BEWARE: PHONY $100 DOLLAR BILLS PASSED IN SIERRA MADRE

Local merchants reported at least three incidents of counterfeit $100 dollar bills being passed in Sierra Madre last week. Lisa Brandley, the manager of Lucky Baldwin's in Kersting Court spread the word to the community via Facebook on Monday, warning residents and businesses. According to Brandley, the bills were so sophisticated that they passed the pen and light test.

Shortly after leaving the Pub, there was an attempt made to pass another fake bill at a nearby ice cream shop, however, that facility does not accept anything larger than $20 bills. A hair salon around the corner also fell victim to the scheme.

Photos of the alleged purveyors of the fake bills were captured with the Pub's video surveillance. If you recognize this person, or have any other information, contact the SMPolice Department at once.

CAN YOU HELP NENA?

We have a friend named NeNa (left) who needs your help. As you can see, she's adorable. She's a mere 8 ½ months old but a freak accident has changed her life.

NeNa, a long hair dachshund mix, was adopted by a well meaning person who soon found out that his living situation would not condone keeping a dog. So the disappointed owner asked a friend to help him find a forever home for her. An adorable dog, (did I say that before?), that is friendly and gets along well with other dogs and children, Nena encountered a bit of very bad luck. While visiting with a potential new home, NeNa fell and broke two bones in her left leg.

Immediately Free Animal Doctor was contacted and provided the funds for her surgery. That was about a week ago. When I met her last week, she was having a great time, despite the fact that she is still recuperating from the fall. Her full recovery is not expected for about 90 days so she needs a loving human who can monitor NeNa through the process. She is fully capable of running and playing, but has to do so in moderation and under are reaching out to the community to find her a some supervision so that she doesn't over do it.

So, how can you help? Well NeNa needs a caretaker or both! while she is recovering. As I mentioned earlier, she's great with other dogs and kids, but she just Free Animal Doctor has been in existence three needs someone to keep an eye on her while she years ago and received their first donation in heals. And, after she is released from her doctor's 2016. Since that time they have raised funds to care, she'll need....wait for it.....a forever home!

Sierra Madre-Pasadena-Altadena-

KATIE Tse.....This and That

You may recall my mom's friend, Florence. Florence is unique because, where Florence goes, weirdness follows like her shadow. She isn't weird herself, but odd, funny things seem to happen to her and her family more than they do to your average person. My mom just went to lunch with her last week and updated me on her latest happenings.

Florence's daughter, Lori, is very artistic, and her husband is very handy. Together, they've created some really amazing things for their home. She gets the ideas and her husband builds them. One of their masterpieces is their chicken palace. I haven't seen it in person, but the photos are very impressive. If there was a chicken version of "House Beautiful," they'd feature Lori's chicken palace. "Foul Versailles" I call it.

But tragedy struck recently when, due to the hot weather, her chickens didn't want to come in at night, and some nocturnal predator got the rooster. Since then, Lori's been on the look out for a replacement. She got in contact with a woman who owned the meanest, most violent rooster ever. Not only were all the hens scared of him, but he intimidated his owner and her family as well! She told Lori she could have him for free.

Together with Florence, she drove to the woman's house to collect the despot rooster. Lori works in Special Ed, so nothing fazes her. She forcefully approached the rooster, picked him up, and deposited him in a carrying container. He was too shocked at his unexpected removal to even react!

The experience had a lasting impact on his psyche and caused permanent personality changes. Upon entering Lori's chicken palace, the rooster became a timid shell of his former self. He cowers around the hens and even his crow is muted, almost apologetic.

At this point in my mom's retelling of the account, she bemoaned the limitations of the English language to convey the pithy depth of Florence's story.

"It's a shame your readers don't have Florence to demonstrate how the rooster looks so embarrassed and ashamed when he crows," she said, tucking her head to the side and whispering "cock-a-doodle-do" behind her hand. I've seen Florence use this gesture before when in the throes of story telling. "So much of the humor is in her facial expressions." Yes, Florence is a master at making the tale come alive for her listeners. But I do my best...

That's always the struggle of writing, trying to translate experiences and feelings into the written word. The best writers find experiences so universal yet intimately personal that when you read it you're blown away that someone else experiences the world the same way you do.

I'm reminded of one of Vladimir Nabokov's novels in which, as a child, the narrator was irritated that he could not pick out the recurring pattern of the wallpaper when he viewed it while lying down. It's the little things like that that truly bind us together as people, the shared habit of noticing when the patterns in wall paper start and stop. And that is why writers will always be an vital part of what it means to have a culture, to have communicate ideas, to be human. Not that I consider myself some great writer, but I try. We freedom from care, then the happiest individual would be not either a man or a woman; it would be, I think, an American cow." William Lyon Phelps

"Every year sharks kill 10 people. Every year 50 people die from being stepped on by cows. Fear the real killer!"

"I never saw a purple cow, I never hope to see one; but I can tell you, anyhow, I'd rather see than be one!" Gelett Burgess

Leafing through USA Today, I came across a headline that stopped all further leafing: Cow attacks woman, Navajo sheriff's deputy.

You, too, would be stopped in your tracks, unable to go further until you found out what on earth was going on here. It seems that a woman called the sheriff's office around 9 p.m. on a recent Friday night because a cow was attacking her. The cow had pinned this lady to the ground and continually pressed her if she made any movements or attempts to get away. Seriously? Was alcohol involved? What was this woman doing hanging around a cow at 9 p.m. on a Friday night? And how was she able to call 911 if the cow wouldn't allow her to make any movements. This whole story is fraught with questions and

A deputy from the Navajo County Sheriff's Office responded to the call and tried to get the cow off the woman by waving his arms, yelling and pushing the cow. I realize people can move cows by pushing them...cow tipping (the purported activity of sneaking up on any unsuspecting or sleeping upright cow and pushing it over for entertainment, according to Wikipedia) comes to mind...but as the average cow weighs about 1,600 lbs. and stands about 5 feet tall at her rump with a nose to tail length of 8.5 feet, I don't think giving her a shove or two would have much impact. Further on cow tipping, it's another one of those urban legend things as at least four or possibly as many as fourteen people would be required to tip one of these babies over. Having been very close to a cow once in Jamaica or some other Caribbean

"If happiness truly consisted in physical ease and paradise where cows and goats casually wander the landscape, I discovered I wanted to remove myself as quickly as possible from her proximity. She was BIG!

> Having no appreciable impact upon the cow by yelling and shoving, the deputy used his taser, touching the cow directly with a drive stun, which did cause it to leave the woman alone and turn immediately upon the deputy. He had to have seen that coming. The cow charged the deputy, forcing him to the ground before stepping on his leg and chest. I loved this part, "out of options, he continued to drive stun the cow until it ran away from the area." The woman and the deputy were not critically hurt and did not request further medical treatment after being checked out by EMT's at the scene.

> It was not immediately known what, if anything, would happen to the cow. Put into time out? TV privileges removed? Phone taken away? Grounded? What does one do to punish a naughty cow? The Navajo County Sheriff's Office said it reached out to several ranchers to find out who owns the cow and is waiting to hear back. I'm imagining ranch owners going out on the range and saying, "OK, which one of you clowns stepped on the lady and the deputy??" And receiving the classic answers given in all accusatory situations, "I didn't do it!" "I don't know!" "What lady? What deputy?"

> Sheriff Kelly Clark ended by saying, "Recently there has been a lot of weird cow activity in Navajo County."

> We have our bears, covotes, raccoons, skunks, all preferable to an annoyed cow, I'd have to say, friends and neighbors.

JAVIER!

Lucky Baldwin's Delirium Pub has been a part of Sierra Madre for nearly 20 years. It is the place to go if you and your friends want to watch the World Cup, celebrate Oktoberfest, or just enjoy some fish 'n' chips with a pint. The Pub is known for its wide selection of brews and great food. Unknown to many, there is an unsung hero behind the success of the LBDP kitchen....Javier!

Javier Sotalo has been in Sierra Madre for even longer than the Pub. Before it was Lucky Baldwin's Delirium, it was a fish house. Javier was the cook then and is currently the cook at Lucky Baldwin's. He has been at the same location for 27 years! He says that he likes everything on the menu because it is fun to get to make different foods all the time. But his favorite things are the meat pies- specifically the steak and the chicken.

Everyone who works with Javier has wonderful things to say about him. Lisa Brandley, the manager of Lucky Baldwin's Delirium, has this to say: "I've worked with Javier since 2003 and he is definitely the backbone of the Pub. He is reliable, punctual, and very consistent. We are so thankful to have him."

While giving the interview, Javier was so wonderful and kind. It was easy to see that he loved his job, and his coworkers

Lucky Baldwin's Delirium is a pub, so what is Javier's favorite drink on tap? That would be Blue Bell Beer. Order some next time you stop in and say hello to Javier!

Two Authors Selected for One City, One Story

Pasadena Public Library will feature not just one but two One City, One Story selections this year, extending the community reading celebration through summer 2019. The 2019 One City, One Story selection is In the Distance by author Hernán Díaz. The 2019 One City, One Story Summer Edition selection is The Ballad of Huck & Miguel by author Tim DeRoche, illustrated by Daniel González.

Penniless and alone in California, a young Swedish boy travels East on foot in search of his brother in In the Distance. Driven back over and over again on his journey through vast expanses, Håkan meets naturalists, criminals, ous fanatics and lawmen, and his exploits turn him into a legend. Díaz defies the conventions of historical fiction and genre, offering a probing look at the stereotypes that populate our past and a portrait of radical foreignness.

One Story One City, community programs will be held throughout March, beginning with a conversation with Díaz on Thursday evening, March 7, 2019. Event details will be announced in the near future. The Ballad of Huck & Miguel, is a retelling of Mark Twain's The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn. In it, author Tim DeRoche dares to imagine that Huck Finn is alive today. Chased by his vengeful and psychotic father, Pap, Huck escapes down the concrete gash that is the Los Angeles River with his friend Miguel, an illegal immigrant who has been falsely accused of murder.

ARCADIA NEWS: CONGRATS TO HIGH SCHOOL: TOP 1% IN US AND SANTA ANITA OPENS: SPOTLIGHT ON RUBEN FUENTES

By Joan Schmidt

First of all, CONGRATULATIONS to Arcadia High School. Ryan Foran sent out a Press Release that Arcadia High School is in the TOP ONE PER CENTAGE of all public high schools in the US! What a wonderful achievement, and it's no surprise to me. One example: look at their Government Class, several times in the Finals of the Nationwide Constitution Competition. It takes a hardworking and totally committed School Board, faculty members, volunteers and parents who encourage their children to do their best. I once was viewing a band practice for a parade and alongside me was a proud father. It was so heartwarming. Well done, Apaches.

Racing News: Friday September 28, the GREAT RACE PLACE opens. Everyone is thrilled. Please visit santanitathououghbredracing.com.

There were twelve racing days at Los Alamitos, his first win was at Ruidso Downs, New Mexico in and one day, I caught up with Ruben Fuentes after the fifth race for the FASTEST interview under the sun! Ruben was born on September 25, 1997 in Mexico City. He grew up and attended schools in El Paso, Texas. He has wanted to be a jockey since he was about eight years old. He rode as a kid and was taught by his father. Not only was his dad a jockey, but it is also the profession of TWO brothers and FOUR uncles! And on September 20, Ruben's younger brother Luis had his FIRST win in California at Los Al in the 6th Race on Principe

Ruben's dad taught him his jockey skills, and horses worked out.

2016. His winnings were $108. Ruben mentioned that was where Mike Smith had his first win. Ruben has had 72 wins, at ten different tracks.

When I asked how he stays in shape, he told me he follows a healthy diet, and works out. Assael Espinosa , Kyle Frey and Mike Smith all work out at the same gym. Kyle is recuperating from surgery and Victor Espinosa is still down in the San Diego area. Victor has been able to go for short walks, but cannot drive and continues therapy. We wish both men speedy recoveries. See you at Clockers Corner. Great coffee/breakfast and watching the

K-RAIL REMOVAL PLAN TENTATIVELY SET TO COME BEFORE THE CITY COUNCIL FOR CONSIDERATION ON OCTOBER 2, 2018

Monrovia has been reviewing the options available to a process to begin removing the K-Rails in all parts remove the K-Rail located throughout the northern part of town. Staff has spoken to multiple contractors and firms regarding various approaches that could be deployed to have the K-Rail removed, and we are preparing our findings in a report that is tentatively scheduled to come before City Council for review on October 2, 2018. Based on some terrific work that has been engaged by staff, we believe we have identified an option whereby it would not cost the City any money to remove the identified K-Rails, which is being coordinated to sync with our Monrovia Renewal

North Section infrastructure improvement project. Operationally, staff would recommend that the K-Rails be removed through two separate mobilizations. Given our experience over the past ~5 years, the only section of of town except for Highland Place starting in late-October 2018 / early-November 2018. That removal process will take a few months, which allows us to coordinate the K-Rail removal with the North Section improvements associated with Monrovia Renewal (for which construction work is tentatively scheduled to begin in January 2019).

Then, as Monrovia gets into this next rainy season, staff can further assess the most appropriate time to have the K-Rails on Highland Place removed, so as to best achieve two outcomes - syncing the removal with our construction work, while also minimize any chance of flooding on Highland Place.

Given that overview, the proposal at this point in time is to remove the K-Rails located in the yellow sections of the map below initially in late-October / town that has needed the K-Rail protection is early-November 2018. Dave Hall, Linda Sells, Lucy Nicoloro and myself attended with a Certificate of Recognition which acknowledged his role in the formation of the Town Council, Pamela Park Gymnasium, 4-way Stop Signs at Daines/Tyler, Arcadia, new laminated Street signs, Welcoming Monuments to Monrovia/Arcadia/Duarte Communities on Live Oak Avenue, new Live Oak Library in the works, and much more.

In addition, Erika Sanchez, 2018 National Golden Glove Champion, and Duarte High School CIF Champion Boys Varsity Basketball Team were also honored.

There was a moment of silence in memory of Fred Bowden and Sheri Uhlig. These two fine people were so dedicated to serving others and are greatly missed.

In addition to Mayor Fasana, Sam Kang, Margaret Finlay and Tzeital Paras-Caraci were on hand for the festivities. It was great to meet new DUSD Superintendent Dr. Gordon Amerson, and see Board Members Reyna Diaz, Ken Bell, Dr. Irene Murray and Tom Reyes. Reyna played an integral role in the formation of the Town Council, and walked the area to encourage residents to vote.

Lastly, I want to give a shout out for Nick Zigic, Parade Chairperson and Lois Gaston, Co-Chair, who spent MANY Hours pulling all of this together. Tina Carey, a great MC, Boy Scout Troop 185 for the Presentation of Colors, Amile Johnson, outstanding rendition of the National Anthem, and the wonderful Duarte's Women's Club who served at the Breakfast! Special thanks to MANY VOLUNTEERS for setting up for the parade, and the THREE sets of announcers! Thank you,

WE'VE GOT TO LOVE ONE ANOTHER

I remember when I was a kid, hearing the adults say, "When one stops learning, one stops living". That probably meant very little to me at the time, but as I grew older and had my own personal experiences with learning by Chris Leclerc and living, I began to realize the amazing lessons that God's wonderful creatures can teach us.

I once saw a video which reminded of an amazing and makes me wonder, "How can this be?". I am talking about animals of distant and unrelated species who are apparently able to put away their inherent instinctive differences to, not only survive, but share symbiotic and friendly relationships with other beings that are for the most part very different from themselves.

There have been many documented accounts of cross-species relationships over the years, but the e-mailed video that brought this subject to mind for me was uniquely inspiring. It was a home movie showing a dog and a wild crow playing together in the pup's enormous back yard located in the south of Germany.

The dog was apparently quite a social sort but there were no other pets in his home to interact with, so having become lonely for companionship, he decided to befriend a huge crow that came flying out of a tall tree nearby and plopped itself down in the backyard. The crow promptly commenced squawking at the dog and taunting him. Instead of rushing forward and frightening the seemingly crazy crow, the dog approached slowly, whimpered humbly and proceeded to rub his furry neck against the big black bird's beak! Soon they were inseparable pals, spending all their time together under the tree canopies in the back yard. Who knew?

After watching that video, I decided to look up more information about unusual cross-species relationships, and I found a few similar stories. One was about a maternal relationship that developed between Pixie, a darling standard poodle, and three abandoned wild squirrels who, by forces beyond their control, showed up on the poodle's property.

The tree where the squirrel family had nested for years was felled by chainsaws, so the adult squirrels were left with no choice but to abandon the nest. in the grass where Pixie romped and played daily. In an epic stroke of fate, Pixie opted to befriend the baby squirrels rather than attack them, as one always - love and let live! might expect a dog to do.

Not only was Pixie friendly with the baby squirrels, she allowed them to exploit the remaining lactated milk left over from a recently birthed litter of puppies. If it hadn't been for Pixie's willingness to show random kindness, those baby squirrels would most likely have perished. As it turned out, all three of those little squirrels survived and grew strong Another remarkable account of an unlikely phenomenon of nature that truly astounds me, loving relationship between members of two very different species happened at the Elephant Sanctuary in Hohenwald, Tennessee, just southwest of Nashville. In this case, a young female elephant affectionately named Bella bonded with a yellow lab named Tara.

All of the other elephants at the sanctuary chose friend of their own species to connect with, but apparently Bella ended up the 5th wheel in the deal, so with no other elephant to partner with, she focused her need for friendship on a cute, cuddly canine companion. There are several rescued elephants and dogs at the Sanctuary in Hohenwald who share the same open space, but the two species typically avoid contact with each other. But that was not the case with two unlikely lovebirds named Bella and Tara, who ultimately became inseparable. They ate together, wandered together and even slept together until the day when Tara passed away at which time the good folks at the sanctuary immediately got to work finding Bella another partner and today she is happy to have another kind canine in the center of her small, yet significant circle of friend(s).

I observe and learn so much from the animals every day. They truly inspire me, and I hope to play it forward by inspiring others in the same way. If animals, both domestic and wild, can be willing to forego instinctual expectations in order to love and be loved by someone very different from themselves, why can't we humans do the same?

I don't know about you, but I am willing to cross the bridge of unfamiliarity and reach out to those with whom I may have very little in common. When I do take that chance I find that I learn a lot, not only about other people, but about myself. I learn about living with a giving spirit and it allows me the opportunity to get out of my own head and be part of something bigger than myself. And, The three infant squirrels were too tiny to run interestingly enough, I often find out that I have when the tree came down, so they were left lying more in common than not, with folks I thought were very different from me. Learn from the animals, try to emulate their positive traits, and as

She has the same name as a Rugrats cartoon mother, who has a nice but loud personality. Our Betty also was a loving mother to her two kittens named Phil and Lil. (Who are also currently available for adoption.) Betty has a calm loving nature, is friendly, and enjoys seeing new people coming to meet her. Melting into hands that massage her head and throat, Betty purrs with contentment. A lap is always nice to sit on when offered. If given a toy, she will show her sporting playful side which ranges from bat and pat to attack and toss, depending on what is being offered for her amusement. Whether it's a still object, a flying teaser, or the laser dot, Betty takes the challenge. Can anything be learned from TV?

SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com]

I took a short lunch break today, sitting down on few people were arrested. my couch and turning on the TV. I wanted to hear the weather forecast, which I never did. I first learned about a bicyclist who was killed in Torrance, and the killer simply drove away in his Toyota truck. Shocking! How is that a person and then just drive off into the wild blue yonder? As someone who looks at the non-sustainability of the Los Angeles area "machine," I know that my head, I thought about my own lifetime of bicycling, and how I just started bicycling more, in part, inspired by a female friend who wrote Highland Park. Wow! I used to have difficulty biking to my job in Pasadena from Highland Park because I'd show up dripping in sweat and had no way to change or shower. Drivers need to wake up, and realize that the bicyclist is your friend, and is a friend to the sprawling mass of Los Angeles County. Don't treat them as an irritation, or a fly to be swatted. And bicyclists some anyway also need to wake up to the fact that their total 150 pounds of small mass is nothing compared to a small claims court case to settle, and you're guilty, minimum 2000 pound car. I have never figured never, ever, under any circumstances, have Judge out why some bicyclists taunt auto drivers, and Judy try your case. A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

IF THIS IS AUTUMN, WHAT WAS SUMMER?

Parsonage there are times of it. confusion. It has nothing to do with age; it has everything to do with the human brain that is undernourished. The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage can say one thing and I can say something completely different. There are those rare occasions when we are on the same page, the same sentence and almost the same words. Those occasions do not come as often as I would like. The good news is, we are all on the same book, which makes the difference.

The other day, for example, I was in a panic mode. I was trying to get stuff done and was not making progress. Finally, the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage said, "What are you in such a fuss about?"

"Well," I said rather exhaustively, "it's Friday and I'm trying to get my work done.'

My wife just stood there looking at me with one of those "looks" she is most famous for. Then, placing both hands on her hips, she said, "Silly boy, don't you know it's Thursday?'

It is quite disconcerting when you get something wrong. You think you are doing the right thing, but it turns out you are not. I think it is one day and it turns out to be another day instead. Sometimes one day looks exactly like the

As we were eating breakfast the other day, my wife stopped and said, "Do you know this is the first day of autumn?"

I had to stop and think about that for a while. That means summer is over and fall is in the air. "If it's autumn," I said quite seriously, "why is it still so hot outside?" The last three weeks the temperature has been in the 90s and the heat index was over 100. That is really hot. Looking at her, I said, "It sure doesn't feel like autumn does it?" She agreed with me, which was quite an accomplishment on my side of the table. À song says, "And the beat goes on." I would like to change that a little bit and sing a song, "And the heat goes on." Simply put, I found no difference between the first week of autumn in the last week of summer. After all, if it is autumn then the weather ought to act like it is autumn.

I did not realize how serious the heat was. I was going Wednesday morning to a local elementary school to participate in the "Pray around the Pole." It was the first thing in the morning so I decided not to have breakfast before I went, but rather go to my favorite restaurant for breakfast after the event.

As I was walking to the pole, I noticed it was rather hot outside. Oh well, I thought to myself, I

I must confess that in the am not going to be here long so I can just endure

About eight of the teachers had gathered around the pole along with a resource officer. We gathered in a circle, held hands and began to pray. Many of them prayed and my job was to close the session in prayer.

As they began praying, I felt a little odd. Now my wife will tell you that it is not just a feeling; I am odd. But my blonde roots were beginning to manifest itself and I was feeling a little dizzy. I felt the sweat roll off my face and my legs were wobbling, more than usual. I really did not feel good at the time.

Then, it came time to close the session in prayer. I cannot remember what I prayed because every word that came out of my mouth felt weird and odd. I was getting dizzy and I was thinking to myself, "Just don't fall down." I knew if I fell down, somebody would call the ambulance and rush me off to the hospital. The last place I wanted to be.

When we were done praying one of the teachers looked at me and said, "Are you all right? Your face looks flushed."

The more I stood there the wobblier my legs got. Finally one of the teachers said, "Let's take him inside and get him some water." In the meantime, one called my wife to come and get

As it was, I was having a heat stroke. I never had such a thing before in my life. I think I heard of them, but I did not know what they were.

As I was collecting myself a little bit, my wife and granddaughter arrived to take me home. They would not let me drive my own vehicle. Don't tell anybody, but I sure was glad. I am not sure I could have driven that vehicle out of the parking lot.

It took several days to recover, but during recovery, I could not help but think of an incident with Jesus in the midst of the storm. "And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, be still. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm" (Mark 4:39).

You cannot always select the "storm" in your life, but you can always trust Jesus to get you through it.

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

If this seems redundant, I apologize, but my favorite saying is "feed the masses and you'll always eat with the classes". Just this week I had the good fortune to be a guest on a popular radio show with a host that certainly knows his wine. During the same show, another guest was on to talk about his wine from Temecula (I won't name the wines; you probably haven't heard their name anyway, as they only produce 300 cases a year). The host asked him how much his wine sold for, and the winemaker said "between $25 to $45". During the break the winemaker whispered in my ear that he has plenty of cabernet to sell, and that's where his profit is. I thought "man, that must be a very high mark up; wouldn't be better to sell more at $30?" After all I was an econ major in college. The pressure to find you a couple of mid-price range cabernets for you was no problem at all. First, the Black Stallion Cabernet - the winery is located in Napa Valley close to the Silverado Trail. My initial meeting with this cabernet was at the posh and luxurious Langham Hotel (you might remember I wrote about their chardonnay some two years ago) - the cabernet is fantastic and at around $25 a bottle a real value.

Cabernet. A few years ago I recommended the 2011. The 2012 Cabernet Sauvignon is from the Franciscan Winery, located in Napa Valley, California. The wine is made up of 86% cabernet juice plus a bit of merlot, petite syrah and cabernet franc. This cabernet goes well with a steak and is priced so reasonably that you can bring it to any tailgate party, which is exactly how I first discovered this wine! ORIGAMI OPENS UP SMART OPTIONS FOR ARCHITECTURE ON THE MOON AND MARS

Origami and high-performance textiles are transforming architecture plans for smart human habitats and research stations on the Moon and Mars. Initial field tests of the MoonMars project's origami prototype have been presented at the European Planetary Science Congress (EPSC) 2018 in Berlin by Dr. Anna Sitnikova.

MoonMars is a collaboration between the International Lunar Exploration Working Group (ILEWG), ESA-ESTEC, research institutions and textile architect studio Samira Boon. The MoonMars team has incorporated origami structure into digital weaving processes to sculpt complex forms that are compact to transport and easy to deploy through inflatable, pop-up or robotic mechanisms in extraterrestrial environments.

"Origami structures made of textiles can be unfolded into a myriad of different shapes. They are lightweight. They can be easily deployed and re-used in different configurations and sizes for flexible spatial usage. Structures remain functional in changing circumstances, thereby extending their useable life-span," said Sitnikova, who leads the MoonMars project on behalf of the ILEWG.

In the hostile environment of space, highperformance textiles and the flexibile nature of origami can provide unique architectural advantages. The angled facets of origami structures mean that incoming micrometeorites are less likely hit surfaces at 90 degrees, dissipating the energy of potential impacts and the risks of penetration, thus protecting astronauts inside habitats. Solar panels embedded in shape-shifting textiles can follow the Sun to gather more energy through the day. Transparent and opaque facets can change direction to alter internal lighting and climate conditions.

Following initial tests of a prototype entrance tunnel during the EuroMoonMars simulation at the European Space Agency's ESTEC facility in April 2018, the MoonMars team is now planning an ambitious series of trials for 2019. In June, the IGLUNA project, led by the Swiss Space Center, will include tests of an origami habitat in the glacier above Zermatt in Switzerland. In September 2019 the team will travel to Iceland to participate in a campaign inside a lava-tube cave system.

"We've just returned from a scouting trip and have selected the cave systems of Stefanshellir and Surtshellir, which has large galleries and a very elaborate tunnel system. We are provisionally looking at setting up a small habitat, implementing knowledge from previous demonstrations of our origami tunnel and woven domes," said Sitnikova.

The next design milestone will be a selfdeployable origami habitat. Origami, from ori meaning "folding", and kami state-of-the-art production and design methods," meaning "paper" (kami changes to gami) is the said Sitnikova. "Habitats enhanced by such art of paper folding, which is often associated with Japanese culture. In modern usage, the word "origami" is used as an inclusive term for all folding practices, regardless of their culture of origin. The goal is to transform a flat square sheet of paper into Graphics:

a finished sculpture through folding and sculpting "Origami for space architecture promotes cross- moon-and-mars/ disciplinary approaches and applications, providing structures are temporal and alive as they are able to transform and redefine themselves in resonance with human and environmental factors."

THE GOOD LIFE

FREE RESOURCES THAT CAN HELP WITH YOUR MEDICARE DECISIONS

Dear Savvy Senior, I'm considering making changes in my Medicare coverage during the open-enrollment period. Can you recommend any free resources that can help with my choices?

Swapping Senior

Dear Swapping, There are a number of good resources you can turn to that can help you choose Medicare coverage that better suites your needs, that's completely free to use. As you may already know, each year during Medicare's open enrollment – Oct. 15 through Dec. 7 - all Medicare beneficiaries can change their coverage without penalty. Doing so, given that insurers are constantly tweaking their plans and offerings, could help lower your premiums and/or give you access to better care. Any changes you make to your coverage will take effect January 1, 2019. Important ToolsTo get help with your Medicare decisions, a good starting point is to get re-familiar with the primary parts - traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, supplemental (Medigap) policies and prescriptiondrug coverage - Medicare publishes an excellent guide called "Medicare & You" that you can access atMedicare.gov/medicare-and-you. If you are already enrolled in Medicare Advantage or a Medicare Part D prescription-drug plan, it's very important that you read and understand your "Annual Notice of Changes" and "Evidence of Coverage," which should have arrived in the mail in September. These documents explain how your existing coverage will change in 2019 and how much you'll pay for that coverage. Your next step is to go Medicare's online "Plan Finder" tool at Medicare.gov/find-a-plan. Here you can enter some basic information – your Medicare number and prescription drugs (name and dosage) and it will produce a list of possible health-care plans in your area, the costs involved, drug coverage and customer-satisfaction ratings. Or, if you don't have Internet access, or don't feel confident in working through the information on your own, you can also call Medicare at 800-633-4227 and a customer service representative will do the work for you over the phone. Free AdviceIf you want personalized help with a Medicare specialist, contact the Medicare Rights Center or your State Health Insurance Assistance

The Medicare Rights Center is a nonprofit group (MedicareInteractive.org) that offers a national helpline (800-333-4114) where staff members answer questions about Medicare, and can help you choose coverage, at no charge. And your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP), which may go by a different name in your state, provides free one-on-one counseling in person or over the phone to beneficiaries, as well as family members and/ or caregivers. SHIPs are federally funded programs that are not connected to any insurance company or health plan. To find a SHIP counselor in your area, see ShiptaCenter.org or call the Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116.

Another good resource, if you're interested in choosing a new Medicare Advantage plan, is the HealthMetrix Research Cost Share Report atMedicareNewsWatch.com. This free website lists the best Advantage plans by area based on your health status. Agent AssistanceAnother way to get free assistance with your Medicare Advantage, prescription drug or Medigap plans is to use an agent or broker who specializes in Medicare-related insurance in your state. These people get paid a commission to sell you a policy from the insurance providers they represent. There are federal rules and state laws governing agents or brokers who sell Medicare plans, which include things like barring them from showing up uninvited at your house to pitch a plan or trying to lure you with a cash offer. They also cannot legally charge you a fee to process your enrollment. It's also important to understand that commission-based agents and brokers will present only the Medicare plans they represent, rather than all the plans in your market. So, you may miss out on some plans that could benefit you.

Sierra Madre // This Week's Market Update

This Week Median List Price: $1,059,000

The Market Action Index has been trending down lately, while inventory is climbing. These trends imply a weakening market.

Supply & Demand

While the Market Action Index shows some strengthening in the last few weeks, prices have not seemed to move from their plateau. Should the upward trend in sales relative to inventory continue, expect prices to resume an upward climb in tandem with the MAI.

The Market Action Index answers the question "How's the Market?" by measuring the current rate of sale versus the amount of the inventory. Index above 30 implies Seller's Market conditions. Below 30, conditions favor the buyer.

Price

The market seems to have paused around this plateau. This week prices eased down a bit.Look for a persistent down-shift in the MAI before we see prices deviate from these levels.

SOCALGAS JOINS COALITION FOR CLEAN AIR TO ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR CALIFORNIA CLEAN AIR DAY ON OCTOBER 3

Natural gas utility pledges to limit yearly energy use at each of its 60 work locations, reducing its overall electricity usage by more than 86,000 kWh – the equivalent of more than 157,000 miles driven

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27, 2018 – Southern California almost 700,000 cars off the road. Gas Co. (SoCalGas) today joined the Coalition for Clean Air (CCA), local elected officials, industry representatives, businesses, and community leaders at Union Station in Downtown Los Angeles to announce plans for California Clean Air Day, a multifaceted, statewide program built on the idea that shared experiences unite people to action to improve community health, taking place on Oct. 3, 2018. In celebration of Clean Air Day, SoCalGas has pledged to reduce its yearly use of air conditioning at each of the company's 60 work locations on an ongoing basis, starting on Oct. 3, 2018. The new initiative is expected to reduce the utility's overall electricity usage by more than 86,000 kWh per year - the equivalent of more than 157,000 miles driven by an average passenger car. In addition, more than 125 SoCalGas employees, so far, have taken the Clean Air Pledge, which includes actions like reducing car use by telecommuting, taking mass transit to work, biking, turning off lights, changing the filter in their car or home heater, planting trees, and encouraging friends and family members to take the pledge. Photos from this morning's event are available here.

"Earlier this year, California celebrated as we announced that our statewide efforts had reduced greenhouse gas emissions below 1990 levels and four years ahead of schedule," said George Minter, regional vice president of external affairs and environmental strategy for SoCalGas. "But a closer look at the data shows that GHG emissions from the transportation sector are actually increasing. And this year, we had more days with unhealthy air than at any point in the last two decades. We can address pollution and emissions linked to climate change today with balanced energy policies that encourage the rapid deployment of near-zero emissions natural gas trucks fueled with renewable natural gas sourced from farms, landfills, and wastewater treatment plants."

"Heavy-duty trucks fueled with renewable natural gas reduce air pollution and help protect against climate change. It's a win-win combination," said Joseph K. Lyou, Ph.D., president and CEO of the Coalition for

Earlier this year, SoCalGas announced that, for the first time, renewable natural gas produced from organic waste was being introduced into the company's pipeline system. Renewable natural gas is already being used by a local waste hauler as fuel for 400 of its collection trucks and is reducing emissions equal to taking 130,000 cars off the road.

oCalGas also recently announced it will soon begin using renewable natural gas for the first time at the 25 utility-owned natural gas vehicle fueling stations across its service territory, as well as at six fueling stations in the San Diego area.

SoCalGas is a leader in reducing emissions. Since 1990, the company's energy efficiency and rebate programs have reduced emissions equal to taking Facts About Renewable Natural Gas.

Through the Clean Air Pledge, individuals, communities, businesses, government, schools, and other organizations across California commit to taking simple, personal actions to clean the air in ways that makes sense for them. Clean Air Day is a project of the Coalition for Clean Air. For more information about Clean Air Day, visit www.cleanairday.org. Reducing Emissions with Renewable Natural Gas

Today, the transportation sector is responsible for about 41 percent of California's greenhouse gas emissions and 80 percent of smog-forming pollution. The latest heavy-duty natural gas engines can cut smog-forming emissions by more than 90 percent compared to the cleanest heavy-duty diesel trucks on the road today. And, when near-zero emission natural gas trucks are fueled by renewable natural gas, greenhouse gas emissions are reduced by at least 80 percent. Each heavy-duty diesel truck that is replaced with a near-zero emissions natural gas truck is equal to removing 57 passenger vehicles from the road.

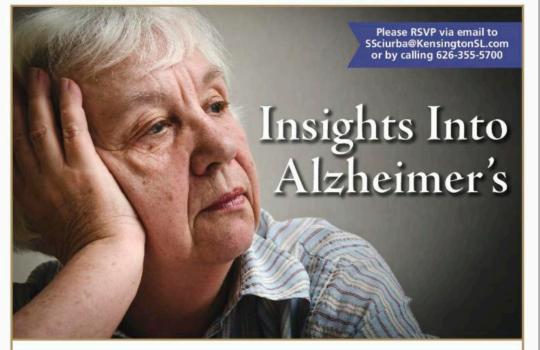

Already, close to 70 percent of natural gas fleets in California are fueled with renewable natural gas.

In support of renewable energy and the state's vision of a low-carbon future, SoCalGas has been working to rapidly expand the production and use of renewable natural gas in California. Renewable natural gas is a carbon-negative fuel produced from waste found at landfills, wastewater treatment plants, and agriculture and dairy farms that can be used in trucks and buses, to generate electricity, fuel heating systems in home and businesses, and for cooking.

In addition, new research shows that renewable natural gas can play an important role in lowering carbon emissions in buildings. The analysis forecasts that replacing roughly 16 percent of the traditional natural gas supply with renewable gas captured from sources like dairies, wastewater treatment plants, and landfills can achieve greenhouse gas reductions equivalent to converting 100 percent of buildings to electric only energy by 2030. By using a mix of both in and out of state resources, the renewable natural gas strategy is three times more cost effective in reducing greenhouse gas emissions than an electrification pathway.

SoCalGas also recently joined a new international collaboration with Canadian natural gas utility Énergir and French utilities GRDF and GRTgaz aimed at advancing the research and development of renewable natural gas and renewable energy storage technologies,

To help educate the public on renewable natural gas and assist developers who may be interested in interconnecting to the SoCalGas pipeline network, the utility developed a downloadable toolkit. LEGISLATION TO PROTECT CHILDREN FROM LEAD POISONING BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Sacramento, CA - Governor Brown signed Assemblymember Chris Holden's legislation, Assembly Bill 2370, that expands lead testing in Resources Control Board, to adopt requirements drinking water within California's child care centers.

"Lead poisoning is a serious threat to children's health," said Assemblymember Chris Holden. "Increasing lead testing for California's high-risk children is one of the single biggest steps we can take to prevent lead poisoning."

A 2009 California Environmental Protection Agency report states that very young children absorb about 40 to 50 percent of the ingested lead when drinking contaminated water, while adults absorb between 5-15 percent. Even small amounts of lead in the bodies of very young children can cause irreversible harm to their brains and central nervous systems.

AB 2370 requires the Department of Social Services, in consultation with the State Water to ensure that drinking water at child care centers does not contain elevated lead levels. AB 2370 also requires child care providers to receive instruction on the risks of and how to prevent lead exposure, and requires them to give parents written information about childhood blood lead testing requirements.

Under AB 2370, licensed child day care centers will be eligible to apply for loan funding through the Child Care Facilities Revolving Fund in order to remediate lead contamination at the child care center and receive grants from the State Water Board for testing and remediating lead in their water systems.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT PERSONAL LIABILITY UMBRELLA INSURANCE

It's no secret that we live in a litigious society. And though our right to a fair trial is one of the hallmarks of American democracy, it has also led to a lawsuit-crazy culture.

In this atmosphere, you're at near-constant risk for costly lawsuits, many times even when you've done nothing wrong. This is especially true if you have substantial wealth, but even those with relatively few assets can find themselves in court.

If you're sued, your traditional homeowner's and/or auto insurance will likely offer you some liability coverage, but those policies only protect you up to certain limits before they max out. Given this, you should consider adding an extra layer of protection by investing in personal liability umbrella insurance.

What is umbrella insurance?

Umbrella insurance offers a secondary level of protection against lawsuits above and beyond what's covered by your homeowners, auto, watercraft, and/or other personal insurance policies. For instance, if someone is injured in your home, they might sue you for their medical bills and lost wages.

Once your homeowners insurance maxes out, the umbrella policy will help pay for the resulting damages and legal expenses if you lose the case. If you win, it can help cover your lawyer's fees.

Who should purchase it?

Umbrella insurance is particularly important for those with a high net worth. But seeing that everyone has the potential to be sued, it's a good idea even for those without substantial assets.

Indeed, if you're sued and lose, the judgment more information.

against you may exceed the value of your current assets. In such a case, the court can allow the plaintiff to go after your future earnings, potentially garnishing your wages for years. To this end, umbrella insurance not only protects your current assets, but your future ones as well.

How much coverage do I need?

Most people will be adequately covered with a $1 million umbrella policy. If you earn more than $100,00 a year or have more than $1 million in assets, you may want to invest in additional

A good rule of thumb is to buy an umbrella policy with coverage limits that are at least equal to your net worth.

How much does umbrella insurance cost?

Umbrella insurance is fairly inexpensive. You can buy a $1 million umbrella liability policy for between $150 and $300 per year. An additional million in coverage will run you about $100, and roughly $50 for every million beyond that.

Umbrella policies are inexpensive because they only go into effect after your underlying homeowners or auto policy is exhausted. In light of this, most insurers require you to have at least $250,000 in liability on your auto policy and $300,000 on your homeowners before they'll sell you a $1 million umbrella policy.

How can I purchase umbrella insurance? You can buy an umbrella policy from the same insurance company you use for your other policies. In fact, some companies require you to purchase all of your policies from them in order to obtain umbrella coverage.

If your current insurance agent offers umbrella coverage, you may qualify for a discount for bundling all your policies. Of course, you can also purchase a stand-alone umbrella policy, so shop around for the best rates.

MOVING FORWARD WITH A DREAM EVEN WHEN YOU'RE SCARED

Having a dream and taking steps to fulfill it can feel exhilarating, exciting, and at the same time cause debilitating be ashamed of, in fact, you should fear. It's strange when we endeavor to do something new there's a part of us that wants to move forward and another part of us that feels unsafe and scared.

What are the stories that you tell yourself about your past goals? Are you kind to yourself and tell yourself empowering stories or are you harsh and unkind? How you handle mistakes and characterize your past can have a tremendous impact upon your ability to move forward. One thing for sure is that shame won't help you. It's important to develop the ability to bounce back from failure.

According to Dr. Brene Brown, "Shame is the intensely painful feeling or experience of believing we are flawed and therefore unworthy of acceptance and belonging. Women often experience shame when they are entangled in a web of layered, conflicting and competing social-community expectations. Shame creates feelings of fear, blame and disconnect." Shame is paralyzing and keeps us from making progress. Look at the stories you tell yourself about the past.

Making a mistake is nothing to always be proud of the effort and be prepared to learn from the experience. Look for the clues that could be the keys to success in the future. Rarely does anyone do something perfectly the very first can take that will yield big results.

Congratulate yourself for the effort. Next, evaluate the effort and look for places to adjust. Consider enlisting assistance, if not for the project itself, at least to have someone in your corner so that you don't feel alone in your effort. Find someone that will be encouraging, positive and empathetic. While shame isolates and separates. Empathy builds connection, courage, and compassion. Don't be the lone ranger in achieving your goals. Build a support system, remind yourself of past success and hold your vision of your goal. These are just some small steps you

So imagine harboring these terrible acts within your soul for fear of retaliation or ridicule.

The truth is, there are those who choose to die with our lives. their pain within rather than deal with the reaction of those they love and respect. A girl who is molested by a family member or family friend often has to deal with parents who downplay, deny or ignore her. That woman grows up, and then has to live her life pretending that

So what do we do now? Let's start with a little honesty. This problem isn't a female/male problem, it is a societal problem and it is time for us to stop acting like it doesn't exist. REPUBLICANS DETERMINED TO ALIENATE AS MANY WOMEN AS POSSIBLE

Why are Republicans so determined to stick with Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanagh, soiling themselves in the process and alienating as many women voters as possible? I see three reasons: Donald Trump views Kavanaugh as survival insurance (given his past writings), Trump is loathe to admit defeat, and the party's aggrieved white men apparently believe in all sincerity that the female of the species is bent on destroying them, and thus must be fought at all costs. Dumping Kavanaugh at this point, now that a credible second woman has come forward, should be a no-brainer. There are plenty of prospective judges in the Federalist Society factory who'd be willing to overturn Roe v. Wade. But that would mean starting from scratch, with new hearings and new social calls on Capitol Hill, and the Republicans don't want to stretch the timetable past the midterm elections. Especially if Democrats were to recapture the Senate (which is possible, but not probable). Republicans know they'd look bad if they tried to hustle a new ideologue onto the high court during the post-election lame-duck session. On the other hand, they don't seem to care much about looking bad. Their current behavior makes that perfectly clear.

What a freak show they've been conducting. They've been trying to rush the confirmation process - denying Christine Blasey Ford the courtesy of an FBI review (which Anita Hill was accorded), refusing to schedule additional testimony (and considering Brett pal Mark Judge's misogynist track record, no wonder) - because they wanted to minimize the risk of more horrific revelations. Indeed, according to The New Yorker, some Senate Republican staffers knew last week about Deborah Ramirez, the Yale classmate who now says that Kavanaugh waved his penis in her face. Nevertheless, in the words of Mitch McConnell, Republicans intend to "plow right through."

And their attitude is best illustrated by the Ed Whelan sideshow, a classic case of rightwing character assassination.

Whelan, a longtime conservative operative and pal of Kavanaugh's, announced that Ford may have been attacked by someone who merely looked like Kavanaugh - an innocent person with no links to the incident he identified publicly. Meanwhile, a right-wing public relations firm known as CRC hyped Whelan's fake news.

When the whole farce blew up in Whelan's face on Friday, he abjectly apologized. Then Garrett Ventry, a spokesman for the Senate Judiciary Committee (actually, a CRC employee on loan to the committee) rushed out a statement that the panel "had no knowledge or involvement" in Whelan's scheme. After that, Ventry resigned from the committee, because he has been accused of...wait for it...sexual harassment.

I've written in the past that the GOP's behavior in the Kavanaugh affair seems almost calculated to widen the gender gap and drive more women voters into the midterm Democratic camp. Now we're starting to see the evidence. A new USA Today poll says only 31 percent of Americans support Kavanaugh's confirmation, a new low, and that the hostility is driven by women voters, who now oppose him by a nearly 2-1 margin (23 percent yes, 43 percent no). Other recent polls find a similar pattern.

It's doubtful that Trump did his nominee much good by tweeting that if Ford's teenage allegation was real, she would've promptly reported it to the police. White House aides had reportedly hoped that Trump would duct-tape his fingers and stay out of the fray, but alas, he could not resist. Surely there are still some women left to alienate. He says now that he's standing with Kavanaugh "all the way."

And assuming that he and the misogynistic Republicans hold firm in the days ahead, it's doubtful that Andrew Puzder's outburst will help. You may remember Puzder; he was briefly Trump's Labor secretary nominee. On Saturday, he lamented in a tweet that Ford's sexual assault allegation was evidence that "nothing is sacred in the Left's pursuit of power." He omitted the fact that his ex-wife accused him of domestic violence - which she described years ago on national TV while wearing a disguise to protect her identity.

How can Kavanaugh possibly lose when he's defended by the best people?

ASSAULTING KAVANAUGH

But by the end of Thursday's Senate Judiciary Committee hearing, I came to the conclusion that both Brett Kavanaugh and Christine Blasey Ford had told the truth.

I believed Supreme Court nominee Kavanaugh never sexually assaulted Ford in 1982, when they were both teenagers.

And I also believed Ford really was sexually assaulted at age 15 - but not by Kavanaugh. Some of my fellow Republicans have made the mistake of holding up Ford's fuzzy or selective memory in her testimony as proof that she was not telling the truth about being sexually assaulted. They shouldn't.

When you are sexually assaulted, as I was repeatedly as a boy by a camp counselor in 1954, it can permanently mess up your memory.

The last time it happened to me, when I was 8 or 9, it occurred in the apartment of the man who I don't remember how I got home that night. I can't tell you where his apartment was.

But I can tell you in detail what it was like being in his dark room where he developed the photos It does a giant disservice to Dr. Ford and the rest of us who've been sexually assaulted to distrust our imperfect memories of such a traumatic event. But the greatest disservice to Dr. Ford - and Judge Kavanaugh - has been done by the Senate Democrats who sat on her allegation for weeks and then leaked it to the national media at the last

For ten days Ford and Kavanaugh and their families were thrown into media Hell, had death threats made against them and were targeted on social media by the sleaziest operatives of both Watching the Senate Democrats' play their slime-ball politics yesterday was an embarrassment to the Judiciary Committee, the U.S. Senate and the people of the USA.

At times it was pathetic. We had to watch grown senators acting as if they had never been in high school or college.

We had to watch senators like Richard Blumenthal desperately trying to use goofy teen-age blurbs from a 1982 high school yearbook to prove somehow that Kavanaugh was a teen-age alcoholic who had sexually assaulted Dr. Ford in a blind stupor.

Or using another yearbook entry to make the absurd case that Kavanaugh and his friends had gang sex with a specific female schoolmate - whose name Blumenthal mentioned.

The Democrats on the committee didn't care who their dirty tricks or sleazy accusations hurt -Ford and her family, Kavanaugh and his family or Kavanaugh's high school friends.

My greatest worry Thursday morning was that Judge Kavanaugh was going to come out and act like he did on Fox earlier this week in the Martha MacCallum interview - like an altar boy. He didn't. He came out firing. He had to do something he never had to do before in his life - defend his honor from partisan dirt

He did an absolutely incredible job considering how hard the Democrats were working to destroy his reputation and stop his nomination. Thank God, the Republicans stopped using that dull woman prosecutor they brought in to gently question Dr. Ford while the Democrats on the committee took turns trashing Kavanaugh.

That was a monumental mistake that largely let Dr. Ford off the hook. When the woman prosecutor began questioning Kavanaugh, the whole country was starting to fall asleep.

Thank God, Sen. Lindsay Graham stepped in and delivered a powerful rant that called out the Democrats for their delay tactics and attempts to make Kavanaugh into a teen-age Bill Cosby. All in all, Judge Kavanaugh acquitted himself very well yesterday.

Now his fate is the hands of the Senate Republicans. May God help him. Copyright 2018 Michael Reagan. City of Sierra Madre City Council meeting Hearing Begins at 6:30 pm City Council Chambers 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Sierra Madre, CA

All interested persons may attend this meeting and the City Council will hear them with respect thereto.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION: The adoption of this ordinance qualifies for an exemption from the California Environmental Quality Act review pursuant to Title 14, Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations as it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance may have a significant effect on the environment, because omitting the regulatory requirement to conduct periodic inspections in order to build a second unit is not likely to result in additional construction beyond that already permissible. Therefore, the City Council concludes that the amendments to Chapter 17.22 will not have a significant effect on the environment.

APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing. For further information on this subject, please contact the Sierra Madre Police Department at (626) 355-1414.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF SHERYL G. PARKER aka SHERYL PARKER Case No. 18STPB07325

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of SHERYL G. PARKER aka SHERYL PARKER

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Laura E. Jones in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Laura E. Jones be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THÉ PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Nov. 7, 2018 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
