Department Appoints First Female Deputy Chief

Pasadena Police Department announced Teusday that Chief of Police John Perez has appointed Cheryl Moody to the rank of Deputy Chief. The Deputy Chief will begin in her new role on Feb. 17. Deputy Chief Moody is the first woman in the police department's more than 130-year history to serve as deputy chief. Deputy Chief Moody was hired as a police officer with Pasadena Police Department in 1992 after serving three years in the United States Air Force and working four years with the Long Beach Police Department. Deputy Chief Moody possesses nearly three decades of policing experience, leading many high-performing teams over the years, including the Special Enforcement Section. She has served Pasadena Police Department's Executive Command Staff five years and has held executive board positions with local and national chapters of The National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE). Deputy Chief Moody is currently serving as the president of the Los Angeles County Chapter of Women Leaders in Law Enforcement (WLLE).

Deputy Chief Moody will oversee all of Pasadena Police Department's daily operations, as well as the department's special projects, while continuing department's reorganization efforts.

State of the City 2020 Looks Bright

By Dean Lee

Braking from past tradition, Pasadena Mayor Terry Tornek, last week, spent most of his the recapture of the 710 right units devoted to affordable annual State of the City on non-budgetary issues including the Arroyo Seco, 710 Freeway Gap, cannabis retail stores and homelessness among others. Tornek devoted the first 10 minutes to finances.

The first non budget issue he discussed was the "demise," through state legislation, of the connection between the 710 and the 210 freeways.

THE SEARCH FOR AMERICA'S BEST ENTERTAINERS ONCE AGAIN COMMENCES AS THE NO. 1 SHOW OF THE SUMMER, AMERICA'S GOT TALENT, EMBARKS ON AUDITIONS FOR ITS 15TH SEASON ON FEB. 1ST IN PASADENA!

Nationwide auditions welcoming acts of any age and any talent began on November 10 in San Diego, CA and continued nto Louisville, KY; New York, NY; Dallas, TX; Miami, FL; Las Vegas, NV; Cabazon, CA;. The final audition will be held for the Los Angeles area at the Pasadena Convention Center on February 1st. There are also online auditions at www.AGTAuditions.com

Entering into its  $15^{th}$  season as the most watched entertainment show of the summer, NBC's America's Got Talent (AGT) will once again begin scouring the country in search of the most talented variety acts the nation has to offer.

Dominating the television landscape, AGT has remained a ratings success. The show's  $14^{\rm th}$  season concluded in September and averaged 12 million viewers overall in "live plus seven day" results from Nielsen Media Research. In addition to being a broadcast hit, AGT was a digital/social hit, garnering more than 2.6 billion views across all digital video platforms for the season, and currently is the #1 most-social broadcast series of the year.

"I continue to be amazed each and every season at the enormous amount of unbelievable and truly unique talent that's uncovered on the AGT stage," said Sam Donnelly, AGT Executive Producer. "AGT is the nation's preeminent source for discovering talent. The show has changed an insurmountable number of lives and has built flourishing careers for artists across a vast array of talents. We welcome anyone out there with an undeniable ability to entertain to audition for the show."

Acts wishing to become part of the AGT community of prestigious performers should sign up now to audition in-person in one of eight audition cities, or submit a video online at www.AGTAuditions.com.

AGT's proven ability to create stars was once again witnessed by the Season 14 crowning of singer Kodi Lee as its winner. From the first moment he graced the AGT stage, it was apparent that he had captured the attention of viewers with his poise, skill and enormous talent. As part of his grand prize, Lee is now set to headline America's Got Talent Live at the Paris Theater at Paris Las Vegas Nov. 7-10 (www.AGTVegas.com).

Lee's initial performance which earned him the coveted Golden Buzzer from judge Gabrielle Union has broken records, making it the most watched in the show's history, having been viewed more than 450 million times across Facebook, YouTube and Twitter: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pDPdRYF7hTQ

Got Talent holds the Guinness World Records title as the world's most successful reality television format. With more than a billion global viewers, Got Talent has aired in 194 territories worldwide. Earlier this year, the first ever global brand extension, America's Got Talent: The Champions, premiered and was the season's No. 1 most-watched alternative series. Production for Season 2 of AGT Champions is currently underway.

America's Got Talent was created by Simon Cowell and is co-produced by Fremantle and Syco Entertainment. Simon Cowell, Jason Raff, Sam Donnelly, Trish Kinane and Richard Wallace are the executive producers.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"Thou canst not serve both cod and salmon." Ada Leverson
"Give a man a fish and he will have food for one day. Teach him to catch fish and he will spend all day at the lake drinking beer."

"Salmon are like men: too soft a life is not good for them."

This past weekend has been filled with good things. Beautiful weather and sunrises to take the breath away. Add to that a salmon dinner at Corfu Friday night that was so good I have been fantasizing about it; a small Greek salad with almost enough Kalamata olives, a perfectly grilled salmon filet with rice pilaf and fresh veggies that were lightly, tenderly, briefly sautéed. A splendid glass of Australian Malbec completed this delightful dinner. My dinner companions enjoyed the veggie sandwich and lamb kabobs and they, too, loved every bite. Corfu is a Sierra Madre treasure, like all our restaurants, unique and delicious.

Stopped by Craft, on the north side of Sierra Madre Blvd., across from Tropical Nail Salon, to see what was going on as their usual display of colorful yarns of different textures and types was not happening in the front window. Well, here's something I didn't know and maybe you didn't either, they rent out their entire facility for parties, a great one had just happened, and the talented Craft folks, Mike and Arianna, were regrouping and gearing up for the classes scheduled for the coming week. They've even got a class for vulgar embroidery (giggle..) in addition to water colors, crochet, macramé, knitting and all sorts of other craft things to try. You can have a private lesson or take a class and plan to have a good time. Lots of kid's things, too. If you haven't been in there, take a look! They're open Tuesday-Sunday: 10 a.m. – 6 p.m. Here's the phone: 626-921-0330. Craft is at 49 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., across from The Bottle Shop.

Continuing my dining adventure, Sunday evening after seeing "Frozen The Musical" at the Pantages... yes, it was beyond incredible and the audience was stuffed with little girls all wearing the Elsa dress. Friends and neighbors, it was a fantastic musical and daughter, Leah, and I loved every minute. Famished, we stopped in at Lemon Zest to see what they were doing there as neither of us had tried it yet. I have such great memories of that little restaurant when it opened in 2015, I think, as Zugo's, the dream of then owner, Ricky Budiono. Ricky, by the way, is concentrating all his time and energies to real estate and is very successful...but I bet he thinks every now and then about how much fun he had with Zugo's.

Time has ticked on by; Zugo's was Faubourg for a while and now, Lemon Zest, with a bright yellow and white décor and a Mediterranean menu. Nice wine selection, I had a glass of Cannonball Merlot and a salmon wrap, which was delicious, stuffed with avocado, lettuce, tomato and, of course, salmon. We shared some hummus and warm pita bread, which was perfect with the wine. A great time was had by all, and we'll try Lemon Zest again. They're at 74 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. Open daily 11-9 and Sunday 11-8.

But here's my best news that I just had to share with you, dear Mountain Views News friends, we have a new great-granddaughter! Taylor Samantha Davis entered our world on January  $14^{th}$ . The picture is Taylor with her mommy and daddy, Hayley and Chad Davis (our grandson) and her sisters, Layla and Brooklyn. New life brings such joy and hope. Yes, there it is again, my favorite word, Hope. John can see her from heaven, as can her Grandpa Joe. We rejoice at the arrival of another beautiful child, who can make the world a better place. Children are a gift from God and this family, as you can see, is a joy. Babies are God's way of giving the world more love.

"May you touch dragonflies and stars, dance with fairies and talk to the moon. May you grow up with love and gracious hearts and people who care. Welcome to the world, little one...it's been waiting for you."

EAGLE ROCK STOP

When you say "diner", one thinks of those train-like Airstream coach dive restaurants from 60's New Jersey fame, so when I was told to check out the food at Cindy's in Eagle Rock... well, you can understand my reluctance. My readers are a creative and demanding lot, and the thought of disappointing you lurked in the back of my mind. I have driven past Cindy's at least a hundred times to reach one of my favorite restaurants, Colombo's, just down the street, without even a glance at this place, but today that all changed.

My first impression was a good one. It wasn't a dive. And everyone was working in rhythm as they tended to the packed house. I could see immediately that this was a homestyle environment made for the eclectic new Eagle Rock residents. My party of two decided to sit at the counter, being this truly is a diner. Within seconds, we were greeted and served water with a huge side of good attitude. Then, there was the menu. And all the choices! I focused on something new and different called Crab Hash, and my partner in food crime chose the Eggs Benedict topped with Pesto. Pesto for breakfast? You bet!

You'd maybe think that a packed house at 10:30am on a Sunday would bring so-so food, but no – our food came out hot, and in a very acceptable time frame. The Crab Hash was terrific. There was nothing stingy about the amount of crab or potatoes in the hash, and I was pleasantly surprised with the quantity and quality! My dining partner elected to go green and have the Green Goddess omelet, with the homestyle potatoes that were a little crispy. The plating was pleasant and the portion quite large. He went crazy for the homemade pesto that put this dish on his "have again" list, and said that the amount was perfect for making you want more. I also ordered the homemade chocolate cake and coconut lime pie to go (review on that to follow!).

On a side note: I noticed French fries on the menu, and since the owner, Paul, went to great lengths to ensure everything is made from scratch, I ordered some, and gave them two thumbs up. I will be back!! For the complete menu, go to their website, and by all means tell them Peter Dills sent you!

WHAT IS BEING BUILT IN ARCADIA?

Tim Schwehr shares with the Arcadia Community Coordinating Council on February 3, 2020

Have you ever wondered what is happening in Arcadia? Come and see what is currently being built, what's about to start and what is being considered in the future. There is a strong interest in multi-family housing and mixed use development as well as new hotel and medical facilities. There is a continued challenge with big box retail, pharmacies, grocery stores and traditional retail shops. Where does the city stand?

Tim Schwehr is the Senior Economic Development Analyst for the City of Arcadia. He currently serves as lead staff for the City of Arcadia's Economic Development Division. In this role, Tim oversees efforts to attract new businesses and development, works with regional organizations to foster economic growth, and acts as the city's liaison to the business community.

Prior to his current position, Tim worked for seven years as a city planner, during which time he developed a planning-based approach to Economic Development. He has a Bachelor in Political Science from the University of Washington, and Master in Urban and Regional Planning from the Cal Poly Pomona. Tim is originally from Seattle but moved to L.A. in 2003 for the sunny weather and Southern California lifestyle.

REVIEW PERIOD EXTENDED FOR SOUTH PAS GENERAL PLAN AND DOWNTOWN SPECIFIC PLAN

The review period for the General Plan and Downtown Specific Plan has been extended to Feb. 12 in order to give the community additional time to review and share input on the plan.

"We are looking forward to feedback from our residents that will guide the development of our General Plan and Downtown Specific Plan," said City Manager Stephanie DeWolfe. "These documents will strategically plan for community needs and desires for years to come."

As part of the General Plan and Downtown Specific Plan review process, the City will host two additional community meetings to provide an overview of how the plans will guide future land use and resource decisions, review changes to the draft plans and gather community feedback.

Meeting dates:

Tuesday, Jan. 28, 6:30 p.m., City Council Chambers, 1414 Mission Street, South Pasadena

Saturday, Feb. 1, 10 a.m., City Council Chambers, 1414 Mission Street, South Pasadena

In addition, residents are invited to attend the regularly scheduled Planning Commission meetings between now and May 2020 to participate in an open forum regarding specific sections of the plan documents and provide additional feedback. The Planning Commission meetings take place on the second Tuesday of each month at 6:30 p.m. in the City Council Chambers (1414 Mission Street, South Pasadena).

All cities and counties in California are required to have and update a general plan to set forth each city's long-range policies and reflect the community's goals and values. The City of South Pasadena last updated its General Plan in 1998. The City's 2020 General Plan Update will guide key decisions over the next 20 years.

The draft documents were developed from extensive public input (workshops, focus groups, interviews, etc.) that was gathered over the course of 22 months. The public review period for the draft documents has been underway since early November 2019. During that time, the City has hosted three meetings to gain feedback from the public and will continue to engage the community during key milestones to ensure the final plans accurately reflect the community's vision for the future.

Senior Center Women's Basketball League Celebrates 10th Anniversary

The Pasadena Senior Center Women's Basketball League celebrated its 10th anniversary Jan. 12 at an outdoor gathering.

A decade ago, Pasadena resident Louise Jones, then 65 years old, had the idea of starting a basketball league of women 50 and older. After gathering other passionate hopefuls and proposing the idea to Pasadena Senior Center staff, the league was formed.

"All we wanted to do was play ball," said Jones, now an experienced post player in the half-court, 3-on-3 games. "How could you not want to do this? Meeting people and the games are so fun."

Through the years, curious rookies have been joined by former high school and college players, excited to uncork their competitive juices again and share their knowledge of the game. Guided by an infectious camaraderie, the group has remained true to its roots, ensuring that all skill levels feel welcome and safe.

Today the league offers three weekly open gyms, and many of the players also compete in the annual Pasadena Senior Games, sponsored by the Pasadena Senior Center. The games are a precursor every other year to the biennial National Senior Games.

More than 30 current players attended the Jan. 12 gathering to thank the founders and celebrate the joy – and sometimes therapeutic outlet – found on the hardwood court.

"Look at us," said Judy Marcelline, 58, a veteran of three National Senior Games. "We are all ballers in our hearts." The league has also inspired onlookers and changed their perspectives of the intensity and abilities of older athletes.

The thrill of a perfect backdoor pass or a three-point buzzer beater knows no age limit. "It's the best part of turning 50," said one newly tournament-eligible player after reaching the mid-century mark. The 2021 National Senior Games (nsga.com) will be

PASADENA SET TO CELEBRATE CHEESEBURGER WEEK

31st, Pasadena honors Lionel Sternberger's genius in being the with in house thick cut fries; first to put cheese on a hamburger and serve it at the Rite Spot Pie 'n Burger has a special Cheeseburger Week meal in Pasadena in 1924. Forty of Pasadena's restaurants, lounges and burger joints offer their signature burgers, some special creations and great deals during Pasadena Cheeseburger Week.

In 1924, as legend has it, teenaged Lionel Sternberger burned one side of a hamburger patty at The Rite Spot, his father's roadside stand along Colorado Boulevard (then Colorado Street) in west Pasadena. Rather than throw away the spoiled burger, he masked his mistake with a piece of cheese and served it to a very appreciative customer. Word soon spread and customers flocked to The Rite Spot for The Aristocratic Burger, A Hamburger with Cheese. Sternberger's achievement is the first verified instance of someone serving a hamburger with cheese to a customer.

Over the years, Sternberger perfected his Aristocratic Burger, much to the delight of customers at The Rite Spot. Sternberger's culinary achievement has been documented by Hamburger America, the Los Angeles Times and even Time magazine in

To celebrate Sternberger's culinary masterpiece, Pasadena restaurants are offering specials, unique creations and the tried and true. Patrons can experience the Zacatecas Burger from El Portal and Yahaira's, the K-POP from Dog Haus and Dog Haus Biergarten, the Impossible Burger at Umami or the traditional, and nationally recognized, cheeseburger at Pie 'n Burger.

New participants for 2020 include Roy's, Alexander's Steakhouse, Smitty's Grill and Granville. Pie 'n Burger, Dog Haus and Dog Haus Biergarten and Roy's are among those offering special prices and/or offerings created for Cheeseburger Week.

Several participants in the 2020 Cheeseburger Week celebration and Cheeseburger Challenge are offering special meals and deals.

Those offering special meals include:

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

4 THINGS TRUSTS CAN DO THAT WILL'S CAN'T

Both wills and trusts are estate planning documents critical decisions on your that can be used to pass your wealth and property to your loved ones upon your death. However, trusts come with some distinct advantages over wills that you should consider when creating your plan.

That said, when comparing the two planning tools, you won't necessarily be choosing between one or the othermost plans include both. Indeed, a will is a foundational part of every person's estate plan, but you may want to combine your will with a living trust to avoid the blind spots inherent in plans that rely solely on a will.

Here are four reasons you might want to event of your incapacity. consider adding a trust to your estate plan:

your will are distributed to your heirs upon your death.

During probate, the court oversees your will's administration, ensuring your property is distributed according to your wishes, with automatic supervision to handle any disputes. Probate proceedings can drag out for months or even years, and your family will likely have to hire an attorney to represent them, which can result in costly legal fees that can drain your estate.

Bottom line: If your estate plan consists of a will alone, you are guaranteeing your family will have to go to court if you become incapacitated or when you die.

However, if your assets are titled properly in the name of your living trust, your family could avoid court altogether. In fact, assets held in a trust pass directly to your loved ones upon your death, without the need for any court intervention whatsoever. This can save your loved ones major time, money, and stress while dealing with the aftermath of your death.

Probate is not only costly and time consuming, it's also public. Once in probate, your will becomes part of the public record. This means anyone who's interested can see the contents of your estate, who your beneficiaries are, as well as what and how much your loved ones inherit, making them tempting targets for frauds and scammers.

Using a living trust, the distribution of your assets can happen in the privacy of our office, so the contents and only instance in which your trust would become open to the public is if someone challenges the document in court.

3. A plan for incapacity

A will only governs the distribution of your assets upon your death. It offers zero protection if you become incapacitated and are unable to make decisions about your own medical, financial, and legal needs. If you become incapacitated with only a will in place, your family will have to petition the court to appoint a guardian to handle your affairs.

Like probate, guardianship proceedings can be extremely costly, time consuming, and emotional for your loved ones. And there's always the possibility that the court could appoint a family member you'd never want making such behalf. Or the court might even select a professional guardian, putting a total stranger in control of just about every aspect of your

With a living trust, however, you can include provisions that appoint someone of your choosing—not the court's—to handle your assets if you're unable to do so. Combined with a well-drafted medical power of attorney and living will, a trust can keep your family out of court and conflict in the

4. Enhanced control over asset distribution

Another advantage a trust has over just having a will is the One of the primary advantages a living trust has over a will level of control they offer you when it comes to distributing is that a living trust does not have to go through probate. assets to your heirs. By using a trust, you can specify when Probate is the court process through which assets left in and how your heirs will receive your assets after your death.

> For example, you could stipulate in the trust's terms that the assets can only be distributed upon certain life events, such as the completion of college or purchase of a home. Or you might spread out distribution of assets over your beneficiary's lifetime, releasing a percentage of the assets at different ages or life stages.

> In this way, you can help prevent your beneficiaries from blowing through their inheritance all at once and offer incentives for them to demonstrate responsible behavior. Plus, if the assets are held in trust, they're protected from the beneficiaries' creditors, lawsuits, and divorce, which is something else wills don't provide.

> If, for some reason, you do not want a living trust, you can use a testamentary trust to establish trusts in your will. A testamentary trust will not keep your family out of court, but it can allow you to control how and when your heirs receive your assets after your death.

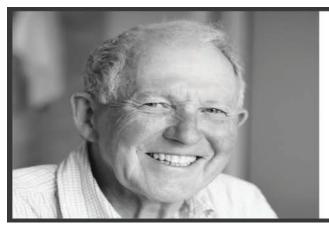

informed The best way for you to determine whether your estate plan should include a living trust, a testamentary trust, or no trust at all is to meet with a trusted estate planning attorney. Sitting down with your Personal Family Attorney to discuss your family's planning needs will empower you to feel 100% confident that you have the right combination of planning solutions in place for your family's unique circumstances.

DUARTE SCHOOLS CONTINUE TO EXCEL

DUSD Superintendent, Dr. Gordon Amerson, shared the progress being made at the Duarte schools sites at a recent Duarte Kiwanis Meeting. The goals of the continuing Facilities Projects are:

Prepare students for 21st century success Repair and upgrade our aging schools Improve student access to science labs, classrooms, technology, outdoor education spaces and shade structures Improve safety and security Upgrade vocation and career technical education (CTE) to prepare students for career success in a competitive economy.

The corresponding results have been excellent.

Dr. Amerson shared one of the highlights - DHS Culinary Arts Program. They were recently featured guest on KFI's popular radio show, The Fork Report. #### RAIN WATER

[Nyerges is the author of "How To Survive Anywhere," "Extreme Simplicity," "Self-Sufficient Home," and other books, available atwww.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com, bookstores, or Amazon.]

In my "survival Skills" class at Pasadena City College, a student asked me how cities have traditionally obtained their water. The answer is that a city can only develop near a water source! Simple. Only in relatively modern times have we pushed nature to the limits by creating large cities far from water sources. Such a city, of course, is Los Angeles, where about 75% of its water comes from over 300 miles away in three aqueducts. When you realize that we have enough local water for only a quarter of the population, it makes you more motivated to store water, and to learn about other sources of water.

For most of us, the biggest largely untapped source of water – available to all city dwellers – is rain. Historically, there have been many communities and nomads who depended, in varying degrees, on rain for their water supply. The technology for capturing rain varies from culture to culture, depending on available materials, the local rainfall patterns, the local geology, the presence of other water sources, etc.

The simplest rain-collecting device that I've seen consisted of a large plastic sheet measuring about four by eight feet, a few clothes pint, and a few five-gallon jugs. After at least 34 minutes of heavy rain (to clean the air), you're ready to begin collecting rain. Attach the plastic sheet to bushes so that it is stretched out somewhat, and secure the one point. Place your water jugs under this flow of water, and in a short while, the jugs will be full. A funnel with a clean cotton for a filter will also be helpful. The use of clean 30 gallon trash containers is a bit more practical for the average homeowner. If your house has gutters, simply remove the lower portion of the downspout and place the trash can underneath where it will collect the water. I place my rain collectors under the heavy flow, and during a downpour, the container quickly fills.

I've also used sturdy five gallon buckets with handles and lids to collect my rain water. At a former residence of mine, there was a rather large awning. Due to the construction of the house, much of the roof rain flowed onto the awning, and a heavy flow of rain always flowed from the entire edge of the awning. I would place a line of about 17 five-gallon buckets at the awning's drip-line and fill all the buckets within 30 minutes to an hour.

In planning your rain collection system, you simply need to observe the flow of rain off of your roof, and position your containers accordingly.

Two things to remember in collecting rain: Always wait at least 34 minutes after a heavy rain has begun before you put out your rain catchers. This allows most of the impurities to be washed out of the air, and most of the impurities to be washed off your roof. Always cover the full containers as soon as possible to avoid breeding mosquitoes and other contamination.

FEASIBILITY OF COLLECTING RAIN WATER

The performance of rain water collection systems over a 40-year period at 13 California locations was detailed in Feasibility of Rain Water Collection Systems in California by David Jenkins and Frank Pearson, published by the California Water Resources Center, University of California, Davis. Quite consistently, it was observed, 88 percent of the annual California rain falls between the November to March wet season. The rain during this wet season is fairly well distributed, whereas the scant summer rain is highly variable with no observable pattern of distribution.

The authors of this study pointed out that rain water collection is certainly possible at most homes but that it may not be cost-competitive with piped water due to the cost of storage tanks.

Relying on the rain as your only or main source of water is possible if you've properly calculated your water needs and have adequate storage tanks. Of course, the weather must also be cooperative for you to achieve a goal of rain water self-sufficiency. I've never attempted to rely entirely on rain water. My concern is simply to save and use some of that freely-falling water from heaven. I've rarely collected less than 30 gallons in a single storm, and, on occasion. I've collected as much as 400 gallons of rain water in a single downpour. That's water that I can use without relying on the piped water which comes to me from afar. In some tests in urban areas, the rain water contained lead concentrations equal or greater to the limit recommended for drinking water. This was primarily in the Northeastern U.S. Microbiological contamination of rain water was found to be primarily from bird droppings on the urban roofs. For these reasons, Jenkins and Pearson recommend that rain collected in urban areas not be consumed, but be used for washing or gardening instead.

If I plan to use the rain for drinking, I first clean the containers well before putting them outside. I'll also cover the opening of the collection container with a sheet of cotton to filter out particles that may wash off the roof. If I forget to add the cotton filter, I'll wait a few hours after the rain stops, and then siphon the rain out of the bucket into a clean jar. I may also run the water through a filter, many of which are sold as backpacking stores.

Tian Mao is two years old and loves to play. Her name means "Sky Cat" in Chinese, which may be due to her owl-like features (didn't you Cat" in Chinese, which may be due to her owl-like features (didn't you know that owls are the cats of the sky?). This gorgeous kitty isn't just playful, she's also very friendly with everyone, even people she's just met. And unlike the owl that lives in the tree outside your house, Tian Mao loves to be pet (disclaimer: don't pet wildlife!). If you're looking for a cat that checks all the boxes, Tian Mao is the sky cat for you!

The adoption fee for cats is $90. All cats are spayed or neutered, microchipped, and vaccinated before being adopted.

DO I HAVE TO FILE TAXES?

Dear Savvy Senior:

What are the IRS income tax filing requirements for seniors this year? I didn't file a tax return last year because my 2018 income was below the filing requirements, but I got a part-time job late last year in 2019, so I'm wondering if I need to file this year. Semi-Retired

Whether or not you are required to file a federal income tax return this year depends not only on how much you earned last year (in 2019), but also the source of that income, as well as your age and your filing status.

Here's a rundown of this tax season's IRS tax filing requirement thresholds. For most people, this is pretty straightforward. If your 2019 gross income - which includes all taxable income, not counting your Social Security benefits, unless you are married and filing separately - was below the threshold for your filing status and age, you may not have to file. But if it's over, you

- Single: $12,200 ($13,850 if you're 65 or older by Jan. 1, 2020).
- Married filing jointly: $24,400 ($25,700 if you or your spouse is 65 or older; or $27,000 if you're both over 65).
- Married filing separately: $12,200 at any age.
- Head of household: $18,350 ($20,000 if age 65 or older).
- Qualifying widow(er) with dependent child: $24,400 ($25,700 if age 65 or older).

To get a detailed breakdown on federal filing requirements, along with information on taxable and nontaxable income, call the IRS at 800-829-3676 and ask them to mail you a free copy of the "Tax Guide for Seniors" (publication 554) or see IRS.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p554.pdf.

There are, however, some other financial situations that can require you to file a tax return, even if your gross income falls below the IRS filing requirements. For example, if you earned more than $400 from self-employment in 2019, owe any special taxes like an alternative minimum tax, or get premium tax credits because you, your spouse or a dependent is enrolled in a Health Insurance Marketplace (Obamacare) plan, you'll need to file.

You'll also need to file if you're receiving Social Security benefits, and one-half of your benefits plus your other gross income and any tax-exempt interest exceeds $25,000, or $32,000 if you're married and filing jointly.

To figure all this out, the IRS offers an interactive tax assistant tool on their website that asks a series of questions that will help you determine if you're required to file, or if you should file because you're due a refund. It takes less than 15 minutes to complete.

You can access this tool at IRS.gov/help/ita – click on "Do I Need to File a Tax Return?" Or, you can get assistance over the phone by calling the IRS helpline at 800-829-1040. You can also get face-to-face help at a Taxpayer Assistance Center. See IRS.gov/localcontacts or call 800-829-1040 to locate a center near you.

Check Your State

Even if you're not required to file a federal tax return this year, don't assume that you're also excused from filing state income taxes. The rules for your state might be very different. Check with your state tax agency before concluding that you're entirely in the clear. For links to state tax agencies see Taxadmin.org/state-tax-agencies.

Tax Preparation Help

If you find that you do need to file a tax return this year, you can get help through the Tax Counseling for the Elderly (or TCE) program. Sponsored by the IRS, TEC provides free tax preparation and counseling to middle and low-income taxpayers, age 60 and older. Call 800-906-9887 or visit IRS.treasury.gov/freetaxprep to locate a service near you.

Also check with AARP, a participant in the TCE program that provides free tax preparation at more than 4,800 sites nationwide. To locate an AARP Tax-Aide site call 888-227-7669 or visit AARP.org/findtaxhelp. You don't have to be an AARP member to use this service.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

WHAT DID WE KNOW BEFORE FACEBOOK?

Quite honestly, I don't always believe what I read on Facebook. Just saying!

As you grow and get older, you adjust to the changing environment that you are in along with the technology. I well remember the day I transitioned from a manual typewriter to a computer. My first computer had no hard drive, and many, perhaps cannot relate to that. However, I thought I was in writer's heaven.

I never thought much about this until one day a young person asked me, "How did you know anything before Facebook?" There was a young man born after the invention of Facebook. At first, I did not quite understand what he was saying. I had grown accustomed to the developing modern-day technology. Not that I am an expert, I am just a user.

Looking at this young person, I said very simply, "Before Facebook, we had grandmas." He did not understand, so I had to try to explain the Grandma-Factor.

My grandmother was a very sweet and wonderful woman. I only knew her when she was older because after all, she was my grandmother. I remember all the wonderful dinners she cooked for us and especially the pies. However, there were some things about grandma I did not know until after she had passed. Unbeknownst to me, she was known in the entire community as the Queen of Gossipers. This really caught my attention.

Everybody in the community knew my grandmother. More than that, my grandmother knew everybody in the community, especially their secrets.

How she got to that place of being the Queen of Gossipers is something I have never put together. All

According to some conversations I had with her friends, my grandmother knew what was happening two days before it actually happened. For the life of me, I don't know what that means. Nothing happened in the community that escaped my grandmother's attention.

Whether people needed my grandmother's permission to do something or not, I'm not quite sure. Whatever happened, she knew about it long before it happened.

If you wanted a rumor started, just visit my grandmother and whisper a confidential secret to her. Usually, by the time they got home, that secret was all over the community.

Often I have wondered if my grandmother knew that some people were using her. Then I wondered if some people knew how much she was using them.

At times, this was a little touchy. If a couple was getting engaged, everybody knew about it before they actually were engaged. How she managed that I don't know. She read a person like Will Rogers read the newspaper.

For her 90th birthday, some people in the community wanted to give her a surprise birthday party. They knew, however, it would be very difficult to surprise my grandmother.

Several of them met at a restaurant in the next town to work out some details. They came up with many different scenarios, but none seemed workable. Then, one of the older women in the group came up with a plan that would out-gossip the Queen of

The plan was simply this. On a certain night, a group would meet at the church to develop a plan to fire their pastor. Everybody knew that grandmother loved her pastor to pieces. Anything like this would have gotten her dander up, and you do not want to do that. The success of the plan depended upon the right person whispering this gossip to my grandmother. Otherwise, she would not really believe it.

The woman who came up with this was my grandmother's closest friend, and so she was chosen. If Grandmother would believe anybody, it would be this woman.

They made plans for the birthday party. How they got it to everybody without my grandmother knowing is in the same category as who killed JFK.

At the right time, this woman went to my grandmother and confidentially whispered the plan to fire her beloved pastor. "Now, don't let this get out to anybody; this is top secret."

Before the night ended, everybody in the community knew of the plan to "fire the pastor." On that night, people came early because it was supposed to be a surprise. It was a wonderful surprise. At the right time, my grandmother marched into that church, slammed open the door, and said as angrily as she had ever been, "How dare you fire my pastor?"

At that moment, everybody, including the pastor, burst into singing, "Happy Birthday to You." It took a few moments for my grandmother to understand what was really happening. When she finally realized what the meeting was really about, she laughed and said, "How did I miss this?"

As I listen to the woman telling me, the story I thought of what David said. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him; and he will shew them his covenant' (Psalm 25:14).

Some secrets, like God's love for me, should be spread far and wide and not kept a secret.

STUART TOLCHIN

I have been recuperating from surgery for the past five weeks and have basically been unable to leave the house other than to have my wife drive me to doctor's appointments. During this period

I have also taken the giant steps of retiring from the practice of law after fifty years and am now feeling much like a stranger in a strange land needing to hold on to whatever is left of my identity as I proceed jobless and redundant into the Brave New World that is out there beyond my front door.

I have lived in this same spot in Sierra Madre Canyon for over 40 years. In that time almost all of my known neighbors have come and gone many times. The small cabins that were here have been knocked down and new multiple storied houses have risen in a four level home with stairways to each level that have become increasingly difficult to climb. At times I fondly long for the return of my original one story stairless 600 square foot cabin. But time does not seem to flow backwards and the wonderful canyon views are now blocked by the enlarged homes.

Of course I no longer know many of my canyon neighbors. The reason for this is simple. During the years that I have lived here my wife and I have had two wonderful dogs each of which lived long lives and eventually had to be put down. During their lifetimes I faithfully walked two laps work and then two more after work. As a result of these walks it seemed that I eventually knew and was on pleasant speaking terms with everyone. Those times have passed. Also, I hate to admit this, but because of my advanced age and resultant short term memory loss I seem to forget being introduced to new people and am embarrassed to display my ignorance.

Okay what am I left with, an old man with no identity, no longer a lawyer, and no memory, who only sees his children once a week, and doesn't know his neighbors—so who am I. As a result of being so cooped up in the house I have without much relish been an avid follower of the attempts at removing the President from office. I am very much in favor of such a procedure but honestly the proceedings are long, repetitive, and often not very interesting. Perhaps to make my continuous viewing more palatable I have begun to identify strongly with the Democratic Chairmen of the House sub-committees, particularly Adam Feinstein and Barbara Boxer. Schiff and Jerrold Nadler and the Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer. All three of these men are Ashkenazi Jews as am I and perhaps to create some sort of attachment for myself I began to read about other accomplished Ashkenazi Iews.

A JEW FINALLY WALKS OUT OF THE HOUSE

Before talking about the aforementioned contemporary figures let me share with you a little of what I have learned. My mother's family are what is known as Litvaks, Lithuanian Jews. I poked around on the internet and learned that my two favorite singersongwriters were and are men born to Litvak families. Their names are Leonard Cohen and Bob Dylan. Pretty amazing don't you think? I poked around a little more and learned that probably the most famous song writer of the century who had been described by Walter Cronkite on reaching his 100th birthday as "helping to write the story of this country capturing the best of who we are and the dreams that shape our lives". That songwriter is known to us as Irving Berlin but he was born with the name of Israel Beilin in a small village in what is now Ukrania. their place. My little cabin had become Are you ready for the name of the small village—TOLCHIN—yes my name and the place where my grandfather was born. Somehow this makes me proud even though the stories that I heard from my father made me very aware of the persecution that Jews experienced in their small villages. I next looked up my favorite architect Frank Gehry who as most you know is one of the most honored architects in the world.

I knew he was Jewish and had changed his name in an attempt to escape from anti-Semitism. It turned out his name at birth was Frank Owen Goldberg and was born to a Russian Jewish family and, are you ready for this?, has been around the circle in the morning before married for 44 years to a woman whose maiden name is Berta Isabel Aguilera. For those readers who do not know me personally I want to inform you that for 25 years I have been married to a woman whose maiden name is Irene Aguilera. I stand amazed.

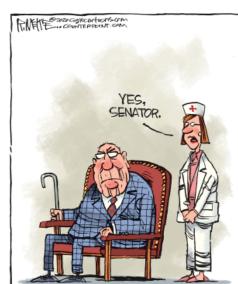

Catching my breath I want to remind you that Adam Schiff and Jerrold Nadler are both Ashkenazi Jews as is Chuck Schumer the Senate Minority Leader and if anyone is going to save this country it will be through the efforts of these men in addition to Senator Bernie Sanders who, even without doing any research, I am sure is another Ashkenazi Jew. How dare I complain that I am left with no identity? Sure I am a non-practicing Jew, un-Bar Mitzvahed, and ignorant of much of Jewish tradition. Nevertheless, I am proud to identify as a Jew and am ready to walk out my door into the world clear about my values and able to identify strongly with those who are on the side on the eve of the 2016 election, I warned that if Donald Trump were to inexplicably occupy the White House, would he wreak havoc on American values, and his "authoritarian sensibility" would precipitate "a systematic breakdown of our democratic institutions." I was merely stating the obvious. Any two-bit seer could foresee how his destructive reign would play out.

Oy, I forgot to mention Diane

Now it's playing out.

The 53 Republicans who run the chamber are busily abetting Trump's authoritarian assault on democracy and the rule of law by systematically sabotaging any semblance of a fair impeachment trial. On Tuesday, in a series of votes, they blocked all attempts to subpoena witnesses and new evidence. And Wednesday, in Davos, Trump openly boasted about his coverup: "We have all the material. They don't have the material."

Trump has predictably stressed our constitutional system to its breaking point. Mitch McConnell and his lockstep legions seem determined to break it.

They're doing so in defiance of American majority sentiment. According to a Washington Post-ABC poll, 71 percent want to hear witnesses at trial. Other recent mainstream polls have seen similar results, including a new Quinnipiac poll, where 66 percent say they want key exaide John Bolton to testify.

In the Senate chamber, they appear totally unperturbed that Trump's lawyers are offering zero evidence to refute the Articles of Impeachment - which prove that Trump shook down a foreign power to get domestic campaign dirt for his reelection bid, then covered up his abuses. They apparently don't care that Trump's core anti-impeachment argument is a crock that would shock the Founding Basically, Trump's legal eagles claim that the two impeachment articles are "ridiculous" because they don't specify that Trump committed a crime. One of those lawyers, TV talking head Alan Dershowitz, said last weekend that Trump should not have been impeached because the articles merely describe "non-criminal actions." He said on TV that "the (House) vote was to impeach on abuse of power, which is not within the constitutional criteria for impeachment."

TRUMP'S TRIAL IS DE-MOCRACY'S ULTIMATE

In a column But here's the obvious rebuttal: "(Impeachment) certainly doesn't have to be a crime if you have somebody who completely corrupts the office of president and who abuses trust and poses great danger to our liberty. You don't need a technical crime."

> Thank you, Alan Dershowitz! Because that's what he said on TV back in 1998, when he deemed Bill Clinton's extramarital sex to be sufficient grounds for impeachment.

> The Founders never specified that impeachment and removal required a crime - because at the time the Constitution was being drafted, there was, as yet, no federal criminal code. Instead, the Founders anticipated that Congress awarded the sole power of impeachment - would take its cues from Alexander Hamilton, who spoke broadly about "the misconduct of public men...the abuse or violation of some public trust."

Remember, last month, when Republicans were lauding law professor Jonathan Turley, who'd testified at the House hearings that he thought Democrats were moving too fast on impeachment? Well now Turley says that Trump's lawyers are wrong to claim that impeachment requires a crime. That claim "is at odds with history and the purpose of the Constitution...I do not believe that the criminal code is the effective limit or scope of possible impeachable offenses."

The gist of Trump's defense argument the argument that Senate Republicans are destructively indulging - is that he can do whatever he wants, and that whatever he wants is sanctioned by divine right simply because he wants it. Who is he, King George III? That's the monarchist mindset that the American Revolution's soldiers fought and died to

So now we've arrived at the end game. McConnell and his colleagues appear bent on ratifying Trump's power abuses, thereby destroying the checks and balances that are crucial to our constitutional order. The only hope is that Democrats – with the winds of public opinion at their backs - can hold Trump and the Senate Republicans accountable at the

I warned in my 2016 pre-election column that a Trumpist future "is down the dark path at the fork in the road. If we take it, we own it." We took it, we own it, and the election 10 months hence is our last best chance to reverse it.

MICHAEL REAGAN NEW RULES OF IMPEACHMENT

I must have said it a dozen times since the purchased Democrats' impeachment miniseries took over our televisions, but I'll say it again.

The Democrats and their allies in the liberal media think history began this morning when they rolled out of the left side of their beds.

It happened again during the Democrats' opening impeachment tirades in the Senate.

ignoring their jobs - trying to prove that President Trump should be impeached because he abused the power of his office and because he obstructed Congress by claiming executive privilege.

The obstruction charges against Trump are for refusing to let administration officials testify before the impeachment hearings in the House and for withholding it wants, he'll get impeached. documents the House had requested.

Well, if using or threatening to use executive privilege for those reasons are impeachable crimes, George Washington and every president since JFK, including my father, is guilty – often on multiple

President Clinton, the all-time modern leader, asserted executive privilege 14 times to try to keep his staff from appearing before various grand juries and congressional committees.

George W. Bush used it six times, including in 2008 when he told his Attorney General to assert executive privilege in response to a congressional subpoena for documents related to an investigation into who outed Valerie Plame as a CIA operative.

Meanwhile, President Obama employed executive privilege so many times that even the liberal media of the day questioned the legitimacy of invoking it.

The prime example was the infamous "Fast and Furious" case in 2012, when Attorney General Eric Holder used executive privilege to shield documents from Congress that were related to the Obama administration's program to let illegally

Football Facts & Fun

I might be a groundhog, but I'm also the world's biggest football fan. I'm supposed to hibernate from October through the winter months – but that's prime football season! So, I sneak out of my burrow to watch my favorite teams play.

Even when I predict six more weeks of wintry weather I watch the Super Bowl!

It's impossible to predict the future, but here's a look at where the real estate market stands at the beginning of 2020

Monrovia

This week the median list price for Monrovia, CA 91016 is $998,000 with the market action index hovering around 42. This is an increase over last month's market action index of 41. Inventory has held steady at or around 29.

MARKET ACTION INDEX

The market remains in a relative stasis in terms of sales to inventory

REAL-TIME MARKET PROFILE Median List Price $998,000 Per Square Foot Days on Market Price Decreased Price Increased Relisted 0% 29 Inventory $3,000 Median Rent $4,890,000 Most Expensive Least Expensive $625,000 Slight Seller's Advantage and prices have been relatively stable for a few weeks. However, inventory is sufficiently low to keep us in the Seller's Market zone so watch changes in the MAI. If the market heats up, prices are likely to resume an upward climb.

Sierra Madre

This week the median list price for Sierra Madre, CA 91024 is $1.137.500 with the market action index hovering around 29. This is less than last month's market action index of 33. Inventory has held steady at or around 26.

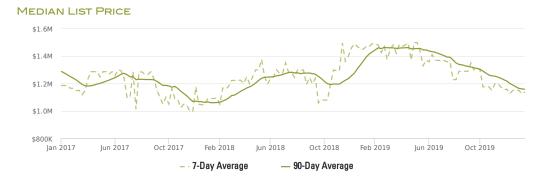

MARKET ACTION INDEX

Median List Price Per Square Foot Days on Market Price Decreased Price Increased Relisted 26 Inventory Median Rent $3,950 Most Expensive $3,200,000 Least Expensive $664,000 Slight Buyer's Advantage

REAL-TIME MARKET PROFILE

The Market Action Index has been trending lower for several weeks while prices have remained relatively stable. If inventory continues to grow relative to demand however, it is likely that we will see downward pressure on pricing.
