Today, however, it is a community divided, the most recent conflict over the demolition of two properties, 29 East Orange Grove Boulevard and 1600 Highland Avenue. These two properties were sold and plans were submitted to the Highlands Homeowners Architectural Review Board in December. Both applications were denied by the Board in an effort to preserve the character of the Supporters of the project do not see that as an issue. One speaker suggested that the building of multi-million dollar, 5,000 square foot homes is a plus for the area.

Councilman Roger Chandler noted that property values had jumped 51% from 2013 to 2014.

PASADENA UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRCT SUPERINTENDENT BRIAN MCDONALD Ed.D AND CHIEF FINANCE OFFICER JOHN PAPPALARDO, Ed.D. ANNOUNCE DR. PAPPALARDO'S DEPARTURE FROM DISTRICT

Pasadena, CA--- Pasadena Unified School District (PUSD) Superintendent Brian McDonald, Ed.D. and Chief Finance Officer John Pappalardo, Ed.D. have announced that Dr. Pappalardo will be leaving the District to pursue a new opportunity. His resignation from PUSD was effective February 5, 2015.

'I am proud of all that has been accomplished during my time with Pasadena Unified," said Dr. Pappalardo. "We weathered many storms due to the reduced revenue received from the state during the Great Recession but we managed to still provide a quality education for all PUSD students."

Since joining PUSD in March 2009, Dr. Pappalardo has guided the district through tremendous financial pressure and economic uncertainty as funding from the state was drastically reduced. During his tenure, the district achieved clear audits, a signal of sound fiscal management. Dr. Pappalardo has also been acting as Chief Facilities Officer since 2013 supervising the maintenance and operations of the district as well as overseeing the construction of district facilities under Measure TT.

"I thank John for his service to the children and staff of PUSD," said PUSD Superintendent Dr. Brian McDonald. "The executive leadership positions held by Dr. Pappalardo are critical to the effective operation of a school district."

PUSD will begin the search for a new Chief Finance Officer and Chief Facilities Officer immediately.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"It is raining in California, a straight rain, cleaning the heavy oranges on Filling the gardens, waxing the dark camellia leaves more green..."

Karl Shapiro – California Winter

It isn't raining, but we all wish it would. Walking Sierra Madre today with my bundled up walking buddy, John, we saw wondrous sights on every side. Camellias and azaleas are blooming all over town and the colors are delightful. Ours are especially nice because I actually fed them! The first daffodil has appeared in our garden and there are spears poking out all over. If you haven't planted any daffodils, give yourself a few bulbs. They are beyond easy...just stick the bulb in the ground, pointy part up, and then be delighted and surprised when they reappear every year. Trader Joe's has 'em - 10 stems for $3.99, too.

Spent a few minutes in Renaissance Plaza, if you don't know where that is, it's at 38 West Sierra Madre Blvd. Great statuary in their courtyard. The Village &

Eastwicke Gift and Art Gallery has a charming window featuring lighted owls. Wander down there. My middle daughter, Patti, has been having her nails done at Soft Touch in there for years...just another Sierra Madre treasure.

Something is going on at the former children's store on Sierra Madre Blvd. next to Happy's Liquors, which is great. It's been empty way too long. The T-Neer Tea Room has a cute sign in their front window: "It's Like a Liquid Hug... Tea or Coffee...Perfect For The Season." The Kensington looks more beautiful every time we walk by. The beauty salon in the most easterly corner looks like they're just about ready to start welcoming clients. If you haven't walked past the Kensington, take a few minutes and look. Their craft room at the parking lot end of the building looks so neat, and they have gorgeous red-upholstered wicker chairs and tables in their central patio. Love those big ceramic pots in front filled with plants.

Across the street at City Hall, we noticed a sign we haven't seen before asking the community to help re-landscape the City Hall-Police/Fire Department complex. We can support the Sierra Madre Garden Club in this project by purchasing a memorial brick, park bench, picnic table or footbridge, which will help create a variety of gardens inside the City Hall complex. Plans are for an edible garden, a rain garden, a wildlife garden, several chaparral gardens, a picnic area with tables and benches on composed granite, a bridge, an overflow culvert. It will be delightful but I suspect we're going to have to raise a bunch of $$$ before we can enjoy it. You can visit City Hall or call them at 626-355-7135 and ask for information, so I did, and talked to Susan. I asked her how much a brick would be and she said they start at $100.00 and, depending on how much engraving you want on your brick, it would be more. Wouldn't you like a brick with your name on it, placed in perpetuity in a lovely courtyard. I think we

It's time to prune back our roses to give them a rest before Spring appears. Of course, it feels just like Spring right now, but we still have to cut back the roses. Two things: Wear long sleeves and gloves so the thorns don't cut you to ribbons; and spray them with Horticultural & Dormant oil so you don't struggle all summer with spider mites. Be sure you remove all the leaves, too, as they harbor those nasty little critters.

Don't know if you've noticed, but Valentine's Day is February 14th, which is a week away. If you haven't bought a card, made a dinner reservation, ordered flowers, or whatever it is that you want to do to celebrate the favorite person in your life, start thinking about it now. I am smugly happy to report that I have already bought my Valentine's cards and am ready to tell my significant other just how much I treasure him. If you'd like to get your Valentine a little gift, you could stop by the Creative Arts Group on Baldwin and check out their Faculty Art Show where you'll see works by more than 20 talented artists who are also instructors there, in a range of media. They're open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Saturday. I also saw my very first blooming Iris of the season in their courtyard. It's pale yellow and so lovely. The show runs through February

Sierra Madre Police Blotter

During the week of Sunday, January 25th, to Sunday, February 1st, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 334 calls for service.

Thursday, January 29th

At 9:33 am, after Officers completed a traffic stop at the corner of Acacia and Valle Vista, Officers noticed an unlocked vehicle left unattended with a cellphone and the keys left on vehicle's seat. Due to the rise in vehicle burglaries within the area, Officers further investigated the vehicle to verify it was not reported stolen or was in the process of being burglarized prior to the Officer's arrival. While investigating, Officers discovered a Mexican Passport and the vehicle's registration but the registration did not match to the identity of the individual on the passport. While searching the vehicle, Officers were approached by a nearby resident claiming he just saw a man in his neighbor's backyard. When he had asked the man what he was doing, the neighbor stated the man began to run. The neighbor chased the man until the man jumped into the flood control channel. When Officers asked for a description, the neighbor described the man pictured on the passport found in the abandoned vehicle. Officers checked the residence and did not discover any indication that a burglary had occurred. Back at the station Officers contacted the man listed as the vehicle owner on the registration. He stated he sold his vehicle several months prior to the man named on the passport. When Officers contacted the man named on the passport, he informed Officers that he had parked his truck in a residential area and went for a hike with his spouse. Upon returning he realized he truck was missing but did not report it stolen because he had to go to work, showing lack of concern over his missing vehicle. Officers began to process the truck and belongings as evidence. As the vehicle was being prepared to be towed, the vehicle's registrant owner arrived on scene. The location of the vehicle was never stated to the man, so Officers questioned how he knew the whereabouts of the vehicle. He informed Officers the man named on the passport called him and told him where he had left the vehicle. Officers have since determined the statements given by the man who claimed to have been hiking while his vehicle was stolen were false. Officers contacted the man and informed him he could pick up his impounded vehicle. The man never arrived to claim the vehicle. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

the 180 Block of N Sunnyside Avenue regarding informed by the victim that earlier that day he left for work at around 8 am, locking and securing his residence. Upon returning home at around 12 pm, he noticed one of the two front windows of his home was open. The victim inspected the window and noticed several pry marks near the locking device. He inspected the other window, which was still locked, and noticed similar marks in the same location. The victim inspected his home for any missing property was unable to determine if anything was missing. It is unknown if the suspect(s) gained access to the residence. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

At 2:52 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 500 Block of Acacia Street regarding a possible burglary report. Upon arrival Officers were informed that the night before, the victim had entered his residence through the unlocked side gate and through the sliding glass door. Prior to entering the home, he placed his briefcase, which contained his laptop, on the table out on the patio because his hands were full. The victim stated he left his briefcase outside until the following morning at around 8:30 am, when he picked it up and headed to work. Once at work, he realized his laptop was missing. Due to hearing about the incident that had happened earlier on the same street of a man running through a backyard, the victim believed his laptop was stolen. While at the residence, Officers noticed security cameras, but were informed by the victim that they had not been working. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

Friday, January 30th

At 6:36 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 200 Block of Grove Avenue regarding a residential burglary report. Officers were informed by the victim that she had left her residence earlier that morning for work, and upon returning she noticed broken glass near her front door. The victim looked into the home through a glass panel near the front door and noticed a closet was open. Knowing she had left with the closet closed, the victim notified Officers before entering the home. Officers cleared the home of any suspects inside. While investigating the home with Officers, the victim discovered several rooms had been ransacked. As of now, the victim stated several rings, necklaces, and about $600 was missing from the residence. ## City Strikes Tentative Deal with Archers

By Dean Lee

At the end of a nearly five-hour discussion Monday night, the city council approved entering into an operating agreement with the Pasadena Roving Archers giving exclusive use of the lower Arroyo archery range to archers. But not before first taking issue with the group being out of compliancy with the Secretary of State's Office and the amount of insurance coverage the organization should have —also at issue was finding an alternate site for archery in the city, something they took up as a separate vote. Towards the end of the meeting, Councilmember Steve Madison referenced a document dated Jan. 23, saying the Pasadena Roving Archers had been suspended as a corporation by the Secretary of State. "You are correct, much to my surprise, we are an all-volunteer organization, we had a new treasurer and secretary and the renewal notice was overlooked," said Pasadena Roving Archers President Gary Spiers. "That is being corrected right now."

Before the vote, Vice Mayor Jacque Robinson said any agreement would be contingent on providing documentation. "I don't know the reason for the discrepancy but we are not going to resolve it tonight and they're not going to call anybody by tonight either," she said. "I'm completely fine with making it contingent on that they present insurance and the nonprofit

The council discussed raising the insurance required from $1 million to $10 million.

Along with Robinson, Gene Masuda, Victor Gordo, John Kennedy and Margaret McAustin voted in favor of the agreement with the Pasadena Roving Archers and rules for archery. Mayor Bill Bogaard, Madison and Councilmember Terry Tornek voted against them.

Most of the comments, both in person and submitted in writing, favored the Pasadena Roving Archers. A number of them used movie references to make the point.

"Please preserve the historic lower Arroyo archery range, the oldest field archery range in the country and historical site of the 1938 classic movie "The Adventured of Robin Hood" staring Errol Flynn," said Armando Ramirez.

Another resident used another popular movie to back moving archery out of the Arroyo, a recommendation made by the group Stewards of Public Lands. 'I'm delighted that the Hunger Games has interested young people in a new sport," said Christle Balvin. "But I agree that the lower Arroyo, used to the city staff the appropriate by neighbors for recreation, documentation for both the dog walking and equestrian activities may not be the best place for serious archery."

MUSE/IQUÉ, a musical "travelling party of smart fun," kicks off its 2015 Uncorked Series with "Liberty/ Conceived," an unconventional orchestral tribute to Abraham Lincoln after the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Michael Ross, chief executive officer of the Pasadena Center Operating Company said "We are thrilled that an event of this stature and importance will reopen the hall. This is the ideal location for what we know will be an exciting and exceptional experience for the audience and the performers alike." Constructed in 1931 as part of the original Pasadena Civic Auditorium, the exhibit hall was used for conventions, dances and various exhibits. It was repurposed as home to the Pasadena Ice Skating Center in 1976. The hall sat idle, after the ice rink left in 2011,

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show PADDINGTON REVIEW

The trailers for this film made it come of as a simple-minded, writtenonly-for-young-children movie. None of the main story was revealed and only Paddington himself was the focus of the trailers, not any other characters. Paddington did not even talk, not giving the viewers any idea of what voice they would be listening to for an hour and a half. The movie seemed like a major risk to go see.

Paddington (Ben Whishaw) must leave behind the only life he had ever known after an earthquake destroys his home in Peru. Having gained knowledge form his aunt and uncle, who were visited by an explorer many years ago, the young bear set off for England where he hopes to find a new life but, most of all, a family who will love him.

This film is more complex than average children's films, in both plot and emotional level. The characters are very well rounded, interesting, and their lives are easy to relate to for anybody. However, the film's greatest strength comes from its ability to seamlessly transition from happy to sad to suspenseful and back again. 'Paddington' is a truly wholesome family film, that will successfully teach good life lessons, and leave you with a smile on your face as you leave the theater.

Living in the San Gabriel Valley for the past forty-plus years I have seen many restaurants come and go -- some should have left, and others I felt put a real effort into the craft. One restaurant's opening I greatly anticipated was Del Frisco's Grille on Lake Avenue. Pasadena's newest steak sensation, Del Frisco's started

What they have here in Pasadena is a great location, an incredible wine list, and a topnotch filet mignon. My assignment was to enjoy a pairing of fine wine with Del Frisco's popular menu, aided by Del Frisco's sommelier. Although not every restaurant has the luxury of having a sommelier, this is a fun way to go through a meal. I started off with the Ahi Tuna Ahi tuna tacos have become a popular appetizer in restaurants, and I enjoyed it paired with a Paco & Lalo white wine from Spain, one of the most popular wines from the region of Rias my website peterdills.com Baixas. And then came the reason for our review: the steak! I had the 8 oz. (you don't need more) filet mignon with a side of mac and cheese (did I say "truffled"?) If you've heard my radio show, I often talk about steaks and my contention that I can make a great steak at home. This one is as good as it gets, and sommelier Sharra Nagelberg paired it with a wine I reviewed recently, the Decoy Cabernet Sauvignon. But wait! There's more! - 2. 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
- 3. 1 large egg white
- 4. 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 5. 1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 6. 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 7. Scant 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 8. Scant 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 9. 1 1/2 sticks (6 ounces) unsalted butter, softened
- 10. 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
- 11. 3 large eggs 12. 3 ounces bittersweet or semisweet chocolate, melted and cooled
- 13. 2 1/4 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
- 14. 1 1/2 cups plain nonfat yogurt

GLAZE

- 1. 1/2 cup sugar
- 2. 1/4 cup water
- 3. 1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa powder
- 4. 1/2 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

DIRECTIONS

1. MAKE THE GLAZE Preheat the oven to 350°. Butter and flour an 8-cup Bundt pan. In a small bowl, mix the chopped coconut with the condensed milk and egg white. Transfer the coconut mixture to a large sheet of plastic wrap. Using your hands, roll the coconut into an 18-inch rope. Wrap and refrigerate until slightly firm, at least 20 minutes.

6. In another small bowl, sift the flour with the cocoa, baking powder, baking soda and salt. In a large bowl, using an electric mixer, beat the butter until creamy. Add the sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add the eggs, 1 at a time, beating well after each addition. Add the melted chocolate and the vanilla and beat until the batter is smooth. Beat in the dry ingredients in 3 batches, alternating with the yogurt.

7. Scrape the batter into the prepared pan and smooth the surface. Unwrap the coconut rope and join the ends to form a circle. Lay the coconut rope on the cake batter, centering it in the pan. Press the coconut into the batter until it is submerged in 1 inch of batter. Bake the cake for 1 hour, or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Let cool in the pan for 10 minutes, then invert onto a rack to cool completely. 8. In a medium saucepan, combine the sugar and water and bring to a boil; stir to dissolve the sugar. Whisk in the cocoa and vanilla and let cool. Brush a thin layer of the glaze over the cake and let dry slightly. Repeat 3 more times, letting the glaze dry slightly before brushing the cake again. Refrigerate until the glaze is set and slightly cracked before serving.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND??

BE YE KIND TO THE CANINE

Over the course of the four years that I've been writing this column, I've used quite a bit of it's printed space to share my feelings about how animals should be treated more kindly by the human. Although what I have written has been based on facts as I know them, and while my motive has been pure in terms of hoping to encourage change for the better, I realize that my writing has at times turned to ranting and raving on a subject that is, for the most part, hard to hear and difficult to deal with.

This week I decided to focus my article on all of the good things humans have done to help protect animals and enhance their quality of life. So many positive changes have been made through new legislation, volunteerism, philanthropy and donations - all on the part of the human, and all on behalf of the animals. There is much more work to be done to ensure that all animals, both wild and domestic are given a fair shake in life, but we've come a long way, baby! So let's celebrate our success!

Here are a few examples of the positive changes that have come about for the animals over the past several years. This is a short list, but it gives you an idea of the direction our country has taken in terms of our relationship with animals.

In 1966, The Animal Welfare Act was signed into law, making it the first in the United States that regulates the treatment of animals in research, exhibition, transport, and by dealers. Other laws, policies and guidelines before or after may include additional species coverage or specifications for animal care, but today all refer back to the Animal Welfare Act as the minimum acceptable standard.

In May of 2006, Ohlone Dog Park in Berkeley, CA became the first known of it's kind in the world. Since then, dog parks have been popping up by the hundreds in numerous cities within the US, and throughout the globe. This proves that all those millions of dog owners truly care about their pets, and want the very best for them. Off-leash play in a social setting with other canines is one of the kindest things you can offer your dog. If you haven't visited our own dog park here in Sierra Madre, you should. It is located behind the Rec. Center pool, next to the tennis courts in Recreation Park. There are also a few other dog parks nearby with fenced areas designated for both small and large dogs to play off leash. Use common sense and go by the rules to ensure a positive experience.

In February, 2012 LA County agreed to allow dogs to accompany their humans for dinner on restaurant patios. Now your four-legged friend can really be a part of the family, by joining you for an evening outing rather than waiting at home anxiously until you arrive. With LA county being the forerunner and followed example, this law carried over to several other counties in California as well. It was amended later to prevent restaurant owners from being cited by the Health Dept., opening even more doors to four-footers.

In October of 2012, The LA City Council voted 12-2 in favor of a law that would require pet stores to sell only rescued animals. In addition to reducing euthanizations, the law seeks to put an end to puppy and kitten mills that keep animals in poor conditions and then ship them to pet stores for profit. Pet ownership in the United States, Great Britain and Australia is on the rise! According to a recent census, the number of dog owners in these three countries has grown by several millions from the 1990's to the 2000's and the number of dogs per household has increased as well. We humans are obviously becoming much more willing to forego another toy or trinket, in order to love and care for someone besides ourselves! Pets are great

In the early 1990's, pet supply stores started showing up all over the place in the US, coast to coast. Nearly every sizable city now boasts at least one PetCo or PetSmart store along with a variety of neat boutique mom-and-pops where you are sure to find anything and everything you may want to pamper your pet. Is this not a true sign of our growing affection for Fido? After all, our money typically follows

Countless animal rescue organizations have formed over the past few decades. Best Friends is a prime example of kind humans helping animals in need. Their efforts have reduced the number of euthanized pets to a proportionate fraction of what it used to be and numerous other organizations have followed their lead by placing rescued animals and advocating spay and neuter to all pet owners.

Which brings me to another positive praise point for the human's love toward animals. Many licensed veterinarians in the United States now offer affordable spay and neuter services to those who are financially strapped. Several non-profits network with veterinarians who share their desire to stop accidental breeding, and are willing to provide such services at their own cost. Do the research to find the right vet for your pet, and discuss your financial status frankly with him/her. You may be surprised at how helpful your vet will be when you tell them your desire is to prevent pet pregnancy.

Last but certainly not least, there is a growing trend in our present society, to adopt and not shop. This relatively new concept that was started by animal rights advocates, was mostly made popular by celebrities who agreed with the philosophy. Now it seems just about every animal lover is on the band wagon. It thrills me to hear people say, "My dog is a rescue from a local animal shelter, and I wouldn't have it any other way." So now, adopting is not only a win-win for the animal, it is also a cool trend that has caught on like wildfire. I think this trend is here to stay, and will continue to grow.

Like I said, this list is limited to only a few of the many great things that are happening in our society, on behalf of the animals. More than ever before, we humans are realizing how precious our pets really are. They are genuinely grateful for the care we give them. They love us unconditionally, and for some people, it may be the only one they have that kind of relationship with. I benefit every day, from the time I spend with my little Molly. And, I am blessed with the added benefit of spending time with my clients' pets as well. There is nothing like being greeted at the door by a dog who is elated to see you. No other boss I have had in the past could make me that happy to do my job.

Kudos to all the humans who recognize the value of the animals and show them the respect they deserve. Thank you selflessly paving the way to a better life for them. May we all try to focus more on the good things being done to make changes for the better, and let's keep up the good work! Love and let live.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR BATHROOM SAFER

Dear Savvy Senior,

What tips do you recommend for making a bathroom safer and more functional for seniors. My 79-year-old mother slipped and fell getting out of the shower last month, and I'd like to modify her bathroom a bit with some safety features that can help protect her.

Searching Daughter

Dear Searching,

Because more accidents and injuries happen in the bathroom than any other room in the house, this is a very important room to modify for aging in place. Depending on your mom's needs, here are some tips for each part of the bathroom that can make it safer and easier to use.

Flooring: To avoid slipping, a simple fix is to get non-skid bath rugs for the floors. Or if you want to put in a new floor get slip-resistant tiles, rubber or vinyl flooring, or install wall-to-wall carpeting. Lighting: Good lighting is also very important, so install the highest wattage bulbs allowed for your mom's bathroom fixtures, and get a plug-in nightlight that automatically turns on when the room gets dark.

Bathtub/shower: To make bathing safer, purchase a rubber suction-grip mat, or put down adhesive nonskid tape on the tub/shower floor. And have a carpenter install grab bars in and problems, get her a shower or bathtub seat so she can bathe from a seated position. In addition, you may also want to get a handheld, adjustable-height showerhead installed that will make washing

Another, pricier option is to install a walk-inbathtub or a prefabricated curbless shower. Walkin tubs have a door in front that provides a much lower threshold to step over than a standard tub. They also typically have a built-in seat, handrails and a slip resistant bottom, and some have therapeutic spa features with whirlpool water jets and/or bubble massage air jets.

Curbless showers have no threshold to step over, and typically come with a built-in seat, grab bars, slip resistant floors and an adjustable handheld showerhead. Prefabricated curbless showers and walk-in-tubs typically cost anywhere between $2,500 and $10,000 installed.

Toilet: Most toilets are about 14 to 16 inches high which can be an issue for many people with arthritis, back, hip or knee problems. To raise the toilet height, which can make sitting down and getting back up a little easier, you can purchase a raised toilet seat that clamps to the toilet bowl, and/or purchase toilet safety rails that sit on each side of the seat for support. Or, you can install an ADA compliant toilet that ranges between 17 and 19 inches high.

Faucets: If your mom has twist handles on the sink, bathtub or shower faucets, replace them with lever handle faucets. They're easier to operate, especially for seniors with arthritis or limited hand strength. Also note that it only takes 130-degree water to scald someone, so turn her hot water heater down to 120 degrees.

Entrance: If your mom needs a wider bathroom entrance to accommodate a walker or wheelchair, install some "swing clear" offset hinges on the door which will widen the doorway an additional Emergency assistance: As a safety precaution, purchase a waterproof phone for the bathroom or get a medical alert device (SOS emergency call button) that your mom could wear in case she falls and needs to call for help.

You can find all of the products suggested in this column at either medical supply stores, pharmacies, big-box stores, home improvement stores, hardware and plumbing supply stores as

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

A CHORE NEXT DOOR

While not a very common problem, if you've got it, it can have a terrible impact on your listing: The Messy Neighbor. If you live next door to a "neglected" property, you might lose up to 20% of your home's market value, particularly with buyers looking for any excuse to reduce their offer.

It's technically not your problem, but ask not for whom the bell tolls. It's well worth your time and effort to resolve this situation amicably. Always be respectful, and don't let your emotions get the best

Unless you believe your neighbor is "unhinged," you should begin with a visit to their home and a positive attitude - no name-calling or finger-pointing. Don't grab everyone on the block and gang up on your neighbor - you'll get better results if you go alone or with one other person.

If you find your messy neighbor is unwilling to take care of their maintenance, it may still be in your best interest to do the work yourself or with the help of other neighbors. No, it's not fair, but if you want a fair sales price, this may be your only option.

As a last resort, you could file a complaint with your property owners association or city government. You could be referred to a mediator who will help settle your disagreement cordially.

When deciding on the best time to send an email they leverage holidays and current events. For campaign, consider 2 things:

1. Studies show the majority of emails are read someone can save your email and open it later, most people don't. It's important to consider the between 6am and 9am, Monday - Friday. Most Moms are busy taking kids to school, making lunches, etc. and don't have time to look at your About MJ: MJ and her brother David own HUTdogs, with timing. You might do a split test and divide your email list in thirds and test different days use social media and listen to your audience to when they are most active.

What current events can you take advantage of that fit with the flavor of your brand? Think outside of the time and day you send your emails. For example, box. ### MIND YOUR BUSINESS

Establishing and maintaining a successful business begins and ends with an entrepreneur's state of mind. "The Little Engine That Could" is one of the most famous children's stories, extolling the benefits of what is possible when someone simply dares to believe they can accomplish something

Everyone who has any inkling of entrepreneurial aspiration must seize the moment at some point and take action in order to create the product or business they envision. The mind is defined as the part of a person that can think, reason, feel and remember. It is commonly thought of as the activity of the brain, which is an appropriate springboard to emphasize that activity or action aligned with aspiration is what distinguishes doers from mere dreamers.

Mind your business is used here as an expression to emphasize the importance of how entrepreneurs can use their own thought process to forge ahead toward achieving goals. The following mnemonic can be used as a guide to move forward and keep going in the direction of your business interests.

The first step is to get clarity about your vision, your dream to start a business. Do you want to earn extra income or build your idea into your primary livelihood? Do you want a small, easy-to-manage business or are you thinking of building a thriving enterprise? Either one will need to generate revenue and be profitable. It is important to determine the income goal as a certain amount per month, year or other timeframe. Finally, it is imperative to commit to a date by which you expect certain goals to be attained.

Invest Your Time & Resources Everyone on the planet is granted with 24 hours in a day, and those who have relished in the success of building a profitable understand that time is a commodity more valuable than money. Both should be used wisely, but unlike money, time wasted can never be recaptured. Take time to layout the gameplan, the roadmap as you understand it, to reach your goal.

Follow the example of The Little Engine That Could and press forward, even when going uphill makes it a little more difficult.

Distinguish Yourself With Discipline

Executing your plan will build the bridge between your goal and your vision. Consistency fosters discipline, which results in a mastery of knowledge and skills that fuels the type of confidence that can help an entrepreneur to keep going when times get challenging.

Move beyond thinking about starting a business, or if you're already in business, move beyond simply thinking about what you can do to expand and move to the next phase you envision. Make up our mind to have the level of success you desire as a business owner and go for it.

"The mind is everything. What you think you become." - Buddha

THROUGH THE MILKY WAY

A new image taken with ESO's VISTA survey telescope reveals the famous Trifid Nebula in a new and ghostly light. By observing in infrared light, astronomers can see right through the dustfilled central parts of the Milky Way and spot many previously hidden objects. In just this tiny part of one of the VISTA surveys, astronomers have discovered two unknown and very distant Cepheid variable stars that lie almost directly behind the Trifid. They are the first such stars found that lie in the central plane of the Milky Way beyond its central bulge.

As one of its major surveys of the southern sky,the VISTA telescope (http://www.eso.org/ public/teles-instr/surveytelescopes/vista)

ESO's Paranal Observatory in Chile is mapping the central regions of the Milky Way in infrared light to search for new and hidden objects. This VVV survey (standing for VISTA Variables in the Via Lactea, http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vista_ Variables_in_the_Via_Lactea) is also returning to the same parts of the sky again and again to spot objects that vary in brightness as time passes.

A tiny fraction of this huge VVV dataset has been used to create this striking new picture of a famous object, the star formation region Messier 20, usually called the Trifid Nebula (http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Trifid_Nebula) because of the ghostly dark lanes that divide it into three parts when seen through a telescope.

The familiar pictures of the Trifid show it in visible light, where it glows brightly in both the pink emission from ionized hydrogen and the blue haze of scattered light from hot young stars. Huge clouds of light-absorbing dust are also prominent. But the view in the VISTA infrared picture is very different. The nebula is just a ghost of its usual visible-light self. The dust clouds are far less prominent, and the bright glow from the hydrogen clouds is barely visible at all. The threepart structure is almost invisible.

THE LUPERCALIA ROOTS OF VALENTINE'S DAY

By Christopher Nyerges

In the pre-Christian era, there was a celebration being. These have been described as the layers of in honor of Lupercus, a pastoral god, sometimes identified with Faunus or Pan. Faunus is depicted as having the body of a man but the horns, pointed ears, tail, and hind legs of a goat. That is, Faunus is more or less identical with the satyr, who was said to be lustful, and always ready to party.

The pre-Christian observance of this day was called Lupercalia, which fell on February 15. On the Gnostics, and many were referred to as Lupercalia, cards were given (often with subtle or overt sexual offers and overtones), and men reportedly chased women through the streets. Wow! Sounds somewhat like Mardi Gras, or Disneyland's "Pirates of the Carribbean."

OK, fast forward to 2015, and the stores of Sierra Madre are full of red and pink hearts, and lovers that special person. Why? Because February 14 is the day set aside to commemorate a real historical person named Valentinus, the day we now call 'Saint Valentine's Day." And who was Valentinus? With just a little bit of research, we learn that this Valentinus person was stoned, clubbed, and beheaded in about the year 270 A.D. He was violently killed by an unruly mob. But why? And how have we come to associate Valentinus with chocolates and hearts and lovers and all the festivities of Lupercalia?

It turns out that there were at least two people And that's really a shame, since Valentinus was called Valentinus - possibly more - who lived in the 2nd and 3rd Centuries. One - who the Catholic Church now called Saint Valentine – was beheaded in 270 A.D.

Another Valentinus lived about a century earlier and founded one of the most important sects of Gnosticism. He was born in Egypt and educated in Alexandria. He settled in Rome during the reign of Pope Hyginus and taught there for more than 20 years. He attracted a large following to his beliefs, due in part to his intelligence, his eloquence of speech, and his impeccable arguments. But the teachings of this Valentinus differed in some ways from the Christian church of that time, and when the office for the Bishop of Rome opened up, he was not selected. Valentinus decided to split off from the Christian church, left Rome, and continued to develop his doctrines as he saw fit.

Unfortunately, there are no original surviving large banyan tree in Highland Park, there is a documents from the teachings of Valentinus. So, if you want to discover what he actually believed and taught, you have to study fragmentary quotations found in the writings of his orthodox Christian opponents.

Through research, we learn that Valentinus was influenced by Plato (the main source of the [Nyerges is the author of several books. He can be teachings of Socrates), Zoroastrianism, and Christianity. Valentinus also spoke of a spiritual realm which he called Pleroma, which consisted of "emanations" evolving from an original divine an onion, with each layer being a wholly complete reality. It's all very interesting, though it's all a bit second-hand because whatever Valentinus wrote was apparently "lost" or destroyed by opponents. The term Gnosticism came from the word 'gnosis," defined as spiritual knowledge. Those who followed this line of study were called Christian Gnostics. But by the third century, the more orthodox Christian church (and the political power of the day), decided to oppose and persecute the Gnostics. By the end of the third century, Gnosticism as a distinct movement had largely disapppeared.

Now, here's the quiz: Where in all this did you and sweethearts are looking for something to give hear anything about chocolates, hearts, greeting cards, bunnies, jewelry, roses, or lace underwear? Plus, there doesn't appear to be any historical connection with any of the individuals named Valentinus with the date of February 14.

> It is difficult to ascertain why the commemoration of Valentinus was used to supplant, uplift, and supercede the already-existing commemoration of Lupercus, but that's what happened. Yet, very little of the trappings of modern St. Valentine's Day have anything to do with the historical Valentinus.

> as important as perhaps Socrates or Pythagoras, and yet most of us only associate him with the silly commercialism of Lupercalia's remnants. Certainly it's possible that the Church engineered this substitution so that men would quit chasing women through the streets on this day.

> There's really nothing wrong with telling your loved ones that you love them! In fact, we need to do that more often. But you might also benefit by taking a little time and study a bit about this great teacher Valentinus. This is also a good time to contemplate the meaning of "love," and how we can improve our ability to be loving with everyone. One excellent book in this regard is Eric Fromm's "Art of Loving." Once you get into this book, you may discover - as I did -- that much of what Fromm wrote is very relevant today, and very relevant to Valentine's Day.

ARCADIA HONORING MUSICIAN & AHS ALUM

JOE RAMSEY

The Arcadia community is coming together to honor wellknown musician and beloved AHS alum Joe Ramsey, who died recently at the age of 58, following a years-long battle with health problems.

On Saturday, Feb. 21, from 7 pm to midnight, the Arcadia High School Alumni Association is resenting a benefit memorial concert at Santa Anita Park in Mr. Ramsey's honor. Santa Anita is also dedicating the day's last thoroughbred horse race in his memory, and the City of Arcadia has proclaimed Feb. 21 Joe Ramsey Day. Mayor Pro-Tem Gary Kovacic will present the proclamation in the Winner's Circle immediately following The Joe Ramsey Memorial Race.

As a founding member of the rock groups The Prime Movers and Dread Zeppelin, both of which featured fellow Arcadia musicians, Mr. Ramsey rose to prominence as a bass player, guitarist and vocalist during the heyday of Southern California's rock scene in the late 70s and 80s. His musical roots were firmly planted in Arcadia, forming bands while at Dana Jr. High with his young buddies and continuing through high school with local rock acts such as HiFi, Chance, Foul Play, The Item and The Cyclones. He was graduated from AHS in 1974 and attended Pasadena City College. In the late 70s, Mr. Ramsey partnered with several friends to open The Marquee West, a popular rock and roll club in Arcadia.

More recently, he was co-owner of Resistor Records store in Monrovia, where he lived with his wife Allison and daughters, ages 6 and 4.

Mr. Ramsey died Dec. 29 at Arcadia Methodist Hospital following a nearly decade-long struggle with cancer and heart problems, and a recent stroke.

The Joe Ramsey Rockapalooza Benefit Concert will feature a selection of friends, former band mates, local artists and loved ones taking the stage in his honor. Confirmed performers include Stan Ridgway and Pietra Wexstun; Keith Slettedahl and Adam Merrin from The 88; John Curry, Scott Lasken, Dennis Walsh and Nick Hanick from Four Eyed Four; The Third Man, featuring Gary Putman and Curt Lichter of The Prime Movers; and, special guest, Allison Ramsey.

Suggested donations are $30 or more, and will go to cover the cost of staging the event. Any proceeds will be donated to the AHS Alumni Association's Joe Ramsey Memorial Scholarship and to the Ramsey family to help defray medical expenses and sudden loss of income.

Tickets are available at http://www.arcadiaapaches.com/aboutus/ahsreunions info63.htm Questions about the event can be directed to alumni@arcadiaapaches.net

DON'T MESS WITH MY PEANUT BUTTER

Normally, I am a rather calm, cool and collected person. Actually, creditors trying to collect things from me, mostly money, are responsible for this and I have been officially collected. If I could only just collect my thoughts, but the pieces are too small and too few.

Anybody who knows me knows I am not easily rattled by anything, except a rattlesnake. I let the chips fall where they lay because I know from whence they came. I am not susceptible to the various rumors that make their way around on a regular basis. All the debate about global warming, for example, has not in the least disturbed my personal serenity. Some say the earth is getting warmer while others insist it is getting cooler. Who in the world are you to believe? One scientist frantically reported that if we do not do something quickly in 1500 years the earth is going to get 10° warmer than it is right now. One can only hope he was not a Rhodes Scholar.

Then there was the hullabaloo about how harmful chocolate was to a person only to discover later that it has marvelous health benefits. Pass me another bonbon.

Others took potshots at coffee. Again, it was found that a morning cup of Joe is just the thing to get a person on the go. I took all of these things good-naturedly. I try not to let anything get my dander up. In fact, I am quite roud of the humble way in which I respond to all of these negativities. Usually, with a cup of coffee in one and and a bonbon in the other.

All was going well until one morning the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage rattled my cage. She takes great pleasure in doing this.

"Have you seen the trouble they are having with peanut butter?" she said.

`This actually caught me by surprise because I had not heard any such thing. My wife went on to explain that in some cases they were recalling certain peanut products. Personally, I know a few nuts that need to

I do not mind if they fool around with global warming, and recall every car on the planet. I care not what they say about chocolate and coffee, but I go by one simple rule; do not mess with my peanut butter! My basic philosophy is, man shall not live by bread alone, he needs a little bit of peanut butter to hold it all together. I am not sure who invented peanut butter... it might have been God himself... all I know it is the food of the gods. According to Wikipedia, there has never been a time in history when there was not some form of

It is one of the few essential items in this world that nobody can get along without. I can hardly imagine a world without this marvelous concoction, either creamy or crunchy.

Many things I can manage to get along without, but I cannot get along without my daily ration of

Some people have chocolate as a comfort food. Some people's comfort food of choice is a bag of salty potato chips. Others pamper their comfort with ice cream. And I say, to each one his own. My comfort ood is simply peanut butter, preferably crunchy.

The thing about peanut butter that is so amazing is it can be used in a variety of ways. I would guess the list is as close to limitless that a man can get. Hardly a month goes by that I do not discover a new way to enjoy peanut butter.

There, of course, is the traditional peanut butter and jelly sandwich. Every thoughtful and loving mother starts her young brood off on a nutritious and delicious peanut butter and jelly sandwich. If your mother was quite like my mother, she affectionately trimmed the edges, which made the peanut butter all he more delightful. Need I mention Peanut Butter Cookies, Peanut Butter Fudge, Southern Peanut Butter Soup with Pepper

Jelly, Peanut Butter Cheesecake, Peanut Butter Candy and a Peanut Butter and Chocolate Sundae? I am not alone in this appreciation. "To me, peanut butter is the breakfast of champions!" opined Greg Louganis, Olympic Diver. If anybody should know what a champion eats for breakfast, he should.

Peanut butter can be used for breakfast, lunch and supper, not to mention all those snacks in between. Those who know the history of our country will remember that two Presidents of the United States were peanut farmers [Jefferson and Carter]. I am not sure of this, but I think it helped them deal with the nuts in

Of all the ways to enjoy peanut butter there is one I prefer above all else. That is simply a nice tablespoon of peanut butter right out of the jar. If a tablespoon is not handy, several fingers will do the trick admirably.

Really, there is no bad way to enjoy the marvelous taste of peanut butter. Speaking of comfort, the Bible has the perfect recipe. "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." (Psalms 23:4).

God has a marvelous way of taking our attention away from the trials of this world and feast our

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Re: A PRESIDENT PRACTICING INSANITY by Greg Welborn, 1/24/15

Ultimately, Mr. Welborn, please answer some questions; but for now, because most of your ilk begin your anti-President Obama diatribe/argument facts with the state of our Union, today, in going backward to when George W. Bush left office with two ILLEGAL wars raging, one of which ILLEGAL war he LIED to start! - one month after he left the White House, February, 2009, our National Debt was, 12.1-trillion dollars.

From, October, 2008, when it was, 11.3-trillion dollars. From, July, 2008, when it was, 10.6-trillion dollars. From, September, 2007, when it was, 9.8-trillion dollars. From, March, 2006, when it was, 9-trillion dollars. From, November, 2004, when it was, 8.2-trillion dollars. From, May, 2003, when it was, 7.4-trillion dollars.

From, June, 2002, when it was, 6.4-trillion dollars.

From, when George Walker Bush began his first term, with our National Debt at a steady 6.2-trillion dollars!

Yes, 6.2-trillion dollars for nearly ALL of the previous President's 8-years; plus, President Clinton left us and Bush a $100-million surplus! So, $6.2-trillion 2001, to, $12.1-trillion 2009!

But also during those subsequent eight Bush years, 6-million tax-paying U.S.citizens & many tax-paying non-U.S.-citizens lost their jobs, and their homes due to 'derivative' Wall Street/Banking/Home Loan Ponzi-scheme illegalities.

So, in 2000, it was 47+million U.S.-citizens, probably including you, Mr. Welborn, who voted for Bush; while in Florida, Bush's scheming governor brother, Jeb, was colluding with five scheming Right Wing Supreme Court judges: who then, UN-constitutionally, 'elected' George our president!

Then, within months of those UN-constitutional activities, and on none other than George W. Bush's watch, 19 terrorists 'took-out' the Trade Towers, hit the Pentagon and nearly got the White House.

With the questions for you, Mr. Welborn and all Bush voters, what was Mr. Obama to do? What could anyone in his position have done? And, what would you, personally, have done with everything economic/banking/jobs in nearlytotal crumbling-disarray, PLUS, two TOTALLY-ILLEGAL wars were going at full pitch, and escalating!

So, all of you Republican voters, for once, get the facts straight, and begin facing and telling the world, but especially, to thine own-self be honest, and admit, that, it was all of you, in 2000, then again, in 2004, "with everything economic/banking/jobs in nearly-total crumbling-disarray, PLUS, two TOTALLY-ILLEGAL wars were going at full pitch, and escalating!", who produced and perpetuated all of our current messes!

It's actually you, since Ronald Reagan and 1st Bush who combined, raised our National Debt 5½-trillion dollars, then you continued nearly-stupidly & quite-insanely bringing us George W. Bush - with the question to all of you, which came first, your near-stupidity or the insanity?

With the biggest, and possibly most-'fair' question: What might Barack Hussein Obama II have accomplished if he hadn't had two ILLEGAL wars to deal with for the entire first six-years of his Presidency?

Congress to restore it.)

"The 'job creators' in this country are not the heads of corporations. They can't sell products and services unless people have the income to buy them. The real job creators are those millions of Americans who every day go out and purchase goods and services - and if they don't have adequate income, the economy suffers." - Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-VT)

There are still those who, like Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-UT) responding to President Obama's budget proposal, will throw out accusations of wealth "redistribution" and "class warfare". Recently, however, from the likes of Mitt Romney, Rep. Paul Ryan (R-WI), Jeb Bush and Sarah Palin, we've heard increasing concern about income inequality and the struggling middle class. It's as if they've jumped ship and signed on with Sens. Sanders and Elizabeth Warren (D-MA). They're trying to hone a message for 2016 - tapping into the frustration of Americans who feel the class war's over, and the other side won. Republicans realize they probably won't have any record of accomplishment from this current Congress to campaign on a year from now; especially from a House that just moved to take health insurance away from 19 million Americans by voting (for the 56th time) to repeal the Affordable Care Act. (A recent Kaiser poll shows that if the Supreme Court were to gut the ACA, two-thirds of Americans would want

They'd have a hard time explaining Speaker John Boehner's nixing a proposed $2,000 tax credit for middle-class families and increasing the childcare credit, paid for by a 1% fee on Wall Street transactions and cutting tax breaks for the top 1% (average income $1.4 million); while a few weeks earlier he'd pushed $440 billion in corporate tax breaks – with the cost simply tacked

Republicans won't be able to point to Republican-led states, either, as examples of sensitivity to those who missed out on the recovery. Assumed presidential contender Gov. Scott Walker (R-WI), for instance, is pushing to cut $300 million from his state's public universities, while at the same calling on taxpayers to fork over $500 million for a new stadium for the Milwaukee

They'll continue expressing outrage over the shrinking middle class and wealth concentration at the top, while trying to pin the blame on President Obama. In doing so they'll have to campaigning not only against Democrats, but against the historical record.

That record shows income disparity growing over the past thirty years, taking off during the Reagan administration. In the late-1960s, the middle class shrunk as more Americans moved into the upper brackets. Since 2000, the year of George W. Bush's election, this has been reversed - with fewer Americans leaving the middle-class to become rich and more falling in the opposite direction.

When President Obama came to office to lead the nation into recovery, he had to contend with Republicans in Congress determined to stop him. They tried to kill the $780 billion stimulus, though the record shows job growth taking off in January 2010 - the month the

They wanted to "let Detroit go bankrupt", in the words of Mitt Romney. They branded any attempt to rescue Chrysler and GM as "socialism" and Obama's "war on capitalism". The industry today employs 500,000 more workers than it did five years ago.

Republicans warned the Federal Reserve's "quantitative easing" policies would lead to debasing the dollar" and an "inflation holocaust". It didn't happen - both interest rates and inflation remained negligible. Wrong again.

As the economy picked up steam, they did all they could to destroy it in the summer of 2011 by threatening to have our country renege on its debts. As former Bush Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill put it, "They're really putting our whole society at risk by threatening to round up 50 percent of the members of the Congress, who are loony, who would put our credit at risk.'

The record shows that under President Obama, steadfastly opposed by Republicans, we've had 58 straight months of job growth - the longest in our history, with manufacturing leading the way. The fall in unemployment last year was the largest drop in thirty years. The 5% growth rate in the economy reported for third-quarter 2014 was the largest in a dozen years. The deficit's been reduced by two-thirds since Obama took office – the fastest drop since the end of

The focus is on the middle class in President Obama's 2016 budget proposal. Millions of Americans would be put to work rebuilding our infrastructure; roads, bridges, ports, broadband, etc. (By contrast, the Keystone XL pipeline would directly result in an estimated total of 35 to 50 permanent full-time jobs.)

Education is emphasized through universal pre-school, teacher training, tuition-free community college, simplified Pell grants and career-specific job training. Working families get a boost though additional tax credits for dual-income households and child care. It'll be made easier and less costly to save for retirement. Funding is made available to help homegrown start-ups, assist veterans in transitioning to the workplace and restoring sequestration cuts to research and development. Steps are taken to encourage some of that $2 trillion in corporate profits held offshore to be returned home. In a reversal, the incentive would now be to create jobs at home - not to ship

Republicans still insist that money going to the top will eventually "trickle down", but the record shows the rich increasingly hoarding their cash in deposit accounts and money markets. A Bank of America survey shows that among those 56% of millionaires with "substantial cash", only 16% plan to invest any in the next couple months, and only 40% in the next two years.

In the opening quote, Sen. Sanders referred to an economy that's 70% consumer-driven, that relies on those "millions of Americans" having money to go out and buy things. But as to Republicans' professed concern for the middle class and income inequality, I don't think anybody, regardless of income, is going to buy it.

A TERRIBLE LEGACY

actually eclipsing that of, English Prime Minister Chamberlain as he allowed Europe to degenerate into World War II. This week ISIS brutally murdered a captured Jordanian pilot by burning him alive. Almost as ghastly as the actual execution is the fact, evidenced on video, that this young man seemed to almost casually saunter to the cage in which he would be locked and then set aflame. Can anyone imagine willingly walking to, and accepting without struggle, such a cruel death? Walking past armed ISIS soldiers, would not an attempt to flee or to fight have been more normal? Yes, such action would have ultimately resulted in death, but very likely the fairly quick painless death of automatic rifle fire. Is it not obvious to everyone that this Jordanian pilot must have been terribly tortured beforehand to motivate him to actively participate in his own

From this, and the immediate aftermath, we must draw two additional conclusions. First, it is an inescapable reality that ISIS represents a level of evil that must be destroyed, just as the Nazis had to be destroyed. There is no way to negotiate with such people. Second, the world is not yet taking this threat seriously, the fault for which lies squarely on the shoulders of the current resident of 1600 Pennsylvania

The manpower and weaponry available to the armies of the western powers, or even several of the Arab states, dwarf that of ISIS. With nothing greater than 50,000 soldiers, using only captured munitions and huddled in ramshackle towns in Syria and Iraq, ISIS would not stand a chance against the west's arsenal and armies, if they were mobilized and tasked with destroying these barbarians. But the west is not serious about defeating ISIS because the west lacks a leader to galvanize such commitment and to effectively lead such a mission.

All eyes are on Barak Obama; leadership and strategy are needed, and yet all we get is "leading from behind" and confessions that "we don't have a strategy yet". Because of that, an ISIS state, a nuclear Iran, and hundreds of thousands more dead will be the legacy of Barak Obama. As gifted as he may be in playing domestic politics, he is equally inept on the world stage. He does not understand that a great world power is always needed to keep the peace and that a great world power leads in front with a well-considered and vetted strategy. He does not understand these things because he does not believe that America should be a world power. He is a man of the left, still so angry at his perceptions of America's past sins that he is convinced America is morally unfit to lead in any part of the world, and so he does not strive to lead.

Instead, he pretends that Iran can be made to act reasonably, used as a proxy to keep a just peace in the Middle East and bribed into keeping its burgeoning nuclear weapons capability out of the hands of terrorists. These are the dreams of the unhinged, not the calculations of the wise. Barak Obama sees the world as he wants the world to be. He neither understands nor values the lessons of history. It is those lessons of history which tells us that rabid revolutionary regimes, such as Iran and ISIS today and Nazism and communism before, will not practice self-restraint. They are founded on deep faith in an exclusive understanding of moral supremacy. How can we expect them to compromise? How do you compromise what you believe Allah demands? How do you compromise the integrity of the German master race? How do you compromise the creation of a perfect Marxist man? The answer is, you don't. For those who are animated by such all-consuming and exclusive faiths, they must either conquer or be conquered. They see no honor in compromise.

ISIS will take more territory, capture more innocents and kill more brutally until it is vanquished. Iran will pursue and then use an atomic weapon unless its nuclear program is destroyed. Barak Obama's legacy will be built in these two arenas. If he rises to the level of authentic world leadership and directs a true coalition of forces to destroy ISIS and force Iran to abandon its program, Obama's legacy would arguably be among the greatest of modern presidents. Such a legacy would rival FDR's and Reagan's and perhaps even rise to Lincoln's level. If he continues to dither, lecture and compromise, Obama's legacy will fall to the other extreme. Becoming the worst president the United States has ever had would be sad. Allowing events to spiral ever more out of control to the point where thousands more will have to die to make it right would be a tragedy, terrible beyond any contemporary standard. One way or the other, Barak Obama will have his legacy.
