REMEMBRANCE JUDY (EVEREST) HARFMAN TROUTT

Judy (Everest) Harfman Troutt, a long time Sierra Madre resident passed away of a heart attack in her home on January 23, 2019 at the age of 76. She was born October 3, 1942 in Los Angeles, CA. Judy is survived by her husband of almost 32 years, Allen Troutt, her children; Kathryn Harfman of Pearblossom, CA, Jennifer Harfman Kenyon (Brett) of Sierra Madre and Carrie Harfman Bell (Carston) of Sierra Madre, step sons; Allen Troutt of Arcadia, CA and Daniel Troutt of Altadena, CA, grandchildren; Charlcie Harfman Bibian (Manny), Ryan Kenyon, Dylan Kenyon, Colby Kenyon, Cody Bell, and Faith Troutt, And two great grandchildren; Colton and Rachel Bibian. playing. At the time there were not enough coaches and while Judy knew nothing about the rules and regulations of girls softball, she quickly learned and brought her team to all-star championships many times over. When Kathy graduated to senior division, Judy continued in junior division coaching Jenny. Judy enjoyed softball so much that her and her then husband, Dennis Harfman, joined a co-ed slo-pitch league. Judy had been a graduate of Pasadena High School, class of 1960. For many years she was on the reunion committee and helped plan many of their milestone reunions. As her girls got older, she started working outside of the home. One of the places of note was Toy and Patio, a nostalgic Sierra Madre business. She was a bookkeeper by trade who ultimately ended up at Buffums Department Store as the office manager, where she met her current husband Allen Troutt.

After retirement Judy and Allen spent many vacations going to some of her favorite places like Idyllwild, CA and Pismo Beach, CA. They took a road trip to Missouri where her brother-in-law lived and also went to Oregon. She was an avid reader and loved doing crossword puzzles, playing Scrabble and spending time with her family. Services will be held at Bethany Christian Church on Saturday February 16, 2019 at 11:00am with a reception to follow immediately after.

In lieu of flowers, donations could be made to St. Jude Children's Hospital or the American Heart Association.

questions, you've probably met my mom, Mary Hopkins, winner of the unofficial Most Avid Dog Interest award.

I think it all started when she began walking more routinely with my dad in the mornings. My mom's always been social, and she can't pass up the opportunity to chat with other walkers, particularly when they're holding a leash with a dog at the end of it. It doesn't even have to be a cute dog. Just give my mom a dog and she'll find questions to ask about it. The transcript usually goes like this:

Mom: "Oh, what a cute_ dog!" Walker: "Thank you!" Mom: "What kind of dog is Walker: "She's Cockeranian. A cross between a Cocker Spaniel and a Pomeranian? [Dog wags tail rapidly and

Mom reaches down to pet its head.]

Mom: "What a nice dog... What's her name?" "Her name's Walker:

still Mom petting Meredith.]

Mom: "Hellooo, Meredith! How old is she?" [Walker pauses to calculate age.] Walker: "She just turned three."

That's not the end of the conversation, but you can see how it goes. Meanwhile Dad is waiting. My dad's not anti-dog, he's just pro-walk, and this happens every day... So all this latent dog interest was building up when my mom recently stumbled upon "Hope for Paws" on YouTube.

"Hope for Paws" is great! It combines two things we love --dogs and Israel. While not actually taking place in Israel, the founder, Eldad Hagar, is Israeli. He's based over millennia, they've become dependant upon humans for survival. You can't just drop a dog onto the streets and expect it to join a pack of covotes or fend for itself.

Some of the videos, MOST of the videos, simply break your heart! But you should still watch them, because the vast majority have happy endings. Eldad and his team of dog-loving women (who also happen to be beautiful) are tireless in their pursuit of animals reported to be in dangerous situations, whether that means they're stranded on the inside lane of the 110 Freeway or trapped in a narrow drainpipe beneath the 5. (That's happened before.) Eldad's gone after animals in all sorts of tricky spots.

Most of the animals are won over by the offer of cheeseburgers and quickly become compliant, and even affectionate, after realize that Eldad they and his team are there to help. What follows are vet examinations and relocation to adoptive families. That is the part my mom loves, the transformation from scrawny, flea and tick-ridden.

frightened animals to sleek, healthy pets who bubble over with excitement when they are accepted into loving homes.

Vet bills and travel are expensive though (people contact Eldad from all over the country), so if you'd like to donate to "Hope for Paws," your money would be going to a very good cause. You can also purchase Eldad's book, "Our Lives Have Gone to the Dogs." My favorite line from it is a Native American tale of the origins of the earth, "God made the earth, the sky, the water, the moon and the sun. He made man and bird and beast. But He didn't have to make the dog. He already had one."

If that doesn't make you smile, nothing will.

"The Power of Hope!" HOPE! The Word For 2019

Weren't you delighted to read that the President for the 2019-2020 Tournament of Roses year, Laura Farber, has selected "The Power of Hope" as the theme. "With Hope - anything, in fact, everything is possible," she said. "Hope is more than simply the possibility of fulfillment. Hope is dignity and respect, joy and happiness, aspiration and achievement. Hope never, ever quits. Through hope, we can aspire to be our best and, in turn, inspire those around us to reach higher." Wow! Hope is my favorite thing, as I'm sure you all know, and I can't wait to see what our Sierra Madre Rose Float Association will do with Hope for this year's float. It will be wonderful, I can guarantee that, and another prize winner, too.

Aren't you loving those lighted crosswalks we have now on Baldwin and Sierra Madre Blvd.? They make crossing safer and with the hordes of hungry school kids we have descending on Beantown, Starbucks and all the other eateries there around Kersting Court the minute school is out, safer is a great idea.

Have you been to the Creative Arts Group 2019 Faculty Show yet? That place is such a treasure in our community. You can wander in there all day long and see beautiful creations that will touch your heart, mind and soul. Daughter, Leah, and I spent an hour last Friday looking at works of art of all sorts. First thing we saw, as always, before we even got in the door, was Lew Watanabe's obelisk fountain, "Antiquity," donated to Creative Arts by Lew in 2013 in honor of Jacki Raymond, Executive Director 1979-2013, for her service to the community. This fountain, even if you stand before it for just a moment, will calm your heart and prepare you for the beauty you will see inside.

Right inside the door to the left is a display of goblets and glassware that are breathtaking in their designs and colors. On the wall directly across is a painting, "California Beauty," part of a collection of Laura Wambsgans' oil paintings. "California Beauty" portrays mountains, a clear stream, trees and a cloudless sky. I wanted it! Laura also has a fabulous ocean scene, "Pacific Blues."

Kristen Erickson's ceramics, a selection of beautifully colored pots was next, featuring unusual color schemes and swirls. Gorgeous! Ken Roussin, Fold Forming & Enameling Instructor, is showing a series of exquisite leaf embellished pieces.

I had to take a minute to remind myself that all the art pieces in this show are by the instructors so, of course, they are all flawless and beyond original and exquisite. Douglas Louie, Ceramics Instructor, is displaying colored bowls of different bright colors mounted on carved wooden stands. I wanted those, too. More unusual ceramics by Liz Strowbridge and Kiley Seoyen Choi, each a masterpiece of color, shape and versatility.

My good friend and superb artist, Lisa Agaran, Mixed Media Specialist, is showing several of her pieces, my favorite was "Haze At Mt. Fuji." Lisa has workshops that are intriguing, exciting, amazing and frequently out of town in places like Cambria.

Lilia Venier, Ceramics Instructor, filled shelves with droll, witty, whimsical pottery pieces, my favorite was a small, perfect teapot featuring colors galore, flowers and a bird on the handle. Yes, I wanted that, too.

Jan Wright's watercolors, Richard Scott's drawings, Rob Sherrill's watercolors and paintings, one of which featured the Colorado Street Bridge, which appeared in several other artists' work also.

The piece I just had to show in the picture is Gina Lawson Egan's ceramic horse and rider. I know it's not a unicorn, but it made me think of one, in honor of Arizona granddaughter, Emily.

I'm running out of room, dear friends and neighbors, and I haven't mentioned half of what I saw, not even half! Oh, the jewelry...oh, the jewelry by Vicki Matthieu, Frances Lai Wang, Dawn Zammitt Crandall and Ken Roussin was fabulous. Bottom line here, ya gotta go!! The Creative Arts Group Faculty Show will be available to see and lust over just till February 22nd so do not hesitate too long. You will be so glad you took a little time, first to stand in front of Lew's "Antiquity," and then see all the beauty inside Creative Arts. Creative Arts Group, in case you haven't been there yet, is at 108 No. Baldwin Ave. in Sierra Madre. And, yes, they have classes in everything imaginable in art. 626-355-8350 if you want to call them. Go! Trust me!

THE SECRET JOB OF DOGS

Happy Tails

A simple smile. It's been described as a universal language. It's a contagious gesture that can break the ice between two people who'd otherwise likely not interact. It can bring hope to a despairing soul and healing to a broken heart. But for some, a smile is anything but simple. Indeed, for many it can be the toughest task they will attempt to perform on any given day. In comes the dog.

Unassuming, trusting and unconditionally loving, the dog is predictably and consistently capable of bringing out the best in people. I see it happen all the time. Typically when I'm out walking my canine clients around town. I, myself am somewhat of a gregarious individual and I feel privileged to live in a community where local folks take the time to greet one another other on the street. So for me, sharing a smile with a passerby comes quite natural.

But I realize not everyone feels the same way I do. Some folks prefer to keep to themselves. Then there are those who may want to connect but they are too shy or unsure how to initiate that contact. Fortunately, when I do come across folks who seem to have difficulty exchanging common cordialities, my fourlegged friends are ready and willing to help relieve the awkward tension and bridge the gap.

There's just something about a dog that brings people together, even if only for a brief hello. It's a gift given to canines by their Creator, I believe. They may not know they possess such a gift, but one thing is for sure; they put it to use every chance they get. It's like a secret job of a dog to bring encouragement to the humans who need it most. It's just part of their nature.

This all came to mind one day, as I was strolling the boulevard with one of my more outgoing furry friends, "Bogie". I was talking to him as we walked. I asked how his morning had been and if the kitties had kept him good company before I'd arrived to take him out. I'm pretty sure he had no idea what I was talking about, but he was kind enough to look my way occasionally and nod as if to agree with every word I said.

As we rounded the curve at Kersting Court, I saw lots of people seated at the tables in front of Starbucks. Generally, the folks we meet there appreciate the opportunity to say hello to a beautiful, gentle giant of a dog like Bogie. In fact, Bogie has a fan club among the regulars at Starbucks. I think he actually knows more people in town than I do. Probably because he's so handsome and friendly.

I don't ever assume people want to stop and pet the dogs I walk, although I've noticed that most people get visibly excited at the prospect of meeting Bogie. And when they do show interest, I always try to stop long enough for him to receive the loving pats and words of admiration they have to offer before we continue on our way.

This particular day was different. As we

He enjoys casual walks and is very easy to handle on a leash. And during his walk, he likes to take his time, check out the beauty around him, lie down in the grass and roll in it. If you are looking for a new best friend, come and meet this special boy soon. His adoption fee is $130, which includes neuter surgery, a microchip, first vaccinations and a free wellness check-up at a participating veterinarian. came around the Kersting Court curve, I sensed a coldness in the air. It struck me as strange since it was such a warm day, but this was a different kind of chill. I've experienced it before and I can't explain it, but I will say I think it emits from a cold soul. It's a nervous tension that can be physically felt by those nearby. Anyway, suffice it to say, the chill I felt that day was stifling.

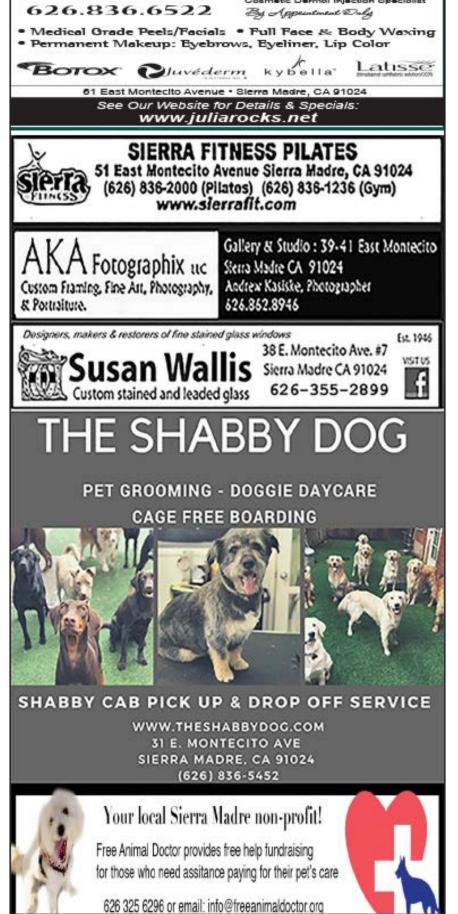

As we passed through the crowd of aloof coffeedrinkers, I couldn't help noticing the palpable change of ambience that occurred the moment several of them caught a glimpse of my big, beautiful buddy, Bogie. Before I knew it, Bogie had captured the attention of nearly everyone there, and interaction between tables had ensued.

But there was one individual who was sitting alone that appeared to be determined not to let anything, not even a kind canine, bring a smile to his bitter face. He seemed annoyed by the sudden swirl of chatter that had started up between the other patrons and he held his mean facial mask for several minutes, until something quite amazing happened.

Bogie suddenly tugged on his leash and pulled me over to that guy's table, where he stood directly in front of him and looked him right in the eye. Immediately it was as if all the effort he'd put into keeping a stern face, fell away. The man reached out his hand, petted Bogie on the head and a smile emerged where his fretful frown had been. It was then that the chill gave way to a warm, comforting breeze. I know it sounds made up, but I swear it is true.

Now I've been told I have a knack for the dramatic, and I suppose that's true, too. But I am mindfully cautious when I speak of things Spiritual, and I must say I believe in my heart that God performed a miracle through Bogie's random kindness that day. I believe God often uses dogs to do the jobs we humans are somewhat baffled by. Bogie was just going about the business bestowed upon him by his Maker, and who knows, he may well have even changed the course of a stranger's life. I give you the amazing, authentic, affectionate dog, whose secret job is to simply make us smile.

Reward Offered for Tips in Unsolved Homicides

The City of Pasadena will be offering a $5,000 reward for information that leads to the arrest and conviction in any existing unsolved Pasadena murder case.

Over the past ten years, there have been 53 homicides in Pasadena and seven remain unsolved. In order to claim a reward, you must provide information to the Pasadena Police Department which leads to the apprehension and conviction of the party responsible for the homicide. If there are multiple claims, they will be reviewed to determine whether one claimant receives the entire $5,000 reward or the $5,000 reward is split among claimants.

"Solving these murders and ensuring public safety is of paramount importance to our Police Department, said City Manager Steve Mermell.

"We want to bring justice to the families affected by these tragedies and hope that the reward money will provide an incentive for anyone with information to come forward."

Pasadena Police detectives continue to follow up on information that has been provided and will thoroughly investigate any new leads. To provide information anonymously, call "Crime Stoppers" at (800) 222-TIPS (8477); or report by using the website lacrimestoppers. org. Crime Stoppers offers up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest of those responsible for crimes committed in Los Angeles County, and you may remain anonymous. That $1,000 reward would be in addition to any reward offered by the City. Tips can also be directed to Detective Lieutenant Jesse Carrillo at (626) 744-4517.

Road Closures for the 37th Black History Parade

Jynx (A471061) is one beautiful cat! He's a 5-year-old who was surrendered to the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA in mid-January and was pretty shy. We thought he might come out of his shell if he was in one of our cat communal rooms, and be able to interact with other cats. Jynx is now doing so much better. He even has a best friend, Ralphie (A471298), a 2-year-old red tabby. They get along great except when Ralphie tries to eat Jynx's treats. Jynx is also very sweet to people, and likes to be petted around his ears. He'll even head bump and purr for more human affection. Because Jynx seems to like other cats, just as much as people, we recommend Jynx going to a home that already has a cat so he will have a guaranteed play mate.

The adoption fee for cats is $90. All cats are spayed or neutered, microchipped, and vaccinated before being adopted.

New adopters will receive a complimentary health-and-wellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

View photos of adoptable pets at pasadenahumane. org. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email.

ARCADIA MAYOR'S PRAYER BREAKFAST 2019: WE ARE ALL AMERICANS IN A GREAT CITY

By Joan Schmidt

Well, I may not be an Arcadian, but I am a Proud American of Italian descent who attended their inspiring Mayor's Prayer Breakfast 2019; its theme was "Traditions of Arcadia".

It was wonderful to see their current Mayor Sho Tay and Sherry, Mayor Pro Tem April Verlatto, Council Members, City Clerk Gene Glasco, Arcadia Police Chief Bob Guthrie, Mike Vercillo, past Mayors Sheng Cheng, Gail Marshall, Gary Kovacic, Bob Harbicht and Patsy, Holy Angels Pastor Father Kevin, Reverend Doug Edwards, the Shimmins, Mary Buttice, her mom Penny, and many more. A BIG SHOUT-OUT to Sponsors Foothill Credit Union, Arcadia Chamber of Commerce, WESTFIELD, Santa Anita and Methodist Hospital of Arcadia. Thank you Karen, Carrie and Matt-the tables were beautiful!

Reverend Jolene Cadenbach, Arcadia Congregational Church gave the Invocation; there also were remarks by Nissar Hai, Imam and President of Masjib Jiberal (Mosque of San Gabriel) and Rabbi Sholom Stiefel, Chabad of Arcadia. All gave a beautiful message; some of our beliefs may be different, but we are under one God and follow the Golden Rule.

City Manager Dominic Lazzaretto gave a great State of the city Address. There was a screen behind him that gave great statistics and on the table were flyers with all the positive charts and figures. Highlights of truly uplifting message.

2018: Veteran Memorial Installation at Community Center (It is BEYOND beautiful, one for each branch of service.) Arcadia Logistics Center Tenancy; Community Learning and Technology Center Refurbishment; 2018 Mission Lifeline Gold Award; Certificate of Excellence in Financial Reporting (10th year).

Lazzaretto stated "Public Safety" is our #1 priority. 19,521 fire suppression training hours (Including nighttime training in a 2-story apt.); reduced residential burglaries by 24% compared to 2017; reduced commercial burglaries by 20% compared to 2017; 440 Arcadia HS students participated in CPR training; Arcadia Fire Department received the 2018 Mission: Lifeline Gold Award from the American Heart Association; 160 Neighborhood Watch Captains citywide.

Keynote speaker was former Mayor Jim Helms, an Army Veteran, who still practices law. He was so interesting-spoke of how the Breakfast began first on Good Friday, and how it evolved over the years. He also reminded us that ALL of us are Immigrants- even the Native Americans-I remember teaching students about a great migration over a land bridge where the Bering Strait now is. Helms pointed out "We are ALL Americans foremost...There's no harm in passing on your heritage to your children... America is unique; no other country has so much diversity in race, religion, and ethnicity." A week, Mayor Adams announced that the City would be considering a local sales tax measure in Monrovia this year. Now with any proposed tax increase, there's always the question of why. Because certainly, the overall tax burden in California is high, and government should not unnecessarily impose new taxes without sufficient justification. So to that end, the question of why Monrovia would be considering a sales tax increase is certainly fair and deserves a thorough explanation.

The City is contemplating the possibility of placing a sales tax measure on the ballot in 2019 for voter consideration because of current taxation trends in LA County. Because did you know that today, in LA County, we now have the highest base sales tax rate in California?

Yes, that's right. At 9.5%, we now have the highest sales tax rate in the State. Higher than in the Silicon Valley. Higher than in San Francisco. Higher than anywhere in California.

And given the high sales tax level we're currently paying here in LA County, we are in fact pushing up close to the local sales tax limit! Because with LA County's current base sales tax rate at 9.5%, the vagaries of State law means there is only 0.75% of available sales tax capacity remaining.

You may be asking how we got here in LA County, to a point where we have the highest sales tax rate in the State. The answer is fairly simple - you see, since 2004, LA County has been able to eventually pass EVERY single tax measure that they've put forth to county voters. Even when LA County has needed 2/3 voter approval, they get it.

And when LA County passes a sales tax measure, the funding doesn't come to us here in Monrovia. Instead, we end up paying WAY more than we get back. In fact, on average, we get only 10 cents back of every sales tax dollar we contribute to the County, and there are several instances when we get back even less than that.

Take for example 2017's Measure H quartercent sales tax to fund services and help prevent homelessness. The tax will raise about $355 million per year across the County, and Monrovia contributes around $2.6 million per year towards the measure. Despite contributing millions, Monrovia has only received $30,000 from the County - or about 1% of what we've paid into the overall program. And to add salt to the wound, cities that have received tens of millions of dollars from Measure H for homeless services - cities like Santa Monica and Long Beach have not paid a single penny into the Measure H fund.

Now the reason that cities like Santa Monica and Long Beach don't pay the Measure H sales tax is because those communities approved measures to keep their funds local and away from LA County. There's a cap to how much sales tax rates can be raised in any city, and once you reach that cap, LA County

At Monrovia's State of the City Address held last can't impose any additional sales tax increases, even if the increase is approved across the county.

> In fact, across LA County, 19 of the 88 cities have reached the maximum sales tax rate of 10.25%, and another 9 cities have increased their sales tax rate to 10%. Those cities that have reached the 10.25% cap do not pay for additional LA County taxes, but are still able to receive the funds collected. Like in the Measure H homeless tax example noted above, cities like Santa Monica and Long Beach, who had previously reached 10.25%, have access to the new taxes generated, despite not paying a single cent into the fund.

> Now given all that information, here's what the City is concerned about, and here's why we're seriously considering a sales tax measure in 2019.

> LA County is looking to go back out to the voters to ask for additional sales tax increases in 2020 and 2022. We know that LA County is laying the groundwork for an AQMD sales tax measure, and we've also heard that the County is looking at an additional sales tax increase for more money for homeless support services. And based on the County's track record, it is more than likely that they'll get both sales tax measures approved.

> And if history is any guide, what that means is Monrovia will end up paying a lot, and we'll only get back around 10% of the amount we contribute.

> Unless, that is, we do something in Monrovia to protect our resources and keep our money local.

> Monrovia has the opportunity to get ahead of this situation by approving a local sales tax measure. Based on LA County's track record, it's only a matter of time before they eat up the last 0.75% of local sales tax capacity remaining. And because that is the case, the question we'll have to answer as a community isn't whether or not Monrovians want to pay more in sales tax.

> Instead, the real question we need to address is whether we want to send our money to the County for their use, or if we want to keep those funds here in our City under our own local control.

> Here at the City, we are incredibly sensitive to the fact that no one wants to pay more taxes, with the tax burden already being so high here in California. But we also know that LA County is planning these tax increase proposals soon, and the opportunity to keep our money local will not remain an option for too much longer.

> Given this set of facts, the City will be exploring the option of putting a sales tax measure on the ballot for our residents to consider in 2019. And during the next few months, we will be working to engage the community as we coordinate multiple outreach initiatives to learn more about this topic and see if a local sales tax measure could be a viable solution for Monrovia.

> Throughout the process, you have our commitment that we will be sharing as much information about this matter as we have available.

VALENTINE'S WEEK PICKS

First of all, let's agree to disagree: Valentine's Day should be a full week long. A single day is not long enough to fully express one's love. What do you say about having an evening at home with a bottle of bubbly and a candlelight table for dinner? You may wonder why a critic would dare such treason. In all truth, it's an impossible night for restaurants, so let's find three bottles in price ranges you can live with. In the $10 price range, Ruffino Prosecco has been produced from grapes grown in the hilly area of Valdobbiadene, which is the most historically active region for the production of prosecco. Bright straw yellow with fine bubbles, the bouquet is fragrant and intensely fruity, with clean notes of apples, pears and citrus. I found it crisp, clean, and yet delicate - a perfect wine for the budget-minded lovebird. From the $20 range, let's go back to Paso Robles for the San Simeon Petite Sirah. I enjoyed this well-bodied wine with a pre-Valentines dinner of lobster thermidor. This wine is not for the "beginner" (nor is cooking lobster thermidor), and brings strong notes of fruit when opened with a well-rewarded and long finish. My $30-range selection is the Domaine Carneros. My opinion is that this estatebottled wine gets as close to a "real" French champagne as any California sparkler on your supermarket shelves. This cuvee is 51% chardonnay and 49% pinot noir, with an alcohol content of a modest 12.1%. I got a perfect "pop" upon opening the bottle, which I poured into a lightly chilled flute and watched the bubbles rush to the top. The flavor was a little toasty in the beginning with a clean, long finish. You have my permission to drop a strawberry in your glass for this special occasion.

Honorable Mention: Mia Sparkling Moscato Rose ($12) Segura Viudas Brut ($10)

HELPING SENIORS EXTEND THEIR DRIVING YEARS

Dear Savvy Senior, What tips or resources can you recommend to help elderly seniors extend their driving years? My dad, who's 82, is still a decent driver, but I worry about his safety going forward.

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

Inquiring Daughter

Dear Inquiring,

With more than 40 million licensed drivers in the U.S. over the age of 65, there are lots of resources available today to help keep older drivers safe and behind the wheel longer. Here are some simple steps you can take to help keep your dad driving safely.

Get his eyes checked: Because about 90 percent of the information necessary to drive is received through our eyes, getting your dad's eyes checked every year to be sure his vision and eyewear is up to par is an important first step.

Check his meds: Does your dad take any medicine or combination of medicines that make him sleepy, light-headed or loopy? If so, make a list of all his medications (prescription and over-the-counter) and dietary supplements, and take it to his doctor or pharmacist for a review. You can also get help with this online at RoadwiseRX.com.

Evaluate his driving: To stay on top of any potential driving issues, you should take a ride with your dad from time-to-time watching for problem areas, such as: Does he drive at inappropriate speeds, tailgate or drift between lanes? Does he have difficulty seeing, backing up or changing lanes? Does he react slowly, get confused easily or make poor driving to quit, The Hartford Financial Services Group decisions? For more tips, see the National Caregivers Library driving assessment checklist at SeniorDriverChecklist.org.

If your dad needs a more thorough evaluation, you can turn to a driver rehabilitation specialist who's trained to evaluate older drivers. This type of assessment typically costs between $100 and $200. To locate a professional in your area, visit AOTA.org/older-driver or ADED.net.

Take a refresher course: AAA and AARP both have older driver refresher courses that can help your dad tune-up his driving skills, and learn how to adjust for slower reflexes, weaker vision and other age-related changes that affect driving. Taking a class may also earn him a discount on his auto insurance. To locate a class, contact your local AAA (AAA.com), or AARP (AARP.org/ drive, 888-227-7669). Most courses cost around $15 to $30 and can be taken in the classroom or online.

Another good resource to look into is CarFit. This is a free assessment program that will help your dad adjust his vehicle for a better fit, making it easier and safer to drive. CarFit events are held around the country in select locations. See Car-Fit.org to look for one near you.

Make some adjustments: Recognizing your dad's driving vulnerabilities and making small changes on when and where he drives can go a long way in helping keep him safe and driving longer. Adjustments may include not driving after dark or during rush hour traffic, avoiding major highways or other busy roads, and not driving in poor weather conditions.

You can find more tips at AAA Senior Driving at SeniorDriving.AAA.com.

And finally, when it gets to the point that your dad's driving isn't safe anymore and he needs and MIT AgeLab offers two helpful resources. Go to TheHartford.com/lifetime - click on "Publications" on the menu bar – and download or order the "At the Crossroads" and/or "We

This Week's Market Update // Sierra Madre

This Week Median List Price: $1,490,000

Inventory has been decreasing lately but the Market Action Index is falling also. With days-on-market climbing, these are relatively negative implications for the market.

Supply & Demand

The market has not shown strong directional trends in terms of supply and demand. However, inventory is sufficiently low to keep us in the Seller's Market zone and prices have been moving upward as evidence.

The Market Action Index answers the question "How's the Market?" by measuring the current rate of sale versus the amount of the inventory. Index above 30 implies Seller's Market conditions. Below 30 favors the buyer.

Price trends continued their recent uptrend this week. While still below the market's price high-point, we've seen a nice run recently.

LOS ANGELES REGIONAL HUMAN TRAFFICKING TASK FORCE AND OPERATION RECLAIM AND REBUILD RESULTS

By Joan Schmidt

At a time when serious crimes are daily reported, it is wonderful to receive some positive news. On January 29, Assistant Sheriff Maria Gutierrez held a press conference at the Hall of Justice announcing Roses. The Wrigley family enjoyed the Rose results from the fifth annual Operation Reclaim and Rebuild enforcement operation. January was Human Trafficking Awareness Month; more than 90 federal, state and local law enforcement agencies and task forces from across California participated in the three-day statewide effort aimed at combating human trafficking from Thursday, January 24-Saturday, January 26. The results were very encouraging.

> At the press conference, Assistant Sheriff Gutierrez was joined by executives and representatives from the CA Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, California Highway Patrol, the office of CA Senator Ling Ling Chang, Coalition to Abolish Slavery and Trafficking (CAST), Contra Costa County Human Trafficking Task Force, Homeland Security Investigations, Journey Out, LA County Dept. of Children and Family Services, LA County DA's Office, LA County Probation Dept., LASD, LAPD, operations would take place wherever human trafficking took place. That included confronting sidewalk prostitution, and challenging the virtual reality of the cyber world where traffickers feel they can remain anonymous by using the internet.

There are specially-trained cyber detectives who posed as vulnerable teenagers and connected with suspects on social media. During a 3-day period, BOT's exchanged thousands of texts with 75 men seeking to purchase sex and captured their phone numbers!

Victims encountered during enforcement were cared for by personnel from various Dept. of Children and Family Services in each county. In LA County, CAST and Saving Innocence coordinated the emergency services response for victims.

The results of this 3-day operation: 34 adult and 14 minor victims being removed, 156 males arrested for Solicitation, 36 suspected traffickers and exploiters arrested. In total, there were 339 arrests.

COUNTY SEEKS STATE SUPPORT TO ACCESS FEDERAL FUNDING FOR MENTAL HEALTH TREATMENT

Supervisors unanimously passed a motion by Supervisors Kathryn Barger and Hilda L. Solis that nursing care, and related services." urges the State of California to apply for a Section 1115 Medicaid waiver that would expand coverage for inpatient mental health treatment.

"Medicaid is the largest payer of mental health services and expansion of this coverage would be critical to those who are in need of treatment," said Supervisor Barger. "It is imperative that we use this opportunity to demonstrate that mental health treatment should be a permanent and ongoing priority that is worthy of both federal and state investments."

Currently, there is a significant gap in Medicaid coverage for low income people that are in need of mental health treatment. This gap in coverage is known as the Institutions for Mental Disease (IMD) exclusion and has existed in the Medicaid program since its inception.

In 1965, the Social Security Act was amended to establish the federal Medicaid and Medicare programs. The IMD exclusion was built into the foundation of the Medicaid program via these and subsequent amendments to the Social Security Act. The IMD exclusion as amended prohibits states from receiving Medicaid payments for individuals in an IMD that are ages 21-64. The law defines an IMD as a "hospital, nursing facility, or other institution of more than 16 beds, that is primarily engaged in

LOS ANGELES COUNTY - The Board of providing diagnosis, treatment, or care of persons with mental diseases, including medical attention,

In November 2018, the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services (CMS) announced that for the first time, the federal government would begin to consider state applications for an IMD exclusion waiver. This would provide Medicaid coverage for IMD treatment to those who suffer from a severe mental illness.

"Last week, this board voted unanimously on Supervisor Barger's previous motion to develop a countywide plan to expand our inpatient and stepdown mental health beds," said Dr. Jonathan Sherin, Director of the Department of Mental Health. "Today's motion is complementary to our existing efforts, and will allow us to right-size our network of hospital beds to ensure that the right level of care is delivered to those in need - including not just mental health services, but also services for addictions and medical comorbidities."

The motion directs the Chief Executive Officer to send a five-signature letter to Governor Gavin Newsom, the California Department of Health Care Services, and the Los Angeles County State Legislative Delegation urging the state to apply for the 1115 Medicaid waiver to allow for the expansion of Medicaid coverage to the excluded population who are in need of inpatient mental health treatment.

Rachel Hollis has seen it too often: women not living into their full potential. They feel a tugging on their hearts for something more, but they're afraid of embarrassment, of falling short of perfection, of not being enough. In this book bestselling author and founder of a multimillion-dollar media company, Rachel Hollis sounds a wake-up call. She knows that many women have been taught to define themselves in light of other people-whether as wife, mother, daughter, or employee-instead of learning how to own who they are and what they want. With a challenge to women everywhere to stop talking themselves out of their dreams, Hollis identifies the excuses to let go of, the behaviors to adopt, and the skills to acquire on the path to growth, confidence, and believing in yourself.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

RECLAIM YOUR ROLE AS YOUR CHILD'S PRIMARY INFLUENCE PART 1

If you haven't heard of Dr. Gabor Maté, I'd like to introduce you. Maté combines the latest scientific research with his own 20 years of experience as a family physician to empower parents to earn back their children's love and loyalty if that connection has eroded.

In numerous presentations, interviews, and the book Hold On To Your Kids: Why Parents Need to Matter More Than Peers, Maté explains the causes of this disconnect and describes how parents can reclaim their role as their children's primary mentors and role models.

Maté posits that the main reason for children's detachment is due to a growing lack of intimacy in the parent-child relationship. The foundation for parenting is centered around what developmental psychologists call an attachment relationship. An attachment relationship is based on children's innate desire to connect with and belong to their parents.

This attachment forms the entire context for child rearing, and even the best parenting skills in the world can't compensate for a lack of such a connection.

'The secret of parenting is not in what a parent does, but rather who the parent is to a child," says Maté. "When a child seeks contact and closeness with us, we become empowered as a nurturer, a comforter, a guide, a model, a teacher, or a coach."

A relational, not a behavioral issue As long as the child desires to stay attachedemotionally connected and close-a deep sense of psychological intimacy will naturally arise. Above all else, this bond sets the stage for the parent to be the primary source of influence over the child's identity, values, and personality.

"People think parenting comes from their responsibility, strength, and wisdom, but it A local attorney and father, Marc Garlett is on doesn't come from that," says Maté. "It comes from the desire of the child to belong to you."

Children who lack this connection with their parents or primary caregivers become extremely difficult to raise and even teach. Given this, Maté ensure that their children want to connect and GarlettLaw.com for more information.

have a close relationship with them. This does not mean just giving your children whatever they want, but instead giving them what they likely need most-more time and connection with you.

"The starting point and primary goal in all of our connections with children ought to be the relationship itself, not conduct or behavior," notes Maté.

Kids raising kids

Children will always try to distance themselves from their parents as a natural way of exerting their independence, and parents have traditionally remained their primary source of influence. What's changed, according to Maté, is that in recent decades, a mix of social, economic, and cultural changes have seriously eroded parents' ability to remain the chief-orienting influence in their children's lives.

"Children's attachments to parents are no longer getting the support required from culture and society," says Maté. "It's not a lack of love or parenting know-how, but the erosion of the attachment context that makes our parenting ineffective."

For a variety of reasons, often centered around economics, many parents are no longer able to provide the level of attention and intimacy needed for the relationship with their kids to remain healthy and strong. And because children have a deep-seated psychological need for such attachment, they seek out another source to fill this void.

"They [children] are not manageable, teachable, or maturing because they no longer take their cues from us," says Maté. "Instead, children are being brought up by other immature children who cannot possibly guide them to maturity."

Dire consequences

Maté notes that it's perfectly normal and healthy for children to have close relationships with their peers. The problem arises when these relationships supersede the ones they have with their parents.

For many children today, peers have replaced parents as the most influential force in creating the core of their personalities. When children look to other children to serve as their role models and mentors, this can have dramatic effects on their psychological development. And as we'll see in part two, in the worst cases, can destroy the legacy parents want to build and leave for their children.

LENDING GREAT AGAIN

Here's another reminder that, when it comes to the Trump administration, it's more important to watch what the White House does, rather than what it says.

The payday lending industry scored a huge win this when the U.S. Consumer Financial Protection Bureau proposed to weaken Obama-administration rules governing an industry that makes its money by exploiting people in desperate financial straits.

That's pretty much the exact opposite of what the agency was created to do. But, hey, this is Donald Trump's Washington.

Payday loans, sometimes known as paycheck advances, are short-term loans that you have to repay by the time you get your next paycheck. As the online news site Mic.com reports, lenders charge prospective borrowers - who usually can't get a loan anywhere else - a fee plus punitive interest.

Though they offer the lure of quick cash, the loans are really a debt trap.

According to research by The Center for Responsible Lending, the APR offered by some payday lenders can range from a crushing 533 percent to 792 percent.

Those are rates only a loan shark could love.

As The Washington Post reports, under the Obama-era rule, which was to take effect in August, lenders were supposed to make sure that borrowers could afford the loans they're being offered. But as the Post notes, the latest proposals would lift that requirement and delay the rule's implementation until 2020.

The industry had been lobbying officials to get the rule reversed. And when those efforts failed, they got to work on winning over new CFPB boss Kathy Kraninger, a Trump appointee who took office last December, the newspaper reported.

If the Post's reporting is any indication, the effort appears to have worked.

"The bureau will evaluate the comments, weigh the evidence, and then make its decision," Kraninger said in a statement released to the Post.

If this effort pays off, it will be a huge win for payday lenders, who have ridiculously claimed they'd face financial ruin if they're required to actually make sure people can afford the loans they're taking out.

Among the real losers here, ironically, are those MAGA-hat wearing Trump loyalists in Rust Belt states who can least afford to afford the mafia-level interest rates.

Last year, the industry tried to convince Pennsylvania's Republican-controlled House of Representatives to approve a bill that would have opened a massive loophole in the state's very strong safeguards against predatory lending.

The bill would have allowed payday lenders to pose as "loan brokers," which would have allowed them to get around interest rate caps and charge unlimited fees to borrowers.

Among those who would have been hit were the veterans that Trump professes to love so much and vows to protect during his hockey stadium rallies. Active-duty soldiers are already protected from such practices under a federal law that caps interest rates at 36 percent annually.

The loan-broker bill never cleared a critical Pennsylvania House committee. And it died at the end of last year's legislative session. But there's every reason to expect the issue will be re-litigated during the new legislative session that started in January.

And as the recent push at the federal level shows, the industry is tireless when it comes to trying to advance its interests.

That's bad news for consumers, one advocate says.

"The CFPB is proposing to unwind the core part of its payday loan rule - that the lender must reasonably assess a borrower's ability to repay before making a loan," the bureau's former director, Richard Cordray, posted on Twitter this week. "It's a bad move that will hurt the hardest hit consumers. It should be - and will be - subject to a stiff legal challenge."

Some in the industry, however, believe the proposed rule change doesn't go far enough, The Post reported. A top executive with one of the industry's largest trade groups, The Community Financial Services Association of America, told The Post the rule should be repealed entirely.

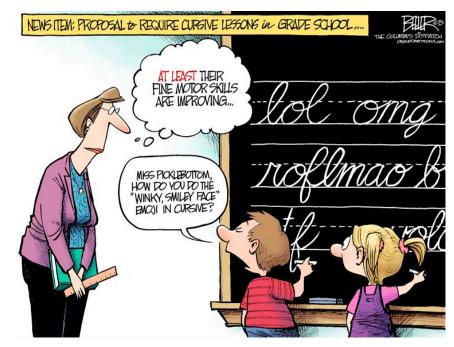

It's eternally easy to get lost in Trump's bluster - to be outraged by his latest bullying Tweet or bald-faced televised falsehoods.

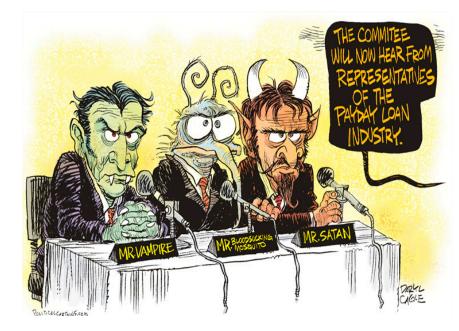

But it's in the nuts-and-bolts of policymaking, in the White House's ongoing efforts to undermine government institutions that the 45th president is doing the most damage.

And, as ever, it's those who are cheering the loudest for him that will end up suffering the most.

CHRIS CHRISTIE IS DESPERATE FOR ANY PIECE OF THE ACTION

As I soldiered through Chris Christie's spin-memoir "Let Me Finish," I found myself flashing back to September 2011, when he was being widely touted as the GOP's "Next Big Thing." One particular egostroking incident at the Reagan Presidential Library must surely be one of his personal favorites.

With the 2012 White House race on the horizon, guest speaker Christie was serenaded by a woman in the audience who tearfully begged him to run for president. When he said he had no plans for 2012, his listeners groaned. They wanted him so badly, they actually groaned.

That incident is not recounted in Christie's book, but in a way it permeates every page of a book that could easily have been subtitled with the closing of a poem by Percy Bysshe Shelley: "I was once Ozymandias, King of Kings / Look on my Works, ye Mighty, and despair! / Nothing beside remains. Round the decay / Of that colossal Wreck, boundless and bare / The lone and level sands stretch far away."

Translation: This is a guy who cratered his second gubernatorial term with a 15 percent approval rating, who crashed and burned as a 2016 presidential candidate, who then signed on as toadying manservant to the most notorious con artist in presidential history...and whose new book is basically a desperate plea for any future slice of the action.

You may have noticed last week that Christie touted himself in a whirlwind media tour, damning Trump with faint praise and praising Trump with faint damns. It was obvious what he was doing. I agree with Christie biographer Matt Katz of WNYC, who tells me:

"He did Hannity, Colbert, Morning Joe, Daily Show and NPR... He gave different Christies to everyone, depending on the audience," said Christie biographer Matt Katz of WNYC. "He's trying to look like the adult in the room, and remain a known entity to everyone - the MAGA crowd and MSNBC baby boomers - for yet another attempted comeback in 2020 (if Trump is out) or 2024."

Maybe it's shrewd to defend Trump while selectively knocking Trump, but his naked calculations strike me as mostly pathetic. Christie's book basically argues that Trump is held back from greatness by the grifters, schemers, and charlatans who surround and ill-serve him, and contends that if only Trump had better people in his employ, his "deal-making prowess" would shine through.

The glaring flaw in Christie's argument - the one he never manages to address - is that Trump is surrounded by grifters, schemers and charlatans because they are his hires. Christie never invokes Trump's boastful promise to hire "the best people," and never measures the chasm that separates promise from the performance. He lauds Trump for running the 2016 campaign ("he always made the decisions himself"), but he absolves Trump of all decision-making in the White House, blaming everything on the underlings. In Christie's telling, the buck stops everywhere with the exception of the Oval Office.

Supposedly, the original sin was committed shortly after the 2016 election, when Christie was fired from his job running the Trump transition. According to the book, Christie had assembled a first-class lineup" of prospective Cabinet nominees and stellar personnel. But at the apparent behest of princeling Jared Kushner (avenging his dad, whom Christie had prosecuted as a U.S. attorney), all of Christie's transition work went into the trash.

Yet Christie willfully fails to connect the most obvious dots: Trump is surrounded by idiots because he is an inept executive who condones and excuses ineptitude. Christie somehow refuses to blame the guy he still calls "my friend Donald." In fact, Trump has "many of the qualities that have defined America's leaders," even though he fails to enumerate what they are. He describes the Trump administration as a "tragedy," but refuses to blame the tragedian-in-chief.

In truth, the original sin in the Christie saga is that he attached himself to Trump in the first place. Christie writes virtually nothing about candidate Trump's serial lies and demagoguery, and even though he says that Trump "knowingly" lied about him on the trail, he was oh so flattered when Trump phoned him, on the night of the New Hampshire primary, and said, "I so admire and respect you." Within weeks, Christie was out of the race in toady mode, standing mute behind Trump on a stage in Florida: "Standing all alone, it's very difficult to know what to do...I should have known better, and I should have just walked off that stage."

But he still wants to be on that stage, and he'll abase himself in a book if that's what it takes. To borrow an image from "Citizen Kane," that begging woman at the Reagan Presidential Library was his Rosebud sled. He dearly hopes it hasn't gone up the chimney. TIME TO EMBRACE CURSIVE HANDWRITING AGAIN

While organizing my home office a few weeks ago, I came across a letter my grandfather wrote back in 1924.

He wrote that eloquent letter to his best friend's wife, consoling her on the loss of her mother. His cursive handwriting was artful - perfect penmanship.

He wrote the letter when he was 21. Since he died at 34, when my father was only 3, it is among the most cherished items I have from a grandfather I never got to meet.

Such is the power of the handwritten letter, an art that has died along with the art of cursive handwriting.

You see, many American schools have phased out lessons in cursive. There is a waning need for it in the modern era, some argue, and the classes take too much time.

Cursive originated centuries ago. It's the result of technological innovations such as inkwells and quill pens made from goose feathers.

Because ink dripped when the quill was lifted from the paper, it made sense to connect letters in words together in one flowing line - and the art of cursive writing began.

Cursive became less necessary with the invention of the ballpoint pen, which does not leak and, technically, does not require cursive writing.

Changing technology, which led to electronic documents completed on computers, has also contributed to less need for handwritten signatures.

As a result, millions of younger Americans have not been taught cursive penmanship. But that's being rethought by no small number of educators.

Fourteen states have passed laws mandating that students become proficient in cursive writing.

Proponents of cursive argue that it must be taught for several practical reasons. How can someone who can't read cursive read and appreciate a handwritten note from Grandma - or original, historic documents such as the U.S. Constitution?

Proponents also argue that students who take notes using longhand, rather than a keyboard, are more likely to master subjects.

In Psychology Today, William Klemm, Ph.D., a senior professor of neuroscience at Texas A&M University, argues that cursive writing "helps train the brain to integrate visual, and tactile information, and fine motor dexterity... To write legible cursive, fine motor control is needed over the fingers. You have to pay attention and think about what and how you are doing it. You have to practice. Brain imaging studies show that cursive activates areas of the brain that do not participate in keyboarding.'

There are other important reasons to carry on the art of cursive handwriting and the art of the handwritten letter.

When was the last time you received a handwritten letter? The last time you wrote one?

Is there anything more wonderful than opening your mailbox to find an envelope with your name and address, and a friend or family member's name and return address, handwritten on it?

I hate to admit it, but the last time I received such a letter was years ago, when my sisters and I sent our newly retired parents on a trip to Florida. Each day that week, our mother wrote a letter and mailed it to one of us.

She and my father both have impeccable penmanship. Her letters look more like art than a form of communication. My sisters and I spent hours sharing those letters and laughing out loud.

We still have those letters, and they still make us laugh out loud.

That's the power of a letter handwritten in cursive.
