THE CANNON IS READY TO ROLL AGAIN!

Known as the big Krupp gun, the howitzer field artillery cannon lo-cated at Memorial Park was a tro-phy from the First World War after Germany was disarmed. This week the wheels on the cannon were replaced for the fourth time, after being out for repair for about four months.

The local post of the American Legion, under the direction of Major Charles S. Floyd, petitioned the War Department for one of the many confiscated pieces of artillery as a memorial to those lost during the Great War. This particular 6" cannon was in Austrian service and reported to be in good condition at the time of its capture. These big guns were the type used where a million shells were fired by the Germans against France on the first day of the war in 1916. Transport for two identical cannons was sponsored by the City of Pasadena, which then decided one was enough and the twin was given to Sierra Madre.

The cannon was received in September of 1925 when it was placed in Municipal Park (later to be renamed Memorial Park) at the corner of Sierra Madre Blvd. and Hermosa Ave. Putting the cannon in the park wasn't without its own place on the ground that all armaments should be kept from public view because of their psychological effect on children." At the time the war was still felt to be a great conflict and "a war to end all wars."

Two and a half years later, the city allotted up to $25 for cement block to build a small pedestal at the request of the American Legion post to help secure the sometimes wan-dering cannon. Originally facing down the street towards the old City Hall, it is now wisely mounted away from the city center. The American Legion, and more recently the VFW, was responsible for maintaining the cannon for almost 100 years.

Manufactured in 1905 and weighing 1770 pounds, the cannon is work decorates the barrel. At the nose of the cannon is the inscription "Pro Gloria Et Patria" which translates to "For glory and for the fatherland." Near the breech are the words "Ultima Ratio Regis" which means "In the King's Honor.'

The wheels of the cannon have had a sorted life. The first repairs were needed in 1936, when Fred Richter, a termite exterminator who lived on Victoria Lane, was working on the wheels and found the inscription that it was made in Essen, Gerheated controversy. Some citizens many. Essen was not only the home

"opposed its installation in public | of the world-famous Fried Krupp | A. G. munitions works, but also Richter's old stomping grounds. He had visited the Krupp factory, which was larger than all of Sierra Madre, and had seen Krupp and Kaiser Wilhelm at the factory's 100th anniversary in 1911. When this wheel repair job was finished the American Legion also provided the bronze inscribed plaque as a memorial for the cannon.

Another controversy surrounding the cannon developed during WWII. Metal was needed for the war efforts. Many cities offered their old cannons to be scrapped. The City Council had thought it was a good idea to send the cannon off to be melted down but deferred the American Legion. Well, you know Sierra Madre and its love for tradition! There was a bored to 150mm. Ornate scroll | faction which clearly wanted the cannon to stay put because it could never be replaced. The American Legion, adept at both fighting wars and dealing with the government, found a solution to appease Uncle Sam. Post Commander H. E. Gabriel said that if the government needed and wanted the cannon they were welcome to it. All the War Production Board had to do was "come and get it". Needless to say, no one ever came to pick it up. More than two-thirds of cities across the country had turned their cannons over to the war effort. The controversy dragged on as at some people continued to push for the unsightly mass of scrap metal," "disfiguring our otherwise beautiful park," with "neither practical, ornamental, nor spiritual value" be sent off to make bombs to protect our boys fighting the war.

The war eventually ended, but the effects lived on. In 1950, a former hospital inmate was apprehended beating on the old cannon with a club. The 26 year old Monrovia man explained to the police that he was trying to destroy the symbols of war. The cannon, not only a meeting place for day laborers, was also involved in an extortion plot later in 1950. Harry Hubner, of Auburn Ave, the owner of Independent Iron Works in Los Angeles, was being "shaken down" by three men to the tune of $2000. The trio said they had information that would prove Mr. Hubner was evading paying taxes and that they would report him to the IRS unless he paid up. The Sheriff's Department was informed and a sting operation involving deputies and local police was put in place. The "messenger" was arrested when he attempted to collect that money and the remaining two partners in crime were picked up at the rendezvous point, of course, at the cannon in the park.

Through the 1930's the barrel of the cannon was used for a number of Continued on page 7

Beat The Bills: SB9 and 10. Don't let the state turn single family neighborhoods From this: To this:

This Monday, August 16th, the California Assembly goes back in session and will vote on SB 9 and SB 10- two bills designed to destroy single family neighbourhoods by overriding local zoning laws.

Is this an effort to create much needed affordable housing or housing for the homeless? NO! It is a blatant statesupported effort to replace lots zoned for single family homes with lots that can accommodate up to 14 units - all without local Planning Commission review and neighbour input.

Senate Bills SB9 and SB10 have passed the CA State Senate and are now before the Assembly. These bills will mean the end of single-family neighbourhoods throughout CA - creating 6 to 14 separate housing units in place of one home! They are a massive gift to developers and real estate investors who will maximize their profits by building luxury and market-rate housing with NO affordable housing required! Taxpayers will bear the costs of increased demand on schools, parks, water, sewers, power grids and public safety personnel.

SB9 and 10 DECREASE affordability, DISMANTLE environmental protections, DESTROY neighborhoods, and DIMINISH green space.

YOU HAVE THE POWER TO STOP THIS FROM HAPPENING!!!

Contact your local representative and the governor and tell them to stop these destructive bills. Sierra Madre's local rep is Chris Holden and he can be reached at the following link: https://a41.asmdc.org/. His local number is 626 351-1917.

If you are out of our area, you can find your rep at the following link: http://findyourrep.legislature.ca.gov/.

Governor Newsom can be reached at: https://govapps.gov.ca.gov/gov40mail/.

Please send this to 5 of your friends and neighbours and ask them to send it to 5 of their friends and neighbours. Every community in California will be affected by this.

IT IS URGENT THAT YOU ACT BEFORE THE END OF THE WEEK AND LET YOUR VOICE BE HEARD!!

WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

Came across the following somewhere or other and liked the whole idea so much I thought I'd pass it along to you, dear friends and neighbors:

"I have a decision I can make every morning when I wake up. I have a choice. I can spend the day in bed going through the difficulty I have with my body parts that aren't working as I'd like them to, or get out of bed and be thankful for the parts that do work.

Each day is a gift, and as long as my eyes open, I will focus on the new day and the happy memories I've stored just for this time in my life.

HAPPINESS is like a bank account. You withdraw from it what you deposit. So my choice - and I'm sure yours, too - is to deposit a lot of happiness into my memory accounts.

Remember five simple things:

- Free your heart from hate/discord
- Free your mind from worries
- 3. Live simply
- 4. Give more
- Take less" 5.

And one more thing, give yourself the gift of flowers in your house. The picture today is of the flowers in my bedroom. The first things I see when I open my eyes are these flowers, Alstroemeria, which are always fresh at my grocery store for about $2.99 a bunch. They last for over a week and seeing flowers and thanking God that He made them is a great start to the day.

We've had a little rain lately, which fills us all with joy and makes the whole world look better. There is more in store for us, we hope, and, considering the fires and drought conditions everywhere, we are so grateful for any rain at all.

School is in for us, yes, there is dancing in the streets when the car door closes behind our little sweeties, and we watch them stagger away under backpacks filled with books and supplies that weigh more than they do. One of these days the schools are going to allow the children to use lockers again and there will be more rejoicing over that! Daughter Crissy, mother of Jessie and Emily, and I took advantage of their being in school and treated ourselves to a second trip to see "Jungle Cruise," and it was just as enjoyable as the first time. You guys have gotta go see that movie! It's high adventure and only the first few minutes are connected to the Disneyland ride.

Trust me! You'll like it!

As it's been incredibly hot everywhere we've been lately and the best thing possible is to step out of the heat and humidity and back into our air- conditioned houses. Yes, our electric bill makes us gasp when we open it, but life is so much better with A/C than without it. John and I suffered through about 44 years of stifling, mind-numbing heat in our hundred-year-old house on Alegria before we finally were able to get air conditioning, which made life so much more

We continually offer thanksgiving to the fine minds who came up with air conditioning and, thanks to Wikipedia, here's something you might not know about this best invention ever: The basic concept behind air conditioning is said to have happened in ancient Egypt, where reeds were hung in windows and moistened with trickling water. The evaporation of water cooled the air blowing through the window. This process also made the air more humid, which was beneficial in that dry desert climate. In ancient Rome, water from aqueducts was circulated through the walls of certain houses (think mansions) to cool them. 2nd century Chinese inventor Ding Huan of the Han Dynasty invented a rotary fan for air conditioning, with 7 wheels, 10 ft. in diameter, manually powered by prisoners of the time. Emperor Xuanzong (712-762) of the Tang Dynasty had the "cool hall" built in the imperial palace which used water-powered fan wheels for air conditioning, as well as rising jet streams of water from fountains. In the 17th century, Cornelis Drebbel "turned summer into winter" for James 1st of England by adding salt to water. And we, here in the 21st century just press a button and enjoy instant relief. Thank you, modern technology, we are beyond grateful.

As you might recall, last week I mentioned receiving a letter from the IRS demanding more and better information. Happily, my tax preparer experts sent them a whole bunch of stuff and a stern letter and my fingers are crossed hoping that's the end of it.

I'm enjoying "Confessions of a Tax Collector: One Man's Tour of Duty Inside The IRS" tremendously. Here's a little bit about it: "With a rich mix of humor, horror, and angst, Confessions of a Tax Collector contains an astonishing cast of too-strange-for-fiction characters. But the most intriguing character of all is Yancey himself who -- in detailing how the job changed him and how he managed to pull himself back from the brink of moral, ethical, and spiritual bankruptcy - reveals what really lies beneath those dark suits and mirrored sunglasses."

I understand that Starbucks is going to unveil their Fall drinks on August 24th, which seems a little early, but popular demand rules. Pumpkin Spice Latte!

Deposit some joy into your happiness bank account today.

Arrest Made In Pasadena Shooting

Pasadena police arrested a suspect Monday in connecting with a shooting last month that left a victim with a gunshot in the neck. The situation may have been an accident.

According to Pasadena police, on July 29, at around 10:35 p.m., officers were dispatched to the area of St. John Ave. and California Blvd. regarding a male heard yelling he had been shot. While officers were searching the area, Huntington Memorial Hospital contacted the police department regarding an adult male victim who had arrived at the emergency room, suffering from a gunshot wound to the neck.

Medical staff rushed the victim into surgery in critical condition.

Pasadena Violent Crimes Detectives responded to the crime scene to investigate this shooting. Detectives were able to identify the location of the shooting as having occurred in the 1900 block of Mentone Ave. in Pasadena. The victim had been shot just minutes before he was dropped off at the hospital and through their investigative efforts, Detectives were able to pin point exactly where the crime had occurred. Additionally, they located and recovered ballistic evidence from the Mentone Ave. address.

On Monday, the Pasadena Investigations Criminal Division executed a search warrant in the 15000 block of Little Beaver St. in Victorville. At this location, Detectives recovered a handgun and arrested 20-year old Robert Murray Jones III for the shooting. Jones is a Victorville resident and an acquaintance of the victim. Jones admitted to shooting the victim, claiming it was an accident.

The Los Angeles County District Attorney's office filed felony charges against Jones for Assault With a Deadly Weapon and Discharge of a Firearm with Gross Negligence. Jones is being held on $235,000 bail.

Anyone with information about this case is encouraged to call Pasadena Police at (626)- 744-4241 or you may report information anonymously by dialing (800) 222-TIPS (8477).

Second In-N-Out Burger Location Proposed

By Dean Lee

The Pasadena city council got a first look at a proposed second In-N-Out Burger location in Pasadena after a Predevelopment Plan Review was submitted for a new drive-through restaurant building at the shuttered Cameron's Seafood on Colorado

Lawyer Scott Jenkins, on behalf of In-N-Out, said the current 2114 E. Foothill Blvd location would remain and that the proposed location at 1978 East Colorado Blvd. could ease traffic problems inherent to the Foothill site.

'We contemplate having 45 onsite parking spaces and queuing for 29 cars, which we understand is very important," Jenkins said. "There will be 84 indoor seats and 36 outdoor seats. We are mindful of the in many respects... it is a large residents to the south with no site for a drive-through, it has vehicular traffic access off of good access off Colorado Blvd., Berkeley Ave and the exiting off which is a wide street, there is foothill site."

Before moving forward, In-N-Out would need to submit a Conditional Use Permit to to deviate from the requirement that a fast food drive-through be separated from another fast food drive-through by 500 feet. A Taco Bell drive-through is located 100 feet south. They would also need a Conditional Use Permit for proposed extended hours of operation beyond 10:00 p.m. for a property located within 150 feet from a residential zoning district. The conditions could be challenging city staff said during the presentation.

"We think this site is unique Greenwood Ave. would require a not as much traffic on this part of

JPL Director Michael Watkins Steps Down to Return to Academia

After having served five years as director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Michael Watkins (pictured) will move to the Caltech campus as professor of aerospace and geophysics the institution announced Monday. Larry James will become interim director of JPL.

According to a statement, JPL Director Michael Watkins announced he will step down from his position as the director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory to resume his academic and research career at Caltech as professor of aerospace and geophysics. His last day as JPL director will be Aug. 20. JPL is a federally funded research and development center managed by Caltech for NASA.

There is no place in the world like JPL. It has truly been the great joy of my life to dedicate almost three decades to JPL, and to spend the last five years leading the Lab is the highest honor," Watkins said in his announcement Monday to JPL's 6,000 employees. "I treasure above all my interactions with the incredible people who make JPL what it is and who dedicate lifetimes to mission success after mission success."

Caltech President Thomas F. Rosenbaum joined in the announcement and thanked Watkins for his leadership as director. "Since 2015, Mike has led JPL with consummate skill and determined dedication, working closely with NASA to ensure continuation of JPL's tradition of setting new scientific and engineering milestones and captivating the world with pathbreaking missions," Rosenbaum wrote to faculty and staff. "Mike has helped to shepherd a new age of exploration that has deepened understanding of the universe and our place within it."

Under Watkins' tenure as director, JPL has launched missions for NASA, including commander of the 14th Air Earth missions ECOSTRESS, Force at Vandenberg AFB and Orbiting Carbon Observatory Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff 3, GRACE Follow-On, and for Intelligence, Surveillance Sentinel 6 Michael Freilich. and Reconnaissance at the Planetary missions include the ongoing operations of Juno at and landings of the InSight committee to find the next mission and Perseverance director of JPL.

has created a sea level projection tool that makes extensive data on future sea level rise from the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) easily accessible to the public and to everyone with a stake in planning for the changes to the height of the ocean.

Pull up the tool's layers of global ocean and coastlines, and pick any decade between 2020 and 2150: The tool, hosted on NASA's Sea Level Portal, will deliver a detailed report for the location based on the projections in the IPCC's Sixth Assessment Report, released on Aug. 9, which addresses the most updated physical understanding of the climate system and climate change.

The IPCC has provided globalscale assessments of Earth's climate every five to seven years since 1988, focusing on changes in temperature, ice cover, greenhouse gas emissions, and sea level across the planet. Their sea level projections are informed by data gathered by satellites and instruments on the an ground, as well as analyses and computer simulations.

But for the first time, anyone will be able to see a visualization of how sea levels will change on a local level using the new online tool, a granularity that is other end of the emission difficult to capture in the IPCC report itself.

The tool can display possible future sea levels under several greenhouse-gas-emission and socioeconomic scenarios. including a low-emissions future, a "business as usual" trajectory with emissions on their current track, and "accelerated emissions" scenario. nefarious purposes, waking up residents in the middle of the night. In 1955, blast powder and a wick was bought from Arnold's Hardware and used by a juvenile to fire an eight pound shotput into the beauty parlor across the street causing significant damage. In 1956 the canon was involved in some Halloween mischief when some pranksters filled the cannon with gunpowder and rocks and fired them across Sierra Madre Blvd damaging the Old North Church. The cannon was also occasionally removed from the pedestal and rolled down the street on Halloween and left in people's yards. The police had had enough and the following year they filled the barrel with cement and securely mounted the cannon to the pedestal. After that, the old cannon lived a fairly peaceful life. Someone painted the back end of the pedestal black to "harmonize" it with the rest of the pedestal. The man who did it phoned the police and said he was "George Washington" and would see the police "across the Delaware."

The City Council gave the VFW $750 in 1963 to refurbish the aging cannon, where they patched, scraped, and repainted the old landmark. The wheels were approved for repair again in 1980, painted again in 1990. In 2006 destroyed. The rusted bolts securing the canon wheels to the base had to be cut off with a torch. The city employee made quick work of it, cutting off the bolts in a matter of minutes and leaving. The remaining heat in the metal-lined wheels started smoldering fires and burned up most of the wood on the wheels. They were eventually shipped off to a Wheelwright in Farmington, CA, at a repair cost of over $1000. The VFW and the Chamber of Commerce raised the necessary funds, but it took almost two and a half years to get the money for refurbishment and the new wheels built. As it turns out, the wheels have to be assembled in the summer, otherwise the winter moisture in the wood will dry out and they fall apart. In the meantime the VFW had the infamous cannon sandblasted and painted again and it was back in "service" for the 1982 Fourth of July parade.

In 1984, the cannon successfully stopped a car from careening into the park. Four years later, Memorial Park and the cannon were vandalized with graffiti. Eight local teenagers went to the city and offered to clean it all up and the city gratefully offered supplies for their mission. The maintenance with the cannon is never ending, having been the cannon underwent major refurbishment led by Fire Marshal Snyder and Jay Whitcraft. Engraved memorial bricks were sold to help pay for restoration. The wheels were replaced again, this time by a San Diego Wheelwright, who used solid oak and coated it with epoxy. The cannon was once again sandblasted and painted, and a new raised pedestal was built with seating along the edges to discourage people from sitting on the cannon. The concrete was removed from the barrel and replaced by a less obvious plug further down. A concrete mount was then made for the undercarriage which contains the plaque and takes the weight off the wheels.

Sierra Madre's VFW Post 3208 has done a great job looking after the city's WWI cannon all these years, along with help from other residents and helpful city employees. The VFW has also cared for the flag in Kersting Court for many decades. Each Memorial Day the VFW holds a service at Sierra Madre Pioneer Cemetery and a Veterans Day Ceremony at the Veteran's Wall in Memorial Park. A proper "research thank you" goes to Debbie Henderson, historian of the Sierra Madre Library, which has made the old Sierra Madre News newspapers available online, and Bill Coburn of SierraMadreNews.net.

GRAND OPENING OF NEW LIVE OAK LIBRARY

By Joan Schmidt

Back in 1993, there was a library crisis. LA County Library was threatening to close several branches because of funding issues. Locally there was a "Funeral" for the Duarte Library and a mock board-up of the Live Oak Library. This was unacceptable to residents and members of the newly formed Monrovia Arcadia Duarte Town Council, who participated in both events.

Linda Sells wasn't on the Town Council Board yet, but she and her neighbor and good friend John Nicoloro were aghast at losing this little beloved library. They walked door-to-door and obtained 1000 signatures on a petition! Everyone's children went there often and checked out books. Teachers used books and videos to supplement curriculum.

Fast forward a few years and Linda and John are on the Town Council. They are still walking the area, getting signed petitions and pleading with Supervisor Antonovich for a much larger space. He listened and the long journey for a new library began. Fortunately his successor, Supervisor Kathryn Barger thought a good library was an integral part of every community. The $7.3 million refurbishment began in May, 2019 and was completed, September 1 in the middle of the pandemic.

The opening included a ribbon cutting and snacks and books for the children. The building is four times the size of the old library. New features include 38 reader seats, 10 lounge chairs, a community meeting room with kitchenette and audiovisual system, a group study room, and an Early Learning and Engagement Center. There are four adult computers, five teen laptop computers, four children's computers, two early-learning computers and two i-pads to assess the catalog. A laptop vending machine features 12 laptops for inlibrary use.

Live Oak Library Manager Denise Dilley was thrilled to see friends of the library and local leaders gather for the first time in months.

Supervisor Kathryn Barger spoke as did Library County Library Director Skylar Patrick who gave an informative history of the Live Oak Library. Members of the Monrovia Arcadia Duarte Town Council, Dave Hall, Terrence Williams, Michelle Wright, Yvonne Bullock and Joan Schmidt were thrilled and reminisced how close they came to losing two local libraries. Arcadia Mayor Sho Tay came by and reflected their City Library is in the northern part of Arcadia. Although Live Oak is a "County Library", many residents in the southern part of the City have utilized it for years alongside county residents.

San Gabriel Mayor Chin Ho Liao, Temple Station's Captain Reyes and Deputies Sanders and Barr, Vicki Paul from Barger's San Dimas Office, many Arcadia officials and Karen Mc Nair and Carrie Barker from the Arcadia Chamber also attended besides MANY residents! It was such a happy wonderful event. Ms. Dilley felt like it was Christmas and shared how Live Oak was doing a daily lunch program for kids. Thanks you to EVERYONE who had a role in the new Live Oak Library! See you there. Visit lacountylibrary.org/ live-oak-library for more info.

CONSERVATION IS A WAY OF LIFE

Water Conservation is a primary focus for Californians due to the extreme heat and dry conditions. Historically, summer creates the potential for higher water use. We hope all Monrovians keep in mind these tools and tips to use water wisely.

- Always turn taps off tightly so they do not drip.
- Promptly repair any leaks in and around your taps.
- Use an aerator and/or water flow-reducer attachment on your tap to reduce your water usage.

Water Smart Home Program

Upper San Gabriel Water District is proud to announce the debut of its Water Smart Home Program! Qualifying Monrovia residents may be eligible to receive up to six types of water conservation items to be installed in their home, free of charge, by a licensed contractor.

Qualifying residents must either:

- Reside within the designated program area (purple shaded area) of Upper District's service boundaries, or Be enrolled in an income- assisted water bill program with the City of Monrovia for an address within the Upper
- District's boundaries.

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

LONGING FOR YESTERDAY

I grew up in a waste not want not household, it meant eat what you have and you can always have more. Not a bad deal I'd say. My drink of choice when going out to restaurants is bubbles, champagne or sparkling wine. Remember it can only be called champagne if the grapes were grown in the region of Champagne France.

There was a wonderful eatery in Old Pasadena called "Pop", and they specialized in (you guessed) sparkling wines and champagnes. They seemed to do quite well with "mouse*" crowd, the story here was a few years back they were open Wednesday through Sunday, I asked the bartender/sommelier Raphael what they did with the opened bottles of sparkling wine? He said they poured out in the sink; I shook and quivered at such a thought. We made a deal on the spot that I could come in on any Sunday night and for $15 (friends included) drink what otherwise would be thrown away.

Pop has gone out of business since this great event but it got me to think about the wine that is sitting in your favorite restaurants refrigerator, how long has it been sitting there? As far as sparkling wines, there should still be a "pop" when your server takes off the "stopper" if you aren't sure simply grab a utensil and see if you can stir up some White wines and red will stay fresh a day or two longer, but here is my tried and true suggestion. And not once have I had a no or a roll of the eyes. Simply ask the server when the bottle was opened and if they aren't sure ask for a fresh bottle. The mark up on wines by the glass is in the restaurants favor, all you are doing is evening the odds. There are a handful of restaurants that sell splits of sparkling wines, you get about a glass and a half from a split, though I don't and can't recommend them there are no corks -- they are screw tops. Sparkling wine with a screw top? Dom Perignon would turn over in his grave. Wine by the glass?

Check out the Parkway Grill or Flemings in Pasadena , I promise that there will be no eye rolling and they do rotate their wines by the glass program often.

COVID-19 VACCINE ADDITIONAL THIRD DOSE AP-PROVED FOR CERTAIN IMMUNOCOMPROMISED RESIDENTS

Following the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) approval of an additional dose of the Pfizer and Moderna COVID-19 vaccines for immunocompromised people, Los Angeles County will begin administering third doses to those who pled to the Eppe has amended the Emergency Use Authorization. qualify tomorrow. The FDA has amended the Emergency Use Authorization for these vaccines to allow for a third dose which can be administered at least 28 days following the second dose of the vaccine.

Ideally individuals should be vaccinated with the same vaccine they received for the first and second dose, but if that is not possible, receiving a third dose with another mRNA vaccine is acceptable.

Although the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines work very well in the majority of individuals, there is evidence that individuals who are severely immunocompromised are not fully protected after receiving two doses and this small, vulnerable group may benefit from a third dose. Certain medical conditions or the treatments used for specific conditions may prevent the immune system from responding adequately to two doses of the vaccine and therefore require an additional dose to provide adequate protection from COVID-19. Individuals who qualify for a third dose include organ transplant recipients, people undergoing cancer treatment, people with advanced or untreated HIV and those on certain immunosuppressive medications.

The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health (Public Health) encourages individuals who qualify for a third dose to speak to their healthcare provider to confirm their eligibility and get vaccinated. Third doses of the vaccines will be accessible through vaccination sites that currently offer Pfizer or Moderna vaccines. Eligible individuals will be able to provide a self-attestation that they have a qualifying medical condition at these sites.

A follow-up dose is not currently recommended for those who have received a single dose of the Johnson & Johnson vaccine. The FDA is still evaluating data on the effectiveness of the Johnson & Johnson vaccine in immunocompromised individuals. COVID-19 vaccine booster doses are also not recommended for the general public at this time.

L.A. County continues to offer vaccines at many different sites across the county to make it as easy as possible for eligible L.A. County residents to get vaccinated. Anyone 12 and older living or working in L.A. County can get vaccinated against COVID-19. Vaccinations are always free and open to eligible residents and workers regardless of immigration status.

Recommendations

- It is strongly recommended that you wear a mask at private indoor social gatherings with people outside your household, unless everyone at the gathering is fully vaccinated.
- It is strongly recommended that you wear a mask at large outdoor ticketed events when you are not in your seat. For example, while in line to enter, exit, use the bathroom, or buy food, or drinks.
- If you are not fully vaccinated, it is strongly recommended that you wear a mask in crowded outdoor settings.
- If you are in a setting where you are in sustained close contact with other people who may not be fully vaccinated, consider wearing a higher level of protection, such as wearing two masks (double masking) or a respirator (e.g., N95 or KN95). This is especially important if you are not fully vaccinated and are in an indoor or crowded outdoor setting.

Note: You are allowed to take off your mask while you:

- Actively eating or drinking as long as you are sitting or standing in a specific place such as a table or counter.
- Alone in a separate room or office.
- Showering or swimming.
- Performing or receiving personal hygiene or personal care services (like a facial or shave) that cannot be done without removing your mask.

SCHOOL STARTS AT PUSD WITH NEW GUIDELINES

A Message from Superintendent Brian McDonald

Governor Gavin Newsom announced a new public health order today requiring all school staff to either show proof of full vaccination or be tested at least once per week for COVID-19.

The new policy for school staff will take effect on August 12, 2021, and schools must be in full compliance by October 15, 2021.

An estimated 96% of PUSD employees are already vaccinated for COVID-19. PUSD teachers, administrators, and staff were among the first in Los Angeles County to get vaccinated through district-run mobile clinics and through our partnership with the Pasadena Public Health Department.

Employees:

The State's new public health order applies immediately to all PUSD employees and PUSDcontracted employees - anyone who works directly with students.

Employees have two options: show proof of full vaccination or be tested every week. Procedures for showing proof will be sent to employees by Human Resources.

Employees can get the vaccine through PUSD's Primary Health Clinic. To make an appointment, please contact the clinic at (626) 396-3600, ext 88180.

PUSD strongly encourages students ages 12 and older to get the vaccine as soon as possible. PUSD Health Programs and the City of Pasadena offer opportunities for vaccination. The state has not required the COVID-19 vaccine for students.

We're strengthening PUSD's already robust testing program.

Employees

Per this new public health order, effective imme- #VaccinatePasadena

New State Public Health Order | diately all unvaccinated employees must take a weekly COV-ID-19 test. Tests will be available at school sites and at the PUSD Primary Health Clinic.

Students

To strengthen safety measures for students, we have developed a risk-based approach to testing students in grades 6 - 12. This strategy was developed in consultation with Pasadena Public Health Department:

A risk-based sample of students in grades 6 - 12 will be offered a COVID-19 PCR test (with informed parents/guardians consent).

Unvaccinated student-athletes, band members, and ROTC will be required to take weekly tests, with informed parent/guardian consent. A negative test result is required to participate. This strategy captures students most at-risk of transmission because of the activities involved such as physical exertion and proximity of individuals.

We strongly encourage all students not yet eligible for vaccination to get tested. PUSD is providing incentives for students to get tested. These include gift cards, water bottles, stickers, and drawings for gift baskets for the family.

How and Where PUSD Students and Staff Can Get Tested

PUSD offers COVID-19 PCR oral or nasal swab tests on campuses and at the District's Primary Clinic, 8 a.m. - 3:30 pm. By appointment, please call (626) 396-3600, ext 88180.

On PUSD campuses - starting the week of August 16

Register for testing here: https://home.color. com/covid/sign-up/start?partner=cdph094

I strongly encourage everyone who is eligible to get vaccinated to help schools safely return to in-person learning by reducing transmission risk. Learn more at www.pusd.us/vaccine

ON THE MONASTERY DEVELOPMENT PROPOSAL

On Thursday, July 22, at least 100 local SM residents gathered at N. Sunnyside to express their displeasure with the plan to build 42 homes on the Monastery property. Their objections have been reported in this paper.

I had been aware of the proposed development by reading about it in the paper, like everyone else. Over the decades, I found that unique parcel of land south of the monastery to be a singularly good place to study botany, and to find peace. I have sat there many times watching the sun set, and then watching the stars. I recall with fond memories the "Huell Howser Day" when Howser led his hundreds of fans to an event in the monastery property.

I am acutely aware that the property is privately owned, and that many of the anti-development reaction is emotionally based, wanting to preserve a unique bit of Sierra Madre atmosphere.

I want to see in this discussion ideas for allowing the property owners to earn the money they need, while keeping the property open. Can we get ideas?

Here are some comments I received from readers about the proposed development:

"I am against the housing development. I don't think it is appropriate to have any kind of housing there. It will destroy the quietude of the Monastery, as well as the adjacent hiking area. In addition, it will displace and harm wild life which visit and reside there under the trees. Corrupting the ambiance of what is still natural wilderness will cost exorbitant amounts of money - just to bring in 'extra water' to run a housing complex.

In terms of water, it would be better to create an urban farm. Who needs more flushing toilets? That water would be better if applied to growing fruits and vegetables. I'm sure if it were turned into a co-operative business, many young people could get involved, learn about nature and caring for the planet — and all us locals could support it to be our own Farmer's Market! The Monastery already has many fruit trees growing... probably part of their original intent was to have a fruit tree grove for the monks' own survival. Someone in this town must have enough money to support /donate to the Monastery." -- Despina Arzouman.

"I've been thinking about this for a while, and I also saw the oppositions from some of the residents. I think we should treat the Monastery as a long-time neighbor, instead of an opponent. They have been here longer than any of us, and they have been quiet and nice to the town people. We should find a resolution to their financial problems, and not be too selfish. Thank you for your effort in trying to solve the local problems." -- Yingchao

"Hi Christopher, I'd like to see that open space used in a different way... community farm and associated farmer's market (from which the monastery could earn an income)." -- David Arzouman.

Here are more responses to my request for input. The following have asked to remain anonymous.

"Currently there is a lot of public attention on restoration in our major regional rivers, such as the LA River. We need to remember, however, where our rivers begin. Our rivers do not begin right in the channel of our large rivers—our rivers begin at places like this that have high rates of infiltration. Undeveloped and vegetated lands are where rainwater soaks into the ground, so that it can continue to travel beneath the ground surface, to emerge downstream at the place we think of as the main channel of our rivers.

"This monastery property holds a particularly important opportunity: which is a relatively large expanse of undeveloped land that overlies soils that have high potential for infiltration. Such opportunities are rare, at least in the eastern portion of LA County.

"...Alluvial fan areas at the base of the foothills have soils that are particularly suited to allow groundwater recharge. Preventing development on any remaining alluvial fan area with high infiltration should be considered a regional priority. Any large property with a relatively flat area on an alluvial fan is an incredibly rare opportunity in this region. This property as a whole is also special because the undeveloped alluvial fan area is still directly connected to the canyons, and poised to catch the water that flows from those foothills..."

Another response:

"Developing single family homes on land with high infiltration potential is short sighted. Single family homes are not the solution to the region's housing crisis. Single family homes equals more urban sprawl..... Currently the push is to incentivize high density housing around public transportation nodes. This is seen as an important step towards reducing car dependency, reducing our carbon foot-print, and transitioning into a more sustainable city with better quality of life (cleaner environment as well). For example, some agencies are promoting densification for a mile radius around metro stops. With that in mind, here is what I think should be done:

- Sell the land to a conservancy and put the income into an interest-bearing endowment.
- Sell the land to the city to maintain as a park.
- Income to maintain the park can be generated by charging for parking to use the park, and also charging event fees (weddings, movies), though the usage should remain public most of the time."

WHAT'S ALL THESE GADGETS FOR?

comes to gadgets. For me, most of them do not make any sense at all. Instead, I like things simple and easy.

almost as much as I love Apple Fritters. I've the gadgets neatly placed where they belong. Unfortunately, I could not tell you the identification of any of them.

I am gadgets-illiterate while she is gadget-obsessed. I did not know how obsessed she was with gadgets until recently.

My truck was giving me some trouble, so I took it to my mechanic to look it over. Much to my distress, he said the engine was just about shot, and it would have to be replaced.

My choices were to replace the engine for around $5,500 or buy another truck for about $30,000. I may not be handy with gadgets, but when it comes to money, that is my specialty.

I reluctantly chose to have the engine replaced, but the bad news was, it would take about a month to do it. First, he had to find an engine and have it shipped to his garage.

I didn't know how long that month was until recently.

Because I did not have my truck, I had to borrow the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage's van. She bought that van a little over two years ago. It took her a whole year to find the kind of van she wanted. She did all her research and finally found the van of her liking.

For myself, being over 6 feet tall, it was all I could do to squeeze into her van as a passenger. I found out squeezing in as a driver was even more difficult.

She said I could drive it, and then instructed me on how to drive and all the gadgets associated with driving her van.

Unfortunately, my habit is not to pay attention when people are talking about gadget things.

I've had my driver's license for over 50 years, and I have driven many cars during that time. I thanked her, got into her van, and it took quite a few minutes to get the seat settled where I can operate it.

Sitting in the driver's seat, I felt like I was being squished on all sides.

After a few minutes, I was able to start it on and then try to figure out how to put it in reverse. I found it finally and backed out of our

> I sighed a very deep sigh, which usually means I'm in trouble, while driving down the highway. I decided I wanted to turn the radio on and listen to music while driving. You might as well have fun while you're driving in such a gadget-contaminated vehicle.

> Pressing several buttons, I finally was able to find the button for the radio. Unfortunately, the sound was very low. Now, I had to find a gadget to turn the sound up so I could hear it.

> I'm unsure which gadget I pressed, but the sound went through the roof, scaring me so much that I almost jumped out of the vehicle. Fiddling around, I finally lowered the sound.

> I did not notice before, but the steering wheel had gadgets all around it. I had no idea what any of those gadgets were for and was trying desperately not to touch one.

> I had to make a right turn, and so I turned on the turn signal the way I usually do it in my truck, and it wasn't heaven that came through that van.

> The windshield wipers began, the windows went up and down several times, the horn sounded three or four times, and I was a mess.

> Very carefully, I managed to pull to the side and stop the vehicle. I sat there trying to figure out where do I start turning off all of these gadgets?

> I could call my wife, but then I would hear it for the rest of my life.

> An idea floated in my mind amid all this confusion. Why not turn the vehicle off, and maybe all the gadgets would close down.

> I turned it on with my fingers crossed, and to my delight, all of the gadgets were not on. I'm not sure what I did; I hope I don't have to do it again.

> A verse of Scripture came to my mind as I was driving home. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fools despise wisdom and instruction" (Proverbs 1:7).

Instruction seems to be the gateway to wisdom. I have a hard time with following instructions, which is why I have trouble and not just with gadgets.

HOW TO CHOOSE AN ADULT DAY CARE SERVICE PROVIDER

Can you offer any tips on choosing a good adult day care provider for an elderly parent? My 81-year-old father, who just moved in with me, has dementia and needs attention during the day while I'm at work. Need Assistance

Adult day care services can be a great option for care-givers who work, or for those who just need a break during the day. Here's what you should know, along with some tips to help you find and choose one.

Adult Day Care

The business of adult day care services has grown rapidly in recent years. According to the National Adult Day Services Association, there are upwards of 4,600 adult day centers across the U.S., the result of a 35 percent increase since 2002. Those centers provide services to more than 260,000 participants and family caregivers, which is a whopping 63 percent increase over the last two decades.

over the last two decades.

As the name implies, adult day care provides care for elderly seniors who cannot care for themselves at home. While services will vary from center to center, they typically provide personal care, meals and snacks, various activities and social interaction in a safe supportive environment. Additionally, many centers also provide health services such as medication management, various therapies, exercise and transportation to and from the facility.

portation to and from the facility.

Adult day care centers generally operate programs during normal business hours five days a week. However, some centers may offer services in the evenings and on weekends, too.

Costs for care will vary as well, usually between $25 to more than $100 per day (the national average is $75/day), depending on where you live.

Unfortunately, in most cases original Medicare does not pay for adult day care, but some Medicare Advantage plans, and many long-term care insurance policies do. But most seniors or their families pay for care out-of-pocket.

If your dad is lower income and can't afford this, state Medicaid programs provide financial assistance if he meets eligibility requirements, and some states have PACE programs that provide financial aid. Contact your state Medicaid office (see Medicaid.gov) for more information. The VA even provides adult day care to eligible veterans enrolled in their Medical Benefits Package. See VA.gov/geriatrics to learn more.

Your first step in shopping for an adult day center is to determine the kinds of services your dad needs, and you need as a caregiver. After you do that, here are some tips to help you locate and choose a good Start by contacting your Area Agency on Aging (call 800-677-1116 to get your local number) to get referrals to adult day service programs in your area. You can also search the National Adult Day Services Association (NADSA) database at NADSÁ.org/locator. Once you have a list of a few centers, call them to find out their eligibility criteria, if they offer the types of services your dad needs, if they are accepting new clients, their hours of operation, if they're licensed and/ or registered with a state agency (this is not required in all states) and what they charge.

After you identify a few good centers, go in for a visit. Find out about the staffing ratio (at least one staff member for every six participants is recommended) and what kind of training they have. While you're there, notice the cleanness and smell of the facility. Is it homey and inviting? Does the staff seem friendly and knowledgeable? Also be sure to taste the food and consider making an unannounced visit.

To help you rate your visit, the NADSA offers a helpful checklist of questions to ask at NADSA.org - click on "Site Visit Checklist" under the "For Caregivers"

Then, after your visit, be sure to check their references. Get names and phone numbers of at least two or three families who have used the center you are considering and call them.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

TO PROTECT YOUR FURRY FAMILY: ESTATE PLANNING FOR YOUR PETS

It's sad but true that many pets end up in shelter after their owner dies or becomes incapacitated. In fact, the Humane Society estimates that between 100,00 to 500,000 pets are placed in shelters each year for exactly this reason, and many these animals are ultimately euthanized.

The law considers pets to be personal property just like cars, furniture, and electronic devices. So, unless you take the proper steps to include your pet in your estate plan, your beloved companion could end up in a shelter or worse following your death or incapacity. Considering this reality, here's how you can use estate planning to ensure your pets receive the best possible care when you're no longer able to care for them yourself.

Select a Caregiver for Your Pet

Selecting a trustworthy caregiver is the firstand most important-step in protecting your pet via your estate plan. You might assume that your kids, relatives, or friends will step in and care for your pet should something happen to you, and these folks may even tell you as much in conversation. But properly caring for most pets is a major commitment of time, energy, and finances, so you shouldn't rely on simple promises to ensure your pet's future is secure.

Create a Detailed Care Plan

Once you've chosen your pet's caregiver—along with one or two alternates in case something happens to your top choice(s)— you'll need to outline all of your pet's care requirements. At the very least, your caretaking instructions should include your pet's basic requirements: dietary needs, exercise regimen, medications, and veterinary care. But if you are like most pet owners, you probably want your pet to receive more than just the bare necessities, so consider leaving instructions for any other special treatment you want your furry friend to receive. | information.

Fund Your Pet's Continued Care

When determining how much money to put aside for your pet's care, you should carefully consider the pet's age, health, and special care needs. Remember, you're covering the cost of caring for the animal for the rest of its life, and even basic expenses can add up over time. In addition to the bare necessities like food and vet visits, make sure you also calculate the costs for any special treatments or services you include in the care plan and leave enough money to pay for them. And if you end up leaving more money behind than needed, you can always name a remainder beneficiary, such as a family member or charity, to inherit any funds not spent on the

Create a Pet Trust

Since pet care can be quite complicated and costly, the best way to ensure your wishes are properly carried out is to set up a pet trust. While it's possible to leave care instructions and funding for your pet in a will, a will cannot guarantee the new caregiver will use the funds properly—or even that they will care for your pet at all. In fact, a person who's left their pet in a will can simply drop the animal off at a local shelter and keep the money for themselves. A pet trust, on the other hand, allows you to layout legally binding rules for how the funds in the trust can be used. Additionally, pet trusts can cover multiple pets, work in cases of incapacity as well as death, and they remain in effect until the last surviving animal dies.

Do Right by Your Furry Family

Although leaving assets in a pet trust is fairly simple, creating a properly drafted trust that includes all of the necessary terms can be quite complex. You'll want to ensure your pet trust contains all of the necessary elements to guarantee that your beloved companions will continue to receive the love and care they deserve, no matter what happens to you.

PUT THE LIGHTS ON HOW DO WE WIN THE WAR?

What war? Let me try and explain. For a really long time yesterday was a great day. The morning was slightly overcast and I was scheduled to meet my new golfing companions in the heat.

My wife was concerned as the day prior after playing golf she noted my truly exhausted state. She demanded that I take along water. She threatened to disable my car (that's her actual word) unless I agreed. I followed her advice and for the first time rented the electric cart. It turned out to be the beginning of a great day. Not only did I play much better than usual but also I was able to carry on interesting conversations with my golfing partner who did walk the course. He's only seventy and he's a Republican.

"We need to declare war" he said. I asked against whom this war should be declared. I pointed out that other wars like the war in Afghanistan, the post 9/11 action against Iran, the War in Viet Nam had, to my mind, been tragic mistakes. I pointed out that the War against Poverty and the War against Drugs had both been complete failures. He seemed to agree for a moment and said that he was quite pleased and understood why both his highly educated sons (one is a professor of physics and the other a published poet) have decided not to bring children into this crazy world which is travelling towards human extinction.

At this point we finished our game but I chose to play another nine holes using the electric cart and quite enjoyed myself. Really the rest of the day was quite wonderful. I got a message from Kaiser that my new triple progressive lensed glasses were ready so I picked them up. Afterward, I suggested that we go to the Pasadena mall and allow the baby, or former baby (she is now two) to have the new experience of parking structures, elevators, escalators, and a large restaurant. It is true that approaching her first escalator our granddaughter clearly said "I scared" but my wife faced the problem by picking her up. I think she actually said "it's moving!"

Once inside the restaurant things worked out well for a while. The very helpful service staff brought crayons and drawing paper, immediately supplied a high chair, and a child's menu. Still, this wasn't enough! The former baby demanded her sippy cup which we had left in the car four flights below. Since my wife had driven she felt she could find the car faster. Off she went for what seemed an interminably long time during which my son and his niece played beautifully together painting pictures with ketchup and ice. Notwithstanding my son's considerable learning disabilities they play beautifully together and watching them was particularly gratifying for me.

Eventually my wife returned with the sippy cup. She did get lost walking underground from one end of the parking lot to the other and eventually having to climb three flights of stairs. We finished eating but forgot to get our parking ticket validated. As you can probably tell we are not experienced mall attendees but managed it and all in all had quite a nice time.

Unfortunately I made the mistake of watching MSNBC and became so depressed that I could not force myself to write an article. After a mostly sleepless night I woke up and still felt the same way but took out the trash and walked around our canyon circle with my dog. The bear had been around and had knocked over several trash cans spreading garbage all over the street. I remembered the adage that one should pick up your own trash and some of other people's as well. I did what I could and passed two pillows on another house that read ENJOY TODAY.

So I went home and wrote this article. In reviewing my yesterday and today I realize that much needs to be done and I don't know what it is and neither does anybody else. All we can do is to keep trying, doing new things, learning new things and not unnecessarily exhausting ourselves. MY WIFE WAS RIGHT! We need to maintain our strength, be sensible, feel free to talk to people and enjoy today as best as we can. Really humans are good at adapting and coping and learning. Maybe the enemy is not ourselves but simply our misunderstandings and misplaced loyalties. I hope so. Have a good week.

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE WRONG KIND SECOND HAND ROSE

Frosty's belly had a smudge of orange rust. I pulled out the metal ice shaver tube, the edges of the grater were worn smooth from overly ambitious summers of watery, homemade snow cones. His corncob pipe was long gone and his stovepipe hat had a 2 inch jagged crack in the back. He wasn't so much white as snow than faded yellow, like a snow bank on a popular dog walking route.

"How much?" I asked as I took a dollar bill from my wallet.

"Twenty-five dollars." she said, as visions of a pedicure danced in her eyes.

"You gotta be kidding me, it's broken."

"But it's vintage."

DIY Yard Sales. From May to August you can find them popping up like clumps of weeds in your neighborhood. Every 5 years or so I'd clean out the back of my closets and brave the dark, hidden, inner reaches of my basement to haul out junk - I mean treasure - I could no longer live with - spouse excepted. I would pile the scrap - I mean treasure - to the front of my driveway, and tack up a couple of hand written posters on local street poles. Two hours before the start time, people would come and view my offerings, many of them curious, more of them critical. But at the end of the day, I'd have a cigar box full of change and a handful of single-digit denomination bills. They paid me to take away my junk - I mean treasure.

Incidentally, their closets would soon fill up with incomplete sets of Faberware bought for two bucks, 8-track tapes of Donny Osmond's Greatest Hits, stacks of National Geographic circa 1970's, and faded XXXL tees - a certain savior fare musky odor still clinging to the collars. It was the Bric-a-Brac Circle of Life.

Second hand shopping used to be a low-cost weekend excursion. Yard sales and Flea markets shared two things. Bargain hunters with big dreams of snagging an undiscovered Rembrandt from someone's great granny's attic and rookie sellers whose Avengers Edition No.1 comic book is going to pay for that beach house in Hawaii. Granny's talents in paint-by-numbers notwithstanding, the real winners at the Flea markets are the fast-talking Ginsu Knives salespeople from whom you buy not one, not two but three sets of the World's Sharpest Knives with the lifetime guarantee. Not only can you cut cleanly through a copper pipe with a Ginsu, you can fix a BLT for lunch with it right after.

I never got into Yard Sales. Unlike restaurants with Open Kitchens where you can view the chef preparing your food, I don't want to actually know the stranger who used to wear the denim jacket I just bought. In the back of my mind it turns into an episode of "Who Wore It Better?" When I was 14, I bought a heavy woolen, sailor's jacket from the Salvation Army Thrift store. The black top with the smart square flap on the back had two stripes on the arm designating the wearer as a Seaman Apprentice. I doubt he'd want to know its glorious days of a submariner was now reduced to high school gossip in the canteen with a crew of acne-prone, buck-toothed teens.

In the era before "fast fashion", clothing was an investment. You bought clothes that would last years or at least until your younger sibling grew into it. Now a sweater can be had for the same price as a 3 course meal for at Panera. We toss our cheaply-bought clothes, like a container of fat-free yogurt, 2 weeks after the expiration date. "Vintage" stuff - anything pre-Iphone 4, can command stickershock prices. Gone are the days when United Way sold blue jeans and button-downs by the pound.

Pre-owned, pre-loved, consignment - fancy names for fancy prices of second hand goods. And that Avengers No.1 edition and the beach house? Check out the the word REPRINT in small print by the title, and convince your spouse staycations are better anyways.

RICH JOHNSON NOW THAT'S RICH!

FATHERING DAUGHTERSI came across an email sent to a friend circa 5 years ago

Mountain Views News Saturday, August 14, 2021

who was, at the time, a father-to-be.

"To my good friend and father to be Pastor Briant...", the email began. And now I, embellish on that electronic communique to, include all fathers and

I said to Briant if fatherhood impacts you the way it impacted me you are soon to be blessed with a new and special understanding of the love of God as seen through the special prism of the eyes of a father.

You are about to witness the miracle of birth. If you involve yourself, Dad, in the whole experience, labor through birth, (which I strongly encourage) your love for your bride and your child will enter the cosmic range.

Shortly after your wonderful wife gives birth, you will experience a love at a depth and level of which you currently have no comprehension. Your love for your child will be unlike any other love you have experienced. You can comprehend your love for your wife, your career, golf, friends, video games, me (lol) and even guitars. They all pale in comparison, mi amigo.

Almost immediately, you will describe your love for your child as a love that disappears completely off the page and up into the clouds. I love my children more than I can fathom or understand. And this sudden burst of enlightenment was and is, very possibly, the greatest cosmic proof of the existence of our Heavenly Father.

Part two of your specific blessing is, Briant, you know you are about to have a daughter. I have suggestions for you. But let me first quote writer John Sinor: "It is admirable for a man to take his son fishing, but there is a special place in heaven for the father who takes his daughter shopping."

Fathers who carve out quality special time, early on with their daughters, are investing in their daughter's lifelong emotional wellbeing. Without your special involvement Dad, your daughter could, very likely, develop a hole in her heart. A hole your daughter could spend the rest of her life emotionally trying to fill with whomever or whatever just happens to come along.

I committed to make sure that hole never appeared. I set aside time to regularly take my daughter out and spend quality time with her. My daughter and I had, and still have, a close friendship. Time spent with just the two of us is a continuing investment that reaps huge long-term benefits. It really pays off! She'll even, (very occasionally) side with you in disagreements with your wife! Don't get used to it

And to all fathers out there...especially fathers of daughters. Let me quote Lady Gaga: "I love my Daddy. My Daddy's everything. I hope I can find a man that will treat me as good as my dad!"

I hope all us fathers earn and witness our daughters (and sons too) express the same tender words Lady Gaga (Stefani Joanne Angelina Germanotta) used to describe her father. Get it? Good! (Thank you Court Jester!)

By the way, Nanos has a music next Thursday, Friday and Saturday Night (6:30-9:30pm). Acoustic folk music night Thursday with Catharine Beck and friends, Friday night Eric Eckstrand Group. And Saturday night is JJ Jukebox (I've heard of them). Fun rock from the 50's, 60's, 70's. (626) 325-3334 for reservations. 322 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., Sierra Madre.

JOHN MICEK OUR ENDLESS COVID SUMMER It all kind of piled up this week.

COVID hospitalizations and deaths are up. We're still trying to convince the unvaccinated to get vaccinated, even as intensive care units fill beyond capacity. As the Delta variant attacks our children, Florida's governor threatens the withhold the wages of educators who want to protect the lives of young people in their charge.

People are still shopping baseless claims of election fraud, and are actively working to knock the legs out from under American democracy. And, as an added bonus, an earth-shattering new report reinforces the reality that the world is literally on fire.

It's ... a lot.

Surveying a landscape of denial on the basic realities of public health (vaccines and masks prevent illness) and science (people contribute to climate change, and are in a position to mitigate it), you ask yourself what you can do to sway the opinions of so many people who are so clearly dug in, and won't move off those positions, no matter how hard you try to appeal to their better angels or sense of patriotism.

My own rage over seeing the nation dragged backwards in its fight against the pandemic after a summer that began with such promise is palpable. I'm beyond tired of the "I wish I'd gotten the vaccine" stories that have seemingly accompanied every new death. I've yelled at the TV after the umpteenth account of a passenger attacking a flight attendant because they refused to wear a mask, or follow some other pandemic protocol designed to keep all of us safe.

So I could have gone on the attack. And the people who agree with me would have applauded. And the people who disagree with me would have filled my email inbox with invective that I can't repeat here. And nothing would change. And we'd make no progress.

But giving up also isn't an option. As the ancient Roman philosopher-emperor Marcus Aurelius reminds us, all you can do is put your head down and do your job. Ultimately, as author Ryan Holiday has translated for him, the obstacle becomes the way. And examples of it are everywhere if you look.

Take, for instance, the Florida school officials who have told Republican Gov. Ron DeSantis to bring it with his threat to dock their pay over mask mandates.

"Standing up for our students and our families is part of our job," said Nora Rupert, a member of the Broward County School Board. "Being afraid that we're going to lose our job — be removed from office, fined, lose our salary — bring it. Bring it. Because when you put that out there it makes me work harder for our school children and our families."

This week, in tiny, Republican-controlled Tioga County in rural Pennsylvania, Republican county commissioners told a state lawmaker pushing for an Arizona-style sham investigation of the 2020 election results to take a walk, as they denounced the costly and "unnecessary chaos," that such a probe would cause.

In Texas, Democratic state Sen. Carol Alvarado spoke for more than 14 hours as she filibustered a Republican-backed voter suppression bill. The bill, which opponents said would suppress voters of color and the disabled, ultimately passed on an 18-11 vote, according to the Texas Tribune.

According to the Tribune, Alvarado, who wore running shoes and a back brace, wasn't allowed to take bathroom breaks or even a drink of water. Nor was she allowed to sit or lean against her desk on the Senate floor.

But she kept at it. The obstacle became the way.

And those are just the headlines. Think for a moment of all the doctors and nurses who are putting their own health and safety at risk as they treat the unvaccinated, who have urged us time and again, to get vaccinated so we wouldn't reach the crisis stage in which we currently find ourselves.

Again.

A year or so back, at the height of the pandemic, I wrote that there was no greater failure in the warrior state of ancient Sparta than to drop your shield. That's not because it not only protected you, it also protected the hoplite marching into battle next to you. It was about protecting the whole line.

Those healthcare workers. The educators in Florida. The county commissioners in rural Pennsylvania. They're protecting the whole line. Even if you don't agree with them or their choices, there's no disputing that they've put responsibility to the whole above responsibility to themselves.

They've recognized that the obstacle is the way.

THINGS MAKING A COMEBACK THAT PEOPLE REALLY. REALLY, REALLY DON'T WANT TO COME BACK:

ACID WASH JEANS

SCRUNCHIES

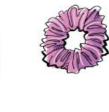

MASK SIGNS ... AGAIN ... SIGH.
