MT. WILSON TRAIL NEEDS YOUR HELP

Damage by recent rains may jeopardize Trail Race if not repaired. The recent rains have inflicted damage on both the Mt. Wilson Trail and the Bailey Canyon Trail. Both trails have been badly damaged and blocked by sliding mud, debris and ground failure. A team of local trail volunteers, led by Charlie Bell and Pete Siberell are working to repair the Mt. Wilson Trail and make sure that it is open and safe. Pete is the Race Director of our very own Mt. Wilson Trail Race and leads teams of hard working volunteers up the trail every year from January to May to make sure the trail is open and safe for the race. Charlie Bell is a local iconic hero and he has been maintaining both the Bailey Canyon Trail and the Mt. Wilson Trail for over 30 years.

Charlie and Pete are looking for new people who work out and race on the trail and want to give back....which means that not counting our usual 15 or so regular trail workers, there are hundreds of you who have not had the chance to experience trail work and give some back. Why not make it happen this year...you will be helping the trail and getting a workout in at the same time!

Mt. Wilson Trail work days are scheduled for (all Sundays): February 26, March 26, April 30, May 14 and May 21. Volunteers are to meet at Lizzie's Trail Inn at 7:00am. It is asked that people (ages 18 and over) bring water, gloves and sun protection. They also need to email Pete Siberell if interested (psiberell@santaanita.com) so that there will be enough tools for everyone. Figure on working until about 11:00A to 11:30A, and we will be off the trail by noon with a brief stop to re-hydrate at the trail head.

Donations Needed:

Charlie and Pete are supported by the Fletcher Fund as part of the Sierra Madre Community Foundation. The Fletcher Fund provides money so materials and tools can be bought for the trail repair work. It is administered by the Sierra Madre Community Foundation. Without these critical donations the volunteers could not do their work on these historic trails. Any donation, large or small is tax deductible. Please send it to The Sierra Madre Community Foundation Fletcher Fund, P.O. Box 716, Sierra Madre, CA 91025. Please make any check payable to the "SMCF-Fletcher Fund.

If you can't donate any time, please consider supporting the team with a donation to the Fletcher Fund. (Trail Photos courtesy of Tommie Silva and Bob Spears)

SUSPECT ARRESTED THANKS TO

On January 31, 2017 a Sierra Madre resident in the 2000 block of Liliano Dr., contacted the Sierra Madre Police Department regarding a suspicious occupied vehicle. The resident stated she was inside her home when she heard a sound coming from her "Ring Home Security" doorbell. When viewing the live stream video, the resident saw a male Hispanic in his 20's walk up to the porch, look to the left, then to the right, and flee on foot, eastbound down the driveway of her home and enter the driver's side door of a Range Rover with paper plates.

ALERT RESIDENT

Anthony Luke Madrid

Officers respond-ing to the area observed a vehicle matching the description provided by the resident. The vehicle was in violation of 5200(a) V.C, no front or rear license plates, so a traffic stop was initiated. A want and warrant check of the driver returned with a warrant out of San Bernardino.

While conducting an inventory search of the vehicle, an imitation firearm (with the orange tip removed) was located along with 2 masks.

Inside the suspect's vehicle were two (2) plates that belong to the vehicle. The suspect, Luke Madrid, was transported the West Detention

SIERRA MADRE CHAMBER STARTS NEW YEAR WITH NEW LEADERSHIP

Steve Sciurba, 2017 SM Chamber President

Beginning with the celebration of Sierra Madre's Citizens of the Year dinner last week honoring Rod and Joan Spears, 2017 is promising to be a busy one for the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce.

At that dinner, the newly elected Board of Directors was introduced. Steve Sciurba, known in the city as the public face of Kensington Senior Living was elected as President with local realtor Carol Canterbury as Vice President. Also elected were realtor ary Janette Ledea as Secretary, Mountain Views News Editor Susan Henderson as Treasurer and Luther Tsinoglou (Podley Properties), Elizabeth Booth (Santa Anita Race Track), Ed Chen (Athens Services). Completing unexpired terms are Directors Tonia Patino and Denise Delmar.

As incoming President, Steve Sciurba want the community to know that the Chamber of Commerce wants to promote a strong economic climate in town without overwhelming the city's village character. "We want members and the community at large know that we draw by the power of partnerships.

The Chamber is dedicated to ensure that our village remains the desired place to live, work, play, and buy products or services local."

The 2017 Wistaria Festival is next on the agenda. annual event will be held on Sunday, March 12, 2017 and will include shuttles to view the historic vine, day long musical festivities, over 100 crafters and food vendors, and car show.

Tickets for the shuttle are available online by going to the Chamber's website: www.sierramadrechamber.com or go to: https://www.eventbrite.com/e/2016-wistaria-

EATERY By Dean Lee

At press time, Pasadena Police were still looking for a man who threw a small explosive into a crowded Old Pasadena restaurant Thursday night causing customers to panic as they evacuated, leaving personal belongings and half eaten meals behind.

According to Police Lt. Art Chute, officers responded shortly after 6 p.m. to the Cheesecake Factory located at 2 West Colorado Blvd. Witnesses said a man opened the front doors, lit and threw a round object inside landing near the bar area. Some witness said the object landed under a table, exploded, and then poured heavy Police Lt. Vasken Gourdikian, Friday called the object a "glorified firecracker" saying the situation was most likely a prank. Pasadena Mayor Terry Tornek also told reporters the object was more like a firecracker than a bomb.

Still, out of caution, Federal authorities were notified, however officials from the FBI said the incident was being handled by local Pasadena Police Detectives.

The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Bomb Squad responded first to the scene and rendered the device safe. No customers or employees were injured.

Witnesses described the suspect as a Male of Hispanic or Middle Eastern descent, 6 foot, thin build, with a heavy beard and wearing all black clothing and a black beanie. The suspect ran from the scene. No getaway car was spotted.

Anyone with information about this case is encouraged to call Pasadena Police at 626- 744-4241 or you may report information anonymously at lacrimestoppers.com (insert key word Pasadena).

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITY

Each year Edison International, parent company of Southern California Edison (SCE), gives $1.2 million in scholarships to high school seniors in the SCE service territory. This year, Edison International will provide a $40,000 scholarship to 30 students interested in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM). Last year, three students from the San Gabriel Valley become Edison Scholars.

To be eligible, students must be a current high school senior with a 3.0 GPA or higher and living in or attending school in an area serviced by SCE or in the vicinity of the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station. Students must plan to attend an accredited four-year college or university in the U.S and major in one of the following STEM fields: mathematics, engineering, computer and information services, management information systems, natural resources and conservation and physical sciences. Students who can demonstrate financial need are preferred, especially first-generation college students who have overcome significant challenges. The application deadline is February 1, 2017.

More information about the scholarship and our past winners can be found at www.insideedison.com. You can also search the hashtag #EdisonScholars on Twitter and Facebook. The full details and scholarship application can be found online at www.scholarsapply. org/edisonscholars/.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

Have you been to Sierra Fusion lately? Across the parking lot from Only Place In Town? What was already a beautiful restaurant is an even more beautiful restaurant! Hardwood floors, elegant black tablecloths with chopsticks resting on individual ceramic holders, a ceramic pot for soy sauce - and the soy sauce at Sierra Fusion isn't just plain old Kikkoman, it's a special blend imported from Japan. Outside, bamboo is flourishing on the edges of the side patio and another planter has been created to shield patio diners from the parking lot. And then there are the restrooms, I know, do we seriously need to hear about restrooms? In this case, yes! Wallpaper, totally redone floors and spotless elegance is all you need to know. All of us have been places where such was not the case so this is just flat-out delightful!

The Pasadena Showcase House of Design, which I'm sure many of you attend every year, is a fundraiser for the LA Philharmonic, many schools and other organizations who need help keeping music programs afloat. We love seeing recipients of Showcase House gifts with tears running down their faces describing how they will use their money to buy new instruments or other music oriented materials. In any case, the Showcase House starts out in January with the selection of one of the enormous old mansions in La Canada or Pasadena. The decorators who will refurbish the home are chosen and the empty house is opened to guests for the Empty House Party. Our own Sierra Fusion provided the décor, the staff and, most importantly, the food for this party a couple of weeks ago, serving 537 guests from 5 to 10 p.m. That's a long party, friends, requiring a lot of food and it all had to be amazing.

Sitting down with Edward Ungrue, Joseph's Dad, (who is now devoting all his time and energies to the family businesses) this morning for a look into what those 537 people got to enjoy made me realize we definitely missed the boat by not going to this event! Listen to this...individual buffets in various rooms throughout the lower floor to visit while guests toured the entire house:

The Sushi room; The Pastry Room (and yes, Fusion makes all their own pastries for the restaurant, the catering company – California Crazy Chefs Catering - and the Slammin' Sliders food trucks); The Specialty Coffees and Liqueurs Room featuring the silver coffee service; The International Salads Room – think baby kale, organic red Quinoa and Mexican Fiesta Salad; The baby clam chowder and chilled Jumbo shrimp room; The Wine Room with Canyon Road Chardonnay, Massoletti Pinot Grigio, Llama Malbec and Canyon Road Cabernet we!

The Black Bean Soup with roasted corn salsa and jalapeno crème fraiche Room; The Hearty Offerings Room and The Dessert Room with Madagascar chocolate brownie bites, a medley of mini cheesecakes and double chocolate dipped strawberries. AND, four full bars! After you read through this menu I'm sure you'll be grabbing the car keys to make a trip down to Sierra Madre Blvd. to visit Jo and his fiancée, stina, who are the heart and soul of Sierra Fusion. playwrightdd

Jo and Christina are extremely involved with all the trendsetters in food from New York to San Francisco and the real center of exciting food innovation – Las Vegas! Both are veterans of the fast-paced Las Vegas food scene which left these brilliant young people with a real hunger to own their own restaurant and create exciting flavors in a comfortable ambiance and Sierra Madre was the place to go.

The Sierra Fusion menu changes with the seasons to reflect heartier fare for winter, like a twice baked yam to accompany their Kurobuta pork chop, porridge with striped bass, and a warm rice pudding to finish the meal. As more seasonal fruits and vegetables become available, you'll be seeing them on the menu. Are you starving yet? The sushi bar is open and ready with the freshest sushi and sashimi possible.

Sierra Fusion is open Tue-Thu – 11:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m., 5:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m.

Fri-Sat – 11:a.m. 3:00 p.m., 5:00-9:00 p.m. Sun – 11:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m. Closed Mondays

Sierra Fusion will be catering the Celebration of Life for Jan Reed, which will be held in the Sierra Madre Room and Recreation Center - 611 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. – on Saturday, February 11 from 3-6 p.m.

This is a great time of year for walking Sierra Madre...Christmas lights still here and there, an abundance of pumpkins mixed in with poinsettias and camellias everywhere! And the mountains, covered with snow. We live in a beautiful place, don't

FELONY ARREST FOR POSSESSION OF STOLEN MAIL

Sierra Madre, CA. - January 30, 2017 – On January 29, 2017, a Sierra Madre Police officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle for a vehicle code violation. Further investigation revealed the driver, who was the sole occupant of the vehicle driving with an expired driver's license and the vehicle's registration was suspended. A search incident to the driver's arrest revealed he was in possession of drug paraphernalia, methamphetamine, and multiple pieces of stolen mail.

The stolen mail consisted of over 86

Pasadena DUI/License Checkpoint Held Friday

Pasadena Police Department Traffic Section will be conducting a DUI & Driver License Checkpoint on Friday, at an undisclosed location within the city limits between the hours of 7:00 p.m. to 3:00

Officers will be looking for signs of alcohol and/or drug impairment, with officers checking drivers for proper licensing, delaying motorists only momentarily.

DUI Checkpoints are placed in locations based on collision statistics and frequency of DUI arrests, affording the greatest opportunity achieving drunk and drugged driving deterrence. Locations are chosen with safety considerations for the officers and the public.

Research shows that crashes involving an impaired driver can be reduced by up to 20 percent when well-publicized proactive DUI operations are conducted routinely.

Drivers are encouraged to download the Designated Driver VIP, or "DDVIP," free mobile app for Android or iPhone. The DDVIP app helps find nearby bars and restaurants that feature free incentives for the designated sober driver, from free nonalcoholic drinks to free appetizers and more. The feature-packed app even has social media tie-ins and even a tab for the non-DD to call Uber, Lyft or Curb.

Drivers caught driving impaired can expect the impact of a DUI arrest to include jail time, fines, fees, DUI classes, license suspensions and other expenses that can exceed $10,000 not to mention the embarrassment when friends and family find out.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, reminding everyone to 'Report Drunk Driver - Call 9-1-1.

ARCADIA POLICE BLOTTER

For the period of Sunday, January 22nd, through Saturday, January 28th, the Police Department responded to 1,028 calls for service of which 143 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, January 22:

Shortly before 8:26 p.m., an officer responded to the 900 block of Park Avenue regarding a theft from vehicle report. The victim was at World Gas station, 3 East Duarte Road, pumping gasoline into her car when the unknown suspect opened her unlocked passenger door and stole her purse from the front seat. The suspect fled in a newer model, beige SUV. The investigation is ongoing.

Around 10:35 p.m., an officer initiated a traffic stop near the intersection of Baldwin Avenue and Duarte Road on a vehicle for speeding. Upon contacting the driver, the officer detected a strong odor of alcohol emitting from his breath. Through a series of tests, the officer concluded the 28-year-old male from San Gabriel was under the influence of an alcoholic beverage. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Monday, January 23:

At approximately 9:50 a.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 2700 block of Caroline Way regarding a burglary report. An investigation revealed unknown suspects entered the residence by breaking a rear glass door; they ransacked the location, and fled. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located. The loss is unknown.

Just after 4:11 p.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 5700 block of South Baldwin Avenue regarding a disturbance report. During an argument, the victim's exhusband used a fence post to break the victim's window. The suspect, a 41-year-old male from Temple City, was gone by the time officers arrived. The suspect is outstanding at the time of this report.

Tuesday, January 24:

Around 7:12 a.m., an officer responded to the 99 Cent Store, 140 East Duarte Road, regarding a theft report. Surveillance footage revealed three unknown suspects stole a large quantity of pallets from the rear of the business.

The suspects are described as three Hispanic males, all between the ages of 20 and 30-years-old, driving a light-colored, extended cab pickup truck. The investigation is ongoing.

Just before 9:15 a.m., an officer responded to the Arcadia Police Department front counter regarding a fraud report. The victim reported that an unknown suspect made three unauthorized charges on his credit card. The victim does not know how the suspect obtained his personal information.

Wednesday, January 25:

Shortly after 2:07 a.m., an officer responded to Claro's Italian Market, 19 East Huntington Drive, regarding an audible alarm activation. An investigation revealed unknown suspects entered the business through a vent in the roof. Once inside, they stole cash and fled by breaking a rear glass door. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located. The investigation is ongoing.

At about 9:33 a.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 100 block of East Santa Clara Street regarding a domestic dispute. The officers discovered a physical altercation occurred between a husband and wife resulting in the husband grabbing his wife by the throat and face. The 62-year-old male from Arcadia was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Thursday, January 26:

At approximately 2:56 p.m., an officer responded to the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding an activation of an Arcadia Police Department GPS tracker. Arcadia PD detectives had previously deployed decoy bicycles with tracking devices to combat the increase in bike thefts throughout the city. An investigation revealed a 25-year-old male from South Gate was in possession of the stolen bicycle and GPS tracker. The suspect was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Around 4:26 p.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 400 block of Rosemarie Drive regarding a package theft report. The victim stated his package was stolen from his porch sometime earlier in the day. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Friday, January 27:

At about 12:49 a.m., an officer initiated contact with a subject in the 400 block of North Santa Anita Avenue for pushing a cart that had been stolen from the 99 Cent Store. Upon contacting the suspect, the 30-year-old male from Arcadia became combative and would not comply with the officer's requests. During a search of the subject, the officer located a knife in the suspect's front jacket pocket. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Just before 12:41 p.m., officers responded to Eisenhower Park, 601 North Second Avenue, regarding a male suspect causing a disturbance and attempting to damage park property. The suspect fled on foot but officers were able to locate him. Upon detaining the 49-year-old male from Arcadia, he tried to kick and head-butt the officers. Arcadia Fire responded to treat the suspect's self-inflicted wounds and while he was in the ambulance, the male kicked out the rear window of the ambulance. He was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking. A records check also revealed he had four outstanding misdemeanor warrants.

Saturday, January 28:

Shortly after 1:20 a.m., an officer responded to Premier 911, 911 South First Avenue, regarding a commercial burglary report. Surveillance footage revealed an unknown suspect broke the front glass door of the business and fled undetected with several handbags. The suspect fled in a dark-colored SUV. The investigation is ongoing.

Around 7:20 a.m., an officer responded to the area of Live Oak Avenue and Sixth Avenue regarding a battery report. An investigation revealed an Uber driver was punched by an uncooperative passenger who then kicked the door of the vehicle causing a dent. The 24-year-old male from Pasadena was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

MONROVIA CERT TEAM MOBILIZES TO SUPPORT OUR NEIGHBORS IN DUARTE

Last week, on Monday, January 23, 2017, members of Monrovia's Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) assisted the City of Duarte to ensure that residents could safely return to their neighborhoods after a mandatory flood warning evacuation order was lifted. Monrovia CERT team members paired with LA County Sheriff Deputies to staff roadblocks and check IDs, as well as keep an eye out for suspicious behavior in different parts of Duarte. We appreciate the efforts of all of our CERT team members that assisted with the response, which include:

Bruce Eckstrom Roger Foster Heather Ohm Brenda Trainor Patrick Volders Pauline White

Ultimately, our CERT members braved the cold temperatures and cloudbursts while putting their CERT skills to practice! Many thanks to our responding team for their terrific work, who also received a terrific reward late in the evening when the skies cleared to provide everyone with a treat to a beautiful starry night that included a terrific view of the constellation, Orion!

Service Dogs Provide Therapy For Autistic Children

Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) is a range of complex neurodevelopment disorders, characterized by social impairments, communication difficulties, and restricted, repetitive and stereotyped patterns of behavior. Autistic disorder, commonly known as Autism, is the most severe form of ASD, while other conditions along the spectrum include a milder form known as Asperger syndrome, childhood disintegrative disorder and personal development disorder not otherwise specified (usually referred to as PDD-NOS).

Experts estimate that 1 out of 88 children age 8 will have an ASD (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention: Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, March 30, 2012). Autism occurs in all ethnic and socioeconomic groups and affects every age group, although statistics show that males are four times more likely to have some form of ASD than females.

The hallmark feature of Autism is impaired social interaction. A child with Autism may appear to develop normally and then withdraw and become indifferent to social engagement. They may fail to respond to their names and often avoid eye contact with other people. They may also engage in repetitive movements such as rocking and twirling and often have difficulty playing interactively

There are various therapies known to help Autistic children with behavior modification using positive reinforcement, but success is limited with no promise that the child will ever become completely independent. Indeed, in most cases, the Autistic child will remain fully dependent on others for the entire duration of their life.

No matter how much a parent loves their Autistic child, there is only so much they can do and there are only so many hours in a day. We humans are limited to a finite amount of energy and number waking hours, regardless of how dedicated we may be to a cause. This becomes particularly problematic when there are other siblings in the home, with their own set of needs for love and attention. Often parents become exhausted with the constant demands of raising an Autistic child, and they must reach out for help.

Although it comes as no surprise to me, because it just makes sense that a dog could do such a thing for a child in need. But when I read about how and why interaction with a therapy dog can have such a positive impact on an Autistic child, other than the obvious benefits we all get from our pets, I was truly amazed. It is more scientific than you might think. First, here is a little background on what has been found to be a major culprit of Autism. Cortisol is the body's stress hormone, produced in anticipation of stressful situations. A body's level of cortisol typically peaks a half hour after waking, which is called "Cortisol Awakening Response" (CAR). By measuring CAR, scientists can determine how stressed someone is, without aving to verbally ask them questions.

According to a relatively new study at the University of Montreal, "Effects of Service Dogs on Salivary Cortisol Secretion in Autistic Children", specifically trained service dogs can help reduce anxiety and enhance the social skills of children with Autism. "Our findings show that the dogs had a clear impact on the children's stress hormone levels", says Sonia Lupien, senior researcher and professor at the UM Dept. of Psychiatry, and Director of entre for Studies on Human Stress at Louis-H Lafontaine Hospital. She continued, "I have not seen such a dramatic

The test results showed an average CAR level increase of 58% prior to the introduction of a service dog. With a service dog, tests showed the CAR levels plummeted to a mere 10% increase, significantly lower than before. Next, the dog was taken away for four weeks, and the CAR shot back up to a 48% increase every morning as the child awoke from sleep. Remarkable results, to say the least! Lupien also observed a notable improvement in the children's behavior with a decrease in irritability and incidents of "acting out", as reported by their parents.

A number of hypotheses were drawn, to explain the desirable CAR response experienced by the subject children after spending time with the dogs, including positive psychological factors (e.g. calmer, happier children), or changes in their sleep patterns (some parents reported improved sleep habits when the service dogs were in the home), or perhaps the presence of the dogs created an anchoring effect that made testing cortisol levels easier on the children. For whatever reason, the fact remains that the dogs' presence had a very positive impact on the children, and that is a fantastic fact!

I found several groups on line, that offer trained service dogs to children with Autism, but the one that impressed me the most is 4 Paws for Ability. They were the first group to start training dogs for the specific purpose of assisting Autistic children, and in spite of the huge number of calls they receive every year, they have never turned down In comes the canine. That's right, there are service dogs specifically trained for the sole purpose of assisting Autistic children! Just the thought of this warms my heart.

a child in need of a canine companion. It must be very gratifying to know you are helping a child with Autism by training a dog to be their best friend!

SUNDAY BRUNCH AT CHEVAL BLANC

You remember the story of King Midas; he was a kind man who ruled his kingdom fairly. One day, while walking in his garden, he saw an elderly satyr asleep in the flowers. Taking pity on the old fellow, King Midas let him go without punishment. When the god Dionysus heard about it, he rewarded King Midas by granting him one wish. The king thought for only a second and then said I wish for everything I touch to turn to gold." And so it was.

I met Gregg Smith some 25 years ago when he turned Perkins restaurant into the Parkway Grill, a few years later what was a florist shop "Jonkers" he turned it into the Arroyo Chop House. Monahan's is now Smitty's and the story of the Midas Touch has Gregg Smith as a bi line when you read this fabled story because Gregg certainly has the Midas touch, before I tell you about my recent visit to Cheval Blanc for Sunday Brunch, let's get a quick history lesson on how brunch came to be.. The term "Brunch"

is a portmanteau of breakfast and lunch, it was said to originated in Britain in the late 1890's, to be fashionable to this day, we, say we must brunch sometime, this writers feeling is Brunch was a great way to party the night before, without committing to an early morning breakfast, the term should be an acronym, for let's meet and eat once we awaken from our hangovers. I digress, since it was too early for tea, it was the perfect time to get the day going with a bloody mary or a mimosa.

Cheval Blanc has added Sunday Brunch to their prestigious line up with a fantastic array of morning food and a window look at lunch. A warm pastry and bread basket at 11 in the morning you bet!!! Accompanied by a cold glass of Rorderer Estate Bubbly, this guy felt he just stepped into the French Quarter, after all this is a French Restaurant. Now this is where my job gets tricky, one man can only eat so much, so I'd better pick wisely, Spoiler Alert!!! I did!! After a few bites of the brioche toast with raspberry jam I decided on the Charcuterie, which included Cured Ham, those little tiny pickles that everyone loves and Artisan terrine (cheese for you Americans), my dad always taught me, never fill up on the bread when doing a Sunday Brunch. So, I was smart enough to only get half full, As I mentioned before, we must do Brunch, well you must order the Saumon Fume Eggs Benedict, yes Benedict was a trader but maybe this was my first French Brunch, I was looking for something unique and this is it, when they poured the warm béarnaise sauce on top of the poached egg I was in heaven, no the first bite was Heaven and the second was Nirvana, it was time for another glass of bubbly and at $13 a glass for what I consider top notch California Wine one could afford it, in fact there were several wines on the list that I considered good values including a full bottle of Domaine Chandon for $31, and a Magnum of Robert Mondavi for $150. Hey it Brunch, live a little you have to go to work on Monday enjoy yourself. Many of you want your eggs a certain way, as my gal at Starbucks says No problem !!! As of this writing there were five desserts offered and I opted for the Crème Burlee, but of course, it takes a few minutes more to make, but well worth it. Please indulge me to jump back to the bar, many of you like a bloody mary to jump start your morning , I opted for the bubbly , but I witnedd the bartender making a Bloody Mary for the ages, I won't and can't give you the recipe but is one the best Bloody marys I have ever had, free pour of Vodka, very little tomato juice, but it was epic. THE GOOD LIFE

HOW TO HELP OLDER DRIVERS GIVE UP THE CAR KEYS

What tips can you recommend that can help me deal with my mom's bad driving? At age 83, her driving abilities have declined, but I know she's bound and determined to keep driving as long as she's alive. Nervous Nelly

There's no doubt that giving up driving can be a tough step for many elderly seniors, as well as a difficult conversation for concerned family members. While there's no one way to handle this sometimes touchy topic, there are a number of tips and resources that can help you evaluate and adjust your mom's driving, and ease her out from behind the wheel when she can no longer drive safely.

Assess Her Driving

To get a clear picture of your mom's driving abilities, your first step - if you haven't already done so - is to take a ride with her and watch for problem areas. For example: Does she drive at inappropriate speeds, tailgate or drift between lanes? Does she have difficulty seeing, backing up or changing lanes? Does she react slowly, get confused easily or make poor driving decisions? Also, has your mom had any fender benders or tickets lately. or have you noticed any dents or scrapes on her vehicle? These, too, are red flags. For more assessment tips see SeniorDriverChecklist.info.

If you need help with this, consider hiring a driver rehabilitation specialist who's trained to evaluate older drivers. This typically runs between $100 and $200. Visit AOTA.org/older-driver or ADED.net to locate a specialist in your area.

Transitioning and Talking

After your assessment, if you think it's still safe for your mom to drive, see if she would be willing to take an older driver refresher course.

These courses will show her how aging affects driving skills, and offers tips and adjustments to help ensure her safety. Taking a class may also earn your mom a discount on her auto insurance. To locate a class contact your local AAA (AAA.com) or AARP (AARP.org/drive, 888-227-7669). Most courses cost around $20 to $30 and can be taken online or in a classroom.

If, however, your assessment shows that your mom author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

really does need to stop driving, you need to have a talk with her, but don't overdo it. If you begin with a dramatic outburst like "mom, you're going to kill someone!" you're likely to trigger resistance. Start by simply expressing your concern for her safety.

For more tips on how to talk to your mom about this, the Hartford Financial Services Group and MIT AgeLab offers a variety of resources at TheHartford. com/lifetime - click on "Publications" on the menu bar, then on the "We Need To Talk" guidebook.

If your mom refuses to quit, you have several options One possible solution is to suggest a visit to her docto who can give her a medical evaluation, and if warranted "prescribe" that she stops driving. Older people wil often listen to their doctor before they will listen to their own family.

If she still refuses, contact your local Departmen of Motor Vehicles to see if they can help. Or, call in an attorney to discuss with your mom the potential financial and legal consequences of a crash or injury. I all else fails, you may just have to take away her keys.

Alternative Transportation

Once your mom stops driving she's going to need other ways to get around, so help her create a list of names and phone numbers of family, friends and loca transportation services that she can call on.

To find out what transportation services are available in her area, contact the Rides in Sight (RidesInSight org, 855-607-4337) and the Eldercare Locator (800-677-1116), which will direct you to her area agency on aging

HOSE DRINKERS

How are your New Year's resolutions going? I set my sights small, and resolved to drink less creamy and sugary coffee at work. Instead, I mix an aspartame-laden

So, I was filling my water bottle from the sink in the break room the other day when the boss burst

"No, no, no!" she said, shaking her head. "Come on," she motioned toward her office, "Use the 'Arrowhead' in there." I could feel water overflowing from my bottle into the sink, and nodded, "Okay, maybe next time." I figured, why waste a perfectly good batch of flavored water? Luckily, some small crisis distracted my boss and I was able to retreat to my office with my substandard "faucet water" drink.

For a while I wondered if I was the only tap water-drinking employee until last week, when the topic of tap vs. bottled water came up during lunch. "I was a hose drinker as a kid!" one of the senior workers joked with the boss. This prompted a number of us closet hose drinkers to "come out" and admit our tacky-"tap"

I don't know about you, but I never understood the purpose of bottled water. Talk about the antithesis of "green" living! Think about all the plastic used to store bottled water. Then consider the fuel needed to transport it from place to place. THEN consider the fact the most bottled water is drawn from municipal sources, not the babbling brooks of the Sierras, Andes, or any other pristine

CLOSE VIEWS SHOW SATURN'S RINGS IN UNPRECEDENTED DETAIL

Newly released images showcase the incredible closeness with which NASA's Cassini spacecraft, now in its "ring-grazing" orbits phase, is observing Saturn's dazzling rings of icy debris.

The views are some of the closest-ever images of the outer parts of the main rings, giving scientists an eagerly awaited opportunity to observe features with names like "straw" and "propellers." Although Cassini saw these features earlier in the mission, the spacecraft's current, special orbits are now providing opportunities to see them in greater detail. The new images resolve details as small as 0.3 mile, which is on the scale of Earth's tallest buildings.

Cassini is now about halfway through its penultimate mission phase—20 orbits that dive past the outer edge of the main ring system. The ringgrazing orbits began last November and will continue until late April, when Cassini begins its grand finale. During the 22 finale orbits, Cassini will repeatedly plunge through the gap between the rings and Saturn. The first finale plunge is scheduled for April 26.

For now, the veteran spacecraft is shooting past the outer edges of the rings every week, gathering some of its best images of the rings and moons. Already Cassini has sent back the closest-ever views of small moons Daphnis and Pandora.

Some of the structures seen in recent Cassini images have not been visible at this level of detail since the spacecraft arrived at Saturn in mid-2004. At that time, fine details like straw and propellers—which are caused by clumping ring particles and small, embedded moonlets, respectively—had never been seen before. (Although propellers were present in Cassini's arrival images, they were actually discovered in later analysis, the following year.)

Cassini came a bit closer to the rings during its arrival at Saturn, but the quality of those arrival images was not as high as in the new views. Those precious few observations only looked out on the backlit side of the rings, and the team chose short exposure times to minimize smearing due to Cassini's fast motion as it vaulted over the ring plane. This resulted in images that were scientifically stunning, but somewhat dark and noisy.

In contrast, the close views Cassini has begun capturing in its ring-grazing orbits (and soon will capture in its Grand Finale phase) are taking in both the backlit and sunlit side of the rings. Instead of just one brief pass lasting a few hours, Cassini is making several dozen passes during these final months.

"As the person who planned those initial orbitinsertion ring images—which remained our most detailed views of the rings for the past 13 years—I am taken aback by how vastly improved are the details in this new collection," said Cassini Imaging Team Lead

Carolyn Porco, of Space Science Institute, Boulder, Colorado. "How fitting it is that we should go out with the best views of Saturn's rings we've ever collected."

understanding of what they're seeing, but they still anticipate new surprises.

"These close views represent the opening of an entirely new window onto Saturn's rings, and over MtnViewsNews.com.

the next few months we look forward to even more exciting data as we train our cameras on other parts of the rings closer to the planet," said Matthew Tiscareno, After nearly 13 years studying Saturn's rings a Cassini scientist who studies Saturn's rings at the from orbit, the Cassini team has a deeper, richer SETI Institute, Mountain View, California. Tiscareno planned the new images for the camera team.

[Nyerges is the author of "Guide to Wild Foods and Useful plants,""Extreme Simplicity," and about a dozen other books on ethno-botany, survival, and self-reliance. He can be reached at www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com, or Box 41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041.]

A woman I know saw me trying to select chocolate at a store. "Chocolate?" she said to me. "Why are you looking for chocolate? I thought you only ate health foods. Chocolate is a junk food!" Was she right? Is chocolate a worthless food, something to be avoided?

I made my first "authentic" chocolate drink by steeping the coarsely ground beans of the chocolate plant in warm water, adding a little honey. If historians are correct, this was the type of beverage -- called "xocoatl" -that Cortez found Montezuma drinking. The whole beans were oily. Once ground and made into a beverage, the drink had the color of weak coffee. It had a pleasant bitter-chocolate flavor. To me, one cup seemed as stimulating as two to three cups of coffee. It was good! Montezuma believed chocolate to be a food of the gods, which was brought to the Aztecs by a healer or prophet who traveled over the waters, possibly Quetzalcoatl. To this day, chocolate is known to botanists as Theobroma, or "Food of the gods." It was widely regarded as an aphrodisiac, a food that gave Montezuma the strength do deal with his many wives! Chocolate pods are produced on a smallish tree; they are about a foot long, and contain white beans. Once picked, these beans are allowed to ferment for a few days or longer, whereupon they take on their characteristic chocolate aroma and brown color. Once dried, the beans are then exported and typically processed with modern machinery. However, it is certainly possible to process your own, as it's often done today in Mexico. During the normal manufacturing process, the beans are first "conched," which means that heat and grinding pressure are applied to produce a thick liquid called chocolate liquor. When this chocolate liquor hardens, bitter - or baker's -- chocolate results. This is indeed bitter - and most people don't care for it since it has no sweetness. When this baker's chocolate is then subjected to great pressure, both a liquid and solid result. The liquid is cocoa butter, and the solid is cocoa. Cocoa butter added back to baker's chocolate in greater amounts results in bitter-sweet, semi-sweet, or sweet chocolate, three more grades or types of chocolate. The addition of milk creates milk chocolate. Sugar, vanilla, and various other ingredients are often also be added.

PHARMACEUTICALLY ACTIVE COMPOUNDS IN CHOCOLATE

Serotonin A neurotransmitter which plays a role in regulating mood. Though found in chocolate, it's found in much higher amounts in other carbohydrates. Caffeine This stimulant is found in very small amounts in chocolate. Cocoa beans are about 2% the obromine, a central nervous system stimulator, which Theobromine stimulates and dilates the blood vessels of the heart and brain, and dilates the bronchii Phenylethlamine An amphetamine-like substance, also found in the brains of people "in love." Though found in chocolate, it's found in much higher amounts in meats, such as salami. These antioxidants (also found in green tea and red wine) may prevent heart disease by Polyphenols preventing the clogging or arteries, and lowering cholesterol levels. These chemical, which are the active ingredients in marijuana, are found in very small Cannabinoids amounts in chocolate, and may influence the brain's own production of painkilling compounds. By "very small amounts," you'd have to eat about 22,000 pounds of chocolate to have any drug-like response.

[Source: Los Angeles Times science writer Usha Lee McFarling, Feb. 16, 2000]

Certainly, chocolate is fattening if you consume a lot and are sedentary. A small 12 ounce candy bar typically contains about 220 calories.

The raw bean does contain high amounts of theobromine and caffeine, but these oil-soluble stimulating alkaloids are largely lost during the processing. An average ounce of bittersweet chocolate contains from five to 10 mg. of caffeine, compared with 100 to 150 mg. of caffeine in an average cup of coffee. Although it is commonly believed that eating chocolate causes an increase the incidence of acne, there is no scientific data to support this belief. As for cavities, at least three separate research centers have revealed that the cocoa powder within chocolate contains a substance that actually inhibits cavities.

The culprit in this case is not chocolate, but sugar. Sugar is clearly is a cause of cavities. Milk chocolate, for example, contains 55% sugar by weight. And most often, chocolate is made with "white sugar," which is the cocaine of the food industry. White sugar is a foodless "food." In most cases, the worst thing about chocolate is that it contains so much white sugar. Most commercial chocolate products list white sugar (in any of its various guises) as the primary ingredient.

One way to sidestep the detrimental effects of so much white sugar in chocolate is to make your own chocolate products by mixing cocoa (or bitter or baker's chocolate) with honey, or other natural sweeteners. There are a few commercial chocolate bars which contain no white sugar, but these are not yet common, and cost up to three times as much as others with white sugar.

Ninety percent of the cocoa bean is digestible, comprising 40% carbohydrates, 22% fat, and 18% protein. Chocolate contains substantial amounts of vitamins A, D, B2, as well as vitamin E and K, calcium, thiamine, riboflavin, iron, phosphorus, linoleic acids, and phenylethylamine. For a food that is often regarded as a junk food or pleasure food, it's really pretty good for you!

A study conducted at the Harvard School of Public Health indicated that people who eat from one to three chocolate bars a month live almost a year longer than those who do not eat chocolate. Hooray!

I'M NOT A COFFEEHOLIC, OR AM I?

Nothing smells better in the morning than a the kitchen. fresh pot of coffee in the kitchen. The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage has it set so that at a brewing and we wake up to that wonderful artificial instant coffee my parents made. aroma.

I love my coffee in the morning and nothing gets me on the road better.

I did have a little glitch this past week. I had to go in for my yearly blood test. If you ever had your blood taken, you know you are not supposed to eat or drink anything after midnight in order for them to be able to take the correct blood sample. Even Count Dracula was not that demanding!

I did not think about it until when I get up that morning, the coffee was brewing, the aroma filled the house and I was ready for my first cup of coffee of the day. Then my wife looked at me and said, "Don't you have a blood test this morning?"

My heart sank to the bottom of my feet. How can I begin the day without my morning cup of

When I went to the doctor's office that morning I said to the nurse, "You are the bravest person I know."

She looked at me rather quizzically and I explained. "Not having my morning coffee makes me a raging grouch of a person." And I

She laughed and said, "That may be true, but I have the needle I'm going to stick in your arm." With that, she laughed, but I did not return the merriment.

Upon leaving the doctor's office, I went straight to McDonald's for a cup of coffee. How I got there, I will never know. After several sips of coffee I seemed to settle down and become a rather decent sort of a person. Or, so I think.

I am not quite sure where I learned to love coffee so much. Growing up, my parents drank coffee, but it was that terrible instant coffee. How anybody can drink that is beyond me. For the longest time that is what I thought coffee tasted like and I did not want anything to do with that.

I distinctly remember the first time I had a real cup of coffee.

I was helping my grandfather with some lawn work and about midmorning he looked at me and said, "Son, how old are you?"

I thought it was a rather silly thing for my grandfather to ask, but I retorted with a cheerful I'm 14, grandpa."

"That's good," he said to me smiling, "you're old enough for some real coffee, let's go inside."

That is when I was introduced to real coffee. To this day, I am not quite sure how he did it, but I know he put a lot of energy into his coffee. It was

So, I owe my love of coffee to my grandfather certain time in the morning, the coffee begins who knew how to make real coffee and not that

Since that time, I have been enjoying coffee and perhaps, as my wife says, I have been enjoying it too much.

such a question, because nobody can have too much coffee. Not sure how to answer, I very carefully said, "This is the only cup of coffee I remember drinking today." I find it wonderful getting old when you can blame everything on old age and forgetting

"I'm not so sure," she said rather hesitatingly, "this is the third pot of coffee I made today."

After all, who counts how much coffee they drink. One cup is as good as another cup. I am not the kind of person that discriminates about anything, especially coffee. Of course, if it is instant coffee, then I will discriminate.

"I think," she said very seriously, "that you are a coffeeholic."

That rather stunned me because I had never heard that word before. I am somewhat of a wordsmith and enjoy words and phrases, but this word, Coffeeholic, I had never heard before. At first, I thought maybe she was making it up. Upon a little bit of research, there is such a word.

She was not finished with her little coffee chat, "I think you are drinking too much coffee and should consider cutting back a little bit. Caffeine isn't good for you."

I am not sure where all that came from, but I will "think" about what she just said. I do not plan to do anything about it, because I think she would not like to be around someone like me who has not had his coffee for the day.

I have so many other things to think of, just like the apostle Paul said, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Philippians 4:8).

This is what I am going to be thinking on, but not on cutting back on my coffee.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH AND WHY WE STILL NEED IT

It's been a difficult time in America since the election, especially for people of color. Some of you reading this will disagree but that is a fact.

And yes, it is because of the actions of the person who now sits at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. You may say that his actions of late have been directed towards Mexicans or Muslims and not necessarily African Americans, but spewing for hatred hurts us all. For African Americans, it pours salt in the wounds that were just slowly beginning to heal in the first place.

These are truly troubling times, and I can honestly say that for the last 15 days, I have not rested with the peace of mind that should come from living in America. Former California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger hit the nail on the head when he suggested that if Trump went back to The Apprentice, "...then people can finally sleep comfortably again."

Nevertheless, this week marks the beginning of Black History Month a time when most of the nation takes a moment to reflect on the significant contributions of African Americans, so I thought I'd dedicate this space to the answer of a question that I've heard throughout my life from Whites, Blacks and just about everyone else: "Why do we need (or still need or ever needed) an African American History Month?

The acrimonius answer would be: So that our President would know that Frederick Douglass died 122 years ago. However, I want to stay focused.

I ran across an article published by the Editorial Board of Democrat & Chronicle (A USA Today publication) that I thought answered the question very well so I am sharing it with you. (My comments are italicized).

"This week, as the national observance of Black History Month begins, history will undoubtedly repeat itself. Someone, somewhere will ask the question: Do we still need Black History Month? For some, particularly 20-somethings born in what has been called the post-racial era of America, there is no need to continue that monthlong observance that grew out of Negro History Month remains and the lessons we can Week in February 1926. To them, it's nothing learn about our country and ourselves during this more than a robotic tradition that trots out the same figures and facts every February.

For others, older generations and historians for example, there is a fear that facts about African Americans in U.S. history will be lost without Black History Month. As an example of that fear, that group can point to 2015, when McGraw Hill had to do some serious damage control after its high school world-geography textbooks included an embarrassing map description as part of its lesson on U.S. immigration patterns that read : "The Atlantic Slave Trade between the 1500s and 1800s brought millions of workers from Africa to the southern United States to work on agricultural plantations." (If you can't see what's wrong with that statement, call me!)

The annual debate about the need for Black History Month likely won't end in 2017. Yet no matter which side of the discussion you land on, we would all do well to remember that Black history is American history and there remain lessons to be learned from our past. Lessons that can help us understand one another and perhaps bring us closer together.

President Gerald Ford officially recognized Black History Month in 1976, and he called upon the country to "seize the opportunity to honor the too-often neglected accomplishments of black Americans in every area of endeavor throughout Forty-one years later, the month-long celebration continues and it comes on the heels of the opening of the National Museum of African American History & Culture in our nation's capital last September. The national museum cites as one its four pillars of purpose that it exists to explore what it means to be an American and share how American values like resiliency, optimism, and spirituality are reflected in African American history and culture."

This month, classrooms across the country will share lessons that spotlight well-known African American men and women who had the courage to stand up for the disenfranchised, the moral compass to walk on the right side of history. And while we know about Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Harriet Tubman, Frederick Douglass and Rosa Parks, there are many, many more people, everyday men and women, who fought for the freedoms our nation holds dear.

This month is in remembrance of them, of the indomitable American spirit. The need for Black observance are clear."

WELCOME TO THE 48TH DISTRICT: ASSEMBLYWOMAN BLANCA RUBIO

By Joan Schmidt

There's a new face in the 48th Assembly District Office and her name is Blanca Rubio. The 48th Assembly District includes the cities of Azusa, Baldwin Park, Bradbury, City of Industry, Covina, Duarte, El Monte, Glendora, Irwindale, West Covina and the San Gabriel Valley unincorporated areas including Bassett, Charter Oak, Citrus, Duarte, East Arcadia, Monrovia, Valinda and La Puente.

Ms. Rubio, the first woman to represent this area since Hilda Solis, comes with a lot of experience and may already be known to many residents. What a background she has and she certainly has worked very hard to be in this position.

Blanca Rubio, the eldest of five children is 47 years old and was born in Juarez, Mexico. When she was almost eight years old, her family came to the United States in 1977, like many immigrants in search of a better life. Her parents were hardworking; her dad in a factory, and her mom, a housekeeper. She grew up in the Pico Union and Echo Park area of Los Angeles attending Belmont High School. During her senior year, the family relocated to Bell, and after she graduated, she took classes at East Los Angeles College. She moved to Baldwin Park, became a citizen in 1994 and earned a bachelor's degree in business administration and a master 's degree in education from Azusa Pacific University.

The Congresswomen has worn many hats. In 1997, she was elected to the Valley County Water District Board of Directors after encouragement from a friend, Carson Mayor Albert Robles. Rubio worked in human resources and as a teacher in the Baldwin Park Unified School District. In 2003, she was elected to the Baldwin Park School District Board of Education. She served on both boards for two years, but was sued by a colleague who tried to say there was a conflict of interest. Of course Rubio won the civil case, but decided against seeking re-election to the Water Board.

Assemblywoman Rubio also has taught in the Fontana School District. Her sister Susan is on the Baldwin Park City Council. How proud their

On December 5, 2016, Rubio was officially sworn in as Assemblywoman for the 48th District. She already has joined dozens of other lawmakers and hundreds of Planned Parenthood supporters on the steps of the State Capitol to show their support for the organization that has provided critical health care services to millions of Californians over its 100 year history. "This is not just a women's issue, but it's a man's one too." Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte Town Council Member Terrence Williams recently met with the Assemblywoman for a dialogue about our area. She will be communicating with Assemblyman Chris Holden who represents the City of Monrovia in light of the recent criminal activities plaguing

Assemblywoman Rubio's local district office is at 100 North Barranca Street, Suite 895, West Covina, CA 91791. The phone number is (626) 960-4457. Please visit: http// www.asmdc:org/rubio

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Board of Equalization visits retailers in your area (SCOP) will soon visit non-residential retail businesses

The purpose of the program is to educate business operators about the BOE, its tax and fee programs, as well as identify gaps in compliance where businesses may be selling or leasing tangible personal property without a seller's permit. During visits to your area, the SCOP team members are happy to assist businesses by answering questions about how to register with the BOE, file tax returns, and pay BOE-administered taxes

BOE has found that more than 98 p (BOE) Statewide Compliance & Outreach Program of California businesses that receive SCOP visits are operating with the correct permits. However, noncompliance contributes to more than $2 billion in uncollected sales and use taxes that make up part of the state's "tax gap"—the difference between the amount of taxes owed and the amount paid, negatively impacting all state taxpavers.

> Letters notifying taxpayers of an upcoming SCOP visit were recently sent to the areas listed below. A current listing of all locations SCOP teams are scheduled to visit in the near future can be found on the SCOP webpage.

Notes from the Sierra MadrePlayhouse

CATCHING UP

By Artistic Director, Christian Lebano

I haven't written in the last few weeks - and I've missed speaking with you through this column. So much happens so quickly at the Playhouse that some of this will seem like

We went to the Ovation Awards on January 17th with five nominations for 3 plays - and went home with our first TWO wins EVER! Stanton Kane Morales won Best Featured Actor in a Musical for his performance as Barfee' in The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee and the set for my production of Deathtrap won Best Set Design (Intimate) for our very own Sierra Madre resident, John Vertrees and his assistant. Again, I'm struck by the irony of Stanton winning for a show that sold so badly - either because of bad marketing on our part or because of Summer conflicts. The Ovation voters named his performance the best supporting one of the year for ALL musicals in large or small theaters - and we had him on our stage and very few

The evening was wonderfully fun, but I have to admit that the BEST part was hearing from so many in the theatrical community how impressed they are at the growth of SMP. Loyal readers know how much work the small team of us put into the Playhouse - acknowledgement from our peers goes a long way.

I'm back on stage in Bee-luther-hatchee – I have a lot to say about acting again, but will save that for next week - and the show is going well. We've gotten some really wonderful reviews, but the show is not selling as well as I'd hoped, I'm so grateful that we got the Sheri and Les Biller Family Foundation grant or we'd face losing money on this one. The talkbacks after the shows (we have them every performance for this show) have been remarkable many patrons that this is one of their favorite experiences at the Playhouse. I do hope you will come - we play until February 18.

For Bee-luther-hatchee we have created many outreach events and these have proved very popular and has gotten SMP out into the community - we've had events at Pasadena City College, Alatadena Community Center, Vroman's, Monrovia History Museum, 2nd Baptist in Monrovia, and will soon be at the Jackie Robinson Center and the SM Public Library. We've made many new fans and spread the word about what we are doing to new audiences who weren't familiar with us. This work was spearheaded by our own Diane Siegel and I'm so grateful to her.

Our free reading series continues in an expanded form in support of Bee-luther-hatchee with two plays that continue to explore some of its themes on the next two Mondays: A Lesson from Aloes by the South African, Athol Fugard and a new play Hubcap by local playwright David Lee Ray. Please come. We start at 7pm and these readings have proved to be very popular with our audiences.

And finally, we are now in rehearsal for A Wrinkle in Time the beloved classic by Madeleine L'Engel adapted by John Glore. I am having a blast directing this show and I can't wait for you to see the surprises we have in store for you. We are using the Playhouse in ways it has never been used before. This show opens March 10 & 11 (we have two casts) and I hope you will bring your kids and grandkids to see it. We are already booked for 18 school

As always we do all of this for you – our faithful patrons. look forward to seeing you from the stage and in your favorite seats, this time from a new vantage! For tickets please call Mary in the box office at 626.355.4318. Hope to Jeff's Book Pics By Jeff Brown

Deepest Acceptance: Radical Awakening in Ordinary Life by Jeff Foster

How can we bring an effortless yes to this moment? How do we stop running from "the mess of life"—our predicaments, our frustrations, even our search for liberation—and start flowing with all of it?In small venues throughout the UK and Europe, a young teacher named Jeff Foster is quietly awakening a new generation of spiritual inquirers to the experience of spiritual inquiries to the experience of abiding presence and peace in our ever-shifting world. His informal gatherings, blogs, and kitchen-table video posts have created a rising tide of interest in his teachings.With The Deepest Acceptance, Jeff Foster invites us to discover the ocean of who we are: an awareness that has already allowed every wave of emotion and experience to arrive. While Jeff delightfully admits the irony of writing a book to convey something that is beyond words to teach, here he confirms his ability to guide us in unexpected new ways to a space of absolute acceptance and joy, no matter what's happening in our lives. Candid, thoughtful, humorous—and deeply compassionate toward those searching for a way out of sufferingthis refreshing new luminary inspires us to stop trying to "do" acceptance ... and start falling in love with "what has already been allowed."

Conclave: A novel by Robert

The best-selling author of Enigma and Fatherland turns to today's Vatican in a ripped-from-the-headlines novel, and gives us his most ambitious, pageturning thriller yet--where the power of God is nearly equaled by the ambition of men. The pope is dead. Behind the locked doors of the Sistine Chapel, one hundred and eighteen cardinals from all over the globe will cast their votes in the world's most secretive election. They are holy men. But they have ambition. And they have rivals. Over the next seventy-two hours one of them will become the most powerful spiritual figure on Earth.

The Life and Times of the Thunderbolt Kid: A Memoir by Bill Bryson

From one of the world's most beloved writers and New York Times bestselling author of One Summer, a vivid, has ever been young.

nostalgic, and utterly hilarious memoir of growing up in the 1950s.Bryson was born in the middle of the American century-1951-in the middle of the United States—Des Moines, Iowa—in the middle of the largest generation in American history—the baby boomers. As one of the best and funniest writers alive, he is perfectly positioned to mine his memories of a totally all-American childhood for 24-carat memoir gold. Like millions of his generational peers, Bryson grew up with a rich fantasy life as a superhero. In his case, he ran around his house and neighborhood with an old football jersey with a thunderbolt on it and a towel about his neck that served as his cape, leaping tall buildings in a single bound and vanquishing awful evildoers (and morons)—in his head—as "The Thunderbolt Kid." Using this persona as a springboard, Bill Bryson re-creates the life of his family and his native city in the 1950s in all its transcendent normality—a life at once completely familiar to us all and as far away and unreachable as another galaxy. It was, he reminds us, a happy time, when automobiles and televisions and appliances (not to mention nuclear weapons) grew larger and more numerous with each passing year, and DDT, cigarettes, and the fallout from atmospheric testing were considered harmless or even good for you. He brings us into the life of his loving but eccentric family, including affectionate portraits of his father, a gifted sportswriter for the local paper and dedicated practitioner of isometric exercises, and OF his mother, whose job as the home furnishing editor for the same paper left her little time for practicing the domestic arts at home. The many readers of Bryson's earlier classic, A Walk in the Woods, will greet the reappearance in these pages of the immortal Stephen Katz, seen hijacking literally boxcar loads of beer. He is joined in the Bryson gallery of immortal characters by the demonically clever Willoughby brothers, who apply their scientific skills and cando attitude to gleefully destructive ends. Warm and laugh-out-loud funny, and full of his inimitable, pitch-perfect observations, The Life and Times of the Thunderbolt Kid is as wondrous a book as Bryson has ever written. It will enchant anyone who

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

HOW TRUMP'S PRESIDENCY WILL AFFECT YOUR ESTATE PLAN

They say nothing is certain but death and taxes. Well now, with President Trump in office, the estate tax commonly known as the "death tax" - may soon be a thing of the past.

One of Trump's campaign pledges was to repeal the estate tax. So far, he seems to be doing exactly what he said he was going to do, which means it won't be a surprise if he does indeed try to eliminate the estate tax. And with a Republican majority in the house and senate, there's a possibility, if not a probability, he'll succeed.

So what would a repeal of the estate tax mean for you, and in particular, your estate plan? First, let's look at a few of the most likely scenarios:

1. An immediate, permanent repeal of the gift, estate, and generation-skipping transfer (GST) tax. A phased repeal of the gift, estate, and GST tax which would gradually roll-back and eventually eliminate these A local attorney, father, and CASA volunteer (Court taxes over a period of years. A complete restructuring of all transfer taxes to include not only the estate, gift, and GST taxes but also capital gains taxes as well. While it is impossible to know exactly what's going to happen, we can make some educated guesses. The first scenario seems more likely than the second. For starters, Trump doesn't seem to be taking half-measures on anything. So if he keeps with form, I expect him to be bold and go all the way as quickly as possible. The danger, if he only phases out estate tax over say 10-years, is that the next administration, be that in four or eight years, may easily stop and then reverse Trump's phase out before completion.

But I think number 3 is the most likely scenario to unfold. Trump and congress all seem to want to get rid of the estate, gift, and GST tax, but there has been talk of introducing new capital gains taxes as an offset.

That would mean that while death wouldn't trigger an estate tax, there might instead be a tax, assessed at death, on the appreciated value of one's property accumulated during life.

So, what does this mean for you, specifically? Should you put your estate planning on hold if you don't yet already have a finished plan? Should you make changes to your plan if you do already have one?

First, you should most definitely NOT put your planning on hold - unless you can guarantee you won't die or become incapacitated between now and when new legislation is enacted, whenever that may be. Nor should you necessarily rush right out to change a plan you already have in place. While the tax planning structure of estate plans is a bit up in the air right now, the other big reasons to plan - probate avoidance, asset protection, and legacy building - remain solidly in place. Only a tiny number of Americans pay any estate tax, anyway (less than 0.2% of the population), so the impact for most people will likely be minimal if anything at all.

The bottom line is, we'll have to wait and see how things shake out. So if you haven't started your planning yet, there's no reason to wait. And if you have started planning, there's no reason to stop. Finally, if you already have a plan in place, just sit tight. Hopefully you have an ongoing relationship with your family trust lawyer and he or she will reach out to you when the dust settles to make sure your plan still provides maximum protection.

City of Sierra Madre

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 16-06 (MCTA 16-06) GROUP LIVING FACILITIES Subject:

Project Location: Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California

On January 24, 2017 the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre introduced for first reading recommending adoption of Ordinance 1385 amending Chapter 17.08 ("Definitions") Section 17.08.020 ("Words, terms, phrases defined"), Chapter 17.60 Section 17.60.030 ("Conditional Use Permits—When Required"), and a new Chapter 17.94 ("Group Living Facilities Subject to a Conditional Use Permit"). The Planning Commission recommended approval of the proposed text amendment to the City Council at a public meeting held on January 5, 2017. The amendments would afford the City the ability to better regulate unlicensed and licensed group living facilities serving more than seven (7) residents by imposing operational and distance requirements through a conditional use permit to preserve the residential character of neighborhoods and to provide some protection to a vulnerable population in the absence of State or Federal licensing or other regulatory oversight. The conditional use requirements will establish a framework for the inclusion of housing and care facilities for people with

The City of Sierra Madre gives notice, pursuant to State of California law, that the City Council will conduct a second reading of Ordinance 1385 at the February 14, 2017 City Council Meeting at 6:30 PM, in the City Council Chambers at 232 W. Sierra Madre Boulevard. All interested persons may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with

This summary is published pursuant to Government Code Section 36933(e)(1) and a full and complete certified copy of the text of Ordinance 1385 is available at the Sierra Madre City Manager's Office located at City of Sierra Madre City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at (626) 355-7138.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION: An Initial Study was prepared for the 2014-2021 Housing Element in accordance with the City's guidelines implementing the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). This Initial Study was undertaken for the purpose of deciding whether the measures identified in the Housing Element to fulfill the City's Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) allocation may have a significant effect on the environment. On the basis of the Initial Study, the Planning Commission and City Council concluded that they will not have a significant effect on the environment, and a Negative Declaration was adopted by City Council on July 28, 2013. Furthermore, the project qualifies for an exemption form the CEQA review pursuant to Title 14, Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations as it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance may have a significant effect on the environment, because it will impose regulations and standards for unlicensed and licensed group living facilities serving seven (7) or more residents to ensure protection of the residential environment and character of the City of Sierra Madre.

APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at (626) 355-7138.

The City of Sierra Madre MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 16-05 (MCTA 16-05) DISCRETIONARY DEMOLITION PERMITS

Applicant: Project Location: City of Sierra Madre

Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California

The City of Sierra Madre gives notice, pursuant to State of California law, that the City Council will conduct a first reading of Ordinance 1386 amending Chapter 17.60.056 ("Discretionary demolition permit requirement of single-family homes and duplexes") 75-years and older, eliminating the exception allowing demolition of up to 25% of exterior walls and eliminating restriction requiring only single-family homes and duplexes to abide by the Discretionary Demolition Permit requirements, thereby expanding requirement to all structure types; and amendments to the Building Code Chapter 15.04.115 Section 105.7-Demolition Permits and Penalty for demolition without a permit; and Chapter 15.52.060-Calculation of Fees, eliminating the granting of impact credits toward future development for structures that have been demolished without permits. The Planning Commission forwarded a recommendation for approval of the proposed Municipal Code Text amendments to the City Council on January 19, 2017.

PLACE OF HEARING City of Sierra Madre DATE AND TIME OF HEARING City of Sierra Madre City Council Meeting Tuesday, February 14, 2017 (Hearing begins at 6:30 p.m.) City Council Chambers 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Sierra Madre, CA

RAGING MODERATE by WILL DURST PARTYING LIKE IT'S 1939

Donald Trump is the political reincarnation of Tina Turner he doesn't do anything nice and easy. Also, they're both Type A personalities who expend a lot of energy, but hardly move at all. And both are famous for high-maintenance hair.

Since his January coronation, the New York City real estate developer turned Leader of the Free World has partied like its 1939, issuing polarizing edict after polarizing edict. The surprising thing is Fox News hasn't started to refer to him as Chancellor Trump. Or Gropenfuhrer. Yet.

Traditionally, a newly elected, first-time president hits the ground running with hand outstretched in a gesture of sociability, solidarity and camaraderie. Not Donny John. He hit the ground whining, with a fistful of disdain for everyone he slapped upside the head: Democrats, Republicans, the media, Iran, Mexico, Great Britain, the media, his own Cabinet appointments, refugees, the media, the NSC, TSA, and National Park Service. And don't forget the media.

Experts theorized the weight of the White House would settle him down but alas, no such luck. He's still up all hours tweeting out a barrage of alternative facts, choosy truths, questionable veracities and marginal actualities that reflect a reality only he can see. As fluid and murky as the Potomac River.

What little presidential honeymoon he enjoyed ended long before the cake was cut. The groom ditched the bride and boogied across the floor alone performing a solo victory dance in front of a mirror. As graceful as an angry anvil.

You could describe his movements since as jerky, spasmodic and frenzied, like when he obsessed over the election being stolen. Ignoring the fact that he won. Even 46's own staff is having problems negotiating his tricky hairpins turns. Not only does the emperor have no clothes, his skin is really thin and kind of blotchy.

According to the most aerodynamically coiffed president in history, 3 to 5 million undocumented aliens illegally cast ballots for Hillary Clinton causing him to lose the popular vote. It's the only possible answer. Because how could Donald Trump not be associated with whatever was most popular? It's unthinkable and unpresidented.

President Trump loves his invisible people. And there's tons of them. The invisible people who cast fraudulent ballots- totally different than the invisible people who came to Washington to be part of the largest crowd ever to witness an Inauguration but conveniently vanished when aerial photographs were taken.

And neither of those two groups of invisible people should be confused with the thousands of invisible people who celebrated in New Jersey after the World Trade Center came down. Which only he saw. Maybe it's a Sixth Sense sort of thing; "I see non-existent people." No wonder Bruce Willis supported him. During the rest of his first term, we can expect an expansion of Trump's hallucination theme. Much time will be spent discussing ghosts and leprechauns and sprites and phantoms and pixies and the vast legions of his invisible enemies. Turns out Donald Trump doesn't just have a vision for this country, he has an

X- ray vision for this country. He's like Clark Kent only less buff and way blonder. It was bound to happen: America finally has its first super hero President. Erratic-Will Durst is an award-winning, nationally acclaimed columnist, comedian

ICYMI: (In case you missed it – things that you probably want to know)

In his address at the National Prayer Breakfast this morning, President Trump made one clear policy declaration: "I will get rid of and totally destroy the Johnson Amendment."

What is that? Is it in Trump's power to destroy it? And who would want him to do that?

What the Johnson Amendment is: It's named for Lyndon B. Johnson, who introduced it in the Senate in 1954, nine years before he became president. It bans all tax-exempt nonprofits — which includes churches and other houses of worship, as well as charities — from "directly or indirectly" participating in any political candidate's campaign.

TRUMP'S BAN A WIN FOR ISIS

During her second debate with Donald Trump, Democrat Hillary Clinton took some serious heat for warning that the Republican's then-proposed ban on Muslims may well have found its way into terrorism recruiting material.

Clinton was right at the time - but she was also prescient. The new administration's ham-fisted executive order restricting travel from seven, majority-Muslim nations is now being praised by jihadist groups as a victory.

For them.

"[Islamic State leader Abu Bakr] al-Baghdadi has the right to come out and inform Trump that banning Muslims from entering America is a 'blessed ban," The Washington Post reported Monday, citing a posting to a pro-Islamic State channel on a social media platform called Telegram.

According to The Post, the author compared Trump's executive order issued Friday to the American invasion of Iraq in 2003, which Islamic militants hailed at the time as a "blessed invasion"

The Post further reported that other postings suggested that Trump was "fulfilling the predictions of Anwar al-Awlaki, the American born al-Qaeda leader and preacher who famously said that the "West would eventually turn against its Muslim citizens." Awlaki was killed in a U.S. drone strike in Yemen in 2011."

As I read those words, I couldn't help but be reminded of a young Muslim friend who took to Facebook Monday in a heartbreaking post giving voice to her fears about the place her adopted country had become:

"I haven't had immigrant struggles for a while but being a green card holder right after 9/11 was not easy. I've been detained at an airport when I was eleven. I threw a fit and basically just wailed until they let my family out," my friend, who asked that her name not be used for this piece. "I've spent four hours in Customs trying to get back home from Canada. And I've spent countless hours standing in early morning lines in the cold ... just to get my visas.

"But I've never been afraid that I won't be able to get back to my home," she wrote. "And I am crushed, absolutely crushed for all of the little Muslim children feeling like they're second-hand citizens in their own country."

Trump jumped on Twitter on Monday to defend his travel ban, writing at one point that "if the ban were announced with a one week notice, the "bad" rush into our country during that week. A lot of bad "dudes" out there!"

Like my friend, an accomplished professional woman, who's smart and poised and exactly the kind of immigrant our nation should welcome?

But, right, she's Muslim. So roll up the welcome mat.

In his executive order, Trump also falsely claimed that his action was similar to one undertaken by President Barack Obama "when he banned visas for refugees from Iraq for six months."

In fact, Obama did no such thing. The former administration slowed down the processing of visas, but never stopped accepting them.

As The Post's Glenn Kessler reported, the Obama administration's action also came in response to a hostile act, while Trump's blanket action came without any provocation from the affected governments.

The claim came amid a growing outcry from some members of Congress, including U.S. Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., as well as U.S. Rep. Charlie Dent, R-Pa., who called the ban "unacceptable," and demanded a "more thoughtful and deliberative policy," according to The Philadelphia Inquirer.

But we already know that such niceties scarcely matter to Trump and his personal Richelieu, White House counselor Stephen K. Bannon, who have spent the last 10 days marching blindly across the countryside, leaving chaos and growing protests

Because only in Trumplandia would this kind of chaos and division be hailed as a "massive success story."

And with that, the new administration finds itself in the unlikely position of being in absolute agreement with the nation's sworn enemies. Strange bedfellows, indeed.

MAKING SENSE MICHAEL REAGAN

MR. TRUMP, DON'T BUILD THAT WALL

President Trump's new get-tough attitude on immigration has already stopped one Mexican from coming to the United States.

Trouble is, the Mexican who stayed home was President Enrique Pena Nieto. President Nieto wasn't coming here illegally, and he wasn't captured in Jeff Davis County, Texas, by one of Trump's friends in the Border Patrol.

But the Mexican leader and President Trump decided to scrap their planned summit next week after trading some testy tweets about whether or not Mexico was going to pay for a new wall along the U.S. southern border.

Don't worry.

There won't be another Mexican-American war.

President Nieto will be back in good time and he and Donald will make their deal. But before the two leaders meet face-to-face – and before Trump starts spending his weekends in Texas pouring concrete footers on the border -- Trump should get his busy staff to dust off, update and improve the Bracero program.

Most Americans – especially the politicians in Washington – have no idea what the Bracero program was.

But from 1942 until 1964, when the federal government's program was eliminated, it made illegal immigration from Mexico largely unnecessary by allowing the free flow of Mexican agricultural workers into and out of the United States. Over 22 years about 4.5 million Mexican nationals worked temporarily on the vegetable and fruit farms of California and the Southwest. The braceros were poor peasants. They were seasonal workers. They did hard agricultural work that not enough Americans were willing to do. They were greeted and processed by U.S. officials at collection stations at the

They signed contracts with the farmers and companies that employed them, then worked long hours for low wages. It was far from perfect. The braceros weren't treated as well as they should have been by their bosses or the government. They often suffered discrimination.

But they were free to come and go as temporary guest workers of America, not illegal invaders.

They could work, save their money and, unlike illegal immigrants today, could then easily return to Mexico.

The United States and Mexico both benefitted from the Bracero program, which in the long run had a huge impact on American culture, the agriculture business and the northerly flow of illegal immigration.

The program was ended in 1964 in part because of President Kennedy's concerns that the cheap labor of braceros was hurting American workers and because of political pressure from self-interested farm labor unions.

By ending it and replacing it with nothing, the federal government and Congress essentially created the illegal immigration issue in the United States.

It turned good men from Mexico who wanted to come here to work into

They had to break into the United States to find work and then break out of America

if they wanted to see their families again.

Many Mexican immigrants here illegally had little choice but to stay and then have their families sneak across the border to join them.

Fifty years and millions of illegal immigrants later, the Southern border is closed in both directions and President Trump is looking to waste billions on a wall he thinks will keep it that way.

But before he starts construction, he should get rid of the government regulations, laws and red tape that have created our illegal immigration problem.

Then he should come up with a new version of the Bracero program, so that the Mexicans who want to work in America can come in legally through a gate, not over
