actually would clean up a mess?

Our country is in the soup, and not the has something to show for her work. kind of soup your mother used to make. It would be beneficial for our country if Politicians make soup out of circumstances every politician were apprenticed to a that nobody can stomach while mothers mother with four or five kids. Let him follow have a marvelous way of making soup out of her around for a week, if he can last a week, almost anything, and it tastes heavenly, plus and he will get some idea of what working it is good for you.

Recently, some politicians have been in an uproar and quite nervous over the swine flu five kids for a week and experience what situation. And there is good reason. With real work is all about. Perhaps, if he has to all the pork in Washington these days, they should be afraid they might catch whatever might think twice before he makes a mess is going around. Maybe, and I know I'm a himself. The only work a politician really little sadistic here, it might be good for a does, is working his mouth, which rarely couple of them (okay, all of them) to come accomplishes anything useful.

By her very nature, a mother is always thinking about others. Barely does she take to their beds for at least a month. Possibly thinking about others. Rarely does she take a high fever might clear up their thinking. Plus, our country could use a vacation from politicians. We could put them all in quarantine until the danger is over. (I'll let in some politician? them know when it is over. Honest. Cross my fingers and hope to vote.)

But getting back to my subject, I believe mothers would make wonderful politicians for several reasons. Mothers, generally Instead of putting his political career speaking, know how to ask questions.

Although it may seem like a good idea, we cannot afford to send mothers to Washington and neglect the important work she has at home. Nehemiah said it so well, "I am doing a great work, so that I It is one thing to ask a question, but it is cannot come down: why should the work

HOWARD Hays As I See It

"There is a time for politics and time to put politics aside for the good of the nation."

- Greg Welborn - Greg Welborn

"Will you automatically add your name today to become a Benghazi Watchdog? Help fight liberals by donating today.

. Let's go after Obama and Hillary Clinton. Help

- Fundraising website

us fight them now." - Fundraising website of the National Republican Congressional Greg began his own column with a quote last week, Hillary Clinton's "What difference does it make?" In this instance especially, context is helpful.

It begins with the 2012 posting of a schlocky YouTube video mocking Islam, promoted by Florida pastor Terry Jones, who a couple years earlier had his International Burn a Koran

Jones was taken more seriously in North Africa than here, and it wasn't long before crowds were protesting the video at our embassy in Cairo. The embassy put out a statement condemning "efforts by misguided individuals to hurt the religious feelings of Muslims - as we condemn efforts to offend believers of all faiths."

News of the Cairo protests spread; within hours crowds had gathered outside our consulate in Benghazi, Libya, and then came the assault. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton released a statement to "condemn in the strongest terms the attack on our mission."

In deference to the anniversary of 9/11, the Obama and Romney campaigns had agreed to suspend activities for the day. Romney, though, couldn't wait; before midnight, as events turned tragic in Benghazi, he released a statement letting us know he was "outraged by the attacks on American diplomatic missions in Libya and Egypt", and found it "disgraceful that the Obama Administration's first response was not to condemn the attacks . . . but to sympathize with those who waged the attacks." Romney's impatience to issue his press release, while we were still evacuating personnel and identifying casualties, was an embarrassment to his campaign – so they had to come up with something new.

Accusing the administration of failing to keep our diplomats safe wouldn't work; For Obama's first year in office, House Republicans voted to cut funds for 300 additional security personnel. For fiscal 2011 they cut $128 million from the administration's requested embassy security funding, with a $331 million

(Republican Rep. Jason Chaffetz of Utah went on Fox News to charge that ignoring security concerns "seems to be a coordinated effort between the White House and the State Department". When asked on CNN if he himself hadn't voted to cut security funding, it was "Absolutely . . . we have to make priorities and choices in this country.") Accusing the administration of an inadequate response wouldn't work, especially with the conclusion of the Accountability Review Board co-chaired by former Ambassador Thomas Pickering and former Joint Chiefs Chairman Adm. Michael Mullen: The interagency response was timely and appropriate, but there simply was not enough time, given the speed of the attacks, for armed U.S. military assets to have made a difference. Senior-level military discussions were underway soon after Washington received initial word of the attacks and continued through the night. The Board found no evidence of any undue delays in decision making or denial of support from Washington or from the military combatant commanders". It cited "exceptional U.S. government coordination and military response". So the focus turned to U.N Ambassador Susan Rice's TV appearances where she followed CIA-prepared "talking points":

'The currently available information suggests that the demonstrations in Benghazi were spontaneously inspired by the protests at the U.S. Embassy in Cairo and evolved into a direct assault against the U.S. Consulate and subsequently its annex." There were indeed terrorists and militia members, as well as others who came along for the looting. An intelligence official described it as a "flash mob with weapons", with "some pre-coordination but minimal planning". The official conceded that looking at the "talking points" in hindsight, he'd change "spontaneous" to "opportunistic".

Ambassador Rice repeated the CIA's caveat that "This assessment may change as additional information is collected and analyzed and as currently available information continues to be evaluated." No useful sound-bites here, so the "controversy" became one of semantics; whether it was simply "protests" that happened or "terrorism" (assuming one precludes the other). As if it mattered, in the second presidential debate Romney charged President Obama with not having called it an "act of terror" until 14 days after the incident; while the president said he did so the very next day in the Rose Garden. Moderator Candy Crowley informed Romney the president was right. ("Can you say that a little louder, Candy?")

Republicans on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee then took aim at Secretary Clinton. At a January 2013 hearing, Sen. Ron Johnson (R-WI) demanded to know why calls were not immediately placed with evacuees to confirm that while there'd been an "attack", there were, in fact, no "protests".

Secretary Clinton responded; "With all due respect, the fact is we had four dead Americans. Was it because of a protest or was it because of guys out for a walk one night who decided that they'd go kill some Americans? What difference at this point does it make? It is our job to figure out what happened and do everything we can to prevent it from ever happening again, Senator.

In that second debate, after referring to his Rose Garden remarks, President Obama recalled that "a few days later I was there greeting the caskets coming into Andrews Air Force Base and grieving with the families. And the suggestion that anybody in my team, whether the Secretary of State, our U.N. Ambassador, anybody on my team would play politics or mislead when we've lost four of our wn, governor, is offensive."

Republicans were hoping to ride "Obamacare" all the way to the mid-terms. That's obviously not going to happen, so now it's back to Benghazi to bring out their base.

It's offensive and decidedly not for the good of the nation - but it's politics.

WHAT LIBERALS CAN GREG Welborn LEARN FROM LIBERALS

The middle of May: that traditional time at newly sprouted green campuses where we celebrate the culmination of 4 years of learning. Graduations are typically just celebratory, but this particular season we are being treated to an education in affective liberal policy management, which we can only hope Liberals take to heart.

How do you enforce Liberal policy? Once you've decided what policy should be, how do you eliminate potential opposition? Our universities, where the overriding ethos is to instill and support liberal ideals, offer several object illustrations on how to counter and nullify opposition to the Liberal Way.

Brandeis University banned Ayaan Hirsi Ali, a Somali-born feminist who has criticized the treatment of women in Islamic countries, prohibiting her from speaking at commencement exercises. Haverford College forced the withdrawal of commencement speaker Robert Bergeneau, ironically the former Chancellor of uber-liberal UC Berkeley, because he allowed police to arrest Occupy protestors. Smith College axed Christine Lagard, the female head of the International Monetary Fund because the IMF abuses women worldwide. Sadly, even in the Christian realm, Azusa Pacific University cancelled Dr. Charles Murray's speech because it might "hurt faculty and students of color".

The point is that all the above, and many more who could be listed, dared to voice opinions different than prevailing Liberal thought. Despite volumes of lectures about tolerance, multi-culturalism, pluralism and inclusiveness, when it gets down to the street level - to something as pedestrian as making sure everyone stays in line - Liberals understand you have to punish your enemies, or at least intimidate them into believing that they will be punished if they don't support policy.

Each of the invited speakers was publicly humiliated for holding the wrong viewpoint. More importantly, the witch hunts warned innumerable others what would happen to them should they not support Liberal policy. The key point, which in their gut Liberal activists understand, is that punishing and intimidating your opponents works. There has to be a threat or promise of credible punishment should you fail to comply.

So why don't Liberals in D.C. understand this concept when it comes to U.S. foreign policy? Why is this administration so afraid of articulating credible promises of, and then following through with, meaningful punishment in order to accomplish their goals? Shouldn't the Mullahs of Iran, the Butcher of Syria, the thug in Russia and the kidnapping, slave-trading rapist who now roams Nigeria face at least the same rage and punishment from Liberals that a few commencement speakers have suffered? Liberals claim to have great policies on the issues of human rights, social justice and world peace. And yet, there are those in the world who mock the very concept that the U.S. stands for anything good or noble.

The most recent and pathetic example of this is the First Lady's participation in the social media campaign to obtain the release of some 300 Christian Nigerian school girls kidnapped by Boko Haram. What is the point of Michelle Obama using the President's weekly address to show she is joining the #BringBackOurGirls twitter campaign? This must be put in perspective to understand the stunt's futility and the damage it will cause.

We all understand the U.S. cannot afford to involve itself everywhere. Deciding where our interests lie or where morality demands our involvement is the President's tough choice. If our involvement is needed, then we must take meaningful actions. If our involvement is not warranted, as sad as that sometimes is, then we shouldn't get involved. But the worst possible thing to do is tell the world we do care, tell the bad guys we're coming, and then fail to bring them to justice or put a bullet in their heads. This is exactly what the First Lady's twitter participation implies. Social media can be a great tool for convincing our leaders we should get involved, but that rationale does not apply here. Michelle is married to the President and presumably does not need twitter to exert pressure. It appears to be a stunt, insipid, demeaning and undermining of whatever seriousness still attends to President Obama's statements.

There is much to be said about the need for friends trusting us, enemies fearing us and the rest of the world respecting us. Liberals on campus get it. Liberals with considerably more responsibility in D.C. do not.

In the last several weeks, Iran has announced it is increasing its centrifuges and ballistic missiles, Syria again used Chemical weapons on its people, and Russia continues to devour Ukraine. Every one of these rogues has been warned by President Obama, threatened with a line in the sand, and allowed to violate that line without meaningful punishment.

Nobody respects us and nobody fears us; we shouldn't be surprised to learn nobody trusts us either. Perhaps Liberals can learn from other Liberals. Perhaps inviting Putin, Assad, Khamenei and Boko Haram to speak at US colleges followed by public withdrawals of the invitations would do the trick.

WHAT'S ON 98

May 19 - May 25, 2014

The Time of Your Life is playing Monday at 9:00 a.m. Released on September 3, 1948: Joe is a man that tries to live his life by making everyone around him better.

Before I watched this movie, I read that it bombed in the theaters when it was released. It was proclaimed James Cagney's absolute worst movie. Now maybe I'm just stupid, or maybe I just don't know what a good movie is, or maybe I just like what most people do not like but this is my new favorite movie, and I know that I will watch it many times. Casablanca? The Maltese Falcon? The Thin Man series? It's A Wonderful Life? My Man Godfrey? All pushed aside in my favorite list for this movie.

James Cagney plays 'Joe' a barfly who's hobby is people. Think about the 'Cheers' television show about a neighborhood bar, with a room full of 'characters,' then think about the wisdom of the ages, and where you might find it. In a low-class bar in the rough part of town? You betcha! James Cagney is the bar-fly that mystifies everyone, William Bendix (The Life of Riley television show) is the owner of this strange bar, and Broderik Crawford is the local beat cop. Remember the wealthy Mrs. Howell from the television show 'Gilligan's Island?' She appears in this one as a society lady - she is much younger than when on Gilligan's Island, but you will know her voice in an instant. If you are wondering about the young blonde actress named Jeanne Cagney, she is James Cagney's younger sister.

If you enjoy sunny afternoons with a good book, if you enjoy characters with character, please take an hour and forty minutes and relax and enjoy this one . . . you will have the time of your life!
