HISTORICAL FIRE HORN RESTORED

Starting on Monday, February 2nd, the 75 year-old Fire Horn will once again be heard throughout the community on a daily basis. The Horn, which is located on North Baldwin Avenue within the East Montecito Public Parking Lot, will be blown every day at 5:00pm. During emergencies, the horn will go off in a series of three blasts. When residents hear the three blasts, they should take a moment to become aware of their surroundings, and tune in to the City's Emergency Radio Station AM 1630 for information information.

and tune in to the City's Emergency Radio Station AM 1630 for information.

This restoration project is the culmination of an idea from Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club members including Hank Landsburg, George Maurer, and Joe Pergola to enhance the City's emergency communication abilities. In April of 2008, many hillside residents of Sierra Madre were faced with approaching flames of the Santa Anita Fire. The premise was that during a major disaster or emergency, the Fire Horn could be sounded manually and residents would be able to tune into a City low-power AM radio station, which would be powered by emergency generators. The Kiwanis Club, along with community volunteers, began raising the funds and the new emergency radio station, AM 1630, was completed in 2011 and proved to be a valuable communication tool during mudslide events that followed the Santa Anita Fire and the major windstorm event. Currently the radio broadcasts city and community events and programs in the absence of emergency messages.

When computer aided dispatch technology was installed in 1999, the use of the Fire Horn as a secondary system was abandoned and the Horn was no longer tested. Shortly thereafter, and number of residents signed petitions and created t-shirts in support of reactivation of the horn for nostalgic reasons. The campaign was successful, and again the Fire Horn was sounded daily until its equipment became unreliable.

There are countless donors and supporters that are responsible for the Fire Horn's return. The City would especially like to thank the Kiwanis Club, George Maurer, Hank Landsburg, Joe Pergola, Gary Hood, Mark Kennedy and his Post Alarm technicians, Debbie Henderson, Fire Department and Public Works Department for returning the historical Fire Horn back to life on its 75th anniversary.

Although the show, held at Anaheim Center, features over 600 exhibitors, everything from DJ equipment to collectable violins to synthesizers, it was the traditional guitars Tom and Rich Seymour were looking for —both acoustic and electric. "Guitar players are unique, so many of them tradition bound, a lot of them don't want anything that was designed after 1957, period, Rich Seymour said. As an example, Tom Seymour took down, from his store display, a new Fender Stratocaster they had ordered at NAMM. The striking sapphire blue Fender sandblasted ash guitar had a design identical to Stratocasters made decades ago.

"They try to make it new without changing it, sort Rich Seymour said. Stratocasters come either maple or rosewood fingerboards, the pickguard [and body] is the same shape,

She always considered Sierra Madre her home town.

Her husband Ken's family had Pickett's gas station that was near or on the property where Taylor's is now. Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"Just around the corner in every woman's mind – is a lovely dress, a wonderful suit, or an entire costume which will make an enchanting new creature of her." Wilhela Cushman

And I know exactly where she can go to find that lovely dress, wonderful suit, designer bag or a fabulous leather jacket. It's Ritz Resale! If you haven't discovered Ritz on your own yet, I can guarantee you're going to find yourself checking it out in the next couple of days. Mountain Views News Editor, Susan Henderson, asked me if I'd been there yet and I hadn't. But friends and neighbors, I've definitely been now and I'll be going again. Jennifer Bekkedal, the owner of Ritz Resale told me that her mother started the business some years ago as the result of an extremely successful garage sale when she noticed that what went the fastest was the clothing. So Jennifer's mom found some friends to partner with and they opened a store on Green Street in Pasadena. Eventually, she parted ways with the partners and opened Ritz Resale on Mentor right by the Ice House. Ritz was a great success on Mentor since 1980. But, alas, the building was sold and Jennifer decided she wanted to come to where she could see the mountains, right across the street from Sierra Madre. Ritz is in the corner suite of that really beautiful yellow building on the west side of Michillinda at the corner of Valley View. You know, just up the hill from the center where her mom on resale when she was nine years Albertson's Market used to be. They're right next to Mathnasium and there are condos on the upper stories.

OK, I've lost all the guys now, so let's take a minute to talk about Deflategate. Seriously, do any of us believe Tom Brady had anything to do with those footballs being a couple of pounds short of a picnic, even if he does like the slightly deflated ball? We admit it, we're Seahawks fan. We like Pete Carroll, no matter where he goes, so we're hoping the Seahawks emerge as Super Bowl winners. And, of course, we're only in it to see the Super Bowl commercials and indulge in our last food extravaganza before cold, hard reality sets in and we realize not only have we not lost the Christmas couple of pounds, but we've added New Year's and Playoff pounds. Seriously, this has to stop!

The first thing you need to do is check out Ritz Resale's website: www.ritzresale. com. Ritz handles designer clothes on a consignment basis and the store is filled with lovely name brand goodies. I saw a Diane Von Furstenberg dress, several Tracy Reese and others. There is a fabulous line - Citron - based in Santa Monica, blouses, jackets, dresses, designed to fit and flatter just about anybody and the fabrics! Oh my gosh! Each piece is a one of a kind item and the design and finishing is exquisite. Jennifer is also a Day gift!

custom shopper for her clients. If she sees something that will be perfect for one of her regulars, she'll call to let them know. She's even got a pickup service for clients who have a number of designer items for her. The website can tell you everything you need to know about working with Jennifer to do consignment sales.

Jennifer Bekkedal started working with old. Needless to say, she knows the business. They worked together till mom retired about eight years ago. Ritz handles quite a bit of new merchandise, in addition to pre-owned and consignment. They've got jeans and pants, outerwear, dresses, suits, gently used shoes and boots. Jennifer has planned the inventory at Ritz to appeal to all ages. She's got something for everyone. "I want to help people to dress well, I want to make a contribution to people's lives. It makes me feel good."

Ritz handles store closeouts, after-sale items, dressy and casual. She has celebrity items...she once sold a leather coat that was Angela Bassett's! She has jewelry to accessorize your new outfit, and let me mention those designer bags one more time. Jennifer adds exciting new things daily so don't think if you can't find what you want today that you won't find it tomorrow! And the prices! You've gotta check it out!

Ritz Resale is open Tuesday-Saturday from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Here's their phone number: 626-449-3528. Ritz is at 900 Valley View at Michillinda.

Sierra Madre Police Blotter

Department responded to approximately 336 calls for service.

Thursday, January 22nd

At 11:56 am, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 500 block of North Baldwin Avenue regarding suspicious activity. They were informed by the caller, a delivery man, that while he was driving in the neighborhood he stopped at a stop sign. When he looked over toward the victim's home, he saw a Male black wearing a grey hoodie, blue pants and black gloves on both hands. The suspect then noticed he was being watched and hid in a bush on the property. Shortly after, the suspect ran from the bush and into the passenger seat of a charcoal grey Toyota Prius. Upon arrival, Officers investigated the perimeter of the residence and noticed through the window that the master room had been ransacked. Officers contacted the home owners and concluded the suspect entered the residence through an unlocked side gate and an unlocked sliding door outside of the master bedroom. The suspect ransacked several rooms within the home, and had actually dropped several jewelry items outside of the residence as he was leaving. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

At 12:38 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 200 Block of Old Oak Avenue regarding an in-progress residential burglary. Upon arrival, Officers were contacted by the home owner and informed that while he was in the restroom he heard noises coming from his living room. He then heard glass breaking and his alarm system beep twice indicating a door or window had been opened. As the victim exited the restroom and walked down the hallway, he noticed a Male black wearing a dark colored hoodie and dark pants. The victim went to another room to retrieve a large flashlight and upon returning to the location of the suspect, he was gone. The victim noticed his front door was wide open, which was previously locked. While canvasing the area for witnesses, Officers were informed that a nearby resident had witnessed a dark colored Prius circling the cul-de-sac then exit the community. Shortly after he noticed two male subjects walk up to the victim's home, $14,000. This case has been forwarded to the and open the property gate. Moments later Detectives Bureau.

During the week of Sunday, January 18th, to he witnessed one of the suspects run from the Sunday, January 25th, the Sierra Madre Police residence's front door and down the street. What was happening was a well-dressed African American man in a business suit would go up to a door and knock on it. If no one answered, he would go into the backyard and break in through the sliding glass door or a window. Sometimes he would have an accomplice-very well dressed lady who was the lookout. NEW LEGISLATION GIVES CITY CLERKS STATEWIDE AUTHORITY TO SOLEMNIZE MARRIAGE

Arcadia, CA. - Gene Glasco, Arcadia City Clerk says effective January 1, 2015 the solemnization of marriage couldn't be more convenient as a result of AB 1525 giving elected or appointed City Clerks within California the authority to marry couples anywhere in the State of California. From the Queen Anne Cottage at the Arboretum to the Queen Mary in Long Beach or any venue in between, elected or appointed City Clerks can provide marriage ceremonies for couples who have obtained either a "Public" or "Confidential" marriage license from the Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder's office. Pursuant to his new duties, Glasco attended a course of study administered by the Los Angeles County Clerk earlier this month authorizing him to perform the Solemnization of Marriages by City Clerks. A marriage license--valid for 90 days from the date of issuance-- must first be obtained from the County Recorder's office and must be in the City Clerk's possession prior to the marriage ceremony. Officials at Arcadia's City Hall have been pensive in their decision to offer this service to their community, but through AB 1525, legislative authority is granted their City Clerk to officiate the solemnization of marriage anywhere in the City of Arcadia or any city within the State of California. Couples wishing to exchange marital vows in a setting of their choice in a simple yet solemn ceremony are encouraged to contact Gene Glasco, Arcadia City Clerk at: (626) 456.4366 for further information and scheduling details.

Community members from the greater San Gabriel and Pomona Valleys have a unique opportunity to participate in two events – Super Sunday and the Jewish Federation of the Greater San Gabriel and Pomona Valley's Open House.

Super Sunday is an annual phone-a-thon when Jews from across the area have the opportunity to make a gift to the Jewish Federation that has a profound impact on the local Jewish community. Volunteers from our community come together to help the Jewish Federation raise money to support the vital work done for the community. The money that is raised as part of Super Sunday, as well as throughout the year, helps the Jewish Federation provide the programs and services the Jewish Federation offers, including Jewish Family Resource Services, Jewish Book Festival, Cultural Arts program, Camp Gan Shalom, an Educational Enhancement Grant Program, and much, much more.

When the volunteers take a break from the phoning of Super Sunday, the Jewish Federation is inviting the community to come and tour its new office in Monrovia during its Open House from 2:00 p.m. -5:00 p.m. Having recently moved into its new offices in Monrovia (114A W. Lime Avenue, Monrovia), this is the first opportunity the community has to see where the Jewish Federation develops programs and serves as the Jewish voice for the community.

New to this location will be a rotating art installation of local Jewish artisans. The first artist featured is Karen Hochman Brown who makes mandalalike works that begin with photographs that she then spins and adorns into colorful digital prints mounted on aluminum.

Sunday, we will also be performing a short service to hang our mezuzah, a parchment inscribed with religious texts and attached in an artistic case to the doorpost of a Jewish home or office as a sign of faith.

Jewish Federation's Board of Governors and staff will be on hand to meet and talk with people about the local Jewish community and how the Jewish Federation strengthens and enhances Jewish life in the greater San Gabriel and Pomona Valleys.

CITY CLOSES 100 TO

By Scott Hettrick, Arcadia's Best

The 100-to-1 cocktails bar, which closed earlier this month, will officially become the property of the City of Arcadia this week following a recent agreement between the City and the property

The City is paying roughly the appraised fair market value of $1.4 million and will eventually receive proceeds from the sale of the liquor license, according to City Manager Dominic Lazzaretto.

Lazzaretto says the City will retain the iconic neon sign (photo at right) and possibly some murals behind the bar, most likely turning them over to the City-owned Gilb Museum of Arcadia Heritage for Negotiations began late last year when the City decided to add a median on Huntington Drive in front of the bar, which owner rep Brian Carney complained would eliminate left turns to the property and thus limit access. That work began recently which will also involve some re-configuring of lanes on Huntington Drive between Santa Clara Avenue past San Antonio Road towards Colorado

Simultaneously, the owners of the adjacent Santa appealing green element there.

Anita Inn hotel are planning to begin construction later this year on two side-by-side Marriott hotel brands in place of the current building.

Before the agreement between the City and 100to-1 club, there had been comments between the owners of Santa Anita Inn and the City about Santa Anita Inn potentially considering improving the visual appeal and vehicle access to the new hotels by working with the owners of the 100-to-1 property to improve that property at the triangle corner.

Both properties sit between two unusual splits in Huntington Drive, where eastbound and westbound lanes of Huntington Drive split and Santa Clara Street originates northbound, and the split-off of westbound Huntington Drive into Colorado Place. The City plans to make some curb and lane adjustments on the corner of the 100-to-1 property but there is no solid plan yet as to what the City will do with the rest of that property. Since it's such a small strip of property, it's likely that there will be discussions with the owners of Santa Anita Inn about doing something that would enhance that corner lot and potentially dovetail with the hotel property. If Santa Anita Inn property owners are not interested, City officials say they will likely create another "pocket park" or some other visually

ARCADIA HIGH SCHOOL IN SUPER BOWL COMMERCIAL

Arcadia may get yet another national and even global moment in the TV spotlight during the Super Bowl this Sunday. A production crew hired by the NFL filmed some scenes at the Arcadia High School football field and stadium Jan. 11 to potentially be included in one of those rah-rah National Football League commercials during the Super

When a marching band was needed, the NFL knew where to go -AHS was selected after a statewide search by the NFL because of AHS's great reputation, the relatively new stadium facilities, and the school district's willingness to work with the production on short notice to make it happen. The production company has done Nike commercials and spots with LeBron James and Derek Jeter, so this was no small-time endeavor.

Although everyone involved with the coordination of the production is under a Non-Disclosure Agreement prohibiting them from discussing any of the specifics about the production that took place late at night under the stadium lights, more than 300 students were involved, as well as their parents. Thus, Arcadia's Best has learned a few morsels of information that might be helpful in advising you what to look for duringt the game.

First of all, to manage expectations, the entire thing may wind up not being used in the 60-second promotional piece, or at best there will likely only be a couple of seconds — and the way it gets integrated into the spot that filmed at was shot at locations all over the country may make identifying anything at the AHS stadium all but unrecognizable. But here's what we know from some people involved who cannot be identified:

- There are some celebrities in the commercial but none were on location during the production at AHS.
- Students wore their band uniforms with Arcadia signs in the background.
- The production involved a crew of 70-80 professionals on site. - The NFL made a notable donation to the AHS band program

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show BIRDMAN REVIEW

I never saw a trailer for this and only actually stared hearing about this film at the beginning of awards season.

Everyone who I talked to was saying that this was a really good film and it started racking up awards as awards season started. So, I decided to try 'Birdman' out.

Riggan (Michael Keaton) is struggling to get his play off the ground. With the help of Jake (Zach Galifianakis), his assistant, they replace one of their injured actors with Mike Shiner (Edwards Norton), a respected stage actor who they discover may be even crazier than Riggan, who has conversations with the Birdman, an old role that he played in a movie, in his 'Birdman' is a strange film.

On the one hand, the acting and cinematography are excellent; the performances are spectacular and the single-shot used to capture them is nothing less than revolutionary. However, things start to fall apart with the story and music. The story is basically one big ego boost for Michael Keaton, who is once again trying to get acting work. The storyline is sloppy, at some times very, very boring, and is filled with strange events that leave you wondering whether or not this is all actually happening. The music was the final nail in the coffin. The incessant drumming seems to tear away at what little you like about the movie until you realize that 'Birdman' is nothing more than a newbie director's attempt to make an interesting, revolutionary movie, but actually comes off as a narcissistic ego trip into the world of the famous Hollywood actors that populate this

Here are Super Facts about Sundays Super Bowl Game...

'It has been said, after all, that Americans eat more than 1.2 billion chicken wings, 11 million slices of Domino's pizza, 11.2 million potato chips, 8.2 million pounds of tortilla chips, and all sorts of other delicious but caloric fare, especially when their teams lose.'

Um, 11.2 million potato chips? or is that 11.2 million pounds of potato chips? That's still just a pound of potato chips for every 30 Americans not that impressive. 1.2 billion chicken wings, on the other hand - that's 4 for every American, seems like a lot to me. There are only 2 drumbsticks per chicken so that is almost 600 million chickens. That's impossible!! Or is it?

But Hold on I have more, now these are mind-boggling.

We know a lot of beer will be consumed, but how much? So much that we would need five Rose Bowl Stadiums (not to mention bathrooms) to hold all the beer. My research tells me 325 million gallons of beer. Ninety-nine bottles of beer on the wall? How about 30 million bottles at 12 oz! Speaking of Pizza, the 11 million pizza slices would cover the Rose Bowl 22000 times! For me I'll go with Village Pizzeria in Sierra Madre.

Get them early, that is buy your avocados early because we will go through 80 million avocados to make all sorts of Guacamole. I like mine spicy and chunky!

No matter what you decide to eat or drink be responsible, Super Bowl Sunday is also in the top five of DUI arrests.

INGREDIENTS

- 2 medium yellow onions, thinly sliced
- 4 medium garlic cloves, thinly sliced
- 1 cup chicken stock
- 1 tablespoon packed dark brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 tablespoon kosher salt, plus more as needed
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 (4-1/2- to 5-pound) boneless or bone-in pork shoulder (also known as pork butt), twine or netting removed
- 2 cups barbecue sauce

DIRECTIONS

- 1. Place the onions and garlic in an even layer in the slow cooker and pour in the stock or broth. Combine the sugar, chili powder, measured salt, cumin, and cinnamon in a small bowl. Pat the pork dry with paper towels. Rub the spice mixture all over the pork and place the meat on top of the onions and garlic. Cover and cook until the pork is fork tender, about 6 to 8 hours on high or 8 to 10 hours on low.
- 2. Turn off the slow cooker and remove the pork to a cutting board. Set a fine-mesh strainer over a medium heatproof bowl. Pour the onion mixture from the slow cooker through the strainer and return the solids to the slow cooker. Set the strained liquid aside.
- 3. If the pork has a bone, remove and discard it. Using 2 forks, shred the meat into bite-sized pieces, discarding any large pieces of fat. Return the shredded meat to the slow cooker, add the barbecue sauce, and mix to combine. Taste and season with salt as needed.
- Serve with Hamburger Buns or Hawaiian Slider Rolls.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

At 52 years old, or 52 years young, depending on your perspective, I have come to appreciate true friendship more than ever before in my life. I feel blessed to have as many loyal friends as I do at age 52, and for that I am very grateful. One thing that came to mind for me recently as I reflected on this fact, is that most of my closest and dearest friends are quite a lot different from me in many ways. Some are much older, and some are considerably younger. Many do not look anything like me; they are not the same color, shape or size and they come from a variety of backgrounds. Indeed, several of my dearest friends don't walk like me nor do they speak my language, yet they know me intimately and love me unconditionally.

You might be wondering where and how I could have found such genuine friendships in people with whom I have so little in common. The answer is simple: First of all, I am naturally drawn to diversity in other humans, and secondly, I spend a lot of my time interacting with animals! Fortunately the humans and animals I surround myself with are kind and open-minded enough to accept me just as I am, and I accept them in the same way, so friendship is for the most part, inevitable.

Among my closest canine companions is one that inspired me enough to write about her. I think her example could help do away with one of today's most damaging urban myths about her breed of dogs. The friend I am referring to is an 11 year old girl named "Chata". Chata has a beautiful, shiny golden coat and matching smiling eyes. She is symmetrically near-perfect from one side of her body to the other. She's as fit as a fiddle and healthy as a horse, with not an ounce of spare fat and plenty of tight muscle to fill out her petite stature in all the proper places. Her bone structure is striking with alluring curvature including a dramatically "to-die-for" slim waist (don't I wish!).

Her senses are extremely keen, and her heart is bigger and warmer than that of many humans I have known. Chata lives quite the life of leisure, with her family of 4 humans including 2 small children, and a 6-year-old Chocolate Lab named "Charlie Brown". She is amazingly aware of how lucky she is to have been adopted into a fabulous family that loves and cares for her. When Chata looks directly into your eyes, I tell you she melts your heart. She is truly a charm. What kind of dog is Chata? She is what is most commonly known as a Pit Bull, but her official breed title is American Pit Bull Terrier. So, are you surprised that such a sweet, loving dog could be a Pit Bull?

Well, you shouldn't be, and here is why. Known for their intelligence and loyalty, American Pit Bull Terriers make excellent, loving and very protective companions despite the bad reputation they have gained due to the unfair press they receive. They are commonly confused with the American Staffordshire Terrier, and apparently in the eyes of the United Kennel Club (UKC), they are considered to be the same breed, although there are those who disagree. Some AKC (American Kennel Club)-registered American Staffordshire Terriers are dual-registered as American Pit Bull Terriers with the UKC.

CHARMING CHATA

The AKC, on the other hand does not allow a UKCregistered American Pit Bull Terrier to be registered as an American Staffordshire Terrier. To be dual-registered, the dog must first be an AKC-registered American Staffordshire Terrier and then it can be registered with the UKC as an APBT -- but not vice versa. Having said all of that, I am an individual who would rather steer clear of canine breed titles and labeling altogether. To me, it is much more important that each dog be recognized as an individual, each with his own unique personality characteristics and qualities, the same way we strive to view our fellow human beings.

My beautiful American Pit Bull Terrier friend, Chata defies all negative rumors about the personality traits and behaviors that are "typical" for her breed. She puts you at ease the moment you are in her presence, both with her body language and her eye contact. She respects others more than most humans do, in my opinion and she is a great "nanny" to her baby brother, Charlie and plays gently with the two youngsters she lives with. She displays humility by lowering her head slightly when you first greet her, then she begins her child-like writhing back and forth with her tail swiftly whipping from one side of her groin to the other. She lets out a tiny whimper now and then when she is excited, as if to say "I am so glad to see you".

Contrary to what some people think about her breed, Chata is by far one of the most sensitive and loyal canine companions that I have ever known. As humans beings, we have learned to be very careful not to jump to conclusions about one another, regardless of color, race or creed. In fact there are certain laws that prohibit us from such profiling. Well, I say it's high time that we learned to apply the same moral principals to the way we view and treat man's best

Many rumors have been spread indicating that Pit Bulls are vicious dogs that are likely to attack, but in reality they are quite the opposite, and again let's remember that each dog is an individual. It is well put in the old adage "You Can't judge a book by it's cover". Yes, some Pit Bulls are not friendly, but that is typically because they have been either neglected or abused by the human. The Pit Bull was originally bred to fight, (who's warped idea was that?) but thankfully, breeding dogs to fight has since been outlawed in this country. I say treat every dog equally with kindness and respect, regardless of it's appearance. Don't be ignorant by breed bashing based on rumors. If we assume things about a dog because of it's looks, are we not breaking our own moral law as human beings to refrain from judging one another based on appearances? Keep an open mind, think for yourself and above all, love

FRANKLIN: ANIMAL ID #A4794154

Meet a sweet little soul, the adorable Franklin (A4794154). Franklin is a manly little 2-year-old fawn male Chihuahua who lived as a stray in Duarte for 1 year before being captured and brought to the Baldwin Park Animal Care Center on January 23rd. Weighing 8 lbs, Franklin, like many dogs who have been forced to survive on the street, can be initially leery of unfamiliar people, but his basic nature is to be curious and gentle. We feel confident that he will be an extremely rewarding little pet for the patient individual or family willing to give him the affection and time he needs to trust them. You can readily tell that

Franklin wants to be close to people and is eager to become the loving lap dog he's finally going to get the chance to be. Franklin will be a loyal and loving best friend and will thrive in a caring home. We can't promise that he'll get any handsomer, though, because he's already Brad Pitt quality! To watch a video of Franklin, please visit the following link: http://youtu.be/MC4KPA 132U

To meet Franklin in person, please see him at the Baldwin Park Shelter, located at 4275 N. Elton, Baldwin Park, CA 91706 (Phone: 626-430-2378 or 626-962-3577). He is available now. For any inquiries about Franklin, please reference his animal ID number: A4794154. The shelter is open seven days a week, 12 pm-7 pm Monday-Thursday and 10am-5pm Friday-Sunday. This is a high-intake shelter with a great need for adoptions. ADVISORY: BOMB DETECTING K9 "BART" MAKES THE ULTIMATE SACRIFICE AFTER A CAREER OF KEEPING LA TRANSIT AND HIS COUNTRY SAFE #LASD #K9

When Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Transit Policing Division K9 Handler Scott Maus and his family went to the veterinarian's office on Saturday, December 20th, 2014, he said it felt "surreal". He had taken his explosives detection K9 partner "Bart" to this vet many times before, but this time the Maus family would be saying farewell to a member of their clan. Bart had been ill for several days, but his doctors were unable to figure out the problem. As his condition rapidly worsened, Maus continued to look for answers. The vets finally discovered that Bart had terminal intestinal cancer and gave him only days or even hours to live. This trip to the vet would indeed be different for Maus and his family as the decision had been made to relieve Bart of his constant pain. "I've known coworkers and other department members that have been ill and even tragically passed on, but I didn't live with any of them. Bart was the first partner that I ever had that came home with me every night."

Bart, an 8 year old, 80 pound, Transportation Security Administration trained explosives detection German Shepherd, had been paired with Maus since August of 2009. Maus, a 25 year veteran of the LA Sheriff's Department, had been selected to be part of a pilot program within the Sheriff's Transit Policing Division to deploy the highly trained K9's to provide another layer of safety and early detection/prevention for the patrons who use the LA Metro system. Maus and Bart had trained together for 3 months in Texas to see if they were not only compatible, but also to see if Bart could handle the transition from military life to municipal law enforcement. Bart was a veteran of the war in Afghanistan and was an Air Force explosives detection K9 during his 19- month deployment.

Deputy Maus said, "I didn't know how to tell my family that we needed to do the right thing for Bart. He was in obvious pain and could hardly eat or do anything." Bart had become part of the Maus family and was just as at home playing in his backyard as he was searching for explosives or illicit material on the Metro bus and rail system. "He really got along great with his K9 partners and with the public. He loved the attention. but was all business when it came to work. I believe he was one of the better detection K9's on our crew", Maus says proudly. "He'll always be my first K9 partner and I'll never forget him!"

Deputy Maus has since been keeping busy breaking in his new K9 partner Tthorpe. Tthorpe was named for one of the heroes who died in the 9-11 attacks of 2001. "I think we'll make a good team eventually. We'll have to train and get to know one another, but he's a good detection dog with good instincts." A memorial shadowbox was created for Bart after he was euthanized. Maus said he looks at it every day before he goes to work. 'It reminds me to stay vigilant and never forget that you don't know what's around the next corner".

Partner to prevent or report crime by contacting your ocal sheriff's station or police department.

Or, if you wish to remain anonymous, call "LA Crime Stoppers" by dialing 800-222-TIPS (8477), texting the letters TIPLA plus your tip to CRIMES (274637), or using the website http://lacrimestoppers.org
Please remember, if you SEE SOMETHING that you believe is suspicious or doesn't look right to you, SAY SOMETHING by calling: (888) 950-SAFE (7233), or your local police department. LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND??

Meet Sherbert and Sylvester! Sherbert and to have a home of his own with another dog or two Sylvester have been at the shelter for a long time. You might think that is a sad story, but these two boys are a joy to know!

boy with a happy energy that is contagious and will put a smile on your face when you spend time with him. He loves going for walks, but he also might just jump into your lap and give you kisses if he has the chance. He enjoys the company of people, and also gets along well with other dogs. He has had many kennel mates during his time at the shelter, and he seems to have the magic touch that helps his buddies get adopted.

Sylvester's signature move is the "stretch and crawl" that he will be happy to show you. When he goes for a walk and gets to a grassy area, he stretches out on his belly and does a belly crawl for several feet. He has learned that many people find this amusing, and he will do it on command.

Sherbert is a Chihuahua mix with some very big ears that gives him a unique look all his own. He came to the shelter as a four-month old puppy, but he is now about a year and a half. Although many of the staff and volunteers have fallen in love with him, he hasn't met his forever family yet. Sherbert can be shy when meeting new people, but once he gets to know you he is all cuddles and kisses. He is very smart and a quick learner.

Like Sylvester, he has had many kennel mates information on Sherbert and Sylvester. and loves to romp and play with them. Also like Sylvester, his kennel mates keep getting adopted. He is very friendly with other dogs, and would love to keep him company.

With all they have in common, Sylvester and Sherbert have also become good friends. They Sylvester, a miniature pinscher mix, is a smart enjoy spending time together, and their movements are often in sync with each other. They have learned to find joy in each day and look forward to sharing it with those they love. Both these boys wait hopefully for their forever homes where they can flourish and share their happy spirits with their families. Maybe they will bring each other some adoption luck and get adopted as buddies together. It would be wonderful if someone has room in their home and their heart this Valentine season for these two charming boys! What a happy

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS: FOUR UPCOMING ALBUMS TO LOOKOUT FOR

record from The Airborne Toxic Event is called "Chains." It's a quiet rock tune from the start, but quickly escalates into a full-blown rock anthem. It's the perfect song to get your year started if you're still dragging a few weeks in. The band has changed their ways for their latest outing. While considered seasoned pros, The Airborne Toxic Event is embarking upon the year with their fourth studio album due out February 24th via Epic Records. Consistently delivering solid records throughout their career, the group is now echoing the sounds of 80s snyth-pop as it coalesces with their signature gritty rock rhapsody. If "Chains" is any indication of what "Dope Machines" will sound like, we will be witnessing the re-imagination of a band that has proven time and time again not to count them out as being this driving rock force in today's mainstream Geographer – "Ghost Modern" – The third album from San Francisco electro-pop act Geographer is due out in March. This forthcoming record marks Geographer's first material since 2012's Myth. Their first single, "I'm Ready" is a warm tune that features honeyed melodies and airy vocals. It certainly brings a whole new degree of awesome to Geographer. The musing tune is a skillful demonstration of delicate arrangements paired with a heartbreaking cello. Geographer isn't relying on are utterly distinctive. He passionately announces the words, "I'm Ready," and this opening track couldn't for 2015.

Twin Shadow – "Eclipse" – This is going to be a massive year for Twin Shadow. It's been over three years since their last record and "Eclipse" marks George Lewis Jr.'s major label debut. One of the songs off the album is called "Old Love/New Love." The song cuts through multiple genres – synthpop, rock, EDM, afro-pop and much more. It's purely intoxicating right from the moment you press play. There's a convincing possibility "Eclipse" may very well be the most epic record 2015 will have to offer. Twin Shadow has already released to the songs off their upcoming third album, but "Old Love/New Love" is brimming with illimitable vitality that feels like absolutely nothing out there at the moment. "Eclipse" is out on March 17th via Warner Bros. Records and will surely be the can't-miss record to

The Brighton Institute of Modern Music attendee, Bay has played with the latest that would take him. He stored virtually everywhere that would take him. He steps into the arena with classic influences on his sleeve. A distinctive guitar melody and warm vocals truly put this youngster in a whole new category. Reminiscent of Vance Joy, who went on to have a stellar debut LP this past September. The single, "Hold Back The River" touches upon blues, folk, and pop. More About The Four Tops

The quartet, originally called the Four Aims, made their first single for Chess in 1956, and spent seven years on the road and in nightclubs, singing pop, blues, Broadway, but mostly jazz—four-part harmony jazz. When Motown's Berry Gordy Jr. found out they had hustled a national "Tonight Show" appearance, he signed them without an audition to be the marquee act for the company's Workshop Jazz label. That proved short-lived, and Stubbs' powerhouse baritone lead and the exquisite harmonies of Fakir, Benson, and Payton started making one smash after another with the writing-producing trio Holland-Dozier-Holland.

Their first Motown hit, "Baby I Need Your Loving" in 1964, made them stars and their sixties track record on the label is indispensable to any retrospective of the decade. Their songs, soulful and bittersweet, were across-the-board successes. "I Can't Help Myself (Sugar Pie, Honey Bunch)," a no. 1 R&B and Pop smash in 1965, is one of Motown's longest-running chart toppers; it was quickly followed by a longtime favorite, "It's The Same Old Song" (no. 2 R&B/no. 5 pop). Their commercial peak was highlighted by a romantic trilogy: the no. 1 "Reach Out I'll Be There," "Standing In The Shadows Of Love" (no. 2 R&B/no. 6 pop) and "Bernadette" (no. 3 R&B/no. 4 pop)—an extraordinary run of instant H-D-H classics. Other Tops hits from the decade included "Ask The Lonely," "Shake Me, Wake Me (When It's Over)," "Something About You,"
"You Keep Running Away," "7-Rooms Of Gloom" and their covers of "Walk Away Renee" and "If I Were A Carpenter." The group was also extraordinarily popular in the U.K.

After H-D-H split from Motown, producer Frank Wilson supervised the R&B Top 10 hits "It's All In The Game" and "Still Water (Love)" at the start of the seventies. The Tops also teamed with Motown's top girl group, the Supremes, post-Diana Ross. Billing themselves The Magnificent Seven for a series of albums, they hit with a cover of "River Deep -Mountain High.'

When Motown left Detroit in 1972 to move to Los Angeles, the steadfast Tops decided to stay at home, and with another label. They kept up a string of hits with ABC-Dunhill for the next few years: "Ain't No Woman (Like The One I've Got)," a Top 5 hit; the Top 10 "Keeper Of The Castle"; and the R&B Top 10's "Are You Man Enough (from the movie Shaft In Africa)," "Sweet Understanding Love," "One Chain Don't Make No Prison" (later covered by Santana), "Midnight Flower" and the disco perennial "Catfish."

In 1980 the group moved to Casablanca Records. The following year they were at no. 1 again, with "When She Was My Girl," making them one of the few groups to have hits in three consecutive decades. They also scored R&B Top 40s with the ballads "Tonight I'm Gonna Love You All Over" and "I Believe In You And Me," the original version of the 1996 Whitney Houston smash. And the Tops were heard in the film Grease 2 and Lee Segal and Momentous Insurance.

Arcadia Performing Arts Foundation continues its with "Back To School Again." By 1983, riding the wave of the company's 25th anniversary celebration, the Tops were back with Motown and H-D-H. The reunion resulted in the R&B Top 40 hits "I Just Can't

They signed with Arista later in the decade, and Help Myself (Sugar Pie, Honey Bunch)," ""It's The there they racked up their final solo Top 40 hit, "Indestructible," which was the theme of the 1988 Summer Olympics. During this period, Stubbs stepped out and gained notoriety for voicing the man-eating plant Audrey II in the film musical Little Shop Of Horrors, for which he sang the cult classic "Mean Green Mother From Outer Space."

> In 1990, with 24 Top 40 pop hits to their credit, the Four Tops were inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall Of Fame. Though they would no longer have hits on record, the group continued to be a hit in concert, touring incessantly, a towering testament to the enduring legacy of the Motown Sound they helped shape and define. Following Payton's death in 1997, the group briefly worked as a trio until Theo Peoples, a former Temptation, was recruited to restore the group to a quartet. When Stubbs subsequently grew ill, Peoples became the lead singer and former Motown artist-producer Ronnie McNeir was enlisted to fill Payton's spot. In 2005, when Benson died, Payton's son Roquel replaced him.

> For Rolling Stone's 2004 article "The Immortals -The Greatest Artists Of All Time," Smokey Robinson remembered: "They were the best in my neighborhood in Detroit when I was growing up (and) the Four Tops will always be one of the biggest and the best groups ever. Their music is forever."

About The Arcadia Performing Arts Center

The opening of the Arcadia Performing Arts Center, which anchors the northwest corner of the campus of Arcadia High School, on October 18, 2012, was the realization of a long-standing dream for the citizens of Arcadia to have a major center for arts and culture in the community. This 40,000 square foot, state-ofthe-art facility includes a main performance hall with seating for 1,150, a stage that holds 200 musicians, tunable acoustics and professional lighting and sound. In addition, the center boasts an orchestra room with practice rooms and music library, a dance studio with sprung wood floors, a professional stagecraft workshop and a Black Box theater with separate control room and flexible seating that can host 125 guests.

The realization of the Performing Arts Center clearly shows the commitment of the Arcadia community to the arts. With this realization comes the need for another commitment - to the future of the building, arts education and arts programming. The Arcadia Performing Arts Foundation is dedicated to maintaining the Performing Arts Center as a nucleus for the arts, education and engagement where the lives of students and the greater community are enriched.

The Arcadia Performing Arts Foundation has currently set a fundraising goal $10 million that will result in an endowment to provide regular funding for the Performing Arts Center and the district arts programs. The Arcadia Performing Arts Center provides a first-class venue for the San Gabriel Valley where the public can enjoy major concert and performing arts attractions, and where student talent can be fostered and supported with a venue for their

MY HEART IS AN IDIOT: ESSAYS by Davy Rothbart

Named a Best Book of the Year by Vanity Fair, Chicago Tribune, The Huffington Post, and NPR IN 2013. Davy Rothbart is looking for love in all the wrong places. Constantly. He falls helplessly in love with pretty much every girl he meets, and rarely is the feeling reciprocated. Time after time, he hops in a car and tears halfway across America with his heart on his sleeve. He's continually coming up with outrageous schemes and adventures, which he always manages to pull off. Well, almost always. But even when things don't work out, Rothbart finds meaning and humor in every moment. Whether it's confronting a scammer who takes money from aspiring writers, sifting through a murder case that's left a potentially innocent friend in prison, or waking up naked on a park bench in New York City, nothing and no one is off limits. And it's all recounted in Davy's singular, spirited literary voice, "an intriguing hybrid of timeless midwestern warmth and newfangled jive talk," in the words of Sarah Vowell.

LEAVING BEFORE THE RAINS COME

by Alexandra Fuller

A child of the Rhodesian wars and daughter of two deeply complicated parents, Alexandra Fuller is no stranger to pain. But the disintegration of Fuller's own marriage leaves her shattered. Looking to pick up the pieces of her life, she finally confronts the tough questions about her past, about the American man she married, and about the family she left behind in Africa. A breathtaking achievement, Leaving Before the Rains Come is a memoir of grace and intelligence. It begins with the dreadful first years of the American financial crisis when Fuller's delicate balance-between American pragmatism and African fatalism, the linchpin of her unorthodox marriage—irrevocably fails. Recalling her unusual courtship in Zambia—elephant attacks on the first date, sick with malaria on the wedding day, she struggles to understand her younger self as she overcomes her current misfortunes. Fuller soon realizes what is missing from her life is something that was always there: the brash and uncompromising ways of her father, the man who warned his daughter that "the problem with most people is that they want to be alive for as long as possible without having any idea whatsoever how to live. Leaving Before the Rains Come showcases Fuller at the peak of her abilities, threading panoramic vistas with moment awareness and spiritual liberation.

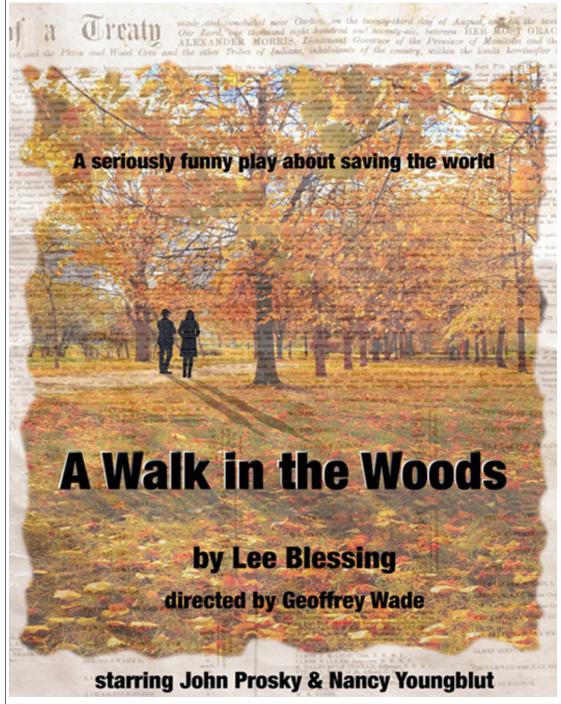

her deepest revelations as a fully grown woman and mother. Fuller reveals how, after spending a lifetime fearfully waiting for someone to show up and save her, she discovered that, in the end, we all simply have to save ourselves. An unforgettable book, Leaving Before the Rains Come is a story of sorrow grounded in the tragic grandeur and rueful joy only to be found in Fuller's Africa.

HOW TO TAKE CARE OF YOUR KIDNEYS

Dear Savvy Senior,

What can you tell me about kidney disease? My mother died from kidney failure a few years ago at age 76, and I'm curious what my risks are and what I can do to protect myself.

Kidney Concerned

Dear Concerned,

Anyone who has a family history of kidney disease, or who has high blood pressure or diabetes is at risk and needs to have their kidneys tested. Here's what you should know and some tips to help you take care of your kidneys.

Kidney Disease

More than 26 million Americans currently have chronic kidney disease (when the kidneys can't properly do their job of cleaning toxins and wastes from the blood), and millions more are at risk of developing it, yet most people don't realize it. That's because kidney disease develops very slowly over many years before any symptoms arise. But left untreated, the disease can eventually require people to spend hours hooked up to a dialysis machine or get a kidney transplant. Even mild kidney problems can double a person's risk and bone disease.

type-2 diabetes and high blood pressure which all strain the kidneys.

people who take multiple medications, which can overtax the organs. People over age 60 are especially vulnerable both because they tend to take more drugs, and because kidney function and inactive, start an aerobic fitness routine (walk, normally declines somewhat with age.

To help you rate your risk of kidney disease, the National Kidney Foundation has a quick, online quiz you can take at kidney.org.

Get Tested

Because kidney disease has no early symptoms, the only way to catch it before it advances is to have a simple blood and urine test by your doctor. So, if you have diabetes, high blood pressure or heart disease, a family history of kidney disease, or are age 60 or older you need to get tested. African, Hispanic, Asian and Indian Americans the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy along with Pacific Islanders are also at increased Senior" book.

If you're diagnosed with kidney disease you need to know that there's no cure, but there are steps you can take to help contain the damage, Control your blood pressure: If you have high blood pressure, get it under 130/80. If you need medication to do it, ACE inhibitors and ARBs are good choices because of their proven ability to protect the kidneys.

Control your diabetes: If you have diabetes, keep your blood sugar as close to normal as

Change your diet: This usually means reducing the amount of protein and phosphorus you eat, and cutting back on sodium and possibly potassium. Your doctor can help you determine an appropriate eating plan, or you may want to talk to a dietitian. Also see myfoodcoach.kidney. org where you'll find lots of kidney friendly recipes and nutrition tips.

Watch your meds: Dozens of commonly used of heart attack and stroke, as well as cause anemia drugs can damage the kidneys, especially when taken in high doses over long periods - most The reason kidney disease has become so notably NSAIDs like ibuprofen (Advil, Motrin widespread today is because of the rise of obesity, and generic) and naproxen (Aleve, Naprosyn and generic). Herbal supplements can also be very dangerous. Talk to your doctor about all Another factor is the increasing number of the prescription, over-the-counter and herbal products you take to identify potential problems and find alternatives.

Exercise and lose weight: If you're overweight swim, cycle, etc.) that gets your heart pumping. This will help lower your blood pressure, control diabetes and help you lose excess weight all of which will help your kidneys.

Quit smoking: If you smoke, quit. Heart disease becomes a much greater risk to the kidneys if your smoke. Smoking also doubles the rate of progression to end-stage renal failure.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

"AND THE ESTATE PLANNING OSCAR GOES TO..."

Oscar nominations. It was made by 32-year-old Amanda Brown, whose once close-knit family was ripped apart because of her grandmother's lack of comprehensive estate planning.

The film, profiled recently in the New York Times, is "about the extended uncomfortable," intergenerational conversations that we do not have enough of and that her family did not have until it was too late."

Vonley and Edna Mae Royal raised eight children together. Vonley had several businesses that provided a small inheritance for his wife after he died. Following his death, the Royal children tried to get Edna Mae to talk about how she wanted the estate divided after she died. She proved resistant to such a discussion, however, and so her children backed off. "We didn't want to give her the impression that we were trying to gain some kind of advantage," said her son Gary.

Unfortunately, Edna Mae had a stroke in 2009. Shortly thereafter her children became divided on how she should be taken care of, whether or not she could make decisions for herself, and who should have power of attorney over her affairs. The family eventually wound up in court, exhausting any inheritance they might have had on legal fees and dividing the children.

Today, 90-year-old Edna Mae is taken care of by five of her eight children; the other three do not speak to their siblings and rarely see their mother. The inheritance that Vonley and Edna Mae worked

The film "Black Heirlooms" has not received any so hard to provide to their children is gone. In the film, Edna Mae's granddaughter Amanda wonders, "Now that the family is divided, what was the point of working so hard to keep everything intact?"

If you have been putting off this type of conversation in your family, we can help. Executing a comprehensive estate plan can be extremely fulfilling, knowing you are providing and protecting an inheritance for your children, making your wishes known and alleviating your family of the burden of guessing the right health care choices for you.

If you would like to learn more about estate planning for your family, we can help. We can also assist you with that all-important family discussion (which could just be one of the most important discussions your family ever has). To you family's health, wealth, and happiness, identity? He's not looking for accolades, slaps on the back or a new movie from Warner Brothers with his name above the title. What makes Superman different than most of us has very little to do with his lightening speed and superhuman strength. The real difference is that he has arrived. The stories of great heroes tell more about the journey than the act of heroism. The hero's journey takes the ordinary man from home, across dangerous thresholds and then home again with an expanded consciousness. So departure, struggle and return, the three phases of the journey are really a metaphor for what we all are programmed to do.

LIFE LINES by Amanda Rogers

Our task, our goal, is to evolve from the neurotic love. And that is what being a hero is.

A teacher of mine once described to me the ego through to the healthy ego and then ultimately difference between being brave and being a hero. A to the spiritual Self. Departure for Clark Kent brave person will enter a burning building to rescue might be stepping out of his office and putting a baby, while a hero will enter a burning building to on his Superman cape, while for us mere mortals rescue a baby ... and then never talk about it. That departure is of a different kind. Departure for us leads me to believe that true heroism defies ego. Is means letting go of our attachment to the illusion that why Superman quickly returns to his Clark Kent of being in control and the compulsions to cling to what we falsely imagine will make us happy. Where Superman struggles with any number of enemies, our human struggle is with the neurotic ego. This struggle consists of our learning to take responsibility for our feelings, dealing with fear, anger and guilt, building self-esteem, maintaining personal boundaries, achieving true intimacy and befriending our "shadow self." And just like our heroic forefathers of fiction, we humans leave the familiarity of our mother's house believing our journey is to faraway lands, only to find it was a path to bring us back home. Only now, we've brought with us the capacity to give and receive unconditional

WHAT TO KNOW ABOUT ESCROW

When you buy a home, or just make an offer, you will encounter the term "escrow account." Like making a friendly bet and asking a third party to hold the wager money, the "escrow agent" is the neutral party that holds funds in the interest of the mortgage lender and the borrower.

When the terms of the purchase and loan agreements have been met, the money is released. When your application is approved and the loan takes effect, the lender will likely require money for property taxes and homeowner's insurance also to be held in escrow. These funds are added to your monthly mortgage payment and disbursed when the tax and insurance bills are due.

This protects the lender by ensuring a lien isn't placed against your property for non-payment of taxes, and your home (their collateral) is protected against catastrophe. But escrow also benefits borrowers by spreading the large annual payments for taxes and insurance over twelve months.

For example, if your taxes are $1,600 per year and your insurance is $800, you're budgeting a reasonable $200 per month instead of making two big payments. Escrow accounts do not earn interest, so if you make a large enough downpayment, you may be able to avoid the monthly escrow and pay the bills directly. Ask your agent and your lender about the pros and cons.

THE WORLD AROUND US

LOOKING With Bob Eklund

GIGANTIC RING SYSTEM AROUND PLANET J1407B

Astronomers at the Leiden Observatory (The Netherlands) and the University of Rochester (USA) have discovered that the ring system that they see eclipse the very young Sun-like star J1407 is of enormous proportions, much larger and heavier than the ring system of Saturn. The ring system the first of its kind to be found outside our solar system—was discovered in 2012 by a team led by Rochester's Eric Mamajek.

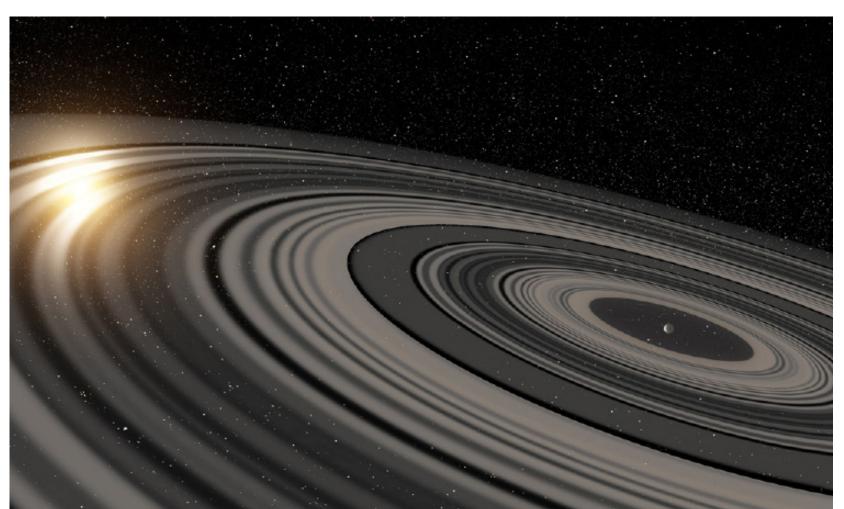

The astronomers analyzed data from the SuperWASP project—a survey designed to detect gas giants that move in front of their parent star. In 2012, Mamajek and colleagues at the University of Rochester reported the discovery of the young star J1407 and the unusual eclipses, and proposed that they were caused by a moon-forming disk around a young giant planet or brown dwarf.

A new analysis of the data, led by Leiden's Matthew Kenworthy, shows that the ring system consists of over 30 rings, each of them tens of millions of kilometers in diameter. Furthermore, they found gaps in the rings, indicating that satellites ("exomoons") may have formed. The result has been accepted for publication in the Astrophysical Journal.

'The details that we see in the light curve are incredible. The eclipse lasted for several weeks, but you see rapid changes on time scales of tens of minutes as a result of fine structures in the rings," says Kenworthy. "The star is much too far away to observe the rings directly, but we could make a detailed model based on the rapid brightness variations in the starlight passing through the ring system. If we could replace Saturn's rings with the rings around J1407b, they would be easily visible at night and be many times larger than the full Moon."

This planet is much larger than Jupiter or Saturn, and its ring system is roughly 200 times larger than Saturn's rings are today," said co-author Mamajek, is likely to be a giant planet—not yet seen—with a professor of physics and astronomy at the University of Rochester. BOOK REVIEW: THE GLASS CASTLE

By Christopher Nyerges

I was recently given a copy of "The Glass Castle" by Jeanette Walls and told "Just read it. You'll like it. It's about self-reliance, sort of, and homelessness, sort of, but I think you'll find it fascinating."

I took the book and began reading it little by little. It's Jeanette Walls' true story of growing up with her siblings, and their life constantly on the move. It was griffy and unpleasant to read about a father who was very skillful and knowledgeable, but exaggerated and drank too much. And the mother was always trying to make the best of a bad situation, and seemed too willing to do too little to resolve a bad situation. As usual, the children get the short end of the stick.

We read how the children figured out how to feed, clothe, and protect themselves under these difficult conditions.

The father, though very talented and skilled, couldn't seem to hold a job. Due to the father's fear of authorities, and lack of bill-paying, the family would frequently pack up in the middle of the night and "skedaddle" to a new home. When they had to do the skedaddle, they'd just bring the essentials: a big black cast-iron skillet, the Dutch oven, some Army surplus tin plates, a few knives, the father's pistol, and the mother's archery set. At age four, Jeanette asked her sister, "How many places have we lived?"

"That depends on what you mean by 'lived.' If you spend one night in some town, did you live there?" responded her sister Lori. "What about two nights? Or a whole week?"

determined Thev they lived somewhere if they unpacked, and though they lost count of how may places they lived after eleven.

And along they way they learned plenty of survival skills. They could go days without eating, and they learned to find food: foraging for cactus and wild plants, in trash cans, gleaning in fields. They learned to deal with extreme heat and cold since their homes never had cooling or heating. They learned how to fight and face down a threat, how to do without when necessary, how to cook, how to build things from scratch. They learned how to sew, but realized it was cheaper to just buy clothes at a thrift store.

In the pages of "The Glass Castle," we begin to despise a very predictable father, but Jeanette still loves him. It's her father, after all.

Eventually, Jeanette Walls realizes that her best escape from that world was to go to school, which she did, and to get a job, which she did. She discovered that the "real world" was very different from the isolationist world of fear and alcohol that her father had described to her.

'The Glass Castle" was on the New York Times bestseller list. It made me count my blessings. If I ever thought that I had it rough growing up in suburban Pasadena, this book convinced me that I emphatically did not. Plus, the book is worth reading for the occasional, practical, hard-earned survival tips, in the context of a family's daily struggle for sheer survival.

Walls explains that her mother taught them to get by on next to nothing. How to use wild edible plants. How to find water where there seemed to be none. How to get by on very little water. How to clean up with just a cup of water. The mother "said it was good for you to drink unpurified water, even ditch water, as long as animals were drinking from it. Chlorinated city water was for namby-pambies, she said. Water from the wild helped build up your antibodies. She also thought toothpaste was for namby-pambies," teaching the children to use baking soda instead.

The book will make you laugh in parts, but mostly it will make you cry, and appreciate whatever it is that you have in life. I highly recommend this book. ["The Glass Castle" is published by Scribner, 2005]

CITY OF SIERRA MADRE LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 1360-U

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA ESTABLISHING AN INTERIM MORATORIUM ORDINANCE PURSUANT TO GOVERNMENT CODE SECTION 65858 ON THE DEMOLITION, IN PART OR IN WHOLE, OF SINGLE-FAMILY HOMES AND DUPLEXES CONSTRUCTED PRIOR TO A DESIGNATED DATE AND DECLARING THE URGENCY THEREOF

WHEREAS, the City of Sierra Madre, which was incorporated over 107 years ago, is proud of its eelectic mix of residential architectural styles reflected in its existing neighborhoods, predominated by the natural terrain and mountain view, which lend to is character as the "village of the foothills;" and

WHEREAS, this existing housing stock—some examples of which have been deemed a historic resource and many of which may be considered potential historic resources—help to create the identify and atmosphere of community, and the City actively encourages historic preservation through the use of Mills Act contracts; and WHEREAS, the historic and potentially historic quality and character of Sierra Madre's neighborhoods directly contributes to a healthy and safe life for residents, who walk, congregate, play and want to live in neighborhoods that have character and history; and

WHEREAS, it is estimated that 77% of the existing housing stock within Sierra Madre is 45 years old or older, thus reflecting the community's value in preservation;

WHEREAS, in recognition of this resource, the City Council has authorized the request for proposals for the preparation of a "historic resources survey," by a professional consultant and such historic resources survey is not anticipated to be ready until mid-2015 or early 2016; and

WHEREAS, the City is simultaneously updating its General Plan and reviewing its existing zoning and development codes for protection of its resources, including water given the extraordinary drought conditions, and during this period, no new construction or development on property which does not already have existing water service connections is permitted; and

WHEREAS, the City has observed a trend in the San Gabriel Valley where developers purchase property and demolish the existing home, regardless of the home's potential historic value, in favor of new construction which, due to its style and lot coverage, does not preserve or reflect the community character and values or its potential historic resources; and

WHEREAS, in 2014, the City of Sierra Madre received applications for 14 demolitions—more than twice the average it has experienced in prior years; and in January 2015, the City has already received four applications to demolish four residential structures, including structures over 100 years old; and

WHEREAS, the City Council intends to review and update the provisions of its development and zoning code to implement new zoning and development requirements and conditions of approval which will enhance protection of its potential and historic resources, such as revisions to Chapter 17.82 regarding historic preservation and Chapter 15.04 regarding building code and permit requirements; and

WHEREAS, The dwindling number of potentially historic buildings in the City and the region, and the risk that more potentially historic buildings will be lost, represent a true danger to the health and safety of the community. If demolition of existing structures which may otherwise be considered potential or actual historic resources is allowed to occur prior to the completion of the historic resources survey and broader review of the development code (including the historic preservation ordinance building code and permit requirements), the loss of these potentially historic resources will be permanent and defeats the purpose of conducting a historic resources survey and intended preservation efforts; and

WHEREAS, these issues constitute a current and immediate threat to the public health, safety, and welfare, within the meaning of Government Code Section 65858;

WHEREAS, Government Code Section 65858, a provision of the State Planning and Zoning Law, authorizes an interim, urgency zoning ordinance to prevent development which may be inconsistent with a plan under development—such as the City's intended survey of historic resources and current update of its General Plan and development and zoning codes to enact regulations which are protective of the City's need to preserve existing housing stock and potential and existing historic resources--pending adoption of that plan.

NOW THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE FURTHER FINDS that the adoption of this Ordinance is necessary to protect the public safety, health and welfare by ensuring well-planned and water efficient development of properties in the City necessary to conserve the finite water resources for all customers and that it should adopt this interim urgency zoning ordinance as authorized by Government Code Section 65858 and

THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Notwithstanding any provision of the Sierra Madre Municipal Code or any other ordinance of the City of Sierra Madre, and except as otherwise Section 1. provided in this Ordinance, no person shall cause the demolition of and no demolition permit or combined building and demolition permit shall be issued for the demolition, in part or in whole, of any single-family dwelling or duplex which was constructed on or prior to December 31, 1940 on any lot in any zone within the City. For purposes of this Ordinance, "demolition" is defined as the destruction and removal, in part or in whole, of the foundation, exterior walls or roof structure, including supporting members of a single-family dwelling or a duplex.

The provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance shall not apply to any of the following:

Demolition of any interior walls of any structure for the purpose of remodel, repair or maintenance, subject to any required permits; (b) Removal and replacement, subject to any required permits, of exterior windows, doors, roof covering, foundation or exterior siding where the materials used for maintenance and replacement do not alter the appearance, size or character of the existing structure;

Demolition, in whole or in part, where the City Engineer or Building Official or his or her designee makes a written determination that demolition is necessary to immediately abate an imminent hazard to public safety;

(d) Demolition of up to 25% or less of a structure built prior to 1940 for the purpose of limited remodeling/addition, when all of the following conditions exist:

the demolition is required for an addition/alteration to the structure; the addition is permitted at the same time as the required demolition; and neither the demolished portion of the structure nor the addition will be visible from the public right-of-way or any public property.

the site plan and all required permits for the remodel have been approved by the applicable City reviewing authority. (e) Any project for which all necessary discretionary approvals have been granted and for which a demolition permit has been issued by the Building Department before the close of business on the day this Ordinance takes effect;

Any project for which a demolition permit application and an accompanying development proposal has been deemed complete before the close of business on the day this Ordinance takes effect, when all the following conditions exist:

(i) a written historic assessment, completed at the applicant's cost, by a licensed, certified architectural historian selected from a list maintained by the City, is provided which concludes that the property proposed to be demolished is not a local historically significant resource.

Taking. If a person can demonstrate that the application of this ordinance to his or her property would constitute a taking in violation of the federal or California Constitution or would otherwise be unlawful, an exception to this moratorium can be made pursuant to a variance approved under Section Chapter 17.60 of the Sierra Madre Municipal Code. No variance application shall be required if the Director, in consultation with the City Attorney, determines that an exception to this Ordinance is legally required. In such case, an approval may be granted only if the approving officer or body of the City finds that the exception is legally required.

CEQA Finding. The City Council hereby finds that it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance, and establishment of a moratorium hereby, may have a significant effect on the environment, because the moratorium will impose greater limitations on development in the City, and protect the aesthetic character of Sierra Madre, thereby serving to reduce potential significant adverse environmental impacts. The adoption of this ordinance is therefore exempt from California Environmental Quality Act review pursuant to Title 14, Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations.

Section 5. Severability. Should any provision of this Ordinance, or its application to any person, parcel or circumstance, be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unlawful, unenforceable or otherwise void, that determination shall have no effect on any other provision of this Ordinance or the application of this Ordinance to any other person, parcel or circumstance and, to that end, the provisions hereof are severable.

Section 6. Effective Date. This Ordinance is adopted by a 4/5 vote of the Sierra Madre City Council, shall take effect immediately upon its adoption as provided by Government Code Section 65858, and shall be of no further force at 11:59 p.m. on March 13, 2015, unless extended or terminated by further action of the City Council.

Section 7. Certification. according to law. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published or posted

PASSED, APPROVED AND ADOPTED, this 27th day of January, 2015 by the following vote: AYES: Mayor John Harabedian, Mayor Pro Tem John Capoccia, Council Members Rachelle Arizmendi, Denise Delmar, Gene Goss

Obviously, I was preoccupied with other things to be concerned about this wee bit of information she laid upon me at over as of yet. I am sure this experience will the time. I simply assumed she was talking about waxing the floor or changing the shower curtain. Never in my wildest dreams or two at a rehab center just might do the did I think she would do anything as drastic as she did.

This brings me to an important point; the morning prior to my bathroom ritual. never underestimate the damage a wife can do to the sacred places of her husband.

When I walked into my bathroom and switched on the light, I had the shock of my life. I looked in the mirror, as normal and looking back at me was the most frightful travesty for me to plunge myself out into the thing I have ever seen. I thought for a unsuspecting world before going into my moment Stephen King had sabotaged my bathroom.

I must have yelled or something because my wife came running into the bathroom and asked, "What's wrong?"

Then she did something that infuriated me even more than I was at the time.

She laughed.

I do not mind people laughing when I tell a joke or a funny story. However, when I have just been frightened out of my mind, I do not appreciate the levity. Then she explained to me what had happened. My wife took it upon herself to replace the mirror in my bathroom.

For a fleeting moment, murderous thoughts stomped through my mind. Fortunately, for me they were still wearing their bedroom slippers and not their marching boots.

I do not look forward to very much in life, but I do look forward to my mirror in as long as I can remember, which may not be a very long time when I come to think 13:12). of it. I know that my mirror, my old mirror, that is, was rather old and flawed and the reflection back at me was rather blurry. That is what made it so endearing to me. No matter how hard you tried to clean it the reflection was still very cloudy at best. Then, several years ago an accident occurred producing a small crack in my mirror. I must say it was an improvement I gladly accepted. It accommodated my split personality: Sometimes I feel like a nut, and sometimes I don't feel anything. One morning I could shave on the left side of the crack and the next morning I could shave on the right side.

The thing I loved about my old mirror was how it clouded the truth. The new mirror, however, is very insistent upon the truth.

A verse of Scripture came to mind as I pondered my old mirror. "For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: my bathroom. I have had that mirror for now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known." (1 Corinthians

choices last year. Sony Pictures was the victim of a massive security breach. Personal emails were revealed, films pirated and employee data leaked. The corporation immediately kowtowed to the terrorists, rumored to be North Koreansponsored, killing the theatrical release of the third in a trilogy of Seth Rogan and James Franco bromance movies called,

It was terrorism. And it was terrifying. A major motion picture studio had just been brought to its knees groveling for whomever they upset not to do any further damage.

The U.S. has the largest army in the world. We outspend the top 10 militaries in the world combined. We outspend China with the second largest military expenditure by more than three times. Our military budget hovers around $650 billion a year. Every year. We are armed! We are ready! We are fighting! Yet companies on our shores and our citizens are totally vulnerable—sitting ducks waiting for the next hacker to take us down. Anyone at any time can take our personal information and wreak havoc.

"No foreign nation, no hacker, should be able to shut down our networks, steal our trade secrets, or invade the privacy of American families, especially our kids," said President Obama in his annual State of the Union address. "We are making sure our government integrates intelligence to combat cyber threats, just as we have done to combat terrorism."

So here's a problem with our current situation: The FBI needs people who know the computers and all. And some of these people who are knowledgeable in this cyber hacking stuff, who could maybe thwart another attack promising to "keep our kids safe"—not all of them but some—like to smoke pot.

This came up last year when FBI director James Comey told an audience at the White Collar Crime Institute conference that the agency was having trouble finding computer crime experts who didn't smoke marijuana. "I have to hire a great workforce to compete with those cyber criminals and some of those kids want to smoke weed on the way to the interview," Comey said.

cyber attack He said he was "grappling" with loosening the current requirement that to even be eligible to work at the FBI you must not have smoked pot in the last three years.

Then anti-drug Senator Jeff Sessions clutched his pearls and admonished Comey during a Judiciary Committee following those comments. "I am dead-set against using marijuana," then clarified Comey. "I did not say that I am going to change that ban." And according to the FBI's website, as of this writing, the ban hasn't changed After September 11th, the military was only able to translate at three-quarters capacity. They were unimaginably desperate for Arabic speakers while discharging linguists for being (wait for it) gay. Don't Ask, Don't Tell—#headdesk. So after the largest terrorist attack in our nation's history, when Americans were willing to give up any civil right for the promise of safety, we wouldn't let openly gay translators in the military? Basically. Even in the throes of hysteria and grief, when we came together as one nation standing resilient—we still managed to marginalize homosexuals, declining their expertise and opting for a gap in competent personnel instead. Yes, we did. And now we repeat a dark, self-defeating and completely stupid policy when it comes to personal drug use.

Are we a nation that prioritizes security and stability in our systems or do we want to just finger wag at sinners?

It's puritanical folly that the FBI doesn't just consider candidates who want to serve their country and are good at what they do; they must also be candidates for Love it or hate it, the war against pot has been lost. It's mostly decriminalized and now in four state people can buy it without even claiming it's medicine. It's taxed and regulated in those states. It's out in the open. Americans can now admit to smoking marijuana for fun, just like they can drink alcohol for fun. They just can't work at the FBI (among many other

The irony is Seth Rogan and James Franco movies would have no audience whatsoever if not for the consumption of marijuana. So shouldn't the people who could protect their interests be allowed to toke if they choose?

MICHAEL Reagan Making Sense QUIT WASTING TIME ON

Bill Maher called on "The Five"? Chris Kyle of "psychopath

"American Sniper" a patriot." Michael Moore called military snipers

"cowards" who shoot people in the back. Howard Dean said "American Sniper" appeals mostly to angry Tea Party types.

Why do we conservatives give two cents about what these lefties and liberals say about "American Sniper" - or anything Nothing they ever say is surprising.

Nothing they say ever adds to the debate, has any effect on anything or helps us find a solution to a serious problem. The predictable – and wrong -- things these liberals and others on the left said about "American Sniper" glorifying killing or whitewashing the Iraq war couldn't stop or hurt that great movie.

Its record $250 million box-office take in just two weeks says it all.

Spending time or space reacting to anything Moore tweets or Maher says on his barely watched HBO show is a waste of time for conservatives and their media.

Dean's comment (which he later apologized for) was seen and heard by far more people on conservative media outlets than on Maher's show.

Ditto for Moore's garbled tweets, which otherwise would have been seen only by his mindless followers.

So why does the conservative media take the bait, time and time again, and give the inane comments of liberal cranks so much attention and publicity? Simple. It's great for their bottom lines.

Unfortunately, attacking your enemies even when you can predict what they'll say before they say it – is what the American TV viewing audience wants. I wish I could change it, but the reality is that it's all about getting higher ratings. Whether it's on MSNBC, CNN or Fox

News, the media boxing ring has been set up for everyone to be always fighting somebody else. It's all about clashing opinions and playing to the opposite corners.

You watch MSNBC to be mad at the right and Fox to be mad at the left and no one watches CNN.

These staged media fights are rarely worth watching and they don't bring any benefit to the country, the conservative cause or the political process.

It's rarely a fair fight. Alan Colmes and Bob Beckel are the Washington Generals of Fox News.

And what good does it do for more This column has been edited by the than 2 million people to watch four author. Representations of fact and conservatives beat up Beckel every night opinions are solely those of the author.

MOORE, MAHER & DEAN

Beckel, not to mention Fox News, is laughing all the way to the bank.

But the show is a total waste of time for everyone else. You might as well watch an hour of professional wrestling.

I'm looking for straight news, news I can use, not reports on dumb things said by my enemies. But straight news is hard to find on TV these days. Other people have noticed the news shortage. Last year during D-Day celebrations in Normandy I was talking to some high-ranking members of the 82nd Airborne. "What news do you guys watch?" I asked.

"Al Jazeera America."

"'Al' what?"

"Al Jazeera. Because we're looking for straight news, not opinion. We'll form our own opinion."

Al Jazeera America being touted for its un-spun newscasts by U.S. military leaders is a shocking and depressing thought. But straight news won't sell to the media have turned us into a National Inquirer country. We're not getting the news we need or can use from network and cable TV. We get bad news, gotcha news, sensational news or shock-video of car wrecks. The conservative media only make things worse when they constantly publicize the stupid things liberals say. It may be good for ratings. But at some point you have to say to the conservative media moguls, "Guys, there are a lot of important things going on in the world and what Michael Moore and Bill Maher think are not two of them."

TV masses in America, where the news

THINGS TO DO & MORE

START TRAINING FOR THE 2015 MOUNT WILSON TRAIL RACE

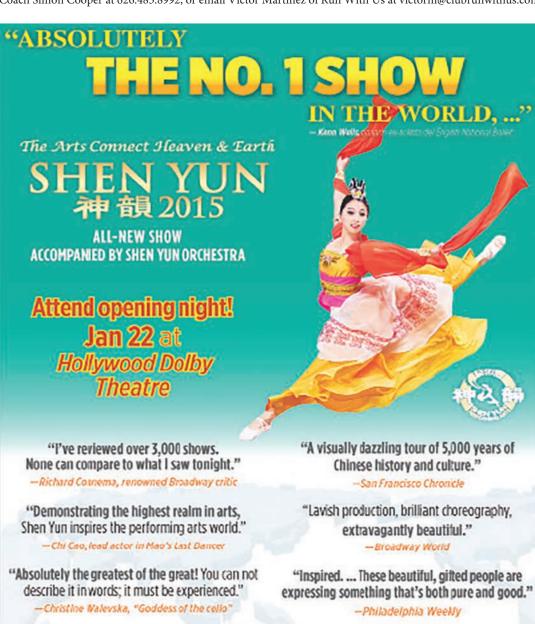

The Mt. Wilson Trail Race Committee is again offering a comprehensive 17-week program to get runners ready for the challenging Mt. Wilson Trail Race, scheduled for Saturday, May 23, in Sierra Madre. This program is free and the public is invited to participate.

Run With Us/Pasadena, with assistance from Invictus Running Academy and the Foothill Flyers, will lead advanced and beginners groups on a series of weekly runs up the My. Wilson Trail and along City of Sierra Madre streets. The instructors will also offer an easy to follow training program for runners to train on their own throughout the week. Two local popular races, the Santa Anita Derby Day 5k (April 4) and Fountain to Falls (May 9) will be part of the training program.

Starting on January 31, the group will meet in Kersting Court (at the intersection of Baldwin Ave and Sierra Madre Blvd) at 7:00 am each Saturday. After stretching and instruction, the runners will be on their way and should return by 9:00 am at the latest. On Saturday, May 16, a week before the Mt. Wilson Trail Race, there will be an expert panel prior to the training session, featuring past MWTR champions providing race strategy and advice.

All runners should bring their own water and running watch, as the workouts will involve timed events. For more information, please call MWTR Chair Pete Siberell at 626.574.6373, Invictus Running Academy Head Coach Simon Cooper at 626.485.8992, or email Victor Martinez of Run With Us at victorm@clubrunwithus.com
