Community Alert from Police Chief Barrientos: BURGLARIES, FRAUD, AND THEFTS

In the past few week, the Si-erra Madre Police Department has investigated several incidents regarding a variety of burglaries. My communica-tions with neighboring Police Chiefs depict similar circum-stances; residential burglaries, "Distraction" burglaries, theft from vehicle, and fraud.

As the summer approaches, we are encouraging the community to partner with SMPD to reduce incidences of crime, give rise to public safety awareness.

Anyone who has information regarding any incident is asked to call the Sierra Madre Police Department at 626-355-1414 or if you can to remain anonymous you can report it on crimestoppers.com. Timely reporting allows the department to keep the community safe, take precautions for personal safety, and to help locate those responsible See Something, Say Something.

SAFETY TIPS

If you feel you or others are in danger, immediately call 9-1-1.

Report suspicious people, activity, and all in-progress crimes, or suspected crimes, by calling 9-1-1 from any landline or cell phone.

Be alert to your surroundings. Your actions can help prevent others from becoming victims. Attempt to keep a safe distance from strangers.

Trust your instincts. If something or someone makes you uneasy, tell someone, avoid the person or leave the area. Do not leave valuable items unsecured and unattended.

BURGLARY TIPS

If you are the victim of a burglary or you discover someone inside your residence:

If possible, immediately leave your residence and go to a safe area (e.g., a neighbor or a public place). Call 9-1-1 and report a crime or crime in progress.

If you are unable to leave your residence, secure yourself and family members in a safe location, turn on all available lights, and call the police immediately.

To help reduce the risk of being the victim of a burglary make sure doors and windows are closed and locked. When it is hot out, use a lock or item which only allows the window to open small distances.

If you are running errands locally, lock your windows or doors, and set your house alarm. It only takes a burglar minutes to rifle/ransack your residence.

If you are leaving out of town or on vacation, let the police department know.

Be alert and aware. Pay full attention to who is around when you leave and return to your residence or office. If returning at night, leave a light on inside as a visual deterrent. If you see suspicious activity, call 9-1-1 immediately. Burglars are known to scout locations.

2023 MT. WILSON TRAIL RACE Great Day from Start to Finish

From beginning to end, last Saturday's 2023 Mt. Wilson Trail Race was a triumph, with a complete return not seen since before the Covid-19 Pandemic. It was a wonderful day with enthusiastic runners, excited children, and kind weather; a day that really brought together the entire greater Sierra Madre running community and community at large. Serving as this year's MWTR starters were family members of the late Dr. Bill White: wife Patti, son Greg, and his grandchildren: Jack, Lacey, & Madison. "Singing Policeman" Daniel Rodriguez beautifully sang the National Anthem. Sierra Madre resident Ralph West (and previous MWTR starter) ran the race for the 51st time! Lee Willard, age 87 from Whittier, completed the race in just over three hours! Amazing!!

VOLUME 17 NO. 22

A total of 318 runners completed the grueling 8.6-mile course that began in Kersting Court, up Baldwin Ave., to Mira Monte Ave., to Orchard Camp and back (a total elevation gain of over 2,160 feet. The runners were cheered on by enthusiastic family, friends, children, and supporters. All race participants finished safely with smiles on their faces.

This year, the MWTR Committee introduced a High School Challenge to the main event. High school teams of five runners from the same school were eligible to compete as a group. Pasadena High School won the Male Division High School Challenge and La Salle High School won the Co-Ed Division High School Challenge.

Winner - HS Challenge Male Division - Pasadena HS

Drake Anderson Chance Espinoza Thomas Garcia Paolo Gutierrez Shane Vandevelde Jonathan Yoon

Winner – HS Challenge Co-Ed Division – La Salle HS

Giulia Bhatia Marco Bitonti Olivia Bohanec Nathan Grabias Abigail Pejsa Keanu Widjaja

Immediately following the start of the 2023 MWTR, the MWTR Kids' Fun Run (Ages 3 - 13) began in Kersting Court. The start of the Kids' Fun Run is staggered, with children ages 8 – 13 beginning first and then followed by children ages 3 – 7. At least 50+ excited children rushed to the turn-around and back. All Kid's Fun Run participants received a lovely finishers ribbon and a T-shirt designed by PJ Altruz, a 5th grade student at Sierra Madre Elementary School (continuedd on page 2)

Buyers have accepted higher interest rates as the new standard and the supply of available homes is insufficient to meet the demand of buyers. This is a moment that calls for action! Instead of getting sidetracked by uncertainties, pay attention to the actual developments in our local market, stay committed to your objectives, and reach out to a knowledgable listing agent for expert guidance.

SIERRA MADRE HAPPENINGS

The Mt. Wilson Trail Race is one of the few races that has a beer garden to celebrate the day, share race accomplishments, and come together. Sponsored by Sierra Madre's RT Rogers Brewing Company, the proceeds from the MWTR Beer Garden were donated to Sierra Madre Search & Rescue, which has been saving lives in the wilderness for 72 years. RT Rogers Brewing Company also sponsored the Beer Garden at Friday Night's Pre-Race Pasta Dinner and donated the proceeds to the Fletcher Trail Maintenance Fund, which pays for the tools and supplies used by the Volunteer Trail Maintenance Crew, led by Bob Spears.

Booth sponsors in Kersting Court this year were: Adams Pack Station, Arcadia Association of Realtors, Christ Church, Christine Edwards COMPASS Realty, Foothill Physique - Monrovia, Free Animal Doctor, Run With Us – Pasadena, San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District, Sierra Madre CERT, Sierra Madre Community Foundation, Sierra Madre Historical Preservation Society, Sierra Madre Pizza Company, USC Arcadia Hospital, and YMCA – Sierra Madre.

The 2023 Mt. Wilson Trail Race Awards Ceremony was announced by MWTR Director Pete Siberell. City of Sierra Madre Mayor Edward Garcia was on hand to present beautiful race medals to all of the category winners.

The Mt. Wilson Trail Race Committee, led by Race Director, Pete Siberell, plans and works year-round to deliver a successful MWTR every year. It takes a village to be this successful and everyone came together to make this year's MWTR one for the record books. This included the announcers, awards, bag check, banners, beer gardens, bike rails, booth sponsors, donors, first aid, food, ham radio operators, Kids' Race, pizza sales, pre-race pasta dinner, post-race bagels/oranges, posters, publicity, race T-shirts, registration, set-up/take-down, sound, souvenirs, staging, timing, trail maintenance workdays, training program, volunteers, water, and more.

Civic organizations that were integral to the event's success include the following: Sierra Madre Boy Scouts Troop 110, Sierra Madre CERT, Sierra Madre City Staff, Sierra Madre Civic Club, Sierra Madre Cub Scouts Troop 110, Sierra Madre Fire Department, Sierra Madre Police Department, Sierra Madre Search & Rescue, and the Volunteer Trail Maintenance Crew.

Set your calendars now because the 2024 Mt. Wilson Trail Race is scheduled for Saturday, May 25, 2024. The MWTR Committee is already looking forward to another great race with even more participants next year. Check the Mt. Wilson Trail Race website for information as it is posted and to learn about the outstanding 16-week MWTR training program that will begin in late January 2024.

"Summer is a promissory note signed in June, its long days spent and gone before you know it, and due to be repaid next January." Hal Borland

"You can see it in the trees, you can smell it in the breeze! Look around! Look around! Look around! June is bustin" out all over, all over the meadow and the hill. Buds are bustin' outa bushes, And the rompin' river pushes every little wheel that wheels beside the mill!" Rogers & Hammerstein's Musical, "Carousel"

I kind of felt like that last week in our beautiful town, which has never looked more dazzling with these white roses (pictured) everywhere you looked. These are, I'm pretty sure, the product of May Gray, allowing everything to burst into bloom without being burnt to ashes. As it says above, "Look around! Look around! Look around!"

After a visit to Huntington Beach to meet the new baby boy in our family, Brannan Austin Johnson, adorable child #3 to granddaughter Ashley and her husband, Trevor; a birthday party to celebrate son, John's 60th birthday, a huge dinner with grandson, Chad, and his children, Layla, Taylor and Zachary and gorgeous granddaughter, Amber, who had just graduated from college a few days before, we made our way up to Sierra Madre, Crissy, Emily, Jessie and me. Of course, we also walked the Huntington Beach pier, had drinks and appetizers at Sandy's on the beach; had incredible ice cream at Han's and were cold the entire time.

Guess what! May Gray was also present in Sierra Madre but we put on our sweater and had a delightful dinner at Corfu (their salmon is incredible) and a delicious breakfast at Nano's. Emily has now gone off with her Aunt Leah to Utah and we may never see her again as she is having a fantastic time. All we have to offer to lure her home is tickets to see "The Little Mermaid."

Speaking of graduations, I want to pass along a few of the comments Bill Gates shared with the Northern Arizona University graduates just after receiving an honorary doctorate from NAU:

'So, what does a college dropout know about graduation? Not much personally, to be honest." Mr. Gates referred to his decades-long career as the Microsoft cofounder and co-chair of the nonprofit Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, outlining a few of the lessons he's learned:

"Your life isn't a one-act play. What you do tomorrow, or for the next 10 years, does not have to be what you do forever. Not only is it OK to change your mind or have a second career...it can be a very good thing. You are never too smart to be confused."

He encouraged the graduates to embrace what they don't know and seek out help and guidance from others.

"Everything I have accomplished happened because I sought out others who knew more than me. The good news is you are graduating at a time of immense opportunity to help people. I cannot wait to see how you will drive progress around the world."

There have been so many great graduation addresses...and so many really long, dull, boring ones, but I want to pass along some really great graduation comments:

Barbara Kingsolver, Duke University, North Carolina, 2008:

"If you run out of hope at the end of the day, rise in the morning and put it on again with your shoes. Hope is the only reason you won't give in, burn what's left of the ship,

The following represents a summary report of some of the major incidents handled by the Sierra Madre Police Department during this period. This list is not intended to be considered exclusive or all-inclusive.

Tuesday, May 23 Vandalism

At approximately 8:00 pm, officers responded to the 400 block of W. Sierra Madre Blvd regarding a vandalism investigation. Upon arrival, officers discovered that the ex-spouse slashed the victim's car tires. The victim is desirous of prosecution for the damage. The Detective Bureau is following up on this incident.

Wednesday, May 24 Domestic Battery At approximately 7:00 pm, officers responded to the 600 block of Edgeview Drive regarding a battery investigation. Upon arrival, officers discovered that the separated couple had gotten into an argument. During the argument, the female struck the male. The male was desirous of prosecution. Officers arrested the female and booked her at the Pasadena PD jail.

and go down with it – the ship of your natural life and your children's only shot!"

Anna Quindlen: "Don't cave to the status quo. Don't trade happiness for deferred gratification. Don't give up adventure for safety and security. The safe is the enemy of the satisfying. Deferred gratification has a way of being deferred forever!"

Books are being created out of graduation addresses. YouTube memorializes the best and the worst. Steve Jobs' address at Stanford in 2005 has been viewed millions of times. Brevity is encouraged, beseeched, begged for and I heartily agree. We all want to get on to the party and the presents.

This is another of those weeks when I want to pass along all positive, hopeful thoughts, starting with gratitude for life, health, family, home. Speaking of home, my former home at 86 E. Alegria, which has been an eyesore for several years has now been completely redone, painted, beautiful plantings, and is for sale. John and I lived there 48 years and loved that house so much. You can take the Zillow tour and see what it looks like now, which is nothing like what it was when we lived there. We bought the house in 1970 for $42,500. John said, the first night we spent there, "I've bought a great big broken thing!" He eventually, over the years, grew to love that house. Originally built in 1916, it was where our family grew up. We replaced bathrooms, carpeting, wallpaper and now we hope that whoever lives there next loves it as much as we did. It is, after all, one of the best places to spend Halloween!

Count your blessings, dear friends and neighbors! That's what I'm doing on a constant basis.

Robbers Steel Safe with $30k in Cash

Pasadena police are still looking for at least two thieves that stole a safe with tens of thousands of dollars, Saturday night, from Envios Las Americas on Orange Grove Blvd in Northwest Pasadena.

Like something out of a heist film, police said, the two suspects first broke into a neighboring business Wendy's Beauty Salon around 8 p.m. and then punched a hold in a wall and crawled into Envios Las Americas. The suspects then dragged out a safe containing $30,000 in cash. Police released surveillance video of the incident Tuesday of two men both wearing baseball caps, with one wearing a light color long sleeve shirt and the other a light color hoodie. Both men had their faces covered.

Police also said the suspects also searched through a number of drawers looking for more money to take.

Envios Las Americas is a MoneyGram location that offers money transfers. No other information was given.

Anyone with information regarding this crime should call Pasadena Police Department at (626) 744-4241. If you wish to remain anonymous, call Crime Stoppers at (800) 222-TIPS (8477).

Pasadena Library Kicks Off Summer Reading Program

Pasadena Public Library is celebrating 102 years of Summer Reading! Since 1921, the library has held its Summer Reading and Activity Program to foster community, aid children in knowledge and skill retention and encourage the importance of lifelong learning. Developing reading habits throughout the summer is a critical step in combatting summer learning loss and reducing the achievement gap between high-low socioeconomic statuses. This summer's theme, "Find Your Voice," encourages participants to explore the power of their voice. Our voices share stories, express ourselves, and ignite change. Using your voice encompasses more than just the words we speak but also what we write, the art we make, the movements we perform, and the actions we take. Children, teens, and adults are invited to sign up online at: pasadena. beanstack.com/reader365 or stop by any of our 10 branch libraries to sign up in person. The Summer Reading and Activity Program runs from today, through Saturday, July 29 and is sponsored by The Friends of the Pasadena Public Library. As a part of the Summer Reading Program, the Pasadena Public Library offers several performances, programs, storytimes, workshops, and more. For a complete list of programs, cityofpasadena.net/ visit: library/calendar.

Pasadena Announces Free Pride Month Events

The City of Pasadena is hosting a variety of events throughout June in celebration of Pride Month. This year's events reinforce the City's commitment to promoting equality and inclusivity for all.

Festivities kicked off Thursday at City Hall, a symbolic gesture of support for the LGBTQ+ community. Additional events during Pride Month include live music performances, book discussions, a movie showing, arts & crafts activities, and more.

"We are proud to celebrate Pride Month in Pasadena and recognize the contributions and accomplishments of the LGBTQ+ community," said Mayor Victor M. Gordo. Chris Holden congratulates Playhouse Pasadena for receiving the 2023 Regional Theatre Tony Award. Over the years Assemblymember Holden has played a key role in ensuring the preservation of the theater through, solidifying its title as the official State Theater of California, allocating $1million

This week, Assemblymember for restoration efforts, and an additional $1.6 million to fund HVAC upgrades.

"This congratulations serves as a testament to the power of perseverance, the importance of preserving and honoring history, and the resilience of a community that stands together. For years, I've fought alongside members of the Pasadena Playhouse to keep this community asset alive and thriving, so it is with great sentiment that I say bravo!" said Assemblymember Chris Holden.

News of the Theater's prestigious honor sparked Governor Gavin Newsom to extend congratulations as well, having worked side by side with Assemblymember Holden to approve the necessary steps taken to keep Pasadena Playhouse going. With approval from Governor Newsom, the advocacy and initiative of Assemblymember Holden, and the support of the Legislature, Pasadena Playhouse has remained an irreplaceable asset to the community.

"Channeling an unparalleled spirit of community, creativity and innovation, the Pasadena Playhouse has been redefining theater arts throughout the country and beyond for more than a century," said California Governor Gavin Newsom. "This much-deserved award recognizes the extraordinary legacy of this world-renowned institution and all the dedicated artists, theatermakers and supporters who help bring to life impactful stories for the ages."

Pasadena Playhouse has a history of serving surrounding communities, and cultivating some of the greatest talents of our time. The landmark venue is over 100 years old.

'Pasadena Playhouse has poured into our community even when their glass was not completely full. That is why I cannot think of a better recipient of the 2023 Regional Theatre Tony Award than California's very own Official State Theater. It's truly a privilege to have this gem in my district," said Holden.

Peter Dills Knows

100 Days of Grilling

Just picked up the Quintessential book on one of my favorite subjects and the book is titled "Meat" it's a coffee table style book full of pictures and recipes on the art of making anything and everything to do with meat, pork, chicken, lamb, you name it, it's in Author Pat La Frieda's award winning book "Meat", its truly everything you'll ever want to know with plenty of full diagrams and explanations of each part of your favorite protein!!.

It is ok to refreeze most seafood , seafood is mostly frozen on the boats so that the fisherman can stay out longer on the boats, so go ahead and refreeze your seafood

Why is it bad to defrost meat and then freeze it again? There's an old wives tale that says you'll get sick from eating refrozen meat. That's not entirely true, that will only happen if you leave your meat out overnight and it has time to attract the bacteria. The truth is many restaurants will thaw steaks and chickens and cut them up and wrap the portions for later use.

Legg Lake was clear and the weather was sunny as almost 250 runners/walkers dashed around Whittier Narrows Recreation Area Saturday May 20th in support of the second annual KID-FIT Family Fun Run. This year's family event brought numerous middle school track teams to partic-ipate such as the San Gabriel Spartan Runners, LILA School in Pasadena, Twin Lakes School of El Monte, Monte Vista Eagles of El Monte and Valle Lindo School of S. El Monte. Seasoned running clubs like the Foothill Flyers from Pasadena were also present. Individuals of all ages did their best rushing around the scenic 5K route to finish and receive their medals. Even tiny ones as young as age 3 enjoyed their own 1K, so that they could also "race" from start to finish.

The event was hosted by The KID-FIT Preschool Health and Fitness Organization, a nonprofit organization from Duarte which focuses on developing healthy lifestyle habits in young children. President Michele Silence explains "For 27 years we've been showing preschoolers how much fun exercise is while teaching them skills they need to live an active life. This is just another way to help families and young children find joy in recreating together." She goes on, "With childhood obesity, diabetes and heart disease risk factors all showing up in young children now there's no time to waste in helping the next generation get fit from day one."

Cash awards of $50-$300 were given to youth in 4 different age groups ranging from 3-19. A $500 cash scholarship honoring late 5K committee member Linda Dempsey, a 40-year Monro-via Unified School District Administrator, is also going to the city of South El Monte. The yearly scholarship will help a deserving preschool provide more physical activity resources for attending children.

Sponsors included: BJ's Restaurants, Arcadia Chinese Association, Assemblywoman Blanca Rubio, So. Cal Gas, El Monte Nissan, Foothill Credit Union, San Gabriel MWD, Senator Susan Rubio, Run With Us, Action Designz and Craig's Crew.

To volunteer to help with next year's event, contact Michele Silence at 626-848-2950.

Assemblymember Chris Holden's Landmark Legislative Bills Pass The Assembly Floor And Are Heading To The Senate

This might be a bit of a challenge when going your local market, but I love going to a butcher, we have a few in town, ask them for angus cuts of meat and the cattle should be under 2 years of age, the dry age term that you've probably heard is once the cattle have been cut into quarters. Dry aged could have a smell of corn, but steak should be odorless. The visual test is the steak evenly colored? Dark purple would indicate the cattle itself was older.

Cooking the Steak

This where the controversary begins, charcoal or gas, though I suggest using the 165 degree rule, that way you know that any bacteria has been killed off. I personally enjoy cooking steaks at home opposed to going out, that way I can watch and make sure the steak is perfect. When using coals never put the meat on till the coals are almost white and you can no longer put your hand over the BBQ. Pro Tip If you must use sauce, wait till you are ready to take your meal off the grill, you'll avoid burning the skin.

Well, that's a wrap I have learned a lot from this book and will continue to use it as my holy grail of cooking tips.

For additional tips tune into my radio show Sundays at 5PM on AM 830 KLAA, I'm usually on right after the baseball game.

Real Estate Cooked to Perfection

Sacramento, CA – This week, Assemblymember Chris Holden's bills passed the Assembly Floor and are heading to the Senate for committee hearings. The bills include: AB 43 – Greenhouse gas emissions: building materials: credit trading platform and compliance system, AB 262 – Children's camps: regulation, AB 299 – Hazing: educational institutions: civil liability, AB 304 – Domestic violence: probation, AB 323 – Planning and land use: parcels: changes in use, AB 610 – Youth Transit Pass Pilot Program: free youth transit passes, AB 647 – Grocery workers, AB 776 – Route 210, and AB 1244 – Private Security Services and Private Investigators: qualified managers.

"My focus remains steady in meeting the needs of Californians and that is reflected through my legislation. The people come first. I thank my colleagues for their support and I will continue to remain a diligent leader and listener throughout this process," said Assemblymember Chris Holden.

AB 43 would express the intent of the Legislature to enact an Embodied Carbon Trading System within the program created by AB 2446, or the Low Carbon Product Standard (LCPS), to facilitate a credit-trading platform for building materials.

AB 262 would direct the Department of Social Services (DSS) to lead a stakeholder group to develop recommendations through a report to the Legislature on future regulations that would protect children while attending day and overnight camps.

AB 299 would allow for civil action to be brought against an educational institution for an instance of hazing in which one or more students were involved if that educational institution knew or should have known of the dangerous hazing practices of an affiliated organization.

AB 304 would restructure the oversight of the rehabilitation process domestic violence offenders must undergo, in an effort to reduce recidivism and increase overall education within the system – including among probation departments, courts, and program providers.

AB 323 would protect homeownership pathways for low-income families.

AB 610 would create the Student Transit Pass Pilot Program to fund the development and implementation of fare free transit passes to California students. The bill also requires a report on the program's outcomes, including whether the program increased transit ridership among student users, to be submitted to the Legislature.

AB 647 would require a successor grocery employer, upon change in control of a grocery establishment, to hire from the list for 120 days after the grocery establishment is fully operational and open to the public and retain each eligible grocery worker for at least 120 days after their commencement date, except as specified.

AB 776 would require the department, through the erection of highway signs and appropriate markers, to provide recognition of the historical and cultural importance of the California Indian tribes local to, or historically located in, the Counties of Los Angeles and San Bernardino.

AB 1244 would require a qualified manager under the Private Investigator Act and the Private Security Services Act to hold a current and valid qualified manager's certificate issued by the director, and would require the director to issue a qualified manager's certificate to a person who meets the requirements of the act, as applicable.

"We are listening and collaborating with Californians to provide solutions that work; for the good of the public and the planet," said Holden.

CHRISTOPHER Nyerges [www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com]

YES, YOU CAN GROW FOOD FROM SCRAPS

[Nyerges is the author of many books, such as "Extreme Simplicity," "Urban Survival Guide," and others. Information on his classes and books is found at www.SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com.]

No one believes that anything is free, ever, especially today. But there really is a way that you can produce "free" food from scraps, from the parts of food that you normally throw away.

You just need to be willing to do the work required - which is minimal.

You've probably heard of many of these methods. They only require that you save certain seeds, or tops, or sprouted vegetables – the parts that are typically discarded. You'll also need some pots – which can be recycled containers – or just a garden plot.

Let's look at a few ways you can take discarded fruits and vegetables and grow your own fresh food.

The categories can be generally divided by sprouted vegetables, leafy tops, and seeds

POTATO

Sprouted and therefore inedible potatoes get tossed away all the time. Right? You smell something bad in the pantry and you see a nearly-rotten potato with long sprouting vines going in all directions. Most people quickly toss these into the garbage and wipe up the offending mess on the shelf.

But I take what remains of the sprouted potato outside, dig a hole in my designated potato patch, and plant it all at least fou inches underground. Then I cover it with mulchy soil.

The above-ground part will grow and eventually flower. It arises rarely more than a foot out of the ground. When the plant dies back in a few months, you can dig down and be amazed to find a dozen or so home-grown potatoes. It's very easy to do, and I've done it for so long that I take it for granted that everyone grows their own potatoes.

so long that I take it for granted that everyone grows their own potatoes. Since the potato is a tuber that grows underground, the quality and loaminess of the soil will affect the quality and size of your potatoes.

RADISH

When a radish sits too long in the refrigerator, you'll sometimes notice that the top begins to sprout leaves. Yes, you can just plant the sprouted radish in your garden, but you won't get another round plump red radish root. You only get that round red radish root from the first year plant. After the second generation, the root becomes a bit tough and woody, but every other part of the plant that is tender can be eaten in salad, in soups, in cooked dishes, and even pickled. That's right, you can eat the leaves, the tender parts of the stalk and stems, the flowers, the buds, and the tender seed pods.

Radish will go perennial if you just leave the root in the ground, and just eat the greens year after year. In fact, it is found wild in many parts of the U.S.

CARROTS

Most people toss their carrot "tops" away, that is, the leafy above-ground parts. But did you know they are actually edible? They can be used in soups, pestos, and like you would use parsley for such things as tabouleh.

When you cut off those tops, if you leave a little of the root, you can plant them in your garden. Now, the second-generation carrot will not produce a tender carrot like the first generation. If you plant the tops, the root that develops will be tougher and whiter. But, if you like the greens, you can now harvest the greens season after season and just leave the root in the ground.

The wild carrots are perennial – the only reason people do not think of carrots as perennials is because they pull the root to eat the root, and then the plant is gone. But if you leave the root in the ground, you can eat the greens "forever."

ONION/GARLIC

If you have green onions, bulb onions, or garlic that is just a bit too old to use in your recipes, don't discard them. Plant them, root down, in your garden, and let them produce year-after-year of greens for you.

Most people are unaware that all members of this family are perennials. Obviously, you have to leave the root in the ground and only harvest the greens if you want the roots to produce "forever."

Katnip News! Too Cute TOBIAS!

Tobias is a very sweet and cuddly boy. He purrs a lot and sports an elfsized, white "Santa" beard. Does quiet chirps for talking, which he does a lot when trying to talk to another cat. He moves his tail like a rattlesnake, where the tippy top shakes a lot. Litter box trained. Eating well.

Tobias would do well with another cat in the house as he has been very good with his foster mom's resident cat - No growls and hiss-es from him. But he would also be fine as an only cat. Born 10/2022. He's ready for delivery, is healthy, current on vaccines, and chipped. See more pix and adoption info at www.lifelineforpets.org, the Very Young page.

Pet of the Week

Five-year-old Dyna has taken some time to acclimate being at Pasadena Humane. When she first arrived, she often hid in the back of her kennel and avoided people. She was heartbreakingly shy despite our best efforts.

Slowly but surely, with patience and love, volunteers and staff began to thaw the ice. Supplying Dyna with yummy treats and gentle pets was the key. Once Dyna realized all these new visitors were actually friends, we started seeing the sweet and affectionate side of this gentle girl.

Now Dyna gets so excited to see people that she knows, she almost dances with anticipation of going out for a walk or to the play yard. It is so lovely to see her zoom around with a smile on her face, sitting patiently for treats and nudging people for more pets. Sweet Dyna is ready to fill her forever home with fun and love!

SIERRA MADRE PLAYHOUSE PRESENTS STORIES @THE PLAYHOUSE:BEST OF BACKSTO-RY ON JUNE 12

A new event for our storytelling series, Stories @ The Playhouse, is here! Sierra Madre Playhouse presents Best of BackStory, an evening of true stories, poetry, and flights of fancy featuring host Carl Weintraub and stories written and told by Augustus Britton, Ra-shim Cannad, Marlene Nichols, Laurie O'Brien, Antonio Sacre, and Sue Ann Pien.

BackStory, produced by the Victory Theatre Center in Burbank, is an evening of stories all told around a theatrical theme. The theme is always the title of a memorable play or mov-ie. Writers can focus on the themes of the play or movie, the characters, or simply on the words in the title. For Best of BackStory, at Sierra Madre Playhouse, we are creating an evening of true stories that have been told at BackStory over the past seven years. Each story will be from a different episode of BackStory, so it will be an eclectic night for sure.

CONSUMÉR ADVISORY: some stories may contain strong language and sexual content.

BEST OVER THE COUNTER HEARING AIDS FOR OLDER ADULTS

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you recommend some good over-the-counter hearing aids for seniors on a budget? I'm not sure what to get or where to buy them. Hard of Hearing

Dear Hard:

The new FDA approved over-the-counter (OTC) hearing aids that hit the market last October have become a very attractive alternative to millions of older Americans with hearing impairment.

These new hearing aids can be purchased at pharmacies, consumer electronics stores or online without a hearing exam, prescription, or appointment with an audiologist. And the savings are significant. The average cost of an OTC hearing aid is about $1,600 per pair, which is about $3,000 less than the average price of a prescription hearing aid.

But sorting through all the different options and styles can be confusing. Here are some tips along with a reliable resource that can help you choose the right aid for you.

Check Your Hearing

Your first step to getting a hearing aid is to get your hearing tested. Be aware that OTC hearing aids are designed only for people with mild to moderate hearing loss (signs include trouble hearing speech in noisy places, in groups, and during phone calls).

The best place to get your hearing tested is through a hearing care provider like an audiologist. These in-person tests are usually covered by private medical insurance, and as of this year, Medicare will pay for general hearing evaluations without a doctor's referral

You can also assess your hearing at home with a good app-based hearing test like Mimi (mimi.health) or Sonic-Cloud (soniccloud.com).

If you find through your test that you have severe hearing loss (signs include being unable to hear spoken words even in a quiet room or trouble hearing loud music or power tools) then OTC aids aren't the right solution for you You'll probably need a prescription hearing aid, which you must get through an audiologist or hearing instrument specialist.

Choosing an OTC Aid

If you decide that an OTC hearing aid may work for you, here are a couple pointers to help you choose. First, you need to know that OTC hearing aids come in two types: self-fitting and preset. Self-fitting aids typically use a smartphone app to setup and adjust the device to preset hearing aids are much simpler devices that come with a number of set programs for different levels of hearing loss, and the controls are directly on the hearing aid. Also, because OTC hearing aids have a learning curve, it's very important to know the level of customer support you'll have access to. So, before you buy, find out how long the company provides support after your purchase, and what sorts of experts will be providing the support.

You also need to find out about the company's return policy. It can take weeks to get accustomed to wearing hearing aids and figure out whether they're really working for you or not. So, make sure to choose a brand that offers a minimum 30-day free trial period, or money back return policy.

Best OTC Hearing Aids To help you cut through all the different options the National Council on Aging (NCOA), which is a national nonprofit organization that advocates for older Americans, recently assembled a review team who collectively spent more than 5,000 hours researching, testing and interview-ing customers about OTC hearing aids.

They came up with a list of nine winners based on such criteria as affordability, style and fit. Their best OTC hearing aids for 2023 in their nine categories include:

Best for Seniors: Jabra Enhance (jabraenhance.com) Best Invisible Fit: Eargo (eargo.com) Most User-Friendly: Lexie (lexiehearing.com) Most Affordable: Audien (audienhearing.com)

Most Financing Options: Audicus (audicus.com) Best Remote Customer Service: MDHearing (mdhearin-

you. Maybe you have a piece of their clothing that you sometimes hold close to your heart or a favorite item of theirs displayed proudly on a shelf. But what you value most about that object likely isn't its monetary worth but the memories it evokes of your loved one and the time you spent together. You wish you could still hear from them, learn from them, and share memories with them.

When you think about | you value them, and how much it would mean to a loved one who has you for them to create a Life and Legacy Interview passed away, you prob- so you have a recording of them as they are right ably don't give much now before illness or incapacity can even become a part of the picture.

As a lawyer, I know the value of planning for what happens to my client's financial assets. But I also know there is something even more valuable to pass on to your loved ones than money - your stories, lessons, insights, and values. And there are things we can and should do to preserve the precious memories of, and lessons from, the people we love. Completing a Life and Legacy Interview

If the idea of giving an interview sounds intimidat-ing, don't worry – the process is as easy as a conversation, and most of my clients who've done this tell me they are so glad they put in the time and effort. During your Life and Legacy Interview, someone should ask you a series of helpful questions and prompts that you've seen in advance. Or, you can talk freely about whatever you'd like to share with your loved ones. It's your interview, so I encourage you to be your authentic self and make it your own. Record your interview on video, either in-person or remotely, depending on your preference. After the interview is completed, keep a digital recording that can be shared with your family members or kept with your estate planning materials as a special memento of your personal story and your love for your family.

While everyone says they intend to document stories and write letters to their loved ones, very few people ever actually get around to it. So, take the time to get it done. It will become an invaluable treasure for your family, and you'll be glad you did Starting the Conversation with Your Loved Ones Talking to your aging loved ones about estate planning and the legacy that they'll leave behind can be difficult or uncomfortable for a lot of people. We all deal with the concept of aging and dying differently. Some of us avoid the topic altogether, and others will make light of it and even joke about "kicking the bucket." But it's important to have a conversation about your elder's wishes and how much it would mean to you for them to plan ahead. If you aren't sure how your loved one will respond to the topic, try to come from a vulnerable place, and not from a place of any sort of judgment if they joke about death. Instead, remember that people sometimes joke when they're afraid.

Try saying something like, "I know this might be hard to talk about, but it's important to me. If something does happen to you, I want to make sure that we're able to take care of you, and that your wishes are always honored.'

You could also let your loved one know how much thought to the mate-rial things they've left By approaching the conversation in a vulnerable way, they'll likely be more receptive to the idea of planning for their assets and more intentional in how they leave their legacy behind for the ones they care about.

Bringing Families Closer Together

Besides preserving a message for your loved ones, the Life and Legacy Interview is a great time to reconnect with the moments and memories from your life that you might have otherwise forgotten.

In today's hectic world, it can be hard to live in the moment, but by taking a little time to reflect on where your life has taken you, you'll remember all you've accomplished and all you want to share with your loved ones, not just in your Life and Legacy Interview, but every day.

Even after the interview is finished, you'll likely live your life with more intention and awareness of how you want to pass on your values, insights, stories, and experiences in your day-to-day life. And if a senior member of your family is completing their own Life and Legacy Interview, you can feel at ease knowing that no matter what the future holds, you'll always have a video of your loved one sharing their stories, their hopes, their jokes, and their love with you.

The Importance of Life & Legacy Planning

The Life and Legacy Interview is a wonderful tool for seniors and their families. It's not technically part of the legal planning process as it goes beyond creating documents and takes a holistic approach to planning for a life you love and a legacy your loved ones will cherish forever.

At the core of the legal planning I lead clients through is the understanding that your family's most precious wealth is not just money, but also the memories you make, the values you instill, and the lessons you pass down. By planning for your life and legacy, you can ensure that your family's total wealth is preserved and protected for generations to come.

I believe that Life and Legacy Planning is not a onetime event but an ongoing process because it mirrors the ongoing process of your life. By getting your legal documents in order while also working on the life you want to live and the legacy you want to ultimately leave, your planning will be as effective as possible and provide the opportunity to pass on your values and wisdom in additional to your financial wealth.

Whether you are growing your family or well into retirement, this approach ensures your loved ones inherit your full wealth and that your life has the greatest positive impact on them.

To your health, wealth, and family legacy,

MARC

Marc Garlett, Esq. Cali Law Family Legacy Matters www.caliLaw.com 626.355.4000 Her mirror is a lot different from my mirror. My mirror shows some grumpy old guy, whereas her mirror shows a charming young lady. I have offered to exchange mirrors, but she would not have anything to do with that. I'm not very concerned about how ugly I look. After all, ugly isn't really that big of a deal.

In the pharmacy section of Publix the other day, one of the workers came and asked me if I wanted some skincare products that were on sale. "It'll sure make your face look a lot better." I declined her offer and left the store.

As I was thinking about this, it remind-ed me of some of my good friends who are rather good-looking despite their age. They spend much time and money keeping themselves looking young and beautiful. I would rather use my money to buy Apple Fritters than any skincare products.

Many of my friends spend a lot of money and time to keep themselves as young looking as possi-ble. They exercise, go on a strict diet, and some even have surgery to make them look better than they are.

I have one friend, a very wonderful lady, whom I've known most of my life. One thing about this young lady is that she wants people to think she's young and works tirelessly to keep looking young. Her biggest concern is wrinkles, and she seems allergic to them. I love my wrinkles because they are a product of getting older. And I plan to get as old as I can. But this young lady, I will not men-tion her name for obvious reasons, seems quite allergic to wrin-kles. She has had several facelifts to make sure all of the wrinkles disappear. Whenever she sees a wrinkle, she has to stop whatever she's doing and take care of it, no matter the cost. I don't see her often anymore, but whenever I do, I usually say something like, "Is that a new wrin-kle on your face? I think it's a wonderful wrinkle." She will laugh and then disappear into the bathroom in a few moments to check out that wrinkle. Sometime that week, she will be come without cost, I assure you. I have not spent a single nickel dealing with my wrinkles, and have the wrinkles to prove

If I had the time and money my friends used to eliminate the wrinkles, I could retire in luxury.

Many try to show how young they look whenever we have a family get-together. They walk around smiling, hoping somebody will notice how young they look.

For some of them, when we plan to get together, it takes several weeks to prepare for that get-together. I can get together overnight and have no problems with that. I try to contain myself, but it is tough when you have all my wrinkles. Whenever I meet one of those people, and I know who they are, I always compliment them on their good looks. They al-ways smile back and thank me.

Then, out of nowhere, I sometimes say, "You don't have as many wrinkles today as you did the last time I saw you." I laugh, but they usually don't join in. I don't know any of them that like me saying that sort of thing, but that's the cost of trying to look young when you're old.

It must be a very hard job to stay young anymore. On the other side of the mirror, I have an easy life of looking as old as possible. Every wrinkle on my face is an opportunity to celebrate that I'm still getting older.

In the Old Testament, Job had an issue with wrinkles. "And thou hast filled me with wrinkles, which is a witness against me: and my leanness rising up in me beareth witness to my face" (Job 16:8). I can relate to Job, but then I remembered what the Apostle Paul said in Ephesians 5:27,

"That he (Christ) might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish." My life, even my wrinkles, is in the capable hands of God.

LOST INSPIRATION Yesterday my wife was struggling with the crossword puzzle and asked me what three letter word fit into the clue Ich bin --- Berliner. Well I'm a little older than she is and quote from almost sixty years ago "ich bin ein Berliner". It was elegant and inspiring and probably one of the best-known speeches of the Cold War and among the most famous anti-communist speeches. In case you weren't around then and are not familiar with the speech it was given in West Berlin Germany. At that time the city of Berlin was divided into two sections. There were great differences between the sections which were divided into two physically and ideologically contrasting zones. A wall was built by the Russians who controlled East Berlin which served the objective of stemming mass defections from East to West. Great hardships resulted to the people of Berlin. The wall divided families who found themselves unable to visit each other. Many East Berliners were cut off from their jobs. There was great suffering within the city and all Berliners felt that they had been abandoned by the allies. President Kennedy's speech given in June of 1963 proclaiming that we were all Berliners and shared their pain reached into the hearts and minds of the world. It was elegant and inspirational.

The entire Presidency of JFK contained such moments of elegance and inspiration. Many of us recall his directive to "Ask not what your Country can do for you but what you can do for your country." This inaugural address inspired children and adults to see the importance of civic action and public service. So what happened to that feeling? Unarguably, it has become obscured since the time of JFK's assassination on November 22, 1963.

After his assassination there was, and remains, all kinds of speculation as to who was responsible and the whole government was tainted. His successor, Lyndon Johnson may have been a more effective politician than JFK but he was a Texan who was known for bawdy behavior like leaving the door open when he went to the bathroom. Johnson chose not to run for re-election in 1968 and everything seemed to fall apart. JFK's younger brother Bobby, also an educated elegant poetry quoting Harvard graduate was an inspiring figure but was assassinated at the Coconut Grove here in Los Angeles just after winning the California Democratic Primary. After that the 1968 Democratic Presidential convention held in Chicago was a mass of protests brutally policed by Mayor Richard Daley, hardly an inspiring figure. The eventual Democratic nominee who went on to be defeated by Richard Nixon was LBJ's VP, a nice enough-man Hubert Humphrey; but a Midwestern Pharmacist, hardly an inspiring character. He was defeated by Richard Nixon, whose most memorable public-quotation was "I am not a crook." He was later forced to resign. Nixon's Vice-President, Spiro T. Agnew, resigned even before Nixon after it was revealed that he was receiving kickbacks while in office. So much for inspiration and elegance. Yes, Ronald Reagan was in the movies but was never even a leading man although he did ask Mr. Gorbachev to "tear down that wall." Jimmy Carter was a wonderful ex-President but as a President is remembered more as a peanut farmer. Bill Clinton was a bright guy who will always be associated with his affairs with young interns. I am sure you see my point. Joe Biden, is not bad for an ex-stuttering old guy but really cannot be called elegant or inspirational. I just hope he can remain effective. Today I long for inspiration and elegance and not just a box-score of winners and losers. I feel detached from the whole political process and wish I didn't. Only fear keeps me involved and I would like it to be otherwise. Maybe 80 year-old Joe could father a child similarly to Pacino and De Niro, but really that is not the kind of inspiration I am looking for.

DINAH CHONG WATKINS CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE WRONG KIND

Range Rover

Previously I wrote about my annual summer family road trip. It was the era of leaded gas, rest stop motels with 25 cent vibrating beds, AM radios, paper maps and most significantly - no cell phones. Li-cense plate bingo and "I Spy" games was how we got through those seven hour stretches with the obligatory wail of 99 Bottles of Beer on the Wall. We'd usually stop once or twice - fill up on gas, candy and behold the "World's Largest Pistachio/Pickle/Brontosaurus etc..." at those jerry-built, sunburnt, souvenir stands.

It was a time of togetherness, we had to as a family work as a team. With a navigator who could read maps, a spotter who would call out the road signs, and sturdy bladders that squeezed it in until the next break. It was quaint, it was comfortable, it was as the forests, lakes and canyons we drove by - majestic.

Elon Musk threw a wrench into all that. My muse and I recently took a trip up the coast in a rented allelectric Tesla. It added a new word to our vocabulary -Range Anxiety. From the outside the car was no great shakes, a bulbous spawn borne of a Japanese sedan and a Mexican VW Beetle. The Tesla chrome plated logo, mounted on the trunk disarmingly resembled a contraceptive intrauterine device, odd in light of the many children Musk has sired. But once you're in the driver's seat the vehicle has an unexpected surprise - like finding a lump of coal in your Christmas stocking.

There are no buttons, knobs or switches on a Tesla, just an IMAX size screen that controls every known function of the car. If you're sitting at your desk having your morning cup of coffee, this design seems quite workable but speeding down a six lane freeway at 80 miles an hour, well - hope you can scroll to the right page to find the wiper function before you rear end that Walmart tractor trailer.

We have a "vintage" Toyota Corolla. On a full tank of gas, we can eke out 300 miles from it. Our destination was just short of 450 miles. In the Toyota we could do the trip with one refuel/potty stop with a cornucopia of gas stations along the way. But we were in the Tesla which had a range of only 220 miles. We could've upgraded to the model that topped 330 miles but the muse thought the extra $5 was a con, like adding SiriusXM to the rental package.

Much like Gilligan's 3 hour cruise turned into 3 years on prime time television, our planned 6 hour drive turned into 7+ hours of driving, charging and recharging the Tesla. Not only were the charging stations sparsely located but the stations like the car, were the IKEA minimalist of road stops. No BBQ joints, platter-sized pancakes, not even a coffee hut, which in retrospect may be for the better as the charging stations only provided Port-A-Potties (and all the women said "Yuck!").

I'm truly onboard for a cleaner, sustainable environment and if electric is the pathway forward let's go for it, but please - keep the 2 story tall Supercolossal Donut.

FATHER'S DAY IS JUST AROUND THE BEND!

Okay, guys, we have made it through another Mother's Day Cycle. "Phew"! The 24 hour Father's Day cycle begins 12:01am Sunday morning, June 18th, and ends at 12:00 am sharp Monday, June 19th.

More importantly... the 2024 Mother's Day Season begins precisely at 12:01am, Monday, June 19th 2023, concluding 11 months later at the end of Mother's Day, Monday, May 12, 2024.

It's important to understand the distinction between Mother's and Father's Day. Father's Day is a 24 hour period of celebration. Mother's Day is a 11-month sea-son. Write this down. Or there will be H.E. double hockey sticks to pay.

So, dads annually get 1 day of celebration and moms get 11 months. The fact is the numbers and percentages are just about right. Especially when you factor in who endures the birthing process. I'm certain, 98% of all moms would do any-thing if God would transfer the birthing process to the male of the species. By the way, there is only one species of animals on the planet where the men get preg-nant. Seahorses.

How have men been affected by becoming Fathers? Well, lets take a look:

"I just sit there and make up songs and sing to my son in gibberish. I'm very good a gibberish now.' Elton John

"During the sole argument we had when Chelsea was in high school...,I looked at her and said, 'As long as you're in this house (the White House), being president is my second most important job." Bill Clinton

"I have found the best way to give advice to your children is to find out what they want and then advise them to do it." Harry S. Truman "Before I got married I had six theories about raising children; now, I have six chil-dren and no theories." John Wilmot

"The most amazing feeling I feel; words cannot describe what I'm feeling for real; Maybe I paint the sky blue; My greatest creation was you." Jay-Z

"My father gave me the greatest gift anyone could give another person: he be-lieved in me." Coach Jim Valvano

What would I like to hear from my kids?

"Thanks for acting like a kid when I was a kid, acting like a friend when I needed a friend, and acting like a parent when I needed a parent. You are the best man I know.'

And possibly the greatest words kids can say to your dad: "I'll never be too old to need you, Dad." So, dads, lets be sure and work overtime earning what is the most important part of our existence...being a servant leader to our kids. Lol, and just a servant to our spouses! We got little more than 2 weeks until our day!

Saluting the Class of 2023

ROMAN SAILES, VALEDICTORIAN, CENTER FOR INDEPENDENT STUDIES ACADEMY (CIS)

Roman Sailes will head to Cal Poly Pomona to study Computer Science after graduating from CIS Academy next month. Roman made the Principal's Honor Roll in his freshman and sophomore years, won the National Black Scholar Award in junior year, and earned the Academic Excellence Award in senior year. This outstanding student has also been a part of the Bright Future Scholars program since 7th grade.

Roman is the Valedictorian for CIS Academy's Class of 2023.

"I've worked hard to keep up my grades and even though school hasn't been easy, I'm proud of myself for making it this far and I'm very grateful to everyone who's had my back and supported me throughout it," Roman said.

Roman had a tough decision to make and was also accepted at Cal State Los Angeles, Cal State Northridge, and Cal State Dominguez Hills.

CHRISTINA LEYVA, JOHN MUIR HIGH SCHOOL EARLY COLLEGE MAGNET

A senior in the Arts, Entertainment, and Media Pathway Academy at John Muir High School Early College Magnet, Christina Leyva spoke eloquently at the annual State of Schools event on May 18. Christina is a 2023 Posse Scholar, selected to receive a four-year, full-tuition scholarship from the Posse Los Angeles Foundation. She was also one of eight students in the State of California to earn the Linked Learning Alliance Student of the Year Scholarship. Christina is in the Puente program and has taken several Advanced Placement (AP) courses. She has also earned nearly 30 college credits through the Early College Program at John Muir.

As a high school athlete and leader, she is involved in water polo, swimming, and marching band and is the student body secretary. Christina interned at Pasadena's Light Bringer Project, created a podcast with local senior citizens, and participated in the College Access Plan, a nonprofit that helps students succeed in college.

Christina will attend Dickinson College in Pennsylvania, where she plans to major in English and possibly double major in Humanities. She plans to pursue a career helping children as a speech-language pathologist.

NOAH KRONSBURG, PASADENA HIGH SCHOOL

Noah Kronsburg Class of 2023Noah Kronsburg is headed to an Ivy League university and says Pasadena High School helped him get there. Noah received a merit scholarship to study sociology at Columbia University and he is hoping to earn two bachelor's degrees simultaneously through Columbia's Joint Program with List College of the Jewish Theological Seminary (JTS).

"Being one of the few Jewish students at Pasadena High School, I am proud to represent my heritage, and will continue doing so throughout my education," Noah said. "Pasadena High School gave me the resources to succeed not only academically but socially. The teachers, counselors, and administrators really care about the students and do whatever they can in aiding them to succeed."

Noah found success both inside and outside of the classroom. He played varsity tennis for four years, was team captain for two years, and was Commissioner of Publicity for the school's Associated Student Body. A member of the Principal's Honor Roll with Distinction, Noah is also a National AP Scholar with Distinction, a member of the National Honor Society, and has achieved Life Membership in the California Scholarship Federation.

PASADENA, CA - On Saturday, May 6, 2023, the Blinn House in Pasadena was filled with community members, elected officials, supporters, family, and friends as the Pasadena Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Incorporated hosted its Annual Academic Awards Reception, "Celebrating Excellence" in honor of the 2023 Academic Award Recipients. The room was beautifully decorated by Scarlet Flowers Designs, setting the stage for an enjoyable afternoon. The program opened with a meaningful invocation by the Chapter Chaplain, Michele Bagneris, Esquire followed by a warm welcome from Chapter President TyAnne Evans. Congresswoman Judy Chu, State Senator Anthony Portantino, Councilman Tyron Hampton, Ann Marie Hickambottom representing Assemblyman Chris Holden, and Nathaniel Tsai representing Supervisor Kathryn Barger brought greetings to the audience. Dr. Allison Steppes, a committee member, introduced the keynote speaker, Dr. Brandi Payne, Assistant Professor at Los Angeles Valley College, presented an encouraging, motivational, and inspirational address for the students and the entire audience.

Denise Jones, Academic Awards Committee Chair presented awards to the following deserving and accomplished Pasadena area high school graduates: Houlemard Family and Carolyn Edwards Jones Commemorative to Noah Haile, Jane Strong-Moses & Jesse Moses, and Nelle Kigh Thompson to Cole Jackson, Jean & Clarence Mills Family to Adrian Crick, Gwendolyn & Tommy McMullins Family to Noel Johnson-Montoya, Mabel Lockett Martin Commemorative to Asa Phillips, Anita Johnson Cole Commemorative to Joshua Andrews, the Presidents Commemorative to Zora Phillips and Willie Mae Hooks Lewis Commemorative to Xavier Smith. Certificates of commendation were received by each award winner from the offices of Congresswoman Judy Chu, Senator Anthony Portantino, Assemblyman Chris Holden, Supervisor Kathryn Barger, Mayor Victor Gordo, and Councilman Tyron Hampton.

Pasadena Alumnae has given over $480,000 in academic awards to worthy students for the pursuit of post-secondary education over the last sixty years. Since its chartering on January 27, 1961, Pasadena Alumnae has provided major programs of the Sorority based upon the Five-Point Program Thrust: economic development, educational development, international awareness and involvement, physical and mental health, and political awareness and involvement.
