HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO SIERRA MADRE'S AWARD WINNING SENIOR LIVING FACILITY

For years, the site of what is now known as 'The Kensington' was an eyesore in the middle of Sierra Madre. Once the home of a skilled nursing facility and a hospital, the building sat boarded up for years while the property owners tried to find a buyer that would come up with a use that was compatible with the ambience

Finally, after months of discussions and community meetings, the Kensington developers presented a plan that was overwhelmingly approved by voters (77% of those voting approving) and complying with the conditions of the city's downtown preservation ordinance, Measure V in 2012. Construction began in 2013 and the first residents moved into the facility in February,

As the physical impact of the new facility first anniversary, the announcement that The National Association of Home Builders awarded The Kensington Sierra Madre a silverlevel award at the International Builders' Show 2016 Best of 55+ Housing Awards in Las Vegas.

According to Tim McCarthy, chairman of NAHB's 55+ Housing Industry Council, "the judges saw [among the finalists] wonderful examples of ... innovative floor plans, universal design skillfully integrated into the home, communities with beautiful lifestyle amenities and homes located close to local shops, restaurants and parks."

The Kensington Sierra Madre was designed by architect HPI Architecture and interior designer Klang & Associates. photographs of the Kensington architectural and interior features can be viewed on The Kensington Sierra Madre's website photo gallery at www.thekensingtonsierramadre. # Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"It's not wanting to win that makes you a winner, it's refusing to fail." Peyton Manning

We'll see, Peyton, we'll see. It's Super Bowl Sunday and you're hosting a bunch of fun folks; you've cornered the market on Doritos, and asked somebody to bring veggies and dip, a salad, or some brownies. Or, better still, someone has invited you to join them for the last good game of the season...well, sometimes it's a good game and we all wait eagerly for the commercials... what will the Clydesdales be doing that will make us all reach for the tissues? What movie stars will be hocking cars? And, more importantly, what are you going to fix?

Guacamole? Get a bunch of avocadoes, some sour cream, some limes, some green onions and some fresh salsa and, if you're adventurous, the Tabasco. Smash up your avocadoes, squeeze in a bunch of lime juice (double purpose, #1, it needs the acid, #2, keeps the avocadoes from turning brown), add a couple of green onions sliced into small pieces, mix in some salsa then add a and pepper and a dash of Tabasco. Taste it again. Oh yeah! Refrigerate. People will love you.

Chicken Tortilla Casserole recipe:

it before you cook it and reheats and tastes even oven-proof bowl to make lots of layers or you can put it together in a large lasagna-type dish with just a couple of layers. No matter how you do it, this is a never- fail recipe.

4 whole chicken breasts (that's those double things 8 or 9 of 'em. (Or, better still, boneless, skinless chicken breast pieces, same amount, just don't overcook.)

12 corn tortillas

2 cans cream of chicken soup, condensed 1 can chili without beans (about a 15 oz. can) 1 small onion, chopped

1 cup green chili salsa (Ortega makes a nice one) or chunky taco sauce

Shredded Mexican-blend cheese, large package, which is 2-1/2 cups of cheese. If you really love cheese and aren't on a diet, you can throw in a little more!

Bake the chicken wrapped in foil for about an hour at 325. Let it cool. Cut into good sized chunks and set aside.

Tear or cut the tortillas into one inch pieces. Set

Now mix everything else together EXCEPT THE CHEESE. That's your sauce.

Layer chicken, tortillas, sauce and cheese in 3-quart bowl or casserole or the aforementioned 9 x 13 pan, ending with cheese.

Bake at 350 for 45 minutes or till the middle is bubbling.

If you've frozen your unbaked casserole, transfer it from the freezer to the refrigerator the night before you want to serve it. On Super Bowl Sunday, heat it a good two hours at 300.

Trust me on this, there won't be any left and the Super Bowl Halftime Show will be drowned out by happy people jostling each other to get to the table for seconds of YOUR amazing dish.

The rain last Sunday was such a joy to see and, spoonful or two of sour cream. Taste it. Needs salt knowing it really truly was going to rain, got myself outside and put citrus food on our orange and grapefruit trees, raked in at the drip line, so the As promised last week, here is my world famous rain could water it in really well. Also pruned back six of our roses, including removing every single This is one of those dishes that make people leaf from last year, which is supposed to help with want to hug and kiss you just because you made rose problems when they begin to leaf out again. it. It's easy to put together, will hold a day or two If you've cut back your roses, I hope you mixed till you have time to cook it, will let you freeze a ¼ cup of Epsom salts in around the base and then gave them some rose food. This is the year better several days later. You can make it in a large I'm hoping the spider mites will all go to Nebraska for the summer and leave my roses alone. I've got Neem oil at the ready and am prepared to spray mercilessly. Daffodils and Dutch Iris are putting up spikes and we will have beautiful blooms soon. (Pictured are some of last year's daffodils.)

If you haven't thought about Valentine's day that you cut in half) or you can use single pieces, yet, you need to get started. Have such a great love story to share next week.

Department responded to approximately 234 calls for service.

Wednesday, January 27th At 10:34 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 300 block of Sycamore Place regarding a domestic violence report. Upon arrival, Officers were met by the victim who informed them that earlier that night she confronted her husband about an ongoing issue in their marriage. The woman stated her husband was eating and doing a puzzle while she attempted to talk to him and as he continued to ignore her, she grabbed the puzzle and threw it to the floor. Her husband then responded by grabbing her by the shoulders and shaking her violently which caused her to lose her balance and fall back ultimately striking her head on the floor. The woman then got up and called 9-1-1. Upon interviewing the husband, Officers were informed that the man had been having a rough day and wanted to eat his dinner when his wife kept bothering him and when he chose to ignore her she threw both the puzzle and his food to the floor. He stood up, grabbed her by the shoulders and guided her back in an effort to have her leave him alone, but she lost her balance and fell back and hit her head. The man believed the fall was not that serious. Officers determined the husband was the main aggressor and took him into custody and charged him with domestic battery.

Friday, January 29th At 11:39 am, Sierra Madre

VILLAGE REALTY

During the week of Sunday, January 24th, to Police responded to the 200 block of Manzanita Sunday, January 31st, the Sierra Madre Police Avenue regarding a burglary report after a call into the station was made by the homeowner who stated one of her contractors working at the house discovered a smashed glass door. Once on scene, Officers cleared the home of anyone being inside and discovered the living room glass door smashed. The entire house had been ransacked with jewelry, clothing and other miscellaneous items scattered all over the home. Officers even noticed that all the furniture cushions had been displaced. Once the home owner arrived on scene, she informed Officers that she had locked and secured her home before she left for work at around 7 am. She stated she did not activate her alarm because the construction workers were going to be working at her house today and she then received a call around 11 am informing her of the broken glass door. This case has been forwarded to the Detective Bureau. At 2:06 pm, Sierra Madre Police responded to the 300 block of east Laurel Avenue regarding a vehicle collision where a semi-truck struck and pulled down some low hanging telephone wires. Once on scene, Officers were informed by the driver that he was driving west on Laurel Avenue at about 10 mph. He stated that he noticed a pedestrian walking in the street to the right of his truck and was focused on passing the pedestrian safely and did not see the low hanging wires. As he continued driving the top of his truck caught the wires and pulled them from the pole. Sierra Madre Fire Department cleared the wire from the roadway and confirmed that they were telephone or cable

COUNTY TO STUDY MARIJUANA PROCESSING BAN

LOS ANGELES COUNTY - Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich has directed county departments to enact a 45-day moratorium on the cultivation, manufacturing or laboratory testing of medical marijuana in the county unincorporated areas while the impacts of a ban can be studied.

While the County has banned the dispensing of medical marijuana from storefront locations through its zoning code, the use of land for the cultivation, manufacture and laboratory testing of medical marijuana is not specifically banned. The Board continued an item proposed by Antonovich which would have placed a similar moratorium on mobile sales and delivery of medical marijuana which has been associated with criminal activity.

SMALL BUSINESS OF THE YEAR -NOMINATIONS DUE FEB. 18, 2016

Assemblymember Chris Holden is seeking nominations to honor the 41st Assembly District "2016 Small Business of the Year." The San Gabriel Valley has over 69,000 small and medium sized businesses, and he looks forward to receiving nominations for the great businesses within the 41st Assembly District. Small businesses are doing great things for our economy and communities and submitting a nomination is a great way to share their contributions and successes.

"Medical marijuana activities involve issues that adversely impact the public and we have a fundamental obligation to protect the quality of life in our unincorporated neighborhoods and communities," Antonovich said. "For the County to make an informed determination whether to allow, regulate, or ban these activities, a study to determine the impacts of these activities on the County's unincorporated communities should be conducted."

Additionally, outdoor cultivation is often associated with violations of local, state, and federal environmental laws and pesticide regulations, threatening harm to local waterways and groundwater quality, and endangering the public health and safety.

COUNCIL VOTES TO RAISE MINIMUM WAGE

By Dean Lee

Over 50 people, including residents, businesses owners and dignitaries, voiced their opinions Monday night as the city council voted in favor of raising the minimum wage city wide through tiered increases that will raise the wage to over $13 an hour at its max in 2018.

"We've spent about three hours and 58 speakers on this, I think it's time well spent and the subject certainly deserves that kind of exposition," Pasadena Mayor Terry Tornek said.

Starting July 1 the hourly wage will go up to $10.50 and then July 1, 2017 the hourly wage will be $12.00 July 1, 2018 the hourly wage will max out at $13.25. In 2018 the city council will review the impacts and decide to vote to further raise the wage to $15

Many of the speakers focused on the impact wages have on low income families and the need for wage theft enforcement, calling on the city to hire a full time wage fraud investigator.

"You have to make sure that you put the resources there your mouth is," said Pablo Alvarado Director of the National Day Labor Organizing Network. increasing the minimum wage without creating the mechanism to enforce it makes a mockery, in my view, of the political process, makes a mockery of the legislative process, makes a mockery of this book, the labor code, and it makes a mockery of all of us that came here tonight, all the workers."

A number of councilmembers

also used strong language, in favor of an increase, including Tyron Hampton representing Council District 1.

"For this to pass without a wage enforcement piece, I feel like we would be creating a two tier system, sooner than later, if there are employers... that are not paying their employees the proper salary, with this wage increase, there will be war."

City Manager Michael Beck said that enforcement should be left up to the County of Los Angeles although stressed that there should be a local city office with the involvement of labor organizations.

The city Chamber of Commerce proposed alternatives to the staff recommendations something the council did not go for. The chamber has been the most vocal group against any wage increase.

"When you raise the minimum wage you raise the youth unemployment rate that is why we have asked that young people remain at the $10 [an hour] minimum wage. Same thing with people with serious barriers to employment, recently released felons, and formally homeless recovering

Little also said that raising the minimum wage will force restaurants to charge more so people will go less. He blamed the recent closing of the eatery Major Dave's Chicken on a raise in Minimum wage, "that's 12 or so people that now don't have a job."

The Pasadena ordnance is based after fifteen cities in California, including the city and the County of Los Angeles that have adopted minimum wage ordinances. Of these, eight will ultimately reach $15per hour by 2020 including the county according to city staff.

The city attorney was directed to prepare an ordinance and return it within 30 days staff

SIX VYING FOR ARCADIA COUNCIL SEATS

With the surprise lack of filing by two potential candidates by the extended deadline at 5 p.m. Jan. 20, there are now six candidates for two available seats on the Arcadia City Council.

Paul Cheng, a lawyer in Pasadena who made a big splash in the hotly-contested 2010 election, pulled the necessary papers last month to submit a bid but then last Friday, the original deadline for submitting signatures and other forms, posted on his Facebook page that he would not be running this year.

"I am writing this to let everyone know that I will not be running for Arcadia City Council," he wrote. Noting that "many pundits have said that I have an excellent chance to win," he said he determined that with his "growing law practice," he would be unable to dedicate himself to clients that "God has put before me" during the election cycle. He also confessed to being a "momma's boy" who needs to spend more time with his mother as she is "getting older."

Late last month a relative unknown in local politics or community activities, Alan Yee Phong Thian, also pulled papers from the City Clerk's office but did not file the completed paperwork.

Nonetheless, the campaign promises to be lively with three former Mayors in the race — Peter Amundson, Dr. Sheng Chang, and Bob Harbicht, along with April Verlato, who has made quite a name for herself in the past year challenging the City and the Council in many verbal and legal ways on the topic of mansion-ization. She has a law practice based in Downtown Arcadia and is President of the Arcadia Improvement Association.

Amundson and Harbicht have been sitting out a mandatory minimum two-year period since sitting on the Council for eight years (two consecutive four-year terms).

The other two candidates are Burton Brink and Paul Van Fleet, both of whom ran in the last election of 2014.

One of the two seats available would have been former Mayor Wuo's as an incumbent for his second consecutive term this time around after a prior eight-year stint. But Wuo's name became so entangled with a federal investigation and eventual criminal charges of fraud by the Securities and Exchange Commission against an Arcadia-based business called USFIA Inc. (US Fine Investment Arts) for operating a global pyramid scheme bilking $32 million from investors over the last 2 1/2 years, that Wuo resigned October 6. He has not been officially charged with any wrongdoing.

The other open seat belongs to Mayor Gary Kovacic, who is termed out after another coupling of two consecutive four-year terms.

Voters will submit votes only by mail again this year, with the first batch of ballots being mailed Monday, March 14, according to Lisa Mussenden, Elections Official, Chief Deputy City Clerk/Records Manager for the Arcadia City Attorney/City Clerk Office. Postage for resident mail ballots will be prepaid by the city and ballots must be postmarked April 12 and received in the City Clerk's office by April 15. Walk-in ballots at City Hall must be received in the City Clerk's office no later than 8 a.m. the morning of April 12, 2016.

The Arcadia Chamber of Commerce will hold its traditional Meet the Candidates Forum at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 24, in the Cay Mortenson Auditorium of the Arcadia Public Library.

A first-time candidate in the 2014 election who surprised some with a strong showing, Burton Brink, age 52, is a Sergeant with the Los Angeles County Sheriff Department.

ARCADIA POLICE BLOTTER

For the period of Sunday, January 24th, through Saturday, January 30th, the Police Department responded to 1,080 calls for service of which 149 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, January 24:

Just after 12:20 a.m., an officer responded to the 100 block of Colorado Place regarding an attempted stolen vehicle report. The officer discovered an unknown suspect aftempted to steal the vehicle by punching the ignition cylinder with a tool. The suspect was unsuccessful and fled with the victim's passport. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Around 1:19 p.m., an officer responded to the area of Fifth Avenue and Longden Avenue regarding an activation of an Arcadia Police Department GPS tracker. Arcadia PD detectives had previously deployed decoy packages containing bait property and tracking devices to combat the increase in package thefts from residential areas. An investigation revealed a 27-yearold male from El Monte had the stolen package, property, and tracking device inside his vehicle. The suspect was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

At about 7:51 a.m., an officer conducted an Friday, January 29: enforcement stop on a vehicle in the area of Santa Anita Avenue and Alta Street for having expired registration. A records check of the vehicle revealed the registration had expired; however, the vehicle displayed a 2015 registration sticker. The driver, a 46-year-old female from Arcadia, knew about the forged sticker on her vehicle. The suspect was cited and released in the field.

At approximately 10:46 p.m., officers responded to the intersection of Longden Avenue and Azure Way regarding a tree on fire. An investigation revealed an unknown suspect lit a discarded Christmas tree on fire. A male suspect wearing light blue pants was seen fleeing on foot westbound on Longden Avenue.

Tuesday, January 26:

Around 9:50 a.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 1100 block of Rodeo Road regarding a burglary report. The officer determined unidentified suspect(s) entered the residence by smashing a rear window and fled with an unknown amount of property. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Just after 2:24 p.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle in the area of Oakwood Drive and Foothill Boulevard for failing to stop at a stop sign. Upon contacting the driver, the officer discovered the 26-year-old male from Riverside was driving with a suspended license. He was cited and released in the field. The vehicle was impounded for 30 days.

Wednesday, January 27:

Shortly after 10:28 a.m., officers responded to the 200 block of West Longden Avenue regarding a fire. An investigation revealed a pool motor had caught fire in the rear yard of the residence. Officers extinguished the fire. No injuries were reported.

At about 2:32 p.m., officers responded to the rear parking lot of Chase Bank, 60 East Huntington Drive, regarding a robbery that had just occurred. The officers determined the unknown suspect made arrangements to purchase a laptop from the victim. During the exchange, the suspect struck the victim and fled with the laptop in a red Ford Mustang. Arcadia Fire responded to provide treatment to the victim.

The suspect is described as a Hispanic male, 20 to 25-years-old, approximately 6' tall, with a heavy build. The investigation is ongoing.

Thursday, January 28:

At approximately 2:24 p.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 1400 block of South Fifth Avenue regarding a fraud report. The officer discovered an unknown suspect transferred $32,000 from the victim's bank account without her permission. The victim does not know how the suspect obtained her personal information.

Around 8:52 p.m., officers responded to a residence in the 500 block of Santa Cruz Road regarding a burglary in progress. An investigation revealed two suspects entered the residence by unknown means, confronted the victim, then fled to black sedan.

The suspects are described as black males wearing dark clothing. The investigation is ongoing.

At about 12:03 a.m., an officer responded to Dave and Busters, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a disturbance report. Upon contacting the 33-yearold male from Arcadia, the officer noticed symptoms of alcohol intoxication and determined the suspect was unable to care for himself. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Just after 8:57 p.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle in the 900 block of West Huntington Drive for driving without headlights. Upon contacting the driver, the officer detected a strong odor of alcohol emitting from the driver. Through a series of tests, the officer determined the 57-year-old male from Canyon Country was driving under the influence of an alcoholic beverage. The suspect was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Saturday, January 30:

Just after 3:27 a.m., an officer conducted an enforcement stop on a vehicle near the intersection of Duarte Road and Baldwin Avenue for having expired registration. While talking to the driver, he informed the officer he was in possession of methamphetamine and a smoking pipe. The 38-yearold male from Arcadia was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

At approximately 1:03 p.m., an officer responded to the area of Campus Drive and Holly Avenue regarding a robbery that had just occurred at Nordstrom, 400 South Baldwin Avenue. An investigation revealed the 37-year-old male from Monrovia became combative when loss prevention specialists attempted to detain him for stealing store merchandise. The suspect struck the loss prevention specialist and fled on foot. The suspect was located, arrested, and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Traffic Collision February 2 at 1:56 a.m., officers responded to the area of Magnolia and Cypress on a solo vehicle traffic collision. The driver was traveling south on Magnolia, made a right turn onto Cypress and lost control of her vehicle. She collided into a parked vehicle, continued on and then struck a curb, where the vehicle came to rest. Commercial Burglary February 2 at 2:36 a.m., police received a report of an alarm activation at a business in the 900 block of West Duarte Road. An unknown suspect threw a rock through the front glass door to gain entry. The location was ransacked, but no loss could be determined. The investigation is continuing.

Trespassing/Possession of Stolen Property Suspect Arrested February 2 at 2:50 p.m., officers were dispatched to a residence in the 200 block of South Mountain regarding a subject found sleeping in a vacant home. Officers responded and located the subject, who was found to be in possession of stolen property. The owner of the residence desired prosecution for trespassing, and the suspect was arrested. investigation revealed the property he was in possession of was stolen from a business in Duarte. The suspect was identified by store clerks in a photo lineup. Additionally, the suspect was found to be on active felony parole. The suspect was arrested and taken into custody.

traveling the wrong way on a one-way street. The Mail Theft February 2 at 10:32 p.m., an incident of mail theft was reported in the 200 block of West Walnut. A Monrovia resident received a phone call from the Glendora Police Department reporting they had two suspects in custody that were in possession of the resident's mail.

The resident then contacted her property manager, who told her he had reported the mail Inspector, but didn't report the theft to police. Apparently, the suspects broke into the back door

REMEMBRANCE THELMA WEAVER

By Joan Schmidt

Several years ago, I met a "whirlwind" "bundle of energy" amazing woman, Thelma Weaver, Annunciation Pastor, Father Eugene Herbert's

Born on April 9, 1915 in San Francisco, Laura Thelma Mac Neill grew up in Carmichael with her older brother and parents. She was student body President of her Junior College where she met and fell in love with Maurice Allison Herbert; they married at the First Baptist Church, Sacramento on August 16, 1936.

Thelma and Maury settled on See Drive in West Whittier and raised six children, Earle, Jack, Jerry, Gene, Sharon and Carl. Thelma had a deep love of God and served others. She was a Cub Scout den mother for her sons, Brownie leader for Sharon and kept scrapbooks of all family activities. Besides being adept at all "woman's work"-cooking, mending, etc., she was a handy "repairman" who could fix anything. After a woodworking course, she made all the bookshelves and floor lamps in the family living room!

Maurice passed away in 1967. In 1984, Thelma married fellow Church member Richard Steen Weaver, who brought two grown women to the family.

Thelma was preceded in death by her two husbands, two sons and one of her stepdaughters. This remarkable woman has THREE special services remembering her. The first was in Hemet, Friday night. Baptist Pastor Jack Stamback presided at the uplifting service. Beautiful hymns, meaningful readings and Pastor Stamback's sermon were followed by remembrances by Thelma's surviving sons, Jerry, Gene and Jack. Pastor Stemback reminded us of Thelma's return home to her Savior and Jerry and Gene recounted an incident in their past that showed a mother of great wisdom and love. Jack did a "show" – a dialogue between him and Mom recalling various incidents.

A beautiful funeral Mass was celebrated by Thelma's son, Pastor Father Eugene Herbert, Annunciation Church, Arcadia Saturday. Her attending family members were involved in all aspects of the service- music, readings, bringing up the gifts and sharing of special memories. Thelma was proud of her Scottish heritage-family members dressed in their clan's plaids/kilts and a bagpipe player performed Amazing Grace.

Bishop David O'Connell came Saturday prior to the Mass and personally greeted every attendee prior to the service. He then attended the Pro-Life Rally in Los Angeles. Because he was not able to stay for Saturday's service, Bishop O'Connell returned to Annunciation Monday morning and celebrated the 8:30 Mass for Thelma.

I must tell you that this woman had NO FEAR. She and her husband went on a river raft ride when she was close to 70 and insisted on sitting along the sides to feel everything. Her step-daughter called her "Mom", hated the word "step" and spoke of their great African Safari when Thelma was 83! Her daughter-in-law related a "double-parasailing" over Cayman Islands. She was terrified but Thelma was having a blast! Grandchildren spoke of the amazing woman with spunk who was an inspiration and gave them much love and encouragement. Thelma spent the last ten years of her life at Camelot Retirement Home where she enjoyed many friends and card games. This past April she celebrated her 100 birthday with 39 family members. She is survived by 5 children, 11 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

DATE EXTENDED TO ADMINISTER PUSD PARENT SURVEY

District (PUSD).

Mountain Views-News Saturday, February 6, 2016

Good Afternoon,

Several schools have opted in to administer the parent survey. To encourage more participation, however, the date to opt in has been extended to February 5. PUSD is requesting that only families who reside in the Cities of Sierra Madre, Pasadena and Town of Altadena participate. Please also note that for those schools who participate, PUSD can include the name of your school as a choice on the survey. We can also provide results to the schools who opt in on how your parents responded to question 8 (why they chose your school) in the Sincerely, survey. This information will only be made available to your school. We will also make available to you the collective response to the entire Mercy Santoro survey across the private and charter schools that participate.

If you have not had a chance to respond to this correspondence, Pasadena Unified School District

A special message from the Pasadena Unified School your assistance is respectfully requested in sharing PUSD's parent/ guardian survey on school choices, and interests, with your families. Details on the survey, along with a sample survey, are provided. If there is any feedback you would like to offer on this process, please do not hesitate to share it. Survey information will be sent to those schools willing to opt-in by or before February 5, 2016. All survey materials which includes the letter to your families and survey link vill be provided on Thursday February 11.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of this request. PUSD School Superintendent Brian McDonald looks forward to sharing the survey results community-wide in March 2016.

THE FROSTIG CENTER PRESENTS "PREPARING STUDENTS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS FOR INDEPENDENCE"

Pasadena, CA.—State and federal agencies can provide vital resources to young adults with disabilities. Two experts from Disability Rights California will help families access services and support from two of those agencies--the state Department of Rehabilitation and the Social Security Administration--during a presentation at The Frostig Center on Tuesday, February 23.

The Department of Rehabilitation provides employment services to people of working age while Social Security offers income support to people with disabilities who have limited income.

Rebecca Hoyt and Jerri Ward will review the programs and explain eligibility requirements and application processes. Their discussion will be geared toward families with high school students who are preparing for adulthood. Families with younger children who want to look ahead, as well as teachers and therapists who work with children with special needs, will also benefit from the presentation.

Rebecca Hoyt and Jerri Ward

Jennifer Quirina-White, director of transitions services at Frostig School, will facilitate a Q&A period immediately after the presentation. "It can be very difficult for a family to navigate a government website and fully understand what kind of support their child can receive," Ms. Quirina-White said. "Ms. Hoyt and Ms. Ward will provide information and resources to assist families in understanding these systems."

The presentation begins at 3:30 p.m. in Gates Hall at The Frostig Center. Admission is free. The Frostig Center, located at 971 N. Altadena Drive, is a non-profit organization that strives to improve the lives of children with learning differences through research, professional development and community outreach, and Frostig School. Frostig also provides services to young adults with learning differences who are transitioning to college and work. For additional information about Frostig Center, call (626) 791-1255 or visit our website at www.frostig.org.

PLAY THE ULTIMATE SUPERBOWL GAME!

To celebrate Super Bowl 50, the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society is holding its own 'Shelter Bowl' for the first time ever! The top two teams in the CFC - Canine/Feline Conference - will go head to head in this memorable competition. The San Gabriel Saints will battle it out with the Humane Howlers for the coveted Shelter Drinking Bowl Athletes from the two teams will be featured on our Facebook and Instagram pages with their own trading cards showing their picture, jersey number, position and coach.

The winning team will be decided based on the number of adoptions by each team and the amount of "likes" their photos on our Facebook and Instagram pages receive.

The competition will be held from Sunday January 24 until Sunday February 7th. Check out Facebook and Instagram on a regular basis for up-to-the-minute information on your favorite team and players. Share with your friends and "vote" for your favorite players by liking the ones you are voting for. Or better yet, adopt your favorite buddy!

Meet the coaches:

Kramer (left) is a Staffy-Shepherd-Dane mix pooch who loves people, walks, sunbaths, gentle pats on the head, and soothing ear scratches. He sports a black and white classic tuxedo coat that is perfectly paired with lengthy legs, a lean body, and floppy puppy-like ears. He is dressed for success and has what it takes to lead the Saints to victory this year. He is a fan of long and steady walks rather than high-energy runs. Kramer is friendly meeting new people and good on the leash. He is not one to throw around his weight (113 lbs) preferring to coach his team with his gentle and patient nature. If you have room in your heart and home for this handsome big boy, Kramer is ready to be your loyal and loving best friend.

Midnight (right) is one of the Meow Manors cool cats. Often keeping to himself in his cubicle, Midnight spends most of his day 'lounging around and sleeping'. It may look like that, but this clever cat is reviewing his shelter bowl team's strategy, offensive plays and passing options while no one is the wiser. Given his cool demeanor, Midnight is definitely a friendly cat who loves attention and to be petted. Come meet this darker than night and cooler than ice cat in the Meow Manor! He is 2 ½ year old domestic short hair mix who could be wearing a Humane Howler shelter bowl ring before you know it!

The Winning team will be announced on Wednesday February 10th. Let the coin toss begin!

PUPPY BOWL XII A SUPER SUNDAY ALTERNATIVE

Happy Tails by Chris Leclerc

Football is all the rage for many (many, many) Americans, it is clearly no secret. For others, well...not so much. And for the former - the avid lovers of the sport - this may very well be the most wonderful time of the year. The time of year to gear up for the "big game".

With parties to be planned, bets to be placed and new televisions to be purchased (apparently TV sales the week prior to the game far-andaway forego that of Black Friday week) Super Bowl Sunday has become all but an official holiday in our country. Meanwhile, those who are less-than-lovers of the sport and live with a football fan know better than to get between them and the set while the game is on.

So, if you are one of those people who couldn't care less about football and you really dig your dogs, there is an awesome alternative for your viewing enjoyment while the frantic fans are carousing, jumping, yelling and (hopefully) cheering for their respective teams in the other

Sunday, February 7, Puppy Bowl XII will air on Animal Planet from 3-5 PM ET/PT and this year's event promises to be the absolute best vet. The twelfth in the series of this shaggy-chic show will feature two terrific tail-wagging teams, Team Ruff and Team Fluff going nose-to-nose in competition with a goal to win various titles, not the least of which is most adorable, adoptable pack of pups in the USA.

The network reached out to 44 different animal shelter and rescue organizations across the country this year, to fill the two teams' rosters, and is partnering with the Pro Football Hall of Fame in introducing the Puppy Bowl Hall of Fame to honor legacy players throughout Puppy Bowl and promote the adoption of older "veteran" animals in addition to puppies and represent 35 states across the US and Puerto Rico. This year's roster includes players from Nevada SPCA, Arizona Humane Society, Mr. Bones & Company (New York), Green Dogs Unleashed (Virginia), Little Dog Rescue (Florida), Paws Chicago, Citizens for Animal Protection (Texas) and Williamson County Animal Center (Tennessee) among others. Kittens for the Kitty Half-Time Show will be provided by the Brooklyn Bridge Animal Welfare Coalition, Inc.

You either love it or you hate it, so they say. If you are interested in learning more about the participating organizations, visit Animal Planet's Pet Adoption Resources page on their website at www.animalplanet.com.

The Pedigree * Starting Lineup boasts 49 puppies competing for the famed title of Bissell MVP (Most Valuable Puppy, of course!). The tailgate starts at 2:30 PM ET/PT with the Puppy Bowl Pre-Game Show, which features analysis and commentary from a team of sports correspondents.

At 3 PM ET/PT, Puppy Bowl XII kicks off at GEICO Stadium with a furry group of line barkers and wide retrievers, making adorable tumbles and fumbles in an effort to score winning touchdowns for both teams. The Kitty Half-Time Show will bring a cat-astrophic San Francisco-inspired kitten takeover to the Bay Area. The ferocious felines are on a spree of cataclismic destructions as they paw across historic landmarks including the Golden Gate Bridge, Fisherman's Warf and infamous "Al-Cat-Raz".

With help from a new special assistant ref, Stanley the Skunk, Dan Schachner returns as America's favorite "Rufferee" to call the puppy penalties. Rooting on the sidelines will be five big-haired silkie chicken cheerleaders shaking their tail feathers and strutting for their favorite Award-winning animal advocate and television correspondent Jill Rappaport will introduce Pup Close and Personal segments presented by Subaru, highlighting adorable animal bonds between puppy players and their best buddies including a kitten and a hedgehog! "Meep the Bird" will also return to his perch to tweet live updates throughout the event.

So, all you animal-adoring, football-loathing weekenders out there, grab the pets and the kids and take refuge with a big screen anywhere but in the man cave on Super Bowl Sunday. Love

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND?

11.2 lbs. She has the cutest ears that flop over, giving her a unique look. Kizzie was found abandoned, tied to one of the gates of the shelter on Christmas Eve, discovered by staff the next quickly recovered. It took a few weeks for her to overcome her fears after those experiences, but she is now ready for adoption.

It has taken a while for Kizzie to learn to trust and feel comfortable with people, but she is making great progress. She has discovered that getting pets and attention from volunteers is not so bad. She has become secure enough that she will jump into a lap without coaxing, and happily allow herself to receive a massage.

Kizzie is a very smart girl, always alert to everything going on nearby. On her first walk, she was hesitant to accept treats that were offered to her, but she cleverly discovered the bag that held them and helped herself. Now that she has had time to treats from all of them.

Kizzie seems to enjoy going for walks, although she is a little nervous near the street when traffic is going by. When she is on the grass going to the park, she moves with more confidence, even breaking into a prancing gait. She is easy to manage on the leash. Kizzie has a playful spirit and enjoys romping with other dogs, and chasing and playing with toys.

Kizzie is hoping to find a home where she can get the love and training she needs to become the Trophy'. Story on Page 8

To be your special valentine? Kizzie is a 1-year- good dog she is meant to be. Come in to meet old white Chihuahua mix girl weighing about this sweet girl to see if she can be your special valentine!

She currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue morning. When they tried to retrieve her, she in San Gabriel. We are located off San Gabriel managed to escape and it took three days to locate Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las Tunas. and catch her. During that time, a car hit her. To arrange a 'Meet and Greet' with Kizzie, Fortunately, her only injury was a scrape and she please stop by any time from 10:30am to 4:30pm Tuesday thru Sunday.

Her adoption fee is $130 and includes spay surgery, vaccinations, microchip and a free wellness exam at a participating veterinarian. Feel free to call us at (626) 286-1159 for more information on Kizzie.

If you are interested in meeting Kizzie or any of the other wonderful pets at the shelter, visit the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society at 851 E. Grand Ave., San Gabriel, Calif., 91776, Tuesday through Sunday from 10:30am to 4:30pm. See our website at www.sgvhumane.org for information and photos of all our wonderful pets.

2016 calendars are available at the shelter for a $10 donation. The photos were selected among get to know the volunteers, she is happy to take hundreds submitted by shelter supporters. If you would like to order a 2016 calendar, you can stop by the shelter or do so through PayPal. Go to the shelter website at sgvhumane.org for more information.

Check out Shelter Bowl I on the shelter's website, Instagram and Facebook pages. The top two teams of the CFC (Canine/Feline Conference) compete for the very first time. Vote for your favorite players and team to determine the winner of the coveted 'Shelter Drinking Bowl time, yoga is WONDERFUL solution. It works immediately and functions as a long term tool for takes a little work to hang in there, but it's well wellness. Anxiety is the reason why many people worth it. The rest of the class is do-able, enjoyable come to yoga in the first place. It's like first aid for the mind! The relief is almost unexplainable. In fact, my own personal journey in yoga began when I attended class, on a friend's suggestion, after I disclosed that I was suffering.

THE JOY OF YOGA

YOGA DOES WORK FOR ANXIETY

So what class is best when you're experiencing anxiety? As a student, personally, I cannot just "relax" walking into a yoga class when I'm anxious. A (brief) seated posture to establish the breath is ok, but then I've got to get moving! It's best to experience dynamic movement with the breath to begin. Believe it or not, the "monkey mind" needs many jobs to do in order slow down. Namaste friends, see you in the class. Movement, conscious breath and drishti (gaze) are just a few components. Once I have tuned Keely Totten

If you experience into my breath, and moved my body a little, poses chronic anxiety or with longer holds become accessible. It's in the just from time to longer holds, with conscious, smooth breaths that I can find a deeper sense of calm and stability. It and satisfying.

Maybe the title of this article should have read, Reminder: Yoga does work for anxiety. Each time we quell anxiety through natural means, new positive habits are created.

Many yoga practices (and poses) stimulate the parasympathetic nervous system which produces the body's natural calming response. The more we can get in touch with this feeling, the feeling of being calm and grounded, the better. It can become the new normal.

(CRPS). The syndrome usually develops after trauma (minor or major) or nerve damage.

Symptoms will appear within a month and may include: pain (diffused or localized); local changes in circulation; swelling; sweating; cool or warm extremities; muscle wasting; and reduction of motor activity of the muscles (in chronic cases). In some cases the sympathetic system reaction (local sweating, changes in skin temperature and color) is present; in other patients, it is not.

Treatments applied to these patients include ISAIDs (Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs); physical therapy; sympathetic blocks; physical therapy; psychological support; and acupuncture (surgery will be utilized rarely). The treatment should be used in the earlier stages rather than in the chronic phase (the patient's response to acupuncture in the earlier stages is faster, thus requiring fewer treatments). In many cases, the symptoms will continue with little or no improvement, the pain becomes extremely severe and does not respond to treatment.

The cases this article covers are CRPS of lower extremities (chronic phase, 6+ months). The recommended points to be used are the second, com/mpacms/at/article.php?id=27704

For pain specialists in the acupuncture field, it third and fourth ba feng (extra points) and is not uncommon to evaluate and treat patients ST 36 (unilaterally, on the same side if it is not diagnosed with complex regional pain syndrome too painful; otherwise contralaterally for a few treatments).

> Treatment: Treatment is administered 1-2 times per week for four weeks. The acupuncture needles are inserted with a slant direction, with the microcurrent stimulation pads on top of the needles. The pads (biphasic, with an initial output of 25 microamps, are applied for 20 minutes directly on top of the needles. In the majority of cases, microcurrent use should be sub-sensational (the patient does not feel the electric stimulation). Within 12 treatments (a slow response), the patient should be able to feel improvement: the pain is reduced; the range of motion of the ankle/ foot is increased; and the pain medication is diminished or discontinued. Another important fact is the improvement of the walking and standing gait: the patient is able to walk or stand longer than before.

> The combination of a microcurrent device and acupuncture allowed us to treat and improve the condition of a patient on which all other modalities had failed.

your wine tasting adventure. I was able to choose from a selection of award-winning dry wines from San Antonio Winery's award-winning Maddalena and San Simeon collections, since it's Valentine's Day you might consider -their popular Stella Rosa line, like Stella Rosa Red, and sparkling Stella Rosa Moscato Rosé, perfect for your romanantic day.

On my recent visit, I took a tour of the entire winery, where I learned about the original urban winery's history, and even got to see where the wines are fermented, aged, and bottled. Once I worked up an appetite, I indulged in home-style Italian cuisine at Maddalena restaurant. Named after the winery's matriarch, Maddalena was the first restaurant inside a winery in California. It was opened in the 1970s Maddalena after sandwiches became so popular, a long line would form outside the winery.

Today, you can enjoy some Maddalena's delicious recipes, like her outstanding meat lasagna and handmade ravioli. Valentine's weekend menu will also include a variety of options, including restaurant's popular Linguini Scampi, Veal Scallopini, and Filet Mignon. To make the mood more romantic, there will be live music in the restaurant all weekend long.

San Antonio Winery is located at 737 Lamar Street. It will have extended hours Valentine's weekend from 10 am until 9 pm, with the last restaurant serving at 7:30 pm. There is also an ample parking lot with complimentary parking. Free tours are offered daily on the hour. Tastings of 3 select wines are complimentary during the week, and $5 for 4 tastings Saturday and Sunday. There is also a $15 artisan tasting of 4 award-winning wines available. ### SODA CRACKER CANDY

1pkg. unsalted soda crackers (around 40 crackers) 12oz. pkg. Semi-sweet chocolate chips 2cubes unsalted butter 1c. dark brown sugar

First, place unsalted crackers face up in a buttered 9x13 pan.

In a small sauce pan melt butter and brown sugar together and bring to a boil for 2-4 minutes. Pour over soda crackers and spread evenly.

Pre-heat oven to 400 and sprinkle chocolate chips over crackers. Place pan in oven and watch 2-3 minutes until chips melt.

Take the pan out of oven. Spread melted chips over the top of crackers evenly with a spatula. If desired add topping of your choice, such as sprinkles, nuts, coconut for color and fun. Place pan in freezer for at least 2hrs.

Take candy out of freezer for about 30/40 min. or until slightly softened, and then cut with a sharp knife in 1½inch squares.

CHOOSING A HOSPICE CARE PROGRAM

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you offer any information on hospice care, how to choose a good provider, and whether Medicare covers it? My grandmother has terminal cancer and wants to die at home, if possible.

Grieving Granddaughter

Dear Grieving:

Hospice can be a wonderful option in the last months of life because it offers a variety of services, not only to those who are dying, but also to those left behind. Here's what you should know.

What Hospice Offers

Hospice care is a unique service that provides medical care, pain management, and emotional and spiritual support to people who are in the last stages of a terminal illness - it does not speed up or slow down the process of dving. Hospice's goal is to simply keep the patient as comfortable and pain-free as possible, with loved ones nearby until death.

The various services provided by a hospice program comes from a team of professionals that works together to accommodate all the patients' end-of-life needs.

The team typically includes hospice doctors that will work with the primary physician and family members to draft up a care plan; nurses who dispense medication for pain control; home care aids that attend to personal needs like eating and bathing; social workers who help the patient and the family prepare for end of life; clergy members who provide spiritual counseling, if desired; and volunteers that fill a variety of niches, from sitting with the patient to helping clean and maintain their property.

Some hospices even offer massage or music therapy, and nearly all provide bereavement services for relatives and short-term inpatient respite care to give family caregivers a break.

Most hospice patients receive care in their own home. However, hospice will go wherever the patient is – hospital, nursing home or assisted living residence. Some even have their own facility to use as an option. To receive hospice, your grandmother must get a referral from her physician stating that their life expectancy is six months or less.

It's also important to know that home-based hospice is in the home 24 hours a day. Services are based on author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

need and/or what you request. Hospice care can also be stopped at anytime if your grandmother's health improves or if she decides to re-enter cure-oriented treatments.

How to Choose

The best time to prepare for hospice and consider your options is before it's necessary, so you're not making decisions during a stressful time. There are more than 5,500 hospice programs in the U.S., so depending on where you live, you may have several options from which to choose.

To locate a good hospice in your area, ask your grandmother's doctor or the discharge planner at your local hospital for a referral, call your state hospice organization (see hospicefoundation.org/hospicedirectory for contact information), or search online at sites like the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization at nhpco.org.

When choosing, look for an established hospice that has been operating for a few years and one that is certified by Medicare. To help you select one, the American Hospice Foundation provides a list of questions to ask at 16HospiceQuestions.us.

Who Pays

Medicare covers all aspects of hospice care and services for its beneficiaries. There is no deductible for hospice services although there may be a very small co-payment – such as $5 for each prescription drug for pain and symptom control, or a 5 percent share for inpatient respite care. Medicaid also covers hospice in most states, as do most private health insurance plans.

For more information, see the "Medicare Hospice Benefits" online booklet at medicare.gov/pubs/ pdf/02154.pdf. And if you have financial questions or concerns, talk to your hospice provider. Most hospices offer financial assistance to help families in need.

KATIE Tse.....This and That THE COLONOSCOPY PILL --YOU READ IT HERE FIRST!

Two years ago I wrote about an epiphany I had after listening to yet another horror story of someone's colonoscopy gone amuck. I brought you... the colonoscopy pill! Instead of snaking a probe down the body, contrary to its natural design, why not swallow a probe to scope out the digestive tract as part of normal digestion?

envisioned a pill with a camera that could be ingested, "collected," and analyzed resulting in the full picture of one's colon in glorious Technicolor! I thought for sure that I was the first person to come up with this idea.

I was both glad and surprised when I read that "Given Imagining" has already designed these small wonders, and they've been used in the U.S. since 2001. More recently, The Daily Mail published an article stating "Colonoscopies to be replaced by a camera that comes in a PILL as FDA green lights revolutionary treatment!" My happiness over this non-invasive option outweighed my disappointment upon realizing that I wasn't the first to think of it.

However, there are still a host of painful medical procedures that need revision. The mammogram comes to mind. The screenings are routinely ordered when women turn 40. However, mammograms aren't all that they're cracked up to be. The imaging isn't very clear, and every time you get squeezed you're being exposed to radiation (which increases your risk of developing cancer, ironically). And if you've survived breast cancer, you can expect to be prescribed a few extra mammograms every year just for good measure.

It was during a conversation my Mom and I were having regarding iPads and smart phones that she came up with the idea of the mammogram app. (She and I know as much about technology as we do about brain surgery --diddly squat!) I mentioned that one of my husband's friend's phone could check his pulse, temperature, and blood pressure (okay, maybe not all that, but definitely his pulse!). "Why don't they have phones that do ultrasounds?" she suggested.

Although I've never undergone a mammogram, this alternative sounded great to me! Just gel up your mobile device and slowly massage it over the area of concern. Heck, maybe the phone could even heat up to make the process less uncomfortable. If the app detected anything amiss, a buzzer could sound off like a smoke alarm warning you of a possible foreign body.

Not to stop short at the detection level, my Mom further imagined that a radar beam could project from the phone and zap any tumor using nano-technology. At this point we really didn't know what we were talking about, but it still sounded better than being subjected to a scope, vise grip, or scalpel.

While I doubt that our medical brainchild will soon be coming to an app store near you, you must agree it has potential! I applaud the creators of the colonoscopy pill and encourage all you techie geniuses to hurry up and invent the mobile mammogram and the nano lumpectomy. If a phone can read your heart rate at the press of a finger, there's no reason it can't find a lump in your soft tissue.

Remember, you read it here first!

THE GREMLINS

By Artistic Director, Christian Lebano

On Friday night the gremlins attacked the Playhouse. They were stealthy and quiet and caught us completely unawares. The actors coped as well as they could, while all I could do was cover my eyes and take deep breaths. The gremlins are those nasty little creatures who cause things to go wrong - things that have never gone wrong before.

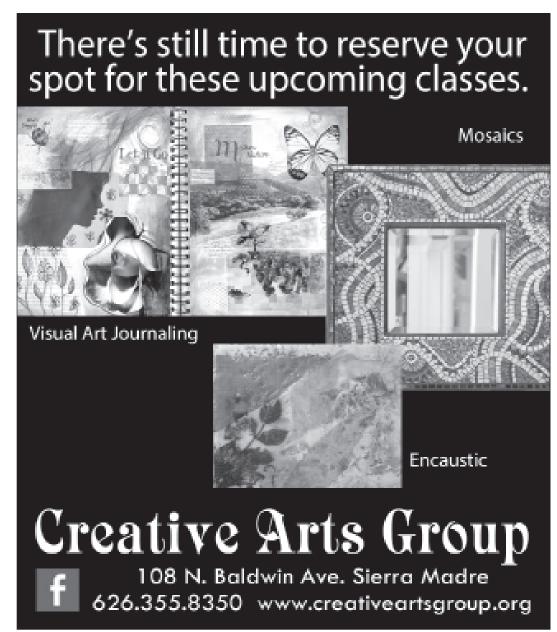

That night there was a malfunction with one of the crucial pieces of hardware that is used in the show - I won't name it because this thriller only thrills when it is a surprise, so let me just say this crucial bit of hardware failed. The actors added dialogue (this is called ad libbing) to cover the malfunction and the actor in charge of the moment actually got the hardware fixed. I know these performers well enough by now to be able to read their eyes (maybe I am just imagining that – but I've been in their shoes so I knew what they were thinking!) and I could see them trying to figure out how to keep the play going and to account for the failure and then the relief when it was fixed. The scene got back on track and then zing - the gremlins struck again and the hardware failed AGAIN. But now there was no saving the moment, the actors soldiered on as best they could and covered for the malfunction and played the scene out. And in the next scene those nasty little guys had one more trick in store - when an actor tried to move a chair by its back rail it came off in his hands. There was no covering this one - the audience laughed and the actor fixed the chair as best he could - and went on with the scene.

At intermission the audience was in good spirits, several patrons came up to me to comment about the chair and how well the actor handled the moment and how unpredictable live theater was. Not a person who hadn't seen the show before made any comment about the hardware. When I specifically asked about it they were all surprised that anything had gone wrong!

I was reminded that an audience will accept what happens on stage as part of the show - that anything that happens MUST be meant to happen - unless is clearly isn't. That may be part of the appeal of live theater - the knowledge that at any moment something unexpected, unplanned, and unwelcomed may happen and the hapless actors just have to deal with it. Oh boy. Sometimes I ask myself why we put ourselves through this. And then I think about the joy of creating something that makes the audience laugh and shriek and hold their breaths from the suspense as this play does – and I'll battle the gremlins Deathtrap continues to sellout, it runs through February 20 so you still have a chance to see it. This one is great fun - don't miss it. Reviews have been glowing! Please visit our website at SierraMadrePlayhouse. org or call Mary at 626.355.4318 to arrange your purchase.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS: AMERICAN CRIME STORY: THE PEOPLE VS. O.J. SIMPSON

By Sean Kayden

I was in third grade when the O.J. Simpson trial swept this nation and people of all ages, classes, and races were captivated by the televised case. Back then, I knew what was going on, but obviously wasn't fascinated by it at my young age. Now in 2016, FX and Ryan Murphy ("Glee," "American Horror Story," "Scream Queens") has developed a true crime anthology television series called "American Crime Story" and the first one up is The People vs. O.J. Simpson. My first reaction nearly a year ago to when it was announced is why are they doing this? Will anyone even care about a case that was 20 years ago? On Tuesday night, FX premiered the highly anticipated show and all thoughts of me questioning why this was created were thrown to the wayside. "ACS: The People vs. O.J. Simpson," based on Jeffrey Toobin's "The Run of His Life: The People v. O. J. Simpson," is the best show Ryan Murphy's been associate with since the early days of "Nip/ Tuck." The season debut was enthralling, engrossing, and downright fascinating. In many ways, the show couldn't be more relevant in the periodically hostile times we live in.

The show wastes no time in getting you right into the tragic night of June 14th, 1994 of the slaughtered bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman were found at the entrance of Brown's Brentwood condo. Her ex-husband, former NFL superstar and actor O.J. Simpson, departs L.A. for Chicago on the same night. Things escalate quickly and the viewer is magnetically drawn in. Every scene, every beat is well crafted and those who followed the trial back in 1995 will be reminded of such key moments and conversations amongst these now infamous individuals. The 80-minute premiere was briskly paced with the difficult task of introducing many key characters such as Christopher Darden, William Hodgman, Gil Garcetti, Marcia Clark, Robert Kardashian, Robert Shapiro, Johnnie Cochran, Mark Furhman, and O.J. Simpson himself. Other key players will come into place as the season unfolds. As for the actors portraying these reallife people, the casting was absolutely impeccable.

Cuba Gooding, Jr plays Simpson and based on just the first episode it is a witness the resurrection of Cuba Gooding, Jr sort of moment. The guy shows he's still a strong actor, displaying tons of emotion (and sometimes lack of emotion given the character). David Schwimmer plays O.J.'s friend and one of his laywers, Robert Kardashian I could never take Schwimmer as a serious actor before, but I must say, he proved he can do much more than simply his Ross character from his former heyday in the TV series "Friends". While he wasn't involved with the O.J. defense team in the first episode of he show, actor Courtney B. Vance as Johnnie Cochran appears deeply promising in his brief appearance on the first episode. However, the one who stole the show in the first episode (and most likely for the entire season) is "American Horror Story" alumni Sarah Paulson, who portrays the tenacious Marcia Clark. Paulson not only acts like Clark by mastering her cadence and idiosyncrasies, but also looks nearly identical to her (a solid 9 out of 10 on the lookalike meter). She's nothing shy of brilliant in this multifaceted and well-written role. The first episode ends on a significant moment, one where we all (even me) remember that day as if it wasn't 20 plus years ago. The one I am referring to is O.J. skipping out on his arrest by fleeing with his friend AC Cowlings in the famously notorious white Ford Bronco chase. The actual pursuit will segue into the beginning of the second season. And iust like the real life pulsating chase, the mini series itself is running at 100 miles and hour on all levels. Do yourself a favor and watch what very well may turn out to be the best show of 2016.

THE ALIENIST by Caleb Carr The year is 1896, the place, New York City. On a cold March night New York Times reporter John Schuyler Moore is summoned to the East River by his friend and former Harvard classmate Dr. Laszlo Kreizler, a psychologist, or "alienist." On the unfinished Williamsburg Bridge, they view the body of an adolescent boy, a prostitute from one of Manhattan's infamous brothels. The newly appointed police commissioner, Theodore Roosevelt, in a highly unorthodox move, enlists the two men in the murder investigation, counting on the reserved Kreizler's intellect and Moore's knowledge of New York's vast criminal underworld. They are joined by Sara Howard, a brave and determined woman who works as a secretary in the police department. Laboring in secret (for alienists, and the emerging discipline of psychology, are viewed by the public with skepticism at best), the unlikely team embarks on what is a revolutionary effort in criminology-- amassing a psychological profile of the man they're looking for based on the details of his crimes. Their dangerous quest takes them into the tortured past and twisted mind of a murderer who has killed before. and will kill again before the hunt is over.Fast-paced and gripping, infused with a historian's exactitude, The Alienist conjures up the Gilded Age and its untarnished underside: verminous tenements and opulent mansions, corrupt cops and flamboyant penetrating themselves with household objects. But gangsters, shining opera houses and seamy gin mills. could have unexpected and mortal consequences.

HOLIDAY BONUSES & TAX REFUNDS: WHERE TO PUT THEM FOR MAX RETURN

Did you get a holiday bonus from your employer? Or maybe you have a tax refund coming. If so, do you have any of it left, have you already got it spent in your mind, or are you thoughtfully considering how you can best utilize this surprise resource? Annual bonus payments and tax refunds are nice windfalls, which can be used to create more stability in your life. While it is fun to treat such income as "mad money" to be spent on frivolous endeavors, it may be more effective to use it to create more for your long run.

The Best Uses

Paying down a home mortgage is one of the best uses of extra cash. The less principal on which interest is calculated, the more money you will keep for yourself in the long run. Another benefit to making a principal payment is that if it brings the remaining principal to less than 80% of the appraised value of your home, then private mortgage insurance can be dropped, saving you even more money.

Contributing to a retirement account is another www.GarlettLaw.com for more information.

excellent use of extra money, if your employer matches your contribution. If not, you might even consider the possibility of investing your bonus or tax refund into starting your own side business.

Other Good Uses

Home improvement needs are common for most home owners. Keeping up the condition and value of your home are important long term goals. Letting things go too long typically increases the ultimate cost of repairs. Dealing with them early can pay dividends. Another good use of bonus funds is to invest in an estate plan if you don't have one already. Over 50% of Americans between ages 55 and 64 don't have a will. And 69% of parents have never named legal guardians for their kids. Of the 31% who have, most have made one of 6 common mistakes that means their kids are at risk. Are you part of this group?

Dying without a will, let alone a comprehensive estate plan (and a Kids Protection Plan® if you have minor children), creates complications for your heirs and can leave your family in Court and/or conflict. While you may not relish the idea of investing your bonus or tax refund in an estate plan, the cost to you now would be much less than the cost to your loved one's later.

If you are thinking about using your tax refund or holiday bonus to protect your family, contact us and ask for the tax refund/holiday bonus special that includes a Family Estate Planning Session + analysis of the best use of the funds for your current situation, as our gift to you, if you are one of the next 5 to call and request it.

STAYING IN TOUCH WITH CURRENT CUSTOMERS

Many businesses don't have a plan to stay in touch with their current customers and loyal fans. This is a big mistake! You want to be first in your customers mind when they need your product or service.

Hands down, email marketing is the most effective way to stay top of mind and drive repeat business.

But, some people think that email marketing is sending large group emails from their Gmail account! If your business is doing that, you might be violating the law. It's important to use an email service provider for group emails. There are several reason why we like Constant Contact for this service:

They offer unlimited customer support. You can pick up the phone and actually talk to someone who works at Constant Contact who will help you build a campaign, manage your contacts and trouble shoot.

You can schedule posts to Facebook, LinkedIn, and Twitter with Constant Contact.

They provide the tools you need to comply with the law.

It's affordable for small businesses and non-profits. Plans start at $20 per month.

Constant Contact offers education for small business by providing live seminars, video tutorials, local workshops and webinars.

They have mobile responsive templates that look great on the desktop and on smart phones.

PET OF THE WEEK: GATSBY: ANIMAL ID #A4912933

Gatsby is a good boy who deserves a great home. Gatsby (A4912933) is a trusting 2-year-old tricolor (black-tan-white) male Tibetan Spaniel / Long-Haired Chihuahua mix who was found in Baldwin Park on January 20th and brought to the Baldwin Park Animal Care Center with his brother, Gavin |A4912934|. Weighing 6 lbs, Gatsby is a sensitive dog who is scared in the shelter (which is completely understandable—the shelter is a frightening place for a little pup). He savored being held by our volunteers, and appreciated attention and petting. Because he is sensitive, Gatsby is recommended for households with teenagers and adults only. With some basic training and time to decompress in a calm environment, Gatsby should flourish into a more confident dog. Gentle and loving, Gatsby has what it takes to become a wonderful pet, and will blossom in a patient home. To watch a video of Gatsby and Gavin, please visit the following link: https://youtu.be/0GXjuLP-fD8

To meet Gatsby in person, please see him at the Baldwin Park Shelter, located at 4275 N. Elton, Baldwin Park, CA 91706 (Phone: 626-962-3577). He is currently available now. For any inquiries about Gatsby, please reference his animal ID number: A4912933. The shelter is open seven days a week, 12 pm-7 pm Monday-Thursday and 10am-5pm Friday-Sunday. This is a high-intake shelter with a great need for adoptions. For more information about Gatsby or the adoption process, contact United Hope for Animals Volunteer Adoption Coordinator Samantha at Samantha@hope4animals.

To learn more about United Hope for Animals' partnership with the Baldwin Park Shelter, as well as the many dogs of all breeds, ages, and sizes available for adoption in local shelters, visit http://www.unitedhope4animals.org/about-us/shelter-support-program/.

CERES: CELEBRATING 215 YEARS OF PLANETARY DISCOVERY

New Year's Day, 1801, the dawn of the 19th century, was a historic moment for astronomy, and for a space mission called Dawn more than 200 years later. That night, Giuseppe Piazzi pointed his telescope at the sky and observed a distant object that we now know as dwarf planet Ceres.

Today, NASA's Dawn mission allows us to see Ceres in exquisite detail. From the images Dawn has taken over the past year, we know Ceres is a heavily cratered body with diverse features on its surface that include a tall, cone-shaped mountain and more than 130 reflective patches of material that is likely salt. But on that fateful evening in 1801, Piazzi wasn't sure what he was seeing when he noticed a small, faint light through his

"When Piazzi discovered Ceres, exploring it was beyond imagination. More than two centuries later, NASA dispatched a machine on a cosmic journey of more than 3 billion miles to reach the distant, mysterious world he glimpsed," said Marc Rayman, mission director and chief engineer for Dawn at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, California.

Piazzi was the director of the Palermo Observatory in Sicily, Italy, which has collected  $documents \, and \, instruments \, from \, the \, astronomer's$ time, and published a booklet on the discovery of Ceres. According to the observatory, Piazzi had been working on a catalog of star positions on January 1, 1801, when he noticed something whose "light was a little faint and colored as Jupiter." He looked for it again on subsequent nights and saw that its position changed slightly.

What was this object? Piazzi wrote to fellow astronomers Johann Elert Bode and Barnaba Oriani to tell them he had discovered a comet.

"I have presented this star as a comet, but owing to its lack of nebulosity, and to its motion being so slow and rather uniform, I feel in the heart that it could be something better than a comet, perhaps. However, I should be very careful in passing this conjecture to the public," Piazzi wrote to Oriani.

By July 1801, Piazzi had calculating the object's orbit and made public his observations, announcing it as a planet, and naming it "Ceres" after the Roman goddess of agriculture, was also the patron deity of Sicily, where Piazzi then lived and worked.

The news was especially interesting to Bode solar system follow a specific pattern, which predicts each planet's distance from the Sun. The pattern demanded that there be a planet, yet undiscovered, between Mars and Jupiter-and this is exactly where Ceres orbited.

In March 1802, Heinrich Wilhelm Matthias Olbers discovered a second, similar object: Pallas. because he had championed the Titius-Bode William Herschel, discoverer of Uranus, then hypothesis: that the positions of planets in our wrote an essay proposing that both Ceres and Pallas represented an entirely new class of objects, of Ceres' discovery this month, Dawn is observing which he named "asteroids."

The door had opened for many more asteroids to be observed. The discoveries of Juno in 1804 and Vesta in 1807 reinforced Herschel's notion that telescope are being named after agricultural deities asteroids are a class of their own. Today, we know there are hundreds of thousands of asteroids in the main asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter.

REVIEWING ONE'S LIFE

He can be reached at Box 41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041, or www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com, where you can also view his blogs.]

Since 1977, I have done something called a Birthday Run, taught to me by my mentor as a better and more uplifting way to commemorate one's birthday. Originally, I would go to a local track and run one lap per year as I recalled the highlights of that year. Some years I have run alone, and some years I have run with friends who chose to come and support the run. I have run in the dark, in the rain, in the fog, and on sunny days. One or two years I did not run at all because I was sick, and it wasn't the same when I ran a week later. And over the years, my "laps" have grown shorter, otherwise I would be running those slow laps for several hours and would have trouble walking for days after.

This year I ran alone – other than an occasional hawk and one coyote -- and I found my lap in the bottomlands of the Arroyo Seco. It was quiet and eerily peaceful as I continued the cycles through my life, replaying the mental movie of each year after each year, going to school, moving around, and my interactions with various people. My mind began to look at the financial side of my life, and perhaps, more specifically, the nonfinancial side to my life. Perhaps this was because of the recent PowerBall game where so many were talking about nothing else but what they'd do if they suddenly had all that money. I realized that I too could do so much more, so much more quickly, if I had a few spare million in the bank, maybe.

As I ran through my years, I realized that I operated mostly in financial ignorance, and in a financial fairy-land. Yes, money was always an element, and yes, money was often the limiting factor in so many endeavors. Money was like oxygen - you just had to have it. But I think, like most people, my school and family discussions were wholly insufficient as any sort of real financial training for dealing with the real world. I moved from activity to activity based on my areas of interest, and when money was needed, I got it somehow - or I curtailed the activity.

But because of my financial ignorance, I found other ways to pursue my goals, ways that seemed more difficult at the time, but which were actually more wholistic ways to pursue my life's interests. Without a car, I often bicycled, and formed friendships so that several of us could travel together. If I wanted to attend workshops or field trips, I learned that I could convince my friends that they'd want to attend also, and invariably, someone had a car.

And I discovered and lived my life utilizing so many of the low-cost and free benefits of our modern society: buses, public libraries, public recreation centers, free hiking in the local mountains, free lectures, clubs and organizations where people just got together and did things. Eventually, somewhat fortuitously and almost by accident, I was a squatter for a year and a half on an acre property on the edge of Los Angeles. It was quite an adventure. I learned how to live well cheaply, and I learned how to solicit individual investors in my book and other differently had I been born into wealth, but as I looked back, I realized that I learned some very important lessons by simply finding solutions to life's problems without being able to just "throw money at it."

That was one theme that went through my mind this year. Another was relationships.

By my age, one has had many relationships, and many types of relationships. In my mind, a mental movie played of the various people in my life and how I treated them: mother, father, friends, teachers, girl friends, wives, business associates. When I do this annual run, I am looking for what I did right, but mostly what I did wrong so that I can do it better next time around. I felt great pain at the many things I did wrong as an arrogant child talking back to my parents and not obeying. It doesn't matter that others were worse - I was evaluating myself only. And no, my parents were not perfect either. But I felt great joy that I was able to take precious time in my mother's, and my father's, final days and become their friend and speak to them as equals. It was very challenging, but very fulfilling.

I also spent a lot of time reviewing my 22 married years with Dolores - the trips, our animals, our self-sufficient home, our accomplishments, our fights, our disagreements, our agreements. We had our ups and downs, and though I was not perfect, I realized I could not have been perfect. I was living life, trying to make ends meet, and trying to be a good husband with all the challenges of life that conspire against us. In the end, when Dolores was dying, I was able to experience a rare time of caring for her when she could do so little. We became inseparable, and best friends, and it was as if all our conflicts dissolved. And then she died and I felt plunged into darkness. And then there were other challenges, and tasks, and relationships.

I thought about a few very special people who I never see anymore, and still felt so blessed that we had the time together that we did, and I wished each one the greatest happiness.

Remember, I tried to recall what was going on in my life, year by year as I ran a large lap in the sand in the dimming light of the late afternoon. I am sure I mixed up some years, but in the end, it is the learning that matters.

My two lessons were that while money is important, and you must earn it, it is a good goal to pursue whatever one feels compelled to pursue in life without focusing upon money. Yes, it seems unrealistic, but it actually can change the quality and character of what we do.

And secondly, I realized that relationships are the most important aspect of life, and you have a good life when you maintain good relationships, however you do that. This does not mean you are always laughing and happy. It means that you deal with others honestly and with the integrity that the close ones in your life deserve.

I know I have not been perfect, and I feel blessed to have been guided to begin this birthday tradition nearly 40 years ago. In just a few hours, I review my life and tried to figure out if what I have done was worth doing. By honestly assessing my self in that way, it helps me to determine what is worth doing - and not doing - this year, and into the future.

IMMORAL GIRL SCOUT COOKIES

The Girl Scout cookie season is upon us — which means people with nothing better to do will criticize Girl Scout

According to the International Business Times, one critic, a professor of medicine and public health at the University of Arizona, says it makes no sense for the Girl Scouts to "sell something so unhealthy."

She told IBT there is a disconnect between the sugary, fatty cookies the scouts sell and the organization's mission of "building girls of courage, confidence and character who make the world a better place" Hey, if you don't think Girl Scout cookies make the world a better place, try dipping a sleeve of Lorna Doones into a pitcher of ice-cold milk.

Look, the Girl Scouts organization was founded in 1912 to help girls develop physically, mentally and spiritually. Its annual cookie sale has become a tasty part of American culture since it originated in 1917 — well before something as innocuous as a cookie could cause so much angst.

True, America is awash in high-calorie, high-sugar processed foods that the human body can efficiently convert into fat.

It's also true that human beings must educate themselves on what is and isn't good for our health in order to reverse the high levels of diabetes and heart

But Girl Scout cookies are still just cookies — an occasional treat.

Vani Hari, a food critic and founder of the blog FoodBabe.com, doesn't see it that way. One of her blogs blasted the high-fructose corn syrup and partially hydrogenated oils found in some of the cookies.

She writes: "It's important for the Girl Scouts organization to take a step back, look at these ingredients and say, 'How can we continue to do this program in a way that's morally sound?""

Hey, people starving across the world is morally unsound. Millions of American kids who leave high school unable to read is morally unsound. Terrorists who murder women and children for going to the wrong church is morally unsound.

Yet we're worried about the immorality of cookies?

Apparently so. IBT reports that in 2014, "an NPR piece rounded up a slew of concerns from doctors and parents and ended with the question, 'Should the Girl Scouts find something more healthful to sell for their fundraising?" How about tofu treats or low-energy-consumption light bulbs?

Then again, why are we letting the Girl Scouts sell anything at all? Instead of teaching the girls the principles of capitalism, why not teach them the art of government bureaucracy? As America keeps moving toward European-style socialism, that's where most of the jobs will be, anyhow.

Hey, cookie shamers, Americans are making progress. They are finally beginning to read labels, eat better and understand what is and isn't healthful. McDonald's sales are slumping as healthier offerings are growing.

Besides, a cookie is now what it has always been: a treat. If Girl Scout cookies are your primary source of calories for breakfast, lunch and dinner, you have bigger problems than Girl Scout cookies.

When IBT asked the Girl Scouts if it contributes to childhood obesity, the organization said it promotes a "healthy lifestyle for girls, which includes a well-balanced diet and plenty of exercise." It said Girl Scout cookies "should be enjoyed in moderation.

Now there's a thought.

The country is on the verge of $20 trillion in debt, the Middle East is melting down, entitlement spending is about to explode and Girl Scout cookies are the great moral issue of our time.

I think I need to mull that one over — as I consume several sleeves of Thin Mints and wash them down with a bucket of fresh milk.

NO RUBIO, RIGHTS ARE MAN-MADE

The Iowa caucus brings out the evangelical citizenship mocks in all Republican candidates. After all, previous winners include Mike Huckabee and Rick Santorum, two candidates who ancestors waged. exclusively appealed to evangelical voters (and pretty much no one else). In Iowa, the most devout and outwardly preachy Republicans get the nod. Donald Trump mistakenly thought making up bible verses and quoting "two Corinthians" at Liberty University would be a sufficient religious test for the Hawkeye State. It clearly wasn't he came in "two."

Marco Rubio, who won the night by coming in third, has been offering on the stump, "America was founded on this powerful principle that our rights don't come from government our rights come from god." Ted Cruz, the official winner of the Iowa caucus this election cycle, repeated this idea in his victory speech Monday. "That our rights do not come from the Democratic Party or the Republican Party or even from the tea party. Our rights come from our creator," the first-term Texas Senator said.

It's like saying our roads don't come from our tax dollars but from god, or that bridges aren't because of engineers they're from Jehovah—or space travel isn't made possible by science and math but by a higher power.

Sure, if you believe god is everything, then yes, those statements can be technically true for you. But when it comes to rights, it's not some magical mystical nebulous force which gifted us liberty. Rights are something for which humans have fought, struggled and died. Rights are liberties people have demanded and governments have acquiesced. Saying rights are just given to us because an omnipotent force wills it, robs all the notables who've laid down their lives to ensure the rest of us can enjoy personal freedoms.

Over 50,000 people posthumously dubbed Americans died in the Revolutionary War. Those men fought for our right to self-rule. This isn't a biblical principle. The governments in the bible are composed of kings and subjects—not democracies! Obedience is a biblical principle; America was founded by rebels who rejected an indifferent monarch.

There were 620,000 Americans who died in the Civil War-a war about human rights—one side killing and dying to keep their fellow humans as property, the other side killing and dying to liberate them. Telling a crowd of Iowa caucus-goers god just amended our Constitution so that African Americans were no longer three-fifths a person—giving them "amnesty" and full

the blood-soaked struggle It sanitizes the brutality

American history with pithy pandering. Suffragettes were arrested and tortured in a battle for the vote that spanned a century. That right was not just bestowed upon the gender the bible views as servants to men. Civil Rights were not just passively given to people in the segregated South. There were activists—champions and casualties. There were brave men and women subjected to fire hoses, German Shepherds and batons (or worse). They were kicked down yet they stood back up and demanded their rights again. And again. (And still.)

But the worst part of Rubio and Cruz offering this boilerplate baloney is they're saying god gave us our rights while hoping to take away rights from their fellow (at least in the case of Rubio) Americans. They both want to take away the right to marry whomever you choose—a right fought for by courageous regular people ostracized by their government and fellow citizens because of their sexuality. They both want to make women into public incubators, making health-care decisions for them—infantilizing a huge swath of the American electorate. Both oppose equal pay for women. They each want to repeal Obamacare which has in it the right to not be turned down by your health insurance for a pre-existing condition.

And before you tell yourself these men are really just for, as they claim, religious liberty, they are not. They both have expressed contempt for religions that are not their own, specifically Islam. Rubio wants to shutter mosques and "any facility that's being used to radicalize and inspire attacks against the United States, should be a place that we look at," he said on "The Kelly File." Cruz wants to deny Muslim refugees sanctuary because their faith. So if you're for your freedom but not for someone else's-you're not for freedom. You're for subordination. Full stop.

Don't take the credit away from those who've died for our rights. All of our liberties are stained with blood. And all of our liberties have been opposed by men like Rubio and Cruz-men who use faith for obfuscation, camouflaging a backwards

HOWARD Hays As I See It

Seriously? Seriously?!"

Comedian Lewis Black, on his reaction upon reading the front page of the morning papers.

In my columns I've sought to take serious issues and address them (for the most part) seriously.

Sometimes, though, like especially over these past couple of weeks, I can relate to Lewis Black's reaction to the news of the day.

I had that reaction reading Michael Reagan's column on this page a few weeks ago, about how President Obama's problem was his being unable/unwilling to compromise with the opposition. He cited as an example the Affordable Care Act. Seriously? This was the bill that, after being enacted with some 160 Republican amendments, later had Republicans whining about having been "shut out" of the process. It was the one where the likes of Sen. Charles Grassley (R-IA) would call for bipartisanship, then go out on the stump to complain it was all about "pulling the plug on grandma".

Columnist Reagan cited his father's ability to compromise with the Democratic opposition, but this was when the opposition wasn't terrified of compromise with the White House - and I don't recall Democrats threatening to shut down the government if they didn't get their way.

As Doyle McManus wrote in the Times, the major attack Republican candidate Sen. Ted Cruz (TX) wages against Sen. Marco Rubio (R-FL) is that he commits the "inexplicable sin" of "collaboration with President Obama and (N.Y. Sen.) Chuck Schumer". Seriously?

Leading up to the Iowa caucuses, the big exchange between Republican frontrunners was Donald Trump claiming supporters would stick with him even if he shot somebody on Fifth Avenue, with Cruz responding on CNN that he himself had no intention of shooting anybody. Seriously?

Michigan Atty. Gen. Bill Schuette (R) named former prosecutor Todd Flood to head an investigation into the Flint water crisis. Flood has contributed thousands to the campaigns of both Schuette and Gov. Rick Snyder (R) over the past six years, but vows the investigation would be "impartial". Seriously? Meanwhile, Gov. Snyder on Fox News blames the problem on regulators being too "technical".

Flint residents are still being charged exorbitant water bills – up to $200-$300 a month - for water they can't drink, cook with or bathe in. And if they don't pay up, there's the risk of having their water shut off, sewers capped, homes condemned and kids taken away by protective services (you can't have kids in homes without running water). Seriously?

Oklahoma had its own crisis requiring "emergency" legislation; this to block funding for A.P. American History courses in public schools. The problem is too much of "what is bad about America", and not enough of the "Christian perspective". Some want to take it further and ban all college-prep Advanced Placement courses - fearing it's related to some "national curriculum". Seriously?

An anti-choice Republican governor in Texas has his anti-choice Republican attorney general have a Republican prosecutor (appointed by former anti-choice Republican Gov. Rick Perry) head up (still another) investigation into those Planned Parenthood videos. A two-month investigation cleared Planned Parenthood, but led to grand jury indictments of two who made the videos. Megyn Kelly on Fox News asked if this outcome didn't "sound like a political hit job".

Seriously? Aside from Texas, eleven other states have investigated and cleared Planned Parenthood of any wrongdoing. An additional eight states found there wasn't enough evidence to launch investigations in the first place. But candidate Rubio insists Planned Parenthood "actually" did what nobody's found any evidence of them doing. And the Texas attorney general vows investigations will go on, anyway. Seriously?

We remember Tamir Rice. He was the 12-year-old kid sitting on a swing who was shot and killed by Cleveland police within two seconds after they arrived on a call about somebody with a gun "probably fake" (it was a toy pellet gun). Then there's LaVoy Finicum, one of the armed wingnuts who'd been "occupying" that cabin in an Oregon federal wildlife refuge for more than three weeks. He liked to be in front of the cameras with real guns, vowing never to be taken to a jail cell.

Two carloads of those wingnuts were headed to a meeting; the first was stopped at a roadblock and the occupants arrested. The second, with Finicum, sped around the roadblock and plowed into a snowbank. Aerial footage shows Finicum shot and killed as he reached into his jacket where he had a gun with real bullets. One of the remaining occupiers compared Finicum's death to that of Tamir Rice. Seriously?

Eight years ago, Sén. Barack Obama (D-IL) spoke in Iowa; "They said this day would never come. They said our sights were set too high.' Last Monday, Marco Rubio spoke in Iowa; So this is the moment they said would never happen... for months they told us we had no chance." Obama spoke after winning the Iowa caucuses, coming in ahead of Hillary Clinton and John Edwards. Rubio spoke after finishing third, behind Ted Cruz and Donald Trump.

Polls from mid-December saw Rubio coming in no higher than third place in Iowa. Rubio (and much of the media) see him now as entitled to proclaim an upset victory for coming in no higher than third place in Iowa. Rubio denies climate change, opposes marriage equality, supports voter suppression efforts, denial of abortion in cases of rape and incest, supports employers' "right" to deny birth control coverage to employees and wants to bomb Iran -yet is regarded as an 'establishment" candidate. Seriously?

There was another poll last Monday you may have missed. Kim Kardashian invited Twitter followers to vote on what they thought the title of hubby Kanye's new album should be. She got about 440,000 responses. This was roughly twenty thousand more votes than were cast in the Iowa caucuses - Democratic and Republican contests combined.

I don't know how the primaries will talk. He spoke turn out in New Hampshire next week. to

But I was glad to see Republican while voters in Iowa prick some of the air out of the Trump balloon Monday night and lift Ted Cruz and Marco Rubio to the top of the GOP heap.

All Iowans didn't get caught up in the Trump celebrity or go goofy for the Trump plane.

A lot of them looked at the Donald's political substance -- and realized he didn't have any. Not in politics, anyway.

forward, however, conservatives still have the same problem they've had for months. Too many good horses clogging up the

They need to find their best horse quickly and ride it. Otherwise, they'll split the conservative vote again and give the nomination to a moderate or a fake Republican like Trump who won't win in the fall.

It happened with John McCain in 2008 and again with Mitt Romney in 2012. Too many conservatives in the race splintered the conservative vote. There were 12 Republicans still trying to win the nomination in Iowa. Eleven of them were virtually interchangeable conservatives. One was a billionaire pretending to be one.

Even with Mike Huckabee, Rand Paul and Rick Santorum dropping out, there are still way too many candidates splitting up the conservative vote.

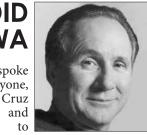

Ben Carson should be next. And what's Jim Gilmore waiting for? Where did he come from anyway? And why?

The ex-Virginia Governor got a whopping 12 votes from Iowa caucusgoers — .01 percent. That has to be a Guinness world record for last place in any election. "Other" was chosen by 119 people.

Still, the results in Iowa were encouraging for the Republican Party. If I had to pick a single big winner, I guess it has to be Cruz. Congratulations to him. He's good.

He's great. But at the end of Monday night, I think Rubio shined brightest. He finished a close third to Cruz, caucus while Cruz's speech was too long, too religious and too awful. Rubio gave the most Reaganesque evangelicals. Let's put it this way. If Cruz had been on the old "Gong Show," he'd have been gonged and yanked from the stage.

I understand why the three governors - Bush, Christie and Kasich, who collectively didn't get 8 percent of the vote in Iowa -- want to stay around for New Hampshire. It's their last shot. But if they really want to help the conservatives, it's time for some of those guys to go home too.

The goal of this primary race is to win back the White House. To do that Republicans need a message that's inclusive and welcoming to minorities. Iowa, in case you didn't notice, the Republicans are no longer the party of angry old white men.

About 65 percent of caucus votes went to Cruz, Rubio and Carson --Republicans who, last time I looked, are Latino or black.

Compare that with the Democrats, who like to pass themselves off as the all-inclusive party that speaks for minorities.

that that 53-year-old Now whippersnapper Martin O'Malley has dropped out of their primary, Democrats literally have an old white guy trying to beat out an old white gal.

It wouldn't hurt if once in a while the mainstream news media pointed out the irony of the Democrats running two old fogies for president whose leftist policies were discredited in the last century.

Meanwhile, the Republicans' diversity is a huge plus. It needs to be publicized and applauded from the rooftops by the GOP.

Based on what happened in Iowa, the Party of Ronald Reagan looks like it might have a conservative future after all. It'll just have a different hue.

Michael Reagan is the son of President Ronald Reagan, a political plus he gave a great speech after the consultant, and the author of "The New Reagan Revolution" (St. Martin's Press).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(Sent to the City Council and Mountain VIews News)

Dear Mayor Capoccia:

I find it discouraging that our city is divided when we all have the same goal in mind: A better or more vibrant Sierra Madre. As a result, I have decided to write to you with my thoughts on how our city can (i) deal with Arcadia's rejection of its request for supplemental police services, (ii) make needed improvements, and (iii) meet all funding needs. To that end, I encourage you to take the following actions:

- 1. Adopt the sheriff's 20/20 proposal and bank the $700k in annual savings it will yield. This will for the first time free the city from its 47% police services spend. It will also enable the city to receive the 24 hour/devoted police service coverage it requires without having to engage in the now necessary protracted and expensive re-build of the police department.
- 2. Withdraw the 10% UUT proposal, which is openly being promoted as a way to provide still further funding to the police department without addressing our disproportionate police spend.
- 3. Propose and place on the ballot an 8% UUT increase of $500k a year which would be applied to civic improvements and infrastructure. During year one I would propose that $250k of this be devoted to improving our little league facilities, $150k to improving our library, and $100k for senior services. It is essential that the council promise that all future proceeds of the increase would be applied to civic improvements and/or investments in parks and infrastructure.

I am confident the entire city would get behind such a proposal, as the cost (loss of a proprietary police department) would be more than offset by the benefits (a steady flow of civic improvements). Moreover, I am confident the city council would prefer to be involved in building and delivering civic improvements rather than trying to continually deal with the ever increasing funding demands associated with our police department.

Once again, I would like to thank you for your service to our City and wish you and the council well in addressing our civic needs, Rick De La Mora

Dear Ms. Henderson:

Here are some comments regarding your recent article in the Mountain View Publication on January 30, 2016.

We live in a very special area and Sierra Madre is really special. It's a city with many residents on a fixed income with limited disposable funds. For these folks every penny counts for expenses of food, clothing and housing. The Utility Users Tax affects all of us since water, electricity, gas, phone and internet services are taxed.

Sierra Madre needs lots of city maintenance for its crumbling infrastructure like water mains in the streets, water pumping stations, etc. Curbs and sidewalks are also in dyer need of repairs since they are a danger to pedestrians. We are quite sure that you know the extent of these expenses.

The city's resources should be spent in a more judicious way and the raising of taxes or higher fees should be the last resort.

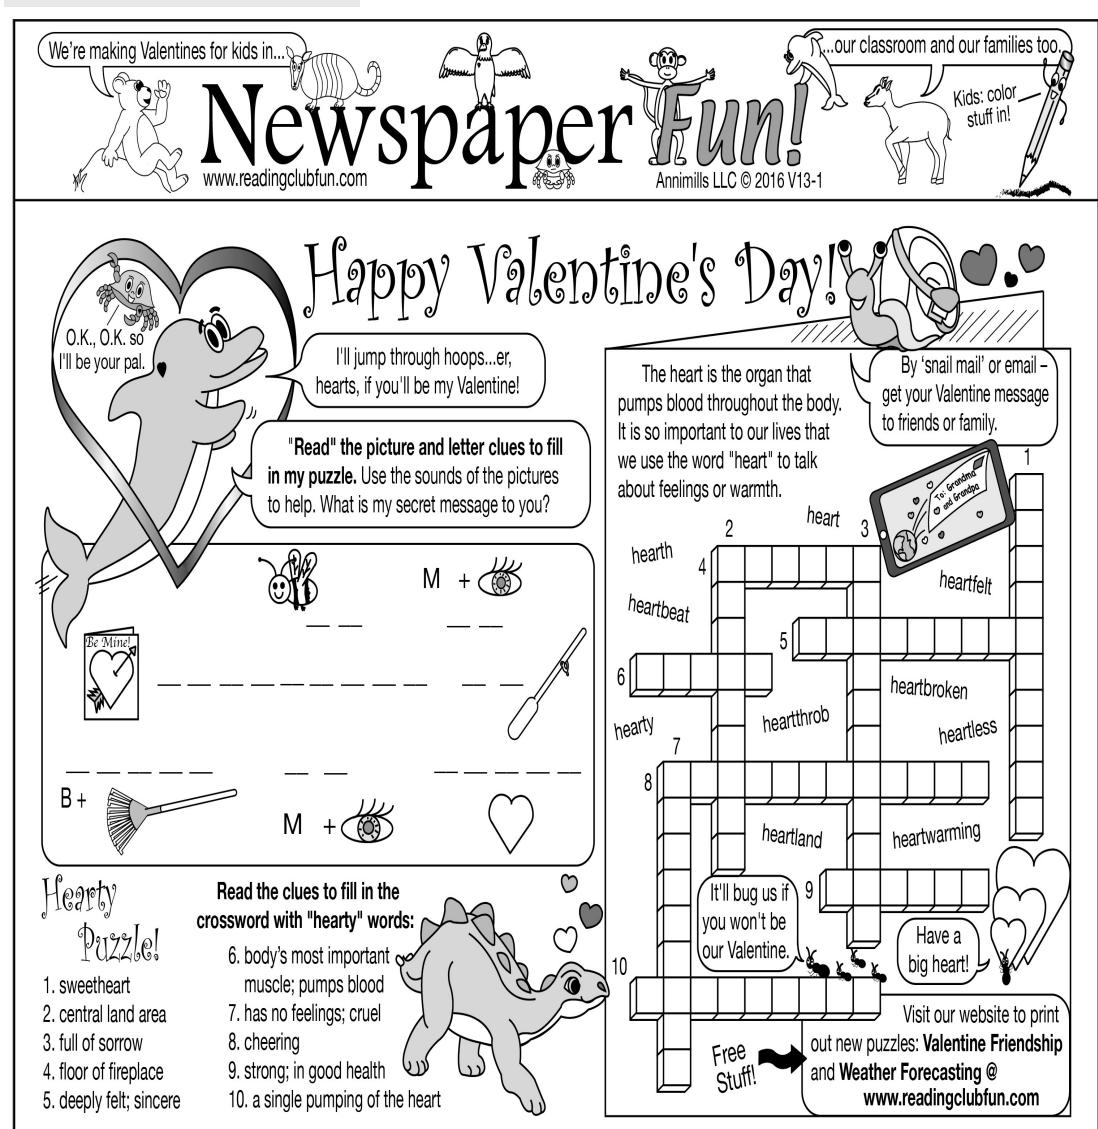

An example of high fees are the costs of the size of water meters and sewer fees are 2 to 3 times higher than neighboring cities.

The yearly savings of $800,000 by contracting with the Sheriff's Department would be a good start to spend the cities resources in a more judicious way. The Sierra Madre's police officers should have the interest of the city in mind instead of their own and match the offer of the Sheriff's Department if they want to keep the cities police department.

If half of the police force abruptly quits to put the city in a bind, that is not something they can be proud of!

Respectfully,

Joe K., Sierra Madre
