SIERRA MADRE POLICE DEPARTMENT or LA COUNTY SHERIFF DEPARTMENT, WHAT'S BEST FOR OUR TOWN? Review Committee Seeking Public Input

The City of Sierra Madre via the Sheriff's Contract Proposal Review Committee, is asking the Community for input on whether or not Sierra Madre should retain its' independent Police Department or contract those services out to the LA County Sheriff's Department. The meeting will be held on Monday, October 5th at 6:00 pm in the City Council Chambers.

The Sheriff's Contract Proposal Review Committee is one of three committees appointed by the council in an effort to get public input on ways to deal with the city's current budget issues. The other two committees are the Revenue Committee and the Library Services Proposal Committee.

The committee consists of Former Mayor Glenn Lambdin, Chair, Bill Coburn, Vice Chair, Former SMPD Chief Marilyn Diaz, Mayor Pro Tem Gene Goss, and residents Rosemary Burnett and Donald Handly. Lambdin, Diaz, Coburn, Burnett and Handly are members of the Public Safety Committee.

A Request for Proposals to provide police services was sent out earlier this year to the LASD, the Pasadena Police Department and the Arcadia Police Department. Arcadia PD and Pasadena PD did not submit responses, however in May, the LA County Sheriff's Department did.

The LASD proposal lists several different levels of service and states that Sierra Madre would become part of the East Patrol which includes

MARIE WOOD HARTLEY

Marie Wood Hartley, 62-year resident of Sierra Madre, died September 21 of complications of COPD. Marie was born October 24, 1922, the oldest daughter of Capt. Tipton Lee Wood (USN) and Lenore Richardson Wood, at the Mare Island, California Naval Base. As the daughter of a Navy chaplain, she lived in her early years in a variety of locations around the Pacific Rim including Manila and Shanghai. She never forgot the joys of traveling the world as the daughter of a naval

Marie and Richard moved to Sierra Madre in 1953. Among her many activities, Marie was actively involved in the Friends of the Sierra Madre Library. Until her death she was a parishioner at Ascension Church, where Richard served as a deacon and vestryman. Richard Hartley died in 1984. Marie is survived by her four sons, Alan of Claremont, CA, Frank of Fort Collins, CO (and grandchildren Brent, Brian, and Megan), William of Monrovia, CA, and Bruce of Huntington Beach, CA (and grand-daughter Emily). Following Marie's wishes there will be no memorial service. Donations may be made in her name to the American Lung Association.

FRIENDS OF THE ARTS, FOA OPENING.

October 9, 5-9 pm at BELLE'S NEST on North Baldwin, Sierra Madre.

All Are Welcome: Join us for an evening of wine, cheese, beautiful art and craft, and good company.

This FOA exhibition marks the beginning of a series of shows that FOA plans to mount showcasing the many artistic talents of the town in partnership with supportive businesses and Venues.

This exhibition features works by: Patricia Ancona - Textiles from Mexico Elizabeth Converse - Paintings, Design, Textiles Sophia D'Auria - Handmade lighting Jennifer Lindstrom - Paintings and surprises.

INCLUDED WORKS BY:

Patricia Ancona: As an artist I promote Arts and Artists. This is an obsession and as an obsession I can only share the fruits and hope to share the emotions. These textiles are hand-made by Mexican women who will share their skill and tradition. My passion is to support their beautiful work and pay them a rate that respects their skill, with the hope that their children will learn and continue the tradition.

Elizabeth Converse has known several artistic professions from the inside out: painter, writer, educator. In the last year, she began devoting herself to a new series of painting. Her Away paintings on display reflect her recent interest in landscapes and the notion of Being Away and Renewal. Also on display are current designs and Textiles from her growing Leda Collection

Sophia D'Auria launched her company SoPhab in 2014. After 10 years of working for others in the decorative lighting industry, honing her wood and metal working skills on both large commercial projects and intimate one of a kind designs, she decided to start her own artisan business. She is committed to creating fun, friendly and functional lighting for both homes and workspaces.

Jennifer Lindstrom is an artist of many colors and mediums from henna to glitter and paint or collage. You never know what its going to be, it could be anything. On exhibit will be a collection of bird prints mounted in hand painted distressed picture frames. There may also be a few original paintings for sale or possibly an entirely new project altogether. Be surprised!

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"All the same, said the Scarecrow, I shall ask for brains the nutritional importance of freshly grown fruits and instead of a heart; for a fool would not know what to do with a heart if he had one. I shall take the heart, returned the Tin Woodman; for brains do not make one happy, and happiness is the best thing in the world."

L. Frank Baum

In the immortal words of little Carol Anne in Poltergeist, "They're here!" Scarecrows, that is! They're popping up all over town in anticipation of the Scarecrow Festival. Let me introduce #37,

WATER SAVER

Drought Fighting Floral Flora who has already removed her lawn and taken the pledge to be a Water Saver. Good luck, Walking Sierra Madre this morning, my water saving buddy, John, and I saw a water main leak at the entrance to Canon Drive. Promptly alerted the Police Department, who were already aware of it and said work would be starting on it shortly. We're sharing your pain, dear City of Sierra Madre, as you, too, have been on the receiving end of a warning from the State Water Resources Control Board because the 32% conservation goal was not met. Water main breaks! Yep, familiar territory. Our horrendous water loss was due to a galvanized pipe buried four feet deep that destroyed itself and oozed water for goodness knows how long, causing us to incur a water bill with penalties that left us speechless! We're all doing our best to use less...less..less! More rain would be really nice, wouldn't it!

Have you been to the Arboretum lately? What a wonderful place that is. We were invited to "A Night to Honor Gale Kohl - A celebration to benefit the Children's Learning Patio and Education Programs." It was hot, it was muggy, but it was a great time. If you don't know about Gale Kohl, and we didn't, she is one of those people who goes about doing good. For the Arboretum, she has been a leader in developing the FRESH cooking classes, and is an ardent supporter of children's garden education. The Arboretum hosts over 16,000 school children annually, many of whom are from low income families and have no idea where food comes from. These are the future caretakers of our land, friends. Proceeds from the dinner we attended, which was donated by The Kitchen for Exploring Foods, will be used to create the Children's Learning Patio and lots of new education activities to teach kids about garden available there... ecosystems, the role of plants in sustaining all life and An excellent wedding gift. Teachers would love it, too!

vegetables. Sounds really cool, doesn't it!

Intriguing sculptures are scattered about the grounds, many representing strange and exotic creatures. A peacock walked by us as nonchalantly as though a couple of hundred folks sipping wine is an everyday occurrence. We learned that there is a full grown coyote living somewhere in the Arboretum, and he's one healthy guy. He is welcome as he helps curtail the rodent population. We were there for the Red Moon Eclipse, too, which hasn't happened in more than three decades and won't occur again till around 2033. We were seeing it when earth's shadow somewhat dimmed it, but it was impressive all the same.

OK, here's what you really want to know...what did we have to eat. Oh my gosh! Hors d'oeuvres were amazing, featuring tempura sweet potato bites, teeny pita shells filled with hummus, and several other goodies. As evervone was seated at long tables, much of the dinner was served family style. We started with a salad of heirloom yellow, red and orange cherry tomatoes, whipped Feta cheese, toasted pine nuts and wild arugula. Sooo good! Then beef tenderloin you could cut with your fork; shrimp scampi with roasted baby red, yellow and orange peppers; Orzo pasta with assorted squash and so much more. Dessert was an apple creation and I want the people from The Kitchen for Exploring Foods to come live at our house. The centerpiece was lemon leaves with assorted baby vegetables, very colorful, simple and exquisite.

The Arboretum volunteer organization, Los Voluntarios, logs approximately 3,000 hours per year, according to our son-in-law, Chuck, who is a member of the Arboretum Board and graciously invited us to be his and our daughter, Leah's, guests. The third Tuesday of every month is a free day at the Arboretum. Next one is October 20th. If you've never been, you need to treat yourself to a day of wonder and some of the most beautiful plants and trees in the world.

As Joyce Kilmer said in 1913: "I think that I shall never see a poem lovely as a tree." True!!

SIERRA MADRE POLICE BLOTTER

During the week of Sunday, September 20th, to Sunday, September 27th, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 273 calls for service.

responded to the 400 block of Theresa Lane regarding a residential burglary. Upon arrival, the victim informed Officers that at around 1:15 pm, he arrived home and parked his car in the garage and entered his home through a connecting door from the garage. Upon entering, the victim heard voices coming from the master bedroom saying, "Get out of here." As the victim entered the bedroom he was confronted by a male suspect wearing a grey hoodie. The victim yelled at the man who then shoved the victim to the floor and ran out of the residence through a studio door. The victim stated he believed the man fled in a silver BMW that was parked in front of his house when he arrived and was gone following the incident. The victim stated he only saw one suspect, but believed he was talking through a radio or cell phone to someone posing as a lookout who had informed him to get out. Estimated loss was set at $3000, but would have been more as the victim startled the suspect during his collection of electronics. This case has been forwarded to the Detective Bureau.

Wednesday, September 23rd At 7:47 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 700 block of Brookside Lane regarding a domestic violence incident. Upon arrival Officers witnessed the male sitting in a chair in the living room while the female was lying on the floor. When Officers asked the man how the woman got on the floor, he stated she fell. When Officers woke up the woman, she stated the man hit her and knocked her out. Officers determined the argument resulted after the woman wanted to change the television channel and the man refused so she threw the remote at him and when she confronted him the man hit or pushed her causing her to fall back and hit her head. The woman was transported to a local hospital for further evaluation and the man was arrested and charged with domestic battery.

At 12:29 am, Sierra Madre Police responded to the area of Highland Avenue east of Baldwin Avenue regarding a suspicious vehicle. Upon approaching Tuesday, September 22nd At 1:23 pm, Sierra Madre Police the vehicle Officers discovered a woman sitting in the front passenger seat. When questioned, she stated the vehicle helonged to her friend who went into the apartments nearby and she was waiting on him. The suspect consented to a search and informed Officers that she was in possession of marijuana. In all Officers located marijuana and two pipes. A name search revealed the woman was wanted by the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department. A detailed look into the car revealed that false registration tabs were being used on the vehicle, as well as numerous electronic equipment, checks issued to an unknown person, and blank checks often used in fraudulent manners. Officers impounded the vehicle and charged the woman with possession of marijuana and unlawful drug paraphernalia and misappropriation of lost property. The Los Angeles Sheriff's Department took custody of the woman for her want.

> Saturday, September 26th At 12:55 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 200 block of West Carter Avenue regarding a residential burglary. Upon arrival Officers were informed by the victims that their young son left the home around 7:30 am, and upon returning he entered through the unlocked front door and went to his bedroom to discover his Ipad was missing. When the boy's mother arrived home a few hours later he asked if he had seen the Ipad and while looking for it around the house, the woman noticed her master bedroom had been rummaged through and noticed her jewelry box was disturbed. Her other children's rooms had appeared to be rummaged through also. In all multiple tablets, laptops and video games were stolen from the home. Officers determined the suspect(s) entered the home by climbing on the trash cans and entered through the unsecured garage window. Once inside the garage they entered the home through the unlocked interior door then exited through the front door. This case has been forwarded

At first, Dad and I didn't see eye to eye about moving to The Kensington, but ever since he did. we've both been thrilled

f you were to ask my Dad before he moved to The Kensington why he should, he'd have assured you that everything was fine—that there was no need. However, I didn't see things the same way. Sure, my Dad had enjoyed a wonderful life with his wife in their home. But for the last few years, he'd been caring for her while she was terminally ill. Once she died, he was lonely and sad living by himself. It broke my heart. I understood that leaving memories behind would be hard, but when The Kensington came to Sierra Madre, I got excited for both of us. It took some persuasion to get my Dad to move. Finally, he did! Now, he is joking around again. New friends and lots to do have made him incredibly happy. Thanks to The Kensington, I have my Dad back.

Defenders Parkway Memorial Approved

The city council voted Monday night to approve a privately funded memorial, honoring Pasadena soldiers killed in Afghanistan and Iraq wars, to be placed in Defenders Parkway at Orange Grove and Colorado Boulevards —the most famous intersection in the city.

City staff said the eight foot-tall Enduring Heroes memorial would not interfere with the Rose Parade.

The statue will honor six soldiers including Scott Studenmund, the son of Jayne Studenmund who came up with the memorial concept. Scott Studenmund was killed in June of 2014.

The council voted all in favor with the exception of Councilmember Margaret McAustin who abstained. McAustin said she disagreed with a private memorial being placed on public land. She said the public should have been able to give input on the design and the placement of the statue.

Councilmember Steve Madison said that the sculpture should be considered a gift; he then took a stab at the now famous giant "fork in the road" guerrilla art where Pasadena and St. John avenues divide.

"This is really a gift to the city, I think we should receive it that way" he said. "Four years ago somebody installed a fork in the road in my district, on public land and it was private art... and these very public processes, these very bodies that come to reject this proposal, agreed that that [the fork] was appropriate.

The new memorial at Defenders Parkway would also be in Madison's district.

Annual Police Foundation Breakfast

The Pasadena Police Foundation will hold their annual breakfast on Thursday at 7:30 a.m. at the First Church of the Nazarene of Pasadena, 3700 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

This is an opportunity for the community to meet with Pasadena Police Chief Phillip Sanchez.

The event is also a chance to see first-hand how the Pasadena Police Foundation fulfills its mission of helping cops give kids hope. Programs supported by the Foundation include; the Kids Safety Academy; Junior Public Safety Academy; Youth Accountability Board Intervention Program; K-9 Unit; and Every 15 Minutes DUI Awareness Program.

The Foundation with the help of last year's event sponsors raised funds to purchase a new "K-9 Doghouse," a specially-equipped canine vehicle which has become the dog's home-on-wheels. The new "K-9 Doghouse," will be on display at the breakfast. The K-9 Officers and their partners provide specialized canine work for the department and will provide demonstrations at the breakfast.

Tickets are $55 each. To purchase tickets visit www. pasadenapolicefoundation.org or email susan@castlepress. com. For more information, contact Catherine Haskett Hany (626) 793-7454

LEGISLATION TO STREAMLINE POWERFUL L.A. COUNTY COMMITTEE SIGNED INTO LAW BY GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO - Legislation authored by Assemblywoman Ling Ling Chang (R-Diamond Bar) to streamline the influential L.A. County Selection Committee was signed into law this week. The Selection Committee - comprised of L.A. County city representatives - has been hamstrung by bureaucracy in recent years and unable to make key appointments to local public bodies. AB 347 will make it easier for cities to vote by allowing any city councilmember present to cast a vote for appointments.

"As a former mayor in Los Angeles County, I can personally tell you how frustrating City Selection Committee meetings have been," said Assemblywoman Chang. "The committee has struggled to meet attendance benchmarks required to fill appointments, and as a result nothing gets done."

Los Angeles County has 88 cities, spanning 4,000 square miles and each city is represented on the City Selection Committee. The Committee must meet in person and requires a quorum of 45 cities to vote. For years, the City Selection Committee has been unable to reach consistent quorums to fill the appointments, leading to frustration by mayors and councilmembers, and in some cases vacancies that remained open for years.

Streamlining the proxy designation process would allow the Los Angeles County's City Selection Committee to ensure an eligible representative from each city is present to meet the necessary quorum, and thereby proceed with appointments to local public bodies like the California Coastal Commission and the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA).

Miscellaneous clothing and a briefcase was taken. The investigation is continuing.

Attempted Murder – Suspects Arrested September 28 at 10:01 a.m., officers were dispatched to a residence in the 100 block of South Encinitas on the report of a stabbing that had just occurred. The victim had been in an altercation earlier with the brother of the suspect who stabbed him. The two brothers showed up at the victim's residence and a physical fight ensued. During the fight, the victim was stabbed multiple times. The suspects fled on foot and containment of the area was established. One suspect was taken into custody near the original location. The victim was taken to a hospital, where he required surgery for his injuries. The second suspect has been located and arrested.

Vehicle Burglary September 28 at 1:41 a.m., a vehicle burglary was reported in the 500 block of West Duarte Road. The victim left his vehicle to be repaired at an automotive repair shop on September 25. When he returned to the repair shop, he found tools had been stolen from a locked toolbox in the bed of his truck. The investigation is continuing.

Petty Theft September 28 at 2:00 p.m., a petty theft was reported in the 400 block of Genoa. The victim parked her vehicle in front of her apartment the night before. She returned at 8:00 a.m. and saw that one of her tires was stolen. The investigation is continuing.

Vehicle Burglary September 28 at 6:26 p.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 200 block of West Palm regarding a vehicle burglary. The victim parked her vehicle on the street in front of her house at 5:00 p.m. and locked the doors. She then went into her house. She returned to her vehicle an hour and a half later and discovered a window was shattered and her briefcase containing miscellaneous papers had been taken. She immediately called the police. Officers searched the area, but did not locate a suspect. The investigation is continuing.

Possession of Marijuana for Sales/Warrant – Suspect Arrested September 28 at 10:09 p.m., an officer on patrol in the 1400 block of South Mountain stopped a vehicle for failing to stop for a red light signal at an intersection. The officer approached the male driver and immediately smelled marijuana emitting from inside the vehicle. A computer check of the subject revealed the driver had a warrant for his arrest and was driving with a suspended license. A lawful search of the vehicle revealed several individually packaged bags of marijuana and evidence the driver was transporting the drugs for sales. He was arrested and taken into custody.

Theft From a Vehicle September 29 at 11:48 a.m., a purse was reported stolen from a vehicle parked in the 500 block of South Mountain. The victim was picking up her daughter at the location. She parked her vehicle and left it for approximately five minutes, leaving her purse in the vehicle. When she returned, she saw a white pickup truck with tinted windows and no plates leaving from directly behind her vehicle. She entered her vehicle and saw her purse was missing. Officers later recovered her property in two separate locations after it had been discarded. The victim was missing cash and a debit card. The investigation is continuing.

Theft From a Vehicle September 29 at 11:55 a.m., a victim of theft called police to report her purse was stolen out of her unlocked vehicle while she was inside a business in the 200 block of South Ivy Avenue. The investigation is continuing.

Injury Hit and Run Collision/Driving Under the Influence – Suspect Arrested September 29 at 7:20 p.m., a Chevrolet Suburban was traveling west in the 400 block of West Colorado when it collided into a bicyclist who was also traveling westbound. The bicyclist fell off his bike and landed on the pavement, causing non-life-threatening injuries to his arms and legs. The bicyclist was wearing reflective, protective gear and his bike had the legal lighting equipment. The driver of the Suburban fled west on Colorado.

A witness called police and reported the license plate of the suspect vehicle. Officers responded to the registered owner's house, where they located the vehicle and the driver outside the home in Monrovia. The driver was determined to be intoxicated. The driver was arrested for felony driving under the influence and hit and run.

THREE INTERESTING CASES HANDLED WITH EXCELLENCE BY OUR DETECTIVES BUREAU

Detectives Bureau handled superbly, and I wanted to share details related to each of those cases.

Burglaries, Vehicle Theft, and Receiving Stolen Property

On September 9, 2015, at 0805 hours, Monrovia officers were dispatched to the 100 block of Norumbega Drive regarding a subject asleep in a vehicle with the engine running. Upon arrival the officers and found a male adult who they recognized from prior contacts hunched over in a vehicle that matched the description of a vehicle used in a recent theft of tools. They woke the subject who exited and dropped drug paraphernalia. They detained the subject and discovered his vehicle was loaded with what appeared to be stolen tools. Officer recognized some of the items in the vehicle matched the description of the tools taken from the theft. The subject was arrested for being under the influence and suspicion of grand theft. The vehicle was towed to the station. During the booking process a card for a local storage location was located in the subject's wallet.

Detectives were notified of the arrest and wrote search warrants for the subject's vehicle, home and storage locker. While serving the search warrant at the residence, a victim from a commercial burglary in Irwindale arrived at the residence claiming the suspect in our case may be the same suspect who broke into his business and stole his Snap-on tool box loaded with tools valued over $30,000.00. Detectives took his information and continued with the search. During the search of the location numerous empty tools bags were recovered and loose tools. The tools described from the Irwindale case were not recovered at the location.

The storage locker turned out to belong to a different person, so that search was not conducted. Later, a photograph of the suspect we had in custody was shown to the storage facilities manager who identified the suspect as having a different storage locker under a different name. A revised search warrant was obtained, signed and served. The storage locker was filled from floor to ceiling with miscellaneous tools. Along the east wall, detectives noticed a large black Snap-on tool box which was locked. Detectives contacted the victim from the Irwindale case and he brought a key to the tool box, which unlocked it, and in one of the drawers there were receipts in the victim's name for the purchase of the tools, and tool box.

The search warrant was served on the vehicle which also contained against the suspect in September 2015.

Last week, I was briefed about three interesting cases that our numerous tools. Some of the tools in the vehicle were tools taken from several cases over the past week in Monrovia. To date, 5 cases have been identified which include cases from Monrovia, Glendora and San Diego. The investigation is continuing and detectives will be contacting other agencies in an attempt to locate additional

Over the past year there have been several cases where elderly citizens have been approached by a male subject claiming there was something wrong with their vehicle. The subject would state that he could repair the vehicle on the spot. He would often not give the victim time to respond and would do the repair anyways and charge the victim. He would often charge anywhere from $500.00-$8,000.00 and would be rather intimidating at times so the victims unwillingly paid the amounts. The suspect description was similar in many cases, but no suspect was identified. This type of situation was occurring in several local cities. LASO had a case in Temple City where deputies managed to obtain a DNA sample from the steering wheel of a vehicle which returned with a hit. This suspect had been featured in "America's Most Wanted" for similar crimes throughout the country. Detective Oberon handled the investigation on the Monrovia cases and was able to identify the same suspect in 5 of our cases. Detective Oberon presented the case to the District Attorney's Office and was able to obtain a filing in each of our cases and get a 1 million dollar warrant for the suspect.

Embezzlement Case

Detective Chad Harvey received an embezzlement case from a company who reported the crime back in October of 2011. An employee had embezzled money from them. Once the investigation was occurring, it was discovered that the employee had been embezzling money for several years. The employee actually paid for kids to go to college, get a car, remodel a kitchen, go on vacations, and pay for bills. This information was obtained by conducting 20 search warrants on accounts belonging to the employee. The loss was determined to be in excess of approximately $950,000.00. After a year of investigating the case, it was taken to the Major Fraud Division at the District Attorney's Office in LA where charges were finally filed

DUARTE RESIDENTS INVITED TO ATTEND AN INFORMATIONAL MIXER, OCTOBER 14TH TO LEARN ABOUT CITY COMMISSION OPPORTUNITIES

The City of Duarte is hosting a fun and informational recruitment mixer entitled "Service with a Smile" on October 14, 2015 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. in the Civic Center Courtyard at 1600 Huntington Drive to promote the 17 available City Commissioner positions. Attendees will be able to mingle with fellow community members while learning about available Commission and Committee opportunities on the City's existing six commissions and two committees. ARCADIA HIGH SCHOOL MARCHING BAND TO PERFORM AT 2017 ROSE PARADE

On Friday at the Arcadia High homecoming football game a surprise announcement was made at halftime that the AHS marching band has been selected to perform in the 2017 Rose Parade. A video message from the Rose Parade President on our new video scoreboard announced the band's selection, then the Rose Parade President and his staff made a brief presentation to our band directors.

Following the presentation, the band which consists of more than 300 students, performed. It's always a great performance that encompasses the entire football field. Most of the band parents, and a large crowd were on hand for the game and surprise

Being selected to march in the Rose Bowl Parade is a very prestigious recognition.

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben ShowMAZE RUNNER: THE SCORCH TRIALS

'The Maze Runner' was not one of the post-apocalyptic, dystopian series directed at teens that I read. In fact, even after seeing the first movie and having the plot holes filled in by someone who did read the book, I still was not interested in the series. The characters were bland, the plot was ludicrous, and the dialogue was laughable. Does 'The Scorch Trials' improve upon the series at all?

Now out of the maze, Thomas (Dylan O'Brien) and his friends are taken in by mysterious people who own a massive military base in a desert called the scorch. When they discover that the people protecting them are WCKD, they escape and must face the dangers that live within the scorch.

'The Scorch Trials' is my least favorite movie of all time.

The plot is ridiculous and never makes any sense, the characters are even more bland than the first movie, and the dialogue makes 'Transformers' look like Shakespeare. When this film tries to make an event that happens symbolic of something happening in society now, it goes about as well as a kindergartener trying to use vocabulary from the SAT. This film is bad and not worth anybody's time. If you have a couple hours to kill, find anything else to do than going to see this movie.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

SCIENCE FOR SOCIAL SURVIVAL

For me the study of life sciences has become increasingly and a craving to learn more about the big picture. more interesting as I get older. It could be related to the swift forward-motion of information technology allowing access to fascinating scientific facts that, just 10 years ago would have required a trip to the library or a consultation with someone who "knew". Or perhaps the social metamorphosis that is taking place in this age, apparently prompting people to gain a higher level of self importance, is driving me to gain a higher level of understanding about nature and science.

I must admit, I always have been one to "go against the flow". Whatever the reason, I feel more inspired than ever to recall what I learned in my high school and college biology classes, research the interesting facts that I do not recall, and apply that knowledge to my daily walk of life. I guess you could say it is my means of social survival, via science.

I can't think of anything more important than having a good understanding of who and what we are, where we came from, and how we can better relate to the creatures that surround us and the planet that sustains us. With so many radical changes occurring in our society over the past several decades, and amazing new technological concepts constantly appearing on the horizon, "simple" scientific truths such as the origin of life, the study of living organisms and how they thrive through symbiotic relationships, may seem to some like rather boring or mundane subjects to be pondered.

As for me, I have a burning desire to understand how my existence fits into the "big picture" on this magnificent planet and I hope to learn more about how I can have a positive impact. My perspective as an adult differs greatly from that of when I was a young child. Then I harbored frightful fears of the wild animals that lived in the woods behind my house, and I did my best to avoid contact with the creepy crawling insects and spiders that lived in the bushes and the basement.

Now I view every living thing as an interesting and let live!

very important component of this universe. A universe requires mutual appreciation and respect to maintain a healthy balance. It all boils down to the fact that I am an integral part of an immense living organism, and my actions and behavior do make a difference.

When I choose to view life from this perspective, I find myself free of those childhood fears. Those fears are replaced with curiosity

Another result of my perspective adjustment is a realization that regardless of what we humans like to think in terms of property ownership, and our personal rights" on this earth, the bottom line is we are here for a very short time and earth simply cannot be owned. We can borrow it for a while and we can mark our territory as other animals do, but we will never really own any part of this great globe.

What we need to be doing is appreciating every single drop of water and every element of dirt we "camp" on. We must be careful to tend to it like a garden that we depend on to feed us. It is rather unfortunate that we have been spoiled by having a grocery store just down the street where we can choose from a numerous plethora of edible products, without a single thought is to where they came from or who did the hard work to produce them. Our main concern is to have fuel for our vehicles so we can get from point A to point B within moments. It has become so easy to forget that we are most definitely dependant on the earth, and the resources are limited.

By learning more about the living organisms that surround me, I have inherently become more aware of my responsibility as a steward to take good care and to not exploit the treasures that earth has to offer. No one is an island unto himself. I believe in creation, and believe that God gave the human a very tall order of obedience to respect the earth and the animals who share it with us. This is no small command, and I take it very seriously. All living things were made by Him, and we humans have a tendency to forget that we are responsible for our position in the system. So, before come down from my "soap box", I will end with a reminder for all of us to be aware and keep good thoughts about our surroundings. Learn to appreciate all life forms as an integral part of ourselves. Love and are strangled by continues on, although hope seems just around the corner with "El Nino" coming to save the day. This writer got to thinking about the drought's affect on our wine industry, and the prices the consumer will pay in the immediate future. If you have driven to Paso Robles, you know that there are groves of almonds, cherries, and I-know-not-what-else, but one thing do I know is that Paso Robles is big on wine grapes. Temperatures can reach 100 degrees in Paso Robles, and yes, the drought has affected the growing community of the Čentral Coast. Paso Robles has 26,000 acres under vine and is home to over 200 wineries. That's a lot of water needed! 2012 pickings were up over 2011 yields, and I was told that April showers were a welcome sight and stopped the chances of a 2012 spring frost. I was also told, by several vintners, that prices remain steady even with the drought, partly due to the competition to get to get wine to our local markets.

A local Paso Robles wine that I think you will enjoy is the 2012 J Lohr Hill Top Cabernet all grapes are from the Paso Robles AVA. The aforementioned heat gave this cabernet an up to the mark of tannins and pushed the grapes to full ripeness - can you say "perfect storm"? I hope so, because we need a few rain drops this winter. Matured in french oak barrels, I found this cabernet to be full bodied and well balanced with a medium layer of cherries (sorry, no almonds here). Priced in the upper $20's, I suggest buying two bottles - one for now and one for next year for a special occasion. I rarely drink cabernet without a meal, but this one

J Lohr has been producing wines from this region since 1974. Jerry Lohr started with 280 acres, and now has over 900 acres in Monterey and 2000 in Paso Robles.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS: FOX'S "GRANDFATHERED" DELIVERS BOTH LAUGHTER & HEART IN ITS DEBUT

By Sean Kayden

eight seasons on FULL HOUSE. John Stamos returns to television as Jimmy Martino, a 50 yearold restaurant owner content on being a perpetual bachelor in the new Fox sitcom, "Grandfathered." Just as Jimmy finds his restaurant losing business to the brand new Bistro Six across the street, he is taken by surprise by the presence of Gerald (played by Josh Peck from "The Wackness" and "Drake & Josh"). He claims to be the son Jimmy never knew he had. Gerald is an awkward yet deeply amicable 26 year-old that throws Jimmy for another curveball as well. After revealing himself as his son, he informs him he has a granddaughter too. Jimmy, a self-proclaimed bachelor, can't even bare to say the word "grandfather." The unintended result of Jimmy's many, many years ago relationship with Sara Kingsley (Paget Brewster) is how Gerald came into the picture. He pursues to find out why Sara hid this from him, but as you may know, she had her reasons since Jimmy prided himself on never being able to commit to someone.

The episode follows Jimmy attempting parenthood for a day, giving Gerald advice on both life and of course, women. We discover the mother of the child is not with Gerald. They're just good friends. Gerald would like to be more than just friends, but only time will tell with each subsequent Give this one a try since the majority of network episode. Despite the bachelor mentality, Jimmy shows much sentiment and compassion for taking care of Gerald's daughter in the third act of the episode. Things, as expected in a comedy of this at 8pm on FOX.

This isn't the Uncle Jesse you may remember from nautre, go terribly wrong when Jimmy takes responsibility in babysitting his granddaughter. It's on the same night when Deion Sanders, Don Rickles, and Lil Wayne unexpectedly all show up at his restaurant. Very strange trio right there for a cameo and all of them, especially Rickles, was wasted in their guest roles. Jimmy rushes back to his restaurant and brings his young granddaughter with him. Comedy slightly ensues around this part of the episode. As this storyline came to an end, it offered more heart than anything

With "Grandfathered," we aren't telling a brand new tale, but is the freshman series worth your precious 22 minutes each week? Well from what I can tell just the first episode alone, it certainly does. The pilot delivered several more laughs than I ever expected from a FOX show. While it wasn't zinger after zinger throughout the show, it definitely out performed your average network sitcom in the jokes department. To my surprise, the show presented a lot of heart. At any rate, this is a feel good show that has some sharp jokes in between. In addition, the chemistry between Stamos and Peck is spot on. This duo works well together. The pilot episode was sharp and never wasted too much time in any given scene. Overall, if I was to grade this show, I'd score it a solid B. comedies are truly awful. I'm looking at you "The Big Bang Theory."

Tune in to "Grandfathered" every Tuesday night

A NEW SHOW BEGINS

On the Marquee: Notes from the Sierra MadrePlayhouse

By Artistic Director, Christian Lebano

Monday night we have our first rehearsal for the holiday show A Christmas Memory which opens November 27, the day after Thanksgiving. With the long run of Always...Patsy Cline it has been a while since we have had a first rehearsal. Truman Capote's lovely story has been turned into a delightful musical by Duane Poole, with music by Larry Grossman (who wrote the music for Minnie's Boys), and lyrics by Carol Hall (who wrote the music and lyrics to Best Little Whorehouse in Texas.) This is a show about friendship and the joys of giving and it's perfect for the holiday. Every time I hear the music, I like the show more.

Alison Eliel Kalmus is directing. Alison last directed Gilbert & Sullivan's The Gondoliers at the Playhouse and famously did The Sound of Music several years ago which was one of our biggest successes - eclipsed only by Patsy! We have a wonderful cast assembled for this show. Charlo Crossley is playing Anna - Charlo was featured in the Academy Award winning documentary 20 Feet from Stardom and was one of the original Harlettes, Bette Midler's backup singers; Diane Kelber was last at SMP as Miss Maudie in our To Kill a Mockingbird, she's playing Sook; Jean Kauffman who plays Sook's sister Jennie has been on Broadway and in National tours and her husband is the Tony-winning author of A Gentlemen's Guide to Love and Murder; Jeff Scot Carey will play the Adult Buddy and he was on Broadway in South Pacific and Rent; Christopher Showerman will be playing the bootlegger Mr. HaHa Jones and the busybody postman Farley, he was Tarzan in the sequel to the live action film; Kevin Michael Moran was in Heartburn with Meryl Streep and he'll play Sook's brother Seabon. We have cast four wonderfully talented young people to play Young Buddy (the young Truman) and Nelle (the young Harper Lee) - locals Patrick Geringer, Ian Branch, Lucy Ferrante, and Samantha Salamoff will alternate performances. AND...my dog Felix will be making his stage debut in the show! I can't wait for you to meet this cast.

Tickets are on sale now and are selling briskly already. I think with the extraordinary reception we've had to Patsy and the great number of new patrons who have found us because of that show that we are likely to sell very well. We cannot extend this show, but should sales warrant it, we can add performances - we currently have 20 planned. I hope we'll see you at a show over the holidays.

If you haven't seen Patsy you have until October 30 to do so. If you think a show may be sold-out it is still worth calling Mary Baville in our box office and getting on the waiting list for the show you want – we sometimes get cancellations and Mary will call you and let you know. Remember we give 20% discounts for groups of 10 or more who purchase their tickets ahead of their attendance date. Please call Mary at 626.355.4318 to arrange your purchase.

It didn't take long before he turned his sights to cityhood for the blossoming area he named Arcadia.

the Birth of America by Stacy Schiff

In this dazzling work of history, a Pulitzer Prizewinning author follows Benjamin Franklin to France for the crowning achievement of his career."In December of 1776 a small boat delivered an old man to France." So begins an enthralling narrative account of how Benjamin Franklin--seventy years old, without any diplomatic training, and possessed of the most rudimentary French--convinced France, an absolute monarchy, to underwrite America's experiment in democracy. When Franklin stepped onto French soil, he well understood he was embarking on the greatest gamble of his career. By virtue of fame, charisma, French informers, and hostile colleagues; engineered contradictory, intense person—capable yet insecure, the Franco-American alliance of 1778; and helped to negotiate the peace of 1783. The eightyear French mission stands not only as Franklin's most vital service to his country but as the most revealing of the man. In A Great Improvisation, Stacy Schiff draws from new and littleknown sources to illuminate the least-explored part of Franklin's life. Here is an unfamiliar, unforgettable chapter of the Revolution, a rousing tale of American infighting, and the treacherous backroom dealings at Versailles that would propel George Washington from near decimation at Valley Forge to victory at Yorktown. From these pages emerges a particularly human and yet fiercely determined Founding Father, as well as a profound sense of how fragile, improvisational, and

With choices that carry more weight, we often wish we had a clear vision of the future especially when it comes to relationships and financial matters. We always find that coveted clear understanding in hindsight--after the fact. This is where the expression comes in..."it's the journey not the destination".

5 HERBS FOR BETTER DIGESTION

Many people suffer in silence from digestive issues because they find the symptoms hard to discuss. Yet digestion issues may well be the most common issue facing Americans on a daily basis. Besides making lifestyle changes like eating more fiber and eating dinner at least 2 ½ to 3 hours before bedtime, there are herbs that you can use to flavor your food that can also aid in digestion. Most people know that peppermint calms an upset stomach but did you know these herbs were also good for digestion:

• Oregano: Oregano is a highly alkaline herb, so it fights acidity and thus lowers inflammation. It also stimulates the digestive system which helps prevent constipation.

Rosemary: It is a great remedy for indigestion, bloating, gas pain and constipation. It has antifungal properties so it can help prevent an overgrowth of yeast in the digestive tract.

• Sage: Sage is a calming, soothing herb. It can help keep the digestive system running smoothly. It helps the stomach digest protein, and also helps to eliminate gas.

Thyme: Thyme is another soothing herb which makes it great for dealing with an upset stomach. Thyme is also antiviral which can help your system to ward off digestive system viruses.

Lavender: Not only does lavender smell great but it is also known as one of the best calming herbs. When we become stressed and anxious our digestion slows which can cause

Whether you are just looking to improve and protect your health, or you have a serious condition that threatens your ability tolive and function, there is a foundation that must be in place tosupport living well or recovering.

The foundation of health is based on four main areas being maintained.

1. Regular exercise and movement including stretching.

2. Proper nutrition to fuel your body.

3. Proper and sufficient rest to help your body heal and regenerate.

4. A fully functional spine and nervous system to control and coordinate all of your body's functions.

Many people are looking for the 'next best thing' without addressing or fortifying the foundation. Promises are made all the time that this lotion, notion, product or pill will take you to the promise their foundation. It is estimated that 70% of the problems people go to the doctor for are related to lifestyle therefore preventable because they have cracks in the foundation. So what has happened is that their train has come off the tracks as they are trying to leave the

Many people are suffering in many ways due to the fact that they have ignored taking care of station on their journey. They are stuck. The 28 day health transformation is simplistic in its design to get your train back on the tracks so it can leave the station. It shores up your foundation on which all health and healing is based. For 28 days, 4 weeks you are going to give your body a break and nourish it with activities to address strengthening your foundation.

For exercise, it includes movement and mobility on a daily basis. Nutrition wise you stop putting toxic stuff in your body and give your digestive track a break. When you exercise regularly and eat healthy great sleep is a by-product as your body detoxifies and repairs itself. Posture awareness and evaluation using chiropractic, massage, yoga, core training all help maintain the frame and allows the nervous system to flow and function without interference.

The 28 day health transformation has been tested and since it is simple and you don't have to buy any pills or equipment the question is asked, "What makes this program so special?" The answer

You are the main factor of whether it works or not. You must change. You must get leverage on yourself to get back on track and set a new direction for your life. You must walk, you must do the stretching, you must make the choices and discipline yourself.

28 days is not a long time but can put you on course to build a foundation that you can then build on to sustain and protect your health for a 100 years.

HOW TO FIND A BETTER MEDICARE PRESCRIPTION DRUG PLAN

Dear Savvy Senior,

I recently received a letter from my Medicare drug plan provider notifying me that they are increasing my co-pays next year. I'd like to look for a better plan but could use some guidance. What's the easiest way

Need a Change

Dear Need.

Cost increases and coverage changes are an annual event for many Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. Fortunately, during the open enrollment period (which is Oct. 15 – Dec. 7), you have the ability to shop and compare plans and choose one that better fits your needs and budget. Your new plan will go into effect Jan.1, 2016. Here are some tips that can help with this process.

Shop Online

If you have Internet access and are comfortable using a computer, you can easily shop for and compare all Medicare drug plans in your area, and enroll in a new plan online.

Just go to Medicare's Plan Finder Tool at medicare.gov/find-a-plan, and type in your ZIP code or your personal information, enter in how you currently receive your Medicare coverage, select the drugs you take and their dosages, and choose the pharmacies you use. You'll get a cost comparison breakdown for every plan available in your area so you can compare it to your current

This tool also provides a five-star rating system that evaluates each plan based on past customer service records, and suggests generics or older brand name drugs that can reduce your costs.

It's also important to keep in mind that when you're comparing drug plans don't judge a plan strictly by its monthly premium cost. Lowpremium plans are often associated with higher prescription co-payments and may end up being more expensive. Look at the "estimated annual drug costs" that shows how much you can expect to pay over a year in total out-of-pocket costs including premiums, deductibles and co-pays.

Also, be sure the plan you're considering covers all of the drugs you take with no restrictions. Most drug plans today place the drugs they cover into price tiers. A drug placed in a higher tier org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today another medication first before you can use it.

Need Help?

If you need some help choosing a new plan, contact your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP), which provides free one-on-one Medicare counseling in person or over the phone. They also conduct seminars during the open enrollment period at various locations throughout each state. To find the contact information for your local SHIP visit shiptacenter.org, or call the eldercare locator at 800-677-1116.

Shrinking Donut Hole

You also need to know that Medicare's "donuthole" - the coverage gap in which you must pay out-of-pocket for your drugs – continues to shrink. In 2016, you will get a 55 percent discount on brand-name drugs, and the federal subsidy for generic medications will rise to 42 percent.

The 2016 coverage gap begins when your total drug cost exceeds $3,310 (that includes your share and the insurer's share of the costs) and ends when your total out-of-pocket costs reach $4,850. After that, your Part D plan usually covers around 95 percent of your remaining drug costs for the year.

Low-Income Assistance

Also, be aware that if you're income is under $17,655 or $23,895 for married couples living together, and your assets are below $13,640 or $27,250 for married couples not counting your home, car or life insurance policy, you may be eligible for the federal Low Income Subsidy known as "Extra Help" that pays Part D premiums, deductibles and copayments. TRAPPED IN THE GARAGE!

Happy fall to you! The calendar story! says autumn is here, but the weather sure doesn't seem like it. It was during a particularly hot spell series of strange voice messages to tell me. from my Mom. First, a little remodeled their house, parts of it (such as the garage) still bear the vestiges of its former, somewhat dilapidated self.

I checked my phone at about 10:00 pm and saw that Mom had left me not one --not two --not three, but FOUR messages all around 8:00 pm. Worried, I called the house before even listening to them. Dad answered the phone and chuckled when I told him about the messages from Mom. "Oh yeah, Mom locked herself in the garage when I went to take a shower" he said. "She eventually She's showering now." I was relieved, but still wanted to make sure everything was okay. "Yes!" he reassured me, "She's fine. Not to worry."

In talking with my parents about this after the fact, Dad reminded me that Mom once did this same thing many years ago. I was a toddler at the time. Mom and I were in the garage one morning after Dad had gone to work and the door was locked and closed on us unexpectedly. Only there was no hidden key and no happening in the garage! phone in the garage at that time. So Mom resorted to using an axe to chop through the door frame to finally extricate us. Dad was speechless that evening when he surveyed the damage. But it made for a rousing this story.

This time I was glad the problem turned out to be nothing. But I was still interested in what was on the voice messages. Since I hadn't heard them yet, I played a few weeks ago that I received a each one to see what Mom had so desperately wanted

"Hi, Katie" she said in the first message. "I hope I'm not disturbing you. Dad has gone to take a shower My parents live about four blocks south of my and I accidentally locked myself in the garage. Please husband and I in Sierra Madre. Although they recently call back in case I need to ask you to come and open the garage door for me. Thanks!" All in all, she sounded pretty calm, even nonchalant. I smiled to myself and played the next one.

"Hi Katie." Mom sounded markedly agitated. "It's a little after 8. I'm locked in the garage and Dad's in the shower. It's starting to get hot in here. Please call when you get this. Bye." I couldn't help chuckling. She sounded like she was on the edge between annoyance and distress.

"Katie, you need to come here now!" the third message opened. "The garage is hot! Come and get

LIQUID WATER FLOWS ON TODAY'S MARS

New findings from NASA's Mars Reconnaissance Orbiter (MRO) provide the strongest evidence yet that liquid water flows intermittently on presentday Mars.

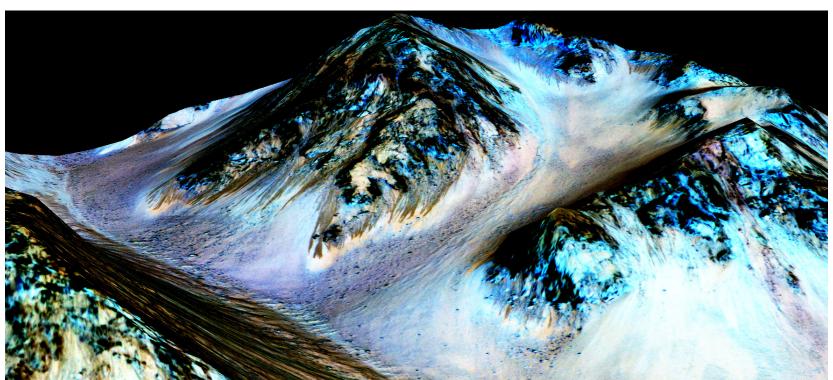

Using an imaging spectrometer on MRO, researchers detected signatures of hydrated minerals on slopes where mysterious streaks are seen on the Red Planet. These darkish streaks appear to ebb and flow over time. They darken and appear to flow down steep slopes during warm seasons, and then fade in cooler seasons. They appear in several locations on Mars when temperatures are above minus 10 degrees Fahrenheit (minus 23 Celsius), and disappear at colder times.

"Our quest on Mars has been to 'follow the water,' in our search for life in the universe, and now we have convincing science that validates what we've long suspected," said John Grunsfeld, astronaut and associate administrator of NASA's Science Mission Directorate in Washington. "This is a significant development, as it appears to confirm that water—albeit briny—is flowing today on the surface of Mars.'

These downhill flows, known as recurring slope lineae (RSL), often have been described as possibly related to liquid water. The new findings of hydrated salts on the slopes point to what that relationship may be to these dark features. The hydrated salts would lower the freezing point of a liquid brine, just as salt on roads here on Earth causes ice and snow to melt more rapidly. Scientists say it's likely a shallow subsurface flow, with enough water wicking to the surface to explain the darkening.

We found the hydrated salts only when the seasonal features were widest, which suggests that either the dark streaks themselves or a process that forms them is the source of the hydration. In either case, the detection of hydrated salts on these slopes means that water plays a vital role in the formation of these streaks," said Lujendra Ojha of the Georgia Institute of Technology (Georgia Tech) in Atlanta, lead author of a report on these findings published Sept. 28 by Nature Geoscience.

Ojha first noticed these puzzling features as a University of Arizona undergraduate student in 2010, using images from the MRO's High Resolution Imaging Science Experiment (HiRISE).

HiRISE observations now have documented RSL at dozens of sites on Mars. The new study pairs HiRISE observations with mineral mapping by MRO's Compact Reconnaissance Imaging Spectrometer for Mars (CRISM).

The spectrometer observations show signatures of hydrated salts at multiple RSL locations, but only when the dark features were relatively wide. When the researchers looked at the same locations and RSL weren't as extensive, they detected no hydrated

Ojha and his co-authors interpret the spectral signatures as caused by hydrated minerals called perchlorates. The hydrated salts most consistent with the chemical signatures are likely a mixture of magnesium perchlorate, magnesium chlorate and sodium perchlorate. Some perchlorates have been shown to keep liquids from freezing even when conditions are as cold as minus 94 degrees Fahrenheit (minus 70 Celsius). On Earth, naturally produced perchlorates are concentrated in deserts, and some types of perchlorates can be used as KEEP LOOKING AROUND rocket propellant.

For Ojha, the new findings are more proof that the mysterious lines he first saw darkening Martian slopes five years ago are, indeed, present-day water.

When most people talk about water on Mars, they're usually talking about ancient water or frozen water," he said. "Now we know there's more to the story.'

"Liquid water is a key requirement for life on Earth," Ojha added. "The presence of liquid water on Mars' present-day surface therefore points to environments that are more habitable than Said to be briney previously thought."

EARLY RESPONDERS to the news from Mars included poet Eido Boru, who sends this piquant commentary in verse from Brisbane, Australia:

Red planet Mars The fourth big rock From our bright star What a shock Just discovered water Mars isn't dead And made out of mortar Like lots have said. Found a summer sea An astronomer's wish Are there any fish? Keep looking around Is what I recommend To find a town Of little green men.

WHAT HAPPENS TO FORMER FOSTER YOUTH?

Highlights from an Interview with Donjaleigh

by La Quetta M. Shamblee

There was plenty to celebrate on May 15, 2015 when 23year old Donjaleigh heard her name as she strolled across the stage at California State University Dominguez Hills to receive her B.A. in Sociology. She had completed the first major educational step toward her career goal of becoming a Licensed Clinical Social Worker. An amazing accomplishment considering this former foster youth has basically had to figure out how to navigate life on her own since she exited the foster care system at age 18 and moved in the dorms. Donjaleigh was 15 when her mother died, and with a father who was in and out of prison, she was placed into foster care.

Like so many foster youth with aspirations for success, Donjaleigh's interest in going to college was two-fold. She expressed the sentiment of many in her situation, "When I learned there were dorms for students, I was relieved that I wouldn't have to worry about where I was going to live." Also, she understood the long-term career benefits of getting a college education. She quickly learned that the cost of living in the dorms was more expensive than tuition. Her financial aid package covered tuition and books, but left nothing for living expenses. Her part-time job was definitely not enough to keep a roof over her head. As a former foster youth Donjaleigh was eligible to receive assistance through the government funded Transitional Housing Program (THP), so she applied and the prospect of being homeless was diverted. Finally, she was able to focus on her studies while working her way through

By September 2015, no one was more eager or motivated than Donjaleigh to find a full-time job after she's graduated several months before her 24th birthday. Every former foster youth understands 24 as the milestone of being forever and unceremoniously cut off from further financial assistance or support. She swung into action, combed through employment leads, submitted resumes, prayed for interviews and kept her fingers crossed that something would materialize.

Earlier this year in March she used her THP housing benefits to move into another residential program operated by a large nonprofit, which fulfilled its legal requirement to assist with an "exit plan" by providing her with a brochure filled with a list of homeless shelters. She could almost hear the clock steadily ticking toward her final "graduation" from the foster care system. Her part-time job barely covered expenses for her to have a reliable car, and with no solid job offers, she was getting more nervous by the day. "Are you kidding me, I just graduated with my B.A. and I'm about to be homeless?" she thought. Her desperation translated into action and she started surfing the internet to see if there were any resources for former foster youth in her predicament. That's when she found Journey House, and on August 26th she called the Pasadena-based agency. Staff sprang into action to determine how best to help, and it couldn't have been soon enough.

On September 13th, the day Donjaleigh turned 24, a staff member knocked on her door, asked for her keys and told her that she had five minutes to gather her belongings. She was experiencing what it was like to be evicted. However, she was informed that they would store her other personal belonging until she could come back and get them. It didn't matter that she didn't have anywhere to go, nor that the agency hadn't assisted with facilitating any viable exit plan. They were aware that she had recently graduated, was working part-time and that she had been actively looking for full-time employment. She was provided with a one-day reprieve since this all happened on Sunday and they knew that she would not be able to seek help from any other agencies until that start of business on Monday.

This is a typical example of how the foster care system funds programs that perpetuate unintended consequences like homelessness. Once a former foster youth reaches the age where there are no further financial benefits for the agency, the youth is literally kicked out. The current foster care system bears no moral or ethical obligations in instances when it seems that common sense and practicality should prevail. "I am so grateful that I found Journey House," says

Donialeigh. Within a week of enrolling for services under the agency's Beyond Foster Care program that targets former foster youth in college (or those who have recently completed college) things began to fall into place. She called Journey House to share the good news. She had just been offered a full-time position at a group home in El Monte for foster youth on probation and several days later received a phone call that her application for a single apartment in Los Angeles had been approved. With financial assistance from Journey House, she was able to come up with the balance of funds needed to sign her rental agreement. She was confident that she would be able to crash on a couch or floor at a friend's house until she moved into her new place. Again, homelessness diverted and she was relieved that she was not going to have to live in her car.

When she find out Journey House would be able to provide her with a bed, mattress, microwave, dishes, lamps and other furnishings, she was elated. The agency receives and maintains an inventory of donated items for two, multiday fundraising yard sales that are very popular with local residents. It got even better when she learned that a Journey House staff member and volunteer would actually help her to move into her new place. They would also be able to drop by her prior THP residence to pick up her remaining personal belongings. All she needed to do was to go to the agency to select her furnishings on moving day, September 26th. When she arrived at Journey House the staff transformed into a moving crew and helped load the items into the agency's panel truck that was purchased with a grant from the Margie & Robert E. Petersen Foundation.

This response to a request for help from a former foster youth is indicative of the Journey House commitment to assisting beyond the limitations of government-funded programs. Donjaleigh is now a part of the Journey House family, just one of the agency's adult "kids" who needed a helping hand, beyond foster care. She has plans to apply to graduate school at CSULB to pursue a Masters in Social Work and states, "I want to be a social worker so that I can be sure that young people in the system have someone who really cares about what happens to them."

As the only known agency of its kind in California, Journey House is solely focused on what happens to former foster youth once they begin to "age out" of the system at age 18. The agency's Beyond Foster Care campaign is focused on assisting former foster vouth to complete their college studies and to make a successful transition into living independently as adults. HOW TO SURVIVE ANYWHERE [Nyerges is the author of in my book. Here are some of the questions I asked 'How to Survive Anywhere" Rock, CA 90041, or www. for urban dwellers?

A friend and I were talking, and he said, "I'd four EASY ways to make a fire? with next to nothing, as if you had just survived a device you can carry for making fire? hurricane or a tsunami.

"Really?" I responded. "Well, I wrote that book, and it's called 'How to Survive Anywhere'."

"Oh, that's right," my friend responded. "I forgot that it tells you how to start again if you've lost just about everything. And I'd also like to see a book that just tells you how to live more reliantly, and be more self-sufficient."

"Really?" I said. "Well, I wrote that book too. It's 'How to Survive Anywhere'." My friend laughed, and told me that he had my book on his shelf for 6 months but hadn't actually read it.

'Yeah, George," I told him, "the book is worthless if you don't read it. You want the information in your head, not in the pages."

So the reason that "How to Survive Anywhere" can be useful in the city when you're trying to be more self-reliant, and in the wilderness where you have nothing, and in a rural environment, is because I grouped the book by major categories, not specific scenarios.

I address the major concerns with water and how to store it and purify it. I address wild food in nature, how to grow food and what to grow, and how to store food. I deal with shelters, clothing, electricity, fire, weapons, tools, and more, always focusing both on high-tech as well as primitive.

I began to quiz my friend with some of the material

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

IF ONLY I WOULD'VE THOUGHT OF THAT

situations calls for some serious thinking. My problem and I think I share with other people still breathing, I do things without thinking it through. Most people, and I include myself in this group, have not had a serious new thought in years.

I do not include the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage in this group for she is always thinking up something new. At least from my perspective, it seems to be new. Then, how do I know it is really new? I just take her word for it, which makes for peace in our home. Most Now I have a headache! homes are full of pieces while our home is full

My thinking is simply this; a peaceful home is a home I want to live in. That is as far as my thinking really gets. Often she will complain to me she has a headache. I don't wonder because thinking she did, my head would be thumping for a year.

My philosophy is, let other people do all the hard work of thinking up new things to do. I suppose it would be good to think of something new and create something everybody wants to buy. That is one way to make money. I look at some things created in the world that have changed the way people live and often I say to myself, "If only I would've thought of that." Then, thinking takes a lot of energy and who has energy to spare these days?

When it comes to thinking, I am three winks and for all. short of a snooze. Why should I think when everybody else is thinking for me? I know there is the attitude of self-esteem that you should not let other people think for you. I come back and say, "Why not?"

What is so bad about other people doing most of the thinking?

In our home, for example, my wife does all the thinking. This allows me to indulge in the wonderful habit of not thinking. I know I have a brain. I know God gave me a brain to use. I also know I do not want to over use my brain. I am saving some real thinking time for when I am too old to do anything else.

Right now, I can enjoy myself with a variety of physical activities. Well, not so much physical and when I come down to it, not too much activity either. I like to think I am doing something along that line.

There I go thinking again. If only I would just leave it alone and simply enjoy life as it comes. Perhaps that is what is wrong with people. They just think too much. But "spark...in-depth conversations". none of us can ignore what is when our black friends, family,

Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-MA) speaking in Boston, September 27

I come from the same perspective as Sen. Warren and, as a white guy, although knowing how inappropriate it would be addressing this issue by referring to a Cary Grant comedy - I'll go ahead and do it, anyway.

In "Monkey Business" (1952), a guy tries ingratiating himself with an old girlfriend by showing how well he gets along with children. He joins a game of cowboys and Indians and, as the lone "cowboy", plays along with the little "Indians" as they "capture" him, stand him against a tree and start wrapping the rope around, but becomes increasingly anxious as the knots are tightened. He's then truly alarmed as one of the kids brings a can of gasoline and another a box of matches, loudly protesting the "game" has gone far enough - to which one of the kids responds, "What's the matter don't you like children?"

The scene came to mind reading a story in the Times last week about a "Blue Lives Matter" rally in Hollywood, sponsored by the Los Angeles Police Protective League. As communities across the nation become truly alarmed by shootings of unarmed blacks by cops, protests are attributed to the fact some people simply don't like the police.

But, we're told, it goes further than that. A demonstrator is quoted in the story, "There's something weird and scary going on right now – police are being assassinated." An LAPD officer explains, "Police are being marginalized and demonized by a small segment of society". The lead paragraph of the article itself asserts, "killings of police officers . . . have left authorities across the nation feeling under siege."

And, as Bill O'Reilly will tell you, blame for this "war on cops" falls on Black Lives Matter. A few weeks ago, he had on his Fox News show Peter Moskos, professor of Criminal Justice at John Jay College, to bolster his case - but didn't get what he wanted. The professor noted that shootings of cops were in fact down 17% from the year before and asked, "Are you willing to give Black Lives Matter credit for that?" (Prof. Moskos himself is a former cop.)

While still running in the GOP derby, Gov. Scott Walker (WI) blamed President Obama's "anti-police" rhetoric and "divisive" attitude for the "disturbing trend of police officers being murdered on the job."
Candidate Sen. Ted Cruz (TX) complains, "Cops across the country" are "feeling the assault from the president."

According to figures from the National Law Enforcement Memorial Fund, the number of police killings under President Obama is lower than under any other two-term president in our lifetime - 46% lower than under Ronald Reagan at this point in his presidency. Meanwhile, the Washington Post reports the number of people killed by police is higher than it's been in forty years. Changing the narrative to one of police victimization is meant to more easily allow us to "ignore what is

Not Last March, the U.S. Justice Department issued its own report citing years of racist e-mails between neighbors literally fear dying Ferguson officials and how police regard black in the streets. It comes to us to residents "less as constituents to be protected than as potential offenders and sources of revenue." Since then, steps have been taken to limit the courts being used to extract money from the poorest to fund city services – but that's about it.

> A lawsuit was filed last week by Christopher Owens, a black resident of Providence, R.I. over a beating that took place four years ago. He was in his yard with his son when he saw a driver fleeing the scene of a hitand-run. Owens tackled and held the suspect when six police officers arrived. They beat and handcuffed Owens, then sat him in the patrol car where he watched them attack and beat his son.

> Owens says he repeatedly told them he himself was a Providence police officer (had been for ten years, while his son did undercover work for the force) but was ignored. The officers claim he didn't, while some denied having been there at all. According to the suit, "One officer remarked that all he saw was a big black guy." A state police superintendent says "It's unfortunate he was injured . . . but he has some responsibility for what happened in that backyard."

(Owens has since been disabled.) The beatings didn't happen because of any dislike for kids or cops.

While Republicans remained flabbergasted over doctored videos purporting to show what goes on in women's health clinics, Warren spoke of "sickening videos of unarmed, black Americans cut down by bullets, choked to death while gasping for air — their lives ended by those who are sworn to protect them." I didn't like seeing the Black Lives Matter folks interrupt Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-VT) in Seattle, and there's understandable defensiveness when it comes to our police. But, as Elizabeth Warren reminded in concluding her speech at Boston, "it comes to us to continue the fight, to make, as John Lewis said, the 'necessary trouble' until we can truly say that in America, every citizen enjoys the conditions of

Some Republicans in Congress will never

This time the GOP's hard-right conservative minority had dreams of shutting Washington down over Planned Parenthood's illegal profiteering in fetal tissue from its abortion business.

They hoped to defund Planned Parenthood of its half-billion in annual federal dollars by attaching a measure that did exactly that to a larger spending bill.

They thought their legislative trickery would force President Obama into vetoing the spending bill, thereby shutting down the government in Washington.

Obama would then get the blame for the shut down and — what? — not get reelected in 2016?

Come on. The super-conservatives were never going to get enough votes in Congress to catch Obama in their trap.

Luckily, they were saved from seriously hurting themselves, their party and the conservative cause on Wednesday, when the Senate and the House each voted for a stopgap spending bill that keeps D.C. operating until Dec. 11.

But the televised hearing on Tuesday, where Republicans grilled Planned Parenthood boss Cecile Richards, was a PR disaster for Committee chairman Jason Chaffetz and his allies scored some points during their five-hour interrogation.

They got Richards to admit she earned $600,000 a year and exposed that Planned Parenthood had transferred millions of dollars from its charitable arm to its lobbying and political operations.

Planned Parenthood's claim that only 3 percent of its services are for abortions was also shown to be a lie. About a tenth of its clients get an abortion and abortions account for about a third of its annual revenue.

Those Republican highlights were featured later on Fox News and talk radio and gave their conservative audiences something to gloat about for 24 hours.

But they were not what most of the country saw or heard.

When the mainstream media covered the Planned Parenthood hearings, what they focused on was a nice woman being badgered and rudely interrupted by a gang of nasty Republicans.

No matter how evasive Richards was, no matter how she tried to downplay or spin Planned Parenthood's gruesome and immoral abortion business, she was always going to receive nothing but sympathy from the mainstream media.

And where do most American voters — and most independents -- get their news? From CBS, CNN, the Washington Post and dozens of other liberal media outlets.

 $If any \, Republican \, thinks \, that \, their \, side \, of \, the \, Planned \, Parenthood \,$ argument will ever get a friendly or even fair presentation on those places, they are smoking crack.

In the Age of Obama and bigger government, the idea of shutting down the D.C. government over a matter of principle is thrilling to any true conservative.

But if Republicans want to defund Planned Parenthood right now, the best way to do it is through the states.

There are 31 states with Republican governors. Five of them have already defunded Planned Parenthood by prohibiting the use of Medicaid funds for abortion.

Putting pressure on the states to remove taxpayer support of abortion mills can work and it can be done without sabotaging the Republicans' presidential chances next year.

Meanwhile, the super-conservatives in Congress need to get smart and get real. If every conservative and every Republican in the country votes for the GOP's nominee for president, we still lose.

We need independents and Democrats in 2016. Lots of them.

And for most of those voters, especially the younger ones in their 30s and 40s, Planned Parenthood is simply not a presidential

Jobs and the economy are.

Republicans of all kinds from moderates to super-conservative need to keep their eyes on the GOP's most important prize winning the White House.

To do that, we have to broaden our message and our appeal, not narrow it.

Otherwise, we lose again.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

From: The City of Sierra Madre Summary of Urgency Ordinance No. 1367-U: Subject:

CITY COUNCIL CONSIDERATION OF URGENCY ORDINANCE 1367-U ESTABLISHING AN URGENCY ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA ADDING CHAPTER 15.38 SMALL RESIDENTIAL ROOFTOP SOLAR SYSTEMS TO TITLE 15 (BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION) OF THE SIERRA MADRE MUNICIPAL CODE TO PROVIDE AN EXPEDITED. STREAMLINED PERMITTING PROCESS FOR SMALL RESIDENTIAL ROOFTOP SOLAR SYSTEMS AND DECLARING THE URGENCY THEREOF IN ACCORDANCE WITH GOVERNMENT CODE SECTIONS 36934 AND 36937

On October 13, 2015, the City Council will consider the adoption of Ordinance No. 1367-U, an Urgency Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre, adding a new Chapter 15.38 ("Small Residential Rooftop Solar Systems") to the Sierra Madre Municipal Code. Chapter 15.38 creates an expedited, streamlined permitting process for a small residential rooftop solar photovoltaic energy system which is defined as a solar energy system no larger than "10 kilowatts alternating current nameplate rating or 30 kilowatts thermal." The expedited review process includes the applicant's ability to submit the application electronically and receive approval of a completed application within three business days, and inspection of the installed system scheduled within two business days of request for an inspection. The proposed ordinance complies with the requirements of the Solar Rights Act, as amended by AB 2188. The Ordinance is proposed to be approved as an urgency ordinance upon specified health and safety findings and a 4/5 vote pursuant to Government Code section 36937. This summary is published pursuant to Government Code Section 36933(c)(1) and a full and complete certified copy of the text of proposed Ordinance No. 1367-U is available at the Sierra Madre City Manager's Office located at City of Sierra Madre City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA.

All interested parties may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with respect thereto. If you have any questions, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at 626-355-7138 and ask to speak to Vincent Gonzalez, Planning Director.
