LONGTIME RESIDENT DON REED PASSES AWAY

Our father Donald R. Reed passed peacefully into the next life to join our mother on May 8, 2018, one month short of his 89th birthday.

He was born in Nebraska, the fourth of 4 boys. He met the love of his life, Jannene, during college. Family legend dictates that the moment he saw her from across the room during a dance he decided he was going to marry her, which he did 2 years

He served in the US Air Force during the Korean conflict and later Mom put him through law school. Ultimately he passed the bar to practice law in 4 states: Nebraska, South Dakota, Hawaii and finally California.

Mom and Dad settled down in Sierra Madre, California in the mid-1970s and Dad practiced law at a large bank in downtown Los Angeles.

He is survived by 2 daughters, Camee and Barbee (Bruce) and 4 grandchildren - Wesley (Megan), Jayne (Tyler), Sara and Henry.

Per his wishes, there will be no service. Donations in his name can be made to Boys and Girls Clubs of San Francisco. (-Submitted by the family)

WALKING SIERRA MADRE... The Social Side By Deanne Davis

"When you buy something from an artist, you're live. These were really special. buying more than the object. You are buying hundreds of hours of errors and experiments. You are buying years of frustration and moments of joy. You are not buying just one thing, you are buying a piece of a heart, a piece of a soul...a small piece of someone else's life."

What with one thing and another, including seeing 'School of Rock" at the Pantages...which was fabulous, fun and just like the 2003 movie starring Jack Black. If you have a chance to see this, by all means, go! The children in the show were incredible and my theater buddy, Leah, and I couldn't have enjoyed it more. Walking out laughing and happy is the way I like to leave a theater.

As I was saying, what with one thing and another, I didn't get to the Art Fair till late Sunday afternoon and one of the first things I saw was the quote above, displayed in a frame at one of the artists' booths. This is so true, friends and neighbors. Certainly true of those who write. When I emailed my editor, Debby Alten, the manuscript of my book, "Star of Wonder," she read it and then informed me I had used the word, "that," 763 times and the word, "just," 624 times. I was horrified and immediately started removing as many "thats" and "justs" as possible. Writer, Donald Miller, author of "Blue Like Jazz," says the first rule of writing is never use "that" ever! So when this artist spoke of hundreds of hours, she hit the nail right on the head.

The Art Fair was wonderful, as always. One of my favorite things were the clocks by Terry Cross. These gorgeous creatures made with mahogany, red oak and other beautiful woods had hand etched and hammered copper faces and pendulums, some featured a unique tile under the clock face and each one was exceptional. I also really liked the watercolors by Thomas Hoerber. These were exquisite in the use of colors and water colors aren't that easy to do. My Dad, a very successful artist himself, gave me a water color of elephants that is one of my favorites of his. This is another case where what looks so simple just plain wasn't that easy to do.

Jeff Nadler's wildlife photography was another place where I stopped to look and look as each of his photos represented an animal caught unawares. Jeff said wildlife photography requires patience and really fast reflexes.

Irene Estrin, pictured here with some of her unusual pottery pieces, displayed ceramic ornamentals in many varied colors, all with tiny places where one could insert a twig of rosemary, a flower, something

I saw some nifty ceramic noodle bowls with a hole in the side to hold one's chopsticks, and the chopsticks were included. The Sierra Madre Garden Club, much to my delight, were selling Epiphyllum cuttings at half price. These things are fabulous. Years ago, my Dad... in addition to being a world class artist, was also a gardener with green thumbs on both hands... gave me some Epiphyllum cuttings in a bright fuschia and a lovely coral. They grow like crazy and I've shared cuttings with son-in-law, Chuck Seitz, and his plants produce more flowers than mine do.

Hearing some really nice fiddle playing in the band shell, I sat down in the shade for a bit and enjoyed Jean Sudbury's renditions of "Do You Know What It Means To Miss New Orleans," and a Mexican waltz Jean gave us the name of in Spanish then said, "It means, 'Hey, It's My Song!" This was a delightful way to cool off and enjoy her relaxed set of music as other folks joined me in the shade with huge plates of food from the Olvera Street taquitos and tamales "Since 1938" food truck which was parked close by. Leaving the park with the Kensington straight ahead of me, was the best display of wistaria I've seen, right in the middle of their outside courtyard. Take a look as you drive by.

Have you seen Sierra Madre's own Triple Crown jockey, Victor Espinoza's, TV commercial? It's really cute...he's seated aboard a winning horse who promptly eats the flowers off a lady's hat and Victor uses his phone to wire her $120 for a new hat. Watch

Congratulations to Steve Heydorff on being selected the July 4th Grand Marshall. My favorite memory of Steve is going to his and Charlie Childs' Sierra Madre Brewing Company when it was in the Old Ice House on Montecito, having a glass of wine and eating peanuts in the late afternoon sunshine with my best friend and peanut connoisseur, John, now residing in heaven. Miss him, miss those good times. Have a glass of wine with someone you love this week and tell them you love them.

My book page: Amazon.com: Deanne Davis Kindle books of all sorts and hardcover "Tablespoon of Love" are on there, as is "Star of Wonder."

Pasadena Water and Power officials announced this week that they partnered the Pasadena Department and the Pasadena Housing Department to remove all available turf and install drought-tolerant gardens at all the fire stations in Pasadena. To celebrate Water Awareness Month, PWP will officially unveil the project at the Drought-Tolerant Demonstration Garden and Fire Station Open House on Saturday, May 19.

The family-friendly event will take place from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at Fire Station 37 (3430 E. Foothill Blvd). A combined total of 9,961 square feet of turf was removed at Fire Stations 32, 33, 36, 37 and 38, which is estimated to save more than 448,245 gallons of water per year. The installations were completed through a partnership with the Pasadena Housing Department Maintenance Assistance and Services for Homeowners (MASH) program.

The garden is part of PWP's larger commitment to maximizing water savings at City of Pasadena facilities through the Community Demonstration Gardens project. TWO ARCADIA UNIFIED SCHOOLS EARN CALIFORNIA DISTINGUISHED SCHOOL HONORS

Holly Avenue Elementary School and Longley Way Elementary School in Arcadia have been named California Distinguished Schools. Honoring "some of California's most exemplary and inspiring public schools," the California Department of Education recently released its list of schools that received the state's top recognition. With nearly 6,000 public elementary schools in California, less than five percent were named Distinguished Schools for 2018.

"These schools implement outstanding educational programs and practices that help California students realize their potential, and put them on the path to achieve their dreams," said State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tom Torlakson.

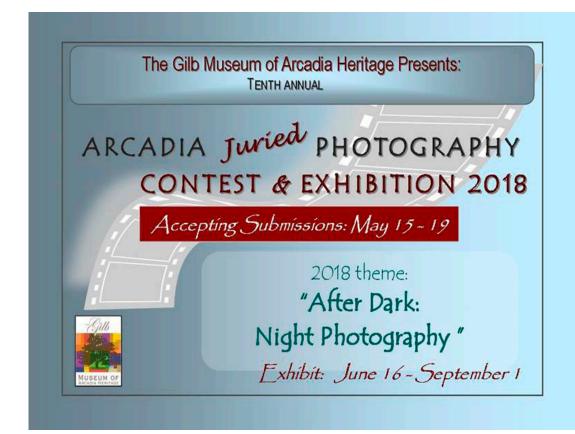

Along with all the other Arcadia Unified School District elementary and middle schools, Holly Avenue Elementary and Longley Way Elementary have both been bestowed this coveted recognition in the past.

"It's very rewarding to be recognized as two of the best schools in Southern California and the entire state," said Arcadia Unified School District Superintendent Dr. David Vannasdall. "I'm so proud of all of our principals, teachers, students, staff, and parents who really work together in so many innovative ways to help our children thrive in school."

Principals Travis Long and Teresa Oakland were joined by two of their teachers and by Dr. Vanasadall and Dr. Tom Bruce who were honored at the Disneyland Hotel by the State Superintendent and the California Department of Education last week.

The 2018 California Distinguished Schools Program recognizes California elementary schools that have made exceptional gains in implementing academic content and performance standards adopted by the State Board of Education. Schools that applied were eligible based on their performance and progress on the state indicators as described on the California School Dashboard.

CELEBRATE NATIONAL WILDLIFE WEEK

While scanning through Facebook the other day I came across a friend's post about National Wildlife Week, an annual event that observes, celebrates and educates on the remarkable wild animals that dwell in our continent's natural spaces. And as we locals well know, many tend to spend a good amount of time among us in our neighborhoods, too.

As I read the post, it inspired me to find out more about this important annual celebration. I am embarrassed to say I do not recall having heard of it before, and I wondered if there may be other animal and nature lovers out there who, like me, are unaware but would be interested in knowing that there is a week specifically set aside each year, to show our appreciation for the wild creatures we so adore.

The week-long event is organized by the National Wildlife Federation, and on their website - www.nwf.org - they have a page specifically dedicated to informing the public about it. I found it to be so interesting, I decided to share it in this week's column and encourage those who hold a special place in their heart for the preservation of our wonderful wildlife, to observe and help celebrate National Wildlife Week, 2018.

Details of the event provided on the NWF website were so eloquently and informatively written, I'd be hard-pressed to do it justice with words of my own, so I've taken the liberty to borrow some of their language in sharing the important points. Credit goes to www.nwf. org and I want to thank the people behind this amazing movement for all the work they do to manifest what could have stopped at being only a dream, into a reality.

NWF puts it all very well in a nutshell; "The rich history of National Wildlife Week dates all the way back to its first celebration in 1938. As our longestrunning education program, National Wildlife Week connects budding conservationists of all ages to the awesome wonders of wildlife. Now more than ever, these connections serve as a vital component to recovering vulnerable wildlife. For people across the nation, this week is a chance to learn more about animals native to North America, their habitats, and how we can help

This year National Wildlife Week will be held March 12-16 and since the future of our planet is ultimately in the hands of our youth, NWF offers 10 practical programs for students to participate in. There are live links to each of the referenced materials to review, download and print. NWF makes the objective quite clear; "Today's students will play a vital role in saving wildlife for future generations. These resources, assembled by the National Wildlife Federation's Eco-School USA program, provide ways for students to connect with wildlife in their

To Chris Leclerc, re: Are Pets People Too?

Count me in as a huge YES! I'm sure that all the millions of pet owners, rescue and shelter organizations, veterinary offices, groomers, etc., will heartily agree! And, along those lines, people can and should provide for their pets in case they are unable to care for them. Can't tell you how many sad stories we hear about this. Love your articles, Chris!

THE MOTHERS THAT CAME BEFORE US

It all started with my sister's simple text, "What this Mother's Day, there is so was our great grandmother's first name?" I didn't much to appreciate in our know. I'm a naturally curious relatives for all that they person, on a mission to find out more, and from the comfort my home I searched the archives of two distant states. I was reviewing the 1900 census, and I found the names of three relatives, the expected information was all there, but the education responses stopped me in my tracks. At age twenty, Henrietta was a married woman with a five-year-old child, and she could not read or write. My grandmother Charity always talked about her third-grade education, and I missed the point. My grandmother could read and write, that was a big deal. Her father, also illiterate, was a farmer, a demanding profession, and her mom was a domestic who died at the age of forty-one. My grandmother lived to the age of 91 and was proud of her work in the catering business and her ability to take care of herself.

LA SALLE HIGH SCHOOL HOSTS REGIONAL ROUND OF WORLD SCHOLARS CUP WITH LANCERS

PASADENA, CA - (May 8, 2018) - A team of La Salle High School's scholars took home a multitude of awards after the school hosted the Regional Round for the World Scholars Cup on Monday, April 30, 2018. Over 150 students and 51 teams in the senior division competed during the 14hour day. Of the 42 Lancers participating, Joshua Ng '19, Long Lin '19, and Jackie Henley '19 won first place for the Team Event and Jackie Henley finished 2nd for individual medals.

"I'm proud of my Lancer Scholars, as they had less than three months to prepare for hundreds of pages of material," said John Erb, moderator of the La Salle High School Academic Decathlon team, who coordinated La Salle's hosting of the World Scholars Cup. He added that his students "even snuck in extra time for practice debates during long afternoons and they displayed that tenacity as multiple Lancer teams went undefeated. I hope this turns into a series of future personal successes for them at La Salle and in the future."

Dear Savvy Senior,

What can you tell me about reverse mortgages for retirees? My wife and I are contemplating getting one but want to make sure we know what weOre getting into.

Dear Running,

For retirees who own their home and want to stay living there, but could use some extra cash, a reverse mortgage is a viable financial tool, but itÕs a good option for you.

Let's start with the basics.

If the financial assessment finds that you cannot pay your insurance and taxes and have enough cash left to live on, youOll be denied.

Around 95 percent of all reverse mortgages offered today are Home Equity Conversion Mortgages (HECM), which are FHA insured and offered through private mortgage lenders and banks. HECMOs also have home value limits SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the that vary by county, but cannot exceed $679,650.

NASA'S FIRST DEEP-SPACE CUBESATS SAY: "POLO!"

NASA has received radio signals indicating that the first-ever CubeSats headed to deep space are alive and well. Engineers will now be performing a series of checks before both CubeSats enter their cruise to deep space.

Mars Cube One, or MarCO, is a pair of briefcasesized spacecraft that launched May 5 along with NASA's InSight Mars lander from Vandenberg Air Force Base in Central California. InSight is a scientific mission that will probe the Red Planet's deep interior for the first time. The name stands for Interior Exploration using Seismic Investigations, Geodesy and Heat Transport.

The twin MarCO CubeSats are on their own separate mission: rather than collecting science, they will follow the InSight lander on its cruise to Mars, testing out miniature spacecraft technology along the way.

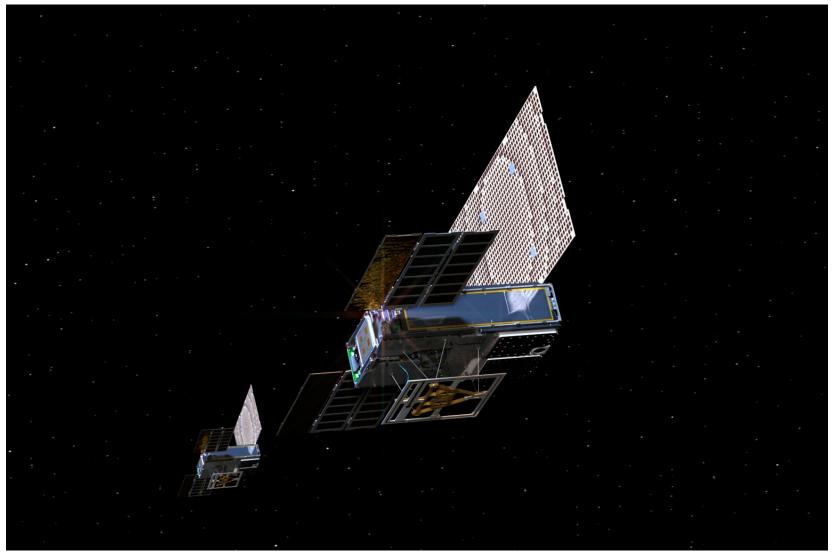

Both were programmed to unfold their solar panels soon after launch, followed by several opportunities to radio back their health.

"Both MarCO-A and B say 'Polo!' It's a sign that the little sats are alive and well," said Andy Klesh, chief engineer for the MarCO mission at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California, which built the twin spacecraft.

The computers inside each MarCO CubeSat haven't been turned on since being tested at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, in mid-March, where they were prepared for launch by Tyvak Nano-Satellite Systems of Irvine, California. Each spacecraft had to do a lot of things right by itself for the team to hear a signal: batteries had to retain enough charge for the spacecraft to deploy their solar arrays, stabilize their attitude, turn toward the Sun and turn on their radios.

A couple of weeks will be spent assessing how the MarCO CubeSats are performing. If they survive the radiation of space and function as InSight's entry, descent and landing in November. They each have a special antenna to relay InSight's majority of humanity's probes sent to land on the Red Planet.

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges A LOOK AT MOTHER'S DAY

"Squatter in Los Angeles,"

or on-line at www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com. He also participates in the exploring the real meaning of holidays via WTI, at www.wtinc.info.]

One of the victims of our uniquely "American"style capitalism and greed is the demise of real meaning within our many holy days and holidays. There is plenty of blame to go around for this, even beginning with the marketing of holiday "stuff" by the various stores, the media for going-along-with for passively accepting this dumbing-down of our sacred traditions.

When we reduce what should be a time of great reflection and learning to a time of buying foods and "stuff," we become the victims of our own ignorance. We deprive ourselves of these annual reminders that our lives should be something more, something greater than merely going through some pointless physical motions. Mother's Day is therefore not alone in the way it has been outright perverted. And this is really sad, since everything begins at home. A child learns all his or her values in the home. We have heard it said that charity begins at home, but much more begins at home. He who is undisciplined at home will practice that same undisciplined thinking in the though such is easier to hide "out there" than it is at

He or she who practices hypocrisy and dishonesty at home will practice the same in the workplace, at school, and in the community. This is so, despite the defensive denials of so many public officials who want the gullible among us to believe that what they do at home is wholly separate from "their job." No! That's a big lie. The idea that we can think and act one way at home, and another in the community, is absurd! The home is the fundamental "training ground" where one's ideas and ideals and principles can be practiced and tested "safely," and where one can grow and evolve, hopefully amidst a loving and concerned family.

The mother is more often than not the heart of family, carrying on a 24-hour a day job. The ultimate essence of motherhood is self-discipline. First, self-"learn" the most from watching what their parents do. Then there is the self-discipline of motherhood Motherhood.

Nyerges is the author of to see that all the physical and emotional and "Til Death Do Us Part?", spiritual needs of the children are tended to.

He get ups, contact him at Box 41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041, eats breakfast, goes to a job, works, comes home, eat dinners, maybe goes to a meeting in the evening, goes to bed, and repeats it all the next day.

But the scope of responsibility of a mother at home is much vaster than the father's. The mother who exemplifies the Principle of Motherhood is working at a level akin to a CEO of a company, focusing on the education, security, nutrition, and spirituality of the children. The mother, more often than not, is the psychologist and nurse, and provider the pablum messages, and the general population of entertainment and stimulating mental activities. Of course, all this is taking place while the mother must put many of her personal desires on the back

The point that is lost on so many of us today is that we have confused "the Principle of Motherhood" with a female body who has given birth to at least one child. This is a serious error in our thinking. The Principle of Motherhood is a Universal Principle, which means it's there to be studied and learned by anyone, including men (actually, especially men). The principles of motherhood can and should be studied, and practiced by all. It begins with a way of thinking, a way of taking responsibility, a way of embracing, a way of loving. Men are the most deficient in motherhood principles because they have been duped (by their peers, by society, by workplace, at school, and in the community, even themselves) into thinking that since they reside in male bodies, they needn't be concerned about that female stuff.

Men attempting to learn the principles of Motherhood create balanced and stronger men. This is equally true for women attempting to learn and apply the principles of Fatherhood.

Men perform spiritual violence upon our beloved mothers when we fall for the grossest Mother's Day marketing campaigns -- such as buying chocolates, perfume, or jewelry. (Did you already do that? Well, there's always next year!)

We have attempted for years to explore the real underlying meanings of each holiday and Holy day, and this effort has opened our eyes to how ignorant we have all chosen to become. Becoming part of the solution to this problem may seem difficult and socially-unacceptable. Though picnics and heart-felt hand-written cards have their place, it discipline to conduct one's self in a manner that is a is also good to take the time on Mother's Day to fitting example to one's children. After all, children recognize and honor our mothers, and to find ways that all of us can emulate those highest principles of mothers in our society today. I think for the most sometimes, it was not even Saturday night. part mothers get a bad rap these days, or at least they

Father, on the other hand, seemed happier when and they sure don't get the pay-package they earn. Of course, if they did nobody could afford a mother.

Sometimes it's great to remember the personal influence a person's mother has had on them throughout the years. It was Abraham Lincoln who said, "All I am or ever hope to be I owe to my mother." Perhaps he said this in lieu of a Mother's Day card. Why didn't I think of that?

Because of the way God has designed things, a person's mother is the first relationship he or she has in life. If it is a good relationship, it will have a positive influence throughout a person's lifetime. Of course, there are those who have never known their mother. Perhaps she died in childbirth or maybe a few days or months after giving birth. The cause is not important, the real importance is the fact that a person never really gets to know his or her mother.

Even for us who have had mothers in our lives, it is often difficult to say we knew our mothers. Because nothing in all of God's creation is quite like a mother. All I know is, they start out as women, which may explain a lot.

From my youth I recognized a big difference between my mother and my father. I could never really put my finger on it until years after I left home. Looking back over my life and appreciating some of her influences in my life, I began to understand some things about my mother.

The most astounding thing I discovered about my mother is that mothers are not fathers.

I know this may come as a shock to many people; it came as a terrific shock to me. I'm not sure I have gotten over it yet. I knew there was a difference somewhere, but I really could not put my finger on it until I made this awesome discovery.

Once the shock of this truth waned, I gave this some thought and came up with a few comparisons that helped me understand the difference.

For example, I remember my mother always having a funny smell about her not quite like the good earthy aroma my father had. My mother always went to great pains so she would smell "pretty." I never did like perfume. It made my nose burn. I remember liking the smell of my father. It was just more natural. And some days it was more natural than other days.

As I think of my mother, I remember she was highly allergic to dirt, while my father was quite at home with it. Whenever I would come into the house with dirt from head to toe, my mother would don't get the kind of appreciation they truly deserve, he was the dirtiest. Dirt never seemed to bother him. Grease spots or grass stains never offended him at all. But all of this offended my mother. With a "holier-than-thou" air she would always say, "Cleanliness is next to godliness."

I've often thought to myself, if God did not like dirt why did he make so much of it? And, why was it so much fun to play in? Another thing I noticed about my mother was that she didn't know how to play catch in the backyard with her children. When she tried, she always threw like a girl. Father, on the other hand, caught everything, especially flak from mother. He caught everything she could throw, even a fit or two.

My mother was always laying down the law while father just lay down. I think my mother had some kind of nervous problem because she never could sit still long enough to really relax. Dad, could relax just about anywhere, and he did... often.

My mother and father made a good team, particularly in the building business. I can remember my mother always raised the roof while father enjoyed painting the town. My brother, sister and I enjoyed the painting exercises of my father, which may explain why his finances were always in the red.

Another thing I observed about my mother and mothers in general for that matter. There are times when mothers will have a good bawl for no reason, while fathers just loved having a ball for no reason. I'm sure there were other differences between my mother and my father. When I realized that mothers are not fathers, the whole world began to make more sense to me. A good father is a perfect balance between a mother and a boy.

The Bible encourages us to honor both our father and mother. "My son, keep thy father's commandment, and forsake not the law of thy mother:" (Proverbs 6:20).

Perhaps wise Solomon had our generation in mind when he wrote, "There is a generation that curseth their father, and doth not bless their mother." (Proverbs 30:11).

Mothers may not be fathers but they are exactly what God ordered.

ARCADIA POLICE CHIEF GUTHRIE: HOMELESSNESS AFFECTING BUSINESSES

By Joan Schmidt

Arcadia Chamber's May Community Connections Meeting featuring Police Chief Bob Guthrie, "Helping Businesses Deal with the Issue of Homelessness", was held at Embassy Suites to accommodate a large attendance.

Chief Guthrie began, "Homelessness is a real problem in ALL communities, the result of mental health issues, substance abuse or healthcare issues. The last several years, legislation, (AB 169, Props 47 & 57) has brought a change to dealing with homelessness. In March, 2017, LA County voters approved Measure H (1/4 % Sales Tax Increase) which brings over 354 million a year for 10 years. The Board of Supervisors approved it in April, but Arcadia only receives $30,000 because of its demographics, being one of the most premier cities in the county."

Guthrie hopes to dispel rumors, put facts into place. The lobbies of the Arcadia Post Offices on Wheeler and Duarte Roads are no longer open 24 hours. Chief Guthrie is NOT happy about this; Postal Buildings are Federal, so he has no power to change those hours... has reached out to its Postmaster to no avail.

Homelessness and mental health go hand in hand. Problems include cognitive impairment, substance abuse, poor access to healthcare, outbreak of Hepatitis A, difficulty with mobility/transportation, assaults on homeless, and homeless commit misdemeanors-petty thefts. Businesses and customers are unhappy with blocked doorways, abusive restrooms' use, and trash

In our 5th District, there were 7735 homeless; countywide 57,794 in 2017. Only 14 were counted in Arcadia. Arcadia is a safe and great city to hang out. The homeless are transient, coming on the Metro Gold the day, then leave. Arcadia has no area for sleepingthey tried under the 2nd Avenue Bridge, but were sent away. Not like the Riverbed Encampment!

In 2014, APD had 421 transient calls; in 2017, 954 calls. In 2015-2016, APD developed the "Homeless Education and Liaison Program. (H.E.L.P Team) There are a Lieutenant Commander, two sergeants and six officers. The HELP Team wants to build a rapport with the homeless community; the budget is just under $100,000. Chief Guthrie did acknowledge the Arcadia City Council and how they have provided support and funding for more officers and special programs.

The "Mental Health Services" portion of AB 1971 which permits involuntary detention of "gravely disabled" was amended in January, 2018 to expand the definition of "gravely disabled" to include a condition which a person as a result of a mental health condition or chronic alcoholism is unable to provide for his/her basic personal needs for food, clothing or shelter, or a condition in which a person has been found to be mentally incompetent.

Chief Guthrie feels, "We need somewhere to anchor the homeless. Build a rapport with them. Clean them up, connect them with a family member, they need to want to be helped. Biggest problem—they don't want to be helped. The quick fix of arresting people doesn't Sandra Maravilla from Supervisor Kathryn Barger office told us that the Supervisor targeted funding for weekly portable showers in East Pasadena from 11:00am-3pm. There also will be monthly servicessocial workers-available to assist the homeless and provide information to obtain needed services.

Thank you Arcadia Chamber of Commerce and Chief Guthrie for so much information, and Supervisor Line using "tap cards" given to them! They stay during Barger for your hard work to help the homeless.

PASADENA CHAMBER BOARD OF DIRECTORS RECOMMENDS POSITIONS ON JUNE STATEWIDE BALLOT MEASURES; LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE POSITIONS ON LOCAL MEASURES

Chamber Board and Legislative and Government Affairs Committee considered measures for impact on local businesses, Pasadena economy and Chamber member companies

Pasadena, CA - The Board of Directors of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce considered the Calendar. OPPOSE. The measure would align the array of initiatives on the ballot on June 5th. In city elections, as required by state law, to match deciding whether or not to take a position, the Board analyzed whether a particular measure by law, the means the City Council chose to would impact the local economy, local businesses as a whole, or individual Chamber members.

The Board took these positions on the statewide and county initiatives:

State of California

Proposition 68: Drought, Water, Park Bond. SUPPORT. The proposition would allow for a $4 billion bond sale and reallocate $100 million for drought prevention, water sustainability projects and parks.

Proposition 69: Motor Fees. SUPPORT. The proposition restricts gas election cycle to be prohibitively expensive and tax funding expenditures to transportation and transit projects and removes the ability of the state legislature to reallocate these funds.

Reserve Fund. SUPPORT. The proposition requires all Cap and Trade funds be deposited in a dedicated account and requires that all appropriations require a 2/3 legislative majority vote in 2024.

measures. SUPPORT. The proposition requires that statewide ballot measures take effect five allowing for only six retail outlets in Pasadena days after the Secretary of State certifies election results. Proposition Property Exclusion. SUPPORT. The proposition would exclude new construction for rain water capture systems from re-assessment for property tax. City of Pasadena and Pasadena Unified School District Legislative and Government Committee met and is recommending the following positions on local ballot measures:

Ballot Measure AA: Adjusts the City Election statewide election cycles. While this is required implement the rules is non-sensical. Unlike the Pasadena Unified School District, which will go to plurality voting where the candidate with the most votes wins, the City Council chose to maintain the primary election and general election cycles, where if no candidate receives a majority of votes in the primary, there will be a run-off election at the next statewide cycle, which would be in November. The City election cycle would, possibly, begin in advance of the March primary and not conclude until the following November. The committee found this extended simply too long for voters to remain engaged.

Ballot Measure BB: Adjusts Pasadena Unified School District Election Calendar. SUPPORT. Proposition 70: Greenhouse Gas Reduction The measure puts PUSD in compliance with state law and allows for plurality voting, where the candidate with the most votes in the election wins outright, whether they receive a majority of votes or not.

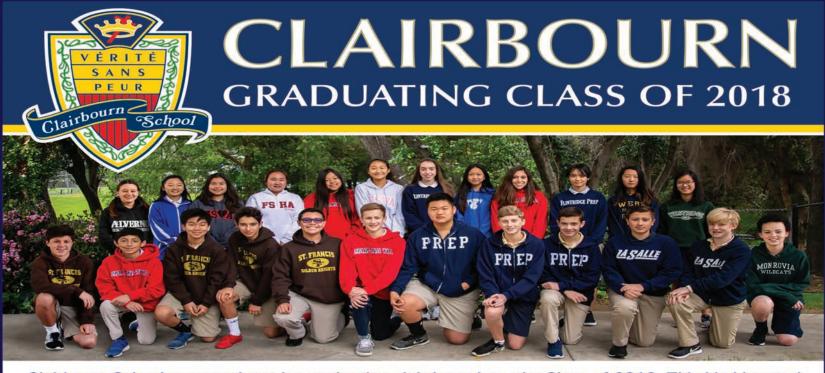

Ballot Measure CC: Commercial Cannabis Proposition 71: Effective date of ballot Regulations. OPPOSE. The measure put forth by the City Council is extremely restrictive, and imposing severe distance restrictions. While the committee appreciates keeping distance requirements for recreational marijuana sales from schools, residences and homes, they felt the small number allowed would simply mean the status quo would prevail, where illegal sales would predominate the local marketplace, or retail operators would set up in neighboring communities. The overwhelming majority of Pasadena voters, about two-thirds, supported the legalization of recreational marijuana. The City of Pasadena should heed those voters and place meaningful distance requirements but not allow for only a minimal number of retail outlets.

Ballot Measure DD: Cannabis Business Tax. SUPPORT. The measure allows for collection of business taxes and fees from retail cannabis operations. Funding would support regulation enforcement and potentially provide funds for city operations.

The Pasadena Chamber of Commerce does not endorse individual candidates for office.

The Pasadena Chamber of Commerce and Civic Association is a professional business organization. Since the earliest days of Pasadena, the Chamber has played a major role in the development of this internationally renowned city. Since 1888, when the organization was founded as the Board of Trade, the Chamber's primary purpose has been the enhancement of both the business climate and the quality of life in Pasadena. The Pasadena Chamber of Commerce serves more than 1450 members.

Suicide of the West: How the Rebirth of Tribalism, Populism, Nationalism, and Identity Politics is Destroying American

Democracy by Jonah Goldberg "More than any book published so far in this century, it deserves to be called a conservative classic." —Yuval Levin, National Review. With his trademark blend of political history, social science, economics, and pop culture, two-time NYT bestselling author, syndicated columnist, National Review senior editor, and American Enterprise Institute fellow Jonah Goldberg makes the timely case that America and other democracies are in peril as they lose the will to defend the values and institutions that sustain freedom and prosperity. Instead we are surrendering to populism, nationalism and other forms of tribalism. Only once in the last 250,000 years have humans stumbled upon a way to lift ourselves out of the endless cycle of poverty, hunger, and war that defines most of history—in 18th century England when we accidentally discovered the miracle of liberal democratic capitalism. As Americans we are doubly blessed that those radical ideas were written into the Constitution, laying the groundwork for our uniquely prosperous society: Our rights come from God not from the governmenThe government belongs to us; we do not belong to the government. The individual is sovereign. We are all captains of our own souls. The fruits of our labors belong to us.In the last few decades, these political virtues have been turned into vices. As we are increasingly taught to view our traditions as a system of oppression, exploitation and

"white privilege," the principles of liberty and the rule of law are under attack from left and right. At a moment when authoritarianism, tribalism, identity politics, nationalism, and cults of personality are rotting our democracy from within, Goldberg exposes the West's suicidal tendencies on both sides of the ideological aisle. For the West to survive, we must renew our sense of gratitude for what our civilization has given us and rediscover the ideals that led us out of the bloody muck of the past – or back to the muck we will go.

day-dreamers." - Maureen Corrigan, "Fresh Air" A spirited inquiry into the lost value of leisure and daydream. The book is a picaresque travelogue of leisure written from a lifelong enchantment with solitude. Patricia Hampl visits the homes of historic exemplars of ease who made repose a goal, even an art form. She begins with two celebrated eighteenth-century Irish ladies who ran off to live a life of "retirement" in rural Wales. Her search then leads to Moravia to consider the monk-geneticist, Gregor Mendel, and finally to Bordeaux for Michel Montaigne--the hero of this book--who retreated from court life to sit in his chateau tower and write about whatever passed through his mind, thus inventing the personal essay. Hampl's own life winds through these pilgrimages, from childhood days lazing under a neighbor's beechnut tree, to a fascination with monastic life, and then to love-and the loss of that love which forms this book's silver thread of inquiry. Finally, a remembered journey down the Mississippi near home in an old cabin cruiser with her husband turns out, after all her international quests, to be the great adventure of her life. The real job of being human, Hampl finds, is getting lost in thought, something only leisure can provide. The Art of the Wasted Day is a compelling celebration of the purpose and appeal of letting go.

CALIFORNIA SCHOOL OF THE ARTS – SAN GABRIEL VALLEY CONCLUDES ITS INAUGURAL YEAR WITH SEASON FINALE, CELEBRATING ARTS AND ACADEMIC ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Season Finale showcases the year's best performances from the school's 10 arts conservatories

Duarte, Calif. - May 10, 2018 - California School of the Arts - San Gabriel Valley (CSArts-SGV) celebrates the success of its inaugural year with an exciting Season Finale, featuring 200 students onstage at the Haugh Performing Arts Center at Citrus College on Sunday, May 27, at 7 p.m. This energetic, culminating event features a showcase of spectacular presentations from talented students in each of the school's 10 arts conservatory programs including: acting, classical & contemporary dance, commercial dance, creative writing, instrumental music, integrated arts, musical theatre, production & design, visual arts and vocal arts. Students perform and exhibit highlights from the school's opening season, as well as pieces put together specifically for this outstanding show.

Presentation highlights include:

The cast of CSArts-SGV's "Pippin" perform a medley of songs from the show, including "Glory," "Corner of the Sky" and "Magic to Do."

Broadway Actor David Burnham and students from the cast of "Performing with the Pros" sing "One Day More" from "Les Misérables."

Commercial Dance Conservatory students dance to "Singin' in the Rain" as clips from the classic film play on large screens in the background. Premier performance group FUSION revives its stellar performance of "Stars," which premiered at the VIP preview of Descanso Gardens "Enchanted: Forest of Light" last fall. The medley includes music by Coldplay and more.

Season Finale gives students a chance to demonstrate honed arts skills and new techniques learned during their first year at CSArts-SGV.

"Most of our students took a leap of faith coming to this school, with no real understanding of what would happen. How much they have grown and flourished in such a short amount of time, as a result, is something that is truly remarkable and will set the stage for all future generations of CSArts-SGV students," said Alison Dambach, the school's chair of dance and the creative director of the event.

CSArts-SGV has many arts and academic accomplishments to applaud this year. The academic program received accreditation by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC). Students excelled by taking more than 160 Advanced Placement classes and scoring 41 points above the State Average on the PSAT. In addition, 38 percent of students are finishing the year with a 4.0 GPA or higher. The school also presented more than 60 performances, hosted master classes with more than 40 industry professionals, and created partnerships with several arts organizations across the community.

Dambach said she felt it was important that Season Finale properly showcase each conservatory to ensure it represents the school at the highest caliber. This is achieved through collaboration among students, staff and conservatory

"From the start of the school year, our goal here has been collaboration, and I think our Season Finale represents that goal perfectly," said Dambach. "Our work space was designed to promote collaboration and all the directors/chairs have focused quite a bit on that in our inaugural year. It makes it fun and exciting and also allows the students to appreciate one another's art forms and gain a deeper level of understanding and respect for one another.

CSArts-SGV's Season Finale takes place Sunday, May 27, 2018 at 7 p.m. at Citrus College, Haugh Performing Arts Center, 1000 W. Foothill Blvd., Glendora, CA 91741. Tickets are $35-$45 and are available to purchase at sgv.csarts.net/ boxoffice.

PROTECTING YOUR CHILDREN'S INHERITANCE AFTER DIVORCE

Consider this story. Beth's divorce from her husband was recently finalized. Her most valuable assets are her retirement plan at work and her life insurance policy. She updated the beneficiary designations on both to be her two minor children. She did not want her ex-husband to receive

Beth passes away one year after her divorce. Her children are still minors, so the retirement plan and insurance company require an adult to be appointed to receive the inheritance Beth left behind. Who does the court presumptively look to serve as the caretaker of this money? Beth's ex-husband who is now the only living parent of the children.

Sadly, stories like Beth's are all too familiar for the loved ones of divorced people who do not make effective use of the estate planning tools. Naming a beneficiary for retirement benefits or life insurance, or having a will can be a good start. However, the complexities of relationships, post-divorce, often render these basic tools inadequate. Luckily, there is a way to protect and control your children's inheritance fully.

Enter the Trust

A trust allows you to coordinate and control your estate in a way that no other tool can. For those who are not yet familiar, a trust is a legal arrangement for managing your property while you are alive and quickly passing it at your death. There are a few key players in the trust. First, there is the person who created the trust, often called the Trustor, Grantor, or Settlor (this is you). Second, there's the Trustee who manages the assets owned by the trust (usually you during you life and the during your life and then anyone you select when you are no longer able to manage the assets yourself). Finally, the Beneficiaries are the people who receive the benefit of the trust (usually you during your life, and then typically children or anyone else you choose).

How a Trust Protects Your Children's Inheritance after a

A trust protects your children's inheritance in a few distinct ways:

Since you select the Trustee, you can choose someone other than your ex-spouse to manage the assets. In fact, you can even state that the ex-spouse can never be a Trustee, if you wish. If Beth had a trust, she could have named her brother to be Trustee after her death. Her brother (rather than her ex-husband) would then oversee the children's

Since you select the Beneficiaries, you can determine how the trust assets can be used for them. You may have long-term goals for your beneficiaries, such as college, purchasing of a first home, or starting a business. When you share your intent, your Trustee can invest the assets appropriately and ensure your legacy is used the way you want, rather than the assets being potentially wasted or used in a thoughtless way. If Beth had a trust, she could have instructed how she wanted the inheritance used, rather than leaving it to the whims of a court and her exhusband.

A fully funded trust avoids probate, so your children do not have to deal with the cost, publicity, and delay that is alltoo-common in probate cases. Although "plain" beneficiary designations, like the one that Beth used, also avoid probate, they may still open the door for a guardianship or conservatorship court case, especially when your children are minors. A fully funded trust avoids these guardianship and conservatorship cases. This means more money for your intended beneficiaries and less for the lawyers and

All Things By Jeff Brown

A LETTER FROM AN EDITOR:

People in the journalism trade, (like me), are fond of quoting Thomas Jefferson's statement that he'd rather have "newspapers without government than "government without newspapers." As a 25 year veteran of newspaper work, I'm inclined to agree-and this year has vividly proven Jefferson's point. Power corrupts, public servants sometimes lie, and institutions hide their dirty secrets.

To function properly, to function properly, a democracy needs tithe impertinent watchdogs of the free press to challenge authority and hold it accountable. For proof of that, consider the contributions made by the winners of the 2017 Pulitzer Prize for journalism announced the week. Among them: the stories that brought Harvey Weinstein's monstrous predations to an end. With months of painstaking work, reporters of The New Yorker and The New York times tunneled under the wall of threats, bribery and fear shielding Weinstein's secrets. Their stories led hundreds of women to come forward to name their abusers in Hollywood, politics and virtually every other field, triggering a chain reaction that is reshaping culture.

Another Pulitzer went the The Washington Post for exposing U.S. Senate candidate Roy Moore as a serial predator of teen girls. The Post and The New York Times were honored for detailing and explaining Russia's interference in the 2016 Presidential campaign.

To help readers see and feel the terrible cost of the heroin epidemic, The Cincinnati Enquirer sent 60 journalists to document the daily impact on addicts, their families, police and paramedics. When most people think" the media" the visualize preening TV anchors, shouting pundits and clickbait generators. But the real work of journalism is done by a dwindling army of nerdy, impossibly earnest reporters and editors in cluttered newsrooms. Every day, they dig out the truths the powerful would prefer to conceal, applying the disinfectant of sunlight.

There's a reason their work is protected be the very first Amendment.

FOR MOTHER'S DAY, EMBRACING OUR LOST SENSE OF HUMOR

'You've lost your sense of humor, and you need to get it back!"

Such was the admonishment my mother gave me many times over the years when one of life's temporary failures gave me license to indulge in self-loathing.

"Life is full of difficulty," she'd say, "and you can either find the humor in life or let its continuous challenges make you miserable and self-absorbed!"

In my mother's world, nothing is worse than self-absorption - nothing is worse being trapped in the narrowness of your own point of view.

During each of her "corrective sessions," she'd have me laughing out loud before

You see, laughing loudly at life's foibles was the greatest gift she ever gave my five sisters and me.

Most nights after dinner, when I was young, my sisters and I sat around the table, relating stories about we'd done that day or week and laugh deep into the

On her 80th birthday a year ago, each of her family members (including 17 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren) shared stories, on video, about how her nurturing, love and humor has touched us all - a video presentation that was side-splitting funny.

One of my mom's funniest stories dates back to the 1980s.

While other moms got real jobs in companies, my mom, much to my family's embarrassment, staged children's birthday parties as Clown Clara. She wasn't embarrassed, though; she couldn't have cared less what other people thought. She loved nothing more than making children laugh, and children loved her Clown Clara character.

 $Regret tably, a \, male \, thief \, dressed \, as \, a \, clown \, had \, been \, robbing \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, and \, been \, robbing \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks; the \, clown \, banks \, area \, banks \,$ robber had been widely reported upon in the local media. One Saturday morning, the clown robber struck again and the cops were on high alert.

Coincidentally, my mother, dressed as Clown Clara, was speeding to a gig that same morning (she still has a lead foot). A police officer spotted her and the chase was on. He barked at her to exit the station wagon, hands up, no funny business!

It took some time to clear up the confusion - at one point, the cop thought my mother was in cahoots with the guy who'd hired her to stage his kid's party. When the confusion was finally ironed out, my mom had but one response: a giant burst

My mother knew of laughter's benefits long before scientific studies confirmed

Laughter, reports Forbes, releases endorphins in the brain and induces euphoria. It "activates the release of the neurotransmitter serotonin," which provides a similar effect to antidepressants. It helps us form social bonds and strengthen our

My mother also knows that not all laughter is created equal. Self-deprecating humor is the best kind. It uplifts us and brings us together. By poking fun at ourselves, we escape ourselves and focus more outwardly on others.

However, she greatly dislikes sarcasm, mockery or ridicule - "humor" that is popular with many late-night comedians in our divided and polarized times. Such "humor" does not uplift. It demonizes those we disagree with. It encourages us to harden our thinking. In increases polarization. It tears us apart. Regardless of one's politics or ideology, most of us agree on the issues of the day more than we disagree. Our differences have to do with approach, not necessarily the outcome. All of us want to eradicate poverty, educate our children, and solve a zillion other problems. We need to re-engage in civil conversation to more effectively do that. One way to get started is to heed my mother's advice. "Hey, America, we've lost our sense of humor and we need to get it back!"

When you need a fix from the President's fixer

FOR A BUILDER, TRUMP LIKES WRECKING STUFF

For a man who likes to brag about what a big builder he is, President Donald Trump spends a lot of time burning stuff down. From his pursuit of protectionist tariffs and withdrawal from the Paris climate accords, to his routine attacks on the norms of a liberal democracy, the developer from Queens has taken a wrecking ball to the United States' place in the world, isolating us on the world stage, and marginalizing our moral voice.

Even his cherished wall, the one he promised the United States would build and that someone else - the American taxpayer, as it turns out - would pay for, remains frustratingly out of his grasp. So it wasn't a surprise Tuesday to find that Trump had taken a torch to the Iran nuclear deal, unraveling the signature foreign policy achievement of former President Barack Obama, and further straining relations with western European allies who had passionately lobbied the White

Writing in Slate, Fred Kaplan said Trump, driven either by rank ignorance, bald-faced malice, or some combination of the two, had dismantled the most significant arms-control deal in modern history.

Even worse, the administration premised its argument for withdrawal on at least two fraudulent

First, that Iran is cheating on the deal. There's no evidence to support that. If anything, Iran was complying with the terms of the agreement and, as Vox reports, it was giving inspectors the room they needed to do their jobs. Second, Trump claimed the agreement required the United States to "pay" Iran $100 billion.

The United States froze that amount in Iranian assets, and the deal was conditional on returning them. That's the carrot in this carrot-and-stick arrangement. Trump's move to kill the deal came despite the pleadings of French President Emmanuel Macron, British Foreign Secretary Boris Johnson, Defense Secretary James Mattis, dozens of past

R-Texas, who no one would confuse for a dove, Kaplan noted. Right on schedule, Iranian officials announced that they'd negotiate with European leaders, the Chinese and Vladimir Putin's Russia about staying in the deal.

and former diplomats, and even House Armed Services Committee Chairman Mac Thornberry,

As was the case with Trump's announcement of the withdrawal from Syria, he opened another power vacuum that America's geopolitical rivals will be only too happy to fill.

On its face, Trump's announcement appeared to be less about securing any long-term foreign policy goal than it was about dominating the news cycle, proving to his base that he could deliver on campaign promise, and perhaps most importantly, sticking a finger in Obama's eye. In a statement, Obama called the withdrawal a "serious mistake."

"Walking away from the [agreement] turns our back on America's closest allies, and an agreement that our country's leading diplomats, scientists, and intelligence professionals negotiated," Obama said. "In a democracy, there will always be changes in policies and priorities from one Administration to the next. But the consistent flouting of agreements that our country is a party to risks eroding America's credibility, and puts us at odds with the world's major powers.'

The former president's words were a refreshing blast of policy sobriety in the face of the standard Trumpian hyperbole that accompanied the White House's announcement. This was a horrible one-sided deal that should have never, ever been made," Trump said. "It didn't bring calm, it didn't bring peace, and it never will."

The problem ladled on top of this short-sighted decision is what the withdrawal means for the upcoming summit with North Korea. We already know that its leader, Kim Jong Un, is pathologically incapable of keeping his word.

Will Trump's withdrawal undermine whatever faith North Korea has in the United States keeping its word? That looming question could render the summit an elaborate bit of theater without any tangible result.

No one's arguing that the current Iranian regime is a good one. That's not what this is about. It's about effectively keeping tabs on the nuclear ambitions of a dangerous rival.

"We know more about Iran's program with the deal than without it," former CIA director Michael V. Hayden told The Washington Post. "The Iranians lie. They cheat," Hayden told The Post. "That's why you need to have the best possible verification regime in place." By scrapping the agreement, the White House has made it potentially easier for Iran to build Trump may have scored a political win, but that's a foreign policy loss by any measure.

MAKING SENSE by MICHAEL REAGAN

THE DEAL WITH SINGAPORE

So Donald Trump has a date with Kim Jong Un in Singapore on June 12.

Good deal - so far. As long as the president doesn't get arrested for chewing gum or hanged for spitting on the sidewalk, his meet-up with North Korea's "Rocket Man" in that spotless city might actually become a historic summit.

Singapore 2018 might even become one of Trump's legacies, though I suspect at this point he's not as fixated on legacy building as most presidents.

He's more focused on making a deal with a nasty communist regime that no previous president has been able to make.

We'll know soon enough if Singapore is for show or for real.

Meanwhile, I hope when Mr. Trump sits down to negotiate with Kim Jong Un he'll remember what happened when Ronald Reagan went to Reykjavik in October of 1986 to meet Mikhail Gorbachev. My father's meeting in Iceland with the General Secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union was a "session" and not an official summit, but it was a huge, huge bring about the major mothballing of their nukes and missiles. I remember when my father's administration was putting the Reykjavik trip together. It was his second meeting Gorbachev, and hopes were sky high for a historic agreement that would end the scariest part of the Cold War. Everyone in the administration - including Nancy - was excited because they thought Reykjavik was going to be Ronald Reagan's greatest legacy. Everyone was pushing him - relentlessly - to make a deal with Gorbachev. Almost any

But when Mr. Gorbachev said he wouldn't sign the document unless the United States gave up the Strategic Defense Initiative - the proposed "Star Wars" ballistic missile defense system - my father said "Nyet."

He got up and walked away from the table.

Everyone was shocked and concerned by what my father did, but the rest was history. The Soviet Union soon went bust. The Berlin Wall came down. The Cold War was over. Saying no to the USSR when it wanted the United States to give up something was not an

I remember in 1976 at the Republican National Convention when he lost the nomination. I walked over to his hotel room and asked him, "Why in world would you even want to run for president?" "Michael," he said, "for too long I've watched presidents of the United States meet with Secretary Generals of the Soviet Union.

"Every time we sit sit down with them they're asking us to give up something to get along with them. "I want to be the first president who says 'Nyet.' That's the reason I wanted to run for president." In order for President Trump's meeting on June 12 to be a success, and he certainly has it in him to make it one, he also has to be willing to walk away.

You can't make a deal just because you're thinking it's going to be good for your legacy. Your legacy might be when you stand up and walk away from a bad deal.

The only way you'll ever win real victories against the people who run hellholes like the USSR, North Korea and Iran is if you're willing to walk -- and they know it. Anyone can make a bad deal - look at the one President Obama made with Iran.

So my suggestion to the president is, "Don't make a deal with North Korea just to make a deal. Sometimes the best deal is to walk away." And anyway, Mr. Trump, with three American prisoners safely back home from North
