COUNCIL TO REQUEST PHASE II FROM SHERIFF FOR CONTRACTING OUT POLICE SERVICES

After receiving the recommendation not to contract out Police services to the LA Sheriff's Department from the Public Safety Ad Hoc Committee, the City Council decided to move forward with the second phase of the proposal

The committee, which was chaired by Former Mayor Glenn Lambdin met the day before with representatives of the Sheriff's Department and members of the community and submitted their findings to the council.

Speaker after speaker came to the podium on Tuesday in support of the Police Department with many offering to write checks on the spot to help raise the necessary funds to keep the department

The primary opposition to changing to the Sheriff's Department has been the LASD's 'lack of understanding of the culture of Sierra Madre and its' ability to adapt accordingly'. Other residents cited that the Sheriff's Department proposals would greatly diminish our law enforcement footprint and real dollar savings would not be realized until two - seven years after the contract goes into effect, depending on which option is chosen.

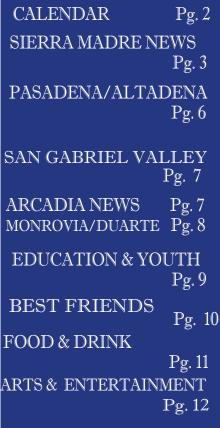

While the majority of those speaking at the podium were against contracting out in any form, there were a few who felt it was the fiscally responsible thing to do.

One of the issues that kept resurfacing was the fate of the Utility Users Tax that will go on the April ballot. If the measure passes and the rate increases to 10%, there will be sufficient revenue to sustain the department for the next several years. However, since there is the possibility that the measure may fail, the council unanimously felt that asking the Sheriff's Department to move on to Phase II would give the council an option should the UUT increase be denied by voters.

The cost associated with preparation of Phase II which ranges anywhere from $25,000-$50,000 and the council has requested more information on what the actual cost would be.

During the 4 hour meeting, the mood was quite civil although Former Mayor John Harabedian and Mayor Pro Tem Gene Goss both took issue with public comments that overlooked the fact that the city has reduced costs by almost $2 million in the last two years.

According to City Manager Elaine Aguilar, the Phase II proposal will take 3-6 months to prepare. S. Henderson/MVNews

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

"The worst thing about Halloween is, of course, candy corn. Candy corn is the only candy in the history of America that's never been advertised. And there's a reason. All of the candy corn that was ever made was made in 1911. And, since nobody actually eats that stuff, every year there's a ton of it left over." Lewis Black

All Hallows Eve at last is here, A deadly.... dreadly night..... When ghouls and ghosts and creepies, And other awful blights, Are free to roam and wander, Anywhere they might. And generate, originate Frightful things all night.

Creating scary terror everywhere they can, And scream inducing, faint-producing, hair-raising, bone-melting, Quivery, shivery... Ack! What's right there behind me... fright!

They creep out of their crypts and graves, These creatures of the night. They haunt the roads and byways, Run rampant through the park. They hide between the bushes, And everywhere it's dark.

All Hallows Eve at last is here, A deadly.... dreadly night..... When ghouls and ghosts and creepies, And other awful blights, Are free to roam and wander, Anywhere they might.

Up and down the streets of town, They race in search of plunder, These ghouls and ghosts and monsters, About three feet tall or under! They shriek for treats and threaten tricks, But are satisfied with candy. These creatures rule the darkness, As long as Mom and Dad are handy.

All Hallows Eve at last is here, A deadly.....dreadly night.... When ghouls and ghosts and monsters, And other awful sights, Go dancing through the shadows, Into circles of street lights.

Little Screams and Donald Trumps, Harry Potters by the score, Princesses and pirates, Ninja turtles, too, Trick or Treat, trick or treat, give me something good to Or I'll play a trick on you!

Hope you took time to look at all the creative art on our downtown windows and that you're planning to visit the Time Machine and take a few minutes to see Abbott and Consuelo Meet The Zombies at the Sierra Madre Playhouse on Halloween Saturday. May all your candy be calorie free! Happy Halloween!

ONE OF THE SCARIEST DAYS IS APPEARING THIS WEEKEND! NOW IS THE TIME TO BE HALLOWEEN SAFE!

Halloween is a fun and spooky time of year for you carry for lighting or glow sticks as part of their and your little ones. It can be a dangerous time as costumes. If your child is wearing a mask, make item to be ignited in an average of 860 reported home structure fires per year from 2009-2013? Nearly half of all decoration fires in homes are the result of decorations being too close to a heat source. Thirty-eight percent were started by candles and one-sixth began in the living room, family room or den.

You can make trick-or-treating safe with a few easy Halloween safety tips:

Trick-or-treating: Never trick-or-treat alone. Always go with a parent or another adult. Never go into anyone's home without the permission of your parent or the adult you are with. Only visit houses with their lights on. Walk on sidewalks and driveways. Make sure to cross the street at the corner or in a crosswalk. Be sure to inspect treats before allowing your children to eat them.

Costumes: When choosing a costume, stay away from billowing or long-trailing fabric. If you are making your own costume, choose material that won't easily ignite if it comes into contact with heat Visibility: Provide children with flashlights to website at www.fire.ca.gov.

Flammable decorations: Dried flowers, cornstalks and crepe paper are highly flammable. Keep these and other decorations well away from all open flames and heat sources, including light bulbs

Candles/jack-o-lanterns: It is safest to use a glow stick or battery-operated candle in a jack-o-lantern. If you use a real candle, use extreme caution. When lighting candles inside jack-o-lanterns, use long fireplace-style matches or a utility lighter. If you choose to use candle decorations, make sure to keep them well attended at all times. Do not leave them near flammable objects or where trick-or-treaters may walk. Make sure children are watched at all times when candles are lit.

Exits: Remember to keep exits clear of decorations, so nothing blocks escape routes.

REMEMBERING MR. MONROVIA-BOB BARTLETT: A MAN BIGGER THAN LIFE

By Joan Schmidt

In the late 80's, I met a remarkable man, Bob Bartlett. Living in the county area, I was disappointed he wasn't MY MAYOR! I had found him to be kind, helpful, and working tirelessly to improve his city,

Last Friday, my husband and I attended his beautiful Memorial Service. Bob belonged to Monrovia's Bethel AME (African-Methodist-Episcopal) Church but services were held at the larger United Methodist Church and it was packed! Of course, their awesome Pastor, Reverend Melanie Mays presided over services.

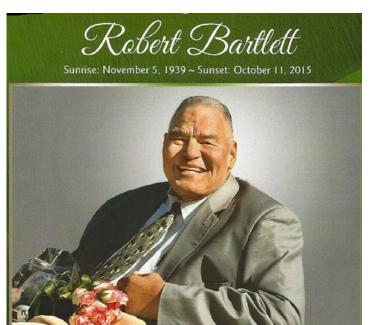

Family members Darrell Carr, Ray Barlett, Jr., Dana Car offered Prayers and read Scriptures followed by daughter Aria reading The Station. Stephanie Martin-Velez gave beautiful renditions of I Can Only Imagine and Somewhere Over the Rainbow. Former Duarte Mayor Lois Gaston read Acknowledgements, Condolences and Resolutions, followed by Community Remembrances by Supervisor Mike Antonovich, former Monrovia Councilmember/Mayor Pro Tem Lara Laramendi, and current Councilmember Larry Spicer.

Supervisor Antonovich told us the new Maintenance Yard will be renamed after Bob, and a plaque in his honor at the Station Square. Antonovich first met Bartlett at college. Years later, Antonovich noted that "when Bob saw community problems, he became involved and got his goals into action...Monrovia was recognized as an All-American City because of Bob Bartlett...he was a leader in the trucking business and knew public and private relationships are vital...I knew Bob's father and spoke at his funeral...Bob's father Ray was a classmate of Jackie Robinson...he did an incredible job... great role model."

Lara Laramendi thanked the Bartlett and Carr families for the honor of speaking at his service. She was "fortunate to have served in office with him...he was a mentor and really good friend...had political wisdom and got things done... I went to meetings to observe and learn his tactics, leadership skills... so many of us learned skills to get things done."

Larry Spicer also felt Bob Bartlett was his mentor and dear friend. 'We are better prepared to serve because of Bob...a successful native son, educated in public schools...elected to the City Council in 1974, appointed Mayor 1976-78. In 1988, Bob was the first elected African American Mayor serving until 2001... When first elected, the city was blighted with boarded-up buildings. He and his team turned the city around...including Huntington Oaks Shopping Center, a new community center, the high tech corridor on Huntington Drive and Monrovia receiving recognition as All-American City.'

Besides his work in Monrovia, Bob was President of the Southern grandchildren.

California Association of Governments...elected as the State President for the League of California Cities in 1988...served on the Board of Directors for the National League of Cities...chaired the Transportation Infrastructure Committee for that organization... played a major role in creating the Foothill Transportation Zone and the San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments... remained active as an alternate for Supervisor Mike Antonovich for the Metro link Authority...served as president on the Board of Directors for the Foothill Unity Center and was a member of the Governing Board for his Church.

There also was a loving tribute to Bob by his James Mitchell, his best friend since their meeting at Huntington School when they were just six years old!

Bob was preceded in death by his wife Katie Bartlett, mother Mary Carr, father Ray Bartlett, stepfather Russell Carr, brother Jeffrey Carr and nephew Justin Carr. He is survived by siblings, Ray Bartlett Jr., Russell Carr Jr., (Stephanie Simmons), Carolyn Carr (Rudolph Harris), Darrell Carr (Susan Toler); children Lorrie Bartlett (Michael Clayborn), Robert "Robbie" Bartlett (Diana Nichols), Thursday Bartlett (Tom Herdman), Robert ("Roby") Bartlett and Aria Bartlett, and five

CITY NEWS

As you may recall, in response to growing concerns regarding mansionization, neighborhood compatibility, and historic preservation, the City took a proactive approach nearly a year ago by adopting two moratoria on November 18, 2014. An overview of the moratoria adopted includes the following:

Demolition Moratorium Enacted To Address Historic Preservation

o Established via approval of Ordinance No. 2014-16U on November

18, 2014 o The regulation prohibits the demolition of any main structure built prior to 1940 in any residentially zoned property o Demolition is defined in the regulation as the removal or > alternation of the front 50% of the building

Construction Enacted Neighborhood

November 18, 2014

located in the RL and RE zones are limited to a single story utilizing existing development zoning code

Moving forward, unless extended by the City Council, the two moratoria are scheduled to expire on November 18, 2015. Based on our current progress in addressing historic preservation and neighborhood compatibility related concerns, staff plans on bringing a proposal to extend both moratoria for up to an additional year to City Council for consideration at our November 3, 2015 meeting.

By way of background, since approval of the moratoria nearly a year ago, staff has engaged in an extensive outreach process that involved the following components:

Development of a survey on the issues which solicited nearly 500 responses

Focus group meetings with the following organizations / groups o Realtors, Brokers, and Developers

o MAP Leaders

o General Meeting with the Public

o Workshop at MAP Conference

Individual meetings with every member of the Planning Commission and Historic Preservation Commission to discuss the perspectives that commissioners had regarding the topics at hand

The feedback that was obtained through the outreach efforts served as the basis for developing a recommended policy framework for addressing neighborhood compatibility and historic preservation issues here in Monrovia. That policy framework was reviewed and Moratorium adopted by the City Council on August 4, 2015. Subsequently, the Address Planning Commission (on September 9, 2015) and the Historic Compatibility Preservation Commission (on September 23, 2015) reviewed and provided additional feedback regarding next steps in implementing o Established via approval of the proposed regulatory changes to address historic preservation and Ordinance No. 2014-17U on neighborhood compatibility issues.

As we move forward, staff believes that the Construction Moratorium o New houses and additions to will be ready to be repealed by June 2016. At that time, zoning code existing single family dwellings and development standard adjustments to address neighborhood compatibility concerns should be fully developed and considered by the Planning Commission and the City Council. We have made good progress in developing those refinements to the zoning code standards in the City's current and are focused now on assessing development standard details in the Residential Foothill (RF), Residential Estate (RE), Residential Low (RL), Residential Medium (RM), and Residential High (RH) zones. In particular, the review processes are centered on addressing the following development issues related to neighborhood compatibility:

> House Size Bulk / Setback Standards Building Height Design Review Garages

The Demolition Moratorium addressing historic preservation concerns involves a more complex set of regulatory considerations and repeal of the measure is anticipated for November 2016. Of primary consideration will be a determination of the applicability of engaging and completing a historical resources survey and the related impacts that such a policy decision will have.

Many thanks to our outstanding Planning Division team for their hard work in managing these complex issues with professionalism and

AFTERSCHOOL PROGRAMS HELPING KIDS IMPROVE MATH AND SCIENCE SKILLS

(StatePoint) At a time when there's widespread concern that U.S. students are not prepared for a changing economy that relies on science, technology, engineering and math (STEM), many parents are sharing some good news about how afterschool programming is getting their children prepared in these crucial areas.

Parents of nearly seven in 10 children who participate in afterschool programming report that their child's program offers such learning opportunities, according to a new household survey commissioned by the Afterschool Alliance. The special report, "Full STEM Ahead: Afterschool Programs Step Up as Key Partners in STEM Education," found broad support among parents for providing STEM learning after school, and high satisfaction with these offerings among parents of children in programs that provide STEM education. Indeed, more than half of parents with children in afterschool programming say this was an important factor in choosing their child's program, the new report finds.

"Afterschool is a dynamic, effective setting for innovative STEM education," says Afterschool Alliance executive director Jodi Grant. "With their focus on hands-on learning and youth development, and the time they can give students to experiment, afterschool programs are well positioned to increase STEM skills in this country." Here are some key findings from the report, which is based on "America After 3PM," the most comprehensive survey ever to ask parents about their children's participation in afterschool STEM $\bullet \, A \, majority \, of \, parents \, say \, after school \, programs \, can$ not only help students gain STEM skills, but also that they should be offering STEM opportunities.

• Low-income, African-American and Hispanic parents are more likely than others to report that their child's afterschool program offers STEM learning and strongly support such opportunities. Most afterschool students have STEM learning opportunities at least once per week.

• Parents whose children learn STEM subjects in afterschool report that math is offered most often. STEM activities are offered more often in urban than in rural and suburban programs.

National and state results from that report are available at afterschoolalliance.org/AA3PM.

The report recommends engaging and educating parents about the important role afterschool programs can play in supporting STEM learning and increasing programming and investment.

"Afterschool programs can help teach the skills that will help the next generation thrive in the global workforce, particularly populations traditionally underrepresented in STEM, because girls attend these programs at similar rates as boys, and African-American and Hispanic children are more likely to participate in afterschool than Caucasian children," says Afterschool Alliance vice president for STEM policy Anita Krishnamurthi.

With one in five students in the United States unsupervised after the school day ends, challenges remain, experts say, and more afterschool programs that provide robust STEM education offerings are

THE REEL DEAL: by Ben Show STEVE JOBS REVIEW

While this film was one got some of the best reviews of the year, from both critics and audiences, I had no interest in seeing it. 'Jobs', starring Ashton Kutcher, came out only two years ago and I felt that, with all the publicity that Steve Jobs and his life story get, there was no reason for another film about his life, based on the book about his life, to be made.

Steve Jobs (Michael Fassbender) was both a genius and cruel. He saw computers as pieces of art and wanted to make sure that everyone saw them that way. At the launch of the Macintosh, in 1984, Jobs felt at the top of his game. When the NeXT came out in 1988, the illustrious ex-CEO of Apple was secretly planning to get back into the company he created. Finally, in 1998, when the iMac launched, his inner demons catch up to him and force him to change.

'Steve Jobs' is one of those strange movies that makes something that you would think is very boring (tech people talking with tech jargon about tech things) and makes it utterly transfixing. Fassbender's performance as the titular character could easily win him an Oscar nomination. Winslet, Rogen, and Daniels could all easily get nominations as well, and hopefully this film will be remembered as one of the best biographical films ever made.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND?

For several months I have been complaining (bless my husband's heart) about there being more mosquitoes around than usual and more often than not, I believe my complaints fell on deaf ears because it is a somewhat of an inside joke that my body doubles as a bug's buffet! No matter where I am or what I am up to, for whatever reason I attract more blood-thirsty stingers and biters than most people I keep company with.

frequently favored by biting insects than the other 80% and numerous conditions are factored into the equation as to why. Genes, blood type, diet, alcohol intake and even clothing color are a few examples of the presumed common traits found among the unfortunate 20%. And because there are many potential exceptions to the list of common traits found in the vector victim category, making a scientifically factual determination is no easy task.

So, understandably, there are conflicting opinions as to what makes one person a more likely snack to a vicious vector than another. A July, 2013 article published by Smithsonian.com reported, "One study found that in a controlled setting, mosquitoes landed on people with Type O blood nearly twice as often as those with Type A. People with Type B blood fell somewhere in the middle of this itchy spectrum. Additionally, based on other genes, about 85% of people secrete a chemical signal through their skin that indicates which blood type they have, while 15% do not, and mosquitoes are also more attracted to secretors than non-secretors regardless of which type they are." While reading that report I couldn't help wondering how long they made those poor subjects sit and be bitten before they finally blew the horn for lunch!

Other on-line articles reported vector attraction factors such as the amount of lactic acid, uric acid or octenol present in a given individual's sweat. Further readings rendered research results such as females, particularly pregnant ones and heavy, sweaty fat men as being more likely victims to the blood suckers than others in the research pool.

more mosquitoes in our area during recent months. At first I assumed it was just my imagination. I thought perhaps I was being hypersensitive to the presence of an average mosquito population, and therefore it seemed like more than usual. That was until I read an article in last Sunday's issue of the LA Times. It was featured on the front page of the California Section, titled Menacing

Apparently we have been invaded by more than a few new vectors here in the San Gabriel Valley and throughout the LA basin. It all started when a shipment of bamboo from southeast Asia was delivered to it's El Monte destination back in 2011. Initially, for obvious reasons the infestation remained somewhat confined to the valley. But it wasn't long before those little buggers had a chance to breed enough to take over the foothills and ultimately the entire southland.

There are reportedly three types of new off-shore According to recent research studies, an mosquitoes involved in the relatively recent invasion estimated 20% of people are known to be far more caused by the imported bamboo shipment. They're smaller than the mosquitoes we are used to in these parts, and they apparently like to do their blood sucking during the light of day, as opposed to at night like their common counterparts. Imagine my elation when I read that now we get to experience that lovely buzzing and subsequent sting & itch, 24-7! If it makes my equally tasty friends feel any better, I find that they don't fly as fast, so they're

> The mass numbers of inadvertently invited vectors flying about in our community most recently is, for the most part, due to the ongoing drought and recent heat wave we've been experiencing. Mosquitoes love to nest in warm stagnant water, so it's a no-brainer (even for me) to deduce that our current over-the-top infestation is mainly due to the fact that they have been doing just that for many months.

> I have to admit, it did my heart good to learn that there really are more vampirish vectors now found in our local great outdoors, because my ego just loves the opportunity to say, "I told you so!" However, in this case I think I would have been content with finding out I was wrong rather than having to contend with so many itty bitty biting

Clearly, there are repellent products available for sniveling mosquito-attracters such as myself, but unfortunately these vectors are really good at becoming immune to the comparatively weak and wimpy skin washes we use. I certainly don't want to add fuel to the fire by helping those little buggers get stronger in their attack, so rather than slathering Regardless of the reasons why some of us attract on the bug sauce I am resolved to keeping myself vectors more than others, I am betting most folks in motion while I am out and about, which actually

I AM READY FOR PINOT!!

We don't often visit the same winery (no need to as there are plenty of wines to write about, that is for sure!), but recently I learned that one of my all time favorite pinot's changed ownership. That's usually not a big deal, unless they are going to change locations, which never happens at wineries

Fall is in the air, and therefore it is always a good time to discover pinot noir. The Meiomi Pinot Noir 2012 is the quintessential pinot noir. During my "nose test", I immediately noticed a good, spicy scent of alcohol. You may want to allow the wine to get some air for several minutes to avoid this effect. Sipping the Meiomi Pinot Noir, I noticed flavors of multiple bright berries. This lighter and brighter flavor contrasted well with the heavy appearance and milky mouth feel. Additionally, I noticed an initial chaos of complexity in the first taste. Things settled down a bit after the wine had a chance to breathe, releasing alluring aromas of fresh vanilla and a hint of raspberry, and, for you "oaky" lovers a small hint of that, too. This wine is a true find, and I like it! It has a big taste for a pinot - not too complex, with a great finish. All in all, I found it very enjoyable.

Meiomi (may-oh-mee) is a native Wappo and Yuki tribes word meaning "coast". As you wine lovers may know, pinot noir grapes can be a little tricky. They must have the right climate and the right soil. Originally hailing from Burgundy, it now prospers in Sonoma County, Mendocino, and Santa Barbara County. It's a perfect wine for football season.

Retails around $25; on sale $19, wide distribution throughout So Cal

For something a little easier on the pocket book a good entry-level pinot is the Mark West - for almost half the price it is drinkable and user friendly.

Dills Score: 90

beautiful record, "Sleepwalker." The first single is "Porch," a gorgeously glimmering piece of work. Bear's warm vocals slip into the listener's soul as with peaceful guitars and Bear's wispy vocals are simply delightful. The delicate framework of the song is refreshing and emotionally stirring. Sleepwalker offers a lot of emotive tunes, but "Porch" is single handedly a standout not only for Long Beard, but for 2015 entirely.

Panama Wedding - "Infinite High" - Panama Wedding's sophomore EP, "Into Focus," drops November 6 via Glassnote Records. Last year, Panama Wedding had one huge Internet buzz track called "All of the People." It was infectious as hell with sugary choruses and a big sound. Meanwhile, our first glimpse into the 2015 EP comes in the form has huge hooks and catchy lyrics. It's another fun distressing vocals, and layered guitars join forces jam from a band with a penchant for summertime tunes. While the song provides a '80s-tinged sonic, luminous melodies, and edge-of-darkness lyrics, "Infinite High" suffices those looking for pop sensibilities with meaningful words. It's looking like into the mainstream world.

Long Beard – "Porch" - Long Beard is Leslie Bear, St. Lucia – "Dancing on Glass" - St. Lucia's been a singer-songwriter from New Brunswick, New mostly been silent since releasing their debut Jersey. Her band just debuted their painstakingly album, "When the Night," two years ago. However, the Brooklyn-based, South African synth-pop outfit is surging back with an enraptured new track, "Dancing on Glass." The song boasts she sings melancholy lyrics. The track meanders a compelling hook and a blissful, yet weary vocals, and live-in-the-moment lyrics. The indie powerhouse electronic cut leans on a '80s-inspired sound with catchy synth-pop beats that make you want to — go figure — dance. No word on a sophomore LP for 2016, but if this is any preview of what's to come, St. Lucia may be having a superior 2016 just waiting for them.

Foxing – "The Magdalene" – This single from St. Louis outfit is breathtakingly beautiful. An immense and resplendent tune, relatively unknown indie act Foxing may just have something special for us in the form of their sophomore LP, "Dealer" out on October 30th of "Infinite High." The shimmering pop-rock song via Triple Crown Records. The lush textures, equating into one spectacular cut. Lead singer Connor Murphy's vocals unfold melodically wavering between soft undertones then exploding into harsher sounds. Nonetheless, this epic four-minute keeps building and building this EP could in fact put Panama Wedding further and the beauty that evolves is striking. Foxing is a band to watch heading into 2016.

yoga practice always about establishing and re-establishing the mind-body connection. The connection is so deep, so continuous and completely interdependent. All of our experiences--birth until present moment-- are held, absorbed and "seated" in the body, down to the cellular level. Think of the amount of experiences that take place between the hips, for example. Creation of life happens here, emotions are held here. Our backs often carry our burdens, hence the pain in the lower back. Our lungs and breath are affected when we're anxious, scared or repressing our feelings. Sickness can evolve when our feelings haven't been expressed fully or in a healthy way. You can imagine that the way we think affects our body, and our body affects the way

In our practice, we want to cultivate what's called, Adhikara, or a sensitivity to our awareness of the subtle body. It also means being "spiritually ready" for self-study. We peer back to the observer point of view, just noticing what's easy or hard. What's the condition of the breath? Does the mind want to check out? What's our reaction to what's taking place?

Practicing this awareness and deepening our sensitivity to what's going on internally and with the physical body can help us off the mat. We may notice the same resistance in other situations. ## THE GOOD LIFE

UNDERSTANDING REVERSE MORTGAGES: BEWARE OF MISLEADING ADS

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you give us a rundown of how reverse mortgages work? I've see actors Fred Thompson and Henry Winkler pitching them on TV, and they sound like a good deal. What can you tell me?

Need the Money

Dear Need,

When it comes to celebrity spokespeople pitching reverse mortgages on TV, don't believe everything you hear. Many of these ads are misleading and don't always give you the whole story. In fact, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau recently issued a warning to seniors to watch out for these deceptive advertisements. With that said, here's the estimate how much you can borrow, use the reverse lowdown on reverse mortgages.

The Basics

A reverse mortgage is a unique type of loan that allows older homeowners to borrow money against the equity in their house that doesn't have to be repaid until the homeowner dies, sells the house or moves out for at least 12 months. At that point, you or your heirs will have to pay back the loan plus accrued interest and fees, but you will never owe more than the value of the house.

It's also important to understand that with a reverse mortgage, you, not the bank, own the house, so you're still required to pay your property taxes and homeowners insurance. Not paying them can result in foreclosure.

To be eligible, you must be at least 62 years old, own your own home (or owe only a small balance) and currently be living there.

You will also need to undergo a financial assessment to determine whether you can afford to continue paying your property taxes and insurance. Depending on your financial situation, you may be required to put part of your loan into an escrow account to pay future bills. If the financial assessment finds that you cannot pay your insurance and taxes and have enough cash left to live on, you'll be denied.

Around 95 percent of all reverse mortgages offered call 800-569-4287. today are Home Equity Conversion Mortgages (HECM), which are FHA insured and offered through cannot exceed $625,500.

How much you can actually get through a reverse mortgage depends on your age, your home's value and the prevailing interest rates. Generally, the older you are, the more your house is worth, and the lower the interest rates are, the more you can borrow. A 70-yearold, for example, with a home worth $250,000 could borrow around $136,000 with a fixed-rate HECM. To mortgage calculator at reversemortgage.org.

You also need to know that reverse mortgages are expensive with a number of fees, including: a 2 percent lender origination fee for the first $200,000 of the home's value and 1 percent of the remaining value, with a cap of $6,000; a 0.5 percent upfront mortgage insurance premium (MIP) fee, plus an annual MIP fee that's equal to 1.25 percent of the outstanding loan balance; along with an appraisal fee, closing costs and other miscellaneous expenses. Most fees can be deducted for the loan amount to reduce your out-ofpocket cost at closing.

To receive your money, you can opt for a lump sum, a line of credit, regular monthly checks or a combination of these. But in most cases, you cannot withdraw more than 60 percent of the loan during the first year. If you do, your upfront MIP fee will be bumped up to 2.5 percent.

Get Educated

To learn more, read the National Council on Aging's online booklet "Use Your Home to Stay at Home," which you can download at homeequityadvisor.org.

Also note that because reverse mortgages are complex loans, all borrowers are required to get face-to-face or telephone counseling through a HUD approved independent counseling agency before taking one out. Most agencies charge around $125 to $250. To locate one near you, visit go.usa.gov/v2H, or

APPLE MONTH!

Happy Apple Month! No, I'm not talking about your iPad, iPhone, or any other device you can't live without. I'm talking about the apples that you eat, the apples that adorn kitchen counters in "Crate & Barrel" catalogs, and the ultra shiny red apples kids across the nation toss into with their cafeteria lunch.

the trash each day with their cafeteria lunch. I can understand that most kids aren't naturally inclined to bite into an apple, when there are pizzas, burgers, corn dogs, and tater tots to be had. Also, something about the skin on those school lunch apples make them seem overly tough and impenetrable. It's as if the apples expected to be tough and impenetrable. It s as if the apples expected to be thrown out, and were preparing for impact.

Somewhere, however, far from the grocery aisles, school lunches, and Starbuck's counters are apples that actually taste good! (Honestly, what's the turn around time for fruit at a place like Starbucks? You know people are there for the blueberry scones, triple chocolate brownies, and whatever other fatty pastries they pass off as "breakfast items.") Yes, there is a place where apples taste like apples!

Although I've lived in Southern California all my life, I'd never been to Oak Glen before. My parents and I didn't know what to expect when we went there for the first time last week. So, when the narrow road became lined with parked cars, we figured we might as well leave the car and walk from that point.

We continued uphill past little tents offering handmade soap, sage sachets, and raw honey. There were also burly men handing out baskets to young kids so they could pick apples with their families. We admired the lovely trees and wondered when we'd start seeing actual apples. Then it dawned on us that these were apple trees, but all the apples, save for the ones at the tippy-top had already been plucked.

Well, that stinks. If that was all there was to Oak Glen, we would've been sorely disappointed. But I recalled their website featured stores (more substantial than tents), and at least two or three restaurants. We backtracked to the car and drove on.

At last we found "the village" and were lucky enough to snag a spot near the shops and restaurants. Then it was time to find a place to eat. All the restaurants seemed equally crowded, so we put our names in at the closest cafe and settled in for a long, long wait. My Dad held our place while my Mom and I explored Law's apple stand. Sampling apples at Law's was sort of like wine tasting.

There were many "exotic" varieties we never tasted before, like Arkansas Black, Spartan, and Mutsu. The men behind the counter described each of them, cutting slices for us to try. I almost expected them to say, "Here's a full-bodied red with a smooth mouth feel and complex finish." Like wine tasting, it was a little difficult to recall the differences after we'd sampled about six different apples. When you don't remember your favorite four out of six apples, you don't remember your favorite four out of six apples, you might as well buy all six types just to cover your bases. After all, apple season comes only once a year!

After an hour and a half of apple tasting and poking around in different shops, we were seated for lunch. By that time we had already memorized what we wanted, and then sat for another 45 minutes until the food arrived. Any other time, I might've been a bit annoyed at the slow service. But this place was PACKED! These little cafes get swamped for one month in the fall, and probably starve for business the rest of the year. Anyway, I think the food tasted all the better after waiting for it so long.

We were about to leave when we spotted a sign for Peddler's Pack, specializing in alpaca yarns and unique gifts. My Mom is a fiber nut (as in textiles, not dietary fiber). How could we pass up the opportunity to see alpacas? We followed the signs to an enclosure with about a dozen docile, big-eyed alpacas. "Aw! So cute!"

Peddler's Pack had lovely handmade clothing and jewelry, but my Mom decided on a bag of very soft wool. The proprietress told us that the particular bag my Mom chose was most likely from a single alpaca, whereas the other bags were composites of several different animals' hair. Always the sentimentalist, my Mom asked if the owner knew which alpaca her wool was from. She fingered the "roving," inspected its color, and then said it was either from Quid or Stan.

"Quid or Stan!" my Mom said, "How nice! Are they outside?" I wondered if the lady would break into a fit of laughter at the lengths to which my Mom was taking this. But she just replied, "Yes, they're both out there." Before leaving, we looked again at the alpacas and speculated as to which ones might be Stan and Quid. Driving home, we could now say that we've been to Oak Glen, tasted apples we'd never heard of before, and bought some lovely alpaca roving. Whether it was from Stan, Quid, or a little of both, it all made for a great time!

NASA TRACKS THE "GREAT PUMPKIN:"A HALLOWEEN ASTEROID CLOSE FLYBY

NASA scientists are tracking the upcoming Halloween flyby of a steroid 2015 TB145 with several optical observatories and the radar capabilities of the agency's Deep Space Network at Goldstone, California. The asteroid will fly past Earth at a safe distance slightly farther than the Moon's orbit on Oct. 31 at 10:05 a.m. PDT. Scientists are treating the flyby of the estimated 1,300-foot-wide asteroid as a science target of opportunity, allowing instruments on "spacecraft Earth" to scan it during the close pass.

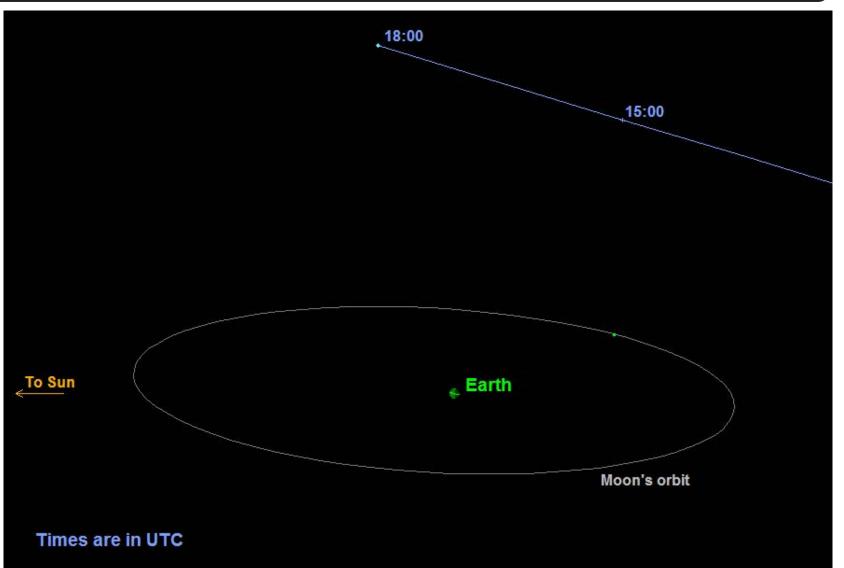

Asteroid 2015 TB145 was discovered on Oct. 10, 2015, by the University of Hawaii's Pan-STARRS-1 (Panoramic Survey Telescope and Rapid Response System) on Haleakala, Maui, part of the NASAfunded Near-Earth Object Observation (NEOO)

'The trajectory of 2015 TB145 is well understood," said Paul Chodas, manager of the Center for Near Earth Object Studies at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, California. "At the point of closest approach, it will be no closer than about 300,000 miles—1.3 lunar distances. Even though that is relatively close by celestial standards, it is expected to be fairly faint, so nightsky Earth observers would need at least a small telescope to view it."

The Center for NEO Studies at JPL is a central node for NEO data analysis in NASA's Near-Earth Object Observation Program and a key group involved with the international collaboration of astronomers and scientists who keep watch on the sky with their telescopes, looking for asteroids that could be a hazard to impact our planet and predicting their paths through space for the foreseeable future.

"The close approach of 2015 TB145 at about 1.3 times the distance of the Moon's orbit, coupled with its size, suggests it will be one of the best asteroids for radar imaging we'll see for several years," said Lance Benner, of JPL, who leads NASA's asteroid radar research program. "We plan to test a new capability to obtain radar images with two-meter resolution for the first time and hope to see unprecedented levels of detail."

During tracking, scientists will use the 110foot DSS 13 antenna at Goldstone to bounce radio waves off the asteroid. Radar echoes will in turn be collected by the National Radio Astronomy inclination to below the plane of the solar system,"

SOME HISTORY OF HALLOWE'EN

[Nyerges is the author of Extreme Simplicity, How To Survive Anywhere, and Guide to Wild Foods. He has led outdoor field trips since 1974. He can be reached at Box

41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041, or www.ChristopherNyerges.

Last week I shared how "fear" is often a key aspect to the Hallowe'en event that we all participate in every year. But how did all this get started? It turns out that the modern Hallowe'en commemoration is a smorgasborg of symbols, very much like the Christmas holiday takes bits and pieces from all over the world from different eras. The origins of this day go back to the ancient Celts, at least 2000 years ago, to the people who eventually settled in Ireland and northern France. They divided their year into four equal parts, which were the equinoxes and solstices, for which they had special feasts. They also had special days which were more-or-less the half-way point between the equinoxes and solstices.

One of these half-way points was the feast of Samhain, pronounced "sow-wen." Samhain literally translates as summer's end." This half-way feast, celebrated anywhere between October 31 and November 6, marked the end of summer, the harvest, and the beginning of the dark dreary winter. Samhain was regarded as their New Year, when the dark half of the year was beginning. It was during this time that people believed that ghosts and/or spirits were returning to the earth, and could be more readily contacted by the Druids, which were the Celtic priests and priestesses.

People built big bonfires where animal sacrifices were ourned (the origin of "bon-fire" was "bone-fire," since Day of the Dead the bones of the animals would burn up too). Costumes would be worn, and according to historians, these were mostly animal heads and skins. A big part of the feast was to try and tell the future, such as would you get married, or how would your crop do this year. The ghosts and spirits were not feared, but were summoned in order to earn the unknowable.

In the first century, by at least 43 A.D., the Romans had conquered the Celtic territories, and perhaps tactfully used that political influence to combine two Roman festivals into the existing Samhain festivals. Feralia was a day in late October when the Romans commemorated the dead, and this was combined into the Samhain commemoration. They also rolled the commemoration of Pomona, the goddess of fruits and trees, into the Samhain event. That's probably the origin of the "bobbing for apples" on Hallowe'en.

Then, on May 13, 609 A.D., Pope Boniface IV established All Martyrs Day on May13 to honor the saints and martyrs of the church. About a hundred years later, Pope Gregory III moved the May 13 observance more about remembering and honoring the dead, and to November 1, today called All Saints Day, which they hoped would blend with the existing Celtic rites already being commemorated on that day. By the year 1000, the church created All Soul's Day for November 2, to honor all the dead.

The All Saints Day holyday was called All-hallows, and the night before it began to be called All-hallows Eve, which is where we get Hallowe'en. And that's just the 25 cent version!

In medieval Britain, the day would be observed by going door to door with a hollowed turnip which had a candle in it. The turnip was said to represent a soul who was trapped in purgatory, and you could make a prayer for the deceased by giving food to the turnip-carrier. Others believed that such turnips actually warded way evil spirits. The pumpkin was a strictly American nnovation, since pumpkins were common here and were easily carved out.

This, of course, is how the "trick or treating" began. It this paper.

has, of course, evolved and devolved in many directions. Witches on broom sticks, black cats, candles, cauldrons, and the like have become the popular symbols of this day, each of which has a full back story which we don't have space for now. Some of it is not suitable for a family

In Mexico, back before the Spanish conquest, Day of the Dead has long been observed as a day when family and friends gather to remember and pray for those who have died, and to give them moral support on their spiritual

In its origin, historians can trace this event back to an Aztec festival to the goddess Mictecacihuatl. Prior to the 16th century, this commemoration of the dead was scheduled in the beginning of the summer. It was moved to October 31 through November 2 during the reign of the Catholic church so that it would coincide with the Catholic three days of All Saint's Eve, All Saints' Day, and All Souls' Day. Though people mostly in the southern parts of Mexico commemorated this day, it has now been declared a public holiday by the Mexican government.

The Day of the Dead is commemorated with private altars (you can see them at the square at Olvera Street in downtown Los Angeles), sugar skulls, marigolds, the favorite foods of the departed, and face painting. Unlike the fear-focus of Hallowe'en, the Day of the Dead seems wishing them well.

It's noteworthy that most cultures in the world have their commemoration of the dead, in various forms. The Buddhist Bon festival is one example, as are many worldwide examples with many variations from Europe, China, Japan, Phillipines, Australia, Nepal, Indonesia,

With such a rich holiday, it's a shame that so many of us have turned it into silly costumes and fear-invoking zombies. Members of the Wiccan religion gather and conduct a ceremony in a circle, giving respect to the powers of the universe and each other, and then sharing a meal. Yes, there are always many ways to commemorate any holiday. If you don't like the way that our popular culture goes through its routines, then step out of the routine and try a more meaningful and enlightened way, the best you are able.

"SAY IT AIN'T SO, DEAR"

with my relatives, it sometimes is not even a thing.

Take Auntie, for instance. She wore such big hats, especially on Sunday, that if a breeze came by she would fly far away. Why she likes these hats, I don't know. Maybe it's because her relatives are not honest with her.

Question: do I want to make her angry or sad? I think the rest of the family felt the same way. To tell the truth, it is a hard thing to do in this instance, her hats are terrible. Where she gets them, nobody really knows. Rumor has it she made those hats in her craft room in the back of her house.

I don't know, I stay out of that room as much as

"Isn't my hat divine," she would bustle.

I do not have the heart to tell her how awful that hat is and how silly it makes her look. Therefore, I cave in to relative dishonesty, "That hat makes you look wonderful, Auntie," I rejoin

At times, I feel a little guilty about this. Is it really lying when you do not want to hurt someone's feelings? Like when your wife says, "Does this dress make me look fat?" The husband who will answer that question truthfully will pay for it the rest of his married life.

I try to be as honest as I possibly can. I do not like dishonesty or people who tell lies. Who do you think I am, a politician?

As I think of it, maybe these politicians are looking at me as if I was Auntie and not wanting to hurt my feelings. All I can say is, I have no feelings for any of these politicians so just tell me the truth.

I can well remember back in the good old days &the old family picnics, when all the relatives would get together on a Saturday for a picnic. What a good time that was the end what good memories I have today.

At these family picnics was good old Uncle Fred, who had more stories to tell than any man could actually live. If he started one of his fishing stories that was the end of the day.

I am not sure if old Uncle Fred was consciously lying or if he was dreaming out loud. That is a distinct possibility. Maybe when he was talking about his fishing days they were really dreams he had about going fishing. I can certainly understand that.

my life, but the difference is, I do not tell anybody about my dreams. Some of them are just too spooky.

Honesty is a relative thing and relatively scarce thing in our family.

At the end of one of Uncle Fred's stories I just want to look at him and say, "Tell me it ain't so, Uncle

Then, it might hurt his feelings and he may never entertain us again with one of his dreamy stories. Is that really worth being honest with him?

Both Auntie and Uncle Fred are long gone. The "How do you like my hat," she would inquire. only thing I have are memories of the stories they told. You know it's kind of tempting to me? Retelling their stories as though they were my stories.

Now that I think about it, perhaps that is what Uncle Fred was doing. Perhaps when he was younger he heard one of his uncles tell some fishing stories and somehow through the mystery of life they became his stories.

In reflecting on both of these relatives, I am so glad that I was not so pompous as to catch them in some wee bit of dishonesty. They meant well, I am sure. They felt part of the family because Auntie loved to show off her hat and Uncle Fred loved to show off his

We do not have big hats anymore for ladies, which Auntie would kinda feel out of place. And with all the emailing and texting and technology today, nobody has time to listen to Uncle Fred's stories.

Man I miss those days. Those days before social media took over and made us all strangers.

I still have my memories, and I am wondering how I can pass them on to my children and grandchildren. If only they could have met those relatives of mine and heard those stories there would be a little bit of joy in their heart that nothing else can create.

Occasionally I think of Auntie and Uncle Fred and for some reason a smile dances across my face. I want to bring joy to my family and when they think of me long after I am gone, a smile will dance across their

The apostle Paul had the right attitude when he said, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Philippians 4:8).

I discovered that what a person thinks about reveals a lot about who they really are.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I attended the Sierra Madre Sheriff Proposal Review Committee meeting on Monday, October 26, 2015, at the City Council Chambers. The purpose of the Committee was to review the Sheriff's three proposals to contract with the City of Sierra Madre in order to replace the existing Sierra Madre Police Department. This is mainly due to the financial situation the City of Sierra Madre faces. The Sheriff's Department personnel from the Contract Cities Division were in attendance along with their Chief and the Captain from Temple Station. The Sheriff's Department personnel answered many questions as well as they could in a professional and courteous manner unlike some citizens of this City. I was embarrassed and disgusted with some citizens' questions and non-questions that were posed. There were a few citizens of this fine City who should be ashamed how they treated the Sheriff's Department personnel. One person who introduced herself as a doctor was absolutely rude and disrespectful. She appeared to be a person who couldn't care less about how people feel and are treated. She was a disgrace to this City. There was another person who never asked a question but went on and on bringing up ancient history and about how disgusted he was regarding how the Sheriff's Department was corrupt and about things that happened over 20 to 30 years ago.

Some other people complained about response time and that the Sheriff could not respond as quickly as our current police department personnel can because they know the area. I wonder if these people thought about when a new police officer comes to Sierra Madre if THEY know the area also? Then there was a former Sheriff's Volunteer who not only embarrassed himself by the way he disrespected the Lieutenant at the meeting, but he could not present any factual evidence on what he brought up.

Thank goodness there were some rational citizens who asked rational questions such as two long time resident real estate agents. They presented their positions and questions in a very professional manner. There were other people who were courteous and asked questions or made statements in a very respectful manner.

Whether you are in favor of keeping the Sierra Madre Police Department or contracting with the Sheriff, they should have been treated with respect, just as you would want to be treated with respect.

Pat Holland, Sierra Madre

HOWARD Hays As I See It

e-mails the

. . now remember, these attacks were exactly ten lying." years to the day of the bombings."

- Eric Bolling of "The Five" on Fox News, commenting on the House Select Committee hearing on Benghazi

To those paying attention, the above quotes might seem a bit off. The first one, taken alone, could be dismissed as an on-camera flub. But with the second, it's clear Eric Bolling, prominent voice in his network's Benghazi coverage, didn't know when the key event took place. Our Benghazi compound was attacked on September 11, down. Actually, the "initial World Trade Center bombings" occurred in 1993; on 9/11/2001 the killed. towers were brought down by planes flying into

Bolling has had problems with chronology before. In May 2014, again on "The Five", he interjected; "Don't forget that (Benghazi) was prior to Osama bin Laden being taken down, and Obama going into the reelection soft on terror or not?" Co-host Dana Perino then reminded that bin Laden was, in fact, killed some time before (May 2, 2011), adding, "A great point, if it were true". (Stephen Colbert later suggested "a fantastic new motto: 'Fox News: Fair and Balanced. A Great Point If It Were True.")

Chronologies weren't the only thing Republicans and their supporters had a hard time with over the past several days. One was grappling with anything more complicated than either/or". That planned terrorist action and rage over an anti-Islam video might both be factors in the same incident is, as the L.A. Times' Michael McGough put it, "a seemingly simple concept Republicans still can't wrap their heads around." Nor could they wrap their heads around the fact that conclusions are based on available information. According to the NY Times, Benghazi attack told them it was in "retaliation" for the video and "attackers did tell bystanders they were attacking the compound because they were angry about the video". The AP reported that "A Libyan Interior Ministry official says armed men have stormed the US consulate in speaking for himself, signed a letter calling for east Libya's Benghazi and set it ablaze after a protest against a video deemed insulting to Islam's prophet".

A year ago, the House Intelligence Committee found that "intelligence analysts and policymakers received a stream of piecemeal intelligence . . . Much of the early intelligence was conflicting, and two years later, intelligence gaps remain.'

As Hillary Clinton wrote in her book "Hard Choices", "Later investigation and reporting confirmed that the video was indeed a factor. All we knew at that time with complete certainty was most Americans as a sick joke. But that's another that Americans had been killed and others were still in danger."

Jeb Lund in Rolling Stone analogized that (Egyptian) prime minister "under the Republican committee members' . . . that is the day after the theory of knowledge, everyone who believed the sun revolved around the Earth before Copernicus wasn't unaware of astronomy -- they were just

A few hours before the Benghazi attack, our initial World Trade Center embassy in Cairo was breeched by demonstrators protesting the anti-Islam video. The next day, September 13, protestors stormed our embassy in Yemen. On the 14th it was our embassies in Chennai, southern India; Khartoum, Islamabad, and Tunis. Throughout the week, protests in Pakistan spread to Karachi, Lahore and Peshawar. All were in direct response to the video, as were dozens of other protests throughout Asia, Africa and Europe.

The Afghan Taliban claimed its September 14 attack on our base in Helmand province, in which two Marines were killed, was in response to the video. On September 21, an Egyptian 2012 - eleven years after the Twin Towers came militia group cited the video as its motive for a border attack in which an Israeli soldier was

> During this time, we're to believe Secretary Clinton was focused on conspiring with the White House, the CIA, and major news organizations to concoct a story on Benghazi to boost the president's reelection prospects.

These issues had been resolved in previous the thought was, the discussion was, 'Is President hearings and investigations. But no matter though such hearings usually last half as long with multiple witnesses, Republicans assumed keeping Clinton up there by herself for eleven hours would produce some sound bite they could use in future campaign ads.

Instead, the first major polling after her testimony showed Clinton's numbers skyrocketing in Iowa. The headline in Politico read, "Benghazi hearing floods Clinton campaign coffers with cash".

Republicans can't wrap their heads around the concept that if something doesn't work, it's time to try something else. So now they're planning still more hearings. There will be more on Planned Parenthood, after the one last month that even the National Review called "inept" and "a disgrace", with multiple investigations already having come up empty. Gearing up in another area, the House Science Committee (the "Koch Committee") witnesses said the alleged ringleader of the issued subpoenas demanding seven years' worth of documents (emails, reports, comments, notes, etc.) from scientists at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration - with a twoweek deadline to produce them. The outrage this time is over the fact one of the scientists, the fossil fuel industry to be held accountable for having intentionally misled the public on climate change. (The subpoenaed documents are already available on the internet, anyway.)

But these hearings and investigations don't mean they've given up on actually legislating. Two weeks ago, House Republicans introduced a bill called the "Hearing Protection Act of 2015". The bill's purpose – wait for it – is to remove restrictions on gun silencers.

With the bill unlikely to get very far, its titling, presumably by some NRA lobbyist, would strike reality Republicans simply wouldn't be able to wrap their heads around.

MICHAEL Reagan Making Sense

PRIMARY LOSERS

Donald Trump did not dominate the debate stage in his usual way.

Ben Carson may have put a few people to sleep. Former GOP heavyweight hopeful Jeb Bush was badly bloodied by the counter punches of Kid Rubio.

Mike Huckabee and Carly Fiorina were lost in the crowd and held scoreless all night.

John Kasich yelled too much and Rand Paul continued his slow disappearing act. But the biggest losers at CNBC's Republican debate Wednesday night — in an embarrassing landslide — were not running for president. They were CNBC and its three argumentative, biased and incompetent "first-string" moderators.

On Thursday morning the Drudge Report nailed it in four words when it put the headline "Shame of the Nation" under a photo of Becky Quick, Carl Quintanilla and John Harwood. The trio of alleged journalists and the entire debate was so pathetic

CNBC's corporate parent Comcast should quietly pull the plug on its failing business cable channel at midnight tonight, change its call letters and start showing infomercials for Snuggies 24/7.

No one would notice CNBC was gone for weeks.

Except for second-stringers Rick Santelli and Jim Cramer, the moderators' questions were often dumb and snarky, starting with the first doozy of the night by John Harwood.

He snidely listed some of Donald Trump's notorious campaign promises before asking, "Let's be honest. Is this a comic-book version of a presidential campaign?"

In addition to their bad and apparently often factually challenged questions, the moderators couldn't manage the flow of the debate or control

They often seemed more interested in enforcing time limits than asking follow-up questions. And they quickly jumped from one issue to another after hearing from only one or two candidates.

Making it even worse, they couldn't tell when the debate was actually producing real information about the candidates' plans for reforming Social Security or taxes. The liberal bias of CNBC's moderators was no surprise.

It was a micro-example of the political bias practiced by the mainstream national news media for the last 50 years.

Harwood's dislike of Republicans and conservatism was so obvious everyone on stage, in the audience and in living rooms across America could smell it.

Ted Cruz, Trump, Huckabee, Fiorina and Carson took advantage of the moderators' blatant leftward tilt. They racked up easy points by slamming and shaming them, CNBC and the mainstream liberal media in general.

The big co-winners of the night for the GOP were clearly Cruz and Chris Christie. They both never swung and missed and hit several home runs.

Rubio was close behind, thanks to how easily he wiped the floor with Jeb Bush after Jeb went after Marco for his poor attendance record in the

After Rubio came Trump and then the rest. The Donald did himself no harm by being a kinder, gentler candidate and being nice to all of his fellow Republicans except ex-Ohio Governor Kasich.

Like his co-winner Christie, Cruz had his best debate yet. If before you had trouble liking Cruz, after last night you had to love him. He earned his biggest cheers with a spontaneous rant criticizing the moderators for their gotcha questions and for trying to get the candidates to fight with each other while ignoring serious issues. CNBC set a new low for televised political debates incompetence and biased moderators. But at least it did one thing right Wednesday night.

It did for Republicans what they have not been able to do for themselves so far this primary season. It actually unified the Republican Party, on and off the stage.

HALLOWEEN WINDOW PAINTING CONTEST WINNERS

As you stroll through downtown Sierra Madre these days, you'll be treated to some very creative Halloween window decorations courtesy of the youthful artists who participated in the Halloween window painting contest sponsored and underwritten by the Sierra Madre Civic Club. Over two hundred eighty painters aged 9-17 formed groups to decorate eighty-six windows. Their artistry and creativity made our three judges work very hard to determine the contest winners.

Using cleanliness, creativity, Halloween theme, and use of color as criteria, the judges awarded the following groups winning certificates: 9 - 10 Year Olds 1st Place: Window 31 Chase Bank: Yvette Serrano.Tina Li, 2nd Place: Window 36 Hair Upstairs: Sadie Walkup, Carmel Randolph, 3rd Place: Window 19 Stone Tapert: Faith Keith, Madeline Miller, Mila Giradillas, Alexa Petersen, Honorable Mention: Window 4 Capelli Court Salon: Charlotte Bax, Haylie Difronzo

Congratulations to all the winners and our thanks to all the painters for helping us decorate Sierra Madre for Halloween. Although committee chair Margaret Switzer, her right-hand woman Pat Krok, and many members from the Sierra Madre Civic Club worked long hours organizing, preparing for, and hosting the contest, we needed community support to make the event successful. We'd like to thank the forty-three merchants who allowed us to use one or more of their windows and a special thanks to Beantown, Buccaneer Lounge, Foothill HomeCare, Foothill Tek, Lunch Salon, Mother Moo, Ruiz Shoe Shop, Sierra Madre Pizza, Spears Engineering, Subway, and Yogurt & More who also donated money to offset our costs for supplies and window washing. Students from Alverno, La Salle, and Sierra Madre Middle School donated a whole afternoon helping us tape the eighty-six window spaces to use and covering brick store fronts and window boxes with newspaper to protect them from drippy paint. Their attitude and helpfulness made a tough job a lot easier. And, of course, we appreciate the time and thought our two teams of judges put into determining our contest winners. So do enjoy our beautiful, scary, funny, cute, spooky, clever window decorations knowing that it indeed does take a village. The Sierra Madre Civic Club is a civic and philanthropic organization. We meet the second Thursday of every month at 7:30 PM in the Hart Park House. You are welcome to join us to find out the other fun ways we support special events in Sierra Madre and how we raise money to give back to the community.

City of Sierra Madre

From: Subject: Applicant: Project Location:

The City of Sierra Madre MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 15-03 (MCTA 15-03)

City of Sierra Madre Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

The City of Sierra Madre gives notice, pursuant to State of California law, that the City Council will conduct a public hearing to consider adoption of a text amendment to Chapter 17.22 of the Municipal Code to remove the minimum allowable floor area of second units, and reduce the maximum height of single-story detached second units. The amendment also adds a side yard setback requirement for the secondary frontage of reverse corner lots, removes the requirement that new second units are only allowed on those residential lots that conform with all existing residential zoning standards, adds the requirement of a conditional use permit for a new second story unit, and adds a health and safety inspection requirement for the conversion of existing structures to second units. The purpose of the proposed revisions is 1) to further an objective of the City's 2014-2021 Housing Element to encourage and facilitate the production of second units in order to meet the City's Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) allocation, and 2) to protect the health and welfare of the residents of Sierra Madre. At the meeting on October 1, 2015, the Planning Commission recommended approval of MCTA 15-03 pursuant to Planning Commission Resolution 15-13.

PLACE OF HEARING

City Council Chambers

City of Sierra Madre

DATE AND TIME OF HEARING

City Council meeting Tuesday, November 10, 2015

232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. (Hearing begins at 6:30 p.m.)

All interested persons may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with respect thereto.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION: An Initial Study was prepared for the 2008-2014 Housing Element in accordance with the City's guidelines implementing the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). This Initial Study was undertaken for the purpose of deciding whether the measures identified in the Housing Element to fulfill the City's RHNA allocation may have a significant effect on the environment. On the basis of the Initial Study, City staff concluded that they will not have a significant effect on the environment, and a Negative Declaration was adopted by City Council on June 11, 2013. The project also qualifies for a Statutory Exemption pursuant to Section 15061(b)(3), in that the City can say with certainty that there is no possibility that the activity in question may have a significant effect on the environment because adding the regulatory requirement of a conditional use permit in order to build a second story unit is not likely to result in additional construction beyond that already permissible.

APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing. For further information on this subject, please contact the Development Services Department at (626) 355-7138.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Frank James Licher IV in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Frank James Licher IV be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Nov. 19, 2015 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 67 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk
