Just write a Public Service Announcement that describes your event and e-mail it to radio@cityofsierramadre.com.

SIERRA MADRE POLICE BLOTTER

During this period, the Sierra Madre Police Department responded to approximately 298 day and night time calls for service.

Wednesday, May 16

A resident from the 200 block of Olivera Lane filed a report at the police station that between 9:00AM and 3:00PM two packages that were delivered and left on her front porch were both missing. Unknown person(s) apparently took both packages sometime shortly after delivery. Case to Detectives for follow up.

Thursday, May 24

At about 9:35PM, officers responded to the Sierra Madre PD front lobby in regards to a runaway juvenile that had returned home. Following the interview process, the juvenile was also issued a citation for possession of cannabis.

Saturday, May 26

In the 00 block of E. Sierra Madre Bl. at about 10:23PM, a traffic stop of a vehicle where the driver of the vehicle was found to be driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of an alcoholic beverage. The driver was arrested and later transported to the Pasadena Jail where he was later released on a citation.

Sunday, May 27

Officers responded to a call of a traffic collision with injuries at about 9:41PM at S. Mountain trail and Sierra Madre Bl. When the officers arrived a vehicle collided with a bicycle and the bicyclist hit his head and was bleeding. It was determined that the bicyclist had been drinking.

THE POWER OF LETTING GO

Yoga is, in many ways, about becoming free of struggle. First, we gain awareness. We wake up to what's going on in our bodies and minds and discover how things are affecting us. Only then, can we determine what we need to let go. Sometimes, this 'need to let go' realization almost occurs after the fact. Have you every noticed how hard you were struggling until you were not struggling anymore? Similar idea with letting go. The tighter the grip, the harder to let go and the greater the need to release. Ideally, we'd identify tension within us as it builds. There's good news though, Yoga has many practices to assist this letting go process.

Accessing a nourishing, full, deep breath and finding a sense of relaxation are probably two of the most important remedies. Have you noticed how a deep breath can change things? Finding even, smooth breaths changes our physiology and greatly affects the Sympathetic and Parasympathetic Nervous Systems. When we breathe in a deliberate way, the energy and the mind are soothed and refined. The road to freedom and letting go can be found this way.

With the breath as a catalyst, yoga allows us to find relaxation and cultivate a sense of ease. It's when we find the rhythm of relaxation that we are able to go deeper in yoga. Deep physical relaxation is found in savasana, the final resting pose. However, mentally, the mind is being soothed throughout practice. If the practice is approached by trying "too hard" or wanting to accomplish, then the profound sense of relaxation and letting go is not going to You've probably come upon this principle in other areas of life. Letting go allows abundance and exerting too much self-will is ultimately limiting. Relaxing into practice and agreeing to be fully present will break down resistance and create freedom on all levels. As you move along, restorative yoga is incredible and the practice of Yoga Nidra (yogi sleep) is profound and sublime.

Learn what exerting great effort and feeling comfortable feels like at the same time! Contact me to learn more and be introduced to the practices that have the potential to change your life. keely@keelytotten.com.

A MEDITATION ON GRATITUDE

Our moods are reflections of our temporary emotional states, often driven by outside circumstances. Sometimes it is difficult not to be affected by interactions with people or conditions, but we alone are responsible for our happiness, and there are things we can do to lift our moods.

First, take responsibility for your attitude. If there is room for improvement, take action. The quickest jumpstart activity to lift your spirits is to dwell in gratitude. Don't wait for something to happen to be appreciative, generate gratitude. Consider your very

The likelihood of being born at this time, place and circumstance is approximately--- 1 in 400,000, 000,000! Can you believe it? The odds of coming into this life is one in four hundred trillion. For every one of us! Now that's a reason to be grateful. Notice your breath. Without effort on your part, you are breathed. Your breath animates every part of your body, your brain, your beautiful heart all the way down to your toes. Take a deep breath, fill your lungs and notice how your whole body tingles enjoying more of the life force moving through your body. Notice your eyes. Think about how your eyes help you to navigate the world, to have pleasure, and to appreciate your life more fully. Now take a moment to stand in nature. Look at the sky and appreciate the clouds, the color of the sky, are there trees near you? Notice the lacework of the leaves. The view you are experiencing is uniquely yours. No one else is standing in precisely the same spot you are. Get up for sunrise; there is one being designed just for you outside It's a brand new day. This day has never been lived before, let's cherish it.

MEMORIAL DAY TURKEY

I hope you had a wonderful Memorial Day this past weekend and that you enjoyed your traditional Memorial Day turkey! What? You didn't roast a turkey for the occasion? Shoot, then I guess my husband and I were the only ones who did a few years ago. Although we'd been married nearly six years at the time, we'd never roasted a turkey before. That is, until that Memorial Day weekend. But our turkey didn't start out as a Memorial Day turkey.

Like most turkeys, ours was originally intended for Thanksgiving. Every year, we came up with excuses as to why we couldn't, or shouldn't, do a turkey. I can't cook, and the kitchen in our old apartment was small. We moved into our house last February, which took care of excuse number two. So back in November we were at Ralph's and the sight of all the frozen turkeys lined up in a bin inspired us to buy one.

Even then we didn't plan to roast it for Thanksgiving, since we were having dinner with our families, we accepted the challenge all the same. My husband checked the expiration date and discovered it could last a whole year. It took up comfortable residence in our freezer. It didn't take long for us to get tired of having a fourth of our freezer taken up by the turkey, but since both of us work and are fairly busy on the weekends, the turkey languished next to the ice cube tray for months. We decided that a nice, restful three-day weekend would be the perfect opportunity to finally roast our long term guest. We took him (or her) out a few days in advance to thaw in the fridge.

By Friday it seemed fairly soft to the touch --through the plastic anyway. My husband researched roasting methods and decided brining sounded good. We got the special Diamond Kosher salt and other infrequently used seasonings recommended by the "Food Network." However, my husband then noticed that our turkey was "Enhanced." "Enhanced, huh?" I asked. "Does that mean it wears a double D cup now?" He raised his eyebrows as if to say, "You're not serious, right?" "It means it's already marinated and we should just go ahead and bake it."

Turkeys go through a complex transformation on their way from slaughter to main entrée. It gets a pop-up timer implanted in its shoulder and its legs are bound together with a plastic implement resembling hand cuffs that are anchored deep inside its body cavity. Freeing this plastic leg brace was a challenge not made easier by the fact that, although the skin was soft and pliable, the inner flesh was still rock hard. Although we weren't supposed to rinse the turkey since the liquid it was hibernating in was the brining solution, we resorted to holding the turkey under running water in an attempt to melt away some of icebergs lurking inside. (Sorry! We tried to be water conscious!) Its cavity filled up with water and overflowed into the sink. I recalled those ads for antibacterial spray, the ones where they show all the swaths of bacteria on kitchen surfaces glowing like Christmas lights. After much work digging around the turkey's knees, my husband dislodged the last remaining chunks of turkey juice and freed the legs from their plastic handcuffs.

Then came the rub –seasoning rub, that is. My husband really is a good sport and managed to massage a mixture of herbs and spices into all the nooks and crannies of the unwieldy bird. Turkeys get their revenge by being particularly clumsy to handle, shifting their weight in their sagging skin as soon as you get a grasp on a leg or wing. In doing so we discovered a few extra feathers that somehow made it through the packing plant. "Door prizes!" I exclaimed.

We referred back to the instructions on the bag many times throughout the turkey's preparation. It told us to remove the neck, giblets, and a gravy bag from the body cavity. It was like a treasure chest! Try as we did, we couldn't find the giblets. It also didn't help that neither of us were totally sure what giblets were supposed to look like. "It's not that big in there," my husband said. "There aren't a lot of places for them to hide." We gave up and figured that if we came across them it would be like finding a toy in a box of Cracker Jacks, only these were poultry organs. One of the "Food Network" chefs had suggested putting an apple inside with some cinnamon sticks for aromatics. We didn't have cinnamon sticks, so I cut up an apple and sprinkled cinnamon on it before stuffing it inside. I think this was my only contribution to the turkey preparation!

When it was finally time to pop it in the oven we realized that with its legs free, the turkey overhung its baking dish. "Do we have anything bigger?" my husband asked. We searched for a larger container but found nothing. "Maybe I can put the ankle braces back on," he said, fishing the plastic leg cuffs out of the sink. After a short struggle he refastened the legs in their restraints and stuck the rest of the contraption back in the cavity. By now we were ready for a break while the bird baked.

For the next few hours we checked the turkey under the oven light and speculated on whether the drippings were burning, since "dry brined" birds supposedly don't produce much liquid. But at the eleventh hour (not really, but it seemed like it) the turkey exuded a lot of juice and that we were able to use with the gravy pack. When my husband first freed the legs from the ankle cuffs and peered inside the cavity he exclaimed, "Oh my gosh! I found the giblets; they exploded!" But it turned out to only be the apple slices, a bit puffy from the heat. At last the turkey was ready to eat, and for first timers, it turned out fairly good! Nearly a week later we were almost done eating it, and had found all sorts of uses for cold and hot turkey. I suppose most people don't have turkey for Memorial Day, but Benjamin Franklin originally wanted the turkey to be the national bird instead of the eagle, so it is patriotic in a way. When I first submitted this story, we still haven't come across the giblets, but we're weren't quite done at that moment in time...

"The Mount Wilson Trail Race is the second oldest trail race in California; first held in 1908 when runners raced to Mt. Wilson, rested half an hour, then raced back down and only a very few intrepid runners attempted it. The race was held sporadically from 1908 until the late 1940's – early 1950's when it was abandoned completely. Organized by a volunteer committee and sponsored by our fair city, Sierra Madre, the current race is 8.6 miles in length. The exact course has been changed by erosion, fires and earthquakes, but is lovingly maintained by some amazing guys who wield shovels, move boulders, avoid the occasional bear, and just generally keep the trail in good shape." That was mostly from the Mt. Wilson Trail Race web page, except for that last part about the guys who keep the trail in good shape.

My best friend and trail race aficionado, John, and I spent many years on Trail Race day walking downtown to grab a cup of coffee at Beantown, visit with friends, look at all the goodies on display and available for purchase on Kersting Court, be awed and astonished by whatever young person was delivering the National Anthem, watch the runners take off, enjoy the little kids' races, and hang out till the first runners returned pot, over the side and heading for the deck. All our in some astonishingly fast time, usually around an hour. This year is different for me. John is watching the race from heaven - which brings to mind that great verse from Hebrews...

"Therefore we also, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which so easily ensnares us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us." Heb. 12:1 and I just couldn't do all that without him. So, I walked down to St. Rita's and joined the crowd of folks standing there ready to cheer on the runners as they raced by. Folks, it's a pretty steep run just from the start up to Alegria and a lot of these runners were already breathing heavy and most of the faces showed grim determination. However, one lovely woman smiled at me and said, "Good morning!" as she jogged past. The last couple of guys, a ways behind the pack, were smiling. One waved and I assured him he was going to have a beautiful morning. He let me know he was already having a beautiful morning. The very last guy said, "Say, have you seen a bunch of runners go by here!!" and I assured him he was the very first one. These guys were just out there doing it for the joy of

One of my favorite columns in the Pasadena Star

News on Saturdays is "Gardening" by Joshua Siskin. This week Joshua let us know that, "The fruits of our labors in the garden don't come easily." I had to laugh as he got it exactly right and I'll quote him here for you, in case you didn't see it: "The Garden of Eden was the only truly low-maintenance garden in human history and Adam and Eve were kicked out of there. Ever since Eden, to be a farmer or a gardener has meant toil and sweat and even blood in the event you have a lot of roses to prune."

My roses have been producing some incredibly large, fragrant beauties and my Epiphylums are covered with huge purple or orange blooms. These utterly delight me as they are growing from cuttings my Dad gave me years ago. I shared cuttings from these with son-inlaw, Chuck, and his Epiphylums are even bigger than mine! The roses are doing all they can to impress me so that I will forget about what happens in summer when spider mites attack and they all begin to look like death warmed over.

I planted a pink petunia in the same pot with a nice nk geranium and that petunia is growing out of the plants are loving May Gray, aren't they. I'm not all that wild about it but the sun is supposed to shine again starting next week.

Tomorrow, Sunday, May 27th, our daughter, Crissy, and our two little Texas girls, Jessie and Emily, will arrive for a visit! They aren't Texas girls anymore, as the family has moved to Goodyear, Arizona and now are iust five or so hours away. Could I be any happier? No! Will let you know all about our adventures next week. They want to go to the beach and, our traditional trip to P.F. Chang's is first on their itinerary. We all love the steamed dumplings there. And, speaking of steamed dumplings, have you been to Din Tai Fung in the mall? It's upstairs close to Nordstrom and when they open at 11 a.m., there's already a line waiting. It's a lovely place, with friendly, helpful wait staff and fantastic dumplings! Have a wonderful week and enjoy your roses.

Deadly Hit-and-run Driver Arrested

Police arrested a 34-yearold Alhambra man after he walked away from a major car crash in Pasadena early last Sunday morning that killed the other driver.

According to police, at around 2 a.m. a white SUV crashed into a black Honda at the intersection of Sierra Madre and Colorado Boulevards. Police said the impact left the Honda hundreds of feet away on the other side of the center median.

Police later arrested Robert Michael Ybarra, around 1 p.m. at his home in Alhambra. He was taken to a nearby hospital with injuries before be booked into jail. Police believe Ybarra was under the influence at the time of the crash. He was also unaware the other diver had died officers said.

Anyone with information is asked to call police at 626-744-4501.

Dangerous Carjacking Ends in Burbank

A suspect driving a stolen vehicle led CHP officers on wild chase Wednesday from East Pasadena to Burbank that included a carjacking, several other attempted carjackings and attempting to steal a Metro Freeway Service Patrol vehicle.

According to police a man driving a stolen car, rear-ended a white SUV on the 210 Freeway near San Gabriel Boulevard around 9 a.m. The suspect ran past the other driver, jumped in her SUV and fled. According CHP officers, the driver became erratic intentionally ramming the SUV into several vehicles and driving into oncoming traffic down Riverside Drive. The driver, thought to be on drugs, was arrested after police tackled him to the ground as he tried to run from

Pet of the Week

Teddy (A456663) is a 2-month-old cutie pie. He is a very playful, affectionate cat who reaches his tiny paw out of the kennel for attention. He loves being petted all over his body, especially behind his ears, and starts purring and head bumping for more. He would be a great companion for someone who is looking for a long-term best friend. Come by and visit him at the Pasadena Humane Society today.

The adoption fee for cats is $75. All cats are spayed or neutered, microchipped, and vaccinated before being adopted.

New adopters will receive a complimentary healthand-wellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

View photos of adoptable petsatpasadenahumane. org. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email.

E-Waste Recycling

Residents can safely dispose of electronic waste and have personal and business documents shredded at the City's popular free e-waste event from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, June 16, 2018. The event will be held in Parking Lot I outside the Rose Bowl Stadium near Brookside Park, 360 North Arroyo Boulevard.

Shredding trucks and e-waste collection sites will be arranged at different stations in Parking Lot I. Look for signs directing you to the event. Motorists and bicyclists are advised to use caution while traveling through the area.

E-waste items include keyboards, computers, printers, monitors, laptops, docking stations, scanners, shredders, fax machines, computer mice, telephones, televisions, flat screens, VCRs, DVD players, PDAs, cassette players, tape drives, stereos and household batteries. Many of these products have parts that can be recycled.

Public Works is also helping residents prevent identity theft by providing free paper shredding during the event. The public can bring a maximum of three (3) legalsize boxes for shredding. Sensitive documents such as receipts, checks, pre-approved credit applications, credit card statements, outdated tax returns, pre-printed envelopes, return address labels and business cards are items that can be shredded.

Event participants will be required to show proof of Pasadena residency and the duration of the event is subject to truck capacity. The event is sponsored by the City's Department of Public Works. For more information about the free e-waste collection and document shredding event, visit: cityofpasadena.net/ PublicWorks or call (626) 744-

MONROVIANS BEING ASKED TO CONSIDER APPROVING MEASURE TT AT THE POLLS ON JUNE 5, 2018

Direct Primary Election. And in addition to all of the other candidates and issues that voters will be asked to consider on the ballot, here in Monrovia, we will be considering Measure TT.

So what exactly is Measure TT? If aprproved by the voters, Measure TT would increase the City's City of Monrovia's existing Transient Occupancy between 15% - 16%. Tax ("TOT" or "hotel bed tax") is set at a rate of many cities across California, this tax is charged to temporary lodging accommodations in Monrovia for a stay of 30 days or less.

The TOT helps ensure that those who visit Monrovia and take advantage of the services we offer - such as our roads, water, sewer, Police and Fire - help pay for the added demand of those a copy of the sample ballot. Results are tentatively services. And just to clarify, the "Transient" in Transient Occupancy Tax is referring to hotel guests, not homeless individuals, and this tax is unrelated to homelessness.

The TOT is one of the City's primary tax revenue streams, along with sales and property taxes, but it is the only tax that is charged only to visitors who stay temporarily at hotels in the City. Raising the TOT by 2%, from 10% to 12%, will help align Monrovia page at www.cityofmonrovia.com

On June 5th, California will be holding a Statewide to what many of our neighbors are charging, while keeping Monrovia hotels competitive in our region.

Currently, Monrovia is charging a lower TOT than other jurisdictions to the west of the City. For example, Pasadena, Burbank and Glendale all have effective TOT rates that are set at 12% or higher. Additionally, those communities charge a tourism Transient Occupancy Tax rate from 10% to 12%. The tax on top of the TOT, so visitors there are paying

To be approved, Measure TT will require voter 10% of the cost of rent charged by the operator. Like approval by at least a majority vote. If Measure TT is not approved, Monrovia will continue to travelers when they stay at a hotel, motel or other collect the tax at a lower rate and will likely have to find other sources of revenue to fund existing levels of service.

Election Day is on Tuesday, June 5, 2018. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Voters may go to www.lavote.net to look up polling locations and find scheduled for certification by the Register-Recorder/ County Clerk on June 29, 2018. Because Measure TT appears near the end of a very long ballot, please look for the Measure and be sure to vote on this proposed change to the City's TOT rate.

The full text of the proposed ordinance and additional details regarding the Special Election may be found on the City Clerk's Office Elections

Attempt Grand Theft - Suspect Arrested May 20 at 6:41 p.m., two male subjects entered a store in the 1600 block of S. Mountain and began filling an empty box with several power tools. They were stopped by store security as they attempted to flee the store with the merchandise. Officers arrived and took custody of both subjects.

Warrant - Suspect Arrest May 20 at 7:24 p.m., an officer was patrolling the 300 block of W. Huntington when he saw a male subject whom he recognized. A computer check revealed the subject had five warrants for his arrest. He was arrested and taken into custody.

DUI - Suspect Arrested May 21 at 12:12 a.m., an officer was patrolling the 2600 block of S. Myrtle when he saw a vehicle traveling south at a high rate of speed. He stopped the vehicle and contacted the driver, who he found to be intoxicated. Field sobriety tests were conducted and the driver was arrested for DUI. Battery May 21 at 4:10 p.m., a resident in the 300 block of E. Palm reported his 25-year-old son had just hit him in the face, and then ran out of the house. Officers responded and searched for the suspect, but could not locate him. An emergency protection order was granted to the father. This investigation is continuing.

Warrant / Possession of Drug Paraphernalia – Suspect Arrested May 21 at 5:05 p.m., a resident in the 600 block of E. Foothill reported a female subject was in her front yard and did not have permission to be on the private property. Officers responded and located the subject. A computer check revealed she had a warrant for her arrest. She was arrested and taken into custody. A search incident to arrest revealed she was in possession of drug paraphernalia.

Drug Activity - Suspect Arrested May 21 at 9:39 p.m., a caller reported a male subject in the 1300 block of S. Mayflower sitting on a couch on the side of the road who was breathing in toxic fumes from paint cans. Officers responded and found the subject to be heavily intoxicated under the influence of the fumes. He was not able to care for his own safety. He was arrested and taken into custody.

Grand Theft May 22 at 7:51 a.m., an employee of a business in the 700 block of E. Huntington arrived to work and found that someone had entered their gated property sometime over the weekend and stole several arge batteries. This investigation is continuing.

Stolen Vehicle Located May 22 at 12:51 p.m., a parking control officer was checking for illegally parked vehicles in the 1800 block of Sixth when he saw a vehicle in violation of street sweeping. A computer check revealed the vehicle had been stolen. Officers arrived to investigate and found a shaved key inside the vehicle's ignition. The owners of the vehicle responded and recovered their car. This investigation is continuing.

Public Intoxication - Suspect Arrested May 23 at 12:19 a.m., employees of a restaurant in the 600 block of W. Huntington reported a female subject walking around in their parking lot, yelling and causing a disturbance. Officers arrived and located the subject. She was found to be heavily intoxicated and unable to care for her own front yard, but was found a short distance away. He was safety. She was arrested and taken into custody.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

THE CULTURALLY CORRECT CANINE

I am constantly being amazed by the many ways that the street. a kind canine can change a human being's life for the better. There are various and sundry reasons why the us, I looked up and gave them a wide, "happy to family dog has earned the title of "man's best friend", and rightfully so.

Among the many virtues that the dog shares with his two-legged human companions, most amazing to me is the fact that he is able and more than willing to bridge the gap between humans of varying colors, ages, cultures, lifestyles and languages. The idea that a dog is capable of bringing people together who would otherwise likely not bother to share the time of day, really hit close to home for me during a recent walk with a couple of my canine clients.

semblance of diversity in my social life. I have an remarkably, within a moment's time, we humans eclectic collection of friends including people of various colors, shapes, sizes, ages and walks of life, but I am only human, so I do admit that I can't help noticing the differences between myself and others.

And while I believe I am an open-minded person, no matter how hard I try to ignore or erase thoughts and preconceptions that may come to mind when I cross paths with people who look or act different from myself, there are times when I tend to presumptuously profile a person based on their appearance or behavior.

When those preconceived notions come to mind, I try hard to suppress them, but the thoughts sometimes come nonetheless. I realize that my mind works this way because I was raised in a culture that inherently encouraged the identification of people according to the color of their skin, cultural origins or socio-economic status, and I think that is very definitely would and I think in some ways we are on the road to positive change and I was blessed to have had parents who went against that natural cultural This is just another example of how the dog is such flow. It is what it is, and all one can do is live one's a valuable asset in the daily life of a simple human own life the way they know they should. I said all that being. Love and let live! to say this...Thank God for dogs!

During a recent walk with two of my favorite canine companions, we were trekking up Grand View towards the Arcadia highland community, when we happened to cross paths with an older couple walking two darling silky terriers. Because the two dogs I was walking at the time are always very calm and cordial with other dogs, I was not too concerned about a potential canine confrontation, so we stayed steady on our trail rather than crossing to the other side of

by Chris Leclerc

As we drew closer to the couple walking towards meet ya" kind of smile, and said "good morning!". Initially, they both looked away in what appeared to be awkward embarrassment or a complete loss of words. My immediate thought was that they were not completely comfortable with my greeting, simply because they were not completely comfortable with my language. For this reason, my intention was to walk on by and pretend I hadn't seen them.

Apparently, however, my two four-legged friends do happen to speak the same language as their two little pups, so all four dogs greeted each other with I am a person who has always maintained some immense confidence and playful excitement. And followed suit by becoming visibly more relaxed in each other's company. As we stood closer to each other, watching the dogs interact and socialize with intent vigor, we began to exchange gracious facial expressions that can only be interpreted as a universal language.

By the time we parted ways, having stood together and observed that kind, reciprocal social behavior between our pets, I felt that I had made a couple of new human friends that I hope to bump into again in the near future, and I would like to think that they felt the same way.

See what I mean? How cool is it that our pets can play a part in bridging a gap between ourselves and our neighbors? That is what prompted me to write this short (yet, hopefully effective) article about the value of a dog's social virtues.

Perhaps we humans can learn from the canine's willingness and ability to behave in a culturally If I could change that about my culture, I most correct manner. I encourage us all to remember to be thankful that God made creatures such as the dog to help us humans to be kind and use better social skills.

BEST FRIEND

Licorice is a very sweet, shy, pretty 9-month-old pup who is being called a Chihuahua mix, although as she matures, she looks like she probably has more other breeds in her DNA. She has a striking appearance with a beautiful velvety coat of fur that is a rich dark gray color and eyes to match. She was shy and fearful at first until she got to spend more time socializing with staff and volunteers. Licorice is learning how to play with people, toys, and other dogs while having lots of fun in the process. She enjoys getting pets, belly rubs, and spending time on a lap. Her puppy energy often sends her off in search of new adventures. She is learning to walk on leash, and just needs more practice to sharpen her skills. If you have the time and patience to bring a puppy into your home, please meet this lovely girl so she doesn't have to grow up in a shelter. Puppies need consistent training and direction, as well as time to play and exercise. Licorice has so much potential and just needs the chance to develop it. She is waiting to meet you! Her adoption fee is $130 and includes spay surgery, vaccinations, microchip and a free wellness exam at a participating veterinarian. Feel free to call us at (626) 286-1159 for more information. She currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel which is located off San Gabriel Blvd, north of Mission and south of Las Tunas Drive. To arrange a 'Meet and Greet', please stop by any time from 10:30am to 4:30pm Tuesday through Sunday. Website: www.sgvhumane.org.

INSIGHT STEERS TOWARD MARS

NASA's InSight lander has made its first course correction toward Mars. InSight, short for Interior Exploration using Seismic Investigations, Geodesy and Heat Transport, is the first mission dedicated to exploring the deep interior of Mars.

The lander is currently encapsulated in a protective aeroshell, which launched on top of an Atlas V 401 rocket on May 5 from Vandenberg Air Force Base in Central California. On May 22, the spacecraft fired its thrusters for the first time to change its flight path. This activity, called a trajectory correction maneuver, will happen a maximum of six times to guide the lander to Mars.

Every launch starts with a rocket. That's necessary to get a spacecraft out past Earth's gravity—but rockets don't complete the journey to other planets. Before launch, every piece of hardware headed to Mars is cleaned, limiting the number of Earth microbes that might travel on the spacecraft. However, the rocket and its upper stage, called a Centaur, don't get the same special

As a result, Mars launches involve aiming the rocket just off-target so that it flies off into space. Separately, the spacecraft performs a series of trajectory correction maneuvers guiding it to the Red Planet. This makes sure that only the clean spacecraft lands on the planet, while the upper stage does not come close.

Precise calculations are required for InSight to arrive at exactly the right spot in Mars' atmosphere at exactly the right time, resulting in a landing on Nov. 26. Every step of the way, a team of navigators estimates the position and velocity of the spacecraft. Then they design maneuvers to deliver it to an entry point at Mars.

"This first maneuver is the largest we'll conduct," said Fernando Abilleira of JPL, InSight's Deputy Mission Design and Navigation Manager. "The thrusters will fire for about 40 seconds to impart a velocity change of 8.5 mph to the spacecraft. That will put us in the right ballpark as we aim for Mars."

Especially at the beginning of that cruise, navigators rely on NASA's Deep Space Network (DSN) to track the spacecraft. The DSN is a system of antennas located at three sites around the Earth. As the planet rotates, each of these sites comes into range of NASA's spacecraft, pinging them with radio signals to track their positions. The antennas also send and receive data this way.

The DSN can give very accurate measurements about spacecraft position and velocity. But predicting where InSight will be after it fires its thrusters requires lots of modeling, Abilleira precisely drive the spacecraft to the desired entry its antennas pointed at Earth. While necessary to will begin to reel the spacecraft in. At that point, said. As the cruise to Mars progresses, navigators have more information about the forces acting on a spacecraft. That lets them further refine thrusters on the spacecraft. A separate group of their models. Combined with DSN tracking four is autonomously fired on a daily basis to keep

JUNE IS FULL OF SEAFOOD !!!

As much as I love a good burger, my waistband was expanding, I have never consumed so many burgers in one month as I did for May, and you know it was National Burger Month. Now June is National Seafood month and I hope to get some relief, at least my pants certainly do!!! The Discovery Channel is full of great shows, and I turn to it when I have exhausted my usual programming, such as that critically acclaimed, Dining with Dills. One show that has increasingly captured my attention is "The Deadliest Catch?" I'm not moving from restaurant reviewer to TV Critic mind you, but there is something about the show that just keeps my interest. I have no idea who the stars are but it appears to me the treacherous weather is one of them. The entire show is dedicated to life threatening pursuit of catching Crabs off Alaska and the Russian Border, the Baltic Sea to be exact. The ships are equipped with every technical gadget in the business, but like so many things in life, it comes down to instinct and in this case it is the captain's instinct that directs the ship to fortune, failure or even death. Unlike the "Bachelor," here I don't have to wade through 10 episodes for the count or the discard, as nearly every episode they are pulling up Crabs in five-minute intervals. Crew members battle the crippling Eskimo like conditions and sheer walls of mountainous sea to bring up a treasure chest of crabs that is as welcome as gold to the pirates of a distant age.

The season is brief so each mistake, each lost moment of time is magnified, as the crew must force themselves through fatigue and lack of sleep to race against the ticking clock. Maybe I find a special delight in the show since I love King Crab but it is more, as the show turns my stomach in knots as I watch with childlike fear and anticipation as the crew of the boats challenge the harshest elements of nature. Here is a sample of the shows description. "Relive the dangers, adventures and disasters of the original miniseries. Meet the salty sea captains and greenhorns who risk their lives on the job to earn part of a 90 million dollar King and Opilio Crab payoff. Set sail and learn all about crab fishing." Yea, that's the whole premise and I can't get enough of it!!! If they are willing to risk their lives for this, I feel obligated to support these courageous soldiers and their imprisoned catch? This week is dedicated to those crews and their delicious prisoners, so let's see where we can catch our own crab and not lose a life or wallet in the process. King Crab Legs can be very expensive, so I suggest checking out Von's. Typically, they have a great selection at a very reasonable price. If you are a Costco member they have some of the freshest crab and some of the lowest prices anywhere. On sale you can expect to pay about ($19.95) per pound. How about Crab Cakes? If done right they can be very tasty, but many restaurants do not use the traditional method or lack a quality in their crab cake to capture the heightened glory that this dish can achieve. The traditional method is done with Dungeness lump crabmeat. Some places in our region are: Cameron's Restaurant, Smitty's, and Ruth Chris'. For this crab lover though, the very best Crab Cake by far is at Fleming's on Colorado located in Old Pasadena. There they use real lump crabmeat with a light breaded cover. What's your favorite place for Crab Cakes? Send me an email to the chefknows@vahoo.com.

THE WORLD AROUND US

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges BUILDING A LEAN-TO

[Nyerges is the author of 'How To Survive Anywhere," and other books. He leads regular outdoor skills classes. For more information, go to www.ChristopherNyerges. com or Box 41834, Eagle

Rock, CA 90041]

Should you build a primitive shelter if you get lost in the woods and you know you need to spend the night there? Perhaps. But if you were alert, you might be surprised how many ready-to-occupy shelters abound in the wilderness. Why build something if you can simply find some shelter for the night, whether manmade or natural? You know, hollow trees, caves, rock overhangs, old cabins, outhouses, utility shacks.

But if there is nothing around to protect you from the cold, the snow, the rain, then you must build something. At one of our survival skills courses, we built a simple lean-to shelter and one of our students spent a few nights in it. Though the lean-to is only one of many possible emergency shelters, it is relatively easy to construct, assuming there are sufficient natural materials available. Since the student, Christopher Reamer, spent a few nights in the shelter without blankets or a sleeping bag, I asked him if he had a comfortable night.

"I was plenty warm without blankets in my lean-to motel," says Reamer. "But that's only because I got underneath all the leaves and duff that was supposed to be the padding that I slept on top of. I was really sorry that we hadn't picked out all the sharp pointy twigs when we built the shelter."

Reamer pointed out that, when sleeping in such a shelter, it is always well-worth the time to spend as much time as possible to make the bedding comfortable. "It's a better use of your time to make the bedding as thick and soft as possible," he explains, "than to lie awake all night from the cold."

Reamer said that he had a fairly comfortable night in the lean-to, except "there were some sort of weird animals roaming around outside the shelter, which was

So let's say you've determined that we need to build a shelter. How do you begin?

Just like with real estate, the primary consideration is location. You need to build your shelter where there is the necessary abundance of natural materials. You want a location that provides some natural protection, if possible. But you don't want rocks or branches to fall on your shelter. You don't want to be too close to water for many reasons: mosquitoes, possibility of flooding, inability to hear people approaching. Etc.

You've found your ideal spot. A simple lean-to begins with a tripod so that one length is as long as your body. The simple tripod is the frame for your shelter.

And in an emergency survival situation, you don't start with a high tripod, like a tipi. You want a low ceiling in order to capture your heat. Then you simply lean branches onto your frame, keeping in mind where your entrance will be.

Once you've covered the frame with branches, you add little branches and leaves, and eventually cover the shelter with a thick layer of insulation.

You then add thick layers of grass or leaves into the floor of the lean-to for your bedding. I try to avoid using pine needles for insulation because it pokes into your body, and you get full of the bits of sap that seep out of it. But if there is nothing else, use it.

If possible, add a layer of large rocks to define your bedding area to keep all the leaves and grass from flattening out too much.

Reamer said that someday he wants to try sleeping in a shelter with massive loads of cattail fluff for bedding. Cattail down has been used in the past as a substitute for the goose down in sleeping bags.

Another way to begin a lean-to is to simply lean a solid ridge post onto a low branch of a standing tree. Then lean your smaller poles onto the ridge post, and continue from there.

Shelter is extremely important, whether you're in the extreme heat of the desert, or exposed to the winter snows. But the process of shelter-building need not be a daunting task. After all, children all build "forts" and "hideouts" in the woods.

Perhaps the best way for adults to make shelters is to become like a child again, not worry about getting dirty, and just go and learn by doing.

A MERRY HEART DOETH GOOD

the way things are going I am not going to hold my breath. We just finished supper and the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and I was watching a little bit of television. We like to try to catch up on the news after a day of working. I well remember the time when the "world news" was only broadcast for 30 minutes, which was broken the world all day long. In fact, some television channels are devoted exclusively to news 24/7. The problem with that is 99.9% of the news is bad news. Good news does not have much of a place on television. We are too busy these days to listen to good news.

We had just settled down to catch up and some of way I am, I can watch the news and not hear anything they are saying. My wife, on the other side of the room, hears every word the news commentators are talking about.

We were relaxing, enjoying some coffee while watching the TV. I was drifting off into Whatever Land and just chilling. It was then that I heard from across the room some gasping.

"What is wrong with people?" And, "Don't they know to do any better?" And, "What does all that violence solve?'

I looked over at my wife and saw her grimacing at the TV. Every once in a while she would shake her head and make some kind of a moaning sound.

I knew not to interrupt her Grimacing Moment and allowed her to have her space. After all, everybody needs a little bit of personal space. "I can't believe," she said most disgustingly, "that he actually said that! What is wrong with that person?" I did not need to tell her that we live in a very crazy world. A world that has lost all sense of sanity. Unless you are insane these days, you are not going to get country today, it is about time Even there the world has gone crazy. The so-called "comedians" are just as bad if not worse than the average insane person in our country. They have a platform to make people laugh, but they use it to vent their anger and wrath toward somebody.

I knew I had to pull my wife out of this cesspool of lunacy. Then a thought came to me. If you want to get your wife to laugh, remind her of something about her great-grandson. It works all the time.

"I was wondering," I said, trying to direct her attention away from the television, "what our great-grandson was doing today. I wonder if he's having fun?"

It worked beautifully. She looked at me and changed that hard grimace look into a hilarious laughter. "You know," she said, "I was just thinking about him

Then she was off talking about her great-grandson and some very happy moments she had with him. Of course, I cannot be sure of this, but some of what she said was a little bit exaggerated. Believe me, I am not the only one in the family that exaggerates. However, it worked. It got her away from the the news and I was not paying too much attention. The heaviness of the insane world around us to the hilarious world of great-grandsons. Nothing is funnier than a great-grandson.

There is a song out in the world that says, "What this world needs is love, sweet love." I am not sure who sang it, but there is a message to that. I think it goes much further than that. If I was a songwriter or a singer (don't worry, I'm not going to sing) I would write a song called "What the world needs is laughter, hilarious laughter." Love can be rather complicated but laughter opens all the floodgates of real joy.

After a half-hour of laughing about her greatgrandson, my wife was back to her normal, jolly self. Laughter makes all the difference in the world. You can tell a lot about a person by what it takes to make him or her laugh.

Solomon understood this better than anyone when he wrote, "All the days of the afflicted are evil: but he that is of a merry heart hath a continual feast" (Proverbs 15:15). And, "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken spirit drieth the bones" (Proverbs 17:22).

If I were a doctor, this would be my prescription. Laugh three times, and then call me in the morning with a

THE GOOD LIFE

HOW TO FIND RETIREE TRAVEL PERKS

Dear Savvy Senior,

What types of travel discounts are available to older travelers? I just retired and am interested in learning

Ready To Go

Dear Ready,

There are literally thousands of different travelrelated discounts available to retirees that usually start anywhere between the ages 50 and 65. These discounts typically ranging between 5 and 25 percent off – can add up to save you hundreds of dollars on your next trip. Here's how you can find them.

Ways to Save

The first thing to know is that most businesses don't advertise them, but many give senior discounts just for the asking, so don't be shy.

You also need to be aware that when it comes to senior travel bargains, the "senior discount," if available, may not always be the best deal. Hotels, resorts, airlines and cruise lines, for example, offer advanced bookings along with special deals and promotions from time to time that may be a lower rate than what the senior discount is. Before you book, always ask about the lowest possible rate and the best deal available.

Another way retirees with flexible schedules can save is to be flexible when you travel. Last minute travel deals can offer huge savings, as well as traveling during off-season or off-peak times, and avoiding holidays. Club memberships can also garner you a wide variety of travel bargains. AARP, for example has dozens of travel discounts available on hotels, rental cars, cruises and vacation packages – see AARPadvantages.com. Annual AARP membership fees are $16 or less if you join for multiple years.

Or, if you don't agree with AARP, there are alternative organizations you can join like the Seniors Coalition or the American Seniors Association that offer discounts on hotels and rental cars.

Types of Discounts

Here's an abbreviated rundown of some of the different travel discounts you can expect to find.

Transportation: For airline travel, Southwest has fully refundable senior fares to passengers 65 and older, and British Airways offers AARP members $65

American, United and Delta also offer senior fares in certain markets but are extremely limited.

For traveling by train, Amtrak provides a 10 percent discount to travelers 65-plus, and a 10 percent discount to passengers over age 60 on cross-border services operated jointly by Amtrak and VIA Rail Canada.

Greyhound bus lines also offers a 5 percent discount to passengers 62 and older. And most car rental companies offer 10 to 25 percent discounts to customers who belong to membership organizations like AARP or AAA.

Hotels: Many U.S. hotels offer senior discounts (at varying ages) usually ranging between 5 and 15 percent off. For example, Marriott offers a 15 percent discount to travelers 62 and older at over 4,000 locations worldwide. And Wyndham hotel group offers 60-plus guests best available rate discounts.

Restaurants: Some restaurant chains offer senior discounts, ranging from free drinks, to senior menus, to discounts off your total order. National chains that offer these deals include Burger King, Chili's, Chickfil-A, Dunkin Donuts, Golden Corral, IHOP and Wendy's. Offers can vary by location.

Cruises: Royal Caribbean and Carnival Cruise lines offer discount rates to cruisers 55 and over.

Entertainment and Attractions: Most movie theaters, museums, zoos, aquariums, public golf courses and even ski slopes provide reduced admission to seniors over 60 or 65. If you're 62-plus, you're also eligible for the 'Senior Pass," which provides a lifetime entry to 2,000 national parks and recreation sites. You can obtain this pass in person at one of the federal recreation sites for $80, or online for $90 at Store.usgs.gov/senior-pass.

To look for other travel discounts on the go, download the Sciddy app at Sciddy.com. This app lets you search for senior discounts and can send you alerts when you're at an establishment that offers them.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and off economy travel and $200 off business club travel. author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

Demand measured by the Market Action Index is increasing and days-on-market is trending downward. Even as more properties come available, these are positive trends for the market.

Supply and Demand

The market has started cooling and prices have recently plateaued. Since we're in the Seller's zone, watch for changes in MAI. If the MAI resumes its climb, prices will likely follow suit. If the MAI drops consistently or falls into the Buyer's zone, watch for downward pressure on prices.

The Market Action Index answers the question "How's the Market?" by measuring the current rate of sale versus the amount of the inventory. Index above 30 implies Seller's Market conditions. Below 30, conditions favor the buyer.

Memorial Day is a very special day to remember Veterans and loved ones. It began as "Decoration Day" in the mid 1860's, and TWENTY-FOUR cities say it was first held in their city! In 1966, President Johnson declared Waterloo NY to be the "first city" to observe Declaration Day, May 1866. However, Boalsburg PA claims they had a celebration in 1884; women placed flowers on soldiers' graves, April 25, 1866 in Columbus MS; and General John Polk spoke at a citywide celebration April 29, 1866-just to name a few! In 1967, President Johnson proclaimed "Memorial Day", a Federal Holiday, observed the last Monday of May.

In the San Gabriel Valley, we have many wonderful events honoring our Veterans. The Saturday prior to Veterans Day is the wonderful annual Veterans Fair at Arcadia County Park, begun by past Supervisor Antonovich and continued by Supervisor Barger. Senior Field Deputy Debby Mendelsohn did an outstanding job planning this spectacular event.

Supervisor Barger acknowledged Channel 4 Meteorologist Fritz Coleman, Master of Ceremonies for many years. Coleman, a Viet Nam Vet, is well-known in SO CAL for his volunteerism and support of Veterans and many worthwhile causes. Speakers included Congresswomen Judy Chu and Grace Napolitano who spoke of brave Veterans and their sacrifices. Mayor Peter Amundson mentioned his father Milt, a World War II Vet; grandfather Peter, a World War I Vet; and BOTH great-grandfathers who served in the Civil War.

It was a pleasure to see Brigadier General Ruth Wong, and many city officials including Monrovia's Becky Shevlin, and Glendora's Karen Davis. Town Council members, Dave Hall, Terrence Williams, Linda Sells and I attended. Arcadia's City Clerk Gene Glasco, a Viet Nam Navy Veteran, introduced five Viet Nam Veterans, Honorable Judge Eileen Moore, (US ARMY, Combat Nurse); Mrs. Eileen Dominquez (US Air Force, CA National Guard); Mr. Wesley Cloys (US ARMY, 84th Engineer Battalion); Clint Deacon (US ARMY, Bronze Star & Purple Heart); and actor Tucker Smallwood (US ARMY, Airborne Infantry), read their bios, and they were awarded a special pin.

Supervisor Barger feels Viet Nam Veterans never received proper recognition. She now reads their names at the Board Meeting adjournment. She also has targeted funding for homeless Veterans' housing, weekly portable showers and county agencies' reps available for assistance.

There was wonderful patriotic music, a color guard, sky divers, and food vendors. The booths had so much information, and giveaways. My former students' dad, Mr. Solis, had his vehicle with Veterans' names and photos. Our pastor, Father Eugene Herbert was a medic in Viet Nam! An Eagle Scout played "Amazing Grace" on bagpipes, and Mendelsohn's son Doug performed "Taps". That evening was the "lighting" for the Viet Nam Monument at the Park. It blew everyone awayred, white and blue lights! (Thanks to my daughter Karen for awesome photos and Gene Glasco, Elks Lodge, Arcadia Women's Club, Boy Scouts and MANY OTHERS responsible for the beautiful monument, landscaping and now lighting! Gene's dedication was the catalyst, bringing this monument to fruition.

Monday, Live Oak Cemetery provided the venue for their annual Veterans' Memorial/Recognition. Highlights include the color guard, playing each service branch's theme song, and asking those members to rise for recognition, and a flyover. Assemblyman Chris Holden spoke as did Scott Sinclair and Janine Coyne explained the "13 folds" of the flag. Again, many local officials attended, and there was the awesome flyover. May we never forget our Veterans and their sacrifices so we can enjoy our many freedoms.

Spying on Whales: The Past, Present, and Future of Earth's Most Awesome Creatures by Nicholas Pyenson

A dive into the secret lives of whales, from their evolutionary past to today's cutting edge of science. Whales are among the largest, most intelligent, deepest diving species to have ever lived on our planet. They evolved from land-roaming, dog-sized creatures into animals that move like fish, breathe like us, can grow to 300,000 pounds, live 200 years and travel entire ocean basins. Whales fill us with terror, awe, and affection--yet there is still so much we don't know about them. Why did it take whales over 50 million years to evolve to such big sizes, and how do they eat enough to stay that big? How did their ancestors return from land to the sea--and what can their lives tell us about evolution as a whole? Importantly, in the sweepstakes of human-driven habitat and climate change, will whales survive? Pyenson's research has given us the answers to some of our biggest questions about whales. He takes us deep inside the Smithsonian's unparalleled fossil collections, to frigid Antarctic waters, and to the arid desert in Chile, where scientists race against time to document the largest fossil whale site ever found. Full of rich storytelling and scientific discovery, Spying on Whales spans the ancient past to an uncertain future--all to better understand the most enigmatic creatures on Earth.

The Oceans: A Deep History by Eelco Rohling

The 4.4-billion-year history of the oceans and their role in Earth's climate system. It has often been said that we know more about the moon than we do about our own oceans. In fact, we know a great deal more about the oceans than many people realize. Scientists know that our actions today are shaping the oceans and climate of tomorrow—and that if we continue to act recklessly, the consequences will be dire. In this timely and accessible book, Eelco Rohling traces the 4.4 billion-year history of Earth's oceans while also shedding light on the critical role they play in our planet's climate system. Beginning with the formation of primeval Earth and the earliest appearance of oceans, Rohling takes readers on a journey through prehistory to the present age, vividly describing the major events in the ocean's evolutionfrom snowball and greenhouse Earth to the end-Permian mass extinction, the breakup of the and lost civilizations, or Neanderthal skulls and Pangaea supercontinent, and the changing climate Ice Age cave art. Archaeology is all of these, but of today. Along the way, he explores the close also far more: the only science to encompass the interrelationships of the oceans, climate, solid entire span of human history—more than three Earth processes, and life, using the context of Earth and ocean history to provide perspective on humankind's impacts on the health and habitability of our planet—and on what the future may hold for us. An invaluable introduction to the cutting-edge science of paleoceanography, The Oceans enables you to make your own informed opinions about the environmental challenges we face as a result of humanity's unrelenting drive to century origins to its twenty-first-century exploit the world ocean and its vital resources. GENERATOR THAT CREATES ELECTRICITY FROM GRAVITY COULD REVOLUTIONIZE RENEWABLE ENERGY

A Dutch inventor has successfully created a contraption that generates electricity from gravity - and it could revolutionize the future of renewable energy. Janjaap Ruijssenaars of Gravity Energy Ltd. recently finished the prototype of his gravity energy generator. The generator works by unbalancing a weight so that gravitational energy becomes available as input to a piezo generator. This means that a gentle breeze is enough to generate the electricity.The generator could reach up to 93% energy efficiency.The Amsterdam-based company was purchased by angel investor Jeroen van den Hamer, who said: "The high efficiency in comparison to existing sustainable methods such as wind turbines and solar panels caught our attention. This could be a game changer."Tesla's Giant Record-Breaking Battery Shows

STUNNING SUCCESS BY SAVING CONSUMERS MILLIONS

With homes in South Australia suffering from frequent and expensive power outages, that state's government began searching for a more cost-effective and environmentally friendly backup system for their electrical grid. Then, last July, Elon Musk, the C.E.O. of alternative energy company Tesla, offered to build the world's biggest lithium ion battery as the ultimate backup solution for the territory. According to new data the 129 megawatt battery has already resulted in stunning success. For starters, the battery has resulted in a 90% drop in maintenance costs. In addition to being a cheaper replacement to the fossil-fuel dependent system that was previously used by the energy market operator, the battery creates zero carbon emissions. It is also capable of responding to outages in a matter of seconds, which could not be achieved by previous backups. Within the first four months of operation, the battery has already saved consumers an estimated $26 million (AU$35 million) in maintenance costs to the grid, making South Australia the only region that has enjoyed a decline in the cost of frequency controlled ancillary services in recent months.

I DON'T HAVE KIDS, SO WHY DO I NEED ESTATE PLANNING? PART 2

Last week, I shared the first part of a series on the importance of estate planning for those without children. In part two, I'll discuss additional risks involved for those who forego estate planning.

Someone will have power over your health care Estate planning isn't just about passing on your assets when you die. In fact, some of the most critical parts of planning have nothing to do with your money at all, but are aimed at protecting you while you're still very much alive.

Advance planning allows you to name the person you want to make healthcare decisions for you if you're incapacitated and unable to make decisions yourself.

For example, if you're temporarily unconscious following a car accident and unable to give doctors permission to perform a potentially risky medical treatment, it's not always clear who'll be asked to make that decision for you.

In that event the courts will be called in to appoint someone to make those critical decisions. And that person may not be whom you would have chosen, and/or they may make decisions contrary to what you would want.

So even if you don't have kids, you need to do estate planning in order to name health care decisions-makers for yourself and provide instructions on how you want decisions made.

Someone will get power over your finances As with health-care decisions, if you become more information.

incapacitated and haven't legally named someone to handle your finances while you're unable to do so, the court will pick someone for you. The way to avoid this is by naming someone you trust to hold power of attorney for you in the event of your incapacity.

Durable power of attorney is an estate planning tool that gives the person you choose immediate authority to manage your financial matters if you're incapacitated. This agent will have a broad range of powers to handle things like paying your bills and taxes, running your business, collecting your Social Security benefits, selling your home, as well as managing your banking and investment

Without a signed durable power of attorney, your family and friends will have to go to court to get access to your finances, which not only takes time, but it could lead to mismanagement and even the loss of your assets should the court grant this authority to the wrong person.

Furthermore, the person you name doesn't have to be a lawyer or financial professional—it can be anybody you choose, including both family and friends. The most important aspect of your choice is selecting someone who's imminently trustworthy, since they will have nearly complete control over your estate.

Given all of these potential risks, it would be foolhardy - whether you have children or not to ignore or put off these basic estate-planning strategies. Identifying the right planning tools is easy to do, and begins with a Family Estate Planning Session, where we can consider everything you own and everyone you love, and guide you to make informed, educated, empowered choices for yourself and your loved ones.

Dedicated to empowering your family, building your wealth and defining your legacy,

thing happening today: In the early 1970s, when I was 9, my family left my sister Mary behind at the drive-in theater.

Allow me to explain, but you'll have to read my humorous memoir, "Misadventures of a 1970s Childhood" on Amazon.com, to get the full story.

As it went, the outing had started off well enough. My father spent several minutes searching for a spot (it took time to find a window speaker that worked). We got out of the car as he opened the tailgate and folded down the back seats, then got back in. We began devouring corn curls, potato chips, I don't recall how far we got before Lisa onion dip and pretzels, and washed them down with Regent soda pop.

projector began rattling. Black-and-white numbers -- "5, 4, 3, 2, 1..." -- flashed onto the screen. Yellowed footage advertised hot dogs, popcorn and other concession items we could never get our father to buy.

It didn't take long before we began squabbling over pillows, blankets and positioning. My sisters complained that my big noggin was blocking their view, and so I was banished to the back of the car.

As I recollect, we went to see "Paper Moon" that night -- a movie about a Depression-era con man and a young girl who travel around taking people's money -- but my sisters say it was "Herbie the Love Bug."

Whatever the case, I was so busy devouring snacks -- we didn't have them often, so I was taking advantage of my good fortune -- I didn't care about the movie. My stomach was soon so full, however, that I ended up lying on my back, groaning in agony.

It's important, at this point, to understand how everyone was situated.

side. My mother sat to his right holding my sister Jennifer. She "shooshed" us constantly to keep us from waking the baby. In the back, under the pile of blankets and pillows, were my sisters Kathy, 14; Krissy, 12; Lisa, 6; and Mary, 4.

Throughout the first and second movies, there was plenty of sleeping, waking, snoring, squabbling, shooshing, complaining ("Mommy, Tommy stinks!)

I can't imagine such and trips to the restroom.

Unbeknownst to everyone, however, 4-yearold Mary -- she always had a touch of wanderlust -- had slipped out the back of the car to go to the restroom. Preoccupied with my aching belly -- I was groaning pretty loudly by then -- I didn't notice her slip by

About then the second movie was coming to a close. My father, always eager to beat the rush, hurriedly packed up the cooler and fired up the car. It never occurred to anyone that Mary might not be under the blankets. Off we drove as the final credits began to shouted, "Where's Mary?"

My mother, trying not to disturb the baby, The blue sky soon fell dark and the film instinctively began shooshing. It took five minutes or more before Lisa persuaded everyone that Mary was still at the drive-in.

> Panic overcame us. My father made a hard U-turn and floored it. Our wood-paneled Plymouth station wagon roared down the road like the car in "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang."

> We fishtailed as we hit the gravel parking lot. The lot was empty but for the car that had been next to ours. Mary stood next to it holding the hand of somebody else's dad (who waited patiently for the dopey family that forgot one of its kids).

> My sisters and I laugh every time someone brings up the incident -- in part because such a thing could never happen today. Today's obsessive parents, terrified by cable news, never let their kids out of their sight.

To my family's credit, however, Mary was the only child we ever lost. None of us was ever left at a highway rest stop, as one family we knew did. Another left their kid at a camp ground in Ohio after a family vacation.

My father sat in the front seat on the driver's In any event, everything turned out well in the end. Mary has four children of her own now. She hasn't lost any of them yet.

SADLY, ROSEANNE IS A VICTIM TO SOME

What we say to each other, how we treat each other matters. There are basic norms of civilized behavior, outside the realm of politics, beyond the reach of cable network news, that we should all be able to agree upon. One of them is that, if you call an African-American woman an

'ape," that you are the worst kind of vile racist. And you deserve whatever scorn, whatever vitriol, whatever criticism that comes your way as a result of your actions.

It shouldn't be hard to call racist remarks racist. It shouldn't be hard to decry a viciously personal and apparently unprovoked attack.

But because of the remove of social media, because the forces at the very top of the American power structure have normalized the worst kind offensive behavior, there's somehow a difference. Because we live in the times that we do, those same disgusting words, uttered by the comedienne Roseanne Barr, about the former Obama administration adviser Valerie Jarrett, who is African-American, are being inevitably viewed through the filter of partisan politics. And that means, to some, they are, as shockingly, mystifyingly, horrifyingly as it seems, entirely

And to them, Barr - not Jarrett - is a victim.

That sadly unsurprising sentiment came through loud and clear on Wednesday morning when a reader decided to share his views on my office voicemail.

"Yes, I would like to show my support for Roseanne Barr," he began. "The Muslim Brotherhood, The Planet of the Apes. Yeah, you have a perfect Valerie Jarrett. I studied this picture last night. What's wrong with saying something like that? Oh, all the butt-hurt liberal media. You know what? I hope they all drop dead because Roseanne is right. And that lady ... woman is a bh

That's one of your neighbors. One of your colleagues. The guy in front of you in the supermarket checkout line. The person sitting next to you in church.

That's the hateful voice of racism here in central Pennsylvania. And if he were the only one, a lone whack-job crying out in the wilderness, that'd be one thing.

He's the torch-bearing, Nazi-flag waving white supremacist who marched in Charlottesville He's the extreme end of a spectrum that starts with the sort of ignorant prejudice that prompted Starbucks to close its shops on Tuesday to conduct sensitivity training for its employees. But sometimes they don't march. Sometimes they wear suits. And they run for Congress 'Much love @therealroseanne. We live in a country were people don't respect our constitution. One of most essential freedoms is freedom to express ourselves even if it makes others upset. It's beautiful to think different. Shame on the leftist media," Republican Omar Navarro, who's running against U.S. Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Calif., tweeted Wednesday.

Republican. Democrat. Independent. It doesn't matter. There is no universe, there is no moral plane where what Roseanne Barr said is even remotely acceptable.

It wasn't funny. It wasn't a joke. And it wasn't the first time, either.

As Christine Emba of The Washington Post writes, Barr has "a history of making inflammatory statements and pushing right-wing conspiracy theories - whether it's lending credence to a bizarre theory that Democrats ran a pedophile ring; making wild insinuations about the death of Democratic National Committee employee Seth Rich; or accusing businessman and philanthropist George Soros of Nazism and attempts to undermine American democracy." And because Barr has a platform, a voice, it emboldens others.

Some among you will say that Barr had a First Amendment right to say what she said. And you'd be right. But the First Amendment doesn't shield her from the consequences of her actions. Her employer, Walt Disney Entertainment and ABC, which knew what it was getting from Barr when they hired her and green-lighted her show anyway, fired her, calling her tweeted words "abhorrent, repugnant and inconsistent with our values."

Barr has since blamed her racism on the sleep drug Ambien, prompting its manufacturer, Sanofi, in some serious Twitter shade, to release a statement asserting that racism is not among

In the end, though, it's on the rest of us, Republican, Democrat, independent, Christian, Jew, Muslim, or nothing at all, to simply stand up and say enough, to forcefully assert, that racism has

Whether that's on our TV screens or at the highest levels of power.

MAKING SENSE by MICHAEL REAGAN

ROSEANNE'S DUMB TWEET

I'm burned out on Trump TV.

I don't need to hear any more of his speeches or read one of his

I don't want to watch every little thing President Trump does or says deciphered, misconstrued, attacked, defended, debated or analyzed on my TV every night by his many enemies and few friends.

To try to get some actual news Thursday morning I turned over to the Fox Business Network to watch Stuart Varney and the gang.

FBN covers real stuff and talks to real reporters about the ups and downs of stocks, the impact of President Trump's trade deals on the economy and stories about the accelerating death spiral of the once-mighty Sears - the Walmart/Amazon of the 1900s. But even on FBN I couldn't escape Hurricane Trump, that permanent category 5 media storm that blows away or crowds out the important national and global news of every day. The big Trump-related story of the morning was the continuing fallout over Roseanne Barr's racist tweet about former Barrack Obama adviser Valerie Jarrett's looks. The tweet caused ABC to instantly cancel her highly rated "Roseanne" sitcom and led Robert

Iger, the boss of parent company Disney, to call Jarrett right away to apologize. FBN's focus on Roseanne was a perfect example of how low the mainstream media have fallen when it comes to practicing real and important journalism. She topped the news on virtually every channel, but the big story of the day should have been President Trump signing the "Right to Try" bill, which finally gives terminally ill patients the federal okay to use experimental medications that have not yet been fully approved by the FDA. Barr's tweet was also the latest example of the double standard that permeates the liberal mainstream media's "news" coverage of President Trump. Barr, who made herself a juicy target for liberals by proudly calling herself a Trump supporter, was immediately canned and shamed by the leftwing media industrial complex. Keith Olbermann, Joy Reid, Alec Baldwin, Bill Maher, Don Lemon and "Full Frontal" host Samantha Bee - all card-carrying Trump haters - have said vile, crude and crazy things about Trump and his family.

They did so with little or no harm to their careers.

It's safe for a liberal celebrity to call Trump a racist or a Nazi, as Olbermann did, or to call Ivanka Trump "a feckless c-," as Bee did in her monologue Wednesday.

They'll usually get applauded, defended or given every benefit of the doubt when they pull a Roseanne. They almost never have to apologize. For example, Joy Reid's homophobic blogs from 10 years ago have been glossed over or excused, and this week she and former riot-starter Al Sharpton were co-hosting a town meeting on racism at MSNBC. Christians, Sarah Palin and conservatives are fair game for nasty name calling and low blows in the liberal media. But if you say anything about a Democrat or a progressive, especially if it has any racial connotations, you'll be a goner overnight like Roseanne. Her biggest mistake was openly supporting Trump. That made her a marked celebrity.

She had a history of dumb and politically incorrect tweets, and she didn't disappoint the

What she tweeted about Jarrett was wrong, not funny - and plain stupid. But if she deserved to be sacked for what she said, then so do Olbermann, Reid and a bunch of other liberals. But Olbermann, a sportscaster whose nasty Twitter tantrums about Trump would embarrass a three-year-old, was recently rehired for about the 12th time by Disney's failing ESPN sports

Bee apologized Thursday for "crossing a line." TBS also apologized.

That's all they'll have to do to amend for their sins.

Bee gets a few points for saying she was sorry, but the liberal comedian was never in danger of losing her late-night job. She knows the new rules of political trash talk - it's not what you say, it's who you say it against.

LEGAL NOTICES

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of DONALD R. HUNT.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by PHILLIP W. WORLEY in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS

personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act . (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 06/11/18 at 8:30AM in Dept. 9 located at 111 N. HILL ST.,

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
