VOLUME 11 NO. 28

PROPOSED LIBRARY CHANGES AWAKEN COMMUNITY

Library and Community Services DIrector Ryan Baker presented a plan that will allow for expansion of library services and a new facility without additional taxes or financial burden on residents but reaction to the proposal

It wasn't the council's decision on Marijuana that has the community in an uproar. The council unanimously approved an ordinance that would limit the number of plants grown indoors to 6 and prohibit growth of marijuana outdoors. They also agreed to review the ordinance in January when the state presents its guidelines. Nor was it the council's decision to overturn the Planning Commission's denial of the continued remodeling of the Henry A. Darling House. That decision distressed many, but it took a back seat to the one agenda item that seems to have opened up a controversy that may rival the ill fated 'downtown specific plan" of year's past.

The proposal to move the Library and sell the existing property brought more than a dozen citizens to the podium.

City Manager Gabe Engeland noted that the issue of how to address the problems currently facing the library was presented to him at his first council meeting in March. As a follow up, a special joint meeting of the Library Board of Trustees and the Community Services Commission on June 28th, 2017. The results of that meeting were presented by Director Baker to the council and public in a very enthusiastic manner.

The challenges with the library are numerous. As noted by Baker and members of the public brought up, the issues include: The facility is too small.

The building is 62 years old and has a multitude of physical problems including deferred maintenance the spans decades, 141 ADA issues, a leaking roof, plumbing and electrical and asbestos issues, etc. Baker informed the council that to put another 'band aid' on the problems would cost about $1.3 million but to bring 'meaningful improvement' to the city's library services the cost would be approximately $3 million.

The Plan

Baker, the Library Trustees and Community services commission all support the notion of creating The Sierra Madre Library and Cultural Center by moving the Library to the site of the existing Recreation Center and adding to that facility. The staff reports says, "The most viable solution identified would be to repurpose the existing Recreation Center in Sierra Vista Park as a new Library and Cultural Center. The existing Library property and adjacent City-owned property would be sold with monies received to fund the major portion of the project. A single-story addition would be constructed on the north side of the existing Recreation Center on what is now a concrete courtyard. This addition would bring the total size of the building to 16,000 to 18,000 sq feet depending on funds received. Library services would be moved from the current library into the first floor of the new Library and Cultural Center, with the second story left as 3,700 sq feet of flexible open space and classrooms for community events, classes, workshops, meeting rooms, youth programs, and community rentals. Both Library and Community Services staff would be housed in the same building to further the ability to share resources, supplement activities, reduce overhead costs and create new community programs.

THE SIERRA MADRE CIVIC CLUB SPONSORS THEIR CONCERT IN THE PARK

On Sunday July 9th the Sierra Madre Civic Club presented the Alumni Band in the band shell of Memorial Park. As fabulous "oldies music" filled the warm evening air, babies slept, children played, adults sat in chairs or on every variety of blanket to enjoy the music. By the end of the evening the park was jammed because passerbys heard the music, stopped by to check out the band, and decided to stay for a while...they were not disappointed.

This was the debut of the Alumni Band to the Sierra Madre Concert in the Park Season. The band has been performing in the area for years, but was just never invited to participate in the Concert in the Park Series. Instead they performed at the LA County Arboretum Summer Concert Series, and at a variety of local venues such as Matt Denny's in Arcadia, The Peppertree Grill in Sierra Madre, Brix in Seal Beach, Madeline's Garden Bistro in Pasadena, and Clubhouse 66 in Glendora. The band also sold their CD's and some of their logoed merchandise. The band's name is reflective of who they are: all of the musicians are graduates welcome to attend our general meetings.

of Arcadia High School. However the crowd was dancing on the lawn, dancing where they stood, tapping their feet, clapping their hands, and singing along having a great time. The Alumni are a great

The Civic Club sold snacks, slices of pie, watermelon slices, and ice-cold lemonade and water. They also hosted a raffle drawing so two winners in the audience could win a little money. The two happy winners left with $100 each and enjoyed their evening of luck. Additional Alumni merchandise was added to the raffle so more participants left with something to remember the event. So a GREAT evening with great music, great fun, great food, and great prizes...It does not get any better than this...In a word...it was a "WŎW"!

The Sierra Madre Civic Club is a civic and philanthropic non-profit organization that meets the second Thursday of the month at 7:30 pm in the Hart Park House. Interested potential members are

So where will the money come from?

The majority of the funding for the proposed improvement of the Library would come from the sale of the property that the Library currently sits on. Baker noted that the sale of the property would yield approximately $2.6 million dollars and community organizations such as the Library Trustees would raise the balance.

Selling the property would create another set of problems as noted by several residents who spoke at Public Comment. The most common concern was the type of development that would be allowed if the existing library site was sold. It was also brought to the attention of the council that the building was also designed by the same architect that designed the Los Angeles City Hall and is as a result, an historic structure.

Around town the question of why funds from the city's Utility Users Tax aren't adequate to cover the costs of repairing the existing building. In April 2016, the residents did pass an increased UUT that in the campaign literature stated, "The City's UUT goes into the General Fund to pay for general city services such as Police, Fire, Paramedics, recreational programs and the Library."

Baker's very animated, thorough presentation was just the introduction of the proposed plans to the public. No action was taken by the council on Tuesday. For more information, please read the complete staff report on the City's website at www. cityofsierramadre.com.

Breaking News From Arcadia PD:

ILLEGAL USE OF FIREWORKS LEADS TO TEEN INJURIES On Friday, July 14, 2017, at about 8:05 P.M., Arcadia Police Officers and Arcadia Fire Department

Personnel responded to Bonita Park located at 100 S. Second Avenue regarding reports of a possible explosion. Preliminary investigation revealed that two juveniles were lighting a firework when it went off in their hands. A 14 year old male received severe injuries to one of his hands and a 17 year old male received minor injuries to his arm and chest. Both were transported to local hospitals and appear to have non-life threatening injuries.

At the time of the initial investigation it appears the only criminal activity related to this incident was the prohibited use of fireworks.

Anyone with information on this incident is encouraged to contact the Arcadia Police Department at (626) 574-5156, case #17-3624. If you prefer to provide information anonymously, you may call "Crime Stoppers" by dialing (800) 222-TIPS (8477), use your smartphone by downloading the "P3" Tips" Mobile APP on Google play or the Apple App Store or by using the website http://lacrimestoppers.org.

NATIONAL NIGHT OUT. TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 2017!!!

National Night Out is an annual communitybuilding campaign that promotes policecommunity partnerships and neighborhood camaraderie to make our neighborhoods safer, more caring places to live. National Night Out enhances the relationship between neighbors and law enforcement while bringing back a true sense of community.

Unlike previous years when the SMPD hosted this event in Memorial Park, we've found that other cities have been able to reach out to their communities more effectively by going to Neighborhood Watch (NW) block parties or individual parties throughout their cities. It is our intention this year to visit the NW block parties or individual parties. As we schedule the Department's events for the evening, we need to know who will be participating. If you are scheduling a block party, let us know and we'll coordinate with the city in providing barricades if necessary.

We will have representatives from the department stop by to say hello, no presentations, just pass out a few goodies and answer questions if you like. I've listed a few points to remember when you respond.

"If you're the village blacksmith and a Model T comes be happening till the paint is on. along, you better become a mechanic."

Marc Andreessen

You may not have noticed, but there's been the cutest little old car sitting out in front of Ascension Episcopal Church on No. Baldwin for some weeks now. Every time I've driven past it I've thought, "I need to take a picture of that car and find out something about it." Of course, my imagination being what it is, I imbued that little Ford with a back-story to rival Bonnie & Clyde. I had it running bootleg hooch down from Canada and careening around corners with Treasury agents in hot pursuit. Or maybe it was owned by a flapper with bobbed hair and rouged knees and she drove it all over the Hamptons from house party to house party, occasionally finding herself out of gas on a country road and having to be towed back to town by a good-natured farmer with a horse. Or maybe a preacher who drove it from tent revival to tent revival saving the lost and showing folks the way to salvation. "Doctor Love's traveling salvation show!" to quote Neil

Needless to say, I could go on that way for days but I finally called Ascension and had a nice chat with Mike Beach, the Verger at Ascension. The car is a 1926 Ford Coupe and is in the Model T group. Mike had wanted to own a 1926 Ford Coupe for years and years and finally came across this one. Where? In Boston! So he had it shipped out and has been working on putting it together for the last 15 years. Car restoration is never a speedy pastime as it's usually expensive, parts are hard to find, and getting to work on The Car falls low on the priorities list most of the time. Mike said the car arrived sporting a Chevy engine, which was frozen, Home grown tomatoes, home grown tomatoes and a 4" steel frame, which was way too heavy for this Ford's little body. First thing he did was throw all that stuff away and then get it dipped in a corrosive to get

As of now, it's got a Nissan V6 engine and Mike's been My book page: Amazon.com: Deanne Davis driving it back and forth from his home in Monrovia to the church for several weeks now. He says that it seems like something new falls apart on it about every time he now available at drives it, i.e., the door latch just broke so he sent that back east to be fixed, while using a rope to keep the door closed. It came back minus the critical spring part so back again it went and the rope is still doing door duty.

It runs great, he says, except its small wheel base A Treasure Map, A Drunken Owl, and 47 Rattler's in makes it kind of a rough ride. Yes, he'd like to get it painted but there's that old "it's expensive" thing again.... pieces are cut out for the doors and seats but that won't playwrightdd

Meanwhile, Mike told me he's a local boy, lived in Hastings Ranch for 25 years or so till his wife passed away, then eventually remarried and is now in Monrovia. We compared notes about growing up local - Mike in Alhambra, me in So. Pasadena, and if you haven't met Mike or seen his 1926 Ford Coupe, go on by Ascension and take a look. Henry Ford said you could have the Model T in any color you wanted...as long as it was black. Wonder if that's what Mike has in mind!

Have you been noticing the crepe myrtle trees all over the place that are in glorious bloom? The jacarandas are about finished with their purple blossoms and now crepe myrtles in every shade of pink, purple or white are gracing our area. Cactus are blooming, too, and the bees are just loving those flowers. We have tomatoes!! Lots of them and, my oh my, are they delicious. If you haven't grown your own tomatoes, you have to start. What you buy in the supermarket bears no resemblance at all to home grown tomatoes! As singer-songwriter, Guy Clark, said, "There's only two things that money can't buy and that's true love and home grown tomatoes!" It's not too late to get yourself a tomato plant or two and you'll find yourself with home grown beauties in about a month or so.

"Ain't nothin' in the world that I like better Than bacon and lettuce and home grown tomatoes. Up in the mornin' out in the garden Get you a ripe one, don't get a hard one. Plant 'em in the spring, eat 'em in the summer All winter without 'em's a culinary bummer. I forget all about the sweatin' and diggin' Every time I go out and pick me a big one.

What'd life be without home grown tomatoes. Only two things money can't buy That's true love and home grown tomatoes."

Suspect Arrested in Shooting

Pasadena Police Department patrol personnel responded last week to the 100 block of West Peoria Street after a report of a female gunshot victim.

Officers arrived last Saturday morning at about 1:45 a.m. and found a Black female in her 40s, a victim of a shooting. Pasadena Fire Department paramedics arrived and transported the victim to a local hospital where she later

Follow-up investigation led Detectives to a suspect, Teretha Howard (Black female, 58 years old, Pasadena resident), who was arrested and booked for murder. Due to a preexisting medical condition, she was transported to a local hospital. Howard's bail was set at $2 million.

The investigation is on-going. The identity of the victim is being withheld pending release from the Los Angeles County Coroner's Office.

Anyone with information about this case is encouraged to call Pasadena Police Detective Buchholz at (626)-744-7113 or you may report information anonymously by calling "Crime Stoppers" by dialing (800) 222-TIPS (8477).

Council to Create Civic Center Task Force

The city council is set Monday Night to create a community Task Force focused on the future development of the Civic Center including the embattled YWCA site.

The council will discuss the scope and purview of the Task Force, and a process to implement the City's desired vision for the Civic Center. They will also decide the number of members.

The meeting will be in Council Chamber, Pasadena City Hall at 6:30 p.m. and is open to the public.

Pet of the Week

Piper (A419338) has had it pretty rough. This sweet Rottweiler 10-year-old was abandoned at an apartment complex. When our animal control rescued her from deplorable living conditions, we quickly noticed a huge tumor on her abdomen. Thanks to the PHS Miracle Fund, the mass was removed and, thankfully, was benign. While in our care Piper has proved to be a super friendly and loving gal. She is hoping for the perfect retirement home to spend her golden years. Piper qualifies for our Seniors for Seniors program, where adopters age 60 and over can adopt a pet 5 years and older at no charge.

The adoption fee for dogs is $130. All dogs are spayed or neutered, micro chipped, and vaccinated before being adopted. New adopters will receive a complimentary health-and-wellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet. Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at (626) 792-7151 to ask about A419338, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Metro Bike Share Rolls Out in Pasadena

By Dean Lee

Pasadena became the newest city Friday to add Metropolitan stations using Metro TAP cards Transportation Authority's (Metro) bike sharing system as officials from the city, Metro, and Bicycle Transit Systems, Inc unveiled hundreds of bikes, in front of city hall, set to fill 30 bike share stations throughout the city

"We recognize in Pasadena streets are for more than just moving cars," Pasadena Mayor Terry Tornek said. "And this is a tremendous leap in that direction. Make no mistakes in their vender. For us to go off this is an experimental program and try and do this on our own, and we have no guarantee of success here, inevitably there will be complaints because that's success and that starts with people educating each other about how system works.

regular bicycle advocate, take the time and explain to people staring at these things, how it works," Tornek said. "And help them to understand... so we can make this program a huge success beyond the two year experimental period."

branding across them, can be ridden 30 minutes at a time. The bikes can be unlocked from the and credit cards. Officials said there are monthly passes and yearly pass options along with walk-ups."

There has been discussion as to why Pasadena did not create its own bike sharing system similar to Long Beach or Breeze in Santa Monica.

We should leverage Metro, who is doing this county wide, City Manager Steven Mermell said. "They have a good partner would cost us more, take us longer and require additional staff. It makes all kinds of sense the Pasadena way."

Tornek said he is optimistic that the program would be a years, there is no cost to the city.

"We will see in two years if it's sustainable or not?" he said. Metro officials also made the "If you are someone who is a choice not to have Global Positioning System GPS in the bikes or individual locks on the bikes as a way to keep cost

President of B-Cycle Rob Burns said theft in bike sharing programs is low. "Local police know what these bikes are and where they belong."

ARCADIA POLICE BLOTTER

For the period of Sunday, July 2nd, through Saturday, July 8th, the Police Department responded to 970 calls for service, of which 115 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Shortly before 8:39 p.m., an officer responded to 400 South Baldwin Avenue regarding a stolen vehicle report. The officer discovered an unknown suspect stole the victim's Honda Civic sometime during the previous two hours. The unoccupied vehicle was later recovered by Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department - Temple Station. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Monday, July 3:

At approximately 8:33 a.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 2500 block of El Capitan Avenue regarding a burglary report. An investigation revealed unknown suspect(s) forced open a chain link fence around the property and stole a saw from residence that is under construction. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Just after 1:01 p.m., an officer responded to 7-Eleven, 102 East Huntington Drive, regarding a fraud report. The victim stated an unknown suspect likely obtained her personal information from the ATM at this 7-Eleven and has made fraudulent withdrawals from her account amounting to more than $1,500 in four days. The investigation is ongoing.

At approximately 6:36 p.m., an officer responded to 400 South Baldwin Avenue regarding a vandalism report. The victim stated unidentified suspects used an unknown object to scratch the entire left side of the victim's vehicle sometime during the previous day. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Tuesday, July 4:

Around 1:16 p.m., an officer responded to the 300 block of West Las Flores Avenue regarding a vehicle burglary report. The officer determined an unknown suspect entered the unlocked vehicle and stole a makeup bag and $1,300 in cash. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

Wednesday, July 5:

Just before 5:32 a.m., officers responded to Motel 6, 225 Colorado Place, regarding a domestic violence report. An investigation revealed an altercation between a boyfriend and girlfriend turned violent when the boyfriend forcefully took the victim's phone, and later pulled her hair, kicked her, grabbed her by the throat, and threw water on her. The suspect stole the victim's car keys before leaving the room. The 26-year-old male from Kockville Centre, New York, was located, arrested, and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking. The victim declined medical assistance.

Shortly after 6:03 a.m., an officer responded to the 500 block of East Live Oak Avenue regarding a theft from vehicle report. An unknown suspect opened the unlocked storage container in the bed of the truck and stole tools and water filtration tanks. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

At about 12:35 p.m., an officer responded to the Santa Anita Mall, 400 South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a grand theft report. An investigation revealed unknown suspect(s) broke into five Coca Cola vending machines and stole cash and change. The investigation is ongoing. Before 6:49 p.m., an officer responded to Sephora, 400

South Baldwin Avenue, regarding a petty theft report. Loss prevention specialists witnessed the suspect conceal nearly $300 worth of merchandise in her purse before exiting the store, failing to make payment. The 22-yearold female from Pasadena was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking. A search of the suspect revealed she was in possession of a controlled substance and unlawful paraphernalia. She also had an outstanding misdemeanor warrant.

Thursday, July 6:

At approximately 3:10 a.m., an officer responded to El Pollo Loco, 1 West Duarte Road, regarding an audible alarm activation. The officer determined three unknown suspect(s) smashed a glass door, stole a cash register, and fled in an unknown direction.

The suspects are described as three males, wearing hooded sweatshirts. The investigation is ongoing.

Around 11:56 a.m., an officer responded to Arcadia
Methodist Hospital, 300 West Huntington Drive, regarding a fraud report. On June 14th, the suspect entered the hospital, used a fraudulent $100 bill to pay for a $15.24 transaction, therefore receiving $84.76 in change. The suspect then fled the location.

The suspect is described as a white or Hispanic male wearing a black baseball cap with a "LA" logo. The investigation is ongoing.

Friday, July 7:

At about 11:31 a.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 200 block of West Las Flores Avenue regarding a mail theft report. Surveillance footage revealed a female suspect was seen exiting a black Mercedes Benz and stealing the victim's mail from the mailbox. The investigation is ongoing.

Just before 1:20 p.m., an officer conducted a subject check on a male loitering in the 400 block of Fairview Avenue. Upon contacting the subject, the officer witnessed the 40-year-old male from Pasadena discard something. An investigation revealed the suspect had discarded stolen credit cards and a driver's license. The suspect was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking. The suspect was on Post Release Community Supervision at the time of the crime.

Saturday, July 8:

Shortly after 4:37 a.m., an officer responded to the intersection of Santa Anita Avenue and Duarte Road regarding a traffic collision. Upon contacting the driver, the officer detected a strong odor of alcohol emitting from the driver. Through a series of tests, the officer determined the 29-year-old male from Huntington Beach was driving under the influence of an alcoholic beverage and had a blood alcohol content of .11%. The suspect was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

MONROVIA FIREFIGHTERS RESPOND AS PART OF A STRIKE TEAM TO ASSIST WITH THE SANTA MARIA BRUSH FIRE

This past weekend, Monrovia firefighters were dispatched with other local fire response professionals to assist with addressing a fast-moving brush fire in Santa Maria. The fire, which has been dubbed the Alamo Fire, has grown to around 24,000 acres as of this evening, and Cal Fire reports that the fire is 15% contained. One structure has already been destroyed, and 133 other structures are threatened. From Monrovia, Captain Morton, Engineer Buccola, and Firefighter/Paramedics Jansen and Edgely were dispatched. Our four staff members are joining over 1,660 other firefighters working together to battle the blaze. As information about this situation develops, we will also be sure to keep everyone updated, and given the size and travel distance of the blaze, our team from Monrovia will likely be gone for around a

This past week, Monrovia firefighters played host to three members of the Nigerian Fire Service. The group traveled to Monrovia to witness live demonstrations of our two propane (LPG) burn rooms in the Fire Training Tower. After the tour, the representatives from Nigeria continued their journey to the visit the burn room manufacturer in Corona, CA. It appears that Nigeria is trying to improve fire service training and is looking to install facilities similar to the one we have in Monrovia at their fire academies. The team that visited us from Nigeria included Controller (Fire Chief) Anebi Joseph G., who reports directly to the President of Nigeria. In addition, Director of Academies Callistus Kanny, and fire training facility contractor Kenny Oguintoybi, were also part of the delegation. Everyone was very appreciative of the hospitality shown by the Monrovia Fire Department, and they could not seem to take enough pictures and video of the training tower, burn props, fire station and fire engines!

She was arrested for vandalism.

Petty Theft July 11 at 9:39 a.m., a bicycle was reported stolen from the 500 block of W. Huntington. The victim secured his bike to a bike rack at work and decided to walk home after work on July 10, leaving the bike. He saw his bike in the bike rack when he left. When he returned the next day at 8:00 a.m., he discovered his bike was missing, with the exception of his front tire, which was still locked to the rack. The investigation is continuing.

Grand Theft July 11 at 12:00 p.m., a grand theft was reported to police that occurred in the 200 block of McKinley Place. The victim parked his vehicle on the street in front of his residence the evening before. He returned to his vehicle in the morning and started it. He immediately heard a loud noise and then discovered the catalytic converter had been cut off of his vehicle. The investigation is continuing.

Vandalism July 12 at 12:05 a.m., a vandalism incident was reported at a business in the 1800 block of S. Myrtle. The cleaning crew arrived to clean the business and noticed the front window was cracked. A large rock was found next to the window. No suspects were seen. The investigation is continuing.

LANDMARK SCHOOL START TIME BILL PASSES STATE ASSEMBLY EDUCATION COMMITTEE

Sacramento, CA – Today, Senator Anthony J. Portantino (D – La Cañada Flintridge) presented SB 328 to the Assembly Education Committee. The Bill requires middle schools and high schools to start the school day no earlier than 8:30 a.m. SB 328 is based on recommendations of the American Academy of Pediatrics for the optimal time to start school for improved public health of teenage students. After passing the State Senate earlier in the year, the bill built upon this momentum passing the Assembly Education Committee with bi-partisan support.

"This makes a big statement to children, parents, and the education community that more and more legislators are using sound and definitive research to put the best interests of our students first. School districts around the country that have moved teenage school start times later have seen measurable, positive results for student achievement and student public health. I am very grateful to the Assembly Education Committee for making its decision on this indisputable data," expressed

"On behalf of California's students, we appreciate the committee's support of this critical bill, which prioritizes student well-being by ensuring healthy start times, said Lisa Lewis, co-chair, Start School Later California, which co-sponsored the bill. Dr. Irena Keller, who also co-chairs the organization, added: "These start times are backed by decades of research and will benefit our students, our communities,

The California State PTA Legislative Advocate, Carol Kocivar, explained, "The research is clear: Later school start times improve the health, safety, and academic success of students?

"Too many of our schools have started at times we know to be detrimental to our kids' health, 'said Joy Wake, coordinator of the High School Parent Engagement health, safety, education, and equity.

Group in the San Juan Unified School District. "We are grateful for the progress on SB 328, which recognizes that school start times are a statewide public health

YWCA PASADENA GIRLS' PROGRAMS RECEIVE $10K ECONOMIC MOBILITY GRANT

YWCA Pasadena's TechGyrls and Express Yourself! after-school programs, and Girls Empowerment Summer Camp. The YWCA Pasadena-Foothill Valley is a non-profit organization that focuses on the mission of "eliminating racism, empowering women" through girls' after-school and summer programs, and Adult and Senior Technology Classes, providing women and girls in the Pasadena-Foothill Valley community with the tools and support to achieve their goals.

The Bank of America grant will be used to support the YWCA's Girls Empowerment after-school programs and Girls' Empowerment Summer Camp, which provide girls with opportunities to explore the fields of STEM, art, and literature, learn about and visit institutions of higher education, and become active citizens in their community. With this support the YWCA will be able to About Bank of America gather supplies for science experiments, 3D printing projects, art projects, field trips, and guest speakers for these programs.

The YWCA is very grateful and excited to receive this grant from Bank of America. Their support will make a significant difference on the activities that we are able to provide and will expand the types of opportunities for growth for the girls in this community," said Jessica Kubel, Executive Director of the YWCA

"Bank of America has a clear mission to help make financial lives better, and one way we do this is by working with nonprofits like the YWCA who provide valuable leadership development and education to young girls in Pasadena-Foothill Valley to help them succeed later in life. DON'T BE A BREED BIGOT!

As much as I hate to admit it, there are times when I find being part of the human race rather disgusting. Now I know how negative that probably sounds, so I will do my best to keep it uplifting and lighthearted while I convey what I believe to be a very important message in this

People do some ridiculous things. Human nature is such that we think we know what we want, but in reality we haven't a clue. We don't like hard work so we hire it done. Then we pay good money for a gym membership where we can work hard just to look good. Ridiculous! Then there are those who buy a home in an area they like, only to tear the home down and build something that will add to the change that is making the area completely different from what it was to start with. Stranger than Sometimes I can laugh at the things people do, because the actions are harmless and quite humorous. But that's only some of the time. It's when humans do things that have a negative impact on animals that I become outraged and can no longer hold it in. Yes, that is when I feel the need to speak out on the animals' behalf.

The other day I was walking in town with two of my favorite pups, Lula and Sailor. I was enjoying their company more than usual because I don't get to see them often, and it had been months. Lula and Sailor live in West LA and they come to stay here in town with their grand-people (their people's parents) when their people travel. That is when I get to enjoy spending time with them.

So, we three were walking happily along Sierra Madre Blvd. minding our own business when a lady got out of her car and, at break-neck speed jumped up onto the sidewalk in front of us as we approached a few yards away. I thought that was odd, but it was nothing compared to what she did next. As we drew closer to where she then stood (basically blocking the sidewalk) she made a snotty face and let out a rude growl-like sound under her breath.

I'm not making this up, I swear it really happened. So the lady is standing there gawking, putting on what I knew to be an air of fake fear and I said, "Hey, are you okay?" She said nothing in reply, she just stood in our way and kept making that nasty face. It wasn't until her husband came and guided her into the restaurant, pushing forward on her elbows that she finally broke the stance and allowed us to pass.

I thought how bizarre it was for that woman who was either truly afraid or faked being fearful, to just stand there as if trying to intimidate us. If you are afraid of pass to get on the sidewalk, or run on into the restaurant swiftly to avoid us altogether? Instead she used her weirdly condescending manner to say way more than she could ever have said

Okay, so I said I thought it was strange, and it was, but the truth is I knew why that woman acted the way she did. You see, Lula and Sailor are of the pit-bull persuasion. They are large dogs with large jowls, but more importantly they have large hearts. They have more loving spirits than you could ever expect to find in a canine. And they were absolutely clueless as to why that woman acted the way she did.

Lula and Sailor are just like any of the other dogs you see in our town. They love to play in the hose and chase lizards, they adore getting belly rubs, they can hardly wait until dinner, and they are on their best behavior when they meet and greet other dogs and humans during our walks. In my mind they are perfect angels just doing what God created them to do...making us humans happy.

But a lot of times people don't get to see the sweet, precious pup inside Lula and Sailor. You know why? Because they are looking at the outside and don't give Lula and Sailor a chance to show their beautiful inner spirits. You see, humans are inherently prejudice and the media has hyped-up so much negativity about the breed, the poor bulldogs don't stand a chance. Then the "sheaple" who fall for the media hype - rather than thinking for themselves - assume the worst and go around adding fuel o the fire by acting like idiots in public.

Do you know what's most strange about the 'fear of the pit-bull' trend? It's the fact that humans created the pit-bull. Indeed, humans are the ones who chose to domesticate the wolf to start with. They turned the wild dog into a virtual servant to do their bidding, first to protect the homestead and later perform every imaginable task known to mankind.

So let me get this straight...the human brought the wild animal into the home, forced it to perform duties it would never have performed on it's own, treated it horribly and when the dog responded according to it's natural primitive instincts, the human blamed the dog. Go figure.

What would one expect a dog to do under those rircumstances? Well, I'll tell you what Lula and Sailor have done. They have forgiven the foolish human for being selfish and cruel. They've chosen to be kind and loving. They give doggie kisses and bear hugs freely. They make a better life for the humans who rescued them. They are doing what God would have them do - forgive and love unconditionally.

Being a breed bigot is no different than being prejudice towards other human beings. It is the same thing, but worse. At least humans are able to understand what is behind the prejudice, albeit senseless. Dogs have no idea why people are afraid of them. They don't even know humans are to blame for making them fearful and defensive, if/when they behave badly. All they know is they want to please the human.

If you are a breed bigot, then you are no more than a racist. Put your bias aside and give love a try. We are not all alike because of the way we look. We are all, human dogs, wouldn't it make more sense to just wait until we or canine, individuals. Let's start today with righting our wrongs for the dogs, shall we? It's never too late. LOVE, LEARN and LET LIVE!

We saw LA Phil's opening of the summer season at the Hollywood Bowl which seats 17,500 people. The orchestra is composed of 80 classically trained musicians; it is a highly competitive field, and these players are considered the best of the best. We saw the brilliant Gustavo Dudamel conduct the orchestra and a group of amazing dancers Misty Copeland, Marcelo Gomes, Sergei Polunin, and Natalia Osipova. I felt so fortunate to see beautiful ballet under the night sky. It was magical.

I thought about the many challenges each person must have faced to make it to the stage that night, and I was thankful. Each one of them had to face their fears and other obstacles to become an artist recognized as the best. Because they showed up for themselves, they made our lives better Tuesday night.

A concert experience is enhanced because of the presence of the audience. We showed up too! We bought the tickets, navigated through Los Angeles traffic, hiked the hill and found our seats. As an audience, we collectively prepared to receive a great show! That anticipation creates an energy and fuel for the performers. Researchers learned that live performances in front of an audience are superior to those in a studio without the benefit of viewers.

They provide an example of over coming obstacles. They remind us to step outside of our comfort

They teach us to treat every day as an opportunity to excel.

We are put on this earth to LIVE! What are you doing to be the very best expression of yourself? What are you doing to express your creativity? Are you afraid to produce something because it might not be very good? That's okay, make it and put it out into the world anyway. That's how you will feel better and how your work will get better. When we push ourselves to do something new we make things better not only for ourselves but for our neighbors

If you are an artist, make sure you are creating and sharing your work so that you can grow, and we can experience it. If you have a business idea take steps to get your idea out, we can't know if your idea will work without testing it in the marketplace. If you have an idea for a need not being met, don't say, "someone ought to do something about..." You are that someone and that's your assignment! Make your work, share your ideas, organize around the issue that concerns you.

I believe we have an obligation to live our best lives, and when we don't, we are cheating ourselves and the world. Don't die with your creative gifts trapped inside of you. We only have this moment. Go out and grab your best life, the time is now!

THE GOOD LIFE

THE HIDDEN DANGERS OF HEARTBURN

Is regular heartburn or indigestion anything to worry about? My 60-year-old husband eats a lot of Tums or Rolaids throughout the day to help him manage it, but it keeps him up at night too. What can you tell us?

Dear Inquiring,

Almost everyone experiences heartburn or acid indigestion from time to time, but frequent episodes can signal a much more serious problem. Here's what you should know, along with some tips and treatments to help relieve your husbands symptoms.

It's estimated that more than 60 million Americans experience heartburn at least once a month, with around 15 million people who suffer from it daily. If your husband is plagued by heartburn two or more times a week, and it's not responding well to over-the-counter antacids, he needs to see a doctor. Frequent bouts may mean he has gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD), which can severely irritate and damage the lining of his esophagus, putting him at risk of Barrett's esophagus and esophageal cancer if it's not treated.

Lifestyle Adjustments

Depending on the frequency and severity of his heartburn, there are a number of lifestyle adjustments he can make that can help provide relief and avoid a more serious problem down the road. Consider these tips:

- Avoid problem foods: Certain foods can trigger heartburn symptoms like citrus fruits, tomatoes, fatty foods, chocolate, garlic, onions, spicy foods, mints, alcohol, coffee and sodas. Your husband should keep a food diary to track which foods cause him the most problems and avoid them. - Eat smaller, slower and earlier: Smaller portions at mealtime and eating slower can help reduce heartburn symptoms. He should also wait at least three hours after eating before lying down or going to bed. - Lose weight: Having excess weight around the midsection puts pressure on the abdomen, pushing up the stomach and causing acid to back up into the esophagus. - Quit smoking: Smoking can increase stomach acid and weaken the valve that prevents acid from entering the SmokeFree.gov or call 1-800-QUIT-NOW.

- Sleep elevated: To help keep the acid down while sleeping, get your husband a wedge-shaped pillow to prop him up a few inches. If that's not enough, try elevating the head of his bed six to eight inches by placing blocks under the bedposts or insert a wedge between his mattress and box spring. Wedges are available at drugstores and medical supply stores. Sleeping on his left side may also help keep

Treatment Options

If the lifestyle adjustments don't solve the problem, or if antacids (Tums, Rolaids, Maalox, Mylanta or Alka-Seltzer) aren't doing the trick there are a variety of over-the-counter and prescription medications that can help, along with surgery. His doctor can help him determine which one is

H-2 Blockers: Available as both over-the-counter and prescription strength, these drugs (Pepcid, Tagamet, Axid and Zantac) reduce how much acid your stomach makes Proton-Pump Inhibitors (PPI): If you have frequent and severe heartburn symptoms, PPIs are long-acting prescription medications that block acid production and allow time for damaged esophageal tissue to heal. They include Nexium, Prevacid, Prilosec, Zegerid, Protonix, Aciphex and Dexilant. Prevacid 24 HR, Prilosec and Zegerid OTC are also available over-the-counter. But be aware that long-term use of PPIs can increase your risk for osteoporosis and chronic kidney disease.

Surgery: If the medications don't do the trick, there are lower esophageal sphincter so gastric fluids can't wash back into one. It's one of those things that goes in the "You know you're a Sierra Madrean if..." category along with Mary's Market, the Mount Wilson Trail race, and memories of Bean Town even before it expanded to its current size (bonus points for buying things from Robert's Market and Little Stuga!). One other experience vital for any Sierra Madrean is seeing "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" at least once. Just the name lets you know it must be great!

This 1956 cinematic gem stars Kevin McCarthy as protagonist Dr. Miles Bennel and Dana Wynter as Becky Driscoll, his love interest. It's your typical scifi mystery thriller with all the corny effects and acting you'd expect from a film of see in it's own right, it's unique because it was filmed Earth by sending out "pods" containing blank prototype male and female bodies. These bodies assume your features until they resemble you completely at which point they "take over" your body when you fall asleep. Great stuff! The "pods" are sleeping bag-sized leafy shells that start foaming as they mature. (I think they used dish soap.) When ripe, the pod bursts open and the body inside flops out like a blow-up doll. Classic!

Did you have a good Fourth of July? Santa Mira station to meet Miles. There'd be nothing I hope so! To me, Sierra Madre's noteworthy about this, except that it's about nine in the morning, and Becky is wearing a low - I mean LOW - cut dress with what appear to be little wads of tissue or cotton balls barely covering her bosom. What? You mean you don't wear this when traveling? The next half-hour of the film follows Becky meeting various other Santa Mira folks, the men making a conscious effort to look her straight in the eye.

Öther highlights include a great scene in which Dr.

Miles, Becky, and their friends Jack and Teddy (that's a woman) Belicec discover pods at the Belicec residence. After killing the sudsy podman with a garden pitch fork, Jack and Miles lay him out on Jack's pool table while they all smoke and get a couple rounds of gin and tonic. Becky is particularly distressed, so Miles gives her a couple pills to go with her drink. He is a doctor, after all. Wow, the 50's must've been something!

While "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" is a must-(prominent footage of Kersting Court, Sierra Madre Blvd., and the old building that is now Sierra Fitness) When the city started showing movies in the park, the first was "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" on the Fourth of July. My dad was sorely disappointed when this did not become an annual Sierra Madre Fourth of July event. But that doesn't mean that vou can't start your very own Body Snatchers 7/4 tradition! Then you can brag that you're a truer Sierra Madrean,

MYSTERIES SURROUND NEW HORIZONS' NEXT FLYBY TARGET

NASA's New Horizons spacecraft doesn't zoom past its next science target until New Year's Day 2019, but the Kuiper Belt object, known as 2014 MU69, is already revealing surprises.

Scientists have been sifting through data gathered from observing the object's quick pass in front of a star—an astronomical event known as an occultation—on June 3. More than 50 mission team members and collaborators set up telescopes across South Africa and Argentina, along a predicted track of the narrow shadow of MU69 that the occultation would create on Earth's surface, aiming to catch a two-second glimpse of the object's shadow as it raced across the Earth. Accomplishing the observations of that occultation was made possible with the help of NASA's Hubble Space Telescope and Gaia, a space observatory of the European Space Agency (ESA).

Combined, the pre-positioned telescopes captured more than 100,000 images of the occultation star that can be used to assess the environment around this Kuiper Belt object (KBO). While MU69 itself eluded direct detection, the June 3 data provided valuable and unexpected insights that have already helped New Horizons.

"These data show that MU69 might not be as dark or as large as some expected," said occultation team leader Marc Buie, a New Horizons science team member from Southwest Research Institute (SwRI) in Boulder, Colorado.

Initial estimates of MU69's diameter, based primarily on data taken by the Hubble Space Telescope since the KBO's discovery in 2014, fall in the 12-25-mile range—though data from this summer's ground-based occultation observations might imply it's at or even below the smallest sizes expected before the June 3 occultation.

Besides MU69's size, the readings offer details on other aspects of the Kuiper Belt object.

"These results are telling us something really interesting," said New Horizons Principal Investigator Alan Stern, of SwRI. "The fact that we accomplished the occultation observations from every planned observing site but didn't detect the object itself likely means that either MU69 is highly reflective and smaller than some expected, or it may be a binary or even a swarm of smaller bodies left from the time when the planets in our solar system formed."

More data are on the way, with additional occultations of MU69 occurring on July 10 and July 17. On July 10, NASA's airborne Stratospheric Observatory for Infrared Astronomy (SOFIA) will use its powerful 100-inch (2.5-meter) telescope to probe the space around MU69 for debris that might present a hazard to New Horizons as it flies by in 18 months.

We're all more-or-less aware of certain realities that surround us and define our day-to-day reality. We live here in Southern California, in the Sierra Madre area, with hills to the north, and various waterways to our east and west in this coastal desert plain. Approximately 80% of the water that we need for daily life comes from afar. We know there are way too many people living here for the local ecology to support, so not only does our water come from afar, but so does our food, our power, and nearly all of the goods that fill the supermarket and hardware store

If you live here, you're aware of these physical realities. You're no doubt doing your best every day to get to work and the store and school and to support your family so your life situation can improve. Most of us are aware of the larger physical reality of living here, but the necessities of our life keep that reality as a subtle background awareness. It isn't something we tend to think about a lot.

That is, we don't think about this unless there is an immediate, or impending, crisis.

The recent several-years drought forced most of us, including city and state leaders, to begin the slow process of re-thinking how we do things, especially as it relates to water. This is because the lifestyle that we have all somewhat automatically chosen to live is not sustainable. We've created a world in the sprawling Los Angeles basin that is powered by the auto, where houses are packed into every imaginable piece of ground, where developers seek to maximize the economic utility of every bit of real estate, and local politicians are all too happy to support this unsustainable mindset.

Our chosen lifestyle is stressful on the landscape, and stressful on our nerves. It requires bringing in water from afar, with electricity generated far away, a world kept alive by countless services from within

One of the great ironies of this dream world is that, though we must bring in water from afar to support our population, we then divert the water that we do get here quickly out to the ocean in the network of channelized rivers that have been created over the past century. We know why this is done, of course, because natural rivers want to go this way and that when the heavy rains are falling. So we channel our valuable water out to ocean as quickly as possible to protect our valuable real estate that was built too close to the river in the first place.

Solutions abound, of course. Many pioneers have been taking bold steps to move us away from the disasters that will be the consequence of our choices. Let's explore just a few of those solutions.

The trend towards drought tolerant lawns is a step in the right direction. Since about 80% of our water comes from afar, we don't need green lawns just for

With the water that we do use, everything but the Simplicity: toilet water can and should go into yards, where it trees, and gardens. This naturally requires the use of safe detergents, such as the Seventh Generation brand, or the Ed Begley Jr. brand. Plus, the building and safety department of each city needs to seriously review its view of gray water recycling. Gray water recycling is something that can be done very easily, economically, and safely, but the city's stringent requirements are costly and more of an impediment than any sort of encouragement to go this route.

Composting toilets are another idea whose time has come. Yes, they must be maintained properly, and they are not as care-free as flush toilets. Yet, consider the vast swath of human history where the toilet contents because a fertilizer for certain crops, with shelves. The streets and apartments get steadily more no need to waste vast volumes of water. As we think to a sustainable future, the compost toilets can be improved so they can be a staple in most households.

The Southland's water issues will only get worse as time goes on, as a function of increasing population. It is instructive to review records of our area from 100+ years ago, when the water table was higher and when the landscape looked green, not like a desert. One of the solutions looking to the future is to quit planting inappropriate landscaping plants, some of which are incredibly water-thirsty. The eucalyptus tree, for example, is one of the highest water-users and wells have been known to dry up after they are planted. They also "poison" the soil so that other more useful plants will not thrive. Far better is to follow the lead of such groups as Tree People and other tree-planting groups plant appropriate native

These are just a few ways in which we can go back to the future. I envision a plan that will look 200 years into the future, allowing us to voluntarily move into a culture that is sustainable for this area. I call this Initiative-2217, a long-term vision which will be a unifying project of numerous groups working towards viable solutions. I will be sharing more of these details as the months proceed.

DID I JUST BLOW MY COVER?

which one but that does not really matter. The wrong and how to fix it and she does. number of the birthday, in my point of view, does not influence the celebration of the birthday.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and I are a wonderful team and have been for so many years; I'm not allowed to say how many.

As a team, she can fix anything and I can break anything. That certainly goes hand-in-hand with life. No matter what I can break, she can fix. This has made life rather good.

Throughout life, I have gone under the ruse that when it comes to fixing things I am all thumbs and no fingers. I cannot seem to fix anything. Of course, if it can be fixed with a hammer I might try. When anything goes wrong in our house, I offer to fix it and my wife steps in most gallantly and retires me to my easy chair.

When I try to fix something it usually turns out worse than when I started.

I am not sure if I have created this ruse or if I really am "all thumbs."

Regardless of the situation, as long as she can fix the lawnmower was not running. I went around to it, I'm comfortable in breaking it. Don't get me wrong, I don't break things on purpose. At least, I do not think I do. At my age, what's thinking got to do with anything? It just happens that I have the knack of breaking things. Nobody has ever created anything that I cannot in some way break. So, life has been wonderful and I hope it continues to be wonderful and it will be as long as both of us stay to our role in the marriage. When I try to take over her spot or she tries to take over my spot, there is trouble a' stirring.

Everything was going wonderfully until something happened this past week.

One thing my wife enjoys is mowing the lawn. I am not allowed to ride the lawnmower and I am not quite sure why at this point. However, if it makes her happy, it makes me happy. She spends many happy hours mowing the grass.

It is not so much that I don't like to mow, but she it all fixed for you." likes to mow much better than I do and of course,

This month I celebrate she does a much better job at it. She knows how to another birthday. At my age, keep that lawnmower running and if the engine I cannot remember exactly sounds a little off key, she knows exactly what's My responsibility is to give her a hand whenever

I can. When she passes the front porch, I stand up Life has been rather good to me in many and applaud as she goes by. It's the least I can do. Then this past week brought in a new picture. She was mowing the grass when, unbeknownst to her, she ran over a long dog chain the neighbor had somehow got into our lawn. By the time she realized what had happened, the chain had twisted all over the blades of that mower. She pulled the mower up to the house, turned it off and began repairing it. The wire was all twisted very tightly around one of the blades under the mower. She pulled, yanked and twisted, but nothing happened.

I walked up to her and said, "Is there anything I can do to help?"

Without even looking at me she said, "No, I got everything under control."

What I have learned throughout life is never contradict your wife. That's the recipe for a cooked I let her go and about a half-hour later, I noticed see what was happening and found her still trying to untwist that wire from the mower blades.

I could see she was rather frustrated and had gotten nowhere with unraveling that wire.

'Why don't you let me look at it?" I asked as calmly as possible. 'You can look at it," she said kind of exasperated,

'but I don't think there's anything you can do." I try to help whenever I can and I know that my

"help" is rather limited compared to hers. I thought I owed it to her to look at it and exclaim, "Wow, that sure is twisted."

I looked at it for a while, began juggling with some of the wires and discovered one wire that seemed to be a little looser than any of the other wires. I tugged and pulled at it and within about five minutes, I had all of the wire unraveled from the mower blade.

"There," I said as calmly as possible. "I think I got

She looked at me rather quizzically; she got down to look at the blade and exclaimed, "My goodness. You really did fix it. This must be a first.'

When she said that a light went off inside my darkened mind and I thought to myself, "This better not be the beginning of anything!

A verse of Scripture started scampering through my mind. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest" (Ecclesiastes 9:10).

From now on, I'm going to try to keep my hands to myself.

GREAT MUSIC VENUES, KIDS' MOVIES, A BUS TO THE BEACH: SUMMER FUN IN THE SAN GABRIEL VALLEY

By Joan Schmidt

There are so many great activities for summer fun in the San Gabriel Valley! First are several music venues. Arcadia has Thursday evening concerts at City Hall west lawn, 240 Huntington Dr. Arcadia. It includes a FREE Kids Fun Zone featuring games, crafts and activities. Arcadia also provides a free Summer Movie Series, Friday evenings Jun30-Aug 11, seating/activities at 6:30, movies start at dusk.

Neighboring Monrovia has concerts on Sunday evenings, 7:00-8:30 pm at Library Park, 321 South Myrtle Ave., from July 9-August 27.

Duarte's series is on Wednesdays, at Duarte Park, 1344 Bloomdale Ave. from 6:30-8:30. July 19 has "Sgt. Peppers Beatle Tribute"; July 26-"Doc Rock Itt", 50's, 60's, 70's; and August 2, "Yesterday's Dream", Top 4, Latin, Old School.

The Station Square Amphitheater, 1601 South Myrtle Ave., Monrovia features Wednesday AND Saturday concerts. Jeff's Book Pics By Jeff Brown

Sting-Ray Afternoons: A Memoir by Steve Rushin

A wild and bittersweet memoir of a classic '70s childhood. It's a story of the 1970s. Of a road trip in a wood-paneled station wagon, with the kids in the wayback, singing along to the Steve Miller Band. Brothers waking up early on Saturday mornings for five consecutive hours of cartoons and advertising jingles that they'll be humming all day. A father-one of 3M's greatest and last eight-track-salesman fathers-traveling across the country on the brand-new Boeing 747, providing for his family but wanting nothing more than to get home. It's Steve Rushin's story: of growing up within a '70s landscape populated with Bic pens, Mr. Clean and Scrubbing Bubbles, lightsabers and those oh-socoveted Schwinn Sting-Ray bikes. Sting-Ray Afternoons paints an utterly fond, psychedelically vibrant, laugh-out-loudfunny portrait of an exuberant decade. With sidesplitting commentary, Rushin creates a vivid picture of a decade of wild youth, cultural rebirth, and the meaning of parental, brotherly, sisterly, whole lotta love.

WHAT IS PORTABILITY AND HOW CAN IT BENEFIT YOU AND YOUR FAMILY?

The legal concept of "portability" is still relatively new in estate planning, having become available only after 2011. Since then, it's been both a blessing (for its tax saving benefit) and a curse (because of rules that seem to be constantly shifting). Fortunately, the IRS has recently clarified some important details about portability.

So how can a portability election benefit you and your family? It could help save hundreds of thousands of dollars of estate and gift taxes for your family if you lost your husband or wife within the last few years. Although the exact mechanics of the tax remain complicated, portability makes it much easier for estate planners and tax professionals to save taxes for you and your family. But be aware, portability is not automatic (even under the new regulations), so you must take action to claim it.

Why should I care?

Portability allows a surviving spouse to inherit and use the estate tax exemption from a deceased spouse. If you're planning isn't as good as it could have otherwise been, com for more information.

portability can save hundreds of thousands of dollars of estate and gift taxes. And for those who are proactively planning, it also makes crafting your trust or will much more flexible so we can tailor the plan more towards you and your family's needs, and less to the needs of the IRS.

What's new with portability?

Under a new IRS revenue procedure, you now have additional time to take advantage of portability. In the past, you had only 15 months after the death of a loved one to file for portability. Now, you now have two years after the passing of a spouse to file for portability, making this option much easier to use than before.

The IRS is also allowing a unique opportunity to file a late portability estate tax return, as long as you meet certain requirements and have it submitted by January 2,

On the other hand, if you have a substantial estate (over $5.49 million) or are not a US citizen or resident alien then the traditional 15-month rule will continue to apply to you. Also, like any legal or tax issue, it's always a good idea to obtain qualified assistance as early as possible so you can have the widest possible set of options and the best likely outcome.

What do I need to do now?

If you lost your spouse after 2011 and havn't yet spoken with an estate planning attorney about your options, now is the time. As the stock market and housing markets have recovered in the last few years, it might be worth a second look to see if a portability election is right for you and your family, even if you previously decided against one. But whatever you decide to do, do it sooner rather than later. January 2, 2018, will be here before you know it.

THE ART OF WAR: A GUIDEBOOK FOR BUSINESS SUCCESS

Reprint from Jan 17 2013

Initial apologies are in order to those who take offense to the use of war as a teaching tool for entrepreneurs, but the lessons found in the study of military strategy are too numerous and too valuable to bypass. On a positive note we can glean important lessons to apply to business from any situation, including The Art of War, an ancient military treatise that has influenced war strategy for more than 2,000 years.

Attributed to Sun Tzu (pronounced "Sun Wu" or "Sunzi"), a high-ranking general, strategist and tactician, The Art of War is composed of 13 chapters, each devoted to a specific aspect of warfare. Sun Tzu is thought to have lived at some time between 771-476 B.C., the time period recognized by some historians as China's Spring and Autumn Period. Some historians have questioned (be the Sun Tzu's authenticity, wondering if he was a real person or simply a created legendary persona, but some facts are unquestionable.

The year 1772 marked the beginning of the book's importance on an international scale when it was translation into French. The first completed English version was published in 1905. Although intended as a guidebook for the most debased of mankind's activities of destruction, The Art of War continues to have a profound impact on planning, strategy and tactics for military, business and legal applications. We can approach a study of this document with the goal of identifying the silver linings that can be applied for productive enterprise toward economic stimulus and job creation.

The following list includes the area of focus detailed in each of the 13 chapters in The Art of War. The Chinese-to-English translation may have varying nuances regarding the meaning of specific words, but the principles are ready-made to apply to business.

A YEAR-ROUND SOLUTION TO THE RISING COST OF HEALTH INSURANCE

By Idelle Steinberg

This is the second in a series about how Health Sharing can be a yearround answer to the skyrocketing cost of health insurance.

What is Health Sharing? Health Sharing is a proven non-insurance solution to help pay for the cost of illnesses and injuries. Because it is not insurance, enrollment is available year round. The programs are affordable, saving the typical consumer 30% - 60% over the cost of health insurance and, it is satisfies the federal requirement to from any possible penalty.

These programs have been working for nearly 30 years and currently there are around approaching 1 million members nationwide. Health Sharing members can typically choose any hospital and see any doctor, this being especially valuable as more doctors refuse to accept some insurance policies. Many times members may incorporate acupuncture, naturopathic, and chiropractic care. Preventative care services are provided with no copays or deductible. The Health Share members each 'share' in the community's health expenses.

The program is great for people proactive about their health. This aligns with a wide body of research that indicates many health conditions may be remedied by a life style adjustment. In contrast to the routine use of pharmaceutical medication that can result in drug dependenc for conditions that may be address through changes to food choices, physical activity and other factors. A health sharing program can in turn, offer nutritional coaching to potentially resolve a condition commonly related to food (i.e. diabetes, high cholesterol, hypertension).

Five benefits commonly associated with health sharing

1) Teledoc - provides 24/7 access to a licensed medical doctor via phone or video conference. The doctor is able Idelle Steinberg at (626) 441-7332 or email: idelle@ to discuss the health concern and call-in a prescription to securemoney 101.com

A LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

SUSAN Henderson, Publisher

WHAT FREEDOM OF SPEECH REALLY MEANS

Two weeks ago, a loyal, animal loving columnist submitted a story that included in part, a story about a friend of hers who killed a bear. Along with the column was a picture and this paper published it. As a result, several people have contacted the paper, including a Letter to the Editor which I received last week that is worthy of publication. (See page B7). Some people were offended by the picture and the column. Others were not. To be honest, the picture of the bear actually did get by this Editor's scrutiny, however, the column was approved for publication.

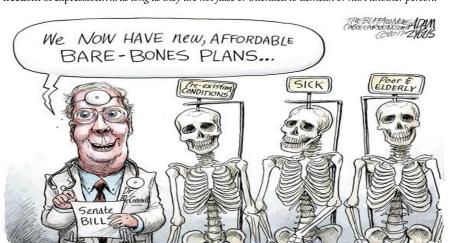

That being said, I have a word or two for those espousing censorship. It is okay not to like a particular article, subject or way of life. That's your prerogative. However, it is likewise the prerogative of contributors to this paper to express their observations, opinions and stories as long as they are not false or intended to demean or hurt another person. The picture was disturbing to some, and for that both the author and I apologize. Short of that, diversity of opinions are key to our existence as a community paper and although at times it may make some of us uncomfortable, it is what 'freedom of speech' is all about.

For those of you who know me, you know that 90% of the rhetoric from the right that appears in this paper is not my cup of tea. I take a deep breath almost every week when reviewing the Opinion Page's Right Turn contributors. But, I respect their opinions and provide them the opportunity to share with those who choose to read the Mountain Views News. Actually, I have learned in this life, the more I learn about what others think, whether or not I agree with them, the better I become as a person. That is why I can honestly tell you my circle friends cover the spectrum and even on the subject of hunting, two friends come to mind, one of whom lives in Sierra Madre, and we've had plenty of emotional discussions on the subject.

That having been said, let me be clear. I do not support hunting of innocent animals for sport. The older I get, the closer I get to eating less meat period...but I am definitely not there yet. My stance on hunting has not changed in 60 years. In fact, I 'laid down the law' to my dear father who learned to hunt from his father, when I was 4 or 5 years old. Daddy was forbidden to hunt Bambi or any or her relatives, and definitely not Smokey The Bear or his relatives. After every hunting trip I would check to see if he had broken the rules. And, until the day he died, I believed he never did. That is until a few years ago when during a conversation with my dear friend Ed Clare, the subject of cooking venison came up. I have never cooked nor eaten venison but while sharing with him my Dad's affinity for hunting and my 'rules' for him, I realized that we used to have packages of venison in our downstairs freezer. What! I immediately called my Sister in Georgia. She could not stop laughing at the fact that after all these years I just realized that those packages probably were the result of one of my dad's hunting trips. I can't question him about it now, but when I get to heaven, I hope he has some answers!

So, for the record, this newspaper and its' editor, do not support the hunting or mistreatment of animals in any way. This newspaper and it's editor, do however, support our columnist's right to freedom of expression.... as long as they are not false or intended to demean or hurt another person.

DICK POLMAN

 $Kudos\ to\ Reed\ Galen-a\ lifelong\ Republican, veteran\ of\ three\ presidential\ campaigns,\ son\ of\ former\ Republican\ operative\ Rich\ Galen\ -\ for$ articulating the obvious truths that his cowardly party breathren loath

After hearing the bombshell news that dim princeling Donald Trump Jr. gleefully emailed "I love it" at the prospect of getting Russian intel about Hillary, and took the meeting with Jared Kushner and campaign manager Paul Manafort, Galen cut loose.

"The Republican Party I was born into and worked in for two decades is nearly gone...Far from (advocating) a strong national defense, far too many members of the GOP appear ready and willing to die on the hill for a president who certainly would not do the same for them," Galen wrote. "How long will Republican leaders on Capitol Hill continue to defend the president, his family, and the strange actions related to one of our foremost foreign opponents?...How much longer will they man

How much longer indeed. Because even now, even after top Trumpsters have finally been caught copping to collusion with the enemy, elected Republican leaders are still refusing to speak out. What's their definition of a smoking gun - a video of Trump sleeping with Putin's hackers?

What we got from senators of the party that once prided itself for being tough on Russia was denialism and silence. Orrin Hatch said the emails are not "relevant to the administration." John Cornyn, the Republican whip, said, "I don't really have a reaction." Tom Cotton took refuge behind a closed door. Charles Grassley tried to praise Jr. for releasing the emails, somehow forgetting that he released the emails only because The New York Times was poised to do it first, and that Junior's coerced transparency came after two days of lies about his meeting with the Kremlin-connected

Basically, they're still fine with Russia penetrating our sovereignty, and with Russia's chumps running the White House into the ground, as long as they can cling to their wet dream of getting Trump's signature on a bill that slashes taxes for the wealthy and zaps health coverage for 20 million

Politically, Republicans do have a dilemma. If they stood tall and denounced Trump, and called for the impeachment proceedings that are so richly warranted, the Trumpkins back home would go bat-crazy. They'd stay home in the 2018 congressional midterms, convinced that Trump was being railroaded by "the Republican establishment." If I were to give Republican leaders the benefit of the doubt, I'd guess that they're waiting for a sufficient share of Trumpkins to wake up to reality something that could conceivably happen when the revelations become too explosive to dismiss.

As Reed Galen acknowledges, "Only when the questions shift from, 'How can you take away my healthcare?' to 'How can you support a president in league with the Russians?' will we start to see any movement. Only when their home town newspapers, television and radio stations and local grandees start calling them out for their defense of indefensible behavior will Republican members stand up."

It would be nicer, of course, if Republican leaders behaved like leaders instead of followers. And there are plenty of people in the conservative commentariat to help stiffen their spines. On Fox News, right-wing pundit Charles Krauthammer remarked on Donald Junior's emails: "To say 'I love it' contradicts six months of stories (denying any links to Russia). I defended them because, up until today, there was no there there. Now there is a there.' Do Republicans on the Hill not think it's significant that Trump's eldest son took the meeting, and brought two other insiders to the meeting, without having checked out and vetted the Russian with whom they were meeting? In Junior's own words, he "was not told the name of the person I would be meeting with beforehand." That's worse than amateur hour; that's a security risk. What a disgrace that no Republican yesterday saw fit to condemn it. And who's filling their moral vaccum? Trump. He tweeted madly this morning, most notably this gem: "Remember, when you hear the words 'sources say' from the Fake Media, often times those sources are made up and do not exist." Alas, his tiresome agitprop has been trumped by the words of All told, says Reed Galen, "Every new angry tweetstorm pushes us further down the road to instability. President Trump is facing a crisis likely of his own making and certainly of his own behavior. Republicans need to be Americans first and tell him enough is enough: Put the country first; or let someone govern who will."

"Country first." At the end of the day, how is that not a no-brainer?

THINGS ARE VERY, VERY BAD FOR DONALD TRUMP

President Donald Trump took to Twitter on Tuesday to call his son, Don Jr., now surely the Fredo Trumpleone of America's ruling clan, a "great person who loves his country."

That may well be true Trump the Younger's Heart. There should be a baseline assumption that all Americans are, to some extent or another, patriotic. But it is also equally true that he is shockingly naive, at least, colossally stupid at worst, or merely disgustingly cynical, for actively seeking information in June 2016 from an apparent agent of hostile power intended undermine his father's political opponent. In a Tweets that Kathleen Parker of The Washington Post accurately describes as "collusion-y," Trump Jr. confirmed that he, White House consigliere Jared Kushner and former Trump campaign chairman Paul Manafort, sat down with Kremlin-connected lawyer Natalia Veselnitskaya. The meeting was set up by music impressario Rob Goldstone, who told Trump that a Russian contact (Veselnitskaya) had information that "would incriminate Hillary [Clinton] and her dealings with Russia and would be very useful to your father. This is obviously very high level and sensitive information but is part of Russia and its government's support for Mr. Trump.'

Trump Jr. stunningly, responded, "If it's what you say, I love it especially later in the summer."

Veselnitskaya has issued the expected denial that she never possessed "damaging or sensitive information about Hillary Clinton. It was never my intention to have that."

Asked by NBC News how the Trumpies could have arrived at such a conclusion, Veselnitskaya said that "it is quite possible that maybe they were longing for such an information. They wanted it so badly that they could only hear the thought that they wanted." It is also quite possible to imagine Veselnitskaya laughing inwardly to herself, in a very Russian way, at Trump Jr. being caught in such a snare. In the wake of his son's appearance on administration PR agent/Fox News host Sean Hannity's program on Tuesday, Trump tweeted that DTJR was now the subject of the "greatest witch hunt in Let's be clear: Campaigns seek out, and compile, damaging information about their rivals all the

So, on one level, Trump Jr. was correct that he's not the first person to take a meeting to learn about such stuff. But there is a bright-line distinction between run-of-the mill opposition research, such as compiling a dossier on a candidate's past, conflicting statements, financial dealings, or voting records, and meeting with an apparent agent of a hostile foreign power set on tilting the election to the thenpresumptive Republican nominee. Any campaign operative with a grain of sense would tell you that they would have not taken such a meeting. And they would have gone to authorities -- as Al Gore's campaign did in 2000, when it received a debate briefing book stolen from rival George W. Bush.

"Every other campaign would have called the FBI," tweeted Norman Eisen, a former Obama official and the chairman of Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics. But they didn't. And that matters.

A quick historical note: We've been down this road before.

In 1996, the Democratic National Committee was forced to return $2.8 million in campaign contributions that originated from questionable or illegal sources - likely China.

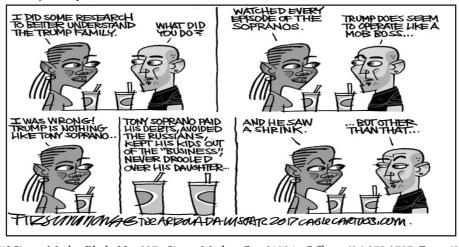

Then, as now, allegations built to a fever-pitch. A Democratic fund-raiser, John Huang, pleaded guilty to two, minor offenses. But major allegations against the DNC, and the Clinton White House iteself, evaporated. The difference now, however, is that Trump Jr., has very publicly admitted to taking that meeting with Veselnitskaya. And it's a sure bet that Special Counsel Robert Mueller is looking at it very closely. Still, that's a long way from charges, conviction, or impeachment, or any of the other daydreams Democrats have of toppling a White House that is its own worst enemy on its very best days.

But any claim that the Trump campaign did not have dealings with Russia has now been soundly blown out of the water. It was a lie to begin with. And now it's been backed up by Trump the Younger's own emails.

As the man himself would say, "Very bad."

MAKING SENSE by MICHAEL REAGAN

YEARS OF DISHONESTY COST THE GOP

I saw an honest Republican congressman on TV the other day. I was so shocked I can't remember who it was or what channel I was watching.

But he gave the most truthful explanation I've heard from a Republican politician all year about why the GOP can't get it together on health care reform.

The congressman was asked the same simple question that House and Senate Republicans have been asked a million times before -

"Why didn't you guys have a bill ready in January that would repeal and replace ObamaCare?" After all, for seven years Republicans had railed in unison against the stupidities, inefficiencies and inequities of ObamaCare.

Republican candidates in flyover country had used the "repeal & replace" mantra to help them win dozens of governorships, House seats and Senate seats.

The GOP-controlled House had bravely and boldly voted for bills to repeal it at least five hundred times.

Then last fall Donald Trump shocked the world and Republicans even took narrow control of the U.S. Senate.

Repealing ObamaCare suddenly became possible.

But as the honest congressman I saw on TV admitted, the GOP wasn't ready because "We never thought Donald Trump would win."

Like everyone else in the political and media establishment, Republicans in DC believed Hillary Clinton was sure to be the next president. With her and Bill in the Oval Office armed with their veto pens, the GOP had no serious plans drawn up for ending ObamaCare - or trying to do anything else.

So when Trump won on Nov. 8, 2016,, Republicans in Congress basically said, "Oh, crap. What do we do now?"

Overnight a whole bunch of Republicans became terrified about having to back up their tough repeal-and-replace talk with actual legislation.

Eight months later they're still looking for their conservative spines and trying to figure out

They're stuck between living up to their empty promises or losing their seats in Congress in

They're afraid to vote to take away the "free" or subsidized health care coverage ObamaCare gave millions of voters as it wrecked the already government- wrecked health care world.

But if they lose control of the Senate in 2018, Republicans are done. They'll see nothing passed if Chuck Schumer and the Democrats get to run the Senate.

Schumer will do what Harry Reid did when he was boss - make sure no House bill ever comes up for a vote in the Senate.

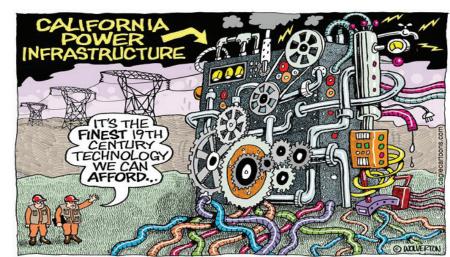

At least this week the Senate took President Trump's hint and put off their summer vacations

Now GOP leaders are again promising us they'll put together a health care reform package that Rand Paul, Susan Collins and 48 other Republicans can vote for.

Ted Cruz announced Thursday that he'll vote for the new bill as it exists at this point in time, but who knows what will change by next week.

After all the tough talk, Republicans may end up having to sit down with Democrats to "repair" ObamaCare, which will mean we'll never be able to shop for health insurance across state lines and idiotic things like mandated maternity benefits for grandmothers will live forever.

Dear Editor:

NOT HAPPY!

I was shocked and saddened to see the photo in the July 1 edition of this newspaper of an individual who savagely hunted and killed that beautiful black bear in the majestic Canadian wilderness.

The story and the photo were sickening. To read that any human being could describe their calculated act of violence as "an exciting stalk and finish" was repulsive. We are blessed to live among the beauty of nature in Sierra Madre and I'm dismayed that you would showcase this barbaric form of brutality in our local paper.

Killing wild animals serves no valuable purpose. And the death of this magnificent creature further threatens their dwindling population and harms the broader animal family and kingdom.

City of Sierra Madre

From: The City of Sierra Madre

MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 17-04 (MCTA 17-04) Subject:

City of Sierra Madre Applicant: Project Location:

Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California

On July 11, 2017 the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre introduced for second reading Ordinance No. 1389 recommending adoption of Municipal Code Text Amendment 17-04. This summary is published pursuant to Government Code Section 36933(c)(1) and a full and complete certified copy of the text of Ordinance 1379 is available at the Sierra Madre City Manager's Office located at City of Sierra Madre City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA. Ordinance 1389 becomes effective on August 11, 2017. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at (626) 355-7138.

The purpose of the R-3 Zone amendment is to revise the standards applicable to residential-medium/high density residential development and to provide consistency with other zoning requirements that affect multiple chapters of the Zoning Code. The amendments include the following revisions:

Chapter 17.08 Definitions - Amend the definition of height for the purpose of simplifying the reference point on the roof of a structure used to measure its height; and change the title of a minor conditional use permit to administrative design review permit.

Chapter 17.20 R-1 Zone – Incorporate new design review and administrative design review permit requirements for certain projects that currently require a minor variance, minor conditional use permit or conditional use permit.

• Chapter 17.28 R-3 Zone – Amendments include a revision to the title of the ordinance to 'R-3 Medium/High Density Residential Zone;' a title change to 17.28.070 to "Design review permit required;" Omitting Section 17.28.130 Signs; incorporates new graphics to illustrate the calculation of building height, angle-plane measurement for yards abutting an R-1 Zone, and articulation of exterior walls. Further amendments include revisions to 'Legal non-conforming R-3 sites,' 'Rezoned, newly created or reconfigured lots,' 'Permitted uses' and 'Conditionally permitted uses,' 'Other uses and construction activities,' and 'Standards for development.' Section 17.28.130 omits the multi-family building sign standards and incorporates them in Chapter 17.72 Signs.

Chapter 17.30 R-C Zone amendments incorporates new design review and administrative design review permit requirements for certain projects that require a minor conditional use permit or conditional use permit.

The purpose of the amendment to Chapter 17.60 is to revise the title of the chapter to "Variances and Discretionary Permit", and revise Sections 17.60.040 and 17.60.041 to incorporate the purpose, reviewing authority, review procedure and findings for administrative design review permits and design review permits; The amendment also includes the addition of Section 17.60.058 to include a procedure to address projects with multiple discretionary applications, and eliminates the requirement for approval of a conditional use permit for all development in the R-3 Zone.

The purpose of the amendment to Chapter 17.72 Signs is to revise the existing sign requirements for the R-3 Zone under Section 17.72.050, include regulation that all signs be non-illuminated and a requirement that all signs are mounted flat to the wall. Chapter 17.76 Condominium and Apartment Projects - The proposed amendment is to delete the Chapter in its entirety. Justification for removal is that the Chapter is obsolete in that the definitions within the Section are not cross referenced anywhere else in the Zoning Code and are already defined in Chapter 17.08 Definitions; The R-3 Ordinance already provides development procedures for multi-family projects; and Title 16 of the Sierra Madre Municipal Code provides regulations regarding Subdivisions. APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at (626) 355-7138.
