FRIENDS OF THE SIERRA MADRE LIBRARY SILENT AUCTION

The Friends of the Sierra Madre Library announce that their Silent Auction at the library will continue until December 1. Featured are many interesting and collectible books, including some Signed, First and Limited Editions. The books will be in the Display Case in the main room of the library and will be available for inspection from 1-2 p.m. on Saturdays, November 8, 15, 22 and 7-8 p.m. on Monday, December 1.

Check out some of the titles available:

SENTIMENTAL TOMMY-THE STORY OF HIS BOYHOOD

Inscribed by J.M. Barrie on the first page, with a word that may be "Fondly," this book was the first one written about the young boy Tommy and his childhood friend, Grizel. The following book about these two is called Tommy and Grizel, and the two books are thought to have a Peter Pan quality to them. A lovely book for any book collector.

This book was written by the popular science-fiction author, Poul Anderson. The novel centers on a ten-year interstellar vovage aboard a spaceship as the crew is preparing for their departure from Earth. It is particularly poignant for the crew as they know that while they are aboard the ship and traveling in space, time will be passing much more quickly back home. As a result, by the time they return, everyone they know will have long since died. As they navigate through space, the voyage takes a disastrous turn and the crew must cope with the unexpected leading to a dramatic and taut story. This is a beautiful red-leather Collector's Edition from Easton Press.

BRAVE NEW WORLD

Aldous Huxley wrote this book in 1931. Surprisingly, the novel anticipates developments in science, psychological conditioning and technology in the future and sounds an alarm about losing individual identity in the fast-paced world to come. This edition is presented in a fine slipcase and would be a wonderful gift for a collector.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Carl Sandburg, the American poet, won a Pulitzer Prize for his Lincoln biography, "The War Years" in 1940. These three volumes join his 1926 collection: Abraham Lincoln "The Prairie Years". This set of 6 books is a definitive collection of information on Lincoln.

DRYLANDS-THE DESERTS OF NORTH AMERICA

This is a First Edition volume of the beautiful photographs of Philip Hyde, a pioneer landscape photographer who studied under Ansel Adams, Edward Weston and Dorothea Lange in the 1940s. His beautiful and haunting photographs of deserts are presented in an over-sized volume in glorious color.

DRESSED: A CENTURY OF HOLLYWOOD COSTUME DESIGN

This book, written by Academy-nominated costume designer Deborah Nadoolman Landis, features one hundred years of Hollywood's most famous costumes and the characters they helped bring to life. She utilizes many costume sketches and photographs, many previously unpublished, as well as a collection of first-person anecdotes about the designers and the stars they dressed. This is a beautiful book that no film or fashion lover could resist!

ONE HUNDRED FLOWERS: GEORGIA O'KEEFFE

Curated by Nicholas Calloway, this book presents 100 of O'Keeffe's flower paintings in all their true-to-life colors. Each page shows an O'Keeffe flower with all the details she represented so beautifully in her paintings.

LES FLEURS DU MAL – VIGNETTES DE GALANIS

Charles Baudelaire, a French poet, essayist and art critic, published these poems in 1857. Translated as "The Flowers of Evil", the principal themes became a vanguard for unwholesomeness among the mainstream critics of the day. This particular Limited Edition was published in Paris in 1942 and is bound in red leather.

Come and look at these beautiful books soon! Bids may be written on bid sheets in the "Silent Auction" notebook on the Service Counter in the library. The highest bid will be accepted as the winner when the Auction closes at 8 p.m. on Monday, December 1.

All proceeds benefit the programs and resources of the Sierra Madre Library. For more information on the Friends' group please contact the Library at 626-355-7186 or on the Friends' website at sierramadrelibraryfriends.org

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"Service First, Quality Always!" Moe Marshal

Sierra Madre has a number of treasures... the amazing view of our own personal mountains; a whole bunch of really nice restaurants; citizens who take pride in our town; and Moe Marshal, owner of Moe's Automotive Service Center. All of you who are reading this are now going, "Oh yeah...Moe! Couldn't live without him!" My truck-driving walking partner, John, is among you, having been to Moe's very recently for a check engine light alert. After getting his red baby hooked up to all the diagnostic scanners, and the verdict being "rough engine," it was decided by Andy that a "wait and see" attitude was the answer and, once again, peace reigned over all. Moe is totally up to date on all the computerized equipment necessary to fix our cars these days, and, in fact, will be heading for Las Vegas to attend two different industry shows, three days of seeing all the latest and greatest car repair equipment.

"Love this place! They are honest, but more importantly ethical. Moe's has been servicing my vehicles for over 10 years. Andy also looked at vehicles for me when I was purchasing used cars for my daughters. The few times I haven't been able to get someone to take me home to/from the shop they have driven me to/from my home. Need a good mechanic? Look no further, this is where you should go. Both you and your vehicle will be happy

Just one of many YELP Reviews!

Yes, Moe has been there forever! Or practically forever, 31 years in January and he's been the owner for 26 years this coming May. His building dates from at least 1949! Moe's is truly a family business as Moe's stepsons, Andy and Tim, both started working with Moe when they were still in their teens, Andy working in the gas station, which is now a Valero station, when it was still Chevron. Yep, Moe owned that for quite a while, too, eventually selling to Bill Bergensmith, who always referred to my engineer husband as "The Doctor!' Tim started working with Moe at 15 but eventually heard the Midwest calling and moved to Springfield, Missouri, where Moe's two sisters live. Moe's wife, Shirley, did the books for quite a while, coming in on Friday nights to balance the debits and credits, but she passed that job along a while back. Andy, of course, is still an extremely necessary part of Moe's.

We didn't talk about cars all that much, except to bemoan the fact that nobody can work on their own car anymore. We both remember the auto shop, metal shop and motor shop classes that were available in high school years ago, which made it possible for most guys to pop their hood, make a few adjustments and keep going! Moe and Shirley are dedicated motor-home travelers, and love spontaneous trips where they pick a direction and take off, ending up in Springfield a couple of times a year. Moe says he loves the Midwest, enjoys traveling back roads and going through small towns, rather than the highways. Can't say as I blame him!

Moe's a motorcycle guy, too, part of a group, mostly family, that takes rides all over the Nation. There are about ten guys and their wives. If it's a fairly short trip, the wives ride along on the back but if it's one of the longer ones, the girls all fly. They've been to Boston for the fall colors; Nashville; Portland, Oregon; Durango, Colorado; and the next trip will start in Chicago. The guys will ride their Honda Goldwings or their Harleys. Moe is a Harley guy, and plans are underway to stay at all the nicest hotels and B & B's along the way. "No, we don't camp at all!" Neither do we,

If your car or truck is needing some loving attention, here are a few of the things that Moe and Andy will do for you:

Tune-up and Drivability Problem Correction; Oil Changes and Chassis Lubrication; Heating and Air Conditioning Services; Brakes; Batteries Starting/Charging System Diagnosis and Repair; Cooling System Service; Belts and Hoses; Tire Replacement, Repair, Alignment and Balancing Steering and Suspension; Factory Scheduled Maintenance

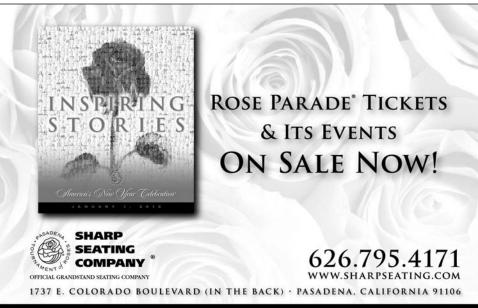

When the subject of possible retirement came up, Moe shook his head and said, "No, not anytime soon." Which should be a real relief for those of us who count on Moe to keep us going. He and Andy take time off and frequent vacations and, fortunately, the days when he was there pretty much all the time are gone and with so many good customers, he's a pretty happy guy.

If you haven't met Moe and handed him the keys to your ailing vehicle, you should! He's at 125 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Here's his phone number: 626-355-4714. He does both domestic and foreign cars. That's a 1950's Hudson he's standing next to!

If you like Walking Sierra Madre, you oughta take a look at my book!

"A Tablespoon of Love, A Tablespoon of Laughter" It's available on Amazon.com or from me! Christmas is coming and it's a great gift!

Disturbance / Trespassing – Suspect Arrested

On November 17 at 8:45 a.m., officers were dispatched to a residence in the 300 block of East Palm regarding a male and female yelling at each other at the location. Officers arrived and determined there was no physical fight, but the verbal altercation was loud and aggressive. The male subject is the exboyfriend of the female. The mother of the female subject is the lawful tenant of the residence and stated that the ex-boyfriend is not a resident and was not to come back to the location. The male subject was told to leave the location

The subject then came to the police department and was, once again, advised not to return to the location on Palm. However, immediately upon being warned, he headed in that direction. Officers followed and found that the subject had returned to the location and was aggressively yelling at the female subject again. Officers arrested the subject for trespassing and for causing a disturbance; he was held for the likelihood of reoccurrence. $Expired\ Registration\ /\ Possession\ of\ a\ Controlled\ Substance\ -\ Suspect$

Arrested On November 17 at 9:54 p.m., an officer on patrol in the area of Buena Vista and Huntington stopped a vehicle for expired registration. The driver did not have proof of registration for the vehicle. A consent search of the vehicle revealed a white substance on the driver's seat and the floorboard area, which tested positive for methamphetamine. The driver was arrested for possession of a controlled substance and was taken into custody. Hit and Run Traffic Collision - Suspect Arrested

On November 18 at 8:07 a.m., officers responded to the report of a utility pole down due to an accident. They arrived and found a utility pole had been sheered off, apparently from a vehicle hitting it, but the vehicle had fled the scene. Electrical wires were down, so Edison was notified. Witnesses reported that a male subject in a black Ford SUV had hit the pole and fled south on Sierra Terrace, possibly to an apartment on Sesmas. An officer searching for the vehicle was approached by a male subject who claimed his girlfriend was the driver in the accident, and the vehicle was hers. The officer located the damaged vehicle and girlfriend/registered owner. When confronted with the witness statements, the girlfriend admitted her boyfriend was driving the vehicle and she was not in the car. The officer questioned the male subject again, but he was not cooperative; he was arrested for misdemeanor hit and run and delaying and resisting an officer.

Vehicle Burglary

On November 19 at 4:26 a.m., a vehicle burglary was reported at a hotel parking lot in the 900 block of West Huntington. The victim parked his rental SUV in the lot and locked the vehicle. When he returned, he found the third row seats were missing. He called police. The investigation is continuing.

Burglary / Resisting and Delaying a Peace Officer / Displaying a Weapon in a Threatening Manner – Suspect Arrested

On November 19 at 3:22 p.m., police received a call reporting a male subject running through backyards in the 600 block of King Street. Officers arrived and contained the area. The Foothill Air Support Team helicopter arrived to assist. The subject was seen coming out of a garage with a golf club in his hand. He ran, but was confronted by officers. He held the golf club up and over his head in a threatening manner. Officers ordered him to put down the golf club and he complied. He was detained and taken into custody.

Mail Theft / Possession of Burglary Tools – Suspect Arrested

On November 20 at 3:24 a.m., an officer on patrol in the 400 block of Granite observed two subjects dressed in dark clothing and hooded sweatshirts. When they saw the officer, they ran. Assisting officers responded to the area, and after an area search, one of the two suspects was located. He was arrested for mail theft and possession of burglary tools. The second suspect has been identified and the investigation is continuing.

HEALTHY TIPS FOR HOLIDAY TIME WITH YOUR PETS

It's that time of year again. A time when most people in America gather around the table to enjoy traditional holiday meals with family and friends. Although food really shouldn't be the focus of the good times we spend together with our loved ones during the holiday season, we do tend to let it become a centerpiece of the festivities. I guess it comes from the early "hearth and home" mentality upon which many of our American traditions are based. Regardless of why we feel the need to stuff ourselves during the holidays, one thing is for sure; if you are a pet owner, your canine and feline loved-ones will most definitely want to take part in the food fun as well.

Some traditional holiday foods are fine to share with your pets, in fact some can make a tasty addition to the potentially mundane yet healthy daily ration they typically find in their bowl. However, there are some selections on the menu that your cat or dog might be better off doing without. Thanks to The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) for sharing this tight and tidy list of holiday foods that their experts say are OK to share or should be avoided.

Talkin' Turkey - If you decide to feed your pet a little nibble of turkey, make sure it's boneless and wellcooked. Don't offer raw or under-cooked turkey which may contain salmonella bacteria. Sage Advice - Sage can make your thanksgiving stuffing taste delish, but it and many other herbs contain essential oils and resins that can cause gastrointestinal upset and central nervous system depression to pets if eaten in large quantities. Cats are especially sensitive to the effects of certain

No Bread Dough - Don't spoil your pet's holiday by giving him raw bread dough. According to ASPCA experts, when raw bread dough is ingested, an animal's body heat causes the dough to rise in his stomach. As it expands, the pet may experience vomiting, severe abdominal pain and bloating, which could become a life-threatening emergency, requiring surgery.

Don't Let Them Eat Cake - If you're baking up Thanksgiving cakes, be sure your pets keep their noses out of the batter, especially if it includes raw eggs - they could contain salmonella bacteria that may lead to food poisoning.

Too Much of a Good Thing - A few small boneless pieces of cooked turkey, a taste of mashed potato or even a lick of pumpkin pie shouldn't pose a problem. However, don't allow your pets to overindulge, as they could wind up with a case of stomach upset, diarrhea or even worse - an inflammatory condition of the pancreas known as pancreatitis. In fact, it's best to keep pets on their regular diets during the

A Feast Fit for a Kong - While the humans are chowing down, give your cat and/or dog their own little feast. Offer them Nylabones or made-for-pet chew bones. Or stuff their usual dinner - perhaps with a few added tidbits of turkey, vegetables (try sweet potato or green beans) and dribbles of gravy inside a Kong toy. They'll be happily occupied for awhile, working hard to extract their dinner from the toy.

Here's wishing you and your loved ones a happy, healthy Thanksgiving

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND??

Looking For A Best Friend?? To enjoy the holidays with? Look no further than Logen! Pictured above posing in the poinsettias for his holiday photo, he is a very cute and sweet little 2 year old black and brown Chihuahua mix boy weighing only 6 ½ lbs. He has beautiful big round button eyes, a cute little under bite, and a great big smile that will capture your heart the minute you see him. This precious little boy is a little shy with people at first, but all he needs is a gentle, caring friend or two who will love him and be patient during the initial relationship development phase.

When Logen first arrived to our shelter, he was very timid and skittish around people which led us to believe he wasn't well socialized with people in his past. But after a couple of months of spending time with caring volunteers, little Logen happily greets you at the gate, is eating treats out of hands and starting to relax and enjoy pets, back massages and belly rubs!

Logen was also new to the leash, going on walks and a little skittish around street noises and activities when we first started taking him out. But he now loves his walking adventures, rolling in the grass, running and playing with his little friends, and has recently become insistent in leading his pack instead of following them

Logen loves other dogs and would be happiest in a home with another dog or two. Whenever he sees other dogs, his whole world lights up and he eagerly wants to meet, interact and play with them.

Logen has made a lot of strides, adjustments, and come a long way in the last couple of months since he has been with us. And now, he is waiting and ready to take the next big step in his life with people and hopefully, another dog, who will love and care for him forever. If he sounds and feels like the right little friend for you to bring home and into your life, please give him a chance, and come to the shelter to meet him.

He currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel information and photos of all our wonderful pets.

THE JOY OF YOGA GETTING TO GRATITUDE

It's the perfect practice. It's often working for us even without us time to reflect on gratitude and important role it plays in our lives. One might say that having contentment. We honor and appreciate what we have and often feel a generous spirit toward others. There is this feeling of being lucky to be alive and honor to have the great life that we do. All our needs are taken care of for each moment in time.

It's real easy to live in gratitude when life is going well. Our problems seem small, our health is good and even the finances are doing ok. But then life happens, there's a job loss, medical issue or loss of a loved one. Our inner light can become dim during these times of uncertainty. There's that feeling that what we have isn't enough, or the challenge or struggle we're faced with serves no purpose in our life.

So how, then can we become grateful in the midst of struggle and pain? Devotion to our practice. Our yoga practice is such a personal, spiritual Teacher at Yoga Madre gratitude and living in gratitude is the key to being conscious of the step-by-step progression. Tending to our practice and keeping that connection to our deepest selves can bring lasting joy. It's this connection that can bring us the assuredness we need during hard times. Our yoga practice serves us in all times of life, even moments when we feel we cannot do one thing right. Getting on the mat and finding our inner connection is always right.

Cultivating gratitude, even in the smallest way, will bring an appreciation for the gifts we already have. Imagine how thankful each one of us is for our yoga practice and the unending hope, ambition, love and compassion it brings.

Each day is a precious gift and we are all lucky in some way. Choose to make your yoga practice an expression of your gratitude on and off the mat. Smiles and laughter are bound to lead the way and brighten up your entire being. Namaste friends.

The study found that these high phylate foods like chickpeas, kidney beans, split peas, whole raw nuts and seeds have a protective effect against osteoporosis.

CONVENIENT WAYS TO GET HELP WITH YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you recommend some easier ways that I can get help with my Social Security questions? When I call their toll-free help line I get put on hold forever, and the wait time at my local Social Security office is over twro hours. Approaching 62

Dear Approaching,

It's unfortunate, but the past few years the Social Security Administration has made some major budget and staff cuts that have greatly increased their phone service and field office wait times for their customers. With that said, here's an alternative option and some tips that can help make your access to Social Security a little faster and easier.

Online Services

With the evolution of the Social Security website, the quickest and most convenient way to work with Social Security these days is to do it yourself online. Depending on what you need, most tasks can be done at SocialSecurity. gov like getting your Social Security statement, estimating your future benefits, applying for retirement or disability benefits, signing up for direct deposit, replacing a Medicare card and much more. See a complete list of what you can do online at ssa.gov/onlineservices.

You can also get information and answers to most of your Social Security questions at faq.ssa. gov if you're patient enough to read through the information yourself.

But, if you need more help than their website offers, you can always call Social Security's toll-free service line at 800-772-1213 Monday through Friday between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. and ask your question over the phone, or make a scheduled appointment with your local field office. To reduce your wait time, avoid calling during their rush hour times, which are the first week of the month, and daily from about 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Need Advice?

If you're seeking advice on when you should start taking your Social Security benefits, you need to know that while Social Security employees do provide information on how the system works under different circumstances, they aren't allowed to give case-specific advice Senior" book.

on when you should start drawing your benefits. If you want help with this, you'll need to turn to some of the free or fee-based Social Security tools that are available online through private financial service companies or AARP.

Depending on the service, these tools take into account the different rules and claiming strategies that can affect your benefits, and some of them can crunch hundreds of calculations to compare your benefits under various scenarios and different ages to help you figure out the best time to start claiming.

Some of the best free tools are AARP's Social Security Calculator (aarp.org/ socialsecuritybenefits); SSAnalyze which is offered by Bedrock Capital Management (bedrockcapital.com/ssanalyze); and Analyze Now (analyzenow.com - click on "Computer Programs") which offers a "Free Strategic Social Security Planner" but requires Microsoft Excel

Or, if you don't mind spending a little money, there are higher-level services you can use like Maximize My Social Security (maximizemysocialsecurity.com), which charges $40 for their report, and takes into account the thousands of different factors and combinations to help you maximize your benefits.

And Social Security Solutions 866-762-7526), (socialsecuritysolutions.com, which offers several levels of service (ranging between $20 and $250) including their $125 "Advised" plan that runs multiple calculations and comparisons, recommends a best course of action in a detailed report, and gives you a oneon-one session with a Social Security specialist over the phone to discuss the report and ask questions.

FOR YOUR FUNNY BONE - A 45 year old woman had a heart attack and was taken to the hospital. While on the operating table she had a near death experience. Seeing God, she asked, "Is my time up?" God said, "No, you have another 43 years 2 months and 8 days to live." Upon recovery, the woman decided to stay in the hospital and have a face-lift, liposuction, breast implants and a tummy tuck. She even had someone come in and change her hair color and brighten her teeth! Since she had so much time to live, she figured she might as well make the most of it. After her last operation, she was released from the hospital. While crossing the street on her way home, she was killed by an ambulance. Arriving in front of God, she demanded, "I thought you said I had another 43 years? Why didn't you pull me out of the path of the ambulance?" God replied, "I didn't recognize

About a year later, they started getting together casually to work on songs that fell out of their comfort zone. Both guys were trying to discover musicians for well over a decade with other acts, they still weren't entirely fulfilled emotionally or artistically. The creative juices started kicking in and in 2013 they released their first single, "Watch The World Go Dark," online under the mysterious listener. moniker Night Terrors of 1927. In a short time period it set the indie circuit on fire. Before they knew it they were receiving acclamation from numerous digital publications. FLIGHT 232: A STORY OF DISASTER AND SURVIVAL by Laurence Gonzales

Twenty-five years after the catastrophe, a dramatic and extraordinarily rare 360-degree view of the crash of a fully loaded jumbo jet. As hundreds of rescue workers waited on the ground, United Airlines Flight 232 wallowed drunkenly over the bluffs northwest of Sioux

The plane slammed onto the runway and burst into a vast fireball. The rescuers didn't move at first: nobody could possibly survive that crash. And then people began emerging from the summer corn that lined the runways. Miraculously, 184 of 296 passengers lived. No one attempted the complete reconstruction of a crash of this magnitude. Drawing on interviews with hundreds of survivors, crew, and airport and rescue personnel, Laurence Gonzales, a commercial pilot himself, captures, minute by minute, the harrowing journey of pilots flying a plane with no controls and flight attendants keeping their calm in the face of certain death. He plumbs the hearts and minds of passengers as they pray, bargain with God, plot their strategies for survival, and sacrifice themselves to save others. Ultimately he takes us, step by step, through the gripping scientific detective work in super-secret labs to dive into the heart of a flaw smaller than a grain of rice that shows what brought the aircraft down. An unforgettable drama of the triumph of heroism over tragedy and human ingenuity over technological breakdown, Flight 232 is a masterpiece in the tradition of the greatest aviation stories ever told.

SIMPLY NOTICE: CLEAR AWARENESS IS THE KEY TO HAPPINESS, LOVE AND FREEDOM by Peter Francis Dziuban

Enjoy The Power of Clear Awareness Do you realize that noticing and awareness basically drive everything you appear to do? Could you have gotten your body out of bed this morning without first having noticed you were awake? Would you have picked up this book without first being aware it was of interest to you? Your awareness is like the clear glass of a windshield-and through it you experience every bit of your life. Awareness is inherently pure and clear. But it can get covered with sludge-of negative thoughts and emotions, and false beliefs. The simple noticing techniques in this book act as wipers to keep your windshield clean. The power of clear awareness takes over, and you automatically enjoy greater happiness, love and freedom. You're free of the mistaken ideas and beliefs that were distorting the view. With clear awareness you also go way beyond the popular saying, "Think outside the box" It's because your awareness is outside of, or beyond, all thinking. Awareness is the unlimited-you that gives rise to all thinking. Awareness is the greater-you that notices all thoughts. Imagine having a big Aha! They usually come as a thought, too. An Aha! is wonderful-but did you ever notice that the Aha! by itself is not really where it's at? What you want is where all the Aha's come from. That's the unlimited awareness you are. And that's just a first glimpse of how magnificent you really are.

BEST VIEW YET OF JUPITER'S MOON EUROPA; "SPOOKY" ALIGNMENT OF DISTANT QUASARS

Scientists have produced a new version of what is perhaps NASA's best view of Jupiter's ice-covered moon, Europa. The mosaic of color images was obtained in the late 1990s by NASA's Galileo spacecraft. This is the first time that NASA is publishing a version of the scene produced using modern image processing techniques.

The image features many long, curving and linear fractures in the moon's bright ice shell. Scientists are eager to learn if the reddish-brown fractures, and other markings spattered across the surface, contain clues about the geological history of Europa and the chemistry of the global ocean that is thought to exist beneath the ice.

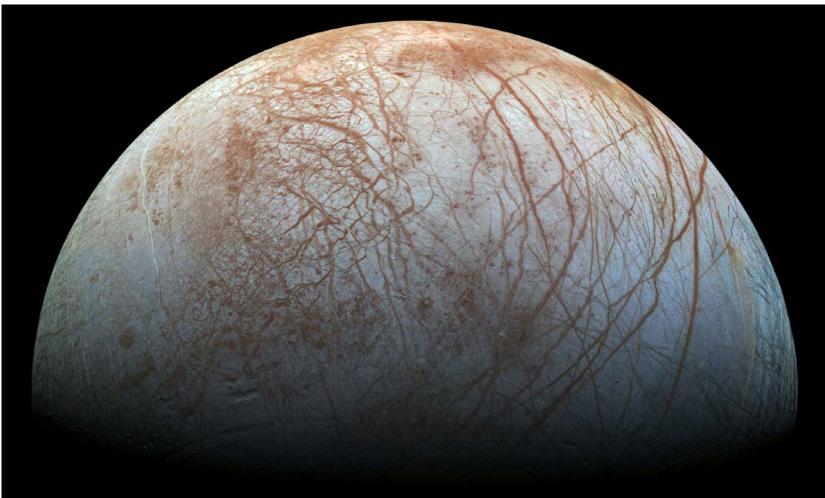

In addition to the newly processed image, a new video (http://youtu.be/kz9VhCQbPAk) details why this likely ocean world is a high priority for future exploration.

Hidden beneath Europa's icy surface is perhaps the most promising place in our solar system beyond Earth to look for present-day environments that are suitable for life. The Galileo mission found strong evidence that a subsurface ocean of salty water is in contact with a rocky seafloor. The cycling of material between the ocean and ice shell could potentially provide sources of chemical energy that could sustain simple life forms.

SPOOKY ALIGNMENT OF QUASARS ACROSS BILLIONS OF LIGHT-YEARS

New observations with ESO's Very Large Telescope (VLT) in Chile have revealed alignments over the largest structures ever discovered in the universe. A European research team has found that the rotation axes of the central supermassive black holes in a sample of quasars are parallel to each other over distances of billions of light-years. The team has also found that the rotation axes of these quasars tend to be aligned with the vast structures in the cosmic web in which they reside.

Quasars are galaxies with very active black holes are surrounded by spinning discs of each other—despite the fact that these quasars extremely hot material that is often spewed out in are separated by billions of light-years," said long jets along their axes of rotation. Quasars can Hutsemékers.

shine more brightly than all the stars in the rest of their host galaxies put together.

University of Liège in Belgium used the VLT to study 93 quasars that were known to form huge groupings spread over billions of light-years, seen at a time when the universe was about one-third of its current age.

POST THANKSGIVING CONSIDERATIONS By Christopher Nyerges

ago, we never heard word. Oh, it in the decades that followed.

I can recall that in my world as a child – which was the vastness of Pasadena - every store closed on Thanksgiving. The streets were quiet, and you knew everyone was home preparing a meal, or they'd driven away to some other town to visit relatives. But commerce ceased. You were pitied if you had no family, and you were looked down upon if you kept your business open.

'Too bad that guy has to actually work on Thanksgiving," we'd hear my father say. Most businesses were closed, and when my father realized that he had no working batteries for a camera or flashlight, he'd send one of my older brothers on a mad dash to find a store, any store, that was open and sold batteries. There was no internet, and no easy way to figure out who was open and closed unless you spent an hour on the phone. Suddenly,

Black Friday. course, my father would be furious and he'd blame lives which reflect some higher goal. When I was a it on someone else for forgetting to stock up on child 50 years some batteries. Usually, my brother would be gone but I am not willing to do anything to get that deal. an hour or two, but somehow managed to come that home with the needed batteries.

Still, there seemed something very special to around, demand of yourself that Thanksgiving be set aside and it seems to for family, for remembrance, for breaking the spell have taken on and monotony of work only and working only for heightened material goals. In the United States, that used to life of its own be Sunday where people took the day off. In some areas, Sunday is still to the week what Thanksgiving is to the year. For example, try finding an open store in Utah on Sunday. Oh, you'll find one, but not until you do a bit of searching.

Our values determine who we are, and who we become. In this world, everything seems to drive only the materialistic instincts. Merchants cannot wait even a few extra hours to open their doors for the Black Friday specials, and we are encouraged to rush out the door and buy now before the next guy gets the discounted item offered to the first 50 folks who push their way into the door.

The mindset is rampant in our society. A natural hillside, and lush trees on a lot, are described as non-performing real estate. Relaxing on a Sunday is thought of as being lazy. Studying esoteric literature is regarded sometimes as impractical. We are fast becoming a nation of non-thinkers, and it is usually (but not always) when we break out of our routine and out of our comfortable box of thinking that we it wasn't such a bad idea to have a store open. Of rise to who we really are as spiritual beings, and live into Thanksgiving. By my teens, our family Thanksgiving gatherings were crowded, loud, raucous events that started the night before and included the whole weekend. Yes, there was the prayer that my mother insisted upon, and there were moments of quiet reflection. My mother began forcing each of us to say what we were thankful for, and with close to 20 people in a room, that could take a while. But then, food and wine and beer was served, and the "conversation" was more like nonstop yelling, while the TV played a football game in the next room at the highest possible volume.

No wonder I got to the point where I told my parents I would not be there on Thanksgiving. I didn't try to make them feel bad by giving them all my reasons, but I did come the next day with my eventually he enjoyed the more thoughtful visits.

HOW TO REDUCE THE COST OF LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE

This Thanksgiving holiday, as multi generations of my family gather together, I can't help but reflect on the lifetime of love and support my parents have provided to me and my children. I'm also very aware of their own special issues. Did you know, a person who turns 65 today has a 70% chance of needing some type of long-term care at some time in their remaining years? That's according to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and on average, women will need 3.7 years of long-term care while men will need 2.2 years of care. Only 20%, however, will need care for longer than five years.

If you or your parents don't have the financial resources to pay for this long-term care - either through a nursing home stay or in-home care - you should consider long-term care insurance to fill the void. And while annual premiums will vary according to your age and health status, they can all be fairly expensive. Here are some tips to reduce the cost of long-term care

Buy young. Since premiums rise as you age, purchasing a long-term care policy when you are younger can mean cheaper premiums. Just be sure you are aware that premiums can increase as you age, so be sure to discuss this with your insurer.

Shorten the benefit period. Lifetime policies are the most expensive, and since statistics show that most of us will not need long-term care for more than five years, you can save thousands of dollars in premiums if you buy a short-term policy.

Lengthen the elimination period. Most policies have a 30-90 day waiting period before coverage begins. If you can make this period longer, your premiums will Reduce daily benefits. If you can pay for some of your long-term care needs yourself, you can reduce the daily benefit amount on your policy, which will result in lower premiums.

Share the care. If you are married and both of you are buying long-term care insurance, a shared care policy could provide you both with more coverage for less money. A shared care policy provides a pool of benefits that are shared between you and your spouse, so if you buy a 5-year shared care policy, the two of you would have 10 years of benefits. If your spouse only uses 3 years, you would have 7 years of benefits to use.

Take the deduction. Your long-term care insurance premiums may be deductible. If they meet the requirements for "qualified" long-term care expenses, they can be deductible, with the amount depending on your age and tax year. For 2014, the long-term care premium deductibility limits are $1,400 for those more than 50 but not more than 60, $3,720 for those more than 60 but not more than 70, and $4,660 for those over

EMAIL SUBSCRIBER OR A FACEBOOK LIKE?

I recently read an article that asked, "Which do you think is more valuable to your business, someone who subscribes to your email list or someone who likes your Facebook page?" If I had to choose, it would be the email subscriber every time!

Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn are still important channels for staying in touch, sharing information, photos and finding a targeted audience. They can even help people find your products and services on-line. The goal is to get your fans, followers and connections to join your email list because email marketing content outperforms social media when it comes to the results we care most about...sales.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

WHAT IT WAS, WAS BASKETBALL

Towards the end of last week, the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage presented me with a rather fascinating proposition. My attitude in life has always been, when she speaks I will at least listen.

I want you to know I am not easily propositioned. I am very suspicious of anything that has the appearance of being good for me. I do not believe everything I hear or see. I guess I am just a skeptic.

A telemarketer recently called with the news that the government had randomly chosen my name to receive $8400. If this was the government calling me, it would not be to give me $8400 but to solicit $8400 in taxes.

Like my father used to say, "Son, there ain't no free lunches." He was right. So when my wife propositioned me, I was rather skeptical.

"How would you like to go with us to the kid's basketball game on Friday night?"

So, I thought to myself, where is the catch? Somewhere along the line in this proposition is a catch. Now, where was it?

As it turned out, there was no catch and I did not even have to drive to the game. To make the proposition even more appealing, my granddaughter was to play in this basketball game. So, with a great deal of enthusiasm I accepted this passionate proposition and prepared myself for a wonderful

I have not been to a basketball game since the Harlem Globetrotters played in the Hersheyarena in HersheyPennsylvania. My favorite player was Meadowlark Lemon.

I was off to the little kid's basketball game anticipating an enjoyable evening.

We finally got to the right place where my granddaughter and her teammates were playing basketball.

I am not complaining, but it has been a long time since I sat in bleachers. I had forgotten how narrow they really are when you set on them. I am not sure who invented bleachers like this, but I am positive they never sat on one during a game. I could only get half of my posterior on the bleacher at any one time. The trick of the game for the evening was appropriately rotating my posterior.

Getting settled, I noticed some activity out on the floor. First off, one little girl was refusing to play. Come to find out she did not like the team, she was on, particularly the shirts they were wearing, and wanted to play on the other team because she liked their shirt better.

After 20 minutes of negotiating the little girl won and was put on the other team.

I turned to my wife and ask, "When will the game began?" I thought it a rather innocent question. She looked at me, laughed and said, "Silly boy, it started 20 minutes ago."

"Who is wijning and what is the score?"

'Who is winning and what is the score?"

I was informed that in these games, they do not keep score and nobody wins. I thought I would not resume anymore questioning on this subject. I just went back to rotating my posterior and trying to

I noticed one little girl (why do little girls do this?) was dancing all by herself ignoring the rest of her teammates. I do not know what basketball has to do with dancing, but she was enjoying herself and I was enjoying watching her enjoy herself.

I noticed all of the shirts on each team had the same number. The only difference between the two teams was one side wore blue on the other side wore white. It would not be appropriate, so it was explained to me, for the children to have different numbers. Then the coach blew his whistle and announced they would have a bathroom break. All those who needed to go to the bathroom should go at this particular time. Nobody went and in a moment or two, the game resumed with the whistle-blowing coach.

Within five minutes, three on one side and two on the other side came up missing. When the coach inquired as to where these kids were he was told that they had all gone to the bathroom. Furthermore, he was told that he planted the idea in their head and so it was not their fault.

As I watched the activity on the floor, I realized the Harlem Globetrotters had nothing on these miniature basketball players. One trademark activity in a Harlem Globetrotter game is in the middle of the game they would begin playing baseball with the basketball.

Something like that happened out on the floor as I was watching. It was not baseball, and I am sure it was not basketball, at least the kind I am familiar with. What it was, was anybody's guess.

What it was, so I came to find out, was just plain old fun.

As I sat there rotating my posterior, I was thinking about how competitive our world has really become. People will do anything and everything just to win a game. Sometimes it is good just to quiet down, relax and enjoy the surroundings.

I wonder if that is what Davidhad in mind when he wrote, "Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth" (Psalm 46:10). When we step out of the world of competition and quiet ourselves a bit, we begin to appreciate the reality, especially the reality in Jesus Christ.

RON Carter Curbing Bad Behavior THE DISTRUST CONTINUES

If I was a conspiracy theorist, I would surmise that the timing of the release of the grand juryverdict is suspicious regarding police officer Darren Wilson shooting and killing Michael Brown inFerguson, Missouri. Why would the County Prosecutor, Bob McCullock, release this controversial verdict at 9 pm Eastern Standard Time? He had to know an anxious community, who did not trust his leadership from the onset, was awaiting the grand jury's decision for two days. The "outsiders," who the local Ferguson community members called the troublemakers, those who were looting and burning buildings, were simmering since Saturday to behave badly. Why give them the cover of night to enact havoc on Ferguson's community? Even President Barack Obama's speech and Michael Brown's mother plea for peaceful behavior were ignored. Maybe Mr. McCullock intended the narrative in the media to be on the looting and unrest than on his decision. What a shame?

There had been peaceful protest taking place in Ferguson, Missouri over the last 100 days. Last night, that peaceful protest was not the focused report in the media, because a mistake was made to release the controversial verdict without regards for the citizenry of Ferguson, Missouri.

The easiest path to decrease unrest in communities in the United States of America (USA) is to create jobs for the young men and women, who live in those communities. Depressed communities fester crime. There are predominant African-American communities in the USA such as Baldwin Hills, California and Hyde Park, Chicago where crime is very low. Why? The residents in those communities have jobs and they have not lost their will to be productive members of our society. So, let's stop the talking and posturing and create jobs for young individuals. It's a way forward to curb the lost of faith and distrust some young individuals have for their elders in authority

HOWARD Hays As I See It

 $\lq\lq$. . . neither in this country nor in England has the suspect under investigation by the grand jury ever been thought to have a right to testify or to have exculpatory evidence presented.

- Justice Antonin Scalia in U.S. v. Williams (1992)

don't know whether Officer Darren Wilson is guilty of a crime for killing Michael Brown, Jr. None of us will know. There's the possibility of civil rights charges filed, but that's unlikely. At least in the case of George Zimmerman's killing of Trayvon Martin, there was a trial. For three weeks in the summer of 2013 we heard the prosecution and defense present evidence, cross-examine witnesses and argue their case to the jury - in public. We questioned the performance of the prosecution and were dismayed by the decision of the jury, but the question of guilt was settled under the

In the case of Officer Wilson, however, the concern was not over establishing responsibility for Brown's death at trial, but rather how to make the whole thing go away. Prosecutors are supposed to go after the bad guys, on behalf of We the People. If they think and argue for indictment. Grand juries don't determine guilt or innocence, and usually don't consider defense arguments or "exculpatory evidence". Guilty or not guilty is a question for the trial jury

there's sufficient evidence to successfully prosecute at trial, they'll take it to a grand jury after a public trial in open court. Grand juries usually go along with prosecutors' efforts to go after the bad guys. In 2010, of 162,000 federal cases prosecuted there were only 11 where grand juries didn't return an indictment. (A big exception nation-wide is cases where cops kill civilians.) With violent crime, prosecutors are the voice of victims who no longer have a voice. They argue on behalf of the victim before the grand jury as they hope to later seek justice for that And then there's Ferguson. St. Louis County Prosecutor Robert McCulloch had not only the options of whether or not to take the case to the grand jury, but a third option of recusing himself. His office simply didn't go after cops who shot civilians. There were personal and professional connections between McCulloch and the police. The community had no confidence that McCulloch could muster the impartially necessary for the job; a concern that appointment of an independent, outside prosecutor could have addressed. Instead, McCulloch made up a fourth option: dump everything on the grand jury who could make it go away quietly; rather than risk an open, public, on-the-record trial. Grand juries are supposed to operate in secret. Within days of Michael Brown's shooting, a number of witnesses came forward, publicly identified themselves and told of Brown's appearing to surrender when killed. Later, from the supposedly-secret grand jury came leaks that anonymous "witnesses" had contradicted those earlier accounts. There were stories about an earlier robbery, Brown's affinity for rap music, "gang signs" and marijuana. The focus was not on determining whether "probable cause" existed for indicting Officer Wilson, but on indicting the character of the eighteen-year-old who'd been shot dead, along with the credibility of those witnesses who'd earlier come forward.

There were leaks about Officer Wilson's version of events, which he had weeks to prepare prior to testifying before the grand jury. If Wilson were on the stand at trial, he might have been asked to explain statements he gave to officers the day after the shooting, such as, why would an eighteen-year-old who'd allegedly robbed a store earlier that day respond to a uniformed officer's call to get on the sidewalk by cussing him out and beating on him through the squad car window? Why would someone "charging" the officer do so with his 'hand in his waistband", especially if he had no weapon? If, as according to Wilson, Brown ran 20-30 feet from the car and then "charged" 10 feet back towards the officer, why was Brown's body found 150 feet from the car? And why, as the body of Michael Brown lay dead on the pavement for four-and-a-half hours, didn't he have time to prepare a timely incident

Prosecutor McCulloch's announcement of the grand jury's decision struck many as "bizarre", coming off not as a prosecutor seeking justice for the victim but as a defense attorney announcing how he'd gotten his client off the hook.

Marjorie Cohn, professor of criminal law at Thomas Jefferson Law School and pastpresident of the National Lawyers' Guild, observed; "The prosecutor did not want an indictment, and he passed the buck to the grand jury to make that decision . . . It was clear the prosecutor was partisan in this case, and not partisan in the way prosecutors usually are, which is to get people indicted." The heart of the matter was reflected in an exchange on "Meet The Press", when former

NYC Mayor Rudy Giuliani expressed disappointment they weren't talking about the fact that "93 percent of blacks in America are killed by other blacks." Professor Michael Dyson of Georgetown University responded by pointing out "they are not sworn by the police department as an agent of the state to uphold the law . . . Black people who kill black people go to jail. White people who are policemen who kill black people do not go to jail." According to Pro Publica, "young black men are 21 times as likely as their white peers to be killed by police." (For the record, 83% of white murder victims are killed by white folks.)

This goes beyond Ferguson; thousands have taken to the streets to express their rage in L.A., Seattle, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Washington D.C, Denver, and NYC. News coverage has extended through Europe, Asia, Australia and the Middle East. Ironically, because of Prosecutor Robert McCulloch's efforts to make matters like the killing of Michael Brown, Jr. simply go away, this might turn out to be the one time it doesn't.

THANKSGIVING REFLECTION

There are no shortages of tragedies and crises in the world, and this Thanksgiving week offers no exception. But, equally so, there are always many things for which to be thankful, and this Thanksgiving demands no departure from that comforting reality.

Anyone who honestly ponders for a moment what we have here must inevitably be struck by how bountiful a country we have. Its done to earn it. We are all subject to the limitations of our own imposed boundaries; we get into habits and see so easily what we always have seen, and do not see as easily what is beyond those borders. Someone who might take a slow and thoughtful trip across our land – starting from where it all began and heading west - would be struck by the lushness of the eastern forests, then the power of that historical, and current, engine of commerce, the Mississippi, then the vastness of the breadbasket on our plains, then the majesty of mountain peaks which inspire, even as they descend to deserts which intimidate, and then lastly the imagination and inventiveness which emblemizes our west. Each of these regions in succeeding periods hosted pioneers which chose to push their boundaries and tame the vast physical and intellectual landscapes which lav before them. Ours is a nation started by Pilgrims, people who sought the freedom to worship our Creator and accepted the overwhelming challenges which an untamed, hostile new world posed, but who, in rising to that challenge, started something which is not yet finished. They, and those who have followed, tamed, cultivated and harvested not just great food stores for themselves and the world, but also a belief in, and tradition of, political equality and economic freedom, which to this day are unmatched anywhere else in the world. And in furtherance, if not undeniable proof, of their beliefs, they have from one generation to the next welcomed those who would follow and immigrate to this great land. Ours is not a closed culture, restricted only to those who have deep roots or the correct last name of a forbearer. Ours is a culture which tells the downtrodden who have a dream and perseverance to pursue it that the future

And so the future is ours! For, as great as has been our past, and as overflowing our present, the future is filled with more promise still. America's best days truly lie before her. We haven't crested, and we are certainly not in decline. We have our problems - our pauses, if you will but these are common to all great movements of forward progress. The path is never easy or without its challenges. The optimism of our best leaders, and of our pioneers, has always been sufficient to rally the rest of us to a future no matter how dark the present has seemed.

This is still the case today. Despite our best efforts – and they have been tremendous – we have not removed the scourge of war from this world or the desperation of poverty, nor have we achieved perfection in the implementation and practice of our best principles. We still fall short; this is why God's grace will always be unearned. Even as we strive ever forward toward the perfections in which we believe, we all acknowledge in our hearts that perfection will not be ours in this life. We simply remain thankful to a God for the opportunity he provides here in this great, vast country, for the love he showers upon us, and for the hope He offers.

As short as we may fall from the perfection of our ideals, the fact that we still hold to those ideals, to the belief that we can make further progress toward them, rather than to grow cynical and retreat in resignation, is a sign of the spirit of that God, the Creator. He is not a mean God; He is not a pessimistic God; He is not a God of death. The God who prompted our earliest Pilgrims to make that hazardous journey and who watched over those succeeding generations of pioneers is the same God who loves us and spurs us onward. Belief in Him, for all those who properly understand it, is belief in a good future. It is in such belief that cynicism and pessimism die.

And so today, despite our problems, our tragedies, and our crises, so many of us can remain thankful, continuing a pattern well-taught. In the midst of a brutal winter in a new land, the Pilgrims were thankful for what lay ahead. Under the burdens of tyranny from the crown, the founders were thankful for what lay ahead. Under the yoke of slavery and the self-destruction of civil war, slaves and those who sought their freedom were thankful for what lay ahead. Under the cloud of world war, the generation called to fight were thankful for what lay ahead. Now it is our turn. As I look around, I see ample signs we have learned the lesson well, and none that we are wavering. We remain a generous people in a bountiful land under a loving God, and we are thankful.

I wish every reader a wonderful Thanksgiving, but more importantly, a renewal or strengthening of that most powerful of traits - gratitude. Without it, the most ostentatious life is still empty. With it, even the simplest life remains fulfilling.

Case No. BP157426

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of PATRICIA ANN MCNAUGHTON aka PATRI-CIA MCNAUGHTON

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Marc McNaughton in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Marc McNaughton be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Dec. 10. 2014 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

At The Kensington, we'll remember what your loved ones are beginning to forget

Introducing two unique levels of memory care

If your Mom was an amazing baker who loved yellow lilies or if your Dad was a decorated colonel who started every day with strong, black coffee, we'll be sure to know. We will acquaint ourselves with the meaningful details of your loved ones' lives. Then, when memory fades, we will help them revisit the pleasure of past times, even if only moments. We will care for them—and you—as progressive memory loss occurs.

The Kensington's memory care programs are highly personalized. Two distinctive "neighborhoods"—Connections and Haven—feature support that accommodates residents with different degrees of memory loss.

Connections residents are in the early to middle stages of dementia. They can independently engage in activities that give purpose to each day. Haven residents are in the middle to late stages of dementia. They need a higher level of clinical assistance and soothing care that increases comfort and reduces agitation.

Connections and Haven neighborhoods are cozy, intimate environments. Here, loving professionals honor the past but "meet residents where they are" now. By making the most of their strengths, they make today as joyful as possible.
