REMEMBERING CAPT. MORRISON

Please join our community in a celebration of Captain Chris Morrison's life.

A celebration of Chris's life will be held @ the Memorial Park band shell Sat. Aug. 22nd @ 5:30 pm (222 Sierra Madre Boulevard, Sierra Madre).

Bring blankets, chairs, & a picnic supper. Water, lemonade, & sweet treats will be provided.

This is an opportunity for all of us to honor a legacy of volunteerism, friendship, community, and a zest for life. This is a casual event, please come comfortable. Browns, USA Soccer, or any other shirts or clothes that remind you of Chris's passions are encouraged.

In lieu of flowers, Lori has requested for donations to be made which will be used to build a memorial bench in Chris's memory at his favorite camp site.

Feel free to comment here if you have any questions.

Editor's Note:

The Sierra Madre Community, including the Police and Fire Departments, as well as friends of the Morrison Family raised more than $30,000 online and another estimated $20,000 in "The Boot" for the family.

STOP ATTEMPTED BURGLARY - "See Something, Say Something" Helps

On Monday 8/17, Sierra Madre Officers were informed of two residential burglaries that both occurred during the hours of 8 am and 3 pm, both being next door neighbors on Monterey Ln. Both homes were ransacked and estimated total loss of value over thousands of dollars. A nearby neighbor was informed by a housekeeper that she noticed a DARK colored SUV parked near one of the victim's homes.

In response to recent events, the residents of Monterey Ln. are on high alert. Yesterday at around 5 pm, Officers were flagged down by a near by resident who informed them they had recently spotted a SILVER colored SEDAN occupied by three African American Males, driving around the street, and that the vehicle was unknown to the area. The resident reported the vehicle's plate being similar to 7FJW550. Officers were unable

PREPARE YOURSELF FOR A VERY HOT WEEK!

When triple-digit temperatures register across Southern California and the County of Los Angeles Public issues a Heat Advisory for areas including the San Gabriel Valley it is important to remind residents of tips to stay cool and safe.

- Slow down, avoid strenuous activity. Do not try to do too much on a hot day.
- Wear lightweight, loose-fitting, light-colored clothing. Light colors will reflect heat and sunlight and help maintain normal body temperature.
- Protect your face with a wide-brimmed hat.
- Drink plenty of water regularly and often, even if you do not feel thirsty.
- Stay hydrated.
- Stay indoors as much as possible. If you do not have air conditioning, stay on your lowest floor, out of the sun or go to a place where you can get relief from the heat, such as air conditioned, library, theaters and other community facilities that may offer refuge during the warmest times of the day.
- Electric fans do not cool the air, but they do help evaporate perspiration, which cools your body.
- Cover windows that receive morning or afternoon sun with drapes, shades, awnings or louvers. Outdoor awnings or louvers can reduce the heat that enters a home by up to 80 percent.
- Check on family, friends and neighbors.

If you believe you, or anyone you are with, is experiencing a heatrelated medical emergency, promptly call 911, and if possible, move to a cooler place.

EXPLORE BACKSTAGE AT THE SIERRA MADRE PLAYHOUSE!

On Wednesday evening September 9th, the Sierra fun and funky Green Room, the dressing room, and Madre Historical Preservation Society will present an evening dedicated to the history of Sierra all possible. You will have the opportunity to stand Madre's major downtown landmark and source of community pride, the Sierra Madre Playhouse. The Playhouse's own Ward Calaway will give a talk about the building's past, and all that happened within its walls, and there will also be a backstage tour which you do not want to miss! The details are below.

You know the Playhouse stages live theater now, and you may know it was a movie house in its past. But that's not all. Built in 1923, it has had other incarnations over its lifetime. And theater in Sierra Madre did not begin when the Playhouse was built... Sierra Madre has always attracted creative citizens who loved the arts, and they did not neglect the thespian arts, staging performances here and there around town. You will hear a bit about those too.

all the levers and wires and exciting bits that make it on the stage and look out over the seats, seeing what the players see. You will also be surprised at what the players see in their peripheral vision, things hidden from the audience.

The backstage area, which leads to the stage, is accessible from a side door, so you don't have to clamber up on the stage to see everything. A play will be running (Always...Patsy Cline will be ending its successful run soon), so you will be standing in a real working set.

At 12:16 am, Sierra Madre Police responded to the area of Mt. Wilson Trail and East Mira Monte regarding a report of a reckless driver. It was reported a truck was driving at a high rate of speed with several teenagers in the truck bed screaming and yelling. Officers quickly located the vehicle and observed two males in the truck and two others outside of the truck, which was parked behind a passenger vehicle. Officers also noticed a case of beer in front of the left side of the passenger vehicle, and as the patrol vehicle approached the teenagers, the two males outside of the truck got into the passenger vehicle and ex-girlfriend's mother. The victim's mother attempted to run over the case of beer. Officers stopped the vehicle and questioned all four males. After the Officers determined the two males in the passenger vehicle were not involved in the incident and released them, they questioned the two males in the truck. As Officers continued their investigation they located several unopen beer cans. The driver of the truck admitted that the alcohol belonged to him, including the case that was left in the street. The Officers performed derogatory towards the son, and stated he had a field sobriety test, and after determining the underage teen was not under the influence of that he stole the money that was said to have been alcohol, Officers cited him for possession of given to him. The victim ignored the messages alcohol by a person under 21 and possession of alcohol in public. Officers seized the alcohol to more derogatory and threatening. ### Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

This week, this quote fits perfectly!

"August in sub-Saharan Los Angeles is one of the great and awful tests of one's endurance, sanity and stamina." Henry Rollins

The beginning of last week was really pleasant. Then came the 100+ degree days when we could honestly say, "These are the times that try men's (and women's and children's and dogs and cat's) souls." Of course, when Thomas Paine said that in 1776, he wasn't talking about the weather. Walking Sierra Madre has been a challenge when it's in the mid-70's at six in the morning. It's better now, but the garden damage is extensive...and painful. The azaleas and roses are burnt and will require surgery. The new gardenias we put in a couple of weeks ago did great and the Gerbera daisy is actually blooming. All the succulents look fabulous and we don't look at the lawn anymore. You probably don't either. Have you noticed the crepe myrtle trees all over town? They look gorgeous, especially the deep pink ones. I'm giving up on some of the roses and putting in a crepe myrtle. We've been fighting the spider mites for years and I'm just going to concede victory to them. Little stinkers! I've sprayed everything but Chanel #5 on them and they just lap it up.

Delighted to see the work finally starting on the City Hall Re-Landscaping project to make it more drought-resistant with low-water gardens. Looking forward to seeing the finished product, which will inspire us all to new heights of garden ingenuity. I keep trying to get down to OSH to buy some bags of wood chips which will save us some water. Maybe this week.

We have a new florist in town. Her name is Kiwi Feng and her shop is Ev80 Floral Design. She's across the street from Congregational Church and right next to Left Coast Scooters. She has some lovely arrangements in her case and can do any kind of event for you. Her address is 185 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Kiwi's shop is named for her life philosophy which is, "Do the things you like, even at the age of 80!" Take a look at her website: www.ev80floral.net. Kiwi is originally from China and like everyone who available there...

I'm sure you've noticed there's a movie going on, which is always good news for our town as these fine folk have to buy permits and bring in great bunches of crew people who need to indulge their Starbucks latte addiction, grab a bite to eat at Beantown while they're filming in front of it, shop a little and, hopefully, leave a lot of their dollars here. Rumor has it it's a murder mystery starring Katherine Heigl. "Unforgettable," is the title and we all need to mark our calendars for a year or two from now when it's released. They were shooting at Les Champs Elysees on Tuesday and laying cables across Baldwin late Tuesday afternoon. The movie company has a really cute farmer's market thing set up in Memorial Park and every day they're in town makes me smile. Kaching! Ka-ching!

Thinking of movies in Sierra Madre, how many can you remember? Of course, the most famous one, Invasion of the Body Snatchers with the pod people in Kersting Court. Pioneer Cemetery has appeared in a bunch of films. Laura Palmer's funeral in Twin Peaks was shot there. We especially liked Family Plot, directed by Alfred Hitchcock, which had a lot of footage in our cemetery. There was a TV movie starring Olympia Dukakis shot right across the street from us and the film company brought everybody on the street a cute basket of muffins. Nice. Sgt. Bilko, with Steve Martin was partially filmed by Happy's Liquors and there are so many more. It's kind of neat to see those big trucks roll into town. Wonder if they need any extras?

And to end on the happiest note possible, school has started! May all the returning scholars have the best year ever. We have a new second grader, a new kindergartener, a new PCC Freshman, and a Junior at USC in various parts of our family.

"The best teachers teach from the heart, not from the book." Anonymous

May all your children's teachers this coming year be just like that.

Sierra Madre, CA. - August 18, 2015 - Please join the City of Sierra Madre and the Sierra Madre Garden Club for the dedication of the new Sierra Madre Civic Center landscaping project! The project has been designed and coordinated though volunteer efforts and is being funding through community donations and a grant from the San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District. The landscaping is designed to reflect an authentic California aesthetic perfect for the city's climate and distinctive interests; it features the latest in irrigation technology, a wide variety of beautiful native blooms and foliage, and charming permeable walks.

Refreshments will be served from 9am to 9:15, when the dedication will take place. The formal ceremony will be followed by a 2-hour Speed Learning Workshop hosted by FormLA which will cover everything you need to know to create an aesthetic authentic to Sierra Madre for your home. There is a suggested donation of $20 per family to attend the Speed Learning Workshop, proceeds will go towards the planting of the new drought resistant landscaping. The Workshop will cover:

CITY TO HOLD E-WASTE RECYCLING EVENT

Residents and businesses can safely dispose of electronic waste and have personal and business documents shredded at the City's popular e-waste event from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 29, in Parking Lot I outside the Rose Bowl Stadium near Brookside Park, 360 N. Arroyo Blvd. The event is sponsored by the City's Department of Public Works. Shredding trucks and e-waste collection sites will be arranged at different stations in Parking Lot I. Look for signs directing you to the event. Motorists and bicyclists are advised to use caution while traveling through the area.

E-waste items include computers, keyboards, printers, monitors, laptops, docking stations, scanners, shredders, fax machines, computer mice, telephones, televisions, flat screens, VCRs, DVD players, PDAs, cassette players, tape drives, stereos and household batteries. Many of these products have parts that can be recycled.

Public Works is also helping residents and businesses prevent identity theft by providing free paper shredding during the event. The public can bring a maximum of five legal-size boxes for shredding. Sensitive documents such as receipts, checks, pre-approved credit applications, credit card statements, outdated tax returns, pre-printed envelopes, return address labels and business cards are items that can be shredded.

For more information about the free e-waste collection and document shredding event, visit www.cityofpasadena.net/ PublicWorks or call (626) 744-

NEW FOOTHILL GOLD LINE DEDICATED IN DUARTE

By Joan Schmidt

Saturday, August 15 was a VERY EXCITING day at 1777 Duarte Road, across from the City of Hope. The new Foothill Gold Line Duarte/City of Hope Station was dedicated. Although it was an unbearable HOT day, nearly 400 attended, including Congresswoman Napolitano, State Senator Carol Liu, Assemblymen Hernandez Roger and Holden, Chris

County Supervisor Mike Antonovich, City of Hope President/ CEO Robert Stone, Construction Authority Vice-Chair/ Claremont Mayor Pro Tem Sam Pedroza, Metro CEO Phil Washington, and Metro Board Member/ Glendale Mayor Ara Najarian. Duarte was represented by its Mayor Tzeitel Paras-Caracci , and the entire City Council, including John Fasana a Metro and Foothill Gold Line Construction Authority Board Member. (Many don't realize Mr. Fasana's role in the great sound walls along the Freeway.) Also attending were City Manager Darrell George, Deputy City Manager Karen Herrera and School Board Members Reyna Diaz and Tom Reyes. From neighboring Monrovia- past Mayor Mary Ann Lutz, Mayor Pro Tem Becky Shevlin, Council Member Larry Spicer and City Manager Oliver Chi. (Special thanks to Habib Balian, Karen Herrera and Mary Ann Lutz for awesome photos.)

All who spoke praised this on-time within-budget project and the leadership of the Foothill Gold Line Construction Authority CEO Habib Balian and his team. I can personally vouch for Mr. Balian's outstanding leadership, reports on the progress of various phases and the accessibility to the public. For over a year that I attended Arcadia's Government Forum meetings, Habib was there with handouts, a report and ready to answer all questions.

Congresswoman Napolitano said, "I don't have to tell you Arcadia, Irwindale and Azusa. The $950 million was funded what this means to the region."

Duarte Mayor Tzeitel Paras-Caracci said, "It is an important day for Duarte and the San Gabriel Valley...take a moment and stare ahead and know you are looking into the future."

The Metro Gold Line runs between Pasadena and East Los Angeles. The first phase of expansion is the almost-completed 11.5 mile route between Pasadena and Azusa, expected to be completed in late September, with service beginning next year. Later this month and next month, stations will be dedicated in Monrovia, Please visit www.foothillgoldline.org for further information.

entirely though LA County's Measure R.

The second phase of the Foothill Gold Line will extend service from Azusa to Montclair with stops at Glendora, San Dimas, La Verne, Pomona and Claremont. The $1 billion in needed funding for the second phase of expansion is still being sought. Once secured, ground could be broken on the second expansion project in 2017, with completion expected in 2023. Both Congresswoman Napolitano and Senator Lui want it extended to Ontario Airport.

For the period of Sunday, August 9th, through Saturday, August 15th, the Police Department responded to 1,125 calls for service of which 117 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, August 9:

Just before 11:50 a.m., an officer responded to Hai Di Lao Restaurant at the Westfield Shopping Town, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a petty theft report. The officer discovered an unidentified suspect picked up the victim's credit card that had been dropped by the waitress. The victim was informed by her bank that the suspect had charged approximately $3,000. The investigation is ongoing.

The suspect is described as an Asian male wearing an orange shirt, pants, and sandals. He was accompanied by a female toddler.

At approximately 5:15 p.m., an officer responded to 24-Hour Fitness, 125 North First Avenue, regarding a vehicle burglary. An investigation revealed an unknown suspect smashed the driver's window and stole the victim's purse. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Monday, August 10:

At about 10:47 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a vehicle in the area of Baldwin Avenue and the 210 Freeway for failing to stop at a red light. Upon contacting the driver, the officer discovered the driver had a suspended license. The 46-year-old female from Studio City was cited and released in the field. Her vehicle was left legally parked.

Anita Avenue. The officer witnessed the 43-year-old female from Arcadia drink from a can that was concealed in a paper bag. Upon contacting the suspect, the officer detected a strong odor of alcohol emitting from her breath. She was cited and released in the field.

Around 1:29 p.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 1200 block of Michillinda Avenue regarding a credit card theft report. The victim believes the suspect accessed her hotel room while visiting Yosemite, wrote down the account number of her credit card that was in plain sight, and attempted to make a purchase online. The bank declined the transaction. No suspects were seen was unharmed and released to DCFS. and no witnesses were located.

Just after 8:47 p.m., an officer responded to a traffic accident in the intersection of Santa Anita Avenue and Campus Drive. Party-1 was travelling south on Santa Anita Avenue when they collided with Party-2, who was turning left from Santa Anita Avenue onto Campus Drive. Both parties claimed to have green lights. No injuries were reported although a city light pole was damaged.

Wednesday, August 12:

Shortly after 12:22 a.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle in the area of Las Tunas Drive and Live Oak Avenue for failing to have a front license plate on the vehicle. Upon contacting the occupants, the officer discovered the driver had a suspended license and one of the passengers was on probation for identity theft related charges. During a consensual search of the vehicle, the officer located methamphetamine, burglary tools, and drug paraphernalia. The driver, a 27-year-old male from South Gate, was arrested for the aforementioned charges. One of the passengers, a 40-year-old female from Huntington Park, was arrested for False ID To Peace Officer, Possession of Burglary Tools, and also had two outstanding misdemeanor warrants. The second passenger, a 27-year-old female from Bellflower, was arrested for Possession of Burglary Tools and Possession of Drug Paraphernalia. All three were transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

At about 3:07 a.m., officers and Arcadia Fire responded to a residence on fire in the 700 block of Fairview Avenue. A preliminary investigation revealed the fire may have been caused by exposed wiring as the residence is being renovated. No injuries were

Thursday, August 13:

At approximately 7:06 a.m., an officer responded to the area of Duarte Road and El Monte Avenue regarding a report of indecent exposure. The victim stated the suspect exposed himself while sitting in his gold, four-door sedan. The victim obtained the suspect's license plate and the vehicle is registered to a male out of the City of West Covina. The investigation is ongoing.

Around 10:30 p.m., an officer responded to Drinkers Hall of Fame, 151 East Huntington Drive, regarding a fight in progress. The officer discovered that three to four suspects had started a fight with a group of three males. The suspects were gone upon the officer's arrival. The victims refused medical attention and declined

The suspects are described as two white males and one suspect of Middle Eastern or Hispanic descent. All suspects were between the ages of 25 and 30-years-old.

Friday, August 14:

At about 9:28 a.m., an officer responded to the 600 block of West Duarte Road regarding a vehicle burglary report. An investigation revealed an unknown suspect smashed the rear passenger side window, stole the victim's purse, and fled undetected. No witnesses were located.

Just after 4:16 p.m., an officer responded to Bath and Body Works at the Westfield Shopping Town, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a grand theft report. The victim stated that when she turned around to pick up an item she had dropped, someone stole her iPhone from her stroller. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Saturday, August 15:

CITY OF DUARTE HONORED THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE PASSAGE OF VOTING RIGHTS ACTS OF 1965

DUARTE, CA, August 17, 2015 - The Duarte City Council honored the 50th Anniversary of the passage of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 at its recent August 11th meeting. At the meeting, the Council unanimously adopted a Proclamation detailing the original Act and its purpose to enforce voting rights of all persons as guaranteed by the US Constitution. The Proclamation was presented to members of the Pasadena Branch NAACP including President Gary Moody, Executive Board Member Lois Gaston, ACTSO Co-Chair Karen Herrera and 2nd Vice President Marcus Jones.

The Voting Rights Act of 1965 signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson on August 6th was a milestone that specifically prohibited discriminatory voting practices from disenfranchising the nation's African American population. Since its passage, the Act has expanded its reach to also assist language minorities in the voting process by providing language specific election materials to jurisdictions with large minority populations.

For more information about this commemoration, visit HYPERLINK "http://www.lavote.net" www.lavote.net to view the actual amendment, passage timeline and examples of literacy tests that were required to be taken by African Americans at the time.

OVERVIEW OF MONROVIA RENEWAL PROJECT AND THE UPCOMING PROPOSITION 218 PUBLIC HEARING REGARDING WATER AND SEWER RATE ADJUSTMENTS SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER 6, 2015

One of the major initiatives that staff has been working on of late is would see a $10 / month increase. the development of a comprehensive citywide Capital Improvement Project (CIP) initiative known as Monrovia Renewal. The overall project is estimated to cost around $51.7 million and involves the

Repair / replace every street with a pavement condition index (PCI) rating of less than 70

Repair / replace all necessary water transmission pipes and water production facilities Repair / replace all necessary sewer lines

Development of the overall Monrovia Renewal project has occurred systematically during the past several months. Initially, the City commissioned a Pavement Condition Index (PCI) study to determine the overall condition of Monrovia's street infrastructure. Subsequently, the City commissioned three master plan studies for street reconstruction, sewer system improvements, and water system improvements. Once the studies were completed, the plans were merged to develop the overall Monrovia Renewal proposal. The overall plan coordinates the identified infrastructure improvements throughout the City into six separate project areas (North, North East, North West, South East, South West, and South), and based on current timelines, construction is anticipated to begin in the first quarter of 2016, with the balance of the work identified for completion within next 3-5 years.

Pursuant to that plan, the estimated costs associated with the Monrovia Renewal CIP Plan include the following:

Street Repairs: $14.8 million

Water System Repairs: $23.3 million Sewer System Repairs: $13.7 million

In order to pay for the proposed project, staff has developed a three-tiered funding option that we are currently working to

For the streets plan, the City will be utilizing our existing Proposition C and Measure R funds to raise the necessary capital to repair the streets that have a PCI rating of below 70.

Regarding the water system repairs that have been identified, staff has recommended a water rate adjustment be implemented to raise the funds needed for the identified improvements. Based on the plan that has been proposed, the typical single-family residence to contact our Public Services Department at (626) 932-5575.

Finally, with regard to sewer system repairs that have been identified, staff has recommended that a sewer rate adjustment be implemented to raise the funds needed for the identified improvements. Based on the plan that has been proposed, the typical single-family residence would see a $4 / month increase.

This overall funding plan has identified that all of the projects outlined in the Monrovia Renewal CIP Initiative ($51.7 million of projects) could be executed at a total cost of around $14 / month for the typical single family residence.

More recently, on August 4, 2015, the City Council called for a Proposition 218 Hearing to be held on October 6, 2015. At that Proposition 218 Hearing, the City Council will be considering the implementation of a new water rate schedule and a new sewer rate schedule which if implemented, would combined cost the typical single-family residential ratepayer around $14 / month.

Pursuant to Proposition 218, in order to implement the proposed water and sewer fee adjustments, the City will be following the majority protest proceedings identified by Proposition 218. By way of background, in November 1996, California voters approved Proposition 218 which requires specific procedures be followed with regard to "property-related" fee adjustments, including water and sewer related costs.

What this means is that all water rate customers and sewer rate customers will be receiving a notice in the mail this week which outlines additional details related to the proposed water rate and sewer rate adjustments. The notices will include details related to the Proposition 218 Public Hearing, the reasons for the rate adjustments, and information regarding how customers can participate in the process. In addition, the notices outline that the overall proposed sewer and water rates include a provision that provides for a senior rate discount and economic hardship rate

The Monrovia Renewal CIP Initiative is an important project for our entire community, and the City has spent significant time and effort to thoughtfully craft a program which balances economic considerations with important infrastructure related priorities. If youshould have any questions regarding this matter, please feel free

BOSCO TECH INSTRUCTOR EARNS NATIONAL TEACHING AWARD

-The ASM Materials Education Foundation and its Teacher Award Committee have named Don Bosco Technical Institute (Bosco Tech) instructor Jim Curiel as the recipient of the 2015 Kishor M. Kulkarni Distinguished High School Teacher Award.

The award was established in 2007 through a generous donation by Dr. Kishor M. Kulkarni, past trustee of ASM International, and his family to recognize the accomplishments of one U.S. high school teacher who has demonstrated a significant and sustained positive impact on precollege-age students. This year's recipient, Jim Curiel, is chairman of Bosco Tech's Materials Science, Engineering & Technology (MSET). A devoted teacher and a proponent of STEM teaching, he consistently motivates and inspires his students toward higher education and engineering & technology field and his students succeeding in all their classes," said Dustin Kelso, a senior enrolled in Bosco Tech's MSET program. "Mr. Curiel is true evidence in grooming young adults to become avid learners, all the while maintaining the love and understanding for the MSET field."

Curiel, a 1973 Bosco Tech graduate, is a long time and active member of ASM International. His involvement includes serving on the Executive Committee of the ASM Los Angeles Chapter, instructing ASM Education courses, and organizing and hosting one-day materials camps for area middle school students. He also established the only student chapter of ASM International at the high school level.

What does your teen see when they look in the mirror? Body image encompasses what a person believes about their outward appearance, how they feel about their body and how they sense and control their movements.

Issues can occur when your teen starts showing signs of a negative body image, perceiving their body as something other than reality, convinced that their size or shape is a personal failure, or they feel ashamed, appearance. "Shedding light on these issues, we created this guide to help parents understand and detect red-flags that may indicate their teen is that the part of the parents with the desired in the parents with the parents wi struggling with body image issues," said Rawdon Messenger, TeenSafe CEO. "By monitoring their social media and online activity, parents can detect problems early and start a conversation with their child about from a young age. The best time to deal with these issues is when you begin noticing signs of a negative body image in your child. Children who are immediately brought into a discussion, reassured of their worth and taught ways of improving their self-esteem are far less likely to fall victim to any of the problems that wrong images.

How does social media play into this issue?

social media becomes As increasingly influential in the lives of teens in this digital age, they often become consumed in the "cycle of selfies," editing, sharing and comparing highly-filtered photos, creating a culture of comparing themselves to unrealistic photos of their peers. Measuring their appearance and self-worth on the amount of "likes" and comments they get is extremely unrealistic and can be trimental to a teen's psyche.

How might my teen be affected by body image issues? Teens with negative body image have increased chances of developing eating disorders and more commonly suffer from feelings of depression, isolation, low self-esteem, and obsessions with weight loss. Below are some search terms and hashtags that may be a sign that you need to start a conversation with your child about self-worth.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show THE GIFT REVIEW

Many horror-thriller films lean too much to one genre; they become too jump-scare reliant, or try to build up lots of tension and never have a good payoff in the end. Joel Edgerton, who directed this film, had the difficult task of trying to find the perfect balance of scary, but not terrifying, and thrilling, but not disappointing. This seemed like a pretty complicated task, especially considering it was his first time directing, but was he able to pull it off?

The seemingly perfect couple of Simon (Jason Bateman) and Robyn (Rebecca Hall) have just moved from Chicago to California, following the promotion Simon got in his work. Durning their first few days there they run into Gordon (Joel Edgerton), or as Simon calls him, Gordo, who used to go to school with Simon. Things quickly begin to unravel as Gordo awkwardly tries to become Simon's friend and Robyn discovers the truth about her husband and Gordo's past.

'The Gift' is perhaps one of the best psychological thrillers I haveeer seen; it certainly fit into my top ten movies of all time list. The dialogue is crisp and ultra-realistic, making the film seem as if it could happen in real life. The acting is stellar, the directing is amazing, and each shot is perfectly set up to lead into the next, making it seem to flow very fast for an almost two hour movie. Joel Edgerton should not only look forward to a great acting career, but perhaps an even better directing one.

Long gone are the days when doctors paid house calls to tend to their patients' health needs. And, few and far between are animal doctors who make house calls to provide veterinary care for domestic pets in the comfort of their own homes. However, did you know that we actually have a veterinarian right here in Sierra Madre who makes it her practice to do just that?

Deborah Smith, DVM is one unique pet vet whose practice, Treehouse Holistic Veterinary House Calls, is (in my own words) a fusion of philosophies including mainstream veterinary medicine, acupuncture and Chinese herbal medicine, all combined and designed to address whatever may ail your animal.

On a personal note, my dog Molly had distemper as a puppy and Fredrick Alfaro, her owner at the time had no idea what was wrong with her. The shelter where he'd rescued Molly had told him the had. rescued Molly had told him she had kennel cough, but it soon became clear that whatever she had was much more serious than that, and Fred was determined to get the help she needed. Fortunately, Dr. Smith was able to diagnose Molly's problem and begin the appropriate treatment that saved her before it was too late. Not long after that, Frederick himself passed away, may he rest in peace, and Molly became a part of my family. Ever since then I have been grateful to Dr. Smith for keeping our little girl alive so we could enjoy her for many years to

I caught up with Dr. Smith last week and thanked her again for what she did to help Molly. We then had a conversation about the good work she is doing now in the veterinary field. I was quite intrigued with the unique nature of her approach to pet medicine and she was kind enough to take the time to satisfy my curiosity by answering several questions I had. I was so impressed I decided to share it with my readers because I truly believe her expertise and her style of practice is yet another Sierra Madre treasure that we, as pet owners can benefit from.

HT: Tell me a little about your background. Dr. Smith: I have been practicing progressive medicine for 26 years. I have a Zoology degree and DVM degree from UC Davis, completed an Internship in Small Animal Medicine and Surgery in Los Angeles and have completed Victoria and Animal Medicine and Surgery in Los Angeles and have completed Veterinary Acupuncture training and two programs in Veterinary Chinese Herbal Medicine. I have been practicing Integrative medicine including Chinese Medicine, Homeopathy, nutritional and supplemental therapy, and Class IV Cold Laser for 9 years.

HT: How did you get involved in making house calls? Dr. Smith: In 1980, before vet school, I read a great book called "All My Patients are Under the Bed" about an 83 year old vet in New York City, Dr. Camuti, who saw only cats. He did 30 house calls a week and the book had great anecdotes. He was still practicing at the time the book was written. I thought "I would love to do that". Now many of my patients are under the bed,

Two years ago we decided to sell the practice I co-owned. I desired a less hectic pace where I could practice in a way where I could develop a closer relationship with my clients and patients and take a more thorough approach with my patients and also in educating the clients in preventative care. I started this practice in early 2014. I have two assistants, Sarah and Erin. We typically spend an hour or more with each visit. In my hospital, I could barely afford 20 minutes. I find it very satisfying and I like that, so far, all my clients seem to really appreciate the service. We do calls 4 days a week and provide extensive written reports. Custom appointments are available in the evening or on a weekend.

A True Sierra Madre Treasure

HT: Why would folks want a house call vet? Dr. Smith: Some of my patients are older dogs that have trouble getting in the car or cats that are too stressed in a carrier or the car. Some clients are just busy and don't want to waste time transporting the pet and waiting to see the vet to just have a 15 minute visit with the doctor.

We also have a handful of celebrities or others in the entertainment business and they have crazy schedules so we will go to the studio or locations and see the pet there. That is a lot of fun!

Many clients find me because they are looking for a holistic or integrative veterinarian through the American Holistic Veterinary Medical Association and are referred to me. They weren't looking for house calls but once they found how easy it is, they wouldn't go back.

HT: Are there limits to what you can do without the usual high tech equipment available in most hospitals?

Dr. Smith: Yes, I don't take x-rays, perform ultrasound, do emergency work or hospitalize patients. I work with a network of specialists and if a client needs services I can't provide, I can tell them where to go. I am very accessible by email to my regular clients, like a concierge doctor, something I was unable to do at my clinic.

HT: What services do you do the most?

Dr. Smith: Acupuncture, Cold Laser, geriatric and cancer support. Also a lot of wellness and prevention care. We offer anesthesia-free teeth cleaning, which is popular, but all pets are not good candidates. A vet should always examine your pet before teeth cleaning because some patients need a full dentistry with x-rays and possible extractions, others only need tartar removal and polishing, which is what we do.

HT: Is a house call a lot more expensive than a regular vet

Dr. Smith: Not really. There is a travel fee of $75.00 within 10 miles. The rest of the fees are the same or less than the average quality vet hospital. It often evens out, especially if we see more than one pet at a visit. I have yet to have anyone feel the fees were high, usually they express that it is a great value for how much time we spend with them. All veterinary care, like medical care, is expensive so clients should get a thorough return. Pet insurance covers our

Additionally, Charmaine's sister, a Maine Coon cat surrendered at the same time for the same reason. Weighing 18 lbs, Charmaine is, quite understandably, anxious and frightened at being in the shelter, separated from her entire

She walked well on leash for her handler, and she went nose-to-nose with other dogs her size but then sort of retreated, seemingly reluctant to engage when she had so much more important stuff on her mind. Volunteers that had her out can say she gets along with cats, of course, since her sister Simone can attest to that. Given how bonded Charmaine and Simone are, and their mutual history and newly lost human family, it would be absolutely awesome to see them exit the shelter together. Holmes came to the shelter when he was about 12 weeks old in May of 2014. The day before another black Sherlock and Holmes. Sherlock has been adopted; Holmes patiently waits for his family.

He is a friendly, sweet, and affectionate teen cat. He likes toys, especially if there is a volunteer or staff person playing with him. He is very fit, agile and athletic. He is a very social boy, not only with his kennel mates, but also with his humans. He likes to curl up in a lap and be petted and will rub up next to your legs for attention.

Holmes has a simple and elegant appearance that does not require a lot of grooming. He will be an ideal family pet. The Domestic Shorthair can even be a child's first pet because they are known to be friendly with both adults and children. He would also be a great companion for someone living alone, who would love a pet that will follow them around and will snuggle with them and sit on their lap.

This playful boy has a lifetime of love and affection to share and would be a great addition to a lucky family.

A REALLY DUCKY OF A DEAL

Reader Steve in Arcadia asks, "How exactly are the wines chosen?" Many ways, really - discoveries through PR pitches, invitations to wine tasting events, and sometimes I just like the way the bottle looks on the store shelf. I will only review wines and share them with you if I feel that they are a good value and easily obtainable for the readers. I recently was turned on to a wonderful sparkling wine from the Limoux region of France. It was a solid wine for under $25, but as my excitement grew I found one problem, I couldn't find it anywhere except online and at a wine shop in Costa Mesa, so... you won't hear about it here.

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

Anyway, I want to start the tailgating season off by getting back to blends, this time Decoy. For those who are even casual wine drinkers I am sure you are familiar with the name "Duckhorn", the pride of the Napa Valley for the past thirty-five or so years. Fine restaurants and gourmet shops have been my to-go places for Duckhorn, and now along comes Decoy (yes, there is a duck on the bottle). The price is about half what you'd pay for Duckhorn. How and why? The grapes are sourced through the Napa region. Owner Dan Duckhorn found a need for wines that were lower priced and still a great quality, so the past few years has seen an upswing in the production of Decoy and it's popularity. The 2012 vintage is smooth, with perfect levels of fruit and tannins, and a finish that you'd expect from a higher priced blend. A mix of cabernet and merlot, it goes well with steak, pizza, and soft cheese.

Closure: Corked

Each week I will give you my Dills Score. Starting with a base of 50 points, I have added 8 points for color, 7 points for aroma or "nose", 9 points for taste, 8 points for finish, and 8 points for my overall impression, which includes my value rating.

Total Score 90, retail $27 on sale; around $18 at most area supermarkets including Vons

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS: THE GIFT

By Sean Kayden

Making his directorial debut, writer/actor Joel Edgerton's creepy thriller is a purely entertaining ride from beginning to end. It's a small, contained film, but impactful and quite effective. The slow-burn, psychological tale isn't your typical stalker film and that's a refreshing sight to see. There's a big twist of sorts that comes into play in the later half the second act of the film, but we are informed of the circumstances by a minor character. The exposition was an easy way to get the point across, but I much rather have wanted to see a little more for this major plot point to be revealed. Other than that, there are really no qualms to be had with the film. In the end, The Gift proves to be a sleeper hit this summer and a launching pad for Joel Edgerton behind the camera too.

Written/Directed By: Joel Edgerton Rated R for Language Release Date: August 7th, 2015 Review By: Sean Kayden

The Gift, which stars Jason Bateman and Rebecca Hall, is about a couple who decides to move from back east to Los Angeles because of Bateman's new job. It's a big change for Hall's character Robyn since she didn't grow up in a suburban landscape. For Bateman's Simon character, he's basically returning to the place where he grew up around. Fairly early on in the film, an old classmate of Simon's runs into him over at a retail store while he's with his wife. The man mentions his name is Gordo and it somewhat jogs the memory of Simon. Nevertheless, Simon doesn't seem to remember Gordo all that well or at least care to. At first things begin to feel very innocent if not strange. Gordo sends over gifts to Simon and Robyn's home without ever asking for Grade: 4 out of 5 their address. He's eventually invited over to their house for his lovely gestures. Everything about this guy seems weird yet he hasn't done anything wrong. If anything, he's been respectful, but eccentric. Once Gordo, played by Edgerton, starts paying Robyn unexpected visits when she's home alone is around the time things just don't seem all that right. Then again, there's no proof Gordo is guilty of doing anything other than just being simply peculiar. Simon eventually tells Gordo one night he shouldn't visit or talk to them anymore. This doesn't seem to boost well for Gordo. After a series of strange occurrences, there's no way to point the finger at our suspected villain since there's no evidence. As the movie flows, we find more troubling things about Simon than his former classmate. At the same token, Robyn is emotionally breaking down, feeling anxiety, as well as fearful while home alone. After all, another reason they moved to LA was a fresh start after she had a miscarriage.

Without going any deeper with the summary of the film, I must say I was impressed. Jason Bateman, mostly known for his comedic work is solid as pretty much this kind of snarly guy. He's not a bad person, just a questionable one based on some of things he's done prior. Rebecca Hall is great to watch too as she provides much of the trepidation of any character in the film. Lastly, Joel Edgerton is simply great as a lowkey weirdo of a character. You almost feel sorry for the guy. Almost that is. In the end, The Gift is kind of a sick and twisted film in what subject matters are brought up. Nonetheless, as a piece of entertainment that isn't trying to be anything besides a good thriller, The Gift definitely delivers worthy chills and thrills along the way. At any cost, it's great to see an original film during a bloated summer movie

THE CARE AND MANAGEMENT OF LIES: A NOVEL OF THE GREAT WAR BY JACQUELINE WINSPEAR

THE RICHEST MAN WHO EVER LIVED: THE LIFE AND TIMES OF JACOB FUGGER BY GREG STEINMETZ

The New York Times bestselling author of the Maisie Dobbs series turns her prodigious talents to this World War I standalone novel, a lyrical drama of love struggling to survive in a damaged, fractured world.By July 1914, the ties between Kezia Marchant and Thea friends Brissenden, since girlhood, have become strained— by Thea's passionate embrace of women's suffrage, and by the imminent marriage of Kezia to Thea's brother, Tom, who runs the family farm. When Kezia and Tom wed just a month before war is declared between Britain and Germany, Thea's gift to Kezia is a book on household management—a veiled criticism of the bride's prosaic life to come. Yet when Tom enlists to fight for his country and Thea is drawn reluctantly onto the battlefield, the farm becomes Kezia's responsibility. Each must find a way to endure the ensuing cataclysm and turmoil. As Tom marches to the front lines, and Kezia battles to keep her ordered life from unraveling, they hide their despair in letters and cards filled with stories woven to bring comfort. Even Tom's fellow soldiers in the trenches enter and find solace in the dream world of Kezia's mouth-watering, albeit imaginary meals. But will well-intended lies and self-deception be of use when they come face to face with the enemy?Published to coincide with the centennial of the Great War, The Care and Management of Lies paints a poignant picture of love and friendship strained by the pain of separation and the brutal chaos of battle. Ultimately, it raises profound questions about conflict, belief, and love that echo in our

had that kind of wealth. Most people become rich by spotting opportunities, pioneering new technologies, or besting opponents in negotiations. Fugger did all that, but he had an extra quality that allowed him to rise even higher: nerve. In an era when kings had unlimited power, Fugger had the nerve to stare down heads of state and ask them to pay back their loans—with interest. It was this coolness and self-assurance, along with his inexhaustible ambition, that made him not only the richest man ever, but a force of history as well. Before Fugger came along it was illegal under church law to charge interest on loans, but he got the Pope to change that. He also helped trigger the Reformation and likely funded Magellan's circumnavigation of the globe. His creation of a news service, which gave him an information edge over his rivals and customers, earned Fugger a footnote in the history of journalism. And he took Austria's Habsburg family from being second-tier sovereigns to rulers of the first empire where the sun never set. The ultimate untold story, The Richest Man Who Ever Lived is more than a tale about the richest and most influential businessman of all time. It is a story about palace intrigue, knights in battle, family tragedy and triumph, and a violent clash between the 1 percent and everybody else. To understand our financial system and how we got it, it pays to understand

BRENDA LEE EAGER: She Turned Cotton in Gold

by La Quetta M. Shamblee

Decades before the advent of instant music downloads, Brenda Lee Eager first joined the ranks of recording artists to earn the "Gold Record" distinction for her recording of "Ain't Understanding Mellow" with Jerry Butler in the early 70's. This Mobile, Alabama native grew up on her family farm and was inspired by all of nature that surrounded her, to become one of the most prolific songwriters of our times. The oldest of 11 siblings, she always had chores, which included helping to pick cotton. She always enjoyed writing and by the time she was in 3rd grade, she had discovered the world of poetry. "I would sit under a tree with pencil and paper and write songs about life and anything in my surroundings, describing whatever I was seeing or experiencing in detail." If she saw a butterfly, she would describe the colorful pattern on its wings or the way it landed on a flower.

Time was all that Brenda had on her hands after she had finished her daily chores. She filled much of it doing one of the things she loved most, which was reading. She enjoyed stories like Huckleberry Finn, which allowed her mind to sour beyond the Alabama homestead. Her favorite book was Great Expectations. By the time she had reached the 9th grade, she was building a collection of short stories and had already refined her own process of adding melodies and music to her poetry. She had developed into a songwriter who could paint pictures with words. This laid the foundation for her to build an impressive songbook years later, which solidified her musical legacy long ago.

After graduating high school, Brenda Lee packed her belongings and headed to New York City to seek fame and fortune in the big city. Her mother's support meant everything, "God is in New York too, baby," let her know that her mother had the utmost confidence in her eldest child. The famous Apollo Theatre in Harlem was Brenda Lee's first destination and after taking the train to finally arrive at 253 W. 125th Street, she was told she had arrived too late to audition. She was devastated after traveling such a long distance.

She got a job working in the New York garment district in what she describes as a "sweat box." After about six months, she reluctantly returned home to Alabama and on the day that she Mountain Views News proudly sponsors the that could be quite dangerous during those times. The four remain close friends to this day.

Information about Brenda Lee Eager, the accomplished professional soul singer and soul writer, is plentiful. But the opportunity for a conversation with her provides a glimpse into what has inspired her to write songs that have been recorded by iconic artists like Aretha Franklin, a double-platinum song for Prince, and numerous projects working with Ray Charles constantly during the last 12 years of his life. Equally respected as a singer and performing artist, she has toured or recorded with a diverse list of R&B, jazz and blues "Who's Who?" including Jerry Butler, Nancy Wilson, Smokie Robinson, Diana Ross, Linda Hopkins and the late Teena Marie Her repository of writing creativity includes at least five stage plays, including a musical about the Pipperettes titled, "We Were There."

How did the little girl who loved to sit under the tree and write make it from Alabama to Southern California? Many years ago during the month of February, Brenda Lee Eager and Jerry Butler boarded a plane in Chicago, headed for Los Angeles to appear on the top-rated television dance show, Soul Train. They thought they might not be able to make it in time due to the snow and harsh winter weather conditions that almost had their flight grounded. When they landed at LAX and she saw the sun and palm trees, she told Jerry, "I've got to move here." Southern California has been her home ever since.

Years later, Brenda Lee Eager continues to express gratitude for having always had a job here in the entertainment industry, doing what she loves to do. From teaching songwriting and vocal workshops for Quincy Jones Productions, to participating in the Agape International Choir based in Culver City, she is immersed in her craft and loves to share it with others. An accomplished music educator, she currently teaches a master vocal workshop at the Barbara Morrison Performing Arts Center in Los Angeles.

The title of her latest stage play under development highlights the lighthearted, humorous side of her personality. "I'm In Love With A Deadman" is a new play about her lifelong fantasy love affair with soul singer Sam Cooke. She was only 16 when he died, but states, "He's been a teacher for every other R&B singer in the world, the rifts, the inflections that added that soulful element to the music. We all listen to Sam Cooke."

When asked what advice she offers about the pursuit of one's dream, she shares, "Be in love with whatever it is that you do, with love, laughter and expectation – and do the work." The audience at Santa Anita Race Track is certain to be loving every note delivered by this masterful, soulful singer as she takes center stage at the inaugural MADCatfish Blues Festival at 11am on Saturday, September 6, 2015.

UNDERSTANDING THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF AN EXECUTOR

Dear Savvy Senior,

An old family friend recently asked me to be the executor of his will when he dies. I feel flattered that he asked, but I'm not sure what exactly the job entails. What can you tell me?

Concerned Friend

Dear Concerned,

Serving as the executor of your friend's estate may seem like an honor, but it can also be a huge chore. Here's what you should know to help you prepare.

Rules and Responsibilities

after he dies. While this may sound simple enough, you need to be aware that the job can be tedious, time consuming and difficult depending on the complexity of his financial and family situation. Some of the duties required include:

- Filing court papers to start the probate process Avoid Conflicts (this is generally required by law to determine the will's validity).
- Taking an inventory of everything in his estate.
- Using his estate's funds to pay bills, including taxes, funeral costs, etc.
- Handling details like terminating his credit cards, and notifying banks and government agencies like Social Security and the post office of
- returns.
- Distributing assets to the beneficiaries named in his will.

Be aware that each state has specific laws and timetables on an executor's responsibilities. Your state or local bar association may have an online law library that details the rules and requirements. The American Bar Association website also offers guidance on how to settle an estate. Go to americanbar.org and type in "guidelines for individual executors and trustees" to find it.

Get Organized

executor of your friend's estate, your first step is to make sure he has an updated will, and find out where all his important documents and financial information is located. Being able to quickly put your hands on deeds, brokerage statements and insurance policies after he dies will save you a lot of time and hassle.

If he has a complex estate, you may want to hire an attorney or tax account to guide you through As the executor of your friend's will, you're the process, with the estate picking up the cost. essentially responsible for winding up his affairs If you need help locating a pro, the National Association of Estate Planners and Councils (naepc.org) and the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys (naela.org) are great resources that provide directories on their websites to help you find someone.

Find out if there are any conflicts between the beneficiaries of your friend's estate. If there are some potential problems, you can make your job as executor much easier if everyone knows in advance who's getting what, and why. So ask your friend to tell his beneficiaries what they can expect. This includes the personal items too, because wills often leave it up to the executor to dole out heirlooms. If there's no distribution plan for personal property, suggest he make one and put it in writing.

As the executor, you're entitled to a fee paid by the Preparing and filing his final income tax estate. In most states executors are entitled to take a percentage of the estate's value, which usually ranges anywhere from 1 to 5 percent depending on the size of the estate. But, if you're a beneficiary, it may make sense for you to forgo the fee. That's because fees are taxable, but Uncle Sam in most states don't tax inheritances.

> For more information on the duties of an executor, get a copy of the book "The Executor's Guide: Settling A Loved One's Estate or Trust" for $32 at nolo.com or call 800-728-3555.

LUNCH & LEARN PRESENTATION

Thursday, August 20th, 2015 beginning at 12:00pm

Learn about French painter, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec. His immersion in the colorful and theatrical life of Paris in the late 19th century yielded a collection of exciting, elegant and provocative images of the modern and sometimes decadent life of those times. Tanya Mazzolini from The Kensington will give a talk on the painter while demonstrating a project in his style of art. If you would like to have lunch during the talk, please make a lunch reservation with the Senior Lunch Café at 626-355-0256 or you may bring your own.

How are your New Year's us reminisced about our own tap water childhood resolutions going? I set my sights small, and resolved to she asked. Aghast, I sheepishly looked up from the faucet. "Uh, getting water?"

"No, no, no!" she shaking her "Come on," head. she motioned toward her office, "Use the 'Arrowhead' in there." I could feel water overflowing from my bottle into the sink, and nodded, "Okay, maybe next time." I figured, why waste a perfectly good batch of flavored water? Luckily, some small crisis distracted my boss and I was able to retreat to my office with my substandard "faucet water" drink.

For a while I wondered if I was the only tap water-of tap vs. bottled water came up during lunch. "I was a hose drinker as a kid!" one of the senior workers joked with the boss. This prompted a number of us closet hose drinkers to "come out" and admit our tacky-"tap" habits.

"Nothing tastes better than cold water from the the sink. It's a heck of a lot cheaper. And remember hose after playing outside all day!" A number of --what doesn't kill you makes you stronger!

I don't know about you, but I never understood drink less creamy and sugary the purpose of bottled water. Talk about the coffee at work. Instead, I mix antithesis of "green" living! Sure, it's artificial THEN consider the fact the most bottled water is and possibly carcinogenic, but at least it's gotta be drawn from municipal sources, not the babbling brooks of the Sierras, Andes, or any other pristine

The waste that goes into producing regular in the break room the other day when the boss bottled water is bad enough, but then they've got burst through the door. "What are you doing?" to go and make even smaller bottles of water!

What? You or your kid can't commit to a 12 oz. bottle, so you go for the tiny 6 oz.? Yes, midget water bottles are cute, but really, can cute be justified at the cost of jeopardizing the environment?

I understand that there are situations that demand bottled water. Anytime you're traveling in the third world or a developing nation, by all means, stock up on Dasani or whatever brand you like. ### FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

THREE QUESTIONS TO ASK BEFORE YOU SIGN A RESIDENTIAL LEASE

My wife and I were both apartment renters in our younger years. Now we are landlords with several 3 and 4-unit residential properties in and around Los Angeles.

Good landlords aren't looking to take advantage of their tenants. Without even going into the legal and ethical implications, that's just bad business. And good tenants respect their landlord's property and time. That's good business on their end of things as well (again, not to mention the legal and ethical consequences of not doing

But even when there are good, moral people on both sides of the landlord-tenant relationship, problems can – and do – still arise. Often, these problems are because of a simple misunderstanding. So to help prevent those kinds of problems, here's what prospective renters should ask before signing a lease:

Number 1: What Will My Total Cost Be and When Is It

You might be surprised at how many people sign leases without understanding all of the associated costs and when they must be paid. Renting an apartment or ensuring a legacy of love and financial security for your house is exciting and it can be easy to simply just scan the document and jump straight to the signature line. Most tenants think about obvious costs, such as monthly rent and typical utilities. However, some leases require tenants to pay less obvious costs, such as application fees, credit check fees, parking fees, and optional service fees, such as cable and Internet. Review your lease carefully and compare leases from different landlords--what may seem like a better deal may not actually be better after everything is taken into consideration.

Be sure you know what the deposit is, what will be necessary to get your deposit returned after you move out, when your rent payment is due and what the late fee is if you are late (and whether or not there is a grace period for

Number 2: What Rules and Regulations Will Apply to

Many landlords impose rules on their tenants, particularly those living in close quarters, such as apartment buildings. More common rules include mandatory quiet times, as well as prohibitions on pets or parties. However, other important rules are also found in leases. For example, many landlords prohibit tenants from redecorating their property, from changing locks, from using propane grills or from storing items on balconies or porches. Read the lease carefully to ensure you understand and can abide by each of the rules.

Number 3: When Will My Lease End, and What Happens When It Does?

Many leases define how long they will last (called the "term" of the lease) and under what circumstances they will renew. If the lease does not provide this information, California state law will set the term of the lease and its renewal. Before you sign a residential lease, make sure you know how long you are locked into it and under what circumstances you can move out and owe no more rent. If you are not sure, consult with an attorney.

Winter is upon us. Colder temperatures lower the humidity and tend to make us use our heat. Add to this that in southern California, colder weather signals wind. All of these factors can leave our skin feeling very dry and damaged. So, what can we do to keep our skin moist and healthy Protect your skin when going outside. Even here in southern California it is important to wear a scarf and gloves on cold days to prevent drying and chapping. If you are fortunate enough to make it to the mountains, remember that snow is a great reflector of the sun. You can easily get a sunburn. And don't forget to keep your lips moist because lips do not have oil glands so they dry out easily.

Use moisturizer liberally. You should look for moisturizers that are made from natural oils such as coconut, jojoba oil, almond, or avocado. Watch out for preservatives and fragrances since they can dry and irritate skin. In addition, don't use skin care products containing alcohol since alcohol can strip oil from the skin. Hand sanitizers are mostly alcohol so they too can be a cause of dry chapped hands.

Don't overheat your home. Heating systems and space heaters draw moisture out of the air which in turn dries out our skin. Using a humidifier is a good option. I use a humidifier in our bedroom, to keep my skin well hydrated while sleeping.

As always, stay hydrated. You need to drink water or herbal tea to prevent dehydration. Our skin reflects what's going on inside of us. Remember that alcohol, caffeine, sodas and other kinds of diuretics increase our need for water.

With a little extra care and planning, you can keep your skin from becoming too dry over the winter

NEW INSTRUMENT IMAGES A YOUNG COUSIN OF JUPITER

Using a powerful new imaging device, astronomers have espied a Jupiter-like exoplanet 100 light-years distant in the constellation of Eridanus. Unlike most planets found around other stars, 51 Eri b has been seen directly. The instrument employed to make the discovery has also made a spectroscopic analysis of the light reflected from the planet, and has detected gases similar to those in Jupiter's atmosphere.

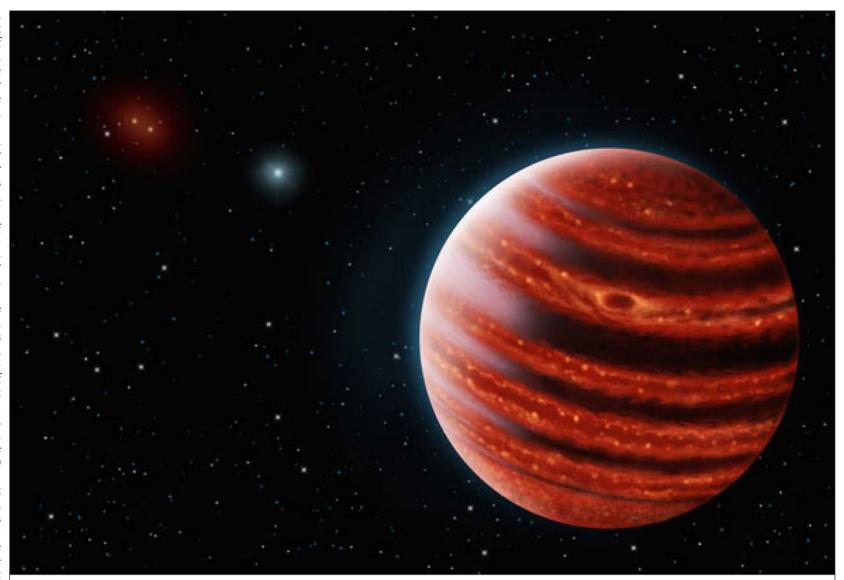

"This is the first exoplanet discovered with the Gemini Planet Imager (GPI), one of the new generation instruments designed specifically for discovering and analyzing faint, young planets orbiting bright stars," says Franck Marchis, Senior Planetary Astronomer at the SETI Institute and member of the team that built the instrument and now conducts the survey. "GPI is far more sensitive than its predecessors. In fact, the 51 Eri system had been observed by four previous-generation instruments that all missed the planet completely."

The host star, 51 Eri, is very young, a mere 20 million years old, and is slightly hotter than the Sun. The exoplanet 51 Eri b, whose mass is estimated to be roughly twice that of Jupiter, appears to orbit its host star at a distance 13 times greater than the Earth-Sun distance. If placed in our own solar system, 51 Eri b's orbit would lie between those of Saturn and Neptune.

"51 Eri has everything we're looking for in a target star," notes Eric Nielsen, a postdoctoral fellow at the SETI Institute. "It's relatively close and young. Indeed, the last dinosaur died 40 million years before this star was even born."

Because GPI not only images exoplanets but also spreads their light for chemical analysis, astronomers can search for such common gases as water and methane in their atmospheres. Researchers had expected to see methane in directly-imaged exoplanets based on the temperature and chemistry of these worlds, but had failed to detect these molecules in large quantities using earlier instruments. However, the observations of 51 Eri b made with GPI have clearly revealed a methane-dominated atmosphere similar to that of Jupiter.

An extraordinarily complex instrument the size of a small car, GPI is attached to one of the world's biggest telescopes—the 8-meter Gemini South instrument in Chile. It began its survey of stars last year.

This is exactly the kind of planet we envisioned discovering when we designed GPI," says James Graham, a professor at the University of California, Berkeley and Project Scientist for Astronomers anticipate that 51 Eri b will be a benchmark for future atmospheric studies that seek to understand how planet formation in these extrasolar systems might be similar to the birth of the gas giants in our own system.

"Any planetary astronomer that inspects our survey. "This whole planetary system could be a data will conclude without the need of complex lot like ours." computer modeling that this is indeed a planet like our own Jupiter. We have found its first distant and younger cousin," said Marchis.

PRICKLY PEAR CACTUS (OPUNTIA SPP.)

By Christopher Nyerges [Nyerges is the author of the newly-released "Nuts and Berries of California," and other books. He leads regular ethnobotanical workshops and field trips. He can be reached at Box 41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041, or www. SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com.]

Though generally regarded as a desert plant, the prickly pear cactus is actually rather widespread. Perhaps the only area where you won't find it is in the higher elevations where it could not survive prolonged periods of cold or snow. It can be found on the cliffs overlooking the beaches, in chaparral, in the urban backyards, in the interface between the urban sprawl and the wilderness. It's a survivor and you can find it where you least expect it.

The prickly pear cactus is perhaps one of the most widespread of the cacti, and easy to recognize.

The pads are covered with spines as they mature, and at the base of each spine is a cluster of tiny glochids, which tend to be more miserable than the spines when they get into your mouth and tongue and lips. As you become more familiar with the many Opuntias, you'll see that some of the pads are less spiny than others, and therefore easier to collect, clean, and work with.

The Opuntias flower in the spring, and then the oval fruits develop. They fruits are first green, and then, depending on the species, the fruits mature green, yellow, orange, red, and purple. The peak of fruit ripening is generally September. They each have their own unique flavor and if you are a connoisseur of subtle flavor, you can use thesse different cactus fruits in different recipes to great advantage. My preference is the large yellow fruit, and the very tasty orange fruits.

To collect the fruit, I bring sturdy plastic tubs, dish possible, and long metal salad tongs. Sometimes I also carry a long knife.

In some of the thickets where I collect, I have had to make paths into the cactus so I can move and collect without bumping into millions of spines.

When I begin to collect, I put on my gloves and then pick each fruit by grabbing it with the tongs, and then gently twisting it to remove it from the pad. Then I carefully place it into my plastic tub. I do this until I have nearly a full tub. I put the fruits in carefully so they are not all mushed up and impossible to clean when I get home.

At home, I turn each fruit a few times over a flame on the stove and then put them into the sink where I will rinse each fruit and gently brush with a mushroom brush. Once I am certain they are all cleaned, I cut each fruit in half, and scoop out the inside fruit, which readily separates (in most cases) from the skin. If I am not going to use these right away, I freeze them.

Usually, whether I am going to freeze or use right away, I will put the fruits into a blender and blend it all into a slurry. I pour the slurry through a sieve which separates out all the seed. I will freeze the slurry in small yogurt containers or even plastic bags. I found that when I used to freeze in bulk in larger containers, I had to thaw out more than I often wanted for one recipe. It's much easier to freeze in smaller containers. In fact, one small yogurt container of nothing more than frozen cactus slurry makes an excellent snack on a summer afternoon. The cactus slurry can be mixed 50/50 with water for a delicious drink. You could make jams, jellies, pies, and various desert items with the cactus pulp.

My wife Dolores used to make a delicious pie with cactus by mixing the de-seeded fruit with tofu and perhaps some yogurt. This was blended to make a pie filling, which she poured into a whole wheat pastry shell. These cactus pies were better than anything we ever purchased at a store or restaurant, and were always a hit at our wild food classes. Unfortunately, I have never been able to duplicate her recipe. Some have come close, but there was something she did that made it "just so." (Unfortunately, Dolores passed away in 2008 and took her secret with her!).

Eating prickly pear has long been regarded as a folk washing gloves which extend as close to the elbows as medicine way to deal with diabetes. Now, modern medicine has confirmed that eating the prickly pear cactus pads (or making juice of them) can help those who suffer from diabetes. (For additional scientific data, see "Prickly Pear Cactus Medicine" by Ran Knishinsky. This book provides the scientific evidence that prickly pear cactus fruits and pads are useful for treating diabetess, cholesterol, and the immune system.)

> According to my teacher and mentor, Dr. Leonid Enari, the entire Cactus Family is a very safe family for consumption. He would quickly add that some are much too woody for food. A very few are extremely bitter – even after boiling -- and you'd not even consider using them for

> If you choose to experiment, just remember that palatability is the key. Don't eat any that are too woody, and any that are extremely bitter. Any that have a white sap when cut are not cacti, but look-alike members of the Euphorbia group.

> Occasionally, people have experienced sickness after eating certain varieties. In some cases, this is due to a negative reaction to the mucilaginous quality. There may be other chemical reasons as well. So despite this being a very commonly used food historically for millennia, we suggest you start with very little and monitor your difference between things to remember and things to be forgotten. Without boasting, I word for word.

I know some things are better put into that black abyss called forgetfulness, to be remembered no more, not even when they would help win an argument. According to my wife, forgetting some things is more important than winning an argument. Not that I would know. I never win an argument. Also, certain things, which, if forgotten, will bring great stress, particularly to Yours Truly.

I could not agree with her point of view more. I know some things should be forgotten while other things should be remembered. After all, it only makes sense. Nobody should forget everything and certainly, nobody could remember everything. It would simply be impossible. Anybody in his or her right mind should know this. This gives me an out. I cannot remember when I have ever been in my right mind. So, you know what is left.

Here is my problema. I know some things are to be remembered, other things are to be forgotten, but for the life of me, I do not know which ones are which. What do I forget and what do I remember?

For example, my wife wants me to remember her birthday, but forget how old she is. I cannot tell you how many times I have reversed this situation. I am prone to forget her birthday, but remember how old she is. In fact, there are those rare moments when I have added a few years to her age. If you do not think this has gotten me into trouble, you have not done any serious thinking in a long

I know the birthdays come every year, but in spite of their predictable regularity, I seem somehow to forget.

I learned an important lesson in life. It is one thing to forget a birthday, but it is quite another animal to forget your wedding anniversary. However, here is the rub. Unlike birthdays, not only am I to remember the date, but the number of the anniversary, as

Even though my wife and I share the same wedding anniversary, I forget to remember the date.

I have used a variety of excuses to cover up for this mental delinquency on my part. The first year I forgot our wedding anniversary I come up with a classy excuse, "My dear, you do not look a year older and so I forgot. How am I to remember time goes by when with you, time stands still?"

This worked the first year, but it has not worked since. Not that I have not tried,

Another excuse I tried that did not work jamessnyderministries.com.

I cannot tell you how many times the Gracious out very well was, "Honey, I deliberately Mistress of the Parsonage has explained the forgot our anniversary because I did not want to remind you how old we really are."

I thought if I included myself in the age believe I could give the lecture back to her category I could get away with it. Let me just say, it did not work.

One year, I bought my wife her anniversary present in June. However, I had forgotten all about it and just happened to run across it one Saturday in October. Since our anniversary is in August, this did not help me at all.

This year we are celebrating our 44th wedding anniversary. It is a little confusing to me because if it is the 44th anniversary my wife was five when we got married. It is amazing to me how her birthday does not keep up with our anniversary. I think I have figured it out. For every three anniversaries, she gains only one year on her birthday. How else can I explain it?

I still have a problem, though. Now that I remembered our anniversary this year, what do I buy her for a present? After 44 years, I have simply run out of ideas. Actually, I ran out of ideas after the 10th anniversary. What do you get someone for his or her 44th anniversary present?

To remember our anniversary and to forget to buy a present is the greatest faux pas any husband can make.

I wanted to get a cake with candles, but the fire department considers it a fire hazard. Of course, everybody knows that kind of candlepower really adds to the global warming effect.

It is times like this I wish I had written down all the anniversary gifts I have given over the last 44 years. Perhaps I could see a pattern developing and just follow through with the pattern.

My concern is if I buy her something expensive, she might become suspicious and wonder what I did that I do not want her to know about. If I buy something rather cheap, she may suspect that I do not take the anniversary seriously.

I think I have come up with an answer. Since my wife is into crafts, I decided to make her anniversary gift myself this year. I must confess, I am not as crafty as she is — on a multitude of levels, but then as she always says, "It's the thought that counts."

Then I turned to the Bible and read, "Whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing, and obtaineth favour of the LORD." (Proverbs 18:22).

Every great marriage is based upon forgetting and remembering the right things.

DICK Polman

PLANNED PARENTHOOD AND THE QUEEN OF HEARTS

about "the media," and here's mine: We typically highlight accusations of typically bury the news when it turns no wrong.

It's a habit best articulated by the Queen of Hearts in Alice in no wrongdoing. Wonderland: "Sentence first, verdict afterwards."

That's the deal right now with Planned Parenthood. According to last month's headlined accusation, PP sells aborted body parts for profit, in violation of the law. Anti-abortion activists, and their credulous Republican servant have coined selling aborted body parts as rote shorthand, figuring that if they say it often enough, it will ring true. Presidential candidate Mike Huckabee spun it a step further at the Fox News debate, claiming that PP's policy is to "rip up body parts and sell them like they're parts to a Buick."

But just for the heck of it, let's follow up. In the four weeks since the lurid accusation was first floated, what actual evidence have we seen - I'm talking about chains of empirical, forensic, documented evidence - that Planned Parenthood illegally sells aborted body parts for profit? How many bills of sale have been unearthed? How much proof has surfaced thus far?

Zero, zip, nada. It's indeed illegal to sell aborted body parts for profit, but not a shred of evidence has turned up that PP does any such thing. However, it's perfectly legal under federal law to donate fetal tissue for the purposes of medical research (into the causes and treatment of Parkinson's, heart defects, hepatitis, HIV, diabetes, cancer, eyesight loss, and more), and it's legal for PP to recoup the transportation expenses. PP hews to those laws - donating cal ends.' in the states that permit it, and only with the women's consent.

But the dearth of illegality evidence hasn't been highlighted on newspaper front pages, or on news site home pages. It has not been Twitter-bombed, and it hasn't trended on Facebook. So as a public service, and in the spirit of fairness, I've pieced together the news from various underplayed stories.

Everyone has a beef Here's where things stand:

The feds have already investigated PP's relations with federal research agencies and told the Republican Senate sleuths, in a letter, that there have been "no violations of (fetal tissue) wrongdoing, but we laws in connection with research done at our agencies."

The state of Massachusetts had investigated out that the doer did no wrongdoing.

PP. It found no wrongdoing.

The state of Georgia has investigated. It found no wrongdoing.

The state of Indiana has investigated. It found

The state of South Dakota has investigated. It found no wrongdoing.

The state of Idaho has simply said, via a gubernatorial statement, "Since there is no evidence that a crime has been committed, there are no grounds for a legal investigation." Other states are still hot on PP's trail - among them, Arizona, Texas, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, and Tennessee, and Ohio - but health experts say they're unlikely to find wrongdoing, for a variety of reasons: (a) their PP facilities don't perform abortions, (b) their PP facilities don't do tissue donations, (c) their state laws prohibit such donations, or (d) their PP facilities perform abortions and do-nate fetal tissue - but they do so legally, without selling body parts for profit.

And just to further balance the scales, here's an editorial in The New England Journal of "Planned Parenthood, its physicians, and the researchers who do this (fetal tissue) work should be praised, not damned....It is shameful that a radical antichoice group whose goal is the destruction of Planned Parenthood continues to twist the facts to achieve its ends. We thank the women who made the choice to help improve the human condition through their tissue donation; we applaud the people who make this work possible and those who use these materials to advance human health. We are outraged by those who debase these women, this work, and Planned Parenthood by distorting the facts for politi-

That should trump the Queen of Hearts headlines. But probably not in this media climate.

MICHAEL Reagan Making Sense IT'S TIME TO TAKE ON TRUMP

Is Donald Trump the Republican Party's "Music Man"?

Is he the celebrity con man who's going to lead the GOP's parade of candidates from now all the way until next November? I hope not, but so far that's exactly what the 2016 script is looking like.

Trump — a political novice -- has been leading the Republican's presidential marching band all over the political landscape. His campaign's theme song should be "Seventy-Six Trombones."

He's been calling all the tunes, attracting all the media attention and the biggest crowds, killing in all the polls and making a lot of professional politicians and their campaign managers look like a squad of high school baton twirlers.

Over the weekend Trump fleshed out his awful immigration policies.

They include erecting a "strong, strong" wall on the U.S.-Mexico border, making Mexico pay for its construction by docking remittances, deporting all illegal immigrants from the States and revoking birthright citizenship guaranteed by the Constitution.

Trump's policies for achieving "real immigration reform" have a populist appeal. They are music to the ears of GOP hardliners, too, but they're impractical, unrealistic, stupid and unconstitutional.

Yet when members of the Republican Party's elite corps of presidential wannabes were contacted by the media earlier this week, not one of them had the courage to really go after Trump or his bad policy ideas.

Chris Christie, the tough-guy governor from New Jersey muttered something like "Everything's on the table."

Scott Walker, the brave union-busting governor of Wisconsin, dodged a question about ending birthright citizenship for kids born in the U.S. to parents who came here illegally.

Carly Fiorina turned uncharacteristically soft, saying she agreed with some of Trump's tough positions on immigration but questioned his ability to implement them.

John Kasich, Ohio's no nonsense governor, didn't bash Trump personally, but at least he pointed out that hunting down people who are here illegally is not doable, right or humane. At first Jeb Bush, a virtual liberal on immigration, barely took issue with Trumps' foolish and impossible promise to build an impenetrable wall along the Mexican border.

But on Wednesday Jeb came out against "anchor babies," proving that Trump is setting the agenda and changing things.

No candidate I heard noted that deporting millions of illegal immigrant families would take years and cost billions in court costs, since every deportee would be entitled by law to a hearing and an appeal. No principled conservative-libertarian candidate pulled out his pocket-size copy of the U.S. Constitution and pointed out that ending the birthright citizenship would mean having to first pass a constitutional Republicans and conservatives are running out of time. Trump is already too off-the-charts to be hurt by anything he says, and he's too rich and egotistical to fade away. He's going to be around next fall causing trouble for the GOP. Some Republican presidential candidate — Ben Carson? Carly Fiorino?

Rand Paul? — needs to stand up now and separate themselves and the Republican Party from the Party of Trump before it's too late. Some gutsy candidate has to step out of the GOP's marching band and pound home the truth about "The Music Man" — that he is an idiot and he and his ideas do not represent the Republican Party or conservatism.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: KIM DENISE WEST AKA KIM D. WEST CASE NO. BP165657

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of KIM DENISÉ WEST AKA KIM D. WEST.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by MARK EDWARD WEST in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that MARK EDWARD WEST be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act . (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 09/15/15 at 8:30AM in Dept. 67 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
