AN EVENING WITH ABRAHAM LINCOLN: AMERICA'S GREATEST PRESIDENT

Are you puzzled by American politics? You may just find the answers to today's challenges from a President who lived 150 years ago. Join us on Tuesday, November 15, 2016 at 7:00 pm in the Sierra Madre Public Library for the inspiring presentation, "An Evening with Abraham Lincoln: America's Greatest President."

"I had the honor and privilege of learning about my friend Mr. Lincoln over the six years I studied his life," says Richard Procter, Senior Writer at BRC Imagination Arts, and Sierra Madre Library Trustee. "I was the 'senior storyteller' for the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library in Springfield, Illinois. What I learned changed my view of American history. It also showed me how one person – a common person, like you and me - can change that history."

Procter won a THEA Award (the Oscar of the themed entertainment business) for his contributions to the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum. It continues to be one of the most popular, most widely imitated museums in America.

Procter has worked on more than a hundred projects at BRC Imagination Arts, including experiences for three world Expos, Florida's Kennedy Space Center and the states of Louisiana and Texas. Before this, he was an award-winning Creative Director (11 Clios) for the advertising agency Bert, Barz and Kirby, an Imagineer for the Walt Disney Company, and the writer/producer of more than a hundred hours of television for the Discovery Channel, TLC, the A&E Network, and PBS.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

"Let the rain kiss you. Let the rain beat upon your head with silver liquid drops. Let the rain sing you a lullaby." Langston Hughes

Monday morning we awoke to the sound of rain. I'm sure you did, too, and it was wonderful, delightful, thrilling, exquisite and made us want to do our Snoopy happy dance. A gentle, easily absorbed rain and already our drooping lemon trees are looking a little more enthusiastic. Gerardo Jimenez, our landscape artist and all around garden genius, has told me that if I would set our hose out to drip just one small drop at a time and let it do that for 24 hours, our trees would all be happier. Unfortunately, I can't seem to get it together to do that very simple task so we water all the trees sparingly, stingily, a couple of times a week, while mentally beseeching them to continue to live. "Live my beauties! Live!"

Walking Sierra Madre currently is so much fun because cleverly created scarecrows are everywhere. Moses, shown here, is in front of Ascension Church and the sign down by his feet says, "Moses - He started life as a Basket Case. He was the first Water Bender. He used tablets before Apple. Created by the youth of The Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Sierra Madre CA." Now that's clever.

If you walk down Baldwin to Sierra Madre Blvd. and turn right, you can see the really horrifying scarecrow Norma has out in front of Sierra Juice Co. Leonora Moss has a great one in her window with a good story. Savor the Flavor does, too, and there's one in front of the Playhouse. Look across the street at Brown's Classic Interiors - Dee Wallace has a terrific window. Don't miss the buxom lass in front of the Buccaneer and the guy in front of The Bottle Shop. But ya gotta walk it, friends and neighbors, you can't see these amazing scarecrow people out the window of your car. Trust me! The Kensington has a scarecrow family.

Speaking of the Playhouse, hope you saw the column on the Arts & Entertainment page of the October 15 issue of the News, boldly announcing "Return of the Tingler" - The Time Machine returns, plus Roddy Robot. All presented by The Symbiotic Society – formerly known as the Zombie Players. Free shows will run every half hour from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Halloween Night Only! We thoroughly enjoyed the Zombie Players presentation last Halloween and strongly encourage you to take advantage of what The Symbiotic Society somewhat nutty, demented and over-the-top members have for you this year. Free is always good, and the Playhouse is right in the center of all the Halloween activities downtown.

We've heard a lot this past week or so about bad behavior by some of our bears on the Bailey Canyon Trail. Lots of conjecture about a romance interrupted; or possibly our friend, Dan Richman got between a mama bear and her pretty overgrown cub, but we're happy he wasn't hurt worse than he was and that no bears were euthanized. All of which brought to mind a dear friend, storyteller and singer, Rosalie Sorrells, who for many years, sang a wonderful song:

Waltzing With Bears.

"Well my uncle Walter goes waltzing with bears; It's a most unbearable state of affairs. Every Saturday night he creeps down the back stairs; Slips out of the house and goes waltzing with bears.

Chorus:

He goes wa-wa-wa-wa-wa-waltzing with bears, Raggy bears, baggy bears, shaggy bears too. And there's nothin' on earth uncle Walter won't do So he can go waltzing - wa- wa- wa- waltzing, So he can go waltzing, go waltzing with bears.

I went to his room in the middle of the night, I tiptoed inside and I turned on the light; But to my dismay he was nowhere in sight, 'Cause my uncle Walter goes waltzing at night.

Chorus:

Well I bought uncle Walter a new coat to wear, But when he comes in it's all covered with hair. And lately I've noticed a couple new tears; 'Cause my uncle Walter goes waltzing with bears."

And there's even more about uncle Walter.... Think it was written by Seamus Kennedy and you can find it on YouTube. A guaranteed smile!

South Pasadena Burglars Caught on Camera

South Lake Mature Ficus Trees to be Cut Down

Pasadena city officials said Wednesday they are cutting down three large 70 year old Ficus trees along South Lake Avenue, in light of protests to stop what residents are calling a "slaughter of trees."

Officials said the trees will most likely be removed within the next eight days, in the middle of the night.

A lawsuit filed in 2014 against the city claims the tree, owned by the city, are threating the structural integrity of some buildings, clogging drains with debris and damaging sidewalks among other things. The decision to cut the trees down comes as an out of court settlement with a property owner. A group of residents said they may file an injunction to stop the removal.

If the trees are cut down, they will most likely be replaced with London plane trees officials said.

Pet of the Week

Hoygi (A406773) is a oneyear-old, neutered male, white kitty with one striking blue eye. Earlier this month, a good Samaritan found him walking alone down a city street with only one eye to look out for himself. They brought him in to PHS, and he's now comfortable and safe while he looks for his forever home. This affectionate boy has quickly won over our staff with his loving personality. Whether he's on the prowl for some head rubs or looking for a warm lap to curl up in, Hoygi is irresistibly sweet. Stop by PHS to visit this special kitty; we know you'll fall in love.

The adoption fee for cats is $70, which includes the spay or neuter surgery, microchip, and vaccinations.

New adopters will receive a complimentary health-andwellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at (626) 792-7151 to ask about A406773, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email. Directions and photos of all pets can be found at pasadenahumane.org.

REVISED CELL TOWER PROPOSED BY VERIZON DENIED

The Arcadia Planning Commission voted 3 to 1 to adopt Resolution No. 1970 to deny Verizon's revised proposal for a new, wireless, communication facility at The Church of the Transfiguration at 1881 S. KIM RHODE: NEW SKEET WOMEN

By Joan Schmidt

Last Thursday I received a wonderful email from Kim Rhode's proud parents. Kim had been in Italy competing in the World Cup Finals and took a Gold Medal in the Women's International Skeet Competition on October 12. The World Cup Finals are the last competition of the year, and participation is by invitation only! Each competitor has medaled in either a World Cup or Olympics in this past year-2016. This very prestigious event includes the world's top shooters.

Kim's mom gave me the link to the official press release from the International Shooting Sports Federation (ISSF). There was a lot of good information, and in the following paragraphs, I will share some of

The ISSF announced that Kim Rhode became the new Skeet Women World Cup Champion in the World Cup Final Shotgun in Rome.. How was this achieved? She had a perfect score of 16 hits in the Gold Medal Match, beating Wei Meng of the People's Republic of China, who had 15 hits; therefore Wei received the Silver Medal. (An interesting note-When Kim and Mei were in Rio de Janeiro in the Summer Olympics, they finished third and fourth respectively.)

To get to the Gold Medal Match, Kim had cleared the semi-final with 14 hits out of 16 shots passing through a three-way shoot-off with 1 +7.

The Bronze Medal went to Thailand's Sutliya Jiewchaloemmit; Italy's Olympic Champion Diana Bacosi, achieved 4th; and Bacosi's teammate 2008 Olympic Champion Chiara Cainero took 5th place.

Kim said "It was an incredible experience... fantastic competitors out there, a lot of experience, on against them and do as well as I did. I am very thankful mom is #1 fan.) for the day."

She credits husband Mike Harryman with so much support to keep her motivated.) Kim also said, "Going for that record, 6 for 6, and having attained it in Rio was an amazing, very humbling experience. And hopefully, there's more to come."

What are Kim's immediate plans? "Right now at the end of the season I want to dedicate some time to my son (Carter) and family". ALVERNO HEIGHTS ACADEMY STUDENT TO PERFORM WITH MICHAEL FEINSTEIN

Alverno Senior, Sofia Gonzalez, will perform with Michael Feinstein at The Colburn School

Sierra Madre, CA -

Gonzalez student Sofia '17, the summer before senior year seemed to be a normal one filled with trips, camp, and her regular vocal lessons that is until she received a text message from her vocal instructor at The Colburn School of Music, Kay Montgomery, letting her know that she had been selected to perform with Michael Feinstein at Zipper Hall on Saturday, October 22. Feinstein will be performing as a part of a fundraiser for The Colburn School and the Great American Songbook productions at Holy Family Foundation.

"All of this happened by chance," said Sofia Gonzalez '17. "To be singing with Michael Feinstein is an incredible honor and I am so grateful to have been chosen. Here is a man who is working to keeping the art of musical theatre alive by providing students with scholarships and I was selected to be able to sing with him—it's crazy, exciting, and amazing all at the same time!"

Little did Sofia know at thetime. that her mother, Patricia, had been working with Ms. Montgomery and other individuals at The Colburn School to provide video clips of Sofia's performances to Mr. Feinstein.

"It was funny because my mom didn't really know how to upload things on to YouTube and so she was trying to do all of this behind my back without telling too many members of my family," Sofia said. "My younger sister almost let it slip when she showed me the videos on YouTube but fortunately, everything happened the way it was meant to."

When Sofia takes the stage alongside Michael Feinstein on Saturday, October 22 she will be singing "I Have Confidence" from ever auditioned for.

"I decided to try out for The Sound of Music at Holy Family in South For Alverno Heights Academy Pasadena after I had transferred there," she said. "I knew nothing about theatre and went into the audition and sang "Viva La Vida" by Coldplay, which is a little out of place for The Sound of Music. I ended up being cast as a nun and sang the opening number, a Latin chant, a capella. I went from zero to standing in the spotlight at the opening of the show.

> Since then, Sofia has been committed to musical theatre and participated in numerous and St. Francis High School. At Alverno Heights Academy, Sofia is a member of the ComedySportz team and sings as a member of the Liturgical Mass Band. A few years ago, she started taking classes at The Colburn School where she met > current mentor, Kay Montgomery. "Kay just really inspires me," Sofia said. "She is incredibly talented and knowledgeable and really commits herself wholeheartedly to her students. I certainly would not be able to do this and have these experiences without her."

> On top of everything else, Sofia is also busy preparing applications, performance videos, and resumes for college. With music and theatre as one of the center points of her life, Sofia has set her sights on schools that will allow her to continue her passion and provide her with the skills for growth. The University of Arizona, Baldwin Wallace, Carnegie Mellon, and Pace University are all at the top of her list and with strong performing arts departments they will certainly give Sofia the opportunity to grow.

"I've wanted to pursue musical theater as a career for a while," she said, "and that dream has been reaffirmed for me this year. I want to have a well-rounded education that includes both strong academics and strong arts so I can become a The Sound of Music, a show that more globally-minded individual," was ironically the first play Sofia she said. "The more I study, the more I can apply concepts from real life to the shows I'll be in, About Alverno Heights Academy making the whole experience more meaningful for me."

Despite the excitement of everything, Sofia is still an Alverno Heights senior looking to enjoy the final months of high school with her friends and family. When asked what her go to karaoke choice would be for a party on the Alverno terrace, her reply was simple. "Billie Jean' by Michael Jackson because it's simple and cool," she said. 'However, if it was Broadway karaoke, then it would definitely be "Don't Rain on My Parade" by Barbra Streisand."

Alverno Heights Academy girlintelligent, talented, empowered and well-rounded and we could not be more proud of her," said Julia V. Fanara, Head of School. "On behalf of everyone at Alverno, congratulations on this wonderful accomplishment and know that we are all cheering you on. We certainly have confidence the world will all be yours."

Alverno Heights Academy is an all-girls, independent, progressive Catholic, college preparatory school dedicated to its mission of empowering each young woman to be exactly the person she wants to be. TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

Recently, I was the recipient of an exceptional question from reader Amber Moyes of Monrovia. It appears that Rodeo Drive and their wine list may have migrated to a location near us. Amber was at the Langham Hotel and enjoyed a glass of Black Stallion Cabernet ($15), and she asked this writer to investigate how establishments come up with prices of wines by the glass. I dream of a day when a poor restaurant critic may soothe his many worries with an exceptional glass of wine and not be required to carry a bag of diamonds as payment. Like the majority of us, Amber strikes me as a regular consumer of wine; a person who is not cheap but searches for value when she is dining out. I must admit I, too, like the gentle view from the Tap Room over looking the 50 acres of greenery.

I reached out to my many sources in the industry and this is what I found out. Ian Blackburn, founder of Learnaboutwine.com, said, "That ($15) is common for a good glass of wine and the math works out to ($52) for the full bottle at that price per glass." While many chain restaurants use a Libby wine glass which costs a couple of bucks, upscale restaurants use a higher quality glass, so you can guess that the cost of the glass might be just a bit lower than what they paid for the entire bottle. My next call was to Randy, who owns the Domenico's restaurant on Washington in Pasadena. He tells me that his wine purveyors suggest to "tripling the cost of the bottle". This means if you see a bottle for $30 at your favorite restaurant, by this rule of thumb, they paid $10 for it."

service because, yes, they still have to open your bottle and clean the glasses. I find it that is unacceptable to bring in a bottle of wine that is already listed on the restaurant's menu. If it is an owner-occupied restaurant, often it is a good gesture to let the owner sample the wine that you have brought in. Who picks the wine? Erudite wine broker Eddie Ramirez offers this insightful advice, "Always have the wine list when ordering, and I do not recommend asking the servers for a wine recommendation unless you do not have any issues with the price." My suggestion to Amber and my readers is it to never blindly let the server choose the wine for you and be careful on the "House Wine" I stayed at a resort in South Laguna just a few years ago and my bill was $110!!

I hope this helps. I learned something as well.

THE GOOD LIFE

At age 76, my husband has become forgetful lately and is worried he may have Alzheimer's. What resources can you recommend to help us get a grip on this? Concerned Wife

Dear Concerned,

Many seniors worry about memory lapses as they get older fearing it may be the first signs of Alzheimer's disease or some other type of dementia. To get some insight on the seriousness of your husband's problem, here are some resources you can turn to for help.

Warning Signs

As we grow older, some memory difficulties – such as forgetting names or misplacing items from time to time – are associated with normal aging. But the symptoms of dementia are much more than simple memory lapses.

While symptoms can vary greatly, people with dementia may have problems with short-term memory, keeping track of a purse or wallet, paying bills, planning and preparing meals, remembering appointments or traveling out of the neighborhood. To help you and your husband recognize the difference between typical age-related memory loss and a more serious problem, the Alzheimer's Association provides a list of 10 warning signs that you can assess at 10 signs.

They also provide information including the signs and symptoms on the other conditions that can cause dementia like vascular dementia, Lewy body dementia, frontotemporal dementia, Parkinson's disease, Huntington's disease, chronic traumatic encephalopathy and others - see ALZ.org/dementia.

Memory Screening

Another good place to help you get a handle on your husband's memory problems is through the National Memory Screening Program, which offers free memory screenings throughout National Memory Screening Month in November.

Sponsored by the Alzheimer's Foundation of America, this free service provides a confidential, faceto-face memory screening that takes about 10 minutes to complete and consists of questions and/or tasks to evaluate his memory status.

Screenings are given by doctors, nurse practitioners, osychologists, social workers or other healthcare professionals in thousands of sites across the country. It's also important to know that this screening is not a diagnosis. Instead, its goal is to detect problems and refer individuals with these problems for further

To find a screening site in your area visit NationalMemoryScreening.org or call 866-232-8484. It's best to check for a screening location at the end of October, because new sites are constantly being added.

See a Doctor

If you can't find a screening site in your area, make an appointment with his primary care doctor to get a cognitive checkup. This is covered 100 percent by Medicare as part of their annual wellness visit. If his doctor suspects any problems, he may give him the Memory Impairment Screen, the General Practitioner Assessment of Cognition, or the Mini Cog. Each test can be given in less then five minutes.

Depending on his score, his doctor may order followup tests or simply keep it on file so he can see if there are any changes down the road. Or, he may then refer him to a geriatrician or neurologist who specializes in diagnosing and treating memory loss or Alzheimer's disease.

Keep in mind that even if your husband is experiencing some memory problems, it doesn't necessarily mean he has dementia. Many memory problems are brought on by other factors like stress, depression, thyroid disease, side effects of medications, sleep disorders, vitamin deficiencies and other medical conditions. And by treating these conditions he can reduce or eliminate the problem.

CURIOUS TILT OF THE SUN TRACED TO UNDISCOVERED PLANET

Planet Nine—the undiscovered planet at the edge of the solar system predicted by Caltech's Konstantin Batygin and Mike Brown in January 2016—appears to be responsible for the unusual tilt of the Sun.

The large and distant planet may be adding a wobble to the solar system, giving the appearance that the Sun is tilted slightly.

Because Planet Nine is so massive and has an orbit tilted compared to the other planets, the solar system has no choice but to slowly twist out of alignment," says Elizabeth Bailey, a graduate student at Caltech and lead author of a study announcing the discovery.

All of the planets orbit in a flat plane with respect to the Sun, roughly within a couple degrees of each other. That plane, however, rotates at a six-degree tilt with respect to the Sun—giving the appearance that the Sun itself is cocked at an angle. Until now, no one had found a compelling explanation to produce such an effect. "It's such a deep-rooted mystery and so difficult to explain that people just don't talk about it," says Brown, Caltech's Richard and Barbara Rosenberg Professor of Planetary Astronomy.

Brown and Batygin's discovery of evidence that the Sun is orbited by an as-yet-unseen planet—about 10 times the size of Earth with an orbit about 20 times farther from the Sun on average than Neptune's—changes the physics.

Planet Nine, based on their calculations, appears to orbit at about 30 degrees off from the other planets' orbital plane. This tilt influences the orbits of a large population of objects in the Kuiper Belt-which is the reason Brown and Batygin came to suspect a planet existed there orbiting a central star. in the first place.

carefully we continue to find that Planet Nine on its location and size. A planet's angular explains something about the solar system that had long been a mystery," says Batygin, an multiplied by its distance from the Sun, and assistant professor of planetary science.

long befuddled astronomers because of the way the planets formed: as a spinning cloud slowly a flat plane, their angular momentum works to collapsing first into a disk and then into objects keep the whole disk spinning smoothly.

"It continues to amaze us; every time we look an outsized impact on the solar system based momentum equals the mass of an object corresponds with the force that the planet The tilt of the solar system's orbital plane has exerts on the overall system's spin. Because the other planets in the solar system all exist along

Planet Nine's unusual orbit, however, adds Planet Nine's angular momentum is having a multi-billion-year wobble to that system. Mathematically, given the hypothesized size and distance of Planet Nine, a six-degree tilt fits perfectly, Brown says.

The next question, then, is how did Planet Nine achieve its unusual orbit? Though that remains to be determined, Batygin suggests that the planet may have been ejected from the neighborhood of the gas giants by Jupiter, or perhaps may have been influenced by the MtnViewsNews.com.

gravitational pull of other stellar bodies in the solar system's extreme past.

For now, Brown and Batygin continue to work with colleagues throughout the world to search the night sky for signs of Planet Nine along the path they predicted in January. That search, Brown says, may take three years or

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges THE ROOTS OF HALLOWE'EN

Is it possible to celebrate a pre-commercialized version?

[Nverges is the author of several books including "How to Survive Anywhere," "Extreme Simplicity," and "Foraging California." Information about his books and classes is available at www. SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com.]

Recently, I was part of a conversation where our small group wondered, How was this Holy Day commemorated before it was all commercialized into a scarv night? Ís it possible to observe this Holy Day in a similar fashion today? We determined that we'd need to dig up whatever historical facts we could find that show how this day was commemorated before 1700, more or less. Though we couldn't be 100% certain, we at least assumed that "commercialization" didn't really exist in 1700, and all the European and some American commemorations before that year probably retained some semblance of what the day was all about, originally. So, first, let's begin with the day.

It is believed that the ancient Celts observed something called a 'Samhain festival" towards the end of October. Says the World Book Encyclopedia. "The Celts believed that the dead could walk among the living at this time. During Samhain, the living could visit with the dead. Elements of the customs can be traced to a Druid ceremony in pre-Christian times. The Celts had festivals for two major gods—a sun god and a god of the dead (called Samhain), whose festival was held on November 1, the beginning of the Celtic New Year. This day, or period, was to mark the end of the harvest and the beginning of winter.

Samhain (pronounced "sow-in," which means "summer's end," or the name of a god, or both) is seen by some Wiccans as a time to celebrate the lives of those who have died, and it often involves paying respect to ancestors, family members, elders of the faith, friends, pets and other loved ones who have died. In some rituals the spirits of the dead are invited to attend the festivities.

Various sorts of activities done on Samhain have been described over thecenturies. In Ireland, Samhain was a time to take stock of the herds and food supplies. Cattle were brought to the winter pastures after six months in the higher summer pastures. Then, the people chose which animals to slaughter before the winter. After the slaughter of the animals, there would be feasting. And obviously, if you aren't an animal-raising farmer, how would you celebrate this aspect, except for the feasting?

The Catholic Church was aware of all the so-called "pagan" observances, and had their own day to commemorate the dead, May 13. This began in 609 or 610 C.E., when Pope Boniface the 4th dedicated the Pantheon—the Roman temple of all the gods—to Mary and all the martyrs. Later that date was changed by Pope Gregory III (731-741 C.E.), who dedicated a chapel in Rome to all the saints and ordered that they be honored on November 1. This was done, in part, to overshadow the preexisting Samhain commemorations.

In the 11th century, November 2nd was assigned as "All Souls' Day" in commemoration of the dead. So this began the use of the term Hallow's Eve, or Hallowe'en for October 31.

Hallowe'en customs are similar to the observance of Dia de los Muertos or Day of the Dead, commonly practiced in Mexico and which can be traced to early Aztec times. Apparently, this "day of the dead" was originally commemorated in Mexico in May, and was changed to November 2 sometime after Spanish contact to correspond with the Christian tradition. FOOD and GIFTING

Trick or treating in modern times goes back to leaving food and wine for roaming dead spirits and ghosts. The custom was referred to as "going a-souling" and was eventually practiced only by the children who would visit the houses in their neighborhoods and be given gifts of ale, food and money. It was believed the spirits of the dead returned to visit their old homes during this time, so in ancient times, people left food out for them and arranged chairs so that the dead would be able to rest.

Treats called "soul cakes" were given out in memory of the departed. The Middle Age practice of souling — going door to door begging for food in return for prayers — became popular and is even referenced by William Shakespeare in 1593. This is obviously the root of the modern "trickortreating" formini Snickers bars, a practice no doubt loved by every Seasonal foods such as apples and nuts were often used in the Samhain rituals. Apples were peeled, the peel tossed over the shoulder, and its shape examined to see if it formed the first letter of the future spouse's name. Nuts were roasted on the hearth and then interpreted – if the nuts stayed together, so would the couple. Egg whites were dropped in water, and the shapes foretold the number of future children. Children would also chase crows and divine some of these things from the number of birds or the direction they flew.

COSTUMÉS

Celts would wear masks when they left their homes during the night hours during Samhain days, because they hoped they would avoid being recognized by the ghosts and be mistaken merely for fellow ghosts.

"Mumming" and "Guising" were a part of Samhain from at least the 16th century and was recorded in parts of Ireland, Scotland, Mann and Wales. It involved people going from house to house in costume (or in disguise), usually reciting songs or verses in exchange for food. It is suggested that it evolved from a tradition whereby people impersonated the aos sí, or the souls of the dead, and received offerings on their behalf. Impersonating these spirits or souls was also believed to protect oneself from them. One researcher suggests that the ancient festival included people in masks or costumes representing these spirits, and that the modern custom came from this. PARADES

Pagan Celtic priestesses and their followers would roam the countryside, chanting songs in order to frighten away the evil spirits thought to be out on Halloween night. I wonder how that could be practiced in your neighborhood?

Bonfires were a big part of the festival in many areas of western Europe. Bonfires were typically lit on hill tops at Samhain where everyone could see them, and there were rituals involving them. Bonfires comes from the root, "bone-fires" because the priests sacrificed animals and supposedly even people in an attempt to appease the sun god, while also looking for future omens. The fire was said to be a type of sympathetic magic, where the fire mimicked the sun, which has the power to hold back the darkness of winter. Burning the fires was also believed to be a way of banishing evil, at least symbolically. DIVINATION

Divination has likely been a part of the festival since ancient times, and it has survived in some rural areas. In part, this meant that the spirits, the aos sí, could enter your world. Many of the food offerings and fires were directed to the aos sí. Or perhaps, some of the crops might also be left in the ground for them the aos sí. The aos sí were addressed in various ways, with food offerings, with walks into the ocean, with the idea to hold off any mischief, and perhaps to learn the future.

The belief that the souls of the dead return home on one night of the year seems to have ancient origins and is found in many cultures throughout the world. CONCLUSION

So what do you conclude from all this? Is there an ideal way to commemorate this ancient day, and still avoid the trappings of commercialization? Is it even possible?

I like the way that the Day of the Dead is commemorated. There are altars with pictures of the dearly departed, and plates of good food. Candles are lit, rather than a big bonfire which the local fire department would frown upon. Families gather, and talk in respectful tones about their departed relatives. Yes, of course, even the Day of the Dead has turned into wild partying in some quarters, but if you seek a return to roots of the ancient commemoration of the dead, perhaps begin here. Begin with family or neighborhood gatherings. Prepare a good meal, and keep in the mind the foods that your beloved departeds enjoyed. This is not necessarily because you think their spirits will come to eat (last I checked, ghosts don't need to eat), but because having, for example, your mother's favorite dish will give you another reason to talk about your mother, and to remember all the good things she did.

This is at least a start, and it elevates our day of ghoulish and pointless fearmongering into one that reconnects us with our roots.

A CUP OF JOE SAYS A LOT ABOUT US

for some reason I miscalculated and ended up contradicted his ideas. with a 2-1/2 hour gap between meetings. I hate Grandfather always kept a fire in the old wood and with the cost of gas these days, one cannot be to fill up the car than the car is actually worth. The most valuable thing in my car is in my gas

I remedied the situation by stopping in a small coffee shop for a cup of Joe. As far as I am concerned, there is no bad time to have a cup of coffee, in spite of the price. I ordered my coffee and when the waitress brought it, I began to think about coffee. Why did God give us coffee?

Then my mind went back to my grandfather, whose greatest gift to me was a love of coffee. Nobody loved coffee more. I remember one of his favorite quotes, "You can always tell a man by the coffee he drinks."

Anathema to my grandfather was the idea of instant coffee. No man, in his opinion, would ever drink anything of the kind. "If a man would drink instant coffee," my grandfather perked, "there's no telling what else he would do. Never trust a man who drinks instant coffee."

Making coffee was an art form to my grandfather. There was a right way and a wrong yay to make coffee, and he always insisted on the right way. Of course, the right way was his way. In grandfather's kitchen was an old woodburning cook stove. My grandmother cooked meals on this ancient apparatus for more than 50 years. On this old-fashioned stove, my grandfather brewed his famous mud broth. He never allowed my grandmother to make the brew; it was his job, which he took seriously.

Once for his birthday, we all chipped in and bought him an electric coffee pot. I had never seen my grandfather so mad. When he saw what it was, he would not even take it out of the box.

This week I came face-to-face with a genuine He had strong ideas about coffee and how it dilemma. I had several meetings across town and should be brewed and woe be to the person who to waste time, but if I drove back to my office, I cook stove and on the back of the stove he kept his would simply have to return to my meeting later coffee pot, a large 2-gallon pot — one of those oldfashioned percolators long since gone out of style. The coffee was always on, and no matter when You know gas is getting high when it costs more you stopped in to see him, he always had "fresh" coffee brewing.

When I say, "fresh," I need to explain. Actually, the coffee was only fresh on Sunday. On Saturday night, he routinely emptied the coffee pot and prepared fresh coffee for Sunday morning.

He had an old coffee grinder and ground the coffee beans on Saturday night. He put some other things in the coffee, I have never figured out what. One thing I know he put in was a crushed eggshell. What it did to his coffee, I have no idea but grandfather was sure it was an important ingredient.

The freshly ground coffee beans were put in, the pot filled with fresh water and set on the back of the stove to slowly perk. This coffee would last the entire week. The coffee was so strong on Sunday that if it did not wake you in the morning, you were dead.

In fact, Cousin Ernie died on a Sunday afternoon, so my grandfather tells the story, and one sip of his black coffee roused him and he lived seven more years, which was unfortunate for grandfather, as he had to support him.

Before retiring each evening my grandfather took care of his coffee. He would freshly grind a few coffee beans, sprinkle it on top of the old coffee grounds and then add a newly crushed eggshell. Then he would refill the coffee pot with water.

His coffee percolated 24/7 and by Saturday it was so strong you needed a half-cup of sugar just to drink one cup. It was thick enough to use as syrup on your pancakes, but so strong, it dissolved your pancakes before you could eat them.

My grandmother once tried washing the coffee pot. When my grandfather saw her, he became furious, "Never wash that coffee pot," he spouted, "you'll ruin its character and a coffee pot needs a lot of character to make good coffee."

When my grandfather died, I looked at his old black coffee pot and discovered two things. One, the original color was blue. And two, although it was originally a 2-gallon pot, it only could take three quarts of water. The "character," so important to my grandfather, had built up so much over the years its capacity was diminished.

In pondering my grandfather, I thought about my Heavenly Father and His gifts. The Bible puts it this way; "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1:17).

I really do not know why God gave us coffee, but I do know God's character is of such a nature that it never diminishes His ability to bless me each day.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

COGNITIVE CAPACITY OF THE CANINE

It is no secret that the average domestic dog is capable of learning and responding to a wide variety of verbal commands. Particularly common to most pets are the single-consonant terms typically used in basic obedience training, such as "fetch", "sit" or "stay". In fact, I have yet to meet a pet owner who has not taken the time to teach their dog at least one or two commands, to help keep some semblance of order and prevent chaos in the household.

Historically, the general consensus regarding a canine's aptitude for learning, responding to and obeying verbal commands has been based more on the dog's parsimonious survival instincts than on intelligence or cognitive capacity. However, relatively recent scientific studies indicate that there may be a lot more to a dog's ability to learn than what we might think.

Research findings show that most dogs apply previous learning to new situations, perform selective imitation, and understand human gestures and new words. Thought processes more often attributed to us humans. Further, the results of many recent studies indicate that the dog's capacity for communicating with, learning from and relating to humans is more cognitive than survival-driven instinct.

While many mammalian species are apparently capable of learning and responding to the verbal commands and physical gestures of the human, the cooperative nature of the canine is what sets it apart from most other mammals. The difference lies in the fact that the domestic dog harbors a certain loyalty toward his human master, that most other mammals do not possess. This is likely related to the fact that the dog depends on the human for it's day-to-day needs, nourishment and safety more than most other mammalian sub-species.

Another unique factor is that the dog tends to thrive on pleasing his human friend and genuinely enjoys the company. Take "Chaser", for example. Chaser is a six-year-old Border Collie, trained to understand and comprehend more than 1,000 English spoken words. He even comprehends the words when they are used in a combination of simple sentences.

Chaser responds correctly when told to either retrieve & deliver, nose, toe or hide a given object; and we are talking about a collection of 1,000 items, each of which he remembers the given name! Border Collies are more attentive and trainable than most dog breeds, that I admit, and they are considered to be more intelligent than most other breeds but still, it is amazing that any dog can perform a task involving such complex memory and problemsolving combinations.

Another example of the remarkable cognitive capacity of the canine is shown in the results of a study at the University of Vienna in Austria where numerous dogs were prompted to select particular photos on a touch computer screen. The point of the study was to show that the canines could categorize the graphic matter in the photos per command, based on visual familiarity and memory. When shown different sets of dog and landscape photos, the subject canines consistently selected the appropriate photo per command, demonstrating that they could apply their own understanding and previous learning to a new situation un-related to previous experiences.

Researchers further tested their four-legged subjects by showing pictures of empty landscapes along with others of similar landscapes including a dog. Most subjects selected the pictures with the dog in the landscape. Pretty amazing stuff!

Although it doesn't matter to me whether my dog could select the correct picture in an experiment or remember every command I hope to instill in her, just knowing that she's capable of consistently understanding, comprehending and responding to my verbal and body language to the extent that she can is quite remarkable and it inspires me to learn more about the cognitive capacity of the

Cautious Costumes

Stash The Goodies

What's Halloween without a bounty of candy? Whether it's a bowl of candy ready for little ghosts and goblins, or the loot brought home from a night of trickor-treating, it should be kept far out of reach of Fido and Fluffy. Chocolate, especially dark or baking chocolate, is dangerous for pets, and Xylitol, an artificial sweetener found in sugar-free candies and most types of gum, can also cause very serious medical problems for your pets. If you think your pet has eaten something toxic, please call us or the ASPCA Poison Control Center at 888-426-4435 immediately.

Most of us can't resist a four-legged vampire, a tail-wagging superhero, or a fluffy princess. In fact, pet parents spend an average of $350 million on pet costumes each Halloween. So, if you and your fur baby's Halloween plans include dressing up for a costume contest, parade, or trick-or-treating, there are a few things to keep in mind. Choose your pet's costume with care; make sure that it fits well and doesn't restrict his breathing, movement, eye sight, barking, or meowing. Be mindful of any dangling pieces of fabric or buttons that can be chewed off and swallowed. Costumes can be stressful for some pets, so no matter how adorable your cat looks dressed up as a pirate or your dog as Darth Vader, if he seems distressed, it's best to avoid the costume.

Prevent Spooked Pets Seeing excited trick-or-treaters dressed up and having fun may be one of your favorite parts of Halloween, but it may also be a scary and stressful time for your pet. To reduce anxiety and prevent your precious pet from fleeing, most pets do best when kept in a separate room, away from the front door while trick-ortreaters are out and about. Remember, the best dressed pets this Halloween are wearing a collar with an I.D. tag and a microchip! Proper identification is the best chance of you becoming reunited with your pet should he become lost.

Valley Mosquito and Vector this product can be found at: October 20, 2016 in a small area of Rosemead. The focus of the treatments is to reduce increasing larval and adult populations of Aedes albopictus. This mosquito is an aggressive day biter capable of transmitting several serious viral diseases including Zika, chikungunya, and dengue.

The treatments will cover an area of Rosemead north of Arroyo Rd above SR 60, east of (and including) Paramount Blvd./San Gabriel Blvd., south of (and including) Rush Street, and west of Whittier Narrows Golf Course . The treatment area is based on recent surveillance data and the likelihood of and properties that will be treated within this zone may be adjusted as data are received between now and the treatment day. These adjustments will be posted within the treatment zone 24-48 hours prior to treatments.

The District will begin treatments on the morning of Thursday, October 20, 2016 at approximately 12:00 a.m. and conclude by 5:00 a.m. This time window was chosen to avoid traffic and outdoor pedestrian activity as well as maximize favorable weather conditions. An alternate date of Friday, October 21, 2016 at the same time may be used in case of inclement weather affecting treatment.

Two different products will be applied targeting immature (larvicide) and adult (adulticide) Aedes albopictus. Notes from the Sierra MadrePlayhouse

THE SAVAGE BEAST

By Artistic Director, Christian Lebano We've heard the expression "Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast." But I would emend it to: "Theater hath charms...." I spent the evening yesterday at SMP preparing for the arrival of Sister and her Late Nite Catechism . We got her room ready, her blackboard cleaned, her pencils sharpened; we hung the religious posters and polished the furniture. No detail is too small Estelle Campbell and Ward Calaway, my partners in managing SMP, and Derek Copenhaver, our Stage Manager, were there last night, as well. And we all were giddy with excitement far beyond the tasks we were engaged in preparing for Late Nite Catechism. I realized that we have ALL been charmed – or infected with a love of making theater. As we reviewed the needs for Sister's class and made preparations, I noticed that we were smiling a lot and all happy to be together in that room.

I've written about how much I love making theater, how much I love our Playhouse, how much joy I get from just being in our theater. I was reminded of it again last night. It is so complicated and rich - a mixture of joy of story-telling, a desire to make people happy, a hope of making a difference and an impact on people, a belief in the power of community and coming together to share an experience, and maybe a experiences in the theater. For tickets please call Mary bit of delight in make-believe. Whatever it is – I know in the box office at 626.355.4318. Hope to see you soon!

we all felt it last night.

The break in our schedule when we had to postpone Bee-luther-hatchee has meant that coming back to the Playhouse last night was even sweeter because of having been away. I'm so happy – so charmed - we are back to producing wonderful memories for you and for me. I can't wait to see you in the lobby again.

Late Nite is selling well – Sunday is sold-out and we have strong sales on all of the other days. We've placed an ad in this paper and several others – I really want the show to sell out so I can convince the Board to let me bring it back for a longer run or in a different version. Please come - I promise you, you'll laugh vourselves off your chairs. A reminder that it plays through Saturday night, October 22.

Our next reading is Foxfire on Monday night, October 17. This one is directed by Karesa McElheny who played Helga in Deathtrap. Come and hear them and tell me what you think. I'm excited about these free readings, these are all plays I'm thinking would be a good fit for a full production. At the last reading we had about 40 people. Makes me so glad to be able to share another event with you.

As always we do it for you - our SMP family whose support and loyalty mean so much to us and for whom we hope we bring pleasure and joy and moving of the time machine featured in the 1960 movie, The Time Machine. The movie is based on the famous H.G. Wells book of the same name, starring Rod Taylor and Yvette Mimieux. It differs from the original in having fun lights controllable by the rider. Those wishing to return to their younger years can ride the Time Machine before or after the shows.

RODDY ROBOT - He invokes memories of the 50-60's era anthropomorphic robots featured in many sci-fi B-movies. He joins the Time Machine as a great photo opportunity. A professional photographer will take photos free of charge. ABOUT THE SYMBIOTIC SOCIETY – this deranged group of volunteer individuals, formerly known as the Zombie Players Association, creates an annual event at the Sierra Madre Playhouse during Halloween. Since the group is primarily senior in nature with signs of dementia, the presentations are nutty and over-the-top. The whole purpose is to provide free fun entertainment, primarily for kids and those wishing to be kids again. The Halloween activity is a drastic switch, maybe its cathartic in nature, from the Society's primary goal of promoting the Human and Tingler alliance. FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

WHAT CAN AMERICANS LEARN ABOUT HAPPINESS FROM BHUTAN?

Bhutan is an independent state in Southeast Asia, bordered by China to the north and India to the happiness, south. Nestled in the Himalayas, Bhutan is the last remaining Buddhist state in the world. But one of the most unique aspects of Bhutanese government is the country's use of the Gross National Happiness (GNH) Index to measure the society's level of happiness.

The country reports 91.2% of Bhutanese are narrowly, extensively, or deeply happy. Across groups the index shows:

- · men are happier than women;
- · urban dwellers are happier than rural residents;
- · those with a higher education level are happier than the less educated; and · single or married people are happier than those widowed, divorced, or separated.

The country goes on to note that happiness is improving for women, older people, and lower educated citizens more quickly than for the rest of its population. But some believe that these factors don't tell the entire story.

Culturally, the Bhutanese are "expected to think about death five times a day." Some people feel that reflecting on death causes greater focus and increased appreciation for life.

Consider an article written by Eric Weiner for the BBC. Weiner cites research that seems to demonstrate a connection between thinking about death and positive thoughts. He also argued that "Unlike many of us in the West, the Bhutanese don't sequester death. Death—and images of death—are everywhere.'

It's true: Confronting the thing we fear the most can be quite freeing. For example, planning for death brings the peace of mind knowing we are prepared for it when the time comes. There is great satisfaction in ensuring our families will be provided for and our assets will be tended to, even after we are gone.

And as the Bhutanese know, putting death in context and being prepared for it are big keys to living fuller, happier lives.

DEAR EDITOR - RE: LEAF BLOWERS

The Sierra Madre City Council will be discussing leaf blowers in the near future possibly as soon as Oct.24th.Look on the city's web site on Fridays for the agendas before for the 2nd and 4th Tuesday meetings. If you are tired of the constant noise and air pollution by these machines please go to the meeting or contact the council members on the city website to voice your concerns. It was heard a few years ago and very little happened because not enough people spoke up. Now is your chance to perhaps once and for all rid our beautiful city of these infernal machines as many other places across the U.S. have already done. It won't happen unless we all speak out about it. J. Brown, Sierra Madre

I realize I have picked on Republicans and Democrats but left Congress as an entity unto itself alone. If George Bush has a 29% approval rating and Congress has somewhere between 9 and 15% how come Congress isn't getting hammered as much as our commander in chief?

Of course, if we are going to discuss Congress I am going to fall back on my political hero, Will Rogers. Let's see what he had to say about our distinguished bi-cameral body of legislators.

As to why there are two bodies of legislators Mr. Rogers said, "You see, in Washington they have two of these bodies, Senate and the House of Representatives. That is for the convenience of visitors. If there is nothing funny happening in one, there is sure to be in the other, and in case one body passes a good bill, why, the

"If we took Congress serious, we would be worrying all the time." "Our Senate always opens with a prayer, followed by an investigation."

"A foreigner coming here and reading the Congressional Record would say that the President of the United States was elected solely for the purpose of giving Senators somebody to call a horse thief."

As to pork barrel spending, Mr. Rogers said, "The height of statesmanship is to come home with a dam, even if you have nowhere to put it."

On lobbyists, "California had a bill in to investigate lobbying, and the lobbyists bought off all the votes and now they can't even find the bill. Putting a lobbyist out of business is like a hired man trying to fire his boss."

"Hurray! Congress is to adjourn! Only four more days of the Congressional burglary of the Treasury!"

"Every newspaper in the United States runs what you say, even if you don't say anything. Look at the President. Every paper was full of what he didn't say." It's amazing to this reporter the perception of the people toward our elected officials hasn't changed in all these years. The only shift has been the ever increasing invasion in our lives of the media.

I have a thought: Wouldn't it be nice if we had a law where the candidates could only discuss what they individually would do if elected and had to keep mum about their opponent?

doubt as to the sinracy, the Republican took those doubts and burned them to the ground on Wednesday night.

Standing on a stage at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, Trump actually said, out loud, in full view of the television cameras, that he might not accept the results of the Nov. 8 election if he loses.

"I will tell you at the time," Trump said under questioning from the debate's moderator, Fox News anchor Chris Wallace, who'd pointed out that both GOP vice presidential candidate Mike Pence and Trump's daughter, Ivanka, had said they'd accept the results. But not Trump. "I will keep you in suspense," he said.

Even by Trump's own crass standards, it was an admission shocking in its narcissism and depressing in the depths of its banality. In a quick interjection, Democrat Hillary Clinton cut to the heart of the matter: "That's horrifying," she said. And even that is an understatement.

Trump has claimed that he's running to start a populist revolution, that he's the spokesman for the "forgotten" working man. At his core, Trump is, and always has been, an authoritarian.

From vows to open libel laws to persecute critical journalists and claims in Cleveland that "he alone" held the solutions to America's problems to his boast at the last presidential debate that he would jail his opponent, the warning signs have been there from the start.

On Wednesday, they were illuminated with spotlights and painted in neon.

In a move unprecedented for any major party candidate, Donald Trump struck a blow at the heart of America's electoral system, which is premised on the notion of a peaceful transition of power and the acceptance of the results.

Ever conspiracy-minded, Trump has spent the closing weeks of the campaign preparing his supporters for his defeat, even as he planted the seeds that someone else - not his own awful candidacy - might be the architect of that defeat.

"So let me just give you one other thing," he said. "So I talk about the corrupt media. I talk about the millions of people -- tell you one other thing. She shouldn't be allowed to run. It's crooked -- she's -she's guilty of a very, very serious crime. She should not be allowed to run."

If there was any It's a hateful gambit that's borne fruit.

gular and unique Some of Trump's supporters have spodanger that Don- ken of defying an eventual Clinton ald Trump poses to White House. Those at the borders of American democ-both credibility and stability have spoken openly of armed insurrection.

> Going into the third debate confrontation between two candidates who clearly neither like nor respect each other, it was tough to imagine what new nugget of information or fresh insight voters could glean about either Clinton or Trump.

> Wallace rightfully forced Clinton to explain the controversial Clinton Foundation and the apparently porous walls between its donors and the Clinton-run State Department.

> Clinton was effective, however, in explaining the good work her family's organization had done, juxtaposing it against Trump's highly questionable wielding of his own foundation.

> But it was a rare uncomfortable spot for Clinton, who remained in control of the debate for most of the night on Wednesday.

> Time and again, she lured Trump into rhetorical traps. And the Republican, either blithely unaware, or simply uncaring, traipsed into them.

> But it was in her comments about Trump's disregard for the electoral process that she made perhaps one of her most effective arguments.

"He lost the Iowa caucus. He lost the Wisconsin primary. He said the Republican primary was rigged against him," Clinton said. "Then Trump University gets sued for fraud and racketeering; he claims the court system and the federal judge is rigged against him. There was even a time when he didn't get an Emmy for his TV program three years in a row and he started tweeting that the Emmys were rigged against him."

She continued:

"This is -- this is a mindset. This is how Donald thinks. And it's funny, but it's also really troubling ... He is denigrating -- he's talking down our democracy. And I, for one, am appalled that somebody who is the nominee of one of our two major parties would take that kind of position.

Clinton was being charitable calling Trump merely appalling.

He is spectacularly unfit for the White House. And his remarks Wednesday amply demonstrate why he deserves to be defeated.

MAKING SENSE by Michael Reagan

TRUMP TRUMPS TRUMP If Trump says the Trump had his best debate in Nevada.

Instead of 90 minutes of him denying his alleged minor sexual aggressions, some actual issues were discussed Hillary Media -- the Supreme Court, the economy, trade, terrorism, immigration, guns and

And before he jumped the tracks, Trump scored a few solid hits on the crookedness of the Clinton Foundation and Hillary's serial lies to the FBI, Congress and the American people.

Not that anyone in the liberal media really cared.

During the debate half the Friends of Hillary who pass themselves off as honest journalists were either too busy cheering their sweetheart or jeering Trump to take notes.

It really didn't matter much.

They were only waiting for Trump to say something they considered politically offensive so they could start pounding out their selective outrage and disgust on their laptops and smartphones.

Did Trump call Hillary "a nasty woman"? Did he refer to illegal immigrants who commit crimes as "bad hombres"? Did he call Hillary "a puppet" first, or did she call him one first?

Though the Hillary Media tried to make each of those trumpisms into a war crime, after 15 months they weren't newsworthy. They were just new variations of the stuff Donald always says.

In the end, however, Trump didn't disappoint Hillary's fanboys and fangirls in the press room.

When he told moderator Chris Wallace he wasn't willing to say there and then that he'd automatically accept the results of the election and might challenge them if he thought there was something fishy, it wrecked his whole night.

It may have been common sense, but it guaranteed that the Hillary Media would get up early and spend all day Thursday talking about Dictator Trump being an unprecedented enemy of American democracy, violating the sanctity of the ballot box, threatening the peaceful passing along of power, etc., etc.

The journalists were too partisan to reand other Democrats — like Hillary, Bernie and Barack — using the "rigged" electoral process.

system is rigged, Western Civilization is at risk.

It's not that the would have been talking about the latest Wikileaks revelations or investigating what the holy Clinton Foundation did wrong in Haiti.

But Trump's mistake made it easy for them to continue ignoring Hillary, her health issues and the workings of her crime family.

Trump's mistake also did not help the Republican Party's chances to keep the Senate and House this fall.

"Will you respect the results of this election?" was probably the first question the local news media asked every Republican in America running for Congress or dogcatcher on Thursday.

Thanks to Trump's self-made distraction, Republican candidates couldn't get their messages out to the public in the same way Trump couldn't get out his.

Trump won't change. He can't change, no matter how much help his trainer Kellyanne Conway gives him. He can't pivot. He can't refute Hillary's lies in any detail.

He can't even look presidential. Hillary can fake a grandma smile with the best of them, but Trump wore a permanent scowl at the debate.

Winston Churchill had perpetual scowl too, but in case you haven't noticed, Donald is no Winston Churchill.

Trump didn't help himself at the debate. In fact, he may have pounded the last nail into his own coffin.

We'll find out in a little more than two

I just hope that if in early November the polls show he's going to get blown away, he doesn't go into a scorched-earth policy like Jimmy Carter did in 1980.

Carter conceded early on Election Day - 5 p.m. Pacific time. That affected voter turnout on the West Coast and Democrat down-ballot candidates were hurt.

Trump may have no chance of winning, member Al Gore not conceding in 2000 but for the sake of the Republican Party and the country he needs to fight all the way to the finish. The only thing worse word to describe various aspects of the than President Hillary is President Hillary and a Democratic Congress.
