SIERRA MADRE POLICE APPREHEND WANTED SEXUAL PREDATOR

Sierra Madre police arrested a man Wednesday morning wanted in Pasadena for sexual battery after a number of residents recognized his picture from news reports that

Emilio Buch, a known homeless man, was walking down Sierra Boulevard Madre around 8:20 a.m. when Police Sergeant Kenneth Berry said he was flagged down by a resident who saw Buch near Baldwin

According to reports, Berry also said he had gotten a call from another resident who saw a man matching Buch's description. Buch was arrested, sitting on a bench, without incident.

Pasadena Police say Buch was wanted in connection with an alleged sexual battery on June 6. Police said a homeless woman woke up partially unclothed around 2:50 a.m. She was startled to find Buch asleep behind her with his hand on her inner thigh.

Buch fled and was chased by the woman's boyfriend although he got away. He is being held in Pasadena jail on $100,000 bail.

THE TOWN COMES OUT TO BALANCE THE BUDGET

Councilwoman Denise Delmar explains the components of the General Fund to one group at the Town Hall meeting. Photo by S. Henderson

"Preserve the past; Inform the Present; Inspire Our Future". Those words were directed to the Sierra Madre City Council on Tuesday evening by longtime resident and Library Trustee Chair Barry Ziff after a passionate appeal to the council not to institute additional cuts to city services. Ziff was one of many speakers who confirmed what the majority of the 250 attendees of last Saturday's Town Hall Budget meeting said. The messages were clear. "We don't want anymore cuts", "Put the UUT back on the ballot", "Don't contract out our services", "Increase Revenue" and more. One thing that was crystal clear, the majority of those in attendance at the Council meeting and those at the Town Hall meeting are ready to buckle up and pay whatever is necessray in order to preserve Sierra Madre.

At the Budget Town Hall, which was the most well attended public information meeting in recent history, residents were able to carefully review every aspect of the City's operations and question the validity of the information provided. Each person proceeded at their own pace and the council and city staff were available to make presentations and/or answer questions.

'We don't have an expenses problem, we have a revenue problem", was a comment repeated at both the Town Hall and Council meetings. Three proposals to increase revenue were introduced by residents. In the order of their popularity (number of suggestions), they were:

1. Put the Utility User's Tax back on the ballot. Most people said a new tax should not sunset. Of those who wanted a new UUT, they were divided as whether or not to cap it at 10 or 12%.

2, The second most popular revenue generating idea from the community was to implement a Parcel Tax for the Library.

3. Individual assessments. This idea would impose an assessment on each household of somewhere between $25 -$30 per month.

The overwhelming majority of residents, both at the Town Hall and at the Council meeting did not want services cut, especially Police, Fire and the Library.

This latest round of budget discussion appears to have reached a number of residents who were previously opposed to the UUT in prior years. You can view the Town Hall meeting video at www.villagevine.org. You can also see the entire presentation and read the comments by going to the city's website at www.cityofsierramadre.com. Click on Town Hall Meeting Documents. There you will also be able to read the comments and emails of residents.

The council will vote on the budget at the next meeting, June 23, 2015.

Sierra Madre-Arcadia-

SIERRA MADRE POLICE BLOTTER

During the week of Sunday, May 31st, to Sunday, June 7th, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 339 calls for service.

Sunday, May 31st

At 12:00 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 400 block of West Sierra Madre Blvd regarding a small fire in the rear parking lot. Upon arrival Officers discovered a roasting pan within a dumpster with burnt leaves and books. There was not active fire, but the odor of smoke remained in the area. Officers were met by several witnesses who stated they were in the area at the time and began to smell smoke shortly after seeing two women walk out from behind a dumpster. Upon investigating, they discovered a roasting pan with smoldering leaves and books. One witness attempted to stomp out the smoking remains, and feared it was getting worse, so then placed it in the dumpster in an attempt to contain the fire. The fire department was called to the scene to ensure proper disposal and extinguishment. The witnesses described the two women leaving the area of the smoke as female white, aged around 20 years, 5'5", with one having an average build of 120 pounds and one with a heavy build of 150 pounds. This case has been forwarded to the Detective Bureau.

Tuesday, June 2nd

At 1:20 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 700 block of West Sierra Madre Blvd regarding a stolen vehicle report. The victim informed Officers that he had parked his vehicle in his carport on Saturday, the 30th and returned Tuesday morning to discover his vehicle was missing. The man stated he never gave anyone permission to take his vehicle, and he had all four sets of keys in his possession. A dmv records search showed the vehicle had not been impounded. This case has been forwarded to the Detective Bureau.

At 5:50 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 600 block of West Sierra Madre Blvd regarding a vehicle tampering report. The victim informed Officers that her vehicle was parked in the carport the night before, and due to a window malfunction, her passenger window is always left slightly open at about an inch. The following morning, she discovered her vehicle's window was now more than half way down, and appeared to have been forced down. Her vehicle doors were unlocked, her items were ransacked, and her ignition switch was not in its normal position and appeared to be broken. Nothing appeared to be missing from the vehicle. This case has been forwarded to the Detective Bureau.

Thursday, June 4th

At 11:30 am, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 300 block of North Sunnyside regarding a tenant and landlord dispute. Upon arrival, Officers were informed by the female that her landlord, who was also her ex-boyfriend, had been taking her items out of the house and putting them on the patio. As he was doing so, she said he slipped and hit the door jam, which resulted in him receiving a cut to his arm. When Officers questioned the man, he stated the woman intentionally tripped him causing him to get hurt. Officers determined the woman was the primary aggressor and was taken into custody. This case has been forwarded to the District Attorney's Office for filing.

Saturday, June 6th

At 1:00 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 400 block of East Laurel Ave regarding a residential burglary. The call was placed by a humane society dispatcher after an employee approached the residence to conduct an animal check and discovered broken glass and was unsure if anyone still remained inside. Officers arrived on scene and conducted an interior search of the residence and discovered the home had been ransacked. It was determined entry was made through breaking the kitchen glass door. The homeowner was notified and later reported over $15,000 of lost property. This case has been forwarded to the Detective Bureau.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side by Deanne Davis

"The best feeling I ever had! It's just an amazing feeling that you have galore; bicycle stores; Attitude! and Les Champs Elysees - apparel front." Victor Espinoza

Three times was definitely the charm last Saturday when Sierra Madre's own Victor Espinoza rode American Pharoah to the first Triple Crown win in 37 years! Congratulations, Victor! We're delighted for you and proud of you, too. In case you didn't see it, a write-up on Victor by Rachel Cohen in last Sunday's Star News Sports Section reported, "Espinoza will donate his winnings to City of Hope in Duarte....He'll keep something much more valuable: a place in history." We're pretty sure Victor will be visiting the kids at C of H and passing out autographed pictures and t-shirts of his Triple Crown win, just as he did when he rode California Chrome to Kentucky Derby and Preakness victories last year. That's really

Another great weekend here in town. Went to the Town Hall Meeting last Saturday. This was our opportunity to see what's going on with the city's General Fund expenditures and revenues and make suggestions on what could be done to reduce expenditures, enhance and increase revenues. The meeting was set up in six different stations to visit. We were handed a card when we arrived which was awarded a star when we completed each station. At the end we could put our card into drawing boxes for various nifty prizes like a meal with the mayor, a helicopter ride, dinner with the firefighters, five tickets to the Aquarium of the Pacific, a free park rental, yes, you have to pay to rent the park, like for the Art Fair, Library DVD rentals or a birthday party at the Library. I went for the Aquarium.

We, like most of the rest of Sierra Services, which includes events like Huck PARTY & PICNIC Madre don't want to see Community Finn Day, July 4th festivities, Concerts in the Park, Movie Nights, and Halloween, diminished. We love all these things. We and we'd all be horrified if the Library was closed or cut back. My Town Hall Meeting companion, John, and I listened to all the City Employees who were giving out the facts and found ourselves reduced to silence when handed a sheet entitled "Balancing the Budget" and invited to fill out what department level cuts and at what amounts could be cut from the budget. We didn't have much to offer as our City Council has done quite a Annual 4th of July Pre-Parade Open House lot of expenditure reduction already, and probably like you, we don't want to give anything up.

We did a little better at the next station where we had an opportunity to make suggestions for revenue enhancement. Here are my suggestions: We all need to try harder to shop right here in town. We have so many great restaurants and I intend to work harder to patronize them more instead of taking my dining out dollars over to Arcadia or Monrovia. Think about it! Sierra Brigante, Corfu, Only Place in Town, Beantown, Starbucks, Wistaria, Monsieur Crepe, Peppertree, Zugo's, Mary's Market, Lucky Baldwin's, Casa del Rey, and more. We've got Taylor's Meats and that great produce market right there, a splendid bakery: Poppy Seed Baking Co., countless hair and nail salons, including the new salon that's part of the Kensington and open to everyone, not just Kensington residents. We've got exercise facilities when it's 20 yards out of the wire and you're three or four lengths in for both men and women, good gas prices and our own Playhouse! Let's all try to stay in town more and raise our revenues!

> We'd like to see more filming going on around town, too. All those folks eat, shop and spend while they're here. If you'd like to see the material that was available at the meeting, go to HYPERLINK "http://www.cityofsierramadre.com" www.cityofsierramadre. com and click on Town Hall Budget Meeting Documents. Take a look and see what you can come up with to help our financial situation. You know, home is where the heart is and our hearts, like yours, are at home here in Sierra Madre.

ROYAL OAKS ELEMENTARY & VALLEY VIEW ELEMENTARY IN THE DUARTE UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT RECOGNIZED BY CALIFORNIA BUSINESS COMMUNITY FOR HIGH ACHIEVEMENT

Two Duarte Unified Schools Selected for Prestigious Honor Roll issued by The Campaign for Business & Education Excellence

(Duarte, CA) - Duarte Unified School District is pleased to announce that Royal Oaks and Valley View Elementary Schools have been selected by Campaign for Business and Education Excellence (CBEE) as two of 1851 public schools in California to receive the title of 2014 Honor Roll school.

Schools receiving this distinction from the California business community have demonstrated consistent high levels of student academic achievement, improvement in achievement levels over time and reduction in achievement gaps among student populations.

Royal Oaks and Valley View Elementary received CBEE Honor Roll status and earned the "Star Schools" Award for showing a significant increase in the grade-level proficiency of their students over time that includes their significant socioeconomically disadvantaged student population.

"It is an honor to be recognized by The Campaign for Business & Education Excellence, and we are proud that Royal Oaks and Valley View have been selected as Honor Roll schools," said Dr. Terry Nichols, Superintendent of Duarte Unified. "Through the collaborative efforts of our faculty, staff, administration and parents, all Duarte Unified schools work to deliver a first class education that is engaging and adapted to the passions of our students. By incorporating high expectations and quality instruction, we are making record gains in student academic achievement."

The annual Honor Roll award is made possible with support from numerous businesses and organizations including State Farm, Macy's, Wells Fargo, Southern California Auto Club, Enterprise Rent-A-Car, the California Business Roundtable, and several private foundations. Chevron Corporation provided specific support in the creation of the STEM Honor Roll.

"Many of our high performing schools are not getting the recognition they deserve. These schools that succeed in reducing the achievement gap and preparing their students for college and careers should be celebrated," said Lee Blitch, CBEE Chairman and past CEO, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. "There are schools all over California that are leaders in ensuring their students are getting the best quality of education. Those schools need to be recognized."

The Honor Roll is a school recognition program that uses only academic achievement data showing improved academic growth over time and a closing of the achievement gap.

"The American education system has a secret. Many schools are doing well... the Honor Roll proves it. Students are achieving at higher levels than anyone admits and more students than ever are succeeding when given the opportunity." said Jim Lanich, CBEE president. "All schools, no matter what zip code they are in, can achieve this kind of success and leadership from the business community is critical to ensuring successes for all

The Honor Roll list grew from 261 schools when the program began in 2005 to the current 1851 for 2014. The number of Honor Roll STAR (higher poverty, high achieving) schools increased from 74 in 2005 to 1328 in 2014. A full list of the Honor Roll schools and the STEM Honor Roll can be found at ca.edresults. org/HonorRoll or follow Jim Lanich, President and CEO at @ JLanich or via email to outreach@cbee.org.

MAY 2015 WATER USAGE DOWN SIGNIFICANTLY!

We wanted to share that when it comes to meeting challenges, Monrovia has once again stepped up to the plate! With the current water use restrictions that have been enacted throughout the State, Monrovia has been directed to achieve a significant reduction in our 2015 water usage rates when compared with our 2013 water usage rates. Given that directive, we have been tracking our monthto-month water use much more closely than normal, and for May 2015, the City overall was able to reduce overall water usage by 19.8%, from 217.4 million gallons of water down to 174.4 million gallons of water! This equates to a reduction in water usage of 43 million gallons!

Moving forward, staff plans on bringing forward for City Council consideration an amendment to our current water conservation plan at our June 16, 2015 meeting. In addition, we are also here in the City working to replace irrigation valves throughout all of our facilities, cutting back on our watering times for public parks, and developing new landscaping plans throughout the City with new planting palates based on xeriscaping principles.

YES PROGRAM UPDATE

Last week, the City held an orientation session for our YES Program participants. The YES Program is a joint City-School District-YMCA initiative aimed at providing youth employment and mentoring opportunities for Monrovia Unified School District students. In total, we had 13 youth who were accepted into the program; however, four of those individuals have dropped out. We have reached out to other individuals who applied to see if any of the other eligible students who expressed an interest in YES are available to participate. We have received an acceptance from 3 of those eligible students. The program is scheduled to get kicked off in a few weeks, and we are looking forward to another great session!

WATERFALL TRAIL INACCESSIBLE OVER PAST WEEKEND DUE TO COLLAPSED OAK TREE

This past Friday, an Oak Tree on one of the steep embankments leading to the waterfall in Canyon Park fell. Eugene Suk and our Parks Team did a great job of responding to the issue; however, given the embankment and position of the tree, we needed to bring in West Coast Arborist in order to safely remove the fallen tree. We were unable to get the tree removed to reopen the waterfall in time for the weekend, however, we did cone off the trail head leading to the waterfall, and we also put caution tape up to warn hikers of the trail impediment. Our team also arranged to have a Park Ranger staffed at the trail head to provide customer service for those who try to enter, and our staff at the Canyon Park kiosk stood alerting patrons of the unfortunate situation on our trail. The tree was removed on Monday, June 8, 2015, and if you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me.

AROUND SAN GABRIEL VALLEY

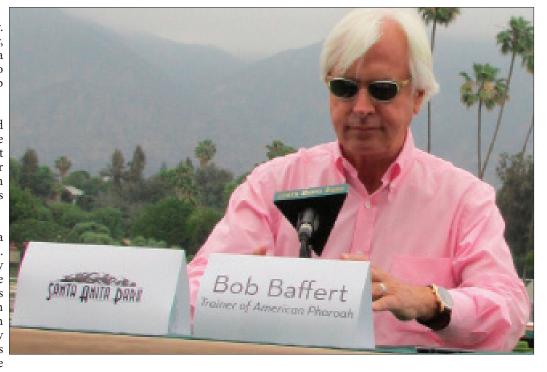

AMERICAN PHAROAH AND BOB BAFFERT

By Joan Schmidt

Last Wednesday was a great day. It begin with my granddaughter, Jennfer's promotion from Ramona Junior High in Chino and then to a special Media Event with Bob

He is really an amazing man and very interesting to listen to. Of course questions centered on how Bob felt about being the winning trainer for Triple Crown Winner, American Pharoah, and what the future holds

Bob had modest beginnings on a cattle and chicken ranch in Arizona. He trained from his dad-actually hoped to be a jockey first. In time he acquired horses to train, but was broke and had to borrow $1000 from his grandmother for a month with the promise to pay her back in thirty days. Of course he did, but she was shocked he did pay her back in the thirty days.

But Bob's first priority is the well-being of American Pharoah who will have a week off. "There's no schedule yet, because it's not till two weeks after the races that you realize what it had taken out of him... the goal is the Breeders' Cup."

Bob was questioned about throwing the first pitch at a Dodger game the previous day. He felt a little nervous, but it turned out okay. He mentioned that not only the players but also the umpires wanted pictures with him and want to come out to Santa Anita.

"I always shared my good horses. I have no plans except horse trainer...bring him (American Pharoah) to Santa Anita and Del Mar...no fees involved...donate to charities for horses and the Disabled Jockeys Fund in memory of Bobby Adair."

(Footnote-People back east were posting on Facebook about Victor's entire winnings going to City of Hope. I posted that Victor has done that before and is very involved at City of Hope visiting the Children's Ward. The Baffets other three $50,000 each donations went to Thoroughbred Aftercare Alliance, California Retirement Aftercare Account which benefit race horses and the Old Friends Farm in Kentucky, home of Silver Charms whom he trained to wins in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness Stakes.)

This is so thrilling-history being made, but the greatest is the generosity of the Bafferts and Victor Espinosa.

Bob said it still has not completely sunk in that his horse won the Triple Crown. It's been a "whirlwind"; he "never expected the impact... he (American Pharoah) has brought everyone's attention. I never had a horse like him before...the way he trained...in the paddock...I could feel his power...I shipped him a lot...Triple Crown Winners... they have to be superior...They must take the grind, the stress, the quick turnaround...only an incredible horse can handle this."

Bob also had told us that he watched the race on the screen, doesn't use binoculars. He "never had a horse who did everything so effortlessly...he was on cruise control...I watched Victor sitting on him, he hadn't even turned him loose yet...Victor let him a notch and he just took off."

"It was a different feeling for me than any other race...listening to the crowd, deafening noise...thirty seven years...a part of history... all my kids were there and I thought of my parents...Best feeling... can't believe this is happening...Jill and I were crying...such a magical moment for me, happiness, so grateful, this horse made me appreciate the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby more. It was spiritual and emotional."

Bob told us that Pharoah's temperament is "so sweet and kind...he stood for three hours by the barn in front of the stables and let people pet him and posed for pictures with him after the race."

Bob mentioned "American Pharoah had lost 20 pounds and will probably gain it back within a week. He is coming home to California on June 18th. He heard from tracks all over the country/world that Fee-free days are offered on multiple occasions throughout the year. The remaining days in 2015 are National Public Lands Day (Sept. 26) and Veterans Day (Nov. 11).

About the U.S. Forest Service: The mission of the U.S. Forest Service, part of U.S. Department of Agriculture, is to sustain the health, diversity and productivity of the nation's forests and grasslands to meet the needs of present and future generations. The agency manages 193 million acres of public land, provides assistance to state and private landowners, and maintains the largest forestry research organization in the world. Public lands the Forest Service manages contribute more than $13 billion to the economy each year through visitor spending alone. Those same lands provide 20 percent of the nation's clean water supply, a value estimated at $7.2 billion per year. The agency has either a direct or indirect role in stewardship of about 80 percent of the 850 million forested acres within the U.S., of which 100 million acres are urban forests where most Americans live.

COUNTY JAIL PLAN DEALT MAJOR SETBACK

LOS ANGELES COUNTY - The Los Angeles County Jail Plan, the major effort to replace the Men's Central Jail with a new Consolidated Correctional Treatment Center and renovate the Mira Loma Detention Facility, was once again delayed -- further hindering progress on the development and construction of a new.

A motion was brought forward today which interrupts the forward progress of the County Jail Plan by requiring yet another independent assessment of diversion and treatment services needed inside the jails and available in the community. The motion also stops work by AECOM, the contractor hired to prepare necessary documents to replace Men's Central Jail, for 45 days -- even though AECOM's work does not interfere or affect the independent assessment.

Mayor Michael D. Antonovich and Supervisor Don Knave opposed parts of the Board motion, which unnecessarily halts the new Consolidated Correctional Treatment Center and places the County at risk for future litigation. Most especially, it inhibits the County's ability to house criminals to protect the general public.

"Delaying the replacement of Men's Central Jail is a disservice to the inmates, Sheriff's staff, and to taxpayers who are repeatedly saddled with costly litigation," said Antonovich. "We have an obligation to honor court imposed sentences and protect the victims of crime who suffer from a lifetime of trauma and live in fear."

The Board of Supervisors had been discussing the jail plan for seven years before they requested an independent assessment of the jails over two years ago. Based on that study, the Board adopted Option 1B last May which consisted of renovating the Mira Loma Detention Facility and replacing Men's Central Jail with a Consolidated Correctional Treatment Center. Today's motion seeks another independent assessment that will review and update the previous independent assessment due to certain changes in the law such as the passage of Proposition 47 and split sentencing.

ASSEMBLYMEMBER HOLDEN NAMES UPLAND BREWERY AS SMALL BUSINESS OF THE YEAR

Sacramento - Assembly Majority Leader Chris Holden has named Dale Brothers Brewery in Upland as the "Small Business of the Year" for the 41st Assembly District. The Brewery is owned by brothers Curt and Andy Dale who travelled to Sacramento today to receive their award.

"I am very pleased to recognize the Dale brothers for their dedication to their craft and volunteerism in Upland and the surrounding communities," said Assemblymember Holden. "They are a success not only for their hard work and dedication to the business, but because they give so much back to their communities with regular fundraisers for charitable organizations."

Dale Brothers Brewery has been in business since 2003 and employs some 20 workers in its Upland brewery. This year, more than 2,000 people attended their Beers and Bros Beer Festival which highlighted 30 California breweries and wineries.

Steve Sabicer, who nominated Dale Brothers, emphasized their efforts to help out in the community: "They have significantly enriched and supported their community. In addition to strong business growth, the Brewery has contributed tens of thousands of dollars in direct and indirect contributions to local non-profit organizations, and hosted dozens of charitable community events." Sixteen small businesses from throughout the 41st Assembly District were nominated this year by members of the 41st Assembly District Small Business Advisory Committee who reviewed the nominations, provided feedback, rankings and recommendations for the Assemblymember.

COPING WITH CANINE AGGRESSION

Is your Dog a Pain, Due to Pain?

unexpectedly? It's not an uncommon scenario; you're in the house or your yard minding your own business, when you reach out to pet your dog playfully and she or he yelps and gives you a bit of a growl as if to warn you to stay away. I had that experience with my bloodhound on several occasions, and at first I blamed it on her purebred genetic make-up. her unpredictable behavior was due to inbreeding throughout the history of her ancestry.

and having consulted with my vet and a few dog as several other large dog breeds. It is a very painful trainers, I later learned that there are many other and debilitating disease, and dogs who suffer from potential reasons why a dog becomes aggressive. In one article posted on the "science daily.com" website, I read that a much more common, yet less recognized reason for canine aggression is undiagnosed and, therefore, untreated physical pain.

the department of Animal and Food Science at aggression due to hip dysplasia is early diagnosis. If the Autonomous University of Barcelona (UAB) in Spain, analyzed 12 dogs with aggressive behavior painful disease, keep an eye on his gate while you issues (Giant Schnauzer, Irish Setter, Pit-bull, Dalmatian, 2 German shepherds, Neapolitan Mastiff, Shih-tzu, Bobtail, Catalan Sheepdog, Chowchow and Doberman) and remarkably enough, all 12 were diagnosed with aggression due to physical pain.

Equally remarkable was the fact that 8 out of the 12 were found to have hip dysplasia, as was outlined by Tomas Camps, author of the study published in the Journal of Veterinary Behavior. The study focused on 4 main points; the most frequent circumstances, the most characteristic positions, the most frequent target of aggression, and whether the dogs showed signs prior to an attack or attacked suddenly and impulsively.

Several deductions were drawn during the UAB study, but one general observation made was that dogs known to be aggressive for whatever reason before the onset of pain, typically gave warning everything is OK, even if it's just for your own peace such as a raised lip or a growl before attacking and were most apt to attack when food was taken away, when they were moved from their rest area, or when they were made to do something. One of the most common causes of canine discomfort is hip dysplasia, as shown in the 2011-2012 UAB study as well as in numerous other In fact, one of my lesser endearing nick-names for research studies conducted over the years in Tater was "In-bred Re-tread", because I assumed that various countries. The signs of hip dysplasia in a canine are pretty obvious; you'll see less freedom of movement in the hips and stiffness and awkwardness when the dog sits or attempts to rise from a lying position.

There are several nutritional products on the market said to help prevent hip dysplasia, so it can't hurt to add the recommended supplements to the dog's daily diet. Also, consult your veterinarian if you do see such signs, for diagnosis and treatment of the problem in it's early stages.

Sierra Madre, CA – In her graduation address to The Gooden School's $\,$ Madison D. Bove eighth grade class of 2015, alumna Hannah Courtney, encouraged the Ben Christopher Brookbanks students to always be curious, not always seek praise, and foster a love of service to others.

"High school is a time to explore more about the world. Ask questions...develop an ability to empathize...volunteer. And doors will open for you," said Courtney. "You will always have the Gooden Isabella Sofia Lopez family to support you," she added. The graduation took place on Thursday, June 4, on the Episcopal school's campus in Sierra Madre.

Inspired in part by The Road to Character, by bestselling author and New York Times columnist David Brooks, Courtney hopes the advice will resonate with the graduates, as it has for her. "This is what I wish someone had told me in my formative years," she said.

A distinguished Gooden alumna, Courtney recently graduated from Loyola Law School, Los Angeles, and has a B.A. in history from UC Berkeley. She is a member of the Women Lawyers Association of Los Angeles, and Loyola's Project for the Innocent. Additionally, Courtney has served on the boards of the Public Interest Law Foundation and the Scott Moot Court Board.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show SAN ANDREAS REVIEW

Disaster movies are a dime-a-dozen. They are generally seen as predicable, poorly-written, and sloppily acted messes of movies. Does 'San Andreas' have any hope of changing this perception? Can Dwayne Johnson save the genre or does this earthquake-disaster film have too many faults?

Ray (Dwayne Johnson) is trying to survive not only his job as a helicopter rescuer, but his family's recent end. His wife, Emma (Carla Gugino) has moved on with her new, architect boyfriend, and his daughter, Blake (Alexandra Daddario) is going off to college; however, recent events spurring from the San Andreas fault line have begun to change not only their lives, but the entirety of San Andreas' is an evolved disaster film. Both its plot and characters are complex, and the dialogue is one of the movies strongest aspects. The chemistry between the cast makes the movie very believable, more believable than most other disaster films. 'San Andreas' is a successful action-disaster movie that deserves to be seen and will hopefully become a classic for the genre.

Ari, was pretty solid, but played his usual, fury infused self. There were no real stakes to be had and even if Vince's movie was bad or good, it appeared as if didn't matter in the grand scheme of things. There were tons of cameos, some A-listers, many B & C-listers in which none of them made a lasting or worthy impression. As an avid fan of the series for many years, I welcomed the idea of witnessing the boys from Brooklyn back on the screen. While the big screen version was probably not necessary and the ideas and plotlines were all sitcom-y, HBO should have just made a ninth season with the list of cameos to boot. Entourage was much better when these best buds were young and hungry trying to make a name for one another. Now they're all just rich and oily living a life 99% of us can only fantasize about. last few months, you've learned how much there is to do to keep the Playhouse running smoothly and to get the shows we offer up on the stage. You've also learned how few of us there are to try to make it all happen. We are starting to feel the strain and burn-out is setting in. But, wait....what's that coming towards us? The calvary is a'comin, y'all! Tuesday night we had the official launch of our new SMP Guild - a group of volunteers dedicated to helping us with the myriad of tasks that need to be done to accomplish our ambitious goals for the Playhouse. We are also launching our SMP Advisory Council this month. Managing Director Estelle Campbell and I have been reaching out to many people in our community who have been serving as mentors to us both in the areas of fundraising, development, marketing, and strategic planning. We are now formalizing these ad hoc relationships and bringing these dynamic people together to see what a concerted effort can do toward helping us realize our goals. One of my great hopes is that we'll be announcing a yearly Gala and Fundraising event to be held in Sierra Madre to benefit the Playhouse. We have so many needs on our capital improvements list that only a major fundraising event will help us achieve any of them.

MAISIE DOBBS by Jacqueline Winspear

Maisie Dobbs got her start as a maid in an aristocratic London household when she was thirteen. Her employer, suffragette Lady Rowan Compton, soon became her patron, taking the remarkably bright youngster under her wing. Lady Rowan's friend, Maurice Blanche, often retained as an investigator by the European elite, recognized Maisie's intuitive gifts and helped her earn admission to the prestigious Girton College in Cambridge, where Maisie planned to complete her education. The outbreak of war changed everything. Maisie trained as a nurse, then left for France to serve at the Front, where she after the Armistice, in the spring of 1929, Maisie sets out on her own as a private investigator, one who has learned that coincidences are meaningful, and truth elusive. Her very first case involves suspected infidelity but reveals something very different. In the aftermath of the Great War, a former officer has founded a working farm known as The Retreat, that acts as a convalescent refuge for exsoldiers too shattered to resume normal life. When Fate brings Maisie a second case involving The Retreat, she must finally confront the ghost that has haunted her for over a decade.

PIRATE HUNTERS: TREASURE, OBSESSION, AND THE SEARCH FOR A LEGENDARY PIRATE SHIP by

This is a thrilling new adventure of danger and deep-sea diving. Finding and identifying a pirate ship is the hardest thing to do under the sea. But two men—John Chatterton and John Mattera—are willing to risk everything to find the Golden Fleece, the ship of the infamous pirate Joseph Bannister. At large during the Golden Age of Piracy in the seventeenth century, Bannister should have been immortalized in the lore of the sea—his exploits more notorious than Blackbeard's, more daring than Kidd's. But his story, and his ship, have been lost to time. If Chatterton and Mattera succeed, they will make history—it will be just the second time ever that a pirate however, they realize that cutting-edge technology and a willingness to lose everything aren't enough to track down Bannister's ship. They must travel the globe in search of historic documents and accounts of the great pirate's exploits, face down dangerous rivals, battle the tides of nations and governments and experts. But it's only when they learn to think and act like pirates-like Bannister-that they become able to go where no pirate hunters have gone before.Fast-paced and filled with suspense, fascinating characters, history, and adventure, Pirate Hunters is an unputdownable story that goes deep to discover truths and souls long believed lost.

THE RIVAL QUEENS: CATHERINE found—and lost—an important part of herself. Ten years DE' MEDICI, HER DAUGHTER MARGUERITE DE VALOIS, AND THE BETRAYAL THAT IGNITED A KINGDOM by Nancy Goldstone

The riveting true story of mother-and-daughter queens Catherine de' Medici and Marguerite de Valois, whose wildly divergent personalities and turbulent relationship changed the shape of their tempestuous and dangerous century.Set in magnificent Renaissance France, this is the story of two remarkable women, a mother and daughter driven into opposition by a terrible betrayal that threatened to destroy the realm. Catherine de' Medici was a ruthless pragmatist and powerbroker who dominated the throne for thirty years. Her youngest daughter Marguerite, the glamorous "Queen Margot," was a passionate free spirit, the only adversary whom her mother could neither intimidate nor control.When Catherine forces the Catholic Marguerite to marry her Protestant cousin Henry of Navarre against her will, and then uses her opulent Parisian wedding as a means of luring his followers to their deaths, she creates not only savage conflict within France but also a potent rival within her own family. Rich in detail and vivid prose, Goldstone's narrative unfolds as a thrilling historical epic. Treacherous court politics, poisonings, international espionage, and adultery form the background to a story that includes such celebrated figures as Elizabeth I, Mary, Queen of Scots, and Nostradamus. The Rival Queens is a dangerous tale of love, betrayal, ambition, ship has been discovered and positively identified. Soon, and the true nature of courage, the echoes of which still

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

"TO KNOW AND NOT TO ACT IS NOT TO KNOW" -CHINESE PROVERB

When people learn what I do for a living they often tell me, "I know I need to get an estate plan in place for my family." When I hear that, I get excited. I talk to them about why planning is so important, just how easy it really can be, and all the cool things they can do to truly protect and provide for their family and pass on a lasting

I make myself available to guide them, answer their questions, and help them in any way I can – even if they don't do their planning with me. I'm just thrilled to be a small part of their journey toward greater consciousness. Some, then, begin the planning process. Many, however, never follow through.

So even though they've said they "know," I can only assume they don't really get it. They must not understand the consequences for their loved ones if they fail to plan. They must not grasp the immense peace of mind and satisfaction a good plan will bring into their lives. They must not appreciate the fact it is not too late for them to plan now but that one day, it will be.

If you've already handled your planning, congratulations. You're in the know. If you haven't yet begun your planning, are you ready to make the shift between just saying you know and really, consciously, actively knowing? If so, then here's what you need

Will. If you're an adult and you don't have a Will if and when something happens to you, a judge decides who is in charge of your affairs and state law determines who receives everything you own. You lose all control. With a will, on the other hand, YOU appoint who's in charge of things and YOU choose who gets your stuff.

Advance Medical Directive. Also known as a health care proxy, medical power of attorney, or living will, this document allows the person of your choosing to make healthcare decisions for you in case you become incapacitated and unable to make them for yourself. Plus, it also lets that person know HOW you want decisions to be made if you cannot make them for yourself. Without an Advance Medical Directive in place, your family could have their hands tied when it comes to ensuring you get the best care possible, in the way you would want.

Power of Attorney. In the event you cannot communicate, a power of attorney will allow your designated agent to quickly gain access to your financial accounts so they can pay your bills and manage your financial affairs. Without this in place, your family will face an expensive, long and public court process while your credit gets ruined.

Living Trust. If you own any property that would go through the probate process (a home, bank accounts, brokerage accounts, business assets, real estate investments, and other substantial assets), you'll want to make sure to have a Trust set up as soon as possible so your family isn't stuck dealing with an expensive, unnecessary, long, and totally public probate process in the event of your death. A revocable living trust puts the people you know, love and trust in control without even having to go to Court.

Kids Protection Plan. If you have minor children, you need a comprehensive set of documents to ensure they are taken care of by the people you want, in the way you want, no matter what. Not just for the long-term, but also in the immediate term if something happens to you. Without this in place, strangers could gain temporary custody of your children and a stranger (a judge) would certainly determine who raises your children.

If you know you want to make things as easy for your family as possible then let's do something about it. Call my office today to schedule a time for us to sit down and talk. Mention this article and there will be no charge for meeting with me. So don't just say you know. Take

To your family's health, wealth, and happiness,

CLEAN YOUR BRAIN DAILY I hear many complaints from my clients that they have brain fog or that they feel lethargic or slow witted. If this is you, a good night's sleep can literally clean your brain according to recent research published in the journal, Science. Every night as we sleep our bodies do a mini tuneup. Just like vehicles need tune-ups, so do our bodies. They just need them daily because they are such a sophisticated and complex vehicle. As we sleep, one of the things our body does as part of this mini tuneup is to clean out metabolic waste products that have accumulated. "Picture a dirty fish tank" says the study's author Maiken Nedergaard, MD, professor of neurosurgery at the University of Rochester Medical Center. "We need sleep to clean our brains, or else toxic waste accumulates." Our body is not capable during the day of completing repair and maintenance because it is busy thinking, digesting, etc. Think of your body as only able to throw a party or clean the house, but it can't do both at the same time. The study goes even further to say that long periods of poor sleep may lead to the gradual buildup of toxins that have been seen in Alzheimer's patients.

Most adult humans need somewhere between 7.5 and 8.5 hours of restorative sleep. Aging does not have to mean you do not get a good night's sleep. If you are having issues falling asleep or staying asleep, or if you wake up and just do not feel rested, there are probably lifestyle issues or nutritional deficiencies involved. Remember there are many natural ways available to help you restore your sleep and maintain a clean brain.

ROUNDS BURGER

There's talk on the street; it sounds so familiar Great expectations, everybody's watching you People you meet, they all seem to know you Even your old friends treat you like you're something new Johnny come lately, the new kid in town Everybody loves you, so don't let them down.

I am asked frequently, as I am sure that all of us who are asked to pen our restaurant experiences are asked, "how did you find this restaurant?" In the case of Rounds Restaurant on North Lake, my friend Robin Salzer of his namesake restaurant turned me on to it, and Mr. Joe Caiello of Nikki C's seconded the motion that I needed to check out Rounds, the new kid in town, featuring of course hamburgers. Sorry if you are getting burgered out, but this one here is something special.

Upon entering the restaurant one late Tuesday night, I was a little nervous that there wasn't much going on. If this place is so hot where is everyone? It's a couple years old, that's for sure, so I guess it's up to me to get the word out. The restaurant interior is very plain (maybe they like it that way or are waiting for the chandeliers to arrive?) there is a large screen TV in the back room, a few signs on the wall, and the menu board, but that is it!! Fortunately, I don't write for Good Housekeeping; I am here for a burger. Self-service is fine by me, and the menu is right above the register and the choices are build your-own or choose from the house suggestions including the Western and The Commando. The motto is "anyway you like it" so I opted to create my own -- lean burger, medium rare, green chile, lettuce, and tomato. I asked if the fries fresh cut, and the answer was "everyday"!!! Now I am excited -- fresh cut fries and hand made patties, throw in a Sam Adams Summer Ale Beer, and you are thinking this would fall into the $20 > range? Nope, it was all under $13. I even had enough to throw my change in the bucket. Now, here are the challenges: Rounds just opened up, so you know they are still ironing out the kinks. I never said cheese, and I wanted my bread not toasted (it was remember build your own).

My name was called, "Peter your order is ready!" I could tell just by looking at the fries that they were fresh cut, and I was ready to grind on my burger. The bread was not toasted, and there was no cheese, perfect!!. The fries were getting cold so I munched on them first - they were as good as Islands or In and Out, this tough fry fan says!!! All and all, it is still one of the best values for a burger and fries combination I have ever had. Check out Rounds Burger it's a winner!!

HELPING SENIORS LEARN NEW TECHNOLOGY

Dear Savvy Senior,

What teaching resources can you recommend to help seniors learn how to use computers, tablets and smartphone devices? At age 72, I am interested in joining the technology revolution so I can keep up with my kids and grandkids a little better, but I need help. Technology Novice

Dear Novice.

There are lots of different technology teaching tools available to boomers and seniors today, but what's available to you will depend on where you live. Here are some different places and to look for help.

Local Classes and Workshops

There are many communities that offer beginning computer and personal technology classes for older adults that are new to technology. To find out what's available in your area, contact your local public library, senior center, college or university, or local stores that sell computers. Your Area Agency on Aging may also be able to help you – call the Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116 to get your local number. If you can't find any local programs that meet your needs, here are some national resources that offer technology training in select locations.

SeniorNet: This organization offers a variety of basic online computer courses as well as instructorled workshops at 36 learning centers throughout the United States. A first year membership fee of $43 is required. See SeniorNet.org or call 239-275-2202 for more information.

Oasis Connections: Provides primarily free computer, Internet and mobile technology classes in 30 U.S. cities. They partner with local libraries, job help centers, senior centers and faith-based organizations where these classes are offered. OasisNet.org/ connections, 314-862-2933 ext. 272.

Lifelong Learning Institutes (LLIs): Usually affiliated with colleges and universities, LLIs offer a wide array of noncredit courses to retirees, and some may offer technology courses. To find an LLI that offers computer/technology classes, contact your closest colleges or search the websites of the two organizations that support and facilitate them - Osher (osher.net) and Elderhostel (roadscholar.org/ein/intro. asp). Together they support around 500 LLI programs nationwide.

AARP TEK Workshops: Available to everyone, author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

TEK workshops are free technology learning events on tablets or smartphones and are offered in various cities throughout the U.S. AARPTEK.org, 202-434-3021.

Older Adults Technology Services (OATS): If you live in New York City, OATS provides free tech training to seniors in 70 locations throughout the city. OATS.org, 718-360-1707.

How-To Books

There are also a wide variety of books you can purchase that can help you learn how to use different types of technologies. Visual Steps (visualsteps.com), for example, offers a number of practical and accessible computer handbooks, software user guides and other instructional materials that are tailored specifically for seniors, as does the "For Dummies" books (dummies. com), which you can buy in book stores nationwide or online at sites like Amazon.com and BarnesandNoble.

Online Instructional Services

If you already have a computer and some computer and/or Internet skills, but would like to expand your knowledge, there are a number of online services you can turn to that offer a wide variety of self-paced technology lessons and instructional videos.

Some good ones to checkout include GCFLearnFree. org, which is supported by the Goodwill Community Foundation and is completely free to use. And MyPCSchool.com, which is privately owned and offers nearly 700 lessons for $39 for three months or $79 for one year.

Also check out TechBoomers.com, a free educational website that teaches seniors with basic computer skills about frequently used websites, and Geekatoo.com, which offers tech support house calls in all 50 states, and offers two-hour tutorial instruction for $79.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and

BRIGHT SPOTS SHINE IN NEWEST DAWN CERES IMAGES

New images of dwarf planet Ceres, taken by NASA's Dawn spacecraft, show the cratered surface of this mysterious world in sharper detail than ever before. These are among the first snapshots from Dawn's second mapping orbit, which is 2,700 miles above Ceres.

The images, with a resolution of 1,400 feet per pixel, are available at:

http://www.jpl.nasa.gov/news/news. php?release=2015-198

The region with the brightest spots is in a crater about 55 miles across. The spots consist of many individual bright points of differing sizes, with a central cluster. So far, scientists have found no obvious explanation for their observed locations or brightness levels.

"The bright spots in this configuration make Ceres unique from anything we've seen before in the solar system," said Chris Russell, principal investigator for the Dawn mission based at UCLA. "The science team is working to understand their source. Reflection from ice is the leading candidate in my mind, but the team continues to consider alternate possibilities, such as salt. With closer views from the new orbit and multiple view angles, we soon will be better able to determine the nature of this enigmatic phenomenon," Numerous other features on Ceres intrigue scientists, as they contrast this world with others including protoplanet Vesta, which Dawn visited for 14 months in 2011 and 2012. Craters abound on both bodies, but Ceres appears to have had more activity on its surface, with evidence of flows, landslides and collapsed structures.

Additionally, new images from Dawn's visible and infrared mapping spectrometer (VIR) show a portion of Ceres' cratered northern hemisphere, taken on May 16, including a true-color view and a temperature image. The temperature image is derived from data in the infrared light range. This instrument is also important in determining the nature of the bright spots.

Having arrived in its current orbit on June 3, Dawn will observe the dwarf planet from 2,700 miles above its surface until June 28. In orbits of about three days each, the spacecraft will conduct intensive observations of Ceres. It will then move be a fascinating world more closely related to toward its next orbit of altitude 900 miles, arriving the terrestrial planets (including Earth) than to in early August.

DON'T JUDGE A BOOK BY ITS COVER

WHAT DOES OUR CLOTHING ACTUALLY SAY ABOUT US?

By Christopher Nyerges

Rock, CA 90041, or www. SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com.) Most of us, myself included, are largely hypnotized by surfaces and readilymanipulated. Money and sex are two big sources of manipulation, but I was thinking today of how easily most of us are manipulated by the way other people

Years ago, when I showed up to lead a wilderness hike sponsored by the local college, one elderly student gave me the once over. He looked at my casual shoes, my everyday pants and button-down shirt, and a look of worry spread over his face. "Are you sure you're qualified to lead the class?" he asked me. After all, he went to REI and had purchased a full outfit of special hiking shoes, cargo pants with all the pockets, khaki shirt with places for pens and fishing hooks, hiking hat, and whatever other gadgets he could afford. That man, my student, was the stereotypical image of the posterboy of hiking outfits.

"Don't worry," I assured him. "We'll have a great class," and I did not bother to comment on the source of his concern, which was the clothes I was wearing. He presumed to judge me by what I was wearing! And all of us do that all the time.

In part, this is because we have long accepted that certain professions naturally have certain costumes. (When our hike was over, the elderly student came over to me to apologize!).

 $Doctors \, must \, we arwhite smocks \, and \, the stethoscope.$ My doctor friend once told me that at night at the hospital where he worked, all the doctors dressed pretty casually. "We only dress that way when there are visitors," he laughed. "Do you really care how the doctor dresses, or do you want a doctor who knows what he's doing?" my friend asked me.

We like to see cooks with the big white hat and the etc. apron because that seems to be the stamp of approval of professionalism, and we hope, excellence.

Some costumes are absolutely necessary, such as the uniforms of firemen, police, and military. The very specific costume helps both their own, and others, to know that they have the authority of the agency or state they work for. Yes, there are undercover agents who must not be noticed, so their costumes are very different.

Martial artists also have their unique costume, the generally white gi that allows free and easy movement while doing the exercises. However, more and more I am seeing martial artists wearing simple gym clothes when practicing, often keeping the more formal gi for

I remember when the idea of Ninja was big, and people were buying those all black outfits in order to be inconspicuous. Of course, anyone actually wearing such an outfit was clueless about what the Ninja were all about, since one of their skills was to blend into their society without being noticed. You're not (Nyerges is the author of inconspicuous at the mall if you're wearing a black How to Survive Anywhere," Ninja outfit. A modern "Ninja" would dress rather and other books. He can be plain, and would blend into a crowd. You would never reached at Box 41834, Eagle notice anything special about him or her.

This also reminds me of the popularity of military camoflauge outfits, which are designed so you blend in to certain environments. They also make it more difficult for animals to see you when hunting. You don't "blend into" your urban environment wearing a camo outfit! As for the eyesight of animals - such as deer—is not that great, and if you are still, and wearing mostly khaki, you blend into the background quite well.

Uniforms and costumes are to be earned, and worn properly. They impart no special ability to the wearer. The abilities assumed when you see someone in a particular costume must be earned by hard work, like

Over the years, I have seen and met many individuals who wore long robes, and had long hair, and believed themselves to be very Jesus-like, as if the hair and clothing somehow made them special. I can assure you that simply putting on a robe does not elevate one to a Jesus status. I can recall vividly the language of one Jesus wannabe I once encountered, and he was clearly no Jesus. Another robe-wearing Jesus wannabe drank way beyond the standards of "communion," and after awhile he speech was incoherent. Also not a Jesus.

It has been said that clothes make the man, or the woman. Maybe. Sometimes. But we also hide behind our outfits as if the clothes are our very soul. Sometimes our clothes are a reflection of who we are inside, and sometimes not.

We have often heard that you cannot judge a book by its cover, but unfortunately, everyone does. It is good if our outerwear truly reflects who we are. In some cases, when we wear a uniform that represents something good and decent, it may actually cause us to do better and be better because we know that people are now expecting more from us. This would apply to such uniforms as the police uniform, priest uniform,

I do think that there are at least two aspects of clothing which can actually affect us, for better or worse. One is the quality of the fabric. Polyesters in general do not breathe and so they are not as good to wear as natural fabrics, such as cotton, linen, or wool. Also, I believe in the science of color, in the sense that there are distinct wavelengths of light that have to do with each color. Thus, the quality of the color of your clothing can be attracting attention to you in ways that could be desirable, or not. Red is more "hot" and 'hostile" than sky blue, for example, which is more calming. There is a reason why monks always wear golden robes.

For sure, I have only scratched the tip of the iceberg, and I haven't even touched upon the folly of men's ties, or women's high heels, two of the greatest fashion" atrocities of our day. Still, always be alert, and discerning, and do not judge the human "book" by the costumes it covers itself with.

OUT TO PASTOR

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

I'M TOTALLY TIRED WITH EL NEGATIVITY

I will admit throughout the years I have had my completely swamp the positive. Of course, if you negative moments and some negative rants. I know nobody can be 100% positive. I am 100% positive they cannot be 100% positive.

That being said, I think to have a positive outlook on life makes life happier, and who doesn't want to have a happy life. The focus on the negative without any regard to the positive can be a very shocking life experience.

Everybody knows you have to have both a negative and positive for electricity to work. Do not ask me how that works; I have been shocked a few times and still I am in the dark.

I know there are two sides to every situation and story. I know that. After all, I am a husband. Even though there are two sides to every story, sometimes one side does not come to the surface.

In the husband and wife relationship, some call it marriage, there is both a positive and a negative. Some days it seems to be all negative. Then there are those wonderful days when it seems to be all positive. I really like those days. Unfortunately, there does not seem to be many of those sunny days.

Every relationship has ups and downs; times when you get along and then there are times that you do not get along. However, I have found that if you accent the positive in a relationship and sort of put the negative in the back closet, things seem to go along much more smoothly. As a husband, I have learned to choose my battles carefully and then once I have chosen a certain battle, I need to forget it. I have learned, get on with life by getting along with your wife.

I try to keep up with the stories on the news. It seems that you cannot get away from the news these days with all of this 24/7 kind of exposure. Whoever came up with this ought to be electrocuted. I am tired of news, news, news.

And most of it negative.

I think it might be great, although it will not last very long, to have a news program some time devoted just to "good news." The way things are today, I do not know if there is any good news out there. All we hear is the bad. The worse the news, the more publicity it gets on the media.

Then there is politics. I think there could be something positive to say about politics, but at this moment, nothing really comes to my mind.

I will give this a lot of thought (actually not too much thought) and just see if there is anything positive I can say about politics.

there are at least a dozen negative votes that and really enjoy the rest God has for us.

could get the negative and the positive together in politics, it would be a rather shocking experience.

I think some people are negative because they really do not know how to be positive. Nothing in their life seems to be positive and so the outcome is they are negative about everything.

After some long meditating and thinking about politics, I have discovered what is wrong with politics. Now I did not get a government grant to run this study in my head, I have just been thinking and have concluded on my own. The thing that is wrong with politics is simply

To find a politician balanced in the negative and the positive is like looking for a needle in a haystack. The problem with looking for a needle in a haystack is that when you find the needle you are stuck with it.

If only we could all agree on what is positive, then agree on what is negative and then try to find a balance between the two, it might serve us rather well. But that is asking too much, at least with the row of politicians standing before us these days.

But I am just tired of all the negativity we have. And it is not only in politics.

Religion is also full of negativity. I am tired of all the negative comments that come out of the mouth of people who are religious.

I think religion, for the most part, has more negatives than positives. In fact, I think they know more about the negatives and have forgotten completely about anything positive. But that is the nature of religion.

The problem with religion is the same problem with politics. The people running religion are the ones causing all the problems. If we just get rid of leaders in our country today who are all negative, we might have a chance of looking on a positive

The only positive I see today is in Christianity. Not the Christianity of religion; that's a given that it is more negative than positive. But the Christianity that focuses on the person of Jesus Christ. I choose to be a follower of Jesus.

Can I get an Amen?

Jesus had a positive message. "Come unto me, all yethat labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28).

I know can we cannot be 100% positive, but I For every positive you might find in politics, think we should focus a little more on the positive types of courage there are personalities and human struggles. Courage comes in many colors, cadences and creeds. The teenager afflicted with an inoperable brain cancer who continues to play basketball until she can no longer hold the ball is the epitome of courage.

Lauren Hill, who by her insistence on living the last moments of a cruelly shortened life with joy and purpose, raising millions of dollars for cancer research and turning her small candle into a towering flame that cursed the darkness, transcended mere humanity, and became immortal. That is courage. That is what should be remembered when we look upward for an example and not inward for an explanation.

These are the thoughts that were triggered by the announcement by ESPN that it would give this year's "courage" award, named in honor of the great Arthur Ashe, to Caitlyn (nee Bruce) Jenner. For those who have only a passing acquaintance with Ashe, it's important to examine his life and the reasons that it became the model for true courage in the field of sports.

According to his website, Ashe was a "top ranked tennis player in the 1960s and 1970s" at a time when racism, never absent from the sports world, was more overt than it is today. He was raised in the segregated south, becoming the first African American male tennis player to win a Grand Slam tournament. He was a humanitarian, an educator, and a role model throughout his life, winning the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

Ironically, though, it was in the manner in which he faced death that he showed the measure of his courage. Arthur Ashe died in 1993 after contracting AIDS through a tainted blood transfusion. The dignity with which he lived the final, unfair chapter of an amazing human narrative made it impossible for ESPN to choose anyone else to represent the face of

And while the winners haven't always been sportsmen, they have always been exceptional for the contributions that they made to society, and not because of any politically convenient agenda. Here is a partial list of previous winners: Muhammad Ali (1997,) Todd Beamer, Mark Bingham, Tom Burnett and Jeremy Glick (2002,) Pat Tillman and Kevin Tillman (2003,) Nelson Mandela (2009,) Pat Summit (2012,) Robin Roberts (2013.)

fade into the darkness of Parkinson's with heartbreaking generosity, to the valiant civilians who stared death down on Flight 93 and sacrificed themselves for America, to the star QB-turned-warrior on the battlefield who, regardless of the ultimate conditions of his death, gave up the gilded trappings of gridiron glory and enlisted to serve, one among many. There is the giant who exchanged a quarter century and the best years of his youth for a guarantee of equality, and two fine women who battled and are still battling illnesses that steal strength and memory, but not hope and commitment.

These are all the different colors, cadences and creeds of courage. They are a pure reflection of Arthur Ashe and do honor to the award that bears his name.

But when I see Caitlyn (nee Bruce) Jenner, the reflection I see is far from that purity. Jenner, an admittedly transcendent and historic athlete, could have been given the award years ago for winning the Decathalon at a moment in time when the United States was still locked in a psychological and philosophical battle with the Soviet Union. When he raised that American flag and ran around the Olympic track with the wind of Mercury at his feet, he gave this country a reason to celebrate. Ironically, he now says that this was the moment in his life when he felt the most fear, and a fraud. So perhaps the courage it took to overcome his doubts is the type that deserves a trophy and adulation.

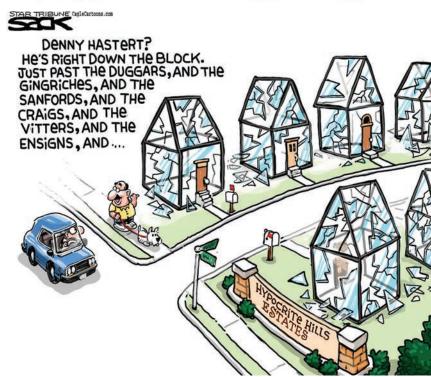

Except that they're not giving him an award for that. Jenner has been chosen because he has come out as a woman, has transitioned quite publicly, has laid it all out for us on the cover of a popular magazine. This is audacious, but in a society where we vilify those who support traditional values, it is hardly a courageous act to exhibit your newly-acquired identity. Courage implies something less egotistical and more transcendent, like giving your life for your country, or showing the world that 28 years in prison can break your body but not

I'm sure there are a lot of people who think Jenner is the epitome of courage, simply because he was able to say "I'm Caitlyn" in a world that still has a problem understanding the alleged fluidity of gender. They're entitled to their opinions.

But I'm entitled to believe that on the night of the ESPY awards, Arthur Ashe will find Lauren Hill in that paradise they both surely inhabit, take her hand in his own, and raise it up.

HOWARD Hays As I See It

"It's progress because a cop pulled a gun on a group of black dead."

 Jessica Williams on The Daily Show

According the 2010 Census, population

McKinney, of Texas is 75% white and 10% black. The west side of McKinney is 90% white, while east of US Highway 75 it's more like 50-50. In 2009, McKinney settled a lawsuit brought when it resisted construction of low-income housing on its west side. It's still a major issue, with west-siders fighting to keep such projects east

Within the first few seconds of that video posted on YouTube last week, you get an idea what this west side of town is like, at least in the Craig Ranch community – an ideal place for young teens to get together on a hot Texas Friday afternoon for an end-of-school / here-comes-Summer pool party. According to Tatyana Rhodes, a 19-yearold black resident of Craig Ranch, they arranged the "cook out" for classmates and friends, providing guest passes for the pool. Most of the guests were residents, as well. She says that when she went to get a keypad, she heard white adult residents shouting racial obscenities at her guests: "Black f-ers", "Go back to your Section 8 (public) housing", etc. Grace Stone, a 14-year-old white friend of Tatyana's brother, "stuck up for us" and confronted the hecklers, telling them their comments were racist and "not right". Then, according to Tatyana, Grace became their target - cursed at and told she should "do better for herself". Tatyana says she then got back into it, telling them they shouldn't be attacking a 14-year-old like that. They told Tatyana to go back to her Section 8 housing. After responding, "Excuse me?", Tatyana says she was "smacked" across the face and "both of the women attacked me".

Brandon Brooks, a white 15-year-old guest, says he was in the restroom when a friend told him of a fight outside. He said he grabbed his stuff and rushed out, but the fight was over by the time he got there.

Brandon was the one who made the video arrived). posted to YouTube. He observed that the police only went after the black and Hispanic kids. He says although he was in the middle of them all, as a white kid "I was basically invisible to the cops." He offered this take on what transpired: "The 911 call was probably described as this black girl beating up this mom, which was actually the other way around. The mom pulled the girl's hair. I think the cop just got nervous and just started putting every black person on the ground, trying to catch this one girl who was in the fight with the mom - while the mom just stood there and laughed."

Brandon notes, as confirmed on the video, that police on the scene were professional and tried to calm the situation. That is until this Cpl. Casebolt barrel-rolled onto the scene – in a state the police chief described as "out of control". Two officers are seen calmly interviewing party guests standing on the sidewalk, when Casebolt storms in to shout at the inerviewees: "Get on the ground! Now!" The two officers seem as taken aback as the Casebolt shouts obscenities (predominately "ass" and variations of the f-word) at the teens. 15-year-old Dajerria Becton was seated on the grass crying, but apparently it wasn't "on the ground" enough for Casebolt, so he threw her on the ground again. According to Dajerria, "He grabbed me, twisted my arm on my back and shoved me in the grass and started pulling the back of my braids" – but the video appears more brutal than her description. She cried for her mother as Casebolt pinned her face-down with both knees on her back. One of the friends rushing to see if she was okay was 18-year-old Adrian Martin. He said he wanted to tell her, "Look, we're going to call your mom. It's alright." He's the one Casebolt then pulled his gun on and who turned out to be the only one put under arrest (charges later dismissed). Whatever it was that caused Casebolt to go unhinged, I hope he gets the help he needs along with the punishment he

There's no excuse, however, for certain individuals in the media. CNN anchor Ashleigh Banfied wonders, "I'm not sure where the racial issue comes in, other than just the fact that she happens to be black." Megyn Kelly on Fox News, referring to Dajerria Becton, rationalizes "the girl was no saint either. He told her to leave and she continued to linger." Syndicated radio host Michael Berry referred to party guests as jungle animals".

Then there's Fox News bringing out Craig Ranch resident Sean Toon, happy to tell the whole story" of what "really" went on, and how officers like Casebolt had to do what they did to stem the "chaos" and "protect" the

One person who remembers Toon is 14-year-old Grace Stone, the friend Tatyana Rhodes says "stuck up for us" and who turned out to be the only white person handcuffed during the incident (ordered cuffed by Casebolt when she tried to explain to them what had happened before they'd Grace remembers Toon as one of the residents shouting racial obscenities at the guests, leading to the fight that led to the 911 call. As she said later, "You shouldn't be that hateful." She remembers Toon telling her friends, "You should go back to the Section 8 housing where you're from because you don't belong in our neighborhood". She says, "That's when I went off. I called him an

Many on the right maintain a big problem with kids is insufficient respect towards elders - and I agree. But for 14-year-old Grace Stone, she gets a pass on that one.

WHY CONSERVATIVE GIVE BETTER

Get this: Conservatives give better graduation speeches than their more yourself liberal-minded counterparts.

After reviewing two commencementspeech anthologies — "The World is Waiting For You," which features 18 speeches by liberals, and "Remembering Who We Are," which showcases 30 conservative speeches Washington Post blogger and book critic Carlos Lozada gives five reasons why conservatives do a better job.

First, he writes, conservatives are more likely to speak to graduates as individuals, rather than as members of a movement or generation.

Whereas liberal speakers say things such as, "you are the first generation that ...," conservative speakers are more likely to say things such as, "you'll rise or fall on your own" or "take opportunities as they present themselves and work hard. Eventually it will come to you." These latter points were made in speeches by Roger Ailes and Bill O'Reilly of Fox News.

Second, Lozada writes, conservative speeches, on average, are shorter. This became evident as he compared the length of conservatives' and liberals' speeches. This makes sense to me.

Whereas conservatives tend to give speeches that push tangible, measurable performance improvements, liberals are great at sweeping generalities that fire up audiences but are short on specifics (remember people fainting when presidential candidate Barack Obama promised "hope and change"?)

I offer other notable examples: Republican President Abraham Lincoln gave one of the most compelling speeches in history. The Gettysburg Address took only three minutes. Gasbag communist dictator Fidel Castro once gave a speech that lasted seven hours and 10 minutes.

Third, per Lozada, conservatives give more actionable advice, while liberals give more general advice.

Whereas Cecile Richards, Planned Parenthood president, says that "life as an activist, troublemaker, or agitator is a tremendous option and one I highly recommend," conservatives' speeches focus on such topics as "The Art of the Entrepreneur" (U.S. News & World Report's Mort Zuckerman), how to "Restore and Remake Our Country" (historian Victor Davis Hanson) and how to "Do Your Best to Be Your Best" (Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas). Lozada gives some specific examples of the differences. Liberal Marian Wright Edelman tells students, "Godspeed, as you go out and change the world." But moreconservative speakers tend to demand specific action and results.

"Promise over the next year, you're going to spend half an hour a day learning something new," said Ben

Carson, now a Republican presidential candidate. "Immerse yourself in faith, family, community, and work, and never waste your time chasing anything unearned," said Arthur Brooks, American Enterprise Institute president. "Watch what happens when you spend a lot of time marveling at your last accomplishment," warned Theodore Olsen, former solicitor general.

Fourth, according to Lozada, conservatives tell better stories that are more memorable and personal. He offered an example involving Fox News contributor Brit Hume: "Charlton Heston asked Hume to call him 'Chuck,' and Hume responded: 'I could no more call you Chuck, sir, than I could call Moses 'Mo."

Fifth, writes Lozada, conservatives are less likely to suck up to you.

Whereas Anna Quindlen told one audience "you totally rock" and Wynton Marsalis told another, "Check yourselves out, because it's a beautiful thing," conservatives are more likely to demand improvement.

Lozada writes that Rush Limbaugh, when asked what he would say to a graduating class, responded,

"The first thing that I would say is the world does not revolve around you, yet, and you are not the future leaders of the country, yet, just because you've graduated."

Despite Lozada's conclusion that conservatives make better commencement speakers, liberal speakers outnumber them 6-to-1 at the top 100 universities (according to Young America's Foundation's 23rd Annual Commencement Speaker Survey).

So, if you have to sit through a college commencement speech this spring, prepare for sweeping generalities that are long on bluster and short on specifics — kind of like the last few presidential campaigns.
