THERE IS MUCH TO APPRECIATE ABOUT THE 4TH OF JULY

A message from Sierra Madre Mayor John Harabedian

Dear fellow Sierra Madreans:

There is much to appreciate about the 4th of July. Of course, it marks our country's independence and, as a federal holiday, calls upon us all to celebrate our common bond as Americans. While our respective differences make this country so strong and rich in diversity, we all come together on this holiday as one, bound by a common bond as members of the greatest country in

But what I love most about July 4th are the warm memories growing up in Sierra Ma-dre and attending our 4th of July parade every year. Living on Sierra Madre Boule-vard, it was a short trip from my front door to the parade route, and my parents would always host a large group of friends and family (still do), followed by a barbe-cue and pool party. In the good old days, the highlights of the parade were always the water fights with our volunteer firefighters (especially our Older American of the Year Paul Hagen), and the loads of candy that the parade participants would throw to us kids. While such activities exist now only in nostalgia, the parade remains the ulti-mate symbol of pride and tradition of Sierra Madre.

We are blessed to live in a town where volunteers ensure that this tradition lives on every year. We owe a debt of gratitude to the Sierra Madre 4th of July Committee who works tirelessly year-round to plan the parade and the many related events that go along with it. They could not have chosen a more deserving Grand Marshall in Bud Switzer. Better known as Mr. Pumpkin for his astonishing display of hundreds of jack-o-lanterns on his long, winding driveway on Alegria each year, Bud is a Korean War veteran and the 2018 George Maurer Lifetime Achievement Awardee. When you see Bud riding in the parade, give him a loud "Thank You," as he has given so much for this country and community.

As your Mayor, I want to thank you on behalf of our City family - the City Council, staff, and commissioners. It is you the residents that make Sierra Madre the special place that it is, and we are truly humbled to serve you.

God bless Sierra Madre, and God bless America! Mayor John Harabedian

CHARLIE BELL TRAIL OPENING

There are very few locations in Sierra Madre more iconic than the Mount Wilson Trail. The trail is an essential element in the town's history and predates almost all other development. The trail continues to this day to be the reason why people come from far and wide to visit our foothill village and hike in the mountains.

For almost three decades the maintenance and care of the Mount Wilson Trail has been directed by Charlie Bell. He has had numerous assistants and lots of support over the years, but he has been the consistent guiding force that has kept the trail open to everyone.

Whenever a section of the trail collapsed he engineered an alternative, safer route. Whenever landslides bury the trail he has moved tons of dirt to reopen the path. This year the rains caused large sections of the trail to slide into the canyon. Charlie stepped up and lent his engineering expertise to a team of volunteers who have rebuilt the trail by installing over 250' of support fencing that has stabilized

The Mount Wilson Trail Race committee has worked under Charlie's direction to prepare the trail for the annual race in May. The Committee recruits help for work parties from January to May. However, Charlie and friends continue to work on the trail all year long. For many, many years Charlie, and his little black dog, have been the friendly, helpful ambassadors on the trail. He continues to arrive every Saturday at 5:30 and spends the day grooming the trail and greeting everyone as they go by.

A few years ago Charlie began engineering and installing a new section of trail that paralleled the existing trail and gave hikers access to the path going up the front of Jones Peak. Last Sunday fifteen members of the Mount Wilson Trail Crew went up the trail and installed a sign at the head of Charlie's New Trail. The sign both gives hikers directions and recognizes Charlie for his years of service to everyone who uses the trail.

The sign reads "Thank You Charlie Bell for your many, many years of volunteer work on the trails above Sierra Madre. The hikers and runners who use these trails are forever grateful for your careful planning, excellent engineering and meticulous workmanship. With your quick smile, and faster wit you have given us a friendly access to the natural beauty of the mountains we all love."

If you would like to help Charlie and the Mount Wilson Trail Crew you can make a tax-deductable donation to the Fletcher Fund at the Sierra Madre Community Foundation. Please send a check to the Sierra Madre Community Foundation, P.O. Box 716, Sierra Madre, CA 91025. Please write "Fletcher Fund" in the memo line on the check. All funds are used to purchase tools and supplies to maintain both the Bailey Canyon Trail and the Mount Wilson Trail.

Charlie and The Mount Wilson Trail Crew would like to thank all those who have donated to the Fletcher Fund as well as Arcadia Signs and Chadwick Engraving in Monrovia for their excellent assistance in making the trail signs for both the Mount Wilson Trail and the Bailey Canyon Trail.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side by Deanne Davis

...and when the night is cloudy there is still a light that shines on me. Shine until tomorrow, let it be."

"I get by with a little help from my friends."

"My model for business was the Beatles. They were four guys that kept each others' negative tendencies in check; they balanced each other. And the total was greater than the sum of the parts." Steve jobs

Somebody famous once said that the music you loved in high school will be your favorites all the rest of your life. They were right. Got to spend an evening with Rich Johnson and the amazing J J Jukebox band last Saturday night. As Rich says, "we may not be entertaining you, but we're certainly entertaining ourselves!" They kicked off their set with the Beatles, Day Tripper, recorded in 1967. Haven't heard that in a while and, my gosh, was that fun to sing along with!

> "Got a good reason For taking the easy way out Got a good reason For taking the easy way out now She was a day tripper One way ticket, yeah It took me so long to find out And I found out."

Rich tossed a whole bunch of Hershey's Kisses on every table at Nano's so folks felt loved and appreciated. Nano is right there at the corner of Lima and Sierra Madre Blvd and the place was packed with folks dancing, laughing, eating...I had the Tiki Salad, which was a bed of mashed potatoes topped with some salad greens, a nice piece of salmon and a bunch of mango slices. And dancing, friends and neighbors, there was a whole lot of dancing going on. It's nice to see people having such a good time.

The Beatles didn't appear on the scene till I was out of high school, but you can't help but love their music. I remember seeing them on Ed Sullivan on black and white TV in 1964, can you believe it? And so many memorable songs: Here Comes The Sun; I Want To Hold Your Hand; Eleanor Rigby; Let It Be... Wikipedia says there were over 300 songs recorded by the Beatles. I don't think Rich does all of them, but he does a bunch and everybody sings along.

If you've been to the movies lately, and I have, to see Secret Life of Pets 2, with my Arizona granddaughters Jessie and Emily, loved it. As I was saying, if you've been to the movies lately, you've seen the preview for a new movie, Yesterday, which is a 2019 British musical fantasy comedy movie about a musician who, after an accident, finds himself as the only person who remembers The Beatles. He becomes a major star and everybody thinks he's written all these amazing songs. I want to see it. You probably do, too. Still speaking of movies, saw the Elton John movie, Rocketman, and loved that, too. Taron Egerton, who plays Elton, looks so much like him it's scary. It's amazing that Elton lived through his life! The ending was so good, though, showing him now, 28 years sober. Don't take the kids!

It also rained last Saturday, proving that June Gloom is going to last forever. Daughter, Leah, keeps telling me she's grateful for the fog, damp, cold and rain because the heat is coming. I'm sure that's true, but waking up every day to gray and wondering why I'm not wearing a thicker sweater is....well....gloomy. But the jacarandas are glorious. Enjoy them, folks, purple clouds all over town.

J J Jukebox is always a blast to see and they start and finish early, which is also wonderful. Rich calls it the "In bed by 10 tour." If you have a chance to see them anywhere around town, go as I know you'll have a great time.

As you can see below here, my new book is available and there's a copy at Amazon.com just waiting for you to order it for yourself or for that special someone who deserves a special gift.

No one had the nerve to tell Principal Frisch that his fly was down. More specifically, none of the assembled staff knew him well enough to share this vital information with him. This despite the fact that they'd had ample opportunity thirty minutes ago, when they were casually milling around the cafetorium before orientation began. But now he was fifteen minutes into his opening remarks for the new school year, and there was no turning back.

At first, staff compensated for the awkwardness by looking Frisch straight in the eye, avoiding any glances toward nether regions below. Nothing, say, beneath his shirt collar. He, on the other hand, seemed to be focusing on some point just above their eyebrows, their hair lines, or off-center, near the tips of their ears.

You got the impression that he'd taken a course on public speaking in preparation for his first year as principal in a new school district. But any strategies he'd learned hadn't worked down. Well, he thought, at least no one seemed to notice. themselves into the actual delivery.

Another reason no one felt comfortable telling Frisch about his wardrobe malfunction was that, like many schools, the staff at Apex was overwhelmingly female. The few guys on campus held mostly non-classroom jobs -- PE coach, guidance counselor, and psychologist. And then there was Mike Hughes, the only man in the world who could pull off teaching kindergarten without seeming creepy. If any of them noticed Frisch's dilemma prior to the start of the meeting, they must've each assumed someone else would warn him.

Now Frisch was holding up the red emergency folders used for fire drills, and asked everyone to store them near their classroom This week my column's going to be a door. As he continued on to the uniform policy, mandated little different. I'm excited to announce reporting of suspected child abuse, and procedures for daily that I have finally finished my novel! > At last Frisch seemed to be wrapping it up. The unspoken rule at Apex was for the principal to make a brief "welcome back," distribute staff handbooks, and dismiss teachers to work in their rooms or, as many of the old guard did, to take a very extended lunch break.

But clearly Frisch was unaware of this cherished tradition, and people were starting to get antsy. It wasn't his fault. He thought it was going great. Toward the end, he even started looking a few of them in the eye.

By the time he finally wished them all a great year and "to be the ones who make a difference in children's lives!" he was smiling proudly like the brave captain he felt he was, hands planted at his waist. The gesture caused his fly to peek open a fraction more. Yes, this was his school, this was his year, and it was all going to be great!

BEST MARGARITA

Blended or on the rocks? I have been told that you more bang for your buck if it's on the rocks, but I like mine lightly blended. One thing I've discovered is that no matter if you're at a chain like El Torito or your neighborhood spot, all bartenders have their own methods for making margaritas. I thought Charlie from the now-defunct La Fiesta Grande made the best margarita around, and I found out that they pre-made the mix, what!!!!!!! It was good. So, here is my list, and a few notes along the way

To call a margarita "The Best Margarita" is subjective - I get that, so before we get into my list here are a few rules that I followed: #1 The margarita has to be served in a margarita glass – not a beer cup, not a tumbler, but an actual margarita glass. #2 no extra shots, no doctoring - I judged these strictly on asking for a blended double margarita. #3 the margarita is available to anyone that just happens to walk into this bar or restaurant.

Hall Of Fame

#1 Los Gringos Armando is the man, and it's consistent even when he is not at the helm

#2Maxx's Duarte they have it down, and again it's consistent

#3 Margaritas, with the name of Margarita it better be good!!

All Star

#4 Morralito's Margaritas bring out the karaoke singer in me!! #5 Amigos Probably the strongest on the list, please call Uber!!

#6 El Cholo fine selection of tequilas, you have to ask for the margarita glass

#7 Mijares Local favorite, uses Sauza in the house margarita

#8 Pacos when they are hot they are hot, when they are not... well you know the rest #9 La Fiesta South Pasadena New blender new margarita, just OK

#10 Peppers Beto does it right!! But he's not there all the time #11 Trejo's Gimmick restaurant, nothing special

#12 Casa Del Rey Locals swear by the food, as my friend Mike Bingley said, it isn't my cup of tea

#13 El Portal Again, read the rules; sorry I know this an unpopular vote #14 Cabrera's Depends on the bartender; this place used to be top 5, lemonade anyone?

Mercado A giant ice cube takes up most of the glass

Maesto Read the option above

El Torito order a side shot during happy hour, well worth it

Once again, these are standard margaritas that you'd order not knowing the bartender. Sure, each restaurant mentioned could make you a "Special" margarita, but I am sticking to my list and the order. Gracias!

OPENING OF DESIDERIO NEIGHBORHOOD PARK

Pasadena Mayor Terry Tornek (pictured), City Manager Steve Mermell and a number of local children celebrated the grand opening Thursday of Desiderio Neighborhood

During the ceremony, Tornek said the occasion marked Pasadena's first new park new park in over 10 years. The 3.8 acre site was the former Desiderio Army Reserve Center. The city acquired the property from the federal government in 2013.

The park, located directly under the Colorado Street Bridge, includes, walkways that loop around and through the park with open grassy areas, play equipment and picnic

During the proposal phase Desiderio Neighborhood Park saw its fair share of criticism, including adding bathrooms and the location under the Colorado Street Bridge.

Residents have criticized, the yet to be added, restrooms over size, location in the park and the possibility of attracting criminal behavior. Residents also worry of overcrowding to use the restrooms after large events at the Rose Bowl. The city, in July 2017, installed temporary barriers along the bridge to stop a surge in suicides. Residents feared dead bodies would be found in the park. At the city council's last meeting, they finalized the city's 2020 operating budget, that includes $750,000 for construction of permanent suicide prevention barriers for the bridge.

Hahamongna Big Dig Trial Postponed

A Los Angeles Superior Court judge agreed, last week, to postpone the trial regarding Los Angeles County Flood Control District's Big Dig project in Hahamongna Watershed Park in Pasadena to allow the parties to develop a comprehensive settlement of the disputed issues.

According to officials related to the matter, Honorable James C. Chalfant issued a 29-page tentative decision JUne 19 in favor of the Arroyo Seco Foundation (ASF) and Pasadena Audubon Society (PAS) in their lawsuit against the County. The tentative ruling finds that the Flood Control District's environmental impact report is inadequate in several key areas.

In a statement Hahamongna advocates said. rather than contesting the judge's decisive ruling, Senior Deputy County Counsel William Simon asked for a postponement of the trial until July 30 to allow the County to get together with ASF and PAS to develop a comprehensive settlement agreement. Judge Chalfant asked ASF/PAS attorney Mitchell Tsai if his clients agreed to a postponement, and Mr Tsai responded that they did.

The tentative decision is detailed and decisive," said attorney Tsai. It finds that the Flood Control District failed to provide the public with a meaningful opportunity to comment on the revised program and the alternatives available as a result of the Flood Control District downgrading its required flood control capacity standard at Devil's Gate Dam. In addition, the tentative decision finds that the Flood Control District's environmental mitigation measures failed to specify performance standards for the required habitat mitigation of the Arroyo Seco Foundation, stated, "We agreed to the the Project's environmental impact postponement because it has report and set aside or vacate the never been our intention to stop the County's sediment removal activity would then cease pending program. Our goal has been to revision and recirculation of the minimize the negative aspects of the project, such as noise, dust, traffic and air pollution, and to ensure that the resulting to protect and save it for future Hahamongna management program is ongoing and protects the unique environmental values of the area. We want the County to treat the Arroyo Seco like a river and to implement nature-based solutions that will serve our region well as we face climate change and the challenges of nature. We have assurances from Mark Pestrella, County Public Works Director, that the County will work hard to develop a settlement along those lines and that all our concerns are on the table."

Laura Solomon, President of the Pasadena Audubon Society, stated "The Pasadena Audubon Society is gratified that the court recognizes that the County has failed to work transparently with the public, despite their frequent claims to the contrary. We hope that the County will do its job to protect the land, the birds, and the people by shrinking the size of the permanent footprint of the project, using the cleanest trucks possible to move the sediment, and truly restoring the Hahamongna basin, especially the nesting habitat they have destroyed."

The Flood Control District proposes to remove 1.7 million cubic yards of sediment and debris in the reservoir behind Devil's Gate Dam in a program critics has dubbed "The Big Dig." The sediment has accumulated over many decades. The removal program would involve as many as 425 diesel truckloads daily for four or more years and the destruction of 70 acres of prime habitat in the alluvial canyon at the base of the San Gabriel Mountains.

If the environmental groups and the County cannot develop an agreement in the next six weeks, Judge Chalfant will hear oral argument regarding the tentative ruling on July 30. If he finalizes the tentative decision, he will issue Tim Brick, Managing Director a writ ordering the Flood Control District to revise and recirculate Project's approvals. All project Project's environmental document. "The winner today is Hahamongna and all those who are determined generations," said ASF's Tim Brick.

NASA to Hold Mars 2020 'Name the Rover' Contest

NASA is seeking volunteers to help with judging

NASA has selected two partner organizations to run a nationwide contest giving K-12 students in U.S. schools a chance to make history by naming the Mars 2020 rover. An application to become contest judge also is now available online.

Battelle Education, of Columbus, Ohio, and Future Engineers, Burbank, California, will collaborate with NASA on the Mars 2020 "Name the Rover" contest, which will be open to students in the fall of 2019. The student contest is part of NASA's efforts to engage the public in its missions to the Moon and Mars.

The currently unnamed rover is a robotic scientist weighing more than 2,300 pounds (1,000 kilograms). It will search for signs of past microbial life, characterize the planet's climate and geology, collect samples for future return to Earth and pave the way for human exploration of the Red Planet. The spacecraft is targeted for a July 2020 launch and is expected to touch down on Mars in February 2021.

"We're very excited about this exceptional partnership," said George Tahu, Mars 2020 program executive in NASA's Planetary Science Division at the agency's Headquarters in submitted rover names may Washington. "Contests like this visit the futureengineers.org present excellent opportunities website and register to be a to invite young students and judge.

educators to be a part of this journey to understand the possibilities for life beyond Earth and to advance new capabilities in exploration technology."

By focusing the Mars 2020 "Name the Rover" contest on K-12 entries, NASA seeks to engage U.S. students in the engineering and scientific work that makes Mars exploration possible. The contest also supports national goals to stimulate interest in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) and help create the next generation of STEM leaders.

Battelle will connect students to the Mars 2020 mission through its portfolio of STEM networks. It will help recruit judges and students and also curate resources for teachers.

Future Engineers is an education technology company that engages K-12 students with innovation contests and challenges. The Mars 2020 "Name the Rover" contest will be hosted on Future Engineers' web platform, which will serve as the online portal for entry submission and judging. Judges Needed

K-12 students are not the only ones able to participate in the contest. NASA also is seeking volunteers to help judge the thousands of contest entries anticipated to pour in from around the country. U.S. residents interested in offering approximately five hours of their time to review student-

From the Monrovia City Manager's Desk:

HOMELESS COUNT UPDATE... WE'RE NOT SURE HOW LA COUNTY GETS THEIR NUMBERS, BUT ON THIS POINT WE DO AGREE – MONROVIA'S HOMELESS POP-ULATION HAS DECREASED!

As everyone may be aware, last week, the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority (or LAHSA, which is a JPA between LA County and the City of Los Angeles tasked with coordinating homeless response ser-vices) released their updated homeless count numbers for 2019. Per that report, LAHSA identified that Monrovia had a total homeless population of 62 individuals, as outlined in the chart below.

Of note, the data provided by LAHSA seems to deviate from the actual results that the City notated from the 2019 Point-In-Time Homeless Count, which was conducted in Monrovia on January 22, 2019. As folks may recall, on that evening, a group of 25 Monrovia volunteers spent the night conduct-ing a homeless count to identify the number of unsheltered individuals in our community. Based on ac-tual results from that evening, City staff tallied all of the information returned by volunteers before turning the homeless count sheets over to LAHSA. Based on the actual numbers from the night of the 2019 Point-In-Time Homeless Count, we identified 52 instances of homelessness (which was down from 71 in 2018).

However, after collecting the actual count data from that evening, it appears that LAHSA went back and utilized some type of revised methodology and / or multiplier to produce their final estimate of unshel-tered persons in Monrovia. Based on that revised methodology, the number of identified homeless indi-viduals in Monrovia increased from the 52 that were actually counted on the evening of the 2019 Point-In-Time Count, to the 62 unsheltered persons that were reported by LAHSA this past Friday. The chart be-low illustrates the discrepancies between numbers produced from the evening of the count, and the re-vised official numbers published by LAHSA.

Regardless of that discrepancy, all of us here in Monrovia are encouraged to see a decrease in the num-ber of individuals identified as being homeless in Monrovia. The data seems to indicate that the City's approach to addressing the homeless situation has made a difference – across all of LA County, LAHSA reported a 12% increase in the homeless population. In addition, of particular concern, across the San Gabriel Valley, LAHSA reported a staggering 24% increase in the overall homeless population.

Moving ahead, the City is committed to continuing to pursue the various elements associated with our current plan to prevent and combat homelessness in Monrovia, which includes the following major pro-gram components:

- Be relentless and continually contact anyone suffering from homelessness to offer housing / support services
- Expand community coordination in support of ending homelessness
- Promote the use of the Coordinated Entry System (CES)
- Develop educational materials in partnership with LA County
- Develop a Monrovia-centric directed giving campaign in partnership with the Foothill Unity Center
- Develop a local Monrovia Housing Displacement Response Plan

More tangibly, our relentless approach has resulted in helping more than a dozen homeless individuals find permanent housing options during the past year. Additionally, our comprehensive homeless re-sponse tool kit has provided interested residents with practical resources to better help and support those who are experiencing homelessness.

Of particular note, the City's thoughtfully designed Housing Displacement Response Plan, developed in concert with Mountainside Communion Church, has been deployed this past year to great success, with the following key deliverable outcomes:

- We have assisted fifteen (15) families from becoming displaced from their homes in Monrovia
- As a result of helping those 15 families from becoming homeless, we were able to prevent more than twenty (20) youth from having to leave Monrovia schools, and we also helped prevent three (3) sen-iors from losing their homes.

Moving ahead, there is still more to be done, and the City has prudently invested additional funds this next fiscal year to continue our efforts.

any seniors fear that moving out of their home into an assisted living residence means forfeiting control of their lives. At The Kensington, nothing could be further from the truth. We believe it is our role to support our residents, not to assume complete decision-making authority. Of course, as specialists in caring for older adults, we monitor routines, behavior and mood every day. If we see changes that concern us, then we talk with residents and their families immediately. Together, we all decide about making adjustments to care and services to preserve comfort, wellness and morale.

HOW SENIORS CAN SPOT FAKE NEWS

Dear Savvy Senior:

I recently read that seniors are the number one purveyor of fake news on the Internet. Is this true, or is it fake news too? If it's true, how can seniors go about spotting fake news? Faked Out Senior

Yes, it's true. According to a recent study published in the journal Science Advances, people aged 65 and older are almost four times more likely to share fake news on social media than younger

Why do older users share fake news more often? There are two theories. The first is that seniors, who came to the Internet later, sometimes lack the digital literacy skills of their younger counterparts to identify false or misleading content. The second is that many older people experience cognitive decline as they age, making them more likely to fall for hoaxes.

What is Fake News?

Fake news is not new, but it is more prevalent than ever before because of the Internet and social networking, which enables it to spread like wildfire.

Fake news is false news stories, hoaxes or propaganda created to deliberately misinform or deceive readers. Usually, these stories are created to either influence people's views, push a political agenda or cause confusion and can often be a profitable business for online publishers.

Also note that some fake stories aren't completely false, but rather distortions of real events. These deceitful claims can take a legitimate news story and twist what it says, or even claim that something that happened long ago is related to current events.

How to Spot Fake News

Here are some tips from the International Federation of Library Associations, Harvard University and Facebook that can help you spot fake news stories.

Be skeptical of headlines: False news stories often have catchy headlines in all caps with exclamation points. If shocking claims in the headline sound unbelievable, they probably are. Look closely at the Web link: A phony or look-alike link may be a warning sign of false news.

Many false news sites mimic authentic news sources by making small changes to the link, for example "abcnews.com.co" (an illegitimate site) versus the actual "abcnews.com." Investigate the source: Ensure that the story is written by a source that you trust with a reputation for accuracy. If the story comes from an unfamiliar organization, check their "About" section to learn more. You can also find a list of websites that post deceptive and fake content at FactCheck.

Watch for unusual formatting: Many false news sites have misspellings or awkward layouts. Read carefully if you see these signs.

org - type "misinformation directory" in their search feature to find it.

Inspect the dates: False news stories may contain timelines that make no sense, or event dates that have been altered.

Check the evidence: Check the author's sources to confirm that they are accurate. Lack of evidence or reliance on unnamed experts may indicate a false news story.

Look at other reports: If no other news source is reporting the same story, it may indicate that the story is false. If the story is reported by multiple sources you trust, it's more likely to be true.

Is the story a joke? Sometimes false news stories can be hard to distinguish from humor or satire. Check whether the source is known for parody, and whether the story's details and tone suggest it may be just for fun.

Do some fact checking: There are many good websites, like PolitiFact.com, Snopes.com and FactCheck.org that can help you fact check a story to help you identify fact versus fiction. These sites have most likely already fact-checked the latest viral claim to pop up in your news feed.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit Savvy-Senior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior"

HAPPY BIRTHDAY AMERICA

The Declaration of Independence: A TRANSCRIPTION

IN CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America,

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.--Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

For Quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us. He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our Brittish brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

ANOTHER UNHAPPY BIRTHDAY

'We the People" .....that's how our Consitution begins. It serves as a reminder that this government belongs to us, we, the people. Those words, along with those contained in the Declaration of Independence should be embraced and remembered every day, not just on the nation's birthday. Unfortunately, most of us never seriously think about them

On the day this nation was 'born' Americans embrace the 'birthday' that we all share in common. Probelm is, it shouldn't be a one day, celebration. We need to cherish this nation every single day and accept our responsibility to all work on making this a 'more perfect union'. My dad taught me that birthdays are our own 'personal' holidays! That being said, as a nation, our own personal holiday - July 4, 2019 should be a great cause of celebration. After all we will be 243 years old and formerly the beacon of a free and democratic society to the world. Instead, regardless of which side of the argument you are on, this 'birthday' is one where we are divided by hate, fear, intolerance, alienation and ignorance. WQe have been so derelict in our duties that we have turned over our precious nation to the hands of the self serving, hateful and spineless whose interest is not in the well being of the nation as a whole, but rather their interest is in their own personal power and wealth.

On this birthday we are being scorned and ridiculed around the world. We have withdrawn from just about every effort to be a part of the world community. We are portraying ourselves as the victims of everything and everybody by an administration that needs to read and reread our great Constitution. If they would just read the preamble, perhaps with a tutor, they might get a clue.

'We the People"....not just this administration and their business associates.

"..form a more perfect union:..." Most of us recognize that our country and its laws are not perfect and we need to strive to improve, not focus on destruction.

"establish justice"......and that means for everyone regardless or race, religion, creed

"Insure Domestic Tranquility"......not poke the bear (my apologies to bears worldwide), not stir the pot of divisiveness and hate.

"provide for the common defence" - defense of all, not some.
"Promote the general welfare"......this country was not founded on the 'Friends and Family' plan. The rest of us matter also

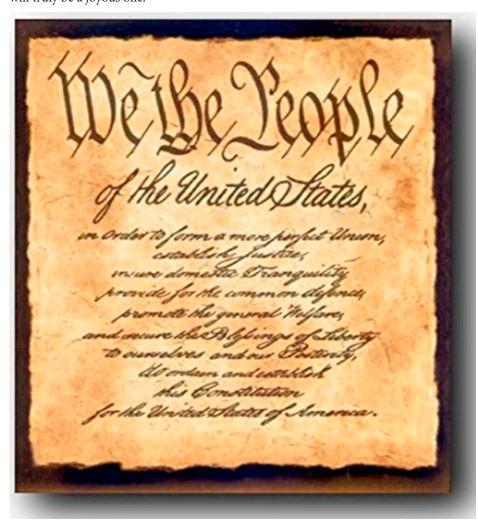

'Secure the blessings of Liberty for ourselves and our Posterity".... i.e., life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness now and for future generations.

Just this morning I heard Donald J. Trump say, "My Government..." and therein lies a major part of the problem. It isn't his government, it is OUR GOVERNMENT and we need to start acting like it. Right or Left, Independent or Green, it is OURS.....not one

I used to be a proud American. I am not now. Nor would my father and grandfather, WWII and WWI Veterans respectively be, if they were alive today. Both risked their lives for a country that did not even respect them as men, yet they fought regardless in an effort to make things better for all. That is what we are all supposed to do, fight to make things better for all, together!

Our country has gone from a beacon of freedom and liberty to a cesspool of selfish and inhumane actions, and we have done so in just 890 days. Ironic isn't it that this destructive administration has a leader who touts the slogan, "Make America Great Again". Clearly what he refers to as great, based upon his 890 days of action, is something

So as we prepare to pay homage to OUR COUNTRY on July 4th, let's all, left and right, demand of all elected officials that they focus on upholding the tenets of the Constitution and restoring America back to being a true democracy, a system of government by the whole population. If we do that, then maybe our 244th birthday will truly be a joyous one.

FYI: WHO SIGNED THE U.S. CONSTITUTION?

The 38 signers of the U.S. Constitution were delegates from the original states who gathered several times and in several places, first drafting the Declaration of Independence, and then, after the colonists defeated the British army and won independence, writing the U.S. Constitution. The signers of the two documents have some overlap — Benjamin Franklin signed both, but John Hancock wrote large only on the Declaration of Independence. The delegates are here grouped by the states they represented:

Connecticut: William Samuel Johnson, Roger Sherman

Delaware: George Read, Gunning Bedford Jr., John Dickinson, Richard Bassett, Jacob Broom

Georgia: William Few, Abraham Baldwin

Maryland: James McHenry, Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, Daniel Carroll

Massachusetts: Nathaniel Gorham, Rufus King

New Hampshire: John Langdon, Nicholas Gilman

New Jersey: William Livingston, David Brearley, William Paterson, Jonathan Dayton

New York: Alexander Hamilton

North Carolina: William Blount, Richard Dobbs Spaight, Hugh Williamson

Pennsylvania: Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Mifflin, Robert Morris, George Clymer, Thomas FitzSimons, Jared Ingersoll, James Wilson, Gouverneur Morris

South Carolina: John Rutledge, Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, Pierce Butler

OUT TO PASTOR

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

LET THE SUMMER FUN BEGIN

Now that summer is upon us, we can turn our back on those frosty days of winter. I like winter as long as it is in the past tense. Otherwise, all that cold tenses me up something terrific. Now that summer is upon me, I can sit back, relax and enjoy those crazy, lazy days of summer.

My plans for the summer have already been established. I have a little notebook with all the things I plan to do during the summer. If someone were to open that little notebook, they will find, much to their surprise, not a thing written on any page.

That is precisely my plan. I plan to do nothing during the summer.

This is a relatively new strategy on my part. Every time I plan to do something, it never turns out right. In fact, if I plan to go right everything turns around and I end up going left. Therefore, my ingenious plan is to plan the opposite of what I really want to do. After all, it cannot be any worse than what I have been doing up to now.

I have been dreaming about the luxury of doing absolutely nothing for the summer. I have no personal goals to achieve. I have no projects needing completion. I have only one goal for the entire summer and that is to do nothing.

For this nefarious plan of mine to be successful, I will need to avoid the wife for the entire summer. If she was in the living room I would make sure, I was out in the garage. If she were out on the porch, I would be in the bathroom. I had this all worked out in my head long before Spring

For weeks now, I have been busy planning my summer's spree of non-activity. Within a matter of time, some strange thought horned in on my serenity. For some reason I hit a snag in my planning. I thought I had everything worked out. Then I noticed something strange about this new strategy of mine. That is, it is quite hard to plan to do nothing.

For example, if I plan to go fishing I know what equipment I need to lay out and what clothes I need to wear. If I am planning to go on a vacation, I know what to pack and I know the clothes to put in the suitcase and so forth. But, how do you plan to do nothing?

When I first thought of this plan, it seemed like such an easy thing to do. Something natural for a person like me. My problem was, what clothes do I need to put on when I am planning to do nothing? What kind of equipment do I need? And, should I pack a lunch?

I decided to pack a lunch anyway.

It is only one week into the summer and I have found myself to be a little stressed. My plan was to do nothing but I am not sure what that means.

When you do nothing, what exactly are you doing or not doing? Boy, do I need a philosopher to-day. (Where is Dr. Phil when you need him?) And I suppose the biggest question is, how do you define nothing?

To define nothing, you have to say something, and something certainly is not nothing. So how do I know when I am doing nothing? If I do anything, does it cancel out my goal of nothing?

To show how desperate I was, I decided to ask the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage.

"How do I know when I'm doing nothing?" I asked her.

She looked at me with one of those strange looks I have become so familiar with and just stared at me for a few moments. Then with both hands firmly placed on her hips, she answered me.

"It is simply this. You are doing nothing when you are not doing what I asked you to do." Then she produced a thick notebook of things she wanted me to do. A "to-do-list," if you please, for

It was at that point that it hit me. The only way you can do nothing is if you have something to do. If I don't have anything to do, there is nothing I can do. But if I have something to do and do not do it I am, in fact, doing nothing.

I surprised my wife by taking her to-do-list and clutching it to my bosom. I said to her with a smile, "Thank you for solving my summer problem." With that, I walked off quite cheerfully, knowing that with this list in my hand, I now have a plan to do nothing for the summer. I love it when a plan comes together.

I then did something profitable. I turned to a favorite passage in the Bible. The apostle Paul knew a thing or two about doing things. Paul said, "I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: every where and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me. (Philippi-ans 4:12-13). It may be difficult to do nothing but it is absolutely

HEALING WITH MEDICINAL PLANTS OF THE WEST

Interviewing Dr. James Adams - A Doctor on a Mission to Fight Opioid Addiction Using Native Herbs

[Nyerges is the author of "Guide to Wild Foods" and other books on self-reliance and the outdoors. He conducts regular wild food classes. He can be reached at www. SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com. ]

Dr. Adams says that the medical profession is mistaken when it comes to how to treat pain. Adams explains that although the brain processes pain, all pain in the body is felt mostly in the organ of skin. However, pain in the mouth and other orifices is felt at the site of the pain, such as a tooth. Therefore, based on his western medical training, and supported with his Chumash healing training, Adams always treats the skin for all pain conditions. Further, he states that everyone can do such self-medicating "for free," for any pain, with no harmful side-effects.

Dr. James Adams is a man on a mission. James Adams teaches pharmacology at USC, and also teaches medical students Chumash healing as part of regular classes. Adams earned his PhD in Pharmacology in 1981 at UC San Francisco in comparative pharma-cology and toxicology, and is now an Associate Professor of Pharmacology and Pharmaceutical Sciences at USC. He's written over 200 articles, both academic and general reading.

Adams got very interested in the medicinal uses of native plants back in 1994. He had been taking his son out on Boy Scout walks and began to realize that all the local plants had been used by the local Native Americans. Adams then set out to find a Na-tive American herbalist to learn from.

He talked with people from the Chumash tribe, but made no progress in finding a skilled herbalist for about two years. Finally, he met Cecilia Garcia. Adams then be-came Garcia's apprentice, and spent 14 years learning from her, and practicing Chu-mash healing on patients.

Adams and Garcia eventually collaborated to produce the book "Healing with Medic-inal Plants of the West," which was published in 2005. Since their collaboration, Ad-ams and Garcia have led nearly 100 walks and workshops to teach about the Native use of healing herbs, until Garcia's untimely death

I asked Dr. Adams whether or not he was just cynical of the medical profession, as I am, or perhaps he believes that doctors are more concerned about making a buck than actually healing a patient. Neither, he told me. "Doctors are simply working on a false preconceived notion that herbs are not strong enough to deal with certain physical conditions. But believe me, some herbs are just as strong as any patent med-icines out there." He adds that there is a lot of good medicine being practiced, but not with the use of opioids for pain.

He points out that there are currently at least 67,000 people who die in the U.S. every year from prescription opioids, and that figure is rising. According to Adams, doctors work from the premise that you should try to control pain by using the drugs that af-fect the brain. They tell the patient, let's try x, or y, or z, and when those don't work, they try opioids, Adams explained that opioids are compounds synthesized based upon opium's chem-istry. This is highly addictive, and has not been shown to work. This is all based on the notion that you need to cure the pain in your brain, but there are no pain receptors in your brain. More than 95% of the body's pain receptors are in the skin.

"Cecilia taught me how to make and use linaments from black sage and sagebrush," says Dr. Adams. "And as a result of working with several hundred patients over the years, I have seen that these are great pain killers, which also have the ability to deal with chronic pain." Dr. Adams added the science to his corroboration with Garcia, by explaining medically why the Chumash systems work.

"We need to learn how to treat pain correctly, and we are not doing that correctly with oral medicines," says Adams. "When I was a boy, everyone knew how to take care of themselves when it came to the most basic everyday medical issues, like using sassafras, verba santa, and other common herbs. But no one seems to know any of this anymore."

Through his writings and teachings, Dr. Adams hopes to bring back the notion that the body can heal itself if we allow it to do so, and that everyone should take charge of their health, and not assume that the doctor can "heal" us.

Adams readily admits that there are some cases that his black sage or sage brush lin-iment doesn't entirely cure, though there are no side effects either, as in the case of opioids.

Adams has also been compiling actual testimonials to demonstrate the efficacy of the healing method that he practices.

Though there is a comprehensive depth to his scope of teaching, he usually empha-sizes that he's not healing anyone, that's he's only making it possible for the body to heal itself.

RECIPES [more details are found in Adams' book] BLACK SAGE SUN TEA: FOOT SOAK FOR ALL BODY PAINS

Soak about ¼ pound of black sage leaves and stems (Salvia mellifera) in two quarts of water, and set in the sun for several hours until the tea is dark red

Pour the sun tea into a pan, and soak feet for 15-20 Minutes a day for 7 days. Refrig-erate after each use. Wait one week to see what happens to your pain. Repeat pro-cess after second week. This is for any

One student at one of Dr. Adams' classes soaked his feet in the black sage tea and reported that his chronic neck pain was gone for over a week. "According to James Ruther, "Yes, it worked! I go to the chiropractor every three weeks to manage my condition. My condition is a pinched nerve in my neck. I soaked my feet in the black sage tea and I was pain-free for about a week and a half. My daily pain is more of a discomfort now."

SAGEBRUSH LINIMENT: ELDER'S WINTER MEDICINE

Into a container [he typically uses an 8 ounce Mason jar], place one leaf of white sage. Add 4 to 6 pieces of avocado pits (for their oil). Fill the container with as much Sagebrush (Artemisia californica) as you can. Fill the jar with 70% isopropyl alcohol. Some use either tequila or vodka instead. Let sit for at least 6 weeks. Decant, and use the liquid sparingly, as a spray or rub, on those painful parts of the body.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

WHY SENIORS AND THEIR FAMILIES SHOULD BE WARY OF REVERSE MORTGAGES

If you've watched TV lately, you've likely seen ads selling reverse mortgages. A reverse mortgage can be a great tool to help you realize your dreams. However, it is a very specific type of tool for a very specific type of situation. If used incorrectly, it can cause a borrower to lose their home. You owe it to yourself and your loved ones to learn the good, the bad, and the ugly of reverse mortgages.

A reverse mortgage is a loan which allows homeowners 62 and older to convert some of the equity they have in their primary residence into cash. The amount of equity required to obtain a reverse mortgage depends on your age. Younger borrowers need about 60% equity in their homes to qualify, while those over 80 may need just 45%.

Once approved, you can receive the money in one of three ways: as a lump sum, as monthly installments, or as a line of credit. Because you receive payments from the lender, your home's equity decreases over time, while the loan balance gets larger, thus the term "reverse" mortgage.

With a reverse mortgage, you no longer have to make monthly mortgage payments, and you can stay in your home as long as you keep up with property taxes, pay insurance premiums, and keep the home in good repair. Lenders make money through origination fees, mortgage insurance, and interest on the loan balance, all of which can exceed $10,000 to $15,000.

Be aware, the reverse mortgage loan (plus interest and fees) becomes due and must be repaid in full when any of the following events occur:

Your death

You are out of the home for 12 consecutive months or more, such as in the case of needing nursing home care

You sell the home or transfer title

You default on the loan by failing to keep up with insurance premiums, property taxes, or by letting the home fall into disrepair

A still evolving industry

In 2011, the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau cracked down on some of the misleading advertising practices by lenders. All reverse mortgage advertisers are now required to disclose that the loans must be repaid after death or upon move-out. Additionally, advertisers can no longer claim the loans are a "government benefit" or "risk free."

In 2014, HUD developed new policies to better protect surviving spouses who were often being "left out in the cold" literally under the old rules. Now, if a married couple with one spouse under age 62 wants to take out a reverse mortgage, they may list the underage spouse as a "non-borrowing spouse" with rights to retain the home if the older spouse dies.

Despite these recent changes, however, the number of ads for reverse mortgages hasn't declined and too many borrowers (and non-borrowing spouses) still end up going through foreclosure. The industry continues to need to offer better protections for the elderly against unscrupulous reverse mortgage lending practices.

GET IN TROUBLE: STORIES by Kelly Link

FINALIST FOR THE PULITZER PRIZE A bewitching story collection from a writer hailed as "the most darkly playful voice in American fiction" (Michael Chabon) and "a na-tional treasure" (Neil Gaiman). She has been hailed by Michael Chabon as "the most darkly playful voice in American fiction" and by Neil Gaiman as "a national treasure." Now Kelly Link's eagerly awaited new collection—her first for adult readers in a dec-ade—proves indelibly that this bewitchingly original writer is among the finest we have. Link has won an ardent following for her ability, with each new short story, to take readers deeply into an unforgettable, brilliantly constructed fictional universe. The nine exquisite examples in this collection show her in full command of her formi-dable powers. In "The Summer People," a young girl in rural North Carolina serves as uneasy caretaker to the mysterious, never-quite-glimpsed visitors who inhabit the cottage behind her house. In "I Can See Right Through You," a middle-aged movie star makes a disturbing trip to the Florida swamp where his former on- and off-screen love interest is shooting a ghost-hunting reality show. In "The New Boyfriend," a suburban slumber party takes an unusual turn, and a teenage friendship is tested, when the spoiled birthday girl opens her big present: a life-size animated doll. Hurri-canes, astronauts, evil twins, bootleggers, Ouija boards, iguanas, The Wizard of Oz, superheroes, the Pyramids . . . These are just some of the talismans of an imagination as capacious and as full of wonder as that of any writer today. But as fantastical as these stories can be, they are always grounded by sly humor and an innate generosity of feeling for the frailty—and the hidden strengths—of human beings. In Get in Trou-ble, this one-of-a-kind talent expands the boundaries of what short fiction can do.

OUTSIDE LOOKING IN: A Novel by T.C. Boyle

In this stirring and insightful novel, T.C. Boyle takes us back to the 1960s and to the early days of a drug whose effects have reverberated widely throughout our culture: LSD.In 1943, LSD is synthesized in Basel. Two decades later, a coterie of grad students at Harvard are gradually drawn into the inner circle of renowned psychologist and psychedelic drug enthusiast Timothy Leary. Fitzhugh Loney, a psychology Ph.D. student and his wife, Joanie, become entranced by the drug's possibilities such that their "research" becomes less a matter of clinical trials and academic papers and in-stead turns into a free-wheeling exploration of mind expansion, group dynamics, and communal living. With his trademark humor and pathos, Boyle moves us through the Loneys' initiation at one of Leary's parties to his notorious summer seminars in Zi-huatanejo until the Loneys' eventual expulsion from Harvard and their introduction to a communal arrangement of thirty devotees—students, wives, and children—living together in a sixty-four room mansion and devoting themselves to all kinds of exper-imentation and questioning. Is LSD a belief system? Does it allow you to see God? Can the Loneys' marriage—or any marriage, for that matter—survive the chaotic and sometimes orgiastic use of psychedelic drugs? Wry, witty, and wise, Outside Looking In is an ideal subject for this American master, and highlights Boyle's acrobatic prose, detailed plots, and big ideas. It's an utterly engaging and occasionally trippy look at the nature of reality, identity, and consciousness, as well as our seemingly infinite ca-pacities for creativity, re-invention, and self-discovery.

PUSH BACK ON L- S.C. San Francisco became the first major U.S. city Tuesday to ban the sale of electronic cigarettes that have not undergone the required Food and Drug Administration (FDA) review." E-cigarettes are a product that, by law, are not allowed on the market without FDA re-view. For some reason, the FDA has so far refused to follow the law. If the federal government is not going to act, San Francisco will." Backers said they hope the legis-lation will curb underage use of e-cigarettes, but critics said the ban will make it harder for adults to purchase an alternative to regular cigarettes. The pushback to e-cigarettes is becoming a nationwide trend. Texas Gov. Greg Abbott signed a law rais-ing the legal age to buy e-cigarettes and tobacco in his state to 21 on June 7, joining 13 other states including California. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., and Sen. Tim Kaine, D-Va., also recently introduced a bill to raise the federal mini-mum age to buy tobacco. From 2017 to 2018, e-cigarette use increased 78 percent among high school students and 48 percent among middle schoolers, according to the Fad's Francisco is a city that celebrates its marijuana culture, but it appears deep-ly opposed to other vices.

WILL DURST A RASH OF LIES

President Trump has been called many things. A short-fingered vulgarian. Mister Misdirection. The Cheater-in-Chief. Vlad's ventriloquist dummy. Boss Tweet. Herr Gropenfuhrer. The Oval Office Oompa Loompa. But the most apropos moniker to throw at him is, the King of Lies.

According to the Washington Post, the former New York City real estate developer is closing in on 11,000 lies since taking the Oath of Office. Which occurred approximately 900 days ago, averaging out to a bit more than 12 lies a day. And that's in public. We have no idea how many lies he tosses towards staff or family or himself.

And yes indeed, you are correct, sir: "liar" is so pejorative. Let's call him a serial fibber. A fabricator. Deceiver. Falsifier. Prevaricator. Pseudologist. But whatever you call it, Donald Trump is the undisputed heavyweight champion of lying. Holds the Guinness Book World Record for making stuff up. Orange-man speak with forked tongue.

Some lies are political, ie; claiming he was against the Iraqi War when multiple examples of him saying the opposite exist. Some lies are just to pump the brand such as when he said the head of the Boy Scouts called to say he gave the best speech ever at a national gathering, something the Head Scout said never happened. Some lies are pure animal instinct. To maintain and move on. Going to release his tax returns after his audit. Longest... audit... ever.

Others are inexplicable. What reason would he have to say his father was born in Germany when the man was born in New York? Nobody cares. But he keeps saying it. Perhaps simply a little self-delusion to reinforce his love of sauerkraut?

He lies and then he lies about lying and then he lies about lying about lying. Even if he said he were lying, he'd be lying. Which is metaphysically difficult. He lies to the press and then believes what he reads. Since it's him being quoted, it must be true.

He lies because it is his nature. He lies because he's good at it. He lies to stay in practice. He lies to keep opponents off balance. He lies because he is never held accountable or forced to suffer a consequence by either the Republican Party or his base. He lies because he can.

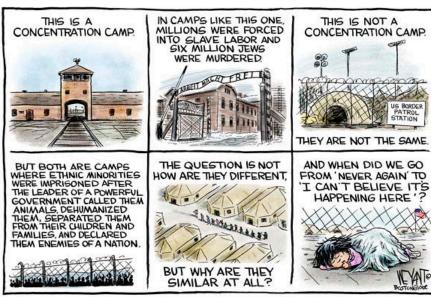

If ever caught in a lie, he just denies it. Even though there's tape of him saying it out loud. In a press conference after Helsinki he said he didn't see any reason why Vladimir Putin would interfere in our elections and after everyone, including his own staff, flipped out, he said, what he meant to say was, "he didn't know why he wouldn't have," which doesn't make any sense.

In a recent interview with George Stephanopoulos he said he didn't see anything wrong with accepting dirt on opponents from foreign powers and that he would do it again. The very day after the interview aired, he said he never said that.

The man is responsible for more bad lies than all of his golf courses put together after a month-long strike by the groundskeepers. He goes so far beyond pathological liar, psychologists are going to name a new condition after him. Karma mandates it be something that comes with a nasty rash.

ELIZABETH PRIVATE H Is it possible Wednesday ni quiz show? You Moderator Les private health

180 million Americans can actually win a general election.

ELIZABETH WARREN WANTS TO ABOLISH PRIVATE HEALTH INSURANCE. UH OH.

Is it possible to pluck one newsworthy moment from Wednesday night's cacophonous 10-contestant Democratic quiz show? You bet. Here we go:

Moderator Lester Holt asked, "Who here would abolish their private health insurance in favor of a government-run plan? Just a show of hands." Elizabeth Warren raised hers.

Uh oh. Warren is a solidly top-tier candidate, with a decent shot at winning the nomination, but, politically speaking, I seriously question whether someone who wants to abolish the private health care of

Warren was the sole candidate on stage who's polling in double digits, crowding Bernie Sanders for second place behind Joe Biden. Her words counted the most. She was also the sole person on stage (except for one-percent candidate Bill de Blasio) who called for the abolition of private health insurance - a stance she hadn't articulated on

"Look at the business model of an insurance company. It's to bring in as many dollars as they can in premiums and to pay out as few dollars as possible for your health care. That leaves families with rising premiums, rising co-pays, and fighting with insurance companies to try to get the health care that their doctors say that they and their children need. 'Medicare for all' solves that problem," Warren said.

Her stance may enhance her nomination prospects, within a party that has moved leftward since 2016. Most grassroots Democrats likely won't fault her critique of the private insurance companies, and lots of centrist swing voters with private coverage have their own complaints about the status quo system.

But in politics, you don't necessarily win awards for great intentions, or for articulating the most rational arguments. Warren conceded that there are "political reasons" for not supporting government health care, but she didn't say what they are.

A landslide majority of Americans like their private health coverage, and they don't want it taken away. Indeed, voters in general don't like it when politicians try to take something away.

Granted, most Americans reportedly support the nebulous concept of "Medicare for all," but as soon as they're confronted with caveats, it's a different story. According to the nonpartisan Kaiser Tracking Poll, "Medicare for all" gets a thumbs-up rating, 56 to 42 percent. But when Americans are told that the program could eliminate private health insurance - as Bernie Sanders' agenda envisions, phasing out private coverage within four years - most people run for the hills. The numbers are suddenly reversed: 37 percent yes, 58 percent no.

Imagine what Trump and the Republicans would do with that, if Warren or Sanders were nominated. And on this issue, they wouldn't even need to lie. Warren is confident about her powers of persuasion, but it's hard to foresee her winning the argument for government health care. Fairly or not, "socialism" is a word that's easy to demagogue, and Americans (especially those 45 and older, the most reliable voters) simply don't like the word. They may be blind to the socialistic initiatives that they've long enjoyed (from Social Security to the interstate highway system), but that's just political reality. Which is why candidate Kamala Harris has walked back her early support for abolishing private health insurance.

Amy Klobuchar, who has gotten little traction in the race thus far, said on stage Wednesday night: "I am just simply concerned about kicking half of America off of their health insurance in four years."

For the Trump campaign and the GOP, that's the perfect video clip - an acknowledgment, from a Democrat, that Warren would imperil "half of America." And Joe Biden's campaign is drawing a sharp contrast with Warren, endorsing the more incremental approach to health reform. In a statement, it said: "The Biden administration will give every American the right to choose a public option like Medicare." (Clever use of "right to choose.")

So we did get some clarity last night, at least on the top-tier issue of health care: government coverage versus incremental reform. Should the Democrats go boldly leftward, or practice prudent moderation?

Elizabeth Warren wowed the liberal base, but she may have teed up the GOP's top attack ad and rendered herself less electable.

THE DEMOCRATS' DEBATE COULD HAVE BEEN WORSE

Expectations could not have been lower going into round one of the Democrat Party's ridiculously overcrowded presidential debate in Miami.

Maybe that's why it turned out to be a decently watchable debate. It was no "Games of Thrones" finale, but it could have been much, much worse.

NBC had that embarrassing audio glitch at the halfway point, which actually turned out to be entertaining.

thinking they are going to become president someday.

But NBC's all-star moderators - Lester Holt, Savannah Guthrie, Jose Diaz-Balart, Chuck Todd and even star left-fielder Rachel Maddow did a competent, fair, business-like job. They lobbed dozens of softball questions to the ten politically indistinguishable major and minor league Democrats who have deluded themselves and their parents into

The moderators let everyone deliver their pre-canned answers on how they'd solve issues like health care and immigration and save the planet from the twin existential threats posed by climate change and President Trump.

Being good liberals themselves, they let every socialist candidate take home run swings at big pharma and the rich one precent, and make their wild promises of free healthcare and free college for all.

If Savannah, Todd or Rachel pressed anyone on how much all the "free" government stuff they wanted to give away was going to cost, or how they planned to pay for it, I missed it.

NBC's moderators were operating under tough circumstances, but it would have been nice if they had asked some tougher questions or baited the candidates into sniping at each other.

They also might have asked a few of them to explain why Congress and previous administrations, including Obama's, have refused for nearly 40 years to do what is necessary to secure the border and reform immigration laws.

Everyone in the country was understandably saddened this week by the photo of the dead father and his little daughter who drowned trying to cross the Rio Grande.

Democrats naturally have blamed their deaths on President Trump, but as I said on Newsmax after the debate, there have been Latino men, women and children dying coming across that border for years.

Our border patrol officers find their dead bodies in the desert every day. But no one ever blamed Obama or his policies for their deaths, just as they never blamed him for those "cages" that were built for immigrant children during his reign.

Giving candidates just 60 seconds to tell America how they plan to end the immigration crisis, reform healthcare or avert climate change was a mistake that should be fixed for future debates when the field of candidates drops to an even dozen or so.

But some candidates clearly did better than others.

Elizabeth Warren and her multi-list of big plans for government solutions to everything was arguably the big winner. She knew what she wanted to say and said it clearly and energetically.

Booker did well and didn't make a joke out of himself, though I wish Chuck Todd has asked him if he thought Bill Deblasio was doing a good job as mayor of New York.

The most sensible guy on the stage, who 99.9 percent of Americans have never heard of, was the retired businessman and ex-congressman from Maryland, John Delaney.

He pointed out the foolishness of everyone else's favorite fix for health care, Medicare

Go to your local hospital, what's-his-name said, and ask the administrators what would happen if every one of their bills were paid at the current Medicare rate. They'd tell you the truth, he said -- they'd have to go out of business.

Wednesday night's opening Democratic debate is already old news.

But if it had been an episode of "Survivor" and I had to pick the winners and losers, I'd let Warren, Booker, former Housing Secretary Julian Castro and New York Mayor Bill Deblasio move forward and I'd send the rest home.
