REMEMBRANCE... JON ZENN INSKEEP

Jon Zenn Inskeep passed away at the Villa Gardens in Pasadena on February 15, 2015. Beloved husband, father, grandfather, and friend he will be intensely missed. He lived, until his last month, an active and driven lifestyle.

Jon was born on March 23, 1933 and raised in Pennsylvania by his parents, Alonzo and Dorothy Inskeep. He graduated from McKeesport High School where he met the love of his life, Susan Adams. After attending Yale University and graduating with a degree in Electrical Engineering in 1954 he decided that he wanted to move to California to live near the beach; so away he went. Once in California he convinced Susan to move across the country and marry him. They started a life together that would include 60 years of loving marriage.

Jon Zenn Inskeep Jon Zenn Inskeep In the mid-1960's Jon discovered his passion for mountaineering. He climbed all the highest peaks in the western United States as well as major peaks in Mexico, Europe, and Africa (Denali, The Grand Teton, Kilimanjaro, and the Matterhorn to name a few). By including his children in his passion, he was climbing peaks with them all over the American southwest and beyond. He was also a founding member of the California Mountaineering Club, was involved in organizing and leading climbs, and held leadership positions within the Sierra Club's climbing groups in Southern California.

His love of mountaineering also led to more than twenty years of involvement with the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team. His knowledge and expertise helped save the lives of hundreds of stranded and lost people. He participated in operations all over the southwest as well as in Mexico and Hawaii and made lifelong friends with the other members of his team.

After his retirement Jon and Susan enjoyed traveling throughout the U.S. and around the world. Whether in Europe, Australia, Africa, or cruising down the Mississippi River on the Delta Queen (one of their favorites) they always came back with great pictures and stories. "Grumps", as he was affectionately called by his grandchildren, included his children and grandchildren on some of these adventures and took the family cruising on trips through the Panama Canal and the Inland Passage of Alaska. He revealed in the beauty of the world and did his best to share this appreciation with those that he loved.

Jon is survived by his wife Susan, his children and their spouses - Mike and Geri, Wendy and Doug, Jon and Chuchay, and Dan and Becky, his grandchildren - Helena and Caleb, Patrick and Alicia, Jon, Reid and Erin, his step-mother Prisilla and half-sisters – Eppie and Meg, and his many close friends in the climbing community. His passing will leave a hole in all of our hearts, the type that can only be left by the loss of such a magnanimous man.

In lieu of flowers please send a donation to the Villa Gardens Employee Fund for their kind and loving support of both Jon and his wife Susan.

CANDIDATES DISCUSS QUALIFICATIONS, VISION AT FORUM

On Tuesday, at the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club, PUSD Board Candidates Larry Torres and Sandra Siraganian attended a political forum where they discussed their qualifications and reasons for running for office. Moderated by Former Mayor Clem Bartolai, they also responded to questions from the audience.

The forum was held in an effort to help voters make an informed decision when they go to the polls on March 10th. On that date, voters will have the opportunity to vote on a district specific representative for the Pasadena Unified School District Board. The newly created District 6, for which residents have waited two years to vote on representation, encompasses all of Sierra Madre and a rather unusually shaped boundary that in some parts goes as far south as Duarte Road.

Voters in the PUSD area which includes Pasadena, Altadena, Sierra Madre and some unincorporated areas, elect seven Board of Education members by geographic area to serve four-year terms. High school students elect a non-voting student representative who sits on the Board. The duties of the Board include adopting the annual budget, approving all expenditures, establishing district policy, authorizing employment of personnel, approving textbooks and courses of study, and member of that Board, especially the representative of District 6 will have an impact on the lives of every resident of Sierra Madre, whether or not they have children enrolled in the District.

Sierra Madre has two public schools, Sierra Madre Elementary and Sierra Madre Middle School. The elementary school recently underwent extensive Measure TT improvements and the Middle School is operating in portables while a brand new school is being erected. And, although they are located within the city limits of Sierra Madre, the facilities belong to the Pasadena Unified School District. As a result, decisions on all aspects of their use and the impact of such are made by the Board of Recent changes in representation on the Board has paved the way for Trustees to have a clear area of responsibility. Each Trustee will be representing their individual districts and are expected to bring the concerns of the communities they represent to the table.

The Sierra Madre Trustee will have the responsibility of making certain that decisions made by the Board do not have an adverse impact on life in Sierra Madre as it currently exists. The newly elected Trustee will be expected to advocate for policies that will continue to bring resources to the two schools to help them maintain their current No. 1 status within the District. Both schools are also in the top ranking among public

And, most importantly to residents who have no ties to the district, the quality of the schools in Sierra Madre have a direct impact on the values of property in Sierra Madre.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

Sierra Madre-

"Small pleasures, small pleasures, who would deny

If you're familiar with the musical, "Oliver!" (music and lyrics by Lionel Bart, based on the Charles Dickens story) you'll remember that "Small Pleasures" is sung by Nancy, a lady of the London street, who befriends Fagin, the Artful Dodger and little Oliver. Nancy, a lovely person with a big heart, a great red dress and one of the best songs in the show, loves a really horrible guy, Bill Sykes, who is a violent thug. The song goes on with "gin toddies, large measures, no skimpin' if you please..." which doesn't really fit with the small pleasures I'm talking about. But, hey, it's a great musical and I wouldn't What's that got to do with walking Sierra Madre? Well, a tenuous bit. It was running through my mind this morning as we were walking, my Trail-hiking walking buddy, John, and I up Baldwin to Carter and over to Grove. The flowering plums or cherries or whatever they are, are blooming with abandon up there and after the rain earlier this week, everybody's yard is clean, green, and lovely. Ours is, too, with the purple flowering potato trees at our front gate doing their best to grow together and totally block the path. Hawthorne is blooming and I couldn't resist putting in a bragging photo of our volunteer tomatoes. I even gave them some been hoarding are all out on the azaleas and some weeds even got pulled.

OK, here comes the small pleasures part. The sun is shining, it's warm and peaceful and I took time to cut back six of our roses, without stabbing myself once. I finally pruned off the outrageously tall succulents from the pots on our porch and created a new garden in the last one that needed created a new garden in the last o planting. walking past for weeks finally got cleaned today. The baby gift that needed wrapping for the shower this coming Saturday isn't sitting on the kitchen floor in a Carter's bag anymore and the package I sent to my Texas girls, containing a purple unicorn for Emily and a Frozen pop-up game for Jessie arrived today, just in time, as they were having their second snow day and the mommy was one knot away from the end of her rope. See? Small pleasures!

Another small pleasure is seeing friends and family on Facebook who are involved in Daddy-Daughter dances. We treasure the pictures of the Texas mommy, our daughter, Crissy, and her Dad at the Daddy-Daughter dances at Alverno. Now Crissy is posting pictures of her daughter, Jessie, who is seven and her daddy, Chris, dressed for their Daddy-Daughter dance. Yep, small pleasures.

"Miss Jessie and her Daddy talked and laughed till almost eight.

Sierra Madre Police Blotter

During the week of Sunday, February 15th, to Department responded to approximately 267 calls for service.

Wednesday, February 18th

At 9:32 am, Sierra Madre Police responded to the location of 200 N. Michillinda Ave. regarding stolen gardening equipment. Upon arrival, Officers were informed by the victim that he was informed by one of his friends that a compartment to his work truck that he parks at the location, was open. Upon arriving at the location and inspecting his truck, the victim noticed several pieces of equipment were missing, totaling at about $2,800. The victim informed Officers that he typically leaves the vehicle keys hidden on the vehicle, and believes they were used to access the compartment as there were truck, the victim inspected his work van parked Attorney's Officer. within the same location and discovered several more items were missing totaling over $1,500. The victim believes the items were stolen by an employee, who had stolen gasoline from him in the past. The employee had knowledge of where the keys are left and what equipment was valued the most. The victim attempted to contact the employee after he failed to show to work that morning and discovered the phone number had been disconnected. A background history revealed the employee had an extensive criminal history, including burglary. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

At 11:48 am, Sierra Madre Police responded Sunday, February 22nd, the Sierra Madre Police to the 400 Block of Foothill Ave. regarding a theft of a package after dispatch was informed by the victim that a young Hispanic male just stole a package from her porch. The victim witnessed the suspect get into a dark colored sedan and provided a partial license plate to responding Officers. As Officers performed a search of the area and located the vehicle with an older male Hispanic. While conducting the investigation, Officers were flagged down by a passerby who witnessed the vehicle park a short distance away and saw a young Hispanic male leave from the passenger side. A short time later the suspect was located and brought into custody. Upon searching the vehicle, Officers located the stolen package, various other items that may have been stolen in previous incidents, and burglary tools. This case has no signs of forced entry. After inspecting the been forwarded to the Pasadena District

Saturday, February 21st

At 7:09 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 40 Block of Windsor Lane regarding a vandalism report. The victim informed Officers that at around 7 pm, she heard the sound of someone pounding on the door twice. Afraid to approach the door, the victim was unable to see any possible suspects. Several minutes later, the victim realized that the window pane from the front door had been cracked. The estimated cost in damage was set at $500. This case has been forwarded to the Detectives Bureau.

OUR KIDS AND COMMUNITY FIRST:

LARRY TORRES FOR DISTRICT 6

There is one thing that every registered voter is Sierra Madre needs to do on March 10th - VOTE! Whether you have children or not, your voice is important in this, and every election.

Although this is an election for a seat on the Pasadena Unified School District Board, and although you may be thinking that because you don't have kids in the district you don't need to participate, such thinking is flawed. Your vote is still very important.

As indicated earlier in this edition, having good representation on the Board is a voice that will help us maintain our way of life in Sierra Madre. And when we choose who that voice is, we need to make that decision based upon whom you think is best qualified to do so. In my opinion, we need a representative that can articulate our concerns, has a demonstrated passion supporting public education, has proven leadership skills, understands the intricacies of large organizations and how they work, and has the ability to negotiate with others in order to accomplish their goals. And above all, they cannot be petty and indifferent. They also need to have a clear vision of how to accomplish those things.

Last week, when the two candidates attended a Kiwanis forum the candidate that displayed the qualities listed above became very apparent. Larry Torres, spoke like a man with a very serious commitment to our children and our community. "Schools are the centerpieces of our community" he said, "I want every child to be successful and have a clear path after High School. I want every child to know that what they do matters and what is good about them matters". Torres who is an educator by profession responded to questions with clarity and conviction. He has been an educator for almost 30 years and very involved with public schools as a teacher, a parent and community member. He is a National Board Certified Teacher—The highest level of education certification in the country, held by less than 3% of

Larry has a long list of endorsements including (partial listing), Bill Bogaard, Pasadena City Mayor, Carole Liu, State Senator from the 25th district*, Mikala Rahn, Current PUSD Board Member, Chris Holden State Assembly 41st District, John Harabedian, Mayor of Sierra Madre, John Buchanan, Former Mayor of Sierra Madre, Bart Doyle, Former Mayor of Sierra Madre, Rob Stockly, Former Mayor of Sierra Madre, Tonja Torres, Former Member of Sierra Madre City Council, Tom Selinske, Current PUSD School Board Member as an individual, Ty Gaffney, Former Principal of Sierra Madre Elementary School, Gayle Bluemel, Retired Principal of Sierra Madre Elementary School, United Teachers of Pasadena, Armenian National Committee of America (ANCA), Pasadena Star News, San Gabriel Valley Tribune, SierraMadreNews.Net, Pasadena/Foothills Association of REALTORS and now the MOUNTAIN VIEWS NEWS ENDORSES LARRY TORRES FOR PUSD DISTRICT 6.

Larry's opponent, Realtor Sandra Siraganian known by many in Sierra Madre for her early association with Greg Galetly, the original developer of 1 Carter after the Maranatha project failed, identified herself during the forum as qualified to serve on the board because she was, "A Mother, Classroom Volunteer, Donor and PTA Board Member at Don Benito". While those things are admirable, given the level of responsibility required to effectively serve on the PUSD board, in my opinion it just is not enough. Larry will not need a learning curve to get started. He is well prepared. (Go to his website at http://www.torresforschoolboard.org/ for his complete bio.)

Further, Larry has not stooped to the trash and burn political tactics of his opponent. In one mailer I received Siraganian points out the fact that the school Larry teaches at has a very low performance level. She failed to mention that the school is an alternative school that attempts to provide a good education to children with a myriad of problems, some behavioral, some emotional and some physical. The school exists because the children attending are having difficulties and it takes very special and committed teachers to try to help these children. That half truth in and of itself made my decision for me.

To see and hear the two candidates and their responses in the forum for yourself, go to www.villagevine.

So, as the product of public schools, as the mother of successful children who are all also products of public schools, and as the grandmother of students in public schools, and as a resident of Sierra Madre who wants to keep our schools the most desirable in the district, I beg you, on Tuesday, March 10th, please take the time to vote for a responsible, committed educator, Larry Torres.

YOUR VOTE WILL MAKE A DIFFERENCE. TORRES FOR PUSD DISTRICT 6

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

The City of Sierra Madre

MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 15-02 (MCTA 15-02) Applicant: Project Location: City of Sierra Madre

Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California

The City of Sierra Madre gives notice, pursuant to State of California law, that the City Council will conduct a public hearing to consider an Ordinance amending Title 15, the Building and Construction Codes, and Title 17, the Zoning Code

The following chapters of the Municipal Code are proposed to be amended: Chapter 15-04 ("Building Code and Permits), to revise the demolition permit requirements; Chapter 17.60 ("Variances and Conditional Use Permits") by adding new section 17.60.056 ("discretionary Demolition Permit"), and amending Chapter 17.82 ("Historic Preservation"), Section 17.82.090 ("Certificate of Appropriateness") to add additional requirements for the demolition of historic landmarks.

DATE AND TIME OF HEARING

PLACE OF HEARING

City of Sierra Madre City Council meeting Tuesday, March 10, 2015 (Hearing begins at 6:30 p.m.) City of Sierra Madre City Council Chambers 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Sierra Madre, CA

All interested persons may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with respect thereto. ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION: The project qualifies for an exemption from the California Environmental Quality Act review pursuant to Title 14, Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations as it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance may have a significant effect on the environment, because it will impose greater limitations on development in the City and protect the aesthetic character of Sierra Madre, thereby serving to reduce potential significant adverse environmental impacts.

APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing. ORDINANCE NO. 1361

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE AMENDING CHAPTER 15 – BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION, ARTICLE 15.20 CALIFORNIA PLUMBING CODE OF THE SIERRA MADRE MUNICIPAL CODE TO ADD A NEW SECTION

WHEREAS, the State of California has experienced a historic drought and the City of Sierra Madre has experienced a shortage of water; and WHEREAS, the City has identified over two dozen policies that can help conserve water resources in the City; and WHEREAS, the California Plumbing Code Chapter 16A, which Sierra Madre has adopted, provides requirements for the installation of graywater re-use systems in residential development; and WHEREAS, graywater is a valuable resource as it makes "double use" of water that otherwise goes down the drain and into the sewer system; and WHEREAS, the installation of stub-outs at the time of construction greatly facilitates the use of gray water in residences; and WHEREAS, the installation of a stub-out during the construction phase is significantly less expensive than retrofitting an existing system at a later date; THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. This ordinance shall be known and referred to as the "Residential Graywater Ordinance. SECTION 2. The Sierra Madre Municipal Code, Chapter 15 Building and Construction, Article 15.20 California Plumbing Code, is hereby amended by adopting a new Section 15.020.080 - Graywater Systems, as set forth in "Attachment A" to this ordinance incorporated here as if fully set forth herein.

SECTION 3. The Director of Planning and Community Preservation is authorized to adopt appropriate rules, regulations and development standards necessary to implement the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 4. The provisions of this ordinance may be modified or waived when it can be satisfactorily demonstrated to the Building Official that compliance with these regulations is impractical due to construction or other physical constraints and an acceptable alternative method of compliance that allows gray water usage is proposed. SECTION 5. The provisions of Sections 1 through 4 of this ordinance shall apply to construction of new single-family dwelling units and multi-family residential developments built pursuant to permits issued after January 1, 2015.

SECTION 6. The various City officers and employees are authorized and directed to perform all acts necessary or desirable to give effect to this ordinance, including but not limited to, providing an instructional pamphlet setting forth in plain language

SECTION 7. If any of the provisions of this ordinance or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is invalid, the invalidity shall not affect other provisions of this ordinance which may give effect with the invalid provision or circumstance, and to the end the provisions of this ordinance are severable.

NOW THEREFORE, the City Council does ordain as follows: Section 1. Municipal Code Amendment. Chapter 15 Building and Construction, Article 15.20 California Plumbing Code, is hereby amended by adopting a new Section 15.020.080 – Graywater Systems, as set forth in "Exhibit A.

Section 2. Effective Date. This Ordinance shall take effect thirty days after its passage and adoption pursuant to California Government Code section 36937 Section 3. Certification. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published according to law.

PASSED, APPROVED AND ADOPTED, this 27th day of January, 2015.

I, NANCY SHOLLENBERGER, CITY CLERK of the City of Sierra Madre, do hereby certify that Ordinance No. 1361 was introduced at the regular meeting of the City Council on the 27th day of January, 2015, and was thereafter adopted and passed at the regular meeting of the City Council held on the 10th day of February, 2015, by the following votes:

AYES: Mayor John Harabedian, Mayor Pro Tem John Capoccia, Council Members Rachelle Arizmendi, Denise Delmar, and Gene Goss

EXHIBIT A.

Graywater Systems 304.2.1

All new single-family dwelling units and multiple-family residential projects shall include either a separate multiple pipe outlet or a diverter valve, and outside "stub-out" installation on clothes washing machine hook-ups, to allow separate discharge of graywater for direct irrigation.

All new single-family dwelling units and multiple-family residential projects shall include a building drain or drains for lavatories, showers, and bathtubs, segregated from drains for all other plumbing fixtures, and connected a minimum of three (3) feet from the limits of the foundation, to allow for future installation of a distributed graywater system.

All graywater systems shall be designed and operated according to the provisions of the applicable permit authorized by California Plumbing Code Title 24, Part 5, Chapter 16.

ORDINANCE NO. 1362-U

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA EXTENDING AN INTERIM MORATORIUM ORDINANCE PURSUANT TO GOVERNMENT CODE SECTION 65858 ON THE DEMOLITION, IN PART OR IN WHOLE, OF SINGLE-FAMILY HOMES AND DUPLEXES CONSTRUCTED PRIOR TO A DESIGNATED DATE AND DECLARING THE URGENCY THEREOF

the City of Sierra Madre, which was incorporated over 107 years ago, is proud of its eclectic mix of residential architectural styles reflected in its existing neighborhoods, predominated by the natural terrain and mountain view, which lend to is character as the "village of the foothills;" and WHEREAS, this existing housing stock—some examples of which have been deemed a historic resource and many of which may be considered potential historic resources—help to create the identify and atmosphere of community, and the City actively encourages historic preservation through the use of Mills Act contracts; and WHEREAS, the historic and potentially historic quality and character of Sierra Madre's neighborhoods directly contributes to a healthy and safe life for residents, who walk, congregate, play and want to live in neighborhoods that have character and history; and WHEREAS, it is estimated that 77% of the existing housing stock within Sierra Madre is 45 years old or older, thus reflecting the community's value in preservation; and WHEREAS, in recognition of this resource, the City Council has authorized the request for proposals for the preparation of a "historic resources survey," by a professional consultant and such historic resources survey is not anticipated to be ready until mid-2015 or early 2016; and WHEREAS, the City is simultaneously updating its General Plan and reviewing its existing zoning and development codes for protection of its resources, including water given the extraordinary drought conditions, and during this period, no new construction or development on property which does not already have existing water service connections is permitted: and WHEREAS, the City has observed a trend in the San Gabriel Valley where developers purchase property and demolish the existing home, regardless of the home's potential historic value, in favor of new construction which, due to its style and lot coverage, does not preserve or reflect the community character and values or its potential historic resources; and

WHEREAS, in 2014, the City of Sierra Madre received applications for 14 demolitions—more than twice the average it has experienced in prior years; and in January 2015, the City has already received four applications to demolish four residential structures, including structures over 100 years old; and

WHEREAS, the City Council intends to review and update the provisions of its development and zoning code to implement new zoning and development requirements and conditions of approval which will enhance protection of its potential and historic resources, such as revisions to Chapter 17.82 regarding historic preservation and Chapter 15.04 regarding building code and permit requirements; and WHEREAS, The dwindling number of potentially historic buildings in the City and the region, and the risk that more potentially historic buildings will be lost, represent a true danger to the health and safety of the community.

If demolition of existing structures which may otherwise be considered potential or actual historic resources is allowed to occur prior to the completion of the historic resources survey and broader review of the development code (including the historic preservation ordinance building code and permit requirements), the loss of these potentially historic resources will be permanent and defeats the purpose of conducting a historic resources survey and intended preservation efforts; and

WHEREAS, these issues constitute a current and immediate threat to the public health, safety, and welfare, within the meaning of Government Code Section 65858; and WHEREAS, Government Code Section 65858, a provision of the State Planning and Zoning Law, authorizes an interim, urgency zoning ordinance to prevent development which may be inconsistent with a plan under development—such as the City's intended survey of historic resources and current update of its General Plan and development and zoning codes to enact regulations which are protective of the City's need to preserve existing housing stock and potential and existing historic resources—pending adoption of that plan.

WHEREAS, on January 27, 2015, the City Council adopted Urgency Ordinance 1360U imposing a forty-five (45) day moratorium on the issuance of any demolition permit, in part or in whole, of any single-family dwelling or duplex which was constructed on or prior to December 31, 1940 on any lot in any zone within the City.

WHEREAS, Ordinance No. 1360U would have expired on it over terms on March 13, 2015; and

WHEREAS, Ordinance No. 1360U would have expired on its own terms on March 13, 2015; and WHEREAS, as directed by the City Council on January 27, 2015, staff has commenced a review of the zoning and development codes to identify possible amendments to the City's Municipal and Zoning Code and to comply with General Plan policies for clear, consistent and uniform regulations related to preservation of potentially significant local historic resources. Staff needs additional time to develop the actual regulations and have the regulations be reviewed by the Planning Commission, where required, prior to considered by the City Council; and

WHEREAS, the City Council has conducted a properly noticed public hearing in accordance with Government Code section 65090 and has duly considered all written and verbal testimony during the hearing; and WHEREAS, the City Council finds that the current and immediate threat to the public health, safety and welfare, as described in the findings herein, and as set forth in Ordinance No. 1360U still exists, and that a moratorium on the issuance of any new demolition permit for the demolition, in part or in whole, of any single-family dwelling or duplex which was constructed on or prior to December 31, 1940 on any lot in any zone within the City shall remain in effect pending completion of the City's study and adoption of amendments to the City's Municipal and Zoning Code. NOW THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE FURTHER FINDS that the adoption of this Ordinance is necessary to protect the public safety, health and welfare by ensuring well-planned development of properties in the City necessary to preserve existing housing stock and potential and existing historic resources and that it should adopt this interim urgency zoning ordinance as authorized by Government Code Section 65858 and

THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Notwithstanding any provision of the Sierra Madre Municipal Code or any other ordinance of the City of Sierra Madre, and except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, no person shall cause the demolition of and no demolition permit or combined building and demolition permit shall be issued for the demolition, in part or in whole, of any single-family dwelling or duplex which was constructed on or prior to December 31, 1940 on any lot in any zone within the City.For purposes of this Ordinance, "demolition" is defined as the destruction and removal, in part or in whole, of the foundation, exterior walls or roof structure, including supporting members of a single-family dwelling or a duplex.

Section 2. The provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance shall not apply to any of the following:

Section 2. The provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance snail riot apply to any or the following.

(a) Demolition of any interior walls of any structure for the purpose of remodel, repair or maintenance, subject to any required permits;

(b) Removal and replacement, subject to any required permits, of exterior windows, doors, roof covering, foundation or exterior siding where the materials used for maintenance and replacement do not alter the appearance, size or character of the existing structure;

(c) Demolition, in whole or in part, where the City Engineer or Building Official or his or her designee makes a written determination that demolition is necessary to immediately abate an imminent hazard to public safety; (d) Demolition of up to 25% or less of a structure built prior to 1940 for the purpose of limited remodeling/addition, when all of the following conditions exist:

(i) the demolition is required for an addition/alteration to the structure;

right-of-way or any public property. the site plan and all required permits for the remodel have been approved by the applicable City reviewing authority.

(e) Any project for which all necessary discretionary approvals have been granted and for which a demolition the addition is permitted at the same time as the required demolition; and neither the demolished portion of the structure nor the addition will be visible from the public permit has been issued by the Building Department before the close of business on the day this Ordinance takes effect:

been deemed complete before the close of business on the day this Ordinance takes effect, when all the following conditions exist: a written historic assessment completed, at the applicant's cost, by a licensed, certified architectural historian selected from a list maintained by the City is provided which concludes that the property proposed to be demolished is not a local historically significant resource.

Section 3. Taking. If a person can demonstrate that the application of this ordinance to his or her property would constitute a taking in violation of the federal or California Constitution or would otherwise be unlawful, an exception to this moratorium can be made pursuant to a variance approved under Section Chapter 17.60 of the Sierra Madre Municipal Code. No variance application shall be required if the Director, in consultation with the City Attorney, determines that an exception to this Ordinance is legally required. In such case, an approval may be granted only if the approving officer or body of the City finds that the exception is legally required.

Section 4. CEQA Finding. The City Council hereby finds that it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance, and establishment of a moratorium hereby, may have a significant effect on the environment, because the moratorium will impose greater limitations on development in the City, and protect the aesthetic character of Sierra Madre, thereby serving to reduce potential significant adverse environmental impacts. The adoption of this ordinance is therefore exempt from California Environmental Quality Act review pursuant to Title 14, Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations.

Section 5.

Severability. Should any provision of this Ordinance, or its application to any person, parcel or circumstance, be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unlawful, unenforceable or otherwise void, that determination shall have no effect on any other provision of this Ordinance or the application of this Ordinance to any other person, parcel or circumstance and, to that end, the provisions hereof are severable.

Section 6. Effective Date. This Ordinance is adopted by a 4/5 vote of the Sierra Madre City Council, shall take effect immediately upon its adoption as provided by Government Code Section 65858, and shall be of no further force at 11:59 p.m. on September 22, 2015, unless extended or terminated by further action of the City

Section 7. Certification. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage and adoption of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published or posted according to law.

PASSED, APPROVED AND ADOPTED, this 24th day of February, 2015 by the following vote: AYES: Mayor John Harabedian, Mayor Pro Tem John Capoccia, Council Members Rachelle Arizmendi, Denise Delmar, and Gene Goss

City Okays $10.8 Million Bridge Renovation

The city council voted unanimously Monday night to move forward with the reconstruction of the La Lorna Road Bridge Project authorizing City Manager Michael Beck to accept a $10,815,000 bid submitted by OHL USA, Inc. for seismic retrofit and rehabilitation of the bridge spanning the Arroyo in West Pasadena.

The bridge, originally constructed in 1914, will be closed for 18 months. Construction is set to start in April and be completed in December 2016.

The project was approved during the city council's regular meaning, as part of the Consent Calendar, with no one from the public wishing to speak.

According to a city council agenda report prepared by Pasadena Department of Public Works Principal Engineer Steve Walker the proposed project will provide "adequate seismic stability for the bridge structure should a maximum credible earthquake occur and to widen each side of the bridge by one foot to meet current American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) design standards," he wrote.

According to Walker, seismic retrofit strategy will strengthen and reinforce the piers, arch ribs, arch struts, spandrel columns, footings, transverse floor beams, and expansion joints, to prevent the bridge form collapsing during a large earthquake.

A geological study in 2000 found the Eagle Rock fault running directly under the bridge. According to wellknown local seismologist Lucy Jones, the northeast dipping thrust fault is active.

City staff said the project could result in 18 new hires, of which, ten haven been indicated as Pasadena residents.

The total budgeted fund for the project is $13,157,842 through the use of local and federal funds. The project is in collaboration with the amorma Department Transportation.

ARCADI

Sierra Madre-Arcadia-Altadena-

VANISHING INSTITUTIONS

From Arcadia's Best By Scott Hettrick

This year has started out with news of the loss of several significant pieces of Arcadia:

the Arcadia Welfare & Thrift Store on First Avenue closed after more than 82 years of operation - the The Jewish Federation of the Greater San Gabriel and Pomona

Valleys headquarters on Second Avenue got pushed out of Arcadia to a new base in Monrovia to make room for more housing on Second

- the City bought and closed the 100-to-1 cocktails bar on Huntington Drive; and then came the biggest blow: the low-profile but large headquarters for Vons is being moved to consolidate in the Albertson's headquarters in Fullerton.

The Vons building off Michilinda Avenue, formerly the May Company store building (it still has the escalator inside), is home to more than 230 employees who will no longer be coming to Arcadia every day, and no longer buying coffee, lunch, and sometimes shopping and buying dinner here.

There is no common thread tying the exodus of these four places all at once, nor the closing late last year of three longtime Downtown Arcadia restaurants, Viva Zapata on First Avenue, Domenico's on Santa Anita Avenue, or The Patio on Huntington Drive. Each situation was dealing with its own unique set of circumstances. For instance, in the case of Vons, parent company Safeway was purchased by Albertson's and the deal was formerly approved by the government last month.

In almost all cases, there will be something new to replace the old, and meanwhile there are plenty of important new projects being built.

Some of the people involved with Zapata Vive opened the much nicer new Mexican restaurant Villa Catrina on Santa Anita Avenue. appropriate for what is happening in Arcadia these days.

Meanwhile, the property owners of Villa Catrina are finalizing an exiciting new major renovation of the building and a modern new restaurant called Rajin Cajun is making plans to open there later this year. As for The Patio, it was taken over by La Luna Negra, the popular Spanish restaurant that had been based in Pasadena on Green Street for 18 years.

A doctor's office will take the place of Arcadia Welfare & Thrift. The 100-to-1 property will either be integrated into the two big new modern Mariott Hotel brand hotels — Fairfield Inn and Residence Inn — proposed to be built on the adjacent property now occupied by Santa Anita Inn, or the city will make it into a pocket park. And a big new medical office campus is well underway across the street from the 100-to-1 building and Santa Anita Inn, just down the road from where another new multi-story medical center was opened last year across the street from Methodist Hospital.

Vons headquarters

Many developers are already bidding tens of millions of dollars on the prime nine-acre Vons property just north of Huntington Drive behind the El Rancho Santa Anita retail center anchored by Ralph's and immediately behind (south of) the Vista Cove senior living center, the latter of which is leasing nearly an acre of that property. Most likely additional housing will replace the venerable Vons building.

And of course Rusnak Arcadia's Mercedes-Benz dealership is expanding with a huge new $30 million state-of-the-art two-story showroom on Santa Anita Avenue.

And this is all in addition to the ongoing quarter-billion dollars of improvements and additions at every schoool building in town. Never has the expression "out with the old, in with the new" been more

ARCADIA POLICE BLOTTER

For the period of Sunday, February 15th, through Saturday, February 21st, the Police Department responded to 1,117 calls for service of which 132 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, February 15:

Just before 4:30 a.m., an officer responded to Springhill Suites, 99 North Second Avenue, regarding a commercial burglary report. Two unknown suspects were seen attempting to pry open a storage room door using a crowbar. Both suspects fled after being confronted by a hotel employee.

One suspect is described as a Hispanic male, 5'6", 18 to 20-years-old, with short black hair and a moustache. The other suspect is a White male, 5'10", 18 to 20-years-old, with brown hair. The investigation is ongoing.

At approximately 10:31 p.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle for a broken windshield at Baldwin Avenue and Huntington Drive. Investigation revealed the driver had a suspended license. The vehicle was impounded for 30 days.

Monday, February 16:

At about 8:40 a.m., an officer attempted to initiate a traffic stop on a vehicle for multiple unsafe lane changes in the area of Huntington Drive and Colorado Place. The driver refused to yield and a pursuit ensued. An officer located the driver and vehicle near the intersection of Larkdale Road and Vista Street, in the City of San Gabriel, with fresh collision damage and false registration tags. The driver admitted to colliding with the center median on Rosemead Boulevard near Duarte Road. The 45-year-old Hispanic male was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

At approximately 6:39 p.m., an officer responded to the 99 Ranch Market parking lot, 1300 South Golden West Avenue, regarding a grand theft report. The victim had entered her vehicle and placed her purse on the front passenger seat when an unknown suspect opened the unlocked passenger door and stole her purse. The suspect fled southbound on Golden West Avenue in a dark colored sedan. The suspect is described as a Hispanic male. The investigation is ongoing.

Tuesday, February 17:

Around 11:18 a.m., an officer was dispatched to Macy's at the Westfield Shoppingtown Santa Anita, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a subject trespassing. Contact was made with a 22-year-old White male and it was determined he was intoxicated and unable to care for himself. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Just after 8:49 p.m., an officer initiated a traffic stop on a vehicle in the area of Foss Avenue and Live Oak Avenue for expired registration. A consensual search of the vehicle revealed a glass smoking pipe under the front passenger's seat. The passenger admitted to having methamphetamine concealed on her person. The 30-year old White female was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking. The driver was released at the scene.

Wednesday, February 18:

Shortly after 2:46 a.m., an officer responded to 24 Hour Fitness, 125 North First Avenue, regarding a vehicle burglary report. An investigation revealed an unknown suspect broke the front passenger door window and fled without being detected. A breathalyzer valued at $1,400 was stolen. The investigation is ongoing.

At about 4:12 p.m., an officer was dispatched to a residence in the 100 block of East Newman Avenue regarding a burglary report. The officer determined an unknown suspect gained entry to the residence by breaking a window and stole an iPad. Neither witnesses nor cameras were located. The investigation is ongoing.

Thursday, February 19:

At approximately 8:11 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop in the area of Baldwin Avenue and Foothill Boulevard for expired registration. The officer discovered the 54-year-old Hispanic male was driving with a suspended license. He was cited and released in the field without incident. The vehicle was released to a licensed driver.

Around 10:15 p.m., officers were dispatched to the 100 block of Lucille Street regarding a robbery report. An investigation revealed the 17-year-old Asian female was walking home when she was confronted by two females, one of which pointed a handgun at her. The suspects stole the victim's cell phone, money and necklace. The victim was also punched in the face causing a laceration near her left eye. The victim declined medical treatment for her injury. The suspects fled eastbound on Lucille in a black vehicle.

Suspect #1 is described as a 20-year-old Hispanic female, 5'04'', medium build with black hair. Suspect #2 is described as a 20-year-old Hispanic female, 5'04", medium build with blonde hair. The investigation is ongoing.

Friday, February 20:

Just after 10:56 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a bicyclist in the 300 block of East Live Oak for riding on the sidewalk. The officer discovered the 23-year-old Hispanic male had an outstanding misdemeanor warrant. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for

At approximately 9:57 p.m., an officer made consensual contact with a subject walking away from a construction site on Camino Real Avenue near Holly Avenue. As the officer engaged the subject in conversation, a male Asian approached him and reported he had just confronted the subject in his garage. An investigation revealed the 43-year-old male Hispanic had entered the partially open garage, but fled once confronted by the victim. The suspect was arrested for residential burglary and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Saturday, February 21:

At approximately 12:17 p.m., an officer responded to a construction site at the Westfield Shoppingtown Santa Anita, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding an attempted commercial burglary report. Several pry marks to the door securing the construction site were located however it could not be determined if entry was made into the location. Surveillance cameras at the location may have recorded the incident. The investigation is ongoing.

At about 6:01 p.m., an officer responded to the area of Las Tunas Drive and Baldwin Avenue regarding a non-injury traffic collision involving two vehicles. An investigation revealed both vehicles were traveling eastbound on Las Tunas Drive with Party-1 following behind Party-2. Party-2 made a right turn into a parking lot and was rear-ended by Party-1. Information was exchanged at the scene.

ALUMNI RETURN TO BOSCO TECH FOR NATIONAL ENGINEERS WEEK

ROSEMEAD, CA. - February 23, 2014 - National Engineers Week is offered practical insights while encouraging the young people to an important event on the campus of Don Bosco Technical Institute (Bosco Tech) because of the school's focus on the science, math engineering and technology (STEM) fields. On Thursday, February 19, alumni who are scientists and engineers returned to the school to talk to current students about the interesting world of engineering and the many exciting and diverse professional opportunities the field offers.

Representing such companies as Boeing, Lockheed Martin and NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, several alumni made presentations ranging from designing the infrastructure for a power station to sending instructions to the Mars Rover. Students were able to sit in on the presentations of their choice and ask questions of the speakers about their companies and positions.

"We're proud of the professional accomplishments of our alumni," said Bosco Tech Principal Xavier Jimenez. "And their willingness to one of several applied science and engineering fields. Visit www. share what they've learned with current students is invaluable. They boscotech.edu for more information.

apply themselves and dream big!

"It was another great opportunity that Bosco Tech offers students," said Bosco Tech senior Aidan Calvet, who plans to study materials engineering at the university level this coming fall. "It gave us all a chance to see where we're heading and the many different routes we can take to get there. It reinforces that you can end up where you want to be professionally."

With a 100 percent college acceptance rate, about 64 percent of Bosco Tech graduates pursue STEM-related majors in their university studies. Celebrating its sixtieth year, Bosco Tech is an all-male Catholic high school that combines a rigorous college-preparatory program with a technology-focused education. The innovative curriculum allows students to exceed university admission requirements while completing extensive integrated coursework in

PASADENA UNIFIED CELEBRATES NATIONAL ARTS EDUCATION MONTH

Visual and Performing Arts to be Showcased from Across the School District in March

Unified School District (PUSD) will be highlighting student creativity all month long. The festivities kick off with the opening of the No Boundaries 10 student art exhibition and will also include All-District Elementary and Secondary Music Festivals and PUSD's participation in ArtNight Pasadena. All events are free and open to the public.

No Boundaries is the districtwide exhibition of student visual and performing art in PUSD. Celebrating its tenth anniversary, the exhibit features more than 400 pieces of two and three dimensional student artwork representing every school in the district. The title "No Boundaries" refers to the exhibit's objective of showcasing student artwork without limits to the size or media used as well as the unlimited creative potential of students in PUSD.

The exhibition will be held at 345 S. Lake Avenue, in The Shops on Lake. The opening reception for No Boundaries takes place Friday, February 27 from 6 p.m.- 9 pm with live student performances and appearances

PUSD is also an official partner of ArtNight Pasadena, which takes place Friday, March 13. No Boundaries will be a shuttle stop during ArtNight and student and faculty performances will be offered throughout the Music programs will also be trumpeted in March and April. The PUSD All-District Secondary Music Festivals will be held on March 5th (Choral) and March 6th (Band & Orchestra). These festivals will bring together over 1000 students in bands, orchestras and choirs from schools across the district. Guest conductors from Pasadena City College, Azusa Pacific University and Pasadena Symphony as well as PUSD staff will conduct the performances. The music festivals will take place at Pasadena High School, with the Choral Festival beginning at 7 p.m. on March 5th, and the Band & Orchestra Festival beginning at 6:30 p.m. on March 6th.

Not to be outdone, PUSD's younger students will participate in the All-District Elementary Music Festival Thursday, April 2nd at 6:30 p.m. at

In celebration of National Arts Education Month in March, the Pasadena Wilson Middle School. THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show THE SPONGEBOB MOVIE: SPONGE OUT OF WATER REVIEW

The first SpongeBob movie did not feel like a typical episode of the show or even one of the TV specials. The plot had more to it, new characters, new locations, and new jokes. Those aspects were what set the SpongeBob movie apart from the TV show and made it feel worthy of being a movie. However, after seeing the trailer for the sequel, I did not get a sense of the same grandeur of the first film.

The daily routine of the Krusty Krab is interrupted when Plankton (Tom Kenny) attacks with one of his strongest weapons yet. However, as the fight reaches the turning point, the Krabby Patty formula, which Plankton has fought so long for, disappears and everyone in Bikini Bottom is left wondering where it went. SpongeBob (Tom Kenny) and his friends must embark on a strange journey to find out where exactly the formula ended up.

'Sponge Out of Water', while visually appealing and having much more time put into it than a regular episode, relies on the simplistic formula the writers have created. The movie feels like an episode that someone decided deserved more screen time and got turned into a movie. The clever humor and great interactions between the characters is still there, yet it does not feel complex enough to be a movie. The kids will be entertained but the adults will be left to wonder why they left their home to go see a SpongeBob episode in a movie theater.

FOOD AND DRINK

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

We jump up in class a bit this week, staying in California and opening the dark reds as we travel to Paso Robles. Why Paso Robles? Benefitting from the perfect climate for producing award-winning premium wines, Paso Robles wine country is located in California between Los Angeles and San Francisco, and is home to more than 200 wineries, mostly comprised of boutique and small family-owned vineyards and wineries. Speaking of award wining wines from Paso Robles, this past week I enjoyed the San Simeon 2010 Cabernet Sauvignon. This Paso Robles stand-out is aged for at least 18 months in French oak barrels leading to structured tannins,* and provides texture and depth with a lengthy somewhat spicy finish.

Winemaker Anthony Riboli tells me that this wine is one of his favorites when he is home with his family enjoying dinner. He went on to say "as a fourth generation winemaker, I really want every consumer to taste the quality and care that our family imparts into every bottle of San Simeon Cabernet Sauvignon. From estate vineyards to artisan winemaking, we want the consumer to feel part of our family... to feel special." Thanks Anthony! With St Patrick's Day fast approaching this reviewer would suggest a KerryGold Swiss Cheese maybe a sweet cheddar!

Tannins.... The Dills Definition: Tannin is the textural element that makes the wine taste dry, though I use the word often to describe how is feels on my tongue, thus dry, sandy, bitter etc...

Dills Score

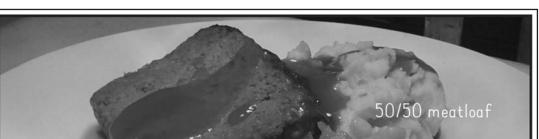

Each week I will give you my Dills Score. Starting with a base of 50 points, I have added 8 points for color, 8 points for aroma or "nose", 8 points for taste, 8 points for finish, and 8 points for my overall impression, which includes my value rating.

INGREDIENTS

1box Pillsbury™ refrigerated pie crusts, softened as directed on box

1/3cup butter or margarine

1/3cup chopped onion 1/3cup all-purpose flour

1/2teaspoon salt

1/4teaspoon pepper

1 3/4cups Progresso™ chicken broth (from 32-oz carton)

1/2cup milk 2 1/2cups shredded cooked chicken or turkey 2 cups Green Giant™ Steamers™ frozen mixed vegetables, thawed

Heat oven to 425°F. Make pie crusts as directed on box for Two-Crust Pie using 9-inch glass pie pan.

In 2-quart saucepan, melt butter over medium heat. Add onion; cook 2 minutes, stirring frequently, until tender. Stir in flour, salt and pepper until well blended. Gradually stir in broth and milk, cooking and stirring until bubbly and thickened.

Stir in chicken and mixed vegetables. Remove from heat. Spoon chicken mixture into crust-lined pan. Top with second crust; seal edge and flute. Cut slits in several places in top crust.

Bake 30 to 40 minutes or until crust is golden brown. During last 15 to 20 minutes of baking, cover crust edge with strips of foil to prevent excessive browning. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

I never cease to be amazed by the endless variety of personalities I come across in my daily walk of life. Think about it...With every person you meet on the street, comes a totally unique personality! No two are exactly the same. In college I took every psychology class they had to offer, and what I learned is that I truly enjoy studying human behavior. Maybe that's why I tend to pay such close attention to people in public; the manner in interact truly intrigues me. Perhaps one of my own what makes other people tick.

At the time when I was taking all those psychology classes, my intention was to pursue a career in social work. But as fate would have it, my life took a different path. Regardless of the career I ultimately pursued (which happens to have been construction management), I can honestly say my psychology coursework by no means went to waste. Not only do I enjoy learning from the behavior of my fellow humans, but I get a real kick out of analyzing the actions of my furry, four-legged friends as well. I find it so stimulating to sit and ponder the potential reasons why individuals do what they do.

Many psychology professionals who started out studying humans, later turned their focus toward the psychology of other species. Several have shared the results of their research in various articles and books and I must say those are among my most treasured readings. These days, more than ever, I endeavor to learn as much as I can about my canine companions. The more I understand why they do what they do, the better chances I have of connecting with them. We have all heard the saying, "Ignorance is bliss", but when it comes to interpersonal relationships, I think we can agree that that cliché does not apply. The less ignorance we have about another being, the more likely we are to empathize and get along with them.

Among my many four-footed friends, there is one pup who has had a particularly positive impact on me. Please don't get me wrong. I love them all, but the one who is the subject of this Happy Tail has captured my heart in a very special way. There is just something about Zola that can always make my day. She has such a big heart and a uniquely kind, calming spirit that she share with me abundantly. If I am having a tough day, feeling tense or edgy when I arrive to take her for a walk, I find myself completely at ease by the time I leave. Who doesn't want to tap in on that temperate trait?

Zola is a 110-pound, 6 1/2-year-old Great Pyrenees with a beautiful, bountifully thick snowwhite coat and big dark brown eyes highlighted with lush lashes and natural permanent black eye-liner. Indeed, she is a sight to see, but the thing I love most about Zola is that, in spite of her enormous stature she exudes total serenity to all whom she comes in contact with. I'm just saying, that gorgeous girl is the ultimate gentle giant! She is so large, most people who meet her say she looks like a bear! Given the potential damage she could do with those daunting teeth of hers, and with the way I have seen her move so swiftly when she plays, it says a lot of good about her personality to watch her interact so peacefully with other dogs and people when we are out and about.

I don't typically compare my canine companions one to another, but I don't mind comparing Zola to one of my own precious pets. As you can imagine, my dogs are like my children and I give them all the due respect they deserve, so I wouldn't want what I am about to say to be taken in the wrong way.

My bloodhound, Tater (God rest her soul) was a major part of my life and I miss her dearly. I still have a tough time talking about her which they express themselves, and the way they without getting a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes. I think Tater had a wonderful personality. She personality traits is a strong drive to figure out had a great sense of humor and showed me loads of love and affection. However, Tater could be very unpredictable when it came to interacting with others. I did everything I could to teach her better manners. I wanted her to be a more agreeable, predictable character so she could socialize openly in public, but it simply wasn't meant to be. Just when I thought it was OK to allow her the leash length to get closer to a stranger, she would often surprise us all with a sudden snap or growl. To this day, I don't know why she behaved that way. Some say it has to do with in-breeding, but I don't know

> So, in comparing Zola to Tater, there were several similarities, physically speaking. As far as size and weight are concerned, they were nearly exact. Tater even had big brown eyes like Zola dies. However, similarities ended with regard to social behavior. Zola is very predictable when we meet and greet others on the street. Whereas, Tater could not be trusted with stranger, human or canine without being closely monitored and held tightly tethered. Interestingly enough, however, Tater was always gentle with kittens. Who knows why, but one thing is for sure; It's all about personality. Just like we humans, canines are individuals, each possessing their own behavioral tendencies, and the bottom line is, Zola seems to possess the inherent desire to calm the spirit of others, and that is a true blessing!

> I never have to worry about whether Zola will go after someone who happens to be passing by. She approaches slowly and humbly, offering a soft floppy ear or her forehead for a quick pet or pat. I am sure that if Zola sensed danger, she would react appropriately by avoiding contact, and I think that is a desirable trait in a dog. We humans are not able to sense invisible danger the way a canine can. But it is equally important for a dog to socialize comfortably in the absence of danger and Zola is the epitome of that personality type. It seems her desire is simply to love and be loved. She doesn't let her insecurities (as if she had any) get in the way of having a good time. She makes it fun for everyone to be around her, and I am so pleased to know her. I can't help attributing some of Zola's sweet spirit to the unconditional love she receives from her human, Lisa Gamber. But her personality most definitely plays a big part in her having such a kind

> We all need to learn how to focus more on the good traits we observe in others, both human and canine, and in my opinion there is no better teacher than a gentle, giant, kind and loving dog like Zola, who teaches lessons through her own example. She has taught me so much about the art of relaxing, socializing, enjoying the moment and stopping to smell the roses. Thank you, Miss Zola, you beautiful gentle giant, for just being yourself. I hope I can learn to be more like you some day.

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND??

To share your life with? Muffin is a beautiful miniature pinscher mix, estimated to be about 4 years old, weighing around 15 pounds. Muffin has a sleek, short black coat with brown highlights. Her grooming requirements are quite simple - just an occasional bath and brushing will keep her looking and feeling her best.

Muffin was surrendered to the shelter by an owner who was no longer able to care for her. When she first arrived, Muffin seemed lost and confused, and was shy and insecure in her first interactions with staff and volunteers. But she adjusted remarkably well within a week or two, and now greets visitors with a happy bark when they walk by her kennel.

Muffin has a medium energy level and is easy to handle on leash. She enjoys going for walks and socializing with other dogs, as well as people. Muffin has become a friendly girl who enjoys pets and attention. Once she gets to know you, she just might jump into your lap to give you a kiss or two.

Muffin gets along well with her kennel mate, See our website at www.sgvhumane.org and would probably be happy sharing a home with information and photos of all our available pets.

another dog. She has the energy to be a great walking or running companion, but she can also enjoy some quiet relaxation time with her family. This sweet girl deserves to have a home to call her own where she can feel safe and secure. She has a lot of unconditional love to share in return. Muffin is patiently waiting to find her forever family - maybe it is with you? Please come in to meet her soon!

She currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel. We are located off San Gabriel Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las Tunas.

To arrange a 'Meet and Greet' with Muffin, please stop by any time from 10:00am to 4:30pm Tuesday thru Sunday.

Her adoption fee is $120 which includes her spay surgery, a microchip, first vaccinations and a free wellness check-up at a participating veterinarian. Feel free to call us at (626) 286-1159 for more information on Muffin.

HEALTHY LIFESTYLES

THE JOY OF YOGA INCORPORATING AHIMSA

of Patanjali is one of the most widely used and sacred texts referred to by yogis all over the world. Within the Yoga Sutras are the Eight Limbs of Yoga, which lay out a philosophy to live by. All hold great importance within the scope of yogic lifestyle, practice, spirituality and everyday living in the world. Ahimsa, or non violence, comes from the Yamas, the first limb of Yoga. It means "not to iniure" or do no harm. Yogis and non yogis practice this principle in everyday life and experience the great rewards it can bring: peace, compassion, and reverence for life itself.

I've been thinking lately on how to better incorporate this into my own yoga practice. At the same time, I've also seen students wanting this peace, compassion and thoughtfulness in their own

To put Ahimsa into practice, I must first apply this spirit of non violence to myself. In my thoughts and actions, I begin by gently letting up on self criticism. Anytime I can peer back and take a look

The Yoga Sutras from a non judgmental point of view, a great service is provided. I can address challenging situations and lead my own life with balance and thoughtfulness, minus negativity.

In my yoga practice, I don't push myself beyond my limitations. I pay attention to my body and give love rather than push through my asana practice. I add in a balanced diet and proper sleep. Yes, it's hard to put down the electronic device at nighttime, but I

Taking Ahimsa out into the world is also part of the package. For many yogis, this loving approach is extended to all living beings, including animals. Many abstain from eating meat, and for some, all animal products entirely. Practicing non violence with one another is essential for living peacefully and happily together.

This powerful philosophy can bleed into all parts of living! It can literally change the world. This brings a question to mind. What can you do to weave this principle into your life?

TAKE CARE OF YOUR HEART February

Dr. Tina is a traditional naturopath and nutritionist at Vibrant Living Wellness Center

Heart Health month? is month we celebrate Valentine's Day and the symbol of this holiday is the heart. According the center for disease control, heart disease is the #1 killer of Americans. But take heart, there are things you can do to prevent and reverse heart disease that does not include drugs or

First, if you smoke you need to quit! There is nothing that trumps smoking on the list of things you should stop or avoid. Running a close second is over consumption of alcohol. For men that is over 2 drinks a day and for women it is over one drink a day. But let's say neither of these things are problems for you. Then what else can you do?

Adopting a healthy lifestyle can dramatically decrease your risk of getting heart disease. What does a healthy lifestyle consist of? First thing is to

Did you know that eat enough fruits and vegetables, more vegetables February is National than fruits. Preferably 9 to 10 servings of fruits and vegetables a day. Does that sound like a lot? Are you This is fitting since thinking that won't leave much room to eat other things? Maybe that's part of the solution.

Next is limiting fats, especially saturated fats. Fats are not bad foods, we need fat in our diet. But as Americans, we overindulge and many times, with the wrong fats. Many pre-made, packaged or process foods have hidden fats. Avoiding these will really help you avoid excess fat consumption. My next comment may elicit gasps but I also think we have to limit the oil we use in preparing our foods, even OLIVE OIL. It is still a processed food and should be used sparingly. Whole olives also contain fiber that olive oil does not. You probably would not eat the number of olives you eat when you consume 2 or 3 tablespoons of olive oil on your salad or bread. Oil contributes to clogged arteries. In cooking, I use vegetables broth to sauté rather than oil.

Lastly, if you want to keep the ticker in good health you have to be active. We need to exercise in a way that gets your heart pumping. Studies show that 30 minutes of exercise a day, even if it's broken into three 10 minute sessions a day can reduce a person's risk of developing heart disease.

In a nutshell, preventing cardiovascular disease involves eating a proper diet, exercise, and avoiding unhealthy lifestyle habits!

STEVEN LINDSEY ONE OF FOUR SPACE

KENNEDY SPACE CENTER, Fla. - On Saturday, May 30, 2015, four space shuttle astronauts will be inducted into the United States Astronaut Hall of Fame* during a public ceremony held at Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex's Space Shuttle AtlantisSM attraction: John Grunsfeld, Ph. D., Steven Lindsey, Kent Rominger, and M. Rhea

These astronaut heroes will join the ranks of well-known space explorers including Alan Shepard, Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin. This year marks the historic 25th anniversary of the Hall of Fame, which was conceived in the 1980s by the six remaining Mercury astronauts as a place where space explorers could be remembered. Past Hall of Fame inductees include Mercury, Gemini, Apollo, Skylab and Space Shuttle astronauts.

This year's inductees comprise the 14th group of space shuttle astronauts named to the U.S. Astronaut Hall of Fame, bringing the total number of members to 91. Among this year's inductees are a robotics expert who conducted three missions to repair the Hubble Space Telescope; two former military aviators who became space shuttle pilots and commanders on key shuttle missions to build the International Space Station; and a medical doctor and payload commander on life sciences missions who was one of NASA's first female astronauts.

The 2015 Astronaut Hall of Fame Induction will take place at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 30. Admittance into the ceremony is included in admission to Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex; however, seating is limited and is available on a first-come, first-served basis. Steven W. Lindsey (Colonel, USAF, Ret.) was selected as a NASA astronaut in March 1995. A veteran of five space shuttle flights, Lindsey has logged more than 1,510 hours in space.

Lindsey first flew in space in November 1997 as the pilot of STS-87 Columbia. During one of STS-87's spacewalks, Lindsey piloted the first flight of the AERCam Sprint, a free-flying robotic camera. As the pilot of Discovery STS-95 in October 1998, Lindsey returned to space alongside Senator John Glenn. His first mission as commander was STS-104, the 10th International Space Station (ISS) assembly mission. After launching in July 2001, the crew of Atlantis rendezvoused with the ISS and conducted joint operations with the Expedition 2 crew in order to install the Quest Joint Airlock. In July 2006, Lindsey commanded STS-121 Discovery, the second Return to Flight test mission after the Columbia mishap. And in February 2011, Lindsey commanded STS-133, the 39th and final flight of Discovery. The crew docked with the ISS and delivered the Permanent Multipurpose Module, an Express Logistics Carrier, and Robonaut 2, the first human-like robot in space.

During his time with NASA, Lindsey served as Deputy for Space Shuttle Operations and Co-Chairman of the Space Shuttle Cockpit Council, Chief of International Space Station Operations for the Astronaut Office, and Chief of the Astronaut AstronautScholarship.org.

Office. In July 2011, Lindsey retired from NASA and joined Sierra Nevada Corporation to lead the Dream Chaser spacecraft flight operations.

Each year, inductees are selected by a committee of Hall of Fame astronauts, former NASA officials, flight directors, historians and journalists. The rocess is administered by the Astronaut Scholarship Foundation. To be eligible, an astronaut must have made his or her first flight at least 17 years before the induction. Candidates must be a U.S. citizen and a NASA-trained commander, pilot or mission specialist who has orbited the earth at least once.

About Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex

About the Astronaut Scholarship Foundation

The United States Astronaut Hall of Fame was first conceived in the 1980s, when the six surviving Mercury astronauts sought to create a place where space travelers could be remembered. Their dream was realized in 1990, when the Hall of Fame attraction opened in Titusville, Fla. outside the gates to Kennedy Space Center. Today, the Astronaut Scholarship Foundation serves as a consultant for the Hall of Fame, which includes conducting the selection process of astronauts for enshrinement by an outside committee. The Astronaut Scholarship Foundation awards merit-based scholarships to the best and brightest students pursuing science, technology, engineering and math. The prestigious Astronaut Scholarship is known nationwide for being among the highest scholarships awarded to undergraduate STEM students. Since its inception, ASF has awarded over $4 million in scholarship to more than 370 of the nation's top scholars. For more information, call 321-449-4876 or log on to www.

DO YOU WANT TO MEET NEW FRIENDS AND JOIN IN GREAT ACTIVITIES?

Newcomers and Friends of San Gabriel Valley cordially invites local women to join their upcoming March events. We are primarily a social club with a very diverse group of women from all over the SGV. We will be having our monthly "Meet and Greet Coffee" at 10 am March 4 at a members home in Arcadia. You must attend a coffee to join Newcomers and attend activities. In addition to the coffees held the first Wednesday of each month there are luncheons, tours, a garden club, golfing, a book club, a wine tasting group, travel, movies, theater, and games such as bridge, pinochle, mahjong, scrabble, rummikub, and bunco. Our tour this month is to the Nixon Library in Yorba Linda. Most activities are on weekdays. Check out our website www.sgvnewcomers.com or email sgvnewcomers@yahoo.com for more information or call Marlene Palmer, Membership Chairman, at 626-348-8415.

THE GOOD LIFE

ESSENTIAL LEGAL DOCUMENTS ALL SENIORS SHOULD HAVE

Dear Savvy Senior,

What kinds of legal documents are suggested for end-oflife plans? I would like to get my affairs in order before

Getting Old

Dear Getting,

Every adult - especially seniors - should have at least four essential legal documents to protect them and their family. These documents will make sure your wishes regarding your estate are legal and clear, and will help minimize any conflicts and confusion with your family and your health care providers if you become seriously illness or when you die. Here are the key documents you need, along with some tips to help you create them.

A Will: This document lets you spell out your wishes of how you'd like your property and assets distributed after you die, whether it's to family, friends or a charity. It also allows you to designate an executor to ensure your wishes are carried out, and allows you to name guardians if you have minor or dependent children.

In addition to a will, if you own real estate or have considerable assets, another option you may want to consider is a "revocable living trust." This functions like a will but allows your estate to avoid the time and expense of probate (the public legal process that examines your estate after you die) and helps ensure your estate's privacy.

Durable Power of Attorney: This allows you to designate someone you trust to make financial, tax and legal decisions on your behalf if you lose your decision-making capacity.

Advanced Health Care Directive: This includes two documents that spell out your wishes regarding your end-of-life medical treatment. The two documents are a "living will" which tells your doctor what kind of care you want to receive if you become incapacitated, and a "health care power of attorney" which names a person you authorize to make medical decisions on your behalf if you become unable to.

If you have a simple estate and an uncomplicated family situation, there are several good do-it-yourself guides that can help you create all these documents for very little money.

For creating a will, a top resource is the Quicken WillMaker Plus 2015 software (available at nolo.com) that costs $50, works with Windows personal computers and is valid in every state except Louisiana. If you use a Mac, nolo.com offers an online will maker for $35.

Or, if you only need to create an advance directive you can do it for free at caringinfo.org (or call 800-658-8898), where you can get state-specific forms with instructions. Or for only $5, an even better tool is the Five Wishes document (agingwithdignity.org, 888-594-7437), which is valid in 42 states and will help you create a customized advance directive.

Get Help

If, however, you want or need assistance or if you have a complicated financial situation, blended family or have considerable assets, you should hire an attorney. An experienced lawyer can make sure you cover all your bases - especially when writing a will or living trust - which can help avoid family confusion and squabbles after you're gone.

Costs will vary depending on where you reside, but you can expect to pay somewhere between $200 and $1,000 for a will, or $1,200 to $5,000 for a living trust.

The American College of Trust and Estate Counsel (actec.org) and the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys (naela.org) websites are good resources that have directories to help you find someone in your area.

If money is tight, check with your state's bar association (see findlegalhelp.org) to find low-cost legal help in your area. Or call the Eldercare Locater at 800-677-1116 for a referral.

VAMPIRES VS. ZOMBIES

"The Walking Dead" is back. While it's not my favorite show, I must give it to them for garnering such a huge fan base. With so many competing zombie shows and movies, "The Walking Dead" continues to draw a faithful crowd around the boob tube each week. It seems like only past and vampires were all the rage.

Vampire Slayer," yesterday that zombies were a thing of the

"Buffy the Vampire Slayer,"
"Underworld," and "Twilight" were but a Vampire few of many vampire-themed productions. For a while it seemed like vampires were here to stay. But then zombies made a comeback and in doing so pushed vampires to the distant reaches of our memory. Why

I don't pretend to know hoaw trends work, but I've come up with a rudimentary theory explaining the fall of vampires and rise of zombies. First lets "unpack" the differences between the two. Vampires (at least those in all the movies and shows I've mentioned) are intelligent, articulate, and look good in tight-fitting outfits. Zombies, on the other hand, are crude, clumsy, and unintelligible. Vampires have higher literacy rates and function within a sophisticated social hierarchy, whereas zombies are oblivious to everything other than the sight, sound, and smell of potential food sources.

Lets also look at humans' methods of dealing with vampires in comparison to zombies. To kill a vampire, you need to read up on them, trap them somehow, and then drive a stake or silver bullet through their heart. I'm betraying my ignorance here --I actually don't know the first thing about how characters dispose of vampires except in "Dracula." If my fuzzy memory and spotty knowledge serve me well, I don't think regular humans ever got close to killing vampires in "Buffy," "Underworld," or "Twilight." I think the point of those stories was to get the viewer to fantasize about encountering such creatures.

Now let's look at zombies. They're disheveled and literally falling apart at the seams. Killing vampires requires skill and finesse. But taking out zombies is fairly brainless (Ha!) -- just smash their heads. While vampires operate in organized circles and can trace their origins back for centuries, zombies are typically mindless products of nuclear fall out or viruses that have run amuck. Vampires have intellectual and seductive connotations, but zombies just make us think "It's the end of the world!" And here's where marketing comes into play.

My theory is that the relative popularity of vampires vs. zombies is directly tied to the economy and general well being of the po 2008, people had jobs, bright futures, and felt confident. They could enjoy watching pale, svelte vampires engaging in all the intriguing things vampires do for hours at a time. Fast forward to the housing bust and all the other economic and social ills Americans have endured, and you'll see why people prefer to cheer as humans mow their way through torrents of zombies as if they were overgrown grass. Killing zombies is reckless, thoughtless, and void of consequences --except that taking out a zombie obviously means he/she/it can't take you out.

In short, the rise in zombie popularity implies a decrease in the well-being and hope of the public at large. People have a lot of pent-up anger and are just waiting for the opportunity to take it all out on a mindless zombie. Unfortunately, many people ignore the line separating fantasy and reality.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS: THE AIRBORNE TOXIC EVENT

By Sean Kayden

has enjoyed much success of the span of their career dating back to 2006. They made their mark with the self-titled LP in 2008, which led them to signing with major label, Island Records. With their new label came the re-release of their debut album the following year and eventually leading them to two more produced records (All At Once (2011), Such Hot Blood (2013)). However, after a lineup change of the original bassist, Noah Harmon, the band switched labels finding themselves over at Epic Records, an imprint of Sony Music. The establishing years of The Airborne Toxic Event demonstrated the band infusing rock and orchestral music together. They then proceeded with a sound that had a little more flair by incorporating synthesizers with the release of All At Once. With the new record, Dope Machines, the band is striving for something much more significant in meaning and overall tone. Sure, the synths are still present, but Dope Machines is drenched with raw emotion that exceeds anything the band has ever crafted. When he's on point, lead singer Mikel Jollett vocals bleed with much catharsis. The lilt of Jollett's resonance carries the listener to a distant place away from all turmoil and tribulations. Dope Machines, the fourth album from the seasoned LA quintet, is an endeavor that artistically surpasses the group's previously praised material. It sheds a light on the human spirit in more ways than one, which translates to a listening experience that is as irrefutably enjoyable as it is entirely moving.

Dope Machines kicks off with the 80s soaked

"Wrong." Right from the beginning, fans of Airborne' will notice the difference. It's brimming with an abundance of liveliness as it showcases the band in a whole different light. Title track, "Dope Machines" turns up the synths while still being an epic rock song. "California" shows that catharsis side I mentioned earlier. This bold and beautiful ebullient rhapsody is the group's most infectious sounding song off the record. "Time To Be A Man" is an essential contribution to Dope Machines. The lyrically cogitating tune cuts deep with Jollett's distinctively powerful vocals. Steven Chen's sharp guitar work along side Adrian Rodriguez' mighty impactful track. "My Childish Bride" is driven Bride," "The Thing About Dreams," "Chains"

The Airborne Toxic Event by storytelling lyrics and some harmonies with keyboard player and backup vocalist Anna Bulbrook. The soft, gentle arrangements are absolutely lovely and engaging. It may very well be The Airborne Toxic Event's finest song in their repertoire. However, like many of the greats songs found on Dope Machines, the band surprises with "The Thing About Dreams." It's an utterly gorgeous tune that proves the band has taken all the right leaps forward. Their artistry has progressed so much further along that even if one wasn't a fan before, that could all change with this release. This is the album by The Airborne Toxic Event that will not only separate them from their prior work but also bands currently residing in this soundscape.

"Something You Lost" continues the same vibe of "The Thing About Dreams." The thoughtprovoking tracks offer affecting melodies that will stir your soul and rattle every bone in your body. The closer "Chains" starts off with a slow tempo before blooming into a stunningly structured song. It ends the record on a high note, allowing the listener to know that anything is possible at any given moment. Jollett strongly emphasizes the line "break these chains away" as if he is shedding his old skin and clearing the path for something or someone brand new to fully come into play. The effects of "Chains" are nothing shy of awe-inspiring for the listener to walk away from. The odyssey of Dope Machines is a wondrous, surreal one. The second half the album, more specifically the final four tracks are in a league of their own. After a near decade together, this fourth record is by far their most well crafted, finest work of art they have ever produced. The band doesn't rely strictly on the 80s sound to push their own resonance to the next level. The Airborne Toxic Event dig deeper than they ever had before and the results are utterly impressive.

Grade: 8.5 out of 10 electric bass contribute a ton to this blissfully Key Tracks: "Time To Be A Man," "My Childish

The Dead Key by D. M. Pulley

When engineer Iris Latch gets her first field assignment out of college, surveying an abandoned bank, she's just looking forward to a break from her cubicle. Instead, hidden among cobwebbed desks and dusty files untouched for twenty years, she finds hints that something rotten used to go on in the back offices. She comes to believe that someone else, a young secretary named Beatrice Baker, may have left those clues on purpose, and at great risk to herself. The "dead key" in the title can grant access to wealth and forgotten secrets, and the most valuable thing it unlocks is Iris's connection to this young woman from the past. They share a lonely but fierce spirit that won't let they don't know each other, and in a strange way, through her moments of pleasure, loss, deceit, they are counting on each other to expose the truth and kindness just how fickle the human heart at last. Readers voted this book the grand prize can be.

UCLA PHYSICISTS OFFER A SOLUTION TO THE PUZZLE OF THE ORIGIN OF MATTER IN THE UNIVERSE

UCLA Physicists Offer a Solution to the Puzzle of the Origin of Matter in the Universe

Most of the laws of nature treat particles and antiparticles equally, but stars and planets are made of particles, or matter—not antiparticles, or antimatter. That asymmetry, which favors matter over antimatter by a very small degree, has puzzled scientists for many years.

New research by UCLA physicists, published in the journal Physical Review Letters, offers a possible solution to the mystery of the origin of matter in the universe.

Alexander Kusenko, a professor of physics and astronomy in the UCLA College, and colleagues propose that the matter-antimatter asymmetry could be related to the Higgs boson particle, which was the subject of prominent news coverage when it was discovered at Switzerland's Large Hadron Collider in 2012.

Specifically, the UCLA researchers write, the asymmetry may have been produced as a result of the motion of the Higgs field, which is associated with the Higgs boson, and which could have made the masses of particles and antiparticles in the universe temporarily unequal, allowing for a small excess of matter particles over antiparticles.

If a particle and an antiparticle meet, they disappear by emitting two photons or a pair of some other particles. In the "primordial soup" that existed after the Big Bang, there were almost equal amounts of particles of antiparticles, except for a tiny asymmetry: one particle per 10 billion. As the universe cooled, the particles and antiparticles annihilated each other in equal numbers, and only a tiny number of particles remained; this tiny amount is all the stars, planets, and gas in today's universe, said Kusenko, who is also a senior scientist with the Kavli Institute for the Physics and Mathematics of the Universe.

The 2012 discovery of the Higgs boson accomplishments of recent decades. The Higgs Physicists at the LHC measured the particle's mass and found its value to be peculiar; it is consistent with the possibility that the Higgs field in the first moments of the Big Bang was much larger than its "equilibrium value" observed today.

The Higgs field "had to descend to the particle was hailed as one of the great scientific equilibrium, in a process of 'Higgs relaxation,'" said Kusenko, the lead author of the UCLA research. boson was first postulated some 50 years ago as a Two of Kusenko's graduate students, Louis Yang and particularly prove or disprove the existence of MtnViewsNews.com.

fixated, voyeuristic Americans. I watched some of the last season's Bachelorette as well, as my various feelings and thoughts about this "reality" show fulfilled life by visiting more of the families in his have jumbled around.

The show is obviously well-done, professionally produced, with exotic wonderful places they visit. show epitomizes what's wrong with our television

I am bothered by the fact that the show makes a contest out of the most basic fundamental building block of society and social structures: the relationship between a loving couple. Yes, it is, at the end of the day, a contest to see which of the two dozen or so beautiful women will go home to the farm with Chris. They are all decked out, trying to out-do the other in their favors and attention to the handsome farm boy. It's somewhat like two people getting all dress up for a date, except Chris can pick any apple from the tree. How realistic is that? It's

In the beginning of the show, all the women are happy and having fun. Of course! But it is like playing the lotto – only one will "win." So it's sad and disheartening to see the beautiful women all lined up like boxes of cereal while Chris gets to decide what he wants for breakfast. It's not real, and while everyone watches from their living rooms as women one by one are voted off, viewers don't feel the very real emotional agony that the voted-off ones experience. It's very real pain, and all unnecessary, all for the TV experience. Relationships are very real, and the best meetings don't occur in staged TV shows. The best meetings occur in everyday real life, where you will see the person as they normally are, going about their very real life. Meaningful relationships can begin at the flea market while examining ancient coins, or at Trader Joe's while selecting apples, or at the park

I have been watching Chris while studying plants and animals. Life is that way. People meet and love flourishes where you least

Real life does not always live up to all the beauty and hype of a TV show. Chris the farmer is far more likely to meet the right person and have a farm community, where he'd find someone already in-tune with the life he lives.

Each time I have watched the bachelor I get the Yet, on another very primal and basic level, the sick feeling that I am watching some sort of horse auction where one of the horses gets selected for the race track, except these are women, not horses. At the root, I find the show demeaning, since it reduces the beauty and magic of relationships and love to a device of entertainment. I understand the popularity of the show, and yet, we are looking at very real individuals, who perhaps didn't realize the full ramifications of the web into which they entangled themselves when the agreed to be part of the show. Viewers who watch the show might just be fooled into believing that real relationships can and should be developed by such an artificial method. But again, real life is very different. The TV producers are paying for all the rooms and vacations and decorated sets at all the beautiful far-flung locations.

> We watch as Chris is struggling with who to pick, and trying to decide with whom he might be falling in love" with, and therefore who he may want to spend his life with. And I struggle each time the show is on to turn off the TV, and get back to the very real work of living life, and finding meaning and fulfillment in the real world.

> As long as we don't forget that the tale of Chris the Farmer and his assorted potential wives is fantasy, then we might enjoy the tale.

> The big losers may be the "contestants" of the show: the women who publicly flaunted themselves to the star, only to be rejected, and the farmerboy himself, who one day may realize that he already lived in paradise where his ideal mate could have been found in a more organic and private manner.

ANY DAY WITHOUT SNOW IS A GOOD DAY

An ongoing conversation, let's call it a conversation, has been persisting between me and the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. To say it is one-sided is, well, let me say, well, it is one-sided. these days, the more stupidity rules the day. However, that is beside the point.

It heated up a little when the snow started me. falling up north where most of my wife's relatives live. The more they dig out of the snow the more the snow falls. Even Niagara Falls is frozen. They have not had this much snow in a long time.

Now the controversy, oops, I mean, the conversation, was focused on the weather. I was trying to explain to her what this global warming was all about. I was doing a good job until the snow started falling and refused to quit falling.

air of authority. I do not know where the air of authority comes from but it is not native to my

"After all," I said as I pushed my argument forward, "it's been discussed on television and everybody knows if it's on television it has to be true. There are laws."

As I said, I was making some progress in my argument back in the summer when things were quite warm. Then when the snow started coming I lost ground in this argument.

"If," my wife said quite sarcastically, "the world is getting warmer, where is all of this snow coming

Well, I must say, she had me there. Where IS all this snow coming from? All of her relatives and mine who live up north have been snowbound for the past week. It has been rather difficult for some of them, especially those who work for a living when they cannot get to work. It is difficult to keep the roads plowed open so the traffic can come and go.

If the world is getting warmer, how come the snow is getting deeper?

There was one very positive aspect of all this snow. It was snowing so much in Washington, DC that the government was shut down for two days. The politicians could not get to work. I know it is only two days, but as citizens we have to take what we can get. A politician not in his office means that money stays in our pocket. So, "Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow."

Then, rather unexpectedly, I saw on television one of the proponents of global warming, climate change now, was explaining all of this. According to him, all this snow is a result of global warming.

I know you have to have a PhD in stupidity to understand that. I have often wondered how many years somebody has to go in order to get a PhD in stupidity. It seems that the more they go to college I must confess that my wife got me to thinking,

All summer long, I was explaining why global which is a rarity with me. My father told me that arming was something we need to take care of, the more you think the more trouble you get into. including the pros and the cons we are witnessing I am not sure if he was right or wrong, but I am not taking the chance. Thinking is off limits with However, she did get me to thinking. I began thinking this way; most of the people who believe in global warming also believe in evolution. Now, if evolution is true and these people believe in it, what is their objection? Evolution is simply evolution, according to them, that is. The world is just evolving from one point to another and there is nothing we can really do about it. I must confess, I do not understand evolution.

"The earth is getting warmer," I said with an I do not understand global warming. A lot of that stuff is just way beyond my pay grade, as they say. Furthermore, I am not going to spend too much of my time thinking about things that really have no answer to them. One time it's global warming, the next time, it's global freezing.

Here is my take on it; in the summer time, it is global warming and in the wintertime, it is global freezing. You do not have to have a PhD in anything to get this picture.

I am not sure who won this conversation, but it did get me to thinking about certain things. The major thing is that God is really the one that is in

I find it interesting that those who complain the most about global warming are the ones who are contributing the most to global warming, i.e. jet airplanes, mansions, computers and the list goes on. If they were really concerned about global warming, they would adopt an Amish lifestyle.

I think David hit the nail right on the head when he wrote, "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods" (Psalm 24: 1-2). Most of the people who believe in global warming do not believe in God. Those of us who do believe in God, however, rest in the truth that this world belongs to Him and He is going to take right good care of it.

PRESERVING YOUR DIGITAL LEGACY JUST GOT EASIER

As our lives become increasingly intertwined a special message) with the internet, more and more of our assets are developing in, or converting to, the digital world. members and friends We own email accounts, domain names, hosting accounts, blogs, social media accounts, cloud storage, apps, ebook libraries, and more. As such, a big part of my job is educating clients on how to preserve and manage the digital assets of their loved ones when they die or become incapacitated.

It's no surprise Facebook also understands the emerging importance of digital assets and just released an exciting new tool to help friends and family manage the wall and profile of a deceased Facebook user. Before this change there were only two options: 1) Keep the page public, in which case anyone could post on the user's wall, or 2) have the page "memorialized" so only "friends" of the user could post on the wall. But either way, without the user's password loved ones could not accept new friend requests, update pictures, or pin important information on the user's wall.

Last week, however, Facebook announced they will begin to allow a designated agent to manage a deceased user's page, wall, and profile. From now on all Facebook user's will have the option to choose a "legacy contact" - a family member or friend the user wants to be able to manage their account after they pass away. Alternately, a user can opt to have their Facebook account deleted immediately after they die.

This is what Facebook had to say:

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

GET THEIR ATTENTION

There are many reasons to feel pressured to sell, be it a job transfer, family medical issues, or financial hardship. This is when you face cold hard facts about your home's value and what you can expect to net from your sale. Understand that what you paid for your home years ago has no relevance today, and a buyer won't pay a premium price simply because that's what you owe.

If your home is now worth less than what you still owe, it may be time to call your lender and arrange listing as a "short sale." Your lender will indicate the lowest price they'll accept, and you can begin your aggressive marketing. A short sale will blemish your credit rating, but not as badly as a foreclosure would.

If you're not experiencing such financial hardship, but still facing a deadline to sell, then you need to discuss the Comparative Market Analysis (CMA) that your agent prepares, and price your home below the average sales prices listed. That's "sales" prices, not "listing" prices. "Expired" listings educate you about the prices for which homes did not sell under any circumstances, so pay attention.

Realize that an underpriced home will seem like a bargain, and attract more interest and qualified buyers. It's always better to sell lower sooner than have to reduce your price and sell lower

IF YOU BUILD IT, WILL THEY COME?

Some people believe that building a web site is all that is needed to start a thriving, prosperous business. "If I build it, they will come! I will make millions." I've yet to see that happen. I believe in having a great attitude, but basing your business strategy on a Hollywood quote doesn't make sense to me.

What makes sense is to build a web site full of quality information, blog on a consistent basis and come up with content on the right tools that link back to your site. Using tools that drive traffic like Constant Contact, Facebook, Pinterest and Twitter will help you get people to your site.

Are you posting links to your site or blog on social media? If you use email marketing, does your banner and images link to your web site? We are used to clicking on images. If you use Pinterest, do your original images link to your web site?

The bottom line: As you distribute content on the web, you want to make sure that there are links throughout the copy and on images that lead back to Promote your site at every touch point in your business (on and off-line), then they will come.

RICH Johnson

A DIGNIFIED CANDIDATE FOR A UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT

Do you like your last name? I was never really keen on mine. Johnson? It's so bland and plain. Recently a friend has helped me develop a new appreciation for my last name. For one reason my name is easy. Rarely does someone ask me to spell or pronounce my name. "May I say who's calling?"
"Johnson." "Reservation for whom?" "Johnson."

This new found appreciation for the simplicity of my name came because of my new friend. Lets just say his name is a little more complicated than mine. His first name is easy. It's Roy. Now for his last name. Boulghourjian. Roy Boulghourjian. It's pronounced Bull-Ghoor-jyan. If the truth be told I think I still like his last name better than mine.

Roy is a great guy. And he is running for the Pasadena School Board District 2. After spending time with Roy I'm hoping he gets elected. Why? I'll tell you.

Before Roy became a professional educator and administrator he was a successful businessman. So successful he drove around in a Porsche 911 Turbo. Being a good guy he decided to give back to his community and, among other efforts, volunteered to teach ESL (English as a second language). He soon realized his Porsche driving days were numbered. Roy discovered he had a passion for teaching. He gave up the lucrative diamond business, traded in his Porsche for a Nissan Sentra and set his sights on his passion: Education. He taught high school math, and subsequently became a vice-principal at 2 high schools. He later moved to the college level teaching math, economics, leadership, negotiation and conflict management. And currently he is the chair over the general education and business education Departments at Mt. Sierra College in Monrovia. By the way, Roy speaks 5 different languages. And he has now added a sixth language: Spanish. In fact, one of Roy's passions is teaching our students at least one additional language.

Roy and Congresswoman Judy Chu

In his quest to give back to the community Roy wants to become a member of the Pasadena School Board. Combining his educational background with his previous business career gives Roy a unique advantage and perspective into analyzing, evaluating and improving our whole educational system.

One of Roy's mentors, Robert Osterholm, advised him years ago that its not what you sell that's important, it's you who you sell. And Roy sold me. I appreciate his honesty and dedication. I walked away trusting Roy and have faith he's going to put his best into his role on the School Board.

I take a special look at candidates who can transcend partisan politics. Roy's supporters include both democrats and republicans, including Democratic Congresswoman Judy Chu and Republican LA County Supervisor Mike Antonovich. That means a great deal to me.

Roy does not regret leaving the diamond business. Roy demonstrated to me that he interested in working with something far more valuable than diamonds...our

Have a good week. And vote for Roy.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

LARRY TORRES FOR PUSD DISTRICT 6 REPRESENTATIVE

Dear Sierra Madre Community,

We are happy to endorse Larry Torres to serve on the Pasadena Unified School Board, District 6, which represents the Sierra Madre Community. As Principals Emeriti of Sierra Madre School, we have had the pleasure of knowing Larry for the past fifteen years. During those years he was actively involved in supporting the Sierra Madre School Community by:

- Serving in a leadership capacity on the School Site Council.
- Assisting in writing the school plan.
- Working with Title I School Improvement.
- Becoming involved with school fund raisers.
- Supporting the arts.
- Working for the passage of Measure Y and Measure TT construction projects.
- Promoting the establishment of the middle school.

Because he is an educator himself, with up to date knowledge of curriculum and state education standards, Larry's input in writing the school plan helped our staff recognize and meet viable goals. During Larry's tenure on the School Site Council, the school's API scores grew tremendously, making Sierra Madre School the first in the District to break the 900 mark on the state's assessment.

Larry is an avid supporter of the arts in the schools, and every Sierra Madre School student from grades k-8 performs on stage at least once per year. Larry has participated in several aspects of Sierra Madre School's yearly auction, which raises money to maintain and grow an outstanding visual and performing arts program. He has been adamant about the need for all students to enjoy meaningful art opportunities.

While Larry is firmly attached to the Sierra Madre Community, he sees the big picture and will be able to work positively with all of the PUSD stakeholders. He sees the importance of good educational opportunities for tomorrow's young people. He worked diligently for the passage of Measures Y and TT and for the building of the new Sierra Madre Middle School. Larry has many friends and family members living in Sierra Madre and his two daughters attended Sierra Madre School. The eldest, Camille, graduated from LaSalle High School and is now a junior at Cal Poly Pomona. Emilie, the younger daughter is an actively involved junior at PHS.

Because of Larry's integrity, knowledge, sense of community, collaboration and leadership skills, he will make a hard working and productive member of the PUSD Board of Education. We strongly support him for Seat Number 6, representing the city of Sierra Madre.

Sincerely,

Ty Gaffney Sierra Madre School Principal 1998-2006

Gayle Bluemel Sierra Madre School Principal 2006-2011

HOWARD Hays As I See It

"We don't really care if you are a Christian, Buddhist, what your religious affiliation is or what your sexual affiliation is. It doesn't matter." - Butch Berry, mayor of Eureka Springs, Arkansas

'People are very friendly here. I would love to live here.' - Dixie Hankins, visitor to Eureka Springs from Reno, Nevada

From the comments I received in response to my last column (maybe one or two), I thought I'd continue on with more stories of Republicans in state government throughout the country. So many stories appeared just as I was sending my last column in, and I'm concerned some states may have felt slighted for having been left out.

Eureka Springs (less than half the population of Sierra Madre) made the news with its attempt to enact its own gay anti-discrimination law. In response, and as a warning to other locales, the Arkansas legislature passed a bill prohibiting localities from passing anything more restrictive than what's provided for under state law. Gov. Asa Hutchinson (R) says he'll let it pass without his signature, so for now gays can continue to be discriminated against in employment, housing and public accommodations throughout Arkansas - no matter how the folks in Eureka Springs feel about it.

Oklahoma Rep. Sally Kern (R) got a bill out of committee that not only bans public funds from being used to issue same-sex marriage licenses, but threatens removal from office, loss of pay, pension and benefits for any official who goes ahead and issues them anyway.

In an Idaho hearing on a bill prohibiting remotely-prescribed abortifacients without an in-person examination, Dr. Julie Madsen, testifying against the bill, was asked by Rep. Vito Barbieri (R) whether a woman swallowing a tiny camera might allow for a remote gynecological exam. The doctor had to explain to Rep. Barbieri how a woman's anatomy is not really set up that way.

Also in Idaho, a county Republican committee is pushing a resolution that Idaho be "formally and specifically declared a Christian state".

Nevada Assemblywoman Michele Fiore (R) on her radio show called cancer a "fungus" which can somehow be flushed out with some saline / baking soda solution. She was recently ousted as head of the assembly's taxation committee. Fiore blames it on Republicans' "war on women". Others cite the million dollars in tax liens placed on her "personal care" business.

I mentioned last week Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal's (R) cutting education spending by $300 million, a third of its total budget. He shouldn't be singled out. In Wisconsin, Gov. Scott Walker (R) also cut $300 million from education to help cover a $650 budget hole, largely a result of having doled out $2 billion in tax cuts. For Arizona's $1.5 billion shortfall, new Gov. Doug Ducey (R) wants to take $75 million from education in order to "preserve major business tax cuts." Illinois Gov. Bruce Rauner (R) is cutting $387 million from public universities hoping to make a dent in his $6.2 billion budget shortfall. With Gov. Rauner, he could make up a healthy chunk of that cut out of his own pocket, having reported personal income of $61 million for 2013. For the state, he's pushing to have highway workers' average pay cut from $49,000 to $39,000. He's cutting healthcare, services for the elderly, childcare, drug and mental health programs and the Department of Children and Family Services. Another thing he's cutting is taxes for the state's wealthiest – a cut which will save him personally some $750,000 a year.

In South Dakota, Rep. Isaac Latterell (R) ranted on his website about the one thing he calls "worse than ISIS": Planned Parenthood.

A Judge in New Jersey ruled against Gov. Chris Christie's (R) attempt to cut $1.6 billion from its public pension contributions, explaining the state can't "simply walk away from its financial obligations, especially when those obligations were the State's own creation."

Montana could have a column all its own. SB 130 mandates armed paramilitary groups in every locality, in order to protect against "the grave danger posed by the federal government". HB 321, entitled "Encourage Critical Thinking in the Classroom", would offer "legal immunity" for teachers using the Bible for science instruction. Under HB 203 it wouldn't be a crime to violate federal gun laws, but it would be for any police officer, state trooper, sheriff, etc. to try and enforce them. Whether it's machine guns, rockets, cannons, they'd all be fine in Montana – and there's a separate bill to allow silencers for hunting.

Sarah Goodfriend and Suzanne Bryant have been together for 31 years, and are raising two kids. A judge hurried through a marriage license for them, citing the urgency of Goodfriend's diagnosis of ovarian cancer. Now, the top three officials in the State of Texas, Gov. Greg Abbott (R), Lt. Gov. Dan Patrick (R) and Atty. Gen. Ken Paxton (R), are all working with their own sense of urgency to see that that license is revoked.

A bill proposed by House Republicans in West Virginia would make it a felony for any federal official, a misdemeanor for any state official, punishable by fines and/or imprisonment, to help anyone in the state get coverage under the Affordable Care Act.

The question is, "Who elects these people?" According to a Public Policy Polling survey of Republican voters released last week, 66% of them don't believe in global warming. 49% don't believe in evolution, with 13% "not sure". 57% would support "establishing Christianity as Though the figure from a YouGov survey showing that only 47% of Americans feel President Obama "loves America" seems low (17% not sure), the figure is skewed by the fact only 11% of Republicans believe our president loves his country.

Maybe there's a reason Republican legislators are so anxious to cut education funding. But I think it would be wrong to seek answers by generalizing according to education level, region, big city vs small town, whatever. Just ask the folks in Eureka Springs, Arkansas

APOCALYPSE NOW

I just finished a great history of WWII and happened to watch a cable rerun of The Monuments Men. Key points in both led me to the sobering conclusion that the apocalypse is not something that is only supposed to happen in some other generation's future, but instead is more real and ever more probable now than any time in

The Monuments Men is a movie about a real unit of ally soldiers who were tasked with saving the great works of art and civilization from Nazi destruction. One of the key historical elements in the movie was the very real orders Hitler gave for the destruction of a thousand years of European artwork and for the destruction of Paris as the Nazis retreated. Such an undertaking was not possible at the hands of one lone madman; Hitler had many willing followers in the form of the SS who were more than enthusiastic in destroying staples of European civilization. Were it not for one German general who refused to destroy Paris, we may well have lost that beautiful city.

The other WWII history I read highlighted many of the strategic turning points in the war. What is little realized today is that Nazi Germany was also pursuing the development of a nuclear bomb and was in fact very close developing it. The entire course of WWII can be seen as a race toward the development of the bomb. Had the Germans won that race, can there be any doubt they would have used it unmercifully and overtaken much of the

Returning to the theme of this week's article – Apocalypse Now – next month's Atlantic magazine contains an article by Graeme Wood which informs us with undeniable facts and logic that we are in a race with ISIS and Iran, which if the west loses will very likely result in a very real apocalypse.

Those words are not chosen lightly. They're not inflammatory or hyperbolic; they're realistically descriptive of what ISIS and Iran want, and will launch, if we let them. Both are on record as stating that it is their duty to bring about "apocalypse" because God calls for it. Their recent actions show they are all too willing to act on these messianic visions.

There is no false posturing with them. Graeme Woods interviewed an Islamic leader in London who stated that "the [Islamic] state has an obligation to terrorize its enemies". ISIS actually considers itself the leader in bringing about the end of the world, committed to "purifying the world by killing vast numbers of people". Further evidence is provided to show that ISIS consciously seeks to "return civilization to a seventh-century legal environment and ultimately to bring about the apocalypse".

ISIS's actions leave no room for doubt. The atrocities which make the front page in the west are only the tip of the iceberg. As Woods points out, social media posts chronicle daily individual executions and weekly mass executions. Most of the victims are fellow

Here in the west, and especially in Obama's administration, there is a temptation to dismiss the danger because those who lead ISIS and who rule Iran are only a minority within Islam, thus delegitimizing their religious credentials and their commitment to actually carrying out any apocalyptic plan. That argument is very dangerous, and may yet be fatal to us. It doesn't matter if ISIS and the Iranian Mullahs are in the minority. If they truly believe themselves to be acting on their deeply held religious beliefs (even warped ones at odds with other Islamic teaching), they can still do untold damage to the world if allowed to succeed.

In the atomic age – and more certainly in the age of biological weapons – even a small minority can kill millions. If allowed to win the race to obtain their own nuclear weapon, they will use it against the west and/or Israel. No matter which target is selected, such an act would unavoidably bring about an equal retaliation – the apocalypse.

The Obama administration's plan won't work for two primary reasons. First, they do not acknowledge there is a real and serious enemy to fight, and secondarily they do not realize we are in a race with Iran. The President stubbornly refuses to acknowledge the religious intensity which drives our enemy, turning instead to rationalizations of moral equivalence with the crusaders of 1,000 years ago and to justifications stemming from insufficient economic opportunity.

Iran and ISIS are drawn from the same cloth – both religiously and philosophically driven by a desire to destroy Israel and to bring about the apocalypse. They know that obtaining the bomb will give them the weapon which will allow the one of them to launch against Israel and the other to sneak such a weapon into the U.S. or Europe.

It is clear at this point that the solution does not, and will never, lie with this president. Fortunately, our system provides a way for more informed and rational people to counter Obama's self-delusion. The House and the Senate have the right, and the moral obligation, to hear the words and advice of Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu. It is not an exaggeration to say that the security of western civilization lies now in the hands of this one man's ability to awaken us from a dangerous stupor. The race can still be won, but we're in the last lap.

Arts are Alive!

What does the word art mean to you? Art is what someone does creatively to share their view of the world with other people. Their expressions may be shown through painting, drawing, poetry, dance, sculpture, acting, music or other art forms. Music is the art of making sounds. It can be created by making sounds with your voice or by playing instruments. You can keep a piece of music "alive" by writing it down or recording it.

Dance is created by moving the body. Many of the actions or movements are repeated. People in all parts of the world enjoy dance. It is kept in memories and on film. It is passed on from one person to another.

Art lets us create using materials. Paint, charcoal, clay, paper and glue are just a few things you can use to share your ideas Free and express your feelings. Stuff!
