SIERRA MADRE TO CONSIDER COPS GRANT

Council will discuss accepting $100,000 to assist with SMPD Policing

At next week's City Council meeting, the council will discuss whether or not to accept the "Citizens Option for Public Safety, Supplemental Law Enforcement Service Funds" (COPS/SLESF) that have been approved by the State of California for Sierra Madre. If accepted, it will not be the first time the city has received such funds, but the need for this additional support may very well be more critical than ever before given the increase in residential burglaries in not only Sierra Madre, but surrounding cities. Sierra Madre has received the grants every year since 1996.

According to the staff report to be presented Tuesday evening, the funds, " have certain restrictions on their use, which include the fact that they must be used to support "frontline" police operations, require a public hearing as to proposed use, and that they must not supplant funds that would normally be used for police operations. These funds do not require any matching contribution from the

In the past, according to the city, nearly seventy-five percent of the funds received from this grant, will fund the city's current Community Service Officer (CSO) program. CSO's perform a variety of non-hazardous duties in support of sworn personnel, including report preparation, investigation and public education. Sierra Madre now has two CSO's working in the unit. One officer is dedicated to community outreach and social media and the other officer is assigned to uniformed position(s) in Patrol, Crime Prevention, Evidence, Administration, Investigation, Parking Enforcement or other duties within the Police Department. Additionally, the CSO Program will continue to provide focus on crime prevention and parking enforcement as well as taking some of the non-law enforcement duties away from the police officers, allowing them more time to focus on high visibility patrols and enforcement.

CITY LIKELY TO AMEND CURRENT WATER CONSERVATION PLAN

Earlier this month, the Sierra Madre City Discontinuance of Seasonal Conservation Council, after hearing from residents, decided to consider making changes in the Mandatory Water Conservation plan and amendments that have been enacted beginning in 2013. At that time, the city imposed water conservation goals for average each household, changed the method for calculating water use and adjusted the billing cycles. Later they also implemented penalties for those households that did not

The conservation targets became a bone of contention among many residents due and the customers' actual usage. to what some have described as unrealistic targets based upon the size of the home and/ or household. The imposition of a tiered billing system was also cited as being unfair by many residents and, the penalties were deemed excessive for many households. shared horror stories about exorbitant bills.

In 2016, the council revised the penalty for water consumed in excess of customers' water conservation targets. The penalty was raised from two-times the tier 1 rate to twotimes the tier 4 rate. Another issue raised by residents is the fact that the entire city is not rates' while the other half was calculated on the base year calculation. 'summer rates'.)

A recent analysis of the effectiveness of the noted that between July 2016 and July 2017 the number of households that exceeded their conservation goals had increased significantly despite the penalties. (It should be noted that California Governor Jerry Brown did not announce that the drought was 'over' until April,2017).

Water conservation is still a priority in Sierra Madre in order to restore our wells to satisfactory levels, but the council is considering the following:

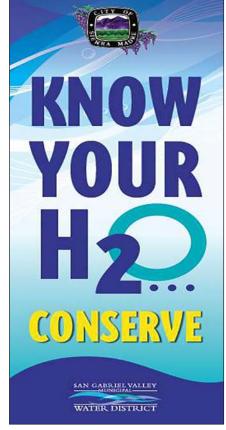

On July 9, 2013 City Council established seasonal water conservation goals. The idea was to identify seasonal water conservation goals replacing the previous "base year bi-monthly consumption" calculation. Using a summer and winter conservation target would result in a shorter base period; instead of using an average of a full year's consumption, only six months (three billing cycles) of consumption would be averaged. This would result in less variation between the consumption target

The majority of water use is consumed by landscape irrigation with up to 75% of water used for outdoor irrigation. For this reason excessive water use typically occurs during summer months when landscape irrigation demands are greater. Winter conservation At recent public meetings, residents have is driven by the shorter and cooler seasonal days resulting in lower outdoor watering requirements. Peak demand occurs in the months of June through September with up to 50% of the City's water use occurring in those 4 months. Áll residents will have their targets now based on what was previously calculated as their "summer" target all on the same 'seasonal' schedule. (Half the throughout the year. The summer target will town had their rates calculated on 'winter maintain mandatory 30% conservation over

Return to Pre-May 2016 Penalties:

In an effort to further water conservation city's conservation efforts by city staff, it was and to help the City meet State imposed conservation goals, in 2016 the City Council set a penalty for water consumed in excess of a customer's assigned water conservation goal at 2 times Tier 4 rate per billing unit used in excess of the conservation target.

The two-times tier 4 penalty went into effect July 1, 2016 and is applicable to water consumed after that date, and only applicable to the amount of water used in excess of the customer's assigned conservation goal. The intent of the resolution was to target "Super Users" in an effort to curtail water use of the com highest users in the City, Rescinding the current penalty will reestablish a penalty two times the Tier 1 volumetric rate, currently $5.38 per billing unit. The penalty would be applied to water used in excess of the established conservation goal.

Both changes will be discussed at the next council meeting, Tuesday, September 23, 2017, 6:00 pm in City Council Chamber

Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side

"Scarecrows, corn in rows, pumpkins on the vine... 2 cups sugar leaves curl, wind swirls, fall is right on time."

"Vegetables are a must on a diet. I suggest carrot cake, zucchini bread and pumpkin pie."

It felt sort of fall-ish this past weekend, we walked Sierra Madre with mist falling on our heads and I actually turned the heat on one day last week. My son-in-law, Chuck, the family weather prognosticator says we should expect rain and I certainly hope he's right. I'd really love something other than me and our hose to water the trees. I keep telling them to hang in there, rain's coming!

We love fall...we really do! College football is back, USC has won both their games – that last one being a real cliffhanger and then that final field goal. Pshew! There are pumpkin spice lattes all over the place and I have devoured a scoop of Baskin-Robbins Pumpkin Cheesecake ice cream twice! Soooo good! And we even had lunch at the Cheesecake Factory, including Pumpkin Cheesecake. Trader Joe's has pumpkins for sale, just in case you're wanting a few.

All our fall stuff is out and it's looked like Halloween at our house since September 1st. The pumpkins down the street at the Parker's are enormous and have another month to go before they start turning them into fantastical creatures. The picture here doesn't do justice to the size of this baby... it's huge!

We'll be seeing scarecrows all over town soon after Sierra Madre.

All this talk of pumpkins has made me want some pumpkin bread and now that it's cool enough to think of turning the stove on, I'm getting out the Blog: www.authordeanne.com flour. Here's my recipe, which is actually one

I got from my sister-in-law, who lives in Las Vegas. She makes tons of it for friends, neighbors and Mah Jong buddies and shared it with me. I've made different recipes of pumpkin bread for years and years and hers is the best one ever. I've adapted it a Gainsworth Adventures: little, can't help myself!

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly coat two loaf pans (those foil ones are dandy) with cooking spray.

1 cup vegetable oil

3 large eggs

1 15 oz. can solid pack pumpkin

Put all that in your electric mixer and blend till it's totally combined. Set aside.

3 cups all purpose flour

1 tsp. ground cloves 1 tsp. cinnamon (generous)

1 tsp. nutmeg 1 tsp. baking soda

½ tsp. baking powder

½ tsp. salt

Mix all that together then add to the pumpkin mixture, mixing till it's totally combined. You can add a handful of dried cranberries, a Granny Smith apple cut in chunks, raisins, nuts (I like pecans for pumpkin bread), pretty much whatever you like to find in bread. Or nothing at all if you're a purist!

Divide between the loaf pans and bake till a tester inserted in the center comes out clean. About an hour or so. Transfer to racks to cool and remove from pans. Wrap in foil or cling-wrap and guess what, this freezes beautifully! You can double this recipe, which makes about 5 loaf pans, or you can make a whole bunch of small loaves and consider yourself ahead of the game if you're a Christmas baker. You're house will smell divine and people will the Creative Arts scarecrow workshop last Saturday. beat a path to your kitchen to ask when they can have We are a creative and imaginative bunch here in some! Think how many loaves of bread that giant pumpkin would make! Awesome!

Walks with the Mayor in the Arroyo

Explore portions of Pasadena's Arroyo Seco during two walks in October with Pasadena Mayor Terry Tornek in support of the Arroyo Advisory Group's (AAG) "One Arroyo" effort. The walks are planned:

Saturday, October 14, 9 a.m.—Lower Arroyo. Meet at the Casting Pond Entrance. Parking available adjacent to the Casting Pond area.

• Thursday, October 26, 8 a.m.—Central Arroyo. Meet at Rose Bowl Stadium Gate A under the marquee. Parking available in Lot F of the Rose Bowl Stadium

This is your chance to talk directly with Mayor Tornek about how to preserve the Arroyo's character and beauty, pay for and maintain it, and appropriately enhance it for future generations. Pasadena's Arroyo Seco covers about 1,000 acres. From the headwaters in the North to the tributary waters in the South, its natural habitats, resources and historic sites are unlike any other in Southern California and are enjoyed by millions each year. Yet this great city park has seldom been conceived or designed as one continuous space. After extended review and discussion, the AAG identified

"One Arroyo" concept to unite the three areas of the Arroyo— Hahamongna, Central Arroyo and Lower Arroyo-under a singular vision. The AAG was formed by the City of Pasadena to identify opportunities to enhance and preserve the Arroyo Seco for current and future generations. Go online to learn more about the "One Arroyo" concept at onearroyo.org.

HOMETOWN HEROES LOIS GASTON AND REYNA DIAZ HONORED BY THEIR COMMUNITIES AT THE L.A. COUNTY FAIR

By Joan Schmidt

Wednesday, September 13, 2017 was a very special day at the Fair for Monrovia, Arcadia, and Duarte Community

Each year, the L. A. County Fair has "Special City Days", when residents of a chosen city purchase reduced Fair tickets, and participate in special events. The Day's Highlight is a Reception with delicious refreshments and Recognition of their Hometown hero! This year, for the first time ever, the "MAD" County Area was invited to participate in this special day, thanks to Supervisor Barger.

Festivities began at 3pm. The three participants were the City of Duarte, the City of Monrovia, and the Monrovia Arcadia Duarte County Area.

Duarte was first. Mayor Pro Tem John Fasana gave highlights of Lois Gaston's many contributions to Duarte. Before serving on their City Council for eight years, Lois was well-known in the community for advancing educational opportunities for young people, providing assistance to senior citizens and the needy, serving over a decade on various City Commissions and Community non-profits such as the Duarte Ed Foundation and Duarte Coordinating Council. She is the Chair of the Community Mediation Team constantly striving to bring the entire community together. She has led efforts to provide SAT tutoring for at-risk youth. Lois has served on the Foothill Unity Center Board and on September 28 will receive their Heart in Hand award. Lois has been recognized on the city, county and state level for her hard work and volunteerism in so many areas.

Debby Mendelsohn for Supervisor Barger, Kristi Lopez for Senator Portantino and Veronica Lopez for Assemblywoman Rubio all presented Certificates. Mayor Pro Tem Fasana and Councilmember Reilly presented a Certificate and flowers to Lois. Called to the Podium also were Superintendent Dr. Murcerino, and Board Members Reyna Diaz, Doug Edwards and Dr. Irene Murray. Also participating in the Festivities was the Unincorporated

Williams, Council Members Linda Sells, Joan Schmidt, and Temple Station Captain David Flores to join him. (In 1993, Cpt. Flores was the FIRST Special Assignment Deputy for our area.) Hall shared our history, and explained how the Town Council functions-working together as ONE. Williams spoke of Reyna and their bond as school board members: he is Vice President, Monrovia School Board; Reyna, President, Duarte School Board. I then shared how a young Reyna left war-torn El Salvador with a baby daughter Violet in search of a better life. She met and married Ruben Diaz 40 years ago and they have raised Violet and two sons in a loving home. They work hard-Ruben has a wroughtiron fencing business, and Reyna has worn many hats- a wedding coordinator and cake decorator-to name a few. Reyna is unmatched in volunteerism and hard work, and Ruben has always been at her side with help and support. Reyna served on the Formation Committee Mar-Jun,

Area. "MAD" Town Council President David Hall was called to the podium and invited Vice President Terrence

1993-translating and encouraging community involvement; served on the Town Council ten years, and the LASD Community Advisory Committee. She walked her area and registered voters, and was the main reason a school bond passed. The first Latina/County Resident on the Duarte School Board, having served almost 20 years and current Board President, searching for innovative programs. Reyna annually held fundraiser dinners so she and Ruben could bring Xmas toys to El Salvador and Mexico, and refurbished ambulances. She also obtained funds for victims of natural disasters such as floods and earthquakes. Reyna also serves on Foothill Unity Center Board and is active with Kiwanis and Meals on Wheels.

President Dave Hall read a Proclamation declaring Reyna Diaz our Hometown Hero and presented it to her. $\check{\text{Mrs}}$. $\check{\text{Sells}}$ presented flowers, and the representatives gave Certificates on behalf of the dignitaries.

The wonderful festivities ended with a great parade. Thank you L.A. County Fair for such a memorable day!

STAFF SEEKING AUTHORIZATION TO BEGIN PROPOSITION 218 WATER RATE ADJUSTMENT PROCESS IN OCTOBER 2017 TO ADDRESS THE NEW WATER ASSESSMENTS BEING LEVIED ON MONROVIA AND OTHER WATER PROVIDERS IN THE MAIN SAN GABRIEL BASIN, RESIDENTIAL CUSTOMER COSTS EXPECTED TO INCREASE BY $15 - $17 / MONTH BEGINNING IN 2018

Over the last several months, City staff has been working to analyze the issues surrounding our regional water supply and the anticipated associated costs that will be impacting Monrovians in the coming months and years. As a result, staff will be seeking the City Council's authorization to begin the Proposition 218 Protest Hearing process in October 2017 to adjust our current water rate to absorb the enormous added costs being passed down to water agencies in our region.

Please note that we are still working to finalize the levels of adjustment needed for the different types of water customers and various meter sizes. However, the majority of customers in Monrovia are single family residences with a 1-inch water meter or smaller, and based on our preliminary rate modeling, our updated rates will likely recommend a water cost structure where residential customers see an increase of between $15 - $17 / month on their monthly bill beginning in 2018. In addition, at build out in FY 2021/22, the new cost for water is expected to increase by around $35 / month more than what the typical residential customer pays today. Also, it is important to emphasize that all of these new costs are pass-through costs which will be paid to the San Gabriel Basin Watermaster and the Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District for the purpose of importing water into our region.

Ultimately, the proposed water rate adjustment is being coordinated because of new water supply costs that the Main San Gabriel Basin Watermaster (Watermaster) and the Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District (Upper District) are levying to address the water supply shortage in the Main San Gabriel Basin. As you may know, the decade-long drought that we have experienced in our region has had a devastating impact on the groundwater levels in Main San Gabriel Basin aquifer, where Monrovia and many other water agencies draw their groundwater

Last May, the Watermaster (which is the agency that regulates who gets to draw water from the Main San Gabriel Basin aquifer and how much they can pump) instituted a new fee on all water producers in the San Gabriel Valley, including the City of Monrovia. This new fee was implemented so that they could make a large purchase of water – 40.7 billion gallons at a cost of over $100 million. This purchase was made after careful consideration and an examination of all available options to restore the health of the Basin after it reached historically low levels.

The cost of purchasing and importing this water will be split between all of the communities and agencies that use this water, including us here in Monrovia, which means that water will become more expensive for all of us.

THE CITY OF MONROVIA AND THEIR HOMETOWN HERO: THE HIPPIE BOTS

September 13, 2017 was a special day for the Cities of Duarte and Monrovia, and the "MAD" (Monrovia Arcadia Duarte) Unincorporated County area at LA County Fair. In a separate article I wrote about two special ladies, Lois Gaston and Reyna Diaz, the City of Duarte and Mad "Hometown Heroes."

Because the Hippie Bots, Clifton MIDDLE School's team did the unthinkable-become World Champions competing against HIGH SCHOOL and COLLEGE students, I must share their long journey reaching their ultimate goal.

First I must acknowledge their teacher Paul Flores and coach Gina Ayala. You can have the brightest students, the best programs, but someone at the top must guide them and oversee their work.

A step leading to their World Championship occurred in 2016. The Hippie Bots traveled to Shanghai, China for an international competition. They were the ONLY U.S. team invited and finished 13th place out of 49 teams, ranking ahead of the Russian team. This experience helped form their strategy at the Dutch Open.

On May 20, 2017, the Hippie Bots stunned an international field of high school and college students by winning the 2017 FIRST Tech Challenge (FTC) Dutch

How did they do this remarkable feat? They country field, completing the tournament undefeated and capturing the three- team alliance that took the first prize!

Did you know that Monrovia Unified School District actually has ten robotics teams that regularly compete in Southern California leagues sanctioned by FIRST Tech, a national nonprofit dedicated to inspiring young people to be leaders in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) fields?

Monrovia's festivities at the Fair began with Mayor Tom Adams being called up to the Podium. He brought Council Member Gloria Crudginton and School Board Members Terrence Williams and Ed Guililland to the front and acknowledged city officials.

Mr. Adams read a short synopsis of the Hippie Bots Achievements and called them up. The City had a Certificate for them. Presentations were made by Debby Mendelsohn, (Supervisor Barger). Kristi Lopez (Senator Portantino) and Veronica Lopez (Assemblywoman Blanca Rubio.

I reside in the Monrovia County area and was very pleased to learn of the great achievements of the Hippie Bots Team, that Santa Fe Middle School is now a Magnet School and of course in neighboring Duarte, there is a now the CA School of the Arts-San Gabriel Valley. Residents of the Monrovia Arcadia Duarte Communities, we really have WONDERFUL educational opportunities for our children! VERY SPECIAL THANKS to LA COUNTY FAIR for programmed all the right moves and overcame obstacles including the City of Monrovia, the City of Duarte and as they maneuvered their way through the 45 team, 10- our County Area in this special Community Day.

Victoria, who is only 15 years old, is a member of the Accelerated Honors Academy at Alverno Heights Academy. She started at Alverno in the fall of 2014 at just 12 years old after skipping both the seventh and eighth grades. Despite her age, Victoria is enrolled and excels in a rigorous Advanced Placement (AP) college preparatory program at Alverno which includes AP English Literature, AP Physics: C, AP Human Geography, Honors Multivariable Calculus, Exploration in Technology, and Melody Wu Honors Independent Research in Science. She currently maintains a 4.5 GPA. In 2014, Victoria was recognized by the Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth for achieving extraordinary scores on the Center's annual School and College Ability Test (SCAT). She scored in the 99th percentile in both the verbal and quantitative sections of the exam missing only seven questions overall. A year later, Victoria, along with two classmates, was recognized as a winner of the Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth Cogito Research Award. The Cogito Research Award was established to enable motivated students to complete a promising Victoria Chen research project in a science, Melody, who is just 16 years old, is also a member of the Accelerated Honors Academy at Alverno Heights Academy. She started at Alverno in the fall of 2014 at 13 years old after bypassing the eighth grade. Melody carries an impressive academic course load including AP English Literature, AP Physics: C, AP Studio Art, AP US Government, Honors Multivariable Calculus, AP Human Geography, and Honors Independent Research in Science while maintaining a 4.7 GPA. Outside of the classroom, Melody is a committed musician who plays the piano and has been a member of Alverno's choir, Alverno Singers. She serves as an Ambassador representing Alverno at school and of the Interior in the Alverno Student Union. Melody is no stranger to academic competition either, having won First Place in the Youth Science Center Essay Contest and she was recently named the Grand Prize Winner of the Chinese Institute of Engineers (CIE) STEM 5-Star Challenge. CIE is a non-profit national organization dedicated to promoting Asian Pacific Americans in science, technology, engineering, and math in their local communities. Melody presented at their annual STEM 5-Star Challenge Presentations in participated in an elite and exclusive summer research alvernoheightsacademy.org.

Both Melody and Victoria were recently named AP Scholars with Distinction for successfully completing eight AP exams with an average score of 4.5 or higher, including both earning perfect "5's" on both the AP Calculus AB and AP Calculus BC exams.

At school, both Victoria and Melody are active in Alverno's expanding STEM program participating in numerous collaborations with Caltech including the Community Science Academy (CSA) 1 and 2, Solar Energy Activity Laboratory (SEAL) for the last three years, and the International Genetically Engineered Machine (iGEM) team. They were an integral part of the Alverno Heights Academy iGEM team that competed in Boston last fall. Victoria, Melody and their teammates competed against colleges and universities from around the world including Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Brown and Stanford. The team project proposed using deactivated Cas9 (dCas9) as a DNA clamp to block propagation of supercoiling generated during transcription, the modularity, predictability, and scalability of single-vector, multi-gene synthetic systems. After many months of arduous research and commitment, Alverno's iGEM team earned a Silver Medal in the competition and were recognized for their exceptional achievement by Congresswoman Judy Chu. Finally, both Victoria and Melody are involved in Advanced Bioengineering Laboratory at Alverno.

"Alverno Heights Academy is so incredibly proud of Victoria and Melody's once in a lifetime accomplishment," said Julia V. Fanara, Head of School. "Out of students across the nation, less than

1% of high school seniors qualified for this tremendous honor and the fact that Victoria and Melody, at 15 and 16 years of age respectively, were named Semifinalists makes this achievement so much more momentous! Both were among the first students admitted to the official Accelerated Honors Academy at Alverno, which only continues to grow and expand each year, and it has been a privilege to watch them grow and thrive with it. We look forward to many more successes and providing these exceptionally gifted young women like Victoria and Melody, along with all of our students, the opportunity to grow and excel in a nurturing and college preparatory environment like

20 ARCADIA HIGH STUDENTS NAMED NATIONAL MERIT SCHOLARSHIP SEMIFINALISTS

ARCADIA-- 20 Arcadia High School students were Dr. David Vannasdall. "It's a testament to the commitment recently distinguished as National Merit Scholarship Semifinalists. These skilled seniors join a group that represents less than one percent of high school seniors across the country. Semifinalists in the 2018 National Merit Scholarship Program will have an opportunity to compete for nearly 7,500 National Merit Scholarships collectively worth almost $32 million.

"Receiving this honor and having the chance to be considered for a scholarship through this program makes me happy beyond words," said Arcadia High Senior and 2018 National Merit Semifinalist Elyse Yao. "I took a prep course before I took the SAT, but that class just built on the foundation laid by my Arcadia Unified coursework."

Approximately 1.6 million juniors from more than 22,000 high schools vied for entrance into the 2018 National Merit Scholarship Program by taking the 2016 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT). Scores from this test served as an initial screening of applicants. Of the 16,000 seniors chosen as semifinalists, about 15,000 are expected to continue as finalists. While some high schools have less than a handful of seniors invited into this program, in the past five years, Arcadia High School has been home to over 100 National Merit Semifinalists with more than 90% of its seniors advancing as finalists.

"We are incredibly humbled by the number of our Arcadia High students who make it into this program each year," said Arcadia Unified School District Superintendent to education our students and teachers make every day and is what makes Arcadia High School one of the top public high schools in the country."

More than half of the finalists will be awarded a National Merit Scholarship, earning the title "Merit Scholar." Finalists will be notified in February, and scholarships will be awarded starting in April and concluding in July.

Arcadia High School has been distinguished a U.S. News and World Report Gold Medal School three times, an honor bestowed on less than 3 percent of the more than 19,000 schools in the country. Similarly, Newsweek named Arcadia High on its Top Public High Schools in America list. Arcadia High was also recently identified by Niche.com as being in the top 2 percent of the best public high schools in California. For the second consecutive year, Arcadia High's 2017 graduating class had at least one student accepted into every Ivy League school in the country. Likewise, the Arcadia Unified School District is one of only 22 districts in California to be named on the College Board's most recent and 7th Annual AP® District Honor Roll.

DEER CROSSING

grazing on the property where I lived when I moved to Sierra Madre 24 years ago. I had heard there were wild deer that lived in the foothills, and that they often came down into the canyons and neighborhoods while foraging for food during the day. But until that morning when I awoke early and saw them nibbling away on the 'weeds' in my yard, I had no idea how majestic that sight among the humans as we bustled about to get out of our houses and into our cars, then swiftly down the hill to the freeway and eventually to work, hopefully on time! Those deer gave me a sense of serenity. Just knowing they were there, trusting us to show them respect and bidding that we allow them to carry on with their simple way of living. It made me realize all the more, how fortunate I was to live in this unique and special place.

Many years have passed since my first deer sighting in Sierra Madre and much has changed in our town, but one thing that has stayed the same is the excitement I always feel each time I get to see deer passing through my neighborhood. I tend to keep an eye out for them, in hopes that they will indeed come around and I will be blessed with that majestic moment of serenity that they have a way of bringing to my day.

I drive on Grand View Avenue daily, and often, when I am headed east toward Santa Anita Blvd. I'll catch a glimpse of some darling deer laying under the trees in the huge yard on the north side of the street, or frolicking in the city yards on the south side. I always slow down when I see them because I know there may be a young straggler still trying to scale the fence to cross the street and join the others, or perhaps one of the adults taking up the rear to ensure that everyone else made it safely

It only takes a couple of seconds for me to slow down, just in case, and for me it is always such a pleasure to see them. This is why I am completely mystified by the many motorists I see speeding across Grand View on a daily basis, with the pedal to the metal as if they are on a freeway in LA rather than on a residential street in Sierra Madre. The speed limit on Grand View is 30 miles per hour, just in case that is not made clear enough by the signs. I'm just saying.

One might argue that Grand View is such a wide over the limit a bit because of the steep hill and wide of us moved here.

range of visibility. I get it, I do. But still, the law is the law. I appeal to all my readers, please abide by it when you are driving through our town. I sense that there are numerous drivers who somehow feel exempt from such "petty" traffic laws as 'going the speed limit' or 'stopping at a stop sign', but no one is exempt! There really are reasons why those silly little laws that have been put into place. It's ok if you don't understand. Just do it.

And then there are the tiny winding roads up in the canyon where residents wish to enjoy a peaceful, quiet lifestyle

I'll never forget the first time I saw a family of deer and they pay dearly for it. Did you know that the speed limit on most canyon roads is 15 miles per hour? Yep, just like the signs say...FIFTEEN, not fifty! As a dog walker who often has no choice but to walk along the short shoulders of those tiny canyon roads, I know for a fact that there are far too many people who apparently do not know the speed limit up there, or again, perhaps they think they are exempt or just don't care.

Please read and acknowledge the speed limit signs I was amazed at how peaceful they were, roaming free in the canyon, even if 15 mph seems ridiculous. And if there happens to be a pedestrian walking on the road where there is no sidewalk, you might have to slow down enough to allow them to get to a place where they can get off the road onto someone's driveway or yard to allow you to pass by. Don't threaten them by revving your motor or pressing in so close they feel forced to hop on a boulder or climb a tree to get out of your way. Basic common sense, right? One would think.

Then there are those who, in lieu of showing the courtesy of slowing down and allowing the pedestrian enough time to get off the road, choose to speed up even more and zoom around them with a scowl as if that person intentionally set out to conspire against their morning commute. Anyone who is in that much of a hurry might want to consider leaving the house a bit earlier to allow for enough time to accommodate the canyon-dweller slash LA-commuter lifestyle they chose for themselves. Just a thought.

The other day I had to laugh when someone asked me, "Why do people need to walk their dogs on the streets in the canyon anyway?" There once was a time when I could have had a field day with that one and left him feeling like a real moron, but not anymore. I just smiled on the outside and laughed real hard on the inside before backing away slowly and leaving him apparently still waiting for an answer. No, it wasn't a rhetorical question, and no, he wasn't kidding! I had to

Now I realize this little rant doesn't quite qualify as a "Happy Tail", but I do hope it may have brought on a little giggle or smile to lighten the day for those who 'get it'. Most importantly, though, I hope the message hits home with at least one reader who is ready to admit he or she needs to slow down when driving in town. Peace and tranquility...if I remember correctly, open road, it is tempting for even a good driver to go these were top on the list of many reasons why most Could you fulfill a lifelong dream? Every day is a brand new day. We get to push the reset button daily. It's such a beautiful gift, the ability to choose how we will spend our time. On those occasions when we are actively pursuing our passions, we feel alive and engaged in our lives rather than merely repeating a routine and acting unconsciously on auto-pilot. The instant we make a decision and choose a pursuit creates a change and a trigger. We will sometimes feel an immediate shift and exhilaration in the decision alone, but sometimes there is a different reaction. It is very common to encounter resistance. Our internal warning system will go into high alert, and if we are not ready for it, we will be knocked off our access.

A REAL BARGAIN AT PAUL MARTIN'S

I like my surroundings to be familiar. That said, this tip by manager Jesse: He explained to me that times that I will drive anywhere for the best food a restaurant has to offer. I recently drove to Isla Vista for a single barbecue beef rib! My passion for great food is only equaled by my desire to make the steaks, for which there are small up-charges consistent and of great value.

Are you familiar with the supermarket term "loss leader"? It is common practice to get you in the door for something inexpensive, so that while you are there you'll fill your cart with all the other items on your list. Restaurants offer happy hours to grab your attention in the same way. I also understand Groupon is still alive. My friend John Beeman was the general manger at Il Fornaio, and he wanted to make sure that anyone looking through the windows would see a full bar. He would even buy a round to make sure his patrons stayed in their seats. It makes us feel comfortable that others are there. Enough of the restaurant psychology — let's get back to loss leaders.

I have grown very comfortable at the new Paul Martin's American Grill on South Lake Avenue in Pasadena. The Grill originated in Roseville and has slowly made its way to other states. Its motto is "Seasonal & Delicious." I will add that it's also a good value if you know where to look. I was given

I am also adventurous and have stated many Mondays are their slow nights, and management, in their wisdom, came up with the "Wine Dinner for Two" special. For $60 you can choose any entree on the menu, with the exception of two of sure that when I pass along my findings, they are still a heck of a deal. You will get a seasonal salad and a bottle of wine — not a glass, but a full bottle of red, white, pink or sparkling wine. Not sure which to get? They will let you try a taste of any wine before you commit. Among the wine choices are Piper Sonoma sparkling wine, an Annabella pinot (2014), and Kenwood 2013 Zinfandel. We thoroughly enjoyed the marinated skirt steak (regularly $33) and a brick chicken for ($27). Next time I am going to go one step further and order the prime New York steak; yes, there is a $15 surcharge, but it's well worth it. That sounds good, right? Remember, loyal readers, we are talking $60 for a dinner for two, so get in quick before management comes to their senses! Bottom line: This is one of the best values I've ever had. Please call ahead to confirm menu and prices!!

EXERCISES THAT HELP EASE ARTHRITIS PAIN AND STIFFNESS

Dear Savvy Senior,

What exercises are best suited for seniors with arthritis? I have osteoarthritis in my neck, back, hip and knee and have read that exercises can help ease the pain and stiffness, but I don't know where to start, and I certainly don't want to aggravate it.

Stiff and Achy

Dear Stiff,

Many people who have arthritis believe that exercise will worsen their condition, but that's not true. Exercise is actually one of the best treatments for osteoarthritis.

Proper and careful exercises can help reduce joint pain and stiffness, strengthen muscles around the joints and increase flexibility. It also helps manage other chronic conditions that are common among seniors with arthritis, such as diabetes, heart disease and obesity. Here are some tips to help you get started.

Recommended Exercises

Determining exactly which types of exercises that are best for you depends on the form and severity of your arthritis, and which joints are involved. It's best to work with your doctor personalized exercise program. The different types of exercises that are most often recommended to seniors with arthritis include:

Range-of-motion exercises: These are gentle Also see Go4life.nia.nih.gov (or call 800-222stretching exercises that can relieve stiffness as well as improve your ability to move your joints through their normal range of motion. These exercises should be done daily.

training and working with resistance bands are recommended (two or more days a week) to maintain and improve your muscle strength, which helps support and protect your joints.

Aerobic exercises: Low-impact activities like walking, cycling, swimming or water aerobics are all recommended three to five times per week many communities throughout the U.S. Contact to help improve cardiovascular health, control weight, and improve your overall function.

It's also important to keep in mind that when you first start exercising, you need on to strengthening or aerobic exercises. Another tip is to apply heat to the joints you'll be working before you exercise, and use cold packs after exercising to reduce inflammation.

If you're experiencing a lot of pain while you exercise, you may need to modify the frequency, duration, or intensity of your exercises until the pain improves. Or you may need to try a different activity, for example, switching from walking to water aerobics. But it you're having severe, sharp or constant pain, or large increases in swelling or your joints feel hot or red, you need to stop and see your doctor.

Exercising Aids

To help you exercise at home, the Arthritis Foundation offers a variety of free online videos (see Arthritis.org/living-with-arthritis/exercise/ videos) to guide you through a variety of or a physical therapist to help you develop a exercises. Or there are arthritis exercise DVDs you can purchase for a few dollars through Collage Video (CollageVideo.com, 800-819-7111) or the Arthritis Foundation Store (AFstore.org)

If you need some motivation or don't like Strengthening exercise: Calisthenics, weight exercising alone, ask your doctor about exercise programs in your area for people with arthritis. Hospitals and clinics sometimes offer special programs, as do local health clubs and senior

The Arthritis Foundation also conducts exercise and aquatic programs for people with arthritis in your local branch (see Arthritis.org/local-offices, or call 800-283-7800 for contact information) to find out what may be available near you.

COMET OR ASTEROID? HUBBLE DISCOVERS THAT A UNIQUE OBJECT IS A BINARY

international team of astronomers find that an unusual object in the asteroid belt is, in fact, two features. These include a bright halo of material, called a coma, and a long tail of dust.

Hubble was used to image the asteroid, designated 300163 (2006 VW139), in September 2016 just before the asteroid made its closest approach to the Sun. Hubble's crisp images revealed that it was actually not one, but two asteroids of almost the same mass and size, orbiting each other at a distance

"We detected strong indications for the sublimation of water ice due to the increased solar heating — similar to how the tail of a comet is created," explained team leader Jessica Agarwal of the Max Planck Institute for Solar System Research, Germany.

The team estimates that 2006 VW139/288P has existed as a binary system only for about 5,000 years. The most probable formation scenario is a breakup due to fast rotation. After that, the two fragments may have been moved further apart by the effects of ice sublimation, which would give a tiny push to an asteroid in one direction as water molecules are ejected in the other direction.

The fact that 2006 VW139/288P is so different Astronomy, Inc., in Washington, D.C. from all other known binary asteroids raises some questions about how common such systems are in You can contact Bob Eklund at: b.eklund@ the asteroid belt. "We need more theoretical and MtnViewsNews.com.

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges THINKING ABOUT HOUSTON AND FLORIDA

Disaster Planning at Home

Last week, I gathered with a few friends and we watched on our television sets a magnitude of catastrophe that we'd not seen for a very long time. We saw people displaced from their homes. Some died. We saw Florida with the largest evacuation of recent memory where maybe a million people fled from their homelands. Tens of thousands had homes destroyed. Many died. You could not help but be shaken to your core when you see whole families, whole neighborhoods, whole cities, uprooted, thrashed, flooded, destroyed.

It's easy to watch from afar and hope that things get better. After all, we were dry, were drinking some excellent coffee, and were sitting in our comfortable surroundings. The complete upheaval that folks in the South are experiencing is incomprehensible, vast, and sobering. It is what you always hope and wish and pray never happens to you. All normal people of means rush in to help victims when such disasters occur, and that is a

Still, I could not help but bring our conversation around to home. Each of us present that day had a functioning toilet at home, a working refrigerator and electricity, the availability of a gas station, banks, and grocery stores. We had roads that were reasonably flat and not under water. It was nearly impossible for us to relate to someone who had pretty much lost everything, including their whole neighborhood.

Yet, are we immune to such happening here? severe drought, earthquakes, and pandemic

With an ever-rising L.A. County population, with a local landscape that can provide up to a quarter of the needed water, we can never afford to forget about the potential of water shortages and drought. You should store water, and you should have as many manual (or battery operated) devices for every electrical device as possible. If you have questions about the details of this, please write.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

THOSE ANNOYING SOUNDS OF SILENCE

It was in the 60s when Simon and Garfunkel recorded their famous song, "The Sounds of Silence."

I must confess that I do enjoy what I know of as "The Sounds of Silence." Nothing is more relaxing than sitting back with a cup of coffee and enjoying the silence as it whistled by. This has become a rather infrequent period for me. I love the silence and I enjoy the peace and quiet it brings.

The problem is, silence can be taken too far. Recently, we were the target of a ferocious hurricane who tried to have her way with us. She snorted, huffed, puffed and stomped her way up through the state of Florida. As it turned out, although there was a tremendous amount of damage, it was not as bad as expected. That is something we can thank God for. For almost a week, we were privileged to have her presence in our state. She did not stay as long as we expected and we were quite happy to see her go. The further north she went the less strength she had. The state of Florida simply exhausted her. Here in Florida we are used to high winds and that sort of thing. Water, rain and flooding are a common occurrence here. We did have some record high flooding, but in the mainstream, we endured and got through it. Many people were out of electricity for days and some for weeks at a time.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and her faithful companion did not lose electricity. We did lose, however, our Internet, phone and TV. That covered pretty much everything in our house.

My wife had her car filled with gas while I on the other hand, did not. I did not think it would last long, so I stuck it out because I really had no place to go. Where would I go? Almost everything was closed. Even the gas stations at one point closed. Restaurants were closed so I could not go out and have lunch. Therefore, even though I did not have gas, I really did not need gas. I really had nowhere to go.

I did have a plan, though. I figured if we had to go somewhere, we could use my wife's car. She always has plenty of gas, so I wasn't worried. Many people around us lost their electricity and I figured we would lose ours too. We did not and so I was most grateful. At least I could set in the living room with the air conditioner on enjoying myself. As the days turned into more than I can remember, it started to get rather boring. We had no Internet or phone or TV so I did not know what was going on around us. It was quite

I like to know what's going on and what's happening and

"Just relax," my wife said rather calmly, "everything is all right and we have nothing to fear."

It wasn't anything I wanted to Fear, there were just things I wanted to Know. Fear and Know are two very different

Then she said something, which she thought, would calm me down a little bit.

"Remember," she said most seriously, "that song by Simon and Garfunkel?" I knew where she was going with this, but I had nothing else to do so I thought I would play along. "No, I don't," I said as seriously as possible. "I can't remember

She scowled at me and then continued, "The Sounds of

We don't have anything to worry about." "Just listen," she continued, "to those wonderful sounds of

It was about that time that the rain came down in torrential fury. I looked at her and smiled and she whirled back to the kitchen to cook supper. Silence is wonderful if you're in control of it. Too much silence can get a little bit aggravating, at least to someone like me. I enjoy the silence when I can open a book and enjoy the literature before me. Then I like to get on the Internet or TV and find out what is happening in the world. Too much silence can be aggravating and then I got to thinking, what in the world did people do before we had electricity?

This gave me a new appreciation for the things that I have. During those "Sounds of Silence," I began to think about all the blessings I have in my life. Most of the time we do not appreciate what we have until we do not have them any What is the one thing I could do without? That is a hard question to ask, but I thought about it during the silence. One of the things I want to learn from this experience is to every day appreciate what I have because tomorrow I may not have it any longer. I thought about what David wrote in the book of Psalms. "This is the day which the LORD hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." (Psalms 118:24).

Are you Prepared for an Emergency?

As of July 2017, there have been nine weather and climate disaster events this year with losses totaling more than $1 billion in the U.S. alone! More than 80% of Americans live in counties that have experienced a weather-related disaster! However, only 39% of Americans have created an emergency plan for their households. While it's almost impossible to predict when an emergency or natural disaster will occur, creating a plan may help keep your family safe in the event of one. The better prepared you are, the more comfortable you'll be if you have to put your plan into action.

Visit ready.gov/make-a-plan to download an emergency template you can tailor to your needs. MAKE A PLAN that outlines all the information you'll need to know in the event of an emergency. Not only will it help you get to a safe location, it'll also allow you to let your loved ones know you're safe.

STEP 1: PLAN A SAFE EVACUATION ROUTE

If you're home when an emergency occurs, you may have to evacuate with little to no notice. Select several safe evacuation routes, and make sure everyone is familiar with them.

STEP 2: CREATE A LIST THAT INCLUDES:

- · Names & Numbers of each Family Member
- Phone Numbers
- Email Addresses
- Names of Doctors
- · Places of Work
- Schools

STEP 3: ASSIGN ROLES

Have someone turn off the utilities, while another person packs the important documents and another grabs pets. Giving everyone a responsibility will ensure nothing important is left behind.

Remember Your Pets!

Our pets are family members, too. Don't forget to include them in your emergency preparation and your evacuation plans. Visit ASPCA.org to get a free Pet Safety Pack, which includes a window sticker to let rescue workers know if your pet is inside or if it has been evacuated.

YOUR PET'S EMERGENCY KIT:

- · 3-7 days' worth of food & water.
- Documents, includeing copies of medical records & current photos, just in case you are separated.
- · Sanitary items, such as garbage bags, litter and disposable trays for cats, and cage liners for dogs.
- · Miscellaneous pet items, such as extra harness, collars, leashes, a travel carrier and a blanket.

500 N. Michillinda Avenue, Sierra Madre

OPEN SUNDAY 1-4PM

From 1932 to 1943, this stunning early California Hacienda-style estate was owned by Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the 31st president of the United States. President and Mrs. Hoover visited often and the home was known as "The Winter White House". It was originally built in 1928 by local businessman, Frank Picard, and the estate included almost 6 acres of land. In 1932, when the Hoovers moved in, they added a children's wing. Word has it that the playroom (accessed by a slide) was designed by family friend, A. A. Milne, the author of "Winnie the Pooh". This stately property and its colorful link with history reflects the graceful architecture of an earlier era.

COUNTY MOVES TO ADDRESS HEPATITIS A OUTBREAK

Supervisor Barger Directs Public Health to Conduct Prevention Effort

Supervisor Kathryn Barger, unanimously approved by the Board of Supervisors, the Department of Public Health will begin implementation of a Hepatitis A prevention and response action plan as part of a greater effort to avert a Hepatitis A outbreak similar to what has occurred in San Diego County.

In a report before the Board today, the Department of Public Health confirmed three cases of Hepatitis A occurring in persons who acquired the infection in San Diego. Following the first two cases, a Health Advisory was issued through the Los Angeles Health Alert Network (LAHAN) describing the situation and providing prevention strategies.

"It is critical that the County and the Department of Public Health work proactively to educate the public about prevention and prepare for a potential outbreak," Supervisor Barger stated. "In addition to the vital public health concerns, this situation

> Barger further requested that the Department engage food truck commissaries and street based food vendors as part of this effort and list on its website the pharmacies that offer vaccinations.

> A viral infection of the liver, Hepatitis A is transmitted by close personal and fecal exposure, often through food or water. Outbreaks have occurred when a food handler who has poor hygiene contaminates food. Currently, a Hepatitis A outbreak is ongoing in San Diego County and Santa Cruz, with most cases occurring among homeless and drug using populations. The virus was also identified in a case involving a food handler in Lancaster and outreach is ongoing to inform patrons of the need to be vaccinated. Following exposure, vaccination or immunoglobulin given within two weeks prevents illness.

After my father suffered a head injury from are desperate to gain your confidence and trust "ambulance chaser." I had no idea what an ambulance chaser was, how they made their money or that signing their contract entitled them to a large percentage of my father's insurance claim settlement.

In the past 30 years, having adjusted claims for over 25 different insurance companies, I saw similar deceit and fraud in my industry. This pitfalls of contractor and insurance scams. I now make it my personal commitment to inform and educate others.

Most people are unaware of the strategic and shady antics of Public Adjusters (ie. ambulance chasers), and their contractors who prey on the misfortunate at a time when they feel overwhelmed and are vulnerable. They show up after devastating and catastrophic events like Hurricane Harvey, local wildfires and earthquakes. They listen in on 911 scanner radios, showing up at your home in droves after coverage reports on property damage.

Public Adjusters are polished sales people who

Al Franken, Giant of the Senate by Al Franken

#1 bestselling author and beloved SNL alum - comes the story of an awardwinning comedian who decided to run for office and then discovered why award-winning comedians tend not to do that. This is a book about an unlikely campaign that had an even more improbable ending: the closest outcome in history and an unprecedented eightmonth recount saga, which is pretty funny in retrospect.It's a book about what happens when the nation's foremost progressive satirist gets a chance to serve in the United States Senate and, defying the low expectations of the pundit class, actually turns out to be good at it. It's a book about our deeply polarized, frequently depressing, occasionally inspiring political culture, written from inside the belly of the beast.In this candid personal memoir, the honorable gentleman from Minnesota takes his army of loyal fans along with him from Saturday Night Live to the campaign trail, inside the halls of Congress, and behind the scenes of some of the most dramatic and/ or hilarious moments of his new career in politics.Has Al Franken become a true Giant of the Senate? He asks readers to decide for themselves.

Every Heart a Doorway (Wayward Children) by Seanan McGuire

"A mini-masterpiece of portal fantasy a jewel of a book that deserves to be shelved with Lewis Carroll's and C. S. Lewis' classics" NPR

Children have always disappeared under the right conditions; slipping through the shadows under a bed or at the back of a wardrobe, tumbling down rabbit holes and into old wells, and emerging somewhere... else. But magical lands have little need for used-up miracle children.Nancy tumbled once, but now she's back. The things she's experienced... they change a person. The children under Miss West's care understand all too well. And each of them is seeking a

Alone: Britain, Churchill, and Dunkirk: Defeat Into Victory by Michael

Combining epic history with rich family stories, Michael Korda chronicles the outbreak of World War Two and the great events that led to Dunkirk.An epic of remarkable originality, Alone captures the heroism of World War II as movingly as any book in recent memory. Bringing to vivid life the world leaders, generals, and ordinary citizens who fought on both sides of the war, Korda, chronicles the outbreak of hostilities, recalling as a prescient young boy the enveloping tension that defined pre-Blitz London, and then as a military historian the great events that would alter the course of the twentieth century.For indeed, May 1940 was a month like no other. The superior German war machine blazed into France, as the Maginot Line, supposedly "as firmly fixed in place as the Pyramids," crumbled in days. With the fall of Holland and Belgium, the imminent fall of Paris, the British Army stranded at Dunkirk, and Neville Chamberlain's government in political freefall, Winston Churchill became prime minister on this historical nadir of May 10, 1941. Britain, diplomatically isolated, was suddenly the only nation with the courage and the resolve to defy Hitler. Against this vast historical canvas, Korda relates what happened and why. Such alarm was hardly exaggerated. No one, after all, could have ever imagined that the most unlikely flotilla of destroyers, Dutch barges, fishing boats, yachts, and even rowboats would rescue over 300,000 men off the beach at Dunkirk and home to England. The miraculous return of the army was greeted with a renewed call for courage, and in the months that followed, the lives of tens of millions would be inexorably transformed, often tragically so, by these epochal weeks of May 1940.

ESTATE PLANNING FOR THE NEWLY MARRIED

Now is the perfect time to start working on an estate plan-because, as newlyweds, you may not have a list of your accounts, but you've effectively just done a working inventory of your possessions—as you've figured out how to consolidate two households into one. You've already been working on the new banking and shared responsibility of bills and taxes and so forth.

Use all that time and energy and work as a leapfrog into planning for your future—so you'll be that much more prepared for the house, the kids, and the next stages of your new life together.

Why Think About Estate Planning at This Point?

Even if you have few assets, you probably have more than you think. Still, putting together a will or a trust is probably very straightforward at this point, since, as we just talked about, you recently did an accounting of your collective

You may have heard of California state laws that give your property to a spouse if you don't have a will. These laws-known as intestacy laws-vary depending on your circumstances and can sometimes have results you wouldn't expect. And, intestacy requires your estate to go through probate—a court proceeding that can take years, to resolve. So a basic estate plan should give you some peace of mind—knowing loved ones are taken care of if anything should happen.

You can even plan for property you don't yet own (a house you may buy someday) and provide for children whenever they arrive on the scene. And once you have that initial plan in place, you can easily update it as your circumstances and assets then estate planning may lead to tax benefits, now and more information.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

Who Can Make Decisions For Me, If I Can't?

In the U.S., a power of attorney (POA) is a legal document that designates someone else (often a spouse) to make financial and other decisions on your behalf. In the financial realm, your POA can sign contracts, file lawsuits on your behalf, and more. Depending on the exact language, you can grant the POA broad powers, or something more limited to an issue or situation.

One specific form of POA is in effect only if you are unable to make decisions on your own-such as an emergency or illness. And you can have that type of POA for both the financial side of things, as well as one relating to your medical care.

What Kind of Care Would I Want?

An advanced directive (also known as a living will) is a document that makes clear the kinds of medical interventions you'd prefer if you're unable to make decisions for yourself. In some ways, think of this as an emotional insurance policy: You make decisions now, so the people you love won't have to later when you are unable to guide them. This can also make it easier for your spouse to make emergency decisions if you've named them as a medical

Who Will Look After The Kids?

If you don't yet have kids but want them someday, realize that an estate plan is essential for families with children. The state statute providing assets for a spouse will also include some inheritance for children. How much depends on how many children. However, when it comes to guardianship, you need a will to designate caregivers for the children, should something happen to both parents. You'll want to name both temporary and permanent guardians. Without these documents, the court decides on the children's caregiver, and they may end up in foster care while the court makes its decision.

As you start your new life together, one of the best ways to begin is by planning for the future, whatever it may bring. We've been helping families of all ages and kinds for years, and we'd be delighted to help you, so let us know if you have

"LESSONS FROM THE GEESE": TEAMWORK & LEADERSHIP LESSONS FROM NATURE

Nature provides us with a bounty of lessons that can be applied to business. Simple, yet profound, the following Fact 4: The geese flying presentation about migrating geese provides some poignant insight into what it takes to work together successfully as a team. This analogy includes five facts relating to geese inflight, with lessons that we can apply to our personal and professional lives.

Fact 1: As each goose flap its wings it creates an "uplift" for the birds that follow. By flying in a "V" formation, the whole flock adds 71% greater range than if each bird flew alone. Lesson: People who share a common sense of direction and community can get where they are going quicker and easier because they are traveling on the thrust of one

Fact 2: When a goose falls out of formation, it suddenly feels the drag and resistance of flying alone. It quickly moves back into formation to take advantage of the lifting power of the bird immediately in front of it. Lesson: If we have as much sense as a goose we stay in formation with those headed where we want to go. We are willing to accept their help and give our help to others. Fact 3: When the lead goose tires, it rotates back into the formation and another goose flies to the point position. Lesson: It pays to take turns doing the hard tasks and sharing leadership, as with geese, people are interdependent on each other's skill, capabilities and unique arrangement of Fact 4: The geese flying in formation honk to encourage those up front to keep up their speed.

Lesson: We need to make sure our honking is encouraging. In groups where there is encouragement, the productivity is much greater. The power of encouragement (to stand by one's heart or core values and encourage the heart and core of others) is the quality of honking we seek.

Fact 5: When a goose gets sick, wounded or shot down, two geese drop out of formation and follow it down to help and protect it. They stay until it dies or can fly again. Then they launch out with another formation or catch up with the Lesson: If we have as much sense as geese, we will stand by each other in difficult times as well as when we are strong.

This rendition of "Lessons from Geese" was transcribed from a speech given by Angeles Arrien at the 1991 Organizational Development Network, which has been broadly touted as being based on the work of Milton Olson. However, in a 2009 article written by Sue Widemark, she learned that the original version was written in 1972 by science teacher, Dr. Robert McNeish for a sermon he delivered in his church. Widemark discovered this information while conducting additional research that resulted in a personal conversation with the daughter of Milton Olson.

TRUMP'S UN ADDRESS CONTAINED A DANGEROUS DOGWHISTLE

Presidential addresses to the United Nations General Assembly don't get a lot of press here at home, but they do matter to listeners around the world. And those who heard President Trump's first such address earlier this week may have noticed one concept repeated throughout: sovereignty. Most American high school students learn about sovereignty in the domestic context: popular sovereignty, or the notion that power rests with the people, is one of our political system's most admirable and distinguishing features. In international relations parlance however, a country is considered 'sovereign' if it has control over its

Sovereignty gained traction as a guiding principle in the international system in the mid-1600s as 'nation-states' - political units matching peoples and contiguous territories - began asserting authority against empires, religious authorities, and royal families. (This was first possible only in Europe; colonized peoples around the world had to fight much harder and longer for control of their own destinies.)

Simplified history aside, this all sounds like a good thing. Countries should be in charge of themselves, free from foreign influence and external machinations. So what's wrong with President Trump repeating that during his big speech? The devil here is in the context. President Trump's repeated invoking of 'sovereignty' came across like a dogwhistle - a wink to authoritarian regimes and a warning the rest of the world.

One problem with talking about sovereignty today is that authoritarian regimes use the same concept to nefarious ends. China, for example, rejects criticism of its human rights record in the name of sovereignty - think "what we do to our political prisoners is none of your business." And Russia talks about sovereignty to justify its annexation of Crimea, claiming that the Ukrainians who live there are really Russians who want to be ruled as such (though they aren't, and they don't).

These countries have also used sovereignty as an excuse to stop international action in crises where leaders are massacring their own people, including when they want those same leaders staying in power (e.g. Russia, which benefits from Bashar Al-Assad's continued brutal rule in Syria). So when President Trump emphasizes sovereignty over and over again, it undercuts the moral authority of the United States to hold other nations to a higher set of common standards.

But it won't just be the bad guys who hear a backwards message in the president's speech. By championing strong and independent states, President Trump was undermining the notion that countries need to be working together rather than at cross-purposes to solve today's global challenges. With our security and prosperity tied together with that of folks around the world whether we like it or not, now is the time to be extending a hand in cooperation for the long run rather than stepping back.

It's why the America First ideology makes so little sense at this moment. It may be reassuring for some of President Trump's supporters to hear him rail against handouts, but the fact of the matter is that it is America who needs the world's help now more than ever. No man is an island, and no country is either - no matter what walls we build

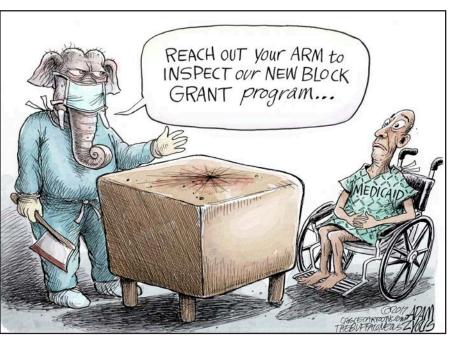

So what should we have heard in President Trump's inaugural address to the United Nations? What underlying concept would better guide his foreign policy approach? In short, multilateralism: We must insist that collective action is the key to defeating everything from violent extremism to climate change and pandemic disease to nuclear proliferation.

And just as we have always stepped up to fight big problems, America should be leading the way rather than promoting a free-for-all void of standards or values. International institutions can do good in the world if we work hard to make them robust, proactive, and accountable; turning our backs on what the Greatest Generation built after World War II is an approach as lazy as it is self-fulfilling.

All of this may sound like semantics and nitpicking for a speech that few Americans tuned in for. But when the President of the United States speaks, the world listens - and what they heard was the wrong message for the reality we face.

BEYOND TRUMP - CAN AMERICANS SURVIVE EACH OTHER?

by two very different authors, take us deep into the tribalism that marks our politics. Both should serve as a wake-up call for what we risk losing as a culture -- as a nation -- if we fail to reconcile our differences and heal long-festering national wounds.

Writing at The Atlantic, journalist and author Ta-Nehisi Coates offers a bleak view of the stinging white privilege that fired Donald Trump's ascendance to the White House last November, positing, convincingly, that the unifying principle guiding America's "first white president," is the "negation of Barack Obama's legacy."

"It is often said that Trump has no real ideology, which is not true - his ideology is white supremacy, in all its truculent and sanctimonious power," Coates writes early on, laying out in painstaking detail, in paragraph after paragraph, page after page, how the former real estate mogul speaks to the insecurities of white voters who see the nation changing around them, but who are unwilling (or unable) to adjust to it.

"In Trump, white supremacists see one of their own. Ônly grudgingly did Trump denounce the Ku Klux Klan and David Duke, one of its former grand wizards - and after the clashes between white supremacists and counter-protesters in Charlottesville, Virginia, in August, Duke in turn praised Trump's contentious claim that "both sides" were responsible for the violence," Coates writes.

Meanwhile, in New York Magazine, veteran journalist Andrew Sullivan, in a thoughtprovoking piece called "America Wasn't Built for Humans," posits that "Tribalism was an urge our Founding Fathers assumed we could overcome. And so it was become our greatest vulnerability."

Looking at the tribal warfare that's riven Iraq or Syria, where people who look exactly alike, who live next door to each other, and then kill each other with ruthless efficiency over gradients of religious disagreement, Sullivan wonders "what it must be like to live in a truly tribal society."

Then he realizes he doesn't have to. He's already living it in 21st Century America.

"Over the past couple of decades in America, the enduring, complicated divides of ideology, geography, party, class, religion, and race have mutated into something deeper, simpler to map, and therefore much more ominous," he writes. "I don't just mean the rise of political polarization (although that's how it often expresses itself), nor the rise of political violence (the domestic terrorism of

Two essays this week, the late 1960s and '70s was far worse), nor even this country's ancient black-white racial conflict (though its potency endures)."

What Sullivan sees now is "a new and compounding combination of all these differences into two coherent tribes, eerily balanced in political power, fighting not just to advance their own side but to provoke, condemn, and defeat the other."

If you've ever gotten into a political argument at any moment after Trump descended the escalator at Trump Tower in June 2015, then you know exactly what Sullivan is talking about here.

It's no longer enough that we disagree with each other - left or right - we have to hate each other. We have to want to see the arguments of the other destroyed or defeated.

We've lost the capacity to talk with each other. Instead, happily ensconced in our own confirmation-bias bubbles, we merely talk past each other.

Coates, meanwhile, sees one bloc - white voters, or at least those white voters who unquestioningly back Trump - cleaved off from the rest of the rest of the culture and enabling his nationalist excesses.

"The scope of Trump's commitment to whiteness is matched only by the depth of popular disbelief in the power of whiteness. We are now being told that support for Trump's "Muslim ban," his scapegoating of immigrants, his defenses of police brutality are somehow the natural outgrowth of the cultural and economic gap between Lena Dunham's America and Jeff Foxworthy's," Coates writes.

Coates ends his lengthy essay with the proposition that "The first white president in American history is also the most dangerous president—and he is made more dangerous still by the fact that those charged with analyzing him [whites] cannot name his essential nature, because they too are implicated in it."

Sullivan's essay is equally unremitting in its bleakness, but also offers a path forward, though it is neither easy nor certain.

"No tribal conflict has ever been unwound without magnanimity. Yitzhak Rabin had it, but it was not enough. Nelson Mandela had it, and it was. In Colombia earlier this month, as a fragile peace agreement met public opposition, Pope Francis insisted that grudges be left behind," he writes.

Sullivan is right that such an embrace is both difficult and counterintuitive. But, he argues it's absolutely necessary.

After all, he concludes, "no one ever claimed that living in a republic was going to be easy - if we really want to keep it." And that, right there, is the trick.

MAKING SENSE by

LOVING TRUMP'S

U.N. SPEECH Donald Trump's speech to the United Nations on Tuesday was not just great, it was totally refreshing.

The president's address to the U.N. General Assembly was so perfect it almost made me forget all the horrible speeches his predecessor gave to that corrupt, bloated and anti-American body For the first time in eight years the world saw an American president not spending half his time apologizing o the U.N. for our country's past, present and

President Obama's U.N. speeches always managed to make it sound like the United States was no different from Iran and North Korea.

He'd say we're going to stop their evil, and we're also going to stop our evil, as if there was a moral equivalency between us and those inhuman hellholes.

On Tuesday President Trump did not pussyfoot around or ignore the obvious threats the rogue regimes of North Korea and Iran pose to a peaceful planet.

He blasted both countries, calling them out for violating "every principle on which the United Nations is based. They respect neither their own citizens nor the sovereign rights of

"If the righteous many do not confront the wicked few," Trump said, "then evil will triumph. When decent people and nations become bystanders to history, the forces of destruction only gather power and strength."

Trump, being Trump, also said what needed to be said about North Korea's dictator Kim Jong Un and his missile program.

Liberals and the media went ballistic over Trump branding Un as the "Rocket Man." As usual, the media, which themselves have called Un every name in the book, missed the strengths of Trump's speech and concentrated on what they thought was a politically incorrect gaffe or a presidential goof.

But "Rocket Man" was brilliant. It was a way to mock and insult Un while giving him a public warning that if the U.S. is "forced to defend itself or its allies ... we will have no choice but to totally destroy North Korea.'

The president got his U.N. speech 100 percent right. Unlike President Obama, who blamed America first, Trump always puts America first.

He and his speechwriters also deftly explained to his unfriendly audience what he meant by "America First."

He said as president of the United States he will always put his country's interests first, just as each of them would put their country's interests first.

The U.N. rank and file apparently couldn't understand that idea, unfortunately, because most of them routinely put themselves first, not their own countries.

Listening to President Trump speak to the U.N. on Tuesday was a real treat -- like listening to an American Bibi Netanyahu.

Bibi himself recognized the resemblance, which is why the Israeli leader tweeted his praise

"In over 30 years in my experience with the U.N., I never heard a bolder or more courageous speech. Bibi knows the U.N. and how to address it and its gaggle of bureaucrats and professional

America-haters. When the Israeli leader goes before them he always tells them exactly what they need to hear, but there's one problem -- no one ever listens.

It'd be really nice if the U.N. people were listening this time to Trump.

It'd be nice if they'd react positively to his call for the U.N. to do what it was founded to do defend the sovereignty, security and prosperity of all peaceful countries and stand together against rogue nations like North Korea and Iran.

But unfortunately, in the real world probably half of the U.N. people who come to New York are not coming to work for world peace and greater prosperity. They're coming to see their mistresses and rack up hundreds of unpaid parking tickets.

The purpose of the amendment is to establish a registration program for vacant properties in the R-1 Zone (Single Family Residential), R-2 Zone (Two Family Residential), Hillside Management Zone, and Residential Canyon Zone. The purpose of the requirement is to protect neighborhoods from the effects of vacant properties that are not adequately maintained and to address health and safety issues that may arise at the property. The registration requirement will identify three responsible parties that can respond

At the meeting on August 17, 2017, the Planning Commission conducted a public hearing and recommended to the City Council adoption of MCTA 17-05.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION The Municipal Code Text Amendment is exempt from the California Environmental Quality Act ("CEQA") pursuant to CEQA Guidelines §§ 15060(c)(2), 15060(c)(3), and 15061(b)(3). The Ordinance will not result in a direct or reasonably foreseeable indirect physical change in the environment; the ordinance does not involve a "project" as defined by Section 15378; and the ordinance is covered by the general rule that CEQA applies only to projects that have the potential for causing a significant effect on the environment. Therefore, it may be seen with certainty that there is no possibility this ordinance will have a significant effect on the environment.

APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing.
