WINDFALL TO BENEFIT GENERAL FUND

Sierra Madre Mayor Denise Delmar presided over each purchase is the same for all sellers. some really good news at the her first full council meeting earlier this month. The council approved Why was the allocation never used? the sale of the city's Overhead Power Lines Allocation to the City of Laguna Beach which will yield Madre General Fund.

The actual allocation from Southern California Edison (SCE) has accumulated over the years and is currently a balance of $1,142,180. This amount can be compared to a 'line of credit' that the city was entitled to should it have the need to convert any overhead power lines to underground. If the city had any qualifying projects, SCE and the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) would allow use of the allocation with repayment of the funds being made by rate payers, local funds, tax proceeds or private funds.

Use It or Lose It

However, under CPUC Rule 20A, unused allocations may be sold to other municipalities in real, albeit discounted dollars with the proceeds going to the selling entity's General Fund.

The City of Laguna Beach asked to purchase Sierra Madre's allocation at the discounted rate of $.55 for each dollar. That would yield the general fund $628, 199 in unrestricted revenue. City staff recognized that this was a more desireable use of the allocation rather than to possibly lose it should the program be abolished by the CPUC as it is rumored to be.

Sierra Madre is not the only city that has sold their allocation to Laguna Beach and the rate for SCE has very specific criteria for what the alloa net $628,199 of unrestricted funds to the Sierra cation could be used for. "In order to qualify for a Rule 20A project, using rate proceeds, a project must produce a benefit to the general public, not just customers in the affected area, by satisfying one or more of these criteria:

- The location has an unusually heavy concentration of overhead facilities.
- The location is heavily traveled.
- The location qualifies as an arterial or major collector road in a local government's general plan.
- The overhead equipment must be located within or pass through a civic, recreational or

The last 'undergrounding' project in the city that qualified for the program was done on Baldwin Avenue. According to City Manager Gabe Engeland, "the city has no plans in place nor any locations that would qualify" in order to use those

The Sierra Madre City council, after reviewing the staff report, Memorandum of Understanding with the City of Laguna Beach and discussing the matter at their May 8th meeting, voted unanimously to sell the allocation to Laguna Beach.

Sierra Madre will receive the funds within 10 days of approval of the MOU by both parties.

A CELEBRATION OF THE LIFE OF JOHN ROBINSON

The residents of Sierra Madre and all lovers of our San Gabriel Mountains are invited to congregate at Lizzie's Trail Inn and the adjacent Mount Wilson Trail Park on Saturday, June 2, from 10 a.m. to noon. We will be celebrating the life and achievements of John W. Robinson, educator, historian and author, who passed away on April 24.

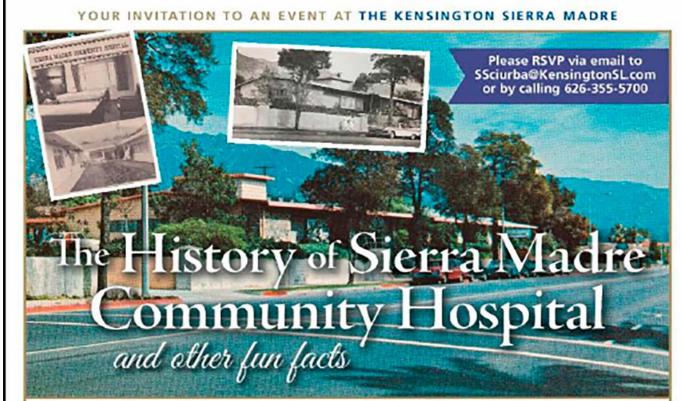

Just as the Red Car and mountain resorts boosted our community from the 1890s through 1950, John was responsible for many of the nature-loving hikers and Robinson on Mt. Wilson Trail, 1996 campers passing through our foothill community. His many books and his participation in Dr. White's Hikes into History brought an awakening among a wide group of Southern Californians regarding our own treasure of the Sierra Madre—our mountains.

Bring your stories of John Robinson and meet with friends and fellow lovers of the best "backyard" in the San Gabriel Valley! There will be speakers, videos and displays. Docents will be at Lizzie's, and water and lemonade will be available. The event is coordinated by Dr. Bill White with generous support of the Sierra Madre Historical Preservation Society, the City of Sierra Madre, the Los Angeles Corral of the Westerners, and the Big Santa Anita Historical Society.

For more details, contact Leslie Ziff, president, Sierra Madre Historical Preservation Society at (626) 321-7735.

Our speaker, Dr. William White, will talk about the history of the Sierra Madre medical facility. He will also talk about various things throughout the history of Sierra Madre you probably were never aware of.

Dr. White earned his medical degree from Loma Linda University in 1962. He did his internship at White Memorial Hospital from 1962-1963. This is the same hospital that was named after Dr. White's Great Grandmother.

For 33 years Dr. White's medical office was located where The Kensington Sierra Madre stands today and in 1994 he moved his office to Arcadia.

Speaker: Dr. William White

WALKING SIERRA MADRE... The Social Side By Deanne Davis

"A police officer came to my house and asked me where I was between 5 and 6. I replied, "Kindergarten."

"Teaching seems to require the sort of skills one would need to pilot a bus full of live chickens backwards, with no brakes, down a rocky road through the Andes, while providing colorful and informative commentary of the scenery." Franklin Habit

Those statements are totally true! I got to see four amazing Kindergarten teachers in action Thursday a week or so ago. I take my hat off to Jane Deulin, Emily Hawkins, BJ Thorne and Lisa Spigai, the Kindergarten teachers at Sierra Madre Elementary School. It was the last Spotlight Performance and Awards Assembly of the year, featuring 104 Kindergarteners treating the audience - the rest of the students and a lot of excited parents to "A Year of Art History Review."

Kindergarteners danced on the risers as their parents waved enthusiastically from the balcony and hugs abounded everywhere. Any child who held out his or her arms received a hug from a teacher. This filled my heart with joy, seeing so much admiration and affection demonstrated.

Order was called, with immediate compliance, and the assembly started with Ms. Christine Smart, the Sierra Madre Public Library's Children's Librarian, asking Principal Lewis if she knew what you'd call a book about the brain. She, of course, didn't and you won't either; it's a mind reader. The students loved that. She then asked the kids what they were going to do over the summer and the answer was a resoundingly emphatic READ!! Well, I hope they do as summer is when there's time to read, time to enjoy stories that excite, that inform, that amuse, that fill us with the desire for more books to read, more stories to explore.

Miss Emily Clark, Director and Performing Arts Specialist and Miss Lynnanne Hanson-Miller, Dance Specialist let us know the Kindergarteners would perform one song from each of the other five grades' shows and their own special song, "The Codfish Ball" as sung by Shirley Temple.

It was all fabulous. These little guys and gals were totally focused on Miss Emily and they sang and danced with all the energy 5 and 6 year olds have, kicking off with the Fifth Grade's visit to Early Man/Mesopotamia/ Ancient Egypt. What did they sing? "Ally Oop, of

"There's a man in the funny papers we all know (Alley Oop, oop, oop-oop)

He lived 'way back a long time ago (Alley Oop, oop,

He don't eat nothin' but a bear cat stew (Alley Oop,

Well this cat's name is-a Alley Oop (Alley Oop, oop,

Moving on, the K-kids traveled to Ancient Greece for the Fourth Grade's number that contained a lot of Aye! Aye! Everybody Dance! And ended with Opa!

We visited Ancient Rome with the Third Grade's classic love song, "Cupid! Draw back your bow, and let your arrow go...straight to my lover's heart for me," with excellent drawing of bow gestures. For the Second Grade's Medieval Times, the Kindergarten stars gave us "Camelot!" Then was the First Grade's Medieval Fairy Tale, Cinderella. They did an incredible job on the Fairy Godmother's magic song:

"Salaca doo la menthicka boo la bibbidi-bobbidi-boo Put 'em together and what have you got? bibbidi-bobbidi-boo!"

The highlight of the K performance, though, was "The Codfish Ball." They did truckin' and steps that little Shirley and Buddy Ebsen did in 1936's "Captain January." Such a delight to see 104 small people so focused and so well rehearsed. They ended with "Baby Take A Bow!" And everyone sang the school song... "Sierra Madre School... You know that I love you!"

The Spotlight Awards were next, which always fill my heart with joy as so many awards are given out and so many are for being good citizens, good friends, good people. I wish you could have been there. It would have filled your heart with hope for the future, too! Have a great week and plant something. The rain has made everybody's garden look fantastic!

Buildings to be Under New Earthquake Standards

By Dean Lee

Pasadena city officials, including Mayor Terry Tornek, are urging that a new earthquake retrofitting mandate for some 500 at risk buildings throughout the city be done quickly. The issue was discussed at a Public Safety Committee meeting Wednesday night. Pasadena City Manager

Steve Mermell said these are apartment buildings or condominiums, "soft story," build prior to the late 70s with open air parking underneath.

"We're going to look a process to require them to be brought up to newer standards," he said Thursday morning. "The big issue is how long will they have to get into compliance and what the cost will be."

He said many were build the standards of the day.

Tornek said, Wednesday night, they needed to have an ordinance in less than a

City staff said that an advisory group, made up of stakeholders, would be formed. There will also be two community meetings to get comment from the public and that they also plan to use non-technical language in the draft ordinance for review.

Mermell said they were just now starting the process, "we hope to have something in front of the council within nine months, the big issue will be how long the property owners have to comply."

City staff told the Safety Committee that there are a number of government grants that help pay for seismic retrofits. Mermell said that, without them, it could also mean higher

"Usually it's the property owner that bears the cost, and they tend to pass that cost on to tenants."

ARCADIA PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

Summary of Arcadia's FY 18-19 Budget Goals & Challenges

Dominic Lazzaretto presented the City's FY 18-19 budget, launching a robust public discussion regarding vital City services. As always, the City is committed to continuing its work towards maintaining public safety and the quality of services Arcadia residents expect and deserve.

The FY 18-19 budget maintains existing levels of public services, but the City can no longer guarantee that services will remain at current levels over the long-term. Due to recent changes in state law and other fiscal constraints, the City's proposed budget has a structural deficit of nearly $3.1 million with expenditures in excess of revenues. According to the City's long-term financial forecast, the structural deficit will remain for the foreseeable future.

"Historical state takeaways, unfunded mandates, and cost increases have put the City at a crossroads," said City Manager Lazzaretto. "While Arcadia has the financial resources to maintain existing service levels in the short-term, in order to avoid catastrophe, we will either need to modify service levels or identify additional locally-controlled funding resources."

In a recently-commissioned Community Priorities Survey, Arcadia residents stated strongly that they want existing levels of police and fire public safety services maintained. Among other priorities, residents cited preventing and investigating property crimes, like thefts and burglaries, maintaining local paramedic services, and protecting 911 emergency response times as primary areas of concern.

The City of Arcadia will continue to work hard to preserve the vital City services that our residents are expected to be made in June.

On Tuesday, May 15, 2018, Arcadia City Manager expect and deserve. This budget holds the line on key services through the prudent use of City reserves, but the City will need to do more to protect service levels in the coming years, which is why the City will continue to engage residents on community service priorities. We want to continue hearing the priorities that are important to Arcadia residents and take action to ensure that we work with the community to protect our excellent services and high quality of

> If you are interested in taking a leadership role on this important topic, the City of Arcadia is accepting applications for the newly formed Citizen Financial Advisory Committee. This ad hoc committee will be responsible for reviewing the City's long-term financial forecast and providing recommendations to the City Council for potential revenue enhancement and/ or cost containment strategies. The commitment is expected to be for a period of no more than six months, but will require intense review and discussion about the City's financial future.

> Due to specialized nature of this Committee, prospective candidates with a background in finance are preferred. To serve on the Committee, candidates must be at least 18 years of age, a registered voter, and a resident of the City of Arcadia.

> Qualified candidates with an interest in serving may pick up an application from the City Clerk's Office, located at 240 W. Huntington Drive, or print one off of the City's website at ArcadiaCA.gov/ CitizenService. # SWEET TATER

Happy Tails

by Chris Leclerc

As the youngest of seven children, I spent my childhood growing up in the rural deep south with loving parents who taught me to be a sensitive, caring person. I had a charmed life with a big yard, peach trees and a fresh vegetable garden. We raised chickens & rabbits and I had many pets including dogs, cats and horses.

When I was 6 years old, we had a neighbor who raised hound dogs that he used for hunting. I remember feeling so sad for those hounds next door because the owner would nearly starve them between hunting trips, to peak their senses and make the most of their tracking abilities. At times those poor dogs got so thin you could count their rib bones.

When our neighbor would leave to go into town, my sister, Vicki and I would sneak into his back yard and feed his dogs left-over scraps that our mother snap up those scraps within a few short seconds, then look up at us with sad eyes, begging for more. It wasn't long before my parents called the humane society and reported our neighbor for animal neglect, and the dogs were taken away.

The memory of seeing those hungry hounds in my neighbor's back yard as a young child stayed with me all of my life. I promised myself I would somehow find a way to make up for the cruelty those dogs had been subjected to, and I decided that one day I would have a hound of my own to whom I would give freely, the love my neighbor's hounds had been denied.

'It was summer of 2002 when I finally found myself in the position to pursue my dream of having a hound, and I decided it had to be one in need of a good home. Before I started my search, I read up on the breed, and consulted with people I knew who were familiar with their characteristics and peculiarities. Within a week after I started my search, I came across a bloodhound breed rescue in Laguna Beach and I called to see if they had any dogs available for adoption. The volunteer told me there were no hounds on hand at the time, but when she young AKC registered female bloodhound that had been bred for show, but had proven to be less than immensely as long as I live. promising in the ring.

Apparently the owner/handler had become quite fond of the dog, but had been forced to make the difficult decision to give her up to a loving home when the right person came along. She went on to say that this particular bloodhound was special, and would require more love and attention than the 'average' dog would need. To me it sounded like a perfect match; I wanted a hound in need of lots of love, and this one apparently needed more than most! That weekend I drove up to a gorgeous ranch in Saddleback Canyon, where I met "Tatertotts" for the first time.

When I arrived, Tater was in an outdoor kennel, running back and forth under a huge canopy of meandering oak trees. The excitement I saw glow through her big brown eyes stole my heart and I knew I had to have her. When we arrived that evening, at her new home here in Sierra Madre, Tater was quite nervous from the drive and not so sure about being in a strange place with people she didn't know. It took me an hour to convince her that it was safe to go inside the house, but once she was in, there was no getting her out! Little by little, Tatertotts became familiar with her new surroundings and eventually gained full trust. Within a few short weeks, we were best buddies!

I often called Tatertotts "Sweet Tater", because she really was very sweet and because she made saved from the table. It broke our hearts to see them those "poor pitiful me" kinds of looks on her face when she got hungry or wanted to go for a walk or drive. My Tater was indeed a special girl, with very specific, special needs. Most bloodhounds are pretty easy going and for the most part very social, from what I understand. But Tater was different. She was selective when it came to who she chose to allow in her personal space.

Some folks thought Tater was a mean dog, and suppose if she didn't like you, that could be true. But the way I saw it, Tater was more sensitive to the feelings and thoughts of others than most dogs are, so she reacted more intensely to those who approached her. Regardless of her idiosyncrasies, that floppyeared, sloppy-jawed bloodhound dog made her way into my heart, and become a major part of my life.

On September 23, 2014, Tatertotts crossed that proverbial rainbow bridge and I believe she knew her job on earth was done. Now, when I speak of Tater, I often refer to her as the canine love of my life and when I think of the time I had with her, I am comforted in knowing that she received the love that my childhood neighbor's dogs were so sadly deprived of. And I will always be grateful for realized how determined I was, she told me about a the unconditional love Tater so freely reciprocated in kind. Farewell, Sweet Tater. You will be missed

LAKE STREET RE-VISITED

Living in Pasadena the past forty-plus years I have seen many restaurants come and go. Some should have gone, but others, I felt, put real effort into the craft. I can't believe the influx of steakhouses to our fair city. But, I am here to tell you I love a good steak, and one of the best for my dollar is Del Frisco's Grille on Lake. Pasadena might rival only Chicago as the steak capital of the world. Del Frisco's is related to the Double Eagle Grille in Las Vegas where they have built their reputation on a menu that features all prime beef.

What they have going here is a great location, an incredible wine list, and a top-notch filet mignon. My assignment was to enjoy pairing of fine wines with Del Frisco's popular menu, aided by Del Frisco's own sommelier – a fun way to go if the restaurant has a sommelier. My dinner started with the ahi tuna tartare with avocado and a spicy citrus mayo. Ahi tuna tacos have become a popular appetizer in restaurants and I had these paired with a Paco & Lalo white wine, one of the most popular wines from the region of Rias Baixas in Spain. I've never been to Spain, but when I go I'll visit this wine region for sure. Next in the adventure was the kale quinoa salad, which was spectacular and went very well with my taste of Flora Springs Chardonnay. Finally came the reason for our review: the steak - a generous eight-ounce filet mignon with a side of truffled mac and cheese. If you've heard my radio show, you know I often talk about steaks and my contention that I can make a great steak at home. This one is as good as it gets, and I paired it with a wine that I reviewed recently - the Decoy Cabernet Sauvignon. But wait! There's more! The night was completed with their coconut cream pie. This was so good we went back the next night and got it to go.

One more note: their crab cake is one of the best I've had, and that's saying a lot. No matter the price, when I see the crab cake on the menu, it's ordered.

'EXTRA HELP' PROGRAM HELPS SENIORS WITH THEIR MEDICATION COSTS

Dear Savvy Senior,

Are there any special Medicare programs that help seniors with their medication costs? My 74-year-old mother, who lives primarily on her Social Security, takes several high-priced drugs that sap her income even with her Medicare drug plan.

Looking for Assistance

Dear Looking,

Yes, there's a low-income subsidy program called Extra Help that can assist seniors on a tight budget with paying for their premiums, deductible and copayments in their Medicare (Part D) prescription drug plan.

Currently around 10 million people are receiving this subsidy, but another two million may qualify for it and don't even realize it. They're missing out on hundreds, maybe thousands, of dollars in savings

Changes in the law make it easier than ever to qualify for the Extra Help program. Even if your mom applied and didn't qualify before, she may be eligible now. The amount of additional assistance she would receive depends on her income and assets. If she qualifies for help, she'll pay no more than $3.35 for a generic drug and $8.35 for a brand-

To get the subsidy, your mom's assets can't be more than $14,100 (or $28,150 for married couples living together). Bank accounts, stocks and bonds count as assets, but her home, vehicle, personal belongings, life insurance and burial plots do not.

Also, your mom's monthly income can't be more than $1,538 (or $2,078 for married couples). If your mom supports a family member who lives with her, or lives in Alaska or Hawaii, her income can be Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP), which at SSA.gov/prescriptionhelp; by calling Social Security at 800-772-1213; or by visiting her local Social Security office.

The application form is easy to complete, but you'll need your mom's Social Security number and information about her bank balances, pensions and investments. Social Security will review her application and send her a letter within a few weeks letting you know whether she qualifies.

If your mom doesn't qualify for Extra Help, she may still be able to get help from a state pharmacy assistance program or a patient assistance program. Visit BenefitsCheckUp.org and click on 'Medications" to search for these programs.

Other Medicare Assistance

If your mom is eligible for Extra Help, she may also qualify for help with her other Medicare expenses through her state's Medicare Savings Program.

State Medicaid programs partner with the federal government, so income and asset qualifications vary depending on where she lives. Medicare Savings Programs will pay her entire Medicare Part B premium each month. Some also pay for Part B coinsurance and copayments, depending on her income. Contact your mom's state Medicaid office to determine if she qualifies for benefits in her state.

You can also get help through her State Health provides free one-on-one Medicare counseling in person or over the phone. To locate a SHIP counselor in your area, visit ShiptaCenter.org or call

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior. org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today There are three ways to apply for Extra Help: online show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

KATIE Tse.....This and That VAMPIRE-IZE IT!

sure won't be a surprise to anyone who's followed my column for a while --I don't always get around to writing new stuff. I have good intentions, but things seem to have just been really busy lately. For that, I apologize. But like I always say, "If I barely remember it, that means you won't either." Enjoy!

In revisiting this article about the critically acclaimed, Oscar winning film, "Abraham Lincoln: Vampire Hunter," I had to update a few things. Namely, when I originally wrote it I hadn't yet seen the film, but now I've had the pleasure of viewing it in all its campy glory. So here is my (somewhat) new and enhanced critique of a thoroughly enjoyable horror flick. This cinematic gem has all the stock elements we'd expect from a movie with that title. It has action, (Abe swings his axe around like a Jedi knight's light saber), special effects, sex appeal (there are a few scantily clad vampire vixens), and blood. What vampire movie would be complete without copious amounts of blood?

At the time I wrote this America was still in the throws of an obsession with death and vampires. We are still obsessed with death, but now we've transitioned from vampires to zombies. Nevertheless, the vampire craze did have an insanely long run. What started it all? Surely not Bram Stoker's Dracula. Was it "Buffy, the Vampire Slayer"? That was back in in "Why should I care?" And now we have "Generation Z." Is it part of a large scale zombie conspiracy or is it just a coincidence? But I digress. Back to Lincoln.

What fascinated me about this new spin on an old theme is great for documentaries, but an unusual choice for the to yourself!

I have a confession to make that I'm subject of a thriller/horror movie? Everyone knows that the main character in these things has to be sexy. Lets consider some current action flicks. (These were "current" at the time, so that lets you know how old this article is!) "The Dark Night Rises" and "The Amazing Spider-Man" have Christian Bale and Andrew Garfield in muscle suits and

The creators of "Abraham Lincoln: Vampire Hunter" couldn't have chosen a less sexy historical figure. Even Lincoln himself defamed his appearance in his famous rebuttal, "If I were two-faced, do you think I'd be wearing this one?" Not only was Lincoln far from being eye candy, his wife, Mary Todd, resembled an angry Pillsbury Dough

Boy in a dress. And she was a nut on top of that! Of course this movie couldn't portray her as a dumpy, raving lunatic. The similarity between actress Mary Elizabeth Winstead, who plays Mary Todd, and the historical figure herself end with their first names. It's like comparing Angelina Jolie to Robin Williams as "Mrs. Doughtfire."

Ludicrous as it sounds, I really enjoyed this film. You can't go wrong with a former president flying through the air like a character from "Crouching Tiger." Back when I first wrote this piece there was a trend in books and entertainment about middle aged women "finding themselves" in India. At the time I supposed that Hollywood could come out with a movie about Baby Boomers flocking to India in search of the fountain of youth. I

1997! There are young people for whom much of their lives further imagined that an older Thelma and Louise would have been spent during the great American vampire era. It discover that the secret behind the others' rejuvenation got so big that it almost could've defined their generation. Is that they've turned into vampires (or in these days, There's "Generation X" like "Brand X," "Generation Y," as zombies). In the story I imagined Thelma and Louise would then have to learn Taekwondo and don body suits to stop the vampires (or zombies) and save the world! If you see movie ads for either of these ideas, remember --you read it here first. Also, if you haven't had the pleasure of was that its main character is Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln watching "Abraham Lincoln: Vampire Hunter," you owe it

HELICOPTER TO FLY ON NASA'S NEXT MARS ROVER MISSION

NASA is sending a helicopter to Mars.

The Mars Helicopter, a small, autonomous rotorcraft, will travel with the agency's Mars 2020 rover mission, currently scheduled to launch in July 2020, to demonstrate the viability and potential of heavier-than-air vehicles on the Red Planet. Started in August 2013 at JPL as a technology development project, the Mars Helicopter had to prove that big things could come in small packages. It weighs in at four pounds. Its fuselage is about the size of a softball, and its twin, counter-rotating blades will bite into the thin Martian atmosphere at almost 3,000 rpm—about 10 times the rate of a helicopter on Earth.

The helicopter also contains built-in capabilities needed for operation at Mars, including solar cells to charge its lithium-ion batteries, and a heating mechanism to keep it warm through the cold Martian nights. But before the helicopter can fly at Mars it has to get there. It will do so attached to the belly pan of the Mars 2020 rover.

"The altitude record for a helicopter flying here on Earth is about 40,000 feet. The atmosphere of Mars is only one percent that of Earth, so when our helicopter is on the Martian surface, it's already at the Earth equivalent of 100,000 feet up," said Mimi Aung, Mars Helicopter project manager at JPL. "To make it fly at that low atmospheric density, we had to scrutinize everything, make it as light as possible while being as strong and as powerful as it can possibly be?

Once the rover is on the planet's surface, a suitable location will be found to deploy the helicopter down from the vehicle and place it onto the ground. The rover then will be driven away from the helicopter to a safe distance from which it will relay commands. After its batteries are charged and a myriad of tests are performed, controllers on Earth will command the Mars Helicopter to take its first autonomous flight into history.

"We don't have a pilot and Earth will be several light minutes away, so there is no way to joystick this mission in real time," said Aung. "Instead, we have an autonomous capability that will be able to vertical climb to 10 feet, where it will hover for receive and interpret commands from the ground, and then fly the mission on its own."

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges WHITE ROOFS AND GARDEN-LAWNS

www.wtinc.info.]

May, the U.S. Energy Secretary Steven Chu said that the Obama administration wants everyone to paint their roofs white. White roofs would keep the houses naturally cooler, he said, and would reduce the need for air conditioning, and equivalent energy savings of removing all cars in there. the world from use for 11 years!

though I'm not certain how Chu came up with that statistic.

Nevertheless, this is one of those old-fashioned ideas which should have caught on decades ago. When I moved into a new home in 1987, I struggled to pay the mortgage and just didn't have the money for the needed new roof. When it rained those first years, we had pans all over the living room collecting the water.

Our short-term solution to the bad roof was to purchase a white "liquid rubber" product which I brushed on over the failing asphalt shingles. This cost a fraction of the cost of a new roof, sealed all the leaks, and left the roof brilliant white, which meant that our home would probably be highly conspicuous to any helicopter passing through the neighborhood. We learned that this product was ideal for sealing up all the small leaks, and was specifically manufactured for trailer dwellers who have metal roofs which get very hot in summer.

It turned out that our overall inside temperature dropped a minimum of 15 degrees in the summer. a few weeks of using the air conditioner, we found that once the roof was white, we barely turned on the air conditioner all summer. Since then, we have strongly recommended such a roof to anyone wanting to naturally keep cool in the summer. It really works. There are several products currently available for this use, made by Henry's and available at Home Depot and other home improvement stores.

We wrote about this white roof experiment in our 2002 book, "Extreme Simplicity: Homesteading in the City," which I assume all readers of this paper already possess. Though our experiment taught us that a white roof definitely reflects heat from the roof, and keeps the house cooler, we found that many visitors found the white color unattractive. Still, such a simple solution to one aspect of our energy problem should be given much more attention by our current administration, and should be taken to heart by home-owners

I have never been a big fan of lawns. Though and other books. For more on certain rare occasions they can provide a information about his place to play ball with family members, they are books and classes, contact typically a patch of soil in which we toil to create him at Box 41834, Eagle what we regard as an aesthetically pleasing area, Rock, CA 90041, www.ChristopherNyerges.com, or but which is otherwise not usable. When I moved into a new home in 1987, one of my first tasks was to have a tree pruner dump an entire truck-During a climate-change symposium back in load of wood chips onto what was the lawn area. We gradually turned the area into a combination wild food, fruit orchard, and fragrant plant area. It requires minimal maintenance, and produces food and herbs for daily use. Water from our washing machine drained into that area, and one if all houses had white roofs, it would have the of our kitchen-scrap composter was also located

We have noted over the past decades that more Wow, that would be quite an energy savings, and more people are wisely recognizing that the front lawn area is far more useful for vegetables, fruit trees, and drought-tolerant native plant gardens that can be left alone to survive on their

> If you are undecided about the use of your lawn, the water and power companies are trying to convince you to give up your lawn. Drought or no drought, we live in an area where here is enough local water for one in four residents. We must live a drought-tolerant life-style, all the time.

> Let's face it. We've got way too many people trying to use a limited resource here in this coastal desert plain. So you should consider converting your lawn area to drought-tolerant plants – things like jade, cactus, Peruvian mint, etc.

Most of the first chapter of the "Extreme Simplicity" book is about how we converted our lawn into a mini-self-sustaining eco-system. We did it because it was right to do so, and it made so much sense, ecologically and economically. We did it then – 30 years ago – because it was the right thing to do. Today, it's still the right thing to do, Whereas the beastly inside summer heat required and by so doing, there will be more precious water to use for the things that are really important.

WHAT WOULD WE DO WITHOUT RAIN?

is what happens to a person when they get older. Just when I thought it was about over, there was a They get older, grouchier and grumpier. With that crackling thunder and the rain came down worse in mind, I guess I qualify for being an old geezer. than before.

The past several weeks I was grouchy about the weather. What else is there to grouch about these days? I would grouch about politics, but it is a world of craziness. I suppose good people go to Washington, DC, but they don't stay good for long. Therefore, I have given up grouching about politics and politicians and such.

One of the good things about grouching about the weather is it there is nothing you can do about the weather. You may not like the weather. You may want a different kind of weather. However, there is actually nothing you can do to change the weather on the outside.

Through the years, I have realized that if I wanted to bet on which day it was going to rain, it would be the day I wash my car. When I am out there washing my car, Mother Nature is looking down on me grinning one of her sarcastic grins, knowing that she is going to send rain my way that I still like grouching about the weather. After all, you need to grouch about something and I would rather grouch about something that I had nothing at all to do with then something I could change.

The other day I started downtown and the sky was bright and sunny. Twenty minutes later, it was raining cats and dogs.

Three weeks ago at the church, we bought a brand-new lawnmower. We have not been able to use it yet so we do not know if it really works or not. The rain has come down for three weeks.

Thinking about the rain condition, we are in I often wonder about how Noah felt about the rain in his day. He built an ark and there was not a drop of rain to be found. He told everybody that it was going to rain; nobody had ever seen rain before and did not know what he was talking about. For 100 years, Noah was building his ark and telling people that the rain was coming soon. They laughed at him and probably he was the first person and be healthy. called The Rainman. They were not laughing so much when the rain actually did come.

I was sitting in my easy chair, looking out the Sometimes I cannot help being a grouch. I guess it glass door, watching it rain and rain and rain.

"When will this rain," I said in a very disgusted attitude, "stop so I can go outside?"

My wife looked at me and said, "What do you want to go outside for?"

Well, she had me there. Because there is nothing for me to do outside and furthermore, I am not permitted to do any repair work on the outside by decree of the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. No matter how bad something is broken, five minutes with me and it will be worse than before. That is, according to her estimation.

I tried to keep quiet for a few more minutes, but lo and behold, out came more grouchiness. I guess a person my age has a lot of grouchy to come out, but there is never an appropriate time.

"I'm getting so tired," I said, "of this rain coming and not stopping. When will the rain ever stop? I can do without all this rain."

At that moment, my wife came into the room where I was sitting and stared at me for a few moments. She has those stares that penetrate directly to the soul and back out again. I was afraid to say anything at that time.

Then, putting both hands on her hips, she said, 'What would we do without rain?"

I did not know if that was a rhetorical question or if she was grilling me about our situation. She then turned around and went back to the kitchen to her work.

It did, however, caused me to think a little bit about that. Where in the world would we be if it did not rain when it was supposed to rain?

If it were not for rain, we would not have the beautiful land we now have. The farmer's fields would not grow. The gardener's vegetables would not grow. The florist's would lose all their flowers.

Thinking along these lines, I came to a conclusion. It is important in this world for it to rain. Rain has a way of making everything grow

David saw rain in a very different matter. "Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving; sing praise upon the harp unto our God: Who covereth the heaven with clouds, who prepareth rain for the earth, who maketh grass to grow upon the mountains" (Psalm

A rainy day is somewhat like life. You cannot make it rain and you cannot make it stop. However, every rain has a positive effect on the world around

I cannot control the rain, neither can I control much of the elements in my life but I can have a thankful heart like David, knowing that after the rain the flowers will bloom.

With inventory and days-on-market basically unchanged and the Market Action Index decreasing, the market is not sending strong directional signal for the near-term outlook.

Supply and Demand

The market continues to get hotter. More sales demand and fewer homes listed have contributed to a relatively long run of increasing prices. Current supply and demand levels show no sign of prices changing from their current trend.

The Market Action Index answers the question "How's the Market?" by measuring the current rate of sale versus the amount of the inventory. Index above 30 implies Seller's Market conditions. Below 30, conditions favor the buyer.

THE MOUNTAIN VIEWS NEWS ENCOURAGES EVERY ELIGIBLE PERSON TO REGISTER AND VOTE!

STATEWIDE – There are 5 Measures on the June Ballot. They are listed below along with the League of Women Voters recommendations.

VOTE YES ON PROP 68 - CALIFORNIANS FOR CLEAN WATER AND SAFE PARKS

This measure would authorize California to issue general obligation bonds, with the money used to finance state and local parks, water conservation measures, water reliability to disadvantaged communities, and flood protection projects. California parks provide open space and recreation, improving health and community well-being. The water projects funded by this bond are forward thinking and are a key part of our state response to climate change.

VOTE YES ON PROP 69 - MOTOR VEHICLE FEES AND TAXES

Pasadena Edition: Pasadena - South Pasadena - Altadena - San Marino

If passed, this constitutional amendment would ensure that the existing transportation revenues we pay at the pump and when we register our vehicles can ONLY be used for road and transportation improvement projects. This amendment protects these transportation funds by prohibiting the state legislature from using these revenues for non-transportation purposes. Prop 69 protects existing taxes and fees we are already paying. It does not raise taxes one cent.

VOTE NO ON PROP 70 - GREENHOUSE GAS REDUCTION RESERVE FUND

This measure would add a requirement that two thirds of legislators approve the first appropriation of any money collected from the sale by CARB (California Air Resources Board) of cap-and-trade allowances after 2024. At a time that we need efficient and effective investments in climate change solutions, this requirement could lead to deadlocks, inefficiency, and poor decisions.

VOTE YES ON PROP 71 - EFFECTIVE DATE OF INITIATIVES

Currently, an initiative that is approved takes effect the day after the election unless the measure provides otherwise. Election results are not officially certified until five weeks after the election. While most election results are clear shortly after Election Day, that is not always the case. Prop 71 would provide that an initiative would take effect five days after the Secretary of State certifies the election results. Vote YES on Prop 71.

VOTE YES ON PROP 72 - PROPERTY TAXATION: NEW CONSTRUCTION: RAIN WATER CAPTURE SYSTEM

This measure would allow an exclusion from additional property taxes for construction or installation of rain water capture systems. These systems capture, store, and use otherwise wasted rain water for landscape irrigation and similar uses, saving more conventional water for personal use. With traditional water sources becoming less dependable, this is one more way we can diversify sources of usable water.

PASADENA UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT - MEASURE BB

Shall the Pasadena City Charter be amended consistent with state law to: 1) change the Pasadena Unified School District's election dates to coincide with statewide general election dates, utilizing the plurality voting format, beginning with the November 2020 general election; 2) extend the current terms of Board Members by 19 months on a onetime basis in order to transition to the statewide election cycle; and 3) change the timing of the Board President's annual address to May!

PASADENA CITY

AA - Shall the Pasadena City Charter be amended consistent with state law to: 1) change the City's primary and general election dates to coincide with statewide primary and general election dates, beginning with the November 2018 general election; 2) extend the current terms for the Mayor and Councilmembers by 19 months on a one-time basis in order to transition to the statewide election cycle; and 3) move the Mayor's thematic budget message to February?

CC – Shall an ordinance be adopted to allow a limited number of commercial cannabis businesses to operate in Pasadena, subject to business, health and land use regulations, and to repeal the City of Pasadena's current ban on commercial cannabis businesses, provided that: (1) the ordinance shall not take effect unless voters approve a Cannabis Business Tax, and (2) the City Council retains authority to amend existing ordinances and adopt future ordinances regarding commercial cannabis business activities?

DD - Shall the City tax cannabis (marijuana) businesses at annual rates not to exceed $10.00 per canopy square foot for cultivation (adjustable for inflation), 6% of gross receipts for retail cannabis businesses, and 4% for all other cannabis businesses, to fund unrestricted general revenue purposes such as police, fire, roads and recreation; which is expected to generate an estimated $1.4 to $2.1 million annually and will be levied until repealed by the voters or City Council?

MONROVIA CITY

TT – Shall an ordinance, placed on the ballot by the City Council, be adopted to increase the rate of the City's existing transient occupancy tax, paid only by visitors to the City, from ten percent (10%) to twelve percent (12%) to raise an additional $400,000 per year in revenue to fund general City services such as public safety, parks and recreation, and senior services?

Jeff's Book Pics By Jeff Brown

us understand the present moment in American politics and life by looking back at critical times in our history when hope overcame division and fear.Our current climate of partisan fury is not new, Meacham shows us how what Abraham Lincoln called the "better angels of our nature" have repeatedly won the day. Painting surprising portraits of Lincoln and other presidents, including Ulysses S. Grant, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Dwight Eisenhower, and Lyndon B. Johnson, and illuminating the courage of such influential citizen activists as Martin Luther King, Jr., early suffragettes Alice Paul and Carrie Chapman Catt, civil rights pioneers Rosa Parks and John Lewis, First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt, and Army-McCarthy hearings lawyer Joseph N. Welch, Meacham brings vividly to life turning points in American history. He writes about the Civil War, Reconstruction, and the birth of the Lost Cause; the backlash against immigrants in the First World War and the resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan in the 1920s; the fight for women's rights; the demagoguery of Huey Long and Father Coughlin and the isolationist work of America First in the years before World War II; the anti-Communist witch-hunts led by Senator Joseph McCarthy; and Lyndon Johnson's crusade against Jim Crow. Each of these dramatic hours in our national life have been shaped by the contest to lead the country to look forward rather than back, to assert hope over fear—a struggle that continues even now.While the American story has not always—or even often-been heroic, we have been sustained by a belief in progress even in the gloomiest of times. In this inspiring book, Meacham reassures us, "The good news is that we have come through such darkness before"—as, time and again, Lincoln's better angels have found a way to prevail.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

HOW TO LEAVE YOUR LIFE INSURANCE AND RETIREMENT PLAN TO YOUR MINOR CHILDREN

Your children are your pride and joy. It is no surprise that at some point or another, every parent likely becomes concerned about who will care for a minor child or children if one or both parents die or are incapacitated. From a financial perspective, many parents turn to life insurance in an effort to take care of their family in the event of death. While it is true that life insurance is a particularly helpful financial tool to protect your loved ones, it is just as important to consider how to leave the proceeds to your minor children. Beyond this, you should also consider how to incorporate your retirement money (IRAs and 401(k)s) into your overall estate plan.

Once you decide to purchase life insurance you will name a beneficiary of the death benefits. You also name a beneficiary on your retirement accounts. But, if you fail to have a system in place and your children are minors at the time they inherit these assets, the court will appoint a conservator to "watch over" a minor person's money. This process requires attorneys' fees, court proceedings, supervision from the court, and will generally limit investment options -- all costs and delays that will not help your children, but rather cost them a significant percentage of their inheritance. Another downside? Whatever's left when the child turns 18 will be handed over, without any guidance or boundaries. This can impact college financial aid opportunities as well as open a ready opportunity for irresponsible spending that most parents would never intend.

How To Leave Assets?

There are several ways in which you can structure your life insurance policies, retirement accounts, and overall estate plan to benefit your minor children in the most streamlined way possible.

BUSINESS NEWS & TRENDS

First, instead of naming minor children as peneficiaries, use a children's trust to manage and use the money for the benefit of your children. This lets you designate someone you think will manage the money well, rather than leaving it to the whims of the court.

Second, select and name a guardian to handle the day-to-day care for your children. This person can be different than the person managing in the money, which can sometimes work well depending on the amounts involved and the different skill sets needed to manage money versus raise children.

Third, if you have a living trust, make sure you have properly funded the trust and aligned your retirement assets with the plan. If you do not yet have a trust, consider the benefits of one over will-based planning. Both types of plans will allow you to designate how much and when your children will receive the money, but a trust-based plan will allow you to do so without court involvement.

Benefits of a Trust

Generally, parents list a minor child as the secondary or contingent beneficiary on life insurance and retirement accounts after first naming the surviving spouse as a primary beneficiary. This may work, as long as everyone dies in the "right" order and at the "right" time. But, it's a gamble, and providing structure through a trust for these inheritances is a vastly superior option. Unlike guardianship or custodian accounts, where the proceeds must be handed over once the minor(s) turns a certain age, you can specify at which age your child receives the proceeds. This allows you to specifically designate how the money is to be used, so it will be available for important life events, while protecting your children from reckless spending. Ultimately you have more control with a trust, and your customized plan will provide the best protection for your family.

If you have any questions about how to leave assets to your minor children -- whether it is a life insurance policy, a retirement account, or any other asset -- contact us today so we can help you explore the options available to your family, determine what tax implications will result, and advise you on the best structure that will protect your family's needs.

LONGING FOR THE OLD, WOODEN STEREO CONSOLE

It sat in my parents' dining room for 30 years or more: an old oak stereo console with large speakers concealed by green fabric. It filled my childhood with a harmony and clarity we could use lots more of about now.

Sundays after supper, the sweet smell of coffee and pot roast and pineapple upside-down cake still in the air, my father (the Big Guy) loved to play his favorite albums on it. He liked Barbra Streisand in those days. He loved Herb Alpert & the Tijuana Brass. And he'd go nuts when he played "The Stars and Stripes Forever!" by John Philip Sousa.

He'd turn the volume high and begin marching through our small house, lifting his legs and arms high and making exaggerated faces the way comedian Red Skelton did with his Clem Kadiddlehopper character. We'd jump from the table and follow behind him, marching and laughing until tears filled our eyes.

That old console played nonstop during the Christmas season. Our stack of records usually began with the "Holiday Sing-Along with Mitch Miller" followed by "Christmas with the Chipmunks." Then came "Snoopy vs. the Red Baron" and Bing Crosby. As soon as Bing finished, we restacked the albums and played them again.

My mother used the stereo more than anyone. She loved to listen to it while working around the house. She loved to whistle, too, a habit she learned from her father (and one she passed along to me).

Hers was a high-pitched whistle - the sound of a happy robin singing on a sunny spring morning - and she could harmonize with most tunes. Sometimes she tuned in to an AM station that played Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin. Other times she'd play her Doris Day album. I still can hear her whistling to "Que Sera, Sera."

I've been thinking about the old stereo console lately. I've been longing for the sweet, simple music that it brought into our home - a simple harmony and clarity for which the world is in desperate need.

There is so much yapping and shouting on television and the radio. There is an obsession with Don Imus and Anna Nicole, and every yapper under the son is beating both stories into the ground.

And while the experts weigh in on the idiotic statements uttered by Imus, few criticize the words and images on so many other channels that are 20 times more vulgar and demeaning; few are critical of so many real woes we face in a culture becoming more crass and cynical by the

The shouting and hooting and hollering has gotten so loud, it's getting hard to hear anymore - it's getting hard for folks to distinguish between what is worthwhile on the tube and the radio and what is garbage. This must be the case. Why else would so many crude, silly and stupid programs litter the airwaves every night?

Some weeks - a week just like this one - I just want to escape it all. My family doesn't have the old stereo console anymore, but I did buy a new turntable recently. My mother's cousin gave me dozens of old albums she no longer listens to and I've been working my way through them.

I listed to an old Sinatra album recently. It was wonderful to transport myself from our noisy world into one of clarity and harmony and simplicity. It was wonderful to travel back to the 1950s and 1960s.

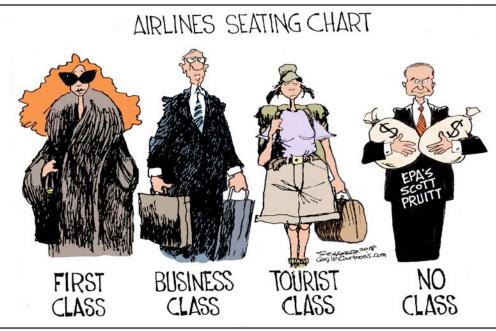

Human nature and the world were messy then, too, but the noise level was much lower. There was no cable then - no channels to allow the yappers to yap. The average citizen was certainly a lot more civil then than the average fellow is now.

Perhaps we'd all be better off if more folks started collecting old albums if more folks tried re-creating the simple childhood memories of the old stereo consoles that once sat in their parents' dining room.

THE PROFITEER-IN-CHIEF GOES BELLY UP FOR CHINA

The U.S. Constitution has been reduced to a scrap of parchment, rendered irrelevant by the profiteer-in-chief.

President Trump relentlessly railed against China on the campaign trail ("It's the greatest theft in the history of the world, what they've done to the United States, they've taken our jobs!"), but days ago he suddenly tweeted his desire to save ZTE, China's telecommunications giant, to help it to get it done!" Wait, did Trump's fans care about Chinese jobs? Is that why they voted for him? Funny, I must've missed that.

In other words, Trump has gone belly up on China because China has pledged to line his pockets.

When Trump shared his sudden love for ZTE and Chinese jobs, he somehow omitted an important development that occurred 72 hours prior to the tweet: China agreed to pump $500 million into an Indonesian theme park that will feature Trump-branded properties, a boon to the Trump Organization.

"get back into business fast. Too many jobs in China lost. Commerce Department has been instructed

Until this week, ZTE was deemed to be a threat to our national security. It has violated U.S. sanctions by selling its smartphones to Iran and North Korea. And the Pentagon has banned the use of ZTE phones on its military bases, fearing that the phones could be used to track the location of our soldiers. The Trump regime recently announced that American firms would stop selling components to ZTE, and as a result, ZTE was on the verge of shutting down. But now, all of a sudden, Trump wants to help it "get back into business fast."

It's amazing how speedily Trump can flip on national security policy when his wallet is being fattened. As one press report points out, "marketing materials ... refer to the theme park and Trump properties as flagship elements of the development, and corporate filings and internal documents show the Trump Organization and the president's sons have been directly involved in various stages of its planning."

This is what happens when an ostensibly democratic nation devolves into a craven kleptocracy. For what it's worth, Section 1, Article 9 of the Constitution specifically bars all federal officials (no exceptions) from profiteering while in office. From the emoluments provision:

... no Person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress, accept any present, Emolument, Office, or Title, of any kind whatsoever, from any King, Prince, or foreign State."

In the wake of Trump's election, there was a brief flurry of concern about his blatant and unprecedented conflicts of interest. White House ethics lawyers, from past Democratic and Republican administrations, warned Trump in a letter that presidential profiteering is unAmerican: "You were elected to the presidency with a promise to eliminate improper business influence in Washington. There is no way to square your campaign commitments to the American people, and your even higher, ethical duties as their president, with the rampant, inescapable conflicts that will engulf your presidency if you maintain connections with the Trump Organization."

And Trevor Potter, a former Republican chairman of the Federal Election Commission, presciently sounded the alarm: "Some foreign businesses and foreign leaders will want to cozy up to the Trump family, because that is how they are used to doing business and conducting foreign policy. The children will get a raft of proposals for new hotels and golf courses ... This is a colossal mistake. It will produce conflicts of interest of an unprecedented magnitude...We will look like the very sort of kleptocracy we criticize in corrupt dictatorships elsewhere."

But now we're so numb to the Trump family's abuses that few of us bat an eye. Trump is being sued in federal court for violating the Founding Fathers' emoluments provision, but as we all know, these kinds of cases proceed with the speed of a snail. And when a Trump White House spokesman was asked whether China's decision to enrich Trump was a breach of the Constitution, the flack basically shrugged it off: "You're asking about a private organization's dealings that may have to do with a foreign government. It's not something I can speak to."

Actually, the press corps was asking about a president's dealings. The flack's attempt to hide behind the "private organization" precisely illustrates the abuse.

Some Senate Republicans were stunned earlier this week about Trump's ZTE flip flop, and they reportedly vowed to raise the issue during a closed-door Tuesday meeting with the profiteer. You don't have to be a seer to know what happened next. None of them had the guts to tell Trump that China has found the perfect way to play him for a sap. And none of the Republican senators, confronted with Trump in person, had the guts to say anything that even remotely approximates what Alexander Hamilton warned about in 1788: "In the general course of human nature, a power over a man's subsistence amounts to a power over his will."

MAKING SENSE by MICHAEL REAGAN

THE DEAL WITH SINGAPORE

So Donald Trump has a date with Kim Jong Un in Singapore on June 12.

Good deal - so far.

As long as the president doesn't get arrested for chewing gum or hanged for spitting on the sidewalk, his meet-up with North Korea's "Rocket Man" in that spotless city might actually become a historic

Singapore 2018 might even become one of Trump's legacies, though I suspect at this point he's not as fixated on legacy building as most presidents. He's more focused on making a deal with a nasty communist regime that no previous president has been able to make.

We'll know soon enough if Singapore is for show or for real.

Meanwhile, I hope when Mr. Trump sits down to negotiate with Kim Jong Un he'll remember what happened when Ronald Reagan went to Reykjavik in October of 1986 to meet My father's meeting in Iceland with the General Secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union was a "session" and not an official summit, but it was a huge, huge geopolitical deal at the time. The hope was for the two superpowers to discuss ways to put limits on strategic nuclear weapons arsenals and to come up with a sweeping arms-control agreement that would bring about the major mothballing of their nukes and missiles. I remember when my father's administration was putting the Reykjavik trip together. It was his second meeting Gorbachev, and hopes were sky high for a historic agreement that would end the scariest part of the Cold War. Everyone in the administration - including Nancy - was excited because they thought

Reykjavik was going to be Ronald Reagan's greatest legacy. Everyone was pushing him - relentlessly - to make a deal with Gorbachev. Almost any deal. But when Mr. Gorbachev said he wouldn't sign the document unless the United States gave up the Strategic Defense Initiative - the proposed "Star Wars" ballistic missile defense system my father said "Nyet."

He got up and walked away from the table.

Everyone was shocked and concerned by what my father did, but the rest was history. The Soviet Union soon went bust. The Berlin Wall came down. The Cold War was over.

Saying no to the USSR when it wanted the United States to give up something was not an audible my father called on the spot. It was something he had been hoping to do for a long time. I remember in 1976 at the Republican National Convention when he lost the nomination. I walked over to his hotel room and asked him, "Why in world would you even want to run for

"Michael," he said, "for too long I've watched presidents of the United States meet with Secretary Generals of the Soviet Union.

"Every time we sit sit down with them they're asking us to give up something to get along with them.

"I want to be the first president who says 'Nyet'. That's the reason I wanted to run for

In order for President Trump's meeting on June 12 to be a success, and he certainly has it in him to make it one, he also has to be willing to walk away.

You can't make a deal just because you're thinking it's going to be good for your legacy.

Your legacy might be when you stand up and walk away from a bad deal. The only way you'll ever win real victories against the people who run hellholes like the USSR, North Korea and Iran is if you're willing to walk -- and they know it. Anyone can make a bad deal - look at the one President Obama made with Iran.

So my suggestion to the president is, "Don't make a deal with North Korea just to make a deal. Sometimes the best deal is to walk away."

And anyway, Mr. Trump, with three American prisoners safely back home from North Korea, you've already got a win.
