WALKING SIERRA MADRE...... The Social Side By Deanne Davis

This past week has been kind of like Maurice Sendak's "Where The Wild Things Are." Seriously! First we had an election, which generated some wild behavior, but ended well as we now have three splendid new City Council Representatives: Rachelle Arizmendi, Denise Delmar, and Gene Goss. Congratulations! We are confident you will do your best to represent the citizens of Sierra Madre and keep us all so happy that we'll echo Max from Wild Things...

"Oh, please don't go-we'll eat you up—we love you so!

Speaking of eating... SUBWAY IS OPEN!! AND, more good food news: The beer is in at Vicious Dogs 2! They've got five kinds including Heineken, Sierra Nevada, Blue Moon and if you really want a glass of wine, you can bring in your own bottle and for a mere .50 corkage fee, enjoy a glass of your favorite Chardonnay or Merlot with your slaw dog, or your Papi El Guapo!

Back to the wild things... saw this really great sign somewhere in town, "The Deer Deli Is Closed!" And the resident has enclosed all their roses in green garden mesh to protect their blooms from our local Wild Things.

My walking buddy, the trail hiking John, and I saw several deer last week, dining and relaxing in the shade just the other side of Santa Anita. They seem to have deserted their usual haunts in the canyon for the moment but they'll be back!

More wild things... our Mt. Wilson Trail Race winner, Sharon Pevsner, posted on Facebook: "So, a friend and I decided to head up into the mountains to play today. A deer ran right in front of us! He was a beauty. We continued on our journey and stopped to listen to a new safety device I purchased when we heard a distinct and very loud growl that sounded like it was coming from above us. It was the "hair raising" on the arms moment when we decided that we needed to back away and get around a corner. We then heard the animal dash down the mountain cross the trail and go over the other side. After we managed to put our hearts back in our chests, we run into a baby bear...minus its mother! The only thing missing today was a crazy man and a rattlesnake!'

Sharon will be running in the Boston Marathon this coming Monday, April 21st, Patriot's Day, where, hopefully, she won't encounter anything wilder than the 26,000+ runners who will be competing. I suspect there will be more runners than ever before as Americans will not let terrorists stop

Happy Easter! Rejoice! He is risen! "A Tablespoon of Love, A Tablespoon of

The Blumer Farmhouse sits on a secluded 1.81-acre parcel of land at the end of a private drive, just north of Grand View. It recently became re-listed as an historic landmark in Sierra Madre and was designated as the Blumer Farmhouse. It is one of the few homes still standing pictured in the historic Bird's Eye View of Sierra Madre, which was utilized by Nathaniel Carter, the town's founder, as a promotional piece to entice settlers and investors to Sierra Madre.

Although a 17'x34' two-story home was built in 1883 by Amos D. Trussel, when the property was sold in 1887 to J.G. Blumer, significant changes were made to the existing structure. These included raising the original two-story structure and adding a new first floor underneath in addition to widening the home. A covered second floor porch that wrapped around three sides of the house was also added.

Blumer, a native of England, was active in local affairs and was elected mayor of Sierra Madre at the incorporation of the City in 1907. He also assisted in reorganizing the Sierra Madre Water Company that Amos Trussel had helped establish. Because of negotiations with "Lucky" Baldwin. Additionally, Blumer helped start the library society, and was a major contributor in the efforts to bring the Pacific Electric Railroad to Sierra Madre.

APRIL 30 STEM CELL DRIVE PLANNED FOR HILLSIDES CHIEF ADVANCEMENT OFFICER NANCY GARNI

Charity Urges Community to Participate to See if They Can 'Be The Match'

Chief Advancement Officer Nancy Garni and her husband Mike Seltzer.

This past Christmas is one Hillsides Chief Advancement Officer Nancy Garni will never forget. As she was unwrapping presents with her family, her doctor called to tell her that a routine blood test had come back abnormal, and she needed to go to the emergency room immediately for another test to rule out a lab mistake. On New Year's Eve, Garni learned that the original test results were not an error. Her diagnosis: leukemia.

The news caught Garni by complete surprise. "I had been feeling tired, but wrote it off as due to the holidays and working long hours," she said. "I was completely asymptomatic."

Within 10 days, Garni underwent her first round of chemotherapy at City of Hope hospital in Duarte, CA. Since then, she's undergone two more rounds of treatment, with a fourth scheduled. Her last four months have been a blur of extended hospital stays, coping with the difficult effects of the chemotherapy, and limiting her activities to avoid compromising her fragile immune system.

For the best prognosis, Garni needs a stem cell transplant. This is a procedure where faulty stem cells are replaced with healthy ones, which belos stimulate new hone marrow growth.

stem cells are replaced with healthy ones, which helps stimulate new bone marrow growth and restores the immune system.

So far, doctors have been unable to find a perfect stem cell match for Garni, but this is needed to give her the best chance for a complete recovery. As the result of the initiative of one of Hillsides former board members, Mark Mertens, Hillsides has created #TeamNancy, an effort to identify a stem cell donor for Garni. Hillsides has teamed up with the City of Hope and Be The Match, which manages a world-wide registry, to conduct a donor drive for Garni from 12: 00 noon – 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, April 30, 2014 at Hillsides Support Services, 815 Colorado Blvd., Suite 300, Los Angeles, CA 90041.

"We invite all of Nancy's friends, supporters, and co-workers to participate in the drive. There's nothing all of us wouldn't do to help her get through this ordeal, and becoming a donor is the best way to help," said Hillsides chief executive officer, Joseph M. Costa. "The procedure is incredibly simple – with a quick swab of the cheek, you will be added to the registry as a potential donor."

To participate in the drive, donors must be between the ages of 18 – 44. Participants do not need to pre-register; they can just show up the day of the drive. For those who can't attend the drive, they can register online to order a swab kit: http://join.bethematch.org/teamnancy

Those who are not able to be a donor can still contribute by making a monetary donation to offset the cost of each swab by visiting www.bethematchfoundation.org/goto/TeamNancyG.

By participating, donors are added to the registry as a potential donor not just for Garni but for other cancer patients in need of a transplant, which brings Garni joy.

"I want others to benefit equally from these efforts," she said. "Worldwide, only one percent of the population has registered. People simply don't know the magnitude of the way they could help by simply registering. It is so simple to save someone else's life."

Garni is dedicated to spreading the message of the need for stem cell donors, a mission that she finds healing. "It keeps me focused on hope, rather than on the reality of my disease," she said.

Hillsides is a premier provider dedicated to improving the overall well-being and functioning of vulnerable children, youth, and families. To learn more about #TeamNancy or Hillsides, please visit www.hillsides.org. For more specific information on the drive, please contact Marisol Barrios at mbarrios@hillsides.org or 323-543-288, ext. 128. For more information on becoming a donor, please visit www.BeTheMatch.org.

Just Because You Always Wanted To Know:

EASTER BUNNY HISTORY

The Easter bunny has its origin in pre-Christian fertility lore. The Hare and the Rabbit were the most fertile animals known and they served as symbols of the new life during the Spring season.

The bunny as an Easter symbol seems to have it's origins in Germany, where it was first mentioned in German writings in the 1500s. The first edible Easter bunnies were made in Germany during the early 1800s. These were made of pastry and sugar. The Easter bunny was introduced to American folklore by the German settlers who arrived in the Pennsylvania Dutch country during the 1700s. The arrival of the "Oschter Haws" was considered "childhood's greatest pleasure" next to a visit from Christ-Kindel on Christmas Eve. The children believed that if they were good the "Oschter Haws" would lay a nest of colored eggs.

The children would build their nest in a secluded place in the home, the barn or the garden. Boys would use their caps and girls their bonnets to make the nests . The use of elaborate Easter baskets would come later as the tradition of the Easter bunny spread throughout the country.

SR 710 Freeway Study Delayed

In a letter released Tuesday, Metro officials stated that the long anticipated release of the Draft Environmental Impact Report/Environmental Impact Statement (EIR/EIS) for the State Route 710 North Study is being delayed.

The Draft EIR/EIS will thoroughly analyze five alternatives to closing the 4.5 mile gap in the original 710 Freeway design that exists between Alhambra and Pasadena including, Bus Rapid Transit, Light Rail Transit, Transportation System Management/Transportation Demand Management, a freeway tunnel, and a No Build option.

"Metro is working with Caltrans on a revised schedule and will make an announcement as soon as it is confirmed" they announced. "Metro had hoped to release the draft environmental documents this spring but the work was delayed while the latest Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG) regional travel demand computer model for analyzing the alternatives was calibrated and applied.

Metro, Caltrans, local cities and private developers all are required to use the SCAG regional travel demand model as a basis for project planning. It predicts future (2035) traffic through a thorough analysis of projected travel patterns considering such factors as population and employment growth, goods movement, land use changes and other variables. Other critical analysis including air quality, a health risk assessment, noise and energy effects also depend on travel demand computer modeling.

Officials said they are one of the first agencies to use the new model and that forecasting for all of the alternatives was not completed until February of this year leading to the delay. For updates, go to metro.net/

MONROVIA HS WILDCATS: A LOT MORE THAN AWESOME FOOTBALL PLAYERS By Joan Schmidt

This morning during my daily "coffee and newspaper" ritual, a sports headline caught my eye, "Monrovia's Scoby Signs with Fresno State". Everyone in Monrovia knows that Kurt Scoby, a transfer, led the Wildcats to yet another outstanding season this past year. His playing abilities are unmatched, but what also impressed me was his humility and acknowledgement of other great players like Avonte, ("Boogie") Moore who "plowed down other players, making a path" for Scoby.

During the football season, on several occasions, there was mention of "Kurt Scoby, a transfer student". Although Kurt had a most successful football season, in February, he was unable to sign at Fresno State because of unmet academic requirements. But Kurt has now met the requirements. He credits Monrovia HS with "wanting me to be successful" and teaching me how to be a student."

There are two other fine football stars I must mention, Darriore Jones and Avonte Moore and the special awards they received. Darrione received the "Wildcat of the Year Award". Coach Maddox explained that it's actually the "Tom Cardial Award" "what we consider a 'coaches

Coach Maddox explained how Darrione had returned from a fantastic junior year in football and there were great expectations for an outstanding senior year. Darrione blew out his ACL (knee) during preseason, didn't have surgery, but spent most of the preseason in rehab. Then in his first game back, he separated his shoulder. Darrione continued to run and rehab his knee while waiting for his shoulder to heal. "Although Darrione was not at 100% and couldn't run the ball as he did as a junior, he returned to play at the end of the season and in the playoffs." What a brave outstanding young man!

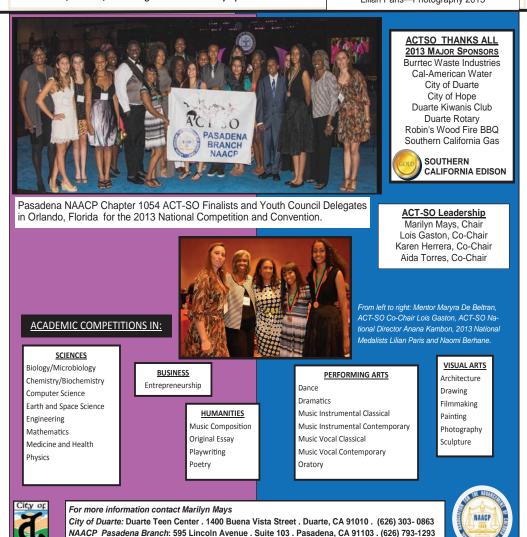

The third player I wish to mention is Avonte (Boogie) Moore, pictured above. I have heard from my neighbor about this special young man for four years. What award did Boogie receive? He was given "The Most Inspirational Award". First of all, for three years he played offense. This past year he was asked to play defense. He gladly made the transition. But there is more than that. The entire season he was very vocal and always cheering on his teammates. Boogie is a senior and after graduation plans college and eventually working with youth. He will surely succeed as he loves kids. Just this past year, he presented a young fan with a jacket.

Yes, Monrovia High School has a FANTASTIC football team. All the records/championships won these last few years are phenomenal. But there is something greater going on at the school. I read about various players and the kind of fine young men they are and I am truly blown away. Monrovians, we do have outstanding schools!

THEY COME AND THEY GO...

My friend Robin Salzer, owner of the famed restaurant with his name, says every restaurant is for sale for the right price. Sadly, Toro Restaurant - one of my favorite happy hours - has closed their doors owner siting increased rent and landlord's reluctance to negotiate. You can expect another restaurant here soon, although I say that location might be cursed. Out in Monrovia, Big Shrimps has changed hands as well, though the name remains the same. Villa Sorriso in Old Pasadena is now Picnic - I love the name and must check it out. Avanti Café, is expanding - Avanti Restaurant is being built on the old Spring Garden location on Sierra Madre across from the Volkswagen dealership. The Peach Café in Monrovia is changing hands, the new owners have pledged to keep the operation running smoothly. The Crocodile Café/181 on Lake Ave. in Pasadena is now Seco (shouldn't it have been named "Lake"?) Pei Wei in Hastings Ranch is now going under renovations to be a one stop "make your own pizza" place. And (hold your breath) Subway is coming to Sierra Madre - yes gourmet sandwiches have made it to our little town.

Reservations Part II

Sure restaurants have plenty of rules about reservations. Some restaurant won't accept reservations for small parties, and one common trick that restaurants do is that they will take half reservations and half walk-ins. If it's a popular restaurant, they are saving tables for the walk in crowd. I like that. Even strongly recommend that before you get into your car to call the restaurant to confirm and let them know you are on the way. Does your party have special needs like a birthday or kids Let the restaurant know in advance. Always be on time for your reservation. If you have made reservations for 2 PM and have 16 guests, be aware that the restaurant might require that all guests be present before seating you. I know this one is hard to swallow, but often they will only hold your table for 20 minutes past your time.

I hope all of this helps!!! If you have any tips grapes or gripes please let me know. Contact me at thechefknows@yahoo.com

INGREDIENTS

- 2 1/2 cups sugar 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/2 cups egg whites 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice Lemon-Cream Cheese Frosting Garnishes:
- Gumdrop Rose Petals Fresh mint leaves

DIRECTIONS

1. Preheat oven to 375°. Line bottom and sides of a 13- x 9-inch pan with aluminum foil, allowing 2 to 3 inches to extend over sides of pan. (Do not grease pan or foil.) Sift together first 3 ingredients.

2. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar at high speed with a heavy-duty electric stand mixer until stiff peaks form. Gradually fold in sugar mixture, 1/3 cup at a time, folding just until blended after each addition. Fold in vanilla and lemon juice. Spoon batter into prepared pan. (Pan will be very full. The batter will reach almost to the top of the pan.)

3. Bake at 375° on an oven rack one-third up from bottom of oven 30 to 35 minutes or until a wooden pick inserted in center of cake comes out clean. Invert cake onto a lightly greased wire rack; let cool, with pan over cake, 1 hour or until completely cool. Remove pan; peel foil off cake. Transfer cake to a serving platter. Spread Lemon-Cream Cheese Frosting evenly over top of cake. Garnish, if desired.

You may also bake this in an ungreased angel food cake pan for 30 to 35 minutes or in 3 ungreased (9-inch) round pans for 15 to 18 minutes or until a wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean.

SAVOR THE FLAVOR!

ALL ABOUT TRUFFLES!

Truffles are round, warty, irregular in shape and vary in size. The season falls between September and May.

Truffles are difficult to find and very expensive ($250.00-$450.00 per pound). In the U.S. edible truffles are collected in the forests of Oregon and Washington. In Europe, they are found in Italy and France.

Truffles are formed by fungi that are partners with certain trees.

Truffle hunters in Italy and France use pigs and mixed breed dogs that are specially trained.

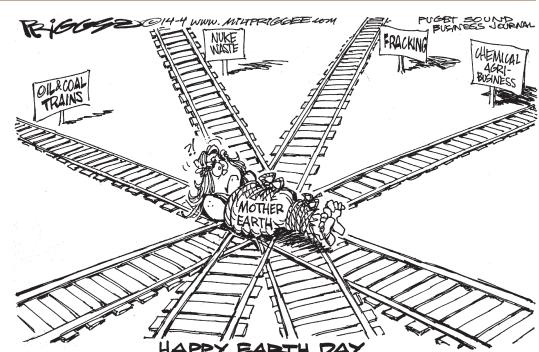

The flavor of truffle is directly related to its aroma. The chemicals necessary for the odor to develop are created only after the spores are mature enough, so they must be collected at the proper time. That is why animals have proven to be the best means to finding flavorful fungi!

Savor the Flavor now carries a variety of truffle products such as Truffle Risotto, Macaroni and Cheese, Truffle Spread, Truffle Aioli, White and Black Truffle Oil and Truffle Marinara Sauce.

THE JOY OF YOGA WIPE THE MIRROR CLEAN

How do we stay focused? Everyday there are more distractions, there is more drama, there is yet another reason to skip meditation. I was speaking with a friend of mine the other day and she was saying that she wants to meditate, but every time she sits down to do it, her mind starts thinking of all the things she should be doing. She should be working out, answering those emails, running those errands. And this is when meditation becomes very frustrating. The next day when she thinks "I should be meditating," she remembers how frustrating it was the day before and she doesn't even sit down. How can you meditate when there is so much to do? When there is so much to think about?

One of the most influential yogis of our time, B.K.S. Iyengar has many insights to the mind. He says that our mind is like a mirror covered with black spots. When we look in this mirror at ourselves, we see the spots and not the true reflection. So, what we see is not who we really are. It is an image of us that is clouded by distractions, by drama, by the lower mind. He says we must wipe the mirror clean each day, so that we see a true reflection (wiping the mirror being meditation). Or, to put it another way, if we never clean our house, the dust just keeps piling up until we can't even see the true beauty of our hardwood floors or our furniture at all. All we see is the dust that covers them. How does meditation get us to a clean reflection when we can't even meditate because of all the distractions?

First, we need to change our prana. We need to get grounded and balance our energy. Pranayama (breath) and yoga asana (postures) can help us do this. They are the "set up" for a meditation practice. Yoga totally paved the way for my meditation practice. If you have had the same problem as my friend, try working with a yoga teacher to help you learn the right postures for you, the right breath practice for you and even the right meditation practice, for you. It will make a huge difference on the road to seeing your true reflection. See you in class. Namasté, René

Vibrant Living Wellness Center Heathcare the Way Nature Intended EVEN THE GLUTEN WAS

Dr. Tina is a traditional naturopath and nutritionist at Vibrant Living Wellness Center

A few weeks ago, I was attending the largest natural health products show in the country for professionals and businesses involved in natural health. Each year there seems to be a theme at the show that many are touting. This year it was "gluten free". I saw so many old and new products boosting their gluten free credentials. Even products that never had gluten in them in the first place were touting on their labels, gluten free. So what does it mean to be gluten free and more importantly, what Gluten is the protein found in wheat endosperm. This is a type of tissue produced in seeds that's ground up into flour. It gives dough its elasticity and gives bread its chewiness. Gluten is often associated to wheat but 'true gluten" includes other cereal grains like rye, barley, etc...

More and more people are discovering that they are gluten-intolerant. This means their bodies produce an abnormal immune response when they try to digest gluten. The most well known gluten disease is celiacs. Studies say it affects one in ever 141 people in the US. When someone with celiac disease eats gluten, it triggers an immune response that damages their intestines which in turn, prevents them from absorbing nutrients. Scientists have now become aware of another intolerance to gluten called non celiac gluten sensitivity. After eating gluten, these people may experience celiac type symptoms like diarrhea, fatigue, and

In cases of gluten intolerance, doctors typically recommend avoiding foods with gluten. These include bread, pasta, beer, cookies, soy sauce, and some salad dressings. Experts are now beginning to worry that going on gluten free diets without explicitly needing to, could be detrimental to a person's health because many times, these gluten free foods are nutrient deficient.

Will the intoxicating smell of bread coming out of the oven ever go the way of the 8 track tape? Only more research will tell.

SIX SURPRISING WAYS TO BEAT ALLERGY SEASON THIS YEAR

(StatePoint) From watery, itchy eyes to unbearable congestion, allergies can certainly ruin one's day, or even the entire season. But, there's no reason to remain indoors in beautiful weather, say experts.

"One over-looked approach towards feeling well lies in prevention," says Lisa Metzger, PhD.

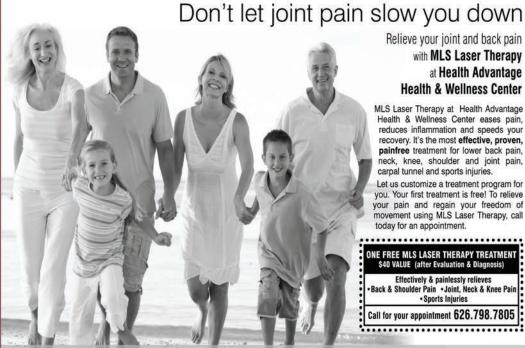

With that in mind, Metzger is offering six allergy-fighting tips:

- Get exercise. It may sound counterintuitive to go outside if you suffer from airborne allergies, but moderate exercise is known to strengthen the body's immune response. Just be sure to watch the pollen count, and when it's low squeeze in a brisk walk. If pollen count is high, head to the gym instead.
- Wash up. Use baby shampoo to wash your face and eye area in the shower. During allergy season, sweat can trap the pollen and irritants in the creases of the face where they are the most irritating. Baby shampoo is a safe alternative to wash away the dirt, sweat and symptoms of allergy season.
- Consider natural supplements shown in published research to help strengthen the immune system.

Allergies can be described as being caused by the immune system over-reacting to harmless particles (like pollen). It is smart to strengthen your immune system by getting proper sleep and managing your stress. Sometimes that is easier said than done; so taking a natural supplement shown to strengthen the immune system can help.

- · Limit dairy. Dairy causes the creation of phlegm, which can increase the intensity of allergy symptoms like runny nose, sore throat and cough.
- Change your diet. Incorporate natural antihistamines into your meals. Look for foods that contain flavonoids, such as tomatoes and blueberries, as well as Vitamin A found in green leafy vegetables and squash.
- Use a saline spray for your nose. This may not sound like much fun, but using an inexpensive saline spray or rinse is an effective way to flush pollen out of your nose. Saline sprays can be purchased at any local pharmacy. As an alternative, use a neti pot salt-water rinse.

"Your immunity affects every aspect of the day, from work performance to emotional well-being," says Metzger. "By taking proactive efforts for better health, you'll be less likely to miss out on life this

PERSONAL SOUND AMPLIFICATION PRODUCTS CAN HELP SENIORS HEAR BETTER

Dear Savvy Senior:

What types of amplification products can you recommend to help people with hearing impairment? My 62-year-old husband has some hearing issues, but doesn't think he needs a hearing aid, so I'm looking for some alternative devices that can help. Shouting Spouse

Dear Shouting:

If your husband is reluctant to get a hearing aid, there are dozens of "personal sound amplification products" (PSAPs) that can help him hear better at a lower cost than most hearing aids, which can run up to $3,000 each.

PSAPs are over-the-counter electronic products (they are not FDA approved medical devices like hearing aids) that come in many different shapes and sizes that will give your husband the ability to adjust the volume and tone so he can hear better in different situations.

It's also important to know that PSAPs work best for people with mild to moderate hearing impairment, you don't need a prescription to buy them, and they usually aren't covered by insurance or

Before you look into PSAPs, your husband should probably get tested by an audiologist who can rule out any medical issues that could be affecting his hearing like excessive ear wax, an infection, abnormal bone growth or inner-ear tumor. Audiologists are also familiar with the different PSAPs and can help your husband choose the best products to meet his needs, or let him know if a hearing aid would be a better option.

Here's a breakdown of some of the different PSAPs that can help.

TV and Telephone Amplifiers: To hear the television better, there are a number of TV listening devices on the market that will let your husband increase the volume and adjust the tone to meet his needs, without blasting out you or the rest of the family.

The best options available today are wireless infrared or radio frequency systems that come with standard or stethoset headphones. Sennheiser (sennheiser.com, 877-736-6434) makes some of the best TV listening products sold today with prices running between $250 and $350.

If hearing over the telephone is a problem, a handset or in-line amplifier can be added to your phone for a few dollars, or you can purchase an amplified telephone. Most amplified phones allow you to adjust the volume and tone for better clarity and they usually come with extra loud ringers and flashing ring indicators to alert you when a call is coming in.

Some top makers of these products are Clarity (clarityproducts.com, 800-426-3738), ClearSounds (clearsounds.com, 800-965-9043) and Serene Innovations (sereneinnovations.com, 866-376-9271), with prices ranging anywhere from $30 up to around $300. Or, see if your state has a specialized telecommunications equipment program (see tedpa.org), which provides amplified telephones for free.

Personal Sound Amplifiers: For better hearing in noisy environments, your husband should get a personal sound amplifier that's designed to amplify hard to hear sounds (like voices), while reducing background noise. Able Planet (ableplanet.com, 877-266-1979) offers two excellent products that fit the bill that are worn either in-ear or behind the ear, and run $475 or $500 for one, or $850 or $900 a pair.

To help improve hearing at home or in quieter settings, or if your husband has high-frequency hearing loss, check out the Bean Quiet Sound Amplifier by Etymoyic (qsabean.com, 888-389-6684). This product, which is worn in the ear, provides amplification to high frequencies more than low ones, making speech easier to hear and understand. Cost: $700 a pair or $375 for one.

If these are too pricy, there are also a number of small hand-help amplifiers that come with a small microphone and ear buds that can increase volume without all the other features. These products typically run around $100 or less, and are available through companies like Sonic Technology Products (sonictechnology.com, 800-247-5548), Sonic Alert (sonicalert.com, 800-566-3210) and Harris Communications (harriscomm.com, 800-825-6758).

will pass by many people unnoticed. This is because Easter isn't a major American holiday like Christmas or Thanksgiving. It isn't a gift-giving occasion, nor is it centered around food the way Thanksgiving is. And since Easter always falls on a Sunday, we don't get the day off of work or school. ("Spring break" can take place anytime between March and May. The school where a friend of mine works had the week of St. Patrick's Day off!) However, Easter is the most likely opportunity for getting people to church.

Since Easter Sunday is the high point for church attendance, the message is usually geared toward the middle of the road. It must be convicting enough to get people's attention, yet feel-good enough to not drive them away. This is a delicate balance, because, when you come right down to it, the cross is an offense.

If you think this is a radical statement, please know that I'm only quoting the apostle Paul, (Galatians 5:11). The cross is offensive because it implies that the only way to know God is through the death of His Son, Jesus Christ, on your behalf. That is a very narrow viewpoint and does not fit into today's cry for unity at all costs, or the American doctrine that anything is possible if you just work hard enough.

Even in Christian circles, the principles of independence and humanism have a way of sneaking in. I've heard some Christians claim that, for them, Christianity is not a crutch. That's not far from Karl Marx's statement, "Religion is the opium of the people." Basically, it says that religion is for weak people who couldn't cope with the harsh realities of life without the escapism religion offers. (And I agree, "religion" will get you nowhere, because religions are manmade sets of rules to govern life.)

The cross, on the other hand, teaches that no amount of work you do will ever be sufficient to "balance out" your sins. There is no self-help plan or rehabilitation for your soul. This is what Jesus was talking about when He said that "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God." Tomorrow is Easter! Besides (Matthew 19:24). Historians have pointed out that, in ancient times, the city walls had many kids hunting for eggs, and series of passageways which would be closed to perhaps a family dinner, Easter defend the city against attacks. Within the walls of Jerusalem were very narrow passageways called "the eye of the needle." You can imagine merchants arriving at the city after curfew and having to strip their camel of all its baggage in order to shove it through this tiny opening. But if you take this viewpoint, it suggests that, with enough elbow grease and effort, you can make it on your own.

> This is not the case with Jesus. As a sinner, I bring nothing to the table. Even my faith is a gift from God, not something I muster up on a daily basis (Ephesians 2:8-10). It is a hard admission for many people to make, especially since so many of us have never been "dependent" upon anyone. We survive and thrive by working hard and earning the love of others. And with so many attractive distractions that constantly grab at our attention (e.g., the media, social networking, Vegas, you name it...) we rarely have the opportunity to feel empty or in need.

> To admit that you need a savior is to admit to your own vulnerability and weakness. As a follower of Jesus, I rely on Him to hold me up and sustain me through life. Therefore, He is my crutch, and I have never known Him to let me down. Many people go through life on their own and never show signs of faltering. But this confidence is even more dire than the realization of one's spiritual poverty. Again, we are warned to "Let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall" (1 Corinthians 10:12). What is worse -- to know your account is zero, or to think that you have money in the bank and then have your debit card rejected? Is it worse to know you are lost, or to travel on, thinking you're going the right way?

> God's economy is the total opposite of ours. Jesus was the only man who lived a sinless life, yet He took the punishment we deserved so that we could be set free. God came down to us because we could never reach up to Him. I did not find God -- He found me! And I can rest on Him because He has promised to keep me from falling. Thank God!

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

SENIORS - DON'T BE A TARGET FYI -

THE F.B.I. Common Fraud Schemes webpage provides tips on how you can protect you and your family from fraud. Senior Citizens especially should be aware of fraud schemes for the following reasons:

Senior citizens are most likely to have a "nest egg," to own their home, and/or to have excellent credit—all of which make them attractive to con artists.

People who grew up in the 1930s, 1940s, and 1950s were generally raised to be polite and trusting. Con artists exploit these traits, knowing that it is difficult or impossible for these individuals to say "no" or just hang up the telephone.

Older Americans are less likely to report a fraud because they don't know who to report it to, are too ashamed at having been scammed, or don't know they have been scammed. Elderly victims may not report crimes, for example, because they are concerned that relatives may think the victims no longer have the mental capacity to take care of their own financial affairs.

When an elderly victim does report the crime, they often make poor witnesses. Con artists know the effects of age on memory, and they are counting on elderly victims not being able to supply enough detailed information to investigators. In addition, the victims' realization that they have been swindled may take weeks—or more likely, months—after contact with the fraudster. This extended time frame makes it even more difficult to remember details from the events.

Senior citizens are more interested in and susceptible to products promising increased cognitive function, virility, physical conditioning, anti-cancer properties, and so on. In a country where new cures and vaccinations for old diseases have given every American hope for a long and fruitful life, it is not so unbelievable that the con artists' products can do what they claim.

COLORADO RIVER PROJECT VITAL TO SOCAL

By: Cynthia Kurtz, President San Gabriel Valley Economic Development

Southern California's economy - the scorching temperatures. eighth largest in the world - requires a mix of ingredients among them skilled system, markets and water. Southern California is blessed with natural or bring many of these ingredients here. Water is the notable exception.

As you know, we are experiencing a serious drought and finding enough water is a problem. It isn't a new problem. In the 1930's Southern California leaders realized that the lack of water was the Achilles heel of the region's future. Their solutions had all the makings of a Hollywood fiction film but it is a true

It started in the San Gabriel Valley when elected official from 13 cities met in Pasadena to discuss their mutual problem - the region was running out of water. To them, the answer was simple. They needed to find a place with a surplus of water and bring that water to Southern California.

Accepting the challenges, labor, materials, power, a transportation determined group moved ahead and created the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California. In January resources that make it easy to find, make, 1933 Metropolitan began building the Colorado River Aqueduct. With $220 million of voter approved bond funding - that is right $220 million in the middle of the depression. Everyone knows you need water.

> Without the federal government's decision to tame the flood waters of the Colorado River by building Hoover Dam, the Colorado River Aqueduct would not have been possible. Hoover Dam made it possible for Metropolitan to begin building Parker Dam which forms Lake Havasu a Mojave word meaning "blue." The lake is 45 miles long and stores 600,000 acre feet of water.

The Whitsett Intake Pumping Station, the first of five pumping stations in the project, lifts water from Lake Havasu 291-feet into Gene Wash Reservoir. Two miles west the Gene Pumping Station What they ultimately resolved to lifts water 303 feet into Copper Basin. do became one of the most complex From there gravity takes the water engineering solutions ever designed. 67 miles west through a network of The place they found that had water aqueducts, pipelines and tunnels to Iron was in another state separated by 242 Mountain Pumping Station. > It's all downhill from there - 116 miles down hill - towards Lake Mathews in Riverside County. Water from Lake Matthew goes to the Weymouth Water Treatment Plan in La Verne to serve the SGV and the metropolitan area beyond. Some water is diverted before it reaches the Lake and heads south to San Diego.

> The total trip includes 58 miles of pipeline, 63 miles of lined canals, 29 miles of inverted siphons and 92 miles of tunnels. It took 35,000 workers working eight hour shifts, 24-hours a day, 365 days a year, and eight years to complete the project.

NASA CASSINI IMAGES MAY REVEAL NEW SATURN MOON

NASA's Cassini spacecraft has documented the formation of a small icy object within the rings of Saturn that may be a new moon, and may also provide clues to the formation of the planet's known moons.

Images taken with Cassini's narrow angle camera on April 15, 2013, show disturbances at the very edge of Saturn's A ring—the outermost of the planet's large, bright rings. One of these disturbances is an arc about 20 percent brighter than its surroundings, 750 miles long and 6 miles wide. Scientists also found unusual protuberances in the usually smooth profile at the ring's edge. Scientists believe the arc and protuberances are caused by the gravitational effects of a nearby object. Details of the observations were published online today by the journal Icarus [http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.icarus.2014.03.024].

The object is not expected to grow any larger, and may even be falling apart. But the process of its formation and outward movement aids in our understanding of how Saturn's icy moons, including the cloud-wrapped Titan and ocean-holding Enceladus, may have formed in more massive rings long ago. It also provides insight into how Earth and other planets in our solar system may have formed and migrated away from our star, the Sun.

We have not seen anything like this before," said Carl Murray of Queen Mary University of London, the report's lead author. "We may be looking at the act of birth, where this object is just leaving the rings and heading off to be a moon in its own right."

The object, informally named Peggy, is too small to see in images so far. Scientists estimate it is probably no more than about a half mile in diameter. Saturn's icy moons range in size depending on their proximity to the planet—the farther from the planet, the larger. And many of Saturn's moons are comprised primarily of ice, as are the particles that form Saturn's rings. Based on these facts, and other indicators, researchers recently proposed that the icy moons formed from ring particles and then moved outward, away from the planet, merging with other moons on the way.

'Witnessing the possible birth of a tiny moon is an exciting, unexpected event," said Cassini Project Scientist Linda Spilker, of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) in Pasadena, Calif. According to Spilker, Cassini's orbit will move closer to the outer edge of the A ring in late 2016 and provide an opportunity to study Peggy in more detail and perhaps even image it.

CASSIE'S GIFT By Christoper Nyerges

memories of 17 years

with my purebred pit

[Nyerges is the author of numerous books, including "Til Death Do us Part?" (on Kindle), "How to Survive Anywhere," etc. He can be reached at www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com, or Box 41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041. For details, go to www.wtinc.info.]

bull, Cassius Clay, who died one Easter Sunday. I remember the end of his life the most right now. I thought that I was taking care of Cassie and helping and saving him - I had to carry him in and out, and was always concerned about his welfare. In the end, I realize that Cassie was helping and saving and caring that maybe I never had before. When I walked today, I missed Cassie so much, and I thought about his role in my life. I thought about how I tried to see his dog pictures of the world, how he processes the many smells that he takes so long each day to smell. When I attempted to go into his mind, like Beatrice Lydecker described in her What the Animals Tell Me book, I "saw" a colorful, very dynamic image of flowing geometric shapes that all moved like the wind in varying patterns, in a three-dimensional complexity. To me, it was the complexity of odors that meant so much to me. He instilled in me a sense of responsibility

Cassie, and very little to me. Shortly after he died, I asked him to show me his picture, and I "saw" in front of my his big face licking mine. He was telling me that he was happy, in peace, no pain and that I was OK.

As I walked this morning, I thought about Easter Day when Cassie died. Though he had had trouble walking for weeks, he seemed OK in the morning. When I came home in the early

I have many fond evening, it was dark and Cassie was warm but I could not rouse him from his house, and when I pulled him out, I knew it was over, even though I tried to bring him back. There was no music, no singing of birds, just the quiet of the night and the final sounds of his dying body.

As I walked this morning, I realized that Cassie's gift was his unconditional love. And now that he was gone, I tried to sort out the meaning of that love. I have heard it said that Eternal Life is synonymous with Eternal Love. That Eternal Love is also impersonal. It is universal loving without concern for prejudice or opinion or preferences. It is doing what is right, and not being concerned about my group, or my party, or my race, or my gender, or my family. It is finding those ways of thinking, and of living, that exemplify the Golden Rule, and Jesus' command to "Love ye one another as your self." Which means we must love our spiritual self, and see that every single one of us is the same.

Cassie taught me to be a better person. He taught me to see that only through impersonal love can we ever find real meaning and harmony. Of course, I feel a personal love for Cassie, and for other close people in my life. But now again, Cassie has made me realize that death is inevitable, and personal love is full of pain and heartache and disappointment. Impersonal loving is not focused exclusively towards one person or animal but is a way of thinking about all life, including all animals. This was Cassie's

PURE X

"Angel" marks the third chapter of a series of albums from the Austin, Texas quartet Pure X. With this latest installment, the band's direction appears less aimless and more on target. Pure X specializes in lackadaisical, dreamy, ambient, experimental rock. The group consists of guitarist and vocalist Nate Grace, bassist Jesse

Jenkins, guitarist Matty Tommy Davidson, and drummer Austin Youngblood. There is airiness to Grace's vocals. While that doesn't translate to being boring, "Angel" is geared toward the pensive listener. The music is sedate and tranquil.

Generally bands of this nature feature vocals that are incomprehensible, but Grace's voice is clear and refined. It might feature a very straightforward

April 1st, 2014 approach to singing, however, that's kind of the appeal of Pure X. Their sound caters to those longing for the likes of psychedelic and even classic rock from a bygone era. Subtle and ethereal vocals, acoustic guitars and a touch of synthesizers create

Angel Fat Possum Records

The band recorded "Angel" in a 100 year-old dancehall in Texas. While some bands might have been inclined to take advantage of such surroundings, Pure X keeps things relatively simple in the spectrum of textures and atmospheric arrangements for their third record. The title "Valley of Tears" would have one thinking a depressing and solemn affair, but it's actually one of the more intricately crafted songs off the record. It's true highlight amongst some solid tracks to be found here. Opener, "Starlight" is exceedingly laid back and dreamlike as well as being devastatingly romantic. The song "Rain" puts heavy emphasis on reverb and reminds me a cross between something Broken Social Scene and Sigur Ros have crafted before. Title track, "Angel" encompasses a very wistful feeling. It's quite beautiful in the way it gently moves from start to finish. While it's very light on vocals, the effortless flow of it will carry you away to wherever you find peace.

a euphoric experience on "Angel." It might not be the go-to album when you need a little emotional boost, but if you dive in, don't be alarmed by the strong magnetic pull it seems to carry with it.

"Livin' The Dream" is the weakest one of the eleven tracks. While it includes a nice transitional shift in the last minute and a half, it drags along too often early on. Fortunately, there's plenty else to lean toward. "Every Tomorrow" is utterly stunning in both the lyrics and composition department. Most of the record will have one contemplating many different aspects of life. This will probably differ for each unique listener. The artwork for "Angel" shows a sunset with dark clouds in the middle of a melting heart. Pure X makes music for those who stare into the sky wondering of what all the possibilities are in life. In the single, "Heaven," Grace proclaims, "Don't matter who you are and how you're living; The kingdom is in your heart, heaven is a feeling." If this is the sort of optimism severely lacking in your own identity, maybe "Angel" can be your guide to whatever you're going through at this very moment. If not, it's still a solid experience to check out.

Grade: 7.5 out of 10 Key Tracks: "Starlight," "Valley Of Tears," "Every Tomorrow," "Fly Away With Me Woman"

Jeff's Book Picks By Jeff Brown

CLOUDS OF GLORY: THE LIFE AND LEGEND OF ROBERT E. LEE

by Michael Korda

Bestselling author Michael Korda has written a fresh, contemporary biography of General Robert E. Lee, perhaps the most famous and least understood legend in American history. Korda paints a vivid and admiring portrait of Lee as a brilliant general, a devoted family man, and principled gentleman who disliked slavery and disagreed with secession, yet who refused command of the Union Army in 1861 because he could not "draw his sword" against his beloved Virginia. Well rounded and realistic, Clouds of Glory analyzes Lee's command during the Civil War and explores his responsibility for the fatal stalemate at Antietam, his defeat at Gettysburg (as well the many troubling controversies still surrounding it) and ultimately, his failed strategy for winning the war. Lee's dignity, courage, leadership, and modesty made him a hero on both sides of the Mason-Dixon Line and a revered American icon who is recognized today as one of the nation's preeminent military leaders. Clouds of Glory features dozens of stunning illustrations, some never before seen, and nearly 50 battle maps.

LIVING WITH A WILD GOD: A NONBELIEVER'S SEARCH FOR THE TRUTH ABOUT EVERYTHING by Barbara Ehrenreich

From this bestselling author comes a brave, frank, and exquisitely written memoir that will change the way you see the world. Ehrenreich is one of the most important thinkers of our time. Educated as a scientist, she is an author, journalist, activist, and advocate for social justice. In this book she recounts her quest, beginning in childhood to find "the Truth" about the universe and everything else: What's really going on? Why are we here? In middle age, she rediscovered the journal she had kept during her tumultuous adolescence, which records an event so cataclysmic, that she had never, in all these years, written or spoken about it to anyone. It was the kind of event that people call a "mystical experience" and it was shattering. Ehrenreich reconstructs her childhood mission, bringing an older woman's wry and erudite perspective to a young girl's impassioned obsession with life's questions. The result is both deeply personal and cosmically sweeping memoir and a profound reflection on science, religion, and the human condition.

JUST FOR BEST FRIENDS

Happy by Chris Leclerc

As a dog walker in Sierra Madre, spend a lot of my time hiking the hills and strolling the sidewalks of our small town with my furry four-legged friends. During the course of any given day, it is not unusual for me to see at least a dozen or so other dogs walking along with their humans. Among the many dogs do I come across, it is rare that two are alike. The wide variety of colors, shapes, sizes and behavioral patterns found within the numerous canine breeds truly

I recently conducted an internet search to see how many dog breeds are currently in existence; it rendered a result of 178 purebreds registered with the American Kennel Club. If you add the list of un-registered breeds that have been officially named and propagated, the count comes to a total of somewhere around 210, which blows my mind. Especially when you consider the fact that the variation of characteristics from one breed to another are the direct result of nothing more than a minute .2% genetic difference.

For about two centuries, man has been asphyxiated with the concept of coming up with the "perfect" dog, through the applied science of eugenics; the intentional practice of "improving" or somehow altering the genetic composition of a given population. In this case the population happens to be what we dog-loving Americans like to call "Man's Best Friend". What led to the human's insatiable desire to create the ideal specimen of a dog? And, how is it that we have become so dependant on their existence?

Although there are varying schools of thought on how it all came about, a combination of extensive research & scientific studies have left little room for argument that the domestic dog originated from the grey wolf, scientifically known as Čanis lupus. The mainstream theory among most canine history research scientists is that man's first one-on-one contact with the grey wolf occurred unintentionally, and is said to have happened sometime around 7000 BC. That's when the grow, moving away from an primitive way of life, to occupy previously undeveloped territories where they built living structures unprecedented and established property perimeters between and the existing themselves species. The grey wolf was already in residence in the forests and other natural pristine spaces where man made claim to the land as "home", therefore the interface between the two became inevitable.

Remains of the earliest known domesticated dog, scientifically known as Canis lupus familiaris, were discovered at the Jaihu archaeological site in China, dating back to the early Neolithic period (7000-5800 BC). Needless to say, a lot of changes occurred between that time and two hundred years ago, when intentional breeding began, resulting in the wide variety of domestic dog breeds that we are familiar with today. By the early 17th century, the dog had become a very important part of the human's everyday life. In fact, without the assistance of the dog, I can't help wondering where mankind would be today, in terms of survival and

"progress". During the early stages of canine breeding, the main focus was to develop a dog that would make life easier for the human. The hunting dog helped by keeping food on the table. Herding dogs helped control livestock, and the more loyal yet somewhat aggressive breeds served to protect the home and the family. Around the mid-19th century, man's effort to refine the specific qualities and characteristics of the domestic dog had become far more focused on aesthetic values than practical needs, and by the turn of he twentieth century the dog had become well known as a symbol of social status; a sort of accessory, if

While the dog has proven itself by living up to its expectations as man's best friend over the years, ironically enough man has proven to be somewhat less of a best friend to the dog. Although the undesirable side effects of breeding that have become so obvious to us today were not necessarily intentional, they have definitely taken their toll on our fine furry four-legged "best friends".

One obvious example of eugenics gone bad is the case of the Dalmatian, often referred to as the "Firehouse Dog", which was mainly used as a carriage dog in its early days. The Dalmatian's white and spotted coat are what set this breed apart from the others, however that is directly associated with its tendency for blindness due to a gene that will not allow vitamin A to nourish the retina.

Other examples of experimental breeding side effects include chronic hip dysplasia in the German shepherd and a handful of other breeds including the yellow lab, as well as obsessive compulsive disorder in the bull terrier. Eye & ear allergies in the Bloodhound is a direct result of intentional inbreeding (the use of a single sire along with its own familiar offspring in an effort to achieve certain desirable traits in the next litter). Keep in mind, all of the breeding efforts were intended for a specific purpose to meet the human's need. Yes, mankind has benefited immensely from breeding up the perfect pup, but a very high price has been paid on the part of the dog itself. Fortunately, there is a proverbial pot of gold at the end of the eugenic rainbow. Scientific research on how to reduce the side effects of breeding have had a double benefit to human society. By studying the problems that prevail as a result of canine eugenics, we are learning how to treat some of the diseases that we humans fall victim to. Just another way that the dog has indeed been man's best friend through thick and thin, from the beginning to the end! In earlier days, the dog helped us move from the "cave to the castle", now it helps lend knowledge and understanding to the field of science, for our own health as human beings.

Who can argue the fact that the dog really is "Man's Best Friend"? My hope is that we humans will eventually learn to become a better friend to them. It is time to stop trying to make dogs be what we need them to be. Just being our friends without having to provide a practical service to us is indeed more than enough! As radical as it may sound to some, I even think it is time to give all dog breeding a break until we can catch up with giving the living dogs forever loving homes. Too many are being euthanized every day

LOOKING FOR A BEST FRIEND?

So is Peter!

In May 2013, Peter was left at the shelter in a crate with three other dogs, who all seemed to be related to each other, all black and similar in appearance. The largest dog was named Spiderman because he had very long legs. The other three dogs were named Mary Jane, Peter and Parker. All have been adopted except Peter.

Peter was initially very traumatized by shelter life, and spent most of his time hiding under the cot in his kennel, often with his brother, Parker. They were afraid of loud noises and any unfamiliar people walking by.

As volunteers and staff spent more time with Peter and Parker, they gradually got braver and more comfortable with a variety of people. They enjoyed going on walks with volunteers and meeting other dogs. They had a very playful side to their personalities, and could be entertained with a stick or even a leaf that they'd find while on their walks. Peter remained the more timid dog of the two, and

Peter would probably do best in a home where he has another dog as a companion and playmate. He is still a little uncomfortable with a lot of activity and noise, and might do better in a quieter environment. But Peter has surprised us before, and he may do well in any situation. Peter deserves a nurturing, happy home to call his own.

Peter is estimated to be about 2 years old and weighs about 10 pounds. He has a short black coat that does not require much grooming. He is a mixed breed, but we are guessing he may have a little dachshund in his ancestry.

He currently resides at the San Gabriel Valley Humane Society located at 851 E. Grand Avenue in San Gabriel with his roommate. We are located off San Gabriel Blvd., north of Mission and south of Las To arrange a 'Meet and Greet' with Peter (aka....5110), please stop by any time from 10:00am to

4:30pm Tuesday thru Sunday. His adoption fee is $120 which includes a microchip, first vaccinations and a free wellness check-up at a participating veterinarian. ## FAMILY MATTERS

By Marc Garle

WHY DIY ESTATE PLANNING IS A BAD IDEA FOR THE PEOPLE YOU LOVE

America is a nation of do-it-yourselfers, but building a deck and creating a legally valid estate plan are two entirely different things – and a less-than-perfect deck won't devastate your family's financial future or the relationships among the people you care about most.

The prevalence of online legal services has led many people to believe they can create legal documents cheaply and that those documents will be just as effective as if they had visited an estate planning attorney. Here is why that is wrong:

attorney. Here is why that is wrong:
No legal advice – these sites are little more than document mills churning out the same generic forms over and over. They are not attorneys and cannot advise or help you avoid mistakes. Plus, who will be there for your family when something happens to you if you've used an online document drafting service?

Think your family doesn't need an advisor to support them when you are gone? Think again.

Consider this: Erica's father was killed in a motorcycle accident. Dad didn't leave much behind, but he did leave an estate plan prepared by a trusted family attorney. Had the family attorney not been there for Erica and her brother, they would have taken what dad did leave and drowned their sorrows in a European backpacking trip. Thanks to this family attorney, though, Erica and her brother now have a healthy trust fund set up for them for life with the proceeds of a successful wrongful death case.

Leaving it to the people you love to make solid, strategic decisions after you're gone is a big mistake. One size doesn't fit all – your family is different from everyone else's family. Just like every state has different inheritance laws, every family has different situations. An online form will not help you protect a special needs beneficiary, or protect a child's inheritance from creditors or a future nasty divorce. An online form cannot tell you how to protect assets from taxes or help you achieve your goals.

And, an online form cannot keep your family out of conflict during a time of grief. Even if you don't have a lot of assets to leave behind, whatever you do have will be subject to distribution among the people you care most about. Some of the biggest disagreements we've seen after death aren't about the money, but about the little things – and those little things aren't going to be dealt with well in form documents.

Save now, pay later – you may think you are saving money by using an online service to create your will or trust, but it is impossible to make a fair comparison since the services provided are entirely different

An estate planning attorney creates a comprehensive plan tailored to your individual needs in a legal document that will stand up in court, and advises you on ways to cut taxes and save for retirement and long-term care. No online service does that.

In addition, your trusted advisor is going to be there for your family when you cannot be. The people you love will need someone to turn to after you are gone. Do you want them to be stuck figuring out who that should be during their time of grief? Or do you want to leave behind the gift of having taken care of things well during your lifetime, and a trusted advisor to hold their hand when you no

Furthermore, your loved ones may have to pay a much steeper price to clean up the mess caused by a "cheap" plan (in money, time, and emotional energy). You can spare them all that by making sure your plan is done right.

Tips of the Trade: Real Estate Revealed by Luther Tsinoglou

ATTITUDE ADJUSTMENT

In spite of the real estate roller coaster of the last few years, homeownership remains the bedrock of financial and familial security. Having a long-term investment that provides the satisfaction and pride of ownership beats just about anything else you can do with your savings.

When the market exploded several years ago, the expectations of many consumers grew too high, too fast. Homes became more commodities than investments, and now markets and attitudes have been forced to realign.

Conditions today make it an opportune time to secure your future. Home prices and interest rates are still low, and tax advantages are abundant. You just have to get past all the negativity in the media. All the bad news has drained consumer confidence, and frankly, you cannot underestimate the effect of intangibles like confidence and expectation on the real estate industry.

Real estate transactions are unlike any other financial transaction. The demand and desire for homeownership doesn't expire like other flashy investment instruments. The inherent value of a stock can be calculated by a formula of company profits, earnings ratios, performance history, fund managers, and so on.

However, a home's value is ultimately determined by what a buyer is willing to pay for it, and the security and well-being that owning your own home provides. Honestly, there's hardly been a better time to make your move.

New Pastors, New Councilmembers and Old Really Old Rock 'N Roll Bands

There is a new pastor in town. His name is Briant Cuffy and his lovely wife's name is Carrie. They are the new pastors at Bethany Church in Sierra Madre. Carrie is from San Diego originally. And when I tell you where they have been the last two years you will understand why they are probably excited to be here.

Briant is a native of Dominica, an island nation in the Lesser Antilles region of the Caribbean Sea. More specifically Briant is from Grand Fond, Saint David located on the eastern side of the island. It says it is bordered by St. Andrew, St. Joseph, St. Paul (I think not Minnesota), St. George and St. Patrick. Hoping for a St. Rich but there aren't many of those around. The population of Grand Fond is listed as only "very

For the last two years Briant and Carrie have been employed in the town of my birth. Minneapolis, Minnesota. I think our friend from the Lesser Antilles in the Caribbean is probably glad to be in a bit warmer environment. I'm sure wife Carrie shares the same sentiment, being a San Diego native.

We welcome Briant and Carrie to Sierra Madre. Come visit them at Bethany Church at one of two services Sunday Morning: 8:00am and 11:00am. The church is at 93 No. Baldwin between Montecito and Highland.

OUT TO PASTOR

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

A PEDICURE THAT CURED ALL MY PET PEEVES

person, I always had some pets around. Most of these have been dogs, hunting dogs in particular. And of her damaged toe. I loved my pets.

a pet dog around is a lot of work. More work than I care to do in light of my busy schedule. So I have exchanged these pet dogs for a few pet peeves.

One pet peeve of mine is when a waitress calls me "Sweetie." I do not know, it just gets under my skin. Of course, it might be good for somebody to think of something sweet about me. I prefer, rather, it is somebody who knows something about me. What bothers me is the people who know me really do not call me "Sweetie." There may be something to that.

Another pet peeve is when somebody is eating broccoli next to me in a restaurant. Eating broccoli in public is probably not against the law, but it should be.

And many pet peeves to go along with that. Recently a situation developed that caused me quite a bit of a quandary. The gist of that quandary had to do with money, which is another pet peeve of mine.

When I was in high school, I had smashed my right big toe. At the time, the doctor had to remove the toenail and it took six months for my toenail to grow back. Well, it did not quite get back into shape. I have had trouble with that toe ever since.

Lately that toenail was giving me some difficulty. It was not growing in the right direction and it looked like it was rotting. I knew if I went to the doctor, it would cost me an arm and a leg. What good is a toe when you lost an arm and a leg? When checking it out it would have cost about $200 to see a doctor about this. Without insurance, all of this would have come out of my pocket.

I put it off for a year and it seemed just to get worse. It got so bad that it hurt every time I walked. I did complain to the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage, but she only insisted that I go see a doctor. It is easy for her to say when it is not her $200.

Being a certified Pennsylvania Dutchman, $200 is a lot of money. Trying to get $200 out of a Pennsylvania Dutchman is about as close to suicide as anybody wants to get. I tried to think of how I could deal with my toe without going to that money hungry

Several weeks ago, I happened to overhear somebody say that they had a badly infected

Since I was a young toenail. It caught my attention because it was the condition of my toe at the time. Instead of going to the doctor, this woman went and had a pedicure, which took care

I really did not know what a pedicure was; In getting older, I discovered that having just that it was some kind of a woman thing. As a man, I had no interest in involving myself in anything that could be classified as a woman thing. However, my toe would not quit hurting.

> I pondered this subject for a couple of weeks. During that time, my toe got worse and it was more painful to walk. Of course, my wife kept asking how my toe was and I deferred telling her the truth. There was no way I was going to go to a doctor and hand over to him $200 of my hard-earned

> I thought to myself, "Self, maybe you should try the pedicure."

Myself thought it was a good idea and so I drove over to where they did pedicures. I sat in my truck for a few minutes looking at the Nail Salon where they did pedicures. While I was watching, my toe kept hurting.

Finally, I decided to leave my manhood in the truck, hobble in and see if they could do a pedicure for someone like me. I was sure they had never dealt with anybody quite my size before. I was not even sure that they would take a man as a client.

When I walked in, I discovered that they did not speak English. At least most of them did not. I inquired and was warmly received, then ushered to a chair where they could work on my toes. Within 20 minutes, I received a pedicure to beat all pedicures. The young woman who did my toes did a marvelous job. I was afraid that she would try to paint my toenails and I was prepared for a vigorous No. But she did not and was very gracious in taking care of my wounded toe.

When I went to pay for the pedicure, I was surprised it was only $20.

I walked painlessly to my truck and sitting in my truck was my manhood with $180. That is what I call a good day.

I could not help think of a verse in Proverbs, "Better it is to be of an humble spirit with the lowly, than to divide the spoil with the proud" (Proverbs 16:19).

Sometimes a proud spirit gets in the way of healthy living. When I think too much of myself I have too much of myself to think

EASTER US MORE THAN BUNNIES SCHLEPPING EGGS

How is it that Easter became the day safety. when bunnies (who don't lay eggs) are return to Germany schlepping eggs in wheelbarrows (they and, can't possibly lift) to children the world over (without even the benefit of a flying sleigh like Santa)? I'm sure a historian can provide an answer, but the more important question is whether the true Easter story is relevant for what it really save them, and his faith animated his

Easter is an old story. The main characters, world powers, national borders, and political conflicts of the time are all gone. Perhaps that's why Easter has been "updated" to something as timeless as cute bunnies, pretty eggs and sweet treats. But what if Easter didn't need to be updated? What if the heart of the Easter story is as relevant to our world, politics and culture as it was at its inception? That's the better

I'd like to suggest that the best way to answer it is to look into the life of a modern man, a twentieth century man, who, like Easter's progenitor, was willing to give up all he had for the benefit of people he would never know.

Most years, Easter lands in April. And April, April 9th specifically, is when Dietrich Bonhoeffer was hanged at the personal order of Adolph Hitler for trying to free his people from Hitler's tyranny. The back story here is hugely relevant, because as mentioned above, Bonhoeffer had a choice.

Dietrich Bonhoeffer was a devout Christian theologian. Early in the ascendancy of German fascism, Bonhoeffer spoke vigorously in opposition to Hitler and his treatment of Jews, Christians and the downtrodden. So threatening was his opposition and eloquence that he was counseled to leave Germany lest he, too, be imprisoned like so many others who resisted Hitler. He fled to the United States to continue his work exhorting others to stop Hitler before it went too far. But of course, it went too far. Hitler he deemed undesirable.

Bonhoeffer, despite living in the U.S., was still on the black lists. He knew this. His supporters kept him informed and tried to protect him, which to them meant remaining in the safety of the U.S. to wait out the Nazi regime.

We can debate the wisdom and the practicality of his returning to Germany, but we cannot debate his faith and commitment. In speaking to his vast audiences, he made clear that his faith compelled him to believe in duty beyond his self-interests and physical

He would ultimately, give action to his beliefs by joining in a plot to kill Hitler. His concern for his

The plot was ultimately unsuccessful, and Bonhoeffer was imprisoned. In the waning days of WWII, while hunkered down in his bunker, Herr Hitler personally ordered the hanging of the still-young theologian. At 39, Dietrich Bonhoeffer was hanged April 9, 1945 at the Flossenburg Concentration Camp.

Regrets? No. Fear? Almost certainly. But he didn't cower. Instead, he told a fellow prisoner, "This is the end. But for me, the beginning of life." So how is it that someone with such a bright future and the option to avoid the fate of a martyr would voluntarily put himself into such danger and meet such a fate at peace?

Because he believed the Easter story. To him it was not about bunnies, pretty eggs, or sweets. It was about faith in the truth of a God who volunteered to pay the price which all humanity deserved. Our history, even in bible times, was not pretty. Humans were cruel, relentlessly selfish sinners; we still are. God demands righteousness, but he loves with equal passion. We could never measure up; we could never absolve ourselves sufficiently. So He sent His one and only son – God incarnate – who through His power could have avoided the death of the barbaric Roman cross. Jesus voluntarily sacrificed that His people – all of us, then, now and in the future – could be redeemed. Christ paid the price so that we all could have everlasting life with God. That is the true Easter story. Believe in Christ and live eternally!!!

In conclusion, I offer an admission. took over and began liquidating those I lied - or at least misled. Bonhoeffer couldn't know all of the people for whom he willingly made a sacrifice he did not have to make. But Jesus does know all the people for whom He made the sacrifice He did not have to make. More importantly, it is possible for us to know Jesus. That's the on-going wonder and beauty of Easter. Each of us can accept Christ as our Lord and savior, can have a relationship with God, and have ever-lasting life. I don't think we need the bunnies, eggs or sweets to have a great day.

WHAT'S ON 98

April 28 - May 4, 2014

That Uncertain Feeling is playing Monday at 1:00 p.m. Released on April 20, 1941: A lady visits a psychoanalyst to get rid of her attacks of the hiccups, but may lose her husband instead.

Ernst Lubitsch was a famed director of the golden age of movies. He made this one right after the Jimmy Stewart classic 'The Shop Around the Corner.' You know that you are in for a treat from a great director, so pop a large bowl of popcorn, drizzle on lots of warm melted butter, and settle down for a romantic dramatic comedy with Merle Oberon, Melvyn Douglas, Burgess Meredith and Eve Arden.

The Bakers have an ideal marriage. He is a high-powered insurance salesman, they live on Park Avenue in New York City, and she has everything a wife could want . . . and more. As the movie opens, we learn that Jill Baker gets sudden attacks of the hiccups. One of Jill's girlfriends suggests that she visit a psychoanalyst that could surely cure her hiccups. Jill is skeptical, but goes to the doctor, who informs her that she has problems with her husband. Jill thought she was very happy in her marriage, but after the doctor told her otherwise, she started seeing all of the flaws in her hubby, and believes that he is the cause of her hiccups.

One day on a visit to her analyst, he is delayed, and Jill meets another patient, a totally whacked out pianist (Burgess Meredith), and somehow they become attracted to each other. Jill's husband gets suspicious of the two, and it looks like their marriage is heading for the rocks. One afternoon when Jill's husband returns home early in the afternoon to talk to his young wife, and discovers that the pianist is already there having a fun afternoon with Jill. Jill faints dead away, and her husband and her pianist friend are together, mano-a-mano, and Jill's husband starts a classic 'Lubitsch' style sales job to win his wife back. The biggest sales pitch he's ever made. He starts divorce proceedings, and 'gives' his wife to the pianist. Of course, Jill gets regrets, and soon they are both playing the ends against the middle. Things go back and forth, each trying to speed up the divorce, and then slow down the proceedings, right up to the happy ending.

This movie was released in April of 1941, eight months before Pearl Harbor, and the U.S. was divided over whether to help Europe fight the German Nazi's or not. When Jill's husband confronts Burgess Meredith about his affair with Jill, Burgess Meredith repeats over and over again, "I will not fight," thinking that Jill's husband will fight him over her. Jill's husband replies, "So you are an isolationist," referring to the segment of the U.S. that believes that the country should isolate itself from the war in Europe and not get involved. And later her husband does a sarcastic 'heil' salute, making reference to the Nazi's as dictatorial. Movie goers of 1941 would have understood this immediately and either agreed or disagreed with one side or the other. Of course, once the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor in December of the same year, U.S. sentiment was united in favor of war, and the mightiest war machine in the history of the world was born.

Earth Day 2014 Energy Today and Tomorrow!

People are always working on ways to get the energy we need while keeping the ground, air and water clean as well. Some people are exploring "clean coal." Others are using "renewable" forms of energy – like solar panels or wind turbines.

Read the clues to fill in the puzzle:

1. The major fuels we use for energy today are called _____ fuels because they are made from parts of animals and plants that have been under heat and pressure in the Earth's crust for millions of years.

2. Pieces of black _____ we dig out of the ground are used in power plants to generate electricity. 3. A thick liquid we pump out of the earth and use to heat our homes or turn into gasoline to run cars.

4. Natural _____ is pumped out of oil fields or other underground fields. It is used to heat homes and water and to cook food on stoves. Russia has the world's largest amounts. 5. Once we use up the fossil fuels they will be gone. Today, scientists are working hard on fuel sources that can be regrown or reused. They are called _____ fuels.

6. Giant, fan-like structures with blades that you might see in fields are called turbines. They use the _____ as a source of power. They make electricity to power homes.

7. Another renewable source of power is _____. We use dams to hold water back and then slowly let it flow through to spin generators to make electricity. This is called hydropower.

8. In very sunny areas, you can see panels that soak up _____ energy. This is energy from the sun's rays. The special cells in the panels can change sunlight into electricity.

9. Have you heard of bioenergy? This form of energy is created from _____ like corn or grains, or may be made from wood scraps or animal waste. It is a renewable fuel because we can regrow its sources.

10. This source of energy uses heat from deep in the earth. Boiling liquid or steam is pumped up to the surface and passes through machines to generate electricity.

11. Have you heard of _____ power plants? They generate energy by splitting atoms. When the atoms are split apart they release energy. France generates almost all of its own electricity by using nuclear power plants – and sells energy to other countries too.
