HEAT WAVE TO CONTINUE ANOTHER WEEK

Be Red Cross Ready

Heat Wave Safety Checklist

In recent years, excessive heat has caused more deaths than all other weather events, including floods. A heat wave is a prolonged period of excessive heat, often combined with excessive humidity. Generally temperatures are 10 degrees or more above the average high temperature for the region during summer months, last for a long period of time and occur with high humidity as well.

Know the Difference

Excessive Heat Watch-Conditions are favorable for an excessive heat event to meet or exceed local Excessive Heat Warning criteria in the next 24 to 72 hours.

Excessive Heat Warning-Heat Index values are forecast to meet or exceed locally defined warning criteria for at least 2 days (daytime highs=105-110° Fahrenheit).

Heat Advisory-Heat Index values are forecast to meet locally defined advisory criteria for 1 to 2 days (daytime highs=100-105°

How can I prepare?

☐ Listen to local weather forecasts and stay aware of upcoming temperature

- ☐ The heat index is the temperature the body feels when the effects of heat and humidity are combined. Exposure to direct sunlight can increase the heat index by as much as 15° F.
- ☐ Discuss heat safety precautions with members of your household. Have a plan for wherever you spend time— home, work and school—and prepare for the possibility of power outages.
- ☐ Check the contents of your emergency preparedness kit in case a power outage
- ☐ Know those in your neighborhood who are elderly, young, sick or overweight. They are more likely to become victims of excessive heat and may need help.
- ☐ If you do not have air conditioning, choose places you could go to for relief from the heat during the warmest part of the day (schools, libraries, theaters,
- ☐ Be aware that people living in urban areas may be at greater risk from the effects of a prolonged heat wave than are people living in rural areas.
- Get trained in first aid to learn how to
- ☐ Ensure that your animals' needs for water and shade are met.

What should I do

during a heat wave?

☐ Listen to a NOAA Weather Radio for critical undates from the National Weather Service (NWS) ☐ Never leave children or pets alone in

- Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of fluids even if you do not feel thirsty.
- Avoid drinks with caffeine or alcohol.
- $\hfill \square$ Eat small meals and eat more often. □ Avoid extreme temperature changes.
- ☐ Wear loose-fitting, lightweight, lightcolored clothing. Avoid dark colors because they absorb the sun's rays.
- ☐ Slow down, stay indoors and avoid strenuous exercise during the hottest part of the day.
- ☐ Postpone outdoor games and activities. ☐ Use a buddy system when working in
- $\hfill \square$ Take frequent breaks if you must work
- Check on family, friends and neighbors who do not have air conditioning, who spend much of their time alone or who are more likely to be affected by the
- ☐ Check on your animals frequently to ensure that they are not suffering from

Recognize and care for heat-

Heat cramps are muscular pains and spasms that usually occur in the legs or abdomen caused by exposure to high heat and humidity and loss of fluids and electrolytes. Heat cramps are often an early sign that the body is having trouble with the heat.

Heat exhaustion typically involves the loss of body fluids through heavy sweating during strenuous exercise or physical labor in high heat and humidity.

- ☐ Signs of heat exhaustion include cool moist, pale or flushed skin; heavy sweating; headache; nausea; dizziness; weakness; and exhaustion.
- Move the person to a cooler place. Remove or loosen tight clothing and apply cool, wet cloths or towels to the skin. Fan the person. If the person is conscious, give small amounts of cool water to drink. Make sure the person drinks slowly. Watch for changes in
- ☐ If the person refuses water, vomits or begins to lose consciousness, call 9-1-1 or the local emergency number.
- Heat stroke (also known as sunstroke) is a life-threatening condition in which a person's temperature control system stops orking and the body is unable to cool
- ☐ Signs of heat stroke include hot, red skin which may be dry or moist; changes in consciousness; vomiting; and high body
- ☐ Heat stroke is life-threatening. Call 9-1-1 or the local emergency number
- $\hfill \square$ Move the person to a cooler place. Quickly cool the person's body by giving If needed, continue rapid cooling by applying ice or cold packs wrapped in a cloth to the wrists, ankles, groin, neck and armpits.

LOCAL GIRL SCOUT ENGINEERS LEGO PROGRAM FOR THE SIERRA MADRE PUBLIC LIBRARY

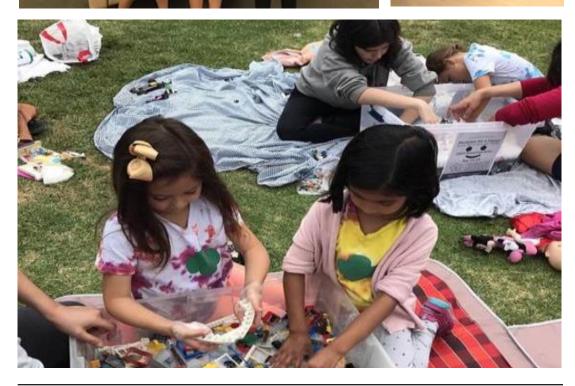

When local Girl Scout, Maya Ledesma, requested to complete her Gold Award Project at the Sierra Madre Public Library, no one could have imagined she'd reach such great heights.

Along with local Daisy Troop 5871 from Sierra Madre Elementary, Maya collaborated with the Library and local schools to hold a LEGO donation drive, cleaned and sorted the donations, and started a weekly Friday LEGO program which attracted nearly 600 people during 9 programs this summer.

This isn't the end for Maya and the Library LEGOs. The weekly LEGO Play Day has become a programming staple and will continue every Friday throughout the school year with new hours. Congratulations to Maya and the Troop 5871 for a job well done.

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

"Keep your face to the sunshine and you will never see the shadows. It's what sunflowers do!"

Helen Keller

"Advice from a sunflower: Be outstanding in your field. * Hold your head high * Spread seeds of happiness * Feed the birds * Think solar * Keep on the sunny side * Grow Up!"

We were walking past the Sierra Madre community garden, next to Memorial Park on Mariposa, the other day, my favorite walking buddy and flower enthusiast, John, and I, when we spotted these sunflowers. We took their picture just before our part of the world was engulfed in the heat wave from you know where! There were several and all of them were over 6' tall! Now these are sunflowers, friends and neighbors! The kind van Gogh went wild over. He painted two series of sunflower pictures; the one executed in Paris in 1887 shows his sunflowers lying on the ground while the second set, the ones we're most familiar with, shown in a vase, were painted in Arles. Here's something interesting: sunflowers can grow to 16' high!

Anyway, the rest of the garden looked pretty much like everybody's garden does now, sort of like somebody needs to pull out all those squash vines and deal with the weeds. About all anybody has left this time of year is zucchini, which keeps cranking out those squash whether you want them or not. My tomato is still putting out green leaves and yellow blossoms so I gave it some tomato food and said, "go for it, big guy!" The tomatoes have been awesome. I gave some to a friend and he created a bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwich that was truly a work of art. He sent me pictures. The giant pumpkins down the street are going to be the biggest ones ever! Halloween is coming and the Creative Arts Group's 6th Annual Scarecrow Festival will start in early October. You can attend their free Scarecrow Workshop on Sept. 16th. Give them a call: 626-355-8350

Our daughter, Leah, showed up at lunch last Sunday with her newest cookbook, "Thug Kitchen, eat like you give a ----, The Official Cookbook." We were falling off our chairs laughing. This #1 New York Times Bestseller is put out, believe it or not, by the Rodale Press, which specializes in wholesome diet, exercise and inspirational literature. They quote Julia Child on the first page, "The only real stumbling block is fear of failure. In cooking you've got to have a what-thehell attitude." Which she certainly did, i.e., dropping the chicken on live television, picking it up off the floor, dusting it off and continuing the recipe...which, apparently is (sadly) only a rumor. She did drop a potato pancake once, picked that up and continued to cook it, which she readily admitted, but she adamantly denied ever dropping a chicken and continuing to cook it. Anyway, The Thug Kitchen is available from Amazon.com and is actually quite a fine (though punctuated with expletives) cookbook. I sent one to our Texas daughter and she was laughingly shocked... which is good. It's too hot to cook but a salad with avocado, cold asparagus, tomatoes and maybe some playwrightdd hard boiled egg slices would be nice.

Took a look at T-Neer and the sign in the window asks us to be patient while the new people refurbish. The big banner overhead says, "Toro Coffee & Tea -Spanish Coffee Bar & Tea House Fusion." They'll be open at 7 a.m. when they're ready and I'm looking forward to a new business here in town. Wish somebody would rent the storefront next door which was a bicycle shop.

Thinking about our current heat wave brought some old songs to mind... remember these?

"Summer in the City" – The Lovin' Spoonful – 1966 - We met John Sebastian once at the old Ash Grove and he admired our baby, Crissy.

"Hot Fun In The Summertime" – Sly & The Family Stone – 1967

"Good Day Sunshine" – The Beatles – 1966 "Summer Breeze" – Seals & Crofts – 1971

And who could ever forget Marilyn Monroe singing, "We're Havin' A Heat Wave" in the movie, "There's No Business Like Show Business." I won't say what year, it's that old! Stay hydrated out there and if you can give to help out the folks in Houston, that would be good. World Vision has a page and it's easy to do.

Pet of the Week

Buddy (A442504) is a tiny 2-month-old kitten looking for a new best friend. This young brown and white tabby is full of energy and loves to play with toys. She grew up in a foster home with her kitten siblings and a small dog. She can be a bit shy at first, but quickly becomes a social and curious girl. She's available for adoption with her three littermates in the Neely Cat Center at Pasadena Humane Society.

The adoption fee for cats is $75. All cats are spayed or neutered, microchipped, and vaccinated before being adopted.

New adopters will receive a complimentary health-andwellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at (626) 792-7151 to ask about A442504, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email. Directions and photos of all pets can be found at pasadenahumane.org.

ARCADIA

Sierra Madre-Arcadia-Altadena Pasadena-

DRAFT DISTRICT MAPS ARE AVAILABLE FOR PUBLIC COMMENT

August 28, 2017 - In accordance with the California Voting Rights Act (CVRA) and AB 350, the City of Arcadia has released proposed district maps as part of the transition to district based elections. The drawing of City Council districts is regulated by state and federal law, and districts must be drawn to account for equal population according to the latest federal census data. In establishing the boundaries for the districts, the City may give consideration to the following factors:

- Topography;
- Geography;
- Cohesiveness, Contiguity, Integrity, and
- Compactness of Territory; and Community of Interest of the Districts.

The draft maps are available for review on the City's website at www.ArcadiaCA.gov/districts. The community is invited to provide input on the draft maps at the next scheduled public hearing on September 7, 2017 at 6:00PM at Arcadia City Hall located at 240 W. Huntington Drive. Additional comments may be submitted to the City via email to mbruckner@ArcadiaCA.gov.

Per the CVRA and AB 350, the City must complete the transition to district based elections by October 2017; however, the implementation of district based elections will begin with the next General City Council

THE ARCADIA CITY COUNCIL HAS TAKEN ACTION TO CONSIDER TRANSITIONING TO A DISTRICT-BASED VOTING SYSTEM TO SELECT ITS CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS, REPLACING ITS CURRENT AT-LARGE ELECTION SYSTEM.

On June 6, 2017, the City of Arcadia ("City") received a letter from Kevin L. Shenkman of the law firm of Shenkman & Hughes. The letter asserts that the City's current citywide (or "at-large") voting system is not in Code § 14025 et seq.) ("CVRA"). The letter demands that the City transition from at-large to district-based demand is not met.\

protections and avoid potentially costly legal exposure in the event of a CVRA challenge, this process must be completed within a short 90-day window.

Initiating the process does not require that the City compliance with the California Voting Rights Act (Elec. convert to district-based elections. The City Council must subsequently adopt an ordinance to accomplish that result. By remaining within the timing constraints City Council elections and threatens litigation if that of the safe-harbor statute, the City will limit its exposure to potential litigants if it ultimately transitions

KRIKORIAN THEATRE BEING SOLD TO STUDIO UPGRADED HIGH-BACK RECLINING SEATS SET TO BE INSTALLED IN THE COMING MONTHS!

Last week, Krikorian Theatres reached an agreement theatre is a transition to a reserved seating system, to sell their theatre in Old Town Monrovia (along with theatres that they owned in Redlands and Downey) to a company based in Texas called Studio Movie Grill. City staff has had discussions with representatives from Studio Movie Grill (SMG), and while SMG operates primarily out of Texas, it appears improvement and the installation of high-back the company is preparing for a big expansion push into California. At this point in time, they have only one theatre in California, located in Simi Valley, and with this recently completed transaction, their presence in the Golden State will be expanded to include Redlands, Downey, and Monrovia.

In a bit of exciting news for Monrovia, during our discussions with SMG representatives, we did lay the groundwork for a variety of improvements and enhancements that SMG plans on making at our customer movie-watching experience downtown theatre, an overview of which includes the following:

significant renovations of the existing theatre

The first change that patrons will see at Monrovia's available in the coming weeks!

whereby patrons will be able to purchase a specific seat for the movie that they are going to watch.

Moving forward, SMG representatives will be working with the City on initial movie theatre upgrade plans that involve an exterior façade reclining seats

The exterior façade improvement will be coordinated through the City's existing approval processes, which includes an assessment of the new signage by the Historic Preservation Commission In addition, the new seats that will be installed are going to decrease overall seating capacity in the theatre, but will contribute to an enhanced SMG hopes to have the initial upgrade complete in time for the opening of Star Wars: The Last Jedi, SMG will be working to coordinate several which is set to be released on December 15, 2017 More news about this exciting transition will be

EAGLE SCOUT RECGONITION

On Thursday, August 24th, 2017, Joseph De Francisco achieved the rank of Eagle Scout from Boy Scout Troop 147 in Monrovia, California. This journey began at the age of five when Joseph was a cub scout with Troop 136. As he moved up in rank and into Boy Scouts, he has learned many valuable life and leadership lessons while earning over 34 merit badges, both religious medals, serving in his community and camping and hiking in the snow, on the beach, in the desert, on rivers rafting and even on trains to Camp Baker in Oregon.

For his Eagle Scout project, Joseph De Francisco organized his friends and fellow troop members to build and plant a community vegetable garden in the city of Monrovia. His goal along with Pastor Neil Tadken was to help the growing homeless population in the city of Monrovia. Using skills he learned in the welding, carpentry and gardening merit badges, he constructed, sanded, stained and waterproofed the planter as well as created a water drip system for the planter using the plumbing skills learned in the home maintenance badge. He implemented his leadership skills to organize fellow scouts on various work days to complete the project. He also used skills learned in the communications and personal finance badges to elicit funds for the project and to collect and utilize donations from local church members.

As a Boy Scout, a citizen of Monrovia and a faithful member of his church Fellowship Monrovia, Joseph De Francisco has volunteered in many ways. As an avid baseball player, one of his favorite forms of volunteering has been working with the physically and mentally disabled baseball players on the Challenge Little League team. Another favorite volunteer opportunity that Joseph enjoys on a weekly basis is helping at his church's youth group by leading worship time through song and prayers. Joseph enjoyed earning badges but the three he utilizes almost on a weekly basis are the Theatre, Music and Cooking badges. When Joseph is not camping or playing baseball, he is either at rehearsal for an upcoming musical production with Center Stage Inc., singing with Foothill Academy of Vocal Arts Festive Choir or taking culinary art lessons from Chef Scot Daffron at the Boys and Girls Club Joseph's favorite leadership position was Senior Patrol Leader and Assistant SPL. He was able to use his creative leadership abilities to organize camping trips, meetings and interactive ways to teach lashings, knots and first aid. He often incorporated relay games and team work to encourage the scouts to work together and hone their own leadership skills.

Joseph De Francisco was highly recommended for the Eagle Scout Award by his scout master, his pastor, his church youth group leader, several of his teachers, his baseball coach, his employer and fellow Eagle Scouts. The Eagle award will be presented to Joseph De Francisco on Oct. 18th, 2017 at the Court of Honor Ceremony.

AN EVENING WITH BILL NYE THE SCIENCE GUY & CO-AUTHOR GREGORY MONE

Presentation/Booksigning for Jack and the Geniuses Book 2: In the Deep Blue Sea

September 14 at 7 PM, Flintridge Bookstore & Coffeehouse is thrilled to welcome BILL NYE the Science Guy and co-author GREGORY MONE for a presentation and signing of In the Deep Blue Sea, Book 2 in their New York Times bestselling Jack and the Geniuses series (for readers grades 3-7).

THIS IS A TICKETED EVENT. Your preordered book purchase provides an entry ticket for one person. If you buy a book, $5 entry tickets are available to you for up to 4 additional people. Orders can be placed over the phone, but you must pick up your ticket by 3 PM on September 14th.

The Jack and the Geniuses series combines realworld science along with a mysterious adventure that will leave kids guessing until the end, making the books ideal for STEM education.

In the second installment, In the Deep Blue Sea, Jack, his genius siblings Ava and Matt, and inventor Dr. Hank Witherspoon travel to the Hawaiian island home of Ashley Hawking, a technology billionaire. Hawking and engineer Rosa Morris have built a revolutionary electricity plant that harvests energy from the deep ocean, but someone has been sabotaging the project.

In their search for the culprit, Jack and crew navigate an unusual world of characters and suspects, including Hawking and her obnoxiously intelligent son, Steven; a family of surfers who accuse the billionaire of trespassing on sacred land; an ex-Navy SEAL with a fondness for cat photos; and a cigar-chomping man who calls himself the Air-Conditioning King of Hawaii.

Readers will learn about the mysteries of the deep Parking is in the rear of the store.

NEW BOOK PROVIDES HELP FOR TODAY'S PARENTS & STUDENTS

Fall brings the familiar sounds of children playing on the playground. The sounds of bells ringing as students head back to the place that they left a few short months ago. While parents hustle to take advantage of back-to-school sales. It Is rite of passage that goes back as far as anyone came remember—it's the opening of school.

As the students traverse through the halls of the various types of school schools, one question is abound, does this school place my child in the best position to be successful? Moreover, what went into making the decision on deciding on a school is as varied as the different types of flowers that came be found on a Rose Parade float.

"I have never met a parent that does not want to help their child," said Kenneth Banks, author of the new book, Ask the Counselor: A Parent's and Student's Toolkit for Successfully Navigating through the K-12 Schools and Beyond. "Unfortunately," he continued, "Most parents don't know how to help their children when it comes to helping them achieve a quality education."

According to Banks, a retired guidance counselor, just about every parent is in search of a "good" school for their child. Exactly what constitutes a "good" is not easy to define. "Choosing a good preschool, primary or elementary school is not a science. Selecting a good secondary school, be it, middle school, intermediate school or junior high school, is equally important as finding a good high school. The term "good school" is a loaded one. There is good in every school. You just need to know where and for what to look. "Banks said.

Helping parents at that question and many others was the motivation for Banks to write, Ask the Counselor: A Parent's and Student's Toolkit for Successfully Navigating through the K-12 Schools and Beyond. In the book, that will be available in early October, Banks points out that public education is an enormous bureaucracy.

"In California, where I reside, Californians have chosen to spend, by law, a minimum of 39% of the state's budget on education. Public school funding is the largest program in the state budget, receiving more than 40 percent of the state's general fund resources. "According to Banks, The 2012-13 state budget included $38 billion for kindergarten through grade twelve (K-12) education. Overall spending for California public schools was about $68 billion in 2013 when federal funds and other funding sources were added. The amount of money spent on public education in California is more than the gross national product of many of the world's industrialized countries.

Transforming a gargantuan bureaucracy such as the public school system in the United States is not very practical Banks said he believes. He points out if a parent knows how to successfully navigate the school system, or work the system; it can be extremely and community.

"I am convinced that the educational system in the United States is too large to reform, although many have tried." Banks writes. Some of the many ideas that have been tried by various educational reformers in the early 21st century include: Increasing the school day or school year: increased after-school tutoring: reduce class sizes; improved training for teachers: creation of publically funded charter schools; On-Line Schools; and allow for school choice.

In a parent's quest to identify a "good" school for their child, Banks said, "In the parental quest to identify a "good" school, research has shown that parental expectations for children's academic achievement predict educational outcomes more than do other measures of parental involvement, such as attending school events. It really isn't the school that is the biggest factor in predicting student academic achievement. Parents' expectations influence child outcomes through multiple pathways.

He points out that parental expectation are more likely to affect their children when parent-child relationships are characterized by closeness and warmth. Parental expectations directly affect student outcomes. In addition, families with high educational aspirations for their children provide more out-ofschool learning opportunities for them. Students who reported that their parents expected them to attend college had better attendance and more positive attitudes toward school, according to one study. Parental expectations also affect the child's own aspirations and expectations; for instance, studies suggest that parent expectations for their children's academic attainment have a moderate to strong influence on students' own goals for postsecondary education. Further, both sets of expectations are moderated by characteristics of the parent, child, heat wave we've been having these past couple of weeks, I am quickly reminded of what a ridiculous notion that is, in light of what is going on in Houston, Texas right now.

SEARCH DOG FOUNDATION DEPLOYS IN RESPONSE TO HURRICANE HARVEY

and the clothes on my back, amongst hundreds of others whose homes were engulfed beneath Hurricane Harvey's fierce flood waters.

Indeed, any time I am tempted to complain, all I have to do is look around me and realize that there is someone else suffering far and away worse circumstances than my own.

I will say that if there is one good thing that can be extrapolated from the deadly disaster that was reeked upon the citizens of southeast Texas this past week, it is the fact that there are thousands of people from all around the country who have taken it upon themselves to run to the rescue.

Among those who've volunteered are the dear and devoted people at Search Dog Foundation, a group that makes it their mission to lend a helping hand (or paw, as it were) to those in need of their

Some of you may remember an article I wrote about this awesome organization a year or so ago, wherein I shared stories of their unrelenting dedication and willingness to be of service to folks think of a better example than that of the current aftermath of Hurricane Harvey.

On Friday, August 25, Tropical Storm Harvey was upgraded to hurricane status, made landfall with a vengeance in Houston Texas, and became the first of it's magnitude to do so on US soil since Wilma hit the Florida peninsula in 2005.

Over the weekend, Harvey continued to pummel Houston and the nearby communities, killing 33 people and inuring countless others in it's path. No one in the vicinity could possibly have been properly prepared to withstand Harvey's hard hit, homeless by the enormity of it's impact.

During the nightmarish moments, hours jurisdictions all went immediately to work, rescuing people and saving lives. But the local agencies were overwhelmed in short order, with complete communities barely keeping their heads above water.

Many of the victims were (and potentially still are) trapped in their homes, on their rooftops, in their cars, and even in trees with their survival depending fully upon someone to come to their rescue. In many cases, only a trained canine would have the accessibility to reach trapped individuals, and that is where the Search Dog Foundation has focused their efforts.

Search Dog Foundation (SDF) is

When I am tempted to complain about the intense the leading volunteer rescue response organization in the US that uses trained rescued canines to seek out and retrieve victims during and after a disaster. With the lessons learned from Hurricane Katrina and a number of other past disasters, both natural I could be sitting on a mat on the floor of a public and unnatural, SDF is confident in the skills of the make-shift shelter with nothing more than my dog 14 Canine Disaster Search Teams they deployed in response to Hurricane Harvey.

While it is sometimes challenging to get timely updates from the field during a deployment as serious and major as this one, SDF promises to continue updating their Deployment Report page, which can be viewed on one of their website pages. Here is the URL link to that page: searchdogfoundation.org/hurricane-harvey.

As you can imagine, deploying 14 trained canine rescue teams in response to a major disaster is no small task, and even just the basic costs associated with such an on-taking can be exorbitant. SDF does have it's loyal supporters, many of whom have proven to be consistent givers throughout the years since they began operations in 1995.

However, the immensity of their current project is such that SDF is appealing to any and all who are able and willing to donate to their worthy cause, and I personally decided I wanted to be a part of ensuring that their teams have everything they need to carry out their mission.

I may not be able to physically go and assist in the who've fallen victim to disaster. Well I honestly can't rescue effort myself, but I can be a part of making the rescue of many victims possible. I found it easy to take part in SDF's mission by donating a money gift to help purchase food and other supplies needed for their teams to provide their unique brand of assistance to the desperate souls they will be able to

All I had to do was visit the webpage highlighted above and click on the "donate today" link. By giving a money gift, I feel I am coming alongside the good folks at Search Dog Foundation, and I'm making an appeal to my readers to do the same. Are you willing to get on board and do your part to help indeed an estimated 30,000 have been rendered SDF help the victims of Hurricane Harvey? I hope physical and mental effect produced by yoga. "Why does it work?" they asked. How does it work so well? My simple answer is energy.

Did you know each and every practice has an effect on you? Depending on the kind of practice, the body and mind can end up invigorated or completely calm and relaxed. Yoga Teachers really are artists weaving in techniques and creating practices for a multitude of reasons: balance, calm, energy, focus, creativity, or healing. It's interesting to practice with different teachers and different styles just to find out what the effects are of the practice. As both lab rat and observer, we can learn a lot. Every practice creates an effect or feeling at the end.

As you continue in your yoga practice, more layers of the onion are peeled away and the subtleties of how you're changing can seep into your awareness.

friends You might gravitate toward a specific practice tried yoga for the because it makes you more productive during your work day or because it grounds you during times of upheaval. It becomes important to observe this about yourself. Once you know, you have the ability to practice yoga that's right for you and supports you in all areas of your life. And conversely, stay away from practices that aren't ideal for your body, your mental or emotional state, or your spiritual health.

Next time you are practicing or attending class, place your point of view in both the experience of one who is practicing and one who is observing. See what you notice. How does your day go after practice? We have a few great workshops coming up at Yoga Madre, one of them just on THIS topic... "Unfold the Beauty of Practice." I am very protective of my mind. I am careful with what I read, listen to, and watch. And still, it's a challenge! I recently read a social media post written by a young, single mother and it bugged me. It bothered me because it affirmed a negative view of men and the possibility of finding authentic, empowered love.

Here is a quote from her much longer post: "... that leaves us at this juncture where women who have done the work and are ready to love and be loved at a level that supports continued

WE'D LIKE TO INTRODUCE YOU TO SAVOR THE FLAVOR'S MADELINE ROMO.

Madeline, can you briefly walk us through your story - how you started and how you got to where you are today.

Established in 1998, Savor the Flavor has been focusing on the International Fancy Food Show award winners. We decided on this venture because of our love for food and entertaining friends and family. We refer to ourselves as the Gourmet Gals! We try everything before bringing it into the shop. If it doesn't WOW us, then it doesn't get put on our shelves.

We travel all over to find all these specialty foods and gifts. We go to Las Vegas, New York, Atlanta, Chicago, San Francisco, Philadelphia (just to name a few) and attend all these international gift and food shows and bring back the best-of-the-best and the award winners... Our goal has been to find the best tasting specialty foods as well as gourmet gifts, home decor and personal luxuries and offer them to any and all who share our passion.

We're always bombarded by how great it is to pursue your passion, etc - but we've spoken with enough people to know that it's not always easy. Overall, would you say things have been easy for you?

Being that we've been in business for 19 years, we've come across some rough patches but we made it through and we always come out stronger. There have been times when the economy has left the shop pretty quiet and we needed to find a way to get out name out there and remind people to keep shopping and supporting their small towns. That's when we incorporated our loyalty program and we also reinvested a lot of time and energy into social media and branding. Every tough patch gives us a chance to build up our business and find new ways to improve.

So, as you know, we're impressed with Savor the Flavor - tell our readers more, for example what you're most proud of as a company and what sets you apart from others.

We are a family owned and operated business and we take pride in that. We also focus on customer service and our goal every day is to make every customer who walks through our door leave happier than when they walked in. We take pride in all of our products and we gift wrap all our items so it's a one-

So, what's next? Any big plans? I'm looking to try and get better with branding my business and getting a bigger and better online

CHECK-IN SERVICES THAT CAN HELP SENIORS STAY PUT

Dear Savvy Senior,

Are there any services you know of that check in on elderly seniors who live alone. I worry about my 84-year-old father falling or having a medical emergency, and not being able to get to the phone to call for help. And he won't wear a lifeline help-button.

Desperate Daughter

Dear Desperate,

Depending on where your dad lives, there are check-in call services, volunteer visiting programs, and a variety of technology options you can turn to that can help you keep tabs on him. Here are several to check into.

Daily Check-in Calls

To make sure your dad is OK every day, consider signing him up with a daily checkin call service program. These are telephone reassurance programs run by police or sheriff's departments in hundreds of counties across the country and are usually provided free of charge.

Here's how they work. A computer automated phone system would call your dad at a designated time each day to check-in. If he answers, the system would assume everything is OK. But if he didn't pick up or if the call goes to voice mail after repeated tries, you (or whoever his designee is) would get a notification call. If you are not reachable, calls are then made to backup people who've also agreed to check on your dad if necessary.

The fallback is if no one can be reached, the police or other emergency services personnel will be dispatched to his home.

To find out if this service is available in your dad's community, call his local police department's nonemergency number.

If, however, the police or sheriff's department in your dad's community doesn't provide a daily check-in call program, there are a number of companies you can turn to that offer similar sound detection that will let you know when services offered directly to consumers for under $15 per month. Some to check into include the will let you talk and listen to him. CARE senior calling program (Call-Reassurance. com), CareCheckers (CareCheckers.com) and IAmFine (Iamfine.com).

Volunteer Visiting Programs

Another option you may also want to investigate is volunteer visiting programs, which are usually run by churches, community groups, or social service agencies.

These programs provide volunteers who will visit an older adult in their home usually for an hour or two once a week, providing companionship as well as the reassurance that someone is checking in on a regular basis. They can also alert you if they notice your dad's health or living conditions start to decline.

To find out if these services are available, check with local churches or the area agency on aging near your dad – call the Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116 for contact information.

Technology Solutions

Technology also offers a number of ways to help keep your dad safe at home, and help you keep an eye on him from afar. For example, for safety and peace of mind there are medical alert systems, which provide a wearable "help button" that would allow him to call for help anytime he needed it. Some of these systems (like Bay Alarm Medical, BayAlarmMedical.com) also offer wallmounted buttons that can be placed near the floor in high fall risk areas like the bathroom or kitchen, if he didn't wear a help button.

And to help you keep daily tabs on your dad, there are wireless sensor-monitoring systems (like Silver Mother, Sen.se/silvermother) you could put in his home that will notify you if something out of the ordinary is happening; and video monitoring cameras (like the Nest Cam, Nest.com/camera) that have built-in motion and something is detected, and two-way audio that mission-ending dive into the atmosphere of Saturn's moon Titan placed the two-and-a-half ton vehicle on its path for impending destruction. Yet several mission milestones have to occur over the coming two-plus weeks to prepare the vehicle for one last burst of trailblazing science.

"The Cassini mission has been packed full of will continue to the very end of the mission as Cassini becomes Saturn's first planetary probe, sampling Saturn's atmosphere up until the last second," said Linda Spilker, Cassini project scientist from JPL. "We'll be sending data in near real time as we rush headlong into the atmosphere—it's truly a first-ofits-kind event at Saturn."

greatest shock to the survivors will be the absence of certain social services that had been taken for granted. Chief among these expectations are the ready availability of food, availability of medical care, and good sanitation and trash removal. These 3 together, when lacking, create came to depend on the modern city-society to provide these services. And since we've long depended on others in our urban setting to do these services, we've generally ceased trying to even think about how we would deal with these issues in an emergency. Hence, the predictable result after an emergency: panic, pain, disease, the City," available from Dover Press.

Health officials have long pointed out that far BUCKET TOILET more people die in the unsanitary conditions that follow a major disaster than the number of deaths from the disaster itself. If a hundred people died in the wreckage of a major urban earthquake, you could expect many hundred to a supply, untreated infection from wounds, lack of electricity for certain medical procedures, etc.

This is why everyone should learn to grow and store their own food. This is why everyone should learn basic first aid, and should store basic first aid supplies. This is why everyone should learn all aspects of basic home hygiene and sanitation, in the event that we don't have running water, a working toilet, or a functional shower or bathtub.

HOSPITAL POTTY

When I was in my teens and still living with my parents, we wondered what we'd do for a toilet if an earthquake took out the sewer lines. My mother had grown up on a farm in rural Ohio, and with no indoor plumbing until after WWII, her family used an outhouse. So she knew that if you placed a closet-like room over a deep hole, all the toilet contents would eventually decompose. But we lived in urban Pasadena where backyard outhouses were illegal. My mother, who was also a nurse, came up with a solution. She obtained a used hospital porta-potti for our emergency use. we felt confident that we were now well-prepared in the event of an earthquake. We only had to use it once when my father was sick and couldn't walk to the bathroom.

We had a small garden in a side yard where we would make compost and add horse and chicken manure to the mix. We didn't figure there was to the mix, though we were completely ignorant catalogs and on-line stores now out there. of the many ramifications thereof at the time.

The RV toilet was simply a standard plastic bucket inside a larger container. I put this RV toilet into the bathroom, and used it exclusively for a 30 day period. Even the occasional guest would use the RV toilet. Every few days it had horrendous personal living conditions. Those to be emptied, so I dug a trench out in the yard terrible conditions result because residents for that purpose. The trench was about 3 feet deep, about 2 by 5 foot wide. I covered the toilet contents each time with a layer of straw, soil, and wood shavings. Eventually, I grew an amazing tomato patch in that trench.

I described the details of this experiment in my book, "Extreme Simplicity: Homesteading in

We have also made toilets according to the manner often described in FEMA literature. We lined a plastic bucket with a plastic bag, and added a toilet seat to the top. You can buy toilet seats that snap onto a standard plastic bucket. thousand more deaths from contaminated water After each use in this system, the ideal thing to add is wood chips or shavings that you can usually obtain for free from local wood shops. When the bag is half-full, you remove and discard. If you are expecting a long time with no trash removal, you can either store these bags for future use, or - assuming you have the space bury the contents somewhere in your yard and cover after each addition.

STAY CLEAN

You should store soap in your household, and most soap will store for decades. Soap would also be a good trade article in the aftermath of a serious disaster. For long term revival, knowing how to make soap would be a valuable skill.

Lacking sufficient clean water, you could dilute vinegar or lemon juice for wiping your hands, or washing wounds.

You should also do your best to keep your clothes relatively clean and disinfected. If nothing else, shake out your clothes each day, turn them inside out, and hang them in the sun for a few

You should also do your very best to regularly It was just a chair with a pot under the seat, but wash your hands, and take a shower. Lacking a city-provided water supply, you should have stored water for such an occasion. I have also long kept a solar shower, one of those bags that you will with water and lay out in the sun. These are real life-savers. You can fill with water and take your shower outside before the sun goes down, letting the water drain into your garden. You can also any big deal about adding some human manure buy a shower booth from any of the backpacking

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

I DIDN'T WIN $750 MILLION

During a recent lottery shindig,

"Why," the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage won all that money? said, "are you so interested in that lottery?"

I flashed a gracious million-dollar smile at her.

She just stared at me, rolled her eyes and walked away. As she was walking away, she mumbled something like, "You gotta pay if you're gonna win."

Oh yeah, I thought to myself. I am sitting in my chair wondering what in the world I would do with all that money if I actually would win it when in reality I am not even playing the lottery. I just got all caught up with the idea of winning money.

Even if I did play, according to some statistics, only one person in 300 million had a chance of winning that lottery. I'm not sure how they come up with such statistics; I am rather suspicious of the whole thing.

I remember a favorite saying of the late Will Rogers, "All I know is what I read in the newspaper." That was long before all of this media electronic nonsense that we have today. I think he might change his saying something like this, "All I know is what I see on TV." Or, some of the younger group might include the Internet

I am not a skeptic, mind you, I just do not believe everything I hear or see these days. I never guess how much change I have in my pocket, I always count it. I never want to guess at anything.

Some people believe everything they hear and see on TV these days. I think most of it is just entertainment. Entertainment has become such an obsession these days that it is hard to get away from it.

We watch programs that solve problems that don't even exist. We get all excited about somebody playing some role on some fictitious TV program. Don't get me started on those reality shows!

I can remember when the TV program Dallas was very popular. They ended one season with the mysterious killing of JR. All of the media went crazy, even across Europe, wondering, "Who killed JR?" I wonder how many people stopped to think that JR was not even a real person.

I am not against winning money, I want to win as much money as I can. However, I think it is a ruse to get people's attention. Even I was watching to see who was going to win all of that money. That is exactly what they wanted.

Again, I am not a skeptic, but I wonder if that everybody was watching to see person that won all that money was a real person? who was going to win all that Or, was it some kind of ruse to get people to watch money. Even I got all caught up in the excitement and was on the edge of my seat too. television at that point? From another angle, how much did they really pay that woman to say that she

Okay, okay I admit it! I am a skeptic. But I'm a "Well," I said as soberly as possible, "what if I win skeptic with good intentions. At least I believe they all that money? Wouldn't that be tremendous?" Then are good. I just do not want to be sold a bill of goods that somebody is trying to take advantage of me.

I do not believe everything I see and hear. I do not agree with everything I see or hear these days. How in the world could you? How in the world could anybody? I try to be careful because I know not everybody has an agenda and not everybody is out to pick my pocket. It only takes one person to cause me to be very cautious about everything.

I think one of the great areas where I need to be very cautious is in religion. Religion has made many promises throughout the years that it has yet to make good on. I want something more solid than religion. Everybody is religious, one way or the other. Sometimes, I will not say always, religion is out to pick your pocket.

That is one of the reasons why I am a Christian. I do not have anything in my pocket that God would want to pick. There is nothing I have that would in any way enrich the heavenly coffers of God.

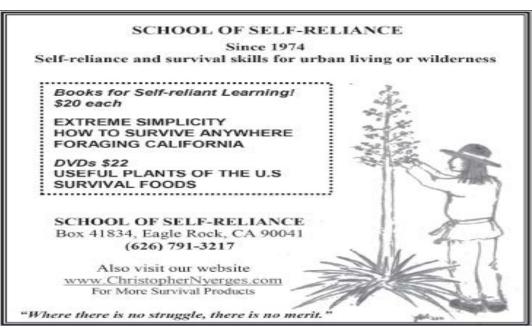

The other way around is where I am at. So much God has I desire and want in my life. I cannot enrich God, but God can enrich me beyond my wildest imagination. Believe me; my imagination can get pretty wild at times.

The only way I can really find out what God has for me is to commit myself to the systematic reading of God's word. I do not believe in that slogan, "A verse a day keeps the devil away." Read the story of the temptation of Jesus in the wilderness and you will see the devil used Scripture to attack Jesus.

I believe David in the Old Testament understood the riches that God had for his people. He wrote, "For the LORD taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation" (Psalms 149:4).

It would be wonderful to win $750 million, but after all, it is only money and eventually that money runs out. God's pleasure never runs out.

Celebrate

the work of our hands Labor Day Monday, September 4, 2017, is Labor Day, in the U.S. The holiday will be celebrated by families around the country with picnics, barbecues, road trips, and sports events. It is the last blast of the summer vacation season. Labor Day now is a federal holiday and most Government offices, schools, and, businesses are closed.

Here Are 10 Labor Day Facts.

- 1. Labor Day in Canada began in 1872 in Toronto but quickly made its way south to the U.S. Originally it began as a significant demonstration demanding rights for workers.
- 2. The first U.S. Labor Day was celebrated on Tuesday, September 5, 1882, in New York City, planned by the Central Labor Union. The Labor Day parade of about 10,000 workers took unpaid leave and marched from City Hall past Union Square uptown to 42nd Street, and ended in Wendel's Elm Park at 92nd Street and 9th Avenue for a concert, speeches, and a picnic.
- 3. Oregon was the first state to make Labor Day a holiday in 1887.
- 4. On June 28, 1894, Congress passed an act making the first Monday in September of each year a legal holiday in the District of Columbia and the territories.
- 5. What are we celebrating? The contributions and achievements of the 155 million men and women who are in the U.S. workforce.
- 6. In the late 1800's, the average American worked 12-hour days and seven-day weeks to eke out a basic living. Children as young as 5-6 years old worked in factories and mines.
- 7. The year in which the 8-hour day was firmly established was 1916 with the passage of the Adamson Act. This was the first federal law regulating hours of workers in private companies.
- 8. Traditionally people do not wear white or seersucker clothes after Labor Day.
- 9. The football season begins every year during Labor Day weekend.
- 10. Labor Day is viewed as the unofficial last day of vacation before the start of the new school year (and mourned by students all over). Stated differently, it is the Back-to-School kickoff (cheered by parents all over!).

AROUND SAN GABRIEL VALLEY

LATE ROCK N' ROLL LEGEND RITCHIE VALENS GETS HIGHWAY DESIGNATION

(SACRAMENTO) – Today, California approved "Little Richard of the Valley." Assemblymember Raul Bocanegra's (D-Pacoima) "Ritchie Valens represent ACR 23, officially naming a portion of Interstate 5 northeast San Fernando Valley after rock and roll icon Ritchie Valens. The "La Bamba" singer was raised in Pacoima before appearing on the Billboard Hot 100

39th District and the northeast San Fernando Valley," said Assemblymember Bocanegra. "His music inspired and influenced a generation of Chicano artists in our community and throughout the world. It's only fitting to name this segment of the I-5 after a Rock n' Roll Hall of Famer who grew up right here in

"The Ritchie Valens family would like to express their gratitude for the legislation to be submitted by Assemblymember Raul Bocanegra on behalf of our brother Ritchie Valens in the renaming of a section of the I-5 freeway," said Connie Valens, sister of Ritchie Valens. "Ritchie became a Rock N' Roll icon at the age 17; he's not only a Rock N' Roll pioneer, but a role model for artists and youth all over the world."

Ritchie Valens attended Pacoima Junior High School and became popular for bringing his guitar to to play at dances, gatherings, and parties throughout the northeast end of the San Fernando Valley with an up-and-coming group, "The Silhouettes." People

"Ritchie Valens represented the San Fernando Valley with honor and respect, at performances between State Route 170 and State Route 118 in the across the nation he would proudly announce he was from the valley," said Gil Rocha, who performed with Valens in The Silhouettes. "Ritchie loved the northeast San Fernando Valley community of his community, and had big plans to help young neighborhood kids."

After Ritchie was discovered in 1958 at an American "Ritchie Valens is a part of the cultural fabric of the Legion Hall in Pacoima, he recorded Come On, Let's Go and became an instant sensation, leading to an appearance on American Bandstand. He achieved even greater success with his second single, a dualsided record featuring the songs "La Bamba," and 'Donna." The record sold over a million copies.

"Ritchie's promising career ended prematurely after a tragic plane accident, but his memory lives on through his music and the cultural influences he had on society," said Assemblymember Bocanegra.

Over the coming months, the local CalTrans office will prepare both the sign design and an estimate of the production and installation costs, both of which will be paid from non-state resources. Bocanegra's office is working with family members and with nonprofits in the area to organize a dedication event that will be open to the community.

Raul Bocanegra is the Democratic Majority Whip school to sing songs for his friends. He then went on in the California State Assembly. He represents the 39th Assembly District, which includes the Los Angeles communities of Arleta, Granada Hills, Lakeview Terrace, Mission Hills, North Hollywood, began to take notice of his vocal and guitar skills, Pacoima, Shadow Hills, Sun Valley, Sunland-Tujunga, which drew large crowds, and he was dubbed as Sylmar and the City of San Fernando.

COFFEE AND CONVERSATION WITH ASSEMBLYWOMAN RUBIO

By Joan Schmidt

This past Saturday, Assemblywoman Blanca Rubio sure wowed them" at the Duarte Library. Mayor Pro Tem Fasana said, "I am a Republican and I like you"; Council Member Paras- Caraci commented,"I liked you before, but I am in love with you now." Rubio's positive energy blew me and all attendees away!

In an hour-and -a-half, we learned about this remarkable woman, how the Assembly operates and background info about various bills.

The day Elvis died, forty years ago marks the Rubio Family's arrival in California. Undocumented, her parents quickly obtained work visas and eventually the family became citizens.

Rubio attended Beaumont High School; her counselor told her to take home economics- Mexican, she'd probably just get pregnant after graduation. No, she proved him wrong, earning an Associate's Degree from East LA College and Bachelor's in Business from Azusa Pacific. Rubio worked in human resources in the Baldwin Park School District for several years and helped teachers get credentialed. A teacher's shortage brought encouragement for her to enter that field; Rubio obtained her Credential and a Master's in Education

During her tenure in human resources, Rubio was on the San Gabriel Valley Water Board. She also was a champion of keeping class sizes at a 20 to 1 ratio. As a teacher, she continued to speak in favor of a 20-1 ratio. Since Rubio wouldn't back down, she was encouraged to run for Baldwin Park School Board which she won. A conflict of interest, (One cannot teach and serve on a School Board in the same district) brought her transfer to Fontana School District. Rubio taught for thirteen years (Fontana) and was on the B.P. School Board for thirteen years.

The Assemblywoman describes herself as "Moderate" and "Progressive". Not a politician, she fights for what she believes in and won't back down no matter what pressure there is.

Rubio received a lot of flack because she voted "NO" on AB 42 (Eliminating bail.) The consensus is bail is unfair because lower-income people cannot afford it. Rubio was accused of not caring about poor people. She voted "no" because "there were too many blank spaces in the bill".

SB 10 also dealt with the bail issue; Rubio would not sign it. CA Chief Justice Tani Cantil-Sakauve also expressed concern and established a panel to study it. Governor Drown advised a vote not be taken till the judge's report on the bail system comes out in December.

Rubio also discussed the GAS Hike. She FINALLY supported the bill AFTER it was guaranteed funding would come to the San Gabriel Valley and work begun immediately on the 605 Freeway.

Rubio explained her schedule-she is in Sacramento 4 days; but here Fridays-Sundays.(After being here 30 years, that's nice to finally find out!)

Her schedule In Sacramento enables her to be at her office by 9 A.M. Mondays. She and her staff are able to review all upcoming legislation prior to the 1pm session. Most Assembly Members arrive at 1 pm!

Residents of the 48th District, be grateful- we have someone in Sacramento who is above politics, working for

REP. SCHIFF INTRODUCES AMENDMENT TO PROTECT DREAMERS

Washington, DC - Today, Rep. Adam Schiff (D-CA) announced he will be introducing an amendment to the Department of the Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act that would prohibit any funds to be used for the deportation of individuals granted deferred action under the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program, the "DREAMers." Since the creation of DACA, more than 750,000 young undocumented immigrants have been granted work permits and deportation relief. Approximately one quarter of all DACA recipients live in California.

"For many DREAMers, America is the only home they've ever known, and deporting these young people would be cruel and wrong," Rep. Schiff said. "Hundreds of thousands of young people enrolled in the DACA program because they believed in the promise of America and were recovered protection from deportation. Jeff's Book Pics By Jeff Brown

Churchill: The Power of Words by Winston Churchill & Martin Gilbert (Editor)

Winston Churchill knew the power of words. In public speeches and published books, in newspaper and magazine articles, he expressed his feelings and vision for the future. His wartime writings and speeches have fascinated generation after generation with their powerful style and thoughtful reflection. This book contains one hundred extracts from his books, articles and speeches. They range from his memories of his schooldays, to his contributions to the debates on social policy and both world wars and his efforts after 1945 to see the world a better place. The book gives, from first to last, an insight into his life and thought, Alzheimer's how it evolved, and how he made his mark on the British and world

The End of Alzheimer's: The First Program to Prevent and Reverse Cognitive Decline by Dale Bredesen

Everyone knows someone who has survived cancer, but until now no one knows anyone who has survived Alzheimer's Disease. This paradigm shifting book offers real hope to anyone looking to prevent and even reverse Alzheimer's Disease and cognitive decline. Revealing that AD is not one condition, as it is currently treated, but three, The book outlines 36 metabolic factors (micronutrients, hormone levels, sleep) that can trigger "downsizing" in the brain. The protocol shows us how to rebalance these factors using lifestyle modifications like taking B12, eliminating gluten, or improving oral hygiene. The results are impressive. Of the first ten patients on the protocol, nine displayed significant improvement with 3-6 months; since then the protocol has yielded similar results with hundreds more. This brings new hope to a broad audience of patients, caregivers, physicians, and treatment centers with a fascinating look inside the science and a complete step-by-step plan that fundamentally changes how we treat and even think about AD.

KIDS GOING AWAY TO COLLEGE?

Why You Should Include Estate

Planning in the Preparation

You may have been running around the last few weeks, getting your new college student off to school. It's exhilarating, and your heart likely is bursting at the seams. You're probably prouder than you can say, but you're a little afraid, too. How can you make sure your child is going to be safe at school, so far away from home? A new Bed Bath and Beyond matching sheet set for the dorm is great, but it doesn't provide any peace of mind. So what else can you do?

Actually, there is something, probably not yet on your to-do list, that can absolutely make a realdifference. Bring your child to a local estate planning attorney.

You're undoubtedly aware of the fact that, having graduated from high school, your kid's an adult nowmeaning that your child's going to spread his or her wings. But what is essential to remember: At 18, college students often still want Mom and Dad by their side if they get sick, but legally, decisions for medical care are theirs alone. If they were say, unconscious from a serious car accident, a parent couldn't authorize medical care without first going to court. And that costs time and money, and in the end it would still be up to a judge whether you could make decisions on your child's

We don't want to worry you, but the unfortunate reality is that, every year, some quarter of a million people between 18 and 25 wind up in the nation's hospitals, according to Forbes, and their parents are

Therefore, experts recommend that everyone over the age of 18 have a basic estate plan which includes a will or trust, a power of attorney, and medical directives that would allow someone they trust to take act on their behalf, if they aren't able to.

Here are some things to take care of as you send your kid away to college:

A FERPA Release: The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act is designed to protect college student's privacy, but it can leave parents locked out in an emergency. A properly worded release allows school officials to talk with you and release your child's records

A HIPAA Authorization: The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act was designed protect a patient's privacy. Consider having your child signing an authorization so that—just in case—any necessary doctors can talk to you about your child's condition, care, and treatment. A Durable Financial Power of Attorney: This is a legal document that allows you to take care of your child's checking or savings accounts, pay bills, etc., if the child's unable to—whether due to illness or even just location (for example, if the school is on the other side of the country).

A Durable Power of Attorney for Healthcare: Like the financial version, this allows you to handle medical decisions for your child, if your child is unable to do so.

A Will: At first glance, this may seem a little silly for the average broke college kid. But there could be a lot of hidden complexities: The average American has some 90 online accounts, for instance. Does your child have thoughts about who should manage and close down those social media accounts? Monitor emails? Who should get the Xbox or a bank account? It's also a great time in your young adult's life to instill responsibility by encouraging them to think about this early in life.

As personal family attorneys, we've been helping parents attain peace of mind for years. Feel free to reach out to us if you have questions about this topic or any other estate planning matters.

Dedicated to empowering your family, building your wealth and securing your legacy,

LOOK UP MORE OFTEN!

We we should all look up more often. Tens of millions of Americans pulled their heads out of their work and their cell phones last week to witness a rare total solar eclipse, which created an eerie midday twilight as it rolled 3000 miles across the country, spooking the birds and cows and leaving vast growds of normally crabby humans cooing and exclaiming like children. Even for those of us who had to settle for a partial eclipse, it was thrilling- a reminder that we are passengers on a rock swinging through the solar system in a celestial dance chroeographed by forces beyond our ken and our control. Awe is an uplifting emotion. It is good to feel small, to sense how brief and fragile our lives are in astronomical terms, to see that beyond the mundane lies a great mystery .Like most people,I look up too infrequently. But seeing the sky always changes my mood for the better.Look up:The heavens are full of wonders even when the moon isn't blocking the sun. Every dawn and sunset is an astonishment of gorgeous light and startling, shifting color. All day, clouds tinged with grey, pink, and orange pass over head like windblown thoughts, scudding across the canvas of depthless blue. At night, countless stars silently smolder in the black infinity, many or most of them(we now know) orbited by their own necklace of swirling planets and moons. Is anyone looking back when you look up? Why is the universe so incomprehensibly vast, with billions of galaxies, each containing billions of stars? Wondering about such things is somehow comforting, a welcome departure from the news, Twitter, and Instagram. This week,a great darkness fell upon America and it was easy to understand why an eclipse terrified the ancients who saw them as portents of doom. But then the sun returned, advising us: Light defeats darkness. This, too.shall pass. By William Falk, Editor-in-Chief

SIRI: WHAT IS OFOOTBALL'S FUTURE?

Will football someday become the world's first virtual professional sport?

With the NFL's preseason underway, high school and college players back on the practice fields, and tens of thousands of fantasy leagues conducting their annual drafts, let's put the question another way: Which will happen first: the collapse of the NFL due to a shortage of players willing to risk injury? Or the development of computer-based football so compelling and unpredictable that it actually replaces the pro game loved by millions of fans? For now, both scenarios seem far fetched—but something's gotta give. Football is being jolted as never before by both scientific and anecdotal evidence about the effects of repeated blows to the head. What could the long-term future possibly be for a sport in which, for example, 40 former pros conduct a charity golf tournament (in California this summer) to raise money for research on traumatic brain injuries? For a game in which more than 2,000 women turn to a Facebook page devoted to the health consequences faced by their loved ones employed as pro players? The Federation of State High School Associations tabulates that participation in football has fallen for the fourth straight year—with the latest seasonal drop totaling roughly 26,000 players. If the pipeline of human pro players eventually dries up, perhaps replacements will emerge from computer labs. In fact, pro football has been inching toward "virtual" status for over three decades. The crude computer efforts of the early 1980's, developed by companies such as Nintendo, have evolved into modern, high-definition versions so life-like that they are played by many NFL pros in their spare time. The NFL has enthusiastically supported this—in large part because of the license fees, but also, I believe, with an eye toward the future. The league also backs fantasy football, which continues to grow in popularity as more and more fans create and manage their own teams in computer-based leagues. The problem, of course, is that computer games and fantasy leagues depend, at least for now, on real players and real on-field results. But that might someday change.

Consider what two of my acquaintances, one a former pro player, the other an armchair fanatic, say when asked about the state of football today.

The fan explains that he never goes to games anymore—they're too expensive, too rowdy and, moreover, not as enjoyable as watching on a large-screen, high-def television. He prefers a comfy chair, with reasonably-priced snacks at hand and a computer propped on his lap to track multiple fantasy squads.

The former pro explains that if the average fan were ever to stand on the field during an NFL game he would be so sickened by the sounds of collisions and screams of pain that he would cease loving the sport. What you see on TV, he adds, are guys in helmets and pads looking very much like avatars in a video game. Football is the only sport in which you can watch a player for several seasons yet very possibly have no clue whatsoever about what he looks like in person.

To my mind, these two insightful fellows are describing the foundation for totally virtual football. The NFL could control it, the networks would cover it, and gamblers might even support it.

Given the pace at which computer science is advancing, a truly equivalent virtual game can likely be crafted in a decade's time.

Personally, I'm finding it increasingly difficult to rationalize my passion for a sport that is so clearly proving to cause lifelong suffering for its participants. I'm tired of all the dirty looks from my wife as she wonders why I so stubbornly support this game.

I've grown used to getting the scores and stats from Siri and Alexa. I suppose I'd be willing to have their colleagues play the game as well.

WHAT TRUMP SAYS VS. WHAT TRUMP MEANS

Most presidents try to avoid controversy by painstakingly parsing their words like a fifth grader conserving an allowance at the county fair. Reluctant to reflect even the hint of a whisper of a shadow of a rumpus. But Donald Trump is not most presidents. He is as singular as a smokestack in a cotton field.

The former New York City real estate developer wields words the way a butcher employs a bone saw. Sometimes revealing more than he intends, such as claiming that reporters... "don't know how to write good." Other times intentionally dropping sticks of rhetorical dynamite into various honey wagons not caring who gets splattered with what.

Our nation's rookie Chief Executive utilizes a special language that is equal parts dog whistle, miscommunication and distinctive code. And usually there's a huuuge gap between what he says and what he means. A divide that we here at Durstco have gone to great lengths to decipher so that regular citizens can follow along in a segment we like to call... What Trump Says & What Trump Means.

WILDLIFE LOSES A DEVOTED PROTECTOR

Wildlife and the conservation community suffered a tremendous loss last week when Wayne Lotter was murdered in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania. A well-known conservationist committed to ending elephant and giraffe poaching, Lotter was co-founder of the PAMS Foundation, which works for sustainable conservation solutions

352,000 elephants in the whole of Africa now. Lotter's efforts, including to educate about the extreme loss of elephant and giraffe life from massive poaching, were making an impact - 32,000 elephants and 7,000 giraffe protected. Lauded by the environmental community, but seen as a threat by wildlife traffickers, The Guardian reported that Lotter had received many death threats because of his work since he started PAMS in Tanzania in 2009. An investigation has been launched into the shooting death of Lotter, but many are speculating it was a targeted killing due to his work. Sean Willmore, president of the International Rangers Foundation (IRF), said, "It's the most likely [motive], but we'll wait to see what the police come out with. Those who are close to the game probably think there's a strong correlation that it was due to his anti-poaching efforts."

World-renowned animal advocate Dr. Jane Goodall, who called Lotter a personal hero, wrote after the news of his death, "Wayne passionately believed in the importance of involving local communities in the protection of wildlife, and through his work with PAMS he helped train hundreds of village game scouts in many parts of the country. As a result he gained the support of many of the local people, but inevitably faced strong opposition from dealers and many high level government officials. He also worked to develop an intelligence-based approach to anti-poaching that undoubtedly helped to reduce the shocking level of elephant slaughter in Tanzania."

As I wrote recently for World Ranger Day, those holding the Thin Green Line in a war against wildlife have taken on what is today some of the most dangerous work in the world. More than 1,000 park rangers and guards worldwide have been killed. IRF says 80 percent of these murders were at the hands of organized poachers and militia groups. Environmental activists and conservationists also have been murdered.

Since Lotter's murder, reports and posts from conservationists have shared a resolve to carry on the essential work of Lotter. For us on the sidelines, those of us reading about this from afar, we need to do more to help those on the frontlines. What's at stake is the loss of species, and the implications of losing species are significant and far-reaching.

Beyond the balance of ecosystems, on the most basic level, how can we live in a world where we allowed the complete destruction of the elephant, the giraffe, the rhino, the tiger, the lion? What value does Man bring to the planet if he can only destroy?

If I had a genie and a few wishes right now, I'd asked for a ten-fold outpouring of conservation resources. They would be for more sustainability solutions, to better engage local communities where elephants and other wildlife are taking tremendous losses, and to educate and help those communities become the major stakeholders in protecting their unique wildlife.

As well, resources would go towards educating the end-consumers of ivory products regarding the impacts of their purchases, to ending trophy hunting, killing the ivory trade, and killing the trafficking of wildlife. Further, resources would go towards increasing wildlife habitat and educating about the impacts of too much human population growth, while advocating for stabilizing and reducing that growth through educating people to choose smaller families - or even choosing not to reproduce. The latter because wildlife threats go well beyond poaching. Increasing human populations and the need for more space for agriculture, industry, roads, housing and other infrastructure all lead to the destruction of wildlife habitat.

Admittedly, all very idealistic, but possible. It is one way to honor the memory of Lotter and the many other wildlife warriors committed to protecting the wild world who have lost their lives in the line of duty or who are out there every day fighting the good

Condolences to Lotter's family, friends and colleagues, and to the world which has lost a much-need voice for the protection of wildlife besieged.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE TS No. 261579CA Order No.: 1456609 NOTE: THERE IS A SUMMARY OF THE INFORMATION IN THIS DOCUMENT ATTACHED TO THE COPY PROVIDED TO THE MORTGAGOR OR TRUSTOR (Pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code

YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 10/4/2006. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. A public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, check drawn by state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 to the Financial C ode and authorized to do business in this state, will be held by duly appointed trustee. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. BENEFICIARY MAY ELECT TO BID LESS THAN THE TOTAL AMOUNT DUE. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sa le date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: 261579CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return o f the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real property only. QUALITY MAY BE CONSIDERED A DEBT COLLECTOR ATTEMPTING TO COLLECT A DEBT AND ANY INFORMATION OBTAINED WILL BE USED FOR THAT PURPOSE.
