BUDGET TOWN HALL MEETING - SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 2015

The Sierra Madre City Council will be hosting a Town Hall Meeting at the Fire Station on Saturday, June 6, 2015. Residents are encouraged to drop by between 10am and noon and enter to win one of six great participation prizes: A Meal with the Mayor, A Helicopter Ride, Dinner with Firefighters, a Free Park Rental, 10 Free Library DVD Rentals, or a Storytime Birthday Party at the Library.

At the Town Hall Meeting, each participant will have the opportunity to "balance" the City's budget with the current projected revenues. Residents will be able to study the impacts of various reductions including, but not limited to, reduction in hours and programs at the Library Community Services, fewer public counter hours at the Planning Department and City Hall, contracting policing services to the Sheriffs or paramedic services to a private ambulance company. Participants will also be asked to "vote" on various revenue measures ranging from no new revenues to increased fees and fines, or a general or special tax.

The accumulation of input gathered at ten different budget input meetings that took place in May will also be available for further comment and discussion.

All the information collected at the Town Hall Meeting will be presented to the City Council for consideration as the Council deliberates and makes decisions on how to balance the City's budget at their regular meeting on Tuesday, June 9, 2015 at 6:30pm in the Council Chambers. Residents are encouraged to attend and provide public comment on this very important topic.

THESE KIDS ARE GOOD!

The regular Little League season is over and in Sierra Madre, when the dust settled, the Sierra Madre Dodgers were able to do something their namesake could not, take their Division Title!

The Dodgers, who range in age from 10-12 play in the Major Division of SML.

These courageous little leaguers in blue, who never rose above 3rd place during the regular season, were known as the "overwhelming underdogs" with a record of 6-20 going into the playoffs. But then, something happened and this team managed to go against two of their toughest rivals, the SMLL Blue Jays and SMLL Yankees. In a previous match up with the Yankess they lost, however, during the playoffs, they defeated both teams: Dodgers vs. Blue Jays 9-8 and Dodgers vs. Yankees 13-10.

They will now move on to the Little League District 7 Tournament on June 6th. Congratulations are in order for the Dodgers and their Manager Jason Young.

Some residents, however, say that the horn's volume and the testing frequency is unbearable.

Daily, at 5pm, a test blast is sounded, often startling people who are visiting or working in the area.

While there are those who do not see the need for the horn, others are very passionate that the horn is the city's most reliable means of notifying residents of an emergency.

> In both incidents, the Horn was not functioning. Had the horn been in operation, when it was sounded, citizens would have been alerted of an impending emergency.

> Shortly after the fire, an effort was launched to repair the horn that took several years. In January of this year, the horn was repaired and regular testing began.

The primary issue appears to be the frequency and volume in which the horn is tested. The council will hear from people of both sides of the issue at Tuesday's meeting.

2015 SIERRA MADRE FOURTH OF JULY FIRECRACKER FUN RUN REGISTRATION

Sierra Madre, CA. – The Spero Foundation will be hosting their fifth annual "Fire Cracker Fun Run" as part of the Sierra Madre Fourth of July Festivities. This is an "unofficial 5K event," but a running clock is provided. We welcome runners and walkers of all ages. Walkers with strollers and dogs on leashes are encouraged to participate as this is a true community

The Firecracker Fun Run is held on Saturday, July 4, 2015. Check-in and registration is at Kersting Court from 7:00am-7:45am the morning of the race. The race begins at 8:00am.

Registration is available online at www. cityofsierramadre.com/onlineregistration and begins Monday, May 4, 2015. Prior to June 15th registration costs for adults are $21.00 and youth under 10 are $16.00. After June 15th the cost is $26.00 per entry regardless of age. If you pre-register online before June 15, you will be guaranteed a t-shirt. For registrations taken June 15 or after, race t-shirts are available until supplies run out.

All participants will receive a custom 2015 Firecracker Fun Run medal! Also as a new twist- this year there will be awards for the "Best-Showing" of RED, WHITE & BLUE- so show your support for the Stars and Stripes. We highly encourage everyone to dress up and show their patriotism with the most creative outfit possible.

The Spero Foundation was formed in 2009 to raise awareness, bringing hope to people in need. In the last year the Foundation has donated over $28,000 to support local community programs and delivered over 50 food baskets during the holiday season to families in our own community. 100% of the proceeds from this event will support their Holiday Food Basket Program. ### SLADOJE, SUSAN J. JULY 6, 1943 TO MAY 25 2015

Susan J. Sladoje (Susie) of Glenview, IL, and formerly of Sierra Madre, beloved wife of George Sladoje passed away at the Midwest Palliative and Hospice Pavilion on May 28. Susie was born in Wauwatosa, WI on July 6, 1943. In her early years the family moved seven times often from one state to another. Throughout her junior and senior high school years the family lived in Upper Arlington, OH a suburb of Columbus where she was crowned "Miss Arlington" in 1960. It was here where Susie's love of the 4th July and all things patriotic took root. She graduated from The Ohio State University (1966) with a major in retailing. While a student at Ohio State, Susie joined Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity, which became a major factor throughout her life.

During her high school and college days, Susie worked part time at a woman's specialty store in Columbus; ultimately becoming an assistant manager at a major branch while still a part timer. She began her fulltimeworking career at Bloomingdales in New York where her retailing experienced and skills were maximized and prepared her for greater undertakings in the city that she ultimately came to adopt---Chicago.

Though she enjoyed New York and took full advantage of its offerings, she preferred the pace and "feel" of Chicago even more. She became the Men's Fashion Coordinator at Carson, Pirie, Scott & Company. Susie was the first female men's fashion coordinator in all of the AMC and Federated stores. She remained at Carson's until the birth of her first child in 1970. Susie devoted the remainder of her life to her family and communityno matter where she lived. One constant has been Kappa Alpha Theta. Among the many alumnae positions that she held included; President of the Chicago North Shore and Pasadena, California Chapters; Assistant National Convention Manager; and as a Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation Trustee.

In 1997, she and George moved to Sierra Madre where she became active in the Sierra Madre Rotary Club and the Junior League in Pasadena. She also chaired the annual Fundraiser of the Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) which provides legal services to needy children. She and George returned home to the Chicago area in 2004.

She was active in and held leadership roles in many organizations on the North Shore, the Chicago area. Among the groups she served were; The Young Women's Auxiliary of the Women's Club of Evanston, The Junior League of Evanston-North Shore, The Auxiliary at Evanston and Glenbrook Hospitals (Susie chaired the 1996 American Craft Expedition), Fortnightly Club of Chicago and the City Associates of the Art Institute of Chicago. In Glenview she served on the Independence Day Celebration Commission, Glenview Leadership Council, Glenview Values, Character Counts! and was a president of the Glen Oak Acres Garden Club. She served on school parent boards in Districts 34 and 225.

She is survived by her husband of nearly 47 years, George and their three children; Steve (Sara) of Glenview, IL, Julie Rickert (David) of Grandview Heights, OH, Katie Chew (Aaron) of Upper Arlington, OH, five grandchildren; George and Samantha Sladoje, Jack and Lily Rickert and Burrows Chew and siblings Thomas Mueller and Cathy Slingerland. She was preceded in death by her parents Sylvester E. and Carol Mueller.

A Memorial Mass celebrating Susie's life will be held at a later date at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Glenview. In lieu of flowers, the family has suggested donations be made in honor of Susan Mueller Sladoje to:

Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation 8740 Founders Road Indianapolis, IN 46268

SIERRA MADRE POLICE BLOTTER

During the week of Sunday, May 24th, to Sunday, May 31st, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 311 calls for service.

Monday, May 25th

At 7:56 am, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 30 block of W Grandview Avenue regarding an injury traffic collision. Upon arrival on scene, Officers discovered a woman had crashed head on into a parked vehicle. Witnesses stated the woman was driving eastbound when she crossed into the westbound lane and began driving on the wrong side of the street for a short distance, before she crashed head on into a car that was parked on the street. Upon interviewing the woman, she stated to Officers that she had fallen asleep. The woman complained of chest pain and was transported to a local hospital. Drugs and alcohol were determined to not be a factor in the crash. No other injuries resulted from the crash. The woman was advised of a re-examination to drive by the DMV.

Wednesday, May 27th

At 1:07 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the station lobby regarding an identity theft report. The victim informed Officers that two days prior, he retrieved his mail from his home on the 60 block of W Orange Grove and discovered a debit card was issued to him from a retail store through a small bank. The victim stated he never applied for a debit card with the company or the bank. The following day the man called the banking company and closed the account. The bank representative advised the victim to contact his local police department. This case has been forwarded to the Detective Bureau.

At 6:03 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 300 block of W Sierra Madre Blvd regarding a physical fight between a man and woman. The caller reported that the man was holding a young child and appeared to be forcefully dragging the female. Upon arrival Officers located the man, woman and child. Officers immediately noticed the woman was distraught, crying and trembling. Once separated and the woman took hold of the young child, Officers noticed the man appeared to be under the influence as his speech was rapid and he was sweating profusely. As Officers attempted to place the man in handcuffs as a precaution, the man resisted Officers. Ultimately once secured in handcuffs, the man informed Officers he hit his wife because he was trying to get the evil out of her due to her being overcome by it. When Officers questioned the woman, she confirmed that the man had hit her in the face several times as he held the crying infant. Several witnesses informed Officers of what they saw, and ultimately the man was placed into custody and taken to Los Angeles Sheriff Department Inmate Reception Center to await his appearance in court.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side by Deanne Davis

"Up to now, you've had a lot of lessons and then you've had the test. Now you're entering Real Life, where first you have the test and then you get the lesson!" Lain I.

Have you ever been to so many inspirational events and heard so many incredible speakers that you can't believe you got to be there? That's been our life the last few weeks. Two graduations, one at Chico State University where granddaughter, Ashley, received her degree and her pin. She will soon be joining the ranks of Registered Nurses. Proud? Beyond belief! Then last Saturday grandson, Luke, received his diploma from Maranatha High School. Proud? Totally!

Graduations have improved tremendously in the last few years. Schools have finally begun to get the message across to their principal speakers that it's quality, not quantity that counts. The speaker at Chico State, who is also a career motivational speaker, could not have talked for longer than twenty minutes max, but everyone's attention was riveted on Mr. Hensley.

He started off by asking, "Am I in the presence of greatness?" Gave some terrific advice, like the quote up at the top, which continued with "and if you don't get the lesson the first time, you'll be getting it again and again until you do!" I think we all know, usually to our painful regret, how true THAT is! He also advised the graduates to pick a good life partner and then BE a good partner, and to... "Be patient with yourself. Will you make excuses or progress?" Now that's pithy! He ended his address with almost the same words he started with: "I AM in the presence of greatness!" The place went wild. Talk about hope for the future!

My graduation attending partner, John, and I figure we've been to six college graduations, nine high school and one Law School. We attended two at Cal State L.A. which took forever while we baked in the blazing sun and thousands of students marched by. One featured actor, James Edward Olmos, who was not brief!

The Los Angeles Times had an article last week about graduation addresses where they, too, emphasized brevity. One of the student speakers we heard Saturday told us that after ten minutes we would only remember one-tenth of one-tenth of what the speaker was saying. I hate to admit it, but I'm afraid it's true. The Times included some great quotes from other graduations like this one from U.S. Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas at the University of Georgia in 2008:

'Thank the people who put up with your antics and loved you through it all. Thank the people who paid your fuition and your expenses. There are those who helped and counseled you through difficult times or when you made hard decisions. There are those who were compassionate enough to tell you what you needed to hear, not what you wanted to Graduation season is a hopeful time, isn't it! Those young faces looking toward the future with so much ahead of them. Anxious to get out of the auditorium, out of the cap and gown and on to the party and the presents!

And, speaking of wonderfully hopeful sentiments, Catherine Sophia, who is now 8 years old, has been at the Grand Canyon with an assortment of family members, where she received her Junior Ranger certificate and you see her here wearing her new Grand Canyon shirt, which has the message she says she is going to live by: Advice from the Night Sky...

See the big picture – Be a star – Keep looking up – Don't be afraid of the Stay full of wonder – Expand your horizon – Turn off the lights! As you attend graduations this year, take a note or two of the really great points the speaker makes, like this one: "One of the mistakes I made was giving my daughters credit cards, which were only to be used for emergencies. I soon found that Nordstrom sells emergency gas, which I had not known before!" May all your graduation speakers be brief and even better, brief and

THE SIERRA MADRE HISTORICAL PRESERVATION SOCIETY PRESENTS LIZZIE'S FAMOUS CHICKEN & RAVIOLI DINNER JUNE 27, 2015 5-8PM

On the west side of the Mount Wilson Trail, Lizzie's Trail Inn had its start Madre memorabilia, which includes the Suman Pottery's famous petalware, about 1890 as a lunch stand and coffee shop. Walt Douglas ran this stand in 1905. By the time Mr. W.P. Caley purchased the entire property in June 1907, it included the stand, a store, house and stables. The stand was moved across the trail to its present location in 1913. Even though Lizzie only ran the restaurant for 13 years, there are many great stories related to her ownership, especially her signature dinner of Chicken & Ravioli.

The Sierra Madre Historical Preservation Society will be celebrating those good ol' days with a Chicken and Ravioli Dinner at the Mt. Wilson Trail Park, located next to the Richardson House and Lizzie's Trail Inn, in Sierra Madre. Come and enjoy a great dinner, visit our native plant demonstration garden, view the Interactive Digital Storyboard in Richardson House with presentations by the Sierra Madre Library's Teen Docents, participate in our silent auction of items donated by local merchants, and visit with Lizzie in person! Both Lizzie's Trail Inn and Richardson House will be open, and you won't want to miss our exciting new display of 1930s - 1950s Sierra Public Library, and of course, Lizzie's Trail Inn (Saturdays 10:00-noon) and also ceramics from the McCarty Bros. Pottery. Entertainment will be provided by Joe Tortamasi and Cory Brendel, both ukulele players extraordinaire!

We can't wait to see you there for an evening of good food, good fun, good entertainment, and good friends!

Free Lecture on Sea Ice

In his Nye Lecture, Doug MacAyeal provided this delightful summary of the joys of ice research: "The effectiveness of cryospheric science in addressing its main purpose (predicting and assessing response to climate change) is powerfully, but intangibly enhanced by the mysterious nature and the remote locations of ice and snow phenomena. Study of the cryosphere, in essence, depends as much on the universal human desire to satisfy curiosity as it does on the fact that cryospheric science informs humanity about the consequences of the environmental changes now clearly visible in all realms of the cryosphere." While the decline in Arctic sea ice coverage and the smaller opposing trend in the Southern Ocean have occupied the headlines, there are many processes over broad range of geophysical length scales that contribute to the character of the ice cover. The talk will cover several of these processes, including ice deformation, ice growth and snow accumulation, in particular their observation and role in polar climate. Free lectures on June 18 at JPL; June 19 at Pasadena City College; both at 7 p.m.

Plan Revealed to Relieve SR-710 Tunnel Debate

A number of the organization leaders, last week, announced "Beyond the 710," something they say will dramatically reshaped the debate over the 710 Tunnel in an effort to reimagine how to resolve the conflicts over congestion and mobility that have divided the western San Gabriel Valley for decades.

Today is a new day in the 710 debate, and we are committed to finding solutions that work for everyone," said Ara Najarian (pictured above), mayor of Glendale, member of the LA County Metro Board, and chair of Beyond the 710. "Just as my city and my neighbors will never accept a tunnel through our communities, we must recognize that a solution to the congestion created by the 710 in Alhambra and their neighbors of the Connected Cities and must be addressed intelligently. That's why we are presenting a starting point for new discussions on how to resolve La Canada Flintridge, Pasadena, these issues amicably."

percent of commuters exiting the Defense Council. 710 Freeway at Valley Boulevard

A number of city and are intent on reaching local destinations, and the vision of Beyond the 710's plan is to use 21st Century planning solutions (such as well-planned transit lines, Great Streets concepts, and traffic mitigation) to reduce congestion and promote smart growth rather than 1960s freeway-oriented approaches.

"Pasadena has suffered the negative impacts of freeway 'solutions,' and we recognize that better options exist, such as great streets and smart transit," said Michael Beck, city manager of the City of Pasadena. "Our city council recently voted to oppose the tunnel, and instead we've adopted a progressive approach to improving northsouth connectivity that is very consistent with Beyond the 710."

Beyond the 710 is a project Communities, comprised of the cities of Glendale, La Canada Flintridge, Cities of Glendale, Sierra Madre, and South According to organizers, a key insight of Beyond the 710 is to understand that more than 85 and the Natural Resources

TASTE OF ARCADIA 2015 SET FOR SEPT. 28; PRE-SALE TICKET DEADLINE TUESDAY, JUNE 30

Record VIP reserve table sales and sponsors 90 days in advance; food/ beverage vendors nearly sold

On the heels of what most described as the best Taste of Arcadia ever, the 2015 event has been set for September 28 at the lush Los Angeles County Arboretum. Deadline for advance discount tickets is Tuesday, Returning Gold Sponsors of the city's signature event are Westfield Santa Anita, Methodist Hospital, and BMW of Monrovia. Rose Hills Memorial Park & Mortuary is once again sponsoring the Business Showcase at the Taste.

Last year's outdoor event drew a record crowd of more than 1,500 attendees and more than nearly 100 vendors and entertainers. Attendees enjoy the many different foods and tastes from more than 40 of the most exciting local restaurants, caterers and wine-and-beer vendors at no additional charge beyond the admission ticket. Tickets may be purchased at www.ArcadiaCaChamber.org, by calling 626-447-2159, or in person at the Chamber office at 388 W. Huntington Drive, Arcadia, 91007.

Members of the Arcadia Chamber can save nearly 44% off the full $80 day-of-event ticket price at the gate by purchasing an unlimited number of tickets for $45 each by June 30. Those who are not members of the Arcadia Chamber can also enjoy a big savings with a $55 ticket

The popular VIP Reserved Tables for ten guests, including a personal usher and exclusive seating around the picture-esque fountain, can be purchased by Arcadia Chamber members for $499 before June 30 ($599 for non-members). That's a huge savings from the full price of $750 as of July 1. The limited number of VIP tables sold out well in advance of the event last year, so get your order in right away.

The Business Showcase at the Taste is nearly sold out with more than 40 vendors and car dealers. Likewise, there are only a few spots left for food and beverage participants.

Contact the Arcadia Chamber if you would like to be a vendor or a sponsor - 626-447-2159 or Info@ArcadiaCaChamber.org. Other sponsors this year include the City of Arcadia; Silver Sponsor Foothill Credit Union; Ticket Sponsor Metro Gold Line Foothill Extension Construction Authority; Tram Sponsor Arcadia Association of Realtors; and parking lighting and support services from Jan's Towing, and trash recycling courtesy of Waste Management.

Returning this year is the Hollywood premiere-style Red Carpet Experience created by Printing Control in partnership with Arcadia's Selfie Selfie photo studio.

As always, a percentage of proceeds from Taste of Arcadia are donated to local non-profit organizations -- $5 per ticket for every ticket sold by a pre-approved organization.

TWO DRINKING FOUNTAINS IN OLD TOWN GETTING FIXED

Last week, we were made aware of problems with two drinking fountains in Old Town that were not functioning. The first drinking fountain was the old Wishing Well Drinking Fountain, and the other drinking fountain is the one located in the walkway between Chang Thai Bistro and Pinkberry. It appears that the Wishing Well Drinking Fountain was totally inoperable, while the drinking fountain located in the walkway was leaking and in need of maintenance.

Staff did look into both of these issues this past week, and we are happy to report that both drinking fountains are currently getting fixed and should be fully repaired within the next week or two. It appears that there was a mechanical failure with the valve connected to the water line at the Wishing Well Drinking Fountain, and new parts have been ordered and the work has been scheduled. As for the other drinking fountain in the walkway, our crack staff at Public Services fixed the leak, polished the equipment, and ordered some new replacement parts that should be here soon. We will continue to monitor these drinking fountains, and all of the other drinking fountains we have, moving forward!

Vehicle Burglary May 29 at 2:45 a.m., a vehicle burglary was reported in the 900 block of West Huntington. The victim's vehicle was parked and locked in a parking stall. Unknown suspect(s) smashed the victim's passenger window and removed property that was left on the front passenger seat. The investigation is continuing. Bear Incident May 29 at 10:03 a.m., and officer responded to a residence in the 800 block of Wildrose regarding a bear. The homeowner saw a bear rip the metal screen off of the crawl space under her house, but didn't know if the bear had crawled inside the space. The officer checked the crawl space and the surrounding area, but the bear was gone from the location.

Bear Incident May 29 at 2:44 p.m., a resident in the 800 block of East Foothill called police and reported a bear swimming in the backyard pool of the home. An officer arrived and saw a juvenile bear in the backyard. He attempted to get the bear to move back into the foothills, however, it wouldn't leave the area. The officer then deployed two beanbag rounds at the bear, which successfully influenced the bear to return to the foothills.

Bear Incident May 29 at 3:14 p.m., officers were dispatched to the 800 block of Crescent on the report of a very large bear in a resident's backyard, but when officers arrived, the bear was gone. Callers began reporting the bear walking along Hillcrest. Officers responded to Hillcrest and located the bear in a backyard at the base of a large tree. They discovered her two cubs at the top of the tree. The mother began walking toward the officers, so two beanbags rounds were deployed at her, causing her to run away from the officers. She jumped a fence into another yard and then couldn't be found. The Department of Fish and Wildlife responded and stayed in the area until the cubs came down out of the tree to reunite with their mother and they all returned to the

Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol – Suspect Arrested May 29 at 8:25 p.m., a non-injury traffic collision was reported in the 800 block of Monterey. The investigation revealed that one of the motorists was driving under the influence of alcohol. The driver was arrested, taken into custody, and held for sobering.

Unlicensed Driver / Incident Report – Suspect Arrested May 30 at 1:17 a.m., an officer stopped a motorist for a vehicle code violation. Further investigation revealed the motorist was an unlicensed driver and was found to be in possession of documents containing other people's social security numbers. The suspect was arrested and taken into custody. The officer determined the suspect was using the social security numbers for employment purposes. The investigation is continuing and the report will be forward to the IRS to protect potential victims from receiving IRS penalties for unreported income.

Warrant Arrest May 30 at 2:02 a.m., an officer was on patrol and stopped a motorist for a vehicle code violation in the area of Peck and Emery. The officer discovered the motorist had an outstanding warrant for his arrest. The warrant was issued by the El Monte Police Department. The officer arrested the suspect for the warrant and El Monte police officers responded to the Monrovia jail and took custody of the suspect.

Possession of Methamphetamine / Under the Influence of Methamphetamine – Suspect Arrested May 30 at 9:38 p.m., an officer was dispatched to a business in the 500 block of West Huntington Drive regarding suspicious subjects loitering behind a store. When the officer arrived, he contacted the subjects and determined one of them,

HOMELESSNESS AND PARK CONDUCT COMMITTEE BEING RECONVENED

During the past several weeks, staff has been working to review the effectiveness of our current response to the homelessness issues that exist in our community, and to assess potential responses to new transient population issues that have arisen more recently. To that end, Chief Hunt has worked to reconvene the Homelessness and Park Conduct Committee to review the effectiveness of our current strategies, as well as discuss potential adjustments moving forward. Our current efforts have been based on the recommendations developed by the Homelessness & Park Conduct Committee that was established in 2014. The six ideas that the group came up with

- 1. Community Outreach Educational Programming
- 2. Directed Giving Campaign
- 3. Populate the Parks with Programs
- 4. Neighborhood Park Watch 5. Video Surveillance Cameras
- 6. Restorative Court Program
- Of late, new issues transient oriented concerns have been raised, and we plan on engaging the committee in a discussion regarding the following items:
- § Assess strategies for addressing the rise in transient populations living in recreational vehicles throughout the City
- § Determine next steps for the directed giving campaign
- § Discuss current status of the six initial recommendations adopted by the City Council
- The committee will be meeting here again in the next week or two, and we will be sure to keep everyone apprised of the progress that we make here moving forward.

EMERGENCY BOOSTER PUMP REPAIRS NEEDED FOR THE MOUNTAIN AVENUE BOOSTER STATION

One of the City's most important booster stations is located at 510 South Mountain Avenue. That facility, which is known as the Mountain Avenue Booster Station, feeds both the Cloverleaf Reservoir and the other portions of the Cloverleaf Pressure Zone. In total, 90.95% of all of the water supplied to customers runs through this particular booster pump location.

It appears that one of the critical booster pumps (Booster 2-4) at the Mountain Avenue Booster Station has been inoperable since 2. Shamrock Falcons February 2005. This situation does need to be resolved, as we are 3. Mayflower Mariners relying on our other pumps at the station operating at full capacity in order to be able to supply enough water to our customers during our summer months. > Possession of Metal Knuckles / Minors in Possession of Alcohol -Suspects Arrested May 30 at 11:04 p.m., an officer was patrolling the 200 block of East Olive when he noticed two suspicious subjects loitering in the alley. The officer attempted to contact the subjects and they ran from him. The officer eventually found the subjects hiding behind a vehicle and discovered they were minors that were consuming alcohol. The officer also found metal knuckles beneath the vehicle where the juveniles were hiding. The juveniles were arrested and released on citations to their parents.

> Armed Robbery June 1 at 2:03 a.m., officers responded to the 400 block of South Myrtle on the report of a robbery that had just occurred. The female victim reported she had been robbed approximately 15 minutes prior at the intersection of Myrtle and Huntington. She told the officers she had left a bar in the 400 block of South Myrtle and had walked to Huntington and Myrtle alone. A red Chevrolet Camaro drove up next to her and stopped. A male passenger exited the vehicle, pointed a black handgun at her and demanded she give him her purse. The victim refused, so the suspect grabbed the purse and they began to struggle with it. She told him to take everything except her phone. The male driver then leaned over the passenger seat, pointed another gun at the victim, and ordered the other suspect to shoot her. Distracted, the purse was pulled from the victim's grasp and its contents fell onto the ground. The suspect began picking up the contents and putting it back into the purse. The female picked up her phone. Once all the contents were back in the purse, the suspect walked up to the female and grabbed her phone. Both suspects then fled in the vehicle west on Huntington. Officers searched the area for the suspects, but were unable to locate them. This investigation is continuing.

> Armed Robbery - Suspects Arrested On June 1 at 1:13 a.m., an officer on patrol stopped a red Chevy Camaro on Foothill for a traffic violation. The vehicle was occupied by two male subjects in their twenties. The subjects claimed they were looking for an address and were distracted. The driver was let go with a warning. Shortly after, a female victim was robbed of her Verizon note pad by two male suspects in a red Chevy Camaro with handguns. Officers searched for the suspects and vehicle, but were unable to locate them. On June 1 at 10:27 p.m., the officer that made the original traffic stop saw the vehicle and suspects stopped at Madison and Foothill. A high-risk stop was made with the assistance of the Foothill Air Support helicopter. A search of the vehicle revealed two Airsoft guns and the property stolen in the robbery. The suspects were arrested and taken into custody, and the vehicle was stored as > Hit and Run Traffic Collision / Driving Under the Influence – Suspect Arrested June 2 at 10:02 p.m., officers responded to a traffic collision at Colorado and Mayflower. One of the vehicles tried fleeing the scene and the other driver chased after the vehicle. Both vehicles stopped at Olive and Monterey until officers arrived. Further investigation revealed the fleeing driver had been drinking alcohol. The driver was arrested for driving under the influence. There were no injuries from the collision.

> Domestic Violence - Suspect Arrested June 4 at 12:06 a.m., officers responded to the report of a female yelling for help in the 1800 block of South Mayflower. Officers arrived and located the house where the screaming was coming from. Investigation revealed the female subject had attacked her husband while he was trying to go to sleep. The husband had visible injuries to his neck and face. The wife was arrested

To further exacerbate the situation, during a very recent inspection, staff determined that one of the remaining critical booster pumps (Booster 2-1) at the Mountain Avenue Booster Station is in need of major repairs. While that booster pump is operating now, staff is certain that the pump will fail at some point in the near future. Given this situation, we are currently undertaking emergency repairs to Booster Pump 2-4 at the Mountain Avenue Booster Station to ensure that we will not have a system failure should Booster Pump 2-1 stop working.

ENHANCEMENTS TO THE MUD / DEBRIS BARRIERS DEVELOPED BY OUR PUBLIC SERVICES TEAM

In an effort to continually develop improvements for our residents, our Public Services Team recently hit upon an inexpensive and brilliantly simple solution to a problem that was vexing residents on Highland Place who had mud / debris barriers installed.

After the last rain event, while the barriers worked beautifully, we found that the holes that are used to hold the mud barriers in place were getting filled with debris. After looking into the issue, our team found some plumbing caps that would fit into the holes, and we installed about a dozen of them to see if they would hold up to the weathering and the street sweeper. Upon additional review, it turns out that the plumbing caps solution does work great, and we are now in the process of coordinating the implementation of this project throughout Highland Place.

YOUTH SOCCER ENDS A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The spring soccer semi-final and championship games were played on Wednesday, May 20, 2015 at Recreation Park. The semi-final game was played between the Boys and Girls Club, Shamrock Falcons and the Mayflower Mariners. The winner of that game advanced to play Bradoaks Bobcats for the championship title! The Boys and Girls Club team came out strong from the beginning and eventually won the semi-final game by a score of 4-2.

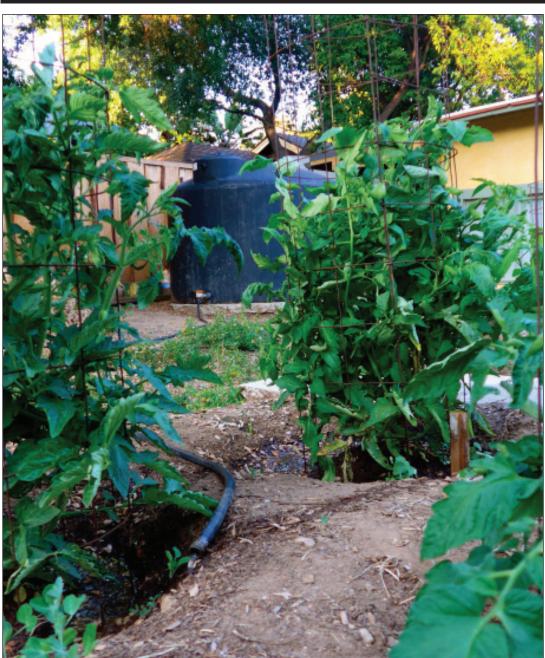

The Championship game was nothing short of a thriller! Bradoaks scored a goal in the first half and then the defenses took over. Neither team scored after that, and Bradoaks won the championship title 1-0! The final standings for this season's successful youth soccer season

- 1. Bradoaks Bobcats
- 4. Monroe Lions
- 5. Wild Rose Bears
- Cloverleaf Pressure Zone due to the fact that our remaining booster thanks to the players, staff, and volunteers that made it all possible!

JUSTICE FOR GRACIE

It could have happened to any one of us. We love our pets so much. We treat them like part of the family, and we do everything in our power to keep them healthy and happy. We even go to the extent of calling on the services of professional walkers to give our dogs the additional exercise and attention they may need, when or if we are unable to accommodate them due to our work or holiday schedules. Let's face it folks, as animal lovers there is little we won't do to better the lives

They bring us so much joy, and it pleases us to reciprocate. Indeed, it is hard to imagine life without them, and we'd rather not have to ponder the thought of the inevitable day when we do have to let them go. It is difficult enough to say good-bye to a pet that passes away from a disease or old age, but the idea of losing a beloved dog due to the neglect or abuse of a trusted care-giver is nearly impossible to wrap our minds around.

There was nothing particularly unusual happening in the life of a gorgeous, 1 1/2-yearold Husky named Gracie on the morning of May 18, 2015. Her human, Terri left for work, having made prior arrangements with a team of two dog-walkers to pick Gracie up a short time later, for what was expected to be a pleasant hike in the

It seemed like just another normal day, until that afternoon when Terri received a call from one of the dog walkers, saying that there had been some sort of an accident during their outing, and Gracie was in really bad shape and was at the vet being prepped for surgery. Terri was shocked and completely dumbfounded. What could possibly have happened to Gracie? She was perfectly fine when she'd left the house that morning; She'd been her usual happy, healthy and vibrant self. Now she was in critical condition? It just didn't make any sense.

As the events of that day continued to unfold, things began to make even less sense, and it only got worse. It all ended very tragically, with sweet Gracie crossing what we dog-lovers often call the rainbow bridge, and as you can imagine, words cannot describe the emotions Terri was left to process that evening. She was totally griefstricken and completely confused, all at the same time. How could a healthy young dog go out for a walk in the morning and suddenly end up dying before nightfall? There were, and still are many questions to be answered, but one thing is for sure; something went very mysteriously wrong

Gracie's tragic death has not only taken a toll on her loving owner, Terri. Everyone who knew Gracie, both human and canine alike, are overwhelmed with grief. Each morning since, they have awakened to the sadness of knowing that Gracie will no longer be a part of their lives.

She was such a bright light that was suddenly snuffed out, leaving them feeling as though there is a dark cloud hovering over their community.

Frustrated by the dog walkers' lack of response to her query as to what really took place during that fateful outing, Terri contacted the Humane Society to file a report of the incident. She then called the attending vet to request that a necropsy be done on Gracie's body, to hopefully bring some light to the mystery surrounding the cause of her untimely death. Because this is an open, ongoing case currently under investigation, further details cannot be disclosed at this time.

What, if anything, can be learned from this tragically surreal, yet true story? The first thing that comes to my mind is; be sure you know all there is to know about the dog walker or sitter you choose to hire. A person may seem sincerely concerned about the welfare of your dog, but let's face it folks, some books simply cannot be judged by their covers. This is not to say Terri did not do the right thing. She was introduced to the dog walkers through the referral of a friend, which is the most highly recommended means of finding a pet professional. She had no reason to doubt or question their integrity. The bottom line is, you can never really know, so ~

Ask for a list of current clients along with their phone numbers to call as a reference. Request a copy of a current California driver's license or ID. Be sure to get the address of each individual who pick up your dog and the location of their business, if it pertains. Also, get a copy of their business license and insurance policy. Don't be too shy to request this information and more from a potential pet care professional, just as you would expect it from those whom you entrust with your children. If they are truly legit and worthy of your patronage, they should have nothing to hide.

I, personally, have full faith that Gracie's death will not be in vain. I believe that Terri's questions will be answered and that justice will prevail. God cares about His every creature, great and small. He watches over us all, and He knows what really happened on the trail that day. For this reason I am confident that the truth will come to the surface. Perhaps Gracie had to give up her own life in order to save the lives of many others.

Terri has launched a fund-raising campaign to help pay for Gracie's necropsy ($14,00 had not been factored in to her well-managed yet humble monthly budget), and to help raise the awareness of other dog owners. Her goal is to gain Justice for Gracie while helping to prevent this from happening to anyone else's dog in the future.

If you would like take part in this very worthy cause, please visit the "Justice for Gracie" fund-raising page at HYPERLINK "http:// www.gofundme.com/w2g524" http://www.gofundme.com/w2g524 and click to donate any amount you can. # PET OF THE WEEK BUSTER: ANIMAL ID #A4833364

Meet Buster, a charismatic and personable black male Spaniel and Longhaired Chihuahua mix that loves life! Buster (A4833364) is a charming 11-year-old Spaniel Mix who was brought into the Baldwin Park Animal Care Center as an owner surrender on May 22nd. A tiny bit over weight at 21lbs, Buster is a sweet and friendly older dog with a lot of love for treats which is a good sign for future training (who says you can't teach an old dog new tricks?). Buster despite having a "senior status" also has a perfectly puppy-like face and is an adventurer who is always up for a bit of oldfashioned fun! He is outgoing and confident and friendly with other dogs actually he absolutely loves them! He originally came into the shelter with his buddy Lexi who is no longer there with him so he is looking for a new home and pack to join! He also absolutely loves people and is an excellent walker. Buster even shows signs of being housebroken he is ready and eager to enjoy life in a comfortable and happy home! Please be his lovely assistant and come adopt him! Buster is the perfect mixture of calm and fun we know he will make a super indoor pet for an individual or family living in a private home, he will do wonderfully with elders or children old enough to respect his itty bitty size. To watch a video of Buster please visit the following link: http:// youtu.be/SRVHWGGhOUU and https://youtu. be/EfHEpaNgTuc

To meet Buster in person, please see him at the Baldwin Park Shelter, located at 4275 N. Elton, Baldwin Park, CA 91706 (Phone: 626-430-2378 or 626-962-3577). He is available now. For any inquiries about Buster, please reference his animal ID number: A4833364. The shelter is open seven days a week, 12 pm-7 pm Monday-Thursday and 10am-5pm Friday-Sunday. This is a high-intake shelter with a great need for adoptions. For more information about Buster or the adoption process, contact United Hope for Animals Volunteer Adoption Coordinator Samantha at Samantha@ hope4animals.org.

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND?

To share the summer fun with.....Draco is your guy! He is a 1-year-old Whippet mix, weighing about 10 pounds. He has a short coat of reddish golden fur that is short and easy to care for. He is a very handsome boy with velvety ears that flop over in a charming way, and beautiful brown eyes.

Draco can be a little shy at first, but he is quick to warm up and show his happy, friendly disposition. He likes being with people, and he is quite comfortable sitting on a lap and getting one-onone affection. He has a way of looking up into your eyes that is sure to melt your heart.

Draco is still a young dog, and has a fairly high energy level. He is easy to harness and enjoys going for walks, although he could use some training on the leash. Draco loves to find a scent to follow, and is interested in exploring his surroundings when he gets a chance. He is a smart boy, and learned his "sit" command from one of our volunteers in just a few minutes. Draco is responsive, and motivated by treats, so training should be a fun activity to share with his new family!

Draco appears to enjoy the company of other dogs, gets along famously with his kennel mate and can be very playful when he finds a dog willing to Draco would make a wonderful pet in an active home where he is part of the family. He would benefit from some training, and would love to have a daily walk or two, and a yard where he can play and relax. And in his quiet time, he would love to in to meet him. He is waiting for you!

Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las Tunas. To pets.

arrange a 'Meet and Greet' with Draco, please stop by any time from 10:00am to 4:30pm Tuesday thru Sunday.

ARCADIA HIGH SCHOOL WINS NATIONAL QUIZ BOWL CHAMPIONSHIP

ARCADIA-- The Arcadia High School Quiz Bowl team won the National Quiz Bowl Championship hosted by National Academic Quiz Tournaments (NAQT) in Chicago on May 30 and May 31. Arcadia High School is the first team from Southern California to win this prestigious academic competition.

272 of the best teams from all over the United States and Canada converged on the Hyatt Regency O'Hare to compete for the title. This was the tenth annual competition, with Arcadia High School competing in all nine previous tournaments. The Apaches' best showing prior to this year was when they placed 5th in

Arcadia went through the prelims on Saturday with a record of 8-2 and was seeded seventh going into Sunday's playoffs. At the end of the 22nd round (the 15th match for AHS), Arcadia was one of the last two teams in the winners bracket. They lost a close match (375-360) to defending national champions Liberal Arts and Science Academy from Austin, Texas. They then went into the losers bracket and after three matches against teams that were all ranked in the top ten in the country, found themselves again matched up against the Liberal Arts and Science Academy for the title. In the final match, after five questions, Arcadia was down 140-15. The Apaches kept their composure and rallied back to catch up at question sixteen, and then put away the defending champs for good, pulling away to a convincing 410-285 win.

The championship team is comprised of four seniors: Kevin Wang, Justin Nghiem, Yuqiao Zhao, and Andrew Leung, and they are coached by Arcadia High School English/Language Arts teacher Christopher Schultz.

Quiz Bowl is an academic competition that has a format similar to Jeopardy, but the questions are much more difficult. The questions range over the entire spectrum of a high school curriculum and also include a certain amount of current events, sports, and popular culture.

The matches feature a blend of individual competition and team collaboration.

Arcadia High School actually had three teams qualify for the national championships. The Apaches "C" team finished in a tie for 21st place. No other school in the tournament had a higher placing second team. That team was made up of seniors Cibi Pari and Chris Chi and freshmen Matt Forster and Hamlin Liu.

The Quiz Bowl team is one of more than 50 academic teams or clubs at Arcadia High School, many of which also have a long history of putting Arcadia High academics in the national spotlight. The History Bowl team also qualified for its national championship in Washington D.C. this year, and the Ocean Sciences Bowl team competed in Ocean Springs, Mississippi in a national tournament. The Science Bowl team placed 4th in Washington D.C. at its national competition, and the Arcadia High School "We the People" Constitution Team earned a coveted spot to compete in the 2015 National Finals in Washington D.C. in April.

STUDENTS OVERCOME CHALLENGES TO GRADUATE FROM HILLSIDES EDUCATION CENTER

PASADENA, CA - It was a day of celebration and tears, of endings and

On June 2, 10 seniors graduated from Hillsides Education Center (HEC). During a packed ceremony held in Hillsides auditorium, their teacher, Julie Howell, characterized the class as "very courageous, very supportive, very compassionate, humorous, very stubborn, but more than anything, very giving individuals."

Graduating senior Ernesto Shimizu receives his diploma from Ryan Eisenberg, the director of Hillsides Education Center during an emotional graduation ceremony.

Each graduating senior spoke about the challenges they worked hard to overcome during their time at HEC. One student said how before coming to HEC he hated school, another told of her struggles to heal from the traumatic loss of her beloved grandmother, while another explained how he finally conquered the urge to ditch class: "When I saw the seniors last year in their caps and gowns, I knew I wanted the same thing. And here I am," he said.

Students also gave thanks to their families, teachers, and staff at HEC. "I felt I belonged here from the first day, and here I have grown to be the man I am," said one proud graduate.

Ryan Eisenberg, the director of HEC, said that this year's class had a special place in his heart because his start at HEC coincided with the seniors' freshman year. He also praised the class for being a "true representation of the community we try to promote within Hillsides."

Six of the graduating seniors plan on attending college. The rest are headed for vocational schools or jobs.

HEC is a therapeutic residential and day school offering individualized education for students in kindergarten through 12th grade with socialemotional, learning and/or behavioral challenges. It focuses on emotional as well as academic success through its unique GROWTH program, now in its second year. The GROWTH program focuses on individual skill development in personal awareness, social awareness, problem-solving

HEC is one of four core programs of Hillsides, a premier provider of child welfare services headquartered in Pasadena and serving Los Angeles County. Hillsides offers quality care, advocacy, and innovative services that promote safe, permanent environments where young people can thrive. ### THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show EX MACHINA REVIEW

Throughout the past year, there have been a slew of many movies focused on AI's. From 'Transcendence', to 'Chappie', to 'Avengers: Age of Ultron', there have been too many to count; however, what makes 'Ex Machina' so different and original from all the others?

Caleb (Domhnall Gleeson) surprisingly wins a competition he entered to go visit the CEO of his company, Nathan (Oscar Isaac). He arrives at Nathan's house and so discovers that the technological genius has been experimenting with AI and his, as well as the AI's, intentions are soon revealed.

'Ex Machina' finds its strength and individuality from the script's ability to develop interesting, fully fleshed out characters as well as creating new and creative plot twists to keep the movie engaging. 'Ex Machina' is an original sci-fi movie that deserves to be seen.

Currently, on indie label Joyful Noise Recordings, the band has shifted back to their indie roots. However, a deeply somber situation has recently come to light. Guitarist Thomas Fekete has left the group due to a medical diagnosis for a rare form of cancer that had spread to his lungs and spine. With his absence and optimistic recovery in mind, Surfer Blood remains in tack with their third LP, '1000 Palms'. In light of all this, it is certainly the group's most established record to date. In 2015, several bands are attempting to change their signature formula, as they get further into their individual careers. While Surfer Blood isn't reshaping their fuzzy, summery and laidback vibe, they are however taking an essential step forward to refine their true creativity. The results are great with a dreamlike vibe and a wistfulness that still suggests confidence throughout the course of eleven tracks.

Urban Cone - 'Polaroid Memories' - Released on May 12th, 2015 - Swedish indie pop collective Urban Cone may specialize in infectious electropop, but they bring a different approach than their US counterparts. In 2013, via Universal Music Group, Urban Cone released 'Our Youth'—a tantalizingly delightful debut that allowed them to transfer some of their momentum from abroad to American soil. With two years dividing the releases, there is even a greater accessible pop sound to be heard on the sophomore record, 'Polaroid Memories'. Urban Cone shares some similarities with Australian synth-poppers, The Griswolds, who they are coincidentally opening up for on their own US headlining tour in June. However, despite the similarity in quality, Urban Cone has created a compilation of eleven synth-driven and poppy infused tracks that are affluent with jubilance. In fact, submerged underneath many of the glib sounding tracks is much depth to be discovered. This results in strong replay value for these songs off 'Polaroid Memories'. This quality is something that is greatly

On the Marquee:

Notes from the Sierra MadrePlayhouse

OUR STOCK-IN-TRADE

By Artistic Director, Christian Lebano

I came across a line that struck me while reading the wonderful Canadian writer Robertson Davies' The Lyre of Orpheus: "I hate theatre where the audience is told to use its imagination. That's cheap. The audience lays down its good money to rent imagination from somebody who has more than they ever dreamed of. Somebody like me. Imagination's my only stock-in -trade."

That passage stopped me when I read it. I agree with it mostly - always so satisfying to be really dazzled by an inventive stage design. AND the reason I like to give audiences a little surprise in every production. Think of the tent and the campfire in Battledrum or the use of the trap for the trunk of the car in Driving Miss Daisy. That said, I can think of a few bare-bones roductions that I've loved – but I think those were the proverbial rule-proovers!

I've been so pleased with what we've been accomplishing at the Playhouse with our sets recently. We've had the good fortune to have some wonderful designers work with us and I think the sets have been really wonderful – from the mess of Oscar's Upper West Side apartment in The Odd Couple to the simplicity of the Ingall's cabin in A Little House Christmas. Our designers have used their imaginations to our benefit. I love standing at the entrance to our auditorium and listen to patrons react to the set for the first time. As they sit there waiting for the play to begin, I really hope that audiences will be prepped to enter the world of the play.

We have the good fortune to have our local Sierra Madrean John Vertrees working with us again on Always...Patsy Cline, our next show. As you can see, his design renders Louise Seger's kitchen where much of the action takes place, as well as the honky tonk bar where she and Patsy met, and a bandstand which will stand in for the various stages on which Patsy sang (the show features 19 of her classic songs!) A set has to create a world for both the audiences and for the actors. I think this one will live in our theater beautifully. What you can't see from this rendering is that we are planning on turning the audience area into a honky tonk as well.

Please come see how well we've done with our imaginations when the show opens on July 31. Tickets are already selling! The Odd Couple has been playing to delighted houses and will play

Traditionally, one of the primary reasons for establishing a living trust has been to avoid probate. But your living trust that can help you accomplish much more than that, if it's set up correctly:

Asset protection for heirs. One of the most significant benefits of a living trust can be to protect inherited assets for heirs. For example, because minor children are not allowed by law to inherit property, a guardian is appointed by the state to hold the property for them until they reach the age of 18. Most parents would agree, however, that 18 is still too young to manage even a modest inheritance.

Executing a living trust on the other hand, allows you to control how and when an inheritance is distributed and to name a trusted person to act as trustee. In addition, a living trust can be especially useful in protecting assets from spendthrift heirs, their creditors or a potential divorce, if it's set up right.

Most living trusts I review have been set up to distribute assets outright to kids at age 21, 25, or 30 instead of keeping assets in trust for the life of the kids - and eventually giving the kids control of those assets. This type of planning is still fairly unknown to most attorneys, but can ensure that what you leave to your kids will not be at risk from any future divorces, lawsuits, bankruptcies or other creditor matters.

Ensure none of your assets are lost. The vast majority of the time a living trust is created, one of the most important and valuable aspects of creating the trust is lost -- making sure that when you become incapacitated or die your loved ones stay out of Court and the assets you've worked so hard for make it to the people you want to have

If your assets are not titled in the name of your trust correctly, that won't happen. Your loved ones will have to go to Court to take ownership and control of your assets. And, oftentimes, they may not even be able to find your assets. There are currently billions of dollars in assets sitting in the State Departments of Unclaimed Property because people die and their loved ones didn't know what

One of the things we do in our office is prepare a Family Wealth Inventory to ensure your assets are easily located by your family. As long as it is kept up to date (and we help with that, too) you'll never have to worry that what you are working so hard to create will be lost when you are

Plus, when you have a relationship with our office, we'll make sure your loved ones know just what to do if anything ever happens to you.

Incentivize your children to grow your wealth, not squander it. As I mentioned, most trust plans are crafted to distribute assets outright to kids when they turn certain ages, whether they are ready for it or not. And chances are that if you die when your kids are still young, they will not be ready to fully inherit your wealth at an early age.

We recommend you use your living trust to properly prepare your children to receive their inheritance. That means allowing them to be a co-trustee for some period of time before receiving full control of their trust assets. It means introducing them to us, if we are your lawyer, so we can begin to help guide them during your lifetime and not wait until after you are gone. You may also want to consider making small lifetime gifts into an irrevocable trust for their benefit so you can start to teach them how to grow the assets while you are living and enter into a partnership for creating more family wealth that can last for generations.

One of the main goals of my law firm is to help families like yours plan for the safe, successful transfer of wealth to the next generation. Call our office today if you have a trust that hasn't been reviewed recently or if you're ready to get a comprehensive plan in place to protect your loved

A 3-MONTH MARKETING PLAN FOR ONLY $100

Sometimes the simplest thing can make a difference.

It's amazing how many "businesses" are using a Gmail, Yahoo, AOL or other generic email address as their primary business email address. Seeing a generic email address is a red flag that says –"This isn't a real business!" or worse "This is spam!" Having your business name in your email address is not expensive (instead of bob@gmail.com, use bob@yourbusinessname.com). Annual domain registration is about $15 per year. Most domain registry services like godaddy.com include an email address or two. Once you have your email address, put it to good use. Reach out to your current customers with email marketing. At least once per month, send your current customers a professional looking, branded marketing message using an email service provider like Constant Contact. Next, reach beyond your current customers. Social media can help build your audience, but the play for free days are coming to an end. So you need to set aside some of your budget for advertising on these channels.

Facebook's ad model is affordable and can be very effective. Yes, you will need to have a campaign strategy and relevant message/call-to-action and you will need to experiment and adjust. But the exposure should pay off. We've seen businesses grow awareness, sales and engagement by using Facebook ads and not really spending a lot of money.

So, back to the $100 investment for a 3-month campaign:

- Purchase a domain for your business = $15
- Constant Contact Email Marketing starts at $20/month x 3 months = $60*
- Facebook ads =  $10 \times 3 = 30^*$ That leaves \$5 for a cup of coffee – Bonus!

Why not spend it all in one month? You certainly could, but repetition, consistency and perseverance tend to be a better strategy. Hence the 3 months time frame mentioned above.

THE JOY OF YOGA POSES FOR STRESS RELIEF

It's great to have a few poses right our fingertips to help cope with stress. Although we each have our own individual needs, here are a few key poses that can help all of us shift perspective and melt stress.

1. Child's pose is a wonderful go-to relaxing & releasing pose. Start on your hands and knees (body like a table) and bring hips back to your heels on exhale. Your forehead should rest comfortably on the floor, or on a block. Toes are untucked in this pose. Arms can remain in front (palms face down) or come to rest along side your body (palms facing up). Begin to breathe in this pose, taking 8-12 breaths.

2. Straddle leg forward fold is both a forward fold and an inversion. It has incredible benefits, the biggest of which is that it stimulates the parasympathetic nervous system. This generates a calming response to Namaste, our entire body. From standing, take the feet apart approximately 3 1/2 to 4 feet. Make sure the feet are Keely Totten pointed straight ahead, and begin to fold forward. There can be a slight bend to the knees to assist tight muscles. Place fingertips or hands down between the legs or just in front (resting on a block or small of books if you need to be higher). Begin to breathe in this pose, taking 8-12 breaths.

3. Legs up-the-wall is another great pose. Simply sit sideways next to a wall with your knees to your chest. Begin to lay down on your side, slowly creeping legs up the wall. Torso remains on the earth and legs together, up the wall as you turn onto your back. Stay here in this pose breathing steadily for 3-5 minutes.

Try these three poses and see how they work for you. Make sure you're comfortable and pain free.

The most important part is to engage in conscious, mindful breathing (through the nose) while you're

The first step to wealth is health." - Ralph Waldo Emerson the word nutritious, or is it good or right for you? Does

Many people on the road to success intentionally or unintentionally sacrifice a lot. Health is one of those aspects of life that tends to be neglected on the road to success. Many people spend the first part of their life earning a much as they can and then spend the second half trying to buy back the health that was lost.

the other aspects of life may be diminished and are not able to be enjoyed. With it, all the other aspects become away at it until it no longer serves you more valuable.

we have learned the lesson of compound interest over many years of how with regular deposits we can accumulate quite a fortune. The same with debt and the negative effects of compound interest which can cost us a fortune over time.

In regards to our health, there are things we can do to invest in our selves to promote and protect our health. If we do these things on a regular basis, making deposits in our selves, we can provide a wealth of health that allows us to enjoy this journey through life without physical limitations. As in financial investments where we can receive interest, in personal investments we can receive self-interest. This is different than selfishness for our self-interest in this context gives us the capacity to do more for more people, gives us the discipline to manage ourselves and in turn increases our ability to help others, and positions us as a model for others to Think of those people you know who exude health and confidence? Are they productive, resourceful, positive, energetic and confident? Do you want to be in their circle of influence? If you aspire to these things then you will want to be in their presence to inspire and motivate

Now, if you can, think of those who are struggling. I'm not talking about short term but those who are always struggling. What is their presence like? Are they positive and confident? Do they use their resources well or do they even realize what they have? Do they inspire can be more risky in regards to wealth building because you? Do they suck the energy out of you? Do you want to be in their presence? Probably not, so in regards to the greater the risk the greater the reward. When you health and wealth you must look at what actions people are taking. Are they positive and constructive actions or negative and destructive actions?

There are principles upon which health is founded just as there are principles upon which wealth is founded. It is not surprising that there are parallels between the two as they are similar.

It has been put forth that the pillars of health are:

- Exercise Nutrition
- Sleep/Rest
- Posture
- Structure and function

It has also been postulated that the pillars of wealth building

- Goal Setting
- Debt Management Philanthropy
- Risk Tolerance Spending Plan/Budget

The commonality of these principles are as follows:

Exercise – Goal Setting. In health, exercise is one of the two most important activities along with good nutrition as a foundation of good health. The body needs movement to lubricate the joints, move fluids around so they won't stagnate, reduce stress, build cardiovascular endurance and burn calories.

Exercise rarely "just happens" but is planned and made part of one's schedule. The same is true with wealth building and goal setting. What are you working towards? Is it describable, measurable, and does it fit within the larger structure of ones life?

It is said that a goal is a dream not yet realized. To make that dream come true action must be taken to move one toward that goal. Goal setting spurns action, exercise is action.

Nutrition – Debt Management. In health, nutrition is the fuel for your body. What you eat you become. Along with exercise, nutrition it is the foundation of good health. You can eat anything but nutrition gives way to this food empower you or weaken you?

The same with debt, good debt is what people owe you or the investments that are a cost to you but bring a return. Good debt compounds in a way that raises your assets, bad debt, credit cards, revolving charge cards, loans to pay bills are bad debt and eat away at you just One of our greatest assets is our health. Without it as if you were putting bad things in your body. You can either add to your bank account or your health or chip

Sleep/Rest - Philanthropy. Sleep and rest provide When we invest our money in financial investments, a chance for your body to repair itself. During your whether it is stocks and bonds, mutual funds, businesses waking hours your body is in mostly a catabolic state or or projects, we do so with a hope that we will be given a breakdown state, as your body breaks down proteins, a return on our investments or interest. Hopefully fats, and carbohydrates for energy. When you rest you give back to your body a chance to repair as it goes into an anabolic state or build up. Giving this time back to your body ensures that your body will serve you the next day and beyond. You can't just take, take, take, from your body. It will break down and not be able to be repaired.

The same with philanthropy or giving back. Using your resources to give back empowers the world and provides the stimulus to show others that they too should give back. If everyone just took, took, took, there soon would be none left for anyone and we would all perish. Giving back provides you the chance to be a center of distribution as things flow through you. When you give you actually set up a momentum to allow it to come back to you. As you sleep you give back to your body a chance to work so that in the future you can live and live well. Those who give back allow the world in which they live to share in their wealth and allow it to flow back to them. It is no secret that the most affluent people are also the biggest givers Posture - Risk Tolerance. In health good posture is essential to allowing your body to function with the greatest efficiency. Poor posture stresses the body and makes it work harder and wears it out faster. How you stand, sit, sleep and move is dependent on the proper posture and its effect on health.

In Wealth building risk tolerance is the posture you take to maximize your potential. When you are younger you you have time to correct for the ups and downs because get older and you need to protect your assets your risk tolerance may change to be less risky. It all depends on what you are trying to accomplish and at what time. Attitude - Spending plan/Budget. It is said attitude is everything. Your attitude will set your altitude and it's not what happens to you it is how you respond to it. Well it is more than that. There is a physiological component to attitude and it is known that a positive attitude is an immune system enhancer. Your immune system protects your body from unfriendly invaders and keeps you healthy.

Your spending plan or budget functions the same way. It protects your financial health by making sure that your assets are allocated properly, that you can meet your obligations, build wealth and not overextend yourself exposing you to problems. Your budget protects you and helps to extend your financial life.

Structure-Function/Tax Planning. In health, the relationship between structure and function is paramount. Structure can influence function. If an artery is blocked in the heart, that is poor structure and can compromise the function of the heart. In wealth building, tax planning and structuring your investments can be the difference between wealth building or wealth compromise. Just as there are many things you can do to improve the structure of your body so it functions well, you can structure your investments and your tax planning so that you can maximize your returns and fulfill your tax responsibilities.

These are but a few examples of comparisons between health and wealth building. You invest in yourself as you invest in the finance market for a return on your investment; interest in the form of dividends and gains and self interest as you build health.

Considering the fact that the number one reason people file bankruptcy is medical expenses, by improving your health and minimizing the debilitating effects of preventable health conditions, you avoid expenses that can drain your financial house of its foundations and structure. So in your journey to personal success make sure that the promoting and protecting the health of your body is also at the top of your priority list.

Anthony last week and he showed me the French oak barrels that store his pinot noir juice for at least ten months. Anthony says, "Monterey is great for pinot noir due to its cool climate, which is highly influenced by fog and wind from the Monterey Bay. These weather conditions allow optimal fruit maturation and concentration of flavors, such as black cherry and raspberry."

Luckily for me, the downtown LA winery has a tasting area. I enjoyed the fruit-driven flavors Anthony spoke about as well as the light tannins that the oak ageing produced for this 2012 Pinot. Pinot noir is one of the most resilient grapes, and I can see why its popularity is skyrocketing. 2012 was a very good harvest. This reasonably priced pinot noir will be the perfect addition to any backyard BBQ or weekend pasta meal with family and friends. ### CHOOSING A HOME BLOOD PRESSURE MONITOR

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you offer me any tips on choosing a home blood pressure monitor? I just found out I have high blood pressure, and my doctor told me I need a monitor for the house so I can keep an eye on it. Shopping Around prehypertension should have a home blood pressure monitor. Home monitoring can help you keep tabs on your blood pressure in a comfortable setting. Plus, if you're taking medication it will make certain it's working, and alert you to a health problem if it arises. Here are some tips to help you choose a good monitor.

Dear Shopping:

Types of Monitors

The two most popular types of home blood pressure monitors on the market today are (electric and/ or battery powered) automatic arm monitors, and automatic wrist monitors.

With an automatic arm monitor, you simply wrap the cuff around your bicep and with the push of one button the cuff inflates and deflates automatically giving you your blood pressure reading on the display window in a matter of seconds.

Wrist monitors work similarly, except they attach to the wrist. Wrist monitors are also smaller in size and a bit more comfortable to use than the arm monitors, but they tend to be a little less accurate.

To help you choose the best monitor for you, here are several things you need to check into:

- Fit: Using a cuff that's the wrong size can result in a bad reading. Most arm models have two sizes or an adjustable cuff that fits most people. Make sure your choice fits the circumference of your upper arm.

- Accuracy: Check the packaging to make sure the monitor has been independently tested and validated for accuracy and reliability. You can see a list of validated monitors at dableducational.org.

- Ease of use: Be sure the display on the monitor is easy to read and understand, and that the buttons are big enough. The directions for applying the cuff and operating the monitor should be clear.

- Extra features: Many monitors come with detection that checks for arrhythmias and other author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

Almost everyone with high blood pressure or abnormalities; a risk category indicator that tells you whether your blood pressure is in the high range; a data-averaging function that allows you to take multiple readings and get an overall average; multiple user memory that allows two or more users to save previous readings; and computer connections so you can download the data to your computer.

> - Portability: If you plan to take your monitor with you while traveling, look for one with a carrying case.

Where to Shop

You can find blood pressure monitors at pharmacies, medical supply stores or online, and you don't need a prescription to buy one.

The price will typically range anywhere from $30 to $120 or more. Unfortunately, original Medicare does not pay for home blood pressure monitors unless you're receiving dialysis at home. But if you have a Medicare Advantage plan or a private health insurance policy it's worth checking into, because some plans may provide coverage.

Some of the best arm monitors as recently recommended by Consumer Reports include the Rite Aid Deluxe Automatic BP3AR1-4DRITE; iHealth Dock BP3 (requires an Apple iOS device); Omron 10 Series BP786; A&D Medical UA767F; and the ReliOn BP200. And the top recommended wrist monitor is the Omron 7 Series BP652.

After you buy a monitor, it's a good idea to take it to your doctor's office so they can check its accuracy and teach you the proper techniques of how and when to in 1983 did not inspire them to buy a new one, so I grew up sans television. This has contributed to my identity as a closet old person, which is even more apparent now that my column appears in "The Good Life" section under "Senior Happenings." I laughed when I first noticed that.

Now that the Internet has made it possible for people to watch their favorite vintage TV shows, my parents are enjoying a renaissance of "Have Gun, Will Travel," "The Andy Griffith Show," and "Bonanza." Each has spawned jokes and thought provoking observations about the story lines and characters. "Guess what Paladin's first name is?" my dad asked. I gave up. "Wire," he said, "His cards say, 'Wire Paladin." Now you'd really have to be a closet old person to get that one. For any young people reading this, to "wire" meant to telegraph. Therefore, if someone said, "Wire the mayor," they meant "Contact the mayor." Fascinating stuff, I

Mom's latest interest is "Bonanza." In the show, Ben Cartwright lives with his three sons, Adam, Hoss,

Each son is from a different mother, prompting and judgments simpler. For a closet old person been! It takes place in the wild, wild west (another and more like 1984. favorite show) in the mid 1800's. In the first season the writers made an effort to include historical the adventure my husband and I had roasting figures, such as Henry Comstock, of the Comstock our Memorial Day turkey, I just wanted to let you Lode, and others. That eventually petered out, know that we did finally find the giblets! They were giving way to occasional fanciful episodes, such as hiding in the neck cavity --who knew!

I called my parents the other when Hoss came across a band of leprechauns.

Like many old shows, the cast had a limited the "Bonanza" theme song on wardrobe. Ben always wore a buff colored vest, their answering machine! My Adam was the cool one in all black (very ahead of parents have been without a his time), Hoss wore a ten gallon hat and a little TV since July 1976. It's an easy vest that emphasized his hefty frame, and Little Joe date to remember because they was perpetually sporting a green jacket. The other were watching the tall ships during the Bicentennial night I mused that it would have been funny if they

> one of countless identical green jackets. When they got dressed up, each wore a string tie, a' la Colonel Sanders. Adam's didn't stand out much against his black outfit, but you knew it was there. This trend of always wearing the same thing was not new to "Bonanza." "The Honeymooners" and other shows from that era did the same thing. But Ralph and Alice Kramden lived in a tiny tenement apartment in New York, so you'd expect they couldn't afford much. On the other hand, the Cartwrights owned half the state of Nevada, so they certainly could've afforded more wardrobe diversity!

> Although Bonanza had its cheesy aspects, its traditional wholesome values and entertainment were endearing. The audience knew who the good guys were because what they did was right. It was also clear who the bad guys were, because what they did was evil. And the good guys always won in the end. This is in sharp contrast to so much of the current media offerings. It would be overly simplistic to says that life was easy, but having and Little Joe on the Ponderosa ranch in Nevada. a shared moral compass at least made decisions jokes about what kind of husband Ben must have like me, our Brave New World is looking more

UPCOMING EXCURSIONS:

THE ALPACA HACIENDA (TEMECULA)

Date: June 30, 2015 Time: 9:00am to 4:30pm

Meeting Location: Hart Park House Senior Center Cost: $12.00 (Does not include lunch)

Description: Learn about the history of the alpaca, why we raise them and how we care for them. You'll learn some of their quirky traits and other interesting facts. You may hand feed the alpacas if you like; this is a great opportunity for photographs! This tour includes a miniseminar on how we work with the fiber, from washing and carding, to spinning and felting, and will give you a brief history of spinning fibers into yarn. Spend some time in our boutique where you can find beautiful, handmade items by local fiber artists made from alpaca fiber, as well as luxurious scarves, hats, sweater and gloves. Lunch will be on your own at Old Town Temecula. Participants should bring money for lunch and souvenirs. Last day to register is Wednesday, June 24th. Level of Walking: Medium

Excursion Refund Policy

Notification of the cancellation must be made at least 3 business days before the excursion. A refund will only be issued 1) for a medical excuse or 2) if the Department is able to fill the patrons spot from a waiting list. This refund will be issued in the form of a credit which will be applied to the patron's account with the City, less a $10 cancellation fee. The credit will remain on your account for one year from the date issued and the credit may be used for any program or service offered by the Community Services Dept.

PLUTO'S MOONS SEEN IN HIGHEST DETAIL YET

Much ink has been spilled over Pluto's reclassification as a dwarf planet. And yet, such discussions have not diminished scientific interest in Earth's most distant cousin. A new study is the first to reveal fascinating details about the orbital and rotational patterns of Pluto and its five known

The study, published in the June 4, 2015, issue of the journal Nature, describes a system dominated by Pluto and its largest moon, Charon, which together form a "binary planet." Four smaller moons orbit this pair. The paper reports the techniques used to discover the two smallest moons, Kerberos and Styx, and also provides a detailed description of the strange and unpredictable rotational states of the two slightly larger moons, Nix and Hydra.

Later this summer, NASA's New Horizons spacecraft will pass by Pluto and its five known moons, providing the most detailed look at this planetary system to date. Kerberos and Styx were discovered in 2011 and 2012, respectively, while Nix and Hydra were first discovered in 2005.

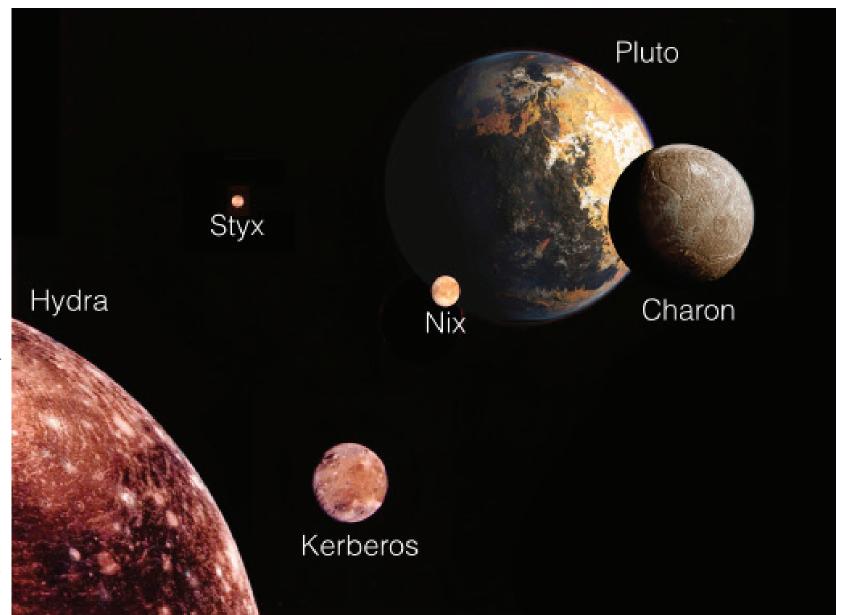

"Like good children, our moon and most others keep one face focused attentively on their parent planet," said Douglas Hamilton, professor of astronomy at the University of Maryland and a coauthor of the Nature study. "What we've learned is that Pluto's moons are more like ornery teenagers who refuse to follow the rules."

The imbalanced and dynamically shifting gravitational field created by Pluto and Charon sends the smaller moons tumbling in unpredictable ways. The effect is amplified by the fact that the moons are roughly football shaped, rather than rounded spheres. The findings are the result of a comprehensive analysis of Hubble Space Telescope data regarding the orbits and properties of the four smaller moons.

In contrast to these seemingly random rotational motions, the moons follow a surprisingly predictable pattern as they orbit the binary planet formed by Pluto and Charon. Three of them-Nix, Styx and Hydra—are locked together in resonance, meaning that their orbits follow a clockwork pattern of regularity. The same effect can be seen in three of Jupiter's large moons.

"The resonant relationship between Nix, Styx and Hydra makes their orbits more regular and predictable, which prevents them from crashing into one another," Hamilton said. "This is one reason why tiny Pluto is able to have so many moons."

The study also revealed that Kerberos is as dark system," Showalter said. The New Horizons flyby in might behave. Although many exoplanets have MtnViewsNews.com.

Astronomers had predicted that dust created by meteorite impacts should coat all the moons evenly, giving their surfaces a uniform look.

DISCOVERING THE WILD RADISH

Raphanus sativus and R. raphanistrum

When I encounter a field of wild radishes in the spring, I attempt to get my students to identify it by the aroma alone. I'll first crush a bit of the stem, and let them smell it.

'Oh, that's very familiar" most of them will say. Then I will pull up a root, which is a long carrot-like white taproot. It's very woody, but the skin can be readily peeled off. I give each student a piece of this root, and let them smell again. The odor of the root is much more pungent, and unmistakable. I encourage them to taste a bit. "Tastes like radish," most will say. Yes, indeed! It smells and tastes like radish because that's what it is. This is the same botanical plant which is cultivated, except this one is feral.

For most people, the wild radish root bears little resemblance to the little round red things purchased in supermarkets, and eaten at Thanksgiving. And because the wild root is so woody, it really isn't all that useful for food, unless you want to take the time to peel each root and use just the skin.

Occasionally, during wet winters and in very rich soil, the radish plant will produce a root that is much less woody and more-or-less edible raw in salad, if you slice it up. Yes, it is much spicier than its domestic counterpart, but it can be eaten raw in rare cases.

During one very wet year, I pulled an amazing 16 pound wild radish root from out of the thick pile of wood chips in which it was growing. No one could believe it! In fact, I have never seen a root that size since. It was bigger than a human head. We cut into it, and it was hollow, with a mustardsmelling liquid inside. The flesh was perhaps up to two inches thick, and though a bit fibrous, was largely edible. We all sampled a little of the raw, and very hot, root.

Normally, you won't be eating the wild radish root, but it's still a very good find. Why? Because every part of the wild radish plant which is tender can be eaten! And each part has a different texture and flavor which lends it to different recipes.

EATING WILD RADISH

The leaves can be collected at any time in their growing cycle, cut into small pieces, and added to salads. They are hot and spicy, so add to other greens. Though they are good in salads, you'd probably not care for a salad of only radish leaves. Mix them with other greens, and toss in some tomatoes and avocado.

The leaves can also be added to soups, egg dishes, and stews, used in pretty much the same way you'd use

The white to lavendar flowers are quite tasty and sweet when you first pick and nibble them, but your mouth will get very hot. Eat them sparingly. Many times I've been out on a field trip with children, and they taste a radish, and they like it. They eat another. And another. And another. And before you know it, they're all yelling for water, which they all were asked to leave back in the school bus!

> You can pick the flowers and add to salads and other dishes as a tasty garnish.

The tender flower tips which includes the tender stems somewhat resembling Chinese broccoli—can be snapped free, steamed or boiled, and served with butter, cheese, or a spicy sauce. You'd serve this very much like asparagus, except they are much spicier.

The green seedpods, which somewhat resemble jalapeño or serrano chiles, can be nibbled when they are still tender inside and haven't gotten woody. You can add the chopped tender pods to soups and salads, or try pickling them. Once they get old, and white inside, they are already too old to eat and should be left alone to produce seed.

I make pickles very simply. I first wash a few cups worth of the tender pods, and then pack them into quart jars. I cover with raw apple cider vinegar, and just let them set in the refrigerator for a few weeks before eating. The vinegar will preserve them for

RECOGNIZING THE WILD RADISH

As the plant flowers, instead of the usual yellow mustard flowers, the flowers will be lavendar or white, or very rarely a pale yellow. There is the typical Mustard family flower formula of 4 petals, 4 sepals, 6 stamens (4 long and 2 short), and 1 pistil. The flowers are followed by fleshy seedpods that resemble pointed jalapeño peppers.

The root of wild radish is a white taproot, not at all like the radish you might grow in your garden or buy in the store. It is largely woody and inedible, though there is a soft outer layer that can be peeled off. The taste of this outer root layer is so obviously "radish" that most anyone can identify this plant by that aroma and flavor.

Overall, wild radish can get up to 4 and 5 feet in ideal conditions. You find it in fields, wet bottom lands, farms, vacant lots, and disturbed soils.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

A WAIST IS A TERRIBLE THING TO MIND

Is it just me or has the whole world going crazy about diets and exercise?

This came to me sometime this week when I was having trouble sleeping one night. I was tossing, turning and getting grunts from the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage.

I decided to get up and watch a little television to make me sleepy. Nothing makes me sleepy like watching television. Of course, when my wife and I are watching TV together we both are complaining about how many commercials there

I decided to watch a little bit of television and hopefully in a half hour or so I would get sleepy enough so I could go back to bed. During my watching, I came across so many "infomercials" that I thought I was dreaming or at least having a

The thing I noticed about these "infomercials" is the "info" has no commercial value for me. All they want to talk about is diet, diet, diet. Isn't there something more interesting to talk about?

I was watching one "infomercial" and the brazen claim was simply this; if I go on their diet, they guaranteed me that I will look great in a bikini. Really? Why do I want to look great in a bikini? Noticing some of their bikinis, I wear

Instead of getting drowsy I was getting a little frustrated and angry.

The thing that really got me was simply this; their argument was that being "post-thin" (to use my terminology) is not normal. According to them, normal is being so skinny people can count how many bones you have.

Have these people been out in public recently? If skinny is normal, there are not too many around. If they are looking for normal, they need to see that skinny is not normal.

Personally, I get a little weary of people judging me from their cookie-cutter perspective. Maybe, just maybe, skinny is not normal! Maybe, just maybe, I, who lean towards the full figure side of the scale, may be normal. Wouldn't that be a kick in their pants!

Some infomercials tried to sell me some kind of exercise equipment. The only shrinking involved in those infomercials would be with my bank account. They earnestly believe in transferring my wealth into their wealth. I am not in Great Britainso I do not want to lose any British pounds. Of course, if I do buy one of their exercise equipment, I will not have enough money to buy to anybody else. food for the next three months. That would be a sure way to lose weight.

When it comes to diets, my wife is very committed to a balanced diet. The problem is, her concept of a balanced diet and mine are completely different.

For my wife, a balanced diet means a little bit of this and a little bit of that and it had better be green and leafy. If there ever was a vegetable queen in the world, she comes close. She has more vegetables on the table than I could ever identify.

Of course, I am assuming they are vegetables because she calls them vegetables. How am I to know they are actually vegetables? The only thing I guard against is that green treelike vegetable she calls "broccoli." She has tried sneaking it in and so far, at least to my knowledge, I have avoided any encounter with anything resembling broccoli.

My idea of a balanced diet is simple, all I can balance on my spoon and get into my mouth without dropping it. That, to me, is a balanced diet. I must say I am quite good with my balanced diet. Believe me, it is very hard to balance vegetables on my spoon and I refuse to practice!

Getting back to these infomercials trying to convince me I need to exercise and get on a diet. I would like to inform them I am on what I call the twelve-step program. I have put a lot of thought and planning in this program. There are six steps more in the shower and they were wearing on the to the refrigerator and then six steps back to my recliner. This twelve-step program has worked marvelously for me.

As I was watching these infomercials I was not getting sleepy, but I was getting hungry. So, I put my twelve-step program in place and as I was watching the rest of those infomercials, I was eating some nice creamy ice cream along with some crunchy candy and to ease my conscience, a diet soda.

What could be healthier than eating like that while watching some infomercials on dieting and exercise? I think the only exercise I really need is watching those exercising on TV. And the thing I notice about these people exercising on TV, they do not really need to exercise. Everyone seemed to be rather skinny.

But as for me, I want to fit in with the normal people of this world. After all, I would like to show to the world by my "plumpness" that my wife is the greatest cook in the world.

One of my favorite Bible verses is in the Old Testament. "And thepriest shall burn them upon thealtar: it isthefood of theoffering made by fire for a sweet savour: all thefatistheLord's" (Leviticus 3:16).

If the Lord can handle my size, I need not listen

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mayor and Councilmembers of the City of Sierra Madre:

I am writing as a Sierra Madre resident who is concerned with the proposed budget cuts to reduce the library staff and services and close the Community Services Department. I am a Sierra Madre native, current resident and parent, who is raising two school-age children. My husband and I grew up in Sierra Madre and decided to buy our home and raise our family here so that they could enjoy the great community spirit that we enjoyed.

As I read about proposed cuts to the Library and the proposed closure of the Community Services Department, I am very concerned that what makes Sierra Madre special will disappear. Both the library and the Community Services Department bring the community together. My boys spend lots of time at the library finding reading and research material. They also enjoy the various programs sponsored by the library.

The Community Services Department helps to execute the events and traditions that we have enjoyed for many years. Due to their efforts, our downtown area experiences increased foot traffic from residents and those who reside outside our city limits. This results in more people spending money in our downtown, which results in increased revenues for our small town. It is good for Sierra Madre and its businesses.

As a member of the Sierra Madre Civic Club, I know that the Community Services Department is an integral part of putting our community events together. Our members volunteer at events throughout the year. Even though Civic Club has taken over Halloween Window Painting and the 4th of July games in the park, we work closely and in concert with the Community Services Department. We cannot pull off these events without their help. For example, the Mount Wilson Trail Race Committee and and many community organizations work together to execute the event, If the Community Services Department closes, what will happen to the traditions that we have enjoyed all these years? They will disappear. We will have to say good bye to Huck Finn, Mount Wilson Trail Race, 4th of July festivities, Summer Fun in the Park, Concerts in the Park, Movies in the Park and Halloween happenings. Also, our seniors in town will lose the services that they have enjoyed and need. The park and facility rentals, which generate income will also be impacted. My family urges you to rethink this "easy way out" to balance our budget. The Community Services Department is already working with a skeleton crew, but is still able to execute their duties. The "fat" has been trimmed from this department that only makes up 2% of Sierra Madre's budget.

A friend who moved to Sierra Madre a few years ago told me what happened in her former hometown. When she moved there, they held fun parades and events in town. Then the city decided to do away with them. To her, her former hometown has lost its community spirit and what made it special. Now she looks at it as a bunch of homes and nothing else. I would hate to have this happen

I urge you to work on other ways to balance the budget. Tough decisions will need to be made. Please do not touch the library and Community Services Department. They are at the heart of what makes Sierra Madre special.

Thanks on behalf of myself, my husband and our boys.

Maria Decker - Sierra Madre

HOWARD Hays As I See It

I think America child abuse. wants to hear of Fox News, on interview

Jim Bob and Michelle Duggar. The first thing I usually turn to in the MVN is the "Right Turn" column, as it often provides something to get mad about and take issue with in my next column. Last week, it was Michael Reagan addressing the Duggar family story, and I found myself in complete agreement. Reagan decried how some, in particular Republican presidential candidate Mike Huckabee (who'd accused the Obamas of bad parenting for allowing their daughters to listen to Beyonce), will ignore and trivialize child abuse in order to associate with celebrity and not alienate its fan base. (Reagan added that as an eight-yearold he'd been a victim of abuse at the hands of a camp counselor.) Crimes were committed not just by eldest son Josh (now 27), who confessed as a 15-yearold to having molested a five-year-old and other sisters, and possibly a family friend. The parents waited 16 months to report the abuse, seeking no help or counseling for their son or victims during that time, in violation of Arkansas' Permitting Abuse of a Minor law. But for both the son and the parents, the statute of limitations has expired.

Years ago, a guilty pleasure of mine was listening to on-air personal advice from Dr. Laura Schlesinger. Whenever a caller began by announcing, "I'm a Christian, and we practice strong Christian values in our family", I knew I'd be in for something especially salacious. It's not about religion. Michael Reagan's brother Ron Jr. was asked to compare their father with more contemporary "Christian conservatives". He explained that although his father found great comfort, inspiration and guidance through his Christian faith, he

'didn't feel the need to wear his religion on his

There was no such reticence with Josh Duggar. Proclaiming "Christian family values", he railed against an LGBT nondiscrimination measure in Arkansas in order to protect "the well-being of women and children in our cities". Gay marriage must be condemned because "what's really at stake here is the American family". On the Today Show, he described his family as "the epitome of family values. People connect to us in that

When his parents first reported the incidents, it was not to police but to the elders of their church who referred Josh to a "Christian treatment program". The Institute for Basic Life Principles was located in a facility donated by Hobby Lobby, which argued to the Supreme Court the corporation's "religious beliefs" required it to dictate to female employees what would be covered under their health plans. The Institute's founder, televangelist Bill Gothard, produced materials for Christian hadn't been fired. homeschoolers. Gothard was forced to resign

"I want to hear from the Institute amid allegations of sexual their story. And harassment, molestation and failure to report

When the Duggars finally did report to law Megyn Kelly a church elder and Arkansas State Police Cpl Joseph Hutchens, who, after a "stern talk", upcoming advised there was nothing else to do since Josh had already been through "treatment". Hutchens is now serving a 59-year sentence in Arkansas on child pornography charges.

Two years ago, Josh Duggars become a lobbyist for the Family Research Council, headed by Tony Perkins. Perkins was suspended as a reserve police officer after failing to inform his superiors of a violent attack he knew was planned against a Baton Rouge women's clinic. He lost a run for U.S. Senate from Louisiana when it was brought out he'd been fined for illegally hiding connections with David Duke. He's condemned the Employment Non-Discrimination Act as a result of President Obama's working for the "totalitarian homosexual lobby". Anti-bullying rules in schools are part of the "homosexual agenda".

Former House Speaker Dennis Hastert (R-IL) was indicted last week; charged with illegally structuring $1.7 million in cash withdrawals for hush money in silencing allegations he'd sexually abused a student when a high school wrestling coach. For those with memories, we recall Hastert as one of the House figures issuing moral condemnations as they guided the impeachment of President

Clinton. First there was Speaker Newt Gingrich (R-GA). Nine years after the impeachment, he confessed he'd been having an affair during the time he was railing against the president's involvement with Paula Jones and Monica Lewinsky. This was during his second marriage; his first wife says he came to go over divorce terms when she was in the hospital recovering from cancer surgery. ABC News pointed out that the then-top-three Republican presidential contenders, Rudy Giuliani, Sen. John McCain (R-AZ) and Gingrich had eight past and present wives between them. After Gingrich came Rep. Bob Livingston (R-LA). He was still "Speaker-elect" when he resigned the day of the vote to impeach. Hustler publisher Larry Flint had offered a reward for those coming forward with stories of illicit affairs with Republican leaders. In the case of Rep. Livingston, four women did.

(After his resignation, Livingston's House seat went to David Vitter, who later as senator was busted when his phone number showed up at the brothel of the "D.C. Madam". Vitter maintains a strong record on "Christian values"; supporting funds to teach "creative design" rather than evolution, while opposing funds for low-cost housing,)

Following Livingston came Hastert, now charged with attempts to "conceal sexual abuse against a former male student". On Fox News, Brit Hume and Geraldo Rivera insist it's Dennis Hastert who's the real "victim". Megyn Kelly assures she won't 'cross-examine" or be tough on the Duggars; iust allow them a chance to tell their story. But it's not that she accepts wrongdoers escaping accountability and punishment. On her show, Kelly angrily wondered why the police chief who released Josh Duggar's police records

WHO'S RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MORAL DECLINE?

A recent Gallup poll, "Moral Acceptability: Changes Over Time," shows Americans made a startling move to the left over the past 15 years. A blanket blaming of the church is the easy answer, but today, where black and white has faded into varying shades of gray, we are better served going back to where it began because we didn't get where we are today overnight.

Hence, the immoral mess we see today.

America's moral decline began with Presidents Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt [FDR]. Their arrogant defiance and blatant hostility toward the U.S. Constitution inspired them to lead an insurrection from the Oval Office, effectively convincing good people that government dependence Progressive godfather FDR did what progressives do best, hijacking the crisis at hand, the Great Depression, and molding the U.S. government into a pseudogod. Although both New Deals failed on multiple levels, some of the programs and subsidies permanently persuaded people that an interventionist government is good. That was not enough. Progressives understood the "God-factor" must be removed to accomplish their goal of secularization, wherein religion loses cultural and social significance. In 1947, the Supreme Court, largely packed with FDR appointees, decided the First Amendment instituted a "wall of separation" between church and state in Everson v. Board of Education. In so doing, they were able to separate morality and ethics from government and daily life.

is a morally acceptable alternative to dependence on God, family, community

A recent Pew survey found that in 1990, 86 percent of Americans identified as Christians and today, just 70 percent. Interestingly, mainline Protestant denominations such as Methodist, Lutheran, Presbyterian and Episcopalian, who have consciously dimmed their own bulbs in recent years to remain relevant to the demands of pop culture, dropped from 50 percent in 1958 to 14 percent in 2015. As mosques are being raised at record levels in towns and cities across America and Europe, churches are increasingly vacated.

Today, more often than not, Jesus' command for Christians to be "light" in a dark world is translated "let's keep it subdued, so no one needs to squint." In fashion photography, soft light works because it helps to conceal the unvarnished reality. In sharp contrast, pure light reveals an honest picture, flaws and all. Interestingly, when Jesus revealed himself to the Christian persecutor, Saul, he appeared in light so harsh and offensively bright, Saul was temporarily blinded. Saul's blindness slowed him down long enough to see the contrast between truth and lies, right and wrong, leading to a conversion so complete, his name was changed from Saul to Paul.

Some would rather spread buttercream icing over cow manure than call this moral decline for what it is. Vanderbilt University Professor of Law and Political Science Edward L. Rubin says America's nosedive into the moral abyss is nothing to fret because we are just shifting to a "new morality" based on a "concept of self-fulfillment." Rubin suggests this fluffed-up version of hedonism is making people uncomfortable because they are feeling rapidly "pulled between two moralities." Paul/Saul wrote about the same struggle in Romans 7, reminding true believers to hold fast to "God's law," not giving in to the new morality he

The only way progressivism wins is without the presence of absolute truth. Without it, morality is defined by ever-changing social whims; what's wrong today is right tomorrow. Truth is, it's impossible to define morality without a plumb line or divine standard. Wandering outside already-established boundaries since the beginning of time gets us where we are today. History demonstrates it. Polls prove it. Empty pews show it. Progressives love it.
