WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side

"I always prefer to believe the best of everybody; it saves so much trouble." Rudyard Kipling

"Isn't it nice to think that tomorrow is a new day with no mistakes in it yet?" Lucy Maud Montgomery

No more discussion about rain. It's going to be Spring. It's going to be beautiful. The Wistaria is going to bloom like never before. All Sierra Madre's gardens will be absolutely awesome. Wildflowers will bloom on every hill and there will be peace in our little corner of the world. Trust me!

That quote by Rudyard Kipling up there at the top is a wonderful thought. I totally agree with it and live my life that way. However, there is currently a person or entity of some sort that is continually hacking into my computer, attempting to either rob me blind or drive me around the bend. I am not thinking the best of that person. The tech guy is coming tomorrow to see if he can find my menace and banish him forever to someplace unpleasant.

Friday,, March 1st, was our daughter, Patti's, birthday. You will remember Patti is our Leap Year birthday girl. The 1st was also our granddaughter, Nicole's, birthday. Patti gave herself the gift of a lifetime some years ago on her birthday. Her daughter, Nicole. Happy birthday, Patti and Nicole, a few days late. I know the day was filled with joy, laughter and delight. These women are awesome.

And, speaking of awesome, I don't know if you've heard of this book: The Book of Awesome, by Neil Pasricha, which I bought for myself from Amazon for $11.08. Neil listed so many absolutely awesome things in his book... small simple things. It got me thinking about all the awesome things around me. The picture today is of flowers...

Awesome is an adjective meaning extremely impressive or daunting, inspiring great admiration. You'll be able to whip up your own list of awesome things in about ten seconds because we are surrounded by awesomeness. Here are a few of mine:

Being inside and watching rain pouring down outside.

Watching the sun come up every day.

The first cup of coffee in the morning. And a lemon muffin to go with it.

Seeing a friend you haven't seen in a while.

Reading a really good book. Finding a $5 bill in your pocket.

Getting a letter in the mail.

Turning the seat warmer on in your car.

Having a good hair day. Finding the sheets or towels you've been dying to have unexpectedly on sale.

Flowers. Any kind of flower, any color, any shape.

Weighing yourself and finding you've actually lost a pound or two.

Unexpectedly seeing the full moon early in the morning. Watching a hummingbird build a nest in the tree outside your window.

Knowing God loves us no matter what.

Crawling into bed with clean sheets on it. Seeing pictures of your grandchildren doing adorable things.

Going out to eat and finding you have rewards and your bill is $10 less. Turning on your car and one of your favorite Jimmy Buffet songs is playing.

> In a world where you can be anything you want to be...Be KIND! "Until further notice, celebrate everything!" David Wolfe

Lent is here, which means Easter is on its way. "The Crown" a story about what could have happened to The Crown of Thorns that pierced Jesus' brow, is now an actual book, in addition to a Kindle book. 'The Crown" will enrich your Easter experience.

Abolitionist Gravesite in Altadena Gets Historical Landmark Nomination

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors unanimously approved a motion Tuesday, introduced by Supervisor Kathryn Barger, that nominates renowned abolitionist Owen Brown's gravesite to be designated as a Los Angeles County Historical Landmark. A commemorative rustic stone and additional stones placed to mark the presumed outline of Mr. Brown's body currently identify his final resting place in Altadena, on a hilltop at the northern end of El Prieto Road. "It is a great honor to nominate Owen Brown's gravesite as a historical landmark," said Supervisor Kathryn Barger. "His fight against slavery and unwavering commitment to treating all human beings with dignity, respect, and equality reflects his courage and vision. Preserving his gravesite will help future generations pay homage to his memory."

Supervisor Barger also thanked reported, "It was a historic day members of the Altadena in Pasadena."

community who have formed the Owen Brown Committee and have served as advocates for the historic landmark designation. Committee member and local Altadena resident Michele Zack provided public testimony during the Board of Supervisors' meeting.

"It's a long time coming," Zack stated. "Altadena Heritage first nominated the site in 1989, but it was turned down. We have kept alive efforts to honor this sacred site - a memorial to those who fought to end slavery in America - for over 35 years."

Owen Brown was born on November 4, 1824 in Hudson, Ohio - one of twenty children from his father's (abolitionist John Brown) first family. At the time of his death, he was the last survivor of John's Brown's historic raid on Harpers Ferry. He died in Altadena on January 8, 1889. Pasadena to Enforce Dog Leash Laws

With an increase of community reports of offleash dogs at Pasadena parks, city officials are reminding the public to leash dogs at all times while visiting city parks, with the exception of Alice's Dog Park in Viña Vieja Park and Playhouse Village Dog Park which are designated offleash areas.

Pasadena Municipal Code (PMC) 6.12.010 prohibits off-leash dogs in City parks outside of designated off-leash areas. Those who violate the code are subject to citation, which may result in a fine up to $500.

To ensure the safety of all park visitors, the City of Pasadena will begin issuing citations to dog owners with dogs off-leash starting Thursday, Feb. 22. Pasadena Humane will enforce leash requirements and continue to provide the community with education on dog-leashing.

Our focus is to ensure that public spaces remain safe for all park visitors," said Pasadena Public Health Department Deputy Director, Manuel Carmona.

Leashing dogs reduces the risk for dog attacks on other dogs and humans, and lowers the risk of other accidents, such as dogs being hit by passing cars.

Pasadena park visitors who witness unleashed dogs can report their concerns to Pasadena Humane at (626) 792-7151 ext. 102. For more information, visit:

Pasadena Election Charter Amendments R, S, and T

City officials released a rundown last week of Measures Election ballot so residents can decide whether to approve amendments to the Pasadena Charter –the City Council voted unanimously in December to move forward with the Measures.

The charter amendments, if approved by the majority of voters, will enable the city to update outdated codes and language, adapt to changes, eliminate burdensome processes, set limits, and ensure that resources are used effectively, ultimately saving money and benefitting the community.

According to city officials, these measures are not a new tax and do not increase taxes. The measures also do not increase utility rates; in fact, Measure R maintains a 4 percent reduction in the utility transfer approved by voters in 2020 they said. For financial transparency and public accountability, it will require updating the Pasadena accounting method to align Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). The proposed update to the accounting method lead to improved financial management and the ability to allocate resources to essential services such as 911 response, fire, paramedic, public health, street repairs, and senior and homeless services.

The Measure S amendment will require the City Council to set limits by ordinance for contracts, purchases, and claim approvals. It will maintain oversight, improve city response, and enhance efficiency in executing contracts. Measure S streamlines the procurement process and eliminates a burdensome process for a contractor/business owner to save time and money. > Measure T is an amendment to the Charter that will allow the city to create alternative contract selection methods that can be more efficient, transparent, and accountable for bidding and delivering public improvements. The amendment will attract a broader range of vendors and contractors, fostering increased competition, leading to betterquality services and innovative solutions, and ensuring the best value for its investments.

> Under Measure T, the alternative project delivery method is designed to expedite the project, resulting in significant time savings. It allows the city to adapt to industry best practices that lead to practical and modern approaches to project management and contract selection while complying with rules and regulations. Additionally, allowing for additional contract selection methods, particularly those that improve the chances of hiring local businesses, contributing to the community's economic development, creating job opportunities, and stimulating our local economy. Measures R, S, and T maintain accountability provisions, such as public disclosure of all spending and annual financial audits, while updating outdated language and codes.

In 1886, Pasadena was officially incorporated. By 1901, Pasadena had evolved into a Charter City with an elected Mayor through a vote of the people. In the following years, the City saw significant improvements with the installation of amenities such as sewers, paved streets, and electric street lighting. Over the decades, amendments to and the city, allowing for more the Charter helped modernize efficient handling of contracts and improve city governance. For more information visit

MONROVIA LAUNCHES LED STREETLIGHT PILOT STUDY

Last December, the City launched a streetlight pilot study that will last through mid-March with new streetlights located along:

- Almond Avenue from South Canyon Boulevard to California Avenue, California Avenue to East Maple Avenue, East Maple Avenue to South Shamrock Avenue
 - West Duarte Road from Encino Avenue to Alamitas Avenue

The City replaced the streetlight bulbs in the above areas with warm-white LED bulbs, which are closer in appearance to the amber glow of conventional streetlights, unlike the bright white of a common LED light. The new LED streetlights are substantially more energy-efficient than the previous lights, using only 30 to 70 percent less electricity. In general, LED streetlights are also more reliable, last longer, and are less expensive to operate.

We urge everyone to see the lights for themselves and help us select the best bulb for our city. Drive, walk, or bike along our pilot streets when the lights are on (evening and early morning) and check out the new LED lights! Then, take the survey linked below.

Responses are due by Friday, March 8, 2024.

L.A. COUNTY SUPERVISORS SEEK INVESTIGATION OF HOME INSURANCE COMPANIES' POLICIES

Last week, the Los Angeles County Board of left to fend for themselves. That's simply Supervisors unanimously passed a motion unacceptable." Supervisors unanimously passed a motion introduced by Supervisor Kathryn Barger and co-authored by Supervisor Lindsey P. Horvath that mobilizes the County's advocacy on behalf of homeowners who are struggling to get or keep their insurance coverage due to wildfire threat.

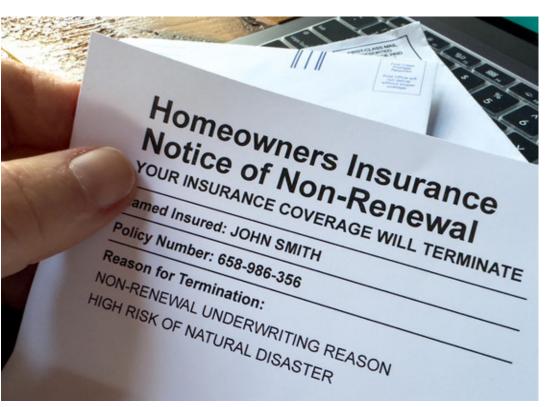

The County will ask California Insurance Commissioner Ricardo Lara to investigate the compliance measures that insurance companies require from homeowners to keep their coverage.

"It's no secret that insurance providers have become more conservative due to increased wildfire threats statewide," noted Supervisor Kathryn Barger. "As a result, homeowners are increasingly being put in a very tough position: pay higher premiums and comply with varied, costly, and inconsistent mitigation requirements or lose your insurance. I've heard from many of my constituents district wide who are facing steep cost increases or being dropped altogether by their insurance carriers and

"As our climate warms, our hillside and mountain communities face increasing fire danger and limited options for fire insurance," said Board Chair Lindsey P. Horvath. "This dichotomy results in mounting financial challenges putting Angelenos even more at risk. Los Angeles County is standing up for impacted communities to make sure they are able to access life-saving insurance coverage."

The motion also mobilizes Los Angeles County's legislative advocacy team, directing them to seek opportunities for the County to support proposed laws that would stabilize California's fire insurance market and enhance protections for homeowners.

A recent constituent call to Supervisor Barger's office reported a 600 percent increase in the annual premium for insurance for homeowners in the City of Pasadena.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY ELECTION -MARCH 5, 2024

INFORMATION FROM THE CALIFORNIA SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE

How are primary elections conducted in California?

All candidates for voter-nominated offices are listed on one ballot and only the top two vote-getters in the primary election – regardless of party preference - move on to the general election.

Write-in candidates for voter-nominated offices can only run in the primary election. A write-in candidate will only move on to the general election if the candidate is one of the top two vote-getters in the primary election.

Prior to the Top Two Candidates Open Primary Act, the top vote-getter from each qualified political party, as well as any write-in candidate who received a certain percentage of votes, moved on to the general election.

The Top Two Candidates Open Primary Act does not apply to candidates running for U.S. President, county central committee, or local office.

How are presidential primary elections conducted in California?

PET FRIENDLY RESTAURANTS UPDATED

First of all, the term "pet friendly" might be considered an oxymoron. The rule of the thumb is that the restaurants have some sort of outdoor (al fresco) patio dining. Each city has its own regulations on laws about bringing Fido to restaurants. Here are a few guidelines that I have come up with.

To keep obliging restaurants happy with their decisions to include pets, here are some etiquette rules you and your pet should follow when dining out:

- Keep your animal leashed at all times.
- No barking
- No begging
- No jumping
- No eating off the table
- No sitting on chairs, tables or benches Do not enter the inside of the restaurant.
- Current vaccination tags should be on pet's collar
- Bring your own food dish and water bowl. Health codes prohibit pets from eating and drinking from restaurant dishes and glasses.
- Get your pet to sit under or as close to the table base as possible to reduce the chances of your waiter tripping over your pet

Now that we got that out of the way here is a list of local favorites, did I miss a spot? Please

The wonderful Raymond Restaurant 1886 is a great place for happy hour and, depending on the weather, a great place for your pooch. I have it on good authority that all three Lucky Baldwin's allow pets and that the Old Pasadena location even has some treats on the menu (beer?). Sierra Madre's Casa Del Rey is very dog friendly and has water bowls for Lil Milo and you can enjoy the tacos, right across the street is the Wisteria, yes just visited there last night!!! One of my favorite Italian restaurants is Mi Piace - space is limited but they will welcome your puppy with open arms. Looking for some Tex with your Mex? El Portal on Colorado Blvd. has a great patio and is perfect for a meeting of you and your pooch. Porta Via Italian Foods on California tells me that they are dog friendly. Well, the Dog Haus better be dog friendly, right? Check out both locations, but I would suggest the one on Green St. The new True Foods is a great place for a Sunday Mimosa on their patio, and Bella will feel like a champ . If your like Susan Henderson and golfing is your thing take your pug to Brookside Golf Course! Well, I know I missed a few but that's a great list to start with.

Level: Easy Total: 13 hr Prep: 15 min Inactive: 12 hr Cook: 45 min Yield: 12 servings

INGREDIENTS

Butter, for greasing

1 loaf crusty sourdough or French bread

8 whole eggs

2 cups whole milk

1/2 cup whipping (heavy) cream 1/2 cup granulated sugar

1/2 cup brown sugar

2 tablespoons vanilla extract 1/2 cup all-purpose flour

1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

1/4 teaspoon salt

Freshly grated nutmeg

1 stick cold butter, cut into pieces, plus more for serving

Warm pancake syrup, for serving 1 cup fresh blueberries, for serving

DIRECTIONS:

Special equipment: 9-by-13-inch baking pan

For the French toast:

Grease the baking pan with butter.

Tear the bread into chunks, or cut into cubes, and evenly distribute in the pan. Crack the eggs in a big bowl. Whisk together the eggs, milk, cream, granulated sugar, brown sugar and vanilla. Pour evenly over the bread. Cover the pan tightly and store in the fridge until needed (overnight preferably).

For the topping:

Mix the flour, brown sugar, cinnamon, salt and some nutmeg in a separate bowl. Stir together using a fork. Add the butter and with a pastry cutter, and mix it all together until the mixture resembles fine pebbles. Store in a re-sealable plastic bag in the fridge.

When you're ready to bake the casserole, preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Remove the casserole from the fridge and sprinkle the topping over the top. Bake for 45 minutes for a softer, more bread pudding texture or for 1 hour or more for a firmer, crisper texture.

Scoop out individual portions. Top with butter and drizzle with warm pancake syrup and sprinkle with blueberries.

THE TASTING ROOM

I'm Gustavo Lira, Tasting Room Manager and Wine Buyer at The Bottle Shop in Sierra Madre with another wine and spirits selection.

March is Women's History Month which is a great time to showcase one of the most amazing women I have ever met. Bibiana Gonzalez Rave-Pisoni is her name, and she has quite a fascinating story. She's a mother of two young boys. She's one of the best winemakers in America. She sources, ferments, and roasts coffee from her native Colombia. And... she's a Badass Woman!

Bibiana is the owner and winemaker of Cattleya Wines, Alma de Cattleya Wines, and makes wine with her husband Jeff under the Shared Notes label. Bibiana and Jeff also own and operate Shared Notes Coffee Roasters. I've known Bibiana for several years now and immediately loved the wines she was producing. They all share elegance, finesse, and character. I also was drawn to her determination and will to follow her dream of becoming a winemaker.

Growing up in Medellin, Colombia doesn't exactly provide you an easy road to being a winemaker. She understood this and made her mind up to move to France when she was 18 years old to enroll in Viticulture & Oenology school. She sat in the Dean's office until she convinced them to accept her into the school. She did this on her own without a penny to her name and without speaking a word of French. Within a month of starting school, she was pretty much fluent in French.

After obtaining her Viticulture & Oenology Degree and a Diploma of Oenology with Honors from the University of Bordeaux, Bibiana eventually made her way to California. She worked at several wineries before starting her own winery. Grit, determination, and fortitude - this is what this woman is all about.

She's also about making the best wine she can. The Cattleya "The Initiation" Syrah 2021 is flat out brilliant. Refined and elegant with lovely spice and floral notes. It's gorgeously layered and above all, it's balanced and delicious. The Alma de Cattleya Pinot Noir 2022 is a delightful wine with brightness, rose floral notes, and berry notes, followed by a smooth and lengthy finish. These are only two examples of the wines she makes. Once you taste them, you will fall in love with her wines just as I did years ago.

The Bottle Shop has the Cattleya "The Initiation" Syrah 2021 for $69.99 and the Alma de Cattleya Pinot Noir 2022 for $28.99. We also have Shared Notes Whole Bean Coffee for $22.99.

Start off Women's History Month the right way by enjoying these incredible wines (and coffee) made by one Badass Woman!

Until next time - Salud!

STATE SUPERINTENDENT TONY THURMOND ANNOUNCES 2024 CALIFORNIA DISTINGUISHED SCHOOLS

Sierra Madre Middle School, South Pasadena Middle School, Duarte High School, Arcadia 1st Ave. Middle School and Monrovia Clifton Middle School Are Among the 293 schools selected statewide.

SACRAMENTO—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tony Thurmond today announced that 293 middle schools and high schools have been selected for the prestigious 2024 California Distinguished Schools Program, California's school recognition program that recognizes two categories of exceptional schools: those closing the achievement gap and those demonstrating exceptional student performance.

Since its inception in 1985, the California Distinguished Schools Award remains one of the state's most important ways to celebrate exceptional schools, districts, teachers, and classified employees for their innovation, talent, and success in supporting students.

The exceptional middle and high schools recognized this year are illustrative of the persistence and promise of California's students, educators, and schools. To select California Distinguished Schools, the California Department of Education (CDE) uses multiple measures to identify eligible schools based on their performance on the state indicators as specified on the California School Dashboard (Dashboard).

Specifically, schools were selected by analyzing data reported through the 2023 Dashboard, with a focus on demonstrating excellence and growth in academic achievement and ensuring a positive school climate.

Schools are recognized for exceptional student performance based on achieving exemplary performance in English Language Arts (ELA) and math, reducing suspensions, and demonstrating high graduation rates (high schools only).

Schools recognized for closing the achievement gap enroll at least 40 percent of their students from socioeconomically disadvantaged backgrounds and, in addition to demonstrating exemplary overall performance in ELA and math, achieve accelerated academic growth for one or more historically underserved student groups.

Information regarding the 2023 Dashboard is provided on the CDE California School Dashboard and System of Support web page.

"It is my pleasure to honor and recognize these 293 secondary schools for their efforts to provide exemplary public education to all students. Excellent middle schools and high schools play a critical role in the life outcomes of our young people," Thurmond said. "This year's California Distinguished Schools celebration provides us with an opportunity to recognize the hard work of our secondary educators and school staff who help our young adults discover passions and access college- and career-ready experiences that will propel them through life."

The 2024 California Distinguished Schools, along with the 2023 National Blue Ribbon Schools, 2023 Civic Learning Award Schools, and 2023 and 2024 California Exemplary Dual Enrollment Award Schools, will be recognized at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim on May 3, 2024.

The California Distinguished Schools is an annual school recognition program of the California Department of Education. The list of 293 schools for 2024 is below. Elementary schools and middle and high schools are recognized in alternate years; therefore, awardees hold the title for two years. For more information, please visit the CDE California Distinguished Schools Program web page.

SO HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU TIP?

Some time ago at a restaurant, my family experienced an unpleasant interaction when it came time to pay the bill. My father picked up the check, and wrote a certain amount for the tip onto the receipt. My brother, who has worked in restaurants, asked if he could see the bill. My brother looked at it and told my father that the tip was too small. This led to a semi-heated discussion about what is the appropriate amount to give as a tip.

My brother pointed out that too many restaurant workers get low pay with the assumption that they make it up in tips, and that my father should give a higher percentage as the tip. By the way, this restaurant was not following the practice of putting an actual suggested dollar amount for the tip on the check, which my father always found offensive. Anyway, my brother said the tip was too small and that my father should pay more.

My father then explained how he didn't find it fair that any business should underpay employees with the expectation of tip money making up the difference. He asked my brother, "Do you even know what a tip is?"

"Sure," said Thomas, "it's a way to thank the restaurant worker for good service."

"Yes," said my father, "the word TIPS originally meant To Insure Prompt Service." We all scratched our heads over that one. Maybe he was right, maybe he wasn't.

But my father felt that he was paying the bill for the family, and no one should tell him what to pay for a tip. That was a typical type of response for my father. My brother was disappointed, but we left what had been an otherwise pleasant meal with perhaps a bit of unresolved indigestion.

So, what should you give for a tip? Is it all about the correct percentage? Ten percent? Fifteen percent? More? Are tips simply optional fees that we give if we felt the service was great?

I talked with many people about tipping, including some who told me that they never, or rarely tip, because they believe that the cost they are quoted for a job or meal should be an accurate and fair

Dolores Miller of Temple City, California, told me "In my seasoned career as a waitress, I experienced and learned many things which are relevant to your question about tipping. Between 1970 and 1975, I received wages as low as 35 cents an hour, and as 'high' as $1.65 an hour. Minimum wage laws were different for tipped employees. [Miller had been working in Colorado]. People who received good services but who tipped less than 20 percent 'on principle,' hurt only people like me. Remember, the management received full pay from the check, plus they siphoned a bit more from me via 'tip splitting,' where every working in the restaurant gets a bit of the tip."

Miller continues, "The IRS once audited me for two previous years, taking an arbitrary percentage of my gross sales. Because the management of one hotel where I worked (and was audited) had been so inept, and because I worked in the coffee shop area, the tips that I actually received did not cover what the IRS said I must have made.

"If one is moved to correct an abominable situation that a waiter and waitress must contend with, then 'stiffing' the waiter or waitress is a poor way to protest. Talk to the restaurant owners, or even boycott or picket the greedy restauranteurs instead. Demand changes in the minimum wage laws. Insist that the IRS change their policies. '

Miller added that one should write to their lawmakers to seek some change in this situation, which has slowly been occurring in some states. She felt that a blanket policy of "low tipping on principle" is both ineffective and ignorant.

Most of the people I spoke to practiced tipping, but there was a wide range of confusion over how much to tip. Most did not like the growing trend of "mandatory gratuity" on the check, since the tip is regarded as voluntary. However, some say that tipping is actually not voluntary in today's world.

I often had uncertainties about tipping, not knowing if I should tip high or low, or at all when I got poor service.

Once I was eating at a downtown Los Angeles restaurant with a teacher of mine and a few other students. When we were done, the teacher paid the exact amount of the bill. No tip? I wondered. Then, he called the waitress over to the table, and he put cash into her hand and thanked her for the service. I was dumbfounded but found that to be freshly uplifting. I was used to leaving a tip on the table or writing it into the receipt, very anonymously.

My teacher said that such an action allowed him a greater degree of interaction with the server, and allowed him to express appreciation in a way that mattered. When asked if that tip would be diluted because of the rules of the establishment, my teacher only shrugged.

When I checked IRS policy, they do require tips to be recorded as part of your income, and because so much of it can be cash, the amount one reports is largely based on the honor system, and subject to auditing, such as Dolores Miller described.

The current situation is that the patrons to restaurants can be made out to be the bad-guys if their tips are below someone's idea of the "correct percentage." But the real culprits are the laws, and restaurant management which can get away with paying low wages to its workers.

For myself personally, I accepted that I am not going to change the world. But I began to follow my teacher's example, and I have learned to enjoy the tipping process with restaurant, taxis, and the guy who the auto club sends to give my battery a charge. I have found that a growing sense of appreciation has developed within me towards all the service workers who make my life flow smoothly and pleasantly, and I experience the joy in seeing their smiles when I over-tip and tell them why.

The invaluable contributions of caregivers often go unnoticed or

As we resume our daily routines post-pandemic, it's vital to acknowledge that some of our loved ones still rely on caregivers for unwavering support and hope. While many are returning to normalcy, these individuals face unique challenges and uncertainties, highlighting their ongoing need for support and Primary recipients of care often suffer from Non-Communicable Diseases (NCDs) and other serious illnesses, significantly limiting their ability to self-care and necessitating caregiver assistance. Examples include cardiovascular diseases, cancer, diabetes, chronic kidney diseases, and Alzheimer's disease.

Caregivers provide not only physical aid but also crucial emotional support, laying a foundation of love and hope for their families. Postpandemic life serves as a reminder of the continued importance of caregivers, showcasing the resilience of both caregivers and their charges in the face of life's challenges.

While immediate family members may serve as caregivers in fortunate cases, others rely on hired aides or external helpers. The sacrifices made by caregivers, regardless of their relationship to the recipient, often entail immense dedication and selflessness, involving physical, emotional, and financial challenges.

Acknowledging the vital role of caregivers is essential, as it underscores their contribution to enhancing the well-being of those in need. In some cases, dedicated siblings step up as primary caregivers, driven by familial duty and love, highlighting the delicate balance between professional obligations and family responsibilities.

It's imperative for all siblings to actively participate in caregiving responsibilities to support the primary caregiver. Implementing a rotational approach ensures shared duties, allowing necessary breaks for the primary caregiver to focus on personal and professional aspects.

In a heartfelt example, my cousin diligently cares for our elderly mother, despite her own demanding career and family responsibilities. This illustrates the resilience and commitment required in caregiving, emphasizing the importance of a robust support network.

In conclusion, maintaining strong relationships between caregivers and recipients, as well as within the family, is paramount. Prioritizing self-care doesn't diminish strength; rather, it ensures caregivers can effectively support their loved ones while maintaining their own well-being.

HOW TO GET EXTRA HELP PAYING FOR PRESCRIPTIONS

Dear Savvy Senior:

Does Medicare offer any financial assistance programs to help seniors with their medication costs? I recently enrolled in a Medicare drug plan, but I take some expensive medications that have high out-of-pocket costs and need some help. Living on a Shoestring

Dear Living:

Yes, there's a low-income subsidy program called 'Extra Help' that assists Medicare beneficiaries on a tight budget by paying for their monthly premiums, annual deductibles, and co-payments related to their Medicare (Part D) prescription drug coverage.

And, thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act that was passed by Congress and signed into law in late 2022, this program has expanded and gotten easier to qualify for in 2024. Even if you've applied and didn't qualify before, you may be eligible now.

The Extra Help benefit is estimated to be worth about $5,300 per year. Currently over 13 million people are receiving this subsidy, but there's around 3 million more who may qualify for it but don't realize it.

The amount of financial assistance you would receive depends on your income and assets. If you qualify, you'll pay no premium or deductible (unless receiving a partial subsidy), and no more than $4.50 for each generic drug or $11.20 for each brand-name drug your plan covers in

To get the subsidy, your resources must be limited to $17,220 or $34,360 for married couples living together. Bank accounts, stocks, bonds, mutual funds and IRAs count as assets, but your home, vehicle, personal belongings, life insurance and burial plots do not.

Also, your annual income must be limited to $22,590 for an individual or $30,660 for married couples. If you support a family member who lives with you, or you live in Alaska or Hawaii, your income can be higher. In addition, the government won't count any money if you receive help for household expenses like food, rent, mortgage payments, utilities and property taxes.

How to Apply

There are three ways to see if you qualify and apply for Extra Help: online at SSA.gov/medicare/ part-d-extra-help; by calling Social Security at 800-772-1213; or by visiting your local Social

The application form is easy to complete, but you will need your Social Security number and information about your bank balances, pensions and investments. Social Security will review your application and send you a letter within a few weeks letting you know whether you qualify.

If you don't qualify for Extra Help, you may still be able to get help from a state pharmacy assistance program or a patient assistance program. Visit NeedyMeds.org to search for these programs.

Other Medicare Assistance

If you're eligible for Extra Help, you may also qualify for help with your other Medicare expenses through your state's Medicare Savings Program.

State Medicaid programs partner with the federal government, so income and asset qualifications vary depending on where you live. Medicare Savings Programs will pay your entire Medicare Part B premium each month. And in some cases, they may also pay your Medicare deductibles, coinsurance and copayments, depending on your income level. To find out if you qualify, contact your state Medicaid office.

You can also get help through your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP), which provides free Medicare counseling in person or over the phone. Visit ShipHelp.org or call 877-839-2675 to locate a counselor in your area.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

I must confess that I do have | if that ever happened. boy, do they come hungry for | Parsonage.

their treats.

Two cats born in our garage are still hanging around. They come morning, noon, and night for their treats. In the morning, they like to come and have me scratch their head. I'm not sure what that has to do with anything, but I'm willing to scratch their head if that's what they want.

Unlike me, The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage is not very fond of critters of any nature. The only critter she likes is Yours Truly. I guess I'm enough of a critter to satisfy any longings like that. I hope she doesn't try to scratch my head.

When she goes to the door and opens it, the cats run in like they are crazy. As soon as they see that it's her, they turn around and race outside as fast as possible.

For me, it's fun to watch all these critters gather around as though they were friends. We have about five cats, four raccoons, two possums, and lately, our newest critters are chickens from our neighbor next door.

For some reason, these chickens have found the kitty food on our porch and like coming over and enjoy a snack. I enjoy watching them dance around on the porch, eating the snacks. Also, the cats are sitting on the rocking chairs on the porch and over these chickens as they come for their daily treats. If The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage sees these chickens, she immediately opens the door and chases them away. She will often throw water at them to keep them from returning.

Obviously, they're not that frightened of her and return on a regular schedule. To them it's Treats over Fear. Out on the porch, we also have a bunch of birds, and at times hummingbirds. We have a lot of wasps and bees flying around. Then we have ants galore. Somehow, they found the bowl of kitty food and try to come as often as they can. The biggest obstacle, of course, is The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage.

A few years ago, we had foxes that came in the evening, but I haven't seen them for a

And then we have lizards. For some reason, they came to our back porch and moved in. They act like they own the place and do all kinds of lizardly things, much to the chagrin of The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. I've heard a rumor about some black bear in our neighborhood. It would be a delight some night to see a black bear coming on our back porch eating some kitty treats. Of course, The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage would have an absolute meltdown a liking for critters of all kinds. I enjoy feeding them out on the back porch, and black bear or The Gracious Mistress of the

One morning, I was in the bathroom getting ready for the day when I noticed in the shower a little lizard. He climbed halfway up the wall and just stared at me. I think he thought I was the intruder.

I stared back, talked to him a little bit, and told him to be careful of the other person in the house. He just stared at me and blinked his eyes.

I had forgotten that incident, and later in the day, as we were drinking coffee together, I happened to remember it. I looked at my wife and said, "I had a special visitor in the bathroom this morning." She stared at me and said, "Who was that special visitor?"

I laughed very heartily and said, "That visitor was Henry." Looking rather strange and confused, she said, "Who is Henry?" "Ah, my dear, it was a lizard. I just call him Henry because we're friends." "In your bathroom?" She gasped.

With that, she jumped up and ran to the bathroom looking for Henry. I could hear her frantically calling his name for well over an hour. Finally, it grew silent, and she came out from the bathroom and sat down.

"Well," I said with a smile, "did you meet my friend Henry?" Scowling at me, she said, "I flushed your friend down the toilet." I didn't know if I should have a memorial service for Henry or not. I'm pretty sure The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage would not show up at that service.

I'm patiently waiting for the next Henry to show up in my bathroom. Maybe the next time, I won't tell The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. Or, perhaps I should catch one of those lizards, put it in her bathroom, and see what happens.

It might be a memorial service for me. With that in mind, I thought of an important Bible verse. "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the

STUART TOLCHIN PUT THE LIGHTS ON ONLY YESTERDAY

Wednesday morning golfing partner cancelling our game. This left me with a frustrating amount of time to fill as I had a scheduled medical exam for which I was required to check in an hour early after not being allowed to eat or drink for four hours prior to the appointment.

What to do after breakfast? I found myself studying, or at least reading over the Department of Motor Vehicle Handbook. A few days earlier I had attempted to renew my license which is due to expire in a couple of months and learned as a person 70 years or more (I will soon be 80) I was required to pass both an eye test and a written test. The requirement of the eye test frightened me as my eyesight is not what it once was. On Saturday I was prepared to flunk the eye test, but I passed easily which made me wonder about the reliability of the test.

After the eyetest I was directed to another window to have my picture taken and was prepared to take an actual behind the wheel driving test. Instead, I was informed that actual driving tests were never required no matter how old the applicant for renewal happened to be. This seemed crazy to me but what I was told that a demonstration of knowledge of traffic laws was required. I was asked if I had prepared for such a test, and I laughingly said that I doubted that much preparation would be necessary, confident that my over fifty years of lawyering handling drunk driving cases would be ample preparation.

Well, of course, I failed the test; twice, in fact. I was told that I could not take the test again that day but could come back another day and take it for a third time. Upon inquiry I was handed a DMV Manual and told that I might want to study it. Well, frankly, I resented the obligation, an actual assignment to do something. I just could not make myself do it—telling myself that perhaps it was safer for everybody if I just stopped driving after my birthday when my present license expires. Nevertheless, on Wednesday morning with my golf game cancelled I found myself actually reading the manual.

I drove to DMV and now every intersection, every pedestrian, every other vehicle felt like a test question. I took the test and passed easily. I was elated and to celebrate I decided to drive a few blocks to the golf course and walk a few holes with a pull cart rather than use the electric cart. I walked just four holes and was exhausted and had to ask for help from strangers to get the cart back to the office and get myself back to the car. I called my wife from the car and told her that I would drive home and asked if she would then drive me to the hospital in time for my test. Remember now I had not eaten for six hours or so and just felt like I needed my wife's support.

She drove me to the hospital where I was required to wait an hour before I was called in to take the CT scan of my liver. This was a very weird experience of having a dye inserted into my arm and then asked to lie uncomfortably with my hands stretched above my head as this machine rolled me into what looked like a giant windmill.

The test took only about fifteen minutes, and I called my wife who got me and took me home to get my pills to be taken after dinner. I think because I had not eaten all day, I fell asleep as my wife drove home. At home I fell into bed after finding a basketball game on tv and slept during the whole first half but was able to watch the second half and appreciated the efforts of the oldest guy in the League. I fell asleep wondering when I would learn the results of my test. I wonder what today will be like.

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE WRONG KIND WHERE YOU GO, I GO -MY COSTCO

COVID March 2020. It started with the lipstick. Why bother when I had to cover it with a medical grade surgical mask? Then came the eyebrows. What with the face shield, the gloves, the anonymous haz mat suit, here was the perfect opportunity to let my unibrow flourish, au revoir Tweezerman.

Let's choose to say, it all went downhill from there.

Present Day. I find myself make-up free and maskless at Costco flipping through the Kirkland EZY Wear Daytime Joggers. I eyeball the waistband for the size. I scoop up a half dozen in differing shades of black, my bi-annual clothes acquisition now complete. Good-bye Fashion Week in Milan, during the pandemic years I had evolved into an exclusive Gold Star Costco shopper.

I appreciate the freedom of not having to trek into a crowded fitting room, squeezing into or sliding out of a wrong size, scrutinizing how it looks through an unmerciful mirror. With the impulsive giddiness of buying a Scratch-Off lottery ticket, I take the chance that I will look fabulous with a five piece ensemble including underwear and socks for under $100.

Beijing Pre-COVID. Budding pink cherry blossoms and the cessation of winter dust storms herald the oncoming of Spring and with it, my gung ho anticipation of summer vacations back in America. Strategically I planned my precious days, shoehorning visits with family and sightseeing around Costco's opening hours. Was the Grand Canyon or Statute of Liberty as exhilarating as Costco? Close!

At first I packed my treasures in an extra carry-on, then expanded to a battered surplus suitcase - sturdy enough to hold the platoon serving size of HoneyNut Cheerios, Heinz ketchup and Pepto-Bismol. But under the spell of the Warehouse Specials, my airline baggage allowance exploded to 40 gallon polycarbonate tote bins, filled with USDA Prime porterhouse steaks, flash frozen and kept on dry ice for the 25 hour door-to-door flight home.

One year, in the prolonged smoggy stretch of midwinter, when the last of the Cheerios had long said their goodbyes, a whisper of hope, and rumors swirled in the expatriate community of a Kirkland sighting.

Following a trail of half truths and local lore, our desperate group finally stumbled upon a scruffy storefront, not much bigger than a gas station Circle K. Inside was the usual fare of maize, rice, dried squid and traveling underpants (a story unto itself), seeing our deflated faces, like kids who pulled a lump of coal from their Christmas stockings, the shop clerk motioned for us to follow her into the back room.

There, in an oversized closet were pallets of Kirkland Signature products - nut bars, coffee, diapers, dish soap, dog food, cat food, baby formula, everything edible and in-between. We packed up as much as our car could hold and handed over grocery bags stuffed with cash (when the highest Chinese currency bill is equivalent to USD 14, a Cash Sale for a house involves a fleet of Brink's trucks).

Elated with our find and pinky-swearing never to reveal our new-found Kirkland source, there was still something amiss, something not quite right. After a few minutes it dawned on us - the everyday plus twice on Sundays Costco $4.99 rotisserie chicken. We agreed, Peking Duck will just have to do.

RICH JOHNSON

NOW THAT'S RICH FAMOUS FAILURES

Well, let's see, looking at my timepiece, the year is 2024, It's March already and here we all are. So...how's your life going so far? Are you where you want to be? Yes? No? Not yet? Not quite? Don't ask? Beat it Rich!? I suspect most of us desire to achieve something...noteworthy and positive. And most of us aren't exactly where we want to be.

Years ago, a motivational speaker confessed he wanted to be what they call a "scratch" golfer. Someone who plays the game of golf near perfectly. Seeking advice, he was told to practice more because "practice makes perfect". Right? Wrong! Practice doesn't make perfect. The motivational speaker confessed he had perfected the world's worst golf swing. So, what's the answer: "Perfect practice makes perfect." Matt Groening once said through his alter ego, Homer Simpson: "Trying is the first step toward failure! Truer words have never been spoken Homer, errr Matt. It's also the first step toward success!

The real truth is most homo sapiens dream of achieving success, stick their metaphorical big toe into the waters of risk once or twice, meet resistance, pull back and spend the rest of their lives dreaming of what might have been. Well, I hope and pray this column motivates you (and me) to "reach (and stumble) for the stars". The best way to achieve our mutual success is to give us all a glimpse of the true realities associated with real people.

What you and I will see is wildly successful people who faced failure and chose not to stop. I'll start with the "biggest" failure.

Mystery Failure #1: Did you know this painter sold only ONE of his paintings his entire life...and at a deep discount. How much to buy one of his paintings today...well in 2022 someone paid $117 million for one of his paintings. Mystery Guest Vincent Van Gogh.

Mystery Guest #2 Our young comedian's first time performing didn't go so well. When he saw the audience he froze and was booed off the stage. Mystery Guest Jerry Seinfeld.

Mystery Guest #3 Divorced, broke, depressed single mother on welfare saw her first book rejected by 12 publishers. And the literary agent who signed her agreed to publish only 500 copies...of Harry Potter! Mystery Guest J.K Rowling,

Mystery Guest #4 Being rejected by publishers, and on his way home, in frustration, to burn his first manuscript, our author ran into a Dartmouth classmate who encouraged him and helped him find a publisher. Mystery Guest Theodor Seuss Geisel (Dr. Seuss)

Mystery Guest #5 As a child, this person didn't start speaking until he was four, didn't start reading until he was seven. He was treated as though he was mentally handicapped. Imagine if ne gave up. Mystery Guest Albert Einstein

Mystery Guest #6 Teachers told this "failure" that he was "too stupid to learn anything". Mystery Guest Thomas Edison

Mystery Guest #7 Our young filmmaker was rejected twice by the University of Southern California's School of Cinematic Arts. He also suffered from dyslexia. Mystery Guest Steven Spielberg To date the failure Steven has won 12 Emmys, 3 Oscars and 7 Golden Globe Awards. Oh yeah, and the school that rejected him twice (USC) has their "USC School of Cinematic Arts" housed in the Steven Spielberg Building! and (Finally)

Mystery Guest #8 This writer was told he "Lacked imagination and had no good ideas". Mystery Guest Walt Disney Walt encourages us with these words: "I think it's important to have a good hard failure when you're young...Because it makes you kind of aware of what can happen to you. Because of it, I've never had any fear in my whole life when we've been near collapse and all of that. I've never been afraid".

So, I leave you with this. Unearth and unpack that manuscript you've been working, err sitting on; or take a brush up acting class at the Sierra Madre Theater, dig out the old paintings, maybe dust off the guitar, get your friends together, form a band, practice and get a gig...maybe at Nano Café right here in town.

When God created us humans, He infused us with His creative gene technology. You were meant for greatness. Make it happen!

Dinah Chong Watkins column appears every 1st and 3rd Saturday of the month.

SIERRA MADRE SPOTLIGHT:

STRIKE, SWING, AND SOAR TO HOLIDAY HARMONY

Is it just me, or is time flying by faster than ever? I swear it was Christmas just yesterday but, now, somehow, we're at the end of February! This week I am shining the Sierra Madre spotlight on the very generous and very kind Sierra Madre Pony (SMP) Baseball League. This amazing group of people were originally brought to my attention last year (Christmas 2022). I was contacted by one of their organizers because they were going to "adopt" a few families in need at Christmas through a church run program for the first time. They had seen that my effort, Sierra Madre Gives Back, has been doing something similar for the last few years and wanted to talk about possibly helping us do something for the community in the future. So this year (Christmas 2023), they joined us by "adopting" multiple families at Christmas, and asked if they could help at Thanksgiving as well!

I was absolutely thrilled to find out that not only could they help, but that they were wanting to do fundraisers specifically to raise money for The Gives Back families to ensure they had a beautiful holiday season. "We've held fundraisers at The Only Place in Town and Monsieur Crepe to support our efforts during the holidays. The families of our players have been critically important - they've made contributions and have been active participants in all our service work. We are grateful for their help in raising funds and donations for our community."-Nick Forillo It was because of their generosity that this year we were able to help over 10 families in need by providing them with Thanksgiving meals, not including, donating dinner and desserts to the people that give back to us every single day, The Sierra Madre Police Department and The Sierra Madre Fire Department. Some of the Pony Leaguers were able to get together and deliver the goodies to the Fire Department and as a special treat they were given a red carpet tour of the station! The kids had a blast and the dinner went on to feed some very deserving heroes and their families on Thanksgiving day!

With Thanksgiving being such a success, it's no wonder that Christmas went just as well! With the help of the The Sierra Madre Pony League, who adopted 3 of the families, on their own, in total, Sierra Madre Gives Back was able to help over 20 families this year, which came out to over 75 individuals that we were able to spread some joyful holiday cheer to! This is the fourth year that Gives Back has done this Christmas program, and every year it gets bigger and better and this year one of the huge reasons we were able to that was because of the selflessness and community service dedication demonstrated by the kids, their families, and the staff of The Sierra Madre Pony League.

I tip my hat to anyone who donated last year at both Thanksgiving and Christmas, as always, you, my beloved Sierra Madreans, came together and truly made Christmas Miracles and dreams come true! Bask in the glow of the corniness of that sentence because you all deserve it! Thank you Sierra Madre Pony League for reminding us all that, no matter what your passion, job, or hobbies are, we as people, especially Sierra Madreans;), will come together and help those that could use a little boost, however we can. Please come out to their opening ceremonies on March 9th at Dapper Field and follow them on Instagram @madre_baseball for updates throughout the season.

MARCH MADNESS AT ARCADIA PARK

Who's going to make it to the Final Four at the Santa Anita Lawn Bowling Club? Who will make it all the way through the bracket and emerge as the Club champion?

Throughout the month of March the Sam Larsen Singles Tournament will play out at Arcadia Park, at the corner of Santa Anita Avenue and Huntington Drive. Members of the Santa Anita Lawn Bowling Club will compete for the first prize – and for bragging rights as the 2024 Club champion.

The tournament honors Sam Larsen, a beloved Club member who passed away unexpectedly in September of last year at just 64 years of age.

The tournament bracket has four rounds, one round each week during the month of March. Matches will be played on Tuesday evenings, beginning at 6:00 pm. The public is invited to the bowling greens at Arcadia Park to watch the matches and to learn about lawn bowling.

Attendance at the tournament is free. The Club also offers free lessons; tournament attendees will be able to make arrangements for a lesson. More information about the Club is available at www. SantaAnitaLawnBowling.

According to the Club's president, Mark Walker, the Club has been bowling on the greens in Arcadia Park since 1937 when the park was built. "The park is a San Gabriel Valley treasure," says Walker; "It's a beautiful oasis for recreation, including venues for all kinds of sports,

HYDRATE FOR HEALTH

Everyday your body loses water through your breath, perspiration and other bodily functions. Staying well-hydrated is crucial for overall health. We've all heard consuming 8 glasses of water a day is optimal. But, some people may need more, and others less. The importance of proper hydration cannot be overstated. Beyond simply quenching your thirst, staying adequately hydrated plays an important role in enhancing exercise performance, promoting weight loss, and supporting joint health.

Exercise Performance. Fitness enthusiasts and athletes are familiar with the importance of hydration during workouts. Proper fluid balance is crucial for regulating body temperature, maintaining electrolyte balance, and ensuring optimal muscle function. Dehydration can lead to fatigue, cramps, and diminished endurance. Experts recommend drinking water before, during, and after exercise to support peak performance.

Weight Loss. Drinking water can assist in weight loss efforts in a number of ways. Drinking water before meals can help control appetite. Feelings of thirst are mistaken for hunger, leading to unnecessary snacking or overeating. Consuming water before meals can help you feel fuller, potentially reducing calorie intake. As a calorie free drink, it's an excellent alternative to sugary drinks. Some studies suggest that drinking water can temporarily boost metabolism, helping the body burn more calories. While the effect is modest, every bit can contribute to overall weight management. Water is also essential for the breakdown of fat. This process, called lipolysis, requires water to break down fat into usable energy. Insufficient water intake can hinder lipolysis, potentially slowing down the rate at which the body burns fat. Water helps break down food and move it through the digestive tract too. Adequate hydration can prevent constipation and promote a healthy digestive system, supporting overall well-being.

Healthy Joints. In terms of joint health, water is a key component of the cartilage that covers the ends of bones in a joint. Cartilage acts as a shock absorber, cushioning the impact on the joints during movement. Insufficient water intake may compromise the integrity of cartilage, potentially leading to joint pain and discomfort. The joints in our body are surrounded by synovial fluid, which acts as a lubricant. This fluid reduces friction between the bones and allows for smooth movement. Dehydration can lead to a decrease in synovial fluid, resulting in increased friction and potential discomfort or stiffness in the joints. Adequate hydration helps transport nutrients to the joints. Nutrients like oxygen and various minerals are essential for the health and repair of joint tissues. Proper hydration ensures these nutrients are delivered efficiently to maintain healthy joints. Plus, chronic dehydration can contribute to inflammation in the body. Inflammatory processes can affect the joints, leading to conditions like arthritis. Staying hydrated helps to control inflammation and may reduce the risk of joint-related issues. Add to that, water is essential for regulating body temperature. Joints are sensitive to temperature changes. Proper hydration helps maintain the ideal heat for joint function, preventing discomfort associated with extreme temperatures.

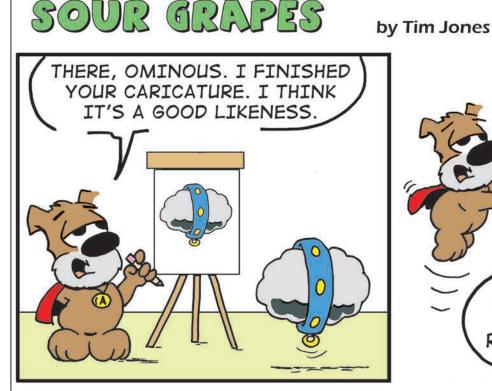

Water needs vary, and people should adjust intake based on their unique circumstances. Pregnant or breastfeeding women, athletes, and those with certain health conditions may require more water. If the environment is hot you may also need more even if not thirsty, Monitoring the color of urine can help too. Pale yellow or straw-colored urine often suggests adequate hydration, while dark yellow or amber-colored urine may indicate dehydration. Some other signs of dehydration include headaches, nausea, feeling dizzy, dry mouth and fatigue.

To up water intake there are healthful flavored water options available. Infusing water with fruits like citrus, berries, or cucumber adds natural flavors without added sugars and artificial ingredients found in many commercial beverages. Herbal teas, coconut water, and electrolyte-enhanced water are also excellent choices. Think about carrying a water bottle with you at all times. Having easy access to water makes it more likely that you'll take regular sips.

Drinking too much water can be dangerous too, producing water intoxication or hyponatremia. That means sodium in the blood becomes diluted along with other electrolytes in the body, disrupting their balance. Kidneys are strained and water enters cells causing them to swell. Brain cells are particularly vulnerable, leading to increased intracranial pressure and potential neurological complications. Not common but hyponatremia can occur when a person drinks a large volume of water over a very short period of time.

Still concerned? Check out various smartphone apps designed to help you track and increase your water intake. Some apps send reminders, track your daily water consumption, and provide personalized hydration goals. A few highly rated examples include Waterllama, WaterMinder, Hydro Coach and Daily Water Tracker Reminder. All are free with in-app purchases and offer advanced features with paid versions.
