INITIATIVE MEASURE TO SUPPORT EMERGENCY SERVICES TO APPEAR ON NOVEMBER BALLOT

By Kevin McGuire

A qualified citizen petition for a ballot initiative measure to supplement the city's existing general fund has enough qualified signatures. The measure would impose a special parcel tax on Sierra Madre property owners to help fund police, fire, and paramedic personnel costs.

On April 23, 2024, during the regular City Council meeting, Sierra Madre Finance Director Hillary Guirola-Leon presented the City's long-term budget projections for the General Fund. The future five-year projections did not look bright for the city, with a looming deficit expected starting year-ending 25/26 of approximately $406,080. And there could be a steady climb of expenditures over revenues for years.

Guirola-Leon's projections showed a deficit of $2,239,945 by year-end 28/29. She hinted that the city must find new funding opportunities for the future or make difficult decisions to bridge this gap. This could mean that city staff cuts are inevitable. Approximately 51% of general fund expenditures go toward funding the costs of police, fire, and paramedic personnel.

James Walsworth and Theodore Saraf submitted their intent to circulate a petition with the City Clerk's office on March 1 2024. The petition indicated that residents were already concerned about the city's future state of emergency services. The completed petition was submitted to the City Clerk's office on May 16, 2024.

City Clerk Laura Aguilar and staff performed their due diligence. They conducted a prima facie sampling of the collected signatures, and a second analysis was sent to the Los Angeles County Clerk's office, where it was upheld. Of the 1,117 signatures filed, 950 were found sufficient. The minimum number of signatures needed to qualify as a ballot initiative for a future election is 846. The initiative could be on the ballot for the general municipal election on November 5, 2024.

The Initiative Measure Proposal Under the proposed initiative measure, here is the special parcel tax breakdown prepared by the City Attorney under Elections Code Section 9203.

Single-family residential parcels -$480 per parcel per year;

Multi-family residential parcels-$576 per parcel per year; and Non-residential parcels-$660 per parcel per year.

Certain parcels are exempt from the special tax, including: Any parcel that has remained undeveloped for the past six months;

A single-family residential parcel owned and occupied by someone 65 years of age or older with a combined household income qualifying as a low-income household;

A single-family residential parcel owned and occupied by persons with a combined household income qualifying as a very low-income household and

Any parcel owned by a religious organization or school that is exempt from property taxation under California law.

If approved, the initiative measure would take effect July 1, 2025, and remain in effect until 2032.

City Attorney Aleks Giragosian stated that these special tax funds will be deposited into a separate fund so that they do not intermingle with general fund revenue. The special tax is to be used only to fund police, fire, and paramedic personnel.

On Tuesday, June 25, City Clerk Aguilar presented the details of the qualified citizen petition before the City Council. Mayor Pro Tem Robert Parkhurst led the meeting in place of Mayor Kelly Kriebs, who was not the circumstances of the city budget and the lack of revenue to sustain our own city fire, police, and paramedic programs," Walsworth stated. He stressed the importance of educating the public on this issue and asked for the City Council's help.

One of the proponents of this measure, James Walsworth, spoke before the Council during the public comment section of the meeting. "Not everyone we asked signed our petition, but many did after we explained (continued on page 2)

Many members of Emergency Services also spoke in support of the initiative and asked the City Council for its support.

Councilmember Edward Garcia drove the point that Sierra Madre wants to stay "autonomous" and not have to outsource emergency services in the city. "We want to be able to have a Council elected by the city and have autonomy over the leadership of our own police department," Garcia noted, paraphrasing the people's opinion back in 2016 when the city moved from a volunteer to full-time staff. Garcia said the people wanted to retain police and fire services.

"With the changes we have in our town now, the services are getting better...and as science and technology increase, and we must keep up with that and provide our citizens with the best service we can," stated Councilmember Kristine Lowe, a former firefighter in Sierra Madre. Lowe also mentioned the importance of being part of a mutual aid program.

After quoting a few budget numbers and showing the increasing deficits rising into the millions over the next five years, Pro Tem Mayor Parkhurst highlighted the situation's urgency: "The problem is here now. And we need to solve it today," Parkhurst said. "We are behind you 100%, and we are going to make it happen."

City Council unanimously submitted the initiative without alteration for inclusion on the November 5, 2024, General Municipal Election ballot. The City Attorney will prepare an impartial analysis, and two town hall meetings will take place to inform the public and allow public comment on the initiative.

A Note From Club

Busy May!!! Civic Club was at the 5/28 City Council Meeting to give out Philanthropy checks to 19 non-profit organizations that serve our City. That's a lot of fundraising efforts on behalf of the Club! We were also busy helping with the Mt. Wilson Trail Race by stuffing swag bags with goodies for the registered runners, helping with the pasta feed on Friday night, supplying desserts, working the morning of the race checking in runners, helping with the Kid's Run, and staffing the bag check. We are preparing for our 4th of July confetti eggs...with hundreds and hundreds of eggs being stuffed by members to sell on the 3rd and 4th. And if you see a Club member at one of our events, ask them how you can get involved with our organization!

WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

"The pedigree of honey does not concern the bee; a clover, anytime, to him, is aristocracy." Emily Dickinson

I don't know what it is about that quote, but I just love it. Maybe because we have so many beenticing, nectar-filled goodies around us. Every flower is a potential banquet to these little guys.

July is almost upon us! How is that possible? Here we were moaning about May Gray and June Gloom and now it's hot. And it's going to get hotter. All our churches are doing or are about to do Vacation Bible School and small children all over town will be dressed in VBS t-shirts that swallow them down to their knees. The picture today is of darling Addison and Charlotte Johnson on their second day of VBS. I am reminded of Jessie and Emily Brown when they were really little, went to VBS and came home singing, "Cheez-its loves me, this I know!"

Good times, friends and neighbors, good times!

"It was a good day for a parade, sunny and unseasonably warm,

"Half the people in Sierra Madre are watching the parade and the other half are in it!"

Our best summer event, besides the concerts in the park, is the July 4th parade. It's Thursday! Plan to go as it's the best time ever. John and I always got up early, drove downtown, set up our chairs in front of Happy's Liquor, had coffee and oatmeal at dear departed Beantown and walked all over to see who we would see. Every year the parade just gets better. The kids from all the sports teams, the fire engines, parents pulling wagons with little people in them looking hot and bewildered. The Search and Rescue guys, all the dignitaries in open cars trying not to sweat, hoping they've got enough sunblock on and working hard to look responsible and re-electable.

Our own special parade stars, Grand Marshall, Helen Reece and Hometown Hero, Sandy Duvall will be waving and smiling. Be sure you wave back! Be watching and be sure to stand when our flag goes by.

"You have to love a Nation that celebrates its independence every July 4th not with a parade of guns, tanks and soldiers who file by the White House in a show of strength and muscle, but with family picnics where kids throw frisbees, the potato salad gets iffy, and the flies die from happiness. You may think you've overeaten, but it is patriotism." Erma Bombeck

"This, then, is the state of the union; free and restless, growing and full of hope. So it was in the beginning. So it shall always be, while God is willing, and we are strong enough to keep the faith." Lyndon B. Johnson

JULY 4TH FUN - DEANNE DAVIS

I'll bring the hot dogs, You bring the beer, The Fourth of July, Is finally here! Let's walk downtown, And watch the parade. I hope we can find, A place in the shade. It's our day to celebrate, Our Nation's story.

Is your hand on your heart?
Here she comes! It's Old Glory!
Let's stand up and cheer!
Old Glory's passing by.
Here come our V.A. guys,
Standing so tall and straight!
Thank you, guys, for your service,
We think you're just great!
We love those old cars,
Filled with folks that we know.
We'll barbeque later,
A burger...or three,

And have potato salad,
Sure! It's calorie free! (Not!)
We'll count all our blessings,
Be glad that we live in a land that is free.
Free to celebrate Independence Day,
To celebrate...Liberty!

Whatever you do this July 4th weekend, be sure you have a great time with people you love, people who enjoy food, laughter, each other, and maybe you can sit out somewhere and see fireworks bursting in the sky. Put your feet in the water, have another hot dog and delight in every minute. Somewhere along the way, be sure to remember that freedom isn't free. It has been bought and paid for at great cost by people who gave all. Let's Celebrate Everything!

NASA Selects Scientists to Join ESA's Hera Mission

Three scientists from NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory are among the dozen selected by the agency for the ESA planetary defense mission slated to launch later this year.

NASA has selected 12 participating scientists to join ESA's (European Space Agency) Hera mission, which is scheduled to launch in October 2024. Hera will study the binary asteroid Physics Laboratory system Didymos, including the moonlet Dimorphos, which was impacted by NASA's DART Georgia Institute of Technology, (Double Asteroid Redirection Test) spacecraft on Sept. 26, 2022. The objectives of DART and Hera collectively aim to validate the kinetic impact method as a technology to deflect an asteroid on a collision course with Earth, if one is ever discovered, and to learn more about the near-Earth asteroids that are the source of this natural hazard.

Hera is scheduled to arrive at the Didymos/Dimorphos binary asteroid system at the end of 2026, where it will gather otherwise unobtainable data about the mass and makeup of both bodies and assess the changes caused by the DART spacecraft's kinetic impact.

The goal of NASA's Hera Participating Scientist Program is to support scientists at U.S. institutions to participate on the Hera mission and address outstanding questions in planetary defense and near-Earth asteroid science. The participating scientists become Hera science team members during their five-year tenure with the mission. The newly selected participating scientists are: Bonnie Buratti — NASA's Propulsion Laboratory,

Southern California Ingrid Daubar Brown University, Providence, Rhode

Carolyn Ernst — Johns — Applied Physics Laboratory

Craninger — Johns Hopkins University Applied Mark Haynes — NASA JPL Masatoshi Hirabayashi Atlanta Tim Lister — Las Cumbres Observatory, Goleta, California

Ryan Park — NASA JPL Andrew Rivkin — Applied Physics Hopkins Laboratory Daniel Scheeres — University of

Colorado, Boulder Timothy Titus — U.S. Geological Survey, Flagstaff, Arizona Yun Zhang — University of Michigan, Ann Arbor

DART was the first planetary defense test mission from NASA's Planetary Defense Coordination Office, which oversees the agency's ongoing efforts in planetary defense. International participation in DART and Hera, including the Participating Scientist Hera Program, has been enabled by an ongoing worldwide collaboration in the planetary defense research community known as the Asteroid Impact and Deflection Assessment. DART was designed, built, and operated by the Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory (APL) in Laurel, Maryland, for NASA's Planetary Defense Coordination Office, which oversees the agency's ongoing efforts in planetary defense.

L.A. County Supervisors Show Support for the Michelle Alyssa Go Act

This week, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors unanimously approved a motion authored by Supervisor Kathryn Barger to support Congressional bill H.R. 8575, also known as the Michelle Alyssa Go Act.

Introduced by Congressman Daniel Goldman, the bill was inspired by the tragic death of Michelle Alyssa Go in 2022 and aims to narrow glaring gaps in mental health care systems. Ms. Go was pushed from behind onto the tracks of an oncoming train in New York City by a man with a history of mental illness. The person charged with her murder was deemed unfit to stand trial and indefinitely committed to a locked psychiatric facility. "With the Michelle Alyssa Go Act, we are extending a lifeline to those who urgently need mental health care," stated Supervisor Kathryn Barger. "Michelle's tragic death spotlights the terrible connection between untreated mental illness and violent crime. Our County has an urgent need to create more comprehensive mental health support systems. By increasing psychiatric bed capacity, we are affirming our commitment to accessible care and doing more to prevent senseless attacks from taking innocent lives." H.R. 8575 would address the long-standing Institutions Mental Disease for (IMD) exclusion, which prohibits federal Medicaid reimbursement for services

By revising the definition of IMD, this critical legislation raises the limit for a facility to be eligible for Medicaid coverage from 16 beds to 36. This bill would create greater access to mental health treatment for low-income individuals and empower Los Angeles County to further develop its continuum of care for individuals suffering from mental illness.

"Outdated federal restrictions on inpatient care have created significant obstacles providing in necessary effective, mental health services, expressed Matt Chase, Executive Director for the Association of National Counties (NACo), "NACo applauds the leadership of Los Angeles County and Supervisor Kathryn Barger for efforts to modernize the Institutions for Mental Diseases exclusion, reducing inequities and lowering barriers to comprehensive behavioral health treatment through this in-patient psychiatric beds. motion."

NEW LAWS YOU NEED TO KNOW

A number of new laws are set to go into effect July 1, 2024. Here's what you need to know:

Senate Bill 478: No More Hidden Fees

• A dealer or business must advertise, display, and offer a price that includes all mandatory fees or charges. This law does not change what a business can charge, it requires that the business advertise a cost that includes all mandatory charges. This does not include taxes and fees imposed by the government and reasonable shipping/postage fees. This applies to the sale or lease of most goods and services for consumer personal use. Examples of businesses that this law applies to are hotels, event ticket sellers, restaurants, food delivery services. The law prohibits a business from advertising one price and later adding a service fee. This does not apply to optional services or features, and gratuity.

Assembly Bill 537: Clear Advertising

• Similar to the "no hidden fees" law, short-term lodging like Airbnb, hotels, and motels must now include all fees in their displayed prices, with the exception of government taxes and fees. This means cleaning fees or service charges will already be part of the price when you book your stay.

Senate Bill 644: Flexible Cancellation

• You now have the flexibility to cancel hotel and other short-term rental bookings without a penalty if you cancel within 24 hours of making the reservation, as long as the booking was made at least 72 hours before check-in.

Senate Bill 244: Right to Repair

• Manufacturers are now required to supply you with manuals, parts, and tools necessary for repairs. For products priced at least $50, these repair materials must be available for three years, and for products over $100, they must be available for seven years. This applies to a wide range of products including cell phones, laptops, tablets, and various home appliances sold after July 1, 2021.

If you want to report scams, frauds, or feel like your rights have been violated by a business, please file a complaint at 800-593-8222.

EDUCATION AND YOUTH

TOURNAMENT & CAL POLY ROSE FLOAT PARTNER FOR ROSESTEM

In support of education initiatives for students and the Pasadena teachers. Tournament of Roses has partnered with Cal Poly Rose Float to engage in an insightful educational program, RoseSTEM presented by SoCalGas and Southwest Airlines. The program was held June 10-12 and included field trips to the Cal Poly Rose Float facility, where middle and high school students were introduced to STEM concepts used to create a Rose Parade float, including hands-on experience.

Cal Poly Rose Float, an organization of college students, shared their expertise in float construction, design and engineering beyond floral decoration. Cal Poly Pomona and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo have participated in the Parade since 1949 and their floats continue to introduce new technological advances, including the first use of hydraulics for animation in 1968 and the first use of computer-controlled animation in 1978.

"Cal Poly Rose Float embodies a student-centric opportunity to allow students to explore innovation while adapting their academic principles to a real-world scenario. Our program emphasizes career readiness exposure preparing students to contribute day one on a new job," said Cary Khatab, director, Cal Poly Rose Float. "Our partnership with the Tournament of Roses helps expose future students that college is possible and open to all who desire."

For more than 70 years, students from Cal Poly Pomona and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo have designed, built and decorated the joint Cal Poly Universities float for the Rose Parade. RoseSTEM introduced San Gabriel Valley area middle school and high school students (ages 12-17) to science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) concepts that demonstrate the "Learn by Doing" approach of Cal Poly Universities. Nearly 150 students from the greater Pasadena and San Gabriel Valley area participated thanks to the support of community partners; Flintridge Center, Harambee Ministries and STEAM: CODERS.

"We love the opportunity to encourage students to soar through learning and are proud to support STEM-focused education in such a fun, creative setting," said Kayla Valencia, Corp Responsibility Regional Manager for Southwest Airlines.

RoseSTEM bridges connections with other programs, such as the Tournament of Roses Foundation grants, which include past recipient STEAM:CODERS. "The collaboration between STEAM:CODERS, the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, SoCalGas and Cal Poly Rose Float provided our students with hands-on engineering experience. This unique opportunity introduced the students to a new and exciting field of interest," Raymond Ealy, president and CEO of STEAM:CODERS said. "Now, they know that STEAM covers a wide variety of fields and can provide them with an array of options.

"At SoCalGas, our mission is to build the cleanest, safest, and most innovative energy infrastructure company in America. Key investments in diverse and underserved communities where we live and work can make a real difference, and supporting the Tournament of Roses Association's RoseSTEM helps provide more students with access to STEM programming and hands-on learning experiences," said Andy Carrasco, vice president of communications, local government and community affairs, SoCalGas. "As an engineer, I know that opportunities like this help strengthen interest and knowledge in STEM, which further grows the next generation of STEM professionals."

KABUKI

Pleasant experience for this Samurai Warrior

The new Kabuki location on Colorado Boulevard offers a modern and inviting atmosphere. The decor blends traditional Japanese elements with contemporary design, creating a comfortable dining environment. The seating is spacious, and the overall ambiance is relaxed and welcoming, making it a great place for both casual dining and special occasions. As of this writing, they are about to complete the renovation of their outside patio, which promises to enhance the dining experience further with an al fresco option.

Food and Beverages

Kabuki excels in offering above-average sushi with a diverse menu that caters to various tastes. Here are some detailed highlights:

- Sushi Rolls: Kabuki offers a wide array of sushi rolls, from classic options like California rolls and spicy tuna rolls to more inventive creations. The Rainbow Roll, featuring a colorful assortment of fish atop a California roll, is both visually appealing and delicious. My favorite is the Spicy Tuna Roll, get it at Happy Hour for an even better experience.
- Sashimi: The sashimi selection is fresh and meticulously presented. Options include tuna, salmon, yellowtail, and more, all sliced to perfection and served with traditional accompaniments like wasabi and pickled ginger.
- Appetizers: Start your meal with appetizers like edamame, gyoza, or tempura. The Shrimp Tempura, in particular, is light, crispy, and not overly greasy, making it a perfect start to the meal. $12 Range
- Specialty Dishes: Kabuki also offers a range of specialty dishes like the Tuna Taki at $25.95 it is the Kabuki go to dish with a kick.
- Happy Hour: The Happy Hour menu is a significant draw, featuring $2 Sapporo beers and $2 sake. These deals, combined with discounted appetizers and rolls, make it an unbeatable option for affordable dining. 3 PM to 6 PM Mon through Friday, weekends 2 to 5 PM
- Mai Tai: On a recommendation from the bartender, I tried the Mai Tai. While it may be a tall order to say it's the best in the world, it was refreshing and a pleasant accompaniment to the meal.

Service and Staff

The service at Kabuki is consistently great. The staff is attentive, friendly, and knowledgeable about the menu. They are always ready to make recommendations and ensure that guests have a pleasant dining experience. Even during busy hours, the service remains efficient and courteous.

Standout Dishes and Drinks

While the entire sushi menu is commendable, some standout dishes include the specialty rolls and sashimi platters. The Happy Hour offerings, particularly the $2 Sapporo beer and $2 sake, are unbeatable deals that keep many customers returning regularly.

Overall Impression

Kabuki Restaurant on Colorado Boulevard is a solid choice for sushi lovers looking for quality food at reasonable prices. The excellent service, inviting ambiance, and unbeatable Happy Hour deals make it a favorite spot for both regular diners and newcomers. While it may not be the absolute best sushi place in town, the combination of good food, great service, and affordable prices make it a highly recommended destination. The upcoming completion of the renovated outside patio adds another attractive feature to the restaurant.

Location: Kabuki Restaurant on 2763 E Colorado Boulevard (new location, closed the one on Foothill Boulevard)

Cuisine: Japanese, specializing in sushi

INGREDIENTS:

3 cloves Garlic crushed

1 tb Seasoned salt

1/2 c Oil

1c Fresh lemon juice

12 tsp Italian Salad dressing

1/2 c Chopped onions

1 Pepper

1 ts Crushed thyme

4 Rock Cornich Hens, giblets removed

DIRECTIONS:

Blend garlic, seasoned salt, oil, lemon juice, dressing, onions, pepper, and thyme. Marinate the birds overnight in the refrigerator.

Cut the birds lengthwise.

Cook on outside grill, bone side down 10 minutes, flesh side down 5 minutes, alternating 10 minutes and 5 minutes in this manner for about an hour and basting with marinade frequently (at least every 5 minutes) while barbequing.

Serves 8.

If you can't get outside to barbecue, just use the oven method: Preheat oven to 400 degrees.

Place skin side up in a shallow pan, baste with marinade, cover with foil and roast for 30 minutes.

Remove foil and brush with marinade again. Roast again uncovered for 20-30 minutes (brush with marinade again after about 10 minutes).

Test for doneness: drumsticks should be soft and juices should not be tinged with pink when you pierce the thickest part of the thigh with a fork.

Theheatishere. You need a crisp, refreshing, zesty white wine, but you're bored with the same ol' same ol'. Chardonnay just doesn't cut it for you. Neither does Sauvi B. Let me tell you about a white wine I'll be drinking all summer long. It's the

Antxiol

Getariako Txakolina

DENOMINACION DE ORIGEN

Antxiola Getariako Txakolina 2022 from Spain. This wine is zesty, refreshing, mouthwatering, juicy, and has a little effervescence.

Antxiola is Northern Spain on the Bay of Biscay in Getaria. It was founded in 1989 by the Errasti family. It's a small family run winery in the Basque Country of Spain. The vineyards are farmed organically. They farm the local grape varietals - Hondarrabi Zuri and Hondarrabi Beltza. Everything in the vineyards is done by hand including harvest. Fermentation is done in stainless steel tanks. The wine is bottled young to retain freshness and some of its natural effervescence. The 2022 vintage is 100% Hondarrabi Zuri.

This wine has notes of zesty citrus, tangerine, and lime, with taut minerality. There is a little effervescence or fizz to this wine which gives it a refreshing, clean, and vibrant taste. It is thirst quenching to me. It really is one of my favorite white wines in the shop, and one of my favorite wines to drink in the summer. Pair this wine with grilled scallops, grilled octopus, raw oysters, and any shellfish.

The wine is available at The Bottle Shop for $22.99. Just ask for Anh-cho-la Cha-ko-leena. Mention you saw the wine in the Mountain Views News and get it for $21.99!

SO YOU WANT TO HAVE A VEGETARIAN DIET?

should consider:

[Nyerges is an ethnobotanist, teacher, and author. He's written many books, which can be viewed at www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com]

It is widely believed that throughout history, no societies were strictly vegetarian because all food had to be obtained very locally, and it was not possible to get "complete protein" from the local plants alone. Though historically correct, that premise is not entirely accurate. And in today's world, we can obtain foods from all over the world at any supermarket in any town. It is relatively easy today to be a vegetarian - even a vegan - and stay healthy.

Let's start from the beginning. What is a complete protein? Is it essential for the health of our bodies that we eat meat? If we eliminate meat from our diet, what foods should we eat for optimum health? Are there pitfalls to avoid if we choose a vegetarian diet?

WHAT IS A COMPLETE PROTEIN?

There are 20 amino acids. Eleven of those our bodies make on their own, but the other 9 we have to get from daily food. These are called essential amino acids. Foods that contain all 9 essential amino acids are called complete proteins.

CAN ONE OBTAIN COMPLETE PRO-TEIN FROM PLANTS ALONE?

According to author and macrobiotic authority Michelle Williams, "Yes, you can get complete protein from plants alone. There's debate on whether some plant foods have enough of all essential amino acids to be considered 'complete', but all foods have some protein, including plants. You don't need to eat complete proteins in every bite at every meal. If you eat enough variety of whole plant foods throughout the day, vegetarians can definitely eat enough essential amino ac-ids for vibrant health. Keep in mind that everyone's protein requirements are different depend-ing on many different

WHAT FOOD WILL GIVE YOU ALL THAT YOUR BODY NEEDS?

According to Michelle Williams, "Here are a few plant sources of complete proteins: spirulina, chia seeds, hemp seeds, seitan, amaranth, quinoa, buckwheat, barley and soy foods including soybeans, natto, tofu, tempeh and edamame."

Author Dr. James Adams points out that quinoa, buckwheat, hempseed, blue green algae and soybeans all contain all 9 essential amino acids.

Enrique Villasenor has long pointed out in his lectures that acorn, widely used in Native Ameri-can traditional diet, contains all 9 amino acids, though in low volumes.

Here are the things you | Another favorite food that Villasenor promotes as beneficial to the immune system is the prickly pear cactus, which contains 8 of the essential amino acids. He refers to both of these as "super-foods." He adds, "While some Opuntia species do not contain tryptophan, most contain phenylalanine. Phenylalanine and tryptophan are both "aromatic amino acids." They are similar in chem-ical composition. Aromatic amino acids are precursors for serotonin."

> Author/ teacher Prudence Boczarski-Daniel suggests that everyone reads "Diet for A Small Planet," by Lappe. This popular primer on how to be a vegetarian was first published in 1971. Lappe promotes "complementary" foods because some foods that are low in certain essential amino acids can be combined with others that happen to be high in the essential amino acid that the other food is missing.

WHAT ARE SOME IDEAL FOOD COMBINATIONS?

"Diet for a Small Planet" explains that all grass grains (wheat, rice, corn, etc.) complement all legumes (peas, beans, garbanzo, soy, etc.). That is a very simplified version of getting a complete plant protein by combining (or complementing) grasses and legumes.

Some of the traditional food combinations that give you a complete protein are corn tortillas and beans from Mexico, bulgar wheat with garbanzos from the Middle East, and soy products with rice from Asian countries.

REFERENCES FOR THOSE WHO WISH TO BE VEGETARIAN?

One of the top references that is consistently mentioned is "Diet for a Small Planet" by Lappe. This book, in print since 1971 and sold over 3 million copies, and now revised, gives you the basic science of plant food combinations which make complete proteins.

Another good reference is "The Balanced Diet for You and the Planet" by Dr. James Adams, available from Amazon.

This is a very simplified explanation, and someone going from a carnivorous diet to wholly vege-tarian can also expect some bodily changes.

HOT TEMPERATURES CAN MAKE CONCRETE AND ASPHALT TOO HOT FOR YOUR DOG'S PAWS.

Asphalt and concrete temperatures can usually be 20-40 degrees hotter than the ambient temperature. If the back of your hand can't stand the heat on the concrete or asphalt for 7 seconds, it's too hot for a walk.

When it's above 90 degrees outside, bring dogs and cats indoors.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT ASSISTED LIVING COMMUNITY: THE IMPORTANCE OF RESIDENT COMPATIBILITY

As families navigate the complex decision of selecting an assisted living community for their loved ones, one often overlooked yet critical factor is the compatibility of residents within these facilities. Beyond amenities and healthcare services offered, the social environment plays a pivotal role in the overall well-being and happiness of seniors.

In recent years, there has been a growing recognition among experts and families alike that the compatibility of residents can significantly impact the quality of life in assisted living communities. Compatibility refers to how well individuals living in these communities mesh together in terms of personalities, interests, and social dynamics.

Dr. Emily Thompson, a geriatric specialist at St. Mary's Hospital, emphasizes, "Ensuring compatibility among residents is vital for fostering a supportive and enriching environment. When individuals share similar interests or backgrounds, they are more likely to form meaningful connections and support networks, which can combat feelings of loneliness and isolation."

Studies have shown that social interactions and relationships in later life are crucial for mental and emotional health. When seniors feel a sense of camaraderie and belonging, they are more engaged in activities and generally experience higher levels of life satisfaction. This sense of community can also have positive effects on physical health, as it encourages regular socializing and participation in recreational activities.

When evaluating assisted living communities, families are encouraged to look beyond the physical facilities and inquire about the social programs and initiatives in place to promote resident interaction and engagement. Many facilities now offer diverse activity calendars designed to cater to different interests and preferences, from book clubs and gardening groups to fitness classes and arts workshops.

Jane Davis, whose mother recently moved into an assisted living community, shares her experience, "Finding a place where my mom felt comfortable with the other residents was crucial. She's made friends who share her love for painting, and it's really improved her overall mood and outlook."

Furthermore, administrators of these communities recognize the importance of fostering an inclusive environment where all residents feel valued and respected. By promoting compatibility among residents, they aim to create a supportive atmosphere where everyone can thrive in their own way.

As the demand for assisted living facilities continues to rise with an aging population, the emphasis on resident compatibility is expected to grow. Families are advised to visit multiple communities, talk to current residents and staff, and observe social interactions to ensure that the chosen facility aligns with their loved one's social needs and preferences.

In conclusion, while the physical aspects of assisted living communities are important, it is equally essential to consider how well residents fit together socially. By prioritizing compatibility, families can help ensure their loved ones not only receive the necessary care but also enjoy a fulfilling and enriching social life in their new home.

HOW EXTREME HEAT AFFECTS SENIORS: TIPS TO STAY SAFE

Dear Savvy Senior:

I work for a county health department and every summer we're seeing more and more seniors get sick and even die from heat-related illiness. Can you write an awarness piece on the affects extreme heat has on older adults, and what they can do to guard against this summertime risk. Thanks for helping keep seniors safe! Health Advocate

Dear Advocate:

Happy to oblige! Most people don't realize that each year, extreme summertime heat kills more people in the U.S. than hurricanes, floods and tornadoes combined. While extreme heat can be deadly for anyone, older adults are uniquely vulnerable because of three key factors: biological changes that occur with age; higher rates of age-related diseases; and greater use of medications that can alter the body's response to heat.

Here's how to gauge the risk for a heat-related illness for you or an older loved one and how to stay safe.

How Heat Affects Seniors

The human body has two main mechanisms to cool itself: sweating and increasing blood flow to the skin. In older adults, both of those processes are compromised. Seniors sweat less and they have poor circulation compared with younger people.

Chronic health conditions that are more common in old age, most notably cardiovascular disease and diabetes, can also exacerbate these issues. A diseased heart isn't able to pump as much blood, further reducing blood flow to the skin. And if the nerves become affected in people with diabetes, the body might not receive the message that it needs to start sweating.

As people age, they also stop feeling as thirsty and so they tend to drink less. In hot conditions, that can cause them to become dehydrated

In addition, some older adults, particularly if they have some form of dementia or cognitive decline, may not perceive temperature changes as well. As a result, they won't respond appropriately to heat, both biologically (through sweating) and behaviorally (by moving to someplace cool).

Finally, certain medications many seniors take like diuretics and other high blood pressure drugs can affect people's hydration, blood flow and even the sweat response, so be sure to ask your doctor about any medications you're taking.

How to Stay Safe

On hot days, older adults and people with serious health conditions should limit outdoor activities like walking and gardening to the cooler mornings and evenings, take frequent breaks and drink plenty of water even if you aren't thirsty. Listen to your body. If the activity starts to feel harder than normal, that's a signal to stop and find a place to cool

Signs of dehydration or heat exhaustion include dizziness, lightheadedness, headache, flushed face, a racing heart or feeling lethargic. Low energy is especially important to watch out for in people with cognitive impairment, who may not realize how hot they are or be able to express

If heat exhaustion worsens to a heatstroke, it becomes a life-threatening emergency.

While older adults face unique challenges when it comes to heat, the ways to cool down are the same for any age. If you or a loved one start to experience any of the above symptoms, the best thing you can do is to go somewhere that has air-conditioning. If AC isn't available in the home, check if there's a local cooling center.

In the absence of air-conditioning, water is extremely helpful in reducing the risk for heatrelated injury. Rubbing an ice cube or cold compress over your skin, spraying yourself with cool water or taking a cool shower or bath can also help.

For more heat related safety tips, visit the Center for Disease Control and Prevention website at CDC.gov/extreme-heat.

OUT TO PASTOR

SOME THINGS DO HAVE A PURPOSE!

One thing I have learned in life is that some things do have a purpose no matter how bad they seem at the time. They don't seem to have any purpose when they happen, but you later discover a significant purpose behind it.

I try to prepare for everything in life, but there are many things that I just can't prepare for. I learned this after I got married.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage has often teased me about not having a brain. When I flub up something, she looks at me, puts both hands on her hips, and says, "Don't you have a brain?"

With all the evidence on the table, I cannot verify that I actually do have a brain. According to her assessment, if I had a brain, a lot of the stuff I flub up wouldn't get flubbed up. But, as The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage says, "It is what it is." When I'm in trouble and can't figure something out, she usually says, "Don't you have a working brain to help you here?"

The way things turned out, I could not answer in the affirmative. I like to think I have a brain, but the evidence along that line is not very strong.

Lately, things have begun to turn around to my benefit.

I had a health issue; I think it was some kind of flu bug, which hit me pretty hard. During one of my Sunday services, while preaching, I almost passed out. Because we were in a nursing home facility, a nurse came in and took my blood pressure. At the time, it didn't read very well.

It was then that the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage told him that I had to be taken to the hospital. I didn't quite understand what was happening at the time, so I just went along with where they took me. What choice did I have?

I spent a day in the hospital and finally got out and was able to schedule a visit with my physician. He checked me over and said he thought I needed to have one of those

At the time, I did not know what they were. But according to what I understood, it was some brain scan to see if I had a mini-stroke or something.

Given my state of health, I agreed with the doctor, who set up an appointment for me to have an MRI.

I never had one before, but I was to learn what the MRI stood for: Make Room for Intrusion. And boy, was my head ever intruded.

I went to have the MRI, and they set me up and did all the preparatory things. They took me to the room where the MRI took place, prepared me, and then put earplugs in my ears. At the time, I had no idea what that was for. I would soon learn.

According to the technician who was with me, I was to spend 25 minutes under that machine, and there would be noise.

Boy, was that understated. As soon as I got under, the noise hit me like thunder from out of nowhere. I never heard noise quite like that before. It almost sounded like old rock 'n' roll music. Although, not quite as stupid. No, I did not start singing

When it was over, they pulled me out, I sat up, and I couldn't hear a thing. I looked at the nurse serving me and said, "I can't hear anything."

Looking at me and smiling, she said, "Well, if you took your earplugs out you might be able to hear."

It was an adventure I hope I don't have to repeat anytime soon. But I had a brain scan and I went to the office and ordered copies of my brain scan, which they gave to me. When I went home, I took the disk with the pictures of my brain and printed off. I looked at it again and said to myself, "Self, you do have a brain after all."

I then took a copy of that picture of my brain out and showed it to The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage.

"See here, my dear, I do have a brain after all."

I can't explain how happy I was to prove to my wife that after all of the nonsense I created throughout the years, I actually did have a brain.

I showed it to her, chuckled, and smiled.

She studied the picture for a few moments, looked back at me, and said, "Well, this proves you do have a brain but it doesn't prove that you use your brain.' Even though I have a brain, I didn't see that coming.

I keep that picture with me all the time so that I can show people that I do have a brain. If I hadn't had that incident, I would not have gone in for an MRI, and I would not have proof in my hand that I have a brain.

While looking at the picture of my brain I thought of a scripture in Jeremiah 29:11, "For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, saith the Lord, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end."

No matter what I think, God has a purpose for my life. Each day is an opportunity to trust Him for that purpose.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY AMERICA!"

TEAM COLORS: MASCOT: TEAM ROSTER: CONFERENCE: TEAM SONG:

Red, White and Blue. Eagle. Unlimited. All fifty United States National Anthem. (all team stands when played or sung)

WHAT A BIRTHDAY PARTY! Fireworks, barbeques, families at the park, parades, fly-overs and a national Holiday.

We all contribute to the booster club, which makes America the best team in the world. We have never lost a championship game, and don't plan on it. We have been playing for 247 years and still the world depends on us. I am so proud to have made the team and appreciate what this great country has done for us.

My favorite bands are the Marine Marching band in the Tournament of Roses Parade, and almost all the bands from the BIG TEN schools. Their songs semper fidelis composed in 1889. When I hear that "from the halls of Montezuma...." I stand up. My favorite flyover is at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena on New Year's Day.... The F-16, the B2 spirit Stealth Bomber. That sound and sight sends chills to so many. What a thrill.

This July 4th date is a celebration of the USA as the greatest team in sports or in world history.

Whatever faults we have, this is a country that allows us to attempt to win on every play. I can talk on the air with the knowledge that I am free to do so. I can protest if necessary. But how lucky I was to be born in the USA. (Two more songs: "Born in the USA" and "We are the Champions." Come to mind.

We can dream of things and have the opportunity to accomplish them. But we are only as strong as our weakest link in the chain. We have to believe and realize how fortunate we are to celebrate the same July 4th birthday.

Changing the subject now.

As you may have figured, I am a Pasadena guy, born and raised. And a sports, football guy --a player and a coach and a fan. The Rose Bowl has always meant so much to me in all those ways. To me for so many years, it was really "The Best Day Ever!" So, last week when I wrote about the future of the Rose Bowl game with a college football playoff I was serious.

The Rose Bowl itself will never host another championship game or Super Bowl. Why? It's all commercial now. You buy the game. Also, the Rose Bowl itself does not have the suite numbers and upgraded facilities that other new stadiums have.--SOFI, Allegiant Stadium and other NFL stadiums. We can surrender to that. But the Rose Bowl still exists as the #1 destination for a college football experience for players and fans.

A trip to Pasadena for the January first game cannot be duplicated. Rose Bowl tours prove that a full week in Pasadena with all the festivities are unlike any other. I say again: "The city, the Tournament of Roses, and the Rose Bowl cannot let that get away." Pasadena California is known as the "Home of the Rose Bowl." Don't kid yourself. Have you really heard of and wanted to visit Pasadena Texas? The Rose Bowl should be known as the "home of college football!" Memories and experiences for coaches, teams, players. Those memories and experiences mean something. Ask those who know how special it was going into the Rose Bowl Hall of Fame?

Here we go again: Two games: Pre-season Football Classic Labor Day weekend, and then the Rose Bowl game January first -- 2:00pm kickoff after the parade. Easily done if you have the desire to make it happen, and you know how to get it done. City, TofR, Rose Bowl: you have two years to do that. Come on, I've given you the blue print. Let's Go!

UNDERSTANDING VITAMIN B12 DEFICIENCY

In a nation where food is abundant and varied, it may come as a surprise that millions of Americans are living with a silent yet significant health issue: Vitamin B12 deficiency. This essential nutrient, found primarily in animal products, plays a crucial role in maintaining nerve health, red blood cell production, and DNA synthesis. Unfortunately, a large segment of the population doesn't get enough Vitamin B12. This deficiency can lead to severe and sometimes irreversible health problems if not addressed promptly.

What is Vitamin B12?

Vitamin B12, also known as cobalamin, is a water-soluble vitamin vital for various bodily functions. It helps produce DNA and red blood cells plus is essential for proper functioning of the nervous system. Unlike other vitamins, B12 is naturally found only in animal products such as meat, fish, poultry, eggs, and dairy.

Who is at Risk?

Older Adults: As people age, their ability to absorb Vitamin B12 decreases. This is often due to reduced stomach acid production, which is necessary for B12 absorption from food.

- Vegetarians and Vegans: Since B12 is predominantly found in animal products, those who avoid these foods may not get enough from their diet alone. While fortified foods and supplements can help, vegans in particular may still fall short of their required intake.
- Individuals with Absorption Issues: Conditions such as pernicious anemia, Crohn's disease, celiac disease, and other gastrointestinal disorders can hinder the body's ability to absorb Vitamin B12. Also, those who have had weight loss surgery or other gastrointestinal surgeries may struggle with absorption.
- Pregnant and Breastfeeding Women: These women need higher amounts of Vitamin B12, and a deficiency can affect both the mother and the developing baby. The mother may become anemic and be more prone to immune system malfunctions. The baby may suffer developmental delays, not gain weight or grow as well as expected.

What are Symptoms?

Vitamin B12 deficiency shows up in various ways, often starting subtly before progressing to more serious symptoms. Common signs include:

- Fatigue and Weakness: A lack of B12 affects red blood cell production, leading to anemia and a general sense of fatigue. Neurological Symptoms: These can range from numbness and tingling in the - hands and feet to balance problems, memory issues, and cognitive disturbances. Mouth Ulcers and Glossitis: Inflammation of the tongue and mouth ulcers can 3. occur.
- Pale or Jaundiced Skin: Anemia caused by B12 deficiency can make the skin appear pale or slightly yellow.

If left untreated, B12 deficiency can lead to irreversible neurological damage and severe anemia. Early detection and treatment are crucial to prevent long-term health issues.

Am I Deficient?

Blood tests are the best way to diagnose Vitamin B12 deficiency. These tests measure levels of Vitamin B12, as well as other markers such as mean corpuscular volume (MCV) and methylmalonic acid (MMA), which shows deficiency even when B12 levels appear normal.

If you are deficient in B12, the fix is taking oral supplements, or receiving B12 injections. The method of treatment depends on the severity of the deficiency and the underlying cause. For those with absorption issues, you may need injections or high-dose oral supplements. Vegetarians and vegans should aim for 25-100 mcg/day. Vitamin B12, is generally considered safe even at high doses because it is a water-soluble vitamin, and excess amounts are typically excreted in urine.

Preventing Vitamin B12 deficiency is largely about ensuring adequate intake through diet or supplements. If you find yourself at a higher risk consider the following strategies to make sure you are getting enough:

- Fortified Foods: Many plant-based milks, breakfast cereals, and nutritional yeasts are fortified with Vitamin B12.
- 2. Supplements: B12 supplements are widely available and can be an effective way to ensure adequate intake, particularly for those who do not consume animal products. Quick dissolve fruit flavors are readily available.
- Regular Screening: Older adults and individuals with conditions affecting B12 absorption should have their B12 levels monitored regularly.

Vitamin B12 deficiency is a significant yet often overlooked health issue in the United States. Given its vital role in maintaining overall health and the severe consequences of deficiency, you can help raise awareness by passing this information along to those in your life who could be at risk. Through a combination of dietary strategies, supplementation, and regular screening, it's easy to prevent and treat Vitamin B12 deficiency, improving the well-being of millions of Americans.

CELEBRATE FREEDOM

The Declaration of Independence: A TRANSCRIPTION

IN CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America,

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.--Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

For Quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences
For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighbouring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments: For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have We been wanting in attentions to our Brittish brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

WE THE PEOPLE!

FYI: WHO SIGNED THE U.S. CONSTITUTION?

The 38 signers of the U.S. Constitution were delegates from the original states who gathered several times and in several places, first drafting the Declaration of Independence, and then, after the colonists defeated the British army and won independence, writing the U.S. Constitution. The signers of the two documents have some overlap — Benjamin Franklin signed both, but John Hancock wrote large only on the Declaration of Independence. The delegates are here grouped by the states they represented:

Connecticut: William Samuel Johnson, Roger Sherman

Delaware: George Read, Gunning Bedford Jr., John Dickinson, Richard Bassett, Jacob Broom

Georgia: William Few, Abraham Baldwin

Maryland: James McHenry, Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer, Daniel Carroll

PUT THE LIGHTS ON OUR TRIP TO THE EAST COAST

My wife and I flew to Boston to attend a friend's wedding. Afterwards we took a train up to New York City. We did many interesting things including visiting museums that emphasized the creation of American Democracy.

Right now we are still in our hotel room as I scribble this attempt at an article by hand and hope that my wife will be able to retype it and send it off to the editor in time for publication.

The television is on describing the Presidential debate which will occur tomorrow. I wonder what is happening to this country? We have progressed so far and have reached a time of potential loss. We had an experience today that coincided with my view of America. While on a sightseeing tour I received a phone call from a friend in California who had formerly lived in New York.

He suggested that we visit a building called the Vessel which was a new building with a fancy spiral staircase. The staircase was intended as a focal point wherein people could enjoy new perspectives of the city and one another from different heights, angles, vantage points.

Alas, we learned that the Vessel is temporarily closed while floor to ceiling steel mesh and safety netsare added to the structure.

Why is this necessary? We were told by someone giving information that the new additions are necessary because many people had jumped from the high vantage points in an attempt to commit suicide.

My wife and I visited various other sights including a boat trip around the Statue of Liberty. On the boat a photographer took pictures in front of the statue and we both felt a certain pride in our country. Today we look forward to bringing those pictures home and showing them to our granddaughter and expect in the future to talk to her about what America represents. As my wife and I stopped at a store looking for souvenirs to bring to our granddaughter we noticed an overwhelming number of articles and she told us that Trump was all that was interesting to the tourists. What can I say? Does Donald Trump represent the life or death of what was our democracy? Are there sufficient structures and safety nets which protect us from destroying ourselves?

picturing Donald Trump. I asked the lady behind the counter to explain

At one of the stores my wife saw an exhibit titled "The Strangers Project ". The artist is collecting stones from people about what it's like being you. Much of the time in my articles and agonized about my own confusion. How is it that there exists so much abundance together with so much deprivation.

Is there something more important than achieving wealth, fame, and celebrity? On our sightseeing trip we were told that huge buildings of wealthy celebrities such as the Kardasians. If the Kardashians are the heroes of this society I fear we be on the eve of destruction.

What do you think? I am interested in learning what is like being you. Email My email address is stuarttolchin@gmail.com I would very much like to hear from you. I will include your thought in future articles.i can take it. In my over 80 years I believe I have incorporated sufficient structures and safety nets and still survive.

I hope we all can! In any case, these next few months, just like New York Coty will be challenging and interesting. Really so is present day

I very much want to understand perspectives other than my own. I look forward to hearing from you.

HOW AIR CONDITIONING CHANGED POLITICS AND THE WORLD

Thank God Willis Haviland Carrier invented air conditioning for the most part.

Before air conditioning, the heat drove us outside and brought us together. Friends sought the shade of trees or a refreshing dip in a lake or river.

On the hottest nights, whole families brought their blankets and pillows to riverbanks, where it was cool.

In the evening, neighbors sat on their large front porches, enjoying a cool breeze as they sipped lemonade and told stories.

Even in the 1970s, when I was a kid in the suburbs of Pittsburgh, few homes had air conditioning. Our windows were always open.

At night you could hear neighbors talking, a distant baby crying and Pirates' announcer Bob Prince calling a game on somebody's porch radio: "... he missed it by a gnat's eyelash!"

In the mornings, I'd wake early to the sound of chirping birds. I could smell the cool dew outside my window and the scent of toast and scrambled eggs my father was cooking up in the kitchen.

Air conditioning has certainly changed many things for the better — I'm nice and cool as I write this column — but it has brought with it some downsides.

Most neighborhoods are sealed shut now. Rather than the voices of children playing, all you hear is the hum of air conditioning motors.

My Uncle Jack's 1920s home was designed with high ceilings, cross ventilation and large hallways to dissipate heat — magnificent features that are no longer necessary in today's low-ceilinged suburban houses that put the porch in the back and the garage in the front.

No lemonade for you!

Commercial buildings used to have windows that opened, but that isn't necessary

Today's glass-plated buildings are designed to keep the light and air out, making us oblivious to whatever season it may be.

Before Congress got air conditioning in the 1920s, hot, humid Washington was empty from mid-June to September.

Now the Congress can spend lots more time working on — as the great New York Times columnist Russell Baker once put it — "... the promulgation of more laws, the depredations of lobbyists, the hatching of new schemes for Federal expansion and, of course, the cost of maintaining a government running at full blast.

Sure, air conditioning has dramatically improved life for the elderly and others with respiratory problems. It's saved a lot of lives. And our productivity has been vastly improved by the cool air.

I'm just saying that sometimes it's good to be hot, sweaty and uncomfortable.

When I lived in the D.C. area in 2004, a group of us sat next to the Capitol Building in 102 degree heat during a Fourth of July ceremony.

minded. We sang the National Anthem together and it was a moving event. We watched the fireworks go off above the Washington Monument. It was a spectacular experience to be together in the heat with so many others. But as soon as the last of the fireworks exploded, most people fled to their air-conditioned cars and homes and went quickly back into isolation.

I put my car windows down. We drove slowly through the streets of Washington, listening to the occasional firecracker and people talking as children played with sparklers.

Of course, as soon as I got to my Virginia condo, I cranked the AC as high as it would go — happily enjoying the incredible upside of Willis Carrier's cool invention.

RICH JOHNSON NOW THAT'S RICH

CAMEOS ON THE BIG AND NOT SO BIG SCREEN

Let me give you a brief commercial interruption before the column this week. My rock and roll band, JJ Jukebox, is performing Saturday night, July 6th at the Nano Café in Sierra Madre. Showtime 6:30-9:30.

Great food, a full bar, good people and great rock and roll from the 60's and 70s to dance to. Questions, call (626) 325-3334 after 4:00 Wednesday through Saturday. Now...back to the message!

In case you've never come across the word "cameo" before, a "cameo" is a small, noticeable part in a movie, TV show, or play performed by an otherwise famous actor. I was not yet 10 years old when I experienced my first cameo sighting. I was watching an otherwise forgettable Bob Hope comedy set in the old west. Bob was a life insurance salesman who sold a policy to Jesse James, the outlaw. There is a big gunfight at the end of the film. A bumbling Bob Hope against a dozen bad guys. Bob keeps firing his gun in no apparent direction and bad guys keep dropping. We then see why:

Every time Bumbling Bob fires his rifle, the screen shifts to the Western TV or film hero who actually surreptitiously is helping poor Bob. In order they appear:

(Hugh O'Brian) Wyatt Earp, (Ward Bond) Wagon Train, (James Arness) Matt Dillon Gunsmoke, Roy Rogers, Fess Parker Davy Crockett, Gary Coopers, (Jay Silverheels) Tonto The Lone Ranger, and the last "hero" was none other than Bing Crosby.

Thinking of surprises, here is a anecdotal list of select celebrity cameos by special, and sometimes surprising faces show up in movies and tv shows:

"Hook" You remember where Robin Williams portrayed an adult Peter Pan. Our celebrity cameo played a bearded pirate. The celebrity, none other than Glenn Close...Ms. Glenn

"Star Wars: The Force Awakens" The stormtrooper who keeps watch over Rey (Daisy Ridley) was played by none other than Mr. Bond... Daniel Craig. You will have to take our word for it. Mr. Craig has the storm trooper uniform including helmet.

"Miss Congeniality 2" Sandra Bullock as FBI agent 'Gracie' chases down a suspicious Dolly Parton impersonator, only to discover it was the real Dolly Parton she just tackled.

"Men in Black 2" The then reigning King of Pop loved the first Men in Black so much he personally asked if he could make a cameo in the second film. "Of course!" the director said. Our cameo star played an alien agent called "Agent "M". (The 'M' was for Michael... Jackson that is).

"Star Trek Beyond" Check out that alien Starfleet official. Looks an awful lot like Jeff Bezos...the billionaire and founder of Amazon. And speaking of billionaires...

"Iron Man 2" Billionaire "Tony Stark" played by Robert Downey Jr. runs into a billionaire buddy. You might know him. His name is Elon Musk.

"Deadpool 2" We meet a fleeting superhero named the Vanisher whose power is invisibility, that is until he gets electrocuted and we see his face. Looks an awful lot like Brad Pitt.

"Jurassic World" Jimmy Buffett running away from two dinosaurs. You can tell its Jimmy because he has a margaritas in each hand.

"Home Alone 2" In this Christmas classic, "Kevin" runs into the Plaza Hotel in New York, looking for directions. Kevin gets help from the owner of the hotel. A guy by the name of Donald Trump. (Where have I heard that name before?)

"Pirates of the Caribbean" was a successful film franchise starring Johnny Depp as Captain Jack Sparrow. A character Johnny patterned after Rolling Stone's guitarist Keith Richards. It made perfect sense when they cast the character of Jack Sparrow's father in a subsequent Pirates movie that they actually cast Keith Richards.

"Monty Python's Life of Brian", Appearing as Mr. Papaduopolous, is Beatle George Harrison. (George was friends with a number of the members of Monty Python and even got involved donating to save the production.)

In every Marvel movie made from 1989-2019 Stan Lee, creator of the Marvel Comics Universe. His cameos included Iron Man playing himself cavorting with three blondes. Tony Stark mistakes him for Hugh Hefner. In the Incredible Hulk, Stan takes a drink from the wrong bottle. In Iron Man 2, Stan is mistakenly greeted by Tony Stark as Larry King. In Captain America: The First Avenger, Stan plays a general who mistakes another man for Steve Rogers/Captain America. In another Captain America filmStan plays a security guard at the Smithsonian who discovers Captain America stole his old uniform. Stan also played a fedex driver, bartender, postman. He played Peter Parker's school bus driver in Avengers

And finally, the greatest ensemble cameos ever came at the beginning of the film "Austin Powers in Goldmember". Before "Austin Powers in Goldmember" the movie trailer, there was a short parody coming attraction clip of "Goldmember", Austin Powers was played by Tom Cruise, Gwyneth Paltrow played Dixie, Kevin Spacey played Dr. Evil, and Danny DeVito played Mini-Me. Very clever
