2019-20 BUDGET BALANCED WITH A SURPLUS

Public Hearing Scheduled For June 11, 2019

Gabriel Valley are declaring fiscal emergencies, the City of Sierra Madre is proposing a 2019-2020 Fiscal Year budget that is balanced, with a General Fund surplus of more than $1.8M, which represents nearly 18% of General Fund expenditures. The City was able to reduce its main operating fund by more than 10%, totaling $1.1M from the previous budget year. "The City Council has made incredibly tough decisions over the past three budget cycles," said City Manager Gabriel Engeland, "but it was these difficult decisions that allowed the City to reduce spending for the third consecutive year, while increasing City

The total budget has a surplus of $2.7M, and represents a reduction of $1.7M from the 2017-2018 Fiscal Year budget. "When looking at these budget numbers, most would assume that we were decreasing services, which is just the opposite of what has occurred," stated Mayor John Harabedian. "We have successfully continued to operate as an independent, full-service City, with our own full-time Police and Fire Departments and Water and Sewer companies" said Harabedian, "while also investing more in our infrastructure than we have in decades."

As indicated in the staff report:

The 2019-2020 proposed Fiscal Year the previous year. In total, the Fiscal Fiscal Year 2015-2016, which included While several local cities in the San Year 2019-2020 budget calls for expenditures of $22.39M.

> Similarly, the General Fund expenditures were reduced from $11.51M in Fiscal Year 2018-2019 to a proposed $10.22M in Fiscal Year 2019-2020. This reduction in expenditures is expected to lead to a General Fund surplus of $1.82M which represents 17.8% of all General Fund expenditures.

> The Water and Sewer Funds are both balanced, with a projected surplus in each Fund, which represents the second consecutive year all three of the City's primary Funds are balanced. As recently as Fiscal Year 2015-2016 each of these Funds was budgeted for a deficit. The Water Fund surplus is expected to be $1.65M, with an overall reduction in net position of $650,000 (discussed below), due to increases in infrastructure spending and depreciation. The Sewer Fund surplus is projected to be $136,000. Total allocations from the Water and Sewer Funds combined, were reduced from $1,301,600 in Fiscal Year 2017-2018 to $691,100 in Fiscal Year 20182019 to $609,000 in the proposed

Personnel The proposed budget includes funding for three new fire-medic positions, which brings the total budgeted number of full-time employees in the Sierra Madre Fire Department to 15. In the 2016-2017 Fiscal Year budget budget results in Citywide expenditure there were four full-time fire employreductions of more than $1.1M with a ees. General Fund expenditures in Fire projected surplus of $2.7M (12.2% of are budgeted to increase to more than total budget). This is the third consecu- $2.4M, which is more than double the tive year the budget was reduced from General Fund budgeted expenditures in $1.1M in budgeted General Fund expenditures. The proposed budget increases Library staff by 1.27 positions and provides 1.5 new budgeted positions in the Police Department.

Infrastructure The Water Fund is budgeted to invest $2.3M in infrastructure in the proposed budget. This increase is nearly six times higher than in 2017-2018 ($419,000). It is also an increase over the current fiscal year's infrastructure investment which is budgeted at $2,094,000. The rapid increase in investment of water infrastructure will lead to a reduction of net position in the Water Fund of $655,000. The total surplus in the Water Fund is $1.6M, which includes increases in depreciation from $633,500 in the current Fiscal Year to more than $860,000 in the proposed budget. Staff will begin to monitor the cash balance in this Fund more closely to ensure an appropriate balance between cash reserves, operating reserves, infrastructure investment and capital outlay. Expenditures on debt payments in the Water Fund have been reduced by more than $100,000 annually due to Council's action to refinance the Water Bonds in 2017.

The Sierra Madre City Council will be holding a public hearing on June 11th at 6:30PM in Sierra Madre Council Chambers to review the 2019/2020 City budget and proposed fee schedule to be effective July 1, 2019.

COUNCIL TO DISCUSS VOLUNTARY BAN OF THE USE OF GLYPHOSATE ON CITY PROPERTY

The glyphosate-based herbicide Roundup was first developed by Monsanto in the 1970s.

Roundup Cancer Risk. Research shows that anyone who directly uses Roundup or lives in an area where Roundup is used frequently faces a risk of developing Roundup lymphoma, myeloma, or leukemia. For decades, Roundup has been in wide use by home gardeners and landscapers who unconsciously exposed themselves to a risk of developing cancer.

The use of glyphosate, the active ingredient in Roundup, is a widely used herbicide that controls weeds and grasses. It has been registered as a pesticide in the U.S. since 1974. In April of 2019, the United States Environmental Protective Agency (EPA) released the Glyphosate Proposed Interim Decision for public comment. As part of this action, the EPA continues to find there are no risks to public health when glyphosate is used in accordance with its current label and glyphosate is determined to not be a carcinogen.

While the EPA has deemed the use of glyphosate poses no threat to public health, growing concerns over the potential health effects of glyphosate have lead the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors to ban the use of glyphosate until further notice

Sierra Madre City Council will consider a voluntary ban on its use in the city at the June 11th City Coun-

IT'S A WRAP! 2019 MT. WILSON TRAIL RACE A HUGE SUCCESS

Submitted by James Faulkner (Pictured below)

Congratulations...and thank you...for running in this year's phenomenal MWTR. It had all the best conditions in way of weather, trail condition and vibe.

Over 320 went up the mountain, and they all came back more or less healthy., except for my wife Marianne. (Bubble wrap for her next year!) Everyone did a fantastic job looking out for each other, which is all the MWTR Committee can ask for.

Congratulations to 2019 MWTR Champs Michael Eastburn (1:04:38) and Hannah Briggs (1:15:15).(Both pictured above) And to the two overall winners of the Foothill Trail Challenge, Jeff Lawler and Dene Schulze-Alva, along with all of the FTC participants. We salute all those who support trail running in the San Gabriel Valley.

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN:

Suggestions Wanted! While the race is still fresh in your mind, please send me any suggestions or ideas on how to make the race and its related activities better for next year. The MWTR Committee will review them in the next couple weeks; your input is important to us!

Trail Support Needed! Our jar for contributions to the Fletcher Fund, which pays for materials and equipment we use on the trail, was pretty full on race day. Thanks to all who made a contribu-giving us a day of work or sending a contribution to the trail's upkeep. Make out your check to the Sierra Madre Community Foundation (put "Fletcher Fund" on the memo line) and send it to Sierra Madre Community Foundation Fletcher Fund, P.O. Box 716, Sierra Madre, CA 91025.

We appreciate all who came out to volunteer, participate and spectate....here's to another great year. Our crew will get to planning and we hope to see you all again next year!

ASSEMBLYMAN HOLDEN HONORS FOOTHILL UNITY CENTER AS THE 41ST DISTRICT NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION OF THE YEAR By Joan Schmidt

Recently Assemblyman Chris Holden chose Foothill Unity Center as the 41st District Non-Profit of the Year. In the above photo collage, in addition to Assemblyman Holden, is Assemblywoman Blanca Rubio; the Center's Executive Director, Betty McWilliams; President of the Board, Gary Kovacic; and Board Members Lois Gaston and Eric Bell.

I cannot think of any organization who is more deserving of this award. It is mind-boggling, that in 1980, Josephine Anderson asked her Church (Immaculate Conception, Monrovia), how she could share her time, compassion, and energy, and was led to a small closet where items for the needy are kept. Yes, the Foothill Unity Center began as a Food Bank in a church closet!

Today the Center is the primary provider of food, case management/crisis help, and access to health care and resources across eleven San Gabriel Valley Cities in LA County. 79% of their clients are at or below poverty level. The number of the people served by the organization has more than tripled over the last five years.

How does the Center help meet the need? Client Services is made up of three direct service departments, food services, social services and health service.

Food services include weekly and monthly supplies of groceries available, bagged lunches for the homeless three times a week, and homebound deliveries to the sick.

The Center's goal is to be part of solutions to help end and prevent homelessness. This is done by a network of coordinated housing connections to help their participants secure an affordable place to call home.

Health services are a vital resource for the low-income community. The goal is to make health care services accessible, educate about chronic diseases and preventive practices.

Foothill Unity Center's annual "BACK TO SCHOOL" event is phenomenal. Last year's had 1200 attendees. They were given a backpack with supplies, haircuts/manicures available, dental, vision and hearing screening, uniforms and last year's even had a college area! CHP officers attended and explained auto safety use.

Thank you, Assemblyman Holden for honoring the great Foothill Unity Center who serves many communities, and helps so many people with immediate needs and to get back in their feet.

SCHOOL DAZE

I must admit as a schoolboy I looked forward to the month of June. Mostly because I knew summer was soon to be mine and I could escape my teacher's scrutiny for a month or two, and it didn't hurt that most years there were 30 days. To say I loved summer vacation would underplay the rapture I found each June. Every moment in the penitentiary of school was a clockwatching moment until my release for Summer Vacation. Show me a boy that doesn't love summer and I will show you a boy that has read Huckleberry Finn but doesn't practiced the spirit.

These days I look forward to Summer once again, because my home away from home, Santa Anita Race Track is open. Don't worry my friend John Mathews and other readers, I might have a champagne appetite but this writer's budget is strictly on a beer allowance. A $2 exact box is about all this hopeful gambler can muster. I want to introduce you to my new podcast called "DiningwithDills" simply subscribe and you'll have access to many short segments and if you are really into it, I have a full selection of all my radio episodes. It makes for great listening.

MEASLES EXPOSURE ADVISORY

traveled through LAX

LOS ANGELES - The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health (Public Health) is assessing a non-resident measles case that traveled through Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) while infectious and is also looking to identify others who are at risk for measles and may have been exposed to this person. Public Health urges residents, especially those who travel internationally and those who have not been fully protected against measles, to get the measles immunization in order to better protect their individual health and to prevent the spread of measles to others.

Other people may have been exposed to measles since this person visited public locations while infectious. Potential public exposure locations and times were as Monitor themselves for illness with fever and/or an unexplained rash from 7 days to 21 days after their exposure (the Measles is considered among the most contime period when symptoms may develop); if symptoms develop, stay at home and call a health care provider immediately.

Public Health is also working with LAX and the airline to contact people who may have been exposed to this case and who are at risk of developing measles, especially those at increased risk of severe outcomes, such as infants, pregnant women, and those with compromised or weak immune

Currently, there are eight measles cases among Los Angeles County residents in 2019, and this makes seven non-resident measles cases that traveled through Los Angeles County. Of the eight measles cases among residents, three are not linked to any of the others, and two of these cases are linked to international travel. The majority of the cases were unvaccinated.

Review their immunization and medical histories if they don't already know they are protected against measles. People who have not had measles or the measles immunization should talk with a health care provider about receiving Measles, Mumps and Rubella (MMR) immunization.

Additional cases and exposures may occur here related to returning travelers, especially returning international travelers who are not already protected against measles. Public Health encourages everyone who can to be up-to-date with their recommended immunizations.

"For those who are not protected, measles is a highly contagious and potentially severe disease that initially causes fever, cough, red, watery eyes, and, finally, a rash," said Muntu Davis, MD, MPH, Los Angeles County Health Officer. "It gets spread, by http://publichealth.lacounty.gov/media/ air and by direct contact, even before you know have it. The MMR immunization is tagious viruses in the world. About 90% of people who have never been immunized against measles become ill 7-21 days after exposure. Infected people can infect those around them before they have symptoms and know they are infected. Common symptoms of measles include fever, cough, runny nose, conjunctivitis (red eyes) and a rash which usually appears 10 to 21 days after the exposure. The measles virus can be transmitted from one person to another up to 4 days before the onset of rash.

Individuals should contact their healthcare provider by phone before going in if they develop measles symptoms, so measures can be taken to prevent possible spread to others in the provider's waiting room. They should also tell their doctor or other healthcare provider if they traveled internationally or had international visitors in the last 21 days or had exposure to another person with measles.

Public Health interviews all persons with measles in the county to identify who may have come in contact with them, in order to try to prevent further spread of measles. Public Health communicates with health care providers, health plans, local governments, schools, and elected officials to provide updates on the measles outbreak and actions they can take to help prevent the spread of measles and support the countywide response.

Measles immunizations are available at healthcare providers, local pharmacy or health clinic. Public Health clinics offer no or low-cost immunizations for individuals who are uninsured or underinsured. To find a nearby Public Health clinic, call 2-1-1 or visit http://www.publichealth.lacounty.gov/chs/phcenters.htm.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE by Deanne Davis

"A new book is like a friend I have yet to meet." Abraham Lincoln

"Choosing a new book is like looking for treasure." Kit Pearson

"Happiness is finding a new book by your favorite author!"

Realizing that it is highly inappropriate to refer to myself as your favorite author, dear friends and neighbors, I'm going to go right ahead and be just exactly that presumptuous. I am thrilled, excited, delighted and just plain ecstatic to be able to report to you that the book I have been working on for what seems like an eternity is finished and is now available on Amazon.com

If you can't wait another minute to add it to your personal library, go to DeanneDavis@Amazon. com and there it will be, ready and waiting for you. Amazon being the fastest service in the world, you should have it within two or three days.

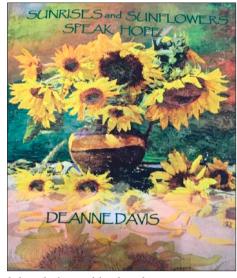

Sunrises and Sunflowers...Speak Hope, is the result of dear friends and family telling me I should 'do something' with the web log pieces I've been writing, about family, friends, children, raccoons, too many books, what to do with a bread machine, and the passing of my best friend and husband of fifty years, my beloved John. Being a collector of sunrises and sunsets, I find myself daily overwhelmed with gratitude for God's never-ending love, His Presence, His comfort, and best of all, the Hope that comes with the sunrise each day. And, as I'm fond of keeping a bunch of sunflowers on the kitchen counter, those help, too.

There are stories about mothers-in-law, of which I am one... "If I didn't have you as a mother-in-law, I'd choose you as a friend." I felt that way about my mother-in-law, Leila Jamison Davis, and if you're wondering where I'm going with this, I'm going Family. Family is pretty much what most of my book is about.

There are pictures of familiar sights...like flowering cactus swarming with bees, which led me in a circuitous route to stuff we say, "Pleasant words are as an honeycomb, sweet to the soul, and health to the bones." Proverbs 16:2 - which led, equally circuitously, to an excellent recipe for Chicken Chili Relleno Casserole.

A couple of gentle pieces on procrastination – do you know what happens when you give a procrastinator a good idea? Nothing!

A sad tale about homegrown tomatoes - Give a man a fish, he eats for a day. Teach a man to garden and the whole neighborhood gets tomatoes. Until the day you walk out with your cup of coffee and find that your tomato plant is in shreds! Leaves have been chomped to bits and all the little yellow blossoms signifying many more tomatoes on the way have been sucked dry...we've all experienced this, if we've ever grown tomatoes.

Thoughts, revelations, observations, wishes, dreams... what I wanted to do with this book is share them with friends, family and frequently with God, Who never stops listening. Sunrises and Sunflowers...Speak Hope is ultimately a peek inside my heart, where HOPE resides.

Hope is being able to see that there is light despite all of the darkness." Desmond Tutu

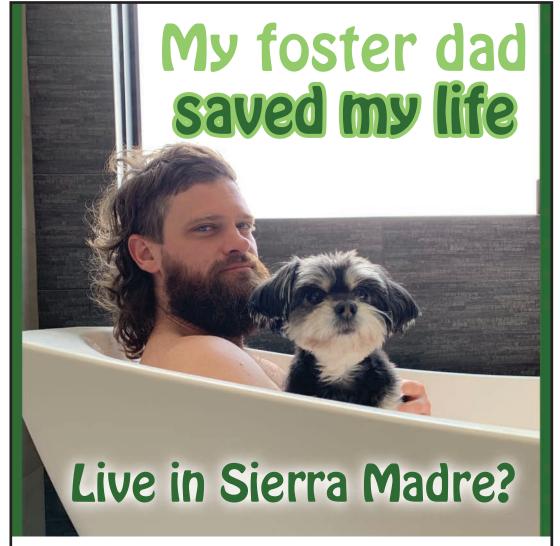

As Emily Dickinson said, "Hope is the thing with feathers that perches in the soul, and sings the tune without words, and never stops at all."

This book is about Hope, with liberal doses of humor, optimism, good memories and the occasional really good recipe. Trust me, dear friends and neighbors, you'll be glad you gave yourself the gift of Sunrises and Sunflowers... Speak Hope!

"Sunrises & Sunflowers Speak Hope" is here! Look for it on my book page: Amazon.com: Deanne Davis

City Releases Cannabis Application Results

City of Pasadena officials they completed the review and of applications for commercial received cannabis retailer permits. The following are the six top-scoring applicants: Integral Associates Dena, LLC; Tony Fong; The Atrium Group, LLC; Harvest of Pasadena, LLC; SweetFlower Pasadena, LLC and MME Pasadena Retail, LLC'

"We would like to recognize and congratulate the six top-scoring applicants who completed a very comprehensive process," states City Manager Steve Mermell. Mr. Mermell added that future retail dispensaries will have appropriate design review and conditions to guard against impacts on surrounding uses and added, "I was pleased with the high-level of sophistication, experience and expertise demonstrated by the top-scoring applicants and look forward to a positive relationship between future permitted dispensaries and our community."

Applications for all three categories of commercial cannabis permits-retailers, testing laboratories and cultivators—were accepted from January 1 until January 31. Of the 128 applications received, 122 applications were for the 'Retailer' category. Applications were thoroughly reviewed by Hinderliter, de Llamas and Associates (HdL), an independent municipal consulting group offering cannabis consulting services. Applications were scored by HdL according to the City of Pasadena Commercial Cannabis Permit Application Review Criteria, which consist of four primary categories with a total of 28 specific sub-criteria. There is a link to the complete list of all retail applicants and their scores, which will be maintained by the City for a period of 12 months and may be used to identify potential future operators.

The adopted marijuana regulations allow up to a maximum of six retail operators. The next steps for the top-scoring retail applicants are to submit a Conditional Use Permit (CUP) application and supplemental commercial cannabis information, including verification of a lease or ownership location that complies with the required distance separation requirements of the City's commercial cannabis ordinance, a security plan community benefits and plan. The CUP applications will be evaluated and reviewed by the Planning Commission. The City continues to proactively deter unpermitted dispensaries through a multi-departmental enforcement effort comprised of the City Attorney/City Prosecutor Office, Pasadena Police Department, Code Compliance and the California Department of Tax and Fee Administration. To date, the City has closed over 20 dispensaries, 11 in the last year.

:We anticipate concluding the review, scoring and identification of the topscoring applicants for the categories of 'Testing Laboratories' and 'Cultivators' within the next few weeks."

American Woman Astronaut

This year's 27th annual Pasadena Chalk Festival will feature a unique STEMfocused mural created by a team of scientific experts from NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL). The mural, which will be located in front of the Pasadena Convention Center, will celebrate science, space missions and astronauts. In fact, one astronaut - Mae Jemison [pictured right] - will be featured in the corner of the mural as a tribute to her work.

Jemison is an inspiration to many people. As the first African-American woman to become an astronaut, she is an engineer, a physician, a professor, a charismatic public speaker and the principal of the "100 Year Starship" organization, a joint U.S. Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) and National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) grant project working to create a business plan to foster the research and technology needed for interstellar travel within 100 years. The mural itself will depict several planets and moons including Earth, our moon, Mars, Jupiter and Europa. The Mission purpose of the mural is to link the history of humanity's exploration of space to the future of that quest, celebrating the beauty and wonder of our universe while inspiring people to join NASA to "dare mighty things."

This mural will provide an exceptional opportunity to talk about the importance of STEM education, and to meet and interview one or more of a host scientific experts, each of whom will be contributing to the mural's creation, including: Sarah Flores, Software Engineer Shayena Khandker, Electrical Engineer

Wing Sze Lui, Staff Assistant Irena Li, Mission Operations Engineer

Luz Maria Martinez Sierra, Nuclear Engineer Ocean McIntyre, Science Assistant to the Europa Clipper

The festival will take place on Father's Day weekend at the Paseo, an open-air lifestyle shopping center in downtown

ARCADIA RESIDENTS RAISE TAXES WITH PASSING OF MEASURE A

On Tuesday, Arcadia residents voted to pass Measure A - a sales tax increase of 0.75%. That increase will accomplish two things. First, it will gaurantee that the increase sales tax revenue will remain in Arcadia and two, it also brings the city to the state maximum for sales taxes. The measure passed with 64% voter approval. It was also a Vote by Mail election. The figures represent the preliminary count from LA County's Registrar of Voters.

"Anything could happen, but since the margin is so significant, it gives us a lot of comfort," Dominic Lazzaretto, city manager for Several cities across L.A. County have opted to push for the last bit of sales tax allowed under the state's limits in order to increase the amount of tax dollars that will remain in their respective jurisdictions. Otherwise, the anticipated LA County tax hike would not have allocated all of the over $8 million dollar increase in tax revenue to Arcadia. By passing Measure A, the increase in funds will all go to maintaining city srevices such as police and fire services.

"We're looking forward to keeping the standard of the community high," Lazzaretto said. "Ultimately, (voters) understood that it was a choice between keeping service at the high level it already was — especially public safety — or have to deal with lower (service) levels," he added.

About 62% of the city's budget is dedicated to public safety, Lazzaretto said, a fact that became the crux of measure's pro campaign. But financial stress still affects every aspect of running the city, he added.

"Citizens understood that not increasing this sales tax would strongly jeopardize public safety in our community. Arcadians were not prepared to jeopardize their safety," said Mickey Segal, former mayor of Arcadia and chair of the Arcadia Citizens Financial Advisory

ARCADIA HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 2019 HEADING TO IVY LEAGUES, STANFORD, MIT & MORE

ARCADIA-- Arcadia High School's Class of 2019 took center stage at Santa Anita Park with caps and gowns glistening as the sun set over the majestic San Gabriel mountains backdrop Thursday evening. It truly was the golden hour for the Apaches who have much to celebrate after a 13-year journey spanning Kindergarten to high school graduation.

The Arcadia High Class of 2019 is shining bright with 19 students who have been accepted into six different Ivy League Universities (Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Penn, Brown, Dartmouth), three were also accepted to Stanford, two got into MIT, and three more received admission to Caltech. Arcadia High School alumni are currently attending every Ivy League University in the country plus, MIT, Stanford, and Cal Tech . Collectively, the Class of 2019 earned a remarkable $14 million in scholarships and grants. Arcadia High's graduation rate was 99.5%, which is significantly higher than the national average that falls in the low 80% range.

At the head of the class is Kevin Tan, the Arcadia High School Class of 2019 Valedictorian. Tan is an extraordinary student and individual who will be studying Biochemistry at Harvard on a fully-funded Gates Scholarship from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

"One of the great things about Arcadia is that it's such a big school," said Tan just prior to taking the stage.

"There are so many awesome individuals that surround you every single day, each one of them driven to pursue their own passions, and I think that diversity really makes Arcadia special. With something as amazing as Arcadia, you're really given the resources to definitely excel. From all the friends, all the faculty at Arcadia, they really do make the high school experience truly magical."

The Gates Scholarship is one of the most prestigious scholarships awarded in the country. The aim of the scholarship, according to the Gates Millennium Scholarship website, is to ensure that talented, academically achieving students from traditionally underrepresented groups, receive the support, resources, and encouragement to pursue their higher education goals. The scholarship funds both undergraduate and graduate school and offers leadership training, support for wellness, career and job opportunities as well.

This was also the most difficult year to be accepted into Harvard. A record-low 4.5% of applicants received admission to Harvard's Class of 2023. Meaning, less than 2,000 of the more than 43,000 candimates the contract of the contr dates were accepted. Tan earned straight A's all the way through middle and high school. That translates into 7 years of studies with 88 straight A grades. In addition to his academic success, he volunteers and gives back to the community, and is a well-respected leader on campus.

CARS (RE-DO!) Last week my column featured a lovely piece about the upcoming play "Dames at Sea" at our local theater. I did not write it. #### HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM THE SOCIAL SECURITY IMPOSTER SCAM

Dear Savvy Senior:

I recently received a strange call from a Social Security employee. He told me my Social Security number had been suspended because it was involved in a crime, and that I needed to reactivate it and secure my bank funds by withdrawing them and putting them on gift cards. Is this a scam? Worried Rita

Yes. It's actually known as the "Social Security imposter scam" and it's becoming a widespread problem in the U.S. The Federal Trade Commission has received more than 76,000 reports about this growing scam in the past 12 months alone. With average losses of $1,500, this scam is quickly becoming one of fraudsters' favorite tricks.

The Social Security imposter scam usually begins with a consumer receiving a call from someone claiming to be with the Social Security Administration. The caller informs the victim that their Social Security number (SSN) has been suspended because it was stolen or has been involved in

The phone call may be a robocaller with a message to "press 1" to speak with a fake support representative who then claims to be able to help reactivate the consumer's SSN.

In a variation on this scam, the caller may also reach out to tell a victim that they qualify for an increase in benefits. All they need to do is provide the scammer with some information. Typically, these callers will ask their victims several questions to get personal information that they can then use to steal their identity or drain their bank accounts.

Because of the numerous data breaches, these scammers may have access to accurate personal information – such as your SSN – that they can use to build trust and appear legitimate. Regardless, before concluding the scam, fraudsters will almost always request payment to "unfreeze" the SSN or to process the increase in benefits. The scammer may request that they be paid via an unusual payment method such as by gift card (and giving the fraudster the gift card number), or some form of cryptocurrency like Bitcoin.

While the scam can be devastating, there are several steps you can take to prevent yourself, and your loved ones, from falling victim to this scam:

Don't trust your caller ID: Scammers can make it look as if the Social Security Administration is calling and even use the agency's real number. If you receive an unexpected call from Social Security, don't answer it. Instead, call Social Security's customer service number at 800-772-1213 to see if they were actually trying to contact you.

Remember, Social Security will never suspend your number or call and demand money: If anyone tells you something different, you're being scammed.

Don't give out personal information: Never give out your Social Security number, bank information or other personal details to an unknown caller. If you already did, visit IdentityTheft.gov/SSA to find out what steps you can take to protect your credit and your identity.

Don't trust the caller just because they may know some of your personal information: It's most likely a scam if the person on the other end asks to confirm your information.

Talk about the experience: Those who've been targeted should alert friends and neighbors about the call to spread information and report the scam to the FTC at FTC.gov/complaint.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

ANOTHER VACATION IN THE BANK

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and I arrived home from our vacation late Tuesday afternoon.

I'm not one for vacations, but this one was special. Our grandson who lives in Ohio was graduating from high school and then this summer he would be heading off to London for some soccer group. He loves soccer. This is the second of our grandchildren to graduate from high school. I would not say this to everybody but, this year is the 50th anniversary of my graduation from high school. I cannot believe it has been that long. I must have fallen asleep for several years without waking up.

To see a grandson graduate from high school and then look at my graduation picture 50 years ago I was amazed. How can he be as old as I was? What he does not understand is that one day he will be as old as I am. I will not be the one to tell him that.

We spent the whole week with the family there that we have not seen for several years. It was such a wonderful time.

My ambitions in life have never included vacations. A vacation is where you go, but don't do anything. I don't like that. It is not that I'm a workaholic; I like to work all the time. When on vacation, I lose time because I'm not working. I like to organize my day around my work projects.

There are no work projects on vacation. At least, that's what my wife says, and she would never lie

I like to keep track of my time as much as possible. When home and working at the office, I am in control of my time. That is when I am the happiest.

Now, when on vacation, I have no control of my time. The word vacation means to vacate and I am not quite sure what I am vacating. I guess one thing I am vacating is time.

When I was home working I noticed there are seven days of the week. One week equals seven days, every week, of every month, of every year. Yet, when on vacation, particularly the one I was just on, there seems to be only three days in that week. What is the story behind all that?

It takes two days to drive there and then two days to drive back home. In the middle are only three days left! How can you enjoy a week's vacation in only three days? Something is wrong here.

I believe that when you take a week's vacation the travel time should not be included.

I would like to know who in the world come up with this idea of a "week's vacation" time. How can I enjoy vacationing when four days out of that week I have to sit in the car driving? It does not sound fair to me.

So many things wrong with that idea that I do not know where to start. However, I do know where to stop. That would be, stop having vacations. That would solve that problem.

I have noticed that whenever you solve one problem another problem that you did not expect pops

I made the mistake of expressing my thoughts audibly, while the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage was present. I thought I was just thinking to myself, but it turned out my lips were moving. Oh, how I hate it when my lips move like that.

"What do you mean," my wife said rather seriously, "stop having vacations?"

See what I mean. You solve one problem and another problem, were dangerous in the first problem, pops up. How do I answer that question?

After all, my wife lives for vacations. As soon as one vacation is over, she has the next vacation already planned. If it was not for her and her meticulous planning, I would never see a vacation. So, it is to her credit that I actually go on any vacation.

"Stop having vacations," is something that I have had to retract at least audibly. So I had to explain to her, "My dear, I didn't say stop having vacations, I meant to say stop hating vacations." Then I flashed a smile in her direction.

"That is much better," she said with an infectious giggle. "You know how much I really love these vacations."

One thing I have learned as a veteran husband is that if you love what your wife loves your life will be wonderful. I really do not have to love what she loves, but if I love her, it does not matter what she

Driving back from our vacation, which my wife did all the driving, I said one thing that made the drive worth driving. "Don't we have wonderful grandchildren?"

She is still smiling over that one. So am I.

In the silence of our drive home, I began to think of what our Lord said. "But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you" (Matthew 5:44).

Love is a very important thing, from Jesus' perspective. You can tell a lot about a person by what and how they love. I'm going to take Jesus' advice and just love whatever is in front of me.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

AVOID THIS COMMON CAUSE FOR DISPUTES OVER YOUR ESTATE PLAN

No matter how well you think you know your loved ones, it's impossible to predict exactly how they'll behave when you die or if you become incapacitated. Of course, no one wants to believe their family would ever end up battling one another in court over inheritance issues or a loved one's lifesaving medical treatment, but the fact is, we see it all the Family dynamics are extremely complicated and prone to conflict during even the best of times. And when tragedy strikes a key member of the household, even minor tensions and disagreements can explode into bitter conflict. When access to money is on the line, the potential for discord is exponentially increased.

The good news is you can drastically reduce the odds of such conflict through estate planning with the support of a lawyer who understands and can anticipate these dynamics. It's so important to work with an experienced lawyer when creating your estate plan and never rely on generic, do-it-yourself planning documents found online. Unfortunately, even the best set of documents will be unable to anticipate and navigate complex emotional matters like this, but a good lawyer can.

By becoming aware of some of the leading causes of such disputes, you're in a better position to prevent those situations through effective planning. Though it's impossible to predict what issues might arise around your plan, the following is one of the most common catalysts for conflict.

Poor fiduciary selection

Many estate planning disputes occur when a person you've chosen to handle your affairs following your death or incapacity fails to carry out his or her responsibilities properly. Whether it's as your power of attorney agent, executor, or trustee, these roles can entail a variety of different duties, some of which can last for years.

The individual you select, known as a fiduciary, is legally required to execute those duties and act in the best interests of the beneficiaries named in your plan. The failure to do either of those things is referred to as a breach of fiduciary duty.

The breach can be the result of the person's deliberate action, or it could be something he or she does unintentionally, by mistake. Either way, a breach—or even the perception of one—can cause serious conflict among your loved ones. This is especially true if the fiduciary attempts to use the position for personal gain, or if the improper actions negatively impact the beneficiaries.

Common breaches include failing to provide required accounting and tax information to beneficiaries, improperly using estate or trust assets for the fiduciary's personal benefit, making improper distributions, and failing to pay taxes, debts, and/or expenses owed by the estate or trust.

If a suspected breach occurs, beneficiaries can sue to have the fiduciary removed, recover any damages they incurred, and even recover punitive damages if the breach was committed out of malice or fraud.

Solution: Given the potentially immense responsibilities involved, you need to be extremely careful when selecting your fiduciaries, and make sure everyone in your family knows why you chose the fiduciary you did. You should only choose the most honest, trustworthy, and diligent individuals, and be careful not to select those who might have potential conflicts of interest with beneficiaries.

Moreover, it's vital that your planning documents contain clear terms spelling out a fiduciary's responsibilities and duties, so the individual understands exactly what's expected of him or her. And should things go awry, you can add terms to your plan that allow beneficiaries to remove and replace a fiduciary without going to court.

Find an attorney who's focus is on assisting you with selecting the most qualified fiduciaries; drafting the most precise, explicit, and understandable terms in all of your planning documents; as well as ensuring that your family understands your choices, so they do not end up in conflict when it's too late. In this way, the individuals you select to carry out your wishes will have the best chances of doing so successfully—and with as little conflict

6 SIMPLY SOLUTIONS THAT ANYONE CAN IMPLEMENT TO HELP ADDRESS "CLIMATE CHANGE"

can be reached at www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com]

Shawn Maestretti's 6-Step Solution

Shawn Maestretti, a landscape architect, arborist, and contractor, shares data on climate change in his lecture series, as well as how these changes can affect our landscape. I recently attended his lecture at Eaton Canyon Nature Center. Though his engaging program focuses on how an individual can be a part of the solution and make a positive effect in their own garden, his presentation begins with the "big picture." We are shown earth from space, and Maestretti explains how the first Earth Day began when we realized that it wasn't a for unwanted gases. "Currently, 110 million tons of manmade pollution goes into this thin shell of our atmosphere, our space," he told the audience.

He pointed out that though agriculture is a contributor of C02 into space, agriculture can also be a solution, through regenerative agriculture. The main source of C02 in space is the burning of fossil fuels.

To put this in historical perspective, he points out that there has always been a contraction and expansion of C02 in the environment, over long periods of time, but it has never gone over 300 ppm annually. "We did that as of 2013," he explains.

"We must make dramatic changes during the next 40 years," says Maestretti. "If the increase of C02 emissions continues to steadily increase, it will be hard to be outside.'

Maestretti explains that we have solutions, but we need to choose to implement them. He says that we need to have zero waste, reduce C02 emissions, and look to nature for solutions.

He lays out a six-part program of regenerative practices that anyone can practice in their own yard. Here is the bare-bones overview of Maestretti's six points which he expands upon in his programs. 1.NURTURING THE LIVING SOIL

Maestretti explains that all life starts with the soil, and we have to work harder to regenerate the soil. Tilling destroys topsoil where the organic matter resides, andreleases carbon into the atmosphere. He spends significant time describing the makeup of soil, and how everything should be done to avoid erosion, and the destruction of such life forms as the fungi in the soil which help to increase soil fertility. Unfortunately, modern agricultural and urbanization practices are turning the land into deserts. By poor agricultural practices, about a third of arable land on earth has been lost in the last 30 years.

"It's not drought that causes bare ground," says Maestretti. quoting Allan Savory "It's bare ground that causes drought." Thus, he's a proponent of protecting the topsoil through mulching and other methods. 2.OPTIMIZING WATER USE

In the urban setting, most people are able to capture rain water into drums or cisterns, by capturing it off their roofs. That water should be used in the yard, and not sent to the ocean down the storm drains. Water should also be optimized by planting appropriate natives which don't require as much water.

3.LAND FORMS/ HUGELKULTUR Maestretti recommends that people build berms and swales so the water that does flow through your land actually stays there and soaks in. This is the principle behind the settling ponds that you see in the Arroyo Seco, for example, which allows the water to soak into the local water table rather than quickly flowing

[Nyerges is a teacher, and author of "How to Survive Anywhere," Prunings and, especially old wood, can be buried into the berms, capture and store moisture, and they 'Self-Sufficient Home," "Ex- gradually decompose and add nutrients to the soil treme Simplicity: Homesteading in the City," and other books. He the carbon from those wood and leaf prunings to go

> 4. PERMEABLE GROUND Maestretti encourages the removal of, and reduction of, unnecessary blacktop or cement. There are currently numerous products that allow the water to soak into the soil, such as blocks that can actually be driven on that has holes where grass can be grown and water can soak in. There are, for example, cement blocks with decorative holes that can be laid down in place of solid cement. A car could drive on this, but water would still soak into the ground. This has become so "mainstream" that you can find products of this type at most homeimprovement "big box" stores.

5.PLANTING FÖR SOIL AND HEALTH

According to Maestretti, plants are the key to our salvation. They draw carbon out of the atmosphere, and without the trees and plants, there would be much more evaporation of water, compaction of the soil, and run-off. In both farming and backyard landscaping, he encourages both green and brown mulch. Brown mulch is temporary, such things as wood chips and ground compost which keeps moisture in the soil. Green mulch refers to growing such plants as clover and other groundcovers, which impact the small water cycle by slowing evaporation and continually enriching the soil.

"Remember," exclaims Maestretti, "that plants allow us to eat sunlight." There was a bit of silence in the room as the audience pondered this fact.
6.PLANTING FOR BIODIVERSITY

In the complex web of life, insects are the link between plants and all higher creatures in the food chain, and we should keep that in mind when we plan and implement our gardens. We need not focus on killing off all insects. Diversity builds strength into the garden. Maestretti's goal is to encourage everyone to play a role in being the solution the global change we're experiencing. This can be done somewhat painlessly, by the way we work with the land under our control. His vision is that any average lot can be a solution with wild and cultivated plants, where all the rain that falls there is captured, where all the prunings and wood from the plants there are returned to that land's soil. Not only does he conduct workshops to show homeowners how to accomplish these regenerative tasks, but he also practices what he preaches in his own yard. "Besides all the obvious benefits of a garden, remember that such a garden cools the environment. In fact," added Maestretti, "plants actually cool our cities.'

Shawn Mestretti is a landscaper landscape architect, arborist, contrac-tor, Kiss the Ground Soil Advocate and a member of the Climate Real-ity Leadership Corp. He can be reached at shawn@smgarchitecture. com, www.smgarchitecture.com, or 323) 632-7844.

THE LACUNA: by Barbara Kingsolver

In The Lacuna, Barbara Kingsolver, the acclaimed bestselling author, tells the story of Harrison William Shepherd, a man caught between two worlds—an unforgettable protagonist whose search for identity will take readers to the heart of the twentieth century's most tumultuous events. His parents are separated so he lives back and forth between the United States with his father and Mexico with his mother. During his time in Mexico he works as a plaster mixer for the mural artist Diego Rivera then as a cook for both him and his artist wife Frida Kahlo, with whom Shepherd develops a lifelong friendship. While living with and working for them, he also begins working as a secretary for Leon Trotsky who is hiding there, exiled by Stalin. Later in life, living in Asheville, North Carolina, Shepherd becomes a novelist and is subsequently investigated by the House Un-American Activities Committee. He instructs his secretary, Violet Brown, to burn his papers and returns to Mexico. However, she saves his diaries and letters and it is these papers that form the bulk of the novel.

ELEANOR OLIPHANT IS COMPLETELY FINE

a novel by Gail Honeyman

"Beautifully written and incredibly funny, the book is about the importance of friendship and human connection. I fell in love with Eleanor, an eccentric and regimented loner whose life beautifully unfolds after a chance encounter with a stranger; I think you will fall in love, too!" —Reese Witherspoon. No one's ever told Eleanor that life should be better than fine. Meet Eleanor Oliphant: She struggles with appropriate social skills and tends to say exactly what she's thinking. Nothing is missing in her carefully timetabled life of avoiding social interactions, where weekends are punctuated by frozen pizza, vodka, and phone chats with Mummy. But everything changes when Eleanor meets Raymond, the bumbling and deeply unhygienic IT guy from her office. When she and Raymond together save Sammy, an elderly gentleman who has fallen on the sidewalk, the three become the kinds of friends who rescue one another from the lives of isolation they have each been living. And it is Raymond's big heart that will ultimately help Eleanor find the way to repair her own profoundly damaged one. Soon to be a motion picture produced by Reese Witherspoon, the book is the smart, warm, and uplifting story of an out-ofthe-ordinary heroine whose deadpan weirdness and unconscious wit make for an irresistible journey as she realizes. . . The only way to survive is to open your heart.

TALKING TO THE GROUND by Douglas Preston

From the author of The Lost City of the Monkey God comes an entrancing, eloquent, and entertaining account of the author's adventurous journey on horseback through the Southwest in the heart of Navajo desert country. In 1992 author Douglas Preston and his wife and daughter rode horseback across 400 miles of desert in Utah, Arizona, and New Mexico. They were retracing the route of a Navajo deity, the Slayer of Alien Gods, on his quest to restore beauty and balance to the Earth. More than a travelogue, Preston's account of their "one tough journey, luminously remembered" (Kirkus Reviews) is a tale of two cultures meeting in a sacred land and is "like traveling across unknown territory with Lewis and Člark to the Pacific" (Dee Brown, author of Bury My Heart At Wounded Knee).

HOW COSTCO RUINED BUYING A NEW CAR

It's not just Costco. There's plenty of blame to share. Consumer Reports, Sam's Club, BJ's and every other organization that promises to guarantee participants the lowest price possible on a new car are all co-conspirators.

This may seem hard to believe but until the 1990s it was almost impossible for consumers to find accurate car price information. A sheep... excuse me... customer entering a car dealership was presented with a situation where the dealer had all the cars and all the price information.

Even worse, dealers would not discuss price over the phone. Buyers had to go to each individual dealership and be waterboarded by a different

The sales process was akin to the procedure the KGB used to force the condemned to sign confessions. The customer sat in an uncomfortable chair while a team of 'good salesman' and 'bad salesman' badgered you with false promises and assurances that if you'd just sign the sales agreement they'd let you go to the bathroom.

Asking to see the invoice on a car was greeted with laughter or outright hostility, much like the response one gets today after asking a hospital administrator what a hernia operation will cost.

If a customer had a couple of weeks to visit every dealer within a reasonable radius of home and a high tolerance for psychological pressure, there was a chance he could negotiate an excellent price.

Consumer Reports ended that agonizing process by first providing accurate cost information and second, by urging customers to negotiate over the phone instead of submitting to the time-consuming process of in-person visits for every dealer.

That put customers and dealers on a level playing field. Even with information, many car buyers still hated the negotiation process. Edmunds found 33 percent of the car-buying population would rather do taxes, go to the DMV, sit in the middle seat of an airplane or watch Beto live-stream a root canal than negotiate car prices. Costco, CR and other like-minded marketers responded with a car-buying service for their customers. Some charge for the service and others just direct you to a dealership where the price has already been negotiated. All of the services promise to

Which is the problem. Today's consumer can't seem to figure out the "No Haggle -No Hassel" pricing has a flip side, which is "Take It or Leave It."

As dealer Brent Emon commented on the Three Thrifty Guys site, "I can say that there is ALWAYS someone who will buy our car at our price. It's not like that poor Corolla is going to rot away on the lot because you walked away, it just means we sell it tomorrow instead of today."

So Costco et al did eliminate negotiation, most because the dealers stopped.

I have yet to buy or lease a car from a Costco dealer, even after getting the Costco price, because they won't budge from that number. And many other CR or TrueCar dealers are doing the same.

I blame the buying and price quote services. Consumers are so sheep-like they would rather take a price set by a third party - secure in the knowledge if the price is high they aren't the only people paying it - than use that price as a starting point to negotiate their own deal.

Dealers like Emon conclude if cars are going off the lot at the "No Haggle - No Hassel" then why waste time trying to seal the deal with a penny-pincher like me? There's always some relieved Millennial to take my place.

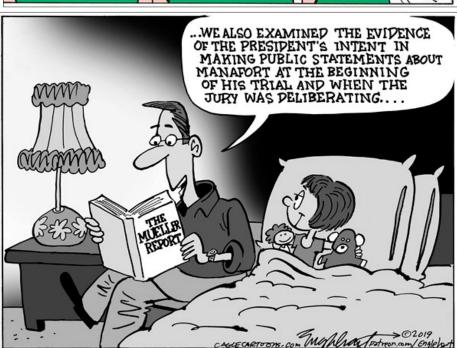

The last two times I've leased a car only one dealer of the five or six I contacted had a salesman ready to negotiate a deal, instead of order-takers who wait for a customer to buy at the set price.

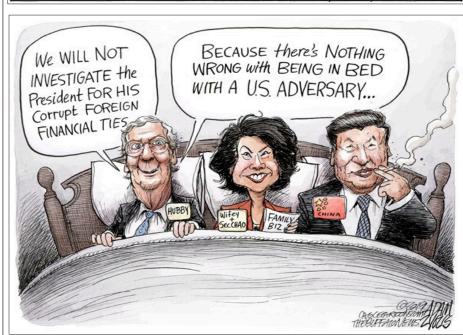

I once had a Mercedes finance manager tell me that on some days a customer would come into the dealership, see the list price of a car on the window sticker and write him a check for the full amount. And he didn't feel the least bit guilty for making a premium on that car, because on other days people like me would come into the dealership.

Don't passively put dealers that won't negotiate in the driver's seat again. Make them talk or take a walk.

JOHN MICEK SHE REMEMBERS A TIME WHEN ABORTION WAS ILLEGAL

BURG, Pa. - Jessica Marquez-Gates is enough to remember America before Roe v.

Wade. It was an America where women

"douched with caustic chemicals" and used coat hangers to end unwanted pregnancies. She remembers desperate women dying because of botched attempts.

With her 70th birthday closing in next month, state governments approving abortion bans, and the five-decade-old landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion under historic siege, Marquez-Gates is ready for a fight.

"This is an issue that transcends Democrats, that transcends Republicans," Marquez-Gates said last week during a national day of action. "These are our daughters', our granddaughters' bodies we're talking about. We cannot go back."

So far, at least three states have passed legislation banning abortion after the sixth week of pregnancy. Alabama Republican Gov. Kay Ivey recently signed a near total ban on abortion that would punish violators with a felony and take a torch to traditional exceptions for rape and incest. Missouri Gov. Mike Parson signed an eight-week ban.

Pennsylvania's Republican-controlled House of Representatives recently passed a bill banning abortion based on an in-utero diagnosis of Down syndrome. Similar legislation has been introduced in the Republican-controlled state Senate. A freshman Republican in the state House is also seeking co-sponsors for a six-week ban, which is before most women even know they're pregnant.

Pennsylvania Gov. Tom Wolf, a Democrat and former Planned Parenthood escort, has vowed to veto the bills if they reach his desk. Meanwhile, reproductive rights advocates expect the bills in other states to immediately run into court challenges. But that's the idea.

Evangelicals who held their noses and elected a boorish president with authoritarian tendencies contented themselves with the knowledge that, in return, they'd get an abortion-hostile Supreme Court that would move to overturn or substantially water down Roe v. Wade.

The cruel irony, of course, is that there's nothing particularly "pro-life" or "pro-family" about any of these bills.

The small government conservatives who cry foul over government intervention into every other area of public life are perfectly willing to crowd into the examining room and make proxy rulings over the most deeply personal decision a woman can ever

What it boils down to is a matter of "bodily autonomy," said activist Amber Blaylock, who spoke at the rally.

Women, not GOP lawmakers who tend to lose interest in what happens to a fetus after birth, should have the final - and only - say,

That happens even as Republicans refuse to pass bills that help new and expectant mothers or gut the social safety net that low-income women depend on to help make ends meet while they work and try to raise their families.

The attacks on abortion access also come as the Trump administration has moved to impose new restrictions on federal family planning money, a move that most see as a barely disguised effort to defund Planned Parenthood.

In April, a federal judge granted an injunction, sought by 21 state attorneys general that temporarily blocks the rule from taking effect.

Not only are governors and lawmakers in states across the country seeking to legislate abortion out of existence, the White House is trying to get rid of money for programs that would help women avoid getting pregnant in the first place.

The end result, of course, is that abortions only increase in such a scenario.

And in a world where Roe is overturned and control over abortion is kicked back to the states, a yawning health care gap opens up between the wealthiest Americans - who can use their money and privilege to seek an abortion in a state where it's legal - and poor women, rural women, and women of color who are trapped by income and circumstances, and cannot access the same standard of care.

"Criminalizing abortion will not stop it," Tara Murtha, of the Philadelphia-based Women's Law Project, told the crowd of about 100 rally-goers. "The only question is who gets access to safe abortion care. Women suffer and die when abortion is criminalized. That's a feature, not a bug, of what happens when abortion is criminalized. It's an attack on all of us.

It's also a world that Jessica Marquez-Gates thought she left behind a long time ago.

"It makes me so mad that these people think they have the right to make decisions about our bodies, our daughters' bodies, our granddaughters' bodies" she said, her voice rising. "We can't go back to a time when women were dying.

She paused. "We're not going back."

MICHAEL REAGAN GREAT AMERICAN STORIES NEVER TOLD

Earlier this week I traveled to central Illi- diers on the coast of nois to speak at a memorial service at Eureka College, my dad's alma mater, on the 15th anniversary of his death.

As I flew halfway across the country and talked to many of the good people in the heart of America, it struck me how testy or peeved off everyone is about politics.

It seems like everyone's got a chip on their shoulder.

You can't just sit down at a table or a bar and have a simple conversation with a friend or a stranger because you're afraid of what might happen if you say the wrong

If you say you're a Democrat, some Republican gets mad at you.

If you say you're a Republican who doesn't think Trump should be jailed immediately, someone else gets mad at you.

It's always a shame when Americans become so divided by partisan politics that they can't find anything uplifting or positive to say about their great country, but it was especially disappointing to me this

This was a week when all Americans should have been united in celebrating two of our historic victories in World War II and the brave young soldiers and sailors who made them possible.

Instead of bickering over partisan politics, we all should have been celebrating the Battle of Midway, the decisive naval battle we won against the Japanese between June 4 and June 7, 1942, that turned the tide of the war in the Pacific.

We also should have been celebrating - as His success - like that of millions of other President Trump did on his trip to France this week - the heroism of the Greatest Generation on D-Day, June 6, 1944, when our troops stormed the beaches at Along with D-Day and Midway, his life Normandy and turned the tide of war in Europe.

America had thousands of great heroes in the Pacific and in Europe during World War II, but we've done a terrible job of celebrating success stories like D-Day. We've also done a lousy job of teaching our kids the extraordinary things we did to defeat the twin evils of fascism and communism.

I don't ever want to run into another 28-year-old American man - as I once did - who didn't know why there is a cemetery filled with thousands of American sol-

France. I also don't ever want to talk to another young American standing where the Berlin Wall once was and have him tell me that the United States put up the wall to keep the Communists out of their sector.

It's not just the history of World War II and the Cold War that young people aren't being properly taught about, though.

The success stories of many famous Americans are rarely celebrated for what they say about the values of our country and the opportunities that are open to everyone rich or poor.

For example, when I spoke at the memorial for my father at Eureka College, I said - as my father often pointed out - that he was proof that in America anyone can rise to the top.

He didn't go to Harvard, Yale or Stanford. He went to Eureka, a postage-stamp of a Christian college near Peoria, on a poor boy's scholarship because his family had Yet Ronald Reagan rose to be president of the U.S - and lots of graduates from elite schools like Harvard, Yale and Stanford had to look to the poor kid from Eureka College for affirmation.

My father's life showed that if you put your nose to the grindstone, anything is possible in America.

Americans - was proof of the basic greatness and goodness of our country.

was one of the many uplifting American life stories we could have been celebrating on TV this week.

Instead, what we saw was mostly a lot of arguing about whether to impeach the president or put him in prison.

City of Sierra Madre

SUMMARY NOTICE

From: The City of Sierra Madre

SUMMARY OF ORDINANCE 1413 TO AMEND SECTIONS OF Subject:

TITLE 17-ZONING TO INCLUDE REGULATIONS FOR LIGHTING IN RESIDENTIAL ZONES

Applicant: City of Sierra Madre

Properties in the City of Sierra Madre, County of Los Angeles, State of California Project Location:

On May 28, 2019, the City Council introduced for second reading Ordinance 1413 recommending adoption of Municipal Code Text Amendment 19-03 regarding lighting regulations in Title 17 "Zoning" of the SMMC in residential zones. The affected zones are: R-1 (One Family Residential), R-2 (Two Family Residential), R-3 (Medium/High Density), R-C (Residential Canyon), and HMZ (Hillside Management) Zones, respectively.

This summary is published pursuant to Government Code Section 36933(c)(1) and a full and complete certified copy of the text of Ordinance 1413 is available at the Sierra Madre City Manager's Office located at City of Sierra Madre City Hall, 232 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre, CA. Ordinance 1413 will become effective on July 1, 2019.

The purpose of Municipal Code Text Amendment 19-03 is to include language establishing lighting regulations for properties in residential zoning districts. Currently, the R-3 Zone (Medium/High Residential) includes language for lighting regulations. However, there is no language for such regulations in the other residential zones. This ordinance would modify the existing R-3 language and add it to the R-1 (One Family Residential), R-2 (Two Family Residential), R-C (Residential Canyon), and HMZ (Hillside Management) Zones, respectively.

ENVIRONMENTAL DETERMINATION: The adoption of this ordinance qualifies for an exemption from the California Environmental Quality Act review pursuant to Title 14, Section 15061(b)(3) of the California Code of Regulations as it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility the adoption of this Ordinance may have a significant effect on the environment.

APPEAL: If in the future anyone wishes to challenge the decision of the City Council in court, one may be limited to raising the issues that were raised or presented in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or before, the scheduled public hearing. For further information on this subject, please contact the Planning and Community Preservation Department at 626-355-7138.
