SIERRA MADRE FIRE DEPARTMENT PARAMEDIC PROGRAM CELEBRATES 10th ANNIVERSARY

The city of Sierra Madre and the county of Los Angeles recognized the Sierra Madre Fire Department Paramedic Program Tuesday night at the City Council meeting. The ceremony was to recognize the 10 year anniversary of the program, and the remaining original personnel who were there from the beginning.

Sierra Madre——Arcadia-

Captain Gregory Christmas is the Paramedic Captain and EMS Coordinator. He has been the driving force of the program from day one. His leadership, knowledge, and EMS experience has made the program the success it is today. The citizens of Sierra Madre know that if they call 911 for a medical emergency, they will get top quality patient care on scene in minutes. The program owes a tremendous amount of gratitude to Captain Christmas.

-Pasadena-

Paramedic Cece Maria Hoschet, who was tragically killed in a domestic violence incident two years ago, was also recognized. Engineer Ted Walters accepted her award on behalf of her family. Also recognized was Suzette Otlewis. Suzette has been with the program since its inception as the Quality Assurance/Clinical Educator.

Congratulations to all the recipients and their years of dedication to our outstanding paramedic program.

UPS DRIVER SAVES CHOKING 5 YEAR OLD

From the City of Sierra Madre

Last week 5 year old Sofia Ayala was choking on a piece of hard candy. Her mother desperately tried to save her as Sofia's 8 year old and 3 year old sisters watched in horror. UPS driver Rachel Gonzales stepped in just in time to perform the Heimlich Maneuver and was successfully able to dislodge the piece of candy. Last night Mayor Rachelle Pastor Arizmendi recognized Ms. Gonzales with the Mayor's Certificate of Recognition for life-saving, heroic efforts.

BELOVED SIERRA MADREAN GORDON CALDWELL PASSES

He had a smile a mile wide. His caring spirit was contagious. He was Gordon Caldwell, beloved community leader and friend. On Saturday, July 22, 2017 at age 93, Gordon died shortly after returning home from the hospital with his wife of 30 years, Mary Lou by his side.

Gordon meant a lot to the community of Sierra Madre. He moved to the city in 1958 where he and his partner Hal ran GEM plumbing for 37 years. That year he also joined the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department. He was a member of VFW Post 3208, a faithful member of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club, and was recognized many times for his extensive volunteer efforts in Sierra Madre. He was a recipient of the George Maurer Award for a lifetime of Volunteer Service, was Grand Marshal of the Sierra Madre 4th of July Parade and so much more. He organized blood drives as a volunteer for the American Red Cross and was responsible for the collection of more than 2,000 units of donated blood.

However, Gordon was probably best known as one of the few survivors of World War II. He was drafted into the U.S. Navy in 1943 and served aboard the Carrier USS Saratoga in the Pacific, surviving seven battles, the last of which was Iwo Jima.

Also the recipient of many military honors, he was a member of the Saratoga Association and last year donated to the nations WWII Museum a gun that he retrieved after a Kamikaze attack on the Saratoga.

Born on a farm in Louisburg, Missouri on February 24, 1924 he was the youngest of five boys and three girls. He lost his mother to cancer when he was just 5 years old. When he graduated High School in 1943 his military service began.

After the war, Gordon moved to California where he worked for Shell Oil in Ventura. He married Mary Evelyn Hyde and their family consisted of 3 girls and 1 son. They moved to Sierra Madre in 1958 where they raised their family. His wife passed away in 1985 after a long battle with cancer.

A few years later, Gordon married 'the girl next door', Mary Lou Caldwell to whom he remained married until the time of his death.

He is preceded in death by his parents, his brothers Virgil, Milford, Leland, and sisters Hazel, Lucile, and Wilma and his daughter Judith Ann.

He is survived by his wife Mary Lou; daughters Connie (David), Luzan Terri Curtis, and son Jerry (Jodi) Caldwell, and Brother Lowell (Gayle) Caldwell; 7 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren; 2 nieces, 6 nephews and a host of other grand and great grand family members.

Viewing will be on Monday, July 31, 2017 from 5-9 pm at Douglas Zook Mortuary, 600 E. Foothill Blvd., Monrovia.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday, August 1, 2017 at Sierra Madre Congregational Church, 170 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre at noon.

In lieu of flowers, please donate to your favorite charity or the Sierra Madre Volunteer Firefighters Association P.O. Box 911, Sierra Madre, Ca. 91025 or VFW Post 3208, P.O. Box 0695, Sierra Madre, Ca. 91025.

NATIONAL NIGHT OUT, TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 2017!!!

National Night Out is an annual communitybuilding campaign that promotes policecommunity partnerships and neighborhood camaraderie to make our neighborhoods safer, more caring places to live. National Night Out enhances the relationship between neighbors and law enforcement while bringing back a true sense of community.

Unlike previous years when the SMPD hosted this event in Memorial Park, we've found that other cities have been able to reach out to their communities more effectively by going to Neighborhood Watch (NW) block parties or individual parties throughout their cities. It is our intention this year to visit the NW block parties or individual parties. As we schedule the Department's events for the evening, we need to know who will be participating. If you are scheduling a block party, let us know and we'll coordinate with the city in providing barricades if necessary.

We will have representatives from the department stop by to say hello, no presentations, just pass out a few goodies and answer questions if you like. I've listed a few points to remember when you tastes of chocolate or coffee. Let me go back to that brewing is complicated thing! There is no facet of brewing upon which Ryan is not a consummate expert. In short, best craft beer any of us has ever

"Beer is proof that God loves us and wants us to be happy." Benjamin Franklin

I first met Kelly and Ryan Rogers, the genius guys behind RT Rogers Brewing Company, last March then checked back with them this week to see how it was going. Well! When I first stopped in, I found Ryan and good buddy Dave Bergman up to their armpits, wielding shovels in a trench in Units 1 and 2 of the 38 E. Montecito site. Now the trench has been filled in, the new restrooms, which will be ADA compliant are piped, there is a lovely cement floor and framing all over the place. Shelves, bar rails, storage, flooring for the beer vats are all under construction and it's going to be so nice when it's all finished. You can see the guys here with some of their tools. Kelly, Ryan's dad, is the one with the brand new bandsaw sort of thing.

I asked Ryan about what kind of beer he is planning for RT Rogers Brewing Company and he got that beatific expression on his face that all true artists have when talking about their art. There will be four confirmed beers to start with at their soft opening, which will be mentioned when the moment arrives: First, a French Saison which, according to Wikipedia, began as a pale ale brewed in the cooler, less active months in farmhouses in Wallonia, the French-speaking region of Belgium and stored for drinking in the summer months. These were generally a group of refreshing summer ales made by farmers. Modern Saisons are generally highly carbonated, fruity and spicy.

There will be a Belgian Saison, which is gold to light amber in color and craft brewers, like Ryan, are adding a variety of ingredients to enhance the yeasty

There will be two pale ales, Belgian, noted for its yeast flavor and American, which is more heavily flavored with hops and malt. Ryan intends to add a variety of beers and ales, including two varieties of IPA's. There will also be a number of seasonal rotational beers and ales and the occasional experimental. Here's what I learned: Brewing is complicated! Ryan is opening with a 15 barrel system producing stouts and IPA's.

Starting with an on-line course in brewing, and experimenting constantly since he was just 16, Ryan has read everything there is to read on grains, hops and yeast. For instance, California IPA's are very heavily hopped, creating a brew which is higher in alcohol, not sweet, leaning toward a bitter taste. Hops lend aroma, a fruity or bitter taste and the experienced is coming our way!

For those of you in the know, there will be an English Brown Porter - which falls somewhere between dark stout but with less coffee and more chocolate and a Milk Stout made with milk sugar/

The walled garden with partial shade, pleasing the sun lovers and the shade seekers, right outside the glass doors of the main tap room, where one can sit and enjoy a moment of peace and a refreshing glass, is still very much under construction, but it's coming! Ryan and Kelly are creating space for Quoits - the traditional game which involves the throwing of metal, rope or rubber rings over a set distance to try to land over or near a spike – in case you didn't know. Inside there will be standard dart boards and, for all the bicycle enthusiasts who make Sierra Madre their destination, a hanging bike rack on the outside wall.

Kelly and Joanna, Ryan's mom and dad, are both retired from the Los Angeles Unified School District where he started as a maintenance engineer and worked his way up to Complex Projects Manager, while Joanna was that woman no school can do without who ran the book store, got all the text books ordered and, in general, made it work for the teachers. Son, Jesse, is the family artist-webmastersocial media guy, who teaches art in the LAUSD and his wife, Deanna, is a speech pathologist. And Ryan is a brewing genius! The whole family is heavily involved in RT Rogers Brewing Company and all of Sierra Madre will benefit when they are ready to roll this October.

You can check out their website at rtrbrew.com or come by and say hello. The welcome sign on the door really does mean welcome, come on in and take a look! They're on Instagram, too. Really looking forward to October! Quoits anyone?

Shooting Victim Succumbs To Injuries

Pasadena Police are asking for the public's help after a man was shot and killed Monday night near the 210 freeway. Police said the suspects may have been on bicycles.

According to police, officers arrived on scene in the 400 block of N. Marengo Avenue at about 11:36 p.m. and found a single gunshot victim, a Hispanic male in his 30's. Paramedics transported the victim to a local hospital where he succumbed to his injuries.

Witnesses said they heard gun shots and then a male yelling. No information on a motive or description of the suspects was given.

Detectives said the investigation is on-going.

The identity of the victim is being withheld pending notification to the nextof-kin. The Los Angeles County Coroner's Office will make available the identity of the victim.

It is unknown whether the incident was gang related. A motive for the homicide is also unknown at this time. The homicide investigation is in its early stages so limited information is available. As more information develops an update will be provided.

Anyone with information case this about encouraged to call Pasadena Police at (626)- 744-4241 or you may report information anonymously by calling "Crime Stoppers" by dialing

Pet of the Week

Are you looking for an energetic, big dog? Meet Pepper (A417738), a 10-month-old Great Dane mix in need of a new home. Pepper is very friendly and outgoing. According to her previous owner, Pepper walks well on leash and already knows her "sit," "down" and "stay" commands. She's still learning her basic house manners, however, so she'll need a patient family who'll laugh at her puppy antics while continuing to provide basic training.

The adoption fee for dogs is $130. All dogs are spayed or neutered, microchipped, and vaccinated before being adopted.

New adopters will receive a complimentary healthand-wellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at (626) 792-7151 to ask about A417738, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email. Directions and photos of all pets can be found at pasadenahumane.org.

'One Arroyo' Effort, a Singular Vision The public got their first chance at corridors for animals, hikers, stream."

Tuesday night to hear efforts being made by the Arroyo Advisory Group (AAG) to enhance and preserve Arroyo Seco as one continuous space from Hahamongna to the Lower Arroyo. Ideas included, preserving natural habitats to adding an amphitheater, museum, restaurant and coffee bar to showing outdoor movies and live plays.

During the public comment most of those in the community wanted less or no commercial activity in the Arroyo. Many also suggested that Altadena be included in any decisions.

"One Arroyo means we are all connected," said long time Brick said Altadena resident Dorothy Wong. "We are the hearts and souls of Altadena, the wildlife, "There is going to be mountains, Pasadena all the way to Los Angeles. Sierra Madre--Arcadia--Pasadena-feedback regarding the recent cost increase for trash services provided by Athens Services. As you may recall, beginning July 1, 2017, trash service rates increased by 4.32%. This meant that for the typical residential customer, solid waste services increased by $1.24 / month, from $28.79 / month to $30.03 / certainly should have spent more time articulating the reasons why the trash service costs increased by 4.32%, and we apologize for not being more clear! There were several components that blended together to account for the total cost increase. Those components included:

ATHENS SERVICES TRASH AND RECYCLING RATES INCREASED 4.32% BEGINNING JULY 1, 2017, COST ADJUSTMENT ATTRIBUTABLE TO CPI, MINIMUM WAGE INCREASES, AND STATE MANDATED RECYCLING PROGRAMS

2.66% - CPI cost factor increase (calculation from April 2016 – April 2017) 1.00% - enhanced State environmental compliance and landfill cost factor increase

0.66% - State minimum wage cost factor increase 4.32% - Total Cost Increase July 1, 2017

Our current contract with Athens Services allows the City to veto any rate increase above 5% per year. Simultaneously, the contract also allows Athens Services the ability to implement reasonable cost adjustments based on external factors, such as CPI increases, State regulatory impacts, and minimum wage increases.

We did want to share that City staff analyzed the proposed adjustments that Athens Services submitted, and the proposed increase did meet all of our contractual obligations. Furthermore, as part of our assessment, we also compared our monthly cost for trash service with other communities in our service area. That assessment illustrated 5th lowest out of 14 identified cities. The overall monthly trash service cost comparison includes the following:

What is also important to keep in mind is that not only are Monrovia's trash services among the lowest in the region, we also have an overall solid waste services program that is among the most environmentally robust in the region. The City has program to keep the City in compliance the State

During the past week, City staff received some mandates contained in AB 1826 and also AB 1594. AB 1826 requires that all commercial and multifamily properties recycle organics trash.

The State requires that all municipalities divert 50% of all trash away from landfills. Prior to the adoption of AB 1594, green waste was counted towards that diversion rate. Since the adoption of AB 1594, the State no longer accepts green waste Based on the questions that we have received, we as part of the mandated diversion rate calculation, which required the City to develop a plan to continue to meet our diversion rate without counting green

> Given both of those pieces of legislation, the City and Athens Services partnered together to develop the overall Organic Recycling Program to keep the City in compliance with State requirements. In an effort to obtain additional value for our community, the City's contract with Athens Services also provides that residents be provided with compost and mulch at no additional charge. On an annual basis, City staff coordinates with Athens Services to develop mulch and compost give away events, and we are currently working to coordinate a future give-away event for later in Fall 2017.

Finally, given the trash / recycling cost increase that has been implemented, the City has also developed a unique program for Athens Services customers. There are times when adjusting solid waste service levels can end up saving a customer money, without impacting their trash service needs. To that end, if any Athens Services customer would like to have a 1-on-1 Solid Waste Services Optimization Meeting to explore possible ways of saving money for on your trash / recycling services bill, Alex Tachiki, Management Analyst, can help! that Monrovia's trash service costs continue to Alex can be reached at (626) 932-5553, or via e-mail remain among the lowest in our region, ranking at atachiki@ci.monrovia.ca.us. Alex will review each individual situation and work with each customer to determine the feasibility of making service changes that save money but don't impact trash / recycling needs.

We hope that this overview provides some more context for the recent trash services cost increase. If you have any additional questions, feel free to contact Alex Tachiki, Management Analyst, at (626) developed with Athens an overall organics recycling 932-5553, or via e-mail at atachiki@ci.monrovia.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL TIPS TO HELP REDUCE STRESS

(StatePoint) School can be a stressful place, from finding a seat at lunch to making new friends, but don't let supplies be one of those stressors. Make life just a bit easier with the right supplies, so students have more time to focus on the important things. To help reduce stress, consider the following tips and

Lighten the Load

Students are always on the go -- shuttling to and from school, attending rehearsals, practices and other extracurricular activities, and moving about from class to class. Managing mobility is crucial toward alleviating physical stress.

Use multifunctional tools that can help them carry less, such as the Five Star Flex Hybrid NoteBinder. It acts like a notebook and works like a binder with flexible, durable rings that open and close, allowing students to add, remove or re-sort their papers. Carrying less means less to worry about.

Further lighten the load by carrying only what is needed. Pack backpacks the night before to avoid bringing textbooks or binders that won't be used. Another tip is to look for a backpack that features ergonomic straps to help distribute weight evenly and reduce physical stress. A backpack that has this feature is the Five Star Expandable Backpack; not only that, it also has expanding compartments offering extra room when needed. Other things to look for are pockets to help keep small supplies organized and easy to find, and padded sections for holding and protecting technology.

Stay Organized

Being organized can reduce so many headaches. Yet somehow, it's all too easy to let backpacks, lockers and even bedroom floors get messy. Use effective organizational tools to ensure assignments aren't misplaced in the shuffle. For example, the Five Star Storage & Organization Divider features mesh storage pockets that are great for smaller school supplies; plus, it can snap into a notebook or be stored in a binder for easy organization of important papers.

Write down assignments as soon as they are given. Being proactive will make sure there are no surprises. A planner is great for accessing information anytime, however you may want to display this crucial information on a wall calendar or planner at home as well.

Remain Balanced

Beyond selecting smart gear, students can help ensure a successful school year by making room in their schedules for activities that help reduce stress, whether that's listening to music, going for a run or spending time with friends.

Find a few systems that help keep mental and physical stress low, and work hard to keep them in place throughout the year.

WHERE ARE YOU AT, SCAREDY CAT?

respond with some semblance of fear the first time I entered their home. It's a classic story told by many cat owners, wherein a person with whom the cat is unfamiliar, walks through the front door only to see the kitty's bouncing behind disappear down the hallway, as he high-tails it into another room to seek refuge beneath a bed or a couch.

Although there is usually no apparent reason for a typically-friendly feline's fearful response to a stranger, it happens quite often. And even though most of the time, the individual who just arrived and entered the home is indeed a cat lover, they are still a person whom the cat has yet to get to know, so the cat assumes there may be danger and runs to take cover. Why do cats behave in this manner, and how can we humans help them relax and enjoy the company of a new-found friend when they come calling?

upon the arrival of a stranger, is because he had limited exposure to humans other than his owner as a youngster. If a kitten is not introduced to a variety of people during his socialization stage (3-9 of interacting with strangers as an adult. Another reason is that a visit from a human friend is often accompanied by increased noises and movement during the initial greeting, and from a cat's perspective that might be interpreted as chaos to be avoided at all costs.

There are a few simple techniques that have proven to be helpful in preventing a cat from becoming afraid of people whom they've never met, and as it is with most exercises, the more consistently you are willing to practice these techniques with your kitty, the better are your chances for success.

First, provide your cat with a "safety-zone" in an out-of-the-way location, such as a back room resting spot, a fresh bowl of water and a litter box. Don't forget to love and let live! Give the cat a special treat along with a favorite interactive toy when you take him to the safe area, just moments before your guest arrives. Allow the cat to remain in the safe place for the duration of the visit, the first few times you have a guest in your home.

Next, try to follow this series of behavioral modification steps consistently, to help your cat become more comfortable around visitors: Ask a friend or relative who does not live with you to act

Over the course of the 7 years I've been in this as a stranger coming to visit. As usual, put your cat business, I've noticed a few of the felines I care for in the safe place just moments before their arrival, then when your friend arrives, open the door to the safe area and allow the cat to can come out at it's own will and in it's own time.

Once your cat has decided it is safe enough to emerge from the back room, have the invited "stranger" stand at a distance from where the cat decides is comfortable, and reward the cat with a treat and/or a soothing praise each time he is willing to get closer to the visitor. The goal is to gradually decrease the space between the two, by rewarding the cat each time he remains calm and allows the newcomer to come closer.

Take note that the "approaching process" should begin from a distance at which your cat shows no signs of anxiety or arousal. He should be completely calm to start with, and remain calm and confident as your friend moves into the cat's space, eventually coming close enough to reach out and pet the cat. One reason why a cat might run and hide Keep your voice calm and offer comments of praise along the way. Try to avoid excessive movement until the cat becomes more comfortable over time. Repeat these simple steps as frequently as you possibly can. It may take some time for your weeks old), he will likely be more apprehensive cat to show progress, but be patient and be aware that your efforts are helping to improve your cat's

> This process of coaching a cat into becoming more familiar with other humans may seem silly to folks who are not friends of the feline, but I know there are many devoted cat lovers out there who will benefit from this bit of information to help make a difference in the relationship they have with their cat.

I hope you do find these tips helpful and I wish you all the best success as you work toward socializing your kitty cat. Try to understand what is going on in the mind of our feline. We humans like to think we relate to our pets, so it behooves us to do our best to understand their perspective, and work on the where the sound of knocking or a door bell will relationships we have with them. Most importantly, be muffled. Be sure to include a comfortable as humans we must be kind to the animals, always.

practice. is yoga is not really yoga at all. It's just exercise or another distraction from life. A student could practice asana, the physical practice, without really experiencing yoga. And a student who's experienced yoga through meditation for example, could have never practiced asana.

Yoga means union. It's a practice and a state of being. It's a union of the body and mind with the soul, our highest self and divinity within. To make this possible, it's important to tame the mind and create a peaceful, calm, and (mostly) undistracted

In yoga we use the physical practice or asana as a way to create free flow of energy and build awareness. As a student progresses in practice, we begin to use all tools yoga has to offer: Pranayama, Meditation and Mantra. Over time, other advanced practices that include the Bandhas Keely Totten (energetic locks of the body), Kriya, and Mudra E-RYT 500, Yogi, Teacher Trainer, Mom

Hey, You!

I know we are all here in these streets making big plans and doing big things, right? What? You aren't exactly doing anything, have you been stuck thinking and wondering? Are you in a perpetual state of inertia? Why might that be?

If fear has you stuck, then fear is keeping you from your destiny. The life of your dreams can be yours for the living, but you will need to learn to handle your fear. Do not make the mistake of waiting for the fear to disappear, and then plan to take action, because that's never going to happen. Fear is here to stay, think of it as the eternal hook up. Historically, fear played an essential role in our survival as a species and helped us to stay alive. Fear is hard wired into us to help to recognize and appreciate dangerous conditions and situations. As we have evolved as humans, we do not encounter danger as regularly as we once did. Most of us have a regular source of food, and it's as easy as making a call or going to the market. We don't encounter wild animals at every turn. Our brains that are designed to use fear to keep us safe have not caught up with our relatively safe lives.

If fear isn't going anywhere, then how do we get the lives of our dreams? It requires us to be App Store.

We have talked about the power of decision before.

FOOD AND DRINK & MORE

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

What is the fascination with our love of the hot dog? I know that food trends are cyclical but hot dogs I found have been a staple of our diets since the first Ferris wheel went up in Coney Island years ago. The setting at Dog Haus is industrial, with picnic tables and self service fountain drinks. The menu boasts a lengthy list of selections, including the Haus Dog signature all beef skinless hot dog on a grilled King's Hawaiian Bread bun. Let me tell you I love the bread, it is a great touch. I suggest to you that you get the bread untoasted so that you may savor the true taste of the bread. The manager told me that the customers like the grill mark on the bread, but trust me fellow foodies, do it my way.

The manager could my frantic sense devotion to downing enough dogs to make this story credible; I mean what kind of critic would I be if I just had one dog! So here comes the Cowboy with www.doghaus.com smoked bacon, bbq sauce white American Cheese and crispy onions.

So, I know if you are on the same page as I am for all these years blabbing on AM 830 KLAA and KRLA 870, you ask, ok...

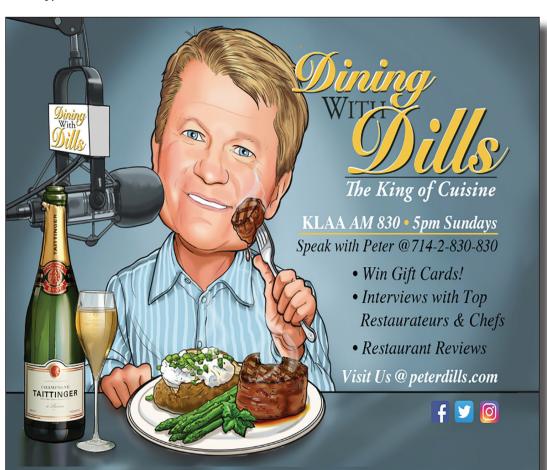

Peter... what's the hook, there are several Hot Dog spots around, heck even Sam Club has a Hot Dog. Well, my answer is that any true foodie has to stay clear of being a creature of habit, The Dog Haus delivers some great Dogs and they make their own French Fries, and that alone makes me a fan. I have been very critical of certain "Gastropubs" shelling out frozen fries and rings and wings. They get it here

HOW TO CHOOSE THE RIGHT TYPE OF WALKER

Dear Savvy Senior,

How does one go about choosing a walker? I have some balance issues along with arthritis in my knee and could use a little more help than a cane provides. Unsteady at 70

Dear Unsteady,

When it comes to choosing a walker, there are various styles and options to consider, but selecting the best one for you will depend on your needs, as well as where you'll be using it. Here are some tips that can help you choose.

Types of Walkers

There are three basic types of walkers on the market today. To help you choose, consider the type of support you'll need. Then, pay a visit to a medical equipment store or pharmacy (see Medicare.gov/ SupplierDirectory) that sells walkers so you can test-walk a few. Here are the different types you'll have to choose from.

Standard walker: This is the most basic style of walker that has four legs with rubber-based feet (no wheels), is very lightweight (around 6 pounds) and costs between $50 and $100. This type of walker must be picked up and moved forward as you walk, so it's best suited for people who need significant weight bearing support, or who are walking very short distances.

Two-wheeled walker: This has the same four-leg style as the standard walker except it has wheels on the two front legs that allow you to easily push the walker forward without lifting, while the back legs glide across the floor providing support while you step forward. These are best for people with balance issues, and are priced at around $60 to $120.

Rollator: This is a rolling walker that has wheels on all four (or three) legs. These work best for people who need assistance with balance or endurance inside or outside the home, but require some upper body strength to prevent them from rolling out from under you. Rollators typically come with a built-in seat, basket and hand-breaks. Or, for those with hand arthritis or gripping problems, there are rollators with pushdown brakes that engage with seat. Rollators typically run between $75 and $225. show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

Other Tips

After deciding on a type of walker, there a few additional things you need to double-check to ensure it meets your needs.

First, if you're a large person, make sure the walker's weight capacity will support you. And if you choose a rollator, check to see if your body can fit between the handgrips when sitting.

Also make sure the height of the walker is set appropriately for you. To do this, stand with your arms relaxed at your sides. The handgrips of the walker should line up with the crease on the inside

You also need to check that the walker folds easily for transport and storage, and that it's light enough to lift into your car. Test the handgrips to make sure they're comfortable. And, be sure you measure the doorways in your home to ensure your walker will fit through them. If you have narrow doorways consider installing "swing clear" offset door hinges as a simple and affordable way to widen them an extra two inches.

Walkers also have lots of accessories that can be added for your convenience such as food tray attachments, tote bags for carrying personal items, oxygen tank holders, and tennis ball walker glides that go over the feet of a standard walker to help it slide more easily across the floor.

For more tips on how to choose and use a walker, Mayoclinic.com/health/walker/HA00060. It's also a smart idea to work with your doctor or a physical therapist, and be sure to get a written prescription, as Medicare will cover 80 percent of the cost.

A FINAL FAREWELL TO LISA PATHFINDER

With the push of a button, final commands for the European Space Agency's LISA Pathfinder mission were beamed to space on July 18, a final goodbye before the spacecraft was powered down.

LISA Pathfinder had been directed into a parking orbit in April, keeping it out of Earth's way. The final action this week switches it off completely after a successful 16 months of science measurements.

While some spacecraft are flashy, never sitting still as they zip across the solar system, LISA Pathfinder was as steady as they come -- literally.

It housed a space-age motion detector so sensitive that it had to be protected against the force of photons from the Sun. That was made possible thanks to a system of thrusters that applied tiny reactive forces to the spacecraft, cancelling out the force of the Sun and allowing the spacecraft to stay within 10 nanometers of an ideal gravitational orbit.

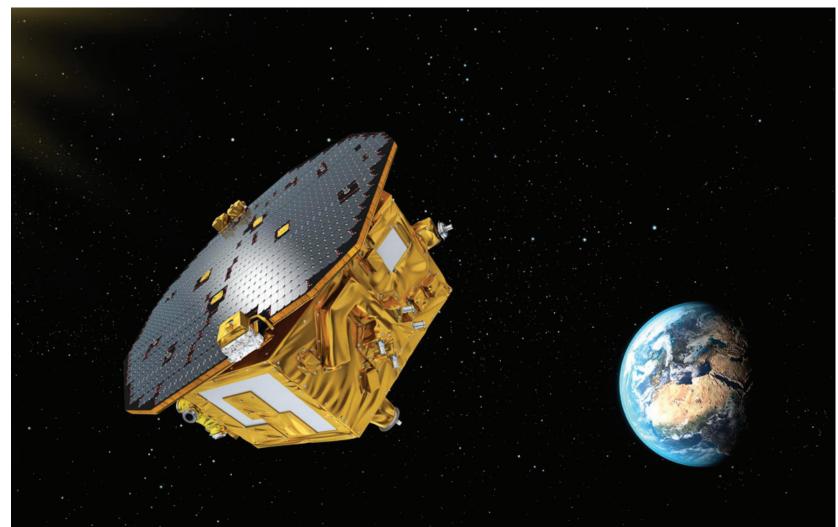

These requirements for Pathfinder were so challenging and unique that LISA Pathfinder flew two independent systems based on different designs -- one provided by NASA and one by ESA -- and ran tests with both during its 16-month mission.

"We were trying to hold it as stable as the width of a DNA helix," said John Ziemer, systems lead for the U.S. thruster system at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California. "And we went down from there to the width of part of a DNA helix."

JPL managed development of the thruster system, formally called the Space Technology 7 Disturbance Reduction System (ST7-DRS). The thrusters were developed by Busek Co., Inc., Natick, Massachusetts, with technical support from JPL. During the U.S. operations phase, Pathfinder was controlled using algorithms developed by ST7 team members at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Maryland. This control system took inputs from the European sensors and sent commands to the [Nyerges is a naturalist been here for perhaps thousands of years, and that who teaches classes in it plays an important role in the local ecology.

According to U.S. Forest Service Wildlife Biologist the author of several books Bill Brown, coyotes are mostly carnivorous. He including "Enter the Forest," explains that they are excellent hunters, often working in pairs, who feed primarily on rats, mice, ground squirrels, rabbits, insects, and carrion. (Did you notice that at least half of the animals eaten by coyotes can be carriers of plagues?)

Berries and backyard fruit comprise only a small portion of the coyotes' diet, according to Brown (whom I interviewed for my "Enter the Forest" book). Still, coyotes are regarded as opportunists, and will not hesitate to capture and eat cats, small dogs, poultry, sheep, and other domestic animals Angeles National Forest just north of Sierra Madre. as long as they are easier to capture than other wild

All too often, people who move into mountain locations fail to adequately protect their pets, which become easy prey for a coyote. Brown points out hearing a pack of coyotes, and we could hear that coyotes do not go after people,, and in the very maybe 50 distinct voices.

That human-like voice is the reason so many scary camp-fire tales are told about coyotes, usually involved disappearing children who get raised in Back then, during the naivete of childhood, it was easy to believe in the magical, mysterious, and mystical qualities of the coyote. These nocturnal animals could survive where few others animals could, and so supernatural qualities were often attributed to the coyote in myth and lore.

In fact, an entire branch of American Indian lore pertains to stories about Coyote, a Trickster who usually ends up getting caught in his own machinations. Coyote Trickster tales were akin to the morality stories found in all cultures.

Today, as we humans in the valleys below the mountains ever-expand our range, we encounter coyotes more and more frequently. A friend from South Pasadena who would get up around 4 a.m. for work, would report that he frequently saw a line of up to a dozen coyotes calmly walking down his hilly urban street. Yes, they are urban dwellers.

As the urban sprawl continues to sprawl, people move into the remote sites in the foothills and mountains and discover that their family cat has disappeared; all too often, it was some indigenous regard the coyote as a menace and an animal to be rid of. They quickly forget that the coyote has rare instances where this has occurred, it was with unprotected toddlers in the mountain areas. To the coyote, the young child is a "fat hairless dog."

Increased sightings of coyotes can occur for many reasons, such as lack of food in their normal area, or after wildfires when their territory is disrupted. But in general, coyotes - like bears and mountain lions - want nothing to do with people and will usually depart before they are spotted.

The coyote is a very adaptable animal, and its range is by no means restricted to the foothills. Its home range is about 16 square miles, and in some cases, as much as 100 square miles. Coyotes are known to travel through flood control channels, along freeways and city streets, and even sidewalks. The Los Angeles River and the Arroyo Seco are two easy routes for them to get from place to place. I've spotted them on the streets of Sierra Madre, Pasadena, Altadena, and surrounding areas.

It is not unusual to see coyotes running on the streets at night around the Rose Bowl. Coyotes are frequently found in foothill neighborhoods in Sierra Madre, especially on the night the trash cans are put out. (Make sure to have tight lids on your

is getting to be old business

You are only as old as you celebrate.

sometimes cannot remember the exact figure. Some of my friends are rather legalistic along this line and are demanding the exact number of my birthday. Is it really that important? Does it really matter how old you are? Well, if you spoke to some of my friends it matters to them. For those of us, however, who have experienced a succession of birthdays it does not really matter.

Thinking of my birthday this past week I was trying to figure out what was my best birthday. All of them had certain significance to them. For example, my 16th birthday allowed me to drive the car. However, I could only drive the car when my father said I could drive the car.

My 21st birthday was very important because I then could get married. Back then, you could not get married unless you were 21 years of age. Before that, you had to have your parent's permission. I have asked my parents for many things throughout the years, but I think asking to get married is just crossing the line somewhere.

Every birthday starts a new year of adventure and excitement. When you get older, adventure and excitement sort of goes away a little bit. It can be exciting to celebrate another birthday and wonder where you going to be at when your next birthday comes around.

Some people feel it's a little negative to get older. If you do not get older, it means that you have... Well, you know the rest of that sentence. I find nothing negative about getting older. I find certain amenities are associated with getting older that I could not cash in when I was younger. When I was younger, I could not get away with much of anything. Now that I am older, I can get away with things because I have a few niches I can use. "I'm sorry," I often say to the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage, "I forgot all about that. You know I'm getting older now."

She smiles and shakes an understanding head. It is wonderful to have an excuse for things of that nature.

For my birthday this year, I discovered something rather interesting. This year I discovered the amazing wonder of A.G.E. If you look at age from the proper perspective, you do get some very interesting enjoyments.

I suppose I should explain to you what I mean by A.G.E. It never occurred to me until this birthday celebration. A.G.E is simply Aggressive Grumpy The church web site is www.whatafellowship.com.

I have just celebrated my Elegance. I never saw this before, but then of course recent birthday. By now, it I was not old enough to appreciate it.

When I was young, I noticed my grandfather for me. Just another day of the year to celebrate had some rather grumpy sessions and I did not something, which just happens to be my birthday. quite understand. Now that I am approaching my I believe that if it is my birthday, I should be able to celebrate whatever birthday I want to celebrate.

Grandfather's age, I appreciate that grumpy attitude. Oh, the wonder of Aggressive Grumpy Elegance.

If I ever thought youth was exciting, it is nothing I am not embarrassed at how old I am, I just compared to this A.G.E. that I am experiencing right now. It is so wonderful to be grumpy whenever you choose.

> I know some people are grumpy because they are just grumpy. That has nothing to do with this wonderful Aggressive Grumpy Elegance that I have discovered.

> It takes quite a few decades to master this kind of attitude. I am delighted to say I have reached that stage in my life and I am mastering this part of Aggressive Grumpy Elegance. I just cannot say it

> For example, when I want a quiet afternoon and maybe take a little bit of a nap, the result of this would be somebody saying, "Stay away from grandpa, he's acting a little grumpy today." The key to that is "acting."

Some people are grumpy because they are grumpy, but those of us who have reached a certain level in life are grumpy because we are acting grumpy and to act grumpy takes a great deal of thespian skill. If someone, and I will not mention the real name here, wants me to go shopping with her, all I need to do is put on the grumpy act. "Well," she will say, "I guess you're too grumpy to go shopping with me toďay!" The person who has reached this level of A.G.E

can turn it on when needed and turn it off when not needed. That is the "elegance" part of this whole

When the grandchildren are around making noise and excitement, I do not have to act grumpy. When their parents, however, come around that is the time when grumpy kicks in.

You have to know when to act grumpy and when not to act grumpy. That is the wonderful aspect of getting to the age I am at right now.

I believe Solomon understood this when he wrote, "The glory of young men is their strength: and the beauty of old men is the grey head" (Proverbs 20:29).

One of the great privileges in life is to earn that "grey head." More important, to use that grey head in a positive, affirmative fashion.

Inventory has been decreasing lately, but the the market action index is falling also. With the number of days-on-market climbing, these are relatively negative implications for the market.

Supply and Demand

The market has been cooling off consistently for several weeks, as more homes are available and demand is less. We have begun to see prices move lower as a result. If the MAI falls into the Buyer's zone, it is likely that prices continue their downward trend until we see some turnaround in Market Action.

The Market Action Index answers the question "How's the Market?" by measuring the current rate of sale versus the amount of inventory. Index above 30 implies Seller's Market conditions. Below 30, conditions favor the buyer.

Again this week we see a downward notch for prices. Pricing has been weak in recent weeks and versus their absolute-high level. The Market Action Index is a good indication for the durability of this trend.

JOCKEY BRYAN PENA:

The Little Guy with the ENORMOUS Heart

By Joan Schmidt

It's been less than five years that I become an avid racing fan. Only because LA Mayor Villraigosa announced Santa Anita Park's Breeders Cup from Los Angeles, excluding Arcadia City officials! One phone call to Santa Anita Park, a ground's tour, and an interview with Jockey Joe Talamo at Ralph's; I was hooked.

Writing for the Mountain Views News opened the door to many memorable experiences-American Pharoah returning after winning the Triple Crown and Arrogate after Dubai. I have met so many wonderful people in the Industrynot only the jockeys, but owners, trainers and agents. I have been so impressed how unaffected everyone is, how they are never too busy to answer a question or pose for a photo.

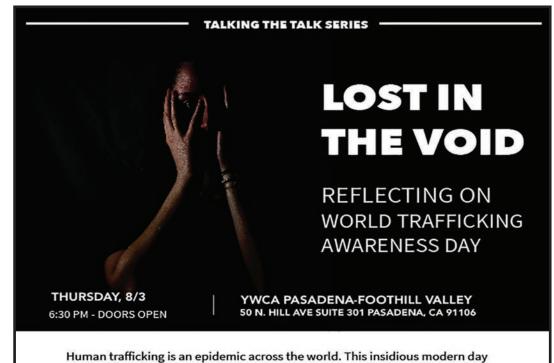

Today I would like to give a shoot out for Brayan Pena. He is truly one of the kindest guys around. Linda, also an avid fan recalled an incident which I must share. After races, the jockeys head back to the Jockey Room, pressed for time as they shower and put on new silks. Along the way are several benches, where one day, several special needs people sat. Brayan was heading back to the Jockey Room, but stopped and "high-fived" EACH one of them which was quite impressive. After a few minutes, Brayan came back outside with a big bag of goggles for each of them! Linda said she had never seen anything so wonderful-it meant so much to them.

One day, I was at Los Alamitos, and it was a boy's 4th birthday; he already had goggles, but his dad stopped Brayan in the tunnel, saying it was his son's birthday. Brayan didn't mind the boy already got his goggles; gave him another pair and posed for a photo with him. Later, I saw the thrilled boy and Dad run inside to tell Grandpa!

so proud of his family. When I took photos on Mother's Day, he was so gracious, he asked Chance (Boulanger) to be in a photo too. Brayan was born in Guatemala; he came to this country at age seventeen and began by working horses. That was seven years ago. He has been in 877 races; 63 wins, 82 places, and 103 shows.

Thoroughbred racing is currently at Del Mar through September 4: Wednesdays-Sundays. If you can't get down there, Santa Anita has Simulcast Racing on those days with FREE admission and parking. Then The Thoroughbreds travel to Los Alamitos from September 7-24, Thursdays-Sundays; again Simulcast Racing at Santa Anita Bryan is a devoted husband and father and which opens officially September 29! See you there.

Henry David Thoreau: A Life by Laura Dassow Walls

"Walden. Yesterday I came here to live." That entry from the journal of Henry David Thoreau, and the intellectual journey it began, would by themselves be enough to place Thoreau in the American pantheon. His attempt to "live deliberately" in a small woods at the edge of his hometown of Concord has been a touchstone for individualists and seekers since the publication of Walden in 1854.But there was much more to Thoreau than his brief experiment in living at Walden Pond. A member of the vibrant intellectual circle centered on his neighbor Ralph Waldo Emerson, he was also an ardent naturalist, a manual laborer and inventor, a radical political activist, and more. Two hundred years after his birth, and two generations after the last full-scale biography, Walls restores Henry David Thoreau to us in all his profound, inspiring complexity. Walls traces the full arc of Thoreau's life, from his early days in the intellectual hothouse of Concord, when the American experiment still felt fresh and precarious, and "America was a family affair, earned by one generation and about to pass to the next." By the time he died in 1862, at only forty-four, Thoreau had witnessed the transformation of his world from a community of farmers and artisans into a bustling, interconnected commercial nation. What did that portend for the contemplative individual and abundant, wild nature that Thoreau celebrated? Drawing on Thoreau's copious writings, published and unpublished, Walls presents a Thoreau vigorously alive in all his quirks and contradictions: the young man shattered by the sudden death of his brother; the ambitious Harvard College student; the ecstatic visionary who closed Walden with an account of the regenerative power of the Cosmos. We meet the man whose belief in human freedom and the value of labor made walker who found society in nature, but also found his own nature in the society of which he was a deeply interwoven part. And, running through it all, Thoreau the passionate naturalist, who, long before the age of environmentalism, saw tragedy for future generations seer's lifetime.

in the human heedlessness around him."The Thoreau I sought was not in any book, so I wrote this one," says Walls. The result is a Thoreau unlike any seen since he walked the streets of Concord, a Thoreau for our time and all time.

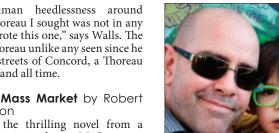

Boy's Life Mass Market by Robert McCammon

Don't miss the thrilling novel from a award-winning author McCammon, in a book that Publishers Weekly calls both a mystery that will satisfy the most finicky aficionado and a boisterous travelogue."Zephyr, Alabama, is an idyllic hometown for eleven-year-old Cory Mackenson—a place where monsters swim the river deep and friends are forever. Then, one cold spring morning, Cory and his father witness a car plunge into a lake and a desperate rescue attempt brings his father face-to-face with a terrible vision of death that will haunt him forever. As Cory struggles to understand his father's pain, his eyes are slowly opened to the forces of good and evil that are manifested in Zephyr. From an ancient, mystical woman who can hear the dead and bewitch the living, to a violent clan of moonshiners, Cory must confront the secrets that hide in the shadows of his hometown—for his father's sanity and his own life hang in the balance.A wonderful book!

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

DO YOU REALLY NEED A WILL?

Most Americans do not have a simple will as part of their estate plan. You might believe that a will is only for the rich and famous, and not the average person who has a far smaller net worth. Or, you may think that a will is entirely unnecessary if you have a trust, jointly owned property, or have named beneficiaries on your insurance.

So, to the question of the day – do you really need a will? The short answer is "yes." In fact, everyone who owns anything - no matter how much or how little - should have a will. This is because a will puts you in charge of directing your wishes and the distribution of assets upon your death. Without a will or other estate plan you forfeit control and state law determine who gets what after your death. Even if you have a trust, jointly owned property, or have named beneficiaries on your insurance, a will is critically important as a "backup" plan.

As a practical matter, the simpler your affairs are (and the fewer assets you own) the less complicated your will and overall estate plan needs to be. But keep in mind, it does not take much to complicate your estate, legally speaking. For example, if you have minor children you must name a guardian for those children in the event of your death – and not only in your will as most traditional estate plans do, that leaves holes which could cause your A local attorney and father, Marc Garlett is on a mission minor children to be placed into temporary foster care, something which no parent wants.

Many people believe if they have made beneficiary designations on life insurance policies, property deeds or retirement accounts that a will is not necessary at all. While it is true those particular designations ensure the people you intended receive benefits or inherit those assets, the distribution stops there. If there are other assets you own - such as a car, a china set, or jewelry for examples - or if you would like to give part of your estate to a charitable organization, a will becomes essential.

Furthermore, when a person dies without a will (referred to as intestate), the estate goes into probate. Probate is a judicial process by which the court decides the rightful heirs and distribution of the assets of a deceased person. Going through probate without a will can be both more time consuming and expensive than it is with a will. This is because your will can waive certain probate requirements (like having the executor post a bond or obtain judicial approval to have an estate sale). And again, probate without a will follows the state's intestacy laws which may likely result in a less-thanperfect split of assets that may not be in line with the deceased's wishes and often leaves many surviving loved

Family dynamics also play a part in estate planning, something state intestacy laws do not account for. Many people have blended families. There may have been second or third marriages. Older couples may choose to cohabitate after a death or divorce and never legally get married. You may have to treat your children differently on current accounts due to distance, and without a will, those assets will not be distributed equitably.

It is important to note that a will can also include a no contest clause, reducing the likelihood of potential heirs arguing over its contents.

Creating a will as part of your estate plan is primarily about passing your wealth to your loved ones after you die since a will only "works" after it's gone through the probate court process. A will gives you both independence and control of what happens to your assets after your death. Instead of leaving the distribution of your property to California's intestacy laws, a will can put your wishes down on paper and direct a selected person to carry out your desires exactly as expressed. But before you decide a will is all you need, read my article next week to learn more about another, more comprehensive strategy -- the revocable living trust.

MID-YEAR BUSINESS PROGRESS CHECKLIST

Now that you have had almost a full month to compile good idea to conduct the same type of "on the spot" and review information from your first six months of interview with yourself to reflect on your performance operations, are you satisfied with what you have been as an entrepreneur, and be attentive to how you feel able to accomplish with your business this year? At about how you executed your plan? What was done the start of the year when you envisioned what was well? What can be done better? Is the outcome ahead, certainly you envisioned where you would satisfactory? like to be at year's end. Now is an ideal time to review How is the business doing financially? Any through the rest of the year.

Begin with a review of your current goals and plans milestones you noted for the first half of the year? If yes, pat yourself on the back. Congratulations are still in order if you have taken steps to make progress that was meaningful and measurable. You may not have hit the mark yet, but if you have moved closer to your goals, you can feel confident that you are on the right track. Now it's time to assess where you are now in remain relevant to your business success. It is equally important to remove the goals from the list that are no to do.

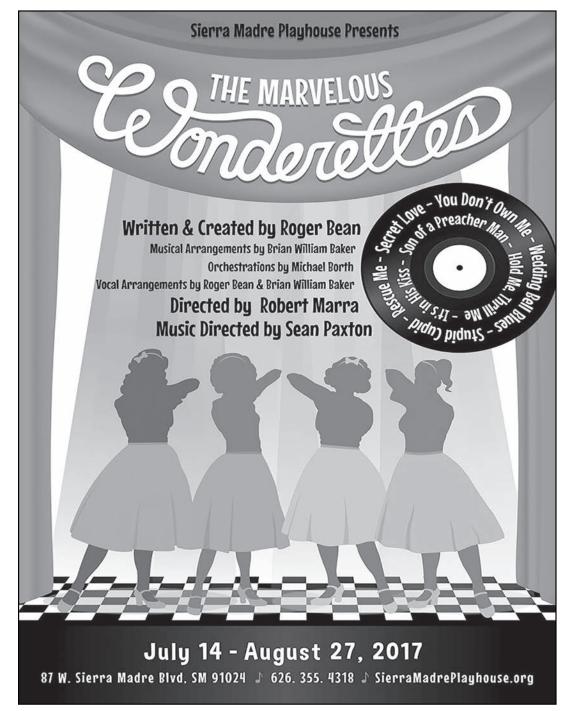

Win or lose, after every professional sports competition, there is some type of review process and analysis. Whether it is an individual or team sport, all athletes understand the importance of taking a look at what they did, and how they performed throughout the competition. This process always begins with the post-competition reflection that happens immediately following the game.

Coaches and player alike are bombarded with questions as soon as the game has ended, and usually before they can make it off of the field of play. It is a during the second half of the year.

your progress and update your gameplan to take you important trends with sales so far this year? When are they higher or lower, and are you able to identify what is causing the fluctuation? Most importantly, what is for this year, then determine if you have reached the the profit for the year? If you are unable to answer the financial questions easily, do you need to upgrade your accounting system or update your records to answer these fundamental questions? How are you doing in other areas like staffing, inventory, marketing, etc.

The next step in the process is typically a more formal, structured review that includes everyone with direct involvement in the business. In sports, relation to those goals, then recommit to the ones that this usually entails a review of game footage to allow participants to isolate specific plays and moves, rewinding and freezing frames. It also allows for longer relevant to what you want or what you're willing meaningful discussion about ways to improve next time. All entrepreneurs should schedule time to conduct a thorough review of each major aspect of their respective businesses and ask more indepth

> Start by answering three questions for each major area of business operations. In what areas has the business performed best so far this year? What can be improved? What do I need to do and what am I willing to do to make the necessary improvements? This review process will give you the information needed to propel your business toward a strong finish

PHYLLIS BATTLE PERFORMS AT SIERRA MADRE WOMEN'S CLUB ICE CREAM SOCIAL

Members of Sierra Madre Woman Club were treated to an up-close-and-personal performance by jazz recording artist, Phyllis Battle at the Essick House for the Annual Ice Cream Social and Concert event on Tuesday, June 25, 2017.

Hands were clapping and feet were tapping as she performed classic jazz songs like Route 66 and Fever. She led the members in a lively sing-along during a medley of several songs she sang many times during the 16 years she was a member of the legendary 5th Dimension. She closed with "You're A Classic," a song from her Grammynominated CD, "Night Flight" produced by the late, iconic jazz drummer, Billy Higgins and pianist Cedar Walton.

Her performance was like a delicious cherry to top off a sweet afternoon.

TURN OFF D.C.'S AC

I went to an outdoor event in Washington, D.C., last week. Boy, was it hot under the noon sun.

It was so hot, I saw a mother swipe a Popsicle from her own child. I saw a Republican share an air-conditioned cab with a Democrat. I saw senators engage in civil conversation with each other so they could spend more time in their air-conditioned chambers.

In any event, I read, with interest, a Washington Post story that described how D.C. used to be, prior to the advent of air conditioning.

As it goes, in 1909 President William Howard Taft used electric fans blowing over bins of ice in the attic to attempt to cool the White House. It didn't work so well. Taft slept outside on a specially built White House porch to keep cool at night.

In 1914, Woodrow Wilson avoided the unbearable heat by moving into a tent in the Rose Garden.

President Calvin Coolidge "fought the humid summer months by making sure 'a gadget filled with chemicals supposed to purify, or at least deodorize, the air' was on his desk at all times," according to WhiteHouseHistory.org. Air conditioning sure has changed Washington and the rest of the country - and not always for the better.

Before air conditioning, the heat drove us outside and brought us together. In the old days, friends sought the shade of trees or a refreshing dip in a lake or river. In the evening, neighbors sat on front porches, sipping lemonade and telling stories. At night, folks slept in groups at parks or, in Washington, along the banks of the Potomac.

Even in the 1970s, when I was a kid, few homes had air conditioning. Our windows were always open. At night, you could hear neighbors talking, a distant baby crying and Pirates announcer Bob Prince calling a game on somebody's porch radio: "He missed it by a gnat's eyelash!" In the mornings, I'd wake early to the sound of chirping birds. I could smell the cool dew outside my window and the toast and scrambled eggs my father was cooking in

But air conditioning has ruined such sensations. In the neighborhood where I grew up, every house is sealed these days. All you hear outside is the constant hum of air conditioners running.

Air conditioning has changed our architecture. Homes used to have high ceilings, crossventilation and large hallways to dissipate heat. Now we live in efficient ranches or overdesigned suburban monstrosities that put the porch in the back and the garage in the front. Commercial buildings used to have windows that opened, but that isn't necessary anymore. Today's glass-plated buildings are designed to keep the light and air out, so that we are oblivious to whatever season it may be.

But these annoyances are nothing compared to the way air conditioning has changed Washington. Before air conditioning, federal agencies routinely shut down when the heat got too high, giving them that much less time to think up ways to spend our money.

When Congress got air conditioning in the late 1920s, America took a turn for the worse. Before air conditioning, Washington was empty from mid-June to September. Now, free from worries about the heat and humidity, our Republican Congress is finding all kinds of opportunities to renege on their promises to fix health care, lower our taxes and unleash

Perhaps if we shut off their taxpayer-funded AC they might be more prone to come to a much-needed consensus?

We've had enough of their hot air. Maybe a dose of Mother Nature's hot air will bring them to their senses.

TRUMP'S TRANSGENDER BAN IS A DISGUSTING POLITICAL TRICK

President Donald Trump, who went to a private military announced Wednesday that he was banning transgender Americans from serving in the military, possibly expelling thousands who are already serving.

John McCain languished in North Vietnamese prison camps, has made one of the most appallingly cynical calculations of his appalling cynical presidency.

In a series of Tweets, and apparently without apprising the Pentagon, Trump

"After consultation with my generals and military experts, please be advised that the United States Government will not accept or allow transgender individuals to serve in any capacity in the U.S. military," Trump wrote. "Our military must be focused on decisive and overwhelming victory and cannot be burdened with the tremendous medical costs and disruption that transgender in the military would entail."

It rapidly became apparent, however, that when Trump talks about "overwhelming victory," what he actually means is shoring up his base in the Rust Belt states he won or narrowly won in 2016 (including my home state of Pennsylvania.).

Speaking to the online news service Axios, an "administration official" quickly laid bare this dysfunctional White House's true motivations for the ban:

"This forces Democrats in Rust Belt states like Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin to take complete ownership of this issue," the unnamed official told White House reporter Jonathan Swan. "How will blue-collar voters in these states respond when senators up for re-election in 2018 like [Sen.] Debbie Stabenow [of Michigan] are forced to make their opposition to this a key plank of their campaigns?"

Even by the odious standards of this administration, that's a politically disgusting calculus and a morally repugnant argument to make.

As The Washington Post's Greg Sargent reports, citing a RAND Corp. study, about 4,000 transgender Americans now serve in the military. Their blood, one assumes, is just as red as any other soldier's. And they serve, one presumes, just as proudly as any other soldier. The only difference being one of gender identity.

Trump's about-face (surely, he remembers the term from his years at New York Military Academy) reverses an Obama administration policy.

Defense Secretary James Mattis, who supports trans service, and who, as Slate reports, "vigorously lobbied" against a narrowly defeated amendment barring the military from providing transition-related medical services to trans soldiers, was conducting his own review of the policy.

That review was supposed to be completed in December, as The Post reported. And it's not clear why Trump put it on the fast track. Nor is it clear, as Slate notes, which 'generals and military experts" were pushing for a ban on trans service.

As Slate reported, the trans policy formulated by former Defense Secretary Ash Carter enjoyed "broad"support," particularly in the wake of the successful lifting of the "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" policy that barred gay and lesbians from serving openly. In June, Mattis imposed a six-month delay, citing, per Slate, the "views of the military leadership and of the senior civilian officials now arriving" in the Defense

Trump was also facing external pressure from conservative activists, such as the Family Research Center, to undo the Obama-era policy.

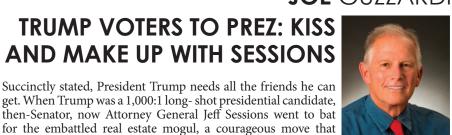

Still, there is no evidence to suggest, as Trump claims, that transgender service imposes unreasonable costs on the military. A 2014 journal article indicates that the opposite is true. Nor is there any deleterious effect on unit morale or cohesion which was the same ridiculous argument made to keep women out of certain military

The only answer, sadly, is naked politics. And that's an insult to every service member who has pledged to defend the Constitution that protects all Americans, including the transgender ones whom Trump so cruelly targeted with his heartless announcement.

TRUMP VOTERS TO PREZ: KISS AND MAKE UP WITH SESSIONS

get. When Trump was a 1,000:1 long- shot presidential candidate, then-Senator, now Attorney General Jeff Sessions went to bat for the embattled real estate mogul, a courageous move that estranged him from most of his congressional colleagues. Sessions was drawn to Trump because of his strong immigration enforcement platform. Since Trump's election, much of his immigration agenda, including most prominently the wall, has been stalled. President Trump has waffled

Under the new administration's leadership and prompted by President Trump's executive orders that gave broader authority to agents, Immigration and Customs $Enforcement's \, stepped-up \, removals \, have \, led \, to \, a \, sharp \, decline \, in \, illegal \, border \, crossings.$ ICE has arrested more than 41,300 aliens since President Trump's inauguration and through April 29, a 38 percent increase from the same period in 2016. Nearly 75 percent of the arrested aliens have convictions for violent crimes that include homicide, rape, kidnapping and assault. The AG's next removal targets are criminal aliens harbored in on several immigration pledges, too, like ending deferred action for childhood arrivals,

DACA, and tightening up on employment-based temporary visas. Only Sessions' vigorous commitment to internal enforcement - vigorous at least when compared to previous administrations – has saved President Trump from an open revolt championed

Sessions has overseen the escalated campaign to remove aliens, especially criminals, but also as Department of Homeland Security John Kelly stated in February anyone illegally present.

But the recent dust-up between President Trump and Sessions threatens all the AG has accomplished. In, of all places, a New York Times interview, President Trump excoriated Sessions for recusing himself from the Russia investigation, and piled on when he said that he would never have appointed the Alabama senator had he known beforehand his intentions. The media, always eager to stir up trouble, made much of President Trump's criticism, and futilely hoped that Sessions would resign.

President Trump can count on one hand his Capitol Hill friends, and last week he called out GOP leaders for their failure to get on board. In a series of frustrated tweets, President Trump wrote that it is "very sad" that Republicans "do very little to protect their president," including those in Congress during the 2016 election who he carried "over the line on my back."

Although President Trump didn't name names, top on his list should be Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell and House Speaker Paul Ryan. McConnell, during his 30-year Senate career, has supported more overseas workers, and been weak on ending amnesty enticements. Ryan isn't much better, and is a particularly strong refugee resettlement advocate. McConnell and Ryan should be President Trump's staunchest advocates, but they're more aligned with the Democratic opposition.

President Trump is the nation's first dogless chief executive since William McKinley, 1897-1901. Without a pet pooch, President Trump needs to keep his friends close. Sessions' credentials as an ally are impeccable, and President Trump is foolish to publicly malign him.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: RICHARD THOMAS SOKOL CASE NO. 17STPB04667

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of RICHARD THOMAS

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by MARY SOKOL in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELEŚ.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that MARY SOKOL be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act . (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 08/30/17 at 8:30AM in Dept. 79 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

CITY OF SIERRA MADRE

Subject:

The City of Sierra Madre MUNICIPAL CODE TEXT AMENDMENT 17-03 – USES RELATED TO MARIJUANA

Applicant: Project Location: City of Sierra Madre Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California

On July 25, 2017 the City Council of the City of Sierra Madre introduced for second reading Ordinance No. 1388 recommending adoption of Municipal Code Text Amendment 17-03. This summary is published pursuant to Government Code Section 36933(c)(1) and a full and complete certified copy of the text of Ordinance 1388 is available at the Sierra Madre City Manager's office located at City of Sierra Madre City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA. Ordinance 1388 becomes effective on August 27, 2017. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at (626) 355-7138.

The purpose of MCTA 17-03 is to establish local control measures to prohibit the issuance of any license or entitlement for the commercial cultivation and dispensation of marijuana products in the city, whether for medical or nonmedical purposes, and to regulate personal marijuana uses. State law allows persons at least 21 years of age to cultivate up to six marijuana plants for personal use inside a private residence or inside an enclosed and secure accessory structure provided that no person utilize lighting that exceeds 1,200 watts, employs an electric generator, or uses gas products while cultivating marijuana indoors, and that such use shall not be detectible by the olfactory senses from the public right of way or other private property, and that such accessory structure does not displace required parking. The personal outdoor cultivation of marijuana plants upon the ground of a private residence is prohibited in all zones and specific plans throughout the City of Sierra Madre.

At the meeting on June 15, 2017, the Planning Commission conducted a public hearing and recommended to the City Council adoption of MCTA 17-03.
