THE CITY COUNCIL WILL HOLD SPECIAL MEETING ON TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 2023

Negotiations Continue With Referendum Proponents

As the deadline for withdrawal of the referendum to overturn Ordinance 1461 approaches, the Sierra Madre City Council has scheduled a meeting to formally set May 9, 2023 as the date for the special election on the matter.

At their January 24th meeting the council decided to move forward and directed staff to prepare the necessary resolutions required by the County of Los Angeles. Sierra Madre voters will be asked to vote to either repeal City Council Ordinance 1461, or allow the Ordinance to remain in place. The Ordinance approved The Meadows at Bailey Canyon project.

However, according to City Manager Jose Reynoso, negotiations are still ongoing in hopes that the city and supporters of the referendum can reach an agreement and the proponents would withdraw their request to have the matter decided upon by voters, thus avoiding construction of a less desireable project and losing millions by the city. (See http://mtnviewsnews.com/v17/ htm/n01/index.htm).

Per city clerk Laura Aguilar, the deadline for withdrawal is Friday, February 10, 2022.

SMPD DETECTIVES INVESTIGATE TWO-BUSINESSES IN THE BUSINESS DISTRICT FOR ILLEGAL SEXUAL ACTIVITY.

On January 11, 2023, Detectives with the Sierra Madre Police Department conducted an investigation of two businesses in the Sierra Madre Business District in response to several complaints of suspected illegal conduct. One business was located at 38 W. Sierra Madre Blvd and the other was located at 370 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

SMPD, along with the San Gabriel PD Detective's Bureau conducted an operation involving undercover officers. It is alleged that the female workers at both businesses made overt, sexual acts, in violation of the City's Municipal Code and State Law.

These actions initiated an investigation that ultimately shut down the business while SMPD investigates the matter, with possible legal and/or administrative action. The City's Code Enforcement Officer placed a "Stop Work" Order at the entrance of the business, prohibiting the businesses from reopening until the investigation has concluded.

WELCOME MOLLY MAID!

Above Sierra Madre Chamber and Council members cut the proverbial Purple Ribbon recently to officially welcome Molly Maids to town.

Riveras and we're thrilled for the opportunity to formal-ly introduce ourselves to our wonderful community. Our family is made up of us, dedicated parents Lance and Iveth Rivera and our four children: Jasmine, Destiny, Isabella, and Lance II. We are high school sweethearts and business partners, blissfully embark-ing on our 27th year together in 2023.

We moved to Sierra Madre in 2018 and immediately fell in love with this close-knit, charming little town. In 2020, at the peak of the pandemic, our family was given an op-portunity to reinvent ourselves and our mark on the community. We made a life chang-ing shift from the corporate world to entrepreneurism and haven't looked back since. We are now the proud owners of your local Merry Maids cleaning business, servicing your homes with our hardworking team, and building lasting relationships!

From the annual Wistaria festival to weekend baseball games hosted by our little league, | DAY SURPRISE!

Hello Sierra Madre! We are the we have created many special memories that our children will forever hold near and dear. When Lance achieves his dream of being a famous baseball player for the Dodgers, he will look back and fondly remember all the games he played with his friends. Whenever Isabella enjoys a fancy cup of tea (as she works on her beautiful paintings), she will relish in the moments she's shared with her sisters at the Four Seasons. We are also blessed with our daughter Jasmine, who is a recent USC graduate with her masters and will potentially be teaching your children and our other daughter Des-tiny, who is currently attending UCSC and working towards her bachelors in Business.

> We are beyond grateful for the opportunity to live and work among our neighbors. Please come by our office on Windsor Ln anytime for a chat—we'd love to meet you. Happy 2023, Sierra

VOLUME 17 NO. 05 STUCK ON THE MT. WILSON TRAIL!

Teetering Truck Stuck On Trail Threatened Homes

On Sunday, January 29th, hikers on Mt. Wilson Trail ran into an unusual and dangerous sight, a truck stuck in the rain soaked trail, dangerously close to falling off the edge onto homes located below.

Sierra Madre Police and Fire were notified and efforts to remove the truck began. Arcadia 107 and Jan's Towing also SMPD Corporal Lillian Shaw, said the truck was approximately 511 feet up the trail which was in disrepair from recent rains. Because of the instability of the truck and the trail, authorities called for the evacuation of 20 homes that would have been in danger if the truck became dislodged. The trail was immediately closed for the safety of hikers. It reopened the next day.

Well-known Trail Volunteer Bob Spears, said a crew of volunteers who have been working diligently to restore the trail since the rainstorms, had a previously scheduled work day on Sunday. They arrived around 11 am and were available to assist in the effort to avoid a disaster. (Pictured above).

Fortunately, efforts to avoid a tragedy were successful and after approximately 8 hours, the truck was safely moved off the trail.

Join us for a Month of Programs and Events!

The Sierra Madre Public Library has announced the 2023 selection of One Book One City; Flying Free: my victory over fear to become the first Latina pilot on the US Aerobatic Team by Cecilia Aragon.

One Book One City is a community reading program that invites everyone in Sierra Madre to read and discuss the same book during February 2023 and participate in exciting programs and events.

This fabulous community program includes an Author Talk with Cecilia Aragon, a tour of the San Gabriel Valley Airport, a kids STEAM Dream Workshop with local teacher Dany Richey, a kids paper airplane competition, a movie night with the documentary Fly Like a Girl through our new streaming service Kanopy, and inspirational presentations on women in flight.

Aragon's memoir, Flying Free, shares her own journey of breaking past her own fears to become a champion aerobatic pilot. Aragon was a timid child, painfully shy and afraid of everything from heights to people. How did she become a death-defying daredevil and aerobatic pilot? In her memoir, she bares her life even though writing it "scared me more than pointing my single-seat experimental plane at the ground and opening the throttle until I was roaring earthward at 250 mph".

Connect all month long through engaging themed programs that are free and fun for the whole family. Call the Library at (626) 355-7186 for more information.

REMEMBRANCE:

TRUDY COWELL

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of Trudy Lucie Cowell, beloved wife, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, true friend to many, and all-around amazing human being. Trudy passed peacefully in her bed on December 16, 2022 at the age of 95. She was in the company of loved ones when she moved on to her eternal home in heaven. While the sorrow remains, so does the joy of celebrating the life of a truly remarkable woman.

Trudy was born in Holywood, Ireland on March 3, 1927 to parents Rose and William Shannon. She remembered her childhood fondly.

Fun-loving Trudy fittingly met her future husband, Peter Cowell, on the tennis courts in her hometown. They married on March 28, 1949 and loved each other fiercely for 66 years until Peter passed in 2015.

Trudy and Peter started their family in Shrewsbury, England where they had their first son, David. In 1952, they moved across the Atlantic to California. They immigrated to America on the Queen Mary ship and ultimately landed in Sierra Madre where they had two more sons, Paul and Shaun.

Trudy always had a funny story to share. She enjoyed playing games. She loved fixing up houses with Peter. She loved recounting her past over a home-made meal. She loved to garden and loved to travel. She loved hosting holidays, and game nights. Trudy was confident and funny. She loved life and she loved to laugh. She brought fiery fun to every room she entered.

Trudy was adamant about expressing her appreciation for those she loved. She was always there for her family. Oftentimes, when someone visited, she'd say, "you made my day".

She leaves behind her 3 sons and their wives, and a bunch of grandchildren and great grandchildren. She adored them all. She will be greatly missed. May she Rest In Peace.

Her memorial service will be held at Zook mortuary on February 4, 2023 @ 12:30. Reception to follow.

SM HISTORICAL SOCIETY PIC: ROCKITECTURE

Here's an interesting and fun talk for those of you who enjoy California architecture, history, geology, and... river rock construction! Architect Barry Schweiger will be telling us about the building and endurance of Southern California's river rock homes, churches, castles, waiting stations, and even water troughs, built in the period of 1885-1935. He'll be talking about the land, the new towns of the time, and the men who built the stone buildings that have lasted for generations. The talk is at 7:00 pm on Thursday, February 16 at the Hart Park House in Memorial Park.

Everyone is invited to attend, and entrance is $5.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"How beautiful on the mountains are the feet of those who bring good news, who proclaim peace, who bring good tidings..." Isa.52:7

"A lot of times good news happens slowly and bad news happens all at once; so we tend to focus on the bad news that's crashing over us in waves, and not on the slow long-term work that people are doing together to try to make a better world for us to share." John Green

"Bad news travels at the speed of light; good news travels like molasses." Tracy Morgan

Are you beginning to feel a little nervous about turning on the news or picking up the newspaper for fear that you're going to hear another horrible story where innocent people have been shot for no reason, angry people have done terrible things to each other and the price of everyth to each other and the price of everything keeps going up and the stock market keeps going down?

Today is Good News Day, even if we have to look under rocks to find some! Here's my first Good News story: The picture today is my granddaughter, Emily, who is 12 and in the 7th grade. With her is Quackers, who is the class mascot of her particular 7th grade home room. Each Friday another inmate of Mrs. Barber's class gets to take home Quackers. Their assignment for the weekend is to show Quackers a good time and take pictures to document his fabulous weekend vacation. This picture shows Emily and Quackers posing during the hike they took with Auntie Leah. They scaled mountains, climbed over huge boulders, went down the slide at the park, had spaghetti and meatballs at an Italian restaurant, visited the Tesla charging station. Quackers was exhausted but happy and so was Emily.

Good News Story #2: Sue Spears, who is the Donations Secretary for the Fletcher Trail Maintenance Fund sent me the nicest note talking about the damages to our beloved Mt. Wilson Trail... "There is a section of the Mt. Wilson Trail that required the installation of a 30-foot wooden bridge to make the trail passable. This is the worst cumulative trail damage in over 30 years and it will take time to fix." Sue's husband, Bob Spears, is the Sierra Madre Volunteer Trail Maintenance Crew Leader. In case you didn't know, the necessary supplies and tools used by the volunteers (all labor on Mt. Wilson and Bailey Canyon Trails is done by community volunteers) are paid for with tax-deductible community donations to the Fletcher Trail Maintenance Fund as neither the City of Sierra Madre nor the US Forest Service provides any funds for supplies or labor.

So, here's the good news part: Folks are donating, volunteering and showing up to see how they can help. If you'd like to be part of seeing that these fantastic trail volunteers have all the stuff they need to put the trails back together, here's what you can do:

You can send a tax-deductible donation to Sierra Madre Community Foundation and put Fletcher Trail Maintenance Fund on the memo line. Mail it to: P O Box 716, Sierra Madre CA 91025. Or you can go to the Sierra Madre Community Foundation website: www.sierramadrefoundation.com and make your contribution through PayPal.

Good News Story #3: Valentine's Day is less than two weeks away. Holy Moley, you're saying to yourself! I didn't realize it was so soon. If you want to go out to dinner, make that reservation today. If you want to order flowers and I heartily recommend flowers, call Lisa at Ixora right here in town – (626) 355-0040 – and order something for your sweetie. Everything Lisa creates is awesome and you'll be glad you planned ahead. You can stop in and see her, too. Ixora is at 35 E. Montecito. Yes, ladies, you can order flowers for your guy.

"All you need is love. But a little chocolate now and then doesn't hurt." Charles M. Schulz

Good News Story #4: The Super Bowl* is next Sunday! This is your last opportunity for a while to make the biggest bowl of guacamole possible, buy every kind of chip you can find, stock up on adult beverages and gather all the fun people you know to watch the commercials. The game occasionally is more like the Stupor Bowl than the Super Bowl, but the commercials are always great.

Fans can expect to see commercials for Michelob Ultra, Bud Light and Busch Light. Altogether, there will be three minutes of national advertisements by Anheuser-Busch, which will cost the company more than $20 million.

There will also be 30-second spots for other brands, like Heineken and Diageo. Pepsi is no longer the sponsor of the halftime show as Apple Music has taken its place. Apple Music is reportedly paying the NFL $50 million per year for the new sponsorship rights. Rihanna will be the half-time star and I'm sure there will be absolutely no "wardrobe malfunctions!"

Good News Story #5: Well, maybe it's not a good news story, but it's a good news suggestion: Watch "Shotgun Wedding" on Prime starring Jennifer Lopez and Josh Duhamel. Cheech Marin is in there, too. This movie is so much fun and you'll laugh out loud. My dear friend, Michelle Jubilee Gonzalez is one of Jennifer Lopez's two stunt doubles and that was great news!

"Everyone has inside of him a piece of good news. The good news is that you don't know how great you can be! How much you can love! What you can accomplish and what your potential is! Anne Frank

Look for good news this week, dear friends and neighbors, even if you have to look under a rock to find some!

In a world where you can be anything you want to be...Be KIND!

My book page: Amazon.com: Deanne Davis There are adventures galore available there: True tales of early California, a story about a well-traveled violin, Emma Gainsworth and her horrific encounters with pumpkins, So many Kindle stories to enjoy. Take a look!

CalTech Lab Catches Fire

According to San Marino Fire they responded along with Pasadena units on a first alarm commercial structure fire last week at Cal Tech. Initial reports stated that, on January 27, a machine malfunctioned in the lab and was on fire with heavy smoke. When fire units first arrived they were escorted to the lab by security. They reported heavy white smoke and evacuation was in progress. When they made entry into the lab, the sprinkler system had contained the fire. The building was evacuated they said.

San Marino fire investigators examined the scene. It was determined that a motor froze and caused the fire over the hood system.

According to police, on October 30, at about 1:27 a.m, officers from Pasadena Police Department responded to the 100 block of Painter Street regarding a "Person Down."

Officers found a victim suffering from a gunshot wound, unresponsive and pronounced deceased at the scene. He was later identified as 22-year-old Martrell Eric Robinson; a Rialto resident.

Detectives from the department's Robbery / Homicide Unit began follow-up immediate investigation into the homicide that led to the identification of multiple suspects connected to a local criminal street gang.

Investigators executed a search warrant January 9 in the City of Pomona with the assistance of the U.S. Marshal's Pacific Southwest Fugitive Apprehension Taskforce.

During the operation, 28-year-old David Lamont Hunt-Cooks and 32-yearold Brittney Chenise Ruth, both residents of Pomona, were arrested in connection to the shooting. Pasadena Declares Climate Emergency

Council votes to transition the city's public transit to zero emission

The Pasadena city council voted Monday on two Global Warming issues that included adopting a resolution to declaring a climate emergency to set greenhouse Gas reduction goals for Pasadena to achieve carbon neutrality by 2030. In a separate agenda item they approved a roadmap to transition the city's public transit fleet to a zero emission bus fleet.

The only vote against the public transit roadmap came from Councilmember Tyron Hampton who said he did not think the city should buy any more gas powered non renewable vehicles as planned.

"I think that we are talking about 100 percent renewable, we should be looking at that for all of our purchases... we have a plan of purchasing two [natural gas] busses this year and nine in 2024," he said. natural gas busses were being paid for with a grant. "If we don't purchase those busses, we purchase electric; we would have to seek a different source of funding.

The estimated cost to build a city owned a zero emission transit operations maintenance facility is near $65 million. Cornejo said the one battery electric bus would be for Integrated Resource Plan training.

In a related second agenda item, Pasadena City Attorney Michele Bagneris, said the emergency climate resolution, before them, is a policy statement and does not give the city any further legal powers or obligations on how to address the carbon-free goal of 2030.

City Manager Miguel Marquez stressed that the goal could have limitations such as cost, reliability and safety. He said they are committed to doing the best to achieve the goal but added that how power Pasadena Director of is obtained and sourced and transportation Laura Cornejo distributed is complex, "I think said that next year's replacement our IRP [Integrated Resource

Caltech to hold Lecture on Galactic Paleontology

Galactic Paleontology with JWST: Finding Living Fossils in the Ancient Universe by Chuck Steidel (PhD) '90), Lee A. DuBridge Professor of Astronomy, Division of Physics, Mathematics and Astronomy

The talk is set for Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. PT and will be In-person at the Beckman Auditorium and streaming online at: caltech.edu/watson

Since it began its scientific mission in July 2022, the James Webb Space Telescope (JWST) has provided the first detailed glimpses of the most distant reaches of the observable universe, when the first galaxies were emerging more than 13 billion years ago. History suggests that opening new observational windows leads to entirely unanticipated discoveries, and JWST has already begun to fulfill that promise. In this lecture, Steidel will explore what enables the unprecedented power of JWST for studying galaxy formation in its infancy and what we can expect to learn from JWST images and spectra over the next several years.

This lecture will be presented in a hybrid format, allowing for both virtual viewers and inperson attendees. No advance registration is required for either format.

SUPER BOWL AND VALENTINE'S DAYS OF FOOTBALL AND ROMANCE 2023

First of all, let's agree to disagree: Valentine's Day should be a full week long.

A single day is not long enough to fully express one's love. What do you say about having an evening at home with a bottle of bubbly and a candlelight table for dinner? You may wonder why a critic would dare such treason. In all truth, it's an impossible night for restaurants, so let's find three bottles in price ranges you can live with.

In the $12 price range, Ruffino Prosecco has been produced from grapes grown in the hilly area of Valdobbiadene, which is the most historically active region for the production of prosecco. Bright straw yellow with fine bubbles, the bouquet is fragrant and intensely fruity, with clean notes of apples, pears and citrus. I found it crisp, clean, and yet delicate - a perfect wine for the budget-minded lovebird.

From the $20 range, let's go back to Paso Robles for the San Simeon Petite Sirah (At Vons). I enjoyed this well-bodied wine with a pre-Valentines dinner of lobster thermidor. This wine is not for the "beginner" (nor is cooking lobster thermidor), and brings strong notes of fruit when opened with a well-rewarded and long finish.

My $30-range selection is the Domaine Carneros. My opinion is that this estate-bottled wine gets as close to a "real" French champagne as any California sparkler on your supermarket shelves. This cuvee is 51% chardonnay and 49% pinot noir, with an alcohol content of a modest 12.1%. I got a perfect "pop" upon opening the bottle, which I poured into a lightly chilled flute and watched the bubbles rush to the top. The flavor was a little toasty in the beginning with a clean, long finish. You have my permission to drop a strawberry in your glass for this special occasion.

SCHIFF URGES INVESTIGATION INTO DISCLOSURE OF TAXPAYERS' PERSONAL, FINANCIAL INFORMATION TO FACEBOOK

Washington, D.C. – Today, Congressman Adam Schiff (D-Burbank), and Reps. Judy Chu (D-Calif.) and Raja Krishnamoorthi (D-III.), members of vices such as H&R Block, TaxAct, and TaxSlayer the House Ways and Means and House Oversight Committees, respectively, urged the Internal Revenue Service to investigate the data-sharing practices of online tax filing companies that have been found to have disclosed taxpayers' sensitive personal and financial information to Facebook.

In late November, The Markup published a report revealing that U.S. companies providing online tax filing services, such as H&R Block, TaxAct, and TaxSlayer, have been sending taxpayers' identities and financial information to Facebook through a pixel present on their websites. The Meta Pixel, operated by Facebook's parent company, collected taxpayers' personal information through various tax e-filing websites, including taxpayers' names, usernames, email addresses, home addresses, income, filing status, refund status, dependents, health savings accounts, college tuition grants, and college scholarship amounts of their dependents.

"We are concerned about the implications these findings have on the rights of taxpayers and on fairness for the working-class Americans who largely depend on the services of private companies to e-file their taxes... Bad actors in this space have the potential to profit from Americans' most sensitive and private information, and simultaneously put their data at risk of further exposure," wrote the members. "We believe that the American people deserve to know whose personal information was shared with Meta and Facebook, how this was allowed to happen, and what steps the IRS will take to ensure this cannot happen again. We strongly urge you to take swift action to thoroughly investigate, take steps to mitigate the harm caused, and protect the rights of American taxpayers."

The IRS Data Book showed that more than 150

vices such as H&R Block, TaxAct, and TaxSlayer – making this a potentially massive disclosure to Facebook of personal and financial information, on the heels of Meta being found in violation of federal health privacy law after the Meta Pixel gathered sensitive health information from hospi-

In addition to calling for an investigation, the members request the IRS provide answers to the following questions:

Can you estimate how many taxpayers may have had their data unknowingly shared with Meta and Facebook through e-filing websites?

Does the IRS know which individual taxpayers' data was improperly transmitted to Meta, or will this information need to be recovered from the companies?

The IRS directs taxpayers attempting to file for free to some of the companies reporting found using the pixel via Free File. The IRS also directs taxpayers to Tax Slayer through Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) sites. Free File and VITA are directed toward low-income, elderly, and disabled taxpayers. Can you confirm whether Tax Slayer was one of the software packages embedding

If there is a violation of Section 7216, and tax return information has been disclosed or used by a return preparer without the taxpayer's consent, will TIGTA issue criminal referrals?

5. Does Section 7216 guidance presently ban the use of these pixels from online tax filing service sites or do regulations need to change to specifically prevent the use of this technology?

What legislative remedies should Congress consider to prevent this from happening again?

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges

HOW TO ORGANIZE FOR EMERGENCIES:

Is having a "survival group" a good idea?

[Nyerges is an educator, and author of books such as "How to Survive Anywhere," "Urban Survival Guide," and others. More details at www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com.]

Not long ago, our class was finishing a day-long field trip of practicing outdoor survival and self-reliance skills, and our small group was now sitting around the fire talking. The subject moved to emergency action plans, and what contingencies any of us had in the aftermath of a major disaster. "So how would we ever get together after a major disaster?" one woman asked me.

"We probably would have no way to get together," I offered. "Of course, there is no predicting the future, but if we couldn't use a car, and couldn't get gas, and there was chaos on the streets, in the first few weeks, we'd almost certainly have to stay put wherever we're living." My response pre-supposed a serious disaster where all social services would be disrupted.

I've long recommended that people get to know their immediate neighbors, because they are your "family" in the aftermath of a major disaster, like it or not. Think global, as the saying goes, but act local. Enroll in local CERT training, such as the training offered here in Sierra Madre. I also suggest that you become active in Neighborhood Watch.

The woman then asked me, sort of a question and comment combined, "Well, don't you have a tight survival group of people who would all come together in an emergency?" I knew she was thinking of how she might organize such a group where she lived, and I knew that she believed I have organized, or been a part of, such a secret or public "group."

I live in the northern section of Los Angeles County. The mountains are immediately to my north, but otherwise there is urban sprawl and freeways in all directions. In our class that day, the woman asking the questions had driven about a hundred miles, from San Bernardino County from the east. Three people had come over a hundred miles, from the high desert. One other person was local, and the rest lived between 30 and 45 minutes by car from me. We were all spread out. There was no way that this diverse group would ever come together in the sort of disaster (and end of the functioning of normal society) that she was envisioning.

"But don't you have a survival group?" she again implored.

I began by sharing stories in novels I'd read, about a group of highly-trained people who came together after an end-of-the-world scenario, and how they worked together to form a new society. For example, such a group is depicted in Ayn Rand's "Atlas Shrugged."

"Your best bet is to work with your own family to make each person strong, healthy, and self-reliant," I told her, "and to work with your local community to improve things."

How, for example, would a far-flung diverse group of people communicate with each other? If they were ham operators, it might be possible, but there would still be the problem of traveling a long distance under unsettled conditions.

I could see that this was not what the woman wanted to hear, so I shared more details with her and the rest of our small group.

In the planning sessions of which I've been a part, there are always "great ideas" from everyone, and countless scenarios are discussed about what might occur. However, in the real life, things never go that way. Any "group" might have one natural leader, even though there is an appointed or elected leader. That's a problem. Sometimes the elected leader is not the natural leader, and so the group fractures or dissolves. There are also lots of lazy people, people who want to be a part of something but who are more talk than walk. Lazy and idealistic people have spelled the doom of many an alternative community.

Getting back to the woman's question about the practical aspects of a small tight group getting together after a disaster, what else can go wrong with the "group" that plans to get together? For one thing, the ability to spring into action after an emergency requires the maintenance of physical fitness, and requires at least some level of economic autonomy, and knowing how to live one's life so that you are, in fact, able to rise to the occasion of a severe emergency. The concept of such a survival group is not a passive concept. In order to be viable, it must be alive, dynamic, and involve regular training of some sort.

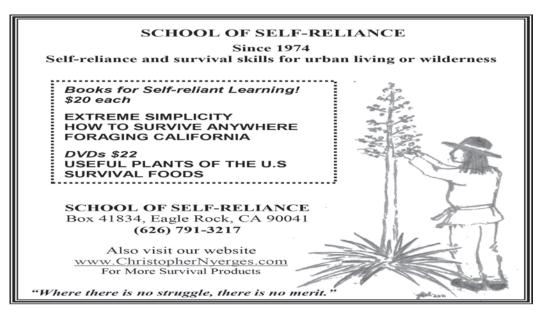

These are just a few of the reasons why "groups" don't stay together, and it's especially pertinent with a group that is expecting an end-of-the-world event in a way that may never actually happen in a way that they perceive.

We can't predict the future, but learning new self-reliance skills will always serve you well, and those of your friends and associates who are of like-mind. But assuming you survive an event like a comet hitting the earth, or a major tidal wave, there's no way that you can depend on any "group" that you might have developed.

Don't get me wrong—organizing and working with such a group, whether a private family group, or a more public group such as CERT training – is a great idea. But just remember that life is a very dynamic thing, and as long as you're willing to continually learn, and adapt to changing situations, you're likely to do well regardless who you happen to be stuck with.

CERT

One of your best courses of action is to contact the Sierra Madre CERT group and take some of their training. If you live is a different area, contact your local emergency manager or FEMA at FEMA-Prepare@fema.dhs.gov to find out what training takes place near your home.

FORREST & VIVIAN want to be your Valentine!

Can anyone take in two sweet siblings? They've been waiting so very long for a real home. Just like their siblings you met last week, they have a knack at melting hearts and getting along with dogs! Age 10 mos., they're as cute and sweet as they look!

FORREST is also known as "Mr.

Handsome." He looks like a little cheetah, and is a major cuddler. He loves to be petted and looks at you with eyes full of love!

VIVIAN, with "bangs" over one eye, is always up for an adventure or a nap in the sun. She will tell you when it's meal time, or petting time.

BOTH were raised with two nurturing doggies, so if you have a nice dog all the better. Find the adoption application on our website where you'll also find more adorable pix on our Teen Cats page. www.lifelineforpets.org.

Pet of the Week

Who doesn't like a Rosé around Valentine's Day? This sweetheart is bursting with love and ready to snuggle her way into your heart.

Rosé has a cute little snort when she gets excited, which is pretty often because she seems to adore everyone she meets! She likes short walks followed by long naps- she's definitely more couch potato than athlete.

She also might have a bit of a stubborn streak which we have to admit is pretty adorable- If she's walking the way she wants to go, easy-peasy. If you want to turn to go in a different direction, she jams on the brakes until you can bribe her with a tasty treat. Rosé will keep you entertained ALL DAY!

Rosé's (and many other dogs) adoption fee will be only $14 from 2/9 - 2/15 as part of the Be Mine Valentine's Special!

The adoption fee for dogs is $150. All dog adoptions include spay or neuter, microchip, and age-appropriate vaccines.

New adopters will receive a complimentary health-and-wellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

View photos of adoptable pets and schedule an adoption appointment at pasadenahumane.org. Adoptions are by appointment only, and new adoption appointments are available every Sunday and Wednesday at 10:00 a.m.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email.

THE GOOD LIFE

ASSISTED LIVING OR NURSING HOME?

There are many myths about Assisted Living being like Nursing Homes. This is not true at all. Nursing facilities are for those with chronic health issues who require care around the clock from medical professionals.

In Assisted Living, one will get the support as needed, such as getting help with showering, grooming, and dressing. Again, these services are based on the seniors needs.

There are many reasons in working with us. At Safe Path for Seniors, we will assess the senior and depending on their care needs and budget, make recommendations. For example, we may suggest that the right fit is a Board and Care Home (normally a 6-bedroom house) as opposed to an Assisted Living Community or a Memory Support Facility. You will work with an experienced agent who knows the industry well and will give you recommendations. The good news is that there is no cost for this service.

If you have any questions about placing a loved one, visit www.safepathforseniors.com or call Steve at 626-999-6913

HOW MUCH DO YOU HAVE TO MAKE TO FILE TAXES?

Dear Savvy Senior

What are the IRS income tax filing requirements for retirees this tax season? My income dropped way down when I retired in 2022, so I'm wondering if I need to even file a tax return this year. Recently Retired

Dear Recently:

Whether or not you are required to file a federal income tax return this year will depend on how much you earned last year, as well as the source of the income, your age and filing status.

Here's a rundown of this tax season's IRS tax filing requirement thresholds.

For most people, this is pretty straightforward. If your 2022 gross income – which includes all taxable income, not counting your Social Security benefits, unless you are married and filing separately – was below the threshold for your filing status and age, you may not have to file. But if it's over, you will.

- Single: $12,950 ($14,700 if you're 65 or older by Jan. 1, 2022).
- Married filing jointly: $25,900 ($27,300 if you or your spouse is 65 or older; or $28,700 if you're both over 65).
- Married filing separately: $5 at any age.
 Head of household: $19,400 ($21,150 if 65 or older).
- Qualifying widow(er) with dependent child: $25,900 ($27,300 if 65 or older).

To get a detailed breakdown on federal filing requirements, along with information on taxable and nontaxable income, call the IRS at 800-829-3676 and ask them to mail you a free copy of the "1040 and 1040-SR Instructions for Tax Year 2022," or you can see it online at IRS.gov/pub/irs-pdf/i1040gi.pdf.

Check Here Too

Be aware that there are other financial situations that can require you to file a tax return, even if your gross income falls below the IRS filing requirements. For example, if you earned more than $400 from self-employment in 2022, owe any special taxes like an alternative minimum tax, or get premium tax credits because you, your spouse or a dependent is enrolled in a Health Insurance Marketplace plan, you'll need to file.

You'll also need to file if you're receiving Social Security benefits, and one-half of your benefits plus your other gross income and any tax-exempt interest exceeds $25,000, or $32,000 if you're married and filing jointly.

To figure all this out, the IRS offers an online tax tool that asks a series of questions that will help you determine if you're required to file, or if you should file because you're due a refund. It takes less than 15 minutes to complete.

You can access this tool at IRS.gov/Help/ITA – click on "Do I Need to File a Tax Return?" Or you can get assistance over the phone by calling the IRS helpline at 800-829-1040.

Check Your State

Even if you're not required to file a federal tax return this year, don't assume that you're also excused from filing state income taxes. The rules for your state might be very different. Check with your state tax agency before concluding that you're entirely in the clear. For links to state tax agencies see Taxadmin.org/state-tax-agencies.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

UGLY ISN'T FOR THE WEAK, SOFT OR TIMID

Over the years of marital bliss, we've not had many disagreements. She likes broccoli. I like Apple Fritters. We've never been able to come to any agreement with that. But, outside of that, everything has been rather smooth.

of them. The controversy I have is about my bathroom mirror; each of us has our bathroom with our own mirror. My mirror has some very significant issues with it.

For several years I have suggested that we replace my old mirror with a new one. Once, I even suggested I would be glad to pay for the new mirror out of my Apple Fritter account, which

There's one controversy that has plagued our house for the last few years, and there doesn't seem to be any solution. There are some problems with no solutions, and I guess this is one was a mistake.

When I said that, she looked at me with a long pause and then said, "You have an account for Apple Fritters?" I knew I was in trouble for that; I guess I kissed my Apple Fritter account

The controversy I had is that my old mirror portrays me as some old guy. I find it rather frustrating because I have some pictures of myself, and I don't look old at all. As we discussed this, she said, "My mirror portrays me as I really am." She smiled one of her sarcastic smiles at me. "Let me," I said, "go and look in your mirror to see if what you're telling me is really true."

I entered her bathroom and was surprised as I looked in her mirror and saw some old guy looking back at me. Immediately I went out and said, "Hey, who's that old guy in your bathroom?" She laughed and said, "I think it's you, but all I ever see is some old lady."

"I am not that old," I demanded.

I then went and got our family photo album, brought it back, opened it up, pointed to a picture, and said, "See, that's me." She looked at the picture, then back at me laughingly, and said, "Yes, that's you when you were in high school." I flipped a few pages and said, "There I am." "That's our wedding picture," she said with a smile.

By that time, I was just a little bit frustrated. If I look at those pictures and then look in the mirror, I do not see any resemblance whatsoever. How can that old rascal in the mirror be me? The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage could see that I was just a little bit discouraged. After all, pictures don't lie, but I think mirrors do.

"Don't you realize that as we grow and get older, our looks change?"

Looking at her, I was shaking my head and unwilling to reach her level of understanding. "But," I complained, "I'm not that old looking, am I?" Then she handed me a more recent photograph. It was me holding my granddaughter on the day of her birth.

I looked at it as though I was looking out for the first time. When I first looked at it, I didn't see myself; rather, I saw my great-granddaughter. After looking at it for a few moments, I sat back in my chair and sighed deeply. "So, I am an old man." "Well, my dear, you're not young

I stared at her for a few moments and then said, "Tell me, why do you look so good, and I look so old?" "Because you're not looking in my bathroom mirror." "Maybe," I said, "we could change bathroom mirrors?" She started laughing and a few moments later, I joined her in

This was the first time I ever seriously looked at myself.

In the morning, when I go to the bathroom to comb my hair, shave, and brush my teeth, I ignore what's in the mirror. Maybe I ought to.

Thinking about this for a bit, I had a thought. Does it really matter how old a person looks? After all the only cure for not getting old is dying.

I've noted lately that some of these Hollywood stars get facelifts, tummy tucks, and all sorts of changes to their body. I wonder if they do that for themselves or for the public that's looking? Does it really matter how a person looks?

I believe the next time I'm in my bathroom, I'm going to have a little chat with that old guy in the mirror. I will say, "I don't care how old you look. You don't scare me." I had to rehearse that line a dozen times to get it right. I'm not sure I can trust that old guy in the mirror. Of course, one of the great benefits is that I don't have to see how I look throughout the day. The people on the other side of my glasses have that to handle.

I have learned to appreciate what God said to Samuel in, 1 Samuel 16:7, "But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart."

God does not judge me by my outward appearance, but by my heart. If my heart isn't right with God nothing else really matters.

FAMILY MATTERS

By Marc Garlett

DO I NEED TO CREATE A NEW WILL IF I MOVE TO ANOTHER STATE?

Most states will accept a will which was executed properly under another state's laws. However, there could be differences in your new state's laws that make certain provisions in your will invalid. Here are a few things you should review when moving out of state:

YOUR EXECUTOR

Consider whether the executor you've chosen for your will, will be able to serve in that role in your new location. Every state allows an out-of-state executor to serve, but some states have special requirements for executors, such as requiring them to pass a credit screen and post a bond. Other states require non-resident executors to appoint an agent who lives within the state to accept legal documents on behalf of the estate.

The former can, and sometimes does, completely prohibit a named executor from being able to step into that role. The latter increases the overall costs associated with administering a will. Either way, you may want to reevaluate your chosen executor.

MARITAL PROPERTY

If you are married, consider how your new state treats marital property. While a common-law state might treat the property you own in just your name as yours alone, community-property states treat all of your property as owned jointly with your spouse. If your new state treats marital property differently than California (a community-property state), you might need to draft a marital property agreement or even a new will to ensure your wishes are honored.

YOUR NEED FOR A TRUST

While your will is an important part of your estate plan, it may not be the most appropriate foundation of your plan. Your new state may have probate laws completely different from California's. If your planning goals didn't necessitate a living trust in California, it's likely they won't necessitate a trust in your new state, but it could be costly to make that assumption without first seeking qualified legal counsel. Each state's probate code is unique, and you may be unaware of specific detrimental nuances in your new state's code which could be completely avoided by a living trust.

YOUR OVERALL PLAN

Moving is one of those life events presenting a perfect opportunity to review your entire estate plan. Along with your will (and considering whether you also need a trust), you should review your trust – if you already have one, power of attorney, health care directive, final disposition instructions, kids protection plan – if you have minor children, and your asset spreadsheet to ensure each asset you own is catalogued within your plan and titled correctly to receive the full protections provided by your plan.

FINDING THE TIME

To your health, wealth, and family legacy,

It may seem overwhelming with everything else you've got on your plate during a move, but there is no better time to review your estate plan. And because it's so important to regularly review your plan and keep it up to date, you'll gain additional peace of mind after you settle into your new home, and you'll ensure your plan works exactly as you intend whenever it's needed. That's an invaluable gift to your family. In other words, it's well worth the effort.

PUT THE LIGHTS ON WHAT MAKES YOU HAPPY?

WHAT MAKES YOU HAPPY?

OPINION

Story in a part of a commencement speech. The gist of the story is that "there are these two young fish swimming along and they happen to meet an older fish swimming the other way, who nods at them and says 'Morning, boys. How's the water?' And the two young fish swim on for a bit. And then eventually one of them looks over at the other and goes, 'WHAT THE HELL IS WATER?"

I think Wallace was reminding graduating seniors and himself in The Fish Story that their future experience of life will have little to do with knowledge and everything to do with simple awareness; awareness of what is so real and essential, so hidden in plain sight all around us that we have to keep reminding ourselves over and over: "This is water." This is "keeping your eye on the ball" and this is happiness.

Of course a few years after the speech Wallace committed suicide by hanging himself at his house in Claremont. For some important reason which I cannot identify I went and took a picture of his house. Wallace was a wonderful comic writer whose suicide emphasizes to me that there are many sides to the same coin. I am pretty certain that he did his very best to stay cognizant of what was best in his life but although doing his best he could not fight off the depression that plagued him. It is a sad truth that when we are happy we are often unaware of the feeling and notice it much more in its absence.

For the past three weeks I have been invaded by the Covid virus. Many people describe it as being simply like a bad cold. For me, although the symptoms included respiratory and bronchial problems these were not the worst of the problems. My sense of taste and smell was affected but that too was tolerable. The worst thing was that my mind was affected and as I have written in my past two articles, I am confused and remain so.

By the way, I don't really pretend to know what a mind or my mind is. It's not something physically identifiable like a nose, or a mouth, or a brain. What we refer to as the mind is a whole series of connections and messages pulsating through us, some of which actually reach consciousness. Sometimes we even know what actual life experiences influenced our ideas but that is rare. Do I create my ideas or do they create me? Who cares about such questions? I do! I want to be aware of the "water" around me and the "water" inside me. I want to be in charge of my own lifeexperience and yet during my Covid experience and even now, I have trouble finding my way home. I want to notice the beauty around me, after the rains the hills are so beautiful and I love hearing the sounds of the water in the channel right next to our house and up above the cloud formations are so interesting and beautiful and, all at once, I notice that I am lost.

Maybe it's the "mind fog" associated with the Covid that will linger on, or maybe it is symptoms which are associated with old age eventually leading to Alzheimers and dementia. For years I have lost my wallet and my keys and my calendars but I don't want to lose my mind. I had my hearing tested today and was told that because I have neglected to wear my hearing aids this may well contribute to a faster rate of atrophy in the brain. How much money am I willing to spend on expensive hearing aids rather that use the money for travel or other emergencies? I am now a retired person and really miss the social interaction that was a part of my daily life for seventy years. The world has changed as it always does and I gather that that today everyone feels pretty vulnerable and would rather not talk about personal things or ponder philosophical questions.

I try with my failing eyesight to keep my eye on the ball and report on what I still see as "truth" I wish that you and David Foster Wallace were around so we could talk about it; but I will continue to do the best I can and hope you do the same.

Maybe by next week I will be less confused. Happy Valentine's Day!

ROAD RAGE

It was my first coming of age rite. I could feel the rapid palpitations of my heart and growing dampness in my armpits. Silently I cursed the discount store solid stick deodorant my mother always bought. I had changed my outfit three times before settling on my DIY bleached bell bottom jeans with my KC and the Sunshine Band, "Shake Your Booty Tour" t-shirt.

We had met once before, briefly, but then there were dozens of people chatting and distractions abounded everywhere.

It was just after lunch on an Indian summer afternoon, the leaves were beginning to burnish into their amber hue. His car pulled up in front of my house. I ran down from my porch and he, very gentlemanly, opened the car door for me. Nervously, I climbed into the front seat, he closed my door and got in beside me.

I was elated yet dreaded the "what if's" to come. He turned to me, his deeply set hazel eyes barely peeked out from the furry unibrow that dominated his balding pate.

"Turn the key and start the car." he said.

For the next 30 minutes I tortured that stick shift Volkswagen Beetle, grinding the camshaft as I shifted again and again into the wrong gear. I waited too long to turn left and almost hit a pedestrian when I turned right.

Four weeks later and a newly diagnosed case of peptic ulcer for my driving instructor Mr. Papadopoulos, I passed my driving test and became another wayfarer on the turnpike of life.

In the decades since, I've had my fair share of one-finger salutes. I've contributed to the livelihoods of mom and pop body shops with a running tab of minor dents, curbside scratches and the occasional side mirror replacement, but it wasn't until I moved abroad that I experienced truly bad driving; drivers that make LA traffic look like the Radiator Springs Racers at Disneyland.

Paris, Rome, New Delhi, Tijuana, Saigon, Bangkok - the only rule that counts is Darwin's Rule - survival of the fittest. Tailgating, cutting in, using the emergency shoulder as a HOV lane - it's basically the "I gotta be in front" mode.

But what happens when you take a nation of 1.3 billion bicyclists and let loose 400 million of them in cars? In the mid 90's with the blind leading the blind, official driving tests were an easy pass - if you were a car mechanic. The majority of the test focused on the inner workings of the vehicle, but a little grease goes a long way and suddenly the roads were full of drivers randomly weaving through traffic, ignoring pedestrians, stop signs, and not bothering to signal - just like bicyclists.

Imagine hundreds of thousands of drivers all with the minimal skills and experience of your neighborhood teenager. Even road rage looked very different in a country where firearms are restricted only to government personnel.

I witnessed an incident on a four lane highway where a hulking grey Mercedes cut off a mid-size Peugeot. The Peugeot sped up but didn't have the horsepower to match the German velocity of the Mercedes. Then suddenly, a car in front of the Mercedes missed its exit and reversed back into oncoming traffic. The Mercedes swerved, putting it within a hand's width of the Peugeot, a broomstick popped out of the Peugeot's passenger window and swung wildly at the Mercedes. The Mercedes dropped behind, letting it pass only to be hit with a bushel of seasonal melons launched from the back of the Peugeot. The damage to the melons were irreversible, the Mercedes required a full car detail, even today, the odd melon seed makes its way up from inside the grill.

And the insights I captured from all this global driving experience? Use your turn signals or reap the whirlwind of - seasonal melons.

RICH & FAMOUS MISPRINT MAGIC

One of the great joys in my life is stumbling upon unintentional humor...in my reading that is.

The enemies of unintentional humor are editors and proofreaders. In a perfect world they should be banned...with all due respect to my brilliant, beautiful, bewitching publisher and editor "Siouxsin Hendorsin".

Advertising often offers a cornucopia of wonderful misprints. Take restaurants for example:

"Try Our Homemade Pies - They Are a Real Threat!"

"Customers who consider our waitresses uncivil ought to see our manager."

"Open seven days a week and weekends."

Advertising about clothing can always be fitting or not.

'We do not tear your clothing with machinery. No, we do it carefully by hand."

"We will oil your sewing machine and adjust tension in your home for only one dollar."

"Our bikinis are exciting. They are simply the tops!" "Men's wool suits, $3.00! They won't last an hour!"

Laundromat sign: "Automatic washing machines. Please remove all your clothes when the light goes out."

Sign in an auto repair garage: "Free pickup and delivery. Try us once and you'll never go anywhere again.'

Sign outside a radiator repair shop: "The best place in town to take a

Sign on a plumber's van: "We repair what your husband fixed."

In a Florida hospital maternity ward: "No children allowed."

Church sign: "For those of you who have children and don't know it, we have a nursery downstairs."

Of course, want ads have always been a hot bed of misprints (no editors

"Dog for sale: eats anything, fond of children."

"Snow blower for sale - only used on snowy days." "Free puppies: Half cocker spaniel and half sneaky neighbor's dog."

Ear Piercing Shop: "Ear piercing while you wait." "Now is your chance to have your ears pierced and get an extra pair to take home too."

And talk about compassion: "We note with regret that Mrs. Calhoun is recuperating from an automobile accident. (Drat)"

Sign in a loan company office: "Ask about our plans for owning your

And there are always some notable headlines:

"Chef Throws Heart Into Helping Feed Needy." 'Safety Experts Say School Bus Passengers Should Be Belted."

"Police Found Safe Under Blanket." Here is a scientific find worth noting:

"Infertility unlikely to be passed on."

Life is meant to be enjoyed even while it's being endured. I hope in some small way I help bring a smile to your faces.
