Power Has Been Restored at Pasadena Unified's Sierra Madre

Elementary-Classes Will Resume Monday, December 15

The Pasadena Unified School District (PUSD) announced early Friday morning that Sierra Madre Elementary School would be closed Friday, December 12 due to a power outage resulting from the major overnight storm. Families were notified about the cancellation of classes earlier this morning via phone message. Parents on social media also helped spread the word.

Sierra Madre Middle School is not affected by the power outage and SMMS students followed their regular schedule.

SIERRA MADRE POLICE NAB BURGLARY SUSPECT

Alert Resident And One Minute SMPD Response Time Lead To Arrest

Burglary Suspect Christian Castaneda

Following the mantra, "See Something, Say Something", an alert resident called the Sierra Madre Police Department early Wednesday morning, a call which led to the arrest of a suspected burglar. The resident noticed a 'stranger' walking the streets around 2 am and made the fateful call.

On the previous two days, there had been a rash of burglaries of unlocked garages and vehicles in Sierra Madre and SMPD had stepped up patrols, especially on the east end of town. According to Director of Public Safety, Chief Larry Giannone, the officers on patrol "observed a vehicle blacked out driving slow in the area". SMPD Sergeant Gonzalez caught up with the vehicle when it parked in a driveway on San Gabriel Court. When the officer approached the suspect, the suspect gave false information to Gonzalez, and the resident at the San Gabriel Court address had no knowledge of either the car or the man it. SMPD proceeded to detain the suspect.

SMPD arrested the driver, Christian Castaneda, 21, of Azusa, pictured above). Castaneda, who was convicted of Grand Theft on last month, is on felony probation from that conviction. He was found to have in his possession at the time of his arrest a large quantity of methamphetamine. In addition to the drugs, police retrieved stolen property from recent thefts inside the vehicle. There was also stolen property from thefts in Azusa, Glendora, Arcadia and Monrovia in the car. Giannone said, "The initial count we have is approximately 300 pieces of evidence, primarily stolen goods, stolen mail, items bought at stores with victims credit cards, stolen credit cards, checks, GPS devices, phones, wallets, etc."

Just hours before the arrest and a few hours after several Sierra Madre thefts (see inset), the suspects are said to have purchased a large quantity of merchandise in Glendora with a stolen credit card. Castaneda was booked at the Pasadena Jail. His bail is set at $30,000.

Upon further investigation the SMPD learned that there were in fact two suspects, the driver of the vehicle and one person who fled when he saw the police approaching. The vehicle had been reported stolen from an Azusa residence with stolen plates from Glendora.

Anyone with information regarding these incidents please call the Sierra Madre Police Department's Detective Bureau, at (626) 355-1414.

CANDLELIGHT WALK DECEMBER 21st

Neither let the wind of winter nor the cold of the western night forbid the hope of Christmas from entering who were overcome with the spirit of your heart.

The story of Christmas was written in that dark age of despair, when the shadows of the world crept over the descendants of Adam and Eve. Even in that great season of suspicion, there were those who knew of a king -- a king of heavenly kindness. These gateways of knowledge were commissioned with the name of "wise men." They were vigilantly loyal to God, and they hungered the wise men came to resolve the riddles of prophets and the story of a child who was to from Scripture. be born under the perfect light of a star.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"Christmas is not a time nor a season, but a state of mind. To cherish peace and goodwill, to be plenteous in mercy, is to have the real spirit of Christmas." Calvin Coolidge

Christmas is just a little more than two weeks away. Yes, it really is! This is such a beautiful time of year, especially if you happen to be driving 'round town at night when the lights on all the houses are at their best. My walking buddy and outdoor light designer, John, put the lights on our fence yesterday and, once again, I find it heart-stoppingly beautiful to see the lights across the street, next door and down the block.

Our tree in Kersting Court is the best one ever. And today the park around the tree was filled with folks enjoying the Nativity scene and the tree. The menorah on the far side of the tree looks stunning, too. There was one young lady there reading, wearing a Santa hat with mouse ears.

Mother Moo has shiny ornaments hanging from her awning and many of our store windows have had Christmas theme pictures painted on them. We are definitely in the

Have you noticed FoothillTEK is now where Sierra Fitness Pilates was before they moved to their beautiful new home on Montecito. And Harlequin Gallery is coming back to where Yellow Bus was. Baldwin is a busy place these days! Speaking of Baldwin, our friends up at the top who decorate their cactus with Santa hats have done it again, bigger and better! You've got to walk up there and take a look. A guaranteed smile! And while you're up there, just a few steps before Carter, admire the baby oak tree which is decorated with some lovely ornaments.

The moment is fast arriving when everyone will be bringing their Christmas tree home. The drought and the heat have supposedly impacted the tree market, but I'll tell you, friends and neighbors, the trees were piled higher than ever before at Home Depot last week. Like you, we have so many wonderful memories in the boxes where our Christmas ornaments live, like all the Christmas goodies the children made in Sunday School through the years; the little hands pressed into plaster of Paris; the pictures mounted in tiny frames, the ture red felt stockings with family names in glitter, the red globes that date from the beginning of our marriage, which are cracked and crazed (as is, occasionally, our marriage), but precious in our sight. We've got all the bread dough ornaments, some really serious art there, our two youngest made the year they were both home from school with chicken pox.

Yep, it(s two weeks before Christmas, you(ve brought home a perfectly symmetrical real tree that smells so fresh and forest-y that you want to bury your face in it. It(s in the house in the time-honored Christmas tree spot and it(s time to decorate. Even though you tell the family how much fun decorating the tree together will be, they still scatter like roaches when the light is turned on, and you and Tree find yourselves alone, even though you made cookies to convince everyone how much fun we're all going to have. This intimate moment deserves a small celebration. It(s definitely time to make Egg Nog!

Here(s my version:

1. Buy a carton of prepared low-fat egg nog right out of the dairy case at your favorite

. Put a tray of ice cubes in your blender.

3. Fill the blender two thirds full of egg nog 4. Add a half cup of rum, brandy, or a little of both to the blender (or more, or less, depending on how annoyed you are). 5. Blend until ice is pleasantly crunchified.

6. Pour into a large, elegant, stemmed glass. Grate fresh nutmeg over top.

7. Sit down and admire Tree, while enjoying

8. Realize that peace reigns now that family has scattered to unknown destinations. 9. Put on the Christmas CD that YOU like(.

the one that has (Grandma Got Run Over By Reindeer(on it, if that(s your cup of egg nog, or maybe that wonderful recording of The Messiah you've wanted to play.

10. Allow joy to flood your heart, soul and

11. Plug in that first string of lights and think about that first Christmas night, that first

12. Rejoice! Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men! 13. Know in your heart that Tree will be the most beautiful one ever! 14. Invite friends and family over to share your egg nog and admire Tree.

"Christmas It's almost here!

My favorite, favorite time of year! Think...mistletoe and holly, children's faces...

Carols on the radio, happy smiles each place you go.

Presents piled beneath the tree, some for you and some for me.

Christmas! It's almost here!

Think Joy! Think Peace! Think love!!"

("Think Joy!" from "Star of Wonder - A Christmas Musical" Book & Lyrics by Deanne Davis, Music by David Wheatley)

Sierra Madre Police Blotter

During the week of Sunday, November 30th, to Sunday, December 7th, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 281 calls for service.

Tuesday, December 2nd

At 6:53 am, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 100 Block of Vista Circle Drive regarding a suspicious person in the reporting victim's car. Upon arrival, Officers were informed by the victim that as she was leaving her house, she noticed the interior light of her vehicle was on. With her vehicle being parked on the hillside above her front door, she was able to see under her car and saw the suspect's feet hanging out the side of the car. When the victim confronted the suspect he informed her that "They were at it again,...cars were hit...they didn't find anything." The suspect then got out of the vehicle and walked to sit across the street. The victim then went back into her home to call the Police, and the suspect left the area. The suspect was described as a white male with long black hair wearing a multi-colored tye-dyed shirt, dark jogging pants, and without shoes. Further investigation concluded the victim failed to lock her car because she felt the area was safe. No property was reported missing. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

Tuesday, December 2nd

At 7:54 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the station lobby regarding a financial crime report. Officers were informed by the victim that, earlier that day he had checked his bank business account and noticed two unauthorized purchases. One charge was for just over $9 and another charge for over $1800 for airline tickets. The victim contacted his bank and filed a fraud report and closed his accounts. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau. Friday, December 5th

At 7:19 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 500 Block of Brookside Lane regarding a possible burglary report. Upon arrival, Officers were informed by the victim that earlier that morning she left her house secured and intact. Upon returning home later that evening, she noticed a window pane from her front door had been broken. The victim feared her house was possibly burglarized and called Sierra Madre Police to clear the residence. As Officers investigated the area, they noticed a package on the porch with one of the corners showing signs of being smashed or bent. Officers cleared the home and no property was reported stolen. Concluding their investigations, Officers believed the window pane was damaged when the delivery service threw the package onto the porch, where it then hit the window, shattering the glass. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

Sunday, December 7th

At 2:13 am, Officers were patrolling the area of the 100 block of North Baldwin Avenue, when they were flagged down by the passing motorist. The motorist informed Officers there was a man asleep in his running vehicle on the 210 freeway off-ramp near Foothill Blvd. Upon arrival, Officers discovered a male subject asleep with his head resting against the window. When Officers attempted to make contact, the driver released his foot from the brake causing the vehicle to roll forward into a center median and colliding with a traffic sign. The driver exited the vehicle unharmed and informed Officers that he was 18 and that he had been drinking at his friend's house prior to the incident. The subject agreed to a BAC test, and was ultimately deemed over the legal limit. The subject was arrested and booked for underage drinking and driving while under the influence.

GROUPS FILE LAWSUIT AGAINST DEVIL'S GATE DAM PROJECT

Representatives of the Arroyo Seco Foundation and the Pasadena Audubon Society announced Wednesday their intent to file a lawsuit challenging the LA County Flood Control District's program to scour the basin behind Devil's Gate Dam in Hahamongna Watershed Park. announcement was made during a morning news conference near the dam.

Representatives said the lawsuit will challenge the environmental impacts of the Flood Control District's Big Dig program, which would involve 150,000 diesel trucks removing more than 2.4 million cubic yards of sand and sediment from the basin behind Devil's Gate Dam over a five year period and permanently degrading more than 50 acres of streamzone habitat there. The massive nature of the sediment trucking program has raised serious concerns over air pollution, traffic and public health they said.

The Flood Control District's Big Dig plan ignores overwhelming community support for a more moderate and less destructive approach to removing the sediment that has accumulated behind Devil's Gate Dam over many decades," said Tim Brick, ASF Managing Director. Laura Garrett, PAS Conservation Chair, "We can protect the habitat, wildlife and activities recreational at Hahamonga, providing a safe level of flood protection. Pasadena's recommendations and the scores of comments offered during the Environmental Impact Report process demonstrate that."

The plan was approved by the LA County Board of Supervisors on Nov. 12 by a 4-1 vote, with County Supervisor Yaroslavsly dissenting.

Pet of the Week

Zoe is a 1-year-old female blue pit bull. She's very energetic and enjoys playing and going for walks. She has earned her blue ribbon which means that she knows her sit, down, and stay commands. Because of her blue ribbon training, her adoption fee has been reduced to $100.

The regular dog adoption fee is $125 which includes the spay or neuter surgery, microchip, vaccinations, and a free follow-up health check at a participating vet.

New adopters will receive complimentary health and wellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information on how to care for your pet. Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at 626.792.7151 or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11-4 Sunday, 9-5 Tuesday -Friday, 9-4 Saturday. Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters from phone calls or email. Directions and photos of all pets can be found at www. pasadenahumane.org.

Rep. Schiff Urges Funds for Body Cameras

Rep. Adam Schiff, a former federal prosecutor who recently urged the Department of Justice earlier this month to help fund local police departments' purchase of small body-worn cameras in order to increase transparency, decrease tensions between police and community members, and create a record of events, released the following statement after President Obama announced Administration would provide $75 million in funding for this program:

President's The announcement that he will seek $75 million in new funding to expand the use of body worn cameras for police officers is a welcome and important step towards making the use of body cameras standard practice in police departments across the country, and I'm looking forward to working to accomplish our shared goal of fully funding this initiative. The broader use of body cameras is a commonsense step which would help build trust and accountability where police-community relations are frayed, and potentially avert deadly confrontations like the one in which Michael Brown lost his life. We know that body cameras for police officers work, and it's time to make them a reality."

Schiff, along with other Members of Congress, recently sent a letter to U.S. Attorney General Eric Holder urging the Department of Justice to help fund local police departments' purchase of small body-worn cameras. From the letter: "These cameras provide a visual and audio record of interactions with the public, so that in the event of a confrontation or police-involved shooting, such as the one that occurred in Ferguson, there is an inalterable record of the events. There are also indications that the presence of body cameras has a civilizing effect on both police officers and the public, resulting in lower incidences of excessive force complaints and deescalating tense situations before they become violent."

PCC Attends White House College Opportunity Day of Action

Dr. Robert Miller, interim superintendent-president of Pasadena City College, joined President Obama, the First Lady, Vice President Biden, and hundreds of college presidents and higher education leaders last week announce new actions to help more students prepare for and graduate from college.

The White House College Opportunity Day of Action, Dec. 4, highlighted President Obama's commitment to partner with colleges and universities, business leaders, and nonprofits in an effort to support students across the country to help reach the Administration's goal of leading the world in college attainment.

"It is a humbling experience to be asked to represent our faculty and staff at our nation's capital," Miller reported from the event, which was held at the Ronald Reagan Building and International Trade Center. "As I participate, I will reflect on the quality of our great college and the miracles performed every day by our students, faculty and staff. PCC continues as one of the greatest colleges in the nation. And this tribute is further evidence of this fact."

Participants were asked to commit to new action in one of four areas: building networks of colleges around promoting completion, creating K-16 partnerships around college readiness, investing in high school counselors as part of the First Lady's Reach Higher initiative, and increasing the number of college graduates in the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics.

The President also announced new steps on how his Administration is helping to support these actions, including announcing $10 million to help promote college completion and a $30 million AmeriCorps program that will improve low-income students' access to Expanding opportunity for more students to enroll succeed in college, especially low-income and underrepresented students, is vital to building a strong economy and a strong middle class. Today, only 9 percent of those born in the lowest family income quartile attain a bachelor's degree by age 25, compared to 54 percent in the top quartile.

In an effort to expand college access, the Obama Administration has also increased Pell scholarships by $1,000 a year, created the new American Opportunity Tax Credit worth up to $10,000 over four years of college, limited student loan payments to 10 percent of income, and laid out an ambitious agenda to reduce college costs and promote innovation and competition.

ARCADIA POLICE BLOTTER

For the period of Sunday, November 30th, through Saturday, December 6th, the Police Department responded to 946 calls for service of which 130 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, November 30:

Just before 4:31 p.m., an officer responded to the intersection of First Avenue and Alta Street regarding a subject yelling at citizens. The officer determined the subject was intoxicated and unable to care for himself. The 22-year-old Hispanic male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

At approximately 6:34 p.m., an officer responded to Macy's at the Westfield Shopping Town, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a petty theft subject in custody. Surveillance footage revealed the 48-year-old Asian female selected numerous items of merchandise and concealed some of the items in a shopping bag. She paid for the visible merchandise but failed to make payment for the concealed items. She was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Monday, December 1:

At about 2:32 a.m., an officer conduct a records check on a vehicle in the parking lot behind Station Bar, 1218 South Baldwin Avenue, and discovered the vehicle was stolen. An investigation revealed the suspect is an exboyfriend of the registered owner and the vehicle was reported stolen when he failed to return it. The 36-year-old Hispanic male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

At approximately 1:00 p.m., an REI employee flagged down an officer and informed him that two suspects had just fled in a Dodge Charger after stealing several items. The officer located the suspects and surveillance footage revealed the passenger, a 35-year-old Hispanic male, had concealed $1,217.00 worth of merchandise under his jacket before fleeing in the awaiting vehicle. The driver of the vehicle was not involved in the theft but did have an expired license. The passenger was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking. The driver, a 37-year-old Hispanic male, was cited and released in the field.

Tuesday, December 2:

Around 11:52 a.m., an officer responded to a parking lot in the 200 block of West Huntington Drive regarding a hit and run accident. The officer concluded Party-1 failed to stop resulting in a collision with Party-2, a

Wednesday, December 3:

Shortly after 7:40 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a vehicle at the intersection of Duarte Road and Santa Anita Avenue for having expired registration. Upon contacting the driver, the officer discovered the man was never issued a driver's license. The 49-year-old Asian male was cited and released in the field. The vehicle was released to a licensed driver.

At about 9:33 a.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 1800 block of $South\,Baldwin\,Avenue\,regarding\,a\,domestic\,battery\,report.\,An\,investigation$ revealed a 27-year-old female of unknown race bit her fiancé during an argument and then fled before officers arrived. The suspect returned home a short time later and officers were able to arrest her. The victim stated his fiancé suffers from psychological problems, and recently ingested a large number of prescription medications. Arcadia Fire responded to the scene and transported the suspect to Arcadia Methodist Hospital for evaluation and treatment. The victim did not seek medical treatment.

Thursday, December 4:

At approximately 12:35 a.m., officers responded to the Santa Anita Inn, 130 West Huntington Drive, regarding a disturbance call. Officers determined the dispute was between a 30-year-old Hispanic male who accused his ex-girlfriend of stealing items from his house. The ex-girlfriend was not in possession of his items, however, a records check revealed the 26-yearold Hispanic female had an outstanding misdemeanor warrant as did her friend, a 30-year-old White female. Officers discovered the White female's boyfriend, a 31-year-old White male, also had an outstanding misdemeanor warrant. All three parties were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City

Around 2:05 a.m., officers responded to the intersection of Second Avenue and Huntington Drive regarding an injury related to a hit and run collision. An investigation revealed Party-1 failed to stop at the intersection and collided with Party-2. The driver of Party-1 fled the scene and was located parked vehicle. Party-1 fled the scene without providing the required nearby. Upon contacting the 47-year-old White male driver of Party-1,

VOLUNTEER'S NEEDED FOR DUARTE 2015 HOMELESS COUNT

DUARTE, CA, December 11, 2014 - The homeless population, although often silent and in the shadows, are part of the demographic make-up of Southern California. To accurately count this oftenvulnerable group, the City of Duarte recently voted to participate in the 2015 Greater Los Angeles Homeless Count sponsored by the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority (LAHSA). The actual count is scheduled for Tuesday, January 27, 2015 from 8p.m until approximately 12am. The City also participated in the 2012 Homeless Count.

Interested individuals, 18 years and older, are invited to volunteer and assist. The City will need approximately 20-25 volunteers to successfully complete this task. Volunteer counters will receive training and refreshments that evening and be deployed from the Duarte Community Center in groups to count blocks within a specified area. The Los Angeles Sheriff's Department will be assisting the City in this endeavor. Interested individuals are encouraged to sign up online via Eventbrite athttp://bit.ly/1GaBn7L.

LAHSA, the lead agency for the Los Angeles Continuum of Care (LACoC), coordinates a biennial count of homeless people. The organization strives to make a difference in the lives of homeless residents and the count allows them to assess how and where homeless people can be best served. LAHSA has contracted with the San Gabriel Valley Consortium on Homelessness, a nonprofit agency, to provide participating cities with support. For additional information please contact Duarte City Hall at (626) 357-7931, X267.

Residential Burglary - Suspect Arrested

December 4 at 6:30 a.m., officers responded to a residence in the 400 block of West Duarte Road on the report of a burglary in progress. The suspect forced entry into the victim's home by kicking the front door open. The victim locked his bedroom door and went out to his balcony, where he immediately called the police from his cell phone. The suspect then kicked open the bedroom door and entered the bedroom closet to search through it, as the victim watched through the sliding glass door. Officers arrived and found the suspect in the victim's kitchen. The suspect was arrested for burglary and taken into custody.

Traffic Collision

December 4 at 11:59 p.m., a traffic collision was reported in the 400 block of South Magnolia. A driver crashed into a parked car and then fled the scene. The driver was found several blocks away and taken to a hospital for treatment. A blood sample was drawn to support a DUI investigation. No arrests were made pending the results of the blood test.

Warrant - Suspect Arrested

December 5 at 8:15 a.m., an officer was on patrol in the 400 block of West Duarte Road when he observed a male subject he knew had an outstanding warrant for his arrest. A warrant check confirmed the subject had a $50,000.00 warrant for his arrest. The officer contacted the subject, confirmed the warrant and the subject was

Commercial Burglary - Suspect Arrested

December 6 at 2:47 p.m., a business in the 600 block of West Huntington called police to report a male subject attempting to make a purchase using a fake California driver's license with one of their customer's names on it. Officers arrived and detained the suspect. He was positively identified by his true California driver's license. The suspect was arrested for fraud and commercial burglary.

Grand Theft

December 8 at 3:30 a.m., a resident in the 100 block of Oaks called police to report a grand theft. The resident woke to a loud noise coming from outside his residence. He went outside and found his garage door open. He looked in and saw his mountain bike was missing. He ran down his driveway and saw a male suspect riding away on his bike. The victim went after the suspect in his vehicle. The suspect saw he was being chased, jumped off the bike and fled through side yards. The victim recovered his property, returned home and called police. Officers responded and searched the area on foot and by vehicle, but the suspect was not located.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show PENGUINS OF MADAGASCAR

The 'Madagascar' series has been a staple in the lives of kids since it first came out, with the penguins always being at the center of that popularity. From merchandising to their own tv show, it was only a matter of time before Dreamworks made their own spinoff movie.

Skipper (Tom McGrath), Private (Christopher Knights), Kowalski (Chris Miller), and Rico (Conrad Vernon) have been together since birth, and even lived in the same zoo. As they continued their adventures outside the zoo, they run into someone from their past, someone who has a big grudge against the penguins. With the help of the North Wind, they must fight to stop his evil plans from throwing the world into chaos.

For a kids movie, the plot is pretty normal. However, the only real major flaw the movie has is that the North Wind upstages the penguins completely, to the point where they become a hindrance to the film's pacing. 'Penguins of Madagascar' may amuse a younger audience but for more seasoned moviegoers, it is pretty average and, at some times, below average.

AVANTI CAFÉ INTRODUCES AVANTI ITALIAN BISTRO

Over the past few months I have made it a point to let my readers know that I am in a constant search for the family owned restaurant. You may accurately say, it is the Holy Grail for this Restaurant Critic. It is the American dream for many and a business which has put many a child through diapers and college. It may stem out of some kind of shameless guilt which I carry. For I have written about the Big Chains almost exclusively these past few months, but I vowed that I would return to my true love, the Local Corner Restaurant. I think I found the Grail. Tap your heels together three times and just repeat the words, "There's no place like home, there's no place like home." It has been there right in front of me the whole time! Avanti Café has been on the corner of Union and Lake in Pasadena for 21 years, and for the past 14 years they have been utilizing a wood fire pizza oven. They are responsible for some of the area's best gourmet pizzas. On my last visit I was to enjoy the glazed Apple Pizza ($15.95) and a traditional

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

Pepperoni Pizza for ($12.85). One of the tests I put to each restaurant that I review is their soup. Avanti Café makes an unbelievable Chicken Barley Soup, all I can add is, Wow. If you live in the area for any length of time you have certainly passed the Avanti Café countless times. Need another reason to stop the next time. The Giuseppe Pizza ($17.95) is loaded with Spinach, Ricotta, Chicken Breast, Mushrooms and Red Peppers, all very fresh and perfectly baked in these flavorful ovens. The setting at Avanti is as you would expect a restaurant like this; unpretentious and very welcoming. There is a small parking lot in the back, seating is fairly limited here but Avanti maintains a nice selection of beer and wine. It has won the appetite of many loyal customers, along with numerous awards, which it can showcase. I give it thumbs up. Well worth the drive from wherever you are reading this. My daughter Lauren has to have the Garlic Knots with each visit. She knows her stuff, and you will love them too!!!

Avanti Café 111 N. Lake Ave Pasadena

The restaurant mortality rate is so high, that even with all my experience in the hospitality business I would be crazy to open a restaurant. So when I heard that Avanti Café was expanding to two locations I had to find out what the deal was. Owner Bobby Ghorfanian bought the space of the old Spring Garden to open Avanti Bistro I had to send the medics to see if he was feeling OK. Seemed Ok to me.

DINER LINGO

I had the distinct pleasure of spending a few moments in the presence of two wonderful ladies this morning. The brilliant, talented and beautiful pair, Eve and Connie, were seated outside enjoying breakfast and lattes at the fashionable Corfu Restaurant here in Sierra Madre. Eating out entered the conversation to nobodies surprise. By the way if you're looking for the perfect gift in the $20 range, for a client or even me, Connie creates gift coffee cakes. They are yummy and originate from Connie's gramma's original recipe. Call Connie at Oven Lovin' (626) 676-0276.

Anyway, our discussion regarding eating led to a remembrance of "Diner Lingo". "Diner Lingo is verbal slang used by wait staff, cooks and chefs to communicate orders to the cooks. The slang was most used in diners and luncheonettes from the 20s to the 70s. Of course we know BLT is bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwich. Some of the other memorable terms included:

Adam and Eve on a raft: (two poached eggs on toast)

Adam and Eve on a raft and wreck 'em: (two scrambled eggs on toast)

Arnold Palmer: (half sweet tea, half lemonade) Battle Creek in a bowl: (bowl of corn flakes)

Black and Blue: (a steak cooked quickly over high heat, seared on the outside, blue inside)

Boiled Leaves: (hot tea) Bossy in a Bowl: (beef stew)

Checkerboard: (waffle)

Cup o' joe: (coffee)

Hockey Puck: (a hamburger well done)

Keep off the grass: (no lettuce)

Make it Cry: (serve with onions)

Motor Oil: (maple syrup)

Pigs in a Blanket: (sausage wrapped in pancakes)

Run it through the Garden: (any sandwich, with lettuce, tomato and onion added) Smear: (margarine or butter)

Whistle berries: (baked beans)

Wax: (American cheese) Wreath: (cabbage)

Yellow Paint: (mustard)

Some of the references are not food related:

Bubble Dancer: (Dishwasher)

Campers: (customers who take up a table for a long time causing the server to lose money) Chuds: (customers who take up an entire table and drink only coffee)

In the Alley: (item served as a side dish)

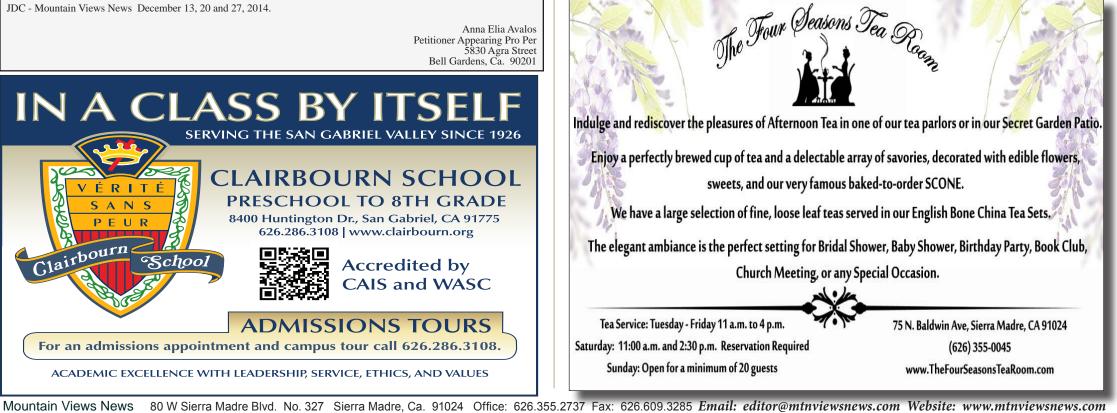

In the Weeds: (a waitress or cook that cannot keep up with the tables or orders)

Let it Walk: (an order to go)

Marry: (Put the leftovers in the same container) (also means pouring ketchup from half-filled bottles to other bottles to make full bottles. Get it?)

I hope you are having a festive Christmas holiday season. If you can't decide what to get me here's a suggestion: I have installed little buckets all over town, supervised by people ringing bells. We're calling it the Salvation Army and they could use the donations. Really, if you do your due diligence regarding charitable giving you will find the Salvation Army makes the best use of your contributions in getting help to those who need it.

Thank you for reading my column. And thank you to those of you who tell me, when you see me, that you read my column. That is a wonderful Christmas present in and of itself.

ALL THE LIGHT WE CANNOT SEE: A NOVEL by Anthony Doerr

A New York Times bestseller about a blind French girl and a German boy whose paths collide in occupied France as both try to survive the devastation of World War II. Marie-Laure lives with her father in Paris near the Museum of Natural History, where he works as the master of its thousands of locks. When she is six, Marie-Laure goes blind and her father builds a perfect miniature of their neighborhood so she can memorize it by touch and navigate her way home. When she is twelve, the Nazis occupy Paris and father and daughter flee to the walled citadel of Saint-Malo, where Marie-Laure's reclusive greatuncle lives by the sea. With them they carry what might be the museum's most valuable and dangerous jewel. In a mining town in Germany, the orphan Werner grows up with his younger sister, enchanted by a crude radio they find. Werner becomes an expert at building and fixing these crucial new instruments, a talent that wins him a place at a brutal academy for Hitler Youth, then a special assignment to track the resistance. More and more aware of the human cost of his intelligence, Werner travels through the heart of the war and, finally, into Saint-Malo, where his story and Marie-Laure's converge.

THE BURNING ROOM (A Harry Bosch Novel) by Michael Connelly

Detective Harry Bosch and his rookie partner investigate a cold case that gets very hot... very many murder victims die a decade after the crime. So when a man succumbs to complications from being shot by a stray bullet ten years earlier, Bosch catches a case in which the body is still fresh, but any other clues are virtually nonexistent. Even a veteran cop would find this one tough going, but Bosch's new partner, Detective Lucia Soto, department, Soto has been assigned to Bosch so that he can pass on to her his hard-won expertise. Beginning with the bullet that has been lodged for years in the victim's spine, they must pull new leads from years-old evidence, and these soon reveal that the shooting was anything but stakes: the deaths of several children in a fire that occurred twenty years ago. But when their work starts to threaten careers and lives, Bosch

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

I spend a lot of time with my dog, Molly, in the 1 cup rolled oats, regular or quick that girl follows me everywhere I go, and I think it's because she simply does not like being alone. She also doesn't want to miss out on a potential random ride through town in the car, or an evening walk around the block. There are also times when Molly insists on hugging my heals when I'm in the kitchen cooking up something good! This is particularly true during the holidays, when there's a lot more going on in that part of the house. Molly gets her fair share of goodies, but I try to be careful not to overdo it. I'm selective about the special treats she receives, and when I bake them myself, I try to choose recipes that are healthy, with less additives or mystery ingredients than might be found in store-bought treats.

With this in mind and with Christmas just around the corner, I thought it would be fun to share a few healthy holiday canine cookie recipes in this week's column. Here's wishing you all a Flax Seed Dog Treats very Merry Christmas and I hope you have lots of fun baking for your beloved, furry four-legged

Sherry Yard's Bachelor Dog Treats

Yields approx. 3 dozen treats 4 eggs, divided (2 for the dough, 2 for the wash) 1 ounce vegetable oil 1 tablespoon honey 8 ounces chicken stock 10 ounces whole wheat flour 5 ounces all purpose flour 3 ounces cornmeal 1 cup peanut butter

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. In a large bowl, whisk together two of the eggs, the oil and honey. Whisk in chicken stock. In the bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment, combine flour and cornmeal. With the mixer on medium speed, slowly pour in the chicken stock mixture, then add the peanut butter. Mix until the dough comes together, about 1 minute. Divide the dough in half. Roll out each ball of dough approx. ½ inch thick. Cut into desired shapes using a small cookie cutter and place on slightly oiled baking sheets. Whisk the remaining two eggs and brush the egg wash lightly over the cookies. Allow to dry for 10 minutes and brush with egg wash a second time. Bake until golden brown, about 15 minutes, depending on the size of the cookies.

house and in the yard. To be completely honest, 1 tablespoon dried parsley or 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley ½ cup nonfat dry milk ½ teaspoon salt

> Add 2 large eggs and 1 cup (9 1/4 ounces) peanut butter, crunchy or plain. Stir to combine; the mixture will be crumbly. Add ½ cup + 1 tablespoon cold water, or enough to make a cohesive dough. In winter, you may have to add a bit more water for proper consistency. Drop dough in walnut-sized balls onto a lightly oiled parchment-lined baking sheet and flatten to about 1/4" thick, or roll dough to 1/4" thickness and cut with a bone-shaped cookie cutter and place closely on oiled baking sheet. Bake for 40 to 60 minutes (depending on size). When they are golden brown, they are ready to remove from the oven and let cool for your canine!

12 ounces whole wheat flour 12 ounces bread flour 2 ounces wheat germ 1 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons brown sugar 3-4 teaspoons flax seed 3 eggs 1 cup vegetable oil 3 ounces powdered milk 1 cup water

Combine flour, wheat germ, salt, brown sugar and flax seed in a large mixing bowl. Stir in eggs and vegetable oil. Dissolve dry milk in water then incorporate the mixture. Mix to form a very firm dough that is smooth and workable. Adjust by adding a little extra flour or water as required. Cover the dough and set aside to relax for 15-20 minutes. Roll dough out to ½" thick. Cut biscuits and place on sheet pans lined with baking paper. Bake at 375 degrees for approx. 40 minutes or until brown and crispy. Let biscuits cool, and store in covered container.

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND??

Looking For A Best Friend?? To enjoy the holidays with? Macy is a 6-year-old terrier mix. She's a bit larger than some terriers, weighing in at around 16 pounds. She has a medium length salt and pepper coat that needs regular brushing and grooming for her to look her best. She came to the shelter with a dirty, matted coat, but volunteers sponsored a professional grooming session for her, and she looks just beautiful now.

Macy is a friendly girl who enjoys the company of people and loved posing for her holiday photo. She can be a little shy at first, but she makes good eye contact and when she is comfortable, she will lie quietly beside you, or even settle in your lap for some quality petting. She is not demanding, but does enjoy physical contact from her human companion.

Macy looks forward to going on a walk and trots happily on the leash. She has a calm energy level and is easy to manage.

Macy gets along well with her kennel mate and with other dogs she has met at the shelter. She tends to be relaxed and quiet, but she can be playful when she is in the mood and has an active playmate.

Macy would love to find a forever home with a person, couple or family who can give her the attention she deserves. She would probably do well with another dog that she is compatible with, but she could also do fine as the only dog in the home. Why not come in to meet sweet Macy and see if she is the right dog for you? She would love to have a "Home for the Holidays."

She currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel with her roommate. We are located off San Gabriel Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las

To arrange a 'Meet and Greet' with Macy, please stop by any time from 10:00am to 4:30pm Tuesday

Her adoption fee is $120 which includes her spay surgery, a microchip, first vaccinations and a free wellness check-up at a participating veterinarian. Feel free to call us at (626) 286-1159 for more information on Macy.

PET OF THE WEEK

SANDY: Animal ID #A47774627

Meet Sandy a very lady like and composed light brown Longhaired Chihuahua who loves to please! Sandy (A4774627) is a beautiful heartwarming 7-year-old Longhaired Chihuahua who was left at the Baldwin Park Animal Care Center on December 8thth. Weighing a tiny 5lbs, Sandy adores and cherishes every moment she can spend in your arms or on your lap. She enjoys the company of other dogs, especially those who are small like her, but people are her main squeeze. She has a luxating patella (grade 2 out of 4), which should be evaluated by an outside veterinarian (this condition often prescribes regular easy walks). She is full of love and kisses and always has a smile on her face. She also absolutely loves people and other animals who are willing to respect her size. She is soulful and loving and will make a perfect indoor pet/ addition to your family. Sandy is the perfect puppy lover we know he will make a super indoor pet for an individual or family living in a private home, he will do wonderfully with elders or children old enough to respect his itty bitty size. To watch a video of Sandy please visit the following link: http://youtu.be/v0kcCSYBfa8

To meet Sandy in person, please see her at the Baldwin Park Shelter, located at 4275 N. Elton, Baldwin Park, CA 91706 (Phone: 626-430-2378 or 626-962-3577). She is available now. For any inquiries about Sandy, please reference her animal ID number: A4774627. The shelter is open seven days a week, 12 pm-7 pm Monday-Thursday and 10am-5pm Friday-Sunday. This is a high-intake shelter with a great need for adoptions. For more information about Sandy or the adoption process, contact United Hope for Animals Volunteer Adoption Coordinator Samantha at Samantha@ hope4animals.org.

THE JOY OF YOGA HOLIDAY GIFT GUIDE FOR YOGIS

get for that special someone in your life? How about the gift of yoga or some fabulous, earth-friendly, yoga inspired item? Feel good about someone's life. Here are a few yoga-friendly gift ideas:

1. A gift certificate for a series of yoga classes. Nothing says, 'I love you' like the gift of yoga. If the recipient is new to yoga, they can pick their classes and attend at their own convenience. Who knows, this could be the beginning of a health and wellness revolution for them!

a private session with their teacher. This gift is an unexpected, and well-appreciated surprise!

3. Gear and accessories. Every yogi needs a their own mat! I recommend a quality Manduka mat. They are not cheap, but last forever and give the extra firm padding needed for our knees and wrists. Less expensive mats such as a Jade or Tapas mat work well too, but may need to be replaced sooner. Other props such as a Bolster and blocks are extremely helpful and almost essential to a home practice. Don't forget the meditation cushion, or 'zafu', to allow that perfect lift

Vibrant Living Wellness Center Heathcare the Way Nature Intended DON'T BE IN A HURRY TO GROW OLD

It is often said that the eyes are the window to the soul but your face is a window to how healthy you have lived. Premature aging makes us look tired, older than we are and less vital. Think about it, don't you love being around people who make you happy, who get excited about life? They seem fresh and

We are all going to age and look older. After all, the opposite of aging is death and most of us are not in a hurry for that to happen. There are a lot of thing we can do to prevent premature aging. Our diet and lifestyle pay a huge role in how fast our face ages.

Here are 5 things you can do to prevent premature aging of you face.

Dr. Tina is a traditional naturopath and nutritionist at Vibrant Living Wellness Center

-Don't smoke, quit smoking and stay away from those who do smoke. There is probably nothing that ages the face faster than smoking. The nicotine causes narrowing of the blood vessels in the outermost layers of your skin impairing blood flow to your skin. This causes your skin to get less oxygen and important nutrients, such as vitamin A and C. The chemicals in cigarette smoke also damage collagen and elastin, which will cause the skin to sag and wrinkle. This happens from second hand smoke too.

www.vibrantlivingwc.com

- A poor diet will contribute to premature facial aging. We need to take in antioxidants from the foods we eat, namely fruits and vegetables. It is important to eat a wide and colorful variety of fruits and vegetables.
- Avoid excess sun, mainly between the hours of 10 and 2 but don't avoid the sun all together. Protecting your face from sun is fine but we need to have some sun exposure to unprotected skin on a regular basis so that our bodies can make Vitamin D which will aid in keeping us youthful.
- Avoid harsh elements. It is a good idea to protect the delicate skin on your face from extreme cold and wind. Both wind and cold will zap the moisture out of your skin.
- Keep your body well hydrated with water. Our bodies are roughly 70% water and when we are dehydrated our skin suffers quickly.

SHARED HOUSING CAN HELP SENIORS IN MANY WAYS

Dear Savvy Senior:

What can you tell me about senior home-sharing programs? Since my father passed away last year, my mom, who's 70, is interested in renting out a room in her house for some extra income and for the companionship. Is this a wise idea? Housemate Hunting

Dear Hunting:

It could be a great idea if your mom has the space and can find the right housemate/renter.

Shared housing among older adults has gotten a lot of attention lately as more and more people are recognizing that they can use their home to get help with a variety of needs, such as generating income, getting help with household chores, and even finding some much needed companionship. But home sharing isn't for everyone. Your mom needs to carefully consider the pros and cons of renting out a room in her house, and make a list of what she wants (and doesn't want) in a housemate/renter.

To help her sort this out, the National Shared Housing Resource Center offers a 16-page "Consumers Guide to Home Sharing" that provides a self-questionnaire to those considering renting their home, along with a list of renter's questions and important points to discuss, and a sample home-sharing lease agreement that lays out the details in writing. This guide costs $10 and can be ordered at nationalsharedhousing.org.

Finding a Renter

After going through the guide, if your mom wants to proceed in finding a renter, a good first step is to contact a home-sharing program in her area that matches adults who are looking for shared housing with older adults who are looking

These programs handle background checks and other screenings, and consider lifestyle criteria when making matches. They can also help her with the leasing agreement that the renter would sign that covers issues like smoking, pets, chores, overnight guests, use of common rooms, etc.

Most home-sharing programs are free to use or request a small donation. Others, however, may charge the homeowner and potential renter a fee

There are dozens of home-sharing programs throughout the U.S. You can find a list of at the National Shared Housing Resource Center website at nationalsharedhousing.org.

If you don't find a program that serves your area, you can also search for housemates through national resources like Let's Share Housing (letssharehousing.com), the Golden Girls Network (goldengirlsnetwork.com) and Roommates 4 Boomers (roommates4boomers.com). All of these programs offer national Web-based matching programs and charge membership fees that run anywhere between $30 and $39.

If you don't have any luck with the homesharing programs, put a call in to your Area Agency on Aging (call the Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116 for contact information) who may be able to offer assistance or refer you to local agencies or nonprofit organizations that offer shared housing help.

You can also check with the local senior or community center, church or temple that your mom attends to see if you can post an ad on their bulletin board or in their newsletter. Or, you can advertise in your local newspaper or online at roommates.com or craigslist.org.

If your mom finds someone on her own that she's interested in renting to, ask the prospective renter to fill out a "rental application" (see rentalleaseagreement.org to download and print one for free) and run a full tenant background check, and then call their references. Background checks can be ordered online through companies like starpointtenantscreening.com and screeningworks.com for a small fee.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior. org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

KATIE Tse.....This and That THE BIONIC CRICKET

We are nearing the shortest day of the year, and the weather has finally gotten cold enough to wear sweaters. Summer being a distant memory, my husband and I were surprised when we heard a cricket in our kitchen the other night. "I thought they only came out during summer," I said. "Yeah," my husband replied, "We haven't had any in months." Judging by its loud chirping, this sucker must've been huge. We looked in the corners and cleared away some of the junk that was cluttering our small kitchen. But the cricket was elusive. It also had incredible stamina, because it kept a steady rhythm for several minutes. "Oh my gosh," I groaned, "I'm not going to be able to sleep with this noise. Eventually the thing got tired and shut up.

However, a few days later the loud chirping of our unwelcomed visitor returned. After another fruitless search in all the corners I happened to glance up and noticed a small red light blinking on the ceiling. "Oh!" I exclaimed, "I think it's the smoke detector!" Sure enough, our super cricket simply turned out to be the warning signal that our battery was running low. We had a good laugh and I even mentioned it to my parents when I dropped

I'd nearly forgotten about our cricket-sounding about a noisy cricket that woke him up early in the morning. It sounded very close, and he figured it must have been right outside the bedroom window. He was in the middle of explaining to me how to determine ambient temperature counting the number of chirps a cricket makes in a given amount of time, when suddenly the monster itself began chirping weeks later. My Dad was telling me loudly. There he is again!" Dad exclaimed. "Wait, it's inside!" He grabbed a broom and hurried down the hall, intending to sweep it outside. "Don't kill it, John!" my Mom called after him, always the animal lover. "Are you sure it's not the smoke alarm?" I asked as he disappeared around the corner in hot pursuit. A few moments later he reemerged, smiling sheepishly. "Well, I guess you're right," he replied. "That makes sense, since at his rate it would mean that the temperature was 95 degrees!" And so the mystery of the bionic crickets was solved and a new battery was installed. So if you hear winter chirping, it might just be your smoke detector -- "by Jiminy!

HILLSIDES LAUNCHES HOLIDAY TOY DRIVE IN 55 LOCAL STARBUCKS STORES

Twenty-five volunteers from local Starbucks stores helped assemble and decorate 55 donation boxes that will be used to collect toys in participating Starbucks stores during Starbucks annual toy drive benefiting Hillsides.

is sponsoring a toy drive in participating Starbucks main campus in Pasadena wrapping and decorating stores in the San Gabriel Valley and surrounding area. This year, 55 stores will be participating. The drive will run from December 12 - December 25.

Each store will feature a large white donation box topped with a red gift box and decorated with colorful holiday ribbon and a Hillsides poster. "We are asking customers to please consider donating new, unwrapped toys when they visit Starbucks," said Laura Kelso, Hillsides director of community resources. "These gifts are incredibly important to the children and families Hillsides serves because otherwise, they may not receive anything for the holidays.'

Starbucks began its Hillsides toy drive in 2010 with donation boxes in 12 stores. Since then, the number of participating stores has grown steadily each year. "This toy drive has become a real tradition for us," said Starbucks district manager Jennifer Vanderpool. "It feels good to partner with children in need.

LAURA SKANDERA TROMBLEY NAMED PRESIDENT OF THE HUNTINGTON

Trombley, President of Pitzer College, Succeeds Steven S. Koblik, Who Retires June 30, 2015

SAN MARINO, Calif. - Laura Skandera Trombley has been named the eighth president of The Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens, The Huntington's Board of Trustees announced today. Trombley takes the helm on July 1, 2015, the first woman to do so, following the retirement of Steven S. Koblik, who has served as The Huntington's president since 2001.

Trombley comes to The Huntington after 13 years as president of Pitzer College in Claremont, Calif. She is widely credited with dramatically improving the college's standing in higher education. Under her fundraising campaigns, raising over $110 million, while its U.S. News ranking improved 50 percent, moving from 70th to 35th, a feat unmatched in higher education. Pitzer has become one of the 20 most selective higher education institutions, and financial aid has increased 125 percent, decreasing student debt by 27 percent for the past decade. In addition, Pitzer has been the national leader for the number of Fulbright Fellowships awarded per 1,000 students. Also under Trombley, Pitzer's endowment increased more than 200 percent, and the college added eight new buildings, all receiving Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Platinum or Gold certification. TRACES OF MARTIAN LIFE COULD BE LOCKED IN A METEORITE; GEMINID METEOR SHOWER DEC. 13-14

Did Mars ever have life? Does it still? A meteorite from Mars has reignited the old debate. An international team that includes scientists from Ecole Polytechnique de Lausanne (EPFL, Switzerland) has published a paper in the scientific journal Meteoritics and Planetary Sciences, showing that Martian life is more probable than previously thought.

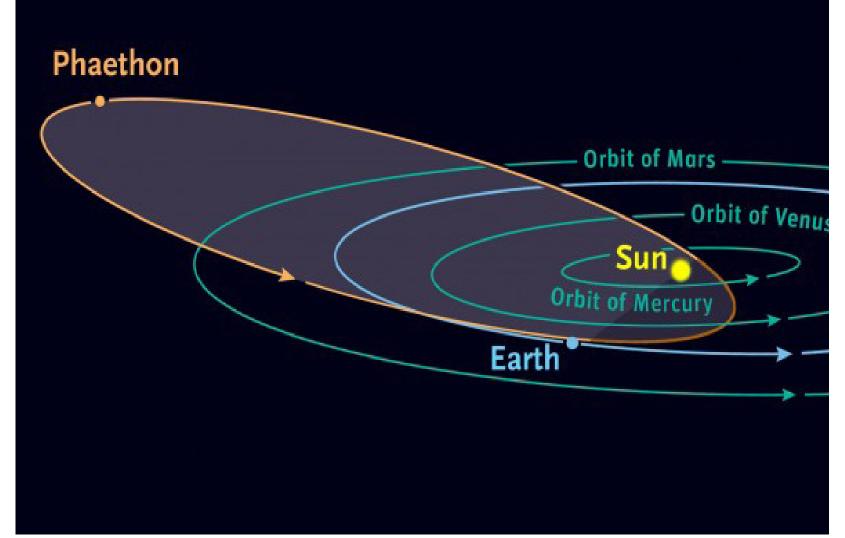

"So far, there is no other theory that we find more compelling," says Philippe Gillet, director of EPFL's Earth and Planetary Sciences Laboratory. He and his colleagues from China, Japan and Germany performed a detailed analysis of organic carbon traces from a Martian meteorite, and have concluded that they have a very probable biological origin. The scientists argue that carbon could have been deposited into the fissures of the rock when it was still on Mars by the infiltration of fluid that was rich in organic matter.

Ejected from Mars after an asteroid crashed on its surface, the meteorite, named Tissint, fell on the Moroccan desert on July 18, 2011, in view of several eyewitnesses. Upon examination, the alien rock was found to have small fissures that were filled with carbon-containing matter. Several research teams have already shown that this component is organic in nature. But they are still debating where the carbon came from.

Chemical, microscopic and isotope analysis of the carbon material led the researchers to several possible explanations of its origin. They established characteristics that unequivocally excluded a terrestrial origin, and showed that the carbon content was deposited in the Tissint's fissures before it left Mars.

GEMINID METEOR SHOWER DECEMBER 13-14 – If it's clear late on Saturday and Sunday nights, Dec. 13 and 14, keep a lookout high overhead for the "shooting stars" of the Geminid meteor shower. "The Geminids are usually one of the two best meteor showers of the year," says Alan MacRobert, senior editor at Sky & Telescope magazine. "They're sometimes more impressive than the better-known Perseids of August."

Under a clear, dark sky, you might see a shooting star every minute or two from 10 p.m.

local time until dawn on these two nights. If you live under the artificial skyglow of light pollution the numbers will be reduced, but the brightest meteors will still shine through.

To watch for meteors, you need no equipment other than your eyes. Find a dark spot with an open view of the sky and no glary lights nearby. Geminids can appear anywhere in the sky, so the best direction to watch is wherever your sky is darkest, probably straight up. If you trace each meteor's direction of flight backward far enough across the sky, you'll find that this imaginary line crosses a spot in the constellation Gemini near the stars Castor and Pollux. Gemini is low in the eastern sky during late evening.

The Geminid meteors are created by tiny bits of rocky debris (mostly the size of sand grains to peas) shed from a small asteroid named 3200 Phaethon, which was discovered in 1983. Before then no one knew the source of the Geminid shower. Phaethon is small, only about 3 miles across, and it loops around the Sun every 1.4 years in an orbit that approaches the Sun closer than any other known asteroid. Over the centuries bits of Phaethon have spread all along the asteroid's orbit to form a sparse, moving "river of rubble" that Earth passes through in mid-December each year. The particles are traveling 22 miles per second (79,000 mph) with respect to Earth at the place in space where we encounter them. So when one of them dives into Earth's upper atmosphere, about 50 to 80 miles up, air friction vaporizes it in a quick, white-hot streak.

THE YEAR OF NO CHRISTMAS By Christopher Nyerges

When I was around 10, my brothers and I were particularly bad, belligerent, and misbehaving one autumn. My mother gave us several warning and threats and a few "beatings" in her ceaseless attempt to get us to obey. I don't recall what was "wrong" with us that year. It was as if we were afflicted by some unseen infection. Or maybe it was what all teens go through when they believe they know more than their parents. So my mother said, "Keep it up and there will be no Christmas this year." Of course, my mother didn't control the calendar. She just meant "no gifts." That threat did at first affect our behavior, but then we'd go back to our nonfeasant and malfeasant ways. There were numerous threats, as November rolled into December, but things didn't substantially improve. Now, I was at the age where I began to think about things, and the relative unfairness in the world, and the questioning of authority.

But I also wondered why we should receive gifts at Christmas. By this time, I was aware that Christians celebrate the birth of Jesus at this time, celebrate the birth of Jesus at this time, and that it was primarily a religious holiday. I just didn't get the whole gift thing –not that I minded receiving. But because I lacked an understanding of the whole picture, the idea of "no gifts" didn't seem that threatening to me.

Thinking back, our bad behaviour that year was likely the trickle-down defiance from our oldest brother. David was never a defier, certainly not an open defier, but the defiance of Gilbert the eldest would have trickled down to Thomas, to Richard, to me. We were not an ideal family, and I am sure I have suffered my entire life due to unnecessary defiance and the disrespect that I showed to my parents. Did my parents deserve respect? In retrospect, of course they did, though the question would have been irrelevant then – like the pot calling the kettle black.

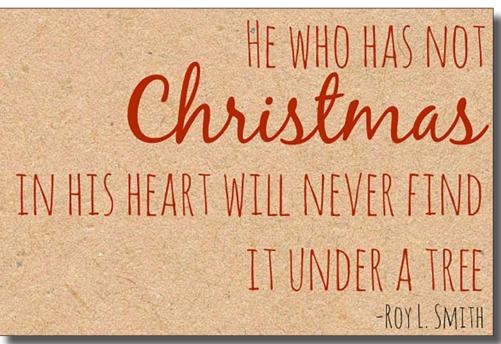

We were not saints, so who were we to point out hypocrisy in our parents?

Anyway, by mid-December, the word was out: No Christmas this year. We were schizophrenic about this. "Oh, we don't care," we sassed, but inwardly I believe we each felt a deep dismay at our own inability to live up to our household's very simple standards. I felt particularly dismayed that I had been no better, and that I was swayed along with the tide of my older brothers' mob mentality. No Christmas. "She won't follow through on it," Tom told us with assurance. But inwardly, I felt my mother had to follow through, otherwise her word would mean little to us, and she'd gain little by "being nice." I don't recall what my father had to say about this, but it wasn't much.

So, sure enough, Christmas came, and we went glumly into the living room to a fire and the usual Christmas tree, but there were no gifts. We went to church and we talked with our schoolmates. When they talked about what they got for Christmas, we just found ways to change the subject. We had a quiet Christmas dinner. One of my brothers told his friends that my mother was mean, but I never did that. I knew we deserved nothing, and I felt a certain euphoric sense of justice in her actions, and I respected her more

Interestingly, in certain ways, I felt closer to my mother after that, was more obedient because I simply felt better doing what was expected of me, and I never complained. Despite a seeming lack, it was actually one of the best Christmas' ever, where I received the most fitting possible "gift" – the ability to quickly experience that

The story about my mean mother gradually got out into the neighborhood, and my mother once again became the topic of conversations, mostly criticizing my mother. I always remained silent, trying to listen to both sides. But I only heard one side—no gifts – from those who truly lost the meaning of Christmas, whose sole focus for Christmas seemed to be the acquisition of things.

my choices and actions have consequences.

So I was "given," slowly, a second "gift" by my mother's action – a unique insight into the all-too-common mundanity of most people's very narrow thinking. And I was allowed the rare opportunity to try and experience the meaning of Christmas without the overfocus on material things.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

"HOW SHOULD I TAKE TITLE TO MY HOME?"

As an estate planning attorney, I get that question all the time. And it's a great question. You definitely want to make sure you hold title to your home correctly. Why? If titled incorrectly:

- The home owner cannot control what happens to the property after s/he dies.
- The home owner's heirs can lose the property to creditors, the government, or even an ex-spouse.
- The home owner's heirs will have to pay capital gains tax on the sale of the property.
- The home (and the heirs) will have to endure the public, time-consuming, and very expensive probate

Common Ways to Hold Title

- Joint Tenancy (JT): Under JT, the owner who dies first cannot control what happens to the property after his or her death. JT ensures there will be a probate upon the death of the second joint tenant. Finally, the surviving joint tenant will pay capital gains taxes on one-half of the property after the death of the first joint
- Tenants in Common (TIC): A TIC does not provide any survivorship rights among the co-owners. When one tenant in common dies, that tenant's interest in the property does not automatically pass to the surviving tenants in common. And each tenant's interest does have to pass through probate upon each of their deaths. In California, a tenancy in common is presumed unless
- title is specifically taken in some other way. - Community Property (CP): Possibly the most common way for married couples to own property, CP causes half of the property to be probated upon the first death, and the whole property to be probated upon the
- Community Property with Right of Survivorship (CPw/ROS): Like joint tenancy, CPw/ROS is he-who-dies-last-wins situation, because only the surviving owner controls the disposition of the property upon death.

What eliminates all these potential problems? A Living

- The best way to own your property is in a living trust. Owning property in a properly drafted and funded living trust avoids probate upon the death of both the initial and surviving spouses.
- Property received by heirs can be sold free of any capital gains tax and often avoids property tax reassessment.
- The trust will ensure the right people receive the property after the death of the owners.
- The property can be protected from creditors, predators, and even any future ex-spouses of the heirs. Be one of the first five callers to mention this article and I'll research and review the title of your primary residence free of charge. You'll learn exactly how your title it is currently held, what that means to you and your loved ones, and how you can change the way you old title if you're not happy with the results.

Social Media Tips, Tricks & Ideas

HOW DO PEOPLE FEEL ABOUT YOUR BRAND?

Part of a good marketing strategy is about finding the right people you can persuade that your product or service is worth spending their money on.

People buy a product or service for four reasons: they need it, have time for it, can afford it, they like it or they like the person providing the service.

Social media can only influence one of those four areas. You can't force someone to need your product if they don't, and you can't control how much money someone has. The only area you really can influence is whether they like you or not. And sometimes, that's hard to do too!

Maya Angelou said...

"I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel."

Take a look at your social media presence and see if you are creating a brand that is likeable. Are you adding in human touches? Are you sharing interesting information? Are you listening and commenting on other people's social media posts?

Making your audience feel good is good for your business.

HARDER THAN IT LOOKS

With markets so rapidly changing, it's easy to imagine how property appraisers might sit in a darkened room, waving their hands over a crystal ball, and producing the mysterious and all-powerful document of a home's value. Let's dispel the notion of magical figures and look more carefully at the

When comparing against similar properties, it's not just the final price that counts. Appraisers also factor in any "incentives" offered, such as sellers who pay closing costs or remodeling allowances. Perhaps the most important factor that lenders review in an appraisal is the closing dates of the "comparables" (other homes by which yours is measured). Unfortunately, with today's stricter lending requirements, most "comps" must have sold within the last 60 or even 45 days to carry weight. Markets change so quickly that any sale price over two months old may be completely irrelevant.

Now a few words about how foreclosures in a neighborhood affect determination of value. Technically, appraisers shouldn't consider them, because they don't fit the Appraisal Institute's definition of "a property reasonably exposed in a competitive market." However, if several area homes have been abandoned, we know the negative effect that can have on a home's "perceived" value.

If you're planning to sell, express your concerns about the appraisal process to your representative, who will offer explanations and suggestions for improving your report's results.

OUT TO PASTOR

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

THE GREAT WALL OF SILENCE after thanksgiving

In our home the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and I have a wonderful

Really, when you think about it, what is a home without traditions? Many people pretend that they do not have traditions which in and of itself has become a tradition. Our tradition is that on what is normally called "Black Friday" we do not leave our house except to go out and get the mail. Years ago we did, but those ensuing years have created a sense of wisdom that has rought us to banning any out of the house experience on "Black Friday." When we were younger, we had more energy and could run. Now, running is a very fond memory. I am not that fond of shopping malls in the first place, and in the second place, I do not like to be run wer by a mob trying to out buy me. Thus, our tradition on "Black Friday" is to stay home and appreciate one another's companionship. It is always good to relish Thanksgiving dinner leftovers, sit back and just enjoy ourselves. I think we also vatched a little bit of television.

As we were watching television, a terrible thought wrestled my mind to the mat. I guess my mind is not as strong as it used to be.

The thought was simply this; there is a special holiday that follows Thanksgiving. I did not give it any thought until at this point. That special holiday is Christmas. And Christmas means buying a Christmas esent for my wife.

This is always a stressful time for me. After all, what do you get somebody who has everything? She has me! What more could she need. (Don't tell her I said that.) Now my mind was racing a thousand miles an hour trying to figure out what I should get her as a Christmas present this year. I thought maybe if I could remember what I got her last year it might give me some ideas for this year.

The harder I thought, the less thoughts came. I could not for the life of me figure out what I had given her ast year for Christmas. I knew at this point I was in serious trouble. I decided I would try to get my wife to tell me what I could get her this year for Christmas. We were chatting back and forth; she was telling me one story after another. I think there were several stories but it all sounded the same to me. Although I have two ears, they do not seem to be connected. So, in the midst of our chatting I said, "You know Christmas is only a few weeks away."

I thought that would get some conversation going and in a subtle way I could direct it to what she wanted for Christmas. Boy, was I wrong. As soon as I said that, all silence broke loose in our living room. I cannot remember the last time it was this quiet when both of us were in the room. I am not quite sure she has figured me out yet, she probably has. Anybody who has ever attempted to manipulate their wife into disclosing information knows that I was up against the Great Wall of Silence.

tried to think of another strategy. Then I came up with one. "How did you like the Christmas present I got you last year?" Thinking I could get her to talk about omething that would refresh my memory and lead me in a direction of something for this year.

'Fine, how did you like yours?" she said and went behind the Great Wall of Silence. Now I was backed into a corner. I could not remember what she gave me for Christmas last year. I tried to crank up the old think-machine, but it seemed to be out of gas. If only I could remember what she got me it might spark me to remember what I got her.

For the next few moments silence reigned queen for the day as I tried to think of how I could get her to tell me something that I could get her for Christmas.

I had another semi-brilliant idea. 'What did we get your mother last year for Christmas?" I thought this might spur some conversation that would lead me to the information I was seeking.

She looked at me and then said, "What did we get her for Christmas last year? I can't really remember." Now, I knew very well she knew what we got her for Christmas last year. If anybody knows how to tonewall their husband, it is the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. "What do you think we ought to get her this year?" I asked searchingly. This I thought would spur ome conversation.

"I am not quite sure. What do you think she would like?" At this point, I think my cover is blown. If I am going to get any information out of my wife about what get her for Christmas, it will not be during my lifetime. In the quietness, I began to reflect upon some scriptural admonitions. I especially like what David said, "Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth' Psalms 46:10). It is in the quietness that the reality of God shines the brightest in my heart.

According to Castro, after a brief chase Baker "charged" at him, so Castro shot him dead. Baker was unarmed, and there were no other Jordan Baker was a student at Houston Community College and leaves a 7-year-old son (Jordan Jr.). Officer Baker was put on administrative leave.

When Southfield (outside of Detroit) police officers answered the call from shopping mall security guards on January 28, they found 25-year-old McKenzie Cochran handcuffed and not oreathing. Cochran died on the way to the hospital.

Earlier, the guards were called by a store owner about an agitated Cochran who refused to leave his store. Cochran was pepper-sprayed and thrown to the ground face-down by the guards, one with his knee on Cochran's back.

Attorney Gerald Thurswell described a cellphone video of the incident: "When he's telling them that he's dying, he says, 'I can't breathe, I can't breathe. Call 911, I can't breathe. I'm dying.' And they just keep that knee on his back, compressing his lungs and chest into the ground . . .

The Oakland County (Michigan) Medical Examiner attributed the death to "position compression asphyxia". The Oakland County Prosecutor acknowledged "mistakes" made by the guards, but declined to file charges.

Last March, 22-year-old Victor White III was stopped by New Iberia, Louisiana police officers, patted down and found to have marijuana, cocaine and some Cigarillos. He was put in the back seat of the police car, hands cuffed behind his back, and taken to the station.

Despite the frisking, according to the officers, they missed the gun White allegedly had on him which, with his hands cuffed behind him in the backseat, they say he somehow managed to use to shoot himself (later labeled the "Houdini suicide").

The initial police report says White was shot in the back. The coroner's report says it was in the chest, with none of the gunpowder traces typical of a point-blank shot. The local investigation is pending.

Tyree Woodson (38) was picked up August 2 by Baltimore police on several open warrants. After hours in a holding cell, he was escorted to a restroom, where, upon entering the stall, he allegedly shot himself.

His family wonders how a criminal considered dangerous could be arrested, jailed and transported within the facility all while managing to hang onto a high-caliber weapon - not for an escape attempt, but to kill himself. An investigation is pending.

On August 5, John Crawford III, 22, went with his girlfriend to a Wal-Mart in Beavercreek, Ohio, to shop for a family barbeque. He got a phone call, and while talking on his cell picked up an open BB gun from a store shelf, which he carried with him while talking and walking down the aisles with nobody else paying much attention.

A witness called 911 to say a customer was pointing a gun at people. A month later, the same witness said he wasn't pointing the gun at anybody. Store video shows two officers rushing into the store with guns drawn, then shooting their target the second he comes into view at the end of an aisle, still on his phone.

The grand jury issued no indictments. Crawford leaves two sons.

On August 12, two days after the killing of Michael Brown, the LAPD says 25-year-old Ezell Ford was killed in South L.A. during a confrontation with them in which "a struggle ensued". Witnesses and family members say he was shot three times while lying on the ground, complying with their orders. The LAPD put an "investigative hold" on the autopsy report.

Cleveland Police got a call November 22 about a man "probably a juvenile" with a gun "probably fake" at a local park. According to police, upon arrival an officer got out of his car and told the suspect to put his hands up. Instead, they reported, the suspect reached into his waistband and pulled out a gun, at which point the officer fired. According to video of the incident, however, the police car pulls up at 0:19 and by 0:21, all of two second later, the suspect is falling to the ground, mortally wounded.

Tamir Rice, owner of the BB gun, was 12.

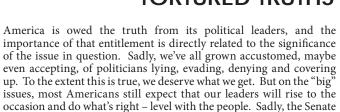

In the Michael Brown case, the focus has been on a struggle in the police car, not on whether Brown was later killed while attempting to surrender - or on a prosecutor presenting the case against

For Eric Garner, Sen. Rand Paul (R-KY) suggests that if "politicians" had not made cigarette taxes so high, Garner wouldn't have been selling singles on the street, which got him into trouble in the first place.

This isn't about isolated incidents, insufficient "respect" shown to police or high taxes, for that matter - but about an ongoing pattern of conduct and cover-up throughout the country that the 'Black Lives Matter" campaign refuses to allow to continue. And no, Sean Hannity, it has nothing to do with Benghazi.

TORTURED TRUTHS

Intelligence Committee's report on CIA interrogations is anything but a truthful analysis; its sole purpose seems to be the furthering of some incomprehensible political agenda. There is no mistaking the intent of this report. The Democratic members of the Senate committee released a report which attempts to hold members of the CIA accountable to accusations of "torture" in the aftermath of 9/11. In doing so, they very conveniently ignore the history of those days, weeks and months.

9/11 was the deadliest terrorist attack on U.S. soil, in the wake of which President Bush signed a congressional authorization for the use of military force. It was a bipartisan authorization which specifically granted the President the authority to "use all necessary and appropriate force against [those] he determines [were involved in] the terrorist attacks". The point of the authorization was very specific: "to prevent any future acts of international terrorism against the United States".

 $In \, a \, similarly \, bipartisan \, method, the \, CIA's \, rendition, detention \, and \, interrogation \, program$ was designed with the participation of the Congress and the President. Full disclosure of this program, which included the use of enhanced interrogation techniques, was made to the chairmen and ranking members of both the Senate and House intelligence committees.

The Democratic report released this week attempts to paint a much different picture. Among its central claims are the assertions that the programs were developed without oversight and without the knowledge and approval of the Congress. That is just a lie! It's not even a good lie since the report doesn't offer any evidence to suggest that any member of the intelligence committees were unaware of, or even later shocked by, the programs. In fact, the reactions at the time of the congressional briefings ranged from no objection to approval to some calling for a more aggressive approach. Further incriminating of the lie in this Democratic report is the fact that President Obama's Justice Department investigated the CIA program and in 2012 found no basis whatsoever for criminal prosecution. They found - albeit reluctantly - that the CIA had lawfully carried out the lawful instructions of the President and the Congress.

With hindsight, we should have known such a shameful political attack was coming. The Senate committee didn't bother to interview President Bush, Vice President Cheney, their advisors, the heads of the CIA or any of those involved in the programs. Doing your research and interviewing all the witnesses is something I trust they teach early in law school, although I'm sure it's viewed as just a nuisance in our universities' political science departments. Why strive for the truth when a more convenient political narrative can simply be invented?

Part of that convenient Democratic political narrative is the assertion by the Democratic report that the enhanced interrogation techniques were actually "torture". Simply calling something torture doesn't make it so. Americans are by and large good people, possessing a more-than-ample quotient of common sense. Torture is inflicting significant physical pain; a slap in the face is not significant. Nor is creating a sensation of drowning where there is no drowning. Waterboarding tricks the human system into thinking it is drowning. There's no real physical harm. American service men and women are exposed to it during training, because with training you can teach yourself to ignore the sensation. The human mind can be taught to recognize that the "feeling" of drowning is not really drowning. Real torture can't simply be ignored.

This, and a host of other psychological techniques, have been wonderfully successful in convincing terrorists (without real damage to themselves) to give up valuable information which has saved lives. But this fact is also denied by the Democratic report. In their narrative, not only did the U.S. torture people, but it did so just knowing that no "actionable intelligence" would be obtained. That narrative couldn't be further from the truth. As several CIA heads and military leaders make clear in the 12/10/14 Wall Street Journal, the interrogations exposed and prevented a second wave of attacks which were being planned by Al Qaeda. The truth is that real lives were saved while no real harm was done to terrorists.

As for the political calculation behind this piece of partisan fiction masquerading as serious investigation, I can't begin to imagine what benefits could outweigh the serious damage that this Democratic report will cause. At the very least, Al Qaeda, ISIS and others will use this to recruit and to justify their truly torturous treatment of prisoners. Who could object to beheading a few Americans when Americans themselves torture? America needs our friends to trust us and our enemies to fear us. Exercises in self immolation, like this report, embolden enemies and drive away friends.

It is my firm belief there is a special place in hell for those terrorists who torture, maim and kill with abandon. I'm beginning to believe - or at least hope - there is a place also reserved for those who would make such false and damaging accusations against those who put their lives on the line to protect our country.

How to make good use of holiday togetherness when you're caring for a senior loved one elebrating the holidays together with family is one of the best rewards of the season. If you are caring for an older relative, however, the holidays can be worrisome. You might notice that your loved one seems lonely, feels isolated or is overwhelmed. Or maybe you identify safety issues that signal your loved one needs more assistance than you are able to provide. If so, then the holidays offer you and your family a special opportunity: to share in the discussion and decision-making about care alternatives for someone you all love.

At The Kensington, we are getting close to officially opening our doors. In the meantime, especially during this holiday season, we invite you to visit together with family. Learn about our care options and, if you're ready, let us help you lay the groundwork for wonderful change. Bring us your hopes, dreams, memories and traditions. Yours together with ours, along with our unwavering commitment to continual excellence in senior service, make for joyous holidays and a bright future.

We welcome you to visit throughout the holiday season to meet our team, tour our community and tell us how we can help you and a senior you love.
