SIERRA MADRE INITIATES NEW PUBLIC PARKING LOT REGULATIONS

FREE DAILY PUBLIC PARKING

OVERNIGHT PARKING BY PERMIT ONLY

WWW.CITYOFSIERRAMADRE.COM TOW AWAY

S.M.M.C. 10.24.230

This year, the Sierra Madre City Council adopted Resolution No. 19-13 which applies the city-wide overnight parking regulations to the City's public parking lots. Overnight parking will now require a permit as it does on City streets. There will continue to be no permit or fees required for morning, afternoon, and evening use.

The lots affected are: South Baldwin Public Parking Lot, Mariposa Public Parking Lot, Auburn Public Parking Lot, East Montecito Public Parking Lot.

In addition to security considerations, the new regulations are expected to increase the equitability of parking availability and increase the parking options for those who intend to shop in Sierra Madre's commercial district. A permit is required to park on a public parking lot between the hours of 3:00am and 5:00am. There is a 72-hour maximum as well as a two-ton maximum on each vehicle. Permits may be acquired from the City's website at www.cityofsierramadre. com and selecting the "Parking" icon on the left menu.

PUSD VOTES TO CLOSE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

By Dean Lee

The Pasadena Unified School District Board voted 4 to 3 Thursday night to permanently close three elementary schools Roosevelt, Franklin and Jefferson.

The move came as officials said there has been shrinking enrollment. In the past two years, PUSD had an average decline of 400 students.

The schools that are on this list, whether they are closed or not, are not on this list because they are bad places to be, because they are not," PUSD board president Lawrence Torres said to a crowed room. Many were holding protest signs to save the schools.

As Torres tried to make his opening remarks, in the hallway, a group of children chanted "Stop closing our schools."

WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side by Deanne Davis

"Do you give the horse its strength or clothe its neck with a flowing mane? Do you make it leap like a locust, striking terror with its proud snorting? It paws fiercely, rejoicing in its strength, and charges into the fray. It laughs at fear, afraid of nothing; it does not shy away from the sword. The quiver rattles against its side, along with the flashing spear and lance. In frenzied excitement it eats up the ground; it cannot stand still when the trumpet sounds." Job 39:19-24

I'm sure you all read the piece by Joan Schmidt last week in the Mountain Views News, "We Support Horseracing." (Page 5) Well, I support horseracing, too. And with beautiful Santa Anita Race Track just down the hill, we've probably all spent some delightful time there watching the Sport of Kings with our spectacular mountains just to the north. In fact, when I was in high school, down at South Pasadena High – back in the stone age – my mother used to come take me out of school on Wednesdays for a period of time when she wanted to bet on horses and take me with her to Santa Anita. I was only too willing to go as just about anything beat afternoon P.E. featuring field hockey with Ms. Jacobs. My fondest memories of those Wednesdays involve having the best corned beef sandwich I've ever eaten in my life up to the present. Corned beef, hot, sliced paper thin, between slices of the softest, tastiest rye bread ever baked, with just a touch of Dijon mustard. Cole slaw on the side. Yes, I know, I'm envisioning this sandwich through rose-colored glasses, but, oh dear friends, it was beyond delicious. Or maybe it was the combination of skipping school and enjoying lunch at the Club House that made it taste so very good.

Some years later, our son-in-law, Dave, took a whole bunch of family members to the track and I ordered the corned beef sandwich and...well, you already know, it was nothing like I remembered. But we're talking about horseracing now, in the Bible as part of God's response to Job's complaining, also begins and ends Secretariat, the 2010 film produced and released by Walt Disney Pictures.

My point? This Triple Crown winning horse loved to race. run and they want to win. To think of sending them out to and their desire to do what God has made them to do, to pasture during their prime years is just wrong.

As Joan points out, horseracing provides jobs and adds to the If you've been undecided about horseracing and whether it GNP. Besides, people love to see these four-legged athletes perform. One of the most exciting things you'll ever hear is that announcer at the track shouting, "And they're off!"

Another champion, a fictional one, is The Black Stallion. This is the first of a series of books by Walter Farley, which he started while he was still in high school. He finished it as an undergrad at Columbia. It was published by Random House in 1941 when he was just 26. I didn't come across The Black Stallion till I was about 8 or 9 and then I was just The Scarecrow Contest is on and I've seen some beauties... as hooked on Alec Ramsey and The Black as all the Harry like the one in the picture. Have a great week dear friends Potter fans are now, waiting breathlessly for the next one to come out. There were 21 Black Stallion books, the last one published in 1991 showing Walter Farley and his son, Steven "Sunrises & Sunflowers Speak Hope" Farley as co-authors as Walter Farley passed away in 1989. is a great gift for yourself or someone you love! Steven has picked up the baton and has continued with The Look for it on my book page: Amazon.com: Deanne Davis and, well, here's a little back story and a quote. Even though the Black has no papers and can't participate in any official races, Alec and his friend Henry Dailey decide to proceed:

"Undeterred, they begin to train him anyway, under cover of darkness, at the racetrack. He is lightning fast; one night not sandwiches. The quote above, in addition to appearing they have Alec ride him for a time trial and find him to be much faster than the two quickest champions of the day. Sun Raider is the west coast champion and Cyclone the east, but the two have never raced each other, much to the disappointment of the public who are captivated by their He wanted to run and he wanted to win. When we talk about rivalry." Needless to say, the excitement builds and builds and continues through 20+ books. And it's all about horses run and they want to and their desire to do what Codd. run, to race and to win.

> should continue in California, think about the purpose of these champions. If you told Serena Williams she couldn't play tennis anymore, what would she do? If you told Tiger Woods to put down that putter and do something else, what would he do? Same with all true athletes whether they have two legs or four! If you know a kid who likes horses, you might give him or her The Black Stallion. Walter Farley, incidentally, never owned a horse of his own.

During the investigation, it was determined that the subject had an outstanding arrest warrant and was in possession of narcotics. The suspect was arrested and taken to the Pasadena Jail for booking.

On 9/21/19 at 7:05PM, officers responded to the 400 block of Sturtevant Dr. regarding a suspicious vehicle (black sedan with collision damage to the rear and muffler hanging) that was seen in the area. Officers located the vehicle on Sierra Madre Blvd east of Mountain Trail Ave. Officers contacted the driver who was unlicensed and had narcotics paraphernalia in the vehicle. He was cited and released.

TALENTED PETS

No one appreciates your pets as much as you do. They're kind of like children or grandchildren in that regard. Go ahead and show us the pictures, but just know no one else is as captivated as you are. That being said, please indulge me while I tell you all about Fibs, my parrot. (That, and I've got nothing else to write about this week. The world's always got news, but do you really want to be depressed?)

Of course you don't. That's why you've got me, and that's why I've got Fibby. Fibs/ Fibby is actually my parents' bird. But I see them every day, and I believe I'm Fibby's favorite person, so that makes him mine.

Fibby's one of those noisy, green Amazon parrots you see flying around the area. Not to be confused with similar green parrots that are slightly smaller, with longer, tapered tails. Don't know what kind those are.

I've written about Fibs before, but it's been a while. He entered our lives when he fell out of my parents' neighbor's palm tree. He was old enough to have feathered wings, but the rest of him was pretty bald. Just enough protection to safely flutter down the 50 foot drop. I think God designed them with just that sort of situation in mind. He knows they're klutzes.

Anyway, all the neighbors know my parents are bird people, and the rest is cliched history. He's been with us about a year

Besides being adorable, Fibby's also talented. My dad's taught him the Dodger cheer and the beginning notes to Beethoven's 5th. He can also say, "Oh boy," "Okay," "Hi, Katie," and make himself sound like a chicken. Fibs hasn't quite mastered "Jingle Bells" yet, but we've got a few months till Christmas.

I'm trying to teach him to say "Seriously," but the syllable count may be a bit beyond his current skill set. He's good with "What?," which he picked up in about 5 minutes.

One of his particular talents is interjecting "What?!" and "Oh boy!" into our conversations at just the right moment. We think he understands English.

But there is one talent he's lacking. Bob, our late Umbrella Cockatoo, had a seemingly built-in empathetic capacity to know not to dump on us. If he was sitting on our shoulder, etc., he'd wait till he was off before doing his business. Fibs, not so much. But we still love him. In the same vein however, Fibs does have an uncanny knack for knowing what color dropping will stand out most prominently on our clothing, and ejects them accordingly. (Hope I'm not being too graphic, but it's all in the name of humor. At least I hope that's what you're getting.)

His care packages are green and white, but he seems to be able to make them more white if we're wearing a dark color, and more green if we're wearing light-colored clothes. Probably something to do with sphincter

Anyway, Fibs is very talented and we couldn't imagine life without him. Hope you've enjoyed this version of me scrolling through photos on my phone for you to look at. I promise not to do it often. But if you had a loveable, talented pet, and the blank canvas of a newspaper column to fill every week, you'd do the same

*Speaking of talented pets, check out my novel, "A Year at Apex!" Not that it's about animals, but it does have a sometimes-foul-mouthed African Gray parrot. Besides that, it's got humor, romance, the human condition, and public education. Paperback and ebook on Amazon and Barnes & Noble. Cheers!

CHU'S STATEMENT ON LAUNCH OF

OFFICIAL IMPEACHMENT INQUIRY

According to officials, Last week, President Trump confirmed reports that he ordered Congressionally appropriated aid to Ukraine be withheld, mere days before a phone conversation with the new President during which he admitted to bringing up an investigation into his political rivals. The details of the call are reportedly included in a whistleblower report that is required by law to be provided to Congress, but which is being illegally withheld. Today, Speaker of the House Nancy

Pelosi announced the start of an official impeachment inquiry revolving around the allegations of abuse of power and obstruction of Congressional investigations. Rep. Judy Chu

"I completely agree with Speaker Pelosi. What President

Trump has admitted to is an unacceptable abuse of power.

We already know from the Mueller report that the Trump campaign solicited foreign intervention in the 2016 election and then repeatedly tried to hide that fact and obstruct an investigation into it. He has also said that he would welcome foreign involvement again. Now, a new report indicates that, true to his word, the President is using his office and the foreign policy of the United States in order to advance his own personal political interests and smear his political opponents.

Worse, he is illegally obstructing Congressional investigations by blocking the release of the whistleblower report. The only recourse is an impeachment inquiry, during which we will bring to light the facts that President Trump is trying to hide.

In doing so, we will make the case to the American people that abusing power, subverting democracy, and obstructing

area where earthquakes are possible, we need to know how to protect ourselves during earthquakes. Many of our out-of-state and international students may have never experienced an earthquake and have had little to no earthquake preparedness education. Some of us may know what to do, but have not practiced how to protect ourselves since we were children.

Help us keep Pasadena City College students and community prepared and safe by encouraging participation in the Great California ShakeOut earthquake drill on October 17, 2019, at 10:17 a.m

Each year more than 25 million people participate in Great ShakeOut Earthquake Drills worldwide, in K-12 schools, colleges, businesses, government agencies, other organizations, and households. Participants practice "Drop, Cover, and Hold On" (and other aspects of their emergency plans):

DROP to the ground (before the earthquake drops you!);

COVER your head and neck with your arms and seek additional shelter by getting under a sturdy desk or table if nearby; and resour HOLD ON to your shelter and be prepared to move with it until the safety.

STOP ILLEGAL FIREWORKS IN THE MONROVIA. ARCADIA, DUARTE COUNTY AREA By Joan Schmidt

Many years ago, I knew Michelle Silence; she had an Aerobics Business on Huntington Drive, Monrovia. Fast forward 25+ years. Michelle lives in the City of Duarte and was disgusted with the sale of fireworks, and their illegal use in surrounding county areas. Michelle accomplished "It will NEVER happen" ban of fireworks in Duarte. (Nonprofits had depended on funds from fireworks sales.)

Last night, Michelle spearheaded a meeting because the fireworks in the MAD area were "out of control". Attendees included Sarah Maravilla and Eliza Arcidiacono from Supervisor Barger's Office; Sergeant Richard Lewis, Temple Station; M.A.D. Town Council Members, Dave Hall, Linda Sells, Joan Schmidt; Monrovia's Mayor Pro Tem Larry Spicer; Duarte City Council Member Toney Lewis; members of L.A. County, Monrovia and Arcadia Fire Departments; and many concerned citizens.

The meeting began with an excellent Video that explained the problem of illegal fireworks in the county areas. It mentioned that use of fireworks in Temple Station's jurisdiction has decreased by 52% in the incorporated cities, but increased by 55% in county areas.

I am very glad Sgt. Lewis attended and could explain the VAST size of county areas covered by two patrol cars, and how cities have several more cars. Most people don't realize that five Cities have contacts with Temple Station and pay a certain amount for the number of cars.

FIRE STATION 101 141 E. LEMON AVE 10 AM TO 2 PM

Meet the Monrovia Fire Department's New Mascot, Samsonm the Fire Education Bear

Also Deborah Mendelsohn, previously Field Deputy for Supervisor Barger gave me the population of the MAD area as 18,039. Another point is we are served by Fire Station 169. Were they contacted about information?

The Presentation gave us a Plan. Establish a Pilot Program. The three key components are Education, Entertainment and Enforcement. Education can go a long way. A fire department can do demonstrations. Have a meeting-show graphic pictures, have guest speakers, appeal to children. Use a lot of signs in the area to remind people it's illegal. The Entertainment could be at Pamela Park. Have goody bags for the children. Involve local churches. The last suggestion pertained to Enforcement but two of the suggestions had negative repercussions. Again, I was so grateful Sgt. Lewis, Mr. Spicer and Mr. Lewis attended and could give insight about various suggestions.

Ms. Arcidiacono will speak to Supervisor Barger and find out what funding may be available to assist with this program to combat the issue of illegal fireworks in the county area. PLEASE COME TO THE NEXT TOWN COUNCIL MEETING, 7 p.m., Wednesday, OCTOBER 16, ALL NATIONS CHURCH, 1948 Peck Road, Monrovia. I hope we will have some more info for you

BACK IN THE SADDLE

Santa Anita Park is up and running, and I have already had the pleasure to make it out a few days for this current meet. Many have tried to feed the masses but have come up short -- Dodger Stadium, Staples Center, the Rose Bowl - so I can honestly say that Frontrunner (Santa Anita Park's restaurant and bar) offers top-notch food. Not that I don't enjoy a $10 hot dog, but there so many levels of enjoyment when dining at the race track. Sure, you can go to the concession stand at get a dog and a beer ($2 on Fridays), but I recommend going to one of the many carving stations and getting one of arguably the best sandwiches this side of the 405 freeway. Roast Beef, Corned Beef, Turkey, and Ham all sliced in front of you, under $10, and you can get it your way. Rye Bread? Sure, they have it. Pickles a must? You got it! I got mine with just mustard. Nothing beats getting a sandwich and a beer and sitting in the Club House with an unobstructed view of the San Gabriel Mountains... and of course the ponies running in front of you.

Feeling like a big shot and still want the killer views? I have your answer at Front Runner. Prices here are still very reasonable for some top notch food. I started with the Creamy Clam Chowder (the menu said famous, so I had to have that, right?) Next was the Maryland Crab Cake ($31) just like I remembered from my days living in Baltimore. I had no room for dessert, but the server said that all were made on the premises, so next time I will try one! Tip: my hi-roller friend Carl. swears that the pepperoni pizza ($15) is one of the best

Saving the best for last, the view from Frontrunner is a true postcard. And the bar, I am told, is the longest bar west of the Mississippi. There is a true "cool buzz" when hanging around Frontrunner. If you just want to hang out at the aforementioned bar with a bowl of clam chowder or dine-in you can't go wrong with either pick. Keep in mind the dining room does get busy on special race days, so not only do I recommend an advance reservation, please bring a little patience with you.

Added recently are the box seats, another up close and personal view of the finish line.

As always prices are subject to change, light dress code. Parking and admission are additional.

THE ROOTS OF HALLOWEEN

Is it possible to celebrate a pre-commercialized version?

[Nyerges is the author of several books including "How to Survive Anywhere," "Extreme Simplicity," and "Foraging California." Information California." Information about his books and classes is available at www.Schoolof-Self-Reliance.com.]

Recently, I was part of a conversation where our small group wondered, How was this Holy Day com-memorated before it was all commercialized into a scary night? Is it possible to observe this Holy Day in a similar fashion today?

We determined that we'd need to dig up whatever historical facts we could find that show how this day was commemorated before 1700, more or less. Though we couldn't be 100% certain, we at least as-sumed that "commercialization" didn't really exist in 1700, and all the European and some American commemorations before that year probably retained some semblance of what the day was all about, originally.

So, first, let's begin with the day.

It is believed that the ancient Celts observed something called a "Samhain festival" towards the end of October. Says the World Book Encyclopedia. "The Celts believed that the dead could walk among the able to rest. living at this time. During Samhain, the living could visit with the dead. Elements of the customs can be traced to a Druid ceremony in pre-Christian times. The Celts had festivals for two major godsa sun god and a god of the dead (called Samhain), whose festival was held on November 1, the beginning of the Celtic New

This day, or period, was to mark the end of the harvest and the beginning of winter. Samhain (pronounced "sow-in," which means "summer's end," or the name of a god, or both) is seen by some Wiccans as a time to celebrate the lives of those who have died, and it often involves paying respect to ancestors, family members, elders of the faith, friends, pets and other loved ones who have died. In some rituals the shapes foretold the number of future chilspirits of the dead are invited to attend the festivities.

Various sorts of activities done on Samhain have been described over the centuries. In Ireland, Samhain was a time to take stock of the herds and food supplies. Cattle were brought to the winter pastures after six months in the higher summer pastures. Then, the people chose which animals to slaughter before the winter. After the slaughter of the animals, there would be feasting. And obviously, if you aren't an animal-raising farmer, how would you celebrate this aspect, except for the feasting?

The Catholic Church was aware of all the so-called "pagan" observances, and had their own day to com-memorate the dead, May 13. This began in 609 or 610 A.D., when Pope Boniface the 4th dedicated the Pantheon— the Roman temple of all the gods—to Mary and all the martyrs. Later that date was changed by Pope Gregory III (731-741 A.D.), who dedicated a chapel in Rome to all the saints and ordered that they be honored on November 1. This was done, in part, to overshadow the pre-existing Samhain com-memorations.

In the 11th century, November 2nd was assigned as "All Souls' Day" in commemoration of the dead. So this began the use of the term Hallow's Eve, or Hallowe'en for Hallowe'en customs are similar to the observance of Dia de los Muertos or Day of the Dead, commonly practiced in Mexico and which can be traced to early Aztec times. Apparently, this "day of the dead" was originally commemorated in Mexico in May, and was changed to November 2 sometime after Span-ish contact to correspond with the Christian tradition.

FOOD and GIFTING

Trick or treating in modern times goes back to leaving food and wine for roaming dead spirits and ghosts. The custom was referred to as "going a-souling" and was eventually practiced only by the children who would visit the houses in their neighborhoods and be given gifts of ale, food and money. It was believed the spirits of the dead returned to visit their old homes during this time, so in ancient times, people left food out for them and arranged chairs so that the dead would be Treats called "soul cakes" were given out in memory of the departed. The Middle Age begging for food in return for prayers became popular and is even referenced sí. by William Shakespeare in 1593. This is treating" for mini Snickers bars, a practice no doubt loved by every dentist.

Seasonal foods such as apples and nuts were often used in the Samhain rituals. Apples were peeled, the peel tossed over the shoulder, and its shape examined to see if it formed the first letter of the future spouse's name. Nuts were roasted on the hearth and then interpreted – if the nuts staved together, so would the couple. Egg whites were dropped in water, and the dren. Children would also chase crows and divine some of these things from the number of birds or the direction they flew.

Celts would wear masks when they left their homes during the night hours during Samhain days, because they hoped they would avoid being recognized by the ghosts and be mistaken merely for fellow

"Mumming" and "Guising" were a part of Samhain from at least the 16th century and was recorded in parts of Ireland, Scotland, Mann and Wales. It involved people going from house to house in costume (or in disguise), usually reciting songs or verses in exchange for food. It is suggested that it evolved from a tradition whereby people impersonated the aos sí, or the souls of the dead, and received offer-ings on their behalf. Impersonating these spirits or souls was also believed to protect oneself from them. One researcher suggests that the ancient festival included people in masks or costumes repre-senting these spirits, and that the modern custom came from

PARADES

Pagan Celtic priestesses and their followers would roam the countryside, chanting songs in order to frighten away the evil spirits thought to be out on Halloween night. I wonder how that could be practiced in your neighborhood?

Bonfires were a big part of the festival in many areas of western Europe. Bonfires were typically lit on hilltops at Samhain where everyone could see them, and there were rituals involving them.

Bonfires comes from the root, "bone-fires" because the priests sacrificed animals and supposedly even people in an attempt to appease the sun god, while also looking for future omens. The fire was said to be a type of sympathetic magic, where the fire mimicked the sun, which has the power to hold back the darkness of winter. Burning the fires was also believed to be a way of banishing evil, at least symboli-cally.

DIVINATION

Divination has likely been a part of the festival since ancient times, and it has survived in some rural are-as. In part, this meant that the spirits, the aos sí., could enter your world. Many of the food offerings and fires were directed to the aos practice of souling — going door to door si. Or perhaps, some of the crops might also be left in the ground for them the aos The aos sí.were addressed in various ways, with food offerings, with walks into obviously the root of the modern "trick or the ocean, with the idea to hold off any mischief, and perhaps to learn the future.

> The belief that the souls of the dead return home on one night of the year seems to have ancient origins and is found in many cultures throughout the world.

CONCLUSION

So what do you conclude from all this? Is there an ideal way to commemorate this ancient day, and still avoid the trappings of commercialization? Is it even possible?

I like the way that the Day of the Dead is commemorated. There are altars with pictures of the dearly de-parted, and plates of good food. Candles are lit, rather than a big bonfire which the local fire department would frown upon. Families gather, and talk in respectful tones about their departed rela-tives. Yes, of course, even the Day of the Dead has turned into wild partying in some quarters, but if you seek a return to roots of the ancient commemoration of the dead, perhaps begin here. Begin with family or neighborhood gatherings. Prepare a good meal, and keep in the mind the foods that your be-loved departeds enjoyed. This is not necessarily because you think their spirits will come to eat (last I checked, ghosts don't need to eat), but because having, for example, your mother's favorite dish will give you another reason to talk about your mother, and to remember all the good things she did.

This is at least a start, and it elevates our day of ghoulish and pointless fear-mongering into one that re-connects us with our roots.

SONS AND SOLDIERS: THE UNTOLD STORY OF THE JEWS WHO ESCAPED THE NAZIS AND RETURNED WITH THE U.S. ARMY TO FIGHT HITLER by Bruce Henderson

They were young Jewish boys who escaped from Nazi-occupied Europe and resettled in America. After the United States entered the war, they returned to fight for their adopted homeland and for the families they had left behind. Their stories tell the tale of one of the U.S. Army's greatest secret weapon. The book begins during the menac-ing rise of Hitler's Nazi party, as Jewish families were trying desperately to get out of Europe. The author captures the heartbreaking stories of parents choosing to send their young sons away to uncertain futures in America, perhaps never to see them again. As these boys became young men, they were determined to join the fight in Europe. Henderson describes how they were recruited into the U.S. Army and how their unique mastery of the German language and psychology was put to use to interrogate German prisoners of war. These young men—known as the Ritchie Boys, after the Maryland camp where they trained—knew what the Nazis would do to them if they were captured. Yet they leapt at the opportunity to be sent in small, elite teams to join every major combat unit in Europe, where they collected key tactical intelli-gence on enemy strength, troop, armored movements, and defensive positions that saved American lives and helped win the war. A postwar army report found that near-ly 60 percent of the credible intelligence gathered in Europe came from the Ritchie Boys. Sons and Soldiers draws on original interviews and extensive archival research to vividly re-create the stories of six of these men, tracing their journeys from child-hood through their escapes from Europe, their feats and sacrifices during the war, and finally their desperate attempts to find their missing loved ones. Sons and Soldiers is an epic story of heroism, courage, and patriotism that will not soon be for-gotten. The review is from Amazon.coms

EDUCATION & YOUTH

ARCADIA UNIFIED'S MIKE DANIELSON NAMED 1 OF ONLY 16 LA COUNTY TEACHERS OF THE YEAR

Out of over 70,000 teachers in Los Angeles County, Arcadia Unified middle school music teacher Michael Danielson is one of only 16 teachers to be recognized as a 2019-20 Los Angeles County Teacher of the Year in the state's largest honors competition for K-12 educators

The Los Angeles County Office of Education (LACOE) hosts an annual Teachers of the Year program designed to commend the important work teachers do in shaping the minds of the future. Districts from across LA County participate by selecting a Teacher of the Year to represent them in the LACOE program.

"When I said that this [being named a Teacher of the Year] was one of my dreams, I was not kidding," shared Danielson at a recent Arcadia Unified Board of Education meeting where he received recognized for this honor. "As the years passed, I saw pictures of the Teachers of the Year displayed in the District Office and wanted to earn the right to have my picture join theirs," said Danielson.

Danielson, a 40-year teaching veteran with 32 years spent as a music teacher at First Avenue Middle School, was selected as Arcadia Unified's 2019-20 Teacher of the Year, earning him entrance into LACOE's county-wide competition.

Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools Debra Duardo presented the outstanding educators during the annual Teachers of the Year banquet held Sept. 20 at the Universal City Hilton.

"What better way to launch the school year than to honor extraordinary teachers and the teaching profession," Duardo said. "These individuals are the heart and soul of a good education, each day instilling a love of learning and inspiring our young people to reach their full potential."

The winning educators, comprised of 14 women and two men, teach a range of grades and subjects at a diversity of school districts, including: Arcadia, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Glendora, Las Virgenes, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Palmdale, Paramount, Redondo Beach, Torrance, William S. Hart, Wiseburn and West Covina.

The winners were selected from a field of 61 teachers representing 56 districts. All participants had recently selected as teacher(s) of the year by their respective school districts.

The 16 Los Angeles County winners automatically advance with other county titlists from around the state to the California Teachers of the Year competition this fall. The state is scheduled to announce its five co-winners in November. But only one of those state co-winners will be chosen to represent California in the National Teacher of the Year contest next spring.

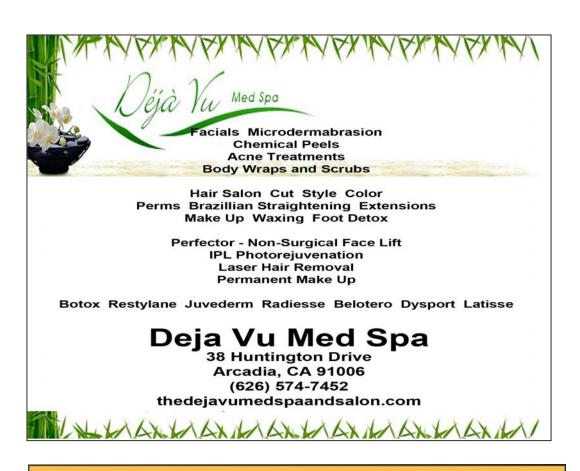

"I really feel like this [teaching] is what I was made to do, and I know not many people get to say they've lived out their dream or find their place," expressed Danielson. "I'm truly accepting this on behalf of all of the teachers in Arcadia. This really is an amazing place to live and work."

Throughout his robust career, Danielson has taught and mentored over 10,000 students, doing so with a true passion for connecting with them through music.

"Teachers change lives, far more than providing tasks for success or passing on lore," said Danielson. "We are tasked with shaping future generations through our relationships. No time in history has relied on us [teachers] as much as it does now.

Congratulations and Thank you Mr, Danielson!

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

USE ESTATE PLANNING TO ENSURE YOUR LEGACY DOESN'T GET LOST

When you think about those loved ones who've passed away, you probably don't think very much—or even at all—about the "things" they've left you. And when they do leave something behind, what you likely cherish most about the object are the memories and eelings it evokes, not the thing itself.

Preserving your intangible assets

We recognize that estate planning isn't just about preserving and passing on your financial wealth and property when you die. When done right, planning allows you to share your family's stories, value, and life lessons, so your legacy carries on long after you—and your money—are gone.

"Priceless Conversations" is part of a process that's designed to not only ensure these intangible assets never get lost, but also to make the process of documenting them as easy and convenient as possible. In this process, we guide clients to create a customized recording in which they share their most insightful memories and life lessons, not just for their children and grandchildren, but for generations to come. My favorite part about this process is that most of our clients tell us that going through it helps them surface things they would have never thought about regarding how they want to parent differently or things they want to share now, during life, not just leave behind a lasting legacy of love.

To help inspire clients, we've developed a series of helpful questions and prompts, which makes the process not only easy, but enjoyable. And this isn't something you have to do on your own, which you'd probably never get around to doing, despite your best intentions. Instead, this is something we include as an integral part of our planning services—and it's included at no extra charge with each plan we create.

In the end, your family's most precious wealth is not money, but the memories you make, the values you instill, and the lessons you hand down. And left to chance, these assets are likely to be lost

FLU VACCINES FOR SENIORS THAT PROVIDE BETTER PROTECTION

Dear Savvy Senior:

What can you tell me about the flu shots designed for older adults? I got sick last winter after getting a standard flu shot and would like to find out if the senior-specific flu vaccine is worth getting. Approaching 80

Dear Approaching:

There are actually two different types of flu shots available to people age 65 and older. These FDA-approved vaccines are designed to offer extra protection beyond what a standard flu shot provides, which is important for older adults who have weaker immune defenses and have a great risk of developing dangerous flu complications.

The Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that during the 2018-2019 flu season, up to 647,000 people were hospitalized and 61,200 died because of the flu - most of whom were seniors.

You also need to be aware that these senior-specific flu shots cannot guarantee that you won't get the flu this season, but they will lower your risk. And if you do happen to get sick, you probably won't get as sick as you would without it. Here's more information on the two vaccines:

Fluzone High-Dose: Approved for U.S. use in 2009, the Fluzone High-Dose is a high-potency vaccine that contains four times the amount of antigen as a regular flu shot does, which creates a stronger immune response for better protection. This vaccine, according to a 2013 clinical trial, was 24 percent more effective than the regular-dose shot at preventing flu in seniors.

FLUAD: Available in the U.S. since 2016, the FLUAD vaccine contains an added ingredient called adjuvant MF59 that also helps create a stronger immune response. In a 2012 Canadian observational study, FLUAD was 63 percent more effective than a regular flu shot. The CDC does not recommend one vaccination over the other, and to date, there have been no studies comparing the two vaccines.

You should also know that both the Fluzone High-Dose and FLUAD can cause more of the mild side effects that can occur with a standard-dose flu shot, like pain or tenderness where you got the shot, muscle aches, headache or fatigue. And neither vaccine is recommended for seniors who are allergic to chicken eggs, or those who have had a severe reaction to a flu vaccine in the

If you are allergic to eggs you can ask for a Flucelvax or FluBlok shot. Neither of these vaccines uses chicken eggs in their manufacturing process.

All of these vaccines are covered 100 percent by Medicare Part B as long as your doctor, health clinic or pharmacy agrees not to charge you more than Medicare pays.

PNEUMONIA VACCINES

Two other important vaccinations the CDC recommends to seniors, especially this time of year, are the pneumococcal vaccines for pneumonia. Around 1 million Americans are hospitalized with pneumonia each year, and about 50,000 people die from it.

The CDC recommends that all seniors, 65 or older, get two vaccinations - Prevnar 13 and Pneumovax 23. Both vaccines, which are administered just once at different times, protect against different strains of the bacteria to provide maximum protection.

If you haven't yet received any pneumococcal vaccine you should get the Prevnar 13 first, followed by Pneumovax 23 at least one year later. But if you've already been vaccinated with Pneumovax 23, wait at least one year before getting the Prevnar 13.

Medicare Part B covers both shots, if they are taken at least one year apart.

To locate a vaccination site that offers any of these shots, visit VaccineFinder.org and type in your location.

TO GRIN OR NOT TO GRIN, IS MY DILEMMA

one dilemma after another.

I remember my father once told me, Son, when life delivers you a dilemma, make lemonade out of it." To which I looked at him with a big grin and said, "Is there any dilemma I can make a root beer out of it?" My father did not grin back.

This may have been the beginning of my career as a grinner. Rarely a day goes by that I do not find something to grin about. I have earned a Ph.D. in Grinology.

One problem I have discovered in this is that I do not know when not to grin. This has caused me a dilemma without any lemonade whatsoever or root beer.

On my wedding day, I grinned all day long and nobody ever had to ask me the question, "What are you grinning about?" Everybody knew.

I never had any problem with grinning and nobody ever challenged me about my grinning. I guess it is just my nature to grin about everything. After my wedding, however, everything changed. Most of it for the good I must confess. I have no regrets or anything of that nature. While I am saying this, you can imagine I am grinning. Nothing has made me happier in life than marrying the Gracious Mistress of the

At the time she was not the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage, but as time went by and I became a pastor she took on the role. I'm not sure if she was born with the gifts and talents to take on this role, or if she learned step-by-step what it takes. That being said, I can look back in my life and I can grin about everything.

Then things changed. By things, I mean me. It was a very simple thing that happened and could happen to anybody.

My wife and I were sitting in the living room having a cup of coffee and talking. As we were talk-ing unbeknownst to me, I was grinning. It is something that happens automatically to me.

"What are you," my wife said in a very somber tone, "grinning about?" I thought I was in trouble at first. I did not understand what she was talking about my grinning. I simply looked at her and stated, "Huh."

"Oh," I said, "I was just thinking about the first time we met." Then I laughed heartily.

"What was so funny about that?"

That was the beginning of trying to explain why I grinned all the time. I explained to her how that day was the real beginning of my life. Then, she grinned. That began a wonderful conversation of those beginning days

Through the years, I have experienced So often, something happens and I find myself grinning. I well remember the time my wife was walking around the house everywhere. I stopped her and said, "What are

"I'm looking for my glasses."

I thought I was being set up so I grinned very cheerfully. "What are you grinning about?"

The way she said it made me take the situation rather seriously. I did not know what kind of trouble I was in for or if she was setting me up for something.

"Have you," she snapped, "seen my glasses?"

I did not know what to say because I could see her glasses on the top of her head where she often puts them.

Then she discovered where her glasses were and just looked at me. I was still grinning.

Recently, she had some problems with her back and I called the ambulance to take her to the local ER. I took my two daughters with me because both were medically trained, one a registered nurse the other an EMT.

My wife was in awful pain and we could barely move her. The local ambulance crew took her to the ER and the doctors begin to work on her.

One of the medications they used was some form of morphine. I let my daughters oversee that be-cause that was completely above my pay scale.

Soon the medications were working and her pain was beginning to rescind. We all were relieved.

On the wall was a very nice picture of a landscape with trees and bushes and so forth. I noticed my wife looking at that picture and then she said, "Isn't a very nice picture of a pickle?"

She then looked at me and said, "What are you grinning

One of my daughters said, "I guess the medication is starting to kick in."

It took us a day or two to explain that it was not a picture of a pickle, but rather a picture of grass and trees.

I have been enjoying my grinning ever since. Occasionally my wife will look at me and say, "You're not still grinning about the pickle are you?" "Why no," I say, trying to hide a grin, "have you found your glasses yet?" Trust me when I say, she did not grin back at me.

Thinking about this I was reminded of one of David's Psalms. "Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing: then said they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them" (Psalm

My philosophy has been, find something every day to grin about and you will have a happy life along with

of our life.

REMEMBERING LOVED ONES LOST DURING SUICIDE AWARENESS MONTH

I never met my great-grandfather, although I've seen pictures of him. The one I treasure most is a family photo, similar to those images on an Ancestry.com commercial, where he is sitting with his wife and older daughters. (The sons would arrive later.) He's wearing a hat and a solemn expression, but you get the impression that he's content with the life he'd created since emigrating from Italy a few years before.

You would be wrong, though. Some years after that photo was taken, this patriarch of five daughters and three sons took his own life. He went to the basement of their home in West Philadelphia, found his daughter's jump rope, and hanged himself. My grandmother Mamie was the one who found him, and felt guilty for the rest of her life, since she was the one who'd thrown her sister's rope down the basement steps while cleaning.

No one knows why he did it. He was a man in his middle years with a loving wife and beautiful children, a respectable job, and the immigrant's pride. The impact of the suicide had a ripple effect on later generations, from my grandmother to her daughter Lucy and to me, the great-granddaughter who looks at his photo and shakes her head in sorrow.

Suicide does that. It brings sorrow and raises questions that linger. It begs for answers that rarely come, and solutions that are only hoped for, not probable. While it might seem that the numbers of suicides has increased in the last few decades, that might just be a function of people being more open. I can promise you that my great-grandfather's obituary did not include his cause of death. Now, however, families are talking about their loved one's painful choices, and it is not unusual to see an obituary with the sentence, "She took her own life."

Some think it's good to be candid about the manner of death, so that we bring suicide out of the shadows and treat it like a psychological ailment no different from the diseases of the body. They think it helps erase the shame that people of my great-grandfather's generation suffered. I'm not so sure, but I respect the choices and the grief of others.

When my brother Jonathan ended his own young life, we did not include the manner of death in his obituary. This was not a conscious choice, it was simply a personal decision. Jon's life was much more than the manner in which he chose to leave it, and it was necessary to reflect on that as opposed to his last moments on Earth. But there was no shame, only sadness.

This tension between wanting to stop the scourge of suicide and not wanting to normalize it in our customs and acknowledgements has always been a problem for those left behind. I didn't even know about my great-grandfather's death until I was in my early 20s, but I always sensed there was something wrong by the sadness in my grandmother's eyes when she talked about her father. The pain was compounded by the Catholic Church's position of the time, which prohibited burial in consecrated ground to those who took their own lives. Since the 1960s, that custom has thankfully been eliminated, but you can imagine the anguish it caused to a devoutly Italian Catholic family in the early part of the September is National Suicide Awareness Month, although anyone who has been touched by the tragedy will tell you there is no moment in their lives when they are not aware of its consequences. We have evolved to a certain degree in our attitudes about suicide, but it will always be one of the most difficult things we have to face: the deliberate choice to leave.

I come from a family where suicide is a multi-generational legacy. That does not mean it is our future. The best I can do is remember them, Sebastiano and Jonathan.

I'd ask you to do the same.

If you or someone you know is thinking of suicide, call the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at 1-800-273-8255 or text TALK to the Crisis Text Line at 741741.

HAIL HAMILTON

DEAR MADAME SPEAKER:

Donald Trump has become our worst nightmare, acting out his role as President, albeit on a much grander stage, of the ultra-corrupt, autocratic, dictator, a mega-version of his malevolent role as the corporate-gangster in The Apprentice. Playing his part to the hilt, but without any of pathos of Richard Nixon. I can assure you, there will be no President Trump on his knees praying with his Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, like Nixon and Henry Kissinger, praying together the night before the President leaves the White House never to return. To be fair, Ms. Pelosi you didn't become Speaker again until Democrats returned to power in January this year, but you were in the House to witness all of President

Trump's constitutionally impeachable, abuse of office offenses since he was inaugurated on January 20, 2017. You were there when on May 9, 2017 when President Trump fired FBI Director James Comey, later admitting in a NBC interview with newsman Lester Holt that his reason for the firing Comey was "This Russia thing..." That is, the investigation of National Security advisor Michael Flynn and Russian influence in the 2016 Presidential It is noteworthy that even before the Holt interview, President Trump's disregard for norms of government and his willingness to ignore the Constitution, became apparent that he had no intention to fulfill his oath "to preserve, protect, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States." Again Ms. Pelosi, you and the Democratic Party should be forgiven because it wasn't until the 2018 Blue Wave that Democrats took back the House in 2019. Still after witnessing all the instances of Trump's abuse of presidential power—separating asylum-seekers and incarcerating their children in cages, Trump's 34-day shut-down (Dec. 22 - January 25) of the federal government unsuccessful attempt to fund the border wall, finally succeeding without Congressional approval by stealing money from FEMA and DOD, to fund the border wall, in the face of the devastation caused by four Hurricanes since Trump took office—Irma, Michael, Maria and Taking money from one federal Department and giving it to another is in effect STEALING! Think of all the lives that could have been saved had just FEMA been fully funded. Ms. Pelosi, did you look at the arial images of all the dead after the hurricanes subsided. If not, you can Google them. Seeing is believing: these are real people, not mere statistics, with real lives, families and dreams for their future, many of who died unnecessarily because of silence.

Ms. Pelosi, you are now the Speaker of the House. As a result, the question becomes: What have you done concerning President Trump since your party returned to power, what have you done took over as Speaker? It's hard to say. It's easier to say what you haven't done. You didn't immediately initiate impeachment hearings.

Ms. Pelosi you have procrastinated, using the Mueller Investigation as an excuse not to begin impeachment—knowing from the get-go that Mueller was only investigating two aspects of Trump's many possible grounds for impeachment—conspiracy and/or obstruction of justice regarding Russia's interference in the 2016 Presidential Election. In effect turning a blind eye on every other impeachable offense Trump had committed, indeed continues to commit.

You professing that impeachment will doom Democrats in 2020 seems baseless now. All you have done is make the Democratic Party look weak, and unable to rise to the task of impeaching Trump and campaigning against him. Rather than exposing Trump as the national crook he is, like Watergate did to Nixon, you have emboldened him to move further down road of impeachable offenses without a credible response until here we are—the "Whistleblower Complaint" about Trump's trying to extort the Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyto to intervene in the 2020 election as a condition the U.S. to release $400 Million in military aid to defend themselves from the Russian aggression in its five-year war in the Crimea.

Note: By the time that Watergate was done in over 85 percent of Americans had watched some part of the hearings. Madame Speaker, it is time to strip the emperor of his clothes—like what was done to Nixon during the Watergate hearings—and display to his subjects Trump's defects of character to finally see, consider and act upon in 2020.
