SIERRA MADRE HOME RAIDED BY FEDERAL AGENTS

On Thursday, agents of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau served a search warrant on a Sierra Madre home and removed what has been described by Jeff Nguyen KCal9 News as, "lots and lots of guns". The warrant was issued as part of a criminal investigation. The home, reportedly belongs to a member of the Pasadena Police Department who has since been put on paid administrative leave and an Internal Affairs Investigation initiated. (Related story on pg. 5).

According to reports, 'dozens of gun boxes and weapons were removed from the residence.' In fact, as reported by numerous television news outlets, the number of guns, etc., was so great that a Van and a SUV were used to carry the items away. CBS2/KCAL9 News were somehow tipped off about the raid in advance and arrived to witness the ATF activity.

The presence of the officers startled residents on this normally quiet street in Northeast Sierra Madre. In fact, the Sierra Madre Police Department, according to Detective Henry Amos and Watch Commander Sgt. Ed Delcour, the Feds did not extend the usual professional courtesy among law enforcement agencies to SMPD by letting them know in advance of the raid. Further, the Pasadena Police Department for whom the homeowner works, is also not involved in the investigation.

The homeowner is believed to be a Lt. in the Pasadena Police Department. Although a search warrant was issued, no charges have been filed against him.

CBS2/KCAL9 News crews were on hand as agents served a search warrant at this location on Thursday. Photo courtesy Google Earth

"Everyone is presumed innocent until proven guilty and we certainly should not in anyway make the mistake of faulting the very good men and women of the Pasadena Police Department who have absolutely nothing to do with this and likely have no knowledge of this officer's alleged actions," said Pasadena City Councilman Victor Gordo.

Neither the Department of Justice nor the ATF were willing to discuss any additional information as the raid is part of an 'ongoing investigation.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"Love of beauty is taste, the creation of beauty is art." Ralph Waldo Emerson

"Creativity is allowing yourself to make mistakes. Art is knowing which ones to keep." Scott Adams

If you took my advice and went to Sierra Fusion for lunch, brunch or dinner, you'll have seen some really splendid art on the walls. A painting of koi which look so real they might just jump into your water glass, an extraordinary landscape which put me in mind of the Monterey coastline, a Japanese Samurai warrior and an exquisite painting of flowers, done in the pointillist style of the Impressionist painters. The artist, Mike Dukes, sat down with me as Sierra delightful chat. Mike is a local guy, lives in Monrovia and has spent most of his life in the Sierra Madre-Monrovia-Arcadia area. Mike's Dad played pro baseball and Mike went to Cal Poly Pomona mostly to play baseball but majoring in art for three or four years, moving on to the Pasadena Art Center in 1995. Mike is a member of MAFA - Monrovia in their July Art Walk at Night on Myrtle. Fifty or so of Mike's paintings are hanging in homes in our area and he has also painted several large murals; necessary to have the painting, which will hang in one on the side of a garage which is an awesome and enormous landscape at 8' x 20'! That's one big piece they had in mind. Mike had brought along several of art, friends and neighbors. Under the tutelage of his canvases and I had a tough time picking one of Kevin Stewart Magee, with whom Mike worked to feature here. One he brought is a self portrait with the prep work and painting of a number of murals Not being able to decide, we have this delightful for the Bristol Farms Stores. Several of these stores have closed and my immediate thought was, Yikes! would some non-art lover paint over these fabulous one-of-a-kind murals? Nope, the work was prepared somewhat like wallpaper so it could be steamed off, rolled up and taken back to the studio. Another mural is still up in the Bristol Farms in-store cafe in So. Pasadena so if you're down there, take a look.

One of Mike's goals is to get his work into some of the galleries in downtown Los Angeles and as he subscribes to the concept of Never Give Up, we expect he'll make it. Asking Mike where he's been that had a profound effect upon his art, he immediately said Italy! Specifically, Venice and Verona. Santa Fe. Recently he had occasion to spend some time in New Orleans and loved the French Quarter, the architecture, all those wrought iron railings and the spirit of Mardi Gras, which sort of lives there all the playwrightdd time. The palettes of the painters there reflect the spirit of the city - vibrant, inspiring. Three visits to London, with inspiration there from the history of great painters. German Impressionists were also an influence.

Of course, seeing as how we have two of the most inspirational places anywhere right here locally: The Arboretum and the Huntington Library, Mike takes full advantage of those places and, in fact, will be entering work for the Library show in March. The Library recently hosted an open house for artists to see what the space is like as two shows are planned, one in March and one in summer. A panel of judges will decide who will be showing, but Mike is confident he will be one of the artists.

Looking through Mike's portfolio, one comes Fusion was filling with the lunch crowd and we had a away with the impression that he is a truly eclectic artist who can excel in just about any medium: portraits, anatomy studies, some amazing wildlife pieces. He has also worked with the National History Museum, incorporating dioramas into his work. One of his greatest pleasures is working with clients to create the exact piece of art they want. People will approach him with their ideas and he will begin Association of Fine Arts and will be participating the work, frequently consulting with the expectant and excited client to be sure the piece is going the way they want it and ready to make the changes someone's home or office, end up being exactly what and studied for five years or so, he was involved in various trophies poking enticingly out of the canvas. seaside painting filled with colorful umbrellas, Mike Dukes himself, and the self-portrait with trophies. If you'd like to talk to Mike about his work, here's his email address: MDD73MDD@yahoo.com. You might also catch him at Sierra Fusion where he occasionally works with Edward Ungrue in the case where planning ahead is a really great idea. The catering side of the business. Take a few minutes to visit Sierra Fusion and look at Mike's work. You'll be glad you did!

ATF Serves Search Warrant on Pasadena Police Officer

Little information was being given Friday about a search warrant served by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives Wednesday night to the home of a Pasadena Police Department Officer.

Officials did say the officer has been put on leave pending an internal affairs review.

According to reports the officer is being investigated by the ATF for gun sales. The officer has not been charged or arrested. The officer does not live in Pasadena and the investigation is not work related authorities said.

Detectives Arrest Pasadena Attempted Murder Suspects

Los Angeles County Sheriff's Operation Safe Streets gang detectives arrested three Pasadena residents for their alleged involvement in a Duarte shooting last month that injured two people.

Two male adult victims were shot, January 7 at approximately 2:48 p.m. in the 2500 block of Bloomdale Street, Duarte. The men were transported to a hospital, with one victim sustaining critical injuries.

During the investigation, and with the assistance of Pasadena Police officers, multiple search and arrest warrants were authored and served Thursday at around 10:00 a.m. The three suspects are male black adults, ages 27 years-old, 27 years-old and 32 years-old. They are all residents of Pasadena.

Anyone with information call Detective Franklin or Detective Retamoza, at (626) 292-3341. If you prefer anonymously, call "Crime Stoppers" by dialing (800) 222-TIPS (8477).

Pet of the Week

Hiro (A412002) is an 11-year-old, neutered male, cameo tabby cat looking for a new home after his owner was no longer able to take care of him.

He is easy to pick up and enjoys sitting on your lap while you lavish him with love and affection. Hiro has had a hard time adjusting to the shelter environment, losing his appetite and some weight after arriving. Hiro has begun eating more regularly, but we would love to find him a forever home where he can be comfortable as quickly as possible.

The adoption fee for cats is $70, which includes the spay or neuter surgery, microchip, and vaccinations. Hiro qualifies for our Seniors for Seniors program, so his adoption fee is just $20 for adopters age 60 and up.

New adopters will receive a complimentary health-andwellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at (626) 792-7151 to ask about A412002, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email. Photos of all pets can be found at pasadenahumane.org.

Humane Society Gets Custom Shelter Wagon

The Pasadena Humane Society unveiled Wednesday morning their new customdesigned vehicle, a 35-foot "shelter on wheels" aimed to bring adoptable pets into the community, increase access to PHS programs and services, and disaster relief. The vehicle known as the Wiggle Waggle Wagon cost nearly $250,000 officials said.

Julie Bank, President/CEO Society said the vehicle will enable PHS to increase the reach of its Helping Paws program through bringing services such as mobile vaccine clinics, pet food drives and education.

"Our goal is to bring adoptable animals out into the community," she said. "We have so many amazing animals that need a home and sometimes people don't want said the new vehicle, among to come to the shelter."

The teachers, about half from Duarte schools and the other half from other districts in the San Gabriel Valley, will spend two free days of their own time attending the Google Summit to enhance their teaching skills and methods through technology.

The Summit, one of many such events held around the country but a first for the San Gabriel Valley, focuses on how educators, administrators and students can take technology to a new level. Instead of modern educational arena.

Duarte Unified District, under the guidance of Superintendent Allan Mucerino, has pledged to form a district of 21st Century Learners learning from highly motivated 21st Century Teachers, using the tools now available through technology.

"This educational summit, in partnership with the EdTech Team, will help our teachers embrace the options now offered through Google," said Dr. Mucerino. "This is a great tribute to our district, and our staff, that so many of them are willing to participate in professional development on two weekend days."

Duarte USD's commitment started with the district commitment to fund the tuition for each of the educators who volunteered to attend the event. Additionally, Duarte High School Principal Mark Sims is funding the tuition for 15 students who will become technology change agents and help guide their peers in using the tools.

TEEING-UP FOR RABBITS, BIRDS, KITTIES AND PUPS

Rarely do I go through a single day without hearing at least one person say, "I really want to get involved with helping shelter animals." Or, "I would love to volunteer with an organization that will allow me the opportunity to save the lives of animals that may be otherwise euthanized." Of course, these are my words for the basic common message I hear repeatedly in conversations with folks I meet while out walking my canine clients in town.

Fortunately, there are countless ways one may be of service to make a difference for the better on behalf of the animals these days. Probably more now than ever before. People are beginning to recognize that something must be done to reverse the trend we have inadvertently forged in our society. A trend which seems to sets forth a means to putting thousands of innocent animals to death each day, with no end in sight.

Everywhere I look today, I see people caring more about the lives of precious animals, and a few have even developed some pretty creative ways to help bring our societal norms to a higher moral level for their sakes. Indeed, opportunities to get involved and get on board with projects focused on the humane treatment of animals can - much like animals - come in a variety of forms, fashions, shapes and sizes.

Ways to bring about positive change for shelter pets can range from something as simple as donating carefully pre-owned pet beds & accessories, to fostering adoptable pets in your own home, to running marathons to raise awareness and bring in money for the cause. There are adoption booths to be tended to, daily kennel cleanings and feedings to be carried out, pro-bono opportunities for vets, groomers and photographers...the list goes on and on!

These are all wonderful, very practical ways one might take part in helping shelter pets get a second chance at life, but I think one of the most creative ways and perhaps most popular among those who may not be able to perform daily manual duties, but can afford to give, is to hold a fund-raiser golf tournament to benefit our local shelter!

The Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA will be hosting their annual "Doglegs, Birdies & Eagles" golf tournament on Monday, April 10, 2017. And this year -for the first time - they are proud to announce that the tournament will be held at the historic Annandale Golf Club in Pasadena.

With creative slogans such as, "Chip-in for the animals", and "Get in the swing 'fore' the animals", the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA has really put their best creative foot forward in planning and promoting this important fund-raising event. There will be a variety of activities surrounding the tournament, so even if you are not a golfer you will still want to participate.

PHS's e-flyer promises an unforgettable day with unparalleled golfing, a spectacular setting, fun oncourse contests, exceptional cuisine (I can attest to that, based on my own personal experience with dining at the Annandale club), exciting live and silent auctions, and an awards dinner with an opportunity drawing. It sounds to me like there'll be a little something there for

By participating in this golf tournament event, you will help provide food, shelter, medical care and so much more to the 12,000-plus animals that come to the PHS shelter every year. More than that, your support will help give those animals a second chance at finding safe, loving, forever homes.

There are only a few spots left, so you will want to sign up right away. Check-in begins at 9:00 am with a shotgun start at 11:00 am. Donation to participate in the tournament is $500 per single golfer, or $2,000 per foursome. This includes golf car and caddie, swag bag, mulligan package, lunch and dinner.

If you are not interested in participating in the tournament and activities on the course, but still wish to take part in the event, you are welcome to join them for dinner. Cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and silent auction begin at 4:00 pm with the dinner, live auction and opportunity drawing immediately following at 5:30 pm. Donation for the full dinner package is $175 per

To register and/or make reservations, contact the Pasadena Humane Society special events manager, Mia Dunn via e-mail at events@pasadenahumane.org or call her at (626) 792-7151, ext. 167. Tickets will not be available for purchase on the day of the event, so be sure to make your reservations before the deadline, Friday March 10, 2017.

Here's to yet another creative way to save the day for countless innocent, helpless animals that desperately need our help. It's up to us - all of us - to come to their rescue. It takes a community, a state, a nation to bring about change for the better. Why not start in your own back yard? And by the way, don't forget to love and let live - it's infectious!

PRESIDENTS

I must admit as a schoolboy I looked forward to the month of February. Mostly because I knew a holiday was soon to be mine and I could escape my teacher's scrutiny for a day, and it didn't hurt that most years there were 28 days. To say I loved summer vacation would underplay the rapture I found each June. Every moment in the penitentiary of school was a clockwatching moment until my release for Summer Vacation. Show me a boy that doesn't love summer and I will show you a boy that has read Huckleberry Finn but doesn't practiced the spirit. These days I look forward to Presidents weekend once again, because my home away from home, Santa Anita Race Track is now (barring rain) open. Don't worry my concerned readers, I might have a champagne appetite but this writer's budget is strictly on a beer allowance. A $2 exact box is about all this hopeful gambler can muster. As I researched the Presidents this year I uncovered an assortment of tastes comprising our highest office. Here is what my research came up with.

HOW MEDICARE COVERS PREVENTIVE HEALTH SERVICES

Dear Savvy Senior.

Does Medicare cover 100 percent of all preventive health care screenings? I'm due to get a colonoscopy and a few other tests, but I want to find out if I'll have to pay anything before I proceed. New to Medicare and screening services to help you stay healthy, but not all services are completely covered.

You also need to be aware that the repeal of the Affordable Care Act (aka Obamacare) – which helps financially support Medicare - may very well cause these free preventive services to be eliminated in the future. But in the meantime, here's how it works.

Free Preventive Services

Currently, most of Medicare's preventive services are where you receive the service. Certain hospitals, for available to all Part B beneficiaries for free, with no copays or deductibles, as long as you meet basic eligibility standards. Mammograms; colonoscopies; shots against flu, pneumonia, and hepatitis B; screenings for diabetes, depression, and heart conditions; and counseling to combat obesity, alcohol abuse, and smoking are just some of Medicare's lengthy list of covered services. But to get these services for free, you need to go to a doctor who accepts Medicare "on assignment," which means he or she has agreed to accept the Medicare approved rate as full payment.

Also, the tests are free only if they're used at specified intervals. For example, prostate cancer PSA tests, once every 12 months for men over 50; or colonoscopy, once every 10 years, or every two years if you're at high risk.

Medicare also offers a free "Welcome to Medicare" exam with your doctor in your first year, along with annual wellness visits thereafter. But don't confuse these with full physical examinations. These are preventionfocused visits that provide only an overview of your health and medical risk factors and serve as a baseline for future care.

For a complete list of services along with their eligibility requirements, visit Medicare.gov and click on the "What Medicare Covers" tab at the top of the page, followed by "Preventive & screening services."

You also need to know that while the previously listed Medicare services are completely free, you can be author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

Medicare currently covers a wide array of free preventive charged for certain diagnostic services or additional tests or procedures related to the preventive service. For example, if your doctor finds and removes a polyp during your preventive care colonoscopy screening, the removal of the polyp is considered diagnostic and you will likely be charged for it. Or, if during your annual wellness visit, your doctor needs to investigate or to treat a new or existing problem, you will probably be charged here too.

You may also have to pay a facility fee depending on example, will often charge separate facilities fees when you are receiving a preventive service. And, you can also be charged for a doctor's visit if you meet with a physician before or after the service.

To eliminate billing surprises, talk to your doctor before any preventive service procedure to find out if you may be subject to a charge and what it would be.

Cost Sharing Services

Medicare also offers several other preventive services that require some out-of-pocket cost sharing. With these tests, you'll have to pay 20 percent of the cost of the service, after you've met your $183 Part B yearly deductible. The services that fall under this category include glaucoma screenings, diabetes self-management trainings, barium enemas to detect colon cancer, and digital rectal exams to detect prostate cancer.

Medicare Advantage Members

If you have a Medicare Advantage plan, your plans are also required to cover the same free preventive services as original Medicare as long as you see in-network providers. If you see providers that are not in your plan's network, charges will typically apply.

KATIE TseThis and That BEAUTY IS IN THE CAKE OF THE BEHOLDER

for one, celebrated my birthday Some people (usually women) despise their birthdays because it means they're getting older. I love my birthday because it's the only day I don't feel guilty about shamelessly picking where my husband and I go out to dinner! Great stuff, for sure. Another thing I love about my birthday is the celebration with my family. We have a tradition that my dad always makes my birthday cake, and I always make his. My dad often opinionated about which art and artists they liked. They year he outdid himself!

One of the many adjectives that characterizes my dad, is "creative." A secondary characteristic, is "thrifty." Notice I was nice and didn't say "cheap!" The way my dad tells the story of my birthday cake this year is this: He knew I wanted chocolate cake with some sort of non-chocolate frosting; so he decided upon was that he already had some white frosting in a tube that he intended to use, but it

And he didn't feel like paying over $5 for a second tube of frosting just to achieve a different color. "Ah ha!" he thought, "I'll just dye the butter cream."

My mom, also very artsy and creative, bought some professional-grade food dyes a while ago in all sorts of exotic colors. My dad zapped the frosting in the microwave a couple of times, stirred in a few colors (not thoroughly mixing it, just enough to give it a swirly effect), and poured the resulting semi-liquid over the cake. The result was beautiful!

I visited them the day before our family dinner and they showed me Dad's "masterpiece." Of course I think it was a masterpiece but they think it was funky. It reminded me of "Starry Night" or some impressionistic painting.

I hope you had a fabulous week. I, The intricate details of swirls of colors captivated me, and I spent a good 15 minutes photographing sections of it from different angles. It is now the wallpaper on my phone. The only flaw (which I've actually now come to appreciate) was a meteor-looking thing off center which my dad said was an unmelted lump of frosting.

The whole experience reminded me of "Herb & Dorothy," a hilarious movie about an elderly couple who collected art. (Herb passed away in 2012). Though not formally trained in art, they were very passionate and infuses my cake with some sort of artistic flare. But this tended to favor more abstract and modern pieces. In one scene, Herb is praising a painter for his choice to impose a series of vertical and horizontal lines over his work, making it look as though the subject is behind a screen or cage. Later, the painter admits to the director that this "screen" is simply a grid to help him when he expands the piece onto a larger surface. Another great scene has Herb latest acquisition in their tiny New York apartment --a piece of rope nailed to the wall. It is didn't contrast well with the off-white butter cream color. very much like another of their prized pieces, a segment of wire suspended near the ceiling. The enjoyment they found in admiring the shadows cast by that piece of wire is truly a life lesson in the subtle art of "joie de vivre."

I think we all could use more of that in our daily lives. fleeting in nature. Even my beautiful cake is gone now!

Life can be a drudgery sometimes, but even in those time (or rather, especially in those times!) we need to find and appreciate the beauty around us. Take a moment to study the intricate details of a flower, or marvel at the expanse of the night sky on one of these clear nights following a rain. Celebrate beauty when you find it because so often it is

DOES OUR SOLAR SYSTEM HAVE AN UNDISCOVERED PLANET? YOU CAN HELP ASTRONOMERS FIND OUT

Arizona State University astronomer Adam Schneider and his colleagues are hunting for an elusive object lost in space between our Sun and the nearest stars. They are asking for your help in the search, using a new citizen-science website.

Astronomers have found evidence for a ninth planet in our solar system. The evidence comes from studying the orbits of objects in the solar system's Kuiper Belt. This is a zone of comet-like bodies orbiting the Sun out beyond the orbit of Neptune. The Kuiper Belt is similar to the asteroid belt that circles the Sun between Mars and Jupiter, but it lies dozens of times farther out.

This hypothetical Planet 9 could be similar in size to Neptune, but it may orbit up to a thousand times farther away from the Sun than the Earth does. So while astronomers can see its effects on the Kuiper Belt objects, no one has yet observed Planet 9 directly.

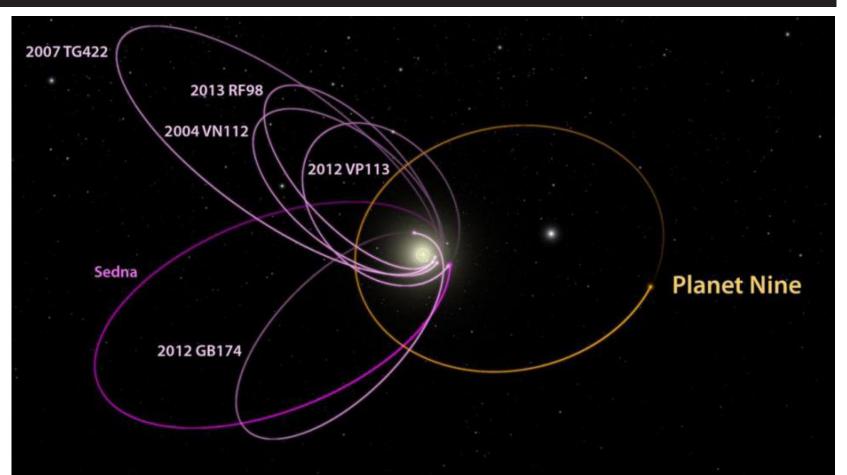

"If it exists, Planet 9 could be large—maybe 10 times the mass of Earth but orbiting far out beyond the Kuiper Belt," says Schneider, a postdoctoral researcher in ASU's School of Earth and Space Exploration.

În addition to searching for a distant planet orbiting the Sun, this new project will help astronomers identify the Sun's nearest neighbors outside of our solar system.

"There are just over four light-years between Neptune and Proxima Centauri, the nearest star, and much of this vast territory is unexplored," says the lead researcher for Backyard Worlds: Planet 9, Marc Kuchner, an astrophysicist at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center.

Astronomers expect the Sun's neighborhood will contain many low-mass objects called brown dwarfs. These emit very little light at visible wavelengths, but instead glow dimly with infrared—i.e., heat radiation.

So how do astronomers find such objects in space? That's where you can contribute, using a website that enlists the help of citizen scientists. It's called Backyard Worlds: Planet 9 [http:// backyardworlds.org], and it uses images taken by NASA's WISE space telescope.

WISE, which stands for Wide-field Infrared Survey Explorer, was launched in late 2009, and it has mapped the entire sky several times during the last seven years. WISE detects infrared light, the kind of light emitted by objects at room temperature, like planets and brown dwarfs. This sensitivity to infrared light makes WISE uniquely suited for discovering Planet 9, if it exists.

But there's a snag: Images from WISE have captured nearly 750 million individual sources in the sky. Doubtlessly among these lurk the elusive brown dwarfs and possibly Planet 9. The question is how to sift through the data and identify them.

Planetary objects and brown dwarfs roaming near crowded parts of the sky. the Sun can appear to move across the sky, leaving other celestial objects such as background stars and galaxies, which lie immensely far away, apparently fixed in place.

to systematically scan infrared images of the sky, searching for objects that move.

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges TO LOVE YOUR DOG

[Nyerges is the author of

Prager on the radio talking about everything under the sun. Not long ago, he spent the morning having a discussion with listeners who called in about the love of their dog. Some loved their dog more than other people, and some said that while they loved their dog a lot, they placed people ahead of dogs. It was an interesting discussion, where Prager asked questions and listened, and, tried to find personal clarity on the issue of love of dogs. As Prager often says, he's far more interested in obtaining clarity on an issue than getting others to agree with him.

At the end of the show, Prager concluded that people who have a great love for dogs do so only because they haven't developed the ability to love people. They, therefore - according to Prager's conclusion - are loving dogs as a second-best to loving people, because they lack, or haven't developed, the ability to love other humans.

Though Prager conclusion could be right in some of the cases, I knew it was incorrect. I am one of the dog lovers, and yet I do not regard myself deficient in the art of loving other humans. I think the reason that Prager came to this conclusion is most likely because he has never developed a close relationship with a dog. (However, I am just speculating on that Once when I was driving along a busy street in the business district, my dog Ramah suddenly perked up and zoomed in on one man who was jogging. She began to wildly and angrily bark at that one man. Why? What did Ramah see, or smell, or detect, in that man which I did not? Whatever it was, you'd be wise to observe what your dog notes, and don't ignore it.

I had a dog who lived with me when I lived alone, and since he was an older dog, my schedule was always worked around him. I never stayed out too late, because he came in from his penned vard and came inside with me at night. I tended to his feeding and washed him. He was very much like a child. I began to study Beatrice Lydeckers book, "What the Animals Tell Me," and I began to apply her principles of animal communication. All of this was a very revealing and insightful journey as I began to learn what it was like to think like a dog, and to attempt to view the world through his senses. And I felt such a great pain of loss when he died in my arms one Sunday evening.

And yet, none of that in any way deprived me of any deep human relationships. If anything, this enhanced my relationships at the time, and allowed me to have even better relationships than I would have otherwise. Cassius Clay taught me to be a marriage was a 50-50 proposition, which being being the one confused. the naïve young man that I was, believed it entirely.

The problem I have discovered is that 50 from a man's point of view may not necessarily be 50 from a woman's point of view. If I knew then what I know now, I would have asked that person to define what they meant by 50.

Through the years, I discovered that at times it is a 25-75 split. Other times it is a 0-100. Nobody can be 100% right all the time unless of course they are married to a husband.

When men get together, they talk about sports, hunting, cars and so forth.

When women get together, they talk about how to deal with their husbands.

I know it does not sound fair, but then it is our fault as men for not getting our act together.

Although, I must admit that at this point in my life I do not have any regrets. The only thing that I have trouble with is the word "tomorrow." I am not quite sure what that word means from my wife's perspective. From my perspective, the word "tomorrow" is just a way of putting something off and possibly not even doing it.

I never really thought anything of it until recently. To me the word "tomorrow" was just a casual word I used to postpone things. It was not until last week that it really came to the forefront.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage asked me to do something for her. I was really busy at the time, I'm not sure what I was busy doing, but I was not paying too much attention. I smiled at her and said, "Okay." Then, I went back to doing whatever I was doing.

The next day she approached me and said, "Did you do what I asked you to do yesterday?'

I really was not quite up to date on what she asked me to do yesterday, but I said, "No, but I'll do it tomorrow." To be fair, I actually forgot about it. I did not mean to forget about it, but it does not change the fact that I forgot about it.

The next day she queried me rather sternly, "Did you do what I asked you to do the other

At this point, I did not know if she was confused or if I When I got married, somebody told me that was confused. To keep things safe, I will admit to

"Yesterday," she began explaining, "you said that tomorrow you would do the task I asked you to do. Well," she continued, "this is that tomorrow!"

For the life of me, I could not understand why today was actually tomorrow. Then she said something along the line that tomorrow would actually be today. What I want to know is, is today tomorrow or is tomorrow today?

By this time I was so confused I had forgotten what she had asked me to do. My dilemma was, do I confess to her I had forgotten and ask her to remind me what she wanted me to do? Or, should I promise to do it tomorrow?

As you can imagine, the latter was completely off the table. I had to humble myself and ask her most sorrowfully, "I'm sorry, what did you ask me

With both hands on her hips, she stared at me and said, "That's exactly what I thought. You weren't listening to me the first time, were you?" Getting back to that 50-50 split; it is now 0-100 split. I am at the 0 and she is 100% right.

The art of negotiating with your wife begins by humbling yourself and saying that you are wrong. Nobody wants to say that, but that is where everything begins. I must confess that I do not always hear everything and even what I do hear it does not really register, as it should. I tried to use the old excuse that I am too old and I forget. However, as you might imagine, that really does not work. After explaining to me what she wanted me to do, I went off to do it. While I was on my way to accomplish that which I had put off till tomorrow a verse seemed to reverberate in my mind.

It was the apostle Paul writing to the Corinthians where he said, "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall" (1 Corinthians 10:12).

If I am going to think something through carefully I need to hear what is being said, especially who is saying it. I hope I learned my lesson that today is the tomorrow I kicked down the road yesterday.

COFFEE AND CONVERSATION WITH A COP AND MUCH MORE!

By Joan Schmidt

Recently, MAD Town Council Member Linda Sells and I attended the "Coffee and Conversation with a Cop" at the Arcadia Elks Lodge- a great event. After a short overview, I'll write about their K-9, Zoli.

First VERY SPECIAL THANKS to Mike Vercillo, CSO, Arcadia Police Department who not only orchestrates these great events, but attends both the Arcadia Chamber's monthly forum meeting and the MAD Town Council Meeting, sharing crime news/trends, APD's activities and important safety tips.

Elks Lodge provided the great free breakfastattended by 200. In addition to Zoli and his handler, Officer Foulkes, Chief Guthrie, Captain Foley and a few officers attended and were available to answer questions/concerns. A GREAT display table had information flyers, such as "What is Suspicious"- (Activities that could be a crime), "Personal Safety", "Pedestrian Safety Rules", important phone numbers and various websites. One flyer was "What to tell the Police When I Call and HOW to give a good description. Please visit http://www.ci.arcadia.home.

Arcadia PD Lt. Colleen Flores shared the following information about Zoli, Officer Foulks and their training. I had no idea of how extensive

Two year old Zoli is half German shepherd, half Belgian Mallinois, born in Slovakia and trained at a local facility. Many commands were taught prior to coming to the US and many were also taught at a local facility before Officer Foulks attended training with the K-9.

Officer Foulkes and Zoli attended a five-week K9 Basic Patrol Handler's Course in Oct-Nov, 2016. The focus of the course is to train the handler and the dog how to work effectively as a team. Here are some but not limited to Obedience, off and on leash; Obstacle course; Evidence Search; Call-off; Building Search; Area Search; Wind Scenting; High Risk Traffic Stops; Out of the Patrol Unit; Handler Protection; Muzzle Exercises, Legal updates and Opinions, and Problem Solving.

Additional training included narcotics detection. Not all K9's are trained in both basic patrol operations and narcotics detection. Zoli is cross=trained for both. This includes but is not limited to Narcotics Alerts, Vehicles, Residences, Luggage, Mall Packages, Open Area, Legal Updates

The K9 Training is on-going and sometimes with other agencies. It has been twelve years since Arcadia Police Department had a Canine Program and funding for Zoli and his training was made though the Arcadia Police Foundation.

In addition to a great breakfast, demonstration and learning, we saw various friends- the Orswells, Shimins and Harbichts-surely we'll see you at the next Coffee and Conversation with a Cop.

SEAN'S SHAMELESS REVIEWS:

By Sean Kayden

HIPPO CAMPUS - "LANDMARK"

With more indelible hooks that would make Vampire Weekend stunned and a sound palette that meets the earlier days of Two Days Cinema Club, Hippo Campus is already making a name for themselves before their first LP even hits the streets. The Minnesota indie rock quartet had an impressive 2015 and 2016 outing with addictive singles such as "Suicide Saturday" and "South" carrying them through the excitement. While barely in their early 20s, Jake Luppen (vocals/guitar), Nathan Stocker (guitar), Zach Sutton (bass), and Whistler Allen (drums) are poised to release their debut record, "Landmark" on February 24th via Grand Jury Records. Introducing 13 brand tracks (including an intro and interlude), Hippo Campus is prepared to make 2017 their biggest year yet. If it happens, as it should, it will be deservingly so. While the group's first EPs 2014's "Bashful Creatures" and 2015's "South" were playful, hip, and carefree, the band hasn't lost touch with their early upbringing, but they have definitely demonstrated a keen sense of maturity. As usual while Hippo Campus' efforts always come off so effortlessly with vivacious synths, ample optimism, and infectious hooks at every chance, the rookie act illustrate great strides in becoming an elite rock act with their promising debut, landmark.

The album "landmark" gets underway with "way it goes," the sunny, energetic single that precedes the instrumental intro ("sun veins"). It's the type of tune you can find yourself getting lost to while driving down the highway headed toward a beach-y surrounding. This special kind of song breathes fresh air into your lungs as it has rejuvenating attributes attached to it. If you're new to Hippo Campus, this is the one that will get you initially started as you make your way to the unquestionable beauty that follows soon afterward. Next "vines" is a silky smooth exertion with catchy guitars riffs, Luppen's charming vocals, and dynamic drums. It's a head-bobbing song that is brimming with excitement for sure. My dark horse pick for one of the best songs off the record is "epitaph." It starts off like a slow Grade: 9 out of 10

Vampire Weekend tune before blossoming into this deep original endeavor from Hippo Campus. The gorgeous, warm effort is a daydream at any part of the day. Filled with nostalgia, clear, crisp guitars, and a deep yearning, Hippo Campus doesn't rely on tricks or the manipulative power of thinking about yesteryear. They are inclined to touch upon yesterday, remind you it's not always about tomorrow, and have your sights set on today because that's all you really Moving on to "simple season," Hippo Campus has indeed constructed a simply good track. It floats above the sounds of something like Bombay Bicycle Club yet finds its own voice through the process. It's another one with a memorable melody overflowing with pleasurable echoes from beginning to end. On "tuesday," the stark beauty Hippo Campus puts on display once again enamors the listener. It will lend a helping hand in escaping your temporary plight, confusion, or uncertainty as you decide your next move. Trust me when I say, "landmark" provides better escapism than any recent sounds or summer movie blockbusters have had to offer in a minute. In addition, "monsoon" is a towering, but subtle contribution to landmark. Reminiscent of Broken Social Scene with the occasional distorted vocals/sounds making brief appearances, "monsoon" is the most peaceful composition sonically wise that landed on the record. However, not to be outdone, follow-up track, "vacation" is a contemplative song that expands the horizons of Hippo Campus. Here we have a deeper emphasis on storytelling, an exhibit of newfound wisdom, and this pure validation that the band, despite how young they may be, go beyond any one-dimensional sounds usually associated with debut records from newer acts. Then there's "boyish," which debuted a couple months back when they announced this LP. It's a feverishly ambitious song that is teeming with zest, immaculate arrangements, and unyielding verve.

Finally, "landmark" is a forty-five minute assortment of tunes that should appeal to a wide, eclectic audience. The energy is in abundance, the soulfulness is evident, the youthful charm is ever so clear and the positivity is real. Hippo Campus has crafted a memorable experience with sonically pleasing melodies, lustrous guitars, and bold vocals. The entire record touches upon the days of how teenagehood is now in the past and the transition into adulthood is arriving. While it may certainly be for the greater good, Hippo Campus does a find job reminding us all that growing up may never stop occurring yet some point, you'll have to start doing so sooner than later.

The Snow Child: A Novel by Eowyn

Alaska, 1920: a rough place to homestead, and especially tough for recent arrivals Jack and Mabel. Childless, they are drifting apart-he breaking under the weight of the work of the farm; she crumbling from loneliness and despair. In a moment of levity during the season's first snowfall, they build a child out of snow. The next morning the snow child is gone--but they glimpse a young, blondehaired girl running through the trees. This little girl, who calls herself Faina, seems to be a child of the woods. She hunts with a red fox at her side, skims lightly across the snow, and somehow survives alone in the Alaskan wilderness. As Jack and Mabel struggle to understand this child who could have stepped from the pages of a fairy tale, they come to love her as their own daughter. But in this beautiful, violent place things are rarely as they appear, and what they eventually learn about Faina will transform all of the

Demian: The Story of a Youth by Hermann Hesse

The main character of this classic novel, Emil Sinclair, is a young boy raised in a bourgeois home, amidst what is described as a Scheinwelt, a play on words that means "world of light" as well as "world of illusion". Emil's entire existence can be summarized as a struggle between two worlds: the show world of illusion (related to the Hindu concept of maya) and the real world, the world of spiritual truth. In the course of the novel, accompanied and prompted by his mysterious classmate 'Max Demian', he detaches from and revolts against the superficial ideals of the world of appearances and eventually awakens into a realization of self. The novel refers to the idea of Gnosticism, particularly the god Abraxas, showing the influence of Carl Jung's psychology. According to Hesse, the novel is a story of Jungian individuation, the process of opening up

According to this narrative, the US's trade policies, growing trade deficits with Mexico and Canada, and China's "unfair subsidy behaviour" are to blame for the US's "deindustrialisation" and its disappearing middle class. The US did indeed lose about 5.6m manufacturing jobs between 2000 and 2010. But according to a study by the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ball State University, 85 per cent of these jobs losses are actually attributable to technological change largely automation - rather than international aims, increasing trade protectionism, is unlikely trade. Automation printing will exacerbate this trend," says Ms Solís. This process, as many have pointed out, is irreversible. This is not to say that trade with China and other countries has not contributed to job losses. Research by the Ball State University found that 13 per cent of the overall job losses in manufacturing had resulted from trade. Another, more recent, MIT study estimated that rising Chinese imports from 1999 to 2011 cost up to 2.4m American jobs. FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

PLANNING FOR THE CARE OF YOUR PET: HOW TO INCLUDE YOUR PET IN YOUR ESTATE PLAN

If your pet is beloved as a family member, you likely want to ensure that he or she will be well cared for in the event of your incapacity or death.

Without explicitly stated wishes, these furry family members could end up without a home of

To prevent this tragic outcome, you can include planning for your pet in your estate plan. Here are they love most. His office is located at 49 S. Baldwin three important issues to consider when planning your estate with your beloved pet in mind.

legal distinction, an agent must be named in your estate plan to take ownership of your pet or arrange for your pet to have a loving home. In absence of a legally enforceable document stating your wishes, your pet could suffer the fate of many when their owners pass on: an animal shelter.

How will that person provide for your pet? Pets require food and medical care. These costs can be significant if your pet has a health condition or is aging. Money can be set aside for your pet with specific directions about how those funds can be used and by whom.

How will your pet be cared for?

You may want to consider leaving instructions on how your pet should be cared for, as well as consider financial incentives for the person you've named to care for your pet pursuant to your wishes. This is especially important if your pet has any health conditions, is aging or is an exotic animal. Detailed instructions (and the money to carry them out) will ensure your pet's new guardian can provide the same quality of care you provide now. To ensure your loved ones – which includes your pets, too - are cared for when you die, it is necessary to create a comprehensive estate plan that will ensure all your wishes are carried out, even if you don't consider yourself financially wealthy.

WHOSE DAY IS IT ANYWAY?

"I thought the purpose of Presidents Day was getting steep discounts on mattresses and furniture."

"Good one, but the original purpose of Presidents Day was to celebrate George Washington's birthday. According to History. com, in 1800, the year after Washington died, 'his February 22 birthday became a perennial day of remembrance.' For years it was celebrated with the same passion with which Americans still celebrate the Fourth of July. In 1885, a bill established Feb. 22 as a federal holiday. The federal government still officially refers to Presidents Day as Washington's Birthday."

"Which is it? Washington's Birthday or Presidents Day?" "Well, both. Washington's Birthday became popularly known as Presidents Day as part of 1971's Uniform Monday Holiday Act, which sought to create more three-day weekends for federal employees. It moved the holiday from a fixed calendar date to the

"Do we also celebrate Abraham Lincoln's birthday on Presidents Day?"

"Many think we celebrate both Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays on Presidents Day, but the truth is that Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12, was never designated as a federal holiday. However, Presidents Day is now popularly viewed as a day to celebrate all U.S. presidents

What if we don't want to celebrate all presidents? Some of them were real duds. What if we only want to celebrate Washington and Lincoln?"

"An interesting thought. According to Snopes.com, a bill was introduced in Congress called the Washington-Lincoln Recognition Act of 2001. It proposed that Presidents Day be referred to as Washington's Birthday, and that the president issue a proclamation every year to recognize and observe Lincoln's birthday. But the bill was never passed into law." "I understand that some states still observe Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays on Feb. 22 and Feb. 12?"

"Well, you have to understand that federal holidays only apply to federal offices and agencies. States are free to do as they wish. When Presidents Day was established in 1971, many state and local governments started celebrating Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays on the same day. But some states have some interesting ways of observing birthdays.

"I can only imagine. Can you share some examples?"

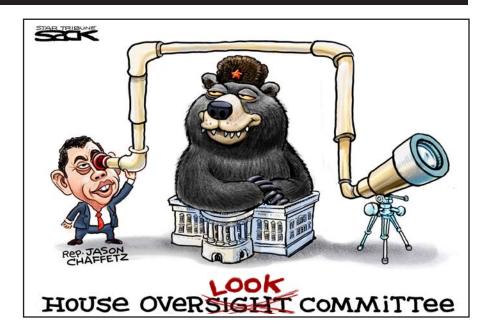

"Well, in Alabama, the third Monday in February commemorates George Washington and Thomas Jefferson ---- although Jefferson was born in April! And according to Snopes.com, 'some states still observe Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays as separate holidays, some observe only Washington's Birthday, some commemorate both with a single Presidents Day (or Lincoln-Washington Day), and some states celebrate neither." "I was joking about the purpose of Presidents Day being about discounts on mattresses and furniture, but haven't many Americans lost sight of the day's true meaning?' Unfortunately, some of what you say is true. When I was a kid in the 1970s, everyone knew who Washington was and what he accomplished. One of the primary reasons the experiment called America was able to work was because of the sacrifices he made. Too few understand how unique our political system is and how the incredible bounty we enjoy can be laid at the feet of Washington. However, things are not so bad as you may think."

"How so?" "According to History.com, 'Presidents Day is used by many patriotic and historical groups as a date for staging celebrations, reenactments and other events. A number of states also require that their public schools spend the days leading up to Presidents Day teaching students about the accomplishments of the presidents, often with a focus on the lives of Washington and Lincoln."

'That's certainly encouraging." "Yes it is. Happy Presidents Day."

TRUMPAIDESAIDSOMETHING DANGEROUS ON SUNDAY

One of the great advantages of youth is that it's a time to make mistakes, say silly stuff you might regret later, and generally experiment and try on different roles. Which brings us to the case of Trump administration policy adviser Stephen Miller, who said something so jawdroppingly arrogant and poorly thought out during an interview with CBS anchor John Dickerson last Sunday that it would be tempting to merely write it off as the brazenness of youth -- were it not for the fact that it was so very, very dangerous. Miller, responding to a question about what the White House has learned from the experience of Trump's controversial executive over, told Dickerson that "the powers of the president to protect our country are very substantial and will not be questioned. Will not be questioned?

Where does young Miller, who's all of 31, think he's living, exactly? This is the United States and you work for the taxpayers, sir. We'll question you anytime we

But given President Trump's affection for authoritarian leaders, Miller might have momentarily blacked out, woken up disoriented, and wrongly thought he was giving an interview to Russian State television.

Surely no administration sworn to defend and uphold the Constitution of the United States could be so ignorant of the fundamental truth it serves at the consent of the governed - and not the other way around?

Unless, of course, it really is that ignorant, or it simply doesn't care.

And, just a month into Trump's administration, there are growing signs that is

In other interviews last Sunday, including one with Fox News, Miller doubled down on the administration's crusade against the legitimacy of the federal judiciary:

'This is a judicial usurpation of power," he said, according to the Washington Post, of the 9th Circuit decision enjoining Trump's poorly conceived travel ban. "It is a violation of judges' proper roles in litigating disputes. We will fight it. And we will make sure that we take action to keep from happening in the future what's happening in the past."

Short of shredding the Constitution or imposing martial law, it's tough to see how the administration could carry through on such a threat.

But it's no surprise that such niceties are a mere formality to the young White House aide. Miller, who's slight and wears his thinning black hair closely cropped, was a familiar sight on the campaign trail last year. At rally after rally, it fell to him to crank up crowds to a fever pitch with a steady diet of red meat rhetoric. He also wrote the darkly apocalyptic speech that Trump delivered at last summer's Republican National Convention in Cleveland. Now, along with Trump's senior counselor, Stephen K. Bannon, Miller is one of the principal architects of Trump's backward-looking "America First" agenda. The optimist in me wants to think that Miller, given the benefit of hindsight and a few years under his belt, might come to regret his ill-chosen words — just as we later regret or look back, mystified, at some of the more rash decisions of

But right now, that doesn't seem the case.

In politics, it's often said that a gaffe is someone inadvertently telling the truth. With a few poorly chosen words, Miller spoke volumes. And we ignore them at our peril.

MAKING SENSE MICHAEL REAGAN

ROOKIES IN THE

Maybe President Trump should have gone somewhere outside of Washington to hold tryouts for a month to see who on his team was ready to play in the big leagues. At least he should have picked some veteran coaches who know how the professional Washington game is played, are loyal to him and who know how to make the White

Major League Baseball has an annual training season in House work smoothly.

All incoming presidents, even veteran politicians, have trouble with their White House advisers and underlings at first.

But as a political outsider and a disrupter, Trump is facing more trouble than most of his predecessors.

The Democrats, their hysterical pals in the media and the permanent Washington bureaucracy are doing their best to slow him up or bring him down.

But so far Trump – the rookie manager in chief – has been his own worst enemy. He assembled a White House team made up of third-round draft picks and minor leaguers and put them on the field before he knew whether they could hit a curve or field a hard grounder. What we're seeing in the White House – "Leakville," as I refer to it now – is a bunch of rookies trying to run the most important government operation in the world. It should never have gotten to this level of ineptitude, President Trump is responsible for it, and only he can fix it.

A large part of his problem is that he doesn't have a chief of staff in the White House -- he has two of them, Reince Priebus and Steve Bannon.

Anyone who's ever managed a Starbucks knows when two or more people are "in charge," no one is really in charge.

And when two or three people are in charge, then no one is ultimately responsible for anything that happens and chaos and confusion run amok. The bumbled and hasty rollout of the executive order temporarily banning immigrants from seven Muslim countries was a textbook example of what happens when no single person is in charge of the White House staff.

The case of Michael Flynn, Trump's starting National Security Adviser, was another "rookie mistake" by a staffer that should never have happened.

Flynn should have known better. He wasn't called up from the Class D Leagues. He had 30 years of exemplary military experience and had worked in the Obama administration.

What was he thinking? What made him believe he had the right to lie to the vice president - if that's what he really did?

Flynn's been cut from the team and he'll be a source of bad PR for Trump for

I'd hate to be Sean Spicer, who has to go in front of the Washington press corps and deal with the latest twists in the Flynn case or explain the White House's bungle of the President Trump is doing fine by holding all those meetings with business executives and foreign leaders and issuing executive orders.

It's his rookie squad that's holding him back. They seem more interested in serving their own interests, not his. It's now up to the president to find a way to plug up the leaks and put together a competent, loyal and trusted White House staff. He has to work fast. The regular season is almost a month old and he still doesn't have a coaching staff or a starting lineup.

And as Manager Trump has already found out the hard way, there are no exhibition games played in the White House.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

The City of Sierra Madre MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 16-06 (MCTA 16-06) – GROUP LIVING FACILITIES

City of Sierra Madre

Applicant: Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California Project Location:

On February 14, 2017 the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre introduced for second reading recommending adoption of Ordinance 1385 amending Chapter 17.08 ("Definitions") Section 17.08.020 ("Words, terms, phrases defined"), Chapter 17.60 Section 17.60.030 ("Conditional Use Permits—When Required"), and a new Chapter 17.94 ("Group Living Facilities") Subject to a Conditional Use Permit"). The Planning Commission recommended approval of the proposed text amendment to the City Council at a public meeting held on January 5, 2017. The amendments would afford the City the ability to better regulate unlicensed and licensed group living facilities serving more than seven (7) residents by imposing operational requirements through a conditional use permit to preserve the residential character of neighborhoods and to provide some protection to a vulnerable population in the absence of State or Federal licensing or other regulatory oversight. The conditional use requirements will establish a framework for the inclusion of housing and care facilities for people with disabilities in the City.

This summary is published pursuant to Government Code Section 36933(c)(1) and a full and complete certified copy of the text of Ordinance 1385 is available at the Sierra Madre City Manager's Office located at City of Sierra Madre City Hall 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.. Sierra Madre, CA. Ordinance 1385 becomes effective on March 16, 2017. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at (626) 355-7138.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION: An Initial Study was prepared for the 2014-2021 Housing Element in accordance with the City's guidelines implementing the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). This Initial Study was undertaken for the purpose of deciding whether the measures identified in the Housing Element to fulfill the City's Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA) allocation may have a significant effect on the environment. On the basis of the Initial Study, the Planning Commission and City Council concluded that they will not have a significant effect on the environment, and a Negative Declaration was adopted by City Council on July 28, 2013. Furthermore, the project qualifies for an exemption form the CEOA review pursuant to Title 14. Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations as it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance may have a significant effect on the environment, because it will impose regulations and standards for unlicensed and licensed group living facilities serving seven (7) or more residents to ensure protection of the residential environment and character of the City of Sierra Madre.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

From: The City of Sierra Madre MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 16-05 (MCTA 16-05) -Subject:

DISCRETIONARY DEMOLITION PERMITS Applicant: City of Sierra Madre

Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California Project Location:

On February 14, 2017 the City Council of the City Sierra Madre, introduced for first reading recommending adoption of Ordinance1386 amending Chapter 17.60.056 ("Discretionary demolition permit requirement of single-family homes and duplexes") 75-years and older, eliminating the exception allowing demolition of up to 25% of exterior walls and eliminating restriction requiring only single-family homes and duplexes to abide by the Discretionary Demolition Permit requirements, thereby expanding requirement to all structure types; and amendments to the Building Code Chapter 15.04.115 Section 105.7-Demolition Permits and Penalty for demolition without a permit; and Chapter 15.52.060-Calculation of Fees, eliminating the granting of impact credits toward future development for structures that have been demolished without permits. The Planning Commission forwarded a recommendation for approval of the proposed Municipal Code Text amendments to the City Council on January 19, 2017.

The City of Sierra Madre give notice, pursuant to State of California Law, that the City Council will conduct a second reading of Ordinance 1386 at the February 28, 2017 City Council Meeting at 6:30 PM, in the City Council Chambers at 232 W. Sierra Madre Boulevard. All interested persons may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with

This summary is published pursuant to Government Code Section 36933(c)(1) and a full and complete certified copy of the text of Ordinance 1386 is available at the Sierra Madre City Manager's Office located at City of Sierra Madre City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at (626) 355-7138.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION: The project qualifies for an exemption from California Environmental Quality Act review pursuant to Title 14, Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations as it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance may have a significant effect on the environment, because it will impose greater limitation on development in the City and protect the aesthetic character of Sierra Madre and potential loss of potential historic resources 75 years of age or older, thereby serving to reduce potential significant adverse environmental APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing.
