AS WATER SITUATION WORSENS COUNCIL CONTEMPLATES WHICH ACTIONS TO TAKE

Tighter Conservation Measures Appear Inevitable - Moratorium Implementation Uncertain By Susan Henderson

Of surprise to no one, the current drought has reached crisis levels throughout the state, and the issue appears to be even more urgent for the city of Sierra Madre. At Tuesday's City Council meeting, the main topic was the city's water dilemma and what to do about it.

The matter was placed on the agenda by newlyelected Councilwoman Denise Delmar who requested staff come back with recommendations on how we should address our water problems. The report included three possible solutions (see inset) that, as explained by City Attorney Terri Highsmith, could be enacted individually or in any combination.

Director Bruce Inman informed the council that our situation was "particularly acute because of our limited water supplies." Since our wells have been shut down because of the dangerously low levels in October 2013, we have been purchasing water from the Metropolitan Water District (MWD). That commitment is only for a two-year period and, since we are not members of MWD, our water issues are secondary to MWD's member cities' needs when that commitment runs out. We do belong to the San Gabriel Valley MWD (commonly called the 4 cities water district - Alhambra, Monterey Park, Sierra Madre and Azusa). Inman noted that the 4 Cities District gets its water from the State Water Project, which is reliant on the Colorado River. It has been determined that the Colorado River, under the current drought conditions, only has enough water for two years.

The MWD connection has been a thorn in the flesh of Sierra Madre residents who have had to go from pristine well water to chemically laced, discolored water. When asked if we could turn off the MWD connection now, Inman said, "we only have enough water to last about 2-3 months and then we would have to go back to MWD."

Without a crystal ball or direct Divine guidance as to when the drought is going to end, it impossible for anyone to project when conditions may change. Sierra Madre resident and EENR Commissioner Marguerite Shuster noted during public comment that "It really is an emergency and that the scientific community has determined that we have "for the last 200 years been unusually wet". While advocating for the enactment of both the Building and Water Moratoriums she warned that regarding a change in the drought "what we

COUNCIL CHOICES

1. Building (Land Use) Moratorium – This is commonly used, but limited in time. Stops all new building projects for a total period of approximately two years. A one-time only ordinance, it requires the city to come up with a plan to alleviate the conditions that triggered the moratorium. According to the California Government Code, "there must legislative findings that there is a current and immediate threat to the public health, safety, or welfare, and that the approval of additional subdivisions, use permits, variances building permits or any other applicable. variances, building permits, or any other applicable entitlement for use which is required in order to comply with a zoning ordinance would result in that threat to public health, safety, or welfare."

2. Water (Water Hook Up) Moratorium

- This measure is rarely used. However, because Sierra Madre is a public water supply distributor, it could be enacted. The Water Moratorium would prevent any new water hook ups until the water situation improves.

Implementation of Phase III of current Sierra Madre Mandatory Water Conservation Ordinance. Phase III calls for a mandatory reduction in the amount of water residents and businesses use. It also prohibits any new water hook ups.

should look forward to is not improvement but something much worse".

Councilman Goss asked about the current weather predictions of an El Nino this winter. Inman stated that with a level amount of rain for a sustained period of time, it will take 3-5 years for our wells to recover. If the El Nino yields torrential rains as it did in 2005-2006, we will not be able to capture all of that groundwater and it will therefore not resolve our problems.

Mayor Harabedian favored implementation of Phase III of our current Mandatory Water Conservation Ordinance because it deals with several issues at once. If enacted, residents and businesses will have to increase their water conservation efforts; it would immediately stop any new water hook ups and it does not have a mandated expiration period. When and if our water situation improves the city could scale back the amount of conservation.

Councilman Gene Goss also agreed that he felt Phase III was the best course for immediate action.

Councilman Capoccia basically agreed. However, he noted that he would like to include requirements for coming up with a plan similar to the requirements on the Building Moratorium.

Councilwoman Delmar expressed a desire to pass both the Phase III and at least the Water Moratorium as an added protection against new

Both Mayor Harabedian and Councilman Capoccia made it clear that the council's actions, whatever they end of being, are not attempts to dictate land use policy.

The council decided to hold Public Hearings on all three alternatives at the next council meeting as required by law.

Breaking News: BODY OF MISSING ARCADIA FIREFIGHTER FOUND Story from Contra Costa Times

Authorities identified Hedman through dental records, VCSD officials said in a televised press conference. The cause of death has yet to be determined pending an autopsy.

Herdman's body was found 1,200 feet above the Sespe River Bottom where he and fellow Arcadia firefighter Taylor Byars were camping during a fourday hiking trip.

Herdman went missing June 13 when he ran off chasing his dog, Duke, barefoot only wearing a T-shirt and board shorts, according to a statement by Byars given to sheriffs.

"Our hearts are broken individually and collectively by the news of Mike's death," Arcadia Fire Department spokeswoman Beth Stogner said in an email. "We are forever indebted to the Ventura County Sheriff's and Fire Departments for their gallant and exhaustive efforts to find our brother and friend and bring him home."

Board Appoints Brian McDonald, Ed. D., Interim Superintendent

Pasadena, CA – Pasadena Unified School District (PUSD) Superintendent Jon R. Gundry announced today that he has been selected as the sole finalist to be the next Superintendent of the Santa Clara County Office of Education. Gundry was appointed superintendent of PUSD in July 2011.

"It has been an honor to work with the students, educators, community members and families of Pasa-dena Unified," said Superintendent Jon R. Gundry. "The district is well-positioned to continue raising student achievement and preparing students for success in the 21st century."

With an emphasis on 21st century learning, Gundry led the implementation of the district's Strategic Plan and Common Core State Standards. Under his leadership, the district entered into a partnership with the City of Pasadena as part of the School, City and Community Work Plan and won a multimillion dollar federal grant to create magnet schools in the district's historically underserved neighborhoods.

"Jon is a fine educator whose expertise as an educational leader has had a positive impact on our stu-dents, teachers and schools," said Board of Education President Scott Phelps. "The Board wishes Jon well in his future endeavors. Parents and community partners can be assured that, regardless of the change in leadership, our students will continue to learn and thrive in PUSD schools."

The exact date of Gundry's resignation has not been set. The Board will discuss the appointment of an interim superintendent during a closed session special board meeting to be held on Thursday, June 26.

The Santa Clara County Office of Education (SCCOE), located in San Jose, California, is a regional ser-vice agency that provides instructional and business services to the 31 school districts of Santa Clara County.

Sierra Madre Police Blotter

FOR THE PERIOD JUNE 15TH - 24TH, 2014

During the week of Sunday, June 15th to Sunday, June 22nd, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 350 calls for service.

Wednesday, June 18th

At 1:23 am, Sierra Madre Police performed a traffic stop on a vehicle in violation of several vehicle modification codes. When Officers approached the vehicle that contained two young males, they were overcome by a strong odor of marijuana. The driver of the vehicle was unable to supply Officers with appropriate identification as he stated he had never been issued a driver's license. Further investigation revealed a small collection of marijuana in the vehicle's glove compartment. The vehicle's passenger was cited for possession of marijuana, and the driver was booked and cited for driver in possession of marijuana, unlicensed driver, color of lamps and reflectors, and lighting equipment.

Wednesday, June 18th

At 8:46 am, Sierra Madre Police performed a traffic stop on a vehicle. Upon making contact with both the driver and passenger, Officers performed a routine check on their names. The passenger's name came back to reveal that he had an outstanding no bail warrant from Azusa Police Department. The suspect was arrested and later released into the custody of Azusa Police.

Thursday, June 19th

At approximately 1 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to Bethany Christian School regarding a vandalism report. Upon their arrival, Officers were informed by a supervisor that the directory and wall had been vandalized. Officers documented a vulgar word written several times in black marker. The estimated property damage is valued at $40.00. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

Thursday, June 19th

At approximately 7 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the front lobby of the station regarding a grand theft report. The victim informed Officers that she had responded to an online job ad for a personal assistant. She was hired and was sent a check made out to her for a total amount of $4378.50 and was instructed to keep $500 for herself and use the remaining to do the suspects shopping. In all, the victim spent the money on: a money gram, an Iphone, a birthday card, shipping for the phone, and a wire transfer of 3,500 to a bank account. The victim paid $161 of her own money as the suspect's total was more than what he had left her to spend. The victim was later notified that the check she had deposited was a bad check, and that she would need to pay the bank for their loss of about $4540. The victim's numerous attempts to contact the suspect proved unsuccessful. Further investigation revealed the money gram was sent to an individual in South Africa. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

Sunday, June 22nd

At around 8:30 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded the area of Baldwin Ave and Sierra Madre Blvd. regarding a possibly intoxicated male. Upon making contact with the suspect, Officers performed a routine check on his name and were informed he had a no bail warrant for his arrest from the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department. Further investigation revealed the suspect was in possession of property belonging to a female, which he indicated he had found. The suspect was arrested and later released into the custody of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department.

ONLINE RADIO AND

BIG CHANGES AT SIERRA MADRE'S VILLAGE INTERNET RADIO STATION:

The Board of Directors of Village Vine Online has decided to move the organization in a new direction. In keeping with our mission of community service, we are discontinuing 24/7 live audio streaming. In order to better serve the community, our focus will be on providing live audio and video webcasts and podcasts of community events, podcasts of hosted shows homegrown here in Sierra Madre, video and audio webcasts and podcasts of community sports events, and, by the end of the summer, we will present a community blog, with guest host bloggers rotating every few months.

CITIZEN WEBCASTERS: Part of our new approach is to utilize "citizen webcasters" living here in town. We are now actively recruiting people who can attend public events, and, utilizing equipment as simple as their smart phones, webcast those events through the Village Vine web site. Contact us at hostvi@yahoo.com if you would like to volunteer. Training will be provided.

CITIZEN PODCASTERS: We are looking for podcasters who might like to share their home-grown podcasts on the Village Vine web site. Subjects for podcasts could include original music, gardening, cars, dogs, water conservation, sports, etc. The subject matter for potential podcasts is only limited to the degree the community might have interest in it. Contact us at hostvi@yahoo.com if you would be interested in podcasting with us.

SIERRA MADRE EARTHQUAKE PREPAREDNESS EVENT TODAY!

Join the City of Sierra Madre on Saturday, June 28, to celebrate the 23rd anniversary of the Sierra Madre Earthquake by preparing yourself for the next one!

The event is held from 10:00am-12:00pm at the Sierra Madre Fire Department located at 242 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA 91024.

In collaboration with the Sierra Madre Police and Fire Departments, you will learn safety procedures to protect your loved ones and possessions in an emergency. The L.A. Sierra Madre--Pasadena-Altadena-

Development Issues Dovetail Water Woes

By Susan Henderson

Tuesday to express their concerns about two things, the water that we don't have and the impact of pending development projects on it.

Three projects in particular were singled out because of the additional demands they would place on Sierra Madre's water resources: The Mater Dolorosa Project with its potential of 50 new homes, Stonegate (formerly 1 Carter) with 29 new homes, and Stonehouse with 19 new homes. The Kensington Assisted Living Facility was also mentioned, however that project is well underway and was approved by voters in 2013.

It is not possible to speak of water conservation without discussing the impact these projects will have on the city's water, said speaker after speaker. Planning Commissioner Kevin Paschal summed up the audience's sentiment best when he said, "Keep water for our current residents."

The council, which was focused on finding solutions to ease our current water crisis, did not undertake the issue of the development projects. Mayor Harabedian reminded the audience that the development projects were not on the agenda. He was gracious enough to allow all who wanted to speak the opportunity to do so without time limits.

The most controversial comments of the evening came from Richard McDonald, attorney for the Stonegate Development, who spoke during public comment. His statement drew a loud disapproving response from the audience when he said, "..... when your District Manager Residents packed the council chambers is telling you you've got two years of water and a contract with MWD to provide you with any more that you need, and there's no evidence of anything from MWD not providing you with what you need, then you don't have a current and immediate threat." (McDonald's reference to the "District Manager" was actually a reference to Public Works Director Bruce Inman. Inman had indicated that there were no assurances that the MWD would go beyond the original 2-year commitment.)

McDonald went on to say that the city wasn't implementing the existing conservation laws and pursuing "best practices" as a first step rather than taking the "draconian" step of imposing a building moratorium. His words were so startling that resident Elaine McPherson, who followed just started with an astonishing, Wow".

The absolutely most charming speaker of the evening was 44-year resident Victoria Randall, who spoke against the Mater Dolorosa project. She said that over the years she had watched city government but never before come to speak. After articulating all the reasons that the Monastery property should remain as it is, she thanked the council and said, "I never raised my voice for what wrong they do, but now I will. I want [you] all [to] think before you give them permission to build any houses back there." She ended her remarks with, "Thank you very much for listening and I hope I don't have to see you again for the same problem."

SIERRA MADRE PLAYHOUSE ANNOUNCES NEW MISSION AND NEW ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

The Sierra Madre Playhouse continues to make strides in its quest to join the first rank of small theaters in the greater Los Angeles area with its announcement this week of a new Mission, celebrating the American creative experience. A new Management Team has been installed to realize this mission, including Estelle Campbell as Managing Director, Ward Calaway as Operations Director and Ben Womick as Technical Director. Significantly, the Playhouse has named its first Artistic Director in nine years, Christian Lebano.

Lebano is well known on and off the Playhouse stage as the leading actor in To

Christian Lebano

Kill a Mockingbird, Our Town, and God's Man in Texas and as the director of Driving Miss Daisy, Woman in Mind, and Battledrum. As Artistic Director, he will oversee the artistic vision and integrity of the theater, selecting its season and hiring directors, designers, and other artists for each production. Recently, Lebano has been the driving force behind the Field Trip Series, the Playhouse's new educational outreach program which brought over 1700 students to schoolday performances of Battledrum last Spring, and the Sunday Music Series: Emerging Artists at the Playhouse, the Playhouse's collaboration with the prestigious Colburn Conservatory of Music bringing young classical musicians to Sierra Madre.

The new Mission Statement is an effort to recognize the Playhouse's changing role in our foothill community since the theatre was first constructed in 1923. It reads

The Sierra Madre Playhouse is dedicated to the American creative experience. It produces American plays and puts them into a historical context. It celebrates and produces music by emerging artists. It encourages and fosters an appreciation of live performance in people of all ages.

"What better place to celebrate the American experience than in the All-American small town of Sierra Madre," said Lebano. "I want to make the Playhouse a destination theater - to encourage people to come for the day to hike the beautiful trails, shop in our stores, have a great meal, and see a wonderful show." Lebano says that the Playhouse will be announcing their new Season next week and he promises that it will be a wonderful mix.

6 Rms Riv Vu, a delightful romantic comedy, opens at the Playhouse on August 1 and plays through September 6. Tickets are available at www.sierramadreplayhouse.org or by calling 626.355.4318.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE......The Social Side

By Deanne Davis

Walking Sierra Madre this week, just a few days before July 4th, my favorite walking buddy, John, and I were struck with how great the town looks already! So many houses, including ours, with red white and blue bunting and flags... oh my! Big ones, little ones, stuck in plants, on porches, on fences and we know Sierra Madre is just getting started! Plans are underway for our annual parade and we know it will be the best one ever!

It's our day to celebrate, Our Nation's story. Is your hand on your heart? Here she comes! It's Old Glory!

Speaking of the American spirit of "Can Do!"... I met a couple of splendid women this week who truly embody that spirit: Renee Cossutta and Debbie Ross, who happen to live in one of our favorite houses to walk admiringly past; reason being they have an orchard in their front yard, every citrus you can think of. Renee and Debbie have put in dwarf lemon, tangerine, grapefruit, lime, Meyer lemon and blood orange. I don't think their trees know they are supposed to be dwarf size, though, as they are happily growing and spreading all over. Debbie Ross has been a Sierra Madre resident since 1987 and Renee has been here since 2003. They live in a "little stucco house" that was built in the late 1940's and with a huge fencepost cactus anchoring their property, they have built a peaceful place they share with Stella, a sweet and very affectionate pit bull-boxer blend, and Felix the cat. And, yes, I couldn't resist a few bars of the Felix theme, which got me an ears-up look from Stella.

Renee is half of the firm: Lausten & Cossutta, graphic designers who specialize in books, museum catalogs, bonding identities, and print graphics. Renee has been a graphic artist for thirty years or so and she also teaches graphic design at Cal Arts, Cal State Long Beach, and The Art Center. Her website: http://www. laustencossutta.com shows dozens of prestigious clients, awards, publications and pictures! Oh my word, the pictures! Gloriously beautiful books, and catalog pages. Partner, Debbie Ross, is a building contractor, specializing in residential remodels and refurbishments in the San Gabriel Valley/Los Feliz-Los Angeles area.

Ok, so where's the Can Do Spirit part? Four years ago, Renee was on the roof of her studio, a one-story, flat roofed building up in the Canyon, cleaning her gutters. She stepped into a roof cutout that she just didn't realize was behind her and fell onto the street. Business partner, Jude Lausten, called 911, the EMT's took one look at Renee, and made the decision to transport her to Huntington Hospital as she had suffered severe head trauma. She was operated on immediately, brain surgery, then two weeks later, As we were saying goodbye, I asked Renee if she was another surgery to repair all the broken bones in her face. They did an excellent job, putting plates in her cheekbones and forehead, as Renee is beautiful!

She was at Huntington for three weeks, a period she only vaguely remembers. Then another three weeks at Casa Colina Rehab Hospital in Pomona, which was a whole lot of really hard work with speech therapists, physical therapists, occupational therapists. Everybody knows these therapists are all task masters! As she had a great deal of trouble seeing, Debbie brought her an iPad so she could do a little Sudoku and read a few headlines. Renee was able to come home about this same time of year, very weak, dizzy, and then slowly, mildly start to reengage the world. A month or so later, her right eye totally shut down and was gone forever. But none of this stopped Renee! Here is a woman who has totally conquered the public transportation system. She has learned how to get herself anywhere she wants to go...Long Beach...the Valley...via bus, the Gold Line, or whatever it takes to reach her destination as she decided early on that driving wasn't going to be happening anymore and she just wasn't going to be dependent on friends and family for rides here and there. The beautiful thing about taking the bus and the subway is that one can read... and nap. Renee thinks the L.A Metro works pretty well. She rides her bike, which is equipped with an electric assist, as getting up our Sierra Madre hills is just a little too challenging to whatever transportation system she needs. Renee's carbon footprint is extremely light!

Adapting to monocular vision has been difficult but not impossible, the worst part being depth perception, i.e., is the glass right here or really right there; and curbs are difficult. Renee feels she has been incredibly fortunate in the support of friends and family. Debbie adds that it was a remarkably blessed time and, as opposed to being devastating, it was actually inspirational. "Friends and family were inspirational and we created a remarkable support network. A poem was written by her stepmom. This led to us calling Renée "Humpty." My daily emails were then sent to Team Humpty and I was Captain Humpty. Team Humpty gets annual emails of gratitude and still cleaning her own gutters! She laughed and said there are no ladders and no roofs in her life currently or at anytime in the future! Renee, by the way, is diabetic and has been for 52 years, which is another real challenge she continues to surmount. See what I mean? "Can Do" spirit!

"Americans are a can-do people, an enthusiastic people, a problem-solving people. And when given a direction and given a plan, they'll sign on."

Henry Cisneros

"A clear passion, a resolute determination, a can-do spirit; these are the rods for creating a great mark!" İsraelmore Ayivor

SIERRA MADRE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION CONCERT TO ROCK MEMORIAL PARK

Memorial Park will be a boot stomping party this Sunday night June 29th from 6:00 -8:00 pm as the Sierra Madre Community Foundation is the proud sponsor of this concert featuring a Johnny Cash tribute band named CASH UP FRONT.

"From atop a flatbed truck inside California's Norco State Prison to the fabulous Wiltern theatre in Los Angeles, Cash Up Front is a riveting, driving ensemble that plays the music of Johnny Cash like no other act! This Los Angeles-based quartet leaves crowds at theatres and festivals shouting for encores of its up-tempo renditions of classic hits and lesser-known gems that Johnny Cash made popular during his award-winning career."

Seating is on the green so bring those blankets and lawn chairs. Sierra Madre's very own Ice Princess will also be on hand selling her frozen treats. Sierra Madre Community Foundation is a non-profit organization which encourages support of the community through philanthropic gifts. In the past year, Sierra Madre Community Foundation awarded over $15,000 in grants to the Sierra Madre community including the Sierra Madre Playhouse's student guide for the Battledrum production; an Eagle Scout project to rehabilitate all the wood benches in Sierra Vista and Memorial Parks; supplies and tools for the volunteers who maintain the hiking trails in Little Santa Anita and Bailey Canyons; sponsoring the Mt. Wilson Trail Race Kids Run, the Library's One Book One City and children's essay contest programs, a literacy protect with the Sierra Madre Middle School, and programs with the Creative Arts Group to bring art to local schools.

Additionally, working with Sierra Madre youth sports organizations, SMCF provided funding from special projects "Fix the Field" to install a drinking fountain, new fences, shade over the dug-outs and a pair of bleachers in enjoying viewing the games at the Sierra Madre Elementary School field. SMCF also continues our partnership with the volunteers who organize the Sierra Madre 4th of July celebration. The SMCF Board will continue to look for opportunities to make Sierra Madre a great community. PCC PRESIDENT SEEKS POSITION IN NEW YORK

Pasadena City College President Mark Rocha could be leaving as head of the school after it was learned earlier this month that he is one of three finalists for a position as president at Kingsborough Community College in Brooklyn, New York.

Rocha, one of three finalists, has taken part in meet and greet forums at Kingsborough Community College. He grew up in the area according to the school's Facebook page.

"I'm for the little guy," Rocha said. "I grew up in the South Bronx and both of my parents dropped out of high school. But they saw to it I went college. The American Dream is real to me. It's still alive and well in our community colleges."

Kingsborough Community College Board of Trustees could hire Rocha as soon as Monday during their regular meeting.

Rocha has been under fire by PCC students and staff including a call for his resignation. He also received a "no confidence" vote last year from members of the college after a divisive decision to cancel the winter intersession.

Rocha was appointed Superintendent/President of Pasadena City College on July 1, 2010.

The PCC Board of Trustees voted unanimously, in October, to extend his contract through 2017. They also voted to raise his salary to 254,135 a year starting Tuesday although the board is scheduled to review his contract again Monday. A provision in his contract would allow Rocha to leave the college.

The decision came after a contact meeting early this month Judy Chu. One compromise with local rescue agencies including, the Pasadena Fire Department, L.A. ALTADENA CAPTAIN BENEDICT LEAVING

Altadena Sheriff's Station changed captains Sunday. Captain John Benedict, who has been the station commander since April 1, 2012 transferred to the Twin Towers Correctional Facility as the new commander. Captain Christopher Reed now oversees the Altadena Sheriff's Station.

Twin Towers Correctional Facility, built on 10 acres of land with buildings that contain just under 1.5 million square feet, consists of two jail towers, a medical services building, and the offsite Los Angeles County Medical Center Jail Ward. It is considered the world's largest jail. Captain Benedict will oversee a staff of over 850 Sheriff's personnel.

Captain Reed, a 27 year veteran of the Sheriff's Department will be leaving the Civil Management Unit, Court Services Division which is responsible for all civil law enforcement operations throughout the County, including serving legal process and performing court ordered evictions and seizures.

Captain Reed began his career with the Sheriff's Department in 1987 as a professional staff member assigned to Temple Station. After graduating from the Sheriff's Training Academy as a Deputy Sheriff in 1989, he was assigned to the Pitchess Detention Center, Ranch Facility and Temple Station. Captain Reed was promoted to Sergeant in 2000, and was assigned to the Crescenta Valley Station. After being promoted to Lieutenant in 2004, Captain Reed was assigned to Pico Rivera Station, Court Services Bureau, Services West Bureau, and the Civil Management Unit.

MONROVIA - DUARTE

Sierra Madre--Pasadena--Arcadia-

"What's Going On?" News and Views from Joan Schmidt

A BUSY SATURDAY IN DUARTE

A recent Saturday featured THREE great events in Duarte! First in the morning I drove over to Sweet Nothings, for a book signing (Breaking Faith) with M. Adams. The book is NOT religious; Adams' books are passionate stories based on a portion of truth, an idea she picked up from an article she read somewhere. The setting is Louisiana near the Bayou, and the husband has committed the crime. He's ready for a new younger wife and tries to make it appear to be a robbery. Another great book is Taste of Morgan which takes place in Mexico. This book also is based on true events. Fields are burned, crops destroyed, and children are starving because a developer wants the land.

Ms. Adams is a retired teacher, counselor and administrator. She always wanted to help others and is protesting something that is wrong. That is why she writes. She and her husband, who takes pictures, travel to find a setting for her story. Ms. Adams writes in different genres, even children's books. Visit her website: www.

After chatting with Ms. Adams, I drove to the Duarte Library for "Coffee and Conversation" with Assemblyman Roger Hernandez. Topics included the AB 109 and overcrowding of County jails, and the status of the now defunct Redevelopment Agencies and funding for cities. Among the many attendees was Glendora Mayor Judy Nelson who had questions for Hernandez such as cities getting more power, but will they receive more funding?

The last great event, the Kick-off of the special "Paws for Reading" Summer Programs at Duarte Library featured Kane and Ace Mask. Who is Kane? Kane is a beautiful collie, a therapy dog. Ace and his wife

Dorothy live in Brea with Kane and have grown children. "Kane's" name was chosen because of his Scottish heritage- collies were brought here from Scotland 150 years ago to help shepherds round up their sheep. They also are used on farms to round up cattle and bring them into the barns as evening approached.

Ace spoke of the book, "Lassie", based on a true story, which was followed by a movie and eventually a TV series. Ace also told us how dogs are not only used for therapy, but to assist blind people, and also work with police and the army. They are used in many search and rescue operations and also to locate missing people or find criminals.

Ace spoke of Kane's participation in many "Agility" contests including Jumps, Tunnels, and Speed and has many wins. Ace also read us a delightful story, Katy to the Rescue. Attending children were given certificates to pick up the book when available. They also received pencils, a chocolate, dog-shaped lollippe, a "Kane" card (Like a baseball card) and a picture of a collie to color in. It was a lot of fun! Thank you, Friends of the Duarte Library for providing the funding for this great event! Visit http://coffeecanine.blogspot.com/2012/12/ace-ask-kane.hhtml for photos, a Facebook link, and learn more about Kane and Ace's great

REQUIRING NEW WATER SERVICE CONNECTIONS AND DECLARING THE URGENCY THEREOF

On July 8, 2014, the City Council will be considering the adoption of Ordinance No. 1357-U, an Urgency Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre, establishing an Interim Moratorium Ordinance, pursuant to Government Code 65858 on the issuance of all building permits and/or granting of discretionary approvals for construction of new development requiring new water service connections. Government Code 65858, a provision of State Planning and Zoning law, authorizes an interim, urgency zoning ordinance to prevent development which may be inconsistent with a plan under development, such as the City's intended update of its development and zoning codes to enact more stringent water conservation requirements, pending adoption of that plan. The Ordinance would remain in effect until August 22, 2014, unless extended or terminated by further action of the City Council.

All interested persons may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with respect thereto. If you have any questions, please contact Bruce Inman, Director of Public Works, or Danny Castro, Director of Development Services at 626.355.7135, during regular business hours of Monday to Thursday from 11 am to 5:30 pm.

CITY COUNCIL CONSIDERATION OF URGENCY ORDINANCE 1356-U
DECLARING THE EXISTENCE OF A WATER SHORTAGE EMERGENCY
AND IMPOSING A MORATORIUM ON THE ISSUANCE NEW OR ADDITIONAL WATER SERVICE CONNECTIONS IN ANY ZONING DISTRICT IN THE CITY, TO TAKE EFFECT IMMEDIATELY AND CONTINUE IN EFFECT UNTIL SHORTAGE ENDS

On July 8, 2014, the City Council will be considering the adoption of Ordinance No. 1356-U, an Urgency Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre, declaring the existence of a water shortage emergency and imposing a moratorium on the issuance of new or additional water service connections in any zoning district in the city, to take effect immediately and continue in effect until shortage ends. Water Code 350 et seq. authorizes the City Council as governing body of a public water supply distributor to declare that water shortage emergency conditions prevail within the area served by such distributor whenever it cannot be satisfied without depleting the water supply of the distributor to the extent that there would be insufficient water for human consumption, sanitation and fire protection. The Ordinance would go into effect immediately upon adoption and remain in effect during the period of the emergency.

All interested persons may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with respect thereto. SIERRA MADRE'S ZOË ZAWOL WINS MULTIPLE SCIENCE AWARDS

The recent graduate of Sierra Madre Middle School's Project will take her to the Rising Stars National Science Competition in September

Zoë's 2014 science project, entitled "Is the Cosmic Ray Flux Greater at Higher Altitudes Than at Lower Altitudes?" recently earned the following accolades:

Sierra Madre Middle School: 1st Place

2014 Pasadena Unified School District Innovation Exposition 1st Place -Scientific Inquiry

2014 Los Angeles County Science & Engineering Fair:

1st Place – General Physics (Jr Div.)

Sweepstakes Winner – 2014 Best Junior Project (>600 top projects)

Selected to attend 2014 INTEL International Science and Engineering Fair (ISEF) as LA County's first ever Junior Observer

2014 California State Science Fair: 1st Place - Physics and Astronomy (Jr.

Raytheon Junior Achievement Award for Demonstrated Potential to Make a Breakthrough in Physics.

Some Background:

For her science project, Zoë hypothesized that the cosmic ray flux would decrease with decreasing altitude. Here are some quotes from her project:

Cosmic rays are high energy particles, including hydrogen nuclei (protons) (90%), helium nuclei (alpha particles) (9%), and electrons (<1%) that originate outside the solar system and even outside our galaxy. It is believed that they are accelerated to high speeds by supernova explosions and possibly by black holes. When they strike other matter, such as molecules in Earth's atmosphere, they create secondary cosmic ray particles, such as neutrons, mesons and, positrons.

Says Zoë, "Before I began my experiment, I predicted that the flux of the cosmic rays would be greater at higher altitudes than at sea level. Since the density of the atmosphere varies with altitude, I think that the cosmic ray flux, or the rate of cosmic rays per given volume for a given amount of time, may vary at different altitudes. I predict that since cosmic rays must travel through fewer molecules at higher altitudes than at denser, lower altitudes, the cosmic ray flux should be greater at high altitudes than at lower altitudes.

Zoë then set about building a cloud altitudes, chamber to detect cosmic rays, conducting her experiments at different Zoë Zawol further research, and reaching the conclusion that her hypothesis was correct. She also uncovered evidence that the strength of the solar wind on different days affects the cosmic ray flux and that the magnetic fields induced by broadcast antennas on Mt. Wilson may affect the cosmic ray flux there.

SMMS & PUSD

After presenting her experiment and results to Caltech scientist-judges at school, Zoë had the highest point total for all projects in her middle school. At the Pasadena Unified School District's Innovation Exposition, another set of judges awarded her 1st Place for Scientific Inquiry.

LA County Science & Engineering Fair

Throughout the day at the 2014 LA County Science & Engineering Fair in Pasadena, quite a few scientist-judges considered Zoë's abstract, project notebook, and display, and questioned her about her project - no parents or outsiders allowed.

The judges not only awarded her 1st Place for General Physics (Jr Div), they also named her the Sweepstakes Winner for the Best Junior Project in show, beating over 600 other top projects that made it to county!

The LA County scientist-judges and officials were so impressed by her project and her interviews that they selected Zoë to attend the week-long INTEL International Science and Engineering Fair (ISÉF), where only high school students are permitted to compete.

LA County officials told me her name kept coming up when they were trying to select high school students for INTEL ISEF. The officials really didn't want to give up a competitive position but they said Zoë's project was clearly in the top for the entire show (Jr & Sr) and would have been competitive at the international level. They felt she earned it, so they changed a high school competitive position to a middle school observer position, something they said they've never done before.

CA State Science Fair

Winning at county allowed Zoë to participate in the CA State Science Fair at the CA Science Center in LA. At least 14 scientist-judges interviewed her, and awarded Zoë 1st Place for Physics & Astronomy (Jr) for the State of California! To top it off, Raytheon gave her one of six special Junior Achievement awards. Zoë's was for demonstrated potential to make a breakthrough in physics.

As a Junior Observer, Zoë attended the week-long INTEL ISEF in downtown LA, where she attended various symposia (including with several Nobel Laureates), and met like-minded current and future scientists from all over the world. (Pictured above)

Zoë's LA County and CA State awards qualified her for entry in the BROADCOM MASTERS (Math, Applied Science, Technology, and Engineering for Rising Stars) national science fair. Semi-finalists and Finalists will be named in September.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show HOW TO TRAIN YOUR DRAGON 2

The first 'Dragon' movie was a stand out in the animated movie genre, for both critics and moviegoers. It did exceptionally well and was one of Dreamworks' best movies. I was worried for the sequel because it had a lot to live up to, for the audience and its creators.

Taking place 5 years after the first movies, dragons and humans have found a safe haven on he he island of Berk. Hiccup (Jay Baruchel) and Toothless have revolutionized the tribe, turning them from dragon hating warriors, to dragon loving riders. However, while exploring, he makes a discovery that may separate dragons and humans. Permanently.

When I first saw this movie, I had mixed feelings. Yes, it was better than the original in every way. Yet, it did not feel like a family movie. The subject matter discussed in the film is extremely dark, even for a modern day animated movie. Very young children should avoid the movie, but everyone else, fans or not, should see this film. Dreamworks has yet again reinvented the modern animated movie.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

4TH OF JULY PRECAUTIONS FOR PROTECTING YOUR PFTS

Well folks, it's that time of year again! Fourth of July is just around the corner and the fine citizens of Sierra Madre are getting geared up for our city's annual Independence Day parade. You can almost feel the excitement building in the air, with float entry preparations underway and families planning out their parade and park activities for the big day.

There will be plenty of back yard barbecues, out-of-town visitors and loads of fun and fan-fair for all to enjoy! But don't forget that the use of fireworks in our small town is illegal and absolutely will not be tolerated. This is true every year, but this year it is particularly important that everyone comply with the city's ordinance prohibiting fireworks, because of the drastic drought conditions we now have in our foothills and forest.

Although fireworks are not legal in Sierra Madre, there are various venues where organized, permitted firework performances will be displayed in neighboring cities. Even with the distance between us and those places where fireworks will be set-off, we will still hear the "bombs bursting in air", as do our precious pets. Fortunately, we humans understand what the noise is all about, but our furry-four-legged friends don't understand and are often rendered terrified by the loud noises they may interpret as life-threatening.

There are a few things you can do to help prevent your pets from panicking during the audacious fourth of July festivities. Some of these tips are pretty basic and probably plain common sense for most pet owners, but some may come as new to you. Either way, it can't hurt to be reminded of things that can be done to help your pets work through what is typically the loudest day of the year in the USA!

Make sure your pet is wearing a collar with a current ID tag.

Take your dog for a nice long walk and bring them inside BEFORE dark, when the noise usually begins.

Secure them in a covered kennel to muffle sound, or in a room away from windows, and cover windows with a blanket to help further muffle the loud sounds of the fireworks.

Keep the inside of your house well-lit so that any flashes outside will be less noticeable.

Play soothing music or keep the TV on loud enough to cover up the noises outside.

Give your dog a favorite chew, bone or Kong to occupy them and help relieve stress.

Arm yourself with the many anti-anxiety tools now available. For example, Thundershirts, as well as calming pheromones such as Rescue Remedy, herbs, and essential oils have all proven to help calm anxiety.

There are different schools of thought regarding whether or not to verbally calm your pet when or if they should become nervous during the noise. Some say it is best to ignore their reaction and resist talking them through it, because you are only reinforcing the undesirable behavior, while others believe it is best to do just the opposite; speak calmly to the animal, saying "it's OK, "Good girl/boy", Don't be afraid, I'm here with you", etc. I personally believe that each dog is different in the way they deal with loud noises and the way they may respond to your voice at the time. I say pay close attention to how your pet reacts to the noisy activity with or without your verbal reinforcement and act accordingly.

Gradually desensitize your pet during NON-firework times by playing a CD of firework or thunderstorm sounds at a low level - a level that does not solicit a fearful reaction from your dog. Then reward them for remaining calm. Slowly increase the volume over time, and continue the positive reinforcement as long as they stay calm. Research has proven that animals can gradually adapt to loud noise, and being more familiar with it is definitely to their best advantage on the Fourth of July.

Talk to your neighbors if you have a pet that may become anxious and feel the need to bark or bay more than usual. Most people already know that dogs can be frightened by fireworks, and will be more understanding if you have given them a heads up. A little communication goes a long way in deterring tension between you and your neighbors as well as unnecessary calls to the authorities

Do not leave your pets home alone while fireworks are being set off. If you have plan to be away, make arrangements for a pet sitter or a friend to be there with them to avoid unnecessary stress or fear on their part.

Regardless of how your pet reacts to the loud noises that are inherently part of our up-coming traditional holiday, please remember that they cannot help the way they react. Be understanding and patient. If you remain calm, it is much more likely that they will do the same. Enjoy the holiday and all the festivities that come with it, but don't forget to take precautions to protect your pet.

SIERRA MADRE DLEASE!

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND?

Mr. Dibbs is a very cute and sweet golden brown 11 lb. Chihuahua boy with an adorable face that is easy to fall in love with. Although he can be shy when meeting a new person at first, he loves people, their cuddles, pets, massages, and will melt in your arms to receive that love and attention.

When Mr. Dibbs first arrived at the shelter, he was quiet, a little timid, sensitive to hand and feet movements, and scared of all the street activity that most likely came from his experience as a stray, lost in the streets. But it didn't take long for him to trust and enjoy the company of his new human friends (staff and volunteers) at the shelter, and once he did, he relaxed more in his environment and became more confident. So it won't take long for him to warm up to his new family as well.

Mr. Dibbs enjoys interacting and playing with other dogs in a yard and going on walks, whether it is just with his person or a group of his human and dog friends. He has average energy, loves his adventures outdoors, and is easy to handle on a leash. Mr. Dibbs is approximately 1 ½ years old and has many years of love he wants to share and enjoy with people who will return his love and affection.

It doesn't matter if it is a single person, a couple, or a family, as long as it is a forever home filled with love. Mr. Dibbs would also love it if there were other dogs in the family for him to play and pal around with.

He currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel with his roommate. We are located off San Gabriel Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las Timas

To arrange a 'Meet and Greet' with Mr. Dibbs, please stop by any time from 10:00am to 4:30pm Tuesday thru Sunday.

His adoption fee is $120 which includes a microchip, neuter surgery, first vaccinations and a free wellness check-up at a participating veterinarian. Feel free to call us at (626) 286-1159 for more information on Mr. Dibbs.

HOT DOG!

Over seven billion hot dogs will be eaten by Americans between Memorial Day and Labor Day. During the July 4th weekend alone (the biggest hot-dog holiday of the year), 155 million will be downed.

Every year, Americans eat an average of 60 hot dogs each. They are clearly one of the country's most loved, but most misunderstood, comfort foods.

Like most great events in History, there are varying accounts of how it all began and who started it. The history of the Hot Dog is no different. You will find many references throughout history to the origins of a Hot Dog-like thing called a sausage. Here are some stories of how the Hot Dog was born.

One of the earliest references to the Sausage, appeared in Homer's Odyssey (an ancient Greek tale of adventure and heroism) in 850 BC. Another legend is that the popular sausage (known as "dachshund" or "little-dog" sausage) was created in the late 1600s by Johann Georghehner, a butcher living in Coburg,

The invention of the Hot Dog, is often attributed to the 1904 Louisiana Purchase Exposition. However, similar sausages were made and consumed in Europe, particularly in Germany, as early as 1864, and the earliest example of a hot dog bun dates to New York City in the 1860s. German immigrants appear to have sold hot dogs, along with milk rolls and sauerkraut, from pushcarts in New York City's Bowery during the 1860s. The Hot Dog's association with baseball also predates the 1904 World's Fair. Chris von der Ahe, owner of the St Louis Browns, sold Hot Dogs at his ballpark in the 1880s.

In 1987, the city of Frankfurt celebrated the 500th birthday of the hot dog in that city. It's said that the Frankfurter was developed there in 1484, five years before Christopher Columbus set sail for the new world. However, Vienna, came up with protests against this German celebration. Because the people of Vienna (Wien), Austria, point to the term "wiener" to prove their claim as the birthplace of the hot dog.

Who's Served the First Hot Dog? Also in doubt is who first served the first Hot Dog. Wieners and frankfurters don't become Hot Dogs until someone puts them in a roll or a bun. There are several stories or legends as to how this first happened. Specific people were have been credited for for supposedly inventing the Hot Dog. Charles Feltman and Antonoine Feuchtwanger were among the few.

1867, Charles Feltman, a German butcher, opened up the first Coney Island hot dog stand in Brooklyn, New York and sold 3,684 dachshund sausages in a roll during his first year in business He is also credited with the idea of the warm bun.

In 1880 a German peddler, Antonoine Feuchtwanger, sold hot sausages in the streets of St. Louis, Missouri. He would supply white gloves with each purchase so that his customers would not burn their hands while eating the sausage. He saw his profits going down because the customers kept taking the gloves and walking off with them. His wife suggested that he put the sausages in a split bun instead. He reportedly asked his brother-in-law, a baker, for help. The baker improvised long soft rolls that fit the meat, thus inventing the hot dog bun. When he did that, the Hot Dog was born. He called them red hots.

Although the exact origins of the Chicago Dog are not documented, Vienna Beef of Chicago claims the "Chicago-style" Hot Dog was invented by two European immigrants at the Chicago World's Fair and Columbian Exhibition in 1893.

What's in a name? Another story that riles serious hot dog historians is how term "Hot Dog" came about. Some say the word was coined in 1901 at the New York Polo Grounds on a cold April day. Vendors were hawking hot dogs from portable hot water tanks shouting "They're red hot! Get your dachshund sausages while they're red hot!" A New York Journal sports cartoonist, Tad Dorgan, observed the scene and hastily drew a cartoon of barking dachshund sausages nestled warmly in rolls. Not sure how to spell "dachshund" he simply wrote "hot dog!" The cartoon is said to have been a sensation, thus coining the term 'hot dog." However, historians have been unable to find this cartoon, despite Dorgan's enormous body of work and his popularity.

1893 - The 1893 Chicago World's Fair, also called the Columbian Exposition, brought thousands of visitors who consumed large quantities of sausage sold by vendors. People liked this food that was easy to eat, convenient, and inexpensive.

Also in the same year, it is claimed that sausages became the standard fare at baseball parks. Some historians claim that Chris Von der Ahe (1851-1913), owner of a St. Louis Bar and the St. Louis Browns major eague baseball team, introduced sausages to go with his already popular beer. He was a colorful character himself. A large man who wore loud, checkered clothing, Chris sat in a special box behind third base with a whistle and binoculars. He used the whistle to get the attention of players, for someone to get him a beer, or for special cops he employed for personal use and to keep tabs on his players. He bought the Browns in order to put himself in the limelight and to advertise his saloon business.

Historians, to this day, have not found any research to back up the claim that hot dogs were sold at

Old-Fashioned Homemade Ice Cream

- 2 cups sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon vanilla extract
- 13-ounce can evaporated milk (1-1/2 cups plus 2 tablespoons)
- 1 gallon whole milk
- chipped ice
- rock salt

In a large mixing bowl, beat eggs. Add sugar gradually, stirring constantly. Add salt, vanilla and canned milk. Add about a pint of the fresh milk and

Pour mixture into ice cream freezer can. Add enough of the remainder of the milk to fill can to the middle of the top board of dasher. (If the freezer can has a "fill" line on it, fill no higher than that line.)

Assemble the ice cream freezer. Add alternating layers of chipped ice and rock salt to barrel around freezer can. Crank freezer until ice cream begins to freeze (cranking will become harder as ice cream freezes), adding more ice and salt, as needed. When handle becomes difficult-to-impossible to turn, remove turning mechanism, and carefully remove top from freezer can; remove dasher. Replace top. Cover can with more ice and salt. Cover ice with an old towel, allowing ice cream to "cure" for at least 1 hour. If yours is an electric freezer, follow manufacturer's directions, but the curing step is essential.

Makes about 5 quarts of ice cream

HEALTHY LIFESTYLES

THE JOY OF YOGA ENERGY LEALS

One of the things that yoga teaches you how to do is monitor your energy. The teachings of Tantra are very clear: prana follows thought. If you are low on energy it may be a good idea to look at what you have been thinking about.

Giving energy to the things that we want more of in our lives and less energy to the things that drain us is key to maintaining prana or energy. We do not want to be leaky buckets. We do not want others draining our vital stores. We need to find more activities that increase our energy supply on a daily basis and eliminate some things that leave us feeling depleted. What would your life be like if you did at least one thing everyday, actually put it on your calendar, that gives you energy back? What if you were able to eliminate something that drains you?

Well, first you have to know which is which, a drain or a booster.

Getting on your mat each day can balance your prana. It's a great start. It can also help you become more aware of the practices that fill you up or tire you out. Sometimes the body can be a bit tired yet the mind is left energized and creative. This is great for focus. Gather up the prana you need for a project and direct it all there. Sometimes your practice can leave the body energized and bouncy, yet the mind scattered. If we do too much of the practices that are only sensational - we can get even spacier. Make sure you balance with centered and grounded.

So get to know who is stealing your prana. Who supports you? Hang around with like-minded, uplifting people. Practice grounded yoga and only give away from the overflow.

See you in class. Namasté, René

Vibrant Living Wellness Center Heathcare the Way Nature Intended

AGING DOESN'T MEAN PAIN

Dr. Tina is a traditional naturopath and nutritionist at Vibrant Living Wellness Center

Are you dealing with nagging pains and discomfort? Perhaps a little indigestion, gas and bloating? Are you nearing 40 or 50 and not feeling as energized, put on a little weight, get ill more often or have become a little absent-minded? How about being on prescription medicines? Think it's normal for so many to be medicated for hypertension or high cholesterol? It's all part of life and aging, right? NO - it's all part of a poor diet! Aging is an accumulation of bad diet choices, low physical activity, and toxins in our food and environment. We could most likely handle most of these toxins if we would just quit eating sugar and processed foods. Diabetes, obesity, heart disease and joint inflammation are all part of metabolic dysregulation and it all begins with diet.

That cereal or multi-grain bagel you consume for breakfast, the sandwich and Doritos you have for lunch and the pizza and pasta for supper, plus any snacking of yogurt, chocolate, soft drinks, high sugar "healthy protein" bars and so on, creates an insulin spike in your body. The hormone insulin flowing through your body after eating the above does a couple of things. What surprises most people is during the insulin spike, you don't burn stored fat. In fact, it actually stores the food and helps make fat. The various other things it does is it creates a physical craving for sweets and carbs so you end up eating more of the bad foods. Now, back to all the pain and dis-ease. There's a vicious circle when you take in a low fat, high in

- sugar and grains or other starchy carbohydrates (potatoes) diet:.
- 1. High refined carb meals bring about insulin spikes (all carbohydrates convert to sugar in your body). 2. Muscle cells end up being insulin resistant because of bad diet choices and lack of physical activity.
- 3. Sugar deposits as fat in fat cells.
- 4. The moment fat cells become insulin resistant (tired of sugar and insulin), you're on the road to Diabetic issues.
- 5. High insulin induces sodium retention, which could cause high blood pressure.
- Fat cells can secrete inflammatory substances which create capillary damage, oral plaque buildup, all those aches and pains, sadness, illness and increased oxidative stress bringing about a cognitive decline.

So when you have these little (or not so little) aches and pains that we credit to "aging", you truly have signs of metabolic dysregulation or too many carbs on your plate. And it's not age. If all these problems were merely age, why do I have so many clients between 10 and 30 years old with pains, depression, reoccurring illnesses, hypertension, high cholesterol, over weight and pre-diabetes? Every one of these issues are symptoms of insulin resistance.

You wouldn't imagine how fantastic you will feel consuming a diet without processed foods and sugar but rather healthy and balanced fats with lots of fresh veggies! Aches and pains vanish, and you have good side effects like weight loss, and cholesterol and blood pressure levels go back to normal. But most of all you know you aren't eating yourself to an early grave but rather living longer with a high quality of life.

WHY I WRITE MY BOOKS

Guide To Wild Foods and Useful Plants By Christoper Nyerges [Nyerges' "Guide to Wild Foods" book, originally published in 1978, has been released in the spring of 2014 in full color. The book is available at bookstores, Amazon, and at www.ChristopherNyerges.com. It has even been adopted for use as a college textbook in one college.]

Native Americans who lived in Los Angeles learn one new plant. County in the pre-Spanish era gathered and hunted all their food. I wanted to do that too, because I thought I would be a good survival skill, and mostly because I thought it was one of the most essential things a person could do.

I studied all I could from the local library, and by enrolling in botany classes in high school and then college. I made the effort to study with whomever I could, when the opportunities arose: Native Americans, Amish, gardeners, botanists, bums -- whoever knew about plants and was willing to share their knowledge with me.

By 1974, I was asked to lead Wild Food Outings with the Los Angeles-based non-profit, WTI, whose focus was to educate in all aspects of survival. I fit in well, and not only led the walks (and continued to this day) but started work on a book about local wild foods. It took the next four years of typing and researching and asking questions and compiling notes, but finally my stacks of seemingly-random notes were taking shape into a book.

My notes consisted of various piles of paperwork that I stacked around my bedroom, and which I finally began to order when I started a typesetting job at the Altadena Chronicle. The editor, Sue Redman, allowed me to write a column each week which I called "The Emergency Plant Survival Guide," which was eventually assembled into a photocopied 8 ½ x 11 format. In many ways, since I have always used my own book for looking things up, I wrote the book to assemble my own diverse notes and experiences about using plants for food, and other

And by then, I'd met and began studying with botanist Dr. Leonid Enari, who really opened my eyes to the vast botanical world "out there." Dr.Enari, as well as my mentor at WTI, were instrumental in shaping that very crude first edition of what we called "A Southern California's Guide to Wild

The second edition, completely revised, came out within another two years or so, and then soon another revised edition with more plants being added each time.

like this one which appealed to the common useful plants in the Southern California area. There were a few academic books, though

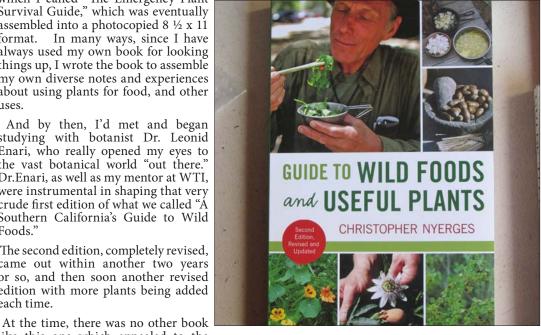

My earliest interest they didn't appeal to the person who wanted in wild food began to actually try these plants. And there was no around 1967 or internet then, so all my research was done in so as I began my libraries or with first-person interviews, or awareness that spending all day to get somewhere just so I could

> The fourth edition was released in 1995, and in many ways this was my favorite version since all the plants drawings were painstakingly done in my own hand. After two printings of this version, the book came out with photos, though they were all black-and-white. Though this book always sold well, the photos were the weak area since they were not clear or large enough.

> And finally, in the spring of 2014, the book has been released in full color, which is perhaps the ultimate format we'd dreamed about in the mid-1970s when the idea for this book was formulated. But back then, the technology didn't exist for relatively inexpensive color books, and we couldn't afford it anyway.

> It's great to be able to make a meal from plants growing in the mountains or in your backyard. And it's incredible to make sweet desserts and juices from cacti and wild fruits, following in the footsteps of our ancestors. I wrote the book to share with others that these things - and more - are possible.

> I hope that you enjoy the book, and that it benefits you in many ways. If you have questions about the uses and identity of wild plants, please feel free to contact me.

THE GOOD LIFE

ERGONOMIC TOOLS THAT CAN EASE GARDENING PAINS

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you recommend some good ergonomic gardening gear for seniors? My 72-year-old mother loves to work in the garden, but has been plagued by various gardening injuries this year.

Looking for Solutions

Dear Looking:

To help make your mom's gardening chores a little easer is a slew of new and improved garden-ing gear that's lightweight, comfortable to use, and ergonomically designed to help protect her body from the physical strains of gardening. Here are several that can help.

Gloves: There are a number of specially designed gloves that can improve your mom's grip and protect her hands while she works. Two of the best are the "Atlas Nitrile Touch Garden Gloves" (available at the "Atlas Nitrile Touch Garden Gloves" (available at the "Atlas Nitrile Touch Garden Gloves"). amazon.com for under $6), which are coated with a flexible synthetic rubber. And the "ReliefGrip Gardening" gloves (bionicgloves.com, $35), that have extra padding in the palm and finger joints that can improve grip, and cause fewer calluses and blisters.

Digging Tools: There are ergonomic tools that can help protect your mom's wrists by reducing the bending and twisting wrist movement that often comes with digging and weeding.

Some good options include Radius Garden tools (radiusgarden.com), which make a variety of curved-handle hand tools (scooper, weeder, transplanter, cultivator and trowel) and shovels that run between $10 and $50. And Corona tools (coronatoolsusa.com), which makes the ComfortGEL and eGrip hand garden tools.

Another excellent product is the "Cobrahead Weeder and Cultivator" (cobrahead.com), an allpurpose digging and weeding tool that's available in a short handle version for close up work for $25; and a long handle for standing work for $60.

Knee and Back Aids: Kneepads and garden seats can also protect your mom's knees and save her back when working close to the ground. Some popular products sold today through the Gardener's Supply Company (gardeners.com) - a leading developer and manufacturer of innovative garden equipment - are the "GardenEase Kneeler" ($70), which is a kneeling pad with support handles; the "Garden Kneeler" ($35) that's a kneepad/garden bench combo; and the "Deluxe Tractor Scoot with Bucket Basket," which is a height-adjustable, swivel garden seat on wheels ($90).

Pruning Tools: Fiskars (fiskars.com) makes some of the finest ergonomic pruning tools that have also earned the Arthritis Foundation's Ease of Use Commendation, because of their patented PowerGear mechanisms that increases leverage to make cutting three times easier than traditional pruners. The Fiskars PowerGear Hand Pruners, Loppers and Hedge Shears all run between $25 and $48.

Bahco and Corona also make a nice line of ergonomic pruning tools and handsaws that you can see at bahcostore.com or coronatoolsusa.com.

Watering: To help make your mom's watering chores a little easier, there are lightweight garden hoses; soaker or drip hoses that can be snaked throughout the garden; and hose chests that can automatically rewind themselves.

Some good companies that make these products include Water Right Inc. (waterrightinc.com), which makes a variety of super lightweight garden and coil hoses. The DIG Corp. (digcorp.com), which makes convenient drip irrigation kits and micro sprinkler kits. And Suncast (suncast.com), the leading maker of self-winding hose reels, and hose carts.

Container Gardening: Raised garden beds, trellises, and container gardening is also an easier way to grow plants and flowers because it brings the garden to you, eliminating most stooping, squatting and kneeling. The Gardener's Supply Company (gardeners.com) offers a wide range of raised beds and garden containers at prices ranging anywhere between $10 up to $350.

KATIE TseThis and That

JOB'S WIFE

My mom and I started reading 'The Bible through a Year." It is not a book, but rather a pacing guide for scripture reading that is included in many daily devotionals, such as "Our Daily Bread," "My Utmost for His Highest," etc. Each day there is scripture from the Old and New Testaments. Therefore, everyone following along in "The Bible Through a Year" is currently in the book of Job and the Acts of the Apostles.

The story of Job is an answer to the age-old question, "Why do bad things happen to good people?" The account begins in Heaven, when the angels appeared before God, and Satan was there also. Like a proud father, God asked Satan if he had noticed His faithful servant, Job. Satan challenged Job by claiming that he was only faithful because God had blessed him so much. Essentially, Satan called Job a mercenary who would reject God if the good things in his life were taken away.

Therefore, God allowed Satan to strip Job of all he had held dear. In that same hour four of Job's servants ran to him with different messages of doom. A band of Sabeans had killed his oxen, donkeys, and the servants attending them. Another band of Chaldeans had killed his camels and the servants attending them. Fire from heaven consumed Job's sheep and their attending servants. And the house in which his ten children were eating and drinking suddenly collapsed upon them by a strong wind. Job tore his robe and fell down in dismay at this news. But he did not sin by charging God with wrong doing.

The next time the angels and Satan appeared before God, God asked Satan again if he had noticed His faithful servant, Job, (since Satan's ploy to turn Job away from God had not worked). Satan said that as long as Job had his health, he would remain faithful, but if not for that, he would curse God. So God allowed Satan to strike Job with painful boils from the top of his head to the soles of his feet.

Job sat mourning in a heap of ashes. His wife suggested that he give it up, "curse God and die!" Job did not do this, but cursed the day of his birth instead. (One is reminded of Jimmy Stewart in "It's a Wonderful Life" when he wished he'd never been born.) Job's three friends visited him and silently supported him for a week, but then spouted off bad advice. They accused Job of secretly sinning, and that was why God was judging him. They didn't understand why bad things happen to good people any better than we do. Since Job was suffering, he must have done something to deserve it. Job responded to them and the four men discussed different philosophical views of life. (I said that in a few sentences, but they took 37 chapters!) "Miserable comforters!" Job called them.

Interestingly, when describing the mysteries of God, Job said that "He hangs the earth on nothing." (26:7). At a time when others theorized that the earth was held between Atlas' shoulders or carried on the back of a turtle, the God of the Bible was accurately credited with the concept of the planets existing in space.

Finally God responded to Job in a series of questions that illustrated the infinite distance between human knowledge and the wisdom of God. In the end, Job admitted his lack of understanding in view of God's omniscience ("I know that You can do everything." "Therefore I have uttered what I did not understand.") God rebuked Job's friends for having "not spoken of Me what is right" and restored Job to good health. He also blessed Job with ten children and double the number of live stock.

Although I knew the story, I just recently realized that, when Job was being stripped of all the things that brought him pleasure and comfort, Satan let Job's wife remain. So it seems Job did not have a happy marriage! Since his wife's only recorded words were negative at best, and hateful at worst, it suggests that she wasn't a great supporter of his. There are many lessons to be learned from the book of Job, but I think Job's wife offers an additional insight --don't be

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

PREVENTING FALLS INSIDE AND OUTSIDE THE HOME

Falls are one of the leading causes of accidental injury and death among Americans, particularly with children, seniors and the elderly. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), each year 1 in every 3 adults ages 65 and older falls and 2 million are treated in emergency departments for fall-related injuries. Four basic fall prevention tips are recommended by the CDC and the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) is as follows: 1) Get regular exercise: lack of exercise can lead to weak legs and increase the chances of falling. Walking and exercise programs (e.g. Tai Chi) can increase your strength and improve your balance. 2) Ask your physician and pharmacist to review all your medications: Some medications or combinations of medicines can have risky side effects like dizziness or drowsiness that make falling more likely.3) Have your vision checked:Make sure you are seeing clearly by having your eyes examined annually; verify that your glasses and/or contact lenses have the correct prescription strength. 4) Make your home safer by eliminating potential fall_hazards: About 50 percent of all falls happen at home. Conduct a home safety check with a trusted friend or relative to identify potential hazards that need to be addressed, like poor lighting, clutter and electrical cords in walking paths and stairways, worn or loose carpet, etc. Some home improvements or repairs may be necessary to reduce fall risks depending on one's particular situation, like installation of grab bars inside and next to tub or shower and next to toilet, etc. Check the website of the CDC www.cdc.gov as well as AARP at www.aarp.org

FOR YOUR FUNNY BONE

On a business trip to New Orleans, my son-in-law bought a set of expensive kitchen knives for his wife. His coworker was surprised. "You shouldn't buy such an expensive gift for your wife on a business trip," he said. "She'll think you've been up to something." "If I'd been up to something," Mike replied, "I wouldn't be bringing knives."

Free Strength Training Class: Every Friday from 1:00 pm -1:45 pm Conducted by long-time volunteer, Lisa Brandley. The class utilizes light weights for low-impact resistance training. Weights are provided by the Sierra Madre Senior Center.

Senior Citizens Club: Every Saturday at the Hart Park House (Senior Center). Brown bag lunch at 11:30am; Club meeting at Noon; Bingo 12:30- 3:30 pm. Only .25c per card.

LUNCH & LEARN: THE KENSINGTON - SIERRA MADRE Wednesday, June 25th • 12:00 to 1:00 pm

The Kensington, the Senior Center's soon to be across the street neighbor, is scheduled to open in November 2014 and is designed to be a home for seniors who need assisted living and memory care services. Hear from Brandy Valencia, Executive Director of The Kensington, about the type of services they will offer, the design and layout of the building, and their involvement in the community.

THE DECLARATION

The Declaration of Independence: A TRANSCRIPTION

IN CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America,

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience has hewn, that manked are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses of the contraction of the same object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

For Quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:
For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent: For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us. He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our Brittish brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

SIERRA MADRE CELEBRATES AMERICA

For over 45 years the Sierra Madre Community has joined together in celebration of the great American tradition with music, picnics, games and the ever popular 4th of July Parade. Residents and guests crowd Sierra Madre Boulevard to watch youngsters on their patriotic bikes stroll down the route along side hometown heroes like the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team and Sierra Madre Fire Department. The Official Sponsor of the 2014 Parade is The Kensington. The Kensington-Sierra Madre is an assisted living and memory care resi-dence currently under construction in the heart of Sierra Madre, along the parade route. The parade as in year's past will feature local dignitaries such a Congresswoman Judy Chu, As-semblymember Chris Holden, Supervisor Michael Antonovich and members of the Sierra Ma-dre City Council.

This year the Sierra Madre 4th of July Committee is pleased to honor Pat and De Alcorn as the 2014 Fourth of July Parade Grand Marshal. "The Grand Marshal is a person or persons whose efforts over a long period of time has been beneficial to the community of Sierra Ma-dre. The title of Grand Marshal is intended to honor a person or persons' volume of work, dedication and overall enhancements to our community." Pat & De are the perfect examples of this. These two Sierra Madreans embody exactly what the Grand Marshal criteria is for the 4th of July. Between the two they dedicate hundreds of hours each year to make Sierra Ma-dre a better place. There is not an event in town these two don't attend or help out with. Both Pat & De go above and beyond continuing the betterment of Sierra Madre. Pat serves on the Community Services Commission, the 4th of July Committee, Sierra Madre Civic Club, Friends of the Library, they both Pat and De are CERT volunteers and together work the poles during all the elections, and we are all sure there is more that we are sure we don't even know about. Pat & De living the Sierra Madre spirit everyday, Sierra Madreans that make a

Additionally, the Committee is proud to be honoring the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team as "Hometown Heros". The volunteers of the SMSR are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year - anywhere, anytime, any weather. Since 1951 the SMSR has been educating Sierra Madre with Wilderness Safety, Community Education Events, saving our community and our community visitors. The Sierra Madre Search & Rescue Team was the first search & rescue team formed in California. They originated the Mount Wilson Trail Race and continue each year to assist with this event. They dedicate thousands of hours each vear to be trained and skilled to enter the tough San Gabriel Mountains, anytime some-one is in need. These men and women are truly one of Sierra Madre's best treasures.

Grand Marshals Pat & De Alcorn But before the parade on the 4th, the town will be rockin' in Memorial Park for the Pre-Parade Party & Picnic on Thursday, July 3rd from 5:30 - 10:30 pm featuring the outstanding local rock music of Groovy Lemon Pie and at 8:00 pm for the not to be missed Bubblewrap fireworks. Kids and grow-up alike stopping on hundreds of square feet of bubble wrap making the sounds of shooting fireworks. Other park activities include the Friends of SMLL Beer Garden, Civic Clubs famous confetti eggs, Girl's Softballs Dunk Tank (where you might be able to dunk a local politician) and tons of food for purchase.

And in the morning (July 4th) folks are asked to hit the streets for the 4th Annual Spero Foun-dation's FireCracker Fun Run. Shotgun start at 8:00 - 9:30 am (check in 7:00 – 7:45 am) in Kersting Immediately, following the 5K is the Annual 4th of July parade which kicks off at the corner of Sierra Madre Blvd. and Sunnyside Avenue at 10 am sharp! Parade travels down Sierra Madre Blvd to Sierra Vista Park where the party keeps going.

The after-parade Community picnic & Celebration starts at 11:00 am with featured Mu-sic from the Wabash Wailers. Sierra Madre Pool will be open for FREE and the highlight of the afternoon starting at 12:30 pm are the games with the park with the ladies of Civic Club. Wanna throw water balloons at your friends, or challenge your folks to a three-legged race or sack race. This is the place to be. There will also be a Kids Zone, food and beer gar-den.

To assist visitors in getting around there is a FREE SHUTTLE on the 4th from 12:00 – 3:15 pm to and from the Community Picnic at Sierra Vista Park. Stops on Sierra Madre Blvd @ Sunnyside, Memorial Park, Baldwin & Sierra Vista Park.

CIVIC CLUB TO COORDINATE 4th OF JULY GAMES

With the Fourth of July fast approaching Sierra Madre's Fourth of July Committee is finalizing plans for two days of festivities. The Sierra Madre Civic Club has again volunteered to coordinate the Fourth of July games. At 11:00 AM, following the parade, there will be a community picnic and celebration in Sierra Vista Park, 611 E Sierra Madre Blvd, Sierra Madre. The games will begin at 12:30PM. Participants will take part in everything from three-legged races, sack races, wheelbarrow races, and the bunny hop (for ages 6 and under) to the shoe toss, the egg (not hard-boiled!) toss and the water balloon toss. Chair Pat Alcorn emphasizes that the games are for the entire family since with the exception of the bunny hop, all the races and the shoe toss have different contests for participants in different age groups. Indeed, some of our fiercest competitors last year were the adults while the kids were the ones who laughed the most. The egg toss and the water balloon toss are for competitors of all ages and, as the messiest of the contests, generally attract the most participants and elicit the most shouts and laughter. Ribbons will be awarded to the winners in all age groups, but really, everyone who participates comes away with a smile looking for all the world like a winner.

In addition to coordinating the games in the Park, the Sierra Madre Civic Club will again be selling their famous (at least in Sierra Madre) confetti eggshollowed out egg shells, filled with confetti, and covered with tissue paper. Look for Club members in Memorial Park on July 3, pulling a little red wagon along the parade route on July 4, and in Sierra Vista Park at the community picnic and celebration. The confetti eggs will cost $1 for a half dozen, $2 for a dozen, and $3 for a carton of 18 eggs. Buy early before we run out so you don't miss the fun of hitting someone with an egg and generating a smile rather than a frown.

The Sierra Madre Civic Club is a civic and philanthropic organization that meets the second Tuesday of every month at 7:30PM in the Hart Park

LACEY/LALONE/SANCHEZ/ LALONDE FAMILY REUNION

One of Sierra Madre's oldest families will be holding a large, and long overdue, family reunion over the July 4th weekend in Sierra

The LaLone family is well known in town, and you can't have lived in Sierra Madre without hearing the name in many places, some of which include the LaLone Cleaners, LaLone Realty or the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team.

From 1926 to 1928, five LaLone kids came to Sierra Madre, where they settled and raised their families.

Sister Carrie LaLone and her husband Julian Leal were among the first of the family to move to Sierra Madre. After that, most of the rest of the family then followed.

The oldest sister, Fannie LaLone Lacey and her family arrived in 1928. Her husband Peter "Doc" Lacey got a job as the caretaker of the estate called "Mia Italia" on North Lima. They lived in a small house on the property. Fannie and Doc Lacey had 8 children, a few of which remained in the area to raise their own families. Joe Sanchez, the husband of another sister Adelaida (who passed at the young age of 29), and brothers Fred LaLone and Louis LaLonde (Louis kept the original spelling of the family name) and their families came to Sierra Madre as well.

The oldest brother Fred LaLone Sr. raised his 11 children in town. His sons Fred Jr., Robert and Earl, along with several other locals, founded the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team in 1951.

The Lacey/LaLone/Sanchez/LaLonde families are a true family of the west" having migrated across the country via Texas and New Mexico to settle in California. The descendants of the original siblings will gather to honor them, and to celebrate the city of Sierra Madre, over the July 4^{th} weekend. After spending July 4^{th} watching the annual parade, and meeting afterwards for a picnic in Memorial Park, the actual reunion will take place on Saturday, July 5th at The Lodge at Sierra Madre, 33 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. It seems appropriate to hold the reunion there, as the Lodge was built at the same time the family came to Sierra Madre!

If you are a family member, or someone who knew the family very well, and would like more information on the reunion, please contact Cheryl Lacey Willey at (805) 904-5341, or visit the reunion website at: www.llsl.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS: By Sean Kayden

VACATIONER

Kenny Vasoli, the former frontman of the pop-punk outfit The Starting Line, is back with his sophomore album "Relief," under the moniker, Vacationer. The band consists of members from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Brooklyn, New York. Vacationer has been classified under "Nu-Hula/ World Wave." Basically, the band jams out with some light electronics, which adds a tropical flair to it. "Relief" picks up where, debut album "Gone," left off. Vasoli and company appears to be at ease second time around. They know precisely what they want to set out to do, which allows for them to come off as seasoned pros rather than amateurs. While many tracks sound very alike, "Relief" is quite a refreshing summer record. Vasoli's sweet, crooning vocals are the real draw here. The laidback electronics booted with the dreamy guitars bestows a pleasant summer feeling we wouldn't mind experiencing all season long.

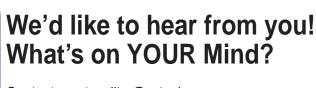

"Relief" is light and lively, but also packs emotional enlightenment. "In The Grass" is the perfect example of this. It marks the halfway point of the record and it kicks it up a few notches. It's a beautiful track that has you dancing along every step of the way. The combination of tight drums and sharp guitar work keeps the beat going strong. It's the quintessential summer jam that has everlasting power unlike other summer pop songs from inferior mainstream acts. The shortest tune off the record "Parallels," is both glorious and heartfelt. Vasoli's vocals are the smoothest, softest around these parts. My only complaint for the abovementioned track is how abruptly it concludes. Like many of the songs found on "Relief," there is a delicate characteristic to it. The second half of the album definitely edges out of the first half, but the first half is no slouch. Another fine tune is "Glimpse." It's summer-soaked, with easy, breezy beats to carry you off to a utopia not found in every day life. After experiencing 12 tracks at a length of 40 ½ minutes long, I was completely galvanized. In fact, I was anxious to listen through the record again.

"Go Anywhere," another song that's too short for its own good, is absolutely wondrous. As far as what I enjoy listening these days, it's difficult for me to knock Vacationer's sophomore record in any negative way. The simple and essentially chilled-out tunes provide more than meets the eye (or ear I should say). "Relief" vastly improves upon Vacationer's debut endeavor. It's appealing, earnest, and utterly joyous. It sheds light where there is darkness and washes away the negativity that is percolating within. In the end, "Relief" is for those searching, for those seeking something greater than them. Perhaps what they are looking for isn't clearly defined and yet finding it isn't necessarily the end.

Grade: 8.8 out of 10 Key Tracks: "Glimpse," "In The Grass," "Parallels," "Go Anywhere"

AMERICAN SPRING: LEXINGTON, CONCORD, AND THE ROAD TO REVOLUTION

by Walter R. Borneman

A vibrant new look at the American Revolution's first months, from the author of the bestseller The Admi-rals When we reflect on our nation's history, the American Revolution can feel almost like a foregone conclusion. In reality, the first weeks and months of 1775 were very tenuous, and a fractured and ragtag group of colonial militias had to coalesce rapidly to have even the slimmest chance of toppling the mighty British Army. AMERICAN SPRING follows a fledgling nation from Paul Revere's little-known ride of December 1774 and the first shots fired on Lexington Green through the catastrophic Battle of Bunker Hill, culminating with a Virginian named George Washington taking command of colonial forces on July 3, 1775. Focusing on the colorful heroes John Hancock, Samuel Adams, Mercy Otis Warren, Benjamin Franklin, and Patrick Henry, and the ordinary Americans caught up in the revolution,...When we reflect on our nation's history, the American Revolution can feel almost like a foregone conclusion. SPIES, PATRIOTS, AND TRAITORS: AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR by Kenneth A. Daigler

Students and enthusiasts of American history are familiar with the Revolutionary War spies Nathan Hale and Benedict Arnold, but few studies have closely examined the wider intelligence efforts that enabled the colonies to gain their independence. Spies, Patriots, and Traitors provides readers with a well-documented, and highly readable account of American intelligence activities during the era of the Revolutionary War, from 1765 to 1783, while describing the intelligence sources and methods used and how our Founding Fa-thers learned and practiced their intelligence role. The author, a retired CIA officer, provides insights into these events from an intelligence professional's perspective, highlighting the tradecraft of intelligence col-lection, counterintelligence, and covert actions and relating how many of the principles of the era's intelli-gence practice are still relevant today. Daigler reveals the intelligence activities of famous personalities such as Samuel Adams, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Nathan Hale, John Jay, and Benedict Arnold, as well as many less well-known figures. He examines the important role of intelligence in key thea-ters of military operations, such as Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and in General Nathanael Greene's campaign in South Carolina; the role of African Americans in the era's intelligence ac-tivities; undertakings of networks such as the Culper Ring; and intelligence efforts and paramilitary actions conducted abroad. Spies, Patriots, and Traitors adds a new dimension to our understanding of the Ameri-can Revolution. The book's scrutiny of the tradecraft and management of Revolutionary War intelligence activities will be of interest to students, scholars, intelligence professionals, and anyone who wants to learn more about this fascinating era of American history.

THE GREAT DIVIDE: THE CONFLICT BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON THAT DE-FINED A NATION by Thomas Fleming

A conflict between George Washington and Thomas Jefferson? Most Americans are unaware of this his-torical reality. History tends to cast the early years of America in a glow of camaraderie, but there were many conflicts between the Founding Fathers—and none more important than the clash between Wash-ington and Jefferson. Their disagreement centered on the highest, most original public office created by the Constitutional Convention: the presidency. It also involved the nation's foreign policy, and the role of the merchant, the soldier, and the farmer in a republic. At its root were two profoundly different visions of America's future. Thomas Fleming examines how the differing character and leadership styles of Washington and Jefferson shaped two opposing views of the presidency and the nation. The clash be-tween these two gifted men, both of whom cared deeply about the United States of America, profoundly influenced the next two centuries of the nation's history and persists to the present day.

CURIOSITY ROVER COMPLETES FIRST MARTIAN YEAR

NASA's Mars Curiosity rover completed a full Martian year—687 Earth days—as of June 24, having accomplished the mission's main goal of determining whether Mars once offered environmental conditions favorable for microbial life.

One of Curiosity's first major findings after landing on the Red Planet in August 2012 was an ancient river-bed at its landing site. Nearby, at an area known as Yellowknife Bay, the mission met its main goal of determining whether the Martian Gale Crater ever was habitable for simple life forms. The answer, a historic "yes," came from two mudstone slabs that the rover sampled with its drill. Analysis of these samples revealed the site was once a lakebed with mild water, the essential elemental ingredients for life, and a type of chemical energy source used by some microbes on Earth. If Mars had living organisms, this would have been a good home for them.

Other major tasks performed during the first Martian year include:

- Assessing natural radiation levels both during the flight to Mars and on the Martian surface, providing guidance for designing the protection needed for human
- Measuring heavy-versus-light variants of elements in the Martian atmosphere. Findings indicate that much of Mars' early atmosphere disappeared by processes favoring loss of lighter atoms.
- The first determinations of the age of a rock on Mars and how long a rock has been exposed to harmful radiation.

Curiosity paused in driving this spring to drill and collect a sample from a sandstone site called Windjana. The rover currently is carrying some of the rock-powder sample collected at the site for follow-up analysis.

Windjana has more magnetite than previous samples we've analyzed," said David Blake, principal investigator for Curiosity's Chemistry and Mineralogy (CheMin) instrument at NASA's Ames Research Center, Moffett Field, California. "A key question is whether this magnetite is a component of the original basalt or resulted from later processes, such as would happen in water-soaked basaltic sediments. The answer is important to our understanding of habitability and the nature of the early-Mars environment."

Curiosity departed Windjana in mid-May and is advancing westward. It has covered about nine-tenths of a mile in 23 driving days and brought the mission's odometer tally up to 4.9 miles.

After wheel damage prompted a slow-down in driving late in 2013, the mission team has adjusted routes and driving methods to reduce the rate of damage.

For example, the mission team revised the planned route to future destinations on the lower slope of an area called Mount Sharp, where scientists expect geological layering will yield answers about ancient environments. Before Curiosity landed, scientists anticipated that the rover would need to reach Mount Sharp to meet the goal of determining whether the ancient environment was favorable for life. They found an answer much closer to the landing site. The findings so far have raised the bar for the work ahead. At Mount Sharp, the mission team will seek evidence not only of habitability, but also of how environments evolved and what conditions favored preservation of clues to whether life existed there.

The entry gate to the mountain is a gap in a band of dunes edging the mountain's northern flank that is approximately 2.4 miles ahead of the rover's current location. The new path will take Curiosity across sandy patches as well as rockier ground. Terrain mapping with use of imaging from NASA's Mars Reconnaissance Orbiter enables the charting of safer, though longer, routes.

FAMILY MATTERS

THE LEGAL PLANNING YOU NEED TO DO FOR YOUR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE

If you're the parent of a high school graduate this year, congratulations! I know you've put a lot of time and effort toward that diploma, and whatever their next step in life will be, you surely want to protect them just as much now as you always have.

So before you pack your kid off to college or just an apartment across town, you need to know that when they leave, they will be taking along many of the legal rights you held before they turned 18.

Once a child turns 18, they are no longer considered a child in the eyes of the law. As such, you no longer have the legal right to access their medical, school, or banking records without their permission. Here are three simple steps you should take before your child leaves the nest to help ensure their safety and your peace of mind:

1. Create an advance healthcare directive. Once your child becomes a legal adult, they need to have an advance healthcare directive that will allow you to access their medical records and make medical decisions for them in case they become incapacitated. This is essential in case of an emergency. They will also need to sign a Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) form that allows medical professionals to share information with you.

2. Use technology. The American Bar Association recently released a free app for iPhone and Android that allows you to store an advance directive and other important documents on a smartphone. The app comes in two versions: the Lite version stores a PDF version of an advance healthcare directive and HIPAA form; the Pro version ($3.99) provides more functionality, including the ability to email documents. The app is called My HealthCare Wishes and is available from the iPhone App Store or Google Play for Android devices. There are also online solutions such as DocuBank.com which stores medical records and allows those to be accessed by medical professionals anywhere in the

3. Add an ICE app to your child's phone. Add an ICE (In Case of Emergency) app to the home page of your child's phone that lists your contact information and also create an ICE listing in his or her phone contacts with this information. Your child is much more likely to always have their phone with them than to carry a printed card or document.

TIME TO SHOW OFF

If you've followed advice given here about sprucing up your home's exterior, well done! Now let's focus attention on the next thing potential buyers will see - the front door and the interior. Now is the time for spring-cleaning and to show off your home's best features.

Repaint that front door and touch up around the entry. Make it warm and welcoming with updated light fixtures at the entrance and foyer. Speaking of entries, check your windows and doors for energy efficiency. If they're not airtight, an investment in new windows and insulation will pay off handsomely and impress buyers.

Freshly repainted walls won't hurt either, and you can achieve a bright, clean look with light yellow or cream on the walls and contrasting white woodwork. Buff up your wood floors, clean your area rugs or carpets, and replace any worn carpeting before your first showing.

Buyers look carefully at bathrooms, so be sure to remove any spots of mildew, replace caulking, and consider a small investment in a new sink and vanity to really make things sparkle.

The icing on the cake is to offer buyers a "home warranty" on the appliances in your house, allowing them a full year of service on anything that happens to go wrong. Your pride of ownership and their peace of mind should combine to produce a sale!

A YOUNG 5 YEAR OLD BULL

By Greg Welborn

You rarely hear comments about someone getting long in the tooth at their 5th birthday party, but that's exactly what we're hearing about the current bull market. This spring, we celebrate 5 years of stock market gains. Some are arguing the bull's a heartbeat away from assuming room temperature; we believe he's still young and full

In March of 2009, the S&P 500 Index had fallen almost 60% from its 2007 high, and there were lots of commentators screaming there was no end in sight. Despite that pessimism, stocks turned around and began a one of the longest climbs in recent history. From the bottom through the end of 2013, the S&P has returned 200%. From that crash and the Phoenix-like rise, we can learn several good lessons.

There is no signal that a rally has begun. In the depths of the carnage of March 2009, there were plenty who warned of worse to come. Investors were still selling madly within a couple of days of the bottom. Nobody noticed the turn until it was obvious. Within 9 months, the S&P was up 27%.

If you can be disciplined enough to rebalance, you can make a killing (and a legal one at that!). When stocks dropped, the average balanced portfolio ended up with more bonds than stocks. Most unguided individual investors either kept selling or simply didn't do anything. The ones who sold some of those over-valued bonds and invested in stocks to restore balance to their 'balanced portfolios" earned huge profits on the stocks they bought at the bottom. Those who Diversification, once again, worked. While the vast majority of portfolios suffered some loss, the magnitude wasn't the same everywhere.

Financials dropped 55%, but consumer products lost 15%. The bond market actually gained about 5%, as did several other specific sectors. The point is that trying to pick which category will tank, tread water, or rise is a fool's errand, and the concentration t of this strategy can kill you.

Stocks are the engine of long-term growth. Like most engines, they sometimes have fits and starts. Over the long term (say even 2007 through 2013), you would have made money in stocks. If you got out at the wrong time and didn't get back in at the right time, however, you would have lost a huge amount. Sadly, too many people did just that. Stocks are no place for short-term money, but they should be the preferred address for the Accurately calling the top, or the next "turn", is impossible. I suppose if you just keep saying "the market will drop", you'll eventually be right. But you'll be wrong more time than you're right, and ou'll never really make progress.

OUT TO PASTOR

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

IN HONOR OF THE TRUE PATRIOTS

we celebrate the Fourth of July in remembrance of all the wonderful things this country means to us. The celebration will include fireworks, parades and picnics when the hot dog will be king for a day. It is a wonderful time of the year.

Yet, in the midst of all of the celebrations, there are a few black clouds blocking the

Just the other day the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and I were watching a news program where they featured somebody offended by the American flag displayed in a meeting they were attending. We both looked at each other and sadly shook our heads. What kind of nonsense is going on in this coun-try? People's lives are so shallow that they have to try to think of something to be

I am not sure why the American flag offended them so, but I have the perfect solution. I am not sure why people do not think of solutions like this, but if the American flag offends you then go to a country that has a flag it does not offend you. Simple. Problem solved. No more

It would not offend me in the least if people

The American flag reminds us of all the wonderful things we enjoy in this country. The Fourth of July is an opportunity to express our thanks for living in a country such as this. If this was such a terrible country try, why are so many people trying to get in at all cost? We still have some freedoms here that the rest of the world is envious of. The flag represents the foundation of our country and the ongoing sacrifice that has kept it free for so long. How can that be offensive to anybody?

At the same time another story on the news caught our attention concerning the 9/11 museum in New York City. From some of the things I am seeing on TV most of the people in America have forgotten what happened on 9/11. Somebody walked in, saw the symbol of the cross and became physically ill by it. They claim the cross made them sick in the stomach.

This was a little confusing to me. These are people who say they do not believe in God, personally, I do not believe a word they say. Here is this person, who does not believe in God, who does not believe in religion, sees a religious symbol and becomes offended and physically ill by it. They surely need help and I recommend a group of industrial-strength psychiatrists and therapists along with a team of military medical doctors to pump out their stomach.

Now, what I want to know is, if they do not believe in religion, what does this religious symbol mean to them? If they really did not

Once again, we come to believe in religion, as they claim, the symbol would not mean anything to them, and furthermore, it would not affect them in any way or fashion. The fact that it offended them re-veals to those who have at least two brain cells wandering around upstairs that here is a religious person. Only a religious person would react to a religious symbol. If I am not a religious person, none of this reli-gious symbolism means anything to me and I look

> While I am on the topic, another matter really annoys me.

> Why is prayer so offensive to these people who say they do not believe in religion? The fact that it makes them angry and offends them tells me something about what they say

> Why is it that prayer offends them and why are they so afraid of prayer and of God?

Their fear of God suggests that deep down somewhere, pass their stomach, they believed God just might exist.

This brings to me Pascal's wager. "If God exists (and Christianity is true) and you choose not to believe, then you lose everything. But, if God exists (and Christianity is true) and you choose to believe, then you gain everything."

I do not believe it could be stated any clearer

To date nobody has ever proven the Bible to be anything but true. For 2000 years, people have desper-ately attempted to destroy the Bible or at least discredit it and yet it is the number one seller in the world today. What if this Bible, that nobody can prove to be untrue, is absolutely and positively true?

Are these people who say they do not believe willing to wager everything?

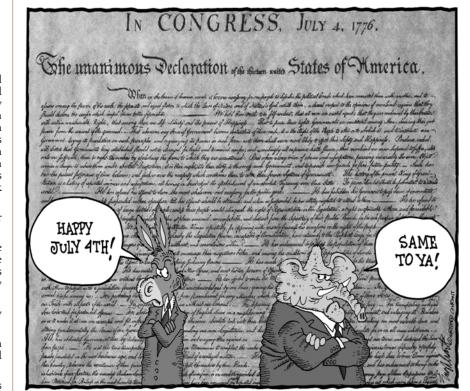

Why is it I must accept what they do and say, but they do not have to accept what I do and say? Why do I have to respect them, but they do not have to respect me? Is that being a true red, white and blue American patriot?

Jesus put it in the right perspective when he said, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's" (Matthew 22:21).

Our problem today is that we have confused Caesar with God and no longer understand the difference. The problem is, Caesar does not have all the answers, but God does. The reign of Caesar has collapsed, but God is still on the throne, Almighty God is He.

If you do not respect the flag, at least respect

HOWARD Hays As I See It

If something goes wrong, I must have stayed awake all night planning it."

- President Bill Clinton, reflecting on media coverage during his second term

With all the news sources available via our

TV providers and the internet, studies show we generally gravitate to those sources and stories which bolster our pre-conceived notions. The prevailing opinion across the political spectrum seems to be that things are pretty screwed-up all over. News of things going right doesn't seem to register as much.

Last week there was a lot of reflection on our disastrous invasion and occupation of Iraq, which could likely turn out to be a principle cause of the demise of that country at a cost of nearly 4,500 American troops sent under the pretext of non-existent Weapons of Mass Destruction.

Last August, President Obama was faced with a dilemma involving very real WMD. He announced a "red line" involving their use by the Assad regime in Syria, and that line was

Assets were positioned, prepared for attack. Republicans who, a decade earlier, eagerly gave President Bush their official blessings for going after Iraq's imaginary WMD were now balking at approving Obama's going after the real thing in Syria. The president, however, made his resolve clear - at least to Syria's

President Assad. This past Monday, the last of Syria's declared chemical weapons stockpile was shipped off for destruction. Months earlier, facilities for their manufacture, assembly and delivery systems were destroyed.

In this case, things went right. Despite early doubts, the coalition of some thirty nations - including Russia - formed in response to President Obama's call, will be completing its job by the June 30 deadline. Ahmet Uzumcu, head of the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (winner of last year's Nobel Peace Prize), which oversaw the project, commented, "Never before has an entire arsenal of weapons of mass destruction been removed from a country experiencing a state of internal armed conflict."

On last Sunday's talk shows, they again rehashed what went wrong at Benghazi two years ago, as the House embarks on its eighth investigation into the matter in hopes of turning up something juicier than what they managed to come up with in the previous seven.

Sen. Rand Paul (R-KY) found time on "Meet the Press" to speculate on the negative impact it could have on a Hillary Clinton campaign a couple years from now, but nobody found time to acknowledge the positive development of the capture of one of the attack's ringleaders just days earlier. One reason it didn't make much news is that things went right, without a hitch; flawlessly planned and executed by the FBI and US Army Delta Force without a shot fired and nobody hurt.

"If something goes right, I Also, some details could prove embarrassing had nothing to do with it. for certain news outlets and media talking heads. If you were following the story, you recall the charge that the White House, in order to deflect its own culpability, refused to refer to the Benghazi attack as terrorism (which the president in fact did, the next day), and instead shifted blame to a YouTube posting of an anti-Muslim video from the U.S.

There were charges of outright lying when then-U.N. Ambassador Susan Rice, in media appearances following the attack, described best available intelligence as drawing a connection to the video, with Benghazi coming on the heels of video-inspired demonstrations in Cairo.

This was all that leading Republicans and Fox News needed to accuse and convict Ambassador Rice as accomplice to some scandalous cover-up emanating from the White House. The uproar led Rice to withdraw her name from consideration for replacing Hillary Clinton as Secretary of State.

The NY Times' piece on last Monday's capture of Benghazi ringleader Abu Khattala states that "according to people who heard him", on the night of the attack he "told fellow Islamist fighters . . . that the assault was retaliation for the same insulting video" that inspired the Cairo demonstrations. This detail didn't get much coverage, as it might suggest there's an apology due Susan Rice, the president's current National Security Advisor.

(Yeah, fat chance.) There's been other news of things going right this past year that you may have missed. Last month, the Congressional Budget Office reported a $114 billion budget surplus for April, the largest since 2008. We're on track to have annual deficits reduced by $900 billion since Obama became president, the fastest decrease since the end of WW II. (Last year, Republicans predicted the effect of Obama's raising the marginal rate on those making over $400k would be the exact opposite.)

The Consumer Confidence index released last week was at its highest level since January 2008, months before the Great Recession hit.

Things are going right with the Affordable Care Act, so it's not in the news much anymore. Last August, Bill Kristol wrote of the "coming Obamacare train wreck." Last November, an article in Forbes predicted the entire act would be repealed "well in advance" of the 2014 mid-term elections, largely at the behest Democrats hoping to protect their seats. That same month, House Speaker John Boehner (R-OH) offered his frank assessment; "I don't think it's ever going to work." Last March, the A.P. reported that "the White House needs something close to a miracle to meet its goal of enrolling 6 million people by the end of this

As we now know, enrollments went over 7 million. A Gallup Poll released last month shows the percentage of uninsured adults falling to 13.4%, the lowest since it started keeping track over six years ago. States that originally opted out of the Medicaidexpansion program are now getting on board.

There are things going right, even though we may not hear much about it in the news. Maybe some feel it best serves their interests

GREG Welborn

Hilary Clinton is on her campaign tour, which is disguised as a book tour. One of the themes she's committed to drilling deep into the American conscience is that she, like other Liberals, is looking out for the average American, protecting them against the greedy rich folks. Sometimes, she blames Conservatives, but to her they're all the same: rich folks, Consevatives, they're one and the same. Trouble is, that's a lie. The Democratic Party is the party of the rich, the party of the 1%ers, and their policies accomplish

By almost every measure imaginable, Democrats are the party of the rich. In the Congress itself, there are roughly 270 millionaires among 535 representatives. Most of them are Democrats. The wealthiest Americans are most likely to be represented by a Democrat. Of the top 10 richest congressional districts, 6 of them are represented by a Democrat, and it was the rich folks who overwhelmingly contributed the money to those Democrats' campaigns.

very little that actually helps the average

According to Opensecrets.org, as reported in Investor's Business Daily, rich donors gave Liberals 56% more than they gave Conservatives: $1.15 billion vs $736 million. Among the top 10 donors for each party, rich Liberals outspent rich Conservatives 7-to-1. The biggest groups of Democratic contributors include the founders, executives and elites of Wall Street, Silicon Valley and Hollywood. When was the last time you heard about a Democrat holding a fund raiser in a

But, say the Liberals, what makes them the party of the little guy are their policies. It doesn't matter who's giving how much (interestingly, they say that who gives what is important for Republicans). What matters are the policies. Liberals are big on income inequality. According to the President, it is the "defining issue of our time". Accordingly, Liberals want to raise taxes on "the rich" - the 1%ers. They want to sock it to the rich in the interest of helping the little guy - the average American struggling to make ends meet.

But what exactly would raising taxes accomplish? Would it really tax the rich? The answer is, no. Income taxes tax income, not wealth. Most rich people have the ability to invest their money in assets that appreciate, but don't generate lots of income. Some, like Warren Buffet, who is a big champion of Obama and of raising income taxes, spend lots of money studying how not to pay income taxes. According to a March 19, 2014 Bloomberg article, Mr. Buffet has derived a way to limit taxes on $1 billion of gains in one of his holdings. In fact, he it doesn't qualify as non-taxable.

If advocating an increase in taxes on others while striving to minimize

SOCK IT TO THE RICH FOLKS! yourself hypocrisy, I don't know the definition of the word. Raising income taxes is not the same as raising taxes on the rich. If they really wanted to sock it to the rich, then Liberals might suggest a "wealth tax". been proposed by the current President of France, and was proposed by our own Huey Long back in 1936. It went nowhere then, and it's not even on the drawing board in the U.S. now because Liberal 1%ers would actually have to pay

Who really bears the burden of increased income taxes? If it's not the rich, who is it? The answer: it's the middle class family that wants to get ahead. Striving to accumulate wealth means earning more income, saving a substantial portion of it, and investing those savings. But if income taxes are raised, there is that much less to save and invest. Raising income taxes will prevent average Americans from getting ahead. So much for Liberals being the party of the little guy. Conservatives want the poor to have the ability to become middle class, and the middle class to have the ability to become rich. In fact, we don't even mind if the poor skip a step and go straight to "wealthy". It usually means they've come up with some great invention, tech innovation or wondrous software that will make our lives better. More power to them.

Last interesting question: why do rich Liberals support bigger government and higher taxes? I believe the answer is three-fold. First, they believe their own hype about wealth being "unearned". They feel guilty. Second, they can feel good about assuaging that guilt with campaign contributions, but they know in their hearts they'll avoid the higher taxes. Third, many of them are connected enough to push government policies in their favor, benefiting from government contracts or getting regulations imposed that stifle competition to the companies

Rich Liberals, take a good hard look in the mirror. You might just see a hypocrite looking back at you. If not - if you really believe the stuff you're supporting - then let's impose a solid, no exemptions, wealth tax. Let's sock it to vourselves.

SECRET"

June 30 – July 6, 2014

Mr. Moto's Last Warning is playing Saturday Night at 9:00 p.m. Mr. Moto, Chinese sleuth, must prevent foreign conspirators from setting mines in the Panama Canal in an effort to start WWII.

Mr. Moto is a Chinese International Policeman who solves crimes and is involved in international intrigue. This motion picture is the sixth in the series, and famous star Peter Lorre plays the intrepid sleuth Kenarto Moto. In this episode, an unnamed foreign government is trying to lure England and France into fighting each other and starting a second world war. England is guarding the Suez Canal passing through Egypt from the Mediterranean Sea at Port Said Egyp to the Red Sea and easy access to India and the East. A large fleet of French naval ships are scheduled to pass throught the canal in a few days, and a group of terrorists is planting underwater mines in the canal to blow up the French fleet.

Mr. Moto is already in Said, and knows that something is going to happen, but he doesn't know what, or by whom. He has a friend who pretends to be him, and shortly after the fake Mr. Moto reaches port Said, he is murdered by the conspirators, who believe that they have killed the great Mr. Moto. There is a British Intelligence Officer planted in the group of conspirators who is also on the search for the details of the plot so that it can be stopped, and Mr. Moto recognizes him and confides in him so they can work together.

Stories of spies and their mis-deeds in exotic foreign locations was a popular theme in this period, bringing memories of Casablanca and other films of the genre. And you can't get a better villian than Peter Lorre, but in these pictures, he has switched hats and is the good guy, putting an end to the villains that are trying to start wars.

Settle into a big arm chair with a bowl of hot buttered popcorn and be taken to far off exotic lands and eccentric characters as the forces of good and evil battle each other to the death.
