DRIVER SUSPECTED OF DUI CRASHES INTO YARD/UTILITY POLE

On Monday, April 23, 2018 at approximately 4 pm, a female driver lost control of her vehicle on N. Lima near Highland in Sierra Madre. The accident happened near Sierra Madre Elementary School.

According to Detective Henry Amos of the SMPD, the driver, who is from El Monte, was in her twenties and sustained injuries that required her to be taken by ambulance to the hospital. It was at the hospital that she was cited by the police for driving under the influence. There were no other injuries.

Amos discussed the increase in such accidents and referenced the SMPD Facebook post:

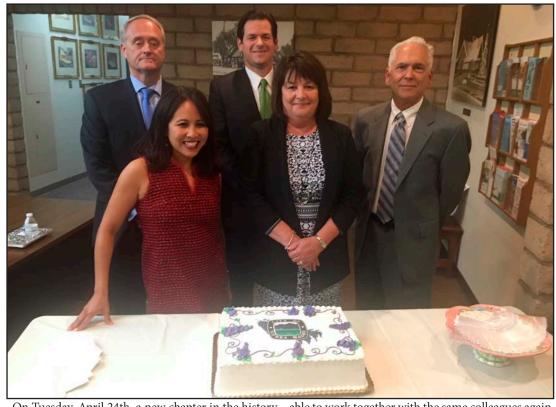

"Distracted driving is a public health issue that affects us all. The latest statistics show motor vehicle fatalities are up 6% from 2015. More than 40,000 people were killed on our nation's roadways last year, and distracted driving is a major contributor.

Thankfully this was not the scene of a fatal accident ... just a reminder from the Sierra Madre Police Department."

LADIES NIGHT:

DENISE DELMAR ELECTED MAYOR; OUTGOING MAYOR RACHELLE ARIZMENDI HONORED

On Tuesday, April 24th, a new chapter in the history of Sierra Madre began. The City Council elected Denise Delmar as Mayor. She follows outgoing Mayor Rachelle Arzmendi and it marks the first time in the 111 year history of Sierra Madre that women have held the office of Mayor for two consecutive terms. In addition, former Mayor John Harabedian was elected as Mayor Pro Tem which will, if tradition is followed, allow him to serve two terms as Mayor within a 4 year period. Councilman and Former Mayor John Cappoccia declined the position of Mayor Pro Tem to give John that opportunity.

There were other firsts that evening. The newly appointed City Clerk, Sue Spear, administered her first Oaths of Office to the three re-elected councilpersons, Delmar, Arizmendi and Councilman Gene Goss. Spear was appointed to fill the unexpired term for the previous City Clerk in resigned earlier this year.

Mayor Delmar expressed her excitement at being able to work together with the same colleagues again. She thanked everyone for their support of the council and their support of her re-election.

Former Mayor Rachelle Arizmendi was recognized for her achievements during her term in office by Mayor Delmar on behalf of the city. Those accomplishments included (partial listing) presiding over 23 regular and 2 special council meetings, ushering in a fiscally balanced budget and presiding over the establishenent of the city's first fully paid Fire Department.

Arizmendi was also honored by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, and the representatives from the offices of Congresswoman Judy Chu, State Senator Anthony Portantino and State Assemblyman Chris Holden. A reception followed the the meeting with the traditional 'Sierra Madre Cake'.

The first council meeting for Mayor Delmar will be held on May 3, 2018

DO YOU HAVE A STORY TO TELL?

Do you have a Sierra Madre memory to tell? This is your chance to have it recorded on video and stored at state and local archives. You will be part of the state historical record! AND there will be a presentation here in town of all the Sierra Madre videos created.

Sierra Madre Historical Preservation Society members have regaled us with all kinds of wonderful memories of their lives in town – we know you have stories to tell! If you were raised here, what experiences and adventures did you have? If you moved to Sierra Madre, what was it like then compared to now? Do you have a memory connected to a place, or to a person - maybe a leading citizen of our town, or even a local character? These are just a few ideas to get you thinking what memory you'd

Part of this memory-gathering project, California Listens, is a free 2-day workshop to create your little video (photos or memorabilia relating to your story are a big plus!). The workshop team will work with you all the way through, and you'll end up with skills that could be useful for recording memories for your family, or doing other video projects. The California Listens Digital Storytelling Workshop is set for Friday and Saturday May 11-12, 2018 from 9 am to 5 pm at City Hall, located at 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. in Sierra Madre.

In the workshop, participants will make a short video on a computer and will learn: how to make a great video story, how to write a narration script and record it, how to prepare a visual treatment for a story, and the basics of video editing in WeVideo. Powerful and fun! Anyone can contribute regardless of experience or technical level.

The deadline to apply is April 28th. To apply, visit: storycenter.org/sierramadre_or submit a paper application to the Sierra Madre Public Library. You can drop your application off at the library or mail it to them (Sierra Madre Public Library, 440 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Sierra Madre, CA 91024). Or you can apply online at the website storycenter.org/sierramadre.

The workshop is free, but pre-registration is required. Those taking part must commit to preparation time, attendance during the entire two days.

Collected video stories will be shared at a presentation during the summer and will become part of state and local archives of stories about what it means to be Californian. View collected stories at californialistens.org

SIERRA MADRE POLICE BLOTTER

April 15 to April 22, 2018 - During this period, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 337 day and night time calls for service.

Tuesday, April 17

Officers were flagged down in regards to a grand theft. The victim parked his work truck with gardening equipment in the 00 block of Park Ave. The victim had a lawn mower and a hedge trimmer in the bed of his truck secured with a chain and lock. Victim went to retrieve the lawn mower and hedge trimmer and saw they were missing. The victim discovered the lock had been cut with an unknown tool. The suspect(s) left the scene in an unknown direction. Case to Detectives

At about 9:49PM a vehicle was stopped for a vehicle code violation in the 100 block of W. Sierra Madre Bl. The driver of the vehicle provided false information to a police officer and was found to be unlicensed. Further investigation revealed that the driver also had an outstanding arrest warrant and that the license plate of the vehicle had a registration tab that belonged to another vehicle. The driver was arrested and transported to the Pasadena Jail. The passenger was the owner of the vehicle and was cited for the registration tab violation. Case to Pasadena DA's office

Saturday, April 21 A report was filed by a resident stating that she parked her vehicle in her assigned carport in the 400 block of W. Sierra Madre Bl. and left the vehicle unlocked. On April 21, 2018, at about 7:00AM she discovered her vehicle had been ransacked and property was missing. Unknown suspects(s) entered the vehicle through the unlocked door, ransacked the interior and removed victim's property. Case to Detectives 11:00AM

Between April 20 and April 21, 2018, a theft of personal items from an unsecured vehicle was reported to have occurred in the 400 block of Mariposa Ave. Case to Detectives

WALKING SIERRA MADRE... The Social Side By Deanne Davis

"Upon the palms of my hands I have written your name." Isaiah 49:16

"The keys to happiness are in your hands."

"A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest..." Proverbs 24:33

The beautiful little hands here in the picture belong to Jessie and Emily, my Texas girls. My hope is that these little hands will never have anything happen to them that is not

This edition of Walking Sierra Madre...The Social Side is being written on Wednesday, April 18th. You'll be reading it around April 28th when, hopefully, the writer will have recovered from having hand surgery on Friday, April 20th. Never having been a great typist at any time in her life, the writer, due to Dupuytrens Contracture, has now had to resort to the hunt and peck method to get words on the page. What on earth is Dupuytrens Contracture, you're asking?? "Over the course of time with Dupuytrens Contracture, fibrous tissue in the palm thickens and tightens. This causes one or more fingers to progressively stiffen, bend and lose flexibility." Yep, that's what's happened over the last few decades to the little finger on my left hand. Thankfully, not my right hand as that might have interfered with my ability to eat! On Friday, my hand surgeon, Dr. Shankar Lakshman, will fix this whole thing. It's day surgery, I get to go home almost immediately and, if all goes well, will be able to type again using all ten fingers!

It's been an exciting week around town as the movie people have invaded us again. I'm always delighted to see the movie folks come to town as they bring revenue with them. I realize not everybody's thrilled as there's no place to park and the sidewalk on Baldwin is jammed with people, reflector lights, more people and equipment. I don't mind having to walk a little further to get to the bank or Best Buy Drugs, because everywhere I look, movie people are walking around with coffee cups from our Starbucks, sitting in front of plates of enchiladas at Casa Del Rey, and doing a little shopping at all our shops. Revenue, friends and neighbors, they bring in revenue. Welcome them and encourage them to spend more.

A few weeks ago, they were filming an episode of Little Big Lies and transformed the former Petunia's into the Sunshine Beach Café, and this time around, Petunia's is "Antics Antiques." Foothill Tek was magically reconfigured into the cutest saloon ever. What they've been filming, by the way, is a new series for HBO entitled Camping, starring Jennifer Garner, written by Lena Dunham and Jenni Konner. It's a comedy so let's watch for it and tell everybody it was filmed right here at home!

Being unsure of when I'm going to be able to use my left hand to full capacity again...which leaves me wondering how on earth I'll be able to do anything with my hair or dress myself... I have a strange desire for muffins. One of the many things I liked to do with my husband - (Barbara Bush passed away yesterday at 92 years of age and she referred to her husband as "my hero." I like this so much that I shall incorporate that term when speaking of John, who now resides in heaven, because he really was my hero.) - was stay at Harris Ranch, which is in Coalinga, which you've never in your entire life heard of.

The Inn at Harris Ranch is beautiful, comfortable, relaxed, and it's possible to sit out by the pool and not see another person all day. For breakfast, we go to their Ranch Restaurant where they make the most astonishing biscuits. The Los Angeles Times graciously published the recipe for Harris Ranch buttermilk biscuits! But, being me, I can't leave well enough alone, so I changed the recipe slightly and made it better (easier) skipping that rolling out the dough and cutting out biscuits part and move right into muffin tins. I'm making these tomorrow to have when I get home Friday with my hand totally restored to its original shape

Preheat oven to 375 degrees and grease your 12 space muffin tin.

1 egg

1-1/3 cups buttermilk (it's been my experience that very few people just happen to have 1-1/3 cups buttermilk so I put 2 Tb. white vinegar in a measuring cup, add enough milk to make 1-1/3 cups and let it sit for a few minutes while I assemble the rest of the ingredients.

2-3/4 cups flour

2 Tb plus 2 tsp. sugar

¼ tsp. salt

1/8 tsp. baking soda

1 Tb plus 2 tsp. baking powder

Mix all these dry things together. 2/3 cup cold butter cut into 1" pieces - If you've got a pastry cutter, cut the butter into your dry ingredients mixture till it's the size of small peas. If you don't have a pastry cutter, a fork will do fine.

Very gently stir the liquid into the flour-butter mixture, stirring as little as possible (too much stirring makes for tough muffins, which we definitely don't want). It will thicken before your very eyes! Spoon your muffin mix into the muffin tin. Bake 25-30 minutes, remove, butter, pour a fresh cup of coffee, sit down somewhere pleasant, and enjoy!

Gold Line Back on Schedule

As of press time Friday, the Metro Gold Line was running every 20 minutes and expected to be in full service by today after an overturned FedEx truck early Thursday morning led to a two day closer of the Gold Line after the truck landed on the train tracks near Lake Ave.

Metro shut down both directions of the line around 1:30 a.m. when the accident was first reported.

According to police and news reports, a hit-and-run driver stuck a FedEx big rig causing a second FedEx truck to slam into it. The first truck then hit the center divider and overturned onto the tracks. The driver of the car is still being sought.

At the time, the 210 freeway was shut down as crews cleaned up and removed the truck from the tracks.

One of the FedEx drivers was taken to a nearby hospital with minor injuries.

The cash is under investigation.

Pet of the Week

Lobo (A453205) is a beautiful brindle pit bull looking for a loving home. This two-year-old is a volunteer favorite; he greets each visitor with a wagging tail. He is super friendly and affectionate, and is generous with his face licks. He listens well to commands, knowing his "sit," "down," and "shake." He likes time in the social yard, running around and playing with a tennis ball. Come visit Lobo today at the Pasadena Humane Society.

The adoption fee for dogs is $130. All dogs are spayed or neutered, microchipped, and vaccinated before going to their new home.

New adopters will receive a complimentary health-andwellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

View photos of adoptable pets at pasadenahumane. org. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email.

Council to Hear Homeless Count Numbers

A staff report released Thursday, by the city's Housing and Career Services Department, shows that the homelessness count rose 18 percent in Pasadena over last year with 677 people having no place to live on a given night compared to 575 during last

The city council is set Monday night to hear the full results of the 2018 count conducted the evening of January 23 and the morning of January 24.

"The sharpest Increases were seen among those living on the streets, in parks, encampments, vehicles, or other places not meant for human habitation," Housing and Career Services Director William Huang wrote. "During the 2018 Homeless Count, 462 people were living on the streets, or 68 percent of the total homeless population. That number is 33 percent higher than the number of unsheltered persons in 2017 [347].

While this one-night count offers a snapshot of homelessness, the number of people who are homeless on any given night fluctuates throughout the year Huang said.

City staff also noted that "people living on the streets are our to offset recent increases in homelessness, especially among

ARCADIA: 45 DAYS UNTIL A NEW MAYOR AND MAYOR AMUNDSON'S WISE DECISION

By Joan Schmidt

Arcadia's April 24th Special City Council Meeting DID NOT bring a new Mayor on board. Rather a 45 day extension to review charges concerning Sho Tay's use of campaign funds, the Brown Act, and voter fraud.

After the flag salute and prayer, the audience was told that Council Member Tom Beck was in South Africa, but during a five minute recess, Beck would be contacted by phone; then Beck would be available to listen to and participate in discussion and any voting.

Mayor Amundson told the attendees that there would be order; Police Chief Guthrie was standing in the aisle on one side of the Chambers, and Fire chief Lang on the other side. There was to be NO STANDING in the aisles.

City Manager Lazzetto said there were 35 speakers' cards. Amundson reminded the residents of a 2 minute limit; he would say "time's up", and the speaker should stop. Overall most did, but a few continued on. Were some cantankerous? Yes, and also rude and ugly. There were many Asians in support of Tay to be Mayor, as well as a few Anglo residents. Those who did not support Tay included Candidates Jolly Wu, Joyce Platt and former Mayor Gail Marshall. The allegations included Tay's funds, raised for his own campaign but given to Harbicht and Chandler's campaigns. I have no idea of the validity of this; even City Attorney Deitsch was not sure and would look into it. Another allegation said information was put out with Scott Hettrick's name on it; supposedly it was penned by someone in Tay's campaign. Again and me to leave. See you all in 45 days!!!

these are purely conjecture; I am only relaying what occurred at the meeting.

When it became time to vote; Mayor Amundson implored the Council to have a 45 day wait; these allegations could be investigated, and it would give people a chance to calm down, to review all the facts. Unfortunately, the vote was "no". Chandler, Verlatto and Tay voted "no". Beck and Amundson, "yes".

So there was going to be the reorganization. However there were two nominations: Mayor Pro tem Sho Tay and Council Member April Verlatto. The first vote was for Sho Tay. Tay and Chandler voted, "Yes"; Amundson, Beck and Verlatto, "no", so Tay didn't get in.

The Second vote was for Council Member Verlatto. Chandler and Tay voted "no". Beck and Verlatto voted, 'yes". But the surprise: Amundson voted, "no". So Verlatto vas not voted in either!

It took A LOT of GUTS for Mayor Amundson to vote "no". And perhaps he lost many supporters. But what he did was fair and I believe morally correct. Verlatto still can be voted in. But at least Sho Tay will have a chance to answer charges and I, for one, want to know if what he did with his campaign funds was wrong.

And of course after neither Tay or Verlatto got in, Chandler and Verlatto were questioning the 45 day wait. Thank goodness, it was put to a vote, and even Tay voted "yes". At that point, the meeting was still going on, but it was time for fellow Town Council member Linda Sells

ARCADIA POLICE BLOTTER

For the period of Sunday, April 15th, through Saturday, April 21st, the Police Department responded to 917 calls for service, of which 100 required formal investigations. The following is a summary report of the major incidents handled by the Department during this period.

Sunday, April 15:

Just after 3:00 p.m., an officer contacted a subject sitting in a parked vehicle near a closed business the area of Goldring Road and Kardashian Avenue. The subject was found to be in possession of methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia. The 34-year-old male from El Monte was issued a citation.

At approximately 8:30 p.m., officers were dispatched to 7-Eleven, 102 East Huntington Drive, regarding a shoplifting report. The suspect entered the store and selected several food items. He then left the store without paying. He was described as a male Hispanic, approximately 20-years-old, wearing a grey sweatshirt and backpack.

Monday, April 16:

At about 4:30 p.m., an officer was dispatched to the 11,000 block of Goldring Road regarding an abandoned vehicle. An investigation revealed it had been reported stolen from El Monte the day before. The suspect had removed all four tires and rims. The investigation is ongoing.

Just before 11:00 a.m., an officer responded 7-Eleven, 102 East Huntington Drive, regarding a suspect attempting to pay with a fraudulent credit card. The suspect was seen fleeing the scene in a silver vehicle. Officers conducted a traffic stop on the vehicle and contacted the occupants. An investigation revealed the driver was on parole and had two outstanding warrants for her arrest. She was also found to be in possession of methamphetamine, drug paraphernalia, ammunition and a stolen credit card. One of the passengers was discovered to be in possession of stolen driver's licenses, blank credit cards, a check reader and drug paraphernalia. The 22-year-old female from Los Angeles and the 39-yearold male from Burbank were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Tuesday, April 17:

At approximately 8:30 a.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 300 block of East Haven Avenue regarding a residential panic alarm. The unidentified suspect entered the residence by smashing a rear glass door. The victim returned home and saw the suspect, who was wearing a black hat and a dark heavy jacket, inside her home. The suspect stole a purse then ran through the house to the rear yard and over the wall. The investigation is ongoing.

At around 8:30 p.m., an officer noticed a U-Haul van without a front license plate in the parking lot of the Extended Stay Hotel, 401 East Santa Clara Street. An investigation revealed the van had been reported stolen from Long Beach in early March. The named suspect was located inside the hotel. The 41-year-old male from Long Beach was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Wednesday, April 18:

At about 8:30 p.m., an officer conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle without license plates in the area of Huntington Drive and Santa Clara Street. The officer contacted the occupants of the vehicle and an investigation revealed the driver was in possession of stolen passports, checks and mail and the female passenger had an outstanding warrant for her arrest. The 31-year-old male and the 32-year-old female from Pasadena were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Thursday, April 19:

Just before noon, officers were dispatched to the 1800 block of Anita Crest Avenue regarding a possible burglary in progress. Two male Black suspects wearing hooded sweatshirts were seen exiting a vehicle and entering the rear yard of a residence. The driver of the vehicle then drove away from the location. Officers located the vehicle nearby and detained the driver. The suspects were seen jumping fences and were ultimately located and detained. Officers confirmed a burglary had been committed in the immediate area. The 19-year-old male from Palmdale, the 18-year-old female from Lancaster and the 17-year-old male from Pasadena were arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

At approximately 12:30 p.m., officers responded to the intersection of Huntington Drive and Santa Anita Avenue regarding a traffic collision involving a vehicle and a pedestrian. The pedestrian was crossing the intersection when he was struck by a vehicle making a right turn. The vehicle then overturned. All of the involved parties survived the collision.

Just after 2:30 p.m., officers responded to the 400 block of West Norman Avenue regarding an activation of an Arcadia Police Department GPS tracker. Arcadia PD detectives had previously deployed decoy packages containing bait property and tracking devices to combat the increase in package thefts from residential areas. Officers monitored and tracked the package to a vehicle parked near Baldwin Stocker Park. An investigation revealed a 38-year-old female from Pasadena had stolen the package on her way to pick up her niece from school. She was arrested and transported to the Arcadia City Jail for booking.

Friday, April 20:

Just before 12:30 a.m., an officer was dispatched to a residence in the 2800 block of Winthrop Avenue regarding a burglary report. An investigation revealed an unknown suspect entered the home through an unlocked rear sliding glass door and ransacked the residence before fleeing in an unknown direction. The victim stated there was no loss due to the fact that the house was a part-time residence and no valuables were kept at that location.

At approximately 4:30 p.m., an officer responded to a residence in the 1900 block of Alta Oaks regarding a burglary report. The officer determined the suspect had entered the home by smashing a rear glass door. The suspect then ransacked the residence before fleeing the scene in an unknown direction. The loss was unknown due to the owners being out of town at the time of the burglary.

Saturday, April 21:

At about 9:30 a.m., officers responded to a residence in the 1100 block of Rodeo Road regarding the report of a burglary. The gardener had arrived at the location and discovered a shattered rear window. The time of the burglary was unknown since the owner stated she had not been at the location since April 4th. The owner stated there

At around 10:30 a.m., an officer responded to the parking lot of the Arcadia Police Department to contact a victim of an auto burglary. The victim stated she had parked her car on the first floor of the parking structure at 24 Hour Fitness, 125 North First Avenue around 9:00 a.m. She left her purse on the back seat under a jacket and locked all the doors and armed the car alarm. She returned around 10:00 a.m. to find the rear driver side window had been smashed and her jacket and purse were missing. No suspects were seen and no witnesses were located.

SCAG RECOGNIZES OUTSTANDING PROJECTS IN THE REGIONWITH 2018 SUSTAINABILITY AWARDS

San Gabriel Valley Cities Recognized For Collaborative Partnership

Seven exemplary and innovative planning projects stations, were made car-free on March 5, 2017. Eight will be honored in a ceremony on Thursday, May 3 as winners of the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) 2018 Sustainability Awards.

Recipients of the 11th annual awards include municipalities, agencies, non-profit organizations and developers throughout the six-county SCAG region. The SCAG Sustainability Awards are the region's highest honors for projects that promote and improve mobility, livability, prosperity and sustainability in Southern California. These plans and projects are integral to carrying out the goals and policies of SCAG's 2016-2040 Regional Transportation Plan/ Sustainable Communities Strategy, and promote a cleaner, healthier and happier Southern California.

We're honored to present these awards, which recognize the best of the best when it comes to improving the quality of life of our communities and the region," said Margaret Finlay, City Council member for Duarte and President of SCAG. "When we talk about sustainability, it encompasses so much, but we want to especially recognize cities that integrate land use and transportation to improve our lives. As these projects illustrate, there is a tremendous amount of innovative and meaningful work being done across our region."

The highest honor, for Outstanding Achievement in Sustainability, will be awarded to the City of Long Beach for a combination of three projects that demonstrate a holistic approach to sustainable planning. "Long Beach is honored to be recognized for outstanding sustainability efforts amongst municipalities, agencies and organizations throughout Southern California," said Long Beach Mayor Robert Garcia. "This award is a testament to our commitment to promoting mobility and livability throughout our City.'

The Sustainability Awards winners will be formally honored at SCAG's 53rd annual Regional Conference and General Assembly, taking place at The Renaissance Indian Wells Resort & Spa in Indian Wells. Over 850 civic, business and non-profit agency leaders will be in attendance.

The 2018 honorees by category are:

ACHÍEVEMENT OUTSTANDING SUSTAINABILITY City of Long Beach | 2017 Bicycle Master Plan, Communities of Excellence in Nutrition, Physical Activity and Obesity Prevention (CX3) & Willow Springs Wetland Restoration Project This year's award for Outstanding Achievement in Sustainability recognizes the City of Long Beach for their overall excellence in two distinct plans and one project. Combined, these three efforts demonstrate the City of Long Beach's holistic approach to sustainability that includes improvements in mobility, public health and natural lands restoration.

ACTIVE TRANSPORTATION City of Cathedral City & SCRAP Gallery | Cycle Cathedral City Bicycle Outreach and Education Program The purpose of Cycle Cathedral City is to educate and empower while promoting bicycle use. By providing a year-round series of projects and events, the program encourages residents to use more active transportation for their health and environment. Goals set for the program are to encourage biking, provide opportunities for students and residents to get more exercise, recycle donated and salvaged bikes and encourage community and student leaders to make sustainability a priority. AGAINST ALL ODDSCity of San Fernando | Corridors Specific Plan The Corridors Specific Plan fosters sustainable development patterns, encourages public transit and walking and biking within the downtown area and the surrounding neighborhood. San Fernando overcame multiple challenges in reaching successful adoption of the Plan including community pushback, budgetary constraints, a staffing shortage, regulatory constraints and difficulties that come with being an economically-disadvantaged community.

GREEN REGION City of Rancho Cucamonga Rancho Cucamonga Sustainable Community Action Plan The Sustainable Community Action Plan is a unique triple-bottom line approach to drive comprehensive sustainable change across not only Rancho Cucamonga's environment but also its economy and community health and equity. Five key areas that the plan targets include energy and water efficiency, land use and open space, transportation and mobility, community health and environmental equity. HEALTHY AND SAFE COMMUNITIESCity of Perris | Live Well Perris Adopted in concurrence with the General Plan Healthy Community Element, Live Well Perris is a campaign to provide opportunities and create initiatives that provide citizens a platform to live a healthier, active lifestyle. Activities have included urban farming, free workout sessions, sports clinics for children, city-wide health fairs, hikes, yoga and a farmers market. INTEGRATED PLANNINGCity of Hermosa Beach | PLAN Hermosa A combination of the city's two key planning documents, the General Plan and the Local Coastal Program, PLAN Hermosa raises the bar for General Plan updates in Southern California by addressing new and critical topics like climate change and sea level rise. Using diverse outreach methods, PLAN Hermosa thoughtfully engaged the community and set a consistent graphic style and tone that contributes to the long-term utility of the document. The officer stopped the bicyclist and a computer check revealed the subject had a warrant for his arrest; he was arrested and taken into custody.

Vehicle Burglary April 21 at 9:00 a.m., a resident in the 900 block of W. Foothill went to her car and discovered someone had shattered her car window. She found the suspect had entered her vehicle and stole her wallet, checkbook and ID. This investigation is continuing.

p.m., Special Enforcement Team officers stopped a vehicle in the 2600 block of S. California for a driving violation. A probation search of the vehicle revealed the occupants were in possession of narcotics. The occupants were issued citations.

Warrant - Suspect Arrested April 21 at 7:08 p.m., an officer was patrolling the 3300 block of S. Peck when he saw a female subject lying across the sidewalk. The officer stopped to see if she needed medical assistance, but found she was only sleeping. A computer check revealed she had a warrant for her arrest, so she was arrested and taken into custody.

Grand Theft April 21 at 11:34 p.m., a female subject was sitting on a bench with her friends in the 100 block of E. Colorado with her purse on the bench next to her. A male subject approached the bench and grabbed her purse, then fled the area.

A VISIT FROM NANA

The first time I realized that dogs come in a wide variety of packages (aka: breeds) and they Happy Tails each have their own unique personality that may or may not match the package they came by Chris Leclerc in, was when I was 5 years old and my paternal grandmother, whom we affectionately called Nana, came to visit from Florida.

It was Spring of 1968, and Nana drove her spitshine Chevy Impala from Mount Dora to our house in Huntsville, Alabama all in a single day. She drove it alone, excepting the company of her dog, Terry-D. I remember my parents being worried sick about her making that drive by herself, but if you'd known my Nana you'd agree there was no talking her out of doing something she'd set her mind to doing.

My grandmother was one strong-willed woman. Endearingly so, I think. When she was a young lady, she was featured in a local Boston newspaper as being the first female in the state of Massachusetts to own and operate a used car lot. I'd be willing to bet she may have even been the first in the country to do so. Yes, Marie was a piece of work, greatly respected and admired by all who knew her.

I remember looking very much forward to her arrival that Spring day. She would always come bearing gifts for us kids, which was no small feat considering there were seven in our brood, the youngest of which was me. I'll never forget what my gift was that visit. She brought me a neat little leather miniature bowling bag stuffed full of shiny new pennies. There were 100. I thought I was the richest kid in town.

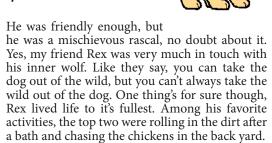

And then, of course there was the anticipation of knowing that when Nana arrived, she would have with her that precocious Pomeranian. That's right, Terry-D was a pouty, pampered, pedigree Pom-Pom, all full of pep and vim as my dear ole dad used to say.

And, as if being the perfect specimen of a Pomeranian didn't make him cute enough, Terry-D also happened to have been of the petite Pom persuasion. Yep, under all that stick-straight strawberry-blonde hair, were cankles (short for canine ankles) as tiny as toothpicks. Although I don't think anyone ever bothered to tell Terry-D that. It seemed he deemed himself quite large, strutting his puffy stuff all about with a swagger that'd put John Wayne to shame.

Now, at the time of Nana's visit, our own family dog was a "mystery-mutt" we'd rescued from the local shelter. His name was Rex and he was my first love. By that I mean he was the first dog I ever had a meaningful connection with. He'd follow me everywhere I went, but if he ever got distracted from tracking my trail, I'd go find him and follow him everywhere he went.

Rex was the sweetest, most loving pup you could ever hope to meet, but he wasn't exactly what you'd call well-mannered.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

Needless to say, when rambunctious Rex met nose-to-nose, up-close and personal with tiny Terry D for the first time, it was - as young folks today like to say - "ON"! Around and around they both ran, Terry D tearing first through the house, then out the back porch screen door and down the concrete stairs into the yard, around the rabbit cages and through the chicken coops with that raucous Rex hot on his tail the entire way.

It was quite a scene, seeing that itty bitty blowfish of a dog, Terry D with legs spinning like wheels on their axes, eyes as wide as saucers, peering over his frail, furry shoulders at Rex's enormous shiny black nose closing in fast on his fancy fur-pants. Rex gave it his best bolt, mouth fully agape and tongue flopping alongside his cheek, dripping with saliva from all the excitement.

Without skipping a beat, my sister and I hopped to our feet and took chase behind Rex, hoping against hope to catch him before he caught up with Terry-D. I learned that day that Pomeranians can run pretty fast! Certainly faster than that cute (albeit clumsy) canine we called Rex. Good thing, too, because while Rex was a sweet dog, we weren't too sure what might happen if he did catch up with teeny tiny Terry-D.

Thankfully, Rex ran himself ragged and relaxed on the kitchen floor before he ever caught up with that poor Pomeranian, and by the end of Nana's visit the two had become fast, forever friends. I've since seen similar scenarios, between I've owned over the years as well as those belonging to my clients, but none can compare to the race between Rex and Terry D and the amazement it brought to my young eyes that Spring day when my Nana came to visit our humble home in Huntsville, said, "Today, I will meditate. I'm going to sit down, be quiet and clear my mind"? I have said this exact thing SO many times, but when I approach meditation this way, it is TOUGH. My body and mind want to do the exact opposite of being quiet and getting clear. My thoughts aren't easy to turn off. So, I watch my thoughts and, boy, are there a lot of thoughts. Getting comfortable is also problematic in this approach. Some part of me always needs adjusting--my feet or knees or clothing. After about three minutes, I'm exhausted by the process. My body may feel a little calmer just from sitting still, but afterward, I don't feel like my head settles down and I don't notice a sense of quietness inside. This was the way I tried meditation for a long time. It was an earnest spiritual effort on my part since I was taking time to try it, but it didn't produce the sense of transformation that I had heard from others. My experience changed when I applied technique to my approach. There are many methods and styles of meditation which do work well. However, it was the approach of the ancient tradition of Tantra that changed everything for me. Let's define Tantra as you ever ancient teachings that use and weave all the tools of yoga to create an experience of joy and transformation. There is no impure nature to this practice. There's a focus on shaping each individual's energy. The ancient sages of this method were so smart, they said let's not resist the mind. Let's give the mind jobs to do and keep it active. There's breath practice, cleansing techniques, visualization of specific images, and use of sound, or mantra. This is a different approach from many styles. While doing these "jobs," the mind becomes trained and focused. It actually reaches a deeper state of stillness and absorption. After meditating in this systematic way, the experience of stillness is profound. When I began meditation with a Tantric approach, my experience during the meditations was transformational. I also was able to establish a consistent practice. My mind felt calm, my body relaxed and I felt a deep internal connection. My awareness of breath and energy shifted. I highly recommend a structured approach such as this one. At the very least, apply a basic breath practice prior to meditation. Use the sound of the breath as a focal

EASE IN MEDITATION

CINCO DE MAYO CELEBRATION REVIEW AND PREVIEW

Just this past week I had the opportunity to sit down with one of the most determined and dedicated restaurant owners that we have in Pasadena area, Blair Salisbury owner of the El Cholo Café. Though, his restaurant is well known, Blair still looks after his baby with the greatest of care.

Self described as "nuts and crazy," Blair's lineage is that of a restaurateur. The Borquez family launched the Sonora Cafe in 1923 in a small storefront on Broadway and Santa Barbara Ave. After a patron doodled a picture of a man and called him El Cholo (the name commonly known for a field hand at the time), Alejandro Borquez loved the picture of the man so much that he changed the name of Senora Café to El Cholo in 1925. The following year, George Salisbury meets Aurelia Borquez and they fall in love and decide to open their own El Cholo. Racing ahead to the year 2000, Blair, the grandson of George opens El Cholo Cafe in Pasadena, on Fair Oaks. For those of you old enough to remember, it was once the John Bull English Pub. I found out that Blair was determined to open in Pasadena, he was a moment away from Old Town Pasadena, but the Cheesecake Factory beat him to Colorado and Fair for everyone. I descended upon the PLATO DE Oaks location.

Blair still desired to move into the heart of Old Town and his hopes were realized with the opening of the restaurant at the Paseo. Blair said, "It feels as though it has been here all along. It just felt like the staff and surroundings didn't miss a beat." Truly Pasadena feels like home to El Cholo Café, and Blair wouldn't have it any other way!!!

The restaurant is expansive, with a patio that overlooks Colorado Blvd. and the snow capped San Gabriel Mountains. They offer two different bars, one as you walk in, akin to a service bar, and a great place to wait for a table and enjoy a "Killer" Margarita, and a back bar just next to the Patio. Offering large screen TV's and perfect for slumbering and enjoying the show as they make your Guacamole tableside.

The menu is full of different combinations, Blair better, and he tries to give a little bit of selection Arcadia CARNITAS, roasted pork, served with fresh avocado relish, Pico de Gallo, Nopales, rice and beans When I go to a Mexican Restaurant I always try the pork. It was stunningly tender and fresh, and may be the best that I have ever tasted. My dinner companion gave two thumbs up to the Shrimp Sizzling Fajitas I was just about stuffed when Blair brought out the Blue Corn Chicken Enchilada for us to try. It is item that made El Cholo famous. A must try for anyone eating at the restaurant. Of course I had a Margarita. A Single Margarita that seemed to have the power to bust a piñata. If you love Mexican Food like I do, or just want to spend a sleepy Sunday at the bar with guacamole and chips. Save a seat for me. El Cholo Paseo Pasadena.

PUSD DEALS WITH BUDGET CRISIS; BUT REMAINS HOPEFUL

With enrollments down and county officials breathing down their necks, the Pasadena Unified School Board took the first big steps toward financial recovery by voting 5-1 on hefty budget cuts back in February 2018, and by March identified a whopping $14.3 million in potential slashes for the 2018-19 school year.

The district's initial approach was to grab the bull by the horns and assemble a committee to tackle the arduous, enigmatic task of finding ways to save money without upsetting the balance of bringing excellent educational resources to the many students from Pasadena, Altadena and Sierra Madre.

In March, the District approved Resolution 2444, allowing for the cuts of over 100 certified positions, but hope to save some positions now by offering attractive early retirement options to long-term teachers.

The theme for the Pasadena Unified School District (PUSD) for 2018 and beyond will be refocusing on the "instructional core," or the important interactions between students and teachers, the quality content being consumed, policies leading to improvement and implementing applicable ways to fund it all.

In addition to a decline in enrollment, benefits and health care costs for staff has gone up to add to an already $5.7 million deficit PUSD schools found themselves with to start the 2017-2018 school year. Though cuts have already been announced, and parents and teachers alike have raised many fears and concerns in what seems to be a grim situation, hope blooms as educators, administrators and the community are doing their part to keep schools

Lawrence Torres is a long-time educator and current vice president of District 6 in PUSD. He represents that area that includes Sierra Madre. Torres has confidence in the school board, teachers, students, volunteers and the Pasadena community as a whole to come together and make it work. But right now, he knows there is a tough, uphill road ahead. "California is 47th in education. I can't stress that enough," Torres directly points out. "Back in the 60s, and 70s, we were number one."

Unlike most states, California and Hawaii rely on their state capitals to pay for schools, while the rest of the country receives funding from local property taxes. Torres, who will become school board president of his District in May, says Pasadena's predicament came as a result of a "triple whammy" which includes declined enrollment, pension obligations, which has climbed from 12% just eight years ago to 20% this year, and lastly, how special education is funded.

"Certain kids cost more to educate because you need more resources," Torres noted singling out programs such as dual-language and special education. "The state changed the way they fund these programs and PUSD ended up losing money because they use to pay per student and now [the state] assumes you have so many students [in these programs] and they'll provide them so much money, when we actually have more students than the assumed amount," according to Torres.

The "triple whammy," Torres describes, in the long run just can't be sustained. The District, as a result has to take a good look at how it does business, and be ready to change. "The real frustration is that every school district is doing the best it can, with the money they are given, but we're making choices between librarians and special Ed aides," Torres said. "And it's not like we can do without either...we need it all and

Cuts in staff leave the District with even more dilemmas to deal with, for example what to do when spikes in enrollment occur in classes such as kindergarten, or adding additional responsibilities on the shoulders of current teachers to make up for cuts in aides and librarians. And we haven't mentioned that these teachers need raises too.

This year, PUSD let go over 50 special education aides, gave layoff notices to over 65 teachers, and cut programs such as ETK (Early Transitional Kindergarten), and culinary arts, and career and technical education in some schools. Eighty percent of school budgets are people and PUSD will be left with less people to do the task of teaching area students. Furthermore, there were cuts in transportation availability (buses) and even talks earlier in the year of closing schools, which Torres hopes can be avoided. "I've spoken to several board members and I think we need to really look at it and come up with a master strategy...it's an agonizing decision," Torres stresses.

Torres hopes to see an improvement in school financing in years to come and praises the public for pushing through various school funding measures. He also praises the school workforce. "They have been doing a spectacular job. The Sierra Madre schools have been doing a wonderful job with the resources we've been able to give them. We are just trying to be the best stewards of the public's money that we can be," Torres said. In fact, parents in Sierra Madre have come together to create a popular Math club for afterschool for students excelling in math. Kids are preparing for high school by tackling algebra, geometry and, yes, even calculus by 8th grade. Luckily, PUSD was able to get a grant to keep this program going. So there are bright spots in this

The District hopes that facing this fiscal challenge will allow the PUSD team to work together, address the 'root causes' of pending issues and make fundamental changes that will benefit all.

HOW TO FIND GREAT VOLUNTEER VACATIONS

THE GOOD LIFE

Dear Savvy Senior,

My husband and I are approaching retirement and are interested in learning more about volunteer vacations. Can you give us some information on this travel option, and refer us to some good organizations that offer these types of trips.

Love to Travel

If you're looking to do more on your next vacation than relax in the sun or go sightseeing, volunteer vacations - also known as voluntourism - which combine travel and volunteer work, are a great alternative and a growing trend among retirees.

Volunteer Vacations

There are many organizations today that offer shortterm volunteer vacation projects in the U.S. and abroad, lasting anywhere from a few days to a few

Common program themes include teaching English, working with children and teens, building and repairing homes and schools, and assisting with community or environmental projects.

In addition, volunteer vacations also give travelers the opportunity to experience the culture more fully and connect with the local people - much different than your run-of-the-mill sightseeing vacation.

Most volunteer vacation groups accept singles, couples and families and you don't need to speak a foreign language. Costs usually range from around $1,000 to $3,000 per week, not including transportation to the country your site is in. Fees typically cover pretrip orientation information, room and board, on-site training, ground transportation once you get there, the services of a project leader, and a contribution to the local community that covers material and services related to the project. And, if the organization running your trip is a nonprofit, the cost of your trip, including airfare, is probably tax-deductible.

Where to Look

While there are many organizations that offer volunteer vacations, here are some good ones that attract a lot of retirees.

Global Volunteers (Global Volunteers.org): A pioneer in global travel, this group tackles hunger, poverty and educational needs. It offers a variety of one, two and three-week service programs in 17 countries, including the U.S.

emphasis in environmental conservation and research, they offer dozens of one and two-week expeditions in countries all over the world.

Cross-Cultural Solutions

How to Choose

YOUR INVITATION TO AN EVENT AT THE KENSINGTON SIERRA MADRE

With so many different volunteer vacations to choose from, selecting one can be difficult. To help you decide, you need to think specifically about what you want. For example: Where you want to go and for how long? What types of work are you interested in doing? What kind of living situation and accommodations do you want? Do you want to volunteer alone or with a group? Do you want a rural or urban placement? Also consider your age and health. Are you up to the task, or do you have any special needs that will need to be

Once you figure out what you want and spot a few volunteer vacations that interest you, ask the organization to send you information that describes the accommodations, the fees and what they cover including their refund policy, the work schedule and work details, and anything else you have questions about. Also, get a list of previous volunteers and call

WHAT DO URANUS' CLOUD TOPS HAVE IN COMMON

Even after decades of observations, and a visit by the Voyager 2 spacecraft, Uranus held on to one critical secret, the composition of its clouds. Now, one of the key components of the planet's clouds has finally been verified.

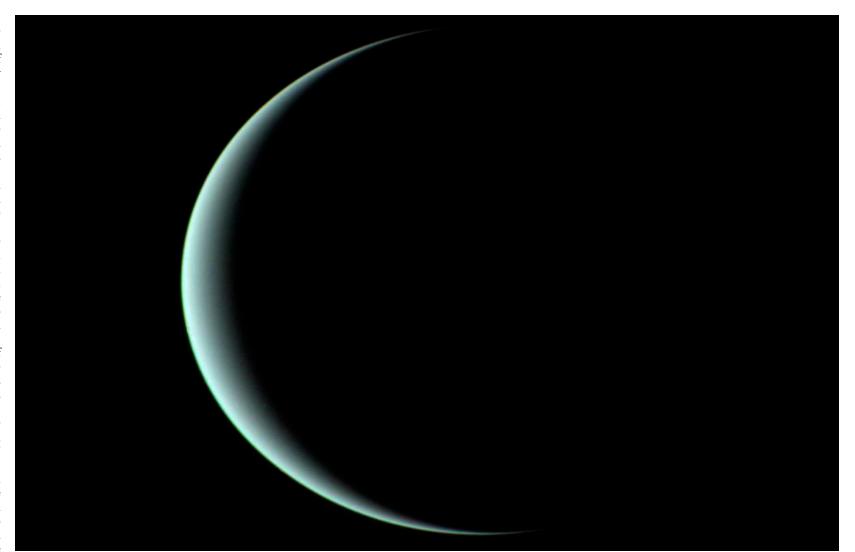

Patrick Irwin from the University of Oxford, UK, and global collaborators spectroscopically dissected the infrared light from Uranus captured by the 8-meter Gemini North telescope on Hawaii's Mauna kea. They found hydrogen sulfide, the odiferous gas that most people avoid, in Uranus's cloud tops..

The Gemini data, obtained with the Near-Infrared Integral Field Spectrometer (NIFS), sampled reflected sunlight from a region immediately above the main visible cloud layer in Uranus's atmosphere. "While the lines we were trying to detect were just barely there, we were able to detect them unambiguously thanks to the sensitivity of NIFS on Gemini, combined with the exquisite conditions on Mauna kea," said Irwin. "Although we knew these lines would be at the edge of detection, I decided to have a crack at looking for them in the Gemini data we had acquired."

"This work is a strikingly innovative use of an instrument originally designed to study the explosive environments around huge black holes at the centers of distant galaxies," said Chris Davis of the United State's National Science Foundation, a leading funder of the Gemini telescope. "To use NIFS to solve a longstanding mystery in our own solar system is a powerful extension of its use." Davis adds.

Astronomers have long debated the composition of Uranus's clouds and whether hydrogen sulfide or ammonia dominates the cloud deck, but lacked definitive evidence either way. "Now, thanks to improved hydrogen sulfide absorption-line data and the wonderful Gemini spectra, we have the fingerprint which caught the culprit," says Irwin. The spectroscopic absorption lines (where the gas absorbs some of the infrared light from reflected detect according to Irwin.

Each leaf is darker green on the upper surface, and the under surface is lighter green, with a characteristic wooly surface. The tree produces white flowers in the late autumn, and its golden-yellow fruits are often abundant on the trees. The small oblong fruits can be about two inches long, give or take. The flesh is sweet and free of fibre, and each fruit contains a few large brown seeds. The flavor is sweet, but with a slight sour tang. They're a bit addicting once you get used to them. If the tree is cultivated in your yard, you can produce some bigger fruits by simply irrigating and fertilizing. If the trees are just allowed to go wild, the fruits tend to get smaller each year, though still delicious. Sometimes in our local wild areas, you can see where someone stopped to have lunch and then spit out the brown seeds, which readily sprout. I think loquats are great simply chilled and eaten fresh. You can remove the seeds, and serve a bunch of the fruit with some ice cream. If you're on the trail and you happen upon some loquat trees in fruit at the time, just stop and enjoy a few!

Though they're drought tolerant, they will still produce better fruit if they are watered somewhat regularly and fertilized with some regularity. The leaves of the loquat are used in Chinese medicine to make cough syrup.

I ENJOY A MESS, ESPECIALLY MINE

Parsonage and I were in a lined up in order. little bit of a tussle this past

This was one of those times.

I was in the study area of our home doing some kind of work when my wife came in, looked around with both hands on her hips and said, "What is all of this mess about?"

At first, I didn't quite understand what she was talking about. In fact, I usually don't understand what she's talking about first off. Experience has taught me that if I just nod in the affirmative and smile the problem will go away. This time it didn't

"I'm referring to," she said rather sarcastically, "all of this mess in this room!"

The problem I was having at the time was her definition of "mess." I have found throughout my married life that we differ on definitions.

It is true, we use the same words, but those words have different meanings to her then to me. My wife has the habit of finely defining her words to the letter. I, on the other hand, just generalize.

If you ask her how much money she had in her purse, she would say, "I have $21.19." If you asked me the same question (eliminate the purse) I would say, "I have around $20."

She is precise whereas I don't care about the exact numbers. When she said, "All of this mess in the room," it had a different meaning than what I understood it If, for example, one book is slightly out of line with the rest of the books, the room is a mess.

I look at my room as "my room," and I should be able to have it, as I wanted to be. If I want it to be messy, then I'm going to let it be messy. My idea of messy is having my things surrounding me. Nothing is more cozy than being surrounded by what my wife calls my "mess."

Continuing her conversation, she said, "What are we going to do about this mess?"

When she said the word "we" I was confused. I knew I wasn't going to do anything about what she called the mess in my room and I didn't know if she had somebody that was going to help her do something about the mess in my room. She just looked at me as though she was expecting a response from me. I'm assuming a positive response.

Stuttering for a few moments as I was trying to collect my thoughts and when thoughts wander com.

Sometimes it is completely unavoidable. legitimate mess in my room, I would've spotted it. I did not know what she was talking about.

Staring at her and she staring back, she finally said, "We need to clean up this room!"

I suppose everybody has a different way of ordering their life. I like to order my life by having everything spread out in front of me. And, for any reason, if I can't find something, it simply means I don't really need that something.

I have known my wife to search all day for one thing, then when she found it, it was too late to do anything about it.

Life is rather easy for me along this line. If I don't have it, I don't need it. I only need what is right in front of me and what I can access right away.

Looking down at the floor, I said rather softly, "I don't think we need to clean up this room at all." "What did you say?"

At that point, I knew I was in some kind of trouble, although what, I wasn't sure. So I repeated what I had to say.

"I don't think we need to clean up this room at all. In fact," I said as slowly as possible, "I like it the way

I know my wife was trying to help me get my room organized so I could find whatever I needed when I needed it. That's just not the way my clock ticks. I'm grateful that my clock ticks at all for that matter. I don't go with that pattern that she lives and dies by. Everything has to be in its proper place, according to her.

Me, on the other hand, I just have to be in the

As she turned her back and left my room, I couldn't help but think of a verse of Scripture, "And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise" (Luke 6:31).

You may not like my mess but I certainly enjoy it.

Inventory has been lightening lately and the Market Action Index has been trending up. Though days-on-market is increasing, these are mildly positive indications for the market.

Supply and Demand

The market continues to get hotter. More sales demand and fewer homes listed have contributed to a relatively long run of increasing prices. Current supply and demand levels show no sign of prices changing from their current trend.

The Market Action Index answers the question "How's the Market?" by measuring the current rate of sale versus the amount of the inventory. Index above 30 implies Seller's Market conditions. Below 30, conditions favor the buyer.

APRIL'S GREAT TOWN COUNCIL MEETING AND A SPECIAL VISITOR

By Joan Schmidt

April's Monrovia Arcadia Duarte's Town Council Meeting was great-it had a good attendance and much information was given. In addition, we had a visit from Arcadia's Mayor Peter Amundson.

If any reader doesn't know what the Monrovia Arcadia Duarte Town Council is, here goes: It one of several Town Councils in the Fifth District, founded in 1993. We are volunteer, 501 C3, but we are the Liaison between our 18,000+ residents and the Sheriff's Department and various county agencies. Pamela Park, and both the Live Oak and Duarte Libraries open. We also facilitated the Monrovia Transit System serving the unincorporated areas. Residents attend meetings, voice their concerns, and various agencies are contacted as needed to assist. Oftentimes, their issues are addressed immediately attend a meeting! He was very impressed with the as the Sheriff's Department, Supervisor Barger great turnout and questions and answers. Hope and CHP have representatives in attendance. We to see you at our May meeting at Annunciation meet once a month and rotate locations: May 15: Church Hall, 1307 E. Longden Ave., Arcadia. Gunther Novel) by Philip Kerr

A murder puts Bernie Gunther on the trail of World War 2 criminals in Greece in this riveting historical thriller in Philip Kerr's New York Times bestselling series.Munich, 1956. Bernie Gunther has a new name, a chip on his shoulder, and a dead-end career when an old friend arrives to repay a debt and encourages "Christoph Ganz" to take a job as a claims adjuster in a major German insurance company with a client in Athens, Greece. Under the cover of his new identity, Bernie begins to investigate a claim by Siegfried Witzel, a brutish former Wehrmacht soldier who served in Greece during the war. Witzel's claimed losses are large , and, even worse, they may be the stolen spoils of Greek Jews deported to Auschwitz. But when Bernie tries to confront Witzel, he finds that someone else has gotten to him first, leaving a corpse in his place.Enter Lieutenant Leventis, who recognizes in this case the highly grotesque style of a killer he investigated during the height of the war. Back then, a young Leventis suspected an S.S. officer whose connection to the German government made him untouchable. The Prince of Tides: A Novel by Pat

"A big, sprawling saga of a novel" (San Francisco Chronicle), this epic family drama is a masterwork by the revered author of The Great Santini.Pat Conroy's classic novel stings with honesty and resounds with drama. Spanning forty years, it's the story of turbulent Tom Wingo, his gifted and troubled twin sister, Savannah, and their struggle to triumph over the dark and tragic legacy of the extraordinary family into which they were born. Filled with the vanishing beauty of the South Carolina Low Country as well as the dusty glitter of New York City, The Prince of Tides showcases an American original at his very best. A great book!

The Winds of War by Herman

Like no other masterpiece of historical fiction, Herman Wouk's sweeping epic of World War II is the great novel of America's Greatest Generation. Wouk's spellbinding narrative captures the tide of global events, as well as all the drama, romance, heroism, and tragedy of World War II, as it immerses us in the lives of a single American family drawn into the very center of the war's maelstrom. Thanks to an innovative new facial recognition tech, it could track down thousands more children so they can be reunited with their families. According to NDTV, children's rights organization Bachpan Bachao Andolan is working on a proposal that will allow the Delhi police department to use the software free of charge. The National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) is also campaigning for the software's utilization."If such a type of software helps trace missing children and reunite them with to match the facial features of any child to that of a their families, nothing can be better than this," said "missing person". WHAT MAKES YOU AN AMERICAN? Photos by Gina Long

Told with humor and with important resonances to today, The Immigrant is based on a true story of a young Jew who fled the pogroms of Czarist Russia in 1909 and pushed his banana cart into the tiny Baptist community of Hamilton, Texas. Given shelter by a childless older couple, he sent for his wife, raised a family, and made this town his home. A moving story of parents and children, newcomers and natives, Christians and Jews, and the realization of the American Dream. Learn more and buy tickets at http://sierramadreplayhouse.org

ESTATE PLANNING MISTAKES SENIORS (INCLUDING YOU OR YOUR PARENTS) CAN'T AFFORD TO MAKE

Estate planning really should become a priority as soon as you acquire your first asset, have a child, or step into adulthood in any other truly meaningful way. And yet many of us put it off for far too long, leaving ourselves and our families at risk of getting stuck in the court system in the event of an unexpected accident, illness, or injury.

I get it, planning for your incapacity and death can be scary. But it's even more frightening to think of the potential tragedies that can arise if you and your family don't have the right planning in place.

At the senior stage of life, effective estate planning is urgent, both for you and the people you love. And if you aren't a senior yet yourself but have senior parents, getting your own planning handled can serve as a model to help get your parents moving on their plan.

Here are a few of the most common errors seniors make when it comes to estate planning and how to fix them:

Relying on a will as your plan

Many people, particularly older folks, believe that a will is the only estate planning tool they need. While wills are one key aspect of estate planning, they come with serious limitations:

- probate, which is time consuming, open to the public, and expensive.
- Wills don't offer any protection if you become incapacitated and unable to make your own legal, health, and financial decisions.
- Wills don't shield assets from your creditors or those of your heirs.

• Wills don't provide protections or guidance for when and how your heirs take control of their inheritance.

If you're relying solely on a will for estate planning, you're missing out on many valuable safeguards for your assets, and you're guaranteeing your family will have to go to court when you die.

Not funding your plan properly

When it comes to a trust, it's not enough to simply list the assets you want it to cover. You must transfer the legal title of certain assets—real estate, bank accounts, securities, brokerage accounts—to the trust (known as "funding" the trust) to avoid

While most lawyers will create a trust for you, few will ensure your assets are properly funded. But we've got processes in place to keep track of our clients' assets throughout life, making sure none are lost to the state's Department of Unclaimed Property, and ensuring their families aren't inadvertently forced into court at the most inopportune time.

Not keeping your plan current

Far too often people prepare a will or trust, put it into a drawer, and forget about it. But your estate plan will likely be worthless if you don't regularly update it when your assets, family situation, and/ or the laws change.

We recommend you review your plan at least every three years to make sure it's up to date and immediately amend it following important life events like divorce, deaths, births, and inheritances.

If you aren't sure what you need, begin by coming in for a Family Estate Planning Session. It will be custom-designed to your assets, your family, your wishes, and to educate you on the best ways to reach your objectives.

We don't just draft documents; we ensure you make informed and empowered decisions about life and death, for yourself and the people you love. Call us today if you'd like more information (and mention this article to get a complimentary consultation).

Dedicated to empowering your family, building your wealth and defining your legacy,

BASIC BUSINESS MARKETING TOOL KIT

Success happens when preparation meets include links that allow visitors to choose the opportunity. Developing a marketing kit is one social media tool of their liking. of the things that every entrepreneur needs to complete. It will be used to support the successful launch and promotion of a business and should include the following items:

Logos & Taglines

McDonald's golden arches and the Nike swish are two of the most familiar corporate logos around the world. Each one is simple, with very little detail, which makes it easy to recognize no matter its size. A logo should be designed so that it is still easily recognizable when it is reduced to a size small enough to fit onto a business card. A tagline, also referred to as a slogan, should be succinct and memorable like the Nike "Just Do It" tagline that launched a marketing campaign that is remembered to this day. Many companies have several designs of their logo, including some layouts that include the company name or tagline.

Internet Presence

Every entrepreneur needs to determine which combination of digital media will best meet the needs of the company. Websites are no longer the only centerpiece of an online presence now that an increasing number of social media services can be customized with features to display and sell products, support customer dialogue and

Business Cards

Traditional business cards are still in demand as they remain one of the most inexpensive, tangible business tools that can be distributed to potential customers. Like the logo, the design should be simple and the style and size of the font should be easy to read. Too much information will make it look crowded and difficult to read. The main purpose of a business card is to provide contact information and where to find your company online or on social media.

Brochures, Flyers or Postcards

Businesses that cater to those in the Baby Boomers generation and older will still find it necessary to include printed marketing materials in the tool kit. These collateral materials should convey professionalism and be designed to convey the image and message that will encourage people to visit your website, join you on Facebook®, Twitter*, Instagram*, Pinterest* or other digital media. Younger people are inclined to use smart phones, tablets and computers to view information from businesses attempting to bring them in as customers.

Once completed, each tool in the marketing kit can be used to build the company's brand.

THE ALTERNATE STATES OF AMERICA

We, in America, have been living in alternate states of reality for quite some time. They are neither red or blue. They are states of consciousness and perception.

New borders and boundaries have been erected to divide us. They're often alphanumeric in construction; rising and falling with every stroke of a keyboard, button-push of a remote control, or swipe of a touchscreen. They open the gates to awareness, while simultaneously shutting the door on reason.

How we perceive our world is increasingly defined by the cable channels we view, the radio stations we listen to, the websites we surf, and to a lesser extent - sadly - the

For as long as the printing press has existed, journalists have expressed differing points-of-view. In their earliest incarnations, books, pamphlets, and newspapers were put out by individuals who voiced their opinions in hopes of moving their readers; to convince them to take a similar stance even more than they factually covered events. The "news" was an extension of those who had the means to publish.

Newspapers historically followed this pattern in cities and towns, large and small. People "took" papers that reflected their personal values and worldview. In many communities, multiple print news outlets existed, whose coverage and advertising targeted those with similar sensibilities. Broadsheets appealed to traditional conservatives, some to more progressive audiences. Tabloids often spoke to the working-class and, sometimes, to immigrants or the radical fringe.

Reporters who wrote for those publications covered the same stories, fought for the same scoops, and spun their coverage based primarily upon those owners and publishers hoped to influence. The papers were run by upstanding citizens and civic leaders. They wielded considerable power but were not demagogues. Most sought to open readers' eyes to new realities and societal changes. Few propagated lies and deception. If only this were true today.

Demagoguery does exist, and it is motivated by both profit and perspective, no matter how distorted the prospect may be. Major media conglomerates, whose leaders have included families with names like Murdoch, Sinclair, and Breitbart, often host those who are not beyond expressing outright lies. They also accuse other mainstream outlets of purveying "fake news," no matter how well-substantiated the Brakes are rarely applied to the editorial ramblings of many of these news outlets. It's even worse online where bloggers, creators of what are truly "fake news" sites, as well as some that are more legitimate, preach to choirs comprised of the angry and disaffected; giving voice to extremist positions. And let's not forget those sites under the control of outside influencers whose sole intent is to foster discord among us.

It would be disingenuous to avoid examining the voices of other cable networks, those whose ownership is associated with corporate logos more so than surnames; the usual suspects, like MSNBC and CNN, that are targeted by right-leaning ranters. Sorry to disillusion their critics, but what is seen interspersed with opinion on those channels is news; based on hard, well-documented facts. And when mistakes or errors in judgment occur (and they sometimes do), those responsible are subjected to intense scrutiny; with public apologies, corrections, or retractions being made.

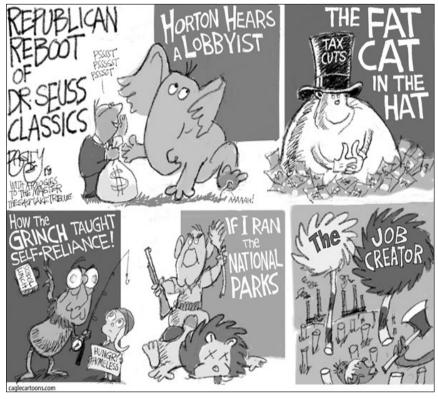

While some mainstream conservatives may cringe when extremist or ignorant sentiments are expressed by friends and colleagues, by the president, or on the channels and sites that serve as their platforms, they are loathe to publicly denounce them. Self-preservation and careerism is clearly more important than veracity.

Ongoing cries of "fake news" and the constant repetition of lies and half-truths only strengthen the borders and boundaries that divide us. Those on both sides oftentimes remain cloistered, living in separate states of reality to the detriment of

In the days before cable news and online websites ran amok, legendary journalist Walter Cronkite ended his television broadcast each weekday evening with the phrase "And that's they way it is..." And we believed him. These days, many of us don't really know who or what to believe. That's just the way it is.

SWAMP DRAINED? HOW, EXACTLY?

U.S. Rep. Lou Barletta, a Republican who hails from northeastern Pennsylvania's coal country, likes to brag about the fact he was one of his state's earliest supporters of President Donald Trump.

Insofar as he rewards displays of loyalty, Trump is backing Barletta's bid to unseat U.S. Sen. Bob Casey, D-Pa., this fall in one of the country's more closely watched U.S. Senate contests. So it was entirely unsurprising that, in a recent interview, Barletta, who's running in a two-way primary for the GOP nomination this spring, toed the Trump party line.

He fulsomely praised the president's successes and papered over his failures, both foreign and domestic, even as he wondered aloud about "what there is to be unhappy with" under the 45th

It was about as thorough a display of sycophancy as you were likely to see from a card-carrying member of a Republican Party whose principles and convictions have been left to scar horribly on a portrait hidden in the attic, even as GOP lawmakers try to present a sunny, tax-cutting, and unlined face to the rest of the nation.

But on the day that the nomination of White House physician Ronny Jackson's nomination to run the Department of Veterans Affairs went up in a mushroom cloud, Barletta was still maintaining, with a toothy grin that verged on rictus, that Trump had done an effective job of draining Washington's swamp.

"People want the swamp drained," Barletta said. "I know it's nice cliche, but we're at interesting time in history. People want change in Washington."

Which depends, one supposes, on how one defines "change." Jackson, in case you've forgotten, is the Navy vice admiral whose nomination to run the VA was put on seemingly indefinite hold amid questions about his dispersal of medication; the fostering of a hostile work environment and possible drunkenness on duty that date to his time in the former Obama administration, The Washington Post reported.

That comes on top of revelations about Environmental Protection Administrator Scott Pruitt's and HUD Secretary Ben Carson's pricey redecorating habits; Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke's flying the friendly skies with industry lobbyists; former Health & Human Services Secretary Tom Price's similar proclivity for pricey flying; ditto for Treasury Secretary Steve Mnuchin; and, of course, who can forget former VA boss David Shulkin, who got bounced after his own ethics

And never mind Special Counsel Robert Mueller's ongoing probe of Russian meddling and the indictments and guilty pleas left in its wake. Nor the scandal surrounding Trump's personal attorney Michael Cohen, or the ongoing media mastery by the adult film actress Stormy Daniels. Swamp drained? How, exactly?

Let's not forget that Trump also engineered the firing of former Secretary of State Rex Tillerson, and ushered former National Security Advisor H.R. McMaster out the door. Former Chief of Staff Reince Priebus was also among those who headed for the exits. In the vacuum created by their departures, Trump has surrounded himself with a Team of the Like Minded, in the form of new National Security Advisor John Bolton, Secretary of State nominee Mike Pompeo and economic advisor Larry Kudlow. Current chief of Staff John Kelly, who was supposed to serve as a check against Trump's worst excesses, has proven spectacularly unable to accomplish that basic task. The former Marine general even walked in his boss' footsteps when he engaged in an own ill-chosen war of words with The reshaping of Trump's inner circle that puts personality above party and principle is reflected by a wave of GOP retirements on Capitol Hill. Republicans running nationwide this primary season, meanwhile, are embracing the Trump mantle, loudly proclaiming their loyalty to the White House. That approach might work in the primaries. And Trump may be cheered by a GOP remade in his own image. But the White House and Congressional Republicans could pay dearly for it in a season that is expected to favor Democrats.

So Barletta and his ilk can go on whistling merrily past the graveyard that holds the remains of the Ed Gillespie and Roy Moore campaigns. But they may yet wonder what kind of deal they've

THE SAD STATE OF MY CALIFORNIA MAKING SENSE by MICHAEL REAGAN

PRESIDENTIAL MORALS

The Trump Haters in Washington are desperate. They can't find a way to bring down the president, so they're carpet bombing everyone around him.

Their latest victim is Ronny Jackson - the White House doctor the president chose to become the new secretary of Veterans Affairs.

Dr. Jackson - a Navy rear admiral - has decided not to pursue the job. Some people thought he didn't have the experience to run the VA, which last I saw took care of 9 million vets with almost 400,000 bureaucrats.

days, being a boss who created a toxic workplace environment.

But his administrative skills weren't what sunk him. It was the slimy attack on his moral character by Trump-hating Democrats and their pals in the liberal media. Until about half an hour ago everyone loved the good doctor.

He was a great guy, a good man. He had worked for both President Obama and President George Then came the unsubstantiated and anonymous attacks. Suddenly, Dr. Jackson was Public Enemy Number One. He was basically accused in the media of being a drug dealer, an alcoholic and, worst of all these

Rather than be trashed in public, he withdrew his name. The attack on Dr. Jackson's morals reminds me of the cheap remark made about President Trump by James Comey, the former FBI director, admitted leaker and professional truth-stretcher.

Comey has famously said he doesn't think Donald Trump has the moral qualifications to be During his triumphant book tour I've been waiting for one of Comey's friendly interviewers to ask if he thought Hillary was morally qualified to be president in 2016.

Or if he thought lying about Benghazi, erasing emails, destroying hard drives, attacking the women who accused her husband of rape, etc., etc., did not disqualify her?

And what about her husband Bill, who would have been her co-president? Did Mr. Comey think Bill has the moral qualifications to be trusted with the keys to the White House again - and left alone with the interns? While we're asking, does Comey think JFK was morally qualified in 1960. Or do serial philander-ing and adultery not count? JFK was not morally qualified to be Prez - even by today's standards. But he stared down the Soviets in Cuba, pushed for lower taxes and built a strong military.

So do I really care who Jack was diddling in his spare time? Not really. Comey's remark about Donald Trump's morals was not just another of his cheap shots. It was also a dumb thing to say. Jimmy Carter was probably the most morally qualified human on the planet ever to be president. What did he accomplish?

He gave Iran to the mullahs and he gave the rest of us gas lines, a dead economy and a sky-high

"Misery Index" (the rate of inflation plus the rate of unemployment).

Carter proved there's no connection between a president's good or bad private morals and his ability to be a good or bad president.

Trump's doing the same thing. Despite his less-than-saintly morals and his other faults, so far he's given us tax cuts, a strong economy and historically low black and Latino unemployment rates.

Plus he looks like he's on the verge of solving the North Korean nukes problem after three decades.

Of course it won't matter what President Trump accomplishes. Democrats and the liberal media will never give him credit for anything.

They hate him more than ever, but now they're beginning to realize they can't bring him down for collusion or anything else. That's why they've begun attacking the moral qualifications of people who want to work for President Trump like Dr. Jackson. More than 200 of Trump's appointments are being held up. Good luck to them if they've ever

The way things are going now, Trump's enemies would not support Jesus Christ for secretary of anything because he was pro-life, was seen talking to prostitutes and turned water into wine with-
