CONTROVERSY ERUPTS OVER WATER LINE WARRANTY PROGRAM

Residents question validity of solicitation and city's endorsement

Sierra Madre homeowners received an envelope in the mail earlier this week that looked official. It bore the Sierra Madre Logo and contained information on how homeowners could participate in a program for Water and Sewer Line Warranties. And while that seemed harmless enough, it set off a barrage of telephone calls to city hall and this newspaper, as well as numerous social media posts from residents concerned about the authenticity of the documents and whether or not it was a scam. There was also great concern regarding whether or not the city had endorsed this company and if so, why? The letter was not signed by any city official, but rather a representative of a company called SLWA.

As it turns out, the letters were legitimate. The insurance offering was not random. The Sierra Madre city council approved participating with the company on March 13, 2018. http:// www.citvofsierramadre.com/common/ pages/DisplayFile.aspx?itemId=12544020

In the staff report presented to the council in March it notes that the company has been serving California cities since 2012 including the city of Duarte. The program offers insurance policies to residential property owners that "covers the buried outside water line which runs from the meter and/or curb box which includes the service line under the concrete floor until it daylights into the home."

The cost for the policy ranges from a minimum $6 a month depending on the service you choose, a fee that reflects a reduction from the standard rate because the City of Sierra Madre chose not to accept any commission for residents who sign up. Instead, the city had those funds applied to the premium in order to reduce the amount residents would have to pay. No funds or other benefits will go to the city from SLWA.

The coverage is not mandatory. City Manager Gabe Engeland, in a telephone interview on Friday, confirmed the fact that participation by residents in the program is strictly voluntary.

The program says that it will call on local businesses to service claims. However, three of the largest companies that serve Sierra Madre have no relationship with SLWA, raising the question of how this program will affect the businesses that residents currently use.

The Mountain Views News reached out to SLWA to confirm the information contained in the literature and secure a list of the local businesses that it uses, however was unable to reach anything other than a recording and there were no responses to the messages that were left.

SLWA is part of the National League of Cities Utilities Service Partner Program. Councilman and Former Mayor Gene Goss, who recognizes the ongoing battle the entire city is having with aging water and sewer lines said, "This is a great program to those who have old plumbing systems. This gives residents the opportunity to protect themselves from the costs of catastrophic failure in these systems."

City Looks to Give More Tenant Protections

The Pasadena city council is set Monday night to discuss stepping up the city's Tenant Protection Ordinance after a number of tenants spoke out publicly recently after being given abrupt 60-day notice to vacate an 18-unit complex without any warning.

Many said they did not have money to move, or any place else to go, having lived at the building at 120 S. Roosevelt Ave for decades. The evictions came after the owner's death. The daughter became the new landlord and ordered all the current tenants, including families on Section 8 housing,

The council will look at a number of potential modifications to the TPO to expand the applicability of the ordinance, including: Option 1: Modify the TPO to require landlords to pay relocation benefits, regardless the reason for tenancy termination, to all incomeeligible tenants in good standing and who have maintained tenancy for a continuous period of 1 0 years or longer.

Option 2: Modify the TPO to eliminate or increase the maximum household income

Currently, tenant income eligibility is capped at 140% of the Los Angeles County Area

· Median Income ("AMI"); for a two-person household, the annual income limit is Option 3: Expand the TPO to cover situations in which landlords evict tenants in order to perform property upgrades and subsequently re-rent the units at higher cost. According to staff, "This option would have protected the tenants at 102 S. Roosevelt Ave."

Option 4: Expand the TPO to cover tenants who voluntarily vacate a unit after notification of a large rent hike which exceeds a specified percentage increase

The city council meets at 6:30 p.m. in the Council Chamber, Pasadena City Hall

100 North Garfield Ave. By law, the public will be given an opportunity to comment on

Halloween Pet Safety The Pasadena Humane Society

is urging pet owners to include their pets as they prepare for holiday festivities. Strangers in costumes, the repeated ringing of the doorbell and abundant sweets pose special challenges for many pets on Halloween night. Help keep your pets safe by considering the following: Trick-or Treat: Trick-or-treating is for humans only. While it may be tempting to take Fido along for the candy hunt, rest assured they are best left at home. Strange costumes and lots of neighborhood activity might scare an otherwise calm Sweet Tooth: Keep candy out of your pet's reach. All forms of chocolate can be toxic to cats and dogs. If your pet does ingest candy, contact your veterinarian immediately.

Canine Costumes: Costumes aren't for everyone. If your pet wears a costume, remove dangling pieces that may be a hazard to them. If your pet does not like its costume, then do not force it on him or her.

Safe Haven: The safest place for all pets on Halloween night is in your home. Keep your pet safe in the back room during peak trick-or-treating hours, or during parties, as the costumed visitors and loud noises can frighten them. Playing soothing music may help them stay calm. Walk your dog before the trickor-treating starts and bring cats inside well before dark. If your dog is a door-dasher, be sure to keep them safely confined in your home.

İdentification: Make sure your pet is wearing a current ID tag and their microchip has up-

Keep your pets away from dangerous decorations: Be aware of which decorations pose threats. Some hazards are obvious, like lit candles (fire hazards and toxic to birds if scented).

Doorbell Damage Control: Excessive ringing of the doorbell can make some dogs bark and raise their stress levels. Consider leaving a note on your door that asks trick-or-treaters to lightly knock rather than ring the doorbell.

"Halloween can be one of the scariest holidays for our pets," said Jack Hagerman, Vice President of Communications at Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA. "Be sure to take precautions for your pets to ensure the entire family has a

Several people have come up to me and asked my opinion in the upcoming elections. Upfront, I must explain I am on the Monrovia Arcadia Duarte Town Council; we are a 501 c3 nonprofit. As a group we may NOT endorse anyone. However, as an individual resident, I have lived in Monrovia for 33 years; my girls are Monrovia High graduates. I also have ties to Duarte; I attended all their City Council Meetings, and was on the Duarte Education Foundation. At that time, I was writing for the San Gabriel Valley Examiner, a newspaper just starting out and welcomed EVERYTHING I submitted. Soon I attended Sheriff's events and reported on their activities as well as the CHP and LA County Fire Department.

I feel Mike Eng is the BEST candidate for State Senate. Mike is a visionary and his experience is UNMATCHED. I met Mike in 2001; I was covering LASD's Know Gangs, No Gangs daylong seminar with several excellent guest speakers and attended Judy Chu and Mike Eng by several law enforcement agencies. This past week I had to go to smell today, sir?" the mall. I know, I should know better, but I thought I could sneak in, get what I needed and sneak out again. So much for my thoughts.

I wanted to purchase several tie chains for my nobody had them. Finally, I ordered three online, my attention) to the nearest store, which happened

Looking down at the ground while walking I became rather confused and I happen to turn into an open door.

My mall savvy is not sophisticated in the least. The door I turned into happened to be for the store Victoria's Secret. I do not know who Victoria is, I did not know what the store was all about, but Secret much to my great embarrassment.

That is exactly the reason I do not like going into the malls. They have places like this that a long at all." gentleman, such as Yours Truly, should never

I am not sure how I got out of that store, all I can remember was a great deal of hilarious laughter thrown in my direction from inside. I just hope they did not recognize me. They probably did not, because I had all my clothes on.

It has been a long time since that incident and now I had to go and pick up my order. I put together a plan to sneak in very quietly, pick up my order and tiptoe out as quietly as I came in.

You know what they say about well-laid plans! Whether mine was well laid or not, it blew up in

I did slip into the mall and found the store where my order was. I picked them up and quietly turned around and started for the door. How I got turned around is any man's guess. Actually, I think I turned around too many times. For the next 15 minutes, I tried to find the way I came in so I could

The trouble started when I hesitated. I stopped to try to get my bearings and in stopping a young woman approached me.

"How do you do today, sir," she said most possible.

Had I been in my right sense of mind, I would have told her I smelled with my nose. Being in a confused state of affairs. I had no quick come back for her. It was then that she introduced me to her product.

I must confess I am not up-to-date with all of neckties and searched every jewelry store and the body lotions and perfumes that are available today. I shave in the morning, splash some which would be shipped free, (which always gets aftershave on my face, rub some deodorant under my armpits and that is as far as I go.

This young woman took me for a potential I do not like the mall and choose not to go customer of her body lotions and ointments and perfumes. I suppose many people are concerned with how they smell. I am not one of them.

My basic philosophy along this line is simply, if I cannot stand my own smell, I take a shower. I know when it is time to take a shower when I can smell myself.

She wanted to introduce me to some body lotions and ointments and perfumes that would make me smell alluring to anybody I met during Personally, I do not have a "Bucket List" but if I did, this would not be one of the items on it.

Trying to be polite, I informed the young woman when I got in the store, I discovered Victoria's I was late for an appointment and needed to get on right away.

"Oh," she said very cheerfully, "this will not take

With that said, and before I could process what she said, she began rubbing my face with body ointment or lotion of some sort. I froze and for a few moments, I could not even move. Even the little grey cells upstairs were shocked into a rare state of stillness.

"Now, you smell wonderful."

It was at that time I retired with honor my gentlemanly manners and started running as fast as I could run without drawing too much attention to myself.

I smelled that "fragrance" for three days in spite of the fact that I took 17 showers in the meantime. Sometimes our focus is always on the outside. I like what Jesus said, "Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess" (Matthew 23:25).

It does not matter how good I smell on the outside if there is stench on the inside. I want to focus on my inside and make it as fresh as possible. That is the fragrance God smells.

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

SPLIT THE BILL

This week's adventure is something that we can all relate to, holiday parties and going out with friends and family, which means worrying about the dreaded bill! Dining out is certainly one of the delights of life, but disagreeing over how to split a check can be frustrating and awkward. It happened to me recently. We had a great time and were done with the meal when a tablemate mentioned he was picking up the tab of another s portion of the bill because they treated him another time. That was fine but what happened next was, 'Thanks, I am glad you remembered. Let me order after-dinner drinks on us. On us?' Sure enough I was stuck with the portion of the additional bottle of wine. Did I mention it was $130? What to do?

Here are a few suggestions I have learned that might lessen the

- HEARD IT ON THE PETER DILLS SHOW. TASTE IT TODAY!
- 1. Keep track of what you order and pay your share.
- 2. While waiters may cringe, tell the server from the beginning that you want a separate bill
- 3. Be up front: "I love that restaurant, but this is my budget."
- 4. Traditionally the person who made the invite paid for the bill. We all know that is long gone, though my feeling is that the person who made the invite can and should be in charge of the accounting. We know that some of us are more generous than others. If you are the one ordering, you might offer to pay for the entire tip once the bill is evenly split.

All in all, it usually evens out in the end. If it's a few dollars here and there don't worry about it. Your friends are likely worth it. If not, skip their invitations.

If the high roller keeps ordering the Patrón shots, tell him 'thanks for the shots. I'll have a bottle waiting for you at my house for the next party.'

If you aren't invited to the next dinner party, it might be for the best!!!

NASA'S FERMI MISSION ENERGIZES THE SKY WITH GAMMA-RAY CONSTELLATIONS

Long ago, sky watchers linked the brightest stars into patterns reflecting animals, heroes, monsters and even scientific instruments into what is now an official collection of 88 constellations. Now scientists with NASA's Fermi Gamma-ray Space Telescope have devised a set of modern constellations constructed from sources in the gamma-ray sky to celebrate the mission's 10th year of operations.

The new constellations include a few characters from modern myths. They include the Little Prince, the time-warping TARDIS from "Doctor Who," Godzilla and his heat ray, the antimatter-powered U.S.S. Enterprise from "Star Trek: The Original Series" and the Hulk, the product of a gamma-ray experiment gone awry.

"Developing these unofficial constellations was a fun way to highlight a decade of Fermi's accomplishments," said Julie McEnery, the Fermi project scientist at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Maryland. "One way or another, all of the gamma-ray constellations have a tie-in to Fermi science."

Since July 2008, Fermi's Large Area Telescope (LAT) has been scanning the entire sky each day, mapping and measuring sources of gamma rays, the highest-energy light in the universe. The emission may come from pulsars, nova outbursts, the debris of supernova explosions and giant gamma-ray bubbles located in our own galaxy, or supermassive black holes and gamma-ray bursts—the most powerful explosions in the cosmos—in others.

THE TAX CREDIT THAT LETS YOU DOUBLE-DIP ON RETIREMENT SAVINGS

Dear Savvy Senior,

What can you tell me about the retirement saver's tax credit? At age 60, I'm looking for ways to boost my retirement savings beyond my 401(k) plan and have heard this may be a smart way to do it. Is this something I'm eligible for?

Need to Save Dear Need,

"Saver's Credit" (also known as the Retirement Savings the 20 percent credit bracket, and you've contributed the Contribution Credit) is a frequently overlooked tool that $2,000 maximum that can be considered for the credit, you can help boost your retirement savings even more. These income limits are adjusted annually to keep pace with inflation.

To get the 50 percent credit, you'll need to have an income below $19,000 if you're single, $28,500 if you're filing as head of household, and $38,000 for couples in 2018.

The market has been cooling off a bit in recent weeks, as more homes are available and demand is less. We're already seeing prices move lower as a result. Expect this trend to continue especially if the index falls to the Buyer's zone. Watch for a persistent up-turn in Market Action to signal prices rising again.

The Market Action Index answers the question "How's the Market?" by measuring the current rate of sale versus the amount of the inventory. Index above 30 implies Seller's Market conditions. Below 30, conditions favor the buyer.

FOOTHILL GOLD LINE UPDATE

While Construction Authority committees of experts continue to review the design-build team proposals for the Glendora to Montclair project, work continues on the 12.3-mile alignment to eliminate the existing overhead communication system for the freight line. Crews have eight phases of work to complete at each of the 25 grade crossings and at another nearly dozen signal locations where the electrical system is being updated (as shown below, left), new cables installed, and power dropped before testing of the new system will take place. The methodical process is progressing well and will be completed next summer, well-ahead of the design-build team relocating the freight track

Also, last week during a State Assembly Select Committee Hearing on Regional Transportation Solutions, I was asked about the status of the project and procurement. The purpose of the Hearing was to get updates on projects that improve inter-connectivity between Los Angeles and San Bernardino Counties, and to understand the impact Proposition 6 on the November ballot (the proposal to eliminate SB1, the recently adopted increase in the State's gas tax, diesel tax and vehicle fees) might have on those projects. As you know, earlier this year the Foothill Gold Line received nearly $300 million from the State of California's Transit and Intercity Rail Capital Program (TIRCP). TIRCP receives funding from SB1. The Construction Authority board of directors voted to oppose Proposition 6 earlier this year; as has the Metro board of directors and the San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments.

I explained that the scope of the project has been thoroughly refined and optimized and that it is the effect of the current market and economy that is the unknown that will drive the final cost. We will know more once the procurement evaluation process has been completed. As we have done before, the Construction Authority plans to award the Alignment contract to the proposing team offering the "best value," with price and technical factors On the Select Committee were Assembly being approximately equal in importance.

HONORING AND SERVING VETERANS – IMPORTANCE OF GI BILL

By Dr. Edward C. Ortell Citrus College Governing Board Member October 2018

Each year, our nation's annual observance of Veterans Day pays fitting tribute to the men and women who have served in the United States military. As we honor their service and sacrifice, it is a good time to reflect on the importance of the GI Bill to millions of veterans.

Nearly all Americans have benefited in some way from the GI Bill. My father, a World War II veteran whose brother was killed in action (KIA) in the Philippines, used the education benefits to change the course of his and his family's future. From his roots as a sharecropper in the Midwest, the GI Bill made it possible for him to ultimately earn a Ph.D. and become a professor of mathematics and astronomy. Over the course of his career, he positively impacted the lives of thousands of students.

Since its inception, the GI Bill has undergone a number of changes, but it remains one of the most important benefits of military service today. According to Military.com, "The Post-9/11 GI Bill, Montgomery GI Bill, and dependent GI Bill programs help service members, veterans, and families reach their education goals."

Community colleges are also well-equipped to provide the important support services veterans need. Those services can include GI Bill processing information and assistance, specialized counseling, peer support groups and many others. Many community colleges have veteran's centers that provide a "one stop" approach that gives veterans a convenient means of accessing the benefits they have earned and the academic support they need.

As Veterans Day approaches, we are reminded that we owe our nation's veterans a debt of gratitude. They

Jeff's Book Pics By Jeff Brown

The Library Book by Susan Orlean On the morning of April 28, 1986, a fire alarm sounded in the Los Angeles Public Library. As PRESIDENTS the moments passed, the patrons and staff who had been cleared out of the building realized this was not the usual fire alarm. As one fireman recounted, "Once that first stack got going, it was 'Goodbye, Charlie." The fire was disastrous: it reached 2000 degrees and burned for more than seven hours. By the time it was extinguished, it had consumed four hundred thousand books and damaged seven hundred thousand more. Investigators descended on the scene, but more than thirty years later, the mystery remains: Did someone purposefully set fire to the library—and if so, who? Weaving her lifelong love of books and reading into an investigation of the fire, bestselling author Susan Orlean delivers a mesmerizing and uniquely compelling book that manages to tell the broader story of libraries and librarians in a way that has never been done before. In The book, Orlean chronicles the LAPL fire and its aftermath to showcase the larger, crucial role that libraries play in our lives; delves into the evolution of libraries across the country and around the world, from their humble beginnings as a metropolitan charitable initiative to their current status as a cornerstone of national identity; brings each department of the library to vivid life through on-the-ground reporting; studies arson and attempts to burn a copy of a book herself; reflects on her own experiences in libraries; and reexamines the case of Harry Peak, the blond-haired actor long suspected of setting fire to the LAPL more than thirty years ago. Along the way, Orlean introduces us to an unforgettable cast of characters from libraries past and present from Mary Foy, who in 1880 at eighteen years of the early development, growth, and exercise of leadership. Are leaders born or made? Where does ambition come from? How does adversity affect the growth of leadership? Does the leader make the times or do the times make the leader? In Leadership, Goodwin draws upon the four presidents she has studied most closely—Abraham Lincoln, Theodore MICHAEL Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Lyndon BESCHLOSS B. Johnson (in civil rights)—to show how they recognized leadership qualities within themselves and were recognized as leaders by others. By looking back to their first entries into public life, we encounter them at a time when their paths were filled with confusion, fear, and hope. Leadership tells the story of how they all collided with dramatic reversals LIBRARY that disrupted their lives and threatened to shatter forever their ambitions. Nonetheless, they all emerged fitted to confront the contours and dilemmas of their times. No common pattern describes the trajectory of leadership. Although set apart in background, abilities, and temperament, these men shared a fierce ambition and a deep-seated resilience that enabled them to surmount uncommon hardships. With the growing popularity of DIY wills, tens of thousands of families (and millions more to come) have learned the hard way that trying to handle estate planning alone can not only fail to fulfill this purpose, it can make the court cases and conflicts far worse and more expensive.

The hidden dangers of DIY wills

From the specific state you live in and the wording of the document to the required formalities for how it must be signed and witnessed, there are numerous potential dangers involved with DIY wills and other estate planning documents. Estate planning is most definitely not a one-size-fits-all deal. Even if you think you have a simple situation, that's almost never the case.

The following scenarios are just a few of the most common complications that can result from attempting to go it alone with a DIY will:

- Improper execution: For a will to be valid, it must be executed (i.e. signed and witnessed or notarized)

TOM PURCELL

Say it ain't so: Alcohol in moderation is bad for us again! According to a recent study published in the journal Alcoholism, low-level alcohol use - one or two snorts of hooch on occasion - may benefit cardiovascular disease, but it increases the risk of cancer. To which I respond: Oh, c'mon!

I don't know if our scientists have noticed, but our country is politically and culturally divided. Our people are agitated and angry. Life's simple pleasures are among the few things about which we have any consensus these days.

Yet for years, our simple pleasures have been under scientific assault.

Back in the '90s, a series of alarming reports told us that movie-theater popcorn would congest our arteries worse than eating Crisco right out of the can. Then we learned that Chinese food would fatten us, and that a hearty fast-food breakfast could be so risky we might not make it to lunch. For years, we were told that red meat is bad for our hearts. But now, we're being told that it is also causing climate change - so we need to start eating bugs instead! Look, too few Americans are aware of where our food comes from and what is in it - which partly helps explain our obesity epidemic. But it's awfully frustrating that our scientists can't seem to make up their minds. For years, they told us coffee was bad for us - before deciding that, in moderation, it stimulates our arteries, and protects against Parkinson's disease, type 2 diabetes and liver disease. Coffee certainly makes my noggin sharper as the workday begins!

For years, scientists told us to avoid fat and carbs. Now, they tell us to limit carbs and that proper fats are essential to good health - that some people don't have enough fat in their diets!

For years, scientists told us alcohol was bad. Then they told us that, in moderation, it prevents heart disease, reduces the chance of ischemic stroke and possibly reduces the risk of diabetes!

But now, alcohol in moderation is bad for us again? Regrettably, the issue remains unsettled.

According to The Washington Post, the alcohol-in-moderation issue was supposed to be clarified by a 10-year, $100 million Moderate Alcohol and Cardiovascular Health trial sponsored by The National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, part of the National Institutes of Health (NIH).

But the study's credibility collapsed, The Post reports, when an "internal NIH investigation found that researchers had engaged in extensive communication with industry representatives before the government's approval of the trial." Thus, it was canceled. Which puts us right back at square one!

Some scientists, including an epidemiologist cited by The Post, say "drinkers should drink a little bit every day, without any days off, because alcohol makes blood platelets less sticky and keeps other clotting factors low."

But another scientist told The Post: "The burden of evidence is toward alcohol having a detrimental effect on heart disease, even in small quantities."

As a result, millions of average Americans are in a constant state of confusion and debate about many things scientific - while they're also in a constant state of confusion and debate about many things political and cultural.

One solution? Embrace the witty wisdom of Irish poet and playwright Oscar Wilde: Enjoy "everything in moderation, including moderation."

A CIVICS TEST TO GRADUATE HIGH SCHOOL? ABSOLUTELY

It was an inspiring lecture. One of my finest. And then, I brought up D-Day.

Spend enough time in the classroom and you learn to read students' faces. They say so much.

"I'm bored." "I'm thinking about something else." "I just broke up with my girlfriend." I'm homesick." "I'm hungry." And, of course, "I have no idea what you're talking about." The latter - along with the unmistakable sound of crickets - was the reaction to my mention of the day Allied forces invaded Europe in 1944.

This particular encounter with students took place several years ago at another university but I haven't forgotten it. It went something like this.

"So, on D-Day...."

Nothing.

"Does everyone know what D-Day is?" Still nothing. Not one hand in the air.

"The invasion of Europe by the Allies?"

Blank stares. "Anyone? Anyone?" "How about World War II?"

"Oh, yeah!" one student exclaimed, as if we'd made some great breakthrough. Those few moments in that classroom were indicative of a much broader and very disturbing issue - the appalling knowledge gap among young people about American history and America in general. A study released earlier this month by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation showed that in a sample of 1,000 American adults, only 36 percent would pass a U.S. citizenship test. Those 65 and older who were surveyed scored the highest. But only 19 percent of those 45 and younger passed the test. Oh yeah, and 60 percent of those surveyed did not know which countries the U.S. fought against in World War

If you're not terrified yet, consider that the questions on the test aren't exactly what you would find on the Mensa admissions exam.

Here are a few actual questions on the citizenship test: What does the Constitution do? What is one right or freedom from the First Amendment? Name one branch or part of the government? Who makes federal laws?

You get the idea. Not a lot of heavy lifting.

And yet, at least if this study is any barometer, most Americans would fail a rudimentary civics test.

This would seem to be a searing indictment of our public schools. How a student can graduate high school, not to mention college, knowing virtually nothing about a world war that claimed the lives of 418,500 Americans and 50 million others is stupefying.

But here we are.

Kentucky is the most recent state to require all high school seniors to pass a U.S. citizenship test to graduate. Students have to score a 60 on a 100-question test to pass. Kentucky is one of nine states that require students to pass a civics test to graduate high school. Bravo.

It's hard to imagine that anyone would object to such a basic requirement but alas, the naysavers are out there. Chief among the pooh poohers, of all things, is the National Council for the Social Studies whose tagline, ironically enough, reads "Preparing Students for College, Career, and Civic Life."

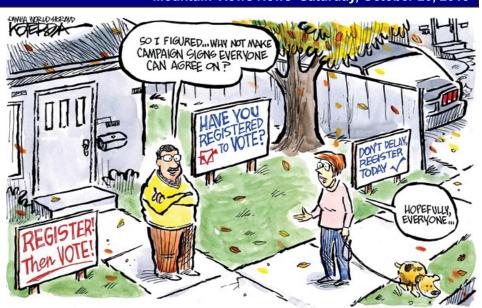

'While the Naturalization Test as presently constructed does assess a surface level of civic knowledge that may be quickly forgotten, it ignores the skills and dispositions component so necessary for true civic literacy and learning," according to an NCSS position statement posted in March, 2018. "Indeed, rote knowledge of civics content does not equal understanding of what it means to be a citizen."

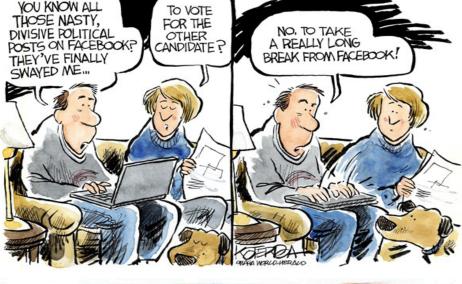

I'm not naive enough to believe that passing a simple civics test to graduate high school is the remedy for the multi-leveled failure to teach our young people the basics of what it means to be an American. But it's something.

I would argue that our elementary and secondary school students would be much better served learning about why America had to fight World War II instead of being taught hogwash such as "School Climate Reform" or "Action Civics."

Every state should pass a law requiring high school students to pass a civics test to graduate. The question, "Who knows about D-Day?" should never be met by unraised hands in any high school or college classroom. But it is. And that's more than a failure. crossing over, at least occasionally. It's a tragedy.
