COMMUNITY IS SHAKEN BY SUDDEN DEATH OF ROSE FLOAT ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT ROBERT YOUNG

There are few residents in Sierra Madre who have viewed one of the city's Rose Parade entries in the last 15 years or so, that did not encounter the energetic, charming enthusiastic leader of the SMRFA, Bob Young. And, if you didn't know him from the Rose Float, you may have known his home on Sierra Madre Blvd., where the lawn was adorned with two flamingos year round.

On Thursday, to the shock and dismay to all who knew him, Bob was found in his home dead of what appears to be natural causes.

A 'young at heart'

vibrant individual, he was a few months shy of his 64th birthday.

According to his dear friend Illona Linden, after she had been unable to contact him the evening before, she went to his home and discovered Bob in his favorite recliner with his remote control in his hand. There was no evidence of foul play.

Known for his quick sense of humor and hard working ways, he epitomized the spirit of volunteerism that Sierra Madre is known for.

Bob served as President of the Sierra Madre Rose Float Association for as long as anyone can remember, more than 15 years said one source, and supported many other community organizations

A lifelong resident of the San Gabriel Valley, he was born at St. Luke's Hospital in Pasadena on Friday the 13th, something he loved to joke about. He was an alumni of Arcadia High School.

Professionally, Bob was a mechanical engineer and the owner of Robert M. Young & Associates since 1978.

Bob is survived by his mother, Mary Young, well known for her volunteerism and philanthropy in Sierra Madre, his son, Robert Reid Youn, a twin sister and a brother. He is also survived by his dear friend Illona Linden.

CITY COUNCIL CONSIDERATION TO EXTEND THE INTERIM MORATORIUM SET FOR AUGUST 12TH

Bob was a man that was truly loved by the community he served for so many years and it is difficult for many

At press time, no information was available regarding to imagine life in this village without him.

On July 8, 2014, the City Council adopted Ordinance No. 1357U, establishing an Interim Moratorium Ordinance Pursuant to Government Code Section 65858 on the issuance of all building permits and any discretionary approvals for construction of new development requiring new water service connections. The interim ordinance was an urgency ordinance, making it effective immediately. The Interim Ordinance 1357U will expire on August 22, 2014, unless the City Council takes action to extend the moratorium before it expires.

Originally, the City Council's consideration of extending the interim ordinance was scheduled for the July 22nd meeting. Instead the City Council will meet on Tuesday, August 12, 2014 at 6:30 pm, in the City Hall Council Chambers, to consider extending the moratorium for an additional 22 months and 15 days (until July 5, 2016).

The delay in the City Council considering the extension of Ordinance 1357U, has no impact on the applicability of the interim ordinance. Urgency Ordinance 1357U remains in full force and effect until August 22, 2014. Additionally, the other two related actions the City Council approved on July 8th, are not impacted by the rescheduling of the public hearing. Resolution 14-58 declaring Phase III Water Conservation and declaring a moratorium on new water service connections, along with Urgency Ordinance 1356U, declaring the existence of a water shortage emergency and imposing a moratorium on the issuance of new water service connections, do not need to be extended, as they remain in effect until modified or rescinded by formal action of the City Council.

A fact sheet is being prepared to provide answers to the various questions we have received about Ordinance 1357U, Ordinance 1356U and Resolution 14-58. The fact sheet should be available on the City's website by

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS ON THE RISE IN SIERRA MADRE

Recently, Sierra Madre Police Chief Larry Giannone held a Town Hall meeting in which he brought residents up to date with issues that his department handles on a regular basis. One of those is the growing problem of Traffic incidents in Sierra Madre, a town which prides itself on not having any traffic lights.

Distracted drivers, driving ignoring the posted speed limits, and drivers under the influence account for the almost 400 traffic stops that have occurred in the last 30 days. According to Chief Giannone, "What that means is that the motoring public in town is committing some type of vehicle code

This accident ocurred on a Sierra Madre street last year.
Fortunately, there were no severe injuries. Accordingt to SMPD
Sgt. Ortiz at the time, it appeared that the young driver lost violation to get stopped.

215 were cited for the violations while 141 warnings were issued." Fortunately, while there have been accidents as a result of the violations, as of this date, none have resulted in a fatality.

"Traffic Officer Berry has indicated that he has seen an increase in cell phone violations over the past several months" says Giannone.

So Where Are These Accidents Occurring? All over town!

Sierra Madre is no different than other cities in that technology has brought on a new set of problems, or exascerbated existing problem. In this case, the driver answering a cell phone, texting, or otherwise engaging in activities on 'not so smart' phones, have become a real problem.

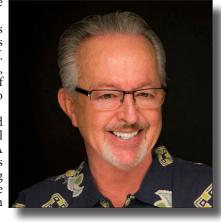

SMPD, in keeping with its responsibility for keeping the town safe will continue to crack down on drivers who are breaking the law. Says the chief, "The point we are trying to get across is just to have people pay attention to their driving."

"DROUGHT, ARE WE IN OR OUT?" CLIMATOLOGIST DR. BILL PATZERT TO SPEAK

On Tuesday, July 22, 2014, Dr. Bill Patzert will address the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club on the current drought. Often called the "Prophet of California climate," Patzert has been a scientist at the California Institute of Technology's NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) in Pasadena, Calif. for 31 years. Working on numerous NASA space missions, his research is focused on improving our understanding of important environmental problems ranging from El Niño and La Niña to longer-term climate change.

The author of many scientific and popular articles, and recipient of many honors, Bill works with students from all over the world, and lectures at many local universities. A media favorite, he is often sought out by reporters and is regularly seen on local and national television representing NASA and JPL. In a recent article, he was named as one of the West's most influential individuals in dealing with water issues.

Lunch will be served at noon and is $10. The program will begin at 12:30 and is free. Reservations are requested. Call 626-355-0728. Kiwanis meets at The Lodge (formerly the Masonic Temple) 33 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, Ca. Ample parking in the back of the building.

REMEMBRANCE

GENEVIEVE COLLINS

June 29, 1920 - July 4, 2014

Five days after her 94th birthday, Genevieve Collins chose our Nation's birthday to be her very own Day of Independence. On July 4th she passed away peacefully at home surrounded by those she loved.

Surviving her are seven children, seventeen grandchildren, seventeen great grandchildren, two brothers, one sister and many nieces and nephews. Preceding her in death are her parents, three brothers, husband of more than fifty-four years, one young grandson and one young nephew.

Gen was born in Wisconsin, raised in Indiana, along with her young children, she followed her husband to bases around the U.S. during WWII, and settled in San Francisco to raise her growing family. She then spent six decades living in the Collins family home in Sierra Madre and as a parishioner at St. Rita's Catholic Church.

Throughout her life, Gen exhibited a love of learning through reading, traveling and joining in many activities. She graduated from St. Mary's College in South Bend, Indiana. In her late 40's and with 6 children still at home, Gen returned to college, earning straight A's and her teaching credential. For 11 years "Mrs. Collins" was a loved first grade teacher at St. Rita's School. Gen ended her "professional" career at Pasadena City College.

In retirement, she traveled extensively. Gen was ahead of her time with senior wellness, learning to swim in her late 60's and remaining active in water aerobics into her late 80's. She was part of the Women's Health Initiative, believing data about her life and aging process would benefit women everywhere.

Her family and others who knew Gen remember her by many names: Mom, wife, Gram Gen, Great Gram, Sissy, Aunt Gen, teacher, matriarch and friend. Everyone who met Gen loved her. She inspired generations and will be missed by all who knew her!

Burial will be private. A celebration of her life is scheduled for 11:00 am on July 19th at St. Rita's Church in Sierra Madre. The family requests, in lieu of flowers, please make donations to The Braille Institute Library in Los Angeles.

THREE PEOPLE KILLED IN TENANT/ LANDLORD DISPUTE

Shooting victims names, 911 audio released

Police on Monday released 911 audio of the man they said shoot three people with a semi-automatic rifle Saturday and wounded two others —in which he admits to the killing by telling the operator, "I just shot somebody."

Pasadena Police Chief Phillip Sanchez said John Izael Smith surrendered after barricading himself inside his home and after police dispatcher Diane Marin convicted him to give up. According to Sanchez, Marin relayed messages to police through another dispatcher Alexis Bartoli. The two kept Smith calm Sanchez said and he agreed to surrender minutes later.

All three names of the victims, including 91-year-old Luis Fernando were also released by the coroner's office later Monday. The other victims were Maria Teresa Aguiar, 59, and Joseph Uribe, 31.

The shooting started shortly before 4:30 p.m. in the 1700 block of North Summit Avenue when 911 calls came in to police, one person said he heard at least 15 gunshots in front of his house. Many of the callers said they did not know where the gunshots were coming from. Uribe a good Samaritan, heard gunshots, came to help and was gunned

When police arrived they came under heavy gunfire, Aguilar was lying in the street dead, as police tried to help Smith peppered their vehicle with gunfire Sanchez said.

Pasadena Mayor Bill Bogaard said at Monday's press conference that the shooting likened Pasadena to other communities know for mass murders such as Sandy Hook in Connecticut.

Smith was charged Tuesday with three counts of murder with the special circumstance of multiple murders and special allegation of intentionally discharging a rifle. He is eligible for the death penalty prosecutors said.

EDUCATION & YOUTH

TEENSAFE'S IPHONE & ANDROID MONITORING SOFTWARE HELPS PARENTS TEACH THEIR CHILDREN THE DANGERS OF SEXTING

-- Supervising Social Media Activity and Texts Helps Create Teaching Opportunities for Parents When Their Children are Faced with Difficult Propositions --

COSTA MESA, Calif., (July 16, 2014) - TeenSafe, creator of an advanced iPhone and Android monitoring software, announced today the importance for parents across the nation to become aware of their children's social lives, teaching them responsibility and potential dangers around sexual communication on their smartphones. Developed to give parents a window into their child's life, TeenSafe allows parents the ability to monitor their child's iPhone or Android activity (text messages, deleted text messages, Facebook, WhatsApp, Instagram, location, web browsing history, contacts and call logs). Studies show that teens that send more than 100 texts a day are more likely to be sexually active, while those who reported receiving a sext were six times more likely to also report being sexually active.

"With clear links between sexting and unhealthy behavior, one of TeenSafe's largest goals is to help parents become aware of the communication that needs to happen with our children about sending and receiving sexually suggestive texts or photos," said Ameeta Jain, co-founder and spokesperson of TeenSafe. "Young teens involved heavily in social media and texting are being faced with difficult propositions that we as parents need to be aware of and act on as teachers and protectors of our children. It is our responsibility to know what is going on in their lives, teaching them that the morals and values we show them at home must transcend into their social and digital lives."

Children are getting smartphones at younger and younger ages, often without any guidelines or boundaries. Because of curiosity and peer pressure, teens often succumb to sending suggestive pictures to others with 20 to 30 percent of adolescents involving themselves in this behavior. TeenSafe believes that parents who are aware of the emotional and legal ramifications of this risky behavior are able to open lines of communication with their children, talking to them about how to stay true to their morals, values and beliefs when faced with challenging circumstances. TeenSafe encourages parents to know what their children are doing on social media and their smartphones, keeping lines of communication open in a loving environment.

"It is my firm belief that all issues such as sexting are best handled when there is healthy communication between teens and their parents. I can't emphasize enough that it is never too late to have better communication with your children at any age. Young people need to know from you that it is okay to have desires and feelings, but they also need to learn from you how to deal with those feelings in a healthy way and not in an impulsive manner, such as through sexting," said Tina Sustaeta, Licensed Professional Counselor and Family Therapist. "In my experience as a therapist, teens report to me that they want to have better communication with their parents, and they want information from their parents. I believe TeenSafe is an important tool to assist in this," she continued.

About TeenSafe

Founded in 2011 and based in Costa Mesa, Calif., TeenSafe developed the world's first iPhone monitoring solution that works without modifying your child's phone, allowing parents to monitor their children's text messages, location, web browsing history, contacts and call logs. Over 250,000 parents have signed up for TeenSafe since inception and their web-based software solution provides parents easy and secure access to their children's social interactions via an online TeenSafe account. TeenSafe has created a parental advice blog called Teenology.com which gives tips, guidelines and personal testimonials in order to support and help parents of teens in today's technology-filled world. THIS SCHOOL YEAR, RAISE GRADES WITH ONLINE LEARNING TOOLS (StatePoint) Unfortunately, the pace of classroom learning can't be tailored to every student's individual needs -- particularly these days, as class sizes are growing and funding for special enrichment programs becomes limited. In fact, at least 35 states provided less funding per student for the 2013-14 school year than they did before the recession.

Many children will need to spend some time outside the classroom going beyond their regular homework to keep up or get ahead in school. No matter what your child's education goals are, there are great ways you can help make this school year the best one yet:

• Math practice: Square roots, polynomials, quadrilaterals. Learning these terms and concepts can get dicey quickly. Keeping up at home is important, and sometimes requires more than just doing the day's take-home assignment.

Consider supplementing homework with online tools. For example, Shmoop, an online learning and test prep provider, provides free study guides for review and courses for remedial work in many academic topics, including social science, arts and music, science and English. Their math tutorials cover everything from Pre-Algebra to Calculus and the step by-step explanations that the program offers can be helpful to any student looking for an extra edge.

• Read the classics: Kids who read for pleasure can improve their grades. Not only will the exposure to literary giants like John Steinbeck, Mark Twain and Harriet Beecher Stowe build vocabulary and improve reading comprehension, there is much to be learned about history and culture from picking up a great book, such as "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn."

Be sure to use tools that can help clarify some of the denser material. Online learning guides can be a great place to get synopses and analysis.

• Use flashcards: It may sound quaint, but there is really no substitute for quizzing yourself with a flash card. Even the act of creating the flashcard can help reinforce concepts and facts.

• Extra Help: A little extra academic help after school can sometimes mean the difference between struggle and success. But between school and soccer practice, ballet lessons and getting dinner on the table, adding a tutor or after school class to the list might be a logistical impossibility.

Consider online courses that can be completed from the comfort of home and are common core aligned. For example, Shmoop's offerings are diverse, ranging from 7th grade math to second semester 12th grade British Literature. For those students taking Advanced Placement courses this fall, check out their AP test prep courses. These courses help students nail the important, for-credit, year-end exam. More information can be found at www.Shmoop.com.

With a bit of extra effort and the use of savvy learning tools, kids can gain a competitive edge this school year.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show DAWN OF THE PLANET OF THE APES

With post-apocalyptic films dominating the market, they all seem to blend into each other after a while. Whether it was a zombie uprising or a corrupt government, society finds a way to collapse in nearly every movie. However, what makes 'Dawn' stand apart is it's ability to blend new ideas with older filmmaking techniques.

After the events of 'Rise', a deadly virus known as the Simian Flu swept across the globe, killing millions. With humanity near extinction, the now intelligent apes begin to make a home for themselves. When a group of surviving humans make their way into a forest near San Francisco, the two species face a conflict that will change their already destroyed world.

The special effects in 'Dawn' are very sharp, especially the wide shots of the apes' home. But, what makes this movie special, is the incredible set work that was done, and that is what makes this movie very good. Everything that was good about 'Rise' was expanded upon in 'Dawn', making this film a modern classic.

THE MARINE MAMMAL CENTER HOSTS THEIR 30TH ANNUAL RUN FOR THE SEALS EVENT

Some of you may remember an article I submitted for this column last year, about The Marine Mammal Center, a non-profit organization located in Sausalito, whose mission it is to rescue injured or ill marine mammals with the goal of returning them back to the ocean. And, for the many mammals they take in that for various reasons cannot recover well enough to return to the sea, they provide a healthy environment in captivity where they can live out the rest of their lives.

The Marine Mammal Center's main focus is to expand knowledge about the animals they care for - their health and that of their environment - and to inspire their global conservation. With kind-hearted consideration for the well-being of all living things, they recognize the fundamental relationship that binds humans, animals and the ocean, and encourage others to do the same.

I recently received an e-mail from The Marine Mammal Center, inviting me to participate in a very exciting up-coming event. Run for the Seals is The Marine Mammal Center's annual fun run/walk and fundraiser, the proceeds from which all go to help support the amazing life-saving work that they do on. When I read about the event, I immediately thought it would be a good idea to share with my local readers.

Although Sausalito is some distance from Sierra Madre, it seems like something our locals might want to do; take a nice drive up the coast, perhaps stop over at one of our beautiful California beaches along the way, then head on up to the Bay Area for a fun run and a little sight seeing. Then, when you arrive at your final destination, you can enjoy the breathtaking views of the Marin Headlands with your family as you take part in the 30th Anniversary Run for the Seals on Saturday, August 16, 2014!

Help raise $130,000 to provide essential food and medical care for sick, injured and orphaned seals and sea lions. Walk or run as an individual, or get some of your friends together and form a team! There are two routes to choose from: a 4-mile fun run or a 2-mile hill walk. The event is open to all ages -- perfect for families, runners, walkers and power-strollers. Dogs on leashes are welcome too! And costumed people and dogs are especially encouraged.

There are great prizes for the fastest finishers, top fundraisers, and best costume (canine and human!) There are even some great incentives for those who raise just $25 or more! It's an inspiring day to spend with your friends and family while helping to protect our ocean and give marine mammals a second chance at life.

Your registration fee includes Run for the Seals AND Fun Day! So after your run or walk, come to The Marine Mammal Center to enjoy FREE food and drinks, take educational tours, listen to stories and learn about the important work of the Center. You can even see the animal patients from an observation deck as well as peer into the kitchen and chart room viewing windows. Registration is $40 for adults and $20 for children ages 12 and under

All online registrants get a limited edition 30th Anniversary Run for the Seals T-shirt, a ticket to Aquarium of the Bay and FREE food, drinks and activities at Family Fun Day after the race—an amazing value! Children four & under are FREE* and dogs are also FREE -- but they must be on a leash." Visit their website at www. marinemammalcenter.org for details and to register online.

Josie is friendly with people, but is not needy, demanding, nor competitive for attention. Even when you offer her treats next to other dogs, she will wait her turn and chew each bite delicately like a lady. She has an independent spirit, but enjoys the company of people and pets. She especially looks forward to nice leisurely walks on a summer evening, exploring, and rolling in the grass. Josie gets along beautifully with other dogs, but particularly lights up and becomes more animated and playful with male dogs.

You can take Josie just about anywhere with you. She is one of those good natured, 'go anywhere, do anything' gals. Because of her calm energy, her good behavior and friendliness to all people, she has become one of our shelter's top dog ambassadors chosen to be taken to many of

THE JOY OF YOGA THE FOUR PILLARS OF WELLBEING

The tradition of yoga says that there are 4 pillars to our wellbeing.

The first is a good diet consisting of foods that are sattvic, (steady, calm and peaceful) or in other words, nutritious, easy to digest, home-cooked and made with love. If your food is made with love – that love can be absorbed in your system. If your food is easy to digest, then it doesn't use as much of your vital energy trying to process it and the nutrients are more easily assimilated.

The second pillar is who you are hanging around with. It is important that we surround ourselves with others that are on the path of growth. We need to choose our friends and choose wisely. If we are hanging around with drama we will have to work twice as hard to keep from buying into it. Better to just stay away and focus on what is good. Keep company with those who have realized some measure of truth.

The third pillar is pranayama, or properly regulating the otherwise irregular and hurried breath. The aim of pranayama (breath exercises) is to gain control over the nervous system. By learning to regulate the breath we can learn to regulate the mind - our fourth pillar.

Asana practices (yoga poses) are designed to help us learn to breathe. We learn to breathe in challenging situations. Learning to breathe then enables us to control our minds and the thoughts we think. Our mind tells us how to feel. So we need to train the mind to create the life we want. When we can do this – we can choose happiness.

Sounds easy, right? It takes discipline. But there is only one place to start – the beginning.

"Don't worry. Be Happy."

am often asked what a naturopath is or what is naturopathy? Naturopathy means close to nature and or benefiting from nature. As a naturopath, I believe nature has given us everything we need to get well and stay well. The basic teaching of traditional naturopathy should sound familiar, "above all, do no harm". Naturopaths in general specialize in wellness. That is to say, teaching clients how applying natural lifestyle approaches can help the body's own natural healing and health building potential. As a traditional naturopath I do not "diagnose" or "treat diseases", but rather recognize that the majority of sub-health conditions stem from lifestyle effects, and that the underlying cause of what we call "disease" (or, "dis-ease") is improper diet, unhealthy habits, and environmental factors which cause biological imbalances leading to a weakening of the bodies' natural defenses and subsequent breakdown in health.

Naturopathy focuses on prevention; it advocates a wellness-oriented diet and lifestyle. Whole food or herbal supplements that support the body may be used until the body is back to operating correctly on its own. Naturopathy is often effective in dealing with chronic illnesses, such as arthritis or eczema, because these conditions improve when diet, lifestyle, and nutrient deficiencies are addressed. Many clients are able to reverse diseases such as hypertension and type II diabetes through diet and lifestyle changes. Additionally, naturopathy is a great choice for non-emergency acute illnesses, such as colds and flus, because it employs nutritional and lifestyle changes that support the body's immune system.

Traditionally, naturopathy was just a system of helping people return to health or learn to maintain health by teaching them to eat healthy foods, exercise regularly and use herbs and water therapy for restoring health. Today's traditional naturopaths do just that. The traditional naturopath does not diagnose or treat illness but rather is a person's guide to information about safe, healthy ways to change a lifestyle to bring about better health. A naturopath empowers you to take charge of your life and health and to gain back the confidence to make decisions about your health and your life.

Sloan Digital Sky Survey Expands Its Reach

Building on 14 years of extraordinary discoveries, the Sloan Digital Sky Survey (SDSS) has launched a major program of three new surveys, adding novel capabilities to expand its census of the Universe into regions it had been unable to explore before.

This new phase of SDSS will:

--Explore the compositions and motions of stars across the entire Milky Way in unprecedented detail, using a telescope in Chile along with the existing Sloan Foundation Telescope in New Mexico.

--Make detailed maps of the internal structure of thousands of nearby galaxies to determine how they have grown and changed over billions of years, using a novel optical fiber bundle technology that can take spectra of each different part of a galaxy at once.

--Measure the expansion of the Universe during a poorly understood five-billion-year period of the Universe's history when Dark Energy started to drive its expansion, using a new set of galaxies and quasars.

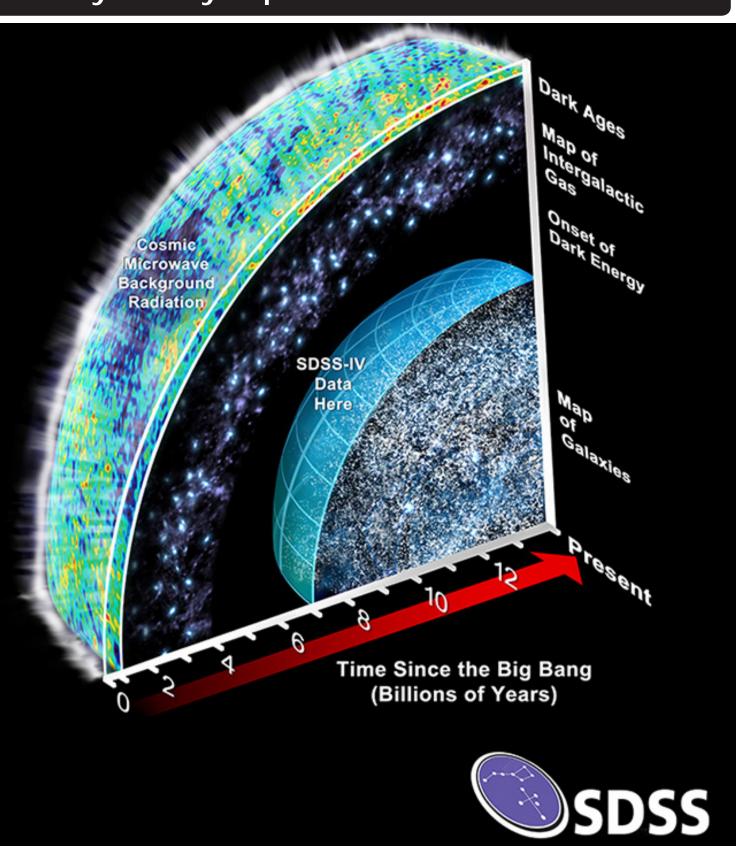

The new survey is a collaboration of more than 200 astronomers at more than 40 institutions on four continents, and it incorporates telescopes in both the Northern and Southern Hemispheres. With these two telescopes, the SDSS will be able to see the entire sky for the first time.

"Over the last fourteen years, many people have used SDSS data to make numerous discoveries that have revolutionized astronomy," said Michael Blanton of New York University, the director of the new survey. "We have mapped the large-scale structure of the Universe, traced out previously unknown structures in the Milky Way, and made unanticipated discoveries from asteroids in our own Solar System to the most distant quasars."

This new phase of the SDSS will provide a vast new database of observations that will significantly expand our understanding of the nature of the Universe at all scales, from our own galaxy to the distant universe. In our galaxy, the new SDSS will see hundreds of thousands of individual stars, including stars that were born at the birth of the Milky Way and stars born in the past few million years, just yesterday in cosmic terms. Measuring the compositions, positions, and motions of individual stars will reveal how the Galaxy evolved from the distant past to today.

"The SDSS has observed more than half a million Milky Way stars over the past fourteen years, which I call a good start," said Jennifer Johnson of The Ohio State University, the Scientific Spokesperson of the new SDSS. "However, from the Northern Hemisphere, the Earth blocks our view of a quarter of the Milky Way, and mostly obscures our view of the galactic center. So there are literally entire regions of the Galaxy that the SDSS has yet to see."

This new phase will complete the picture. In addition to the Sloan Foundation 2.5-meter Telescope in New Mexico, SDSS will use the 2.5-meter Irenee du Pont Telescope at Las Campanas Observatory, high in the Chilean Andes and home to the clearest skies on the planet. In addition to completing the full study of the Milky Way, the du Pont telescope will also observe stars in the nearby Magellanic Clouds, giving astronomers a better understanding of the Milky Way's immediate environs.

THE GOOD LIFE

WHEN TO SEE A GERIATRICIAN

Dear Savvy Senior:

What kinds of health problems do geriatricians treat? My mother, who's 80, takes several different medications for various health problems, but she hasn't been feeling herself lately. I'm wondering if she would benefit by seeing a geriatrician in place of her regular family doctor. Inquiring Daughter

Dear Inquiring:

If your mom is dealing with a variety of health problems and is taking multiple medications, a visit to a geriatrician may be just the antidote to help get her back on track. Here's a breakdown of the different types of health conditions geriatricians treat and some tips to help you locate one in your area.

Geriatric Doctors

For starters, it's important to know that geriatricians are family practice or internal medicine physicians that have had additional specialized training to manage the unique and, oftentimes, multiple health concerns of older adults. Just as a pediatrician specializes in caring for children, a geriatrician is trained to provide care for seniors, usually over age 65.

While most doctors, and even general practitioners, are trained to focus on a person's particular illness or disease, geriatricians are trained to look at all aspects that can affect elderly patients – not just the physical symptoms. They also often work with a team of other health care professionals like geriatric-trained nurses, rehabilitation therapists, nutritionists, social workers and psychiatrists to provide care. And, they will coordinate treatments among a patient's specialists.

Patients who can benefit from seeing a geriatrician are elderly seniors with multiple health and age-related problems such as cardiovascular disease, stroke, confusion and memory problems, Parkinson's and Alzheimer's disease, diabetes, hypertension, depression, respiratory problems, osteoporosis, arthritis, chronic pain, mobility issues, incontinence, vision and hearing impairment, and trouble with balance and falls.

Geriatricians are also particularly adept at tackling medication problems. Because many seniors, like your mom, take multiple medications at the same time for various health conditions, and because aging bodies often absorb and metabolize drugs differently than younger adults, unique side effects and drug interactions are not uncommon. A geriatrician will evaluate and monitor you mom's medications to be sure they are not affecting her in a harmful way.

Geriatricians can also help their patients and families determine their long-term care needs, like how long they can remain in their own homes safely without assistance, and what type of services may be necessary when they do need some extra help.

But not all seniors need to see a geriatrician. Seniors who have few health problems are just fine seeing their primary care physician.

Find a Geriatrician

Unfortunately, there's a shortage of geriatricians in the U.S., so depending on where you live, finding one may be challenging. To locate one in your area, visit the American Board of Family Medicine website at theabfm.org where you can do a search online. Or use Medicare's online Physician Compare tool. Just go to medicare.gov/ physiciancompare and type in your zip code, or city and state, then type in "Geriatric Medicine" in the "What are you searching for?" box. You can also get this information by calling Medicare at 800-633-4227.

Keep in mind, though, that locating a geriatrician doesn't guarantee your mom will be accepted as a patient. Many doctors already have a full patient roster and don't accept any new patients. You'll need to call the individual doctor's office to find Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

BIG

I'm blessed and thankful to have the summers off! While I do relish summer vacation, the lack of interaction with the kids and my coworkers sometimes makes it more difficult to find things to write about. I've never been one to stay on the cutting edge of current events, and in the summer I'm doubly out of the loop. So it's times like this that I can always fall back on my mom's friend, Florence, for a good story or two!

I've chronicled Florence's stories in the paper before, but forgot which alias I gave her. So if her character seems familiar, that's why. In a word --Florence is a riot! It's not just that she can make stories sound she, herself, funny; humorous attracts When my situations. mom relays her friends' stories to me, by the middle of it I can usually tell if Florence is the source. After their most to his incessant yapping whenever his owner recent get together, my mom thanked Florence for the laughs and said that now I'd have material for my articles. So, you may be reading about Florence for a couple of weeks unless I become otherwise inspired. I can't promise to make the stories as funny as if Florence were telling them, but I'll try. This week, it's about a rabbit --a subject dear to my heart.

Florence comes from a big family and has several siblings. She grew up rural Montebello (yes, Montebello was fairly rural at one time). Living close to nature gave her family a greater connection with native animals. One time her sister got a baby rabbit, a tiny thing about the size of chicken nugget. I assumed, as is the case in many of Florence's stories, that they had rescued it in the wild. But my mom corrected me that it was, in fact, from a local fair. Fairs being what they are, the man who sold it to them didn't provide a detailed lineage of the rabbit. You can imagine their surprise when their nugget-sized bunny grew into a big, honking Flemish Giant!

No, I'm not talking about Norse mythology (although judging by its appearance, this breed's name was probably inspired by Thor or the Valkeries). Check out photos of these beasts if

Working at a public school, you haven't already. Their heads are larger than those of the men holding them. They're in the same league as other abnormally sized things you'd find at a county fair. "Here's a cabbage as big as a wrecking ball, a five yard long radish, and Farmer Sven's 18 pound rabbit." The pictures in which people are hoisting them up seem to have been taken quickly. They look strained, with flushed faces. "Take the picture already, Carl! I can't hold her up much longer!"

> Needless to say, the rabbit (we'll call him Zeus) was an instant family favorite. notoriety was rivaled only by the infamy of one of the cousins' yappy Chihahas (we'll call him Styx). Styx was one of those dogs who, no matter how often you visit or give treats, never remembers you, and therefore barks its head off whenever it sees you. After a few years of trying to form a friendship with Styx, the family gave up and resigned themselves came over.

It was one of these family gatherings at Florence's house that Styx met his match. Zeus didn't move around a lot due to his massive size, but he was very observant, and waited until Styx was close enough to come in contact with Zeus's powerful hind legs. "When an irresistible force meets and old immovable object... something's gotta give!" We all know about flying pigs, but I bet you hadn't heard of air borne Chiwawas!

The flight only temporarily jolted Styx, and he sustained no injuries. However, being the slow learner that Styx was, the Zeus-and-Styx-flying routine played out many more times at holidays and other get-togethers. I can imagine Florence telling her childhood friends to come and see the giant rabbit and the flying dog -- and their surprise when they did see it!

* Using spell check sometimes "blocks the flow" when I'm writing, therefore I save it until the final draft. This time my proofreaders (a.k.a parents) laughed so hard at my horrible mispellings I decided to leave them in!

DEVYN "NO FEAR" NETZ PITCHES A PERFECT GAME

By Susan Henderson

Somewhere between when she got out of bed and the second inning of the tournament game on June 28th, 12 year old Devyn "No Fear" Netz thought to herself, "What if I pitch a perfect game? I could do that". She mentioned it to her coaches who were a little concerned that the thought might overwhelm her performance, but they were wrong and she was right as she zoned in and never allowed her opponents to hit, walk, or steal a run or a base!

On June 28, 2014, Devyn pitched a PERFECT game against the So. Cal. Storm at the Triple Crown Sports - Red, White and Blue Tournament at Dana Hills High School in Dana Point, Ca. Final Score, Cal Thunder 7 - So Cal Storm - 0.

Devyn has a passion about softball that just twinkles in her eye. She's been playing for as long as she can remember, she thinks she started around six years old. Somewhat inspired by her older brothers Dawson and Daniel Netz, she has exceeded even her own expectations with her love of the game.

A former Sierra Madre Girls Softball Association Alum, she, along with her parents Daniel and Lisa Netz decided that participating in a Traveling Softball League was more to her liking.

When I spoke with Devyn on Friday, her catcher, Carmen "Karma" Walters, 13, was with her and it was absolutely inspiring to listen to the two of them. When I asked Devyn how the other team responded to her after the game, they both agreed that the Storm never knew what had happened to them, at least not initially. A really thoughtful young lady, Devyn wanted to make certain that I included a "Thank you" from her to her teammates, too!

To pitch a perfect game in baseball or softball is not an easy task. "According to the rules of the International Softball Federation (ISF), a perfect game in softball is a statistic credited to a pitcher when he/she completes a game and allows the opposing team no one reaching first base."

And to further demonstrate the difficulty in pitching such a game, in major league baseball, there have only been 23 such games in major league baseball history!

Devyn attends Bethany Christian School in Sierra Madre and Carmen attends Sierra Madre Middle School. Both are weighing their options on what the future holds for them college wise via softball.

Devyn's parents, Lisa and Daniel Netz couldn't be prouder. Mom has a smartphone full of pictures and Dad has an online gallery of photos. Their enthusiasm is not just showered on Devyn, their sons are also great athletes. Dawson plays in the Sierra Madre Little League and Daniel plays for Maranatha's football team, his mom's alma mater. Congratulations Devyn, for making Girls Softball History! Your nickname is well deserved!

ALVERNO HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNA MELISSA "MO" MARTIN '00 WINS LPGA BRITISH OPEN

Sierra Madre, CA (July 18, 2014) – Alverno High School alumna Melissa "Mo" Martin was the surprise winner at the Women's British Open at Royal Birkdale on Sunday, July 13.

A graduate of Alverno High School from the Class of 2000, Martin hit the best shot of her career on Sunday when she hit a three-wood hitting the pin on the par-five 18th hole at Royal Birkdale in Southport, England, settling only a few feet away from the hole to set up an eagle. An hour later, she ended the day with an even-par 72—winning the Women's British Open by one stroke.

Martin started playing golf at the age of 4 after her brother came home with what she recalls as "a beautiful, glistening golf trophy."

"He came home with a trophy and I just really wanted a trophy," Martin recalls. "So I started playing golf and fell in love with the game. It really came in pieces how it happened."

Once she fell in love with the sport, Martin's drive was unstoppable. She spent hours in her driveway, hitting countless balls under her father's instruction into a homemade net. She quickly started to collect trophies of her own, including the most prestigious junior tournament of its time, the Junior World Japan Cup, where she won her own "beautiful, glistening golf trophy" and got to meet the Crown Prince of Japan.

By the time Martin started at Alverno as a freshman in 1996 she had already won the Junior World Japan Cup and represented the United States there an additional three times. Although Alverno didn't have a golf team at the time, Martin recalls the unique support and commitment the school provided her as a student and an athlete.

"Alverno was very supportive and the school's nurturing environment helped me catch up—and not only catch up, but excel. I was allowed time to practice and to compete, which was really helpful to me," she said. "After Alverno, I went onto UCLA and was able to join the golf program there and compete academically, which opened the door to becoming a professional and having the career I have today."

As a female golfer, Martin has faced challenges and overcome some adversity although she is grateful to have put most of it behind her but credits the experiences she had growing up with helping her to do so.

"I got a lot of comments growing up, especially during high school, about being a female golfer. There would be individuals who wouldn't want to play with a female," Martin said. "I think there is still a stigma attached to female golfers, but we are gaining a lot of momentum on the professional levels and I am hopeful that young women interested in pursuing the sport, or any sport, will focus on their passions, desires, and different skill sets. I think that when they do that, it won't ever fail them."

Linda Reffner, Alverno's former Assistant Principal, recounts Martin as a student: "She was an excellent student and worked on her golf game throughout high school, but hardly ever on a course. When Melissa qualified for the CIF championship, she had to be accompanied by a school official and so I became her coach for two days. Mo didn't win that tournament, but I was extremely impressed by her focus and determination. Most high school athletes who don't receive a scholarship in their sport at college will give up, but Mo talked her way into a walk-on spot at UCLA and earned a scholarship as a result. I have followed her career and admired the progress she made, both at UCLA and on the Futures Tour. She has had some impressive rounds in tournaments on the LPGA and after the first round at the British Open, Alverno alums and teachers lit up Facebook. Everyone was on the edge of their seats when she almost made an albatross on the final hole. We are extremely proud of her and so happy that her hard work resulted in such a great achievement!"

When her opponent's shot came up short to tie her at Birkdale, she turned to her caddie and said, "Is this real life?!" and it was. Ranked 99th in the world prior to Sunday's win, Martin has been catapulted to a new level of athletic fame and certainly a new place in the LPGA history books.

"Mo Martin is truly the person she wants to be-- living the Alverno mission in her daily life," said Julia V. Fanara, Alverno High School's Head of School. We are proud of her accomplishments and celebrate her success as we do for all of our students and alumnae. We look forward to continuing to watch and support her growing career and this exciting new phase of her life."

CHEER ON THE BOYS IN BLUE

Meet Dodger Great Ron Cey, and Make a Positive Difference in the Lives of Struggling Youngsters at the Hathaway-Sycamores' Celebrating Children Awards Reception at Dodger Stadium

(PASADENA, Calif., July 16, 2014)—Storied Dodger Stadium will again be the site of Hathaway-Sycamores Child and Family Services' annual fundraiser - the Celebrating Children Awards Reception. Those attending the Sept. 16 event, which is being chaired by Sierra Madre resident Ken Goldstein, a Hathaway-Sycamores board member, will not only be raising money to help fund the crucial mental-health and other support services provided by Hathaway-Sycamores to more than 8,500 children, youth, young adults and families annually, but they also will have the unique opportunity to have the entire stadium to themselves, as the Boys in Blue will be battling the Rockies in Colorado.

Celebrating Children festivities will start at 5 p.m. and conclude – hopefully with a victory celebration - at 9 p.m. The public can purchase tickets to this unique event that will include: an appearance by Dodger great and six-time National League All-Star Ron Cey; Stadium Club cocktail party and dinner buffet featuring panoramic Chavez Ravine views; after-dinner dessert and coffee; cheering on the Boys in Blue via DodgerVision and walls of flat-screen TVs; live auction; raffle drawing; complimentary parking; and gift bags for all in attendance. Sponsors and platinum suite donors also will enjoy a pre-game VIP stadium tour as well as a meet and greet with Ron Cey.

The centerpiece of Celebrating Children is the presentation of the Hathaway-Sycamores' Celebrating Children Award. Each year, the event honors an individual or family that exemplifies the values of integrity, leadership and commitment to the well-being of children, adults, families, and communities. For more than 110 years, these values have served as the foundation for the compassion and care that each child receives at Hathaway-Sycamores. The 2014 Celebrating Children honorees are Annsley and George Strong, longtime residents of La Cañada Flintridge and longtime supporters of Hathaway-Sycamores.

Annsley Strong's roots with Hathawaywas a member of the Los Altos Auxiliary, which raises funds for the children and teens who are in residential treatment at Hathaway-Sycamores' El Nido campus in Altadena. As Strong recalls, the Los Altos Auxiliary decided to devote its fundraising efforts to Hathaway-Sycamores "because we liked that the agency had started as Pasadena's first orphanage and was a local organization."

The Los Altos Auxiliary thus served as a bridge to Hathaway-Sycamores, and Annsley Strong along with her husband George Strong, Jr. - has been actively involved ever since. She served on the agency's Board of Directors for 13 years and held the position of Board Chair from 2006 to 2008. Annsley Strong currently serves on Hathaway-Sycamores' Advisory Board and is a member of the agency's Strategic Planning Committee.

NEW GYN ONCOLOGY CLINIC OPENS AT METHODIST HOSPITAL, ARCADIA

By Joan Schmidt

Recently I attended the ribbon-cutting ceremony for the new GYN Oncology Clinic at Methodist Hospital. Heading the new institute is Dr. Alan Schaerth, MD, a talented and respected GYN oncologist with over 20 years of experience. Prior to coming to Methodist, Dr. Schaerth practiced in Pasadena. Dr. Schaerth was not able to attend the ribbon-cutting; he was performing emergency surgery. Dan Ausman, President and CEO of Methodist Hospital took over.

When I arrived at the clinic, there was a warm welcome by Mr. Ausman and Kathleen Ellison, Chairman of the Methodist Hospital Board. Also attending were Mayor Pro Tem Gary Kovacic, Council Member Sho Tay and City Manager Dominic Lazzaretto. Representing the Chamber were CEO Scott Hettrick and President Denise Weaver. Right before the Ribbon-cutting, Ausman explained how this clinic came to fruition at Methodist. Fifteen years ago, a clinic was in the works at a hospital in Irvine, where Dr. Alan Schaerth was affiliated, but the clinic didn't happen. For that reason, they went to Dr. John Schaerth- Alan's father, and sought his help. Dr. John Schaerth had a network of thirty of OBGYN Oncology Clinics in California and Nevada-the largest clinic in the US. Ausman said, "This clinic (at Methodist) is the re-creation of his (Alan's) father's dream."

?The GYN Oncology Institute features updated technology in two large procedure rooms, an exam room, a private family consultation room and a large, family-centered waiting room. The atmosphere is designed to be welcoming for both patients and family members. I was very impressed with the bright cheery rooms and was surprised to learn the building had been around a long time, but was recently refurbished. (A special "Thank You" to David Neal, Chief Nursing Officer at Methodist, for many interesting tidbits of info)

In addition to housing Dr. Alan Schaerth's practice, the institute provides multiple servicesexaminations, consultations, and certain outpatient procedures for patients with GYN cancers and other disorders.

The first presentation, A Certificate of Commendation on behalf of the City was by Mayor Pro Tem Gary Kovacic and Council Member Sho Tay. Mayor Pro Tem Kovacic noted, "it has been quite a "profound day". (In the morning, there had been the celebration of the life of paramedic/firefighter Mike Herdman.) This event is a "continuation of that wide spectrum of doing important things to enhance those who need help". Kovacic continued, "Methodist Hospital is an important asset to Arcadia... one of its Crown Jewels. Denise Weaver also presented a Certificate on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, which was followed by the official Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony.

This GYN Oncology Clinic will serve many and certainly will be an asset to the community.

FOOTHILL MWD REQUESTS CUSTOMERS TO COMPLY WITH STATE MANDATES

Foothill Municipal Water District (FMWD) asks customers in its service area to comply with approved State mandates to reduce water consumption through the reduction of irrigation to three days a week. The State Water Resources Control Board adopted emergency regulations that prohibit certain outdoor water uses and require urban water agencies to implement mandatory outdoor water use restrictions under their water shortage contingency plans. Fines of $500 could be assessed by local agencies for violating the prohibitions. These restrictions are anticipated to go into effect around August 1,

"The largest use of water in our service area is for outdoor irrigation. Reducing irrigation to three days a week will help save water for the future should this drought continue into next year or multiple years," said FMWD General Manager Nina Jazmadarian.

FMWD continues to offer rebates to assist customers in cutting water use. Rebates include a turf removal program, rotating nozzles, weather based irrigation controllers and soil moisture sensor. Information about the rebates and pre-qualification requirements can be found at: http://www.fmwd.com/Conservation.aspx. Foothill Municipal Water District provides imported water to Crescenta Valley Water District, La Cañada Irrigation District, Mesa Crest Water Company, Valley Water Company, Lincoln Avenue Water Company, Las Flores Water Company and Rubio Cañon Land & Water Association. Kinneloa Irrigation District, another retail agency, takes no water from

LOS ANGELES COUNTY APPROVES FULL IMPLEMENTATION OF LAURA'S LAW MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAM

A Compassionate, Cost-Effective Approach, Proven to Reduce Incarceration and Homelessness

LOS ANGELES COUNTY - The Board of Supervisors unanimously approved implementing Laura's Law, a comprehensive, treatment-based approach for the mentally ill -- many of whom are incapable of recognizing their illness, announced Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich.

"Laura's Law has proven to significantly improve the lives of program of participants, decrease incarceration, reduce homelessness, and enhance public safety," said Supervisor Antonovich. "It provides a humane alternative to the revolving door of mental hospitals, jails and the street."

Supervisor Antonovich, who has worked tirelessly to support this effort, collaborated with former Assemblywoman Helen Thomson who authored the legislation that reformed the 1967 Lanterman-Petris-Short law.

Laura's Law was named after Laura Wilcox who was killed by a delusional individual suffering with severe mental illness and patterned after New York State's Kendra's Law. Initiated by Supervisor Antonovich, the County had previously adopted a successful pilot program which has resulted in a 78% reduction in incarcerations and a 77% reduction in hospitalizations among program participants.

REP. SCHIFF SECURES $5 MILLION IN APPROPRIATIONS BILL TO DEPLOY FULL WEST COAST EARTHQUAKE EARLY WARNING SYSTEM

Funding Will Be Used to Hire New Staff, Purchase Equipment, and Begin Implementation of System Washington, DC - Today, Rep. Adam Schiff give us a heads up before the 'big one' hits, so we (D-Burbank) announced that the Appropriations Committee has included $5 million in funding in the Fiscal Year 2015 Interior and Environment Appropriations bill for the Earthquake Early Warning System, the first time Congress has ever provided funding specifically for the system. Earlier this year, Schiffled a group of 25 Members from California, Washington and Oregon in organizing a request that the committee fund an early earthquake warning system. A limited system developed by Caltech, UC-Berkeley and University of Washington, in conjunction with the United State Geological Survey (USGS), has already been deployed and has proven that the early warning technology is sound.

This $5 million in funding will allow those developing the statewide system to begin purchasing and installing additional sensors, hire new staff members, and come closer to deploying comprehensive early earthquake warning coverage throughout earthquake prone regions of the West Coast. The Schiff language included in the Appropriations bill reads: "...the Committee provides $5,000,000 from within the funds provided for Earthquake Hazards to transition the earthquake early warning demonstration project into an operational capability on the West Coast."

"It's critical that the West Coast implement an earthquake early warning system that will can save lives and protect infrastructure," said Rep. Schiff. "We are constantly reminded of our vulnerability - with tremors, earthquakes and aftershocks rattling our homes and businesses - and even a few seconds of warning will allow people to seek cover, automatically slow or stop trains, pause surgeries and more. This first phase of funding will allow the work to begin expanding the system, and we will continue to work to secure future funding along with our other federal, state and local partners."

"Caltech and its partners are very grateful that the House of Representatives is sending a strong signal of support for implementation of an earthquake early warning for the West Coast," said President Thomas F. Rosenbaum of the California Institute of Technology. "We look forward to moving ahead with this critical technology over the next few years."

In April, Rep. Schiff and 25 Members from California, Washington and Oregon sent a letter to the Appropriations Committee urging them to fully fund an earthquake early warning system. Schiff's letter requested additional funding for the Earthquake Hazards Program in USGS to kickstart the process of building out the early warning system so we can be ready for the next big quake.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS

land with his sophomore solo record, "Days Of Being Wild." Princeton specializes in 80s new wave with a heavy emphasis on synthesizers. Kivel's solo work is much more grounded and gravitates toward nostalgia and melancholy in lyricism. He ventures into minimalistic indie rock with his acoustic guitar and the occasional mellow electric tunes. Drums are also apparent, which lacked on his first solo endeavor, "Double Exposure." Kivel isn't here to lead the charge or revolutionize the singer/songwriter performer. However, this different side of him in many ways outshines the glitz and glamour of his dance-infused pop band. The title seems more appropriately fitting for a Princeton album, but I assume the days of being wild are clearly a past diversion.

The new record is starkly beautiful and inviting. It will bring you in just enough to make you feel something you haven't felt in quite awhile. No yelling or shouts here, just sweet whispers that have you leaning in closer. While some lyrics get lost under much reverb, I've always fancied such sounds. His gentle but raw vocals blend extremely well with both his lowbeat and uplifting melodies. "You and I Only" is blissful with sweet melodies and romantic lyrics to carry you off to another place and time. Kivel appears more focused with this effort. "Days Of Being Wild" is compacted and purposeful. It nearly flows effortlessly along. While many describe the sound as post-breakup, sulking in your bed type of music, I still found much of it to be enriching in a strange way. The reflective lyrics and lounge-y sound for most of the tunes served me very well. One of the louder tunes, "Underwater," showcases Kivel's tensile croon. While the reverb masks some of the lyrics, the resonance is beyond gorgeous. "Blonde Boy" and "Waiving Goodbye" definitely slow down the already mellow album way too much. At fourteen tracks, those two easily could have been cut from the roster.

All in all, "Days Of Being Wild" entices, excites, mourns and echoes with nostalgia. It's one of the better solo albums I've had the pleasure to hear in awhile. Kivel's other personality (opposite of Princeton) is rather charming. The sophomore release improves exponentially over Kivel's green debut. The sound palette has expands here, which equals a much more satisfying listening experience. The sense of loneliness may be there, but listening to this album could be just anyone's cure.

With his mind on track and a definite purpose for this go around, Kivel dazzles and impresses much more than anticipated. In fact, "Days Of Being Wild" is one of the strongest releases this year not only in the realm of indie-acoustic-folk rock but in any soundscape.

ENDURING COURAGE: ACE PILOT EDDIE RICKENBACKER AND THE DAWN OF THE AGE OF SPEED by John F. Ross

At the turn of the 20th century two new technologies, the car and airplane, took the nation's imagination by storm as they burst into American life. The brave souls that leaped into these dangerous contraptions and pushed them to unexplored extremes became new American heroes: the race car driver and the flying ace. No individual did more to create and intensify these raw new roles than the tall, gangly Eddie Rickenbacker, who defied death over and over with such courage and pluck that a generation of Americans came to know his face better than the president's. The son of poor, German-speaking Swiss immigrants in Columbus, Ohio, Rickenbacker overcame the specter of his father's violent death, a debilitating handicap, and, later, accusations of being a German spy, to become the American military ace of aces in World War I and a Medal of Honor recipient. He and his comrades, created a new kind of aviation warfare, as they pushed their machines to the edge of destruction, and often over it, without parachutes, radios, or radar. He was an innovator on the racetrack, a skilled aerial dualist and squadron commander, and founder of Eastern Air Lines. Decades after his heroics against the Red Baron's Flying Circus, he again showed a war-weary nation what it took to survive against nearly insurmountable odds when he and seven others endured a harrowing ordeal adrift without food or water in the Pacific during World War II.

THE MOCKINGBIRD NEXT DOOR: LIFE WITH HARPER LEE by Marja Mills

To Kill a Mockingbird is one of the best loved novels of the 20th century. But for the last 50 years, the novel's author, Harper Lee, has said almost nothing on the record. Journalists have trekked to her hometown of Monroeville, Alabama, where Harper Lee, known to her friends as Nelle, has lived with her sister, Alice, failing to get an interview with the author. But in 2001, the Lee sisters opened their door to Chicago journalist Marja Mills. It was the beginning of a long conversation and a great friendship. In 2004, Mills moved into the house next door to the sisters. She spent the next eighteen months there.. Nelle shared her love of history, literature, and the Southern way of life. Nelle helped make sure she was getting the story and the South right. Alice shared the stories of their family. The Mockingbird Next Door is the story of Mills's friendship with the Lee sisters. It is a testament to the great intelligence, sharp wit, and tremendous storytelling power of these two women, especially that of Nelle. Mills was given a rare opportunity to know Nelle Harper Lee, to be part of the Lees' life, and to hear them reflect on their upbringing, their corner of the Deep South, how To Kill a Mockingbird affected their lives, and why Nelle Harper Lee chose to never write another novel.

MR. PENUMBRA'S 24-HOUR BOOKSTORE:

A NOVEL by Robin Sloan

This book was the Winner of the Alex Award, a finalist for the Los Angeles Times Book Prize for First Fiction, named a Best Book of the Year by NPR, Los Angeles Times, and San Francisco Chronicle. The Great Recession has shuffled Clay Jannon away from life as a San Francisco web-design drone and into the aisles of Mr. Penumbra's 24-Hour Bookstore. But after a few days on the job, Clay discovers that the store is more curious than either its name or its gnomic owner might suggest. The customers are few, and they never seem to buy anything—instead, they "check out" large, obscure volumes from strange corners of the store. Suspicious, Clay engineers an analysis of the clientele's behavior, seeking help from his variously talented friends. But when they bring their findings to Mr. Penumbra, they discover the bookstore's secrets extend far beyond its walls. Rendered with irresistible brio and dazzling intelligence, Mr. Penumbra's 24-Hour Bookstore is exactly what it sounds like: an establishment you have to enter and will never want to leave.

Before Craig's List we looked for rentals in the classified sections of newspapers and abbreviations were used by realtors so they could get more bang for their buck. 6 RMS RIV VU (a six-room apartment with a river view) is the lure that draws Anne, a young housewife, and Paul, an advertising executive, to a rent-controlled place in Manhattan in 1972. Anne and Paul are both married not to each other. When the doorknob on the front door disappears they get trapped in the rental and sparks ignite. Described by the New York Times as "A Broadway comedy of fun and class, as cheerful as a rising souffle. Two people playing out a very vital game of love, an attractive fantasy with a precious tincture of truth to it." This romantic comedy hasn't been seen in Los Angeles for many years, and when I was looking for a play to kick off our new season, and my first as Artistic Director, I wanted to find a show that wasn't too familiar, but that would be fun for our audiences and a great way to end the summer. I think Bob Randall's play fits the bill. It's a funny and appealingly nostalgic look at love in America in the early 70's full of references to Women's Lib, encounter groups, and

FAMILY MATTERS

By Marc Garle

BEFORE YOU TAKE OFF FOR SUMMER VACATION, TAKE ON THESE 5 TO-DOs

It's no surprise that Americans spend more time planning their summer vacations than they do planning their estate. After all, a vacation is a trip you want to go on, while the "eternal trip" is not.

However, wouldn't you travel with more peace of mind if you knew you had taken the necessary steps to protect your family if something were to happen to you? That's why you need to tackle these five important tasks before you go on that much-deserved summer vacation:

Guardians for minor children -- if you have children under the age of 18, you MUST name a legal guardian (or guardians) to ensure that they will never be put in the hands of strangers or people you wouldn't want raising them. If you do not name legal guardians before something happens, you give up the right to decide who will raise your children if you no longer can. You should name short-term guardians in case of emergency, and then plan for long-term guardianship. A full Kids Protection Plan® will ensure there is no gap in your children's care, ever, no matter what happens.

Beneficiary review -- if it's been awhile since you updated your beneficiary forms for retirement accounts, life insurance or other assets, it's time for a review -- especially if there have been any major changes in your life. And keep in mind, it is generally a bad idea to list minor children as beneficiaries on insurance and retirement accounts. These should be passed to children through a Trust.

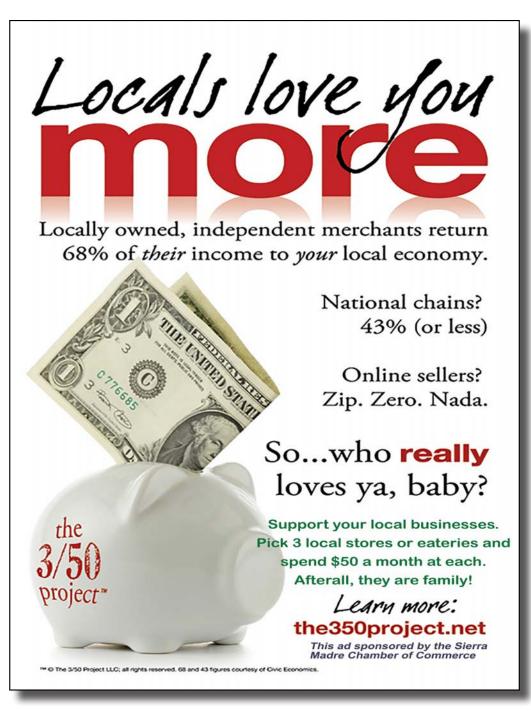

Estate plan review -- if you have experienced a birth, death, marriage, divorce, property purchase, property sale, or other life-changing event since you last updated your estate plan, you need to be sure those changes are reflected by updating your plan.

Advance healthcare directive -- if you become incapacitated and can't make your own health care decisions, have you named someone who you can depend on to carry out your wishes? If not, you need to execute an advance health care directive that includes a durable power of attorney and a HIPAA release so your medical information can be shared.

Insurance update -- is your life insurance still sufficient to meet the needs of your family? If not, or you're not sure, then you should revise your policy before you hit the open road.

If you need to do any of these things, don't procrastinate. It's time to take care of business. We can help make it easy for you to get your plan in order so your family is protected and provided for, no matter what. Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou CRUNCHING THE NUMBERS

You recently read here about formulating your offer based on the information included in a CMA (Comparative Market Analysis). You can fine-tune that offer by applying current market trends. Trends may vary by region, state, city, and even the neighborhood, so do your homework.

You and your agent can study a lot of available statistics - the CMA, local listings' DOM (Days on Market), and list to sale price ratios. The CMA compares similar properties, while the DOM figure gives you an idea of whether you're looking at a buyer's market or a seller's market (in which you'll have more competition and less negotiating power). If possible, look at DOM for listings within a mile of the home you want to purchase - it's that area-specific.

Let's move on to the average "List Price to Sales Price Ratio" (LP:SP). Like it sounds, it's simply a percentage based on how closely the final sales price corresponds to the price at which the home was listed. A house that sells for the asking price has an LP:SP ratio of 100%. So a house that lists for $175,000 but sells for $160,000 has an LP:SP of 91%.

Look at the these ratios for the homes on the CMA that most closely match yours, and you'll have a sound basis for what percentage of the list price to offer.

TIMING YOUR EMAIL CAMPAIGNS

When deciding on the best time to send an email campaign, consider 2 things:

1. Studies show the majority of emails are read within the first 4 hours after sent: Even though someone can save your email and open it later, most people don't. It's important to consider the time and day you send your emails. For example, if you market to Moms, avoid sending emails between 6am and 9am, Monday – Friday. Most Moms are busy taking kids to school, making lunches, etc. and don't have time to look at your email. Get to know your audience and play around with timing. You might do a split test and divide your email list in thirds and test different days and times to find your sweet spot. You can also use social media and listen to your audience to find out what's important to them and take note of when they are most active.

2. Is there a current event or holiday you can leverage: I like to follow the big boys and see how they leverage holidays and current events. For example, I think Papa Johns does a great job with their promotions. If the Lakers are playing, the will send out an email announcing the game and start time with a coupon for 50% off game day. What current events can you take advantage of that fit with the flavor of your brand? Think outside of the box. We know a fun restaurant downtown that runs a promotion on Elvis' birthday. Is there a quarky holiday you can play with?

In my last article, I talked about a client who was feeling like a failure. She had traveled a number of career paths, and she was feeling bad. Her belief, "I am a failure," was keeping her from moving forward in her new business, and she came to me frustrated.

The power in the tongue! Words can either build us up or knock us down. They can energize + inspire or deflate + defeat. If you are frustrated at your progress too, notice how you are using your words. Simply put...

A negative thought can only produce a negative result.

And a positive thought can only produce a positive result.

That means that no matter how hard you work, if your words are not positive, your effort will be wasted. Therefore, before you step out to make a difference, get your words in order. Unload the negative ones and load up on the healthy ones.

HOWARD Hays As I See It

"Are folks more interested in politics or are they more interested in solving the problem?" - President Barack Obama, upon arrival in Texas

I can't imagine condoning a loved one, a child, embarking on a hellish 1,500 mile journey with limited probability of survival. Nor can I put myself in the shoes of that 17-yearold girl I heard explaining through an interpreter and through tears how she made it from Honduras after her brother was killed for refusing to join a gang, and she herself was threatened with the same unless she agreed to join up and become their "property".

(San Pedro Sula in Honduras has the highest murder rate in the world at 193 per 100,000. In NYC it's 5.1.)

It's hard to pass judgment sitting home in Sierra Madre. But I can ask myself, as suggested by the president, if I'm one who's interested in the problem, or in simply playing politics.

I gave that some thought, and figured, Well, yes and no."

To understand the problem, we need to be clear on what it's not. In Greg Welborn's column last week, he suggests it's a matter of "border security".

The current problem has nothing to do with "border security" (other than by having to divert personnel). Deportations by ICE at the border have increased every year since President Obama took office from 134,451 in FY 2008 to 235,093 in FY 2013. A decreasing percentage of deportees have been children, with an increasing percentage being those with criminal records.

The thousands now making the trek to the Rio Grande Valley from Central America aren't trying to sneak through, but are readily turning themselves in to authorities. These aren't illegal bordercrossers, but refugees.

Greg blames us for "enticing the world's masses with the promise of ample benefits upon arrival", though there's no evidence of any such "promise" playing a role. There's the 2008 law passed unanimously under Bush which guarantees a hearing before any deportation to those under 18 from places other than Canada and Mexico. The DREAM Act's come up in the debate, but that only affects those who grew up here, were educated here and who call here home.

For root causes you could go back thirty years when under Reagan we sunk $5 billion into supporting the military and landowners in El Salvador through the translator and through tears, - fueling a conflict that cost 75,000 lives, told how "kids are dying along the way; proportional to the number we lost in our own Civil War.

We could look to the streets of L.A., where kids displaced by that war came and established the Calle 18 and Mara Salvatrucha gangs. Later deported back to their home countries, they picked up where they left off - in a country awash with weapons bought with our $5 billion.

Five years ago under President Obama, we stood aside as the democratically elected government of Honduras was overthrown by a military coup. The oligarchs felt threatened by advocates for higher wages and increased access to education - and by a people given hope. Honduras was the original "banana republic"; now, it's the most lethal one.

This problem has roots in events under Reagan, Bush and Obama. But for the politics, it's got to be all Obama's fault.

Greg complains the administration's $3.7 billion proposal would "allocate not one thin dime to additional border security". What the president has chosen to do instead is address the problem, not the politics.

That $3.7 billion includes:

$1.8 billion to HHS for care of children and refugees

$1.5 billion to the Dept. of Homeland Security for "detention and removal" of adults, extra pay for ICE and Border Patrol agents, the Border Enforcement Security Task Force, air surveillance and targeting immigrant smugglers

$300 million to the State Dept for 'repatriation, strengthening foreign borders, addressing root causes of migration" and media campaigns in Mexico and Central America

$64 million to the Justice Dept for additional immigration judges and legal

Some Republicans suggest cutting funds for the children and spending instead on National Guard troops (who couldn't stop or arrest anyone, anyway).

Others won't support anything, seeing this as not a problem for the nation but for President Obama, "who owns this problem and created this problem", according to Rep. Randy Weber (R-TX).

cost "be offset from Obamacare.' (In the meantime, the House just passed the "bonus depreciation" corporate tax break, adding $287 billion to our deficit over the next ten years.) Greg assures that Conservatives "stand ready to negotiate a comprehensive solution", but can't find "reliable negotiating partners." The president last December endorsed $46.3 billion over ten years for border security, adding 20,000 Border Patrol agents with "24-hour surveillance" of border areas and 225 more judges to help with the backlog. This was part of the comprehensive immigration reform bill produced by "reliable negotiating partners" from both parties, which passed the Senate with bipartisan support. It also appears to have majority support in the House. Rep. Donna Edwards (D-MD), however, said last week it's stalled because of opposition from eighteen Republicans, and Speaker John Boehner (R-OH) won't let it come to the floor for a vote. You can't risk having an accomplishment Democrats might campaign on in the mid-terms.

Sen. Richard Shelby (R-AL) suggests the

The 17-year-old mentioned above, they drown, they re murdered and The only thing I would beg is, please give me a chance to stay here, so I can fulfill my dreams, so I can take care of my family."

In a Times story, 800 volunteers in McAllen, Texas have served some 3,000 immigrants at their "hastily organized" immigrant relief center. Food donations have overflowed "in a region where many residents live in shacks and trailers without electricity".

Then there were the several dozen in Murrieta banging on buses carrying women and children, shouting "Send them back!", spitting at counter-protesters and forcing the buses back to San Ysidro.

This doesn't solve any problems. It isn't politics, either. It's just shameful.

GREG Welborn

HERE WE GO, AGAIN!

The world stands on the brink of yet another war between Israel and the Palestinians. The accepted wisdom is that the Jews have once again pricked their neighbors and ignited the powder keg. But, is it really just a matter of the Jews behaving themselves and dealing fairly with their neighbors? If only the Jews would give up some land – see the legitimacy in the Palestinian cause. The problem with this scenario is that it assumes the Palestinian cause is simply to obtain a homeland for themselves and to then live peacefully with their neighbors. Were that the true Palestinian cause, we would have had peace long

It is beyond ironic that the accepted wisdom retains credibility at a time when Israel's coalition government has openly accepted the recognition of a Palestinian state. Israeli opinion has moved over the years to the point where there is a strong national consensus for a two-state solution. In fact, Benjamin Netanyahu became the first prime minister to agree to a settlement freeze.

Netanyahu froze settlements for 10 months, inviting Mahmoud Abbas, Chairman of the PLO, to negotiate the border lines, terms and conditions. Abbas boycotted the talks for 9 of those months, showed up in the 10th, and then walked out when the freeze expired. That's not good faith, but it is consistent with the long history of Palestinian actions.

In 2000 at the Camp David meetings, Israeli Prime Minister, Ehud Barak, offered Yasser Arafat a Palestinian state including the unthinkable - the division of Jerusalem. Arafat refused without any counter offer, returned home and then launched a terror campaign which cost 1,000+ Israeli lives.

In 2001, the Clinton administration negotiated an even better deal for Palestinians. Both sides needed to swallow hard and release long-held demands. The Jews did; Arafat did not. Again, the Palestinians walked away from their "cause".

In 2005, Israel was actually convinced to give up Gaza. They withdrew all forces, dismantled 21 settlements and forcibly evicted 9,000 of their own citizenry from those settlements. This was then followed by a 2008 Israeli offer to give up 100% of the West Bank, acknowledge Palestinian statehood, and again divide Jerusalem. The Palestinian response? A steady increase in Palestinian rocket attacks on Israel.

An honest observer can see that the Palestinians have repeatedly been offered success for their "cause": land, statehood, and an equal claim to Jerusalem. Each time, they have rejected the solution because each time the solution didn't address their true cause. Each offer contained in it a requirement that the Palestinians accept Israel's right to exist. Each offer was meant to be a final peace, but the Palestinians have no interest in a final peace; they have no interest in allowing a Jewish state to Land for peace was the basis for peace with Egypt; it was the basis for peace in Jordon. In both cases, Arab leadership had a real interest in peace, accepted fair deals and, at least to date, has honored the agreements. Not so with the Palestinians. Palestinians are animated by a hatred which knows few boundaries, and that hatred is nurtured by both Hamas and PLO leadership which are united in a visceral hatred of Israel and will take any excuse to translate that hatred from ugly words ("pigs", "apes", "rabid dogs", "non-humans") into real sticks and stones (literally thousands of rockets).

This time around Hamas jumped on the murder of a Palestinian teenager. The murder of any person, especially a child, is a gruesome act and warrants an appropriate response. But waging a war is not an appropriate response by any stretch of domestic or international law, or even of a properly tethered imagination. First of all, the Palestinian's murder was in response to the Palestinian murder of 3 Jewish youths. That is NOT justification, only context. If murder is a legitimate cause for war, then Israel is 3-times more justified in warring against Palestinians. More telling, the different public responses to these murders reside on unequal moral planes. Israeli citizens, Jewish authorities and leading Rabbis have all condemned the murder of the Palestinian – several of the Rabbis calling for the death sentence. The response among Palestinians to the kidnapping and murder of the 3 Jewish youths was celebration. The mother of one of the Palestinian suspects commented that "if he did the kidnapping, I'll be proud of him", while the mother of another Palestinian terrorist celebrated the "martyrdom operation" which cost her son his life.

What kind of people celebrate the purposeful murder of innocents? What type of people celebrate the death of their own child, who was trying to kill and maim hundreds, if not thousands, in his "martyrdom operation"? The answer is, not people who truly want peace or with whom you can negotiate peace in good faith.

So what's left for Israel to do? Sadly, if Israel wants a fair, lasting, "final" peace, it's going to have to attack the root cause of war. That is not Jewish settlements or any mount or location of land. Israel will have to destroy Hamas as a viable political entity and as a military power even in the face of the inevitable calls for restraint or proportionate response. This does not mean the purposeful targeting of citizens even the accidental killing of whom Israel takes great pain to avoid. Even now, Israel is warning citizens of Hamas to leave the area. This is what a great moral power does. Putting military targets next to school yards, hospitals and residential areas as Hamas routinely does - is what a cowardly and evil power does.

The world will be better off if the Jews will wage this war until Hamas is destroyed. Secondarily to that, the region will achieve long-term peace when Arabs of all political and religious affiliations come to recognize Israel's right to exist. When that happens, peace will happen.

OUT TO PASTOR A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder "LET IT GO, LET GO, LET IT GO"

This year I celebrate my 20th year as a practicing grandfather. I am not sure that after 20 years I know anything more about being a grandfather than I did before. I have not found any books written on how to be a grandfather, maybe I should write one. I have enjoyed those 20 years and it just seems to be getting better.

One of the interesting things about a grandfather is spending time with the grandchildren, especially when they are trying to watch a movie.

I enjoy a movie every now and again, but when it comes to little girls, they do not seem to have the same taste in movies as their grandfather. This is something I will never understand. What is a grandfather to do? The only way to get them to sit still and be quiet is to show one of their movies.

One of the movies so important to little girls these days is the movie called Frozen. As it happened, we had to have a special night set aside to watch this movie with the granddaughters. I figured, how hard could it really be?

I consented on this movie because I thought this would give those tired, overworked little gray cells upstairs a chance to relax and not work so hard. After all, how can you think when you are watching something like a movie for children? I also thought it would be nice to rest my body as well as my eyes, if I can get away with it. After all, who wants to follow the plot, if there is any such thing, in a

We had settled down to watch this exciting little girl's movie, I was half dozing and then I began to think about the manuscript I was working on. I had been having trouble with a certain aspect of that manuscript and as I sat there, I begin to think about how I could fix that problem. It almost came to me, but then I heard, "Grandpa, grandpa, grandpa look at that, look at that!" The cheering granddaughters brought me back to the land of the living and the reality as they were watching it. Both of them at the same time begin to explain to me what it happened and what was going to happen. Between the two little chatterboxes, I had no idea what they were talking about. What is a grandfather to do but smile broadly and pretend you are listening. After all, they are only little

They soon quieted down and were fixated on the screen watching the movie unfold. I sighed a deep sigh of relief and went back into my previous stupor. I try to follow the movie, but then I remembered that in the afternoon I had to write a column for my newspapers. As of yet, I did not have an idea what that column would be. I like to start with the title and then following that develop a story line. As yet, I did not have an acceptable column title. As I mused about this, thoughts were beginning to gel and that little light bulb began to flicker. Thoughts were beginning to come into place, and then I heard some loud screaming and clapping and two little girls were jumping up and down singing, "Let it go, let it go, let it go." I sat up in my chair, looking around trying to figure out what in the world they were trying to let go. It is at this point that grandmothers are no help to grandfathers. Grandmothers can say, "You girls watch the movie with grandpa while I make Personally, I do not think it is fair. I would like to make supper one night while grandma joins the little girls watching a movie. The problem is, nobody would eat the supper that I would prepare, not even Yours Truly.

What these little girls were all excited about was something I was trying to figure out. It did not make any sense to me, but as I watched the little grandchildren, they were excited, laughing, shouting and singing. Of course, it is hard to tell the difference between shouting and singing, especially in today's musical world. They were absolutely enjoying themselves and I tried to focus in on the source of their Grandpa," both of them yelled at me in absolute delight, "sing the song with us." What grandpa's go through while entertaining their grandchildren.

I made a deal with them at that time, "I will sing with you, but I certainly will not dance with you." A grandfather has to draw the line somewhere. And so, I joined in singing, "Let it go, let it go, let it go." I got those words down pretty good, but the rest of the song was a mysterious blank to me. They were excited about singing it and soon I was excited about watching them sing it.

That evening when the little ones were snuggled into bed, I remember what David said. "For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning" (Psalms 30:5).

In the Hebrew, so they tell me, the word "joy," also means singing. My faith in Jesus Christ has brought me to a wonderful place where I can sing, "Let it go, let it

WHAT ON 98

July 14 – July 20 , 2014

The Most Dangerous Game is playing Thursday at 7:00 p.m. Released on September 16, 1932: A horror murder thriller about a wild game hunter that hunts for and murders . . . people.

There have been several movies with the basic plot of a demented hunter who gets his excitement from hunting down men for sport. But I believe that this one is the first, and possibly the most terrifying. The great British actor Leslie Banks is Count Zaroff, a madman with a head wound that inhabits a strange island and after getting bored with hunting wild animals, decides to trap and hunt humans. He sets up false bouy lights in the harbor of his remote island, and as unsuspecting ships pass between the lights, their ships crash and the survivors wash up on his shore, giving him his next victims.

Joel McCrea is a wild animal hunter washed up on shore, who discovers the Count, along with guests from a previous shipwreck that includes the beautiful Fay Wray as Eve, and her brother Martin. Martin becomes the hunted that night, and soon Bob and Eve discover the evil Count's real goal - to hunt the most dangerous game - man. The next morning Bob and Eve are set loose on the island with one knife, and given until sundown to escape the small island before he goes hunting for them. Can they out-wit the master hunter and gain their freedom, or will the evil Count Zaroff hunt and kill them in his search for the most dangerous game? Trust me, this one will keep your interest right up till the final scene. Enjoy!
